Я бы даже сказал, что высшие руководители в некотором смысле ещё бесправнее рядовых советских граждан. Они не только обязаны неукоснительно соблюдать все правила и ритуалы, принятые в их среде, не только живут в постоянном страхе друг перед другом, но и от самих привилегий отказаться не могут (Войнович 1). I’d even say that in a certain sense the higher leaders have fewer rights than the average Soviet citizen. They are not only obliged to observe rigorously all the rules and rituals of their milieu, they not only live in constant fear of each other, but also they cannot refuse the privileges that are theirs (1a). ♦ …Фрол Григорьевич [Ведищев], невзирая на скромное своё положение, почитался в древнем городе особой влиятельной и в некотором смысле даже всемогущей (Акунин 1). …Despite his humble position, Vedishchev had the reputation in the ancient city of being an influential and, in certain respects, omnipotent individual (1a).

С-491 • В ПО́ЛНОМ СМЫ́СЛЕ СЛО́ВА [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] (one is a certain type of person, sth. is a certain type of thing or phenomenon etc) entirely, in every way: (a [NP]) in the fullest ⟨full, true⟩ sense of the word.

[Утешительный:] [Аркадий Андреевич Дергунов] игру ведёт отличную, честности беспримерной… люди у него воспитаны, камергеры, дом — дворец, деревня, сады, всё это по аглицкому [obs = английскому] образцу. Словом, русский барин в полном смысле слова (Гоголь 2). [U.:] He [Arkady Andreievich Dergunov] is a first-rate player, of exemplary honesty;… his servants are refined people, perfect gentlemen, his house is a regular palace, his estate, his parks are all in the English style; in fact he is a Russian gentleman in the fullest sense of the word (2b). ♦ Угрюм-Бурчеев был прохвост [used here in its obsolete meaning] в полном смысле этого слова. Не потому только, что он занимал это должность в полку, но прохвост всем своим существом, всеми помыслами (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Gloom-Grumblev was a hangman in the full sense of the word. Not only because he occupied this post in the regiment, but a hangman in his whole being, all his thoughts (1a).

С-492 • В СМЫ́СЛЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ чего, каком [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in relation to sth., in a certain respect: with regard to; as for; as far as… goes ⟨is concerned⟩; when it comes to; in terms of; from the… point of view; in the sense of ⟨that…⟩.

«Я, впрочем, — продолжал болтать Коровьев, — знавал людей, не имевших никакого представления не только о пятом измерении, но и вообще ни о чём не имевших никакого представления и тем не менее проделывавших чудеса в смысле расширения своего помещения» (Булгаков 9). “However,” Korovyov rattled on, “I have known people who haven’t the faintest conception of the fifth dimension, or of anything else for that matter, but who have still worked wonders when it came to expanding their residence” (9c). ♦ Возможности человека в смысле голода велики, голодать человек может долго, если не паникует (Гранин 1). Man’s capabilities in terms of hunger are great, he can get by on very little for a long time if he doesn’t panic (1a).

2. ~ кого-чего [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in a specific capacity: as.

«Как понимать ваши слова — в смысле приказа» — «Пока это просьба, а не приказ». “How am I to take what you said—as an order?” “For the time being, it’s a request rather than an order.”

3. coll [used as Particle] used to introduce a clarification or, in a dialogue, to ask for it: I mean…; meaning…; [in a dialogue] you mean…?; what do you mean?

«…А ты думал когда-нибудь, на самом он деле или нет?» — «Кто?» — «Лабиринт». — «В смысле существует он или нет?» — «Да» (Пелевин 1). “…Have you ever wondered whether it’s really there or not?” “What?” “The labyrinth.” “You mean, whether it really exists or not?” “Yes” (1a).

С-493 • В ТОМ СМЫ́СЛЕ ЧТО [subord Conj; introduces an explanatory nominal clause] used to introduce an explanation of what has been stated: in the sense that ⟨in which…⟩; meaning (that)…; [lim.] the gist of which is…; by which I mean ⟨he means etc⟩…

«Девочка отличная. Рыженькая, улыбается. Кажется, будет очень весёлая, и, надеюсь, она не будет на тебя похожа — в том смысле, что эта тайна останется между нами двумя» (Улицкая 1). “She is a splendid little girl, redheaded and smiling and looks as though she’s going to be a bundle of fun, and I just hope she doesn’t look like you—by which I mean so that this secret will remain between the two of us” (1a).

С-494 • В Э́ТОМ СМЫ́СЛЕ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] in relation to sth. just mentioned: in this ⟨that⟩ sense ⟨regard, respect, way⟩.

Тоталитарные идеологии создают тоталитарные режимы — в этом смысле коммунизм ничем не отличается от фашизма (Аллилуева 2). Totalitarian ideologies create totalitarian regimes, and in this sense Communism doesn’t differ in any way from Fascism (2a).

С-495 • СО СНА [PrepP; Invar; adv] (having) just awakened or (being) not totally awake: (when ⟨while⟩) (still) half-asleep; when ⟨while⟩ not fully awake; (when⟨while⟩) (only) half-awake; (when ⟨while⟩) not quite awake; [lim.] (being) (still) too sleepy.

«У вас тоже плохая должность, Марк. Солдат вы калечите…» В величайшем изумлении Марк глядел на прокуратора, и тот опомнился. Чтобы загладить напрасные слова, произнесённые со сна, прокуратор сказал: «Не обижайтесь, кентурион, моё положение, повторяю, ещё хуже» (Булгаков 9). “You too have a bad job, Mark. You maim soldiers…” Mark looked at the procurator with profound astonishment, and the latter came to his senses. In an effort to smooth over the gratuitous words he had spoken when not fully awake, the procurator said, “Don’t take offense, Centurion. My position, I repeat, is even worse” (9c).

С-496 • СНАРУ́ЖИ МИ́Л(О), А ВНУТРИ́ ГНИ́Л(О) [saying] what is attractive on the outside can actually be fundamentally bad, worthless etc (used to emphasize that one should not judge people and things by their outward appearances): ≃ fair without but foul within; a prize apple can have a worm inside.

С-497 • (И) ВО СНЕ НЕ СНИ́ЛОСЬ/НЕ ПРИСНИ́ТСЯ кому; (И) НЕ СНИ́ЛОСЬ/НЕ ПРИСНИ́ТСЯ all coll [VP; subj: abstr or a clause; usu. impfv past, pfv fut, or pfv subjunctive] sth. is so unusual, extraordinary that s.o. would never have expected or imagined it: X Y-y и (во сне) не снился ≃ Y never (even) dreamed of X; X is beyond Y's wildest dreams ⟨imagination⟩.

[Иванов:] Клялся [Сарре] в вечной любви, пророчил счастье, открывал перед её глазами будущее, какое ей не снилось даже во сне (Чехов 4). [I.:] I swore to love her [Sarah] for ever, told her how happy we'd be, offered her a future beyond her wildest dreams (4b).

С-498 • КАК ВО СНЕ [как + PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. (to do sth.) unconsciously: as if one were asleep; as if in one's sleep; as if in a dream; as if dreaming; dreamily.

Мышлаевский внезапно зевнул и клюнул носом. Забормотал, как во сне: «Дали отряду теплушку и печку…» (Булгаков 3). Myshlaevsky suddenly yawned and began to nod. He muttered, as if he were asleep, "They gave our detachment a car with a stove…" (3b).

2. ~ помнить, видеть и т.п. (to remember, see etc) not clearly: vaguely; dimly; indistinctly; as if in a dream; (have) a dreamlike recollection.

Как во сне двигаясь под напором входящих в двери, как во сне их видел Василиса (Булгаков 3). As if in a dream, Vasilisa moved under the press of the men going through the door, and Vasilisa saw them, as if in a dream (3b).

3. absorbed in one's own thoughts and not fully aware of what is transpiring: as if in a dream; like someone in a dream; as in a dream.

Затаив дыхание, мальчик вышел из-за камня, как во сне, протянув руки перед собой, подошёл к берегу, к самой воде. (Айтматов 1). Holding his breath, the lad emerged from behind the rock and, stretching out his hands before him as if in a dream, walked down to the bank and the water's edge (1b).

С-499 • КАК ПРОШЛОГО́ДНИЙ СНЕГ нужен кому, интересует кого и т.п. coll [как + NP; Invar; adv (neg intensif); fixed WO] some person or thing is not at all necessary or of interest to s.o.: X нужен Y-y ~ ≃ Y doesn't need X in the least; X is of absolutely no use to Y; Y has (absolutely) no use for X; || X интересует Y-а ~ ≃ X doesn't interest Y in the least; Y has (absolutely) no interest in X; Y doesn't give a hoot about X.

С-500 • белый КАК СНЕГ [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] 1. (of clothing, fabric, a tablecloth, furniture etc; also of teeth, salt etc) pure (white): (as) white as snow; snow-white; blindingly white.

2. (of hair) totally (gray): snow-white; (as) white as snow; completely ⟨totally⟩ white.

С-501 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ СНЕГ НА́ ГОЛОВУ (свалиться, явиться и т.п.) coll [как etc + NP; these forms only; adv (more often used with pfv verbs) or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr); fixed WO] (to appear, arrive, happen etc) totally unexpectedly, suddenly: like a bolt from the blue; out of the blue; out of a clear blue sky; out of nowhere.

И вот Витбергу, как снег на голову, — разрешение возвратиться в Москву или Петербург (Герцен 1). And behold, like a bolt from the blue, comes permission for Vitberg to return to Moscow or Petersburg (1a). ♦ «Явился, голубчик… И опять как снег на голову» (Стругацкие 2). "So, my friend, you've turned up out of the blue again" (2a).

С-502 • ЗИМО́Й СНЕ́ГА ⟨СНЕ́ГУ⟩ НЕ ВЫ́ПРОСИШЬ у кого coll, disapprov [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only] s.o. is very stingy, excessively frugal: у X-а зимой снега не выпросишь ≃ asking X to lend ⟨give⟩ you (sth.) is like trying to get blood from ⟨out of⟩ a stone; X wouldn't give away snow in winter.

Просить у Панкратова взаймы деньги — пустая трата времени: у него зимой снега не выпросишь. Asking Pankratov for a loan would be a waste of time—it'd be like trying to get blood from a stone.

С-503 • СНО́ВА ЗДОРО́ВО coll [AdvP; usu. impers predic or adv; fixed WO] a situation, action, or statement that has already occurred or has been done or said repeatedly: (it's) the same old story ⟨song, tune⟩ (again); (doing ⟨saying⟩) the same (old) thing (again); (the) same old same old.

С-504 • ЗАСНУ́ТЬ ⟨УСНУ́ТЬ⟩ ВЕ́ЧНЫМ ⟨МОГИ́ЛЬНЫМ, ПОСЛЕ́ДНИМ⟩ СНОМ lit; ПОЧИ́ТЬ ВЕ́ЧНЫМ ⟨НЕПРОБУ́ДНЫМ⟩ СНОМ obs, lit [VP; subj: human] to die: X заснул вечным сном ≃ X went to his eternal rest ⟨to his final resting place⟩.

В последние пять лет из нескольких сот душ не умер никто, не то что насильственною, даже естественною смертью. А если кто от старости или от какой-нибудь застарелой болезни и почил вечным сном, то там долго после того не могли надивиться такому необыкновенному случаю (Гончаров 1). In the past five years not one of the several hundred inhabitants had died even a natural death, to say nothing of a violent one. When anyone went to his eternal rest, either from old age or chronic illness, they could not help marveling at such an extraordinary event (1b).

С-505 • МЁРТВЫМ ⟨МЕРТВЕ́ЦКИМ⟩ СНОМ спать, заснуть, уснуть coll [NP$_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to sleep, fall asleep) very soundly: X спал ⟨заснул⟩ мёртвым сном ≃ X was dead to the world; X was ⟨fell⟩ dead alseep; X was in ⟨fell into⟩ a deep sleep; X was ⟨fell⟩ sound asleep; X was ⟨went⟩ out like a light.

[Евгения:] Я пойду лягу, будто сплю мёртвым сном, ты тоже схоронись где-нибудь (Островский 8). [E.:] I'll go and lie down, as if I were sound asleep. And you go hide somewhere or other (8a).

С-506 • НИ СНОМ НИ ДУ́ХОМ не виноват в чём, не причастен к чему, не знает, не ведает о чём coll [NP$_{instrum}$; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] one is absolutely and completely not guilty of, involved in, knowledgeable about etc sth.: X ~ не виноват (в Y-е) ≃ X is not at all guilty (of Y); X is not at all to blame (for Y); || X ~ не причастен к Y-у ≃ it ⟨Y⟩ has nothing whatever ⟨whatsoever⟩ to do with X; || X ~ не ведает об Y-е ≃ X doesn't know a (single) thing about Y; X has never (even) heard of Y.

Николай Васильевич [Ганчук] был в тот день не в духе, мрачноват и вовсе ничего не замечал… Глебов подумал: уж не его ли присутствие мешает разговору? Шепнул Соне: уехать? Соня замотала головой. «Ни в коем случае! Он чем-то расстроен. Ты здесь ни сном ни духом» (Трифонов 2). Nikolai Vasilievich [Ganchuk] was out of sorts that day, gloomy and unaware of anything around him…. Glebov wondered whether the Ganchuks felt unable to talk freely because he was there. He whispered to Sonya: "Should I go?" Sonya shook her head. "No, of course not. He's just worried about something. It's nothing whatever to do with you" (2a).

С-507 • СНОМ ПРА́ВЕДНИКА ⟨ПРА́ВЕДНИЦЫ, ПРА́ВЕДНЫХ⟩ спать, заснуть, уснуть often humor [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to sleep, fall asleep) soundly, peacefully: X спит сном праведника ≃ X is sleeping the sleep of the just ⟨the blessed⟩.

«Успокойся, ничего с ней [Любой] не сделается, спит сном праведницы…» (Максимов 1). “Calm down, nothing’s happened to her [Lyuba]. She’s sleeping the sleep of the just…” (1a).

С-508 • СПАТЬ ВЕ́ЧНЫМ ⟨МОГИ́ЛЬНЫМ, НЕПРОБУ́ДНЫМ, ПОСЛЕ́ДНИМ⟩ СНОМ; ПОЧИВА́ТЬ ВЕ́ЧНЫМ СНОМ all obs, lit [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be dead: X спит вечным сном ≃ X has gone to his eternal rest ⟨to his final resting place⟩; X slumbers in eternal sleep; X lies in eternal rest ⟨in the embrace of eternal slumber⟩.

Прибывшая по вызову полиция обнаружила в доме настоящее царство Аида — семеро слуг и двое детей… спали вечным сном (Акунин 7). Upon being summoned to the house, the police discovered a scene from the kingdom of Hades—seven servants and two children… lay in the embrace of eternal slumber (7a).

С-509 • НА СНО́СЯХ ⟨НА СНО́СЕ obs⟩ substand [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human, female)] one is in the last month of pregnancy: X на сносях ≃ X is almost ⟨(just) about⟩ due; X is near her time; X is heavy with child.

«Вот у меня жена на сносях, так что ей, значит, так вот в трухлявом бараке дитю [ungrammat = дитя] пролетария и на свет выносить?..» (Максимов 3). “My wife here is near her time. I mean to say, she can’t bring a proletarian kid into the world in some moldering old barracks, can she?” (3a).

«Мне, Самуил, в голову вот что пришло: а что, если я ему покажу справку? Она хранится у нас дома», — зашептал Шимес. «Какую справку? Что Шарко украинец?» — удивился Самуил. «Что я крещёный. Они думают, что я еврей, здесь вся собака зарыта, а мой отец крестился и всю семью крестил ещё в девятьсот четвёртом году, накануне погрома…» (Улицкая 1). “I tell you though, Samuel, what I thought I might do: how would it be if I were to show him the certificate? We’ve got it safe at home,” Shimes whispered. “What certificate? That Charcot was a Ukrainian?” Samuel asked in surprise. “That I’ve been christened. They think I’m a Jew, that’s what it’s all about, but my father was baptised and had the whole family christened back in 1904, just before the pogrom” (1a).

С-513 • КА́ЖДАЯ ⟨ВСЯ́КАЯ, ЛЮБА́Я⟩ СОБА́КА (знает кого-что, скажет что и т.п.) highly coll, derog [NP; sing only; fixed WO] each person (in some place, group etc) (knows s.o. or sth., will say sth. etc): absolutely everybody ⟨everyone⟩; each and every person; everybody and his uncle ⟨brother⟩.

Алик на нашей улице пятнадцать лет живёт, его тут каждая собака знает. Alik has been living on our block for fifteen years, and absolutely everyone knows him.

С-514 • КАК ПОБИ́ТАЯ СОБА́КА вернулся, ушёл и т.п.; ПОБИ́ТОЙ СОБА́КОЙ [как + NP or $NP_{instrum}$; adv; fixed WO] (in refer. to a person) rejected, defeated, turned down: like a dog with his ⟨its, her⟩ tail between his ⟨its, her⟩ legs.

Расследование затягивалось. При этом многолетнее чутьё подсказывало комиссару, что он тянет пустышку… Вырисовывалась тошнотворная перспектива плыть по всему чёртову маршруту… Не возвращаться же побитой собакой в Париж! (Акунин 7). The investigation was dragging on. Moreover, the keen intuition developed by the commissioner over the years was already hinting to him that he had drawn a blank… He was beginning to discern the sickening prospect of cruising the entire confounded length of the route… He couldn’t go running back to Paris with his tail between his legs! (7a).

С-515 • КАК СОБА́КА highly coll [как + NP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (in refer. to a person) extremely, to a very high degree: X устал ~ ≃ X is dog-tired ⟨dog weary, dead tired⟩; || X голоден ⟨проголодался⟩ ~ ≃ X is hungry as a wolf ⟨a bear⟩; X is so hungry he could eat a horse; || X замёрз ~ ≃ X is frozen through; X is chilled to the bone ⟨to the marrow⟩; || X зол ~ ≃ X is mad as hell ⟨as the dickens, as the devil⟩; X is absolutely livid; X is fuming ⟨furious⟩.

Я пришла с работы усталая, как собака. Мальчишки — ну, конечно! — играли в шахматы. Это какая-то мужская болезнь. Я сказала: «…Опять эти дурацкие шахматы. До каких пор?» (Грекова 1). I came home [from work] dog-tired. The boys, of course, were playing chess. Seems to be some kind of male disease. “…Again those stupid chess pieces! How long is this going to go on?” (1a). ♦ Он был голоден как собака — с утра ничего не ел (Абрамов 1). …He was as hungry as a wolf, having eaten nothing all day (1a).

< From the saying «Как собака на сене (лежит): (и) сама не ест и другим не даёт» (“Like a dog in a manger:

he doesn't eat and he won't let others eat"). Original source: Aesop's fable.

С-517 • КАК СОБА́КА ПА́ЛКУ любить кого-что coll, iron [как + NP; Invar; adv (neg intensif); fixed WO] not (to like s.o. or sth.) at all: (like sth.) about as much as a dog likes (getting) a beating; (like s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) about as much as a cat likes water; (love s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) as a horse loves the whip.

«…Мигулин что большевиков, что беляков любит одинаково: как собака палку!» (Трифонов 6). "Migulin doesn't care whether it's Bolsheviks or Whites, he loves them all just the same: as a horse loves the whip!" (6a).

С-518 • НИ ОДНА́ СОБА́КА highly coll [NP; sing only] absolutely nobody: no one at all; not one ⟨a single⟩ person; not a single ⟨living⟩ soul; not a soul.

«Прибегай, Настена. Я буду ждать. Но только чтоб ни одна собака тебя не углядела» (Распутин 2). "Come to me, Nastyona. I'll be waiting. But be sure that not a living soul sees you" (2a).

С-519 • КАК СОБА́КЕ ПЯ́ТАЯ НОГА́ нужен кому highly coll, rude [как + NP; Invar; adv (neg intensif); fixed WO] a person or thing is not at all needed by s.o.: X нужен Y-у ~ ≃ Y needs X like (he needs) a hole in the head; Y needs X like a dog needs fleas.

Прислали мне двух помощников — ничего не умеют делать. Мне такая помощь нужна как собаке пятая нога. They sent me two assistants who don't know how to do anything. I need that kind of help like I need a hole in the head.

С-520 • СОБА́КЕ СОБА́ЧЬЯ СМЕРТЬ [saying] a despicable, treacherous, despised person does not deserve to die with dignity: ≃ of evil life comes evil end; [if said when the person in question is still alive] may he ⟨she, they⟩ die a dog's death; [if said when the person in question is already dead] he ⟨she, they⟩ deserved to die a dog's death.

«Я рад за вас — вы поступили по совести» (Гроссман 2). "I'm glad for you—you've acted according to your conscience" (2a). ♦ …Надо отдать должное Варваре: честно, по совести вела она хлебные дела все эти трудные годы (Абрамов 1). …You had to give Varvara her due: throughout all those difficult years she had managed the grain supplies honestly and conscientiously (1a).

2. ~ сказать, признаться и т.п. coll. Also: ПО ЧИ́СТОЙ СО́ВЕСТИ coll [adv] (to say, admit etc sth.) sincerely, openly: (tell ⟨say etc⟩ sth.) in all honesty; (tell ⟨admit etc⟩ sth.) honestly ⟨truthfully, frankly⟩; be (quite) frank; (tell) the truth.

[Соня:] Скажи мне по совести, как друг… Ты счастлива? (Чехов 3). [S.:] Tell me honestly, as a friend… Are you happy? (3b). ♦ [Маша:] Я вам по совести: если бы он [Константин] ранил себя серьёзно, то я не стала бы жить ни одной минуты (Чехов 6). [M.:] I'll be quite frank with you; if he [Konstantin] had hurt himself badly, I wouldn't have gone on living another minute (6b).

С-527 • ПО СО́ВЕСТИ[2]; ПО СО́ВЕСТИ ГОВОРЯ́ ⟨СКАЗА́ТЬ, ПРИЗНА́ТЬСЯ⟩ all coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] speaking openly, if one is to speak honestly: in (all) conscience; in all honesty ⟨sincerity⟩; frankly (speaking); to be truthful; to be (quite) frank ⟨honest⟩; to tell (you) the truth.

«…Но, по совести, какие мы с вами поэты? Бунин — вот кто настоящий поэт» (Катаев 3). "…But, to be quite frank, are we really poets? Bunin now—there's a real poet" (3a).

С-528 • СО́ВЕСТИ ХВАТА́ЕТ/ХВАТИ́ЛО у кого coll [VP; impers; usu. foll. by infin] s.o. is not ashamed to do sth. (unscrupulous, rude, brazen etc): у Х-а хватает совести (с)делать Y ≃ X has the impudence ⟨the effrontery, the nerve, the gall⟩ to do Y; || как у Х-а совести хватает? ≃ has X no shame?

Выпроводив его [стукача], О. М[андельштам] всякий раз говорил: «Теперь, конечно, он больше не придёт»… Ему казалось, что у парня не хватит совести снова прийти в дом, где его разоблачили… (Мандельштам 1). Every time M[andelstam] threw him [the police spy] out, he said: "That's the end, he won't turn up again." He just couldn't believe that the man would have the impudence to come back being so thoroughly exposed (1a).

С-529 • ИМЕ́Й(ТЕ) ⟨ПОИМЕ́Й(ТЕ)⟩ СО́ВЕСТЬ; ПОИМЕ́Л БЫ ТЫ ⟨он и т.п.⟩ СО́ВЕСТЬ; СО́ВЕСТЬ ИМЕ́ТЬ ⟨ЗНАТЬ⟩ НА́ДО all highly coll [usu. indep. sent] be reasonable (used to urge s.o. either to do what the speaker wants him to do or to stop doing sth. the speaker considers undesirable, reprehensible etc): have a heart; have you no shame?; you ⟨he etc⟩ ought to be ashamed of yourself ⟨himself etc⟩.

«А вон-то, вот-то! Ещё один параход!» Параход этот — плот с сеном — плыл сверху… «Да ведь это, никак, наши», — сказала Варвара… Бабы заволновались. Пристать к пекашинскому берегу в половодье можно только в одном месте — у глиняного отлогого спуска, там, где сейчас стоял «Курьер». «Отваливай! — разноголосо закричали они капитану [«Курьера»]. — …Поимей совесть» (Абрамов 1). "Over there! Over there! There's another steamer!" The "steamer"—a raft laden with hay—was heading downstream…. "Hey! It looks like our lads," said Varvara…. The women became agitated. At spring flood time, it was possible to come alongside the Pekashino bank at one spot only: the clayey incline where the Kurier was now at anchor. "Push off! Push off!" they cried out to the captain [of the Kurier]. "…Have a heart!" (1a).

С-530 • НА СО́ВЕСТЬ работать, стараться, (с)делать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to work, try to do sth. etc) well, conscientiously: (work ⟨try⟩) (very ⟨quite, really⟩) hard; (try) in earnest ⟨for all one is worth⟩; do one's best; give it everything one's got; (do sth.) (very) thoroughly; make an honest effort; || сделано ⟨построено⟩ на совесть ≃ made ⟨built⟩ to last; || Х-а кормят на совесть ≃ they feed X heartily; X gets lots ⟨plenty⟩ of food.

Майор старался на совесть, забивал наручники рукояткой пистолета. Руку заломило так, что я чуть не взвыл (Марченко 1). The major was out to do his best and hammered the handcuffs tight with the butt of his pistol. My wrist was twisted so tightly that I almost whimpered (1a). ♦ «Неужто и компот дают [в лагере]?»… — «Это где какой начальник. Один голодом морит, а другой, если хочет, чтобы план выполняли, и накормит тебя и оденет потеплее, только работай на совесть» (Войнович 2). "They actually serve compote in there [the camp]?"… "Depends on your boss. One'll starve you to death, another one, if he wants to fulfill the plan, will feed you and dress you warm, as long as you give it everything you've got, that's all" (2a).

С-531 • НЕЧИ́СТАЯ СО́ВЕСТЬ an awareness of guilt on the part of s.o. who has committed an offense, done sth. dishonest, lied etc : dirty ⟨guilty, bad⟩ conscience.

«Зачем? За что?» Это нечистая совесть, сказал себе Фандорин. Из-за нечистой совести у меня галлюцинации (Акунин 8). "Why, what for?" It's my bad conscience, Fandorin told himself. My bad conscience is giving me hallucinations (8a).

С-532 • ПОРА́ ⟨НА́ДО⟩ (И) СО́ВЕСТЬ ЗНАТЬ coll [sent] (used to express disapproval of, dissatisfaction with etc the previously mentioned activity or way of spending time) it is time to stop doing sth.: shame on me ⟨you etc⟩; I ⟨you etc⟩ should be ashamed of myself ⟨yourself etc⟩; enough of this!; I ⟨you etc⟩ should listen to my ⟨your etc⟩ conscience; (it's) time to do the right thing.

Пробило половина десятого, Илья Ильич встрепенулся. «Что ж это я…? — сказал он вслух с досадой, — надо совесть знать: пора за дело!» (Гончаров 1). The clock struck half past nine and Ilya Ilych gave a start. "Now, what am I doing?" he said aloud, in annoyance. "Enough of this! Time to set to work!" (1b). ♦ «Поди, думает: „Пожила, старуха, и будет, пора совесть знать“» (Акунин 6). "He must be thinking: 'You've lived long enough already, old woman, time to do the right thing'" (6a).

С-533 • ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ СО́ВЕСТЬ ⟨ВСЯ́КУЮ СО́ВЕСТЬ, (ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЕ) ОСТА́ТКИ СО́ВЕСТИ⟩ all coll, disapprov or humor [VP; subj: human or animal] to behave reprehensibly, unconscionably without feeling guilty or embarrassed: Х потерял всякую совесть ≃ X has no shame ⟨conscience⟩; X has lost all sense of shame ⟨of decency⟩.

Час ночи, а твоих друзей ещё нет? Совсем совесть потеряли! It's one a.m. and your friends still aren't here? They have no shame!

С-534 • СО́ВЕСТЬ ЗА́ЗРИЛА (кого) obs, coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. was (or will be) ashamed of himself: (Х-а) совесть заэрила ≃ X's conscience bothered ⟨pricked⟩ him; X had a pang ⟨a twinge⟩ of conscience.

[Бакин:] …Я думал, что вы меня на дуэль вызовете. [Мелузов:] Дуэль? Зачем? У нас с вами и так дуэль, постоянный поединок, непрерывная борьба. Я просвещаю, а вы развращаете… Вот и давайте бороться… И посмотрим, кто скорее устанет. Вы скорее бросите своё занятие; в легкомыслии немного привлекательного; придёте в солидный возраст, совесть зазрит (Островский 11). [B.:] …I thought you'd challenge me to a duel! [M.:] Duel! What for? You and I have a duel, a constant duel, an endless battle. I enlighten, you deprave…. So let's fight on… and we'll see who tires the quicker. You'll chuck your occupation first; there's nothing permanently attractive in frivolity; when you grow old your conscience will prick you… (11a).

С-535 • УСПОКА́ИВАТЬ/УСПОКО́ИТЬ СВОЮ́ СО́ВЕСТЬ [VP; subj: human] to alleviate a feeling of guilt or distress by doing sth. that produces such an effect: Х успокоил свою совесть ≃ X eased ⟨relieved, appeased, quieted, assuaged, soothed, salved⟩ his conscience.

Эта любовь вызывала ярость хозяина, собака видела эту ярость и не могла понять, почему она. Она не могла понять, что, совершая в отношении её невиданную миром несправедливость, хозяин хотел хоть немного успокоить свою совесть (Гроссман 1). The dog's love enrages its master. The dog sees this rage and cannot understand it. The dog cannot understand that, while committing an unprecedented injustice, the master wants, at least a little, to appease his conscience (1b).

С-536 • ПРИМИРИ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ПОМИРИ́ТЬСЯ⟩ СО СВОЕ́Й СО́ВЕСТЬЮ [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to rid o.s. of feelings of shame (by repenting or making amends for some wrongdoing): X примирился со своей совестью ≃ X made peace with his conscience.

С-537 • С ЧИ́СТОЙ СО́ВЕСТЬЮ [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [adv] (to do sth.) without feelings of guilt (often after having atoned for a wrongdoing, accomplished what was required of one etc): with a clear ⟨an untroubled⟩ conscience.

Если бы меня спросили — что вы помните о времени работы в «Пароходстве»? — я с чистой совестью ответил бы — ничего (Булгаков 12). If someone had asked me what I remembered of the time I worked on the Shipping Gazette, I would have replied with a clear conscience—nothing (12a).

2. человек, люди ~ [nonagreeing postmodif] (a person or persons who are) completely honest, with nothing weighing on his conscience or their consciences: (a man ⟨a woman etc⟩) with a clear conscience; (people) with clear consciences.

С-538 • СО СПОКО́ЙНОЙ СО́ВЕСТЬЮ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) feeling fully justified for and correct in what one is doing, without any feelings of guilt or self-reproach: with a clear ⟨an untroubled, a peaceful⟩ conscience; without a qualm of conscience; without feeling (the least bit) guilty.

«Ты слишком честен и неглуп для того, чтобы мог со спокойной совестью пресмыкаться. Этой черты не было ни у кого из нашей фамилии» (Шолохов 2). "You are too honest and intelligent to be able to kowtow with an untroubled conscience. No member of our family ever had that proclivity" (2a).

С-539 • СОВЕ́Т ДА ⟨И⟩ ЛЮБО́ВЬ (вам, им) obsoles, folk poet [formula phrase; these forms only; usu. this WO] a wish for a happy life to those who are entering marriage: I wish you ⟨them⟩ every happiness; I wish you ⟨them⟩ peace and happiness; best wishes for a happy life together; may you ⟨they⟩ live happily ever after.

«Возьми себе свою красавицу; вези её куда хочешь, и дай вам бог любовь да совет!» (Пушкин 2). "Take your beautiful one, go with her where you want, and may God grant you peace and happiness!" (2a). ♦ [Авдотья Назаровна:] Они будут жить да поживать, а мы глядеть на них да радоваться. Совет им и любовь… (Чехов 4). [A.N.:] They'll have their bit of fun and we'll enjoy watching them. May they live happily ever after (4b).

С-540 • СОДО́М И ГОМО́РРА ⟨ГОМО́РР⟩ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. a place where debauchery and drunkenness reign: Sodom and Gomorrah.

…Союз писателей, не принявший когда-то Цветаеву, проклявший Замятина, презревший Булгакова, исторгнувший Ахматову и Пастернака, преставлялся мне из подполья совершенным Содомом и Гоморрой, теми ларёшниками и менялами, захламившими и осквернившими храм, чьи столики надо опрокидывать, а самих бичом изгонять на внешние ступени (Солженицын 2). …The Writers' Union, which in its day had refused membership to Tsvetayeva, anathematized Zamyatin, treated Bulgakov with contempt, ostracized Akhmatova and Pasternak, seen from the underground was a veritable Sodom and Gomorrah, or a rabble of hucksters and moneychangers littering and defiling the temple, whose stalls must be overturned and they themselves scourged and driven into the outer porch (2a).

2. total disorder, confusion: complete ⟨utter, total⟩ chaos; pandemonium.

< From the Biblical account of the ancient cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which were destroyed by fire and brimstone from heaven because of the sins of their inhabitants (Gen. 19: 24–25).

С-541 • К СОЖАЛЕ́НИЮ; К БОЛЬШО́МУ ⟨ВЕЛИ́КОМУ, ГЛУБО́КОМУ⟩ СОЖАЛЕ́НИЮ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] to one's or s.o.'s misfortune: unfortunately; unluckily; unhappily; I'm afraid; worse luck; alas.

[Репников:] А кто вы здесь такой, извините?.. [Букин:] Как кто? Жених… к сожалению… (Вампилов 3). [R.:] Sorry, but who are you?… [K.:] How do you mean "who"? The bridegroom… unfortunately (3a).

С-542 • ДОВОДИ́ТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ́ что ДО СОЗНА́НИЯ чьего, кого [VP; subj: human] to explain sth. to s.o. so that he understands it fully: X довёл Y до сознания Z-а ≃ X made Y clear ⟨plain⟩ to Z; X got Y across to Z; X brought Y home to Z; X brought Y to Z's consciousness.

Ему казалось, что его редакторская сила, опыт, умение выражались в том, что он умел доводить до сознания читателей нужные, служащие воспитательной цели взгляды (Гроссман 2). He himself felt that his power, his skill and experience as an editor were revealed by his ability to bring to the consciousness of his readers only those ideas that were necessary and of true educational benefit (2a).

С-543 • ДОХОДИ́ТЬ/ДОЙТИ́ ДО СОЗНА́НИЯ (чьего, кого) [VP; subj: usu. abstr] (of the essence, the real meaning of sth.) to become clear to s.o., be understood by s.o.: X дошёл до сознания (Y-а) ≃ X sank in; X registered (with Y); X reached Y's mind; [of sth. just heard] the words settled in (Y's mind ⟨brain⟩).

Орган гудел над венчающимися, но ни органные волны, ни хорошо знакомая латынь не доходили до сознания жениха, сгоравшего дьявольской страстью к своей невесте (Булгаков 5). The organ boomed over the couple, but neither the waves of organ music nor the familiar Latin words reached the mind of the groom, which had no room for anything but his passion for his bride (5a).

С-544 • НА́ДО ⟨НЕЛЬЗЯ́ НЕ⟩ СОЗНА́ТЬСЯ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth) or the main clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] I or we want to recognize (sth. stated as true): I ⟨we⟩ must ⟨have to⟩ admit; it must be confessed ⟨acknowledged⟩; I ⟨we⟩ must confess; I ⟨we⟩ can't help ⟨avoid⟩ admitting (that…); I ⟨we⟩ can't help but admit (that…); I must ⟨have to⟩ say; one ⟨you⟩ must admit ⟨can't help but admit etc⟩.

[Солёный:] Я с вами не ссорился. [Тузенбах:] Всегда вы возбуждаете такое чувство, как будто между нами что-то произошло. У вас характер странный, надо сознаться. [Солёный (декламируя):] Я странен, не странен кто ж! (Чехов 5). [S.:] I never quarreled with you. [T.:] You always give me the feeling that something has happened between us. You have a strange character, I must say. [S. (declaiming):] "I am strange, who is not strange!" (5a).

С-545 • ВЫЖИМА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЖАТЬ ⟨ВЫСА́СЫВАТЬ/ВЫСОСАТЬ⟩ СО́КИ ⟨СОК, ВСЕ or ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЕ СО́КИ⟩ из кого; ЖАТЬ ⟨ТЯНУ́ТЬ, СОСА́ТЬ⟩ СОК ⟨СО́КИ⟩ all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; more often impfv] to exploit s.o. cruelly, oppress s.o. in all possible ways: X выжимает соки из Y-а ≃ X sucks the lifeblood (out) of Y; X sucks the life out of Y; X squeezes the last drop of life ⟨blood⟩ out of Y; X bleeds Y dry ⟨white⟩; [lim.] X milks Y dry; X squeezes Y to the last drop.

«Преступление? Какое преступление?.. То, что я убил гадкую, зловредную вошь, старушонку процентщицу, никому не нужную, которую убить сорок грехов простят, которая из бедных сок высасывала, и это-то преступление?» (Достоевский 3). "Crime? What crime?… My killing a loathsome, harmful louse, a filthy old moneylender woman who brought no good to anyone, to murder whom would pardon forty sins, who sucked the lifeblood of the poor, and you call that a crime?" (3d). ♦ «[Саня] тоже зуб на Реваза имеет. Он из неё пять лет соки тянул» (Чернёнок 1). "She's [Sanya has] got it in for Revaz, too. He bled her dry for five years" (1a).

С-546 • ГОЛ КАК СОКО́Л coll [AdjP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, male); fixed WO] one is extremely poor: X гол как сокол ≃ X is (as) poor as a church mouse; X doesn't have a kopeck ⟨a penny⟩ to his name.

…Троекуров часто говаривал Дубровскому: «Слушай, брат, Андрей Гаврилович: коли в твоём Володьке будет путь, так отдам за него Машу; даром что он гол как сокол» (Пушкин 1). …Troekurov often used to say to Dubrovsky, "Listen, brother Andrey Gavrilovich, if your Volodka grows up with a head on his shoulders, he can marry my Masha. Never mind if he's as poor as a church mouse" (1c).

С-547 • В (СА́МОМ ⟨ПО́ЛНОМ⟩) СОКУ́ coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human) or non-agreeing modif] one is at the point in life when one's health and vigor are at their peak: in the prime of (one's) life; in one's prime.

«Да кто же мужчины носят корсет? — возражала Варвара, — никто не носит». — «Верига носит», — сказал Передонов. «Так Верига — старик, а ты, Ардальон Борисыч, слава богу, мужчина в соку» (Сологуб 1). "Whoever heard of a man wearing a corset," retorted Varvara. "No one wears one." "Veriga does," said Peredonov. "But Veriga's an old man, while you, Ardal'on Borisych, are thank God, in the prime of life" (1a).

С-548 • ВАРИ́ТЬСЯ В СО́БСТВЕННОМ СОКУ́ coll [VP; subj: human] to live, work etc alone or within a very small circle of people, often being deprived of the opportunity to confer with others or benefit from their experience: X варится в собственном соку ≃ X is left to his own resources; X is cut off from his colleagues ⟨fellow [NPs] etc⟩.

После окончания института молодой врач попал в маленькую сельскую больницу, где он варился в собственном соку, не имея возможности ни с кем посоветоваться. After graduating from medical school the young doctor ended up in a small country hospital, where he was left to his own resources, without anyone to consult with. ♦ В больнице теперь были новые правила: всех иностранцев перевели на один этаж, чтобы изолировать от «отечественных» больных. Только выходившие гулять в сад могли перекинуться словом с русским. Это раздражало иностранцев, варившихся в собственном соку (Аллилуева 2). [context transl] The hospital had new rules now: all foreigners had been moved to one floor, so as to isolate them from "native" patients. Only those who went for walks in the garden could exchange a few words with Russians. This annoyed the foreigners, who got tired of each other's company (2a).

< Apparently a loan translation (but with a different sense) of the French cuire dans son jus or the English "to stew in one's own juice." Both the French and the English idioms mean "to suffer the unpleasant consequences of one's own foolish actions."

С-549 • НАСЫ́ПАТЬ СО́ЛИ НА ХВОСТ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to do sth. vile, underhanded to s.o., create trouble for s.o.: X насыпал Y-у соли на хвост ≃ X did something nasty ⟨mean, lowdown etc⟩ to Y; X did Y dirt; X screwed Y.

С-550 • И НА СО́ЛНЦЕ ЕСТЬ ПЯ́ТНА [saying] a person or thing may be very good, but not without his or its imperfections or drawbacks: ≃ no one ⟨nothing⟩ is without his ⟨its⟩ faults; even the sun has spots; nobody's ⟨nothing is⟩ perfect; even Homer sometimes nods.

С-551 • ЗАЛИВА́ТЬСЯ/ЗАЛИ́ТЬСЯ ⟨РАЗЛИВА́ТЬСЯ, ПЕТЬ/ЗАПЕ́ТЬ⟩ СОЛОВЬЁМ ⟨КАК СОЛОВЕ́Й⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu impfv] 1. approv. Also: заливаться, петь КАК ЖА́ВОРОНОК (of s.o.'s) unaffected, modulating, and beautiful singing: X заливался соловьём ⟨как жаворонок⟩ ≃ X sounded ⟨sang, warbled⟩ like a nightingale ⟨a lark⟩.

2. often humor or iron to speak eloquently and with enthusiasm (usu. trying to impress s.o., win s.o. over to one's side etc): X заливался соловьём ≃ X warbled ⟨trilled away⟩ like a nightingale; X sang like a bird.

Эфрос разливался соловьём, доказывая, что без взаимной поддержки сейчас не прожить (Мандельштам 2). Efros trilled away like a nightingale, impressing upon us that, as things now were, we should survive only if we stuck together (2a).

С-552 • СОЛОВЬЯ́ БА́СНЯМИ НЕ КО́РМЯТ [saying] words should be supplemented and supported by sth. more tangible (usu. said by a host when interrupting a conversation in order to invite his guests to the table for food and drinks; by extension used to stress that talking is of little help when an object, service etc is being sought): ≃ fine words do not make full stomachs; fine ⟨fair⟩ words butter no parsnips; [lim.] actions speak louder than words.

«А теперь, я надеюсь, Арина Власьевна, что, насытив своё материнское сердце, ты позаботишься о насыщении своих дорогих гостей, потому что, тебе известно, соловья баснями кормить не следует» (Тургенев 2). "…And now, Arina Vlas'evna, I hope that having satiated your motherly heart you'll make ready to satiate our dear guests, for as you know fine words do not make full stomachs" (2e). "And now, Arina Vlasyevna, I hope that your maternal heart having had its fill, you will see about filling our dear guests, for, you know, fair words butter no parsnips" (2a).

С-553 • ХВАТА́ТЬСЯ/СХВАТИ́ТЬСЯ ЗА СОЛО́МИНКУ coll [VP; subj: human; more often impfv] to resort to obviously ineffectual measures in a desperate attempt to save o.s. or find a way out of a difficult situation: X хватается за соломинку ≃ X grasps ⟨clutches, catches⟩ at a straw ⟨at straws⟩.

«…Он спрашивает… почему я до сих пор не в партии. Не знаю, как отвечать, что-то мямлю, а он опять улыбается и сам подсказывает: „Считаете себя недостойным?" — „Да-да, — хватаюсь я за эту соломинку, — именно недостоин"» (Войнович 4). "Then he asked…: why hadn't I joined the Party yet? Not knowing what to answer, I mumbled something; he smiled again and supplied the answer himself: 'You consider yourself unworthy?' 'That's right,' I grasped at the straw. 'That's right, unworthy'" (4a).

< From the saying «Утопающий хватается (и) за соломинку» ("A drowning man will grasp ⟨clutch, catch⟩ at a straw"). See У-173.

С-554 • АТТИ́ЧЕСКАЯ СОЛЬ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] subtle, delicate wit or an elegant joke: Attic salt ⟨wit, humor⟩.

< From Attica, the name of a region in ancient Greece famous for the wit of its inhabitants. Attic Greek became the standard language of classical Greek literature in the 5th and 4th cents. B.C.

С-555 • СОЛЬ ЗЕМЛИ́ lit [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human or collect, sing or pl) or obj-compl with считать etc (obj: human or collect, sing or pl); fixed WO] a person or group of people whose character, moral qualities etc are considered to be extremely upstanding, worthy; the best, most valuable part of society: the salt of the earth.

Комсомольцы [в двадцатые годы] ещё чувствовали себя солью земли, но сознавали, что следует подсолониться культурой (Мандельштам 2). At that time [in the twenties] its [the Komsomol's] members still thought themselves the salt of the earth, though they recognized the need to pick up a smattering of "culture" (2a).

< From the Bible (Matt. 5:13).

С-556 • СЫ́ПАТЬ СОЛЬ НА РА́НЫ чьи ⟨РА́НУ чью⟩ [VP; subj: human] to say or do sth. that intensifies s.o.'s feelings of injury, embarrassment etc: X сыпал соль на Y-ову рану ≃ X rubbed salt in(to) Y's ⟨the⟩ wound; X rubbed it in.

С-557 • СБО́РНАЯ СОЛЯ́НКА coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a heterogeneous group of people or assortment of things: motley mixture ⟨medley, melange⟩; mishmash; hodgepodge; mixed bag; [of people only] motley crew; [lim.] omnium-gatherum.

На диске есть и классика, и народные песни, и джаз — настоящая сборная солянка. This disc features classical music, folk songs, and jazz—a real mishmash.

С-558 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ⟩ ПОД СОМНЕ́НИЕ что [VP; subj: human, collect, or abstr; usu. this WO] to question, challenge sth. (usu. some theory, evidence etc): X берёт под сомнение Y ≃ X casts doubt on Y; X calls Y into question.

…Великий Лев Толстой совершенно спокойно, не считаясь ни с чем, подверг уничтожающей критике самого Шекспира, взявши под сомнение не только ценность его мыслей, но и просто-напросто высмеяв его как весьма посредственного — точнее, никуда не годного — сочинителя (Катаев 3). …The great Leo Tolstoy… quite calmly and without regard for anything or anyone, had subjected Shakespeare himself to annihilating criticism, not only casting doubt on the value of his ideas but simply ridiculing him as an extremely mediocre, or rather, perfectly useless scribbler (3a).

С-559 • НЕ ПОДЛЕЖИ́Т СОМНЕ́НИЮ [VP; subj: abstr, often это or a clause] sth. is unquestionable, is undoubtedly true, cannot be refuted: X не подлежит сомнению ≃ X is indisputable ⟨incontestable, irrefutable, undeniable, incontrovertible⟩; X is not open to doubt; X is beyond question; [lim.] there is no doubt ⟨question⟩ about it; there is no doubt ⟨question⟩ about the fact that…

Этот анекдот, которого верность не подлежит ни малейшему сомнению, бросает… свет на характер Николая (Герцен 1). This anecdote, the truth of which is not open to the slightest doubt, throws… light on the character of Nicholas (1a). ♦ Не подлежит сомнению, что ещё год-другой и молодой фон Витте стал бы командующим ВСЮР'а [Вооружённых Сил Юга России]… (Аксёнов 7). [context transl] Another year or so and young General von Witte would doubtless have been named commander in chief of the armed forces of South Russia… (7a).

С-560 • БЕЗ ⟨ВНЕ⟩ (ВСЯ́КОГО) СОМНЕ́НИЯ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] undeniably, indisputably: no doubt; without (a) doubt; undoubtedly; doubtless(ly); without question; surely; to be sure; unquestionably.

В силу всего изложенного прокуратор просит первосвященника пересмотреть решение и оставить на свободе того из двух осуждённых, кто менее вреден, а таким, без сомнения, является Га-Ноцри (Булгаков 9). In view of all the above, the procurator was asking the high priest to review the decision and to release the less dangerous of the two condemned prisoners, which was, without question, Ha-Notsri (9c).

С-561 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ СКВОЗЬ СОН помнить, слышать, представлять что и т.п. [как etc + PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to remember, hear sth. etc) not altogether clearly, not quite distinctly: as (if) in a dream ⟨a trance⟩; vaguely.

Я ещё, как сквозь сон, помню следы пожара, остававшиеся до начала двадцатых годов… (Герцен 1). I still remember, as in a dream, the traces of the fire, which remained until early in the 'twenties… (1a).

С-562 • НА СОН ГРЯДУ́ЩИЙ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] before going to bed: before ⟨at⟩ bedtime; before one goes to sleep ⟨to bed⟩; as one is falling asleep; [lim.] bedtime [NP]; ‖ почитать кому (что) ~ ≃ read s.o. a bedtime story; read to s.o. before bed ⟨at bedtime⟩; [lim.] read s.o. to sleep.

С-563 • СЕДЬМО́Й ⟨ДЕСЯ́ТЫЙ и т.п.⟩ СОН СНИ́ТСЯ кому; СЕДЬМО́Й ⟨ДЕСЯ́ТЫЙ и т. п⟩ СОН ВИ́ДЕТЬ all coll [VP_{subj} (1st var.); VP, subj: human (2nd var.); the verb may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] s.o. has been sleeping soundly for a long time: X-у седьмой сон снится ≃ X has been dead to the world ⟨sleeping like a log, sleeping like a baby, (fast) asleep⟩ for hours ⟨for quite a while etc⟩.

С-564 • СКВОЗЬ СОН слышать, чувствовать что [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to hear, feel sth.) while one is sleeping: in one's sleep.

«Мне сквозь сон слышалось, что ты ночью с кем-то говорил по телефону» (Гроссман 2). "Did you phone someone last night? I thought I heard you in my sleep" (2a).

С-565 • СОН В РУ́КУ coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] a dream is subsequently enacted in real life: the dream comes true; my ⟨your etc⟩ dream was prophetic.

Судьба, будто продолжая наяву недавний сон в самолёте, настигла его [Золотарёва] здесь, в этом лагерном зимовье… «Сон в руку», — сглотнул он жаркую горечь в горле (Максимов 1). As if continuing in his waking moments the dream he [Zolotarev] had had recently on the plane, fate had caught him here, in this prison cabin…. "The dream comes true." He swallowed the searing bitterness that rose to his throat (1a).

С-566 • ЧТО СЕЙ СОН ЗНА́ЧИТ ⟨ОЗНАЧА́ЕТ⟩? obs, now humor [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used in refer. to some unusual or unexpected occurrence, action etc) how is this to be understood?: what does this mean?; what is this supposed to mean?

< A paraphrase of a line from Aleksandr Pushkin's poem "The Bridegroom" («Жених»), 1827: «Что ж твой сон гласит?» ("Well then, what was your dream about?"). In the poem the line refers to a dream; later the phrase came to refer to real events.

С-567 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ ⟨БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ⟩ В СООБРАЖЕ́НИЕ что obs [VP; subj: human or collect] to include (some facts, circumstances etc) in one's deliberations (when making a decision, plans, a judgment etc): X принял в соображение Y ≃ X took Y into consideration ⟨account⟩; X considered Y.

«Но ведь не убил же его [отца], ведь спас же меня ангел-хранитель мой — вот этого-то вы и не взяли в соображение…» (Достоевский 1). "But I didn't kill him [my father], my guardian angel saved me—that's what you haven't taken into consideration…" (1a).

С-568 • НИ С ЧЕМ НЕ СООБРА́ЗНЫЙ ⟨СООБРА́ЗЕН⟩ lit [AdjP; modif (var. with long-form Adj only) or subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr); fixed WO] (sth. is) senseless, illogical: (sth. is) utterly absurd ⟨nonsensical⟩; (sth. is) absolutely ridiculous ⟨ludicrous⟩; (sth. is) completely preposterous; (sth.) makes no sense; [lim.] (s.o.'s words ⟨thoughts etc⟩) are incongruous.

Что касается до внутреннего содержания «Летописца», то оно по преимуществу фантастическое и по местам даже почти невероятное в наше просвещённое время. Таков, например, ни с чем не сообразный рассказ о градоначальнике с музыкой (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). As concerns the Chronicle's subject matter, it is for the most part fantastical, and even, in places, nearly incredible to us in our enlightened epoch. Such, for example, is the utterly nonsensical tale of the town governor with the music (1a).

С-569 • В СОО́БЩЕСТВЕ С кем-чем lit [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] jointly with: together with; in association ⟨cooperation⟩ with; in company with.

В одном письме она видит его «ходящим по облаку» и утверждает, что не только она, но и Пфейфер это видел; в другом усматривает его в геенне огненной, в сообществе с чертями всевозможных наименований (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). In one letter she sees him "walking on a cloud" and claims that not only she but Pfeifer saw this; in another she observes him in hell fire, in company with devils of all possible appellations (1a).

С-570 • В СООТВЕ́ТСТВИИ С чем; В СОГЛА́СИИ С чем lit; СОГЛА́СНО С чем lit [PrepP (first two variants); these forms only; Prep; the resulting phrase is adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abst. or concr)] in agreement with (sth.): in accordance with; according to; in line with; in keeping with; in compliance with; in conformity with; consistent with; [lim.] as per; [when used as predic] suit (sth.).

Мы жили в полное своё удовольствие, каждый в соответствии со своими склонностями (Катаев 2). We lived just as we pleased, each of us in accordance with his taste (2a). ♦ …[Комиссия] обязана наблюдать, чтобы правление вершило свои дела в соответствии с волей большинства пайщиков… (Войнович 3). …[The committee is] charged with seeing to it that the board manages its affairs according to the will of the majority of the shareholders… (3a).

С-571 • СОПЛЁЙ ПЕРЕШИБЁШЬ (кого); СОПЛЁЙ ПЕРЕШИБИ́ТЬ МО́ЖНО both substand, derog [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing (1st var.) or impers predic with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); fixed WO] s.o. looks weak, feeble, as if he could easily be beaten in a physical conflict: X-а соплёй перешибёшь ≃ you could knock X down just by looking ⟨sneezing⟩ at him; you could knock X down ⟨split X in half etc⟩ with a ⟨one⟩ good sneeze; a ⟨one⟩ good sneeze could knock X down.

«Гляжу, рядом с вахтой офицерья навалом и все — навытяжку, а посреди них сидит себе на стульчике, покуривает плюгавенький такой шибздик [slang = недоросток] в полковничьей папахе, соплёй перешибёшь» (Максимов 1). "All around the guard-room there were crowds of officers and all of them were standing to attention, and in the middle, sitting smoking on a little stool, is a puny little runt in a colonel's coat. You could have knocked him down just by looking at him" (1a).

С-572 • РАСПУСКА́ТЬ/РАСПУСТИ́ТЬ СО́ПЛИ highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human] 1. not to wipe one's running nose: X распустил сопли ≃ X let his nose drip ⟨run⟩.

2. to whimper, complain in a whimpering manner (and often give up what one is trying to do): X распускает сопли ≃ X whines ⟨snivels⟩; X sits around ⟨here, there⟩ whining ⟨sniveling⟩.

Надо действовать, ребята, а не сопли распускать. Если сидеть, ныть и жаловаться друг другу — толку не будет. We've got to take action, guys, and not sit here sniveling. Whining and complaining to each other won't get us anywhere.

С-573 • НА СОПЛЯ́Х highly coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ дотягивать, тянуть и т.п. [adv] (to operate an automobile, airplane etc) on a fuel supply that is almost exhausted: (drive ⟨run⟩) on empty; (drive ⟨run⟩) on fumes.

2. держится, построено, сделано; сделать что и т.п. ~ [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. concr)] sth. is built (sth. is done, to do sth. etc) poorly, sth. is flimsily put together: jerry-built; sloppily (built ⟨done⟩); just thrown together; just hanging together; almost ⟨practically⟩ falling down ⟨falling apart⟩.

Лодку сделали на соплях, она затонула сразу же после спуска на воду. The boat was jerry-built, and it sank the minute it hit the water.

С-574 • В СОПРОВОЖДЕ́НИИ [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. ~ кого-чего along with another or others: в сопровождении X-а ≃ accompanied by X; in the company of X; followed by X; [lim.] escorted by X; with X behind him ⟨her etc⟩; (walk in ⟨show up etc⟩ with X; led by X; [with two other people, one at each side] в сопровождении X-а и Y-а ≃ flanked by X and Y.

Он представляет себя невидимкою и в этом виде мысленно инспектирует свои владения, в сопровождении старого Ильи, который ещё при папеньке, Владимире Михайловиче, старостой служил и давным-давно на кладбище схоронен (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). He imagines himself invisible and, in his mind, he invisibly inspects his properties, accompanied by old Ilya, who was village elder back in his father's time and lies long since buried in the graveyard (3a). ♦ Через пять минут жильцы дома, находившиеся во дворе, видели, как председатель в сопровождении ещё двух лиц проследовал прямо к воротам дома (Булгаков 9). Five minutes later the residents of the building who were in the courtyard at the time saw the chairman being led to the entrance-gates by two men (9c).

2. ~ чего (in refer. to a musical performer or performers) supported by (an instrument, ensemble etc): to the accompaniment of; accompanied by.

С-575 • ВЫНОСИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́НЕСТИ СОР ИЗ ИЗБЫ́ coll [VP; subj: human; often impfv infin with зачем, не надо, не стоит etc] to divulge arguments, squabbles etc occurring within one's family or a narrow circle of friends, coworkers etc: зачем выносить сор из избы ≃ why wash ⟨air⟩ your dirty linen ⟨laundry⟩ in public?; why tell tales out of school?; why expose your dirty laundry to the public gaze?

«Жена настаивала, чтобы я прямо звонил генеральному прокурору. Вероятно, так и следовало бы сделать, но мне, откровенно говоря, не хотелось выносить сор из избы…» (Войнович 6). "My wife told me to phone the prosecutor general immediately. That's probably what I should have done. But, frankly, I didn't want to wash our dirty linen in public" (6a).

С-576 • СОРАЗМЕ́РНО С чем [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is usu. adv] in proper relation to sth. else: in proportion to ⟨with⟩; commensurate with.

С-577 • СО́РОК СОРОКО́В (чего) old-fash [NP; fixed WO] a very large number of sth.: countless; a multitude of; numerous; a host of.

«Все мы исповедуем христианский закон прощения обид и любви к ближнему — закон, вследствие которого мы воздвигли в Москве сорок сороков церквей, а вчера засекли кнутом бежавшего человека…» (Толстой 5). "We all profess the Christian law of forgivness of injuries and love for our neighbor—the law in honor of which we have built countless churches in Moscow—but yesterday a deserter was whipped to death with the knout…" (5a).

< From the now archaic word «сорокъ», an old unit of count in Russia. Originally, «сорокъ» was a shirt used as a bag that held forty sable pelts, a full set for a fur coat. In Russian literature, esp. in poetry, the phrase is used in refer. to "forty times forty" churches in Moscow.

С-578 • ЗАЛА́ДИЛА ⟨ЗАТВЕРДИ́ЛА⟩ СОРО́КА Я́КОВА (ОДНО́ ПРО ВСЯ́КОГО) [saying] said to or of a person who repeats sth. again and again: ≃ you're ⟨he's etc⟩ like the proverbial magpie ⟨like the magpie in the proverb⟩ who keeps repeating (one and) the same thing over and over (again); you keep ⟨he keeps etc⟩ harping on the same string.

«Два рублика», — сказал Чичиков. «Эк право, затвердила сорока Якова одно про всякого, как говорит пословица; как наладили на два, так не хотите с них и съехать. Вы давайте настоящую цену!» (Гоголь 3). "Two roubles," said Chichikov. "Really, my dear sir, you're just like the magpie in the proverb who keeps repeating one and the same thing over and over again. You've got those two roubles on the brain and you can't get rid of them. Give me your real price" (3a).

С-579 • КАК СОРО́КА трещать, болтать и т.п. coll [как + NP; nom only; adv] (to talk) loudly, quickly, and too much: (chatter away) like a magpie; (talk) without coming up for air; [lim.] (talk) a mile a minute; (talk) a blue streak.

Под хохот публики легкомысленные жёны обманывали ворчливых дураков-мужей, и фарсовые сводницы-кумушки тарахтели как сороки (Булгаков 5). To the wild laughter of the audience, frivolous wives deceived their grumbling, stupid husbands, and comic bawds chattered away like magpies (5a).

С-580 • СОРО́КА НА ХВОСТЕ́ ПРИНЕСЛА́ coll [sent; Invar; usu. this WO] the source of the information in question is unknown or will not be disclosed (usu. used as a humorous or evasive answer to the question "How do you know that?"): a little bird(ie) told me.

С-581 • ПЕ́РВЫЙ СОРТ coll, approv [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any common noun), nonagreeing modif, or adv; fixed WO] superb, remarkable: first-rate; first-class; topnotch; second to none; A-one ⟨A-1⟩; grade A; couldn't be better.

[Гурмыжская:] Иван Петрович, хорошо это письмо написано? [Восьмибратов:] Первый сорт-с! (Островский 7). [G.:] Ivan Petrovich, is that letter written well? [V.:] First rate! (7a).

С-582 • с тобо́й ⟨с ва́ми, с ним и т.п.⟩ НЕ СОСКУ́ЧИШЬСЯ! coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only; fixed WO] addressed to or said in refer. to a person who has done or generally does sth. unexpected, bewildering, shocking etc: you're ⟨he's etc⟩ full of surprises!; aren't you ⟨isn't he etc⟩ full of surprises!; with you ⟨him etc⟩ there's never a dull moment; I'm never bored ⟨it's never boring⟩ when you are ⟨he is etc⟩ around.

[Сильва:] У меня батя большой шутник. С ним не соскучишься. Нет-нет да и что-нибудь выдаст. Вчера, например. Мне, говорит, надоели твои безобразия. На работе, говорит, испытываю из-за тебя эти… неловкости. На, говорит, тебе последние двадцать рублей, иди в кабак, напейся, устрой дебош, но такой дебош, чтобы я тебя год-два не видел!.. Ничего, а? (Вампилов 4). [S.:] My old man's a real joker. With him, there's never a dull moment. He's forever coming up with something. Like yesterday, for instance. He says to me, I'm tired of your antics. You make it embarrassing for me at work, he says. Here, he says, here's my last twenty rubles. Go to a bar and get drunk, and kick up a row, but such a row that I don't see you again for a couple of years!… Not bad, eh? (4b).

С-583 • ЗАБЛУДИ́ТЬСЯ В ТРЁХ СО́СНАХ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to fail to cope with a simple task, undertaking etc (e.g., to lose one's way in an uncomplicated place, get confused doing sth. easy etc): Х заблудился в трёх соснах ≃ (easy as it was ⟨although it was simple etc⟩,) X got lost ⟨(all) mixed up, (all) screwed up etc⟩; [in refer. to losing one's way only] X got lost in broad daylight; || Х может заблудиться в трёх соснах ≃ X could put two and two together and get three.

«Теперь эту кнопку нажимать?» — «Да нет, не эту, а ту. Опять ты в трёх соснах заблудился». "Now I push this button?" "No, not that one—this one. You've gotten all mixed up again."

С-584 • В ЗАЧА́ТОЧНОМ СОСТОЯ́НИИ находиться, быть$_{ø}$, пребывать media [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr) or sent adv; fixed WO] in a very early stage of development: in embryo; in an embryonic state.

С-585 • В ПОДВЕ́ШЕННОМ СОСТОЯ́НИИ быть$_{ø}$, находиться и т.п. or держать кого [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect, or проект, план etc) or obj-compl with держать (obj: usu. human or collect); fixed WO] (to be, find o.s. etc) in a state of doubt or apprehension because of a matter as yet undecided, dependent on a determination yet to be made by s.o.: in a state of uncertainty; in limbo; up in the air; (leave s.o. ⟨it etc⟩) hanging; [in refer to people only] (keep, hold, be etc) in suspense.

С-586 • В СОСТОЯ́НИИ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun, usu. human or collect); used with infin] a person (a group etc) has the ability, authority etc (to do sth.): X в состоянии сделать Y ≃ X can ⟨is able to⟩ do Y; X is capable of doing Y; X is in a position to do Y; doing Y is within X's capacity ⟨power⟩; || Neg X не в состоянии делать Y ≃ X is (quite) unable to do Y; X is incapable of doing Y; doing Y is beyond X's capacity; doing Y is not within X's power; X is not up to doing Y; [usu. in refer. to one's physical or mental health] person X is in no shape ⟨condition, state⟩ to do Y; X is not strong enough to do Y.

«Это [генерал Корнилов] кристальной честности человек, и только он один в состоянии поставить Россию на ноги» (Шолохов 3). "He [General Kornilov] is a man of perfect integrity and he and he alone is capable of putting Russia on her feet again" (3a). ♦ Он был не в состоянии думать о своих делах, хозяйственных распоряжениях… (Пушкин 1). …He was in no shape to take care of his affairs or manage his estate… (1a). He was in no condition to think about his affairs or the running of his estate… (1b). He was in no state to think about his affairs or take care of his property… (1c).

С-587 • ПОД РА́ЗНЫМИ ⟨ВСЯ́КИМИ⟩ СО́УСАМИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to present sth.) in various ways or forms (usu. concealing one's true intentions, the true state of affairs etc): under various ⟨varying, different⟩ pretexts ⟨guises⟩; in various guises; under one pretext or another; under ⟨in⟩ one guise or another; in different wrappers ⟨packages⟩.

С-588 • НИ ПОД КАКИ́М СО́УСОМ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with negated verbs; fixed WO] one will (or would) absolutely and positively not (do sth.): not under any circumstances; not for anything; no matter what; [lim.] no way.

Отсрочки мы тебе не дадим. Ни под каким соусом. Даже и не проси. We're not going to give you an extension, no matter what. Don't even bother asking.

С-589 • ПОД СО́УСОМ каким, каким-нибудь, другим, этим и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to present sth.) in the way specified (often disguising or concealing one's true intentions, the true state of affairs etc): под каким соусом ≃ under what guise; in what way; [lim.] under what pretext; || под каким-нибудь ⟨тем или иным⟩ соусом ≃ under some guise (or other); some way or other; [lim.] using some pretext (or other); using some excuse (or other); || под другим соусом ≃ under ⟨using⟩ a different guise ⟨pretext, excuse⟩; in a different way; in a different wrapper ⟨package⟩; || под этим соусом ≃ under this guise; in this way; [lim.] under this pretext; using this as an excuse.

«…Тебя из списка авторов [проекта] выкинут под каким-нибудь соусом» (Зиновьев 1). "…They'll remove your name from the list of artists and designers under some pretext or other" (1a).

С-590 • МЕ́ЛКАЯ СО́ШКА coll, usu. rather derog or condes [NP; usu. sing; often subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] a person or people occupying a low social or professional position: small fry; small potatoes; tiny cog(s) (in the machine ⟨in the wheel, in some department, in an organization etc⟩); a mere minnow.

«Странно. Начальник — и вдруг занимается такой мелкой сошкой, как я» (Семёнов 1). "That's queer. Fancy a boss suddenly taking an interest in small fry like me" (1a). ♦ …Корытов — всего лишь мелкая сошка в аппарате ЦК (Зиновьев 2). …Korytov was only a tiny cog in the Central Committee machine (2a).

С-591 • СПАСА́ЙСЯ, КТО МО́ЖЕТ [imper sent; Invar; fixed WO] (when a group of people is in a dangerous situation) each person must look after himself rather than depend on help from another: every man for himself; [lim.] run for your life ⟨for it⟩!

Такие эпохи порождают только индивидуализм, основанный на принципе «спасайся, кто может», а совсем не чувство личности (Мандельштам 2). Times such as these breed only individualism based on the principle "every man for himself," not a true sense of one's own worth (2a).

С-592 • СПАСЕНИЕ УТОПАЮЩИХ — ДЕЛО РУК САМИХ УТОПАЮЩИХ [saying] often humor when people find themselves in trouble, they should find a way to extricate themselves rather than expect help from others: ≃ self-preservation is the first law of nature; every man for himself; people in trouble are left to themselves; self-interest is the rule, self-sacrifice the exception.

С-593 • И НА ТОМ СПАСИ́БО; СПАСИ́БО И НА Э́ТОМ both coll [sent; these forms only; usu. this WO] although sth. (often some outcome) may not be entirely satisfactory, it does have at least some positive aspect(s) (as indicated) that the concerned person appreciates or should appreciate: that's (at least) something to be thankful for; that's something, at least; one should ⟨must⟩ be thankful ⟨grateful⟩ at least for that; thanks for that, anyway; [lim.] and one is lucky to get that (much).

[Лопахин:] Сколько она пришлёт? Тысяч сто? Двести? [Любовь Андреевна:] Ну… Тысяч десять-пятнадцать, и на том спасибо (Чехов 2). [L.:] How much is she sending? A hundred thousand roubles? Two hundred thousand? [Mrs. Ranevsky:] Oh, about ten or fifteen thousand, and we're lucky to get that much (2c).

С-594 • СПА́СУ ⟨-а⟩ НЕТ substand; СПАСЕ́НИЯ НЕТ coll [VP; impers] 1. ~ от кого-чего. Also: СПА́СУ НЕ СТА́ЛО substand it is impossible to avoid or rid o.s. of s.o. or sth. tiresome or bothersome: от X-а спасу нет ≃ there's no escaping X; you can't get away from ⟨get rid of⟩ X.

Они [Михаил и Дунярка] шли по проспекту Павлина Виноградова и молчали. Люди — нету спасенья от людей. Спереди, с боков, сзади (Абрамов 1). They [Mikhail and Dunyarka] walked in silence along Pavlin Vinogradov Prospekt. People—there was no escaping people—in front, behind, on all sides (1a).

2. [used as intensif] it is impossible to tolerate sth., overcome some desire etc: it's more than person X can stand ⟨take⟩; it's enough to drive person X crazy ⟨wild, nuts etc⟩; person X will die (if he doesn't do ⟨get etc⟩ sth.).

«Дай закурить. Спасу нет, хочу курить, а у меня кончились» (Распутин 1). "Give me a smoke. I'll die if I don't smoke and I'm out of cigarettes" (1a).

3. [used as intensif] (some quality is present or manifested) to a very high degree: incredibly; unbelievably; [in refer. to a negative quality only] unbearably.

С-595 • СБИВА́ТЬ/СБИТЬ СПЕСЬ ⟨ГО́НОР⟩ с кого or кому; СБИВА́ТЬ/СБИТЬ ФОРС coll; СШИБА́ТЬ/СШИБИ́ТЬ СПЕСЬ ⟨ФОРС⟩ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to make s.o. (who is overconfident, arrogant etc) less sure of himself, cause him to become more humble: X сбил с Y-а спесь ≃ X deflated Y's ego; X took ⟨brought, knocked⟩ Y down a peg (or two); X took Y down a notch; X cut Y down to size.

…[Александра Прокофьевна] называла его Гешей, как в старину, всячески сшибала с него спесь (Трифонов 3). …[Alexandra Prokofievna] called him Gesha as she did in the old days, and did everything she could to deflate his ego (3a). ♦ «Я вас ненавижу, товарищ Бабичев. Это письмо пишется, чтобы сбить вам спеси» (Олеша 2). "I hate you, Comrade Babichev. I'm writing this letter to bring you down a peg" (2a).

С-596 • НЕ К СПЕ́ХУ coll [PrepP; Invar; used without negation to convey the opposite meaning] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: дело, работа etc) or adv] some matter (job etc) is not pressing, need not be taken care of immediately: X не к спеху ≃ X isn't urgent; X can ⟨will⟩ wait; there's no (great) hurry ⟨rush⟩; || X к спеху ≃ X is needed ⟨wanted⟩ in a hurry; [as adv] urgently.

«Ах, маменька, маменька! Как это вы вдруг… на-тко! Капельку прихворнули — и уж духом упали! Всё будет! и к сироткам эстафету пошлём, и Петьку из Питера выпишем — всё чередом сделаем! Не к спеху ведь; мы с вами ещё поживём! да ещё как поживём-то!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). "Oh, really, Mother dear! What's the matter with you all at once! Just a teeny bit out of sorts and there you are losing heart! Everything will be seen to—we'll send to the girls by express and we'll fetch Petka from Petersburg, everything in its own good time! But there's no hurry: there's life before us yet, and what a life it will be!" (3a). ♦ «Я своих гусар не могу жертвовать. Трубач! Играй отступление!» Но дело становилось к спеху. Канонада и стрельба, сливаясь, гремели справа и в центре… (Толстой 4). "I cannot sacrifice my hussars. Bugler! Sound the retreat!" But matters were becoming urgent. The mingled sound of cannon and musketry thundered on the right and in the center… (4a).

2. кому ~ [impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] s.o. is not rushing, is not pressed for time: X-у не к спеху ≃ X is in no hurry ⟨rush⟩; there's no hurry ⟨rush⟩; X can wait.

[Аристарх:] Если вы, извиняюсь, здесь что-нибудь делали, ради Бога, пожалуйста, продолжайте. [Семён:] Ничего-с. Мне не к спеху (Эрдман 1). [A.:] If you, I beg your pardon, were doing something, by all means continue, please do. [S.:] Oh, that's all right. I'm in no hurry (1a).

С-597 • НЕ СПЕША́ [Verbal Adv; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) without rushing: unhurriedly; at a leisurely pace; leisurely; in no great rush; || он всё делает не спеша ≃ he always takes his time.

Он шёл по уснувшей улице не спеша, мурлыча под нос старую тягучую песню (Семёнов 1). He walked unhurriedly down the sleeping street, humming an old plaintive tune to himself (1a).

С-598 • ЗА СПИНО́Й ⟨-ю⟩ [PrepP; these forms only] 1. ~ (чьей, у кого) [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr)] (in refer. to spatial relations, usu. distance covered during a trip) sth. is already past: behind s.o.

К вечеру большая часть пути осталась у нас за спиной. By evening the greater part of the journey was behind us.

2. ~ (чьей, кого, у кого) [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr)] sth. is part of a person's past experience: X остался у Y-а за спиной ≃ X is behind Y; Y has X behind him; Y has been through X; Y has X under Y's belt.

Он завидовал им [бойцам, вырвавшимся из вражеского окружения,] и готов был, кажется, принять на себя даже некоторую их небезупречность, чтоб только знать, что за его спиной тоже — бои, обстрелы, переправы (Солженицын 4). He envied them [soldiers who had escaped from enemy encirclement] and would have been prepared to share their somewhat tarnished reputation if only he could say that he had been through the same fighting, shellfire, and river crossings that they had (4a).

3. жить, сидеть и т.п. ~ чьей, (у) кого coll, often disapprov [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is under s.o.'s care, protection: X живёт ~ у Y-а ≃ X depends on Y for support; X is Y's dependent; X has Y to take care of X; X lives off Y; || X живёт за чужой спиной ≃ X has someone else to take care of him; X lives off someone else.

4. ~ чьей, (у) кого disapprov [adv] without s.o.'s knowledge, secretly: behind s.o.'s back.

Кукуша складывала в папку какие-то бумаги и удалялась, а кто и что судачил там за спиной, её не очень-то волновало (Войнович 6). Kukusha would throw some papers into a folder and leave. What people said behind her back did not greatly concern her (6a).

С-599 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ЗА СПИНО́Й чьей, (у) кого [VP; subj: human] to direct and support s.o.'s actions secretly: за Y-овой спиной стоит X ≃ X is behind Y.

Ревкин понял, что Ермолкину и тем, кто стоит за его спиной, пора показать характер (Войнович 4). Revkin realized that it was time to show some muscle to Ermolkin and those behind him (4a).

С-600 • ГНУТЬ СПИ́НУ[1] (на кого); ЛОМА́ТЬ СПИ́НУ; ГНУТЬ ⟨ЛОМА́ТЬ⟩ ГОРБ; ГНУТЬ ХРЕБЕ́Т all coll [VP; subj: human] to work, labor to the point of exhaustion, wear o.s. out with hard, usu. menial, work (usu. in an attempt to earn enough money to live on, often with the implication that one is being exploited by s.o.): X гнёт спину ≃ X is breaking his back; X is working his fingers to the bone; X is working his tail off.

…Орозкул ненавидит свою жизнь… Эта жизнь для таких, как Расторопный Момун. Ему-то что надо, Момуну? Сколько живёт, столько и горб гнёт изо дня в день, без отдыха. И в жизни ни один человек не был у него в подчинении… (Айтматов 1). …Orozkul hated his life…. It was a life for people like Efficacious Momun. What did he need for himself, that Momun? As long as he lived he'd break his back day after day without a breather. In his whole life, he never had anyone under him… (1b).

С-601 • ГНУТЬ СПИ́НУ[2] ⟨ШЕ́Ю⟩ перед кем; ГНУТЬ ХРЕБЕ́Т both coll [VP; subj: human] to act in a servile manner, fawn on s.o.: X гнёт спину перед Y-ом ≃ X kowtows to Y; X cringes before Y; X bows and scrapes to ⟨before⟩ Y; X falls all over Y.

С-602 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ СПИ́НУ (кому) coll [VP] 1. [subj: human] to turn away from s.o., showing one's reluctance to speak with him or one's disdain for him (may imply walking away from him as well): X показал (Y-у) спину ≃ X turned his back on Y; X turned his back and walked away; X turned away (from Y); X showed his back to Y.

Первые же слова Егорши: «Здорово, невеста!» — …полымем одели её [Лизкины] щёки. Но она не растерялась: «Проваливай! Чего здесь не видал?»… «Проваливай, говорю! Нечего тебе тут делать», — ещё строже сказала Лизка и, недолго думая, показала спину (Абрамов 1). Egorsha's first words—"Hi there, fiancée!"—…brought a blush to her [Lizka's] cheeks. But she did not lose her head. "Get lost! What do you want around here?" … "Get lost, I tell you! There's nothing here for you," said Lizka more sternly, and without further ado she turned her back on him (1a).

2. Also: ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ ТЫЛ obs, coll [subj: human or collect] to run away, quickly retreat (often from the enemy): X показал (Y-у) спину ≃ X turned tail (on Y); X beat a (hasty) retreat; X made tracks ⟨a quick exit⟩; X cleared out in a hurry.

С-603 • ПРЯ́ТАТЬСЯ/СПРЯ́ТАТЬСЯ ЗА чью СПИ́НУ ⟨ЗА ЧУЖУ́Ю СПИ́НУ, ЗА ДРУГИ́Х⟩ coll, usu. derog [VP; subj: human] to avoid taking responsibility or answering for sth. by letting another take the blame or responsibility: X прячется за Y-ову ⟨за чужую⟩ спину ≃ X hides behind Y's ⟨someone else's⟩ back; [lim.] X lets Y take the rap ⟨the heat⟩.

«Мне легче будет, если я отвечу за свою вину, чем спрячусь за чью-то спину» (Тендряков 1). "I would rather take my share of the blame than hide behind someone else's back" (1a).

С-604 • НЕ РАЗГИБА́ТЬ СПИНЫ́ coll [VP, subj: human; often Verbal Adv не разгибая, used with работать, трудиться etc] to work without respite: X не разгибает спины ≃ X works without a break ⟨without letup⟩; X works nonstop.

…Дедушка сам работал не разгибая спины, и от других требовал того же… (Рыбаков 1). Grandfather himself worked without letup and he demanded the same of the others (1a).

С-605 • ЧЁРНЫЙ СПИ́СОК [NP; fixed WO] a list of politically unreliable or otherwise undesirable people, secretly prepared for reprisals, denial of certain privileges or awards etc; by extension any items denied a more desirable status: blacklist; black book; || X попал ⟨X-а занесли⟩ в чёрный список ≃ X was blacklisted; X ⟨X's name⟩ was put on a blacklist ⟨in the black book⟩.

…Не мне уподобляться господину Колесникову, слепому, и охрипшему, и безумному. Вот хорошая пара хромоножке. Представляю, как они, соединившись, били бы посуду, выясняя, кого занести в чёрный список… (Окуджава 2). It is not for me to emulate Mr. Kolesnikov, who is blind, and hoarse, and mad. He's a fine match for my Hobbler. I can just see them working together, breaking all the dishes, deciding whom to blacklist… (2a).

С-606 • СПИТ И ВИ́ДИТ (что); СПИТ И ВО СНЕ ВИ́ДИТ both coll [VP; subj: human; often foll. by a что-, как-, or когда-clause; usu. pres; fixed WO] one wants sth. very much, longs for sth.: X спит и видит Y ≃ X dreams of getting ⟨doing⟩ Y; X is dying ⟨itching, aching⟩ to do ⟨to get⟩ Y; X's heart's desire is to do ⟨to get⟩ Y; X can't wait for Y ⟨to do Y⟩.

Ради того, чтобы скопить на мотоцикл, мужик будет ходить в последних штанах…; он спит и видит себя с мотоциклом, и на заплатки на штанах ему наплевать (Распутин 1). A muzhik would walk about in ragged trousers so as to save up money for a motorcycle. What did he care about patches when his heart's desire was to own a motorcycle? (1a). ♦ «…Сплю и вижу тот день, когда этот комбинат рядышком станет, рабочий класс вокруг него поселится» (Тендряков 1). "I can't wait for the day when the factory over there gets started and there'll be workers living all around" (1a).

С-607 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ ⟨ПЯ́ТАЯ, ДЕСЯ́ТАЯ⟩ СПИ́ЦА В КОЛЕСНИ́ЦЕ coll, condes or rather derog [NP; usu. sing; usu. subj-compl with быть$_0$ (subj: human); fixed WO] one is very insignificant with respect to position, status, role in sth. etc: a mere ⟨tiny⟩ cog in the machine ⟨the wheel⟩; (just) a cog in the wheel; low man on the totem pole.

Он дал нам понять, что у себя на работе он не последняя спица в колеснице. He made it clear to us that at work he was not low man on the totem pole.

С-608 • КАК СПИ́ЧКА (худой, тощий и т.п.) coll [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] extremely (skinny): (as) (thin ⟨spindly etc⟩) as a matchstick ⟨a rail⟩; (one is) a toothpick.

Старшая девочка, лет девяти, высокенькая и тоненькая как спичка… стояла в углу подле маленького брата… (Достоевский 3). The elder daughter, about nine, stood in the corner by the side of her small brother. She was rather tall, and spindly as a matchstick… (3b).

С-609 • СПЛОШЬ И ⟨ДА⟩ РЯ́ДОМ coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] very frequently: time and again; over and over again; all the time; (very) often.

[Бакченин:] Сплошь да рядом, чтоб вы знали, выигрывает отчаянный, а осторожный пропадает (Панова 1). [B.:] Time and again, let me tell you, the daredevil gets through where the cautious man gets caught (1a).

С-610 • ОЛИМПИ́ЙСКОЕ СПОКО́ЙСТВИЕ lit [NP; fixed WO] complete calm, imperturbability: Olympian calm.

Завидую его самообладанию. Когда мы спорим, я обычно злюсь, а он сохраняет олимпийское спокойствие. I envy his self-possession. When we argue, I usually get angry, while he maintains an Olympian calm.

< From Mount Olympus in Greece, the name of the abode of the Gods in Greek mythology.

С-611 • НА СПОР coll; НА ПАРИ́ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to do sth.) so as to fulfill the terms of a bet in order to win that bet: on a bet ⟨a wager⟩.

Ходила легенда, что Вахтанг однажды на спор выпрыгнул в море из окна бильярдной (Искандер 5). Legend had it that Vakhtang, on a bet, had once dived into the sea from the billiard room window (5a).

С-612 • НЕ СПО́РЮ; КТО СПО́РИТ; НИКТО́ НЕ СПО́РИТ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to express agreement with a particular statement: I won't ⟨don't⟩ deny it ⟨that…⟩; I won't ⟨don't⟩ dispute it ⟨that…⟩; I won't ⟨don't⟩ argue; who ⟨no one⟩ would ⟨could⟩ deny ⟨dispute⟩ it; nobody denies ⟨is denying⟩ that; I ⟨I'll⟩ grant you; granted.

[Серебряков:] Да, имение принадлежит Соне. Кто спорит? Без согласия Сони я не решусь продать его (Чехов 3). [S.:] The estate does belong to Sonya. Nobody's denying that. I should never presume to sell it without Sonya's consent (3b). ♦ «Свистнуто, не спорю, — снисходительно заметил Коровьев, — действительно свистнуто, но, если говорить беспристрастно, свистнуто очень средне!» (Булгаков 9). "That was a real whistle, I won't argue," remarked Korovyov condescendingly, "a real whistle, but objectively speaking, it was pretty mediocre!" (9c). "You whistled, I grant you," said Koroviev condescendingly. "But frankly it was a very mediocre whistle" (9b).

С-613 • СПРАВЕДЛИ́ВОСТИ РА́ДИ надо сказать, следует заметить и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] looking at a situation objectively and making an honest assessment: in (all) fairness; to be fair; it's only fair (to…).

Справедливости ради надо сказать, что он как будто понял со слов Самони, что такое прибавочная стоимость, но проявил неожиданную враждебность к экономическому гению… (Улицкая 1). To be fair, he did seem to have grasped from Sam's account what surplus value was, but displayed an unexpected hostility to the young economic genius… (1a).

С-614 • (НУ) Я́ ВАС ⟨ТЕБЯ́⟩ СПРА́ШИВАЮ! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express strong surprise at, displeasure with etc a person's actions or words: (well,) I ask you.

«Нет, это что такое за безобразие, я тебя спрашиваю… В выходные льёт дождь!» (Ерофеев 3). "Now what kind of a disgrace is this, I ask you? Rain on a holiday!" (3a).

С-615 • ТЕБЯ́ ⟨ВАС⟩ НЕ СПРА́ШИВАЮТ coll, rather rude [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] (used to cut s.o. off when he is expressing his opinion) your opinion is of no interest to me or us: nobody ⟨no one⟩ asked you; keep your opinion to yourself; don't speak until ⟨unless⟩ you're spoken to; who asked you?; who needs ⟨wants, asked for⟩ your opinion?!

Баба вдруг подала голос из-за решётки: «Ты вспомни получше, мальчонка. Милиция — она хорошая, она чужого не берёт». — «Сиди, сиди, Кутузова, — сказал ей старшина, — тебя не спрашивают» (Владимов 2). Suddenly the old girl behind the bars piped up: "Try hard to remember, lad. The police are all right, they don't pinch other people's things." "Go and sit down, Kutuzova," the sergeant said. "Nobody asked you" (2a).

С-616 • ЗА СПРОС ДЕ́НЕГ НЕ БЕРУ́Т [saying] inquiring about sth., asking for sth. (esp. a price) etc will not create any obligations for the person asking: it won't hurt ⟨it never hurts⟩ to ask; (there's) no harm in asking; asking is free (of charge); it doesn't cost anything (just) to ask.

С-617 • БЕЗ СПРО́СА ⟨-у⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to do sth.) without having asked for the consent of the person in charge (at work—one's superior, at home—one's parents etc): without asking (permission ⟨for s.o.'s permission etc⟩); without (s.o.'s) permission ⟨leave⟩.

…Распоряжаться без спроса хлебниковским именем не имел права никто (Лившиц 1). Nobody had the right to use Khlebnikov's name without permission (1a).

С-618 • ИЗ-ПОД СПУ́ДА извлечь, вынуть что и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to take out etc sth.) retrieving it after it had been forgotten about or hidden away: dig up ⟨out⟩ sth.; pull out sth.

Для того чтобы очистить официальную историю гражданской войны от искажений и лжи, историкам нужно извлечь из-под спуда хранящиеся в архивах свидетельства очевидцев и тщательно изучить их. In order to purge the official history of the Civil War of distortions and lies, historians must dig eyewitness accounts out of the archives and study them carefully.

С-619 • ПОД СПУ́ДОМ держать что, лежать, оставаться и т.п.; ПОД СПУД класть что obs [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. concr or abstr, occas. human or collect), obj-compl with держать etc (obj: usu. concr or abstr, occas. human or collect), or adv] (to keep sth., be, remain) concealed, stored away (for later use or because one does not want it known about): under wraps; hidden (away).

«С той поры, как только началась позиционная война, казачьи полки порассовали по укромным местам и держат под спудом до поры до времени» (Шолохов 3). "Ever since this positional warfare started, the Cossacks have been tucked away in safe corners and are being kept under wraps until such time as they are needed" (3a). ♦ Я когда-то читала заветную повестушку Зенкевича, написанную после гибели Гумилёва… Он хранит рукопись под спудом и никому её не показывает (Мандельштам 2). I once read a manuscript written by Zenkevich after the death of Gumilev…. He now keeps his manuscript hidden away and never shows it to anyone (2a).

С-620 • НЕ ДАВА́ТЬ/НЕ ДАТЬ СПУ́СКУ ⟨-а⟩ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to make no allowances for s.o., not let s.o.'s acts, misdeeds, or offenses go unpunished: X не даёт спуску Y-у ≃ X doesn't give Y a break; X gives Y no quarter; [lim.] X lets Y have it (when X has the chance).

«Мы с ним всю войну дружили. Это был великолепный лётчик и прекрасный товарищ… Он очень гордый парень был и в воздухе никому спуска не давал, но и мандраж этот перед начальством у него был» (Искандер 5). "He and I were buddies all through the war. A magnificent pilot and an excellent comrade…. He was a very proud guy and gave no quarter to anyone in the air, but he got the shakes in front of big shots" (5a).

С-621 • СПУТНИК ⟨СПУ́ТНИЦА⟩ ЖИЗНИ old-fash, lit [NP; fixed WO] one's (or s.o.'s) spouse: partner (in life); life partner; life's companion ⟨life-companion⟩.

«Любовь к будущему спутнику жизни, к мужу, должна превышать любовь к брату», — произнёс он сентенциозно… (Достоевский 3). "Love for one's future partner in life, one's husband, ought to exceed love for one's brother," he pronounced sententiously… (3a). "Love for one's future life-companion, a future husband, ought to exceed the love for one's brother," he pronounced sententiously… (3c).

С-622 • НЕ ИДТИ́ В СРАВНЕ́НИЕ ⟨НИ В КАКО́Е СРАВНЕ́НИЕ⟩ с кем-чем; НЕ ПОДДАВА́ТЬСЯ НИКАКО́МУ СРАВНЕ́НИЮ; НЕ ВЫДЕ́РЖИВАТЬ (НИКАКО́ГО) СРАВНЕ́НИЯ [VP; subj: any noun; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be so different from someone or something else that no comparison can be drawn (often because one of the people, things etc is far superior to the other): X не идёт ни в какое сравнение с Y-ом ≃ X can't compare with Y; X is in no way comparable to Y; there's no comparing X and Y; X is nothing compared with ⟨to⟩ Y; X is nothing in comparison with Y.

…Девушка не шла ни в какое сравнение с Фаиной… (Битов 2). …The girl couldn't compare with Faina… (2a).

С-623 • ПО СРАВНЕ́НИЮ с кем-чем; В СРАВНЕ́НИИ; СРАВНИ́ТЕЛЬНО С [PrepP (first two variants); these forms only; Prep; the resulting phrase is adv] when (a person, thing etc is) compared with (another person, thing etc): (as) compared with ⟨to⟩; in comparison with ⟨to⟩; [lim.] by comparison; [when comparing s.o. or sth. to someone or something else previously encountered] after…

Должно быть, слова в старину читались медленнее и произносились значительнее. По сравнению с позднейшей убористой печатью, на странице помещалось мало знаков (Терц 3). In the old days people probably read much more slowly and put much greater meaning into words. Compared to the very close print of a later age, there were fewer letters to a page (3a). ♦ …[В общежитии] горячей воды… ванной или душа не было. Но всё-таки условия по сравнению с теми, которые мне пришлось испытать до тех пор, были вполне приличными (Войнович 1). …[In the hostel] there was… no hot water, no bath or shower. But after the conditions in which I had been living, these were entirely decent (1a).

С-624 • ПРОДА́ТЬ ⟨ПРЕДА́ТЬ⟩ ЗА ТРИ́ДЦАТЬ СРЕ́БРЕНИКОВ кого lit [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to betray s.o. out of base mercenary considerations: X продал Y-а за тридцать сребреников ≃ X sold ⟨betrayed⟩ Y for thirty pieces of silver.

< From the Bible (Matt. 26:15).

С-625 • ТРИ́ДЦАТЬ СРЕ́БРЕНИКОВ lit [NP; fixed WO] payment received for betraying s.o. (out of base, mercenary considerations): thirty pieces of silver.

Именно показания [его] жены [Риммы] дали основание для вынесения ему смертного приговора. За всё это Римма получила тридцать сребреников реальных в виде постоянных передач, и тридцать — иллюзорных, в виде обещаний дать ей… не тюрьму, не лагерь, а только ссылку, да ещё всего на три года (Гинзбург 1). It was the evidence supplied by his wife [Rimma] which had sent him to his death. She was rewarded with thirty genuine pieces of silver in the form of permission to get any number of parcels, and thirty false ones—a promise she would not be sent to prison or to camp, but only into exile, and only for a maximum of three years at that (1b).

С-626 • В СРЕ́ДНЕМ [PrepP; Invar; adv or sent adv] as an approximate mean: on (the ⟨an⟩) average; [lim.] (there is) an average of…; average.

…Комиссия закончила работу и выяснила, что в среднем на каждое жилое строение Бишофсберга приходилось по 9 1/37 флага… (Федин 1). …The commission had completed its work and announced that there was an average of 9 1/37 flags on every inhabited structure in Bischofsberg… (1a).

С-627 • НЕ ПО СРЕ́ДСТВАМ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ жить, одеваться и т.п. [adv] (to live, dress etc) spending more money than one's salary or income allows: X живёт ~ ≃ X lives beyond his means; X exceeds his means; X spends more than he can afford.

Поначалу он долго, с ненужными подробностями, рассказывал биографию, затем стал жаловаться, как дурно влиял на него живущий не по средствам дядя… (Чернёнок 1). At first he gave his biography at length, sparing no details, then began complaining what a bad influence his uncle, who lived beyond his means, was on him… (1a).

2. ~ кому [subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. concr or infin)] sth. costs more than s.o. can pay: X Y-y ~ ≃ X is more than Y can afford; X is out of Y's reach ⟨price range⟩.

С-628 • ДА́Й(ТЕ) СРОК coll [imper sent; these forms only; fixed WO] wait for some time to pass (and sth. will be accomplished, will happen): give me ⟨him etc⟩ time; just (you) wait; (you) wait a bit; wait a little bit.

С-629 • МОТА́ТЬ ⟨ОТМА́ТЫВАТЬ/ОТМОТА́ТЬ⟩ СРОК slang [VP; subj: human] to serve a prison sentence: X мотает срок ≃ X is doing time.

С-631 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ СТА́ВКУ на кого-что [VP; subj: human] to rely on some person (thing, character trait etc) to produce some desired result, to put one's hopes in s.o. or sth. with an aim toward a certain goal: X делает ставку на Y-а ≃ X counts ⟨banks⟩ on Y; X puts his trust in Y; X gambles ⟨puts his chips⟩ on Y; [lim.] X stakes his all on thing Y; X hitches his (own) fortune to person Y.

…На него [Кирова] теперь делают они главную свою ставку, так же как в своё время делали ставку на товарища Сталина, чтобы устранить Троцкого (Рыбаков 2). …He [Kirov] was the only one they were banking on now, just as they had once banked on Comrade Stalin as a means of getting rid of Trotsky (2a). ♦ «Отдайте письмо!» — выбросила она [начальница лагеря] мне в лицо сквозь свои длинные зубы. Конечно, можно бы сказать: не знаю, может, выронили? Но я почему-то делаю ставку на пристрастие начальницы к честности (Гинзбург 2). "Hand back the letter!" she [the camp commandant] hissed at me through her long teeth. I could, of course, have said, "I don't know anything about it—perhaps you dropped it." But for some reason I put my trust in her passion for honesty (2a).

С-632 • КАК СТА́ДО БАРА́НОВ идти, двигаться, следовать за кем и т.п. derog [как + NP; adv; fixed WO] (to go, move, follow s.o. etc) as an unorganized crowd and blindly, without thinking: like (a flock of) sheep; like (a herd of) cattle.

Когда двери балагана отворились и пленные, как стадо баранов, давя друг друга, затеснились в выходе, Пьер пробился вперёд их и подошёл к тому самому капитану, который, по уверению капрала, готов был всё сделать для Пьера (Толстой 7). When that door was opened and the prisoners, crowding against one another like a flock of sheep, squeezed into the exit, Pierre pushed his way forward and approached that very captain who as the corporal had assured him was ready to do anything for him (7b).

С-633 • ВО ЧТО́ БЫ ТО НИ СТА́ЛО [Invar; adv or, less often, nonagreeing modif; usu. used with pfv infin (and a word expressing need, determination, intent etc) or with pfv fut; fixed WO] (used to express the necessity for sth., or the determination, desire etc of a person or group to accomplish sth.) regardless of what obstacles might arise or how difficult the undertaking might turn out to be: whatever ⟨no matter what⟩ the cost; at all costs; no matter what; cost what it might; (do) whatever it takes; [lim.] come what may.

Она сидела на перилах веранды, озарённая солнцем, сильная девушка, и ни капли не скрывала своего намерения во что бы то ни стало выжить (Искандер 3). She sat on the veranda railing, a strong young woman illuminated by the sun, and made no secret of the fact that she intended to survive, whatever the cost (3a). ♦ И сейчас [в военное время] бабка решила во что бы то ни стало на пасху печь куличи (Кузнецов 1). And now, though it was wartime, my grandmother decided that, come what may, she was going to bake Easter cakes (1b).

С-634 • СТА́ЛО БЫТЬ [Invar; sent adv (often parenth); can be preceded by coord Conj («и», «а») or used (with раз, если, коли etc) as part of a correlative subord Conj, usu. resultative; fixed WO] accordingly: then; so; therefore; it follows that; consequently; hence; [lim.] which means; you mean…?; does that mean…?; apparently; must [+ infin].

«На мой вопрос, не выплачивались ли кому деньги во дворце Каифы, мне сказали категорически, что этого не было». — «Ах так? Ну, что же, не выплачивались, стало быть, не выплачивались» (Булгаков 9). "When I asked whether anyone had been paid at Kaiyapha's palace, I received a categorical denial." "Ah, so? Well, then, if no one was paid, then no one was paid" (9a). ♦ «Много у нас всякого шуму было! — рассказывали старожилы… Многие даже в Сибирь через это самое дело ушли!» — «Стало быть, были бунты?» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "We had quite a to-do!" recounted the old-time residents. "…There were many even went to Siberia thanks to this thing!" "You mean there were rebellions?" (1a).

С-635 • С НЕГО́ ⟨с них, с тебя и т.п.⟩ СТА́НЕТСЯ! coll, usu. disapprov [indep. sent; these forms only; fixed WO] in the opinion of the speaker, the action in question, whether real or hypothetical, no matter how unusual or extreme, can be expected from the person mentioned: с X-ов станется ≃ I wouldn't put it past Xs (to do sth.); it ⟨that⟩ would be just ⟨quite⟩ like Xs (to do sth.); Xs are quite capable of that ⟨doing sth.⟩; [lim.] with Xs ⟨people like X⟩ it does happen.

«От них всего можно ждать. Антипов недолюбливает меня. С них станется, что в один прекрасный день они меня и даже Пашу уничтожат во имя высшей революционной справедливости» (Пастернак 1). "They are capable of anything. Antipov doesn't like me. It would be quite like them to destroy me and even Pasha one of these days in the name of higher revolutionary justice" (1a). ♦ «Это мужик от любви не помрёт, а бабы, знаешь, с них станется» (Владимов 2). "Men don't die for love, but with women, you know, it does happen" (2a).

С-636 • (И) СТАР И МАЛ ⟨МЛАД⟩; (И) СТА́РЫЙ И МА́ЛЫЙ all coll [NP; usu. subj (all variants) or obj (last var.); fixed WO] everyone, without regard to age: (the) young and (the) old; old and young ⟨young and old⟩ alike.

…Давно надо было свозить её [жену] на станцию вставить эти самые металлические зубы, теперь все, и стар и млад, ходят с такими… (Айтматов 2). He should have taken her [his wife] to the town long ago to have some of those metal teeth fitted. Everyone wore them now, young and old (2a).

С-637 • РА́Д(Ы) СТАРА́ТЬСЯ [predic; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. obs, mil [1st pers only (subj omitted)] a soldier's (or soldiers') acknowledgment of commendation in the old army: at your command, sir!; thank you, sir!

2. obsoles, coll [1st pers only] (used to express the speaker's or speakers' willingness to make every possible effort to please s.o., usu. the interlocutor) I (or we) will try very hard to please you: I'll ⟨we'll⟩ do my ⟨our⟩ best.

3. usu. а ты ⟨он и т.п.⟩ (и) рад стараться coll, humor or iron [pres only] to engage in an activity to a greater extent than is permitted or expected: a X рад стараться ≃ but ⟨and⟩ X goes overboard; but X doesn't know when to stop; and X is only too willing to oblige ⟨cooperate, accommodate⟩; and X is more than ready to oblige ⟨cooperate etc⟩; and X is (only too) happy to help ⟨oblige etc⟩.

Я Мите разрешила только попробовать торт, а он рад стараться — добрую половину съел. I gave Mitya permission just to taste the cake, but he went overboard and ate a good half of it.

С-638 • ПО СТАРИ́НКЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. ~ жить, одеваться и т.п. Also: ПО СТАРИНЕ́ (to live, dress etc) according to the tastes or customs of a former time: (in) the old-fashioned way; as in (the) olden days; in the old style.

Комната притаилась, по старинке убранная прожившей в этом доме полжизни нянькой (Федин 1). The room remained hushed, furnished in the old style by Nanny who had lived half her life in it (1a).

2. (to do sth., usu. one's job) using old, outdated methods: the way it was done in the old(en) days; (in) the (good) old-fashioned way; [lim.] the way they did it in the good old days.

Когда надо было что-нибудь сосчитать, бабушка делала это по старинке, на счётах. When something had to be calculated, Grandma did it the way it was done in the olden days—on an abacus. ♦ Ничего, подумал Грушин, пусть с младых ногтей приучается к аккуратности, сам потом спасибо скажет. Ишь, моду взяли—стальным пером калякать, и это высокому-то начальству. Нет, голубчик, ты уж не спеша, по старинке, гусиным пёрышком, со всеми росчерками и крендельками (Акунин 8). Never mind, thought Grushin. Let him get into neat habits early; he'll be grateful for it later. The very idea of it—scraping away with a steel nib on a report for the top brass. Oh, no, my friend, you just take your time and do it the good old-fashioned way with a goose quill, with all the curlicues and flourishes (8a).

С-639 • ТРЯХНУ́ТЬ СТАРИНО́Й coll [VP; subj: human; more often this WO] to undertake the same thing(s) or do sth. in the same manner as one did earlier, usu. in one's youth: X тряхнёт стариной ≃ X will revive ⟨relive, bring back⟩ a bit of the past; X will go back for a taste of the past ⟨the good old days etc⟩; X will go back to the good old days ⟨to his youth etc⟩; [lim.] X will go back to his old trade ⟨hobby etc⟩; X will rake ⟨dredge⟩ up the old skills.

…Ребров предложил скинуться, по трёшке, купить пару бутылок, сырку, колбаски. А он знает тут неподалеку отличное местечко. Мы так и сделали, — решили тряхнуть стариной, как выразился Безымянный («Давненько не пил из горла!») (Зиновьев 2). …Rebrov proposed that we each chip in three roubles and buy a couple of bottles and some cheese and sausage. And he knew just the place near by. So that's what we did—decided, as Nameless put it, to go back to the good old days ("it's quite a while since I drank straight from the bottle") (2a). ♦ «Ведь я, ты знаешь, от [врачебной] практики отказался, а раза два в неделю приходится стариной тряхнуть… Докторов здесь совсем нет» (Тургенев 2). "You know, I don't practice [medicine] anymore, but two or three times a week I'm obliged to relive the past… There aren't any doctors around here" (2g).

С-640 • КТО СТА́РОЕ ПОМЯ́НЕТ ⟨ВСПОМЯ́НЕТ⟩, ТОМУ́ ГЛАЗ ВОН [saying] past offenses should be forgiven and forgotten: ≃ let bygones be bygones.

[Купавина:] Я очень жалею, Меропа Давыдовна, что подала вам повод к неудовольствию. [Мурзавецкая:] Кто старое помянет, тому глаз вон (Островский 5). [K.:] I'm sorry, Meropia Davydovna, that I gave you cause for displeasure. [M.:] Let bygones be bygones (5b).

С-641 • НА СТА́РОСТИ ЛЕТ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] when one gets old: in one's old age; [lim.] with old age; late in life; when one is getting on in years; [when used by or of an old person to emphasize that the action in question does not befit s.o. of that age] at my ⟨your etc⟩ age.

С-642 • СТА́РОСТЬ НЕ РА́ДОСТЬ [saying] (said with regret, and sometimes in jest, when a middle-aged or older person thinks or talks about his age and the effects it has on his health, physical strength etc; may be said by a young person as a joke) being or getting old is difficult and unpleasant: ≃ it's no fun getting ⟨to get⟩ old; old age is no fun; getting old is no picnic ⟨no fun⟩; [lim.] I'm ⟨he's etc⟩ not as young as I ⟨he etc⟩ used to be.

[Матрёна:] …На старости лет кто пожалеет. Старость не радость (Толстой 1). [M.:] …In your old age who's going to feel sorry for you? It's no fun to get old (1a).

С-643 • И НА СТАРУ́ХУ БЫВА́ЕТ ПРОРУ́ХА [saying] even an experienced person can err, blunder (said to excuse the mistakes or negligence of a person from whom such things are not expected): ≃ even a wise man stumbles; we all make mistakes; everyone makes mistakes; anyone can make a mistake; even the best of us ⟨them etc⟩ can slip up; to err is human.

«К сожалению, я ошибся. Иначе чёрта с два вы бы меня нашли». — «Да, вы ошиблись. И на старуху бывает проруха…» (Ильф и Петров 2). "Unfortunately, I was wrong. Otherwise you wouldn't have had a chance in hell of finding me." "Yes, you were wrong. Everyone makes mistakes…" (2c).

С-644 • С КАКО́Й СТА́ТИ? [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] for what reason? (often used in questions to express the speaker's bewilderment, annoyance etc): why (on earth)?; what for?; why (on earth) should…?; [lim.] what is the point (of…)?; what reason (does one have to…)?

«Я не знаю даже, дадут ли нам утром пожрать. Боюсь, что опять не дадут: с какой стати?» (Стругацкие 2). "I don't even know if we'll get grub tomorrow morning. I'm afraid we won't get anything more. Why on earth should they feed us now?" (2a).

С-645 • стоять, сидеть КАК СТА́ТУЯ [как + NP; nom only; adv (intensif)] (of a person or animal standing or sitting) completely immobile and/or apathetic: (stand ⟨sit⟩) (still) like a statue ⟨like (a) stone⟩; (stand ⟨sit⟩) as still ⟨motionless⟩ as a statue.

И вдруг опал электрический свет — остался только багровотусклый накалённый в лампочке волосок. «Ну, этого ещё…! — простонала Даша. — Фаза выпала. Повесишься тут». Муза сидела, как статуя. Не шевелилась Надя на кровати (Солженицын 3). The lightbulb suddenly dimmed, and there was only the dull red glow of the filament. "That's all we need…." Dasha groaned. "Power cut. You could hang yourself in a place like this." Muza sat like a statue. Nadya was just as still on her bed (3b).

С-646 • НИ СТАТЬ НИ СЕСТЬ (где) coll [Invar; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; fixed WO] some place is so crowded or small that there is no space left unoccupied, no room to move about freely: (в месте X) ни стать ни сесть ≃ (place X is so crowded ⟨cramped, tiny etc⟩ that) there is hardly any room to breathe ⟨to turn around⟩; there is no elbow room (in place X).

В аудиторию набилось столько народу, что ни стать ни сесть. So many people were crammed into the auditorium that there was hardly any room to breathe.

С-647 • НИ СТА́ТЬ НИ СЕ́СТЬ НЕ УМЕ́ТЬ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; не уметь may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] not to conduct o.s. properly in society out of a lack of good breeding, to lack good manners: X ни стать ни сесть не умеет ≃ X's manners are atrocious; X is a (total) boor; X doesn't know the first thing about behaving in society; X is uncultured ⟨uncouth⟩; X acts like a real bumpkin.

С-648 • ПОД СТАТЬ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ кому [subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif] one is well-suited for s.o. with regard to certain qualities (skills, experience, personality etc): X Y-y ~ ≃ X is a good ⟨perfect⟩ match for Y; X is (just) right for Y; X and Y are well ⟨perfectly⟩ matched.

Она и ещё что-то думала вокруг этого, а вокруг этого оказался Мансуров-Курильский, человек, безусловно, бесталанный, но, в общем-то, не плохой и, следовательно, по всем статьям под стать ей самой… (Залыгин 1). Her thoughts turned around this question and lighted upon Mansurov-Kurilsky, a talentless man if ever there was one, but not a bad man, all in all, and therefore in every respect a good match for her (1a).

2. ~ чему [subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr, occas. concr) or nonagreeing modif] sth. corresponds with something else: X ~ Y-y ≃ X matches Y; X jibes ⟨is in keeping⟩ with Y; X and Y agree; X is as [AdjP] as Y; X is selected ⟨s.o. chooses X etc⟩ to match Y.

Собачья погода была прямо под стать дяди-Митиному собачьему настроению (Аксёнов 10). The foul weather exactly matched Old Mitya's foul mood (10a). ♦ Дни тянулись медленно, в химерах и воспоминаниях, в невесёлых, под стать погоде, думах о предстоящей жизни в лагере (Максимов 2). The days dragged slowly by, days spent in daydreams and memories, and in thoughts, cheerless as the weather, about the prospects of life in a prison camp (2a).

3. ~ кому-чему [subj-compl with copula (subj: human or abstr) or nonagreeing modif] a person (or thing) resembles another person (or thing): X ~ Y-y ≃ X is like ⟨similar to⟩ Y; X is similar (in nature) to Y.

…Отец [Сергея] когда-то был крупный работник, но так никуда и не вылез, мать — домашняя юристка с принципами и запросами и он сам им под стать (Трифонов 3). …His [Sergei's] father had once been an outstandingly able man; yet he had never made it to the top; his mother was a nonpracticing lawyer with principles and high standards—and Sergei was similar in nature to both of them (3a).

4. ~ кому [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin); often neg] it is fitting, decent (for s.o. to do sth.): делать X Y-y не под стать ≃ doing X does not befit ⟨suit, become⟩ Y; it isn't right ⟨appropriate, proper, suitable, seemly⟩ for Y to do X.

С-649 • ОСО́БЬ ⟨ОСО́БАЯ⟩ СТАТЬЯ́ coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun); fixed WO] a person (thing, matter etc) is totally different from and not to be considered with others: (quite) a different story ⟨matter⟩; another matter (altogether); a horse of a different color; a case apart.

И, наконец, остаюсь я — руководитель авторского коллектива. Но это — особая статья (Зиновьев 2). And finally there is me—the head of the entire collective of authors. But that is quite a different story (2a).

С-650 • ПО ВСЕМ СТАТЬЯ́М [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] with regard to everything, every point of consideration: in all respects; in every respect; in every way; on all counts.

Она и ещё что-то думала вокруг этого, а вокруг этого оказался Мансуров-Курильский, человек, безусловно, бесталанный, но, в общем-то, не плохой и, следовательно, по всем статьям под стать ей самой… (Залыгин 1). Her thoughts turned around this question and lighted upon Mansurov-Kurilsky, a talentless man

Он [Ефим] устремил свой взгляд на директора, давая ему понять, что ему нечего, совершенно нечего скрывать от органов, он перед ними как стёклышко чист (Войнович 6). …[Yefim] fastened his gaze on the director, giving him to understand that he had nothing, absolutely nothing, to hide from the security system, that he was clean as the proverbial whistle (6a).

3. (трезв, трезвый) ~ [subj: human] absolutely sober: (as) sober as a judge.

[Гомыра:] Маша, мне надо с тобой поговорить. [Маша:] Тебе?.. Со мной? [Гомыра:] Конфиденциально. Я абсолютно трезвый, прошу заметить… Я трезв как стёклышко (Вампилов 3). [G.:] Masha, I have to talk to you. [M.:] You?… To me? [G.:] Confidentially. And may I point out that I'm completely sober…. I'm sober as a judge (3a).

С-652 • МЯ́ГКО СТЕ́ЛЕТ, ДА ЖЁСТКО СПАТЬ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. pres; fixed WO] one (often a boss or supervisor) is outwardly gentle and courteous, but in reality is very firm, deals with people severely etc: X мягко стелет, да жёстко спать ≃ X has ⟨is⟩ an iron fist ⟨hand⟩ in a velvet glove.

Два советника казённой палаты чуть не поссорились между собою, рассуждая о том, будет ли Козелков дерзок на язык или же будет «мягко стлать, да жёстко спать» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). Two councillors of the provincial Treasury nearly came to blows over the question of whether Kozelkov would be overbearing in his speech or whether he would have "an iron hand in a velvet glove" (2a).

С-653 • В СТЕ́ЛЬКУ ⟨КАК СТЕ́ЛЬКА⟩ пьян(ый), напиться и т.п. highly coll [PrepP (1st var.); как + NP (2nd var.); these forms only; modif or adv (intensif)] one is or gets very drunk: drunk as a skunk ⟨a lord, a fiddler⟩; completely smashed ⟨plastered, pie-eyed, soused, sauced, sozzled etc⟩; pissed out of one's mind.

Участкового споить не удалось, так как он с утра был в стельку пьян (Зиновьев 1). They weren't able to get the Fuzz drunk because he had been completely sozzled since dawn (1a).

С-654 • И У СТЕН ЕСТЬ ⟨БЫВА́ЮТ⟩ У́ШИ; (И) СТЕ́НЫ ИМЕ́ЮТ У́ШИ [saying] one can be overheard because another or others might be listening surreptitiously, even the most secret conversations may become known to others: ≃ (even) the walls have ears.

С-655 • КИТА́ЙСКАЯ СТЕНА́ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an impenetrable barrier that completely isolates s.o. or sth. from s.o. or sth. else (often from the rest of the world): Chinese wall.

Этот милый юноша… уже тогда считался членом семьи. Он один сумел пробить брешь в китайской стене, отделявшей Бурлюков от всего мира… (Лившиц 1). This nice young man… was then already regarded as a member of the family. He was the only one who managed to make a breach in the Chinese wall which separated the Burliuks from the whole world (1a).

< From Great Wall of China, the name given to the ancient system of fortifications between China and Mongolia.

С-656 • СТЕНА́ В СТЕ́НУ; СТЕНА́ ОБ СТЕ́НУ ⟨О́Б СТЕНУ⟩; СТЕ́НКА В ⟨ОБ⟩ СТЕ́НКУ coll [NP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. находиться, стоять и т.п. ~ с чем (of a building) (to be located) very close by and usu. immediately adjacent to (another building): right next door (to sth.); right alongside sth.; in the immediate neighborhood (of sth.).

Наш дом легко найти: он стоит стена в стену с новой больницей. Our house is easy to find: it's right next door to the new hospital.

2. жить ~ с кем (of a person) (to live) in a room or apartment sharing a common wall with s.o., or (to live) in a house adjacent to s.o. else's: one door down ⟨over⟩; right next door; in the next room ⟨apartment, house⟩; in the room ⟨apartment etc⟩ adjoining s.o.'s room ⟨apartment etc⟩; on the other side of s.o.'s wall ⟨of the wall from s.o.⟩.

«Сам я живу от жильцов. Софья Семёновна живёт со мною стена об стену, тоже от жильцов» (Достоевский 3). "I'm subletting from tenants. Sofya Semyonovna lives on the other side of my wall; she also sublets from tenants" (3c).

С-657 • В ЧЕТЫРЁХ СТЕНА́Х сидеть, жить и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (to spend all or almost all of one's time) in one's home or a certain building: (be ⟨live⟩) within these ⟨those, one's own⟩ four walls.

[Домна Пантелевна:] Измучилась я в театре-то: жара, духота, радёхонька, что выкатилась. [Матрена:] Да вестимо, летнее дело в четырёх стенах сидеть… (Островский 11). [context transl] [D.P.:] That theatre wore me out; it was so hot and stuffy I was glad to come away. [M.:] It's a shame to be cooped up in summer (11a).

2. (to live) like a recluse, associating little or not at all with others and spending all one's time inside: (stay ⟨be buried, hole o.s. up⟩) within these ⟨those, one's own⟩ four walls.

[Войницкий:] Двадцать пять лет я вот с этою матерью, как крот, сидел в четырёх стенах… (Чехов 3). [V.:] For twenty-five years I have sat here with this mother, buried like a mole within these four walls… (3a).

С-659 • РАЗМА́ЗЫВАТЬ/РАЗМА́ЗАТЬ ПО СТЕ́НКЕ ⟨СТЕНЕ́⟩ кого highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] 1. to defeat s.o. utterly and in a humiliating fashion by beating him up, prevailing over him decisively in sports, a fight etc (often used as a threat): X размажет Y-а по стенке ≃ X will wipe ⟨mop up⟩ the floor with Y; X will make mincemeat (out) of Y; X will cream Y; X will beat Y black and blue ⟨to a pulp⟩; X will beat the (living) daylights ⟨the stuffing⟩ out of Y; X will beat ⟨knock⟩ the tar out of Y; X will knock Y around; [of defeating a hostile gang, army etc] X-ы размажут Y-ов по стенке ≃ Xs will crush ⟨clobber, pulverize⟩ Ys; Xs will grind Ys to ⟨into⟩ dust.

2. to criticize s.o., reprimand s.o. harshly, punish s.o. mercilessly, usu. degrading him, his way of logic etc: X размажет Y-а по стенке ≃ X will let Y have it (with both barrels); X will give Y what for; X will give it to Y good; X will give Y the business; X will grind Y to ⟨into⟩ dust; X will settle Y's hash.

С-660 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ К СТЕ́НКЕ ⟨К СТЕНЕ́⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to execute s.o. by shooting him: X поставит Y-а к стенке ≃ X will have ⟨put, stand⟩ Y up against a wall; X will have Y face the firing squad; X will have Y shot; || [with obj: pl] X поставит Y-ов к стенке ≃ X will line Ys up against the wall (and shoot them ⟨have them shot⟩).

…Стёпа возражал, что как раз беляки очень интересовались соцпроисхождением, а мадам Малая тут же ловила его и ещё больше удивлялась: «Интересовались, да, но для чего? Я тебе скажу, для чего: чтобы поставить к стенке…» (Львов 1). "On the contrary, the Whites were very much interested in a person's social origin." Madame Malaya seized on this point with even greater surprise in her voice. "Yes, they were interested, but why? Why, I ask you? To put you up against a wall…" (1a).

С-661 • КАК ОБ ⟨В⟩ СТЕ́НКУ ⟨ОБ СТЕ́НУ, О́Б СТЕНУ, В СТЕ́НУ⟩ ГОРО́Х ⟨ГОРО́ХОМ⟩; КАК ОТ СТЕ́НКИ ⟨ОТ СТЕНЫ́⟩ ГОРО́Х; ЧТО СТЕНЕ́ ⟨СТЕ́НКЕ⟩ ГОРО́Х all coll, disapprov [как + PrepP or что + NP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr, often всё, infin, or a clause); fixed WO] all requests (orders etc) are ignored, disregarded by s.o.; all attempts to persuade s.o. to do sth. or to change his mode of behavior produce no results, have no effect on s.o.: (it's) like beating ⟨banging⟩ your ⟨one's⟩ head against the wall ⟨a wall, a brick wall, a stone wall⟩; (it's) like talking to the wall ⟨a brick wall⟩; you might as well beat ⟨bang⟩ your head against a wall ⟨a brick wall, a stone wall⟩; you might as well talk to the wall ⟨a wall, a brick wall⟩.

Обо всём этом ему [Наделашину] говорилось тогда же. Но Наделашину сколько не говори — всё как об стенку горох (Солженицын 3). He [Nadelashin] had been told about it at the time. But no matter how often one spoke to Nadelashin, it was like beating one's head against a stone wall (3a). ♦ «Пробовал я договориться с этим Големом — как об стену горох…» (Стругацкие 1). "I tried to come to an agreement with this Golem. It's like talking to a brick wall" (1a).

С-662 • ВСТАВА́ТЬ/ВСТАТЬ ⟨СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ, СТОЯ́ТЬ⟩ СТЕНО́Й [VP] 1. ~ за кого-что [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to stand united behind and strongly support, defend s.o. or sth.: X-ы встали ⟨стояли⟩ стеной за Y-а ≃ Xs stood up for Y; Xs stood (firmly) behind Y; Xs made a stand for Y; Xs gave their full support ⟨backing⟩ to Y; Xs stuck by Y.

…За Караваева стеной стояли интеллигенция [Брянска] и рабочие арсенала (Паустовский 1). …The Bryansk intellectuals as well as the workers at the Arsenal stood firmly behind him [Karavayev] (1a).

2. Also: СТОЯ́ТЬ КАК СТЕНА́ [subj: human] to take (and maintain) a strong unyielding position on some matter: X встал стеной ⟨стоял как стена⟩ ≃ X took a (firm) stand; X stood ⟨held⟩ his ground; X put his foot down; X stood firm ⟨fast⟩; X stuck to his guns.

Рахиль стояла как стена: ни в какую Швейцарию она не поедет, ей и здесь хорошо… (Рыбаков 1). Rachel stood her ground. She wasn't going to go to any Switzerland, she liked it here (1a).

«А что это она [учительница химии] позволяет себе так со мной говорить? Она, наверное, не представляет себе, кто я такой. Да я в нашем районе могу любого директора школы вызвать к себе в кабинет, поставить по стойке „смирно", и он будет стоять хоть два часа» (Войнович 1). "What gives her [the chemistry teacher] the right to talk to me like that? She must have no idea who I am. In our district, I can call any school principal into my office, have him stand at attention, and keep him standing there for two hours" (1a).

С-688 • КРУ́ГЛЫЙ СТОЛ; встреча, совещание и т.п. ЗА КРУ́ГЛЫМ СТОЛО́М media [NP or PrepP (used as nonagreeing modif); fixed WO] a meeting (a conference etc) at which all participants have an equal opportunity to speak, present their views, and engage in discussion: round table; round-table discussion ⟨meeting⟩.

Потом я встречался с Рогозиным в редколлегии нашего журнала. Мы устроили «круглый стол» на тему «психическое, физиологическое, логическое». Пригласили видных специалистов (Зиновьев 2). Later I met Rogozin on the editorial board of our journal. We had organised a round-table discussion on "the Psychic, the Physiological and the Logical." We invited a number of leading specialists (2a).

С-689 • ЛОЖИ́ТЬСЯ/ЛЕЧЬ НА СТОЛ [VP; subj: human] to undergo an operation: X-у придётся лечь на стол ≃ X will have to have surgery ⟨to be put on the operating table, to go on the operating table, to go under the knife⟩.

«А операция — невозможна?» (Он спрашивал «невозможна?», — но больше всего боялся именно лечь на стол. Как всякий больной, он предпочитал любое другое долгое лечение) (Солженицын 10). [context transl] "Is an operation impossible?" (He was asking if it was "impossible," but he feared the operating table most of all. Like any patient, he preferred any other, prolonged treatment) (10b).

С-690 • ПИСА́ТЬ В СТОЛ ⟨В Я́ЩИК⟩ [VP: subj: human] to write literary works, knowing that they will not pass censorship and be published: X пишет в стол ≃ X writes for the desk drawer.

А потом времена пошли куда вольнее: русские писатели не писали больше в стол, а всё печатали, что хотели… (Солженицын 2). Much freer times followed. Russian writers no longer wrote "for the desk drawer" but could publish whatever they liked… (2a).

Секунд десять продолжалось молчание, точно столбняк нашёл на всех; даже конвойный отшатнулся и уже не подходил к Николаю, а отретировался машинально к дверям и стал неподвижно (Достоевский 3). For about ten seconds there was a silence, as though they had all been stunned; even the guard staggered back and, instead of going up to Nikolai, beat an automatic retreat to the doorway and stood there, motionless (3d).

С-694 • СТОЯ́ТЬ СТОЛБО́М ⟨КАК СТОЛБ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to stand unmoving, usu. with a vacant look on one's face: X стоял столбом ≃ X stood motionless ⟨stock-still⟩; X stood there like a dummy ⟨a statue⟩; X stood as if rooted to the spot; [lim.] X stood (there) gaping.

Поражённый этим обстоятельством бухгалтер долгое время стоял столбом, соображая, что бы это значило (Булгаков 9). Dumbfounded, the bookkeeper stood stock-still for some time, trying to figure out what it all meant (9c).

С-695 • ПРИГВОЖДА́ТЬ/ПРИГВОЗДИ́ТЬ ⟨ПРИКО́ВЫВАТЬ/ПРИКОВА́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ К ПОЗО́РНОМУ СТОЛБУ́ кого lit or media [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to make s.o. an object of public condemnation: X пригвоздит Y-а к позорному столбу ≃ X will put ⟨have⟩ Y in the pillory; X will pillory Y.

Хотелось мне… поговорить с ним [Гарибальди] о здешних интригах и нелепостях, о добрых людях, строивших одной рукой пьедестал ему и другой привязывавших Маццини к позорному столбу (Герцен 3). …I wanted to have a talk with him [Garibaldi] about the intrigues and absurdities here, about the good people who with one hand were setting up a pedestal for him, and with the other putting Mazzini in the pillory (3a).

< Originally referred to the punishment of a criminal who was tied to a post («столб») in a public square so that everyone would see him.

С-696 • ГЕРКУЛЕ́СОВЫ ⟨ГЕРКУЛЕ́СОВСКИЕ⟩ СТОЛБЫ́ ⟨СТОЛПЫ́⟩ (чего) lit [NP; pl only; fixed WO] the maximum level (of sth.): the utmost limit (of sth.); the farthest ⟨upper⟩ limits (of sth.); the ultimate (in sth.).

«…Дело Главлита охранять военную и государственную тайну, а не… вмешиваться в литературную ткань произведения… (Аплодисменты. Возгласы с мест: «Верно… Правильно…».) Это вмешательство достигло ныне геркулесовых столпов глупости» (Свирский 1). "…The job of Glavlit is to preserve state and military secrets, not… to interfere in the creative process." (Applause. Shouts from the hall: "That's true, that's right!") "This interference has now reached the farthest limits of stupidity" (1a).

< Originally, the name of the two high points of land (the Pillars of Hercules) on either side of the Strait of Gibraltar believed to be "the limits of the earth." According to Greek legend the Pillars were raised by Hercules.

Я невольно увлекался его [Володиными] страстями; но был слишком горд, чтобы идти по его следам, и слишком молод и несамостоятелен, чтобы избрать новую дорогу (Толстой 2). I involuntarily got drawn into his [Volodya's] crazes; but I was too proud to follow in his footsteps and too young and dependent to choose a new path for myself (2a).

С-702 • ПОВЕРГА́ТЬ/ПОВЕ́РГНУТЬ К СТОПА́М ⟨К НОГА́М⟩ чьим or кого obs, lit [VP; usu. this WO] 1. ~ кого [subj: usu. human] to cause a person to become totally submissive to oneself or another; (of o.s.) to become totally submissive, and show homage to another: X поверг Y-а к своим стопам ≃ X brought Y to X's feet; || X поверг себя к Z-овым стопам ≃ X bowed down to Z; X prostrated himself before Z; X knelt before Z ⟨at Z's feet⟩.

…[Ольга] любовалась, гордилась этим поверженным к ногам её, её же силою, человеком! (Гончаров 1). …She [Olga] gazed with admiration and pride at this man whom she brought to her feet by her own power (1b).

2. ~ что [subj: human or collect] to present sth. to s.o. as a sign of one's dependence on or submissiveness to that person, or as an offering when requesting sth. of that person: X поверг Y к ногам Z-а ≃ X laid Y at Z's feet; [in refer. to a banner, standard etc] X lowered Y at Z's feet.

Когда на бале Кутузов, по старой екатерининской привычке, при входе государя в бальную залу велел к ногам его повергнуть взятые знамёна, государь неприятно поморщился и проговорил слова, в которых некоторые слышали: «старый комедиант» (Толстой 7). When, in accordance with the custom of Catherine's time, Kutuzov ordered the captured standards to be lowered at the Emperor's feet as he entered the ballroom, the Emperor made a wry face and muttered something, which some people understood as "the old comedian" (7a).

С-703 • ПРИПАДА́ТЬ/ПРИПА́СТЬ К СТОПА́М чьим, кого obs, elev [VP; subj: human] to implore, beg s.o. for sth. humbly: X припал к стопам Y-а ≃ X fell ⟨threw himself⟩ at Y's feet; X prostrated himself before Y.

С-704 • ОБОРО́ТНАЯ СТОРОНА́ чего [NP; sing. only; used with abstr NP; fixed WO] the opposite, usu. negative, side of some phenomenon: оборотная сторона X-а ≃ the flip ⟨the other⟩ side of X; [of the very negative aspects only] the seamy side of X.

«Чему же верить? Первой ли легенде — порыву ли высокого благородства, отдающего последние средства для жизни и преклоняющегося пред добродетелью, или оборотной стороне медали, столь отвратительной?» (Достоевский 2). "What are we to believe, then? The first legend—the impulse of a lofty nobility giving its last worldly means and bowing down before virtue, or the other side of the coin, which is so repugnant?" (2a).

С-706 • ЗЕВА́ТЬ ПО СТОРОНА́М coll [VP; subj: human] to stare with a blank expression (at s.o. or sth., or randomly): X зевает по сторонам ≃ X gawks ⟨gapes⟩ at s.o. ⟨at sth., all over the place etc⟩; X stands around ⟨sits there etc⟩ gaping ⟨gawking⟩.

…На седьмом году правления Фердыщенку смутил бес… Начал требовать, чтоб обыватели по сторонам не зевали, а смотрели в оба… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …In the seventh year of his administration Ferdyshchenko was troubled by a demon…. He began to demand that the townsfolk not stand around gaping but keep their eyes peeled… (1a).

С-707 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ, ОЗИРА́ТЬСЯ и т.п.⟩ ПО СТОРОНА́М [VP; subj: human] to glance around, look at what surrounds one: X глядел по сторонам ≃ X gazed about; X looked (a)round (in all directions); [lim.] X was rubbernecking.

…Слобода безмолвствовала, словно вымерла. Вырывались откуда-то вздохи, но таинственность, с которою они выходили из невидимых организмов, ещё более раздражала огорчённого градоначальника. «Где они, бестии, вздыхают?» — неистовствовал он, безнадёжно озираясь по сторонам… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …The settlement lay silent, as if deserted. There were breathing sounds coming from somewhere, but the mysterious way they issued from unseen bodies irritated the chagrined governor still more. "Where are they breathing, the rogues?" he raged, gazing hopelessly about… (1a). …The suburb was silent as the dead. From somewhere came a sound of sighing, but the mysterious way in which these sighs escaped from unseen beings increased still more the annoyance of the exasperated town-governor. "Where are these swine who are sighing?" he raged, looking hopelessly round in all directions… (1b).

С-708 • В СТОРОНЕ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ (от кого-чего) [adv or Prep (the resulting PrepP is adv)] at a relatively small distance away (from s.o. or sth.), somewhat set apart (from s.o. or sth.): some distance away (from); (off ⟨away⟩) to one side; somewhat removed (from).

В стороне от дома был небольшой сарай. There was a small barn some distance away from the house. ♦ Вернулся… старик Мочёнкин, стоял в стороне хмурый, строго наблюдал (Аксёнов 3). Old Mochenkin returned…. Standing to one side, he frowned and observed everything with a critical eye (3a).

2. [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr)] sth. is located far off, in a distant, isolated place: in a remote place; in a secluded spot; far away from everything.

Постоялый двор… находился в стороне, в степи, далече от всякого селения… (Пушкин 2). This wayside inn… was in a remote place, in the middle of the steppe, far from any habitation… (2a).

3. ~ (от кого) держаться и т.п. [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human or animal)] (to remain) separate, isolated from others, not (to associate) with others: X держится в стороне (от Y-ов) ≃ X keeps his distance (from Ys); X remains ⟨holds himself⟩ aloof (from Ys).

Я с самого начала говорил, что революция достигает чего-нибудь нужного, если совершается в сердцах, а не на стогнах. Но уж раз начали без меня — я не мог быть в стороне от тех, кто начал (Ерофеев 1). From the very first, I said that revolution achieves something essential when it occurs in the heart and not in the town square. But once they began it without me, I could not remain aloof from those who began it (1a).

4. ~ (от кого-чего) держаться, стоять, оставаться и т.п. Also: В СТОРО́НКЕ coll [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (to remain) uninvolved with s.o. or in sth., not to participate in sth.: X остаётся в стороне ≃ X stays ⟨remains⟩ on the sidelines; X keeps ⟨stays⟩ out of it; [lim.] X remains aloof.

«Я на тебя всё взваливаю, взваливаю, а сам… в сторонке, ты одна обязана колотиться» (Распутин 2). "I keep heaping things on you and then I remain on the sidelines, leaving you to struggle with all the responsibility" (2a). ♦ «Я вообще считаю, что военных надо держать в стороне. Глупо с ними советоваться» (Эренбург 4). "…As a general rule, my opinion is that military men must be kept out of it. It's folly to take their advice" (4a).

5. ~ оставаться, оказываться и т.п. Also: В СТОРО́НКЕ coll [subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr or human)] (to be) disregarded, unnoticed, not included: X остался в стороне ≃ X was ignored ⟨passed over, left out⟩.

«О редкостях [в статье] расписали много, а работа коллектива библиотеки осталась в стороне» (Домбровский 1). "A great deal was said [in the article] about rare books but all the library staff's good work was ignored" (1a).

С-709 • ГУЛЯ́ТЬ НА СТОРОНЕ́ (от кого); ХОДИ́ТЬ НАЛЕ́ВО ⟨НА́ СТОРОНУ⟩ (от кого) all coll [VP; subj: human] to be unfaithful (to one's spouse or lover): X ходит на сторону от Y-а ≃ X is two-timing Y; X is cheating on Y; X is getting something ⟨seeing someone⟩ on the side.

С-710 • НА СТОРОНЕ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ чьей, кого-чего [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr)] sth. works for or is to the advantage of s.o. or sth.: X на стороне Y-а ≃ X is on Y's side ⟨the side of Y⟩; X is in Y's favor; [of power, the advantage in sth. etc] Y has X.

Я думал, что все права не только юридические, но и моральные настолько на моей стороне, что меня сразу же все поддержат… (Войнович 3). I thought that all rights, not only legal, but moral, were so much on my side that I would be given immediate support… (3a). ♦ К середине матча стало ясно, что перевес на нашей стороне. Toward halftime it became obvious that things were in our favor.

2. ~ чьей, кого-чего [subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect) or adv] one supports s.o. or sth., expresses his solidarity with s.o.: X на стороне Y-а ≃ X is on Y's side ⟨the side of Y⟩; X is ⟨stands⟩ behind Y; X has taken Y's side ⟨the side of Y⟩.

Собрание в основном было на моей стороне… (Войнович 3). The assembly was basically on my side (3a). ♦ Гассенди был всей душой на стороне гениального физика Галилея, которого заставили… отречься от его убеждения, что Земля движется (Булгаков 5). Gassendi was heart and soul behind the brilliant physicist Galileo, who had been compelled… to renounce his conviction that the earth moved (5a).

3. ~ работать, делать что [adv] (to do sth.) not where one is supposed or expected to do it, but somewhere else (may refer to moonlighting, extramarital affairs etc): on the side; elsewhere; away from home ⟨from s.o.⟩; somewhere (else).

Слух ходит, что ты какими-то тёмными делишками на стороне занимаешься (Зиновьев 1). "There are rumours that you've got yourself involved in some dirty little deals on the side" (1a). ♦ [Бакченин:] Дети растут на стороне — по сути дела чужие… (Панова 1). [B.:] The children are growing up away from me—are actually strangers to me… (1a).

С-711 • ОСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ОСТА́ВИТЬ В СТОРОНЕ́ что [VP; subj: human or abstr; fixed WO] not to pay attention to or remark upon sth. (occas. sth. offensive), exclude sth. from consideration: X оставил Y в стороне ≃ X let Y pass ⟨go⟩; X passed over Y; X disregarded ⟨ignored⟩ Y.

Вопросы эти, оставляя в стороне сущность жизненного дела и исключая возможность раскрытия этой сущности, как и все вопросы, делаемые на судах, имели целью только подставление того желобка, по которому судящие желали, чтобы потекли ответы подсудимого и привели его к желаемой цели, то есть к обвинению (Толстой 7). These questions were like all questions posed in a courtroom: they ignored any essence of living truth—in fact, they made it impossible for any such essence ever to be discovered—and their sole purpose was to provide a conduit down which the court officials wanted to channel any answers from a defendant so as to bring him straight to the end of the inquiry—conviction (7c).

С-712 • ОБХОДИ́ТЬ/ОБОЙТИ́ СТОРОНО́Й ⟨СТОРО́НКОЙ⟩ кого-что [VP] 1. [subj: human or collect] intentionally not to come into contact with some person or go to some place: X обходит Y-а стороной ≃ X avoids Y; X gives a wide berth to Y.

Оплакивая погибшие шестидесятые, он блуждал по остаткам декады и дом своего старого друга старался обходить стороной (Аксёнов 6). Lamenting the lost sixties, he had wandered among the remnants of the decade and tried to avoid the house of his old friend (6a).

2. [subj: usu. abstr] not to affect, touch, have an impact on s.o. or sth.: X обошёл Y-а стороной ≃ X passed Y by; ‖ Neg X не обошёл Y-а стороной ≃ [lim.] X left its mark on Y.

«А тут на днях налог принесли». — «Налог?» — Михаил озадаченно посмотрел на мать. До сих пор налоги обходили их стороной (Абрамов 1). "Then there's that tax thing they brought around the other day." "Taxes?" Mikhail gave his mother a puzzled look. So far, taxes had passed them by (1a).

С-713 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ СТО́РОНУ чью, кого-чего; СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ ⟨ВСТАВА́ТЬ/ВСТАТЬ⟩ НА СТО́РОНУ [VP; subj and indir obj: human or collect] to support s.o. (or some group), express one's solidarity with s.o.: X взял сторону Y-а ≃ X took Y's side ⟨the side of Y⟩; X sided with Y; X backed Y up; X stood up alongside Y; X stood by Y; X defended Y; X stood up for Y; X made common cause with Y.

…Он с самого начала подозревал, что Надька примет сторону Евдокимова (Ерофеев 3). …He had expected from the start that Nadya would take Evdokimov's side (3a). ♦ «…Жалкая кучка его [подсудимого] приспешников не решилась открыто встать на его сторону» (Войнович 4). "…His [the defendant's] pitiful band of cohorts could not bring themselves to stand up alongside him" (4a).

С-714 • В СТО́РОНУ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ кого-чего, чью [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] facing, moving, pointing etc toward s.o. or sth.: in the direction of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; in s.o.'s direction; toward s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; s.o.'s way; (look) at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; [lim.] face sth.

Капарин глянул в сторону… Фомина и Чумакова… (Шолохов 5). Kaparin glanced in the direction of Fomin and Chumakov (5a). ♦ Близился полдень, и пахарь уже настораживал слух в сторону дома, что вот-вот жена его должна позвать обедать, да и быкам пора передохнуть (Искандер 4). It was getting near noon, and the plowman had an ear cocked toward the house: any minute now his wife would be calling him to dinner, and besides it was time to rest the oxen (4a). ♦ …[Юра] даже не смотрел в сторону мясного… (Аксёнов 1). Yura… hadn't even looked at the meat dish… (1a).

2. ~ от кого-чего [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in a direction leading from s.o. or sth.: away from s.o. ⟨sth.⟩.

…Я с самого утра уводила их на дальние прогулки, в сторону от лагеря (Гинзбург 2). I used to take them out on long walks, away from the camp, setting out first thing in the morning (2a).

3. отойти, отозвать кого и т.п. ~ [adv] (to step, move etc) a short distance away (from some person, group etc), (to ask s.o. to move) a short distance away (from the person or group he is with, usu. so one can talk to him): (move ⟨step, pull s.o., call s.o. etc⟩) aside.

…Из куреня прибежала Лукинична… Она отозвала мужа в сторону. «Наталья пришла!..» (Шолохов 2). …Lukinichna came running from the house…. She called her husband aside. "Natalya has come back!…" (2a).

4. (уходить, отходить) ~ [adv or predic (subj: human)] to avoid taking responsibility for or participating in sth.: X (уходит) в сторону ≃ X steps ⟨moves⟩ aside (from sth.); [lim.] X stands aside (from sth.); X moves ⟨fades⟩ into the background.

В той ситуации, которая складывалась тогда во всех социально значимых сферах нашей жизни, чётко обозначились два лагеря. Один лагерь составляли мракобесы и реакционеры… Другой лагерь составляли все те, кто был против мракобесов и реакционеров… И были ещё единицы, которые с самого начала понимали: надо уйти от всего этого в сторону… (Зиновьев 1). In the situation at that time in all socially significant spheres of our life, two camps could be clearly distinguished. One of them consisted of obscurantists and reactionaries…. The other camp was made up of all those who were against obscurantists and reactionaries…. And there were, too, some isolated beings who had realised from the very beginning that they must stand aside from all this… (1a).

5. [predic; impers or with subj: human] one neglects to do or avoids doing sth. for a time: put sth. off; hold off on sth.

Нина всё время по танцулькам бегает, а учёбу — в сторону. Nina's always going out dancing, and as for her studies—she puts them off.

6. [predic; impers] doing sth. or s.o.'s involvement with sth. should be stopped: away with…; no more…; that's enough…

[Глумов:] Эпиграммы в сторону! Этот род поэзии, кроме вреда, ничего не приносит автору (Островский 9). [G.:] Away with epigrams! That kind of poetry brings nothing but trouble to the author (9a).

7. (сказать, произнести) ~ [adv] (to say sth.) turning away from one's listener so that he does not hear: aside; (make) an aside.

[Городничий:] Я карт и в руки никогда не брал; даже не знаю, как играть в эти карты… Как можно, чтобы такое драгоценное время убивать на них. [Лука Лукич (в сторону):] А у меня, подлец, выпонтировал вчера сто рублей (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] I've never touched a card in my life; I don't even know how those card-games are played…. How can people waste such valuable time on them? [L.L. (aside):] Cad! He won a hundred roubles off me yesterday (4b).

8. уводить (разговор), отвлекаться, уходить ~ [adv] to digress in conversation: X ушёл в сторону ≃ X got off the subject; X went ⟨got⟩ off on a tangent; X strayed from the point ⟨the subject⟩; X got off (the) track; X got sidetracked.

Простите, мы, кажется, отвлекаемся в сторону (Зиновьев 1). "Forgive me, we seem to be getting off the subject" (1a).

С-715 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ СТО́РОНУ ⟨РУКУ obs⟩ чью, кого [VP; subj: human or collect] to be s.o.'s supporter, share s.o.'s views, express one's solidarity with s.o.: X держал сторону Y-а ≃ X was on Y's side ⟨the side of Y⟩; X took Y's side; X supported Y ⟨Y's side⟩; X sided with Y; X backed Y (up); X stood by Y; X was for Y.

Дмитрий Алексеевич и не подозревал того, что майор Бадьин на процессе всё время держал его сторону и даже написал по делу особое мнение (Дудинцев 1). Loptkin had never dreamed that during his trial Major Badyin had been on his side the whole time, and had even written a dissenting opinion about the case (1a). ♦ Из двенадцати [членов правления] сторону Иванько с самого начала активно держали четверо… (Войнович 3). Of the twelve [members of the board], four actively supported Ivanko's side from the very beginning… (3a).

С-716 • НА́ СТОРОНУ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. работать ~ obs (to work) for, under someone else: on the side; elsewhere; away from home.

2. продавать, сбывать что ~ coll (to sell sth.) illegally, outside of authorized channels: on the side; under the counter ⟨the table⟩; [lim.] on the black market.

Директора магазина давно подозревали в том, что часть товаров он сбывает на сторону. They have suspected for a long time that the store manager has been selling some goods on the side.

С-717 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ НА́ СТОРОНУ coll [VP; subj: human, more often male] to seek out extramarital affairs: X смотрит на сторону ≃ X has a roving ⟨wandering⟩ eye; [lim.] X tomcats around.

С-719 • НА ВСЕ ЧЕТЫ́РЕ СТО́РОНЫ идти, убираться, отпустить кого и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to go, let s.o. go etc) to any place that one or s.o. desires: anywhere one ⟨s.o.⟩ likes; wherever one ⟨s.o.⟩ wishes ⟨wants, chooses, pleases etc⟩; || Imper катись на все четыре стороны rude ≃ get the hell out of here; go wherever you damn well please; || [of a person caught committing a petty crime, engaging in a harmful prank etc and released] X-а отпустили на все четыре стороны ≃ X was let go (completely) free; X was let off (scot-free).

«Ступай себе на все четыре стороны и делай что хочешь. Завтра приходи со мною проститься, а теперь ступай себе спать…» (Пушкин 2). "Go wherever you want, and do what you like. Come and say good-bye tomorrow; and now go to bed…" (2a). ♦ Мне позвонили из отдела прозы журнала, чтоб я быстро, не мешкая, забрал свой роман «Ленинский проспект» и катился на все четыре стороны (Свирский 1). I got a phone call from the prose department to ask me to come around quickly and retrieve the manuscript of my novel Leninsky Prospekt and then get the hell out of there (1a).

С-720 • С ОДНО́Й СТОРОНЫ́… С ДРУГО́Й СТОРОНЫ́ ⟨С ДРУГО́Й⟩ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used in contrasting two facts, phenomena etc: on the one hand… on the other (hand); [lim.] in some ways… yet ⟨but, and⟩ in others ⟨other ways⟩…; [in refer. to conflicting emotions, desires etc] one is trapped ⟨caught⟩ between…; (a) part of me ⟨him etc⟩ (wants ⟨likes etc⟩)… but another part (wants ⟨likes etc⟩)…

С одной стороны, он с слишком живым чувством и методическою последовательностью, составляющими главные признаки правдоподобности, рассказывал свою историю, чтобы можно было не верить ей; с другой стороны, слишком много было поэтических красот в его истории; так что именно красоты эти вызывали сомнения (Толстой 2). On the one hand he told his story with too much lively feeling and methodical consistency—the chief marks of veracity—for it to be disbelieved; on the other hand there were too many poetic felicities in his story, so that these in themselves elicited doubt (2b).

С-721 • СО ⟨С obs⟩ СВОЕ́Й СТОРОНЫ́ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as regards one's participation in sth., contribution to sth., opinion etc: for one's part; as ⟨so⟩ far as one is concerned.

По прибытии нашем в роту нас медленно ощупывали, заранее стараясь определить, какое количество жизненных благ можно от нас получить… Мы, со своей стороны, тоже зондировали почву… (Лившиц 1). When one of us arrived in the company, they mentally felt us over, trying to predetermine the number of earthly blessings which they could extract from us…. For our part we also explored the ground… (1a).

С-722 • СО СТОРОНЫ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ кого-чего [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] moving, coming, or issuing from some person, place, location etc: from the direction of.

Ему в голову не могло прийти, что у них гости и что ржание коня доносится со стороны Микулицынского крыльца, из сада (Пастернак 1). It never occurred to him that they had guests or that the neighing came from the direction of Mikulitsyn's house (1a).

2. ~ смотреть, наблюдать, видно и т.п. [adv] (to look at s.o. or sth., be visible etc) from some distance away: from a distance.

На солнечном пригреве, на камне, ниже садовой скамейки, сидел Костоглотов… И даже не видно было со стороны, чтобы плечи его поднимались и опускались от дыхания (Солженицын 10). Kostoglotov was sitting in a sunny spot on a stone below a garden bench…. From a distance one could not even see his shoulders rising and falling as he breathed… (10a).

3. ~ смотреть (на кого-что), судить, казаться и т.п. [adv] (to look at, judge etc s.o. or sth.) from the point of view of one who is not directly involved in the matter at hand, (to appear a certain way) to s.o. who is not directly involved in the matter at hand: (look at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) from the outside; from an outsider's perspective ⟨point of view⟩; from an outside viewpoint; (as) seen from the outside; [lim.] as an outsider; to an outsider ⟨a bystander⟩ (sth. might look ⟨seem etc⟩); (view sth.) with (great) detachment; (take) a detached view.

В том-то и дело, что если рассказать с некоторой правдивостью любую жизнь со стороны, и хотя бы отчасти изнутри, то картинка наша будет такова, что этот человек дальше жить не имеет ни малейшей возможности (Битов 2). That's just the point, that if we tell the story of any life with a degree of truthfulness, from an outside viewpoint and at least partially from within, then the picture will be such that the man hasn't the slightest chance of living on (2a). ♦ Шли они [Костенко и Росляков] не быстро и не медленно, весело о чём-то разговаривали, заигрывали с девушками… Со стороны могло показаться, что два бездельника просто-напросто убивают время (Семёнов 1). They [Kostyenko and Roslyakov] walked neither quickly nor slowly, talking gaily about something, flirting with the girls…. To a bystander they might have looked like a couple of idlers simply killing time (1a).

4. человек, люди и т.п. ~ [nonagreeing postmodif] a person (or people) not belonging to the group, organization etc in question: from ⟨on⟩ the outside; outsider(s).

«Какая баба!.. Ей бы и быть председателем. И на хрена нам кого-то со стороны искать» (Абрамов 1). "What a woman!… If only she could be Chairwoman, and the hell with searching for one on the outside" (1a). ♦ В деревне не хватало мужчин, и председателю пришлось нанять рабочих со стороны. There weren't enough men in the village, so the chairman had to hire outsiders.

5. ~ кого, чьей [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] used to denote a person or group of people with whom an action or statement originates: for ⟨on⟩ s.o.'s part; on the part of; [lim.] of s.o.; by s.o.

[Бутон:] Так что вы говорите, милостивый государь? Что наш король есть самый лучший, самый блестящий король во всём мире? С моей стороны возражений нет (Булгаков 8). [B.:] So what are you saying, dear sir? That our king is the very best, the most brilliant king in the whole world? For my part I have no objections (8a).

6. ~ кого, чьей [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] used to denote a person or group of people whose action, behavior, statement etc is characterized or evaluated: (how generous ⟨it's not nice, that's not fair etc⟩) of s.o. (to do sth.); || это очень мило ⟨как это мило⟩ с вашей стороны! ≃ that's so nice ⟨kind, sweet⟩ of you!; how ⟨that's, it's⟩ very nice ⟨kind, good, sweet⟩ of you (to do sth.)!; you are sweet ⟨kind, good⟩ (to do sth.).

Это очень плохо с его стороны — оставить нас наедине. Никогда не ожидал я от него такого предательства! (Казаков 2). That's not nice of him—to leave us alone. I never expected such treachery from him (2a). ♦ «Ну вот видишь, вот уж и нечестно с твоей стороны: слово дал, да и на попятный двор» (Гоголь 3). "There, you see, that's not fair of you: you have given me your word of honor, and now you are going back on it" (3c).

7. ~ чего, какой [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in a certain respect (as specified by the context): from the standpoint ⟨the vantage point⟩ of; from the point of view of; from a [AdjP] standpoint ⟨point of view⟩.

«Стригуны» молчали; они понимали, что слова Собачкина очень последовательны и что со стороны логики под них нельзя иголки подточить (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). The "colts" were silent; for they realized that Sobachkin's words were very logical and that, from the point of view of pure logic, they were absolutely unassailable (2a).

8. ~ кого, чьей, какой [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] used to indicate a line of familial descent: on (one's ⟨the⟩ father's ⟨mother's, husband's, wife's etc⟩) side.

Юный негодяй был влюблён в княгиню и тоже торчал у неё день и ночь, кажется, на правах соседа или дальнего родственника со стороны мужа (Искандер 3). The young reprobate was in love with the princess and had also been hanging around her day and night, exercising his rights as a neighbor, I believe, or a distant relative on the husband's side (3a).

С-723 • НЕ СТОЯ́ТЬ/НЕ ПОСТОЯ́ТЬ за ценой, за деньгами и т.п. coll [VP; subj: human; most often pfv fut] to be willing to pay generously for sth.: X за ценой ⟨за деньгами⟩ не постоит ≃ money ⟨price⟩ is no object with X; X won't quibble ⟨argue⟩ over the price (of sth.); X won't spare ⟨begrudge⟩ any expense; X will spare no expense; X will pay anything (for sth.).

«…А за деньгами он не постоит, — Коровьев оглянулся, а затем шепнул на ухо председателю: — миллионер!» (Булгаков 9) "Money's no object with him." Koroviev looked around, then whispered into the chairman's ear, "A millionaire!" (9a). "He doesn't begrudge any expense." Korovyov glanced around, and then whispered in the chairman's ear, "He's a millionnaire!" (9c).

С-724 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ВЫ́ШЕ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. ~ кого to surpass s.o. (in achievements, abilities etc): X стоит выше Y-а ≃ X is superior to Y; X is better than Y (in sth.); X outclasses Y.

Он [Володя] во всём стоял выше меня: в забавах, в учении, в ссорах, в умении держать себя… (Толстой 2). He [Volodya] was superior to me in everything: in games, in studies, in quarrels, and in his ability to comport himself well… (2b).

2. ~ чего. Also: СТА́ТЬ ВЫ́ШЕ to ignore sth. (usu. sth. petty, banal), considering it unworthy of one's attention: X стоит выше Y-а ≃ X is ⟨rises⟩ above Y; Y is beneath X.

…Перед лицом смерти надо стать выше всяких обид (Рыбаков 1). …In the face of death you have to be able to rise above any grudge (1a).

С-725 • СТОЯ́ТЬ НАВЫ́ТЯЖКУ [VP; subj: human] to stand very straight with one's hands at one's sides: X стоял навытяжку ≃ X stood at attention.

Красноармеец последнего года службы Иван Чонкин, маленький, кривоногий, в сбившейся под ремнём гимнастёрке, в пилотке, надвинутой на большие красные уши, и в сползающих обмотках, стоял навытяжку перед старшиной роты Песковым и испуганно глядел на него воспалёнными от солнца глазами (Войнович 2). Ivan Chonkin, a short bowlegged private in the Red Army with one year left to serve, his field shirt hanging out over his belt, his forage cap down over his big red ears, his puttees slipping, was standing at attention in front of Company Master Sergeant Peskov and glancing at him in fright, his eyes inflamed from the sun (2a).

С-726 • НА СТРА́ЖЕ стоять, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п.; НА СТРА́ЖУ встать, стать [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect); usu. this WO] 1. (to be, start etc) guarding s.o. or sth. (in a physical sense), watching to be sure that he or it is not harmed, stolen etc: X стоит на страже ≃ X is on guard; X is on guard ⟨sentry⟩ duty; X is standing guard ⟨sentry⟩; X stands there ⟨outside etc⟩ guarding s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; X stands watch (over sth.).

Так мы и до «Арктики» дошли. А оттуда уже последних вышибали, и двое милицейских на страже стояли, с гардеробщиком (Владимов 2). We reached the Arctic. There they were throwing the last people out and two policemen were standing guard alongside the cloakroom attendant (2a).

2. ~ чего elev, occas. iron (to be, start etc) protecting, securing sth. (some cause, idea, one's or s.o.'s interests etc): X стоит на страже Y-а ≃ X stands guard over (the interests of) Y; X (safe)guards (the interests of) Y; X exercises vigilance (over Y).

Можно сказать, что в поведении Камуга с женой стихийно, в зачаточной форме проявилась идея диктатуры пролетариата, стоящего на страже интересов трудящейся земли (Искандер 5). You might say that Kamug's behavior toward his wife exhibited in elemental, rudimentary form the idea of the dictatorship of the proletariat, standing guard over the interests of the toiling earth (5a).

С-727 • ПОД СТРА́ЖЕЙ ⟨ПОД КАРАУ́ЛОМ obs⟩ находиться, содержаться, быть$_{ø}$; держать, содержать кого [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with держать (obj: human)] (to be) imprisoned, (to keep s.o.) in confinement: X находится ⟨X-а держат⟩ под стражей ≃ X has been placed ⟨is being held⟩ under arrest; X has been placed ⟨is being kept⟩ under guard; X is (being held) in custody; person Y has got ⟨is keeping⟩ X locked up; X has been locked up.

С-728 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ПОД СТРА́ЖУ ⟨ПОД КАРАУ́Л obs⟩ кого [VP; subj: human; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.; usu. this WO] to incarcerate s.o.: X-а взяли под стражу ≃ X was taken into custody; X was arrested ⟨apprehended⟩; X was placed under guard.

Когда Садчикову рассказали про звонок из прокуратуры — требуют взять под стражу Лёньку Самсонова, — он хлопнул по столу папкой так, что подскочила телефонная трубка (Семёнов 1). When Sadchikov was told about the call from the Public Prosecutor's office and the demand that Lyonka Samsonov be taken into custody, he banged his desk with a file so hard that the telephone receiver fell off (1a).

С-729 • ВПИСА́ТЬ НО́ВУЮ СТРАНИ́ЦУ во что lit or media [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. this WO] to discover or accomplish sth. outstanding (in some area of life, field of science, or branch of culture): X вписал новую страницу в Y ≃ X wrote a new page ⟨chapter⟩ in Y; X broke new ground in Y.

Гитлер вписал новую страницу военной истории немцев рукой Паулюса, Вейхса, Цейцлера, рукой командиров немецких корпусов и полков, рукой солдат, всех тех, кто не хотел выполнять его волю, но исполнил её до конца (Гроссман 2). At his [Hitler's] command, a new page of German military history was written by Paulus, von Weichs and Zeitzler, by the commanding officers of corps and battalions, by the German soldiers themselves, by all those who, albeit reluctantly, executed his orders (2a).

С-730 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ НО́ВУЮ СТРАНИ́ЦУ в чём lit or media [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. this WO] to start a new trend, movement, school of thought etc in some area or field: X открыл новую страницу в Y-е ≃ X opened a new page ⟨chapter⟩ in Y.

Я часто наводил разговор на «Господина из Сан-Франциско», желая как можно больше услышать от Бунина о том, как и почему написан им этот необыкновенный рассказ, открывший — по моему мнению — совершенно новую страницу в истории русской литературы… (Катаев 3). I often worked the conversation round to The Gentleman from San Francisco because I wanted to hear as much as possible from Bunin about how and why he had written this amazing story, in my opinion opening an entirely new page in the history of Russian literature… (3a).

С-731 • НА СВОЙ (СО́БСТВЕННЫЙ) СТРАХ И РИСК coll; НА СВОЙ (СО́БСТВЕННЫЙ) СТРАХ obs [PrepP; these forms only; adv; usu. this WO] (to do sth. that involves risk, danger, the possibility of negative repercussions for o.s. etc) taking full responsibility for the outcome upon o.s.: at one's own risk (and peril); [lim.] on ⟨at⟩ one's own discretion.

…Беспрерывно отгибая вниз непослушную манишку, [Паниковский] поведал Балаганову о серьёзнейшем опыте, который он проделал на свой страх и риск (Ильф и Петров 2). …Incessantly straightening out his recalcitrant dickey, [Panikovsky] told Balaganov of an important experiment he had carried out at his own risk (2a).

С-732 • НЕ ЗА СТРАХ, А ЗА СО́ВЕСТЬ работать, трудиться, служить и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; more often used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to work, labor etc) applying all one's energy to what one is doing; (to serve) loyally and well: with total dedication ⟨devotion⟩; very conscientiously; (do sth.) with one's (whole) heart (in it); with a strong sense of duty; [often ironic] with zeal.

Он увидел, что человек работает над его проектом не за страх, а за совесть — даже увлёкся! (1a). (Дудинцев 1). He could see that the man was working at the project with his whole heart in it, not as a mere routine job (1a).

С-733 • СТРА́ХА РА́ДИ ИУДЕ́ЙСКА lit [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) with a servile attitude, driven by one's fear of the authorities, of those in a position to affect one's destiny: out of fear of the powers that be.

Если и был он [психоневролог] осведомителем КГБ, может быть, ещё с лагеря, то «страха ради иудейска»… (Амальрик 1). If he [the psychoneurologist] was a KGB informer—and perhaps he had been since his days in camp—it was out of fear of the powers that be (1a).

< From the Biblical account of Joseph of Arimathea, who "for fear of the Jews" hid the fact that he was a disciple of Jesus (John 19:38).

С-734 • У СТРА́ХА ГЛАЗА́ ВЕЛИКИ́ [saying] when a person fears sth., he imagines there is danger where, in reality, there is none: ≃ the eyes of fear see danger everywhere; the fear's greater than the reason for it; fear closes the ears of the mind; fear always exaggerates (things).

Стаднюк встретил его [Игоря] радушно… А ещё совсем недавно… всего час назад, замышлялся ему здесь разнос. «Впрочем, — мелькнуло у Игоря, — у страха глаза велики. Замышлялся ли?» (Ерофеев 3). Stadniuk had given him [Igor] a cordial reception…. And to think that just a little while ago, not more than an hour ago, he had expected Stadniuk to really give it to him. They do say that fear always exaggerates, thought Igor. Maybe I just imagined it all? (3a).

С-735 • В СТРА́ХЕ (БО́ЖИЕМ or БО́ЖЬЕМ) держать, воспитывать кого и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to keep, raise s.o.) in a state of total submission by punishing him severely without cause and/or making him deathly afraid of punishment: X держал Y-а ~ ≃ X put the fear of God in ⟨into⟩ Y; X kept Y in (a state of) fear; || X воспитывал Y-а ~ ≃ X brought Y up in the fear of God.

«Вот об этой-то последней, пьяной, рюмке [водки] и намерен я беседовать с вами. Где, в каком притоне… человек находит сию пагубную для него рюмку? Дома он не найдёт её, ибо здесь его остановит заботливая рука жены, умоляющие взоры воспитанных в страхе божием детей…» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "It is about this last, drunken, glass that I intended to talk to you now. Where, in what den of iniquity… does a man find this last fatal glass? He will not find it at home, for there the solicitous hand of his wife will stop him, not to mention the imploring eyes of his children, brought up in the fear of God…" (2a).

С-736 • ПОД СТРА́ХОМ чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] at the risk of incurring a specified penalty: under (the) threat of; on ⟨under⟩ pain of.

Ему [Марку Крысобою] прокуратор приказал сдать преступника начальнику тайной службы и при этом передать ему распоряжение прокуратора о том, чтобы… команде тайной службы было под страхом тяжкой кары запрещено о чём бы то ни было разговаривать с Иешуа или отвечать на какие-либо его вопросы (Булгаков 9). He [Mark Rat-Killer] was ordered by the Procurator to turn the criminal over to the chief of the secret service, and to relay the Procurator's command that… the soldiers of the secret service detachment be forbidden, under threat of severe punishment, to speak with Yeshua about anything, or to answer any of his questions (9a).

С-737 • НИЧЕГО́ СТРА́ШНОГО; НЕ СТРА́ШНО both coll [indep. sent, main clause in a complex sent, or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: это; 2nd var. only); fixed WO] the action in question (which has either just been mentioned or is about to be mentioned) is not cause for concern: never mind; nothing to worry ⟨get upset⟩ about; it's ⟨that's⟩ no big deal; it's ⟨that's⟩ not so bad; it's ⟨that's⟩ OK ⟨alright⟩; not to worry; it's nothing (too ⟨so⟩ terrible); nothing so terrible about that; who minds that?; it doesn't matter.

«Да занимали они [очередь], успокойтесь!» — «Сами успокойтесь!» — «Ладно, не надо кричать из-за пустяка. Люди стояли, отошли. Ничего страшного…» (Сорокин 1). "Calm down, they did [they had places in the queue]!" "Calm down yourself!" "Okay, okay, no need to start yelling about nothing. These people were standing in the queue, and then they went off somewhere. Nothing to get upset about…" (1a).♦ Можно, конечно, попробовать обменять их комнату на что-то более стоящее, будет тройной обмен, это не страшно (Трифонов 4). One could of course try to exchange their room for something more worthwhile, that would be a third exchange, nothing so terrible about that (4a).

С-738 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ⟩ СТРЕКАЧА́ ⟨СТРЕЧКА́⟩ highly coll, usu. humor [VP; subj: human or animal; more often pfv] to run away quickly (usu. in order to escape danger, pursuit etc): X дал стрекача ≃ X took to his heels (out of some place); X made tracks; X made off; X bolted (from some place); X hightailed it; X made a run for it; X beat a hasty retreat; [lim.] X gave s.o. the slip.

Александр Иванович не стал мешкать, бросил прощальный взгляд на потрескавшийся фундамент электростанции… и задал стрекача (Ильф и Петров 2). Alexander Ivanovich lost no time, cast a farewell glance at the crumbling foundation of the electric power station… and took to his heels (2b).

С-739 • КАК СТРЕЛА́ [как + NP; Invar] 1. прямой ~ [modif (intensif)] (usu. of a road, street, path etc) free of bends, curves etc: (as) straight as an arrow; could not be straighter; perfectly straight.

2. нестись, мчаться, лететь и т.п. ~ [adv] (to run, race, fly) very fast: like an arrow; speeding like an arrow; [of time] (days ⟨months etc⟩ fly ⟨shoot by⟩) like arrows.

«Сию секунду… сейчас… сию минуту…» — пролепетала обычно очень надменная супруга председателя акустической комиссии и как стрела полетела в спальню подымать Аркадия Аполлоновича с ложа… (Булгаков 9). "This second… right away… just a minute…" babbled the customarily arrogant wife of the chairman of the Acoustics Commission, and she flew into the bedroom like an arrow to rouse Arkady Apollonovich from his bed… (9c).

С-740 • СТРЕ́ЛОЧНИК ВИНОВА́Т; ВСЕГДА́ ВИНОВА́Т СТРЕ́ЛОЧНИК both coll [sent (with быть$_{ø}$)] (said with sarcasm) when sth. ends in failure, meets with difficulties etc, it is (always) someone occupying a low position who gets blamed: the little guy ⟨man⟩ (always) gets the blame; the little guy (always) takes the fall; they (always) blame the little guy ⟨man⟩.

С-741 • НА СТРЁМЕ стоять, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. slang [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (to be) watching over, usu. when s.o. is committing a crime (or, in less serious contexts, doing sth. reprehensible or forbidden) in order to shield that person and make sure that he is not disturbed, harmed etc: X стоит на стрёме ≃ X is on the lookout; X is standing guard; X is keeping watch; X is the lookout.

Один стоял на стрёме, другой торопливо заворачивал винтовку в солому и бумаги (Кузнецов 1). One of us kept watch while the other hastily wrapped the rifle up in straw and paper (1b). ♦ Парни пьют водку, закусывают. Это старшеклассники. Быстро зашли после уроков в комнату, сели в углу, оставили кого-то «на стрёме» (Гальего 1). The boys were drinking vodka and snacking. These were the upperclassmen. They slipped into the room quickly after lessons, sat in a corner, and appointed someone to be the lookout (1a).

С-742 • СТРО́ИТЬ ИЗ СЕБЯ́ кого-что coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human] to try to make others perceive one in a certain way (which is usu. contrary to, or does not reflect, one's true nature, character): X строит из себя Y-а ≃ X poses ⟨tries to pose⟩ as Y; X makes himself out to be Y; X tries to pass for Y; X passes ⟨tries to pass⟩ himself off as Y.

[Платонов:] Я пропадаю, совсем пропадаю, моя дорогая! Угрызения совести, тоска, хандра… [Анна Петровна:] Не терплю я этих романических героев! Что вы строите из себя, Платонов?.. Хандра, тоска, борьба страстей… (Чехов 1). [P.:] I'm going completely to the dogs, darling, what with my pangs of conscience, misery, depressions…. [A.P.:] I loathe these romantic heroes. What are you trying to pose as?… Depression, misery, the battleground of passions… (1b).

С-743 • ВВОДИ́ТЬ/ВВЕСТИ́ В СТРОЙ что offic, media [VP; subj: human; obj: usu. a noun denoting an industrial unit; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to make sth. functional, operational: X-ы ввели в строй Y ≃ Xs put Y into operation ⟨into service⟩; Xs put Y in commission.

Новую гидроэлектростанцию ввели в строй два месяца назад. The new hydroelectric power plant was put into service two months ago.

С-744 • ВСТУПА́ТЬ/ВСТУПИ́ТЬ ⟨ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́⟩ В СТРОЙ offic, media [VP; subj: usu. a noun denoting an industrial unit] to become functional, operational: X вступил в строй ≃ X was put into operation ⟨into service⟩; X went into operation.

С-745 • ПРОГОНЯ́ТЬ/ПРОГНА́ТЬ СКВОЗЬ СТРОЙ кого obs [VP; subj: human; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] (in refer. to a form of punishment in the Imperial army) to make an offender pass between two columns of soldiers who beat him with sticks: X-а прогнали сквозь строй ≃ X was made to ⟨had to⟩ run the gauntlet.

Военный суд приговорил его [Полежаева] прогнать сквозь строй; приговор послали к государю на утверждение (Герцен 1). The court-martial condemned him [Polezhayev] to run the gauntlet; the sentence was despatched to the Tsar for confirmation (1a).

С-746 • ЧИТА́ТЬ/ПРОЧИТА́ТЬ МЕЖДУ СТРОК ⟨СТРО́ЧЕК, СТРОКА́МИ, СТРО́ЧКАМИ⟩ [VP; subj: human; more often impfv; fixed WO] to (be able to) deduce the underlying meaning of what s.o. says by guessing at what has not been directly expressed: X читал между строк ≃ X read between the lines.

Написанные четыре года назад к другу, который понимает и читает между строк, эти слова, брошенные в открытый, бурный, жадный мир, часто не понимавший и не желавший понять, летели назад, в другом звучании, в искажённом значении… (Аллилуева 2). Written four years earlier to a friend who knew how to read between the lines, these words, flung into a wide-open, wild, greedy world, which often could not or did not wish to understand, were flying back at me with a different sound, a distorted meaning… (2a).

С-747 • ПРИКА́ЗНАЯ СТРОКА́ obs, derog [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a petty bureaucrat: pettifogger.

С-748 • ПИ́ШУЩИЙ Э́ТИ СТРО́КИ [AdjP; used as NP; may be preceded by я and used as an appos; fixed WO] used by a writer, journalist etc, generally to avoid the use of the pronoun «я» or, when occasionally used with the pronoun, to make it less awkward: the writer ⟨author, composer⟩ of these lines; the present writer ⟨author, reviewer, commentator etc⟩; this writer ⟨author, reviewer, columnist etc⟩.

«…Завтра будут разбираться другие дела. Ваше не будет». Тем не менее завтра, 4 апреля, пишущий эти строки решил посетить райисполком и лично убедиться, что его дело не будет рассмотрено (Войнович 3). "…Tomorrow other matters will be investigated. Not yours." Nevertheless, the next day, April 4, the writer of these lines decided to visit the Regional Executive Committee personally and satisfy himself that this matter would not be considered (3a).

С-749 • НЕ В СТРО́КУ (отвечать, говорить и т.п.) obs [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: всё, слова etc)] (to say sth., give an answer that is etc) inappropriate, inopportune, irrelevant: off the point; out of place.

С-750 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ ИЗ СТРО́Я кого-что [VP; if obj: human, subj is usu. abstr (болезнь, неудача etc) or concr (пуля, мина etc); if obj: concr (завод, станок etc), subj is usu. human or abstr (авария, взрыв etc); more often pfv] to render s.o. or sth. unable to carry out his or its function (in refer. to a person—unable to work or serve in the military; in refer. to a factory, machine etc—inoperative): X вывел Y-а ⟨Y⟩ из строя ≃ X put Y out of commission ⟨action⟩; X disabled ⟨incapacitated, sidelined⟩ person Y; X put thing Y out of operation.

…Одно только никак не укладывалось у Лёши в голове — зачем отцу нужно было выводить из строя эту самую печь? Неужели он думал, что вместе с этой печью рухнет всё советское государство? (Войнович 2). …There was just one thing Lyosha found difficult to accept—why had his father wanted to put that particular furnace out of commission? Could he really have thought the loss of this one furnace would cause the entire Soviet state to collapse? (2a). ♦ …Ничтожный осколок вывел его [фон Шенау] из строя, и сразу лазареты, лечебницы, курорты, консилиумы… (Федин 1). …A mere splinter had put him [von Schönau] out of action, and right away sick-bays, hospitals, resorts, consultations… (1a).

С-751 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ⟨ВЫБЫВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́БЫТЬ⟩ ИЗ СТРО́Я [VP; subj: human or concr (завод, станок etc)] to become unable to carry out one's or its function (of a person—unable to work or serve in the military; of a factory, machine etc—inoperative): X вышел из строя ≃ X was (put) out of commission ⟨action⟩; person X became disabled ⟨incapacitated⟩; person X was sidelined; thing X stopped functioning ⟨working⟩; thing X ground to a halt; [lim.] thing X broke down; thing X was ⟨went⟩ on the blink.

За двадцать лет редеют леса, оскудевает почва. Самый лучший дом требует ремонта. Турбины выходят из строя (Трифонов 5). In twenty years forests thin out and the soil becomes depleted. Even the best house requires repairs. Turbines stop functioning (5a). ♦ Я думаю, если дело протянулось бы несколько дольше и вся тюрьма включилась бы в эту работу, то советская бюрократическая машина просто вышла бы из строя… (Буковский 1). I think that if the business had continued a little longer and involved everyone in the prison, the Soviet bureaucratic machine would have simply ground to a halt… (1a).

С-752 • СНИМА́ТЬ/СНЯТЬ СТРУ́ЖКУ с кого; СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ КЛИ́ЗМУ кому both coll [VP; subj: human] to reprimand, criticize, scold s.o. severely: X снимет с Y-а стружку ≃ X will give Y a dressing-down ⟨the business, a hard time⟩; X will bawl ⟨chew⟩ Y out; X will let Y have it; X will make it hot for Y; X will give it to Y (but) good; X will show ⟨fix⟩ Y. Cf. read s.o. the riot act.

«Комендант прикатил, стружку за план снимать будет» (Максимов 2). "The commandant's arrived. He's come to give me a hard time because we're behind with the delivery plan" (2a).

С-753 • КАК НАТЯ́НУТАЯ СТРУНА́ [как + NP; nom only; subj-comp with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] (to be) in a state of emotional or nervous tension: (be) high-strung ⟨overstrung⟩; (be) uptight; [of one's nerves] (be) stretched to the breaking point.

С-754 • СЛА́БАЯ СТРУНА́ ⟨СТРУ́НКА⟩ чья, кого [NP; fixed WO] the most vulnerable part of a person's character, a sensitivity or character flaw that can easily be used by another to his own advantage: a ⟨s.o.'s, one's⟩ weak ⟨vulnerable⟩ spot; a ⟨s.o.'s, one's⟩ weakness; a ⟨s.o.'s, one's⟩ foible; [lim.] a ⟨the⟩ chink in s.o.'s ⟨one's⟩ armor; || играть на слабых струнах чьих, кого ≃ play on s.o.'s weaknesses.

Он довольно остёр; эпиграммы его часто забавны, но никогда не бывают метки и злы: он никого не убьёт одним словом; он не знает людей и их слабых струн… (Лермонтов 1). He is rather witty and his epigrams are frequently amusing but never pointed or malicious; he does not annihilate a person with one word. He knows neither people nor their foibles… (1b).

С-755 • В СТРУНЕ́ держать кого coll [PrepP; Invar; obj-compl with держать (obj: human)] (to be) strict with, impose strict rules of conduct on s.o. (or o.s.): X держит Y-а ⟨себя⟩ ~ ≃ X keeps a tight rein on Y ⟨on himself⟩; X keeps Y ⟨himself⟩ in check ⟨in line⟩; X keeps Y ⟨himself⟩ in hand.

[Аркадина:] Я, милая, держу себя в струне, как говорится, и всегда одета и причёсана comme il faut (Чехов 6). [A.:] Yes, dear. I keep myself in hand: always dressed and coiffed comme il faut (6d).

С-756 • ХОДИ́ТЬ ПО СТРУ́НКЕ ⟨В СТРУ́НКУ obs⟩ (у кого, перед кем); ХОДИ́ТЬ ПО НИ́ТОЧКЕ (у кого) all coll [VP; subj: human] to obey some person fully and unquestioningly (usu. because one fears him) or to obey the rules at some place fully and unquestioningly (usu. because one is afraid of the superior, supervisor etc and the possible negative consequences of unacceptable behavior): X (у Y-а) по струнке ходит ≃ (with ⟨for⟩ Y,) X toes the line ⟨the mark⟩; X is on his best behavior (with ⟨for⟩ Y); [lim.] X is at Y's beck and call; X is so docile and obedient.

[Буланов:] Я вам не Раиса Павловна; у меня все по струнке будете ходить, а то и марш со двора (Островский 7). [B.:] I am not like Raisa Pavlovna; with me you will all have to toe the mark or get fired (7a). ♦ «Прошу покорно, Ольга, девочка! по ниточке, бывало, ходила. Что с ней?» (Гончаров 1). "A child, if you please, a little girl who used to be at my beck and call! What is the matter with her?" (1b). "Who would believe it? Olga, a little girl like that; she used to be so docile and obedient, and now… what's happened to her?" (1c).

С-757 • В СТРУ́НКУ ⟨В СТРУНУ́⟩ вытянуться, выпрямиться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv] 1. (of a person) (to assume) the posture of attention: (come ⟨snap⟩) to attention; (stand) at attention.

…Когда подъехали к остановке и дверь растворилась, я не удержался и спросил ещё раз, у одного из выходящих, спросил: «Это Усад, да?» А он (совсем неожиданно) вытянулся передо мной в струнку и рявкнул: «Никак нет!!» (Ерофеев 1). …As we were approaching another stop and the doors started to open, I couldn't resist, and again asked one of the passengers getting off: "This is Usad, right?" And (quite unexpectedly) he snapped to attention in front of me and bellowed: "No, sir!" (1a).

2. (of an animal running fast) (to run straight ahead,) one's body appearing to be stretched out parallel to the ground: (run) flat-out.

«Но дворянину изменить своей присяге, соединиться с разбойниками, с убийцами, с беглыми холопьями!.. Стыд и срам нашему роду!..» Испуганная его отчаянием матушка не смела при нём плакать и старалась возвратить ему бодрость, говоря о неверности молвы, о шаткости людского мнения (Пушкин 2). “But for a nobleman to betray his oath of allegiance and ally himself with brigands, murderers and runaway serfs! Shame on our family! Shame on our name!” Terrified by his despair, Mother did not dare to weep in front of him and tried to rally his spirits by talking of the fickleness of rumour and the unreliability of popular opinion (2c).

С-764 • СТЫД НЕ ДЫМ, ГЛАЗА́ НЕ ВЫ́ЕСТ [saying] shame can be endured and does no lasting harm: ≃ a little shame won’t hurt you.

Ни вероисповедания, ни образа правления эти племена не имели… Заключали союзы, объявляли войны, мирились, клялись друг другу в дружбе и верности, когда же лгали, то прибавляли «да будет мне стыдно», и были наперёд уверены, что «стыд глаза не выест» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). These tribes had neither religion nor any form of government…. They concluded alliances, declared wars, made peace, swore friendship and fidelity to one another, and when they lied they added, “Shame on me!” and were sure ahead of time that “a little shame won’t hurt you” (1a).

С-765 • НИ СТЫДА́ НИ СО́ВЕСТИ НЕТ у кого, в ком coll, disapprov; НЕТ СТЫДА́ В ГЛАЗА́Х у кого substand, disapprov [$VP_{subj/gen}$; pres only; fixed WO (1st var.), fixed WO with нет movable (2nd var.)] s.o. conducts himself dishonorably and feels and/or exhibits no remorse: ни стыда ни совести у Х-а нет ≃ X has no conscience (at all); has X ⟨have you⟩ no shame (at all)?; X should ⟨ought to⟩ be ashamed of himself.

[Угаров:] Анна Васильевна, голубушка! Спаси. Дай три рубля до завтра. [Васюта (быстро):] Нет, нет. Не дам. Ни стыда у вас, ни совести! (Вампилов 1). [U.:] Anna Vasilyevna, dear Anna Vasilyevna! Save us. Lend us three rubles till tomorrow. [V. (quickly):] Oh no. Nothing doing. Have you no shame at all? (1a).

С-766 • СГОРА́ТЬ ⟨ГОРЕ́ТЬ⟩/СГОРЕ́ТЬ СО ⟨ОТ⟩ СТЫДА́ coll [VP; subj: human; often impfv Verbal Adv сгорая; if pfv—often subjunctive or past with чуть не] to experience intense shame, embarrassment: Х сгорал со стыда ≃ X was burning (up) with shame; X was dying ⟨nearly died⟩ of shame; X was embarrassed to death; X was bitterly ashamed of himself.

[Иванов:] Перед тобою стоит человек, в тридцать пять лет уже утомлённый, разочарованный, раздавленный своими ничтожными подвигами; он сгорает со стыда… (Чехов 4). [I.:] You see a man exhausted at the age of thirty-five, disillusioned, crushed by his own pathetic efforts, bitterly ashamed of himself… (4b).

С-767 • К СТЫДУ́ СВОЕМУ́ ⟨МОЕМУ́, НА́ШЕМУ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] used to express dissatisfaction with one’s own or another’s blameworthy behavior or actions: to my ⟨our, his etc⟩ shame ⟨embarrassment, chagrin⟩; I’m ⟨we are, he is etc⟩ ashamed ⟨embarrassed⟩ to say…; [lim.] it is a matter of shame for me ⟨us etc⟩ that…

«Слышала ты когда-нибудь имя Николая Веденяпина?» — «Ну конечно. До знакомства с тобой, и потом, по частым твоим рассказам. О нём часто упоминает Симочка Тунцева. Она его последовательница. Но книг его, к стыду своему, я не читала» (Пастернак 1). “Have you ever heard of Nikolai Vedeniapin?” “Well, of course! Both before I met you and from what you’ve told me yourself. Sima Tuntseva often speaks of him, she’s a follower of his. To my shame, I haven’t read his books” (1a).

С-768 • ПОКА́ СУД ДА ДЕ́ЛО coll [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] while sth. is happening, until such time as circumstances clarify themselves, in the intervening time: in the meantime; while ⟨until⟩ things sort themselves out; while this is (still) in the works; while this is (still) going on; meanwhile; [lim.] for the time being.

С-769 • ШЕМЯ́КИН СУД [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an unfair trial: unjust ⟨biased⟩ trial. Cf. kangaroo court.

< Apparently from Шемяка, the name of an arbitrary and casuistic judge in a satirical old Russian tale.

С-770 • НА НЕТ И СУДА́ НЕТ [saying] used to express resignation to, but not dissatisfaction with, the absence of sth., s.o.’s refusal to do sth. etc: ≃ if s.o. doesn’t ⟨can’t, hasn’t etc⟩, then s.o. doesn’t ⟨can’t, hasn’t etc⟩; if it hasn’t come ⟨didn’t happen etc⟩, it hasn’t (come) ⟨didn’t (happen) etc⟩); if that’s the way it is ⟨s.o. feels about it etc⟩ then there’s nothing to be done about it; where nothing is, nothing can be had; if there’s nothing there, there’s nothing to be had; if s.o. doesn’t ⟨can’t etc⟩, there’s no more to be said; so be it; what cannot be cured must be endured.

[Кочкарёв:] Да ведь вы слышали, у ней приданого ничего нет. [Жевакин:] На нет и суда нет (Гоголь 1). [K.:] But you must have heard. She’s got no dowry. [Zh.:] If she hasn’t, then she hasn’t (1a). ♦ «Сегодня вас не ждали, батюшка, говядинки не привезли», — промолвил Тимофеич… «И без говядинки обойдёмся, на нет и суда нет. Бедность, говорят, не порок» (Тургенев 2). “They weren’t expecting you today, sir; no beef’s been delivered,” said Timofeich… “We’ll manage without beef; where nothing is, nothing can be had. Poverty, they say, is no sin” (2g).

С-771 • СУДА́ НЕТ на кого coll [Interj; usu. this WO] used to express indignation at s.o. who acts disgracefully or contemptibly and deserves to be severely punished (yet manages to avoid punishment): суда на Х-а нет! ≃ hanging’s too good for X!

«Марью опять муж бьёт! Суда на него нет, на эту сволочь!» — кричала Вера. “Marya’s husband is beating her again! Hanging’s too good for him, the bastard!” cried Vera.

С-772 • СУДИ́ТЬ ДА ⟨И⟩ РЯДИ́ТЬ (о ком-чём); СУДИ́ТЬ-РЯДИ́ТЬ all old-fash, coll [VP; subj: human, often pl] to discuss s.o. or sth. thoroughly, in detail: Х-ы судили да рядили ≃ Xs were hashing and rehashing everything ⟨some question etc⟩; Xs were hashing ⟨thrashing⟩ things ⟨it⟩ out; Xs were talking it ⟨things, everything⟩ over; ‖ Х-ы судили и рядили об Y-е ≃ Xs were hashing out ⟨thrashing out, hashing and rehashing⟩ thing Y ⟨person Y’s situation etc⟩; Xs were talking over thing Y ⟨person Y’s behavior etc⟩.

Лизка была в боковушке. Такой уж порядок: пока судят да рядят старшие, девка в стороне (Абрамов 1). Lizka was in the side room. That was the custom: while her elders were thrashing things out, the girl kept away to one side (1a).

С-773 • СУ́ДЫ ДА ⟨И⟩ ПЕРЕСУ́ДЫ ⟨СУ́ДЫ-ПЕРЕСУ́ДЫ⟩ coll, disapprov [NP; pl only; fixed WO] unkind talk or stories: gossip and rumors.

Ксана на приставания Иосифа не отвечала, но городок маленький, южный, всё на виду, все видят, как Иосиф вяжется к Ксане, и этот факт… даёт пищу судам и пересудам… (Рыбаков 1). [context transl] Ksana didn't respond to his passes, but it was a small town in the south, where everything is out in the open, everyone could see that Yosif was trying to get involved with her… giving ammunition for gossips and rumour-mongers… (1a).

С-774 • НЕ СУДЬБА́ (кому-чему) [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin, often omitted); usu. pres] fortune decrees that sth. is not to happen or be accomplished: не судьба X-у делать Y ≃ it is not destined that X do Y; it's not X's destiny ⟨fate⟩ to do Y; X is not destined ⟨fated⟩ to do Y; it is not (meant) to be; it is not in the cards; [when used without an infin, as an indep. remark] fate willed ⟨decreed, ordained⟩ otherwise.

[Телегин:] Значит, Марина Тимофеевна, не судьба им жить тут. Не судьба… (Чехов 3). [T.:] So they're not going to live here after all, Marina. Fate has decreed otherwise (3b).

С-775 • КАКИ́МИ СУДЬБА́МИ? coll [NP$_{instrum}$; Invar; usu. used as a formula phrase; fixed WO] (an exclamation made at an unexpected encounter) why are you here?—I am very surprised to see you: what brings you here?; fancy meeting you here; what are you doing here?; [lim.] how did you end up in our institute ⟨get on our team etc⟩?

А хозяин уже спешил встретить гостя, источая… радушие и сердечность: «Пётр Васильевич! Какими судьбами?» (Максимов 3). His host was already hurrying to meet him, oozing cordiality. "Pyotr Vasilievich! What brings you here?" (3a). ♦ «Ба, ба, ба! — вскричал он вдруг, расставив обе руки при виде Чичикова. — Какими судьбами?» (Гоголь 3). "Hullo, hullo, hullo!" he exclaimed suddenly, flinging wide his arms at the sight of Chichikov. "Fancy meeting you here!" (3a).

С-776 • ОБИ́ЖЕННЫЙ ⟨ОБИ́ЖЕН, ОБОЙДЁННЫЙ, ОБОЙДЁН⟩ СУДЬБО́Й [AdjP; modif (variants with long-form Part) or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: human, pres or past (variants with short-form Part); usu. this WO (variants with long-form Part)] unlucky: wronged by life ⟨fate⟩; ill-fated; ill-starred; unfortunate.

Какое ему было дело до этого дурацкого портфеля, до этого брошенного родителями мальчишки, племянника жены, если сам он был так обижен судьбой, если бог не дал ему сына собственного, своей крови, в то время как другим дарит детей щедро, без счёта?.. (Айтматов 1). What did he care about that stupid schoolbag, about that brat abandoned by his parents, when he himself was so wronged by life, when God didn't see fit to grant him a son of his own, his own flesh and blood, while others were blessed with all the children they could want (1a).

С-777 • БЛАГОСЛОВЛЯ́ТЬ СУДЬБУ́ [VP; subj: human] to feel grateful for one's luck and good fortune: X благословляет судьбу (за то, что…) ≃ X thanks his lucky stars (for…); X thanks ⟨praises⟩ the heavens (for…).

«…Кажется (я боюсь искушать судьбу), кажется, мы попытаемся прилететь в Москву (во Внуково) в воскресенье 8-го» (Ивинская 1). "I think—I am afraid of tempting fate—I think we shall try to fly back to Moscow (Vnukovo) on Sunday the 8th" (1a).

С-779 • СВЯ́ЗЫВАТЬ/СВЯЗА́ТЬ СВОЮ́ СУДЬБУ́ ⟨ЖИЗНЬ⟩ с кем-чем [VP; subj: human] to align oneself with, and become utterly devoted to, some person (commonly, one's spouse, lover etc), organization, or cause: X связал свою судьбу с Y-ом ≃ X cast his lot with Y; X cast ⟨threw⟩ in his lot with person Y's ⟨thing Y⟩; X linked his destiny to ⟨with⟩ person Y's ⟨thing Y⟩; X united his fate ⟨destiny⟩ with person Y ⟨person Y's⟩; X united his fate ⟨destiny⟩ with that of Y.

«Он видел в ней хорошенькую и свеженькую девочку, с которой он не удостоил связать свою судьбу» (Толстой 6). "All he saw in her was a pretty little girl, nice and fresh, but it would have been below him to unite his destiny with hers" (6c).

С-780 • ОТ СУДЬБЫ́ НЕ УЙДЁШЬ [saying] you cannot avoid your destiny: ≃ there's no escaping ⟨dodging, flying from⟩ fate; you can't escape your fate ⟨dodge fate⟩.

[Василиса:] Убили! Мужа моего… вот кто убил! Васька убил! Я — видела!.. Что, Вася, мил друг? От судьбы — не уйдёшь… Полиция! Абрам… свисти! (Горький 3). [V.:] [He] killed him! Killed my husband…. There's who did it! Vaska killed him! I saw it!… So, Vasya, honey? There's no escaping fate…. Police! Abram… blow your whistle! (3a).

С-781 • СУ́ДЯ ПО чему [Prep; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] on the basis of sth.: judging by ⟨from⟩; by.

«Четверостишие принадлежит поэту Николаю Рубцову. Судя по почерку, переписано оно рукой мужчины» (Чернёнок 1). "The verse belongs to the poet Nikolai Rubtsov. Judging by the handwriting, it was copied by a man" (1a).

С-782 • СУ́ДЯ ПО ВСЕМУ́ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] judging by all available information, outward signs, attitudes etc: to ⟨from⟩ all appearances; (judging) by all appearances; apparently; by all indications; there is every indication that…; all the signs suggest ⟨every sign suggests⟩ that…

…По достоверным сведениям, красные никого из мирных жителей не трогали и, судя по всему, даже и не помышляли о мщении (Шолохов 5). …According to reliable information the Reds had not touched any civilians and, to all appearances, had no vengeful intentions (5a). ♦ Дело в том, что дядя Сандро влюблён в невесту своего друга, и она, судя по всему, тоже в него влюблена (Искандер 5). The trouble is that Uncle Sandro is in love with his friend's bride, and by all indications she is in love with him too (5a).

С-783 • СУ́ДЯ ПО ТОМУ́ ЧТО… [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] based on the fact that: judging by ⟨from⟩ the fact that…; from the fact that…; [lim.] judging from the way (s.o. did sth. ⟨sth. happened⟩).

…Судя по тому что он [Лакоба] и Сталин несколько раз бросали взгляд в его сторону, дядя Сандро, сладко замирая, почувствовал, что говорят о нём (Искандер 3). …From the fact that he [Lakova] and Stalin glanced in his direction several times, Uncle Sandro sensed, with sweetly fluttering stomach, that they were talking about him (3a).

С-784 • СУЕТА́ СУ́ЕТ (И ВСЯ́ЧЕСКАЯ СУЕТА́) lit [sent; often only the first half is used; fixed WO] the matter in question is totally insignificant, trivial, devoid of any value: vanity of vanities (, all is vanity).

< From the Bible (Eccles. 1:2).

С-785 • РУБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДРУБА́ТЬ⟩ СУК, НА КОТО́РОМ СИДИ́ШЬ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. 2nd or 3rd pers] to do sth. that will bring harm or trouble upon o.s.: X рубит сук, на котором сидит ≃ X is cutting his own throat; X is sawing the branch he’s sitting on; [lim.] X is cutting off his nose to spite his face.

[author’s usage] Александр слышал наш спор. После работы он спросил меня: «А вы понимаете, что рубите ветку, на которой сидите? Начальство не любит, когда ему доказывают, что оно темнит и выдаёт говно за золото…» (Копелев 1). Aleksandr had overheard our argument. After work he asked me: “Do you realize that you’re sawing the branch you’re sitting on? The bosses don’t like to be shown that they’re gold-bricking and passing shit off as gold” (1a).

С-786 • КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ПОД СУКНО́ что, usu. заявление, просьбу, жалобу и т.п. [VP; subj: human] to postpone making a decision on some matter, not address or act on (an application, request, complaint etc): X положил Y под сукно ≃ X shelved ⟨pigeonholed, tabled⟩ Y; X put Y in(to) cold storage ⟨on ice⟩; X put Y on the back burner; [lim.] X put Y in(to) mothballs.

«Талантливых учёных назначать администраторами с крупным окладом. Все без исключения изобретения принимать… и класть под сукно. Ввести драконовские налоги на каждую товарную и производственную новинку…» (Стругацкие 1). “Talented scientists should be turned into highly paid administrators. All inventions are to be accepted and then shelved…. Draconic taxes should be extracted for all commercial or industrial innovations” (1a).

С-787 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ПОД СУКНО́М что, usu. заявление, просьбу, жалобу и т.п. [VP; subj: human] to delay taking action on (an application, request, complaint etc): X держит Y под сукном ≃ X has shelved ⟨pigeonholed, tabled⟩ Y; X has ⟨is keeping⟩ Y in cold storage ⟨on the back burner⟩.

«Почему вы кричите?» — «Потому что вы держите моё заявление под сукном уже больше месяца!» “Why are you yelling?” “Because you’ve had my application in cold storage for over a month now!”

С-788 • ЛЕЖА́ТЬ ПОД СУКНО́М [VP; subj: заявление, просьба, жалоба etc] (of an application, request, complaint etc) not to be given any attention, not be processed: X лежит под сукном ≃ X has been shelved ⟨pigeonholed, tabled⟩; X is (being kept) in cold storage ⟨on the back burner⟩.

С-789 • СУМА́ ПЕРЕМЁТНАЯ coll, derog [NP; sing only; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human) or appos] a person who easily changes his convictions, changes sides: turncoat; double-crosser; (double-crossing) traitor.

По лёгкой поспешности, с какой майор не глядя наложил утвердительную резолюцию, его [Фёдора] осенило, что тому о нём с Полиной давно всё известно. «Носов, — запоздало догадался он, — сума перемётная!» (Максимов 1). The haste with which the major, without looking at him [Fyodor], wrote out a note expressing his agreement made him realize that he had long known all about Fyodor and Polina. “Nosov,” he realized too late, “the double-crossing traitor!” (1a).

С-790 • КРУ́ГЛАЯ ⟨КРУ́ГЛЕНЬКАЯ⟩ СУ́ММА [NP; sing only] a large, significant amount (of money): a tidy sum; a pretty penny; a small fortune.

В профкоме [института] возникли туристские путёвки во Францию, одиннадцать дней, шесть дней Париж, пять — Марсель, Ницца и прочее, мечта жизни стоимостью в кругленькую сумму (Трифонов 3). The committee of the institute’s staff association had been given a number of travel vouchers for a trip to France of eleven days, six in Paris and five in Marseilles, Nice, and so on—the dream of a lifetime, and costing a tidy sum (3a).

С-791 • В СУ́ММЕ [PrepP; Invar; adv or sent adv] when everything is added together: altogether; all in all; in total.

В сумме у нас было около пяти тысяч рублей. All in all we had about five thousand rubles.

С-792 • НИЧТО́ЖЕ СУМНЯ́ШЕСЯ ⟨СУМНЯ́СЯ⟩ obs, lit; now iron or humor [these forms only; adv or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] (one does sth.) unhindered by doubts, with no reservations, without vacillating (occas. implies that the doer is not afraid of offending s.o., of doing sth. unethical etc): without a moment’s hesitation; without wavering.

< From the Church Slavonic text of the Bible (James 1:6).

С-793 • ПОД СУРДИ́НКУ ⟨-ой obs⟩ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. sounding at reduced volume: mutedly; (sound) muted; softly; quietly; low.

[author’s usage] В комнате послышалось храпенье, сначала тихое, как под сурдиной, потом громче… (Гончаров 1). Suddenly there was a sound of snoring in the room, at first gentle, as though muted, then growing louder… (1b).

2. covertly, clandestinely: secretly; in secret; on the quiet ⟨q.t.⟩; quietly; on the sly.

Обвенчаться под сурдинку в Москве было не легко… (Герцен 2). To marry on the quiet in Moscow was not easy… (2a).

С-794 • КАК СУРО́К спать [как + NP; nom only; adv] (to sleep) very soundly: (sleep) like a log ⟨a baby⟩.

Он шёл домой и, уходя, спешил заглянуть на больного [Раскольникова]. Разумихин донёс ему, что тот спит, как сурок (Достоевский 3). He was about to go home and was going to look in on the patient before he went. Razumikhin told him Raskolnikov was sleeping like a log (3b).

С-795 • ПО СУ́ТИ (ДЕ́ЛА) [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (usu. parenth); fixed WO] 1. if the basic aspects of the matter in question are considered: in essence; essentially; in effect; to ⟨for⟩ all intents and purposes.

«Крайне важная задача — практически привлечь рабочих к управлению [производством]… Этому, по сути, посвящена и вся моя работа» (Свирский 1). “The most important task we have is to find a practical way of involving the workers [in the management of production]…. That essentially is what my work is all about…” (1a).

2. in reality: actually; in (actual) fact; in actuality; in point of fact; as a matter of fact.

Как-то смягчился в памяти проклятый бесовский кот, не пугала более отрезанная голова, и, покинув мысль о ней, стал размышлять Иван о том, что, по сути дела, в клинике очень неплохо, что Стравинский умница и знаменитость и что иметь с ним дело чрезвычайно приятно (Булгаков 9). The memory of the damned infernal tom had softened, the severed head no longer frightened him, and, abandoning his preoccupation with it, Ivan began to reflect that, actually, the hospital was not so bad, that Stravinsky was clever and famous, and extremely pleasant to deal with (9a).

С-796 • СУ́ТЬ ДЕ́ЛА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the main point, most important aspect etc of some matter: the heart ⟨the crux, the essence, the gist⟩ of the matter.

[Учёный:] Наконец-то мы подошли к самой сути дела (Шварц 3). [Scholar:] At last we've come to the real crux of the matter (3a). ♦ Поскольку здесь всего в избытке, то все потребности удовлетворяются, и… Вот в этом-то и состоит суть дела (Зиновьев 1). Since we have more than enough of everything, all needs are satisfied and…. That is the essence of the matter (1a).

С-797 • БЕЗ СУЧКА́ БЕЗ ЗАДО́РИНКИ; БЕЗ (СУЧКА́ И) ЗАДО́РИНКИ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv; fixed WO] (sth. is carried out, proceeds etc) easily and smoothly, without complications, very well: without a hitch; like clockwork.

Не вернись я с юга — их [КГБ] операция прошла бы без задоринки… (Солженицын 2). If I hadn't come back from the south, their [the KGB's] operation would have gone off without a hitch (2a).

< From the speech of carpenters and joiners. «Задоринка» is a snag on the surface of a smoothly planed board.

С-798 • НИ СУЧКА́ НИ ЗАДО́РИНКИ coll [NP_{gen}; Invar; usu. subj/gen or obj; when used in a чтоб(ы)-clause after a command, the clause functions as adv; fixed WO] (there is, to find etc) not a single mistake, imperfection (in sth.): (there is) not a flaw; (it is) a flawless ⟨perfect⟩ job; (sth. is) flawless ⟨perfect⟩; (sth. is done) flawlessly ⟨perfectly, precisely as it should be done etc⟩; [in refer. to the cleanliness of sth.] (sth. is) spic-and-span.

< See C-797.

С-799 • ВЛАЧИ́ТЬ ЖА́ЛКОЕ СУЩЕСТВОВА́НИЕ lit [VP; subj: human, collect, or names of disciplines, trends etc; usu. this WO] to live, be in a pitiable state: X влачит жалкое существование ≃ person X leads ⟨drags out, ekes out⟩ a miserable existence; person X leads a miserable life; [of organizations, disciplines etc] X is in the ⟨a⟩ state of decline; X is in sorry ⟨sad⟩ shape.

С-800 • ПО СУЩЕСТВУ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ говорить, замечание и т.п. [adv, nonagreeing modif, or subj-compl with copula (subj: критика, замечание etc)] (to say sth., a remark is etc) relevant, (to speak) relevantly: to the point; pertinent(ly); germane(ly); (a comment ⟨question etc⟩ that) gets to the heart of the matter; apropos; || Neg не по существу ≃ beside the point; off the subject.

«Переживаете, да?.. Но ведь критика была по существу» (Аксёнов 1). "You're taking it hard, aren't you?… But the criticism was very much to the point" (1a).

2. Also: ПО СУЩЕСТВУ́ ГОВОРЯ́; В СУ́ЩНОСТИ (ГОВОРЯ́) [sent adv (parenth)] if the basic aspects of the matter in question are considered: in essence; essentially; in effect; to ⟨for⟩ all intents and purposes.

Странно, что существует на виду, так сказать, у всех стиль Толстого с его нагромождением соподчинённых придаточных предложений (вытекающие из одного «что» несколько других «что», из одного «который» несколько следующих «которых»). По существу говоря, единственно встречающийся в русской литературе по свободе и своеобразной неправильности стиль (Олеша 3). It's strange that Tolstoy's style with its piling up of coordinate clauses (several "that's" ensuing from a single "that"; several subsequent "whiches" issuing from a single "which") exists, so to speak, in plain view of everybody. In essence, it is the only style in Russian literature characterized by freedom and by a peculiar impropriety (3a).

3. Also: ПО СУЩЕСТВУ́ ГОВОРЯ́; В СУ́ЩНОСТИ (ГОВОРЯ́) [sent adv (parenth)] in reality: actually; in (actual) fact; in actuality; in point of fact; as a matter of fact.

В сущности говоря, разбор всякой книги нелеп и бесцелен… (Набоков 1). As a matter of fact, the analysis of any book is awkward and pointless… (1a).

С-801 • ВЫ́СШИЕ СФЕ́РЫ [NP; pl only; fixed WO] ruling or otherwise privileged circles: higher ⟨upper⟩ spheres (of government ⟨society etc⟩); upper ⟨higher⟩ echelons (of government ⟨the military etc⟩); supreme authorities; the upper reaches of society; [lim.] the upper crust ⟨walks of life⟩; the privileged class.

…Даже и по этим скудным фактам оказывается возможным уловить физиономию города и уследить, как в его истории отражались разнообразные перемены, одновременно происходившие в высших сферах (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …Even with these meager facts it has proved possible to discern the visage of the town and to trace the way in which its history has reflected the various changes occurring simultaneously in higher spheres (1a).

С-802 • СХОДИ́ТЬ/СОЙТИ́ НА НЕТ [VP] 1. [subj: usu. concr or голос, звук etc] to get smaller and smaller, softer and softer etc until it becomes invisible or inaudible: X сошёл на нет ≃ X trailed off; X faded away ⟨diminished⟩ (to nothing); [of a visible object only] X disappeared; [of a sound only] X died away.

Иди по этой тропинке примерно полкилометра. В том месте, где тропинка сходит на нет, посмотри направо — и ты увидишь озеро. Follow the path about half a kilometer. At the spot where it trails off, look to your right and you'll see the lake.

2. [subj: usu. abstr, occas. human] to lose all significance: X сошёл на нет ≃ X came to naught; X fizzled (out); X petered ⟨died⟩ out; X disappeared from the scene.

…Начатая было в областной газете кампания быстро сошла на нет (Грекова 3). …The campaign, which had been begun in the local newspaper, quickly fizzled (3a).

С-803 • НЕМА́Я СЦЕ́НА [NP; fixed WO] a physical arrangement of actors on a stage in a scene in which they remain silent: tableau ⟨mise en scène⟩ without words; silent tableau.

В ушах звенело от выстрелов. Варя не успела ни вскрикнуть, ни испугаться — д'Эвре протянул левую руку, цепко схватил Варю за локоть и притянул к себе, закрывшись ею, как щитом. Пьеса «Ревизор», немая сцена, тупо подумала Варя… (Акунин 5). Varya's ears were ringing from the shots. She had no time to cry out or feel frightened before Paladin had reached out his left hand, grasped her tightly by the elbow, and pulled her toward him, protecting himself with her like a shield. Gogol's play The Government Inspector, the tableau without words, Varya thought stupidly… (5a).

С-804 • ПОЯВЛЯ́ТЬСЯ/ПОЯВИ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ВЫСТУПА́ТЬ/ВЫ́СТУПИТЬ, ЯВЛЯ́ТЬСЯ/ЯВИ́ТЬСЯ obsoles⟩ НА СЦЕ́НУ [VP; subj: human, concr, or, occas., abstr] to appear somewhere and become part of the existing situation: X появился на сцену ≃ X appeared ⟨arrived, came⟩ on the scene; X entered (up)on the scene; X made an appearance; [lim.] X surfaced; X turned up; [of food and beverages] X was served.

Решили действовать единодушно и прежде всего снестись с пригородами. Как и следовало ожидать, первый выступил на сцену неустрашимый штаб-офицер (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). They decided to act unanimously, communicating first of all with the suburbs. As should have been expected, the first to come on the scene was the intrepid staff-officer (1a).

С-805 • УСТРА́ИВАТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ СЦЕ́НУ ⟨-ы⟩ кому; УСТРО́ИТЬ ⟨СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ СЦЕ́НУ [VP; subj: human; pfv is used with sing сцену only] to express one's intense dissatisfaction with s.o.'s behavior directly to him in a loud and emotional manner, demanding an explanation: X устроил Y-у сцену ≃ X made a scene (with Y); X blew up at Y; [lim.] X threw a tantrum (at ⟨on⟩ Y).

[Захар:] Вот ты утром привела к столу этого Грекова… Я его знаю, он очень развитой парень, — однако тебе не следовало из-за него устраивать тёте сцену (Горький 1). [Z.:] Look how you brought Grekov to the table this morning…. I know him, he's a very bright lad, but all the same you shouldn't have made a scene with your aunt on his account (1a).

С-806 • СХОДИ́ТЬ/СОЙТИ́ СО СЦЕ́НЫ [VP] 1. [subj: human] Also: УХОДИ́ТЬ/УЙТИ́ СО СЦЕ́НЫ (of an actor) to end one's career: X сошёл со сцены ≃ X retired from the stage.

2. [subj: пьеса, опера etc; often neg impfv] (of a play, opera etc) to cease being performed: X сошёл со сцены ≃ X is not staged ⟨put on⟩ anymore; X is no longer produced ⟨performed⟩; || Neg X не сходит со сцены много лет ≃ X has been running ⟨playing⟩ for many years.

3. [subj: human or, rare, abstr] Also: УХОДИ́ТЬ/УЙТИ́ СО СЦЕ́НЫ to cease to be influential, significant in some area, stop one's activity in some area: X сошёл со сцены ≃ X disappeared ⟨passed⟩ from the scene; X faded out of the picture; X faded into the background; [lim.] X left the [AdjP] scene.

Сторонники этой теории давно сошли со сцены. Proponents of this theory passed from the scene long ago.

4. obs [subj: human] to die: X сошёл со сцены ≃ X passed on ⟨away⟩.

С-807 • МЕ́ЖДУ СЦИ́ЛЛОЙ И ХАРИ́БДОЙ lit [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect); fixed WO] one is (or finds o.s.) in a situation in which dangers, troubles etc threaten from both sides, and avoidance of one increases the probability of being harmed by the other: between Scylla and Charybdis.

< From the classical Greek myth about two monsters that inhabited either side of a narrow sea passage between Italy and Sicily.

С-808 • НА СЧА́СТЬЕ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. (дать, подарить что кому и т.п.) ~ [adv] (to give sth. to s.o.) so that it will bring him good fortune: for (good) luck; as a good-luck charm.

Нина подарила мне на счастье своё кольцо. Nina gave me her ring as a good-luck charm.

2. ~ (чьё) [sent adv (parenth)] by favorable chance: fortunately (for s.o.); luckily (for s.o.).

В Карду [Настёна и уполномоченный] приехали засветло, магазин, на счастье, был открыт (Распутин 2). They [Nastyona and the representative] got to Karda before dark and the store, luckily, was open (2a).

С-809 • СЧА́СТЬЕ ТВОЁ ⟨его и т.п.⟩ coll [NP; nom only; usu. the main clause in a complex sent (foll. by a что-clause)] it is fortunate for you (him etc) that…: (it's) lucky for you ⟨him etc⟩ (that)…; you're ⟨he's etc⟩ lucky (that…).

«Хороша, очень хороша! — сказала Марья Дмитриевна. — В моём доме любовникам свиданья назначать!.. Счастье его, что он от меня ушёл; да я найду его» (Толстой 5). "A fine girl, very fine!" said Marya Dmitrienva. "Making assignations with lovers in my house!"… "It's lucky for him that he escaped me, but I'll find him!" (5a).

С-810 • К СЧА́СТЬЮ (чьему, для кого); ПО СЧА́СТЬЮ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] by favorable chance: fortunately (for s.o.); luckily (for s.o.).

Большая часть из них [путевых записок] к счастию для вас, потеряна, а чемодан, с остальными вещами, к счастию для меня, остался цел (Лермонтов 1). The greater part of them [the notes on my travels], luckily for you, has been lost; while the valise with its other contents, luckily for me, remains safe (1a).

С-811 • НЕ́ БЫЛО БЫ СЧА́СТЬЯ, ДА НЕСЧА́СТЬЕ ПОМОГЛО́ [saying] said when something pleasant comes about as a result of trouble or misfortune: ≃ every cloud has a silver lining; it's a blessing in disguise; [lim.] it's an ill wind that blows no good.

«Отстраиваемся, значит?.. Это хорошо, пора стране на ноги вставать». — «Не было бы счастья, да несчастье помогло, — невесело усмехнулся обкомовец и тут же заторопился с разъяснениями. — Сами бы мы не потянули… спасибо эмведе поделило своим контингентом [заключённых], у них людей хватает» (Максимов 1). "So reconstruction is proceeding?… That's good. It's time for the country to get back on its feet." "Every cloud has a silver lining," the secretary grinned morosely, and immediately explained: "We wouldn't have got it done ourselves… but fortunately the MVD helped us out with a contingent [of camp inmates]. They never run short of men" (1a).

С-812 • ПОПЫТА́ТЬ СЧА́СТЬЯ ⟨СЧА́СТЬЕ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with можно, надо, хочет, решил etc] to attempt sth., hoping for success: X хочет попытать счастья ≃ X wants to try his luck.

[Гаев:] Хорошо бы получить от кого-нибудь наследство… хорошо бы поехать в Ярославль и попытать счастья у тётушки-графини. Тётка ведь очень, очень богата (Чехов 2). [G.:] It would be good to receive a legacy from someone… good to go to Yaroslavl and try our luck with our aunt, the Countess. She is very, very rich, you know (2a).

С-813 • НЕ СЧЕСТЬ ⟨НЕ СОСЧИТА́ТЬ⟩ (кого-чего); НЕ СОЧТЁШЬ; НЕ ПЕРЕСЧИТА́ТЬ; НЕ ПЕРЕСЧИТА́ЕШЬ all coll [VP; these forms only; infin is used as impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; all variants are used as quantit subj-compl (subj: a clause or subj/gen: concr or count abstr)] the people (things etc) in question are so numerous that they cannot be counted: X-ов не счесть ≃ there is no end to (the) Xs; Xs are innumerable ⟨countless⟩; there are more Xs than you can count.

Сколько бы ещё свалилось на неё [Ирину Викторовну] утренних и вечерних заданий-нарядов — не счесть! (Залыгин 1).

She'd [Irina Viktorovna would] receive even more orders of the day, morning and evening—there'd be no end to them (1a).

С-814 • В СЧЁТ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. (some money, goods etc are given or received) as part of (eventual full payment for some item, full reimbursement for s.o.'s work, settlement of a debt etc): against; toward; to be applied against ⟨toward⟩; to be counted toward.

Вот 20 рублей в счёт платы за магнитофон. Here's twenty rubles toward the tape recorder. ♦ Он [старый Хабуг] сказал, что отделяет Харлампо тридцать коз в счёт его будущей работы (Искандер 5). [context transl] He [old Khabug] said that he would set Harlampo up with thirty goats, to be repaid with future work (5a).

2. (some work is done, action is carried out etc) as part of or contributing to (a larger obligation, plan, design etc that is yet to be fulfilled): toward.

План на этот год мы уже выполнили, сейчас работаем в счёт будущего года. We've already fulfilled this year's plan—now we're working toward next year's.

С-815 • ГА́МБУРГСКИЙ СЧЁТ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the objective evaluation of the worth of a person or his work (independent of his status, rank, popularity etc): honest ⟨objective⟩ rating; || (судить, оценивать и т.п.) по гамбургскому счёту ≃ (judge) on merit alone; (judge) solely on merit; (judge, evaluate etc) honestly and fairly.

[Розенцвейг] хорошо знал гамбургский счёт в литературе. Ведь именно он напористо пробивал книги Грина и Хемингуэя — не первым, не бросаясь на амбразуру, но тогда, когда ещё было множество препятствий на пути этих писателей (Орлова 1). [context transl] He [Rozenzweig] knew what was what in literature. He was the one who energetically promoted the books of Greene and Hemingway. He wasn't the first and he didn't throw himself into the line of fire, but nevertheless he did so when there was a multitude of obstacles in the path of these writers (1a).

< The title of a collection of articles by Viktor Shklvosky (1928), this phrase (literally, "the Hamburg reckoning") refers to annual wrestling competitions that were supposedly once held in Hamburg. These long and grueling contests, which took place behind closed doors in order to be unaffected by bet-driven cheating, showed who the true champions were. Shklovsky used the phrase to rate contemporary writers.

С-816 • ЗА СВОЙ СЧЁТ [PrepP; Invar] 1. Also: НА СВОЙ СЧЁТ; ЗА ⟨НА⟩ СО́БСТВЕННЫЙ СЧЁТ [adv] so as to be paid for by o.s.: (do sth.) at one's own expense; (pay for sth.) out of one's own pocket; (pay for sth.) o.s.

Это чудовищно несправедливо, говорит Мазила. Я — художник. Моё законное право побывать в музеях Франции и Италии… Я хочу поехать туда за свой счёт. Никаких преступлений я не совершал… И меня не пускают (Зиновьев 1). "It's monstrously unjust," said Dauber. "I am an artist. It is my legal right to visit museums in France and Italy…. I want to travel at my own expense. I haven't committed any crimes…. And yet they won't let me go" (1a). ♦ «Я бы постоянную сиделку за свой счёт пригласила, — мне говорят, и это нельзя?» (Солженицын 10). "…I'd be ready to pay for a permanent nurse out of my own pocket. But they tell me that's not allowed either" (10a).

2. отпуск ~ [nonagreeing modif] time off from work during which one does not receive pay: leave ⟨leave of absence⟩ without pay; unpaid leave ⟨leave of absence⟩; leave of absence at one's own expense.

Надо быть сумасшедшим, чтобы в такое время прийти в отдел кадров и просить отпуск за свой счёт (Михайловская 1). One would have to be insane to ask for leave-without-pay right now (1a).

С-817 • ЗА СЧЁТ[1] чей, кого-чего, какой [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] so as to be subsidized, financed by s.o. (or some organization): at s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ expense; at the expense of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; on s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ money ⟨funds⟩; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ pays for…; || за государственный ⟨за казённый⟩ счёт ≃ at government ⟨the government's, state, the state's, public⟩ expense; on ⟨with⟩ government money ⟨funds⟩; || за счёт ресторана ⟨кафе и т.п.⟩ ≃ on the house.

Если я завтра умру, от меня ничего не останется. Меня похоронят за счёт профсоюза (Войнович 5). If I die tomorrow, no trace of me will remain. I'll be buried at my union's expense… (5a). ♦ Забрали его санитары и сами похоронили, за казённый счёт (Суслов 1). The orderlies took him and buried him themselves, at public expense (1a).

С-818 • ЗА СЧЁТ[2] чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. because of sth., as a consequence of sth.: owing to; thanks to; due to; owe sth. to; [lim.] accounted for by.

…Такие, как я, прыгают через ступеньки и возносятся за счёт «личных способностей», вызывая раздражение у всех — и у своих, и у чужих (Зиновьев 2). …Those like me skip some steps and rise thanks to their "personal capacities," which irritates everyone, both their friends and their enemies (2a).

2. (sth. is done, accomplished etc in one area) by s.o.'s giving up sth. (in another area): at the expense ⟨cost⟩ of; by sacrificing (sth.).

Веранду пристроили к дому за счёт одной из комнат. They added a porch onto the house by sacrificing one of the rooms.

С-819 • ЗАКРЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАКРЫ́ТЬ СЧЁТ [VP] 1. [subj: human] (of a depositor) to withdraw all one's money from the bank: X закрыл счёт ≃ X closed (out) his account.

2. [subj: банк, сберегательная касса, кредитный союз] (of a bank) to halt the payment of money on a depositor's account: X закрыл счёт ≃ X stopped payment; X closed (out) s.o.'s account; [of a temporary measure] X put ⟨placed⟩ a hold on the account.

3. [subj: human] to make one's final payment (to a municipal organization for the use of one's apartment, utilites etc) and thereby discontinue one's access to these services (usu. before moving to a new residence): X закрыл счёт ≃ X closed (out) his account; X settled his account.

В связи с переездом нам нужно закрыть счёт в домоуправлении. Since we're moving we need to settle our account with the building management.

С-820 • ЗНАТЬ СЧЁТ ДЕНЬГА́М coll [VP; subj: human] to be prudent in managing one's money (esp. hard-earned money), not to spend money needlessly, recklessly: X знает счёт деньгам ≃ X knows the value of money ⟨a dollar⟩.

Отец не скупой, но счёт деньгам знает. Father's not stingy, but he knows the value of money.

С-821 • НА СЧЁТ[1] чей, кого-чего, какой [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] so as to be subsidized, financed by s.o. (or some organization): at s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ expense; at the expense of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; on s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ money ⟨funds⟩; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ pays for…; || на казённый счёт ≃ at government ⟨the government's, state, the state's, public⟩ expense; on ⟨with⟩ government money ⟨funds⟩.

Я, например, учился на счёт Коммерческого собрания, был его стипендиатом (Олеша 3). I, for example, studied at the expense of the Commerce Club; I was its stipendiary (3a). ♦ Таким образом, дядю Сандро на казённый счёт, на казённой машине отправили в Ткварчели… (Искандер 3). Thus Uncle Sandro, at government expense, in a government car, was sent to Tkvarcheli… (3a).

С-822 • НА СЧЁТ[2] чей, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] in relation to s.o., regarding s.o.: about; concerning; referring to; on s.o.'s account; [of a remark, criticism etc] aimed ⟨pointed⟩ at; [of a mocking comment, unkind joke etc] at s.o.'s expense.

Я ещё ни одной женщины не обидел всерьёз, а всё потому, что не разрешал им строить иллюзии на свой счёт… (Аржак 1). I've never really hurt a woman up to now, and that's only because I've never let them have any illusions about me (1a).

С-823 • НА ⟨ЗА⟩ ЧУЖО́Й СЧЁТ жить, есть, пить и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to live, eat, drink etc) on another's or others' means, money: at someone else's expense; at others' ⟨other people's⟩ expense; at the expense of others; [in refer. to eating, drinking etc only] on someone else's tab; [in refer. to living only] live ⟨sponge⟩ off other people ⟨someone else⟩.

[Трофимов:] …Ваша мать, вы, дядя уже не замечаете, что вы живёте в долг, на чужой счёт, на счёт тех людей, которых вы не пускаете дальше передней… (Чехов 2). [T.:] You, your mother, your uncle—you don't realize you're living on credit, at the expense of others, people you won't let past your front door… (2b).

С-824 • НА Э́ТОТ СЧЁТ [PrepP; Invar; prep obj; fixed WO] with respect to the matter in question: on this ⟨that⟩ score ⟨point, matter⟩; concerning this ⟨that, it, this matter etc⟩; about this ⟨that, it, this matter etc⟩; in that regard.

«Отдел информации и библиографии — моё детище, и он должен быть самым красивым. Пока его возглавляет Мансурова — у меня нет на этот счёт никаких опасений» (Залыгин 1). "The data and bibliography department is my baby and it's got to be the most beautiful. As long as Mansurova's in charge of it I've no worries on that score" (1a).

С-825 • НЕ (ИДТИ́) В СЧЁТ [PrepP, Invar, subj-compl with copula (1st var.) or VP; subj: any noun] a person (a thing etc) is not or should not be taken into consideration: X не в счёт ≃ X doesn't count.

[Говорящий — мул] Несколько раз навстречу нам показывались верховые… О том, что нас ни один всадник не обогнал, не может быть и разговоров, я бы этого никогда не позволил. Мой старик меня любит не только за плавный ход, но также за очень бодрый шаг. Ну, разумеется, если кто-нибудь пустится сзади галопом, он нас опередит. Но это не в счёт (Искандер 3). [The speaker is a mule] Several times men on horseback came toward us…. There could be no question of any horseman passing us from behind; I'd never allow it. My old man loves me not only for my smooth gait but also for my very brisk pace. Well, of course, if someone starts off at a gallop, he'll leave us behind. But that doesn't count (3a).

С-826 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ СЧЁТ [VP] 1. [subj: human] (of a depositor) to start an account at a bank: X открыл счёт ≃ X opened an account.

2. ~ кому [subj: банк, сберегательная касса, кредитный союз] (of a bank) to accept s.o. as a customer: X открыл счёт Y-у ≃ X established ⟨opened, set up⟩ an account (for Y).

3. sports [subj: human or collect] to make the first score, be first on the scoreboard in some game or competition: X открыл счёт ≃ X scored the first point; X opened the scoring.

4. ~ чему [subj: human or collect; indir obj: pl] to achieve one's first combat success (by shooting down one's first enemy plane, blowing up one's first enemy tank etc): X открыл счёт Y-ам ≃ X scored ⟨shot down, disabled, got, bagged etc⟩ his first Y.

С-827 • ОТНОСИ́ТЬ/ОТНЕСТИ́ что ЗА ⟨НА⟩ СЧЁТ кого-чего [VP; subj: human] to interpret sth. as being caused by sth. else: X относит Y за счёт Z-а ≃ X attributes ⟨credits⟩ Y to Z; X puts Y down to thing Z.

Я ещё не видел её [мою пьесу] на сцене, а уже получил за неё высшую награду — его [Пастернака] одобрение. Даже если большую часть отнести на счёт его доброжелательности и дружеской снисходительности, то и того, что останется, вполне достаточно, чтобы чувствовать себя безмерно счастливым (Гладков 1). I have not yet seen it [my play] put on the stage, but I have already received the highest accolade: his [Pasternak's] approval. Even allowing that most of it must be put down to his generosity and kindhearted indulgence, it is still more than enough to make me feel boundlessly happy (1a).

С-828 • ПРЕДЪЯВЛЯ́ТЬ/ПРЕДЪЯВИ́ТЬ СЧЁТ кому-чему (за что) [VP; subj: usu. human or collect] to make known certain charges against s.o. or sth. (often some political, literary etc trend or school of thought): X предъявил Y-у счёт ≃ X presented a claim ⟨a bill⟩ to Y.

Идеализируя уходящий образ жизни, возможно, мы, сами того не сознавая, предъявляли счёт будущему. Мы ему как бы говорили: «Вот что мы теряем, а что ты нам даёшь взамен?» (Искандер 3). We may not recognize it, but in idealizing a vanishing way of life we are presenting a bill to the future. We are saying, "Here is what we are losing; what are you going to give us in exchange?" (3a).

С-829 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ НА СВОЙ СЧЁТ что [VP; subj: human or collect] to perceive, interpret sth. (usu. a remark, inference, action etc that may be offensive or unpleasant) as pertaining to o.s.: X принял Y на свой счёт ≃ X took Y personally ⟨as aimed at himself⟩; X took Y to apply to X; X thought Y was aimed at ⟨meant for, intended for⟩ him; [lim.] X thought Y was (done ⟨said⟩) on his account.

Он не мог отвязаться от застрявшего в ушах гулкого крика: «Позор!» — и не мог забыть той секунды, когда он принял этот крик на свой счёт (Федин 1). He could not get rid of that loud shout echoing in his ears: "Shame!"—and could not forget the moment when he had taken this shout to apply to him (1a).

С-830 • ПРОХА́ЖИВАТЬСЯ/ПРОЙТИ́СЬ ⟨ПРОЕЗЖА́ТЬСЯ/ПРОЕ́ХАТЬСЯ⟩ НА СЧЁТ чей ⟨ПО А́ДРЕСУ чьему, кого, НАСЧЁТ кого-чего⟩ all coll [VP; subj: human] to speak of s.o. or sth. in a mocking or disapproving tone, speak ill of s.o.: X прохаживался на Y-ов счёт ≃ X was taking stabs ⟨potshots, swipes⟩ at person Y; X was running person Y down; X was poking fun at Y; X was making sport of person Y; X was making fun of Y.

С-831 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ СЧЁТ (кому-чему) [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] not to have kept track of or not to be able to count the number of people, things etc in question because their number is so great: X потерял счёт (Y-ам) ≃ X has lost count ⟨track⟩ (of Ys); X has lost count ⟨track⟩ of how many Ys he has; [lim.] (X has ⟨there are⟩ more Ys than X can count; || X потерял счёт времени ≃ X has lost (all) track of (the) time.

[Лебедев:] Лет тридцать я тебя старухой знаю… [Авдотья Назаровна:] И счёт годам потеряла… (Чехов 4). [L.:] You've been an old woman ever since I've known you—for the last thirty years. [A.N.:] I've lost count of the years… (4a). ♦ «Детям своим он и счёт потерял, но этот Пьер любимый был» (Толстой 4). "He's lost count of how many children he has, but this Pierre has always been his favourite" (4c).

С-832 • БЕЗ СЧЁТА ⟨-у⟩ (кого-чего); БЕЗ ЧИСЛА́ [PrepP; these forms only; adv (quantif) or quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: human, concr, or abstr)] in large quantity, very many: lots (of); an untold amount ⟨quantity⟩ (of); countless; without number; more than one can count; [lim.] all one could (ever) want.

Какое ему было дело до этого дурацкого портфеля, до этого брошенного родителями мальчишки, племянника жены, если сам он был так обижен судьбой, если бог не дал ему сына собственного, своей крови, в то время как другим дарит детей щедро, без счёта?.. (Айтматов 1). What did he care about that stupid schoolbag, about that brat abandoned by his parents, when he himself was so wronged by life, when God didn't see fit to grant him a son of his own, his own flesh and blood, while others were blessed with all the children they could want (1a).

С-833 • В ДВА СЧЁТА coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] (to do sth.) very quickly, without delay, at once: in no time (flat); in no time at all; in a jiffy ⟨a wink, a flash, a snap⟩; one-two-three; in two shakes of a lamb's tail.

…В первых числах августа смотритель получил приказ откомандировать [Мишку] Кошевого в распоряжение станичного правления. Мишка собрался в два счёта, сдал казённую экипировку, в тот же день навечер выехал домой (Шолохов 4). …In the early days of August the overseer received orders to put [Mishka] Koshevoi at the disposal of the stanitsa authorities. Mishka was ready in no time, handed in the equipment that had been issued to him, and by evening on the same day was on his way home (4a).

С-834 • ДЛЯ РО́ВНОГО СЧЁТА [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] in order to bring a sum or quantity to a round number (usu. the nearest multiple of 10, 50, 100 etc): to make it even; to round it off; in round figures ⟨numbers⟩.

«Сколько тебе надо?» — «Шестьсот девяносто с чем-то рублей, скажем, для ровного счёта семьсот», — немного замявшись, сказал Родя (Пастернак 1). "How much do you need?" "Six hundred and ninety-some rubles—let's round it off to seven hundred," said Rodya, faltering slightly (1b). "How much do you need?" "Six hundred and ninety odd rubles. Say seven hundred in round figures," he [Rodia] added after a slight pause (1a).

С-835 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ СЧЁТА ДЕНЬГА́М [VP; subj: human] to have a lot of money and usu. to spend it recklessly, frivolously: X не знает счёта деньгам ≃ X has more money than he can count ⟨than he knows what to do with⟩; X has money to throw around ⟨to burn⟩.

«Вообразите себе молодость, ум, красоту… громкое имя, деньги, которым не знал он счёта и которые у него никогда не переводились» (Пушкин 3). "Picture in your mind youth, intelligence, good looks… an exalted name, and money, more than he could count, in an inexhaustible supply…" (3a).

С-836 • В КОНЕЧНОМ ⟨ПОСЛЕДНЕМ⟩ СЧЁТЕ [PrepP; these forms only; adv or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as a final result or when some final result is examined: in the final analysis ⟨reckoning⟩; in the end; in the long run ⟨haul⟩; when all is said and done; ultimately; [lim.] at the end of the day.

«Почему, собственно, я так взволновался из-за того, что Берлиоз попал под трамвай? — рассуждал поэт. — В конечном счёте, ну его в болото!» (Булгаков 9). "Why did I get so upset over Berlioz falling under a streetcar?" the poet reasoned. "In the final analysis, let him rot!" (9c).

С-837 • СБРА́СЫВАТЬ/СБРО́СИТЬ ⟨СКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/СКИ́НУТЬ, СНИМА́ТЬ/СНЯТЬ, СПИ́СЫВАТЬ/СПИСА́ТЬ⟩ СО СЧЕТО́В ⟨СО СЧЁТОВ, СО СЧЁТА⟩ кого-что [VP; subj: human; often impfv infin with нельзя, не надо, не следует etc] to leave s.o. or sth. out of one's considerations, and/or exclude s.o. or sth. as a possibility: X сбросит Y-а со счетов ≃ X will discount ⟨dismiss, ignore, write off, forget⟩ Y; X will rule ⟨count⟩ out Y.

Случаи индивидуальных и даже групповых действий тебе известны. Их нельзя сбрасывать со счёта. Они своё дело делают (Зиновьев 1). You already know of cases of individual and even collective actions. They cannot be ignored. They have their effect (1a).

С-838 • КРУ́ГЛЫМ СЧЁТОМ; В КРУ́ГЛЫХ ЦИ́ФРАХ [$NP_{instrum}$ or PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] approximately, expressed as a round number (often the nearest multiple of 10, 50, 100 etc or the nearest whole number): in round figures ⟨numbers⟩; rounded off.

«Девять месяцев, — задумчиво считал Воланд, — двести сорок девять тысяч… Это выходит круглым счётом двадцать семь тысяч в месяц? Маловато, но при скромной жизни хватит» (Булгаков 9). "Nine months," Woland calculated thoughtfully. "249,000… In round numbers that comes out to 27,000 a month, isn't that right? Not a lot, but enough if one lives modestly…" (9c). "Nine months…" Woland calculated pensively. "Two hundred and forty-nine thousand… rounding it off that comes to twenty-seven thousand a month… Not a lot, but enough for a modest life…" (9d).

С-839 • РО́ВНЫМ СЧЁТОМ[1] [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; used as Particle (with a Num or quantit NP); fixed WO] 1. precisely (as many, much, long etc as stated): exactly; …to the day ⟨year, ruble etc⟩.

Было бы тягостным недоразумением и шло бы вразрез с прямыми намерениями автора, если бы полемика с прошлым о прошлом, проходящая через эту книгу, была истолкована как желание оживить литературное движение, скончавшееся ровным счётом восемнадцать лет назад (Лившиц 1). It would be an onerous misunderstanding and would go against the author's immediate intentions, if the polemics with the past about the past which run through this book, were to be interpreted as a wish to resurrect a literary movement which died exactly eighteen years ago (1a).

2. merely: only; just; no more than; but.

До зарплаты ещё целая неделя, а у меня осталось ровным счётом десять рублей. It's still a whole week till payday, and I have only ten rubles left.

С-840 • РО́ВНЫМ СЧЁТОМ[2] ничего, нечего и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; used as Particle; fixed WO] altogether, completely (nothing): absolutely nothing; nothing at all; not a (single) thing.

[Нюша:] Я вас предупреждаю — из этого не получится ровным счётом ничего (Панова 1). [N.:] I warn you that absolutely nothing will come of this (1a). ♦ [Шаманов:] …Моё выступление ничего не изменит. Ничего ровным счётом (Вампилов 2). [Sh.:] …My testimony now isn't going to change a thing. Not a thing (2b).

С-841 • НА СЧЕТУ́[1] [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ (у кого) [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: any count noun); if subj: sing, it is usu.

preceded by каждый] every person (or thing) is taken into consideration, is important, valued, significant: (у Y-а) каждый X на счету ≃ every X counts (for Y); every X is precious (to Y); Y needs every X he has ⟨can get etc⟩; every X means something ⟨a lot, a great deal⟩ (to Y).

…Кто-то выпустил Абдула, он, кажется, не покусал никого, но напугал сильно и одежду порвал. Лёвке-то что, а у Антона всякая тряпочка была на счету (Трифонов 2). One of them let Abdul off the leash, and although he didn't actually bite anyone, he gave the victims a bad fright and tore their clothes. This didn't bother Lev too much, but to Anton every scrap of clothing was precious (2a). ♦ «Казаки вернулись обратно к Соболеву, потому что там каждый человек был на счету…» (Акунин 5). "The Cossacks went back to Sobolev because he needed every man he could get…" (5a).

2. ~ (у кого) [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, often pl, or collect)] a person or group is kept under observation (often by s.o. in a position of authority who believes that that person or group has done sth. illegal, reprehensible etc): все X-ы на счету (у Y-а) ≃ all Xs are monitored by Y; Y keeps tab(s) ⟨an eye⟩ on all Xs; Y keeps track of all Xs; all Xs live ⟨fall⟩ under the watchful eye of Y.

Городок у нас маленький, все наркоманы на счету у милиции. Our town is small, and all the drug addicts live under the watchful eye of the militia.

3. ~ чьём, (у) кого [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: count abstr or concr, usu. pl) or obj-compl with иметь (obj: count abstr or concr, usu. pl)] (s.o. has the specified achievements or, occas., undesirable actions) as part of his past experience: у X-а на счету много Y-ов ≃ X has many Ys under his belt; X has many Ys to his name ⟨his credit⟩; X has racked up ⟨accumulated etc⟩ a lot of Ys.

У Дмитрия на счету больше ста изобретений. Dmitry has more than one hundred inventions under his belt.

С-842 • НА СЧЕТУ́[2] каком (у кого) [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is looked upon, perceived in the way specified: X на хорошем ⟨плохом и т.п.⟩ счету (у Y-а) ≃ X is in good ⟨bad etc⟩ standing (with Y); X is in Y's good ⟨bad⟩ books; X is well ⟨ill⟩ thought of (by Y); X has a good ⟨bad etc⟩ reputation.

«А ты спроси у отрядного, что надо делать, чтобы быть на хорошем счету» (Марченко 1). "And you ask the company commander what one has to do in order to be in his good books" (1a). ♦ Во всё время пребывания в училище был он на отличном счету… (Гоголь 3). All the time he was at school he was well thought of… (3a).

С-843 • ПО БОЛЬШО́МУ СЧЁТУ usu. media [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ судить, оценивать и т.п. [adv or sent adv (parenth)] applying the strictest criteria, demands: (judge s.o.) by the highest ⟨strictest⟩ standards ⟨criteria⟩; (evaluate s.o.) using the highest ⟨strictest⟩ standards ⟨criteria⟩.

2. ~ (жить, работать и т.п.) [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr, often всё)] (to live, work etc) in a highly moral fashion: in keeping with ⟨according to⟩ the highest standards.

С-844 • ПО СЧЁТУ [PrepP; Invar; usu. used with ordinal numerals and with последний, какой etc] taking the place or number indicated by the ordinal numeral (or a word such as последний, какой etc that replaces it) if counted from the beginning, one at a time: [usu. omitted when used with an ordinal Num] третий ⟨седьмой и т.п.⟩ по счёту ≃ third ⟨seventh etc⟩; [in limited contexts; usu. with small numbers] second ⟨third etc⟩ to have existed; || последний по счёту ≃ the last; the latest; || какой это по счёту X? ≃ how many Xs have there been (so far)?; how many Xs has one had so far?; how many Xs does ⟨will⟩ this make (for s.o.)?; which number will X be?

Когда Румата миновал могилу святого Мики — седьмую по счёту и последнюю на этой дороге, было уже совсем темно (Стругацкие 4). As Rumata passed by the tomb of the Holy Mickey—the seventh and the last on the stretch of the road—darkness had already fallen (4a). ♦ …Нынешний канал является уже четвёртым по счёту… (Акунин 7). …The present canal is actually the fourth to have existed… (7a). ♦ У стоящих с краю в первой десятке поднималась дикая молчаливая борьба: каждый видел, какой он по счёту (Кузнецов 1). A savage, silent struggle would break out among the first ten men from the end: Here each prisoner could see which number he would be (1a).

С-845 • СЧЁТУ ⟨-а⟩ НЕТ кому-чему coll; НЕТ ⟨НЕСТЬ obs⟩ ЧИСЛА́ [VP; impers] some people (things etc) are present or exist in very great or infinite numbers: X-ам счёту нет ≃ there are innumerable ⟨countless, myriad⟩ Xs; there is no counting ⟨no end to⟩ the Xs; there are more Xs than one can count.

…Находившийся перед ним [Чичиковым] узенький дворик весь был наполнен птицами и всякой домашней тварью. Индейкам и курам не было числа… (Гоголь 3). …The small yard outside was full of birds and all sorts of domestic creatures. There were innumerable chickens and turkey hens… (3e). …He [Chichikov] saw that the narrow yard was teeming with fowl and every kind of domestic animal. There was no counting the turkeys and hens… (3d).

С-846 • ПОКО́НЧИТЬ ⟨КО́НЧИТЬ⟩ (ВСЕ) СЧЁТЫ с кем-чем [VP; subj: human] to cease to have dealings with some person, group, or organization, or to cease to be involved in or occupied by sth.: X покончил счёты с Y-ом ≃ X severed all ties with Y; X is through ⟨finished⟩ with Y; X parted company with Y; [lim.] X called it quits with Y.

С этими людьми я больше не имею дела, все мои счёты с ними покончены. I don't have dealings with those people anymore—I've severed all ties with them.

С-847 • СВОДИ́ТЬ/СВЕСТИ́ СЧЁТЫ с кем [VP; subj: human; more often this WO] 1. to make a (mutual) settlement of financial accounts with s.o., pay s.o. what one owes him: X свёл счёты с Y-ом ≃ X squared accounts with Y; X settled (up) accounts with Y; X settled up with Y; X paid up (what he owed Y).

2. [more often impfv (pres or infin with не будем, не надо etc)] to take revenge for an offense or injury: X свёл счёты с Y-ом ≃ X settled a score with Y; X got even with Y; X got back at Y; X paid Y back; X settled accounts (with Y).

Давыдов стал кричать, что никакой он не еврей и никакой не партизан, а Пузенко сводит с ним личные счёты (Кузнецов 1). Davydov shouted that he was no Jew, and no partisan either, but that Puzenko was merely settling a personal score with him (1a).

С-848 • ЧТО ЗА СЧЁТЫ! coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used as a friendly response to s.o.'s statement indicating that he wants to return a favor) I am (or we are) not paying attention to such trifles and neither should you: who's counting?; who's keeping score?

«Позвольте мне заплатить за билеты». — «Вы платили в прошлый раз, сегодня моя очередь». — «Что за счёты!» "Let me pay for the tickets." "You paid last time, now it's my turn." "Who's counting?"

С-849 • НА СЪЕДЕ́НИЕ кому оставить, отдать кого, остаться и т.п. coll, often humor [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to leave s.o., be left etc) completely under some person's power, helpless to act against that person's will: X отдал Y-а на съедение Z-у ≃ X put ⟨left⟩ Y at the mercy of Z; X left Y to Z's mercy; X left Y to be victimized by Z; || Y остался на съедение Z-у ≃ Y stayed ⟨had to stay, remained, was forced to remain etc⟩ at the mercy of Z.

«Так это должно быть! — думал князь Андрей, выезжая из аллеи лысогорского дома. — Она, жалкое невинное существо, остаётся на съедение выжившему из ума старику. Старик чувствует, что виноват, но не может изменить себя» (Толстой 6). "It had to be so!" thought Prince Andrei, as he drove out of the avenue of Bald Hills. "She, poor innocent creature, is left to be victimized by an old man who has outlived his wits. The old man feels he is guilty but cannot change" (6a). "That's how it has to be!" thought Prince Andrey as he drove down the avenue leaving Bald Hills behind. "Poor innocent creature, she has to stay there at the mercy of an old man who has outlived his wits. The old man can tell he's in the wrong, but he can't help it" (6c).

С-850 • СЪЕСТЬ ЖИВЬЁМ кого coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut] to reprimand or punish s.o. severely: X съест Y-а живьём ≃ X will eat Y alive; X will have Y's head (on a platter).

С-851 • БЛУ́ДНЫЙ СЫН lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a person who leaves his parents' home (by extension his collective, social group etc) in search of sth. new and better, but later returns to what he had left (often repentant of what he has done): prodigal son.

[Мишка] хотел уже пугануть штабного [, который его расспрашивал,] печёным словом, но в этот момент вошёл Штокман. «Блудный сын!.. Что ты его, товарищ, распытываешь? Да ведь это же наш парень!» (Шолохов 4). He [Mishka] was about to give the clerk [who was interrogating him] the rough edge of his tongue, when the door opened and Stokman entered. "Why, it's our prodigal son!… What are you interrogating him for? He's one of our lads!" (4a).

< From the Biblical parable (Luke 15:11–32).

С-852 • КУ́РИЦЫН СЫН obs, highly coll, humor [NP] a mild expletive (often used as vocative) in refer. to a man: son of a gun.

«Каков мошенник! — воскликнула комендантша. — Что смеет ещё нам предлагать! Выйти к нему навстречу и положить к ногам его знамёна! Ах он собачий сын!» (Пушкин 2). "What a scoundrel!" exclaimed the captain's wife. "How does he dare propose such things to us! To meet him outside the fort and lay our flags at his feet! Oh, the son of a bitch!" (2a). ♦ «Почему сорван график?.. Отвечайте, или я вас всех, не отходя от кассы, перестреляю, сукины сыны!» (Алешковский 1). "Who interrupted the schedule?… You tell me, or I'll blow your brains out right here, you s.o.b.s! (1a).

2. rather humor [usu. sing] an extremely familiar and slightly indecorous yet not unkind way to address or refer to s.o.: son of a gun.

С-854 • МА́МЕНЬКИН СЫНО́К ⟨СЫНО́ЧЕК⟩ coll, disapprov or iron [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human, male); fixed WO] an effeminate, spoiled, and inept boy or young man: mama's boy; mother's darling; sissy; mollycoddle.

[Володя:] До войны я что знал? Дом да школу… Ну, стадион ещё. В общем — маменькин сынок был… (Розов 3). [V.:] What did I know before the war? Home, and school…. And sports, too. I was just a mama's boy… (3a).

С-855 • КАК ⟨СЛО́ВНО⟩ СЫР В МА́СЛЕ КАТА́ТЬСЯ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] to live in complete prosperity: X как сыр в масле катается ≃ X is ⟨lives⟩ in clover; X lives in the lap of luxury; X lives off ⟨on⟩ the fat of the land; X lives high off ⟨on⟩ the hog.

…Только одна Варвара всё равно стала бы жаловаться, если бы даже каталась как сыр в масле… (Распутин 3). Varvara was the only one who would find cause for complaint even if she lived in the lap of luxury (3a).

«„Но ты же угрожал ему [майору] пистолетом, — говорит он, — ты понимаешь куда он это может повернуть". — „А мы скажем, что он врёт, — отвечаю я, — скажем, что он сам хотел остаться с бабами и от этого весь сыр-бор"» (Искандер 5). "'But you threatened him [the major] with a pistol,' he says. 'You realize what he can make this sound like.' 'And we'll say he's lying,' I answer. 'We'll say he wanted to stay with the women himself and that's what sparked the whole thing'" (5a). ♦ Только потом, много позже, рассказал Михаил, из-за чего сыр-бор загорелся (Абрамов 1). Only later, much later, did Mikhail tell her what had set the fur flying (1a).

< «Сыр» is the old short-form adjective, used instead of the contemporary full-form adjective «сырой».

С-857 • РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ/РАЗВЕСТИ́ СЫ́РОСТЬ coll, often humor [VP; subj: human; often impfv (neg imper or infin with хватит, нечего etc)] to cry: X развёл сырость ≃ X turned on the waterworks ⟨the tears⟩; || Neg Imper не разводи ⟨хватит разводить⟩ сырость ≃ turn off the waterworks; [lim.] quit blubbering.

[Лебедев:] Ну, все заревели! Квартет! Да будет вам сырость разводить! Матвей!.. Марфа Егоровна!.. Ведь этак и я… я заплачу… (Чехов 4). [L.:] There, now, everyone's bawling! A quartet! That's enough. Turn off the waterworks! Matvei!… Marfa Egorovna!… If you keep it up, I… I'll start crying, too… (4a).

С-858 • СЫ́ТЫЙ ГОЛО́ДНОГО НЕ РАЗУМЕЕ́Т [saying] one who has everything he needs, is perfectly comfortable etc does not understand the plight of those who live in need, are suffering etc: ≃ the well-fed don't understand the hungry; he that is warm thinks all so.

«…Какой живой ещё Н.Н.! Слава богу, здоровый человек, ему понять нельзя нашего брата, Иова многострадального; мороз в двадцать градусов, он скачет в санках, как ничего… с Покровки… а я благодарю создателя каждое утро, что про-

снулся живой, что ещё дышу. О… о… ох! недаром пословица говорит: сытый голодного не понимает! (Герцен 1). “What a lively fellow N.N. still is! Thank God, he’s a healthy man and cannot understand a suffering Job like me; [it’s twenty degrees below zero], but he dashes here all the way from Pokrovka in his sledge as though it were nothing…while I thank the Creator every morning that I have woken up alive, that I am still breathing. Oh… oh… ough…! It’s a true proverb; the well-fed don’t understand the hungry!” (1a).

С-859 • СЫЧО́М ⟨КАК СЫЧ⟩ ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ ⟨СМОТРЕ́ТЬ, СИДЕ́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to have a dour look on one’s face, look sullen: X сычом глядел ≃ X looked glum ⟨gloomy⟩; X looked down in the mouth ⟨in the dumps⟩.

С-860 • СЫЧО́М ⟨КАК СЫЧ⟩ ЖИТЬ coll [VP; subj: human] to live in solitude, isolation: X живет как сыч ≃ X lives like a hermit ⟨a recluse⟩.

T

T-1 • ТА́БЕЛЬ О РА́НГАХ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. [табель is fem] the hierarchical system of military, civil, and court ranks introduced by Peter I: Table of Ranks.

Возникавшие вопросы вовсе не относились до табели о рангах (Герцен 1). The problems that were arising amongst us had no reference whatever to the Table of Ranks (1a).

2. [табель is masc or fem] a system of ranking in an institution or within some group of people: hierarchy; rules ⟨order⟩ of precedence; rules of rank; pecking order.

Во всяком месте своя табель о рангах… (Грекова 3). Every organization has its own hierarchy (3a). ♦ Обсуждение пошло дальше с претензией на некоторую спонтанность, но в то же время и с соблюдением неписаной табели о рангах (Аксёнов 12). The discussion continued with pretensions to spontaneity, but at the same time following unwritten rules of rank (12a).

T-2 • НАКРЫВА́ТЬСЯ/НАКРЫ́ТЬСЯ МЕ́ДНЫМ ТА́ЗОМ slang, occas. humor [VP; subj: usu. collect or abstr; impfv rare; fixed WO] to fail, collapse, break down completely: X накроется медным тазом ≃ X will go down the drain ⟨the tube(s)⟩; X will go up in smoke; X will go under; X will hit ⟨be on⟩ the skids; X will flop ⟨fizzle (out)⟩; X will be a flop.

T-3 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ⟨ХРАНИ́ТЬ/СОХРАНИ́ТЬ⟩ В ТА́ЙНЕ что (от кого) [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] making a secret of sth., to keep it concealed from others: X хранил Y в тайне (от Z-а) ≃ X kept Y secret ⟨a secret, in secrecy⟩ (from Z); X did not reveal ⟨divulge, disclose⟩ Y (to Z); [lim.] X kept Y a mystery to Z.

«Итак, ты врач?» — «Нет, нет, — живо ответил арестант, — поверь мне, я не врач». — «Ну, хорошо. Если хочешь это держать в тайне, держи. К делу это прямого отношения не имеет» (Булгаков 9). “And so, you are a physician?” “No, no,” was the prisoner’s animated reply, “Believe me, I am not a physician.” “Well, all right. If you want to keep it secret, you may do so. It has no direct bearing on the case” (9c).

T-4 • ТАЙНИКИ́ ДУШИ́ ⟨СЕ́РДЦА⟩; often В ТАЙНИКА́Х ДУШИ́ ⟨СЕ́РДЦА⟩ [NP (subj or obj) or PrepP (adv); fixed WO] (in) the most personal, private, intimate, hidden depths of one’s being: the innermost ⟨inmost, deepest⟩ recesses of one’s heart; one’s innermost ⟨inmost⟩ feelings; || в тайниках души ≃ in one’s heart of hearts; in the depth of one’s soul ⟨heart⟩; in the inmost part of one’s soul; deep (down) in one’s soul ⟨heart⟩; in the hidden parts (of one’s soul).

Этот «поступок» он всю жизнь свою потом называл «мерзким» и всю жизнь свою считал, глубоко про себя, в тайниках души своей, самым подлым поступком изо всей своей жизни (Достоевский 1). All his life afterwards he referred to this “action” as “loathsome,” and all his life, deep in himself, in the inmost part of his soul, he considered it the basest action of his whole life (1a).

T-5 • ТА́ЙНОЕ ТА́ЙНЫХ lit [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ (чего) the most secret part of sth. larger, which is also closely guarded and kept secret: the secret of secrets; innermost secret (of sth.).

«Нет, ты в другой конец смотри — вот свет погас, занавесь взвилась, и открылось тайное тайных, святая святых — кабинет начальника следственной части НКВД» (Домбровский 2). “No, you look at the other end—the lights have gone down, the curtain goes up, and there stands revealed the secret of secrets, the holy of holies, the office of the head of the NKVD investigation department” (2a).

2. ~ (кого-чего) one’s deepest feelings, inner world held in secrecy: the innermost secret (of the heart); the secret held in one’s heart of hearts.

Хозяин, который хорошо знал Руслана, знал его нрав и способности, всё же не разгадал его главной загадки, не проник никогда в тайное тайных, которое Руслан ни за что б ему не высказал, если бы и сумел высказать (Владимов 1). His master, who knew Ruslan well and knew his disposition and abilities, had never managed to fathom the chief riddle of his character, the secret held in his heart of hearts which Ruslan would not have dreamed of telling him even had he been able to (1a).

T-6 • ТА́ЙНЫ МАДРИ́ДСКОГО ДВОРА́ usu. iron [NP; fixed WO] information, knowledge etc possessed by a certain group of people, which is considered and held secret by those privy to it (including upper echelons of government), even though these secrets are already known to a wider audience (or are not generally considered worthy of secrecy): so-called secrets; closely-guarded open secrets; (the most) closely-guarded secrets; [lim.] the mother (and father) of all intrigues; || вот и все тайны мадридского двора ≃ that’s all the so-called secrets amount to; || не делай из этого тайны мадридского двора ≃ don’t make it sound like the most closely-guarded secrets.

< According to some sources (I.A. Walshe and V.P. Berakov, *Russian-English Dictionary of Winged Word*s, Moscow, 1984, and Berkov, V.P. et al., «Большой словарь крылатых слов русского языка», Moscow, 2000), the Russian language owes this phrase to the translation of the title of a novel by a little-known German writer, Georg F. Born, whose books in translation were popular in Russia in the late 19th to early 20th cent. (some, in fact, were revised and published during the 1990s). Others believe that this phrase came from the Russian translation of the title of Eugène Scribe’s and Ernest Legouvé’s play, Les contes de la reine de Navarre, 1851.

T-7 • (А) ХОТЬ ⟨ХОТЯ́⟩ БЫ И ТА́К coll [indep. sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used in response to some statement) although what has just been stated is true, there is nothing special or bad about it, there is no reason to exaggerate its importance etc: so what(!); what of it(!); [lim.] what if that were true?

«Стало быть, вы идёте против своего народа?» — «А хоть бы и так? — воскликнул Базаров. — Народ полагает, что когда гром гремит, это Илья-пророк в колеснице по небу разъезжает. Что ж? Мне соглашаться с ним?» (Тургенев 2). “Then you’re going against your own people?” “What if that were true?” cried Bazarov. “The people believe that when they hear thunder, it’s the prophet Elijah riding across the sky in his chariot. What then? Am I supposed to agree with that?” (2g).

T-8 • ВО́Т ТАК…! coll [Particle; Invar; foll. by NP; fixed WO] used in exclamations to accentuate the speaker’s ironic, condescending, scornful etc attitude toward s.o. or sth., or to express his opinion that the person or thing in question does not deserve to be called by a certain name (as specified by the NP that follows): what a [NP]!; nice [NP]!; [NP], my foot!; some [NP] (one is)!; one calls himself a [NP]!

«Вот тебе всё и объяснилось! — подумал Берлиоз в смятении, — приехал сумасшедший немец или только что спятил на Патриарших. Вот так история!» (Булгаков 9). «Now everything's explained!" thought Berlioz, disconcerted. "A lunatic from Germany. Or maybe he has just gone mad here, at the Patriarchs' Ponds? What a business!" (9a).

Т-9 • ÉСЛИ ТÁК (, то…) [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] if the situation described in the preceding context is true, then (what is stated in the main clause is also true, will happen etc): if that's the case, (then…); if (that is) so, (then…); if that's true, (then…); if he is ⟨you do, they have etc⟩ (then…); [lim.] in that case.

[Кушак:] Здесь нет ни одного слова правды! [Зилов:] Если так, то это действительно ужасно. Скандал! Как же это могло случиться? (Вампилов 5). [K.:] There's not a single word of truth here! [Z.:] If that's the case, it really is outrageous! How could such a thing have happened? (5b).

Т-10 • ЗА ТÁК highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. Also: ЗА (ОДНÓ) СПАСИ́БО coll (to get, receive etc sth.) without having to pay for it, (to render a service, give s.o. sth. etc) without receiving any pay in return: for nothing; for free; free of charge; (just) out of the goodness of one's heart; (just) for a thank you and a smile; [lim.] (just) give sth. away.

«А мастера? Где вы найдёте квалифицированных мастеров, чтобы делали за спасибо?» (Львов 1). "What about workers? Where are you going to find skilled workers who'll do the job out of the goodness of their hearts?" (1a).

2. ~ пропасть, погибнуть и т.п. (in refer. to a person) (to perish, be killed etc) to no purpose, futilely: for nothing; for naught; in vain.

Не такой он дурак, чтобы за так пропасть. He's not so stupid as to die in vain.

Т-11 • И ТÁК [Particle; Invar] anyhow, even without (doing what is specified in the preceding context): as it is; anyway; [lim.] already.

[Сарафанов:] Как? Ты хочешь уехать?.. Прямо сегодня? Сейчас? [Бусыгин:] Да, папа. Мы и так задержались (Вампилов 4). [S.:] What? You want to go?… Today? This minute? [B.:] Yes, Dad. We've stayed too long as it is (4a).

Т-12 • И ТАК ДÁЛЕЕ, may be abbreviated in writing to и т.д. [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] (used at the end of an enumeration to indicate that the list has not been exhausted, that it could be continued to include similar objects or phenomena) and other similar things: and so forth (and so on); and so on; et cetera; etc.; [lim.] and the ⟨such⟩ like; and more of the same; and all that; and more to that effect.

…Она сказала то, что говорила всегда: что она никуда не поедет, не ударит пальцем о палец и так далее (Каверин 1). …She said what she always said: that she would take no steps, she would not lift a finger, and so forth (1a).

Т-13 • (И) ТÁК И СЯ́К coll [AdvP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv or predic (subj: human)] (to do or try to do sth.) in various ways: this way and that; first one way, then another; in all different ways.

Редкие стрелы дождя, утратившего и строй, и вес, и способность шуметь, невпопад, так и сяк вспыхивали на солнце (Наборов 1). Stray arrows of rain that had lost both rhythm and weight and the ability to make any sound, flashed at random, this way and that, in the sun (1a).

2. Also: ТÁК-СЯ́К [adv] not especially well but bearably, tolerably: so-so; passably; fair to middling.

Остальной персонал отеля относится ко мне так-сяк (Лимонов 1). The rest of the hotel staff treat me passably (1a).

3. Also: ТÁК-СЯ́К [subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun)] a person (thing, place etc) is not especially good but is bearable, tolerable, such that one can accept him (or it): X и так и сяк ≃ X is not so bad; X is not that bad; X is satisfactory ⟨acceptable⟩; X will do.

[Ихарев:] Балык, кажется, не того, а икра ещё так и сяк (Гоголь 2). [I.:] The salmon's not up to scratch, but the caviar's satisfactory (2a).

Т-14 • (И) ТÁК И Э́ТАК ⟨Э́ДАК⟩; (И) ТÁК И ТÁК all coll [AdvP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv or predic (subj: human)] (to do or try to do sth.) in various ways: this way and that; in all different ways; first one way, then another; [lim.] (try ⟨do⟩) everything (one can).

Чем, скажите мне, выводить пятна с одежды? Я пробовал и так и эдак… (Булгаков 12). How, can you tell me, can grease stains be removed from clothing? I tried this way and that… (12b). Will somebody please tell me how to get stains out of clothes? I tried everything (12a).

2. [adv] regardless of (what one does, how events develop etc): anyway; anyhow; in any case ⟨event⟩; at any rate; one way or another; [when there are only two possible outcomes, options etc] either way.

«Вот что, ребятишки… ломать [дом] так и так придётся: противопожарная безопасность» (Максимов 3). "Well, boys, here it is. You'll have to pull some of it [the house] down in any case. Fire regulations" (3a).

Т-15 • НЕ ТÁК ЛИ? coll [Invar; used to form a question out of an affirm or neg statement; fixed WO] (what I said) is correct, is it not?: isn't that so ⟨right, true⟩?; (am I) right?; don't you agree?; [after an affirm statement] don't you think (so)?; isn't ⟨doesn't etc⟩ it?; don't ⟨haven't, aren't etc⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩?; [after a neg statement] is it?; do ⟨have, are etc⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩?

«Вам нужна земля, не так ли?» (Гоголь 3). "You need land, isn't that so?" (3b).

Т-16 • НЕ ТÁК ЧТОБ(Ы) (очень, слишком и т.п.) какой, как coll [Particle; these forms only] (used to express mild negation) not especially, not overly…: not very ⟨really, particularly⟩…; not (all) that…; not too…; [lim.] not what you would call…

«Я туда [в институт] поступил ещё перед войной. Не так чтоб особенный интерес был. Но там броню давали…» (Копелев 1). "I had started there [at the institute] before the war. Not that I was particularly interested. But they gave a military deferment" (1a).

Т-17 • НИ ЗА ТÁК substand [PrepP; Invar; adv] to no purpose at all: for nothing; for naught; for no reason; in vain.

«Гражданин полковник! Я слишком ничтожен, никому неизвестен. Я не хотел отдать свою свободу ни за так» (Солженицын 3). "Citizen Colonel! I'm a complete nonentity; no one has ever heard of me! I didn't want to forfeit my freedom for nothing—" (3b).

Т-18 • (НУ) ТАК ЧТÓ Ж(Е) coll [sent; fixed WO] 1. (used in response to the interlocutor's statement to show that the speaker does not consider it very important, of particular consequence) what is so important about that?: (so ⟨well,⟩) what of it?; so what?

«Услышат… хозяйка подумает, что я в самом деле хочу уехать…» — «Ну, так что ж? Пусть её думает!» (Гончаров 1). "They may hear you…. My landlady may think… that I really mean to go away." "Well, what of it? Let her!" (1b).

2. used to induce the interlocutor to begin or continue speaking, or to encourage him to get to the point: so…?; so tell me ⟨us⟩…; then what?; go on.

Ну так что же, будешь запираться дальше или скажешь всю правду? So, are you going to continue insisting you're not guilty or are you going to tell us the truth?

Т-19 • РАЗ ТА́К coll [subord clause; Invar; often preceded by Conj «а» and/or foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «то»; fixed WO] inasmuch as matters are as stated in the preceding context: in that case; that being the case; that being so; since that's the way it is ⟨one feels about it etc⟩; [lim.] if that's the way it is ⟨one feels about it etc⟩.

[Колесов:] Куда же вы собрались? Неужели в театр?.. Всё ясно. Куда — вы этого сами ещё не знаете. А раз так, то идёмте со мной (Вампилов 3). [К.:] Where, then, are you planning to go? Not to the theatre?… I get it. You still don't know yourself. In that case, come with me (3b).

Т-20 • ТАК ВО́Т coll [Invar; usu. parenth; fixed WO] used to indicate a transition from one part of a story to the next, or to introduce an unexpected piece of information, a summary of what has been said etc: well then; (and) so; thus.

Тут кум-комедиант позволил себе сказать следующее: «Так вот, ваше величество, я хотел всеподданнейше испросить разрешение на представление „Тартюфа"». Изумление поразило кума-короля (Булгаков 5). At this point the comedian permitted himself to say the following words: "And so, Your Majesty, I wish most humbly to beg your permission to present Tartuffe." The king was stunned (5a).

Т-21 • ТА́К, ДА НЕ ТА́К coll [indep. sent; Invar; occas. used as adv; fixed WO] (used to highlight a sometimes substantial difference between two or more juxtaposed situations, phenomena, actions etc that appear similar on the surface) not exactly (like sth. else): well ⟨yes⟩, but not quite; yes, but not completely; yes, but there is something different (this time); (that's) true, but not quite; [lim.] (well,) yes and no.

Часто везучие суеверно твердят, что везёт тому, кто трудится, что удача любит терпеливых и тому подобное. Так, да не так. У везучего и нескладно, да ладно, у него, как говорят, и петух несётся (Гранин 1). Often people with good luck have a superstitious belief that those who work have luck, that success likes the patient, and so on. Yes, but not completely. A lucky man can make do with anything; as the folk saying goes, even his roosters lay eggs (1a).

Т-22 • ТА́К ЕГО́ ⟨её, их⟩! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] an exclamation of encouragement directed toward a person or persons who are punishing s.o., disciplining s.o., beating s.o. (up) etc: let him ⟨her, them⟩ have it!; give it to him ⟨her, them⟩ good!; that's giving it to him ⟨her, them⟩!; [in refer. to verbal reprimands only] that's telling him ⟨her, them⟩!

Т-23 • ТА́К ЖЕ КАК (И)… [correlative Conj] along with: just as; as well as; [lim.] (just) like; also.

Человеку дано стать палачом, так же как и дано не становиться им. В конечном итоге выбор за нами (Искандер 3). Man is given the choice of becoming a hangman, just as he is given the choice of not becoming one. In the final analysis, the choice is ours (3a).

Т-24 • ТА́К И [intensif Particle; Invar; fixed WO] 1. used to emphasize the intensive, energetic nature of some action or the intensity of some feeling: positively; simply; [may be translated by an intensifier specific to the context, or in conjunction with the Russian verb by a stronger English verb].

«На диоскурийском базаре, — начал Джамхух, — где бывает очень много народу… в толпе так и шныряют карманщики» (Искандер 5). "At the Dioscurias bazaar," Jamkhoukh began, "where there are a great many people… the crowd simply crawls with pickpockets" (5a). ♦ Снег так и валил (Пушкин 2). The snow was falling thick and fast (2a).

2. used for emphasis with verbs denoting actions that occur quickly, unexpectedly: just; simply.

…Он [Бородавкин] явился в Глупов и прежде всего подвергнул строгому рассмотрению намерения и деяния своих предшественников. Но когда он взглянул на скрижали, то так и ахнул (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …He [Wartkin] arrived in Foolov and began by subjecting the plans and actions of his predecessors to a strict examination. But when he looked at the annals he simply gasped (1a).

3. used in response to a confirmation of one's or s.o.'s supposition, guess etc: just as I ⟨he etc⟩ thought ⟨said etc⟩; I thought so!; I (just) knew it!; I ⟨he etc⟩ knew it all along; I ⟨he etc⟩ thought ⟨said, knew etc⟩ as much.

«Кстати, он кто, этот Савелий?» — «Прораб», — осторожно сказал Ефим. — «Так я и думал» (Войнович 6). "This Savely, by the way—what is he?" "A construction boss," Yefim said warily. "I thought as much" (6a).

4. [used with a pfv verb] used to express disagreement with some statement or strong skepticism that some action will take place: there's no way…!; as if s.o. would (actually) do sth.; you've got to be kidding if you think…!; [lim.] fat chance!

«Я попросил Аркадия привезти мне книги». — «Так он тебе и привезёт! Нашла кого просить!» "I asked Arkady to bring me the books." "As if he'd actually bring them to you! You sure picked the right person to ask!"

5. [used with a negated verb] used for emphasis when stating that sth. never occurred, was never completed etc: [equivalents incorporate the negation] (one) never (really ⟨actually⟩) did (do sth.); [lim.] not once did (one ever); ‖ X-у так и не удалось сделать Y ≃ X has failed to do Y; X has never been able to do Y; X hasn't managed to do Y; ‖ [with Verbal Adv] так и не сделав Y ≃ without having done Y.

Ответа на заявление я так и не получил (Марченко 1). And I never did get a reply to my protest (1a). ♦ В этот раз мне так и не удалось дослушать до конца славную биографию нашего управдома (Войнович 3). This time I didn't manage to hear out our building manager's glorious biography to the end (3a).

6. used to emphasize that an action takes place in an unobstructed manner: just; simply.

Т-25 • ТАК И НА́ДО ⟨НУ́ЖНО⟩ кому coll [indep. clause; these forms only; fixed WO] it is what s.o. really deserves (as a punishment etc): так X-у и надо ≃ (it) serves X right; that's what X deserves; X had it coming (to him); X was asking for it.

«Сумасшедший, ведь ты убил его [Фёдора Павловича]!» — крикнул Иван. «Так ему и надо! — задыхаясь, воскликнул

Дмитрий. — А не убил, так ещё приду убить» (Достоевский 1). “Madman, you’ve killed him [Fyodor Pavlovich]!” shouted Ivan. “Serves him right!” Dmitri cried, gasping. “And if I haven’t killed him this time, I’ll come back and kill him” (1a).

Т-26 • ТА́К И ТА́К (МОЛ ⟨ДЕ́СКАТЬ⟩); ТА́К-ТО И ТА́К-ТО all coll [Invar; sent adv (parenth)] used to indicate that what one is about to say repeats or conveys what was said by o.s. or another at an earlier time; when used with a verb of speaking, adds colloquial flavor to the verb and reinforces that one is repeating words spoken earlier: he says ⟨I said etc⟩; he says, well, he says that ⟨I said, well, I said that… etc⟩; he says ⟨I said etc⟩, you know (, that)…; he goes ⟨I went etc⟩; (go to see s.o. ⟨write to s.o. etc⟩) to say, well, to say (that)…

Если бы она написала мужу ещё в войну: так и так, мол, встретила человека… ей бы не в чем было упрекнуть себя… Но как раз вот этого-то она и не сделала. Не хватило духу. Пожалела (Абрамов 1). If she had written to her husband during the war to say, well, to say that she had met someone… she would have had nothing to reproach herself with…. But that was precisely what she had not done. She hadn’t had the heart. She had taken pity on him… (1a).

Т-27 • ТА́К ИЛИ ИНА́ЧЕ [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [adv] in this or another manner, in some way: in some way or another; ⟨lim.⟩ in one form ⟨capacity etc⟩ or another.

Это есть действие по отношению к… другим индивидам, так или иначе затрагивающее их интересы (Зиновьев 1). It is an action directed towards… other individuals which, in some way or another, affects their interests (1a).

2. [sent adv (usu. parenth)] whatever the circumstances or situation was or may be, regardless of other (often adverse) circumstances: at any rate; in any event; anyway; be that as it may; ⟨lim.⟩ somehow or other.

Весной началась кампания по сокращению штатов, и я попал под неё… Чтобы замаскировать свою пристрастность ко мне, редактор сократил вместе со мной нашу редакционную уборщицу, хотя сократить следовало двух наших редакционных шоферов… Так или иначе, сокращение состоялось… (Искандер 6). A drive to cut back on personnel was launched that same spring, and I became one of its victims…. To avoid being accused of any bias in relation to me, he [the editor] also fired our staff cleaning lady. Actually, he should have fired the two staff chauffeurs…. Be that as it may, the staff reduction took place… (6a).

Т-28 • ТА́К КАК [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] for the reason that: since; (inasmuch) as; because.

Многие очевидцы этого утра теперь утверждают, что скот села Анхара предчувствовал начало боя, хотя с достоверностью этого утверждения трудно согласиться… Так как голодный скот, находясь взаперти, всегда даёт о себе знать, теперь трудно установить, в самом деле он предчувствовал кровопролитие или нет (Искандер 3). Many eyewitnesses now claim that the livestock of the village of Ankhara had a premonition the battle would begin that morning, although this claim is hard to authenticate…. Since hungry animals who find themselves penned up always make themselves heard, it is difficult to establish now whether they actually had a premonition of bloodshed or not (3a).

Т-29 • ТА́К ЛИ, СЯ́К ⟨Э́ТАК⟩ ЛИ; ТА́К ИЛИ СЯ́К; ХОТЬ ТА́К, ХОТЬ СЯ́К ⟨Э́ТАК⟩ all coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv] by some means or other: somehow (or other); one way or another ⟨the other⟩.

[Кот:] Умоляю вас — вызовите его на бой. Он, конечно убьёт вас, но пока суд да дело, можно будет помечтать, развалившись перед очагом, о том, как случайно или чудом, так или сяк… может быть, как-нибудь, а вдруг и вы его убьёте (Шварц 2). [Cat:] Do challenge him, I implore you. He will kill you, of course, but while it’s all going on I shall be able to dream in front of the fire of how, perchance, by some accident or some miracle… somehow or other, you might kill him (2b).

Т-30 • ТА́К НА ТА́К highly coll [AdvP; Invar; adv] 1. менять, обменивать что ~ (to exchange) one for another without additional payment: (make) an even swap ⟨trade, exchange⟩.

«У тебя новая кофеварка?» — «Да, я поменялась с соседкой: отдала ей свою французскую соковыжималку, а она мне — кофеварку эспрессо. Так на так». “Is this a new coffeemaker?” “Yes, I traded with my neighbor: I gave her my French juicer and she gave me this espresso maker. An even swap.”

2. in equal portions, in equal quantities: (in) equal parts; in equal measure.

Смешай молотый кофе и цикорий так на так. Mix equal parts of ground coffee and chicory.

3. получается, выходит ~ (it works out) so that one thing compensates for another: it all evens out; one (thing) offsets ⟨counterbalances⟩ the other; one (thing) makes up for the other.

Т-31 • ТАК НЕ́Т (ЖЕ) coll [these forms only; used as Conj (contrastive-concessive); fixed WO] used to connect two statements, the former of which shows what the speaker thinks should be done and the latter of which shows what is done in reality (which contradicts the speaker’s opinion, evaluation etc): but no; but not him ⟨her etc⟩; but he ⟨it etc⟩ doesn’t ⟨won’t, isn’t etc⟩.

[Калошин:] Нет, не в добрый час я связался с гостиницей, не в добрый час. Предлагали же мне спокойную работу, так нет же, погнался я за дурными деньгами… (Вампилов 1). [К.:] No, it wasn’t my lucky day when I got tangled up with this hotel, not my lucky day. They offered me some quiet work, but no, I had to chase after bigger money… (1b).

Т-32 • ТА́К СЕБЕ coll [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [adv] in a mediocre way, neither well nor poorly: so-so; fair to middling.

Ноздрёв приветствовал его по-дружески и спросил: каково ему спалось? «Так себе», — отвечал Чичиков весьма сухо (Гоголь 3). Nozdryov greeted him in a very friendly fashion and asked him whether he had slept well. “So-so,” Chichikov replied rather dryly (3a).

2. [subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun) or nonagreeing modif] mediocre, undistinguished: so-so; nothing special; (quite) ordinary; nothing out of the ordinary; not much of a [NP]; nothing ⟨not much⟩ to write home about.

Есть род людей, известных под именем: люди так себе, ни то ни сё… (Гоголь 3). There is a type of man who is described as “so-so,” neither one thing nor the other… (3a). ♦ «Когда вы были мальчиком, я думал, что из вас выйдет поэт. Да и потом, когда прочёл ваши студенческие стихи о Гильотене». — «Стихи были так себе». — «Не скажите» (Чудаков 1). “When you were a boy, I thought you’d grow up to be a poet. I still thought so later on, when I read the verses you wrote as a student, the ones about Guillotin.” “They were nothing special.” “I thought they were…” (1a).

3. obs [usu. adv] without any apparent reason, with no definite purpose: (one) just (does sth.).

Т-33 • ТА́К-ТО (ОНО́) ТА́К, НО ⟨А, ДА⟩… coll [a clause in a compound sent + Conj; fixed WO] (used when the speaker basically agrees with what has just been stated but wants to qualify it, single out an exception, voice an objection to a specific point etc) all of this is correct, true, but…: that's all well and good, but…; that's all very well, but…; that may (very well) be true, but…; that may (well) be, but…

«Для них [хозяев] для всех авторитет возможен только на страхе. Значит: дави, сажай, стреляй!..» — «Так-то оно так, но с международным положением считаться надо» (Копелев 1). "For all of them [the bosses] the only possible authority is based on fear. That means: suppress, send up, shoot!…" "That may be, but you have to take the international situation into account" (1a).

Т-34 • ТА́К ТО́ЛЬКО coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] without special need, reason or without a definite goal, intention: just; merely.

…Она [Соня] часто приходила на госпитальный двор, под окна, особенно под вечер, а иногда так только, чтобы постоять на дворе минутку и хоть издали посмотреть на окна палаты (Достоевский 3). …She [Sonia] would come often to the hospital yard and stand beneath the windows, especially in the evening, sometimes merely to stand in the yard for a moment and look at the windows, even if only from a distance (3b).

Т-35 • ТАК ТО́ЧНО [indep. sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used as an affirmative response to a question or to corroborate the interlocutor's statement; common in the military; usu. used when addressing a person of a higher status or rank) yes, that is correct: that's right; yes, he does ⟨they are etc⟩; indeed it is ⟨he does etc⟩; yes, sir ⟨madam, ma'am etc⟩; [in response to a question with neg predic] no, sir ⟨madam, ma'am etc⟩; [in military usage] yes, sir!

«Вы, наверное, из штаба фронта, товарищ подполковник?» — «Так точно», — ответил Даренский… (Гроссман 2). "Are you from Front HQ, comrade Lieutenant-Colonel?" "That's right," said Darensky (2a).

Т-36 • ТА́К ЧТО [subord Conj, resultative] with the result or consequence that: so; and so; hence; therefore; consequently; [lim.] so that.

Коммунизм идеологический изложен в обширнейшей марксистской литературе, так что говорить на эту тему, казалось бы, нет надобности (Зиновьев 2). Communism is ideologically set out in the immense literature of Marxism, so it might seem that there is little need to say anything on the subject (2a).

Т-37 • ТА́К ЧТОБЫ ⟨ЧТОБ⟩ [subord Conj; introduces a clause of purpose] in order that: so as to; so that.

Как только кто-нибудь начинал кричать, чтобы его отпустили, на нём мгновенно повисали три-четыре человека, так чтобы всем ясно было — не отпускать парня, а то наделал бы он делов (Искандер 3). As soon as someone began shouting to be turned loose, three or four men instantly hung on him so as to make clear to everyone that they would not turn the fellow loose, or he'd make trouble (3a).

Т-38 • ТО ТА́К, ТО СЯ́К ⟨ТА́К, Э́ТАК⟩ all coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in various ways: this way and that; first one way, then another ⟨the other⟩; first like this, then like that; now one way, now another ⟨the other⟩.

Кончеев медленно и осторожно взял с этажерки, у которой сидел, большую книгу (Фёдор Константинович заметил, что это альбом персидских миниатюр), и всё так же медленно поворачивая её то так то сяк на коленях, начал её тихо и близоруко рассматривать (Набоков 1). Koncheyev slowly and carefully took a large volume from the bookshelf near which he was sitting (Fyodor noticed that it was an album of Persian miniatures), and just as slowly turning it this way and that in his lap, he began to glance through it with myopic eyes (1a).

Т-39 • ТА́КЖЕ КАК (И) [coord Conj, connective] (used to connect two successive words, phrases, or clauses) and in addition to what was just mentioned: as well as; and (also); (just) as ⟨like⟩; and… as well; (and…) too; [lim.] both… and; [when connecting negated units] (neither…) nor…; [after a negated statement] and did not ⟨was not etc⟩… either; or… either.

Также как и всегда, в свободное от службы время солдаты жгли костры, парились голые у огней, курили, отбирали и пекли проросший, прелый картофель и рассказывали и слушали рассказы… о Потёмкинских и Суворовских походах… (Толстой 5). Just as always, in their time off from service, the soldiers made bonfires, steamed themselves naked by the flames, smoked, sorted and baked the sprouted, fusty potatoes, and told or listened to stories about Potemkin's or Suvorov's campaigns… (5d). ♦ Почты сегодня не было, также как и вчера. There was no mail today, or yesterday either.

Т-40 • КАК ТАКОВО́Й lit [как + AdjP; modif; fixed WO] viewed as an independent person or entity, separate from all other (people, things, circumstances etc): as such; per se; in and of itself.

По тому, как Кораблёв налил рюмку… было видно, что он пьёт профессионально… У Веры заныло внутри. Пьянство как таковое на её пути ещё не встречалось (Грекова 3). The way Korablev poured out the glass… made it clear that he was a most experienced drinker. Vera shuddered inside. She had never run into drunkenness as such (3a).

Т-41 • КТО (ты ⟨он и т. п⟩) ТАКО́Й?; КТО (вы ⟨они и т.п.⟩) ТАКИ́Е? 1. [used in questions and subord clauses; fixed WO] what is the identity of the person in question or what does he represent: кто такой X? ≃ who is X (anyway)?; who exactly ⟨really⟩ is X?; who might X be?; [lim.] what sort of (a) [NP] is X?; || я не знаю, кто такой X ≃ I don't know who (exactly) X is ⟨what X is (really) like⟩.

Приветствие это ничуть не обрадовало Никанора Ивановича. «Я извиняюсь, — заговорил он подозрительно, — вы кто такой будете? Вы — лицо официальное?» (Булгаков 9). Nikanor Ivanovich was hardly enthralled by this welcome. "Excuse me," he began suspiciously, "but who exactly are you? Are you here in an official capacity?" (9c).

2. derog [used as a rhetorical question; usu. foll. by a чтобы-clause] кто ты ⟨вы⟩ такой (, чтобы…)? ≃ (just) who do you think you are (to do sth ⟨doing sth.⟩)?; (just) who are you (to do sth.)?

[Ступак:] Бросьте эти штучки. Кто вы такой, чтобы раскидываться сотнями? Толстой или Жан-Поль Сартр? Ну кто вы такой?.. Я скажу, кто вы такой. Вы хулиган (Вампилов 1). [S.:] Drop this nonsense. Who do you think you are, going around giving away hundreds of rubles? Tolstoy, or Jean Paul Sartre? Well, who are you?… I'll tell you who you are. You're a hooligan (1b).

Т-42 • ТАКО́Й ЖЕ (, как) [AdjP (+ как); may be preceded by точно; fixed WO] 1. [modif] used to underscore a complete similarity of one person, quality, object, phenomenon etc with another mentioned or implied: (exactly ⟨precisely⟩) the same (as); as much (of) [NP] as; the same sort of [NP] as; exactly ⟨very much⟩ like…; identical to ⟨with⟩; similar to; equally [AdjP].

[Лопахин:] Мой папаша был мужик, идиот, ничего не понимал, меня не учил, а только бил спьяна, и всё палкой. В сущности, и я такой же болван и идиот (Чехов 2). [L.:] My father was a peasant, an empty-headed idiot whose only idea of education was to beat me when he was drunk—and with a stick. But when you think about it, I'm as much of a blockhead and idiot as he was (2b).

2. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any common noun) or modif (when used with NP); often preceded by всё] (used to underscore a complete similarity between the state of a person, quality, object etc at a given point in time and his or its earlier state) unchanged: X всё такой же ≃ X hasn't changed a bit ⟨at all⟩; X is (just) the same as ever; X is (exactly) the same (as he ⟨she⟩ always was).

[Гаев:] Сестра не отвыкла ещё сорить деньгами. (Яше.) Отойди, любезный, от тебя курицей пахнет. [Яша (с усмешкой):] А вы, Леонид Андреич, всё такой же, как были (Чехов 2). [G.:] I see Lyuba hasn't stopped throwing money away. (To Yasha.) Step back a little, my good man. You smell like a chicken coop. [Y. (with a smirk):] Haven't changed a bit, have you? (2b).

«Я, — вступил в разговор этот новый, — вообще не понимаю, как он попал в директора, — рыжий гнусавил всё больше и больше, — он такой же директор, как я архиерей! (Булгаков 9). "I," the newcomer joined in the conversation, "don't really understand how he ended up a director," the redhead's voice became more and more nasal. "He's as much a director as I'm a bishop!" (9c). "I," the new arrival entered the conversation, "generally fail to see how he ever got to be a director." The redhead's voice became more and more nasal: "If he is a director, I am an archbishop" (9a).

Т-43 • ТАКО́Й-СЯКО́Й ⟨ТАКО́Й И СЯКО́Й⟩ coll, usu. humor; ТАКО́Й-СЯКО́Й (СУХО́Й) НЕМА́ЗАНЫЙ ⟨НЕМА́ЗАНЫЙ СУХО́Й⟩ substand, occas. humor [AdjP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, pres only) or detached modif; fixed WO] used in place of a detailed, usu. negative, assessment of a person's character when addressing or referring to that person: you ⟨that, the⟩ (old) so-and-so; [lim.] you ⟨that, the⟩ (old) son of a gun.

«Мать отправляет свою дочь отца искать — ага. „Иди, — говорит, — в забегаловку, опять он, такой-сякой, наверно, там". Он, понятное дело, там…» (Распутин 3). "Mum sends her daughter out to find Dad. 'Look in the boozer,' she says. 'That's where he'll be, the old so-and-so.' Sure enough, he's there…" (3a).

Т-44 • ТАКО́Й-ТО (И ТАКО́Й-ТО) [AdjP; modif] used in lieu of a word or words denoting the exact name, number, quality etc in question (to show that the speaker is intentionally not providing the specifics): [NP] so-and-so; such and such a [NP].

Ученик такой-то, позвольте мне, автору, снова прервать ваше повествование. Дело в том, что книгу пора заканчивать: у меня вышла бумага (Соколов 1). Student so-and-so, allow me, the author, to interrupt your narrative again. The thing is that it's time to end the book: I'm out of paper (1a).

Т-45 • С ТА́КОМ substand, humor [PrepP; Invar; usu. nonagreeing modif] (of some food, dish, baked goods etc) without any sauce, dressing, filling etc: (just) plain.

Мать замесила тесто, а начинить было нечем, вот и получились пирожки с таком. Mother mixed the dough, but there was nothing to fill it with, so she ended up with plain pirozhki.

Т-46 • В ТАКТ (чему) [PrepP; Invar; adv] in accordance with the rhythm of sth.: in time with ⟨to⟩; keeping time with ⟨to⟩; in rhythm to ⟨with⟩; [in refer. to marching, walking etc] fall ⟨get⟩ into step with; || Neg не в такт ≃ out of time ⟨sync, step⟩ with.

Она [мама] кивала головой в такт своим словам (Рыбаков 2). She [mother] nodded her head in time with her words (2a). ♦ Листницкий шёл, непроизвольно улыбаясь, норовя шагать в такт голосам (Шолохов 3). A smile came involuntarily to Listnitsky's lips and he tried to fall into step with the beat of the song (3a).

Т-47 • ЗАРЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАРЫ́ТЬ ТАЛА́НТ (В ЗЕ́МЛЮ) [VP; subj: human] to leave one's abilities undeveloped or underdeveloped, not make use of one's talent: X зарыл свой талант ≃ X wasted his talent(s) ⟨abilities⟩; X let his talent(s) ⟨abilities⟩ go to waste.

< From the Biblical parable about a man who buried his money («талант») in the earth, rather than put it to good use (Matt. 25: 14–30). «Талант» (from the Greek talanton) was a unit of money in ancient Greece, Palestine, etc.

Т-48 • ОСИ́НАЯ ТА́ЛИЯ; ТА́ЛИЯ РЮ́МОЧКОЙ ⟨В РЮ́МОЧКУ⟩ coll [NP or PrepP; fixed WO] a very narrow, slender waist: wasp waist; || женщина с осиной талией ≃ wasp-waisted woman.

Т-49 • ТА́М И ТУ́Т ⟨СЯ́М old-fash, ЗДЕ́СЬ⟩; ТУ́Т ⟨ЗДЕ́СЬ⟩ И ТА́М all coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in various places, in many places: here and there; here, there, and everywhere; all over (the place); [lim.] hither and yon.

В одном месте пели песни, в другом ругались; там и сям кричали: караул! (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). In one place songs resounded, in another raucous voices were raised in heated argument, here and there people shouted, "Help!" (2a).

Т-50 • ТАМ ⟨ВЕЗДЕ́⟩ ХОРОШО́, ГДЕ НА́С НЕТ [saying] (said, often ironically, in response to a statement that things are better elsewhere) it always seems that things are better someplace other than where you are: ≃ the grass is always ⟨always seems, always looks⟩ greener on the other side (of the fence ⟨the hill⟩).

«Скажите, отчего, даже когда мы наслаждаемся, например, музыкой, хорошим вечером… отчего всё это кажется скорее намёком на какое-то безмерное, где-то существующее счастие, чем действительным счастием, то есть таким, которым мы сами обладаем? Отчего это? Или вы, может быть, ничего подобного не ощущаете?» — «Вы знаете поговорку: „Там хорошо, где нас нет"», — возразил Базаров… (Тургенев 2). "Tell me why it is that even when we're enjoying music, for example, or a pleasant evening… why does all that seem more like an intimation of some immeasurable happiness that exists somewhere or other, rather than actual happiness, that is, the kind we ourselves possess? Why is this so? Perhaps you've never experienced this feeling?" "You know the saying, 'The grass is always greener,'" replied Bazarov (2g).

Т-51 • ПЕРЕ́ТЬ КАК ТАНК highly coll [VP; subj: human] to act with firmness, decisiveness, determination, often resorting to harsh means to achieve one's goal: X пёр как танк ≃ X forged ahead ⟨pushed forward⟩ like a tank; X barreled ⟨barged, bulldozed⟩ ahead.

Т-52 • НЕ В СВОЕ́Й ТАРЕ́ЛКЕ быть$_{ø}$, бывать, чувствовать себя coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv; occas. used without negation to convey the opposite meaning; fixed WO] 1. (to be) in an unpleasant, negative state of mind, (to feel) worse than one usu. does: X не в своей тарелке ≃ X is ⟨feels⟩ out of sorts;

X isn't (quite) himself; X doesn't feel (quite) (like) himself; [lim.] X is in a foul ⟨bad⟩ mood.

«Мне и его [Алёшу] жалко. Он с тех пор замкнулся, так и ходит весь чёрный. А между тем нас никуда не тянут. И я думаю: майор оказался лучше, чем мы ожидали. Через пару дней подхожу к Алексею. „Слушай, — говорю, — ты видишь, майор оказался лучше, чем мы думали. Раз до сих пор не капнул, значит, пронесло. Я же вижу, ты не в своей тарелке“» (Искандер 5). "I felt sorry for him [Alyosha], too. He had withdrawn into himself, he went around looking positively black. Meanwhile, they hadn't hauled us in. I thought, the major's turned out better than we expected. A couple of days later I went to Alyosha. 'Listen,' I said, 'you see the major's turned out better than we thought. If he hasn't squealed by now, then it's blown over. But I can see you're out of sorts'" (5a).

2. (often in refer. to social situations) to feel anxious, not relaxed, and (in the case of social situations) as if one does not belong in the given milieu, company etc: X был не в своей тарелке ≃ X felt ⟨was⟩ ill at ease; X felt uneasy ⟨out of place, uncomfortable⟩; X was out of his element; X was ⟨felt like⟩ a fish out of water || X в своей тарелке ≃ X is in his element; X feels (perfectly) at home.

…Вдруг все взглянули на него, один господин в лорнет. «Кто это?» — тихо спросила Сонечка. «Илья Ильич Обломов!» — представила его Ольга. Все пошли до дома пешком. Обломов был не в своей тарелке… (Гончаров 1). …Then everyone turned to look at him and one of the gentlemen inspected him through his lorgnette. "Who is this?" Sonechka asked quietly. Olga introduced him: "Ilya Ilyich Oblomov." They all walked back to the house. Oblomov felt out of place… (1c). ♦ Патрику Тандерджету чрезвычайно понравился «Мужской клуб», он сразу почувствовал себя здесь в своей тарелке (Аксёнов 6). Patrick Thunderjet greatly loved the Men's Club; he immediately felt at home there (6a).

< Translation of the French ne pas être dans son assiette.

Т-53 • ЛЕТЕ́ТЬ/ПОЛЕТЕ́ТЬ В ТАРТАРАРЫ́ coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr, often всё, occas. concr] (usu. of some plans, matters, s.o.'s life etc) to move toward a state of collapse or be totally ruined: X полетел в тартарары ≃ X went down the drain ⟨the tube(s)⟩; X went to hell (in a handbasket); X went to the dogs; X fell apart ⟨to pieces⟩; X came crashing down around person Y's ears.

Увидев, как однажды вечером Антон гладит брюки, выбирает галстук, тётя Таня усмехнулась: «По старым адресам?» До этого по старым адресам он не ходил — как чувствовал: после первого же такого визита вся его размеренная провинциальная жизнь полетела в тартарары (Чудаков 1). One evening Aunt Tanya noticed Anton ironing his trousers and selecting a tie and asked him with a grin, "Going calling at your old haunts?" Before that he'd avoided his old haunts, remembering that after his first such visit his entire well-ordered provincial existence had come crashing down around his ears (1a).

Т-54 • ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ В ТАРТАРАРЫ́ coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with готов, рад, лучше бы etc] (one is ready, would like, wants etc) to disappear completely, get away from where he is (because he is so embarrassed, uneasy, ashamed etc): X готов провалиться в тартарары ≃ X wishes the earth would swallow him up ⟨the earth would open up and swallow him⟩; X wishes he could ⟨X is ready to⟩ sink through the floor.

Сидя спиной к двери, он почему-то уверил себя, в эту минуту, что его провал, его позор, его поражение происходят у неё на глазах, в её присутствии, и от этого готов был провалиться сейчас в тартарары, раствориться в воздухе, слинять, улетучиться, не существовать вовсе (Максимов 2). Sitting with his back to the door he somehow managed to convince himself at that moment that his failure, his shame and defeat were happening before her eyes, in her presence, and because of this he was ready to sink through the floor, dissolve into thin air, vanish, evaporate, cease to exist (2a).

Т-55 • РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ ТА́РЫ-БА́РЫ ⟨ТА́РЫ ДА БА́РЫ, ТА́РЫ-БА́РЫ-РАСТАБА́РЫ⟩ (с кем) highly coll [VP; subj: human] to engage in empty conversation, idle chatter: X и Y разводят тары-бары ≃ X and Y are shooting the breeze ⟨the bull⟩; X and Y are chewing the fat ⟨the rag⟩; X and Y are wagging their tongues ⟨chins⟩.

Т-56 • ТА́РЫ-БА́РЫ ⟨ТА́РЫ ДА БА́РЫ, ТА́РЫ-БА́РЫ-РАСТАБА́РЫ⟩ all highly coll [NP; fixed WO] empty conversation, idle chatter: tittle-tattle; chitchat; chitter chatter; [when trying to get sth. from s.o., occas. in a relationship between the sexes] sweet talk; sweet-talking.

Егорша решил: обстановка неподходящая. В избу к себе Раечку не затащишь, на маслозаводе постоянно вертятся люди, надо, видно, на природу выходить. Листочки, кустики, то-сё, тары-бары-растабары — растает (Абрамов 1). Egorsha decided it was the surroundings that were not conducive. Raechka would not let herself be dragged off to his place, and there was a constant mob of people at the dairy. So obviously she would have to be taken out into the wide-open spaces. The leaves, the bushes, this and that, a little sweet-talking—she'd melt! (1a).

Т-57 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ⟩ ТА́СКУ кому substand [VP] 1. [subj: human] to hit s.o. repeatedly (usu. while holding him by the hair): X дал Y-у таску ≃ X grabbed Y by the hair and punched the crap ⟨the hell etc⟩ out of him; X beat the tar ⟨the crap etc⟩ out of Y.

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to cause s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy) great losses, overwhelm or defeat s.o.: X-ы дали Y-ам таску ≃ Xs crushed ⟨routed, clobbered⟩ Ys; Xs gave Ys a good ⟨real etc⟩ thrashing ⟨beating etc⟩.

…[Фёдор Карлович] похвастался тем, что он был рекрутом под Ватерлоо и что немцы дали страшную таску французам (Герцен 1). …[Fedor Karlovich bragged] of having been a recruit at Waterloo, and of the Germans having given the French a terrible thrashing (1a).

Т-58 • ВСЯ́КОЙ ⟨КА́ЖДОЙ⟩ ТВА́РИ ПО ПА́РЕ где coll, humor [NP_{gen}; these forms only; fixed WO] (in refer. to a heterogeneous group of people or, less often, animals in which various types are represented) there are a few of each type (in some place): all sorts ⟨kinds⟩ of people ⟨animals⟩; some of every type; people ⟨animals⟩ of every possible kind ⟨sort⟩; (people) of every stripe.

< From the Biblical story of Noah's Ark (Gen. 6:19–20).

Т-59 • ЧТО ТВОЙ… obsoles [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] a genuine person or thing of the given type: a real ⟨regular, veritable⟩ [NP]; (as) heavy ⟨long, good, engaging etc⟩ as (a) (regular) [NP].

Сушили её на крыше сарая (не кучей, а ворошками), потом трепали, мочили, отделяли волокна от остья, снова сушили; из волокон дед плёл и тонкие бечёвки, и толстые верёвки — почти канаты — необычайной прочности: «Что твой джут!» (Чудаков 1). We dried it on the roof of the barn (not in a large heap, but in small piles), then we'd scutch it and ret it to separate the fibers from the woody core, then dry it again; Grandfather would weave the fibers into thin twines and thick ropes, like cables, that were incredibly strong: “Good as jute!” (1a).

Т-60 • ВО́Т ТЕБЕ ⟨ВАМ⟩! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] take the punishment you deserve (often said while dealing a blow): take this, and that!; take this ⟨that⟩!

Т-61 • ВО́Т ТЕБЕ И… coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one’s surprise (usu. unpleasant) that s.o. or sth. turned out to be very different than expected; or used to express one’s dissatisfaction that sth. anticipated either does not take place at all or turns out worse than expected: so much for…; that’s ⟨there’s⟩ a [NP] for you; there goes your [NP]; some [NP].

Дома он расскажет Людмиле Николаевне о статье. По-видимому, за него взялись всерьёз. Он скажет: «Вот тебе и Сталинская премия, Людочка. Такие статьи пишут, когда хотят человека посадить» (Гроссман 2). When he got home, he would tell Lyudmila all about the article. Yes, they really did have it in for him now. “So much for the Stalin Prize, Lyudochka,” he would say. “An article like that means you’re going to be arrested” (2a).

Т-62 • НА́ ТЕБЕ ⟨НА́ТЕ ВАМ⟩! coll [Interj; Invar; often preceded by и, и вдруг, и вот, а тут etc; fixed WO] used to express surprise or dissatisfaction on the occasion of sth. unexpected: wouldn’t you know (it)!; look at him ⟨it etc⟩!; now look!; now ⟨then⟩ this!; [lim.] bang!

[Сильва:] Чёртов ветер! Откуда он сорвался? Такой был день и — на тебе! (Вампилов 4). [S.:] Damn that wind! Where did it come from? It was such a nice day and now look! (4b). [S.:] Bloody wind! Where did it come from? Such a fine day—and now this! (4a).

Т-63 • (ДА ⟨А⟩) НУ́ ТЕБЯ ⟨его и т.п.⟩! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. used to express one’s dissatisfaction with s.o.’s statement(s) or action(s) (occas. used when the speaker pretends to be annoyed): oh, you ⟨him etc⟩!; you’re ⟨he’s etc⟩ impossible ⟨unbelievable, incorrigible, hopeless, too much⟩!; [lim.] that’s enough from you!

(Влетает Маша). [Валентин:] Маша? Ты что? [Маша (с ходу):] Да ну их! Совсем уж! Детям до шестнадцати [не разрешается], детям до шестнадцати [не разрешается]! (Рощин 1). (Masha rushes in…) [V.:] Masha! Back already? [M. (furiously):] Oh, them! It’s too much! Children under sixteen not admitted! Children under sixteen not admitted! (1a).

2. used to express intense irritation with s.o. or sth. and usu. the speaker’s desire to be entirely rid of him or it: get lost!; to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨him etc⟩; (oh,) go to hell!; the devil take you ⟨him etc⟩.

«[Мы с женой] разошлись, я сразу поехал». — «А почему?» — «Без понятия она, не понимала меня. Поэтому… Ну её!.. На свете баб много» (Распутин 1). “[My wife and I have] parted. I up and left.” “What for?” “She’s dumb, didn’t understand me. That’s why…. Oh, to hell with her!… There’s lots of other women in the world” (1a).

Т-64 • ОТКРЫ́ТЫМ ТЕ́КСТОМ [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. сообщить, передать и т.п. ~; телеграмма, сообщение и т.п. ~ [adv or nonagreeing modif] (to communicate sth., send a telegram etc) as regular text, without encryption code: (send a message, a telegram etc) uncoded ⟨as plain text, without coding⟩.

Вызвав к себе начальника следственного отдела, Лужин приказал установить за предполагаемым Куртом круглосуточное наблюдение. Затем отправил в Москву шифровку: «Указанный Рамзаем агент обнаружен и будет арестован в ближайшее время». И в ответ получил телеграмму открытым текстом: «Молодец» (Войнович 4). Luzhin called in the head of the investigation section and ordered that the suspected Hans be put under round-the-clock surveillance. Then he sent a coded message to Moscow: The agent mentioned by Ramzai has been uncovered and will be arrested shortly. In reply he received an uncoded telegram reading GOOD MAN (4a).

2. сказать, написать, заявить и т.п. ~ [adv] (to say, write, state sth.) openly and straightforwardly, without being evasive, not resorting to euphemisms: not mincing (one’s) words; in no uncertain terms; in so many words; calling a spade a spade; calling things by their right ⟨own, real⟩ names.

В минуты тишины жильцы дома обсуждали, не торопясь и обстоятельно, наружность радистки. Батраков, который, казалось, был не от мира сего да к тому же и близорук, обнаружил осведомлённость во всех статьях Катиной красоты. «В дамочке бюст для меня основное», — сказал он. Артиллерист Коломейцев поспорил с ним, он, по выражению Зубарева, «шпарил открытым текстом» (Гроссман 2). During the few quiet moments, the men engaged in a long and detailed discussion of Katya’s physical appearance. The short-sighted Batrakov, who had always seemed to live in another world, turned out to be surprisingly interested. “All I care about are a woman’s tits,” he said. Kolomeitsev disagreed. He—in Zubarev’s words—preferred to call a spade a spade (2a).

Т-65 • СПАДА́ТЬ/СПАСТЬ С ТЕ́ЛА substand [VP; subj: human or, rare, animal] to grow thin: X спал с тела ≃ X got thin ⟨skinny⟩; [lim.] person X lost ⟨dropped⟩ weight.

Т-66 • В ТЕ́ЛЕ substand [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif] one is of a heavy build: plump; on the heavy ⟨plump⟩ side; fleshy; (have) some meat on one.

[Фёкла:] [Балтазар Балтазарович] говорит, что ему нужно, чтобы невеста была в теле… (Гоголь 1). [F.:] He [Baltazar Baltazarovich] says he must have a young lady on the plump side… (1c). [F.:] [Baltazar Baltazarovich] says he needs a bride with some meat on her (1b).

Т-67 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ В ЧЁРНОМ ТЕ́ЛЕ кого coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to treat s.o. severely, be unduly strict with s.o. etc (may refer to forcing s.o. to work excessively, providing a dependent person with only minimal subsistence, depriving s.o. of pleasure, treating s.o. as greatly inferior to o.s. etc): X держит Y-а в чёрном теле ≃ X ill-treats Y; X is very hard on Y; X treats Y shabbily ⟨like a slave⟩; X makes Y’s life miserable; [lim.] X keeps Y on short rations; X holds Y down; X keeps Y on a short leash.

Казачьи офицеры… держались в чёрном теле, движение по службе было слабым… (Шолохов 3). The Cossack officers were… treated shabbily, promotion was slow… (3a). ♦ «Теперь я знаю, что с четырнадцати лет, после смерти родителей, вы жили у троюродной тётки в деревне. Она была богата, но скупа, держала вас, свою компаньонку, в чёрном теле, чуть ли не на хлебе и воде» (Акунин 7). “Now I know that, from the age of fourteen, when your parents died, you lived in the country with a female cousin of your mother. She was rich but miserly. She treated you, her companion, like a slave and kept you on little more than bread and water” (7a).

Т-68 • БЕСПРО́ВОЛОЧНЫЙ ТЕЛЕГРА́Ф [NP; fixed WO] 1. in communications, the transmission or reception of messages by radio signals: radiotelegraph.

2. coll, humor the transmission of information, rumor, or gossip via spoken communication: grapevine telegraph; word of mouth; grapevine; (learn sth. through) hearsay; bush telegraph.

И вдруг Надя вспомнила: «Да, я же видела сегодня здесь наших, музгинских! Как это они сказали… Да, беспроволочный телеграф передал сегодня новость. Дроздова готовят в замы, на место Шутикова (Дудинцев 1). Suddenly Nadia remembered: "Of course! I saw our friends from Muzga here today! What was it they said? Oh, yes, that the grapevine telegraph had transmitted some news today: Drozdov was to be Deputy Minister in place of Shutikov" (1a).

Т-69 • ВИСЕ́ТЬ/ПОВИ́СНУТЬ НА ТЕЛЕФО́НЕ coll [VP; subj: human] to talk on the telephone at length (and frequently), or be talking on the telephone: X всегда висит на телефоне ≃ X is always ⟨forever⟩ on the phone; X monopolizes ⟨hogs⟩ the phone; X never gets off the phone; X spends days ⟨hours etc⟩ on the phone; ‖ «Где X?» — «Висит на телефоне». ≃ "Where is X?" "On ⟨tying up⟩ the phone."

«Наш „Иван Иванович" две ночи висел на телефоне, чтобы получить это разрешение…» (Аксёнов 6). "The KGB man in charge of our party had spent two whole nights on the phone to Moscow to wangle me that permission…" (6a).

Т-70 • ЗОЛОТО́Й ⟨ЗЛАТО́Й⟩ ТЕЛЕ́Ц lit [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] money, riches as the object of pursuit: the golden calf.

< From the Biblical account of the golden calf made by Aaron and worshiped as an idol by the Jews during their wanderings in the desert (Ex. 32).

Т-71 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В ТЕ́ЛО old-fash, substand [VP; subj: human] to gain weight, become heavier: X вошёл в тело ≃ X fattened up; X filled out.

Позже Баграт говорил, что именно тогда у него мелькнула и тут же забылась мысль, что хорошо бы эту девчонку забрать домой, вымыть её как следует, дать попастись, не выпуская со двора, чтобы немного вошла в тело, а потом жениться на ней (Искандер 3). Bagrat said later that that was when the thought flashed through his mind—and was promptly forgotten—that it would be nice to take this little girl home, give her a good scrubbing, have her graze a while without letting her out of the yard so that she'd fatten up a bit, and then marry her (3a).

Т-72 • А МЕЖДУ ТЕ́М [coord Conj, usu. contrastive] in opposition to what has been stated: (and) yet; but (then); nevertheless.

Можно подумать, что доктор Вальтер благополучнейший частно-практикующий доктор… А между тем Антон Яковлевич Вальтер сидит уже десять лет, с тридцать пятого (Гинзбург 2). It would have been easy to take Dr. Walter for a highly successful private practitioner…. And yet Anton Yakovlevich Walter had spent ten years inside [the camps], since '35 (2a).

Т-73 • ВМЕ́СТЕ С ТЕ́М [AdvP; Invar; usu. sent adv (occas. parenth); usu. used after Conj «и», «но», «но и»; fixed WO] in addition to or along with what has been stated (a contrast may be implied): at the same time; [lim.] at once; also; [only when a contrast is implied] (and) yet.

На остальных же, бывших в распивочной, не исключая и хозяина, чиновник смотрел как-то привычно и даже со скукой, а вместе с тем и с оттенком некоторого высокомерного пренебрежения… (Достоевский 3). The clerk was regarding the other people in the bar, including the proprietor, with a kind of familiarity and even boredom, and at the same time with a hint of haughty disdain… (3a). ♦ Во всякой книге предисловие есть первая и вместе с тем последняя вещь… (Лермонтов 1). The foreword is at once the first and the last thing in any book… (1b).

Т-74 • МЕЖДУ ⟨МЕЖ obs⟩ ТЕ́М [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] during the intervening period of time: in the meantime; meanwhile.

Возвратясь с Сенной, он [Раскольников] бросился на диван и целый час просидел без движения. Между тем стемнело… (Достоевский 3). Returning from Sennaya Square, he [Raskolnikov] flung himself on the couch and sat there a whole hour without moving. In the meantime it grew dark… (3a). On returning from the Haymarket, he [Raskolnikov] flung himself on his couch and sat there a whole hour without moving. Meanwhile it grew dark (3b).

Т-75 • МЕЖДУ ⟨МЕЖ obs⟩ ТЕ́М КАК… [subord Conj, usu. contrastive] used to juxtapose two actions, phenomena etc (occas. introduces the additional meaning of simultaneity or concession): while; whereas; [lim.] at the same time as; (and) meanwhile.

…Она [Лиза] Алексея ещё не видала, между тем как все молодые соседки только об нём и говорили (Пушкин 3). …She [Liza] had not had a chance to meet him [Aleksei], while all her young neighbors could speak of nothing but him (3a).

Т-76 • ПЕРЕД ТЕ́М КАК [subord Conj, temporal] previously to the time when: before.

Перед тем, как случиться всей этой истории, я спокойно писал своего Чонкина… (Войнович 3). Before this whole thing happened, I was peacefully writing my Chonkin… (3a).

Т-77 • С ТЕ́М ЧТОБЫ [subord Conj; introduces a clause of purpose] with the purpose of: in order to ⟨that⟩; so that; so as to; with the intention ⟨the aim⟩ of; [lim.] with the idea that; intending to; (in order) to.

И прежде чем нам удастся продолжить, нам придётся пересказать всю нашу историю заново, с тем чтобы уяснить, чем же она казалась герою, пока он в ней был жив (Битов 2). Before we succeed in continuing our story, we will have to tell it all over again, in order to get a clear idea how it seemed to the hero while he was alive in it (2a). ♦ Нестор Аполлонович… велел сейчас же снарядить человека в Чегем, чтобы тот выяснил, откуда там появились верблюды, и, если можно, пригнал их в Кенгурск с тем, чтобы потом перегнать их в Мухус… (Искандер 3). Nestor Apollonovich… ordered that a man be dispatched to Chegem at once to ascertain how the camels got there and, if possible, drive them to Kengursk, so that someone could then drive them on to Mukhus… (3a).

Т-78 • ТЕМ БО́ЛЕЕ ⟨ПА́ЧЕ obs⟩ [these forms only; usu. sent adv; fixed WO] (used to single out a statement or part of a statement and thus emphasize its importance) what was said to be true of some person, thing, action etc in the preceding context is even more true of the person, thing, action etc in question: especially; particularly; even ⟨only, still⟩ more so; the more so; [lim.] all the more (reason); more especially; [when the preceding context contains a negation] much less; still less; let alone; [lim.] certainly not…

Она всегда робела в подобных случаях и очень боялась новых лиц и новых знакомств, боялась и прежде, ещё с детства, а теперь тем более… (Достоевский 3). She always felt shy on such occasions and was very afraid of new faces and new acquaintances; she had been afraid before, but was even more so now… (3a). ♦ …Она его оттолкнула довольно резко. «Ты что?» — спросила она сердито. «А что, нельзя?» — простодушно спросил Кашляев. «Незачем, — сказала она. — Я пенсионерка, меня на базаре уже бабушкой зовут». — «А я дедушка, — сказал

Диваныч. — Мне дочка внучку нагуляла». — «Тем более, — сказала Аглая. — Дедушка, а руки распускаешь» (Войнович 7). …She pushed him away rather roughly. “What are you doing?” she asked angrily. “What’s wrong with it?” Kashlyaev asked simple-mindedly. “There’s no point,” she said. “I’m a pensioner—in the bazaar they call me a granny already.” “And I’m a grandfather,” said Divanich. “My daughter’s gone and produced a granddaughter for me.” “All the more reason,” said Aglaya. “You a granddad, and letting your hands wander” (7a). ♦ «Ты — замужем, он — женат. Ты ведь не бросишь своего Курильского, тем более — Аркашку. Никандров тоже не бросит семью» (Залыгин 1). “You’re both married. You won’t leave your Kurilsky, let alone Arkady. And Nikandrov won’t leave his family either” (1a).

Т-79 • ТЕМ БО́ЛЕЕ ЧТО [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] particularly for the reason that: especially since ⟨because, as⟩; (all) the more so since ⟨because⟩; the more so as; particularly as.

Парижане зачитывались им [романом], а для дам он стал просто настольной книгой, тем более что к первому тому его была приложена такая прелесть, как аллегорическая Карта Нежности… (Булгаков 5). The novel was enormously popular among the Parisians, and to the ladies it became virtually a bible, especially since the first volume included so delectable an appendix as an allegorical Map of Tenderness… (5a).

Т-80 • ТЕМ НЕ МЕ́НЕЕ [Invar; usu. coord Conj, contrastive, or sent adv (parenth); often preceded by «и», «но», or «а»] however, despite (the circumstances, facts etc presented in the preceding context): nevertheless; nonetheless; all ⟨just⟩ the same; still and all; even so; [when the idiom is translated in conjunction with the preceding clause] although ⟨though⟩…

«…Хотя мы и не можем обнаружить — в данное время, по крайней мере, — каких-либо его [Иешуа] поклонников или последователей, тем не менее ручаться, что их совсем нет, нельзя» (Булгаков 9). “…Although we have not been able—at least not at present—to find any followers or disciples of his [Yeshua’s], we nevertheless cannot be certain that he had none” (9b).

Т-81 • ТЕМ СА́МЫМ [Invar; adv; fixed WO] by doing or saying that (which is specified in the preceding context): thereby; thus; in that way; [may be omitted in translation].

Целых два дня брат его уговаривал придти в милицию и тем самым показать, что ему нечего бояться, что он никакого участия в этом убийстве не принимал (Искандер 3). For two whole days his brother tried to persuade him to go to the police, thereby proving that he had nothing to fear, that he had taken no part in the murder (3a).

Т-82 • ОТ ⟨С⟩ ТЕМНА́ ДО ТЕМНА́ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] from early morning till evening: from dawn to ⟨till⟩ dusk; from sunrise to ⟨till⟩ sunset; from sunup to ⟨till⟩ sundown.

«…Как я по чужим людям за пятнадцать копеек стирала от темна до темна, — он это помнит?» (Кузнецов 1). “…Does he remember how I washed clothes for strangers from dawn to dusk for fifteen kopeks?” (1a).

Т-83 • УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ ТЁМНУЮ кому slang [VP; subj: human, usu. pl] to beat s.o. up under circumstances that do not allow the victim to see his attackers—usu. in the dark, or covering the victim’s head with a blanket or his eyes with a blindfold: X-ы устроили Y-у тёмную ≃ Xs jumped ⟨blindsided⟩ Y and beat him up; Xs beat Y up in the dark.

Т-84 • В ТЕ́МПЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) very quickly and energetically: on the double; in short order; in a jiffy; promptly; posthaste.

[Валентин:] Маш! Ты бы заканчивала всё в темпе, и тогда… [Маша:] Можно гулять?.. Ура!.. (Рощин 1). [V.:] Mash! Why don’t you finish in short order, and then…. [M.:] And then I can go out? Hurray! (1a).

Т-85 • БОЯ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ПУГА́ТЬСЯ⟩ СО́БСТВЕННОЙ ТЕ́НИ [VP; subj: human] to be extremely timid, easily frightened: X боится собственной тени ≃ X is afraid ⟨scared⟩ of his own shadow.

Т-86 • В ТЕНИ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. оставаться, быть$_{ø}$, держаться, находиться и т.п. ~; держать, оставлять и т.п. кого ~ [subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with держать etc (obj: human)] (to remain, be, be kept, keep s.o. etc) in a position, capacity etc where one or s.o. is not noticed, not conspicuous, does not attract attention etc: (remain ⟨be, keep s.o. etc⟩) in the shadows ⟨in the background⟩; [lim.] keep a low profile; lie low.

Так создавались книги — одна за другой — и авторы входили в программы учебных заведений, наших и зарубежных, а редактор… пребывал в тени, был невидимкой (Мандельштам 2). This is how books were turned out, one after the other, winning their authors a place in school and university curricula, both here and abroad—while all the time… the editors remained hidden from view in the background (2a).

2. оставаться, оставлять что и т.п. ~ [subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr) or obj-compl with оставлять (obj: abstr)] (to remain, keep sth.) concealed, withheld, unknown (to s.o.): X остался ~ ≃ X was kept (a) secret; X was kept under wraps; X was ⟨remained⟩ a mystery; X was ⟨remained⟩ veiled in secrecy; || Y оставил X ~ ≃ Y kept X a secret; Y kept X under wraps; Y veiled X in secrecy; [lim.] Y shed no light on X.

…Эта сторона жизни его [Евпраксеина] осталась совсем в тени (Войнович 4). …That part of his [Evpraksein’s] life had always been a total mystery (4a).

Т-87 • ОСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ОСТА́ВИТЬ В ТЕНИ́ кого [VP; subj: human] to surpass, outdo s.o.: X оставил в тени Y-а ≃ X outshone ⟨overshadowed, upstaged, eclipsed⟩ Y; X ran rings ⟨circles⟩ around Y; X left Y far behind.

Новый год они встречали в компании актёров. Олег был в ударе и оставил в тени всех признанных остряков. They saw in the New Year in the company of actors. Oleg was in top form and upstaged all the acknowledged wits.

Т-88 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́, КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ, НАБРА́СЫВАТЬ/НАБРО́СИТЬ⟩ ТЕНЬ [VP] 1. ~ на кого-что [subj: human or abstr] to raise doubts about the respectability of s.o. or sth.: X бросает тень на Y-а ≃ X casts (a shadow of) suspicion on Y; person X casts aspersions on Y; X casts a shadow on thing Y; [lim.] thing X reflects badly on Y; X taints ⟨tarnishes⟩ person Y’s reputation ⟨name etc⟩.

[Тальберг:] Ты женщина умная и прекрасно воспитана. Ты прекрасно понимаешь, как нужно держать себя, чтобы не бросить тень на фамилию Тальберг (Булгаков 4). [T.:] You are an intelligent woman of excellent upbringing. You understand quite well how you must conduct yourself so as not to cast a shadow on the Talberg name (4a).

2. ~ на что, usu. на чьи отношения, дружбу и т.п. obs [subj: abstr] (in refer. to a friendship, relationship etc) to affect sth. adversely: X бросил тень на Y ≃ X cast a shadow ⟨a pall⟩ on Y; X clouded Y.

Т-89 • КАК ТЕНЬ ходить, идти, следовать за кем, преследовать кого и т.п. [как + NP; Invar; adv] (to walk behind s.o., follow s.o. etc) unceasingly: X ходит за Y-ом как тень ≃ X follows ⟨pursues⟩ Y like a shadow; X dogs Y's footsteps.

[Саша:] …Раньше, когда вы преследовали его, как тень, и мешали ему жить, вы были уверены, что исполняете свой долг, что вы честный человек (Чехов 4). [S.:] …Before that, when you were pursuing him like a shadow and interfering with his life, you were convinced that you were fulfilling your duty, that you were an honest man (4a).

Т-90 • НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́ ТЕНЬ НА ПЛЕТЕ́НЬ; НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́ ТЕНЬ (НА Я́СНЫЙ ДЕНЬ) all coll [VP; subj: human; more often impfv (neg imper or infin with нечего, хватит, зачем etc); the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to muddle (sometimes deliberately) some clear issue or matter, present it differently than it is in reality, often in order to confuse or delude s.o.: X наводит тень (на плетень) ≃ X is confusing ⟨clouding, fogging, obscuring⟩ the issue; X is confusing the matter ⟨matters⟩; [lim.] X is fooling Y.

«Понимаешь ты это, что я сражаюсь за идею?» — «…Ты мне не наводи тень на плетень. Я тебе не мальчик! Тоже, нашёлся идейный! Самый натуральный разбойник ты, и больше ничего» (Шолохов 5). "Don't you realise, you fool, that I'm fighting for an idea!" "…You can't fool me! I wasn't born yesterday! Fighting for an idea, are you! You're nothing but an out-and-out brigand" (5a).

Т-91 • ОДНА́ ТЕНЬ ОСТА́ЛАСЬ от кого; ОСТА́ЛАСЬ (ТО́ЛЬКО) ТЕНЬ all coll [VP_{subj}; usu. past] s.o. has become very thin, pale, and, in most cases, looks sickly: от X-а одна тень осталась ≃ X is only ⟨but⟩ a shadow of his former self; X has wasted away to nothing; X is ⟨has become⟩ skin and bones.

Т-92 • ОТХОДИ́ТЬ/ОТОЙТИ́ ⟨УХОДИ́ТЬ/УЙТИ́, ОТСТУПА́ТЬ/ОТСТУПИ́ТЬ⟩ В ТЕНЬ [VP; subj: human or abstr] to lose one's or its significance, move to a secondary position: X отошёл в тень ≃ X retreated ⟨fell back⟩ into the shadows; X faded into the background; thing X became obscured.

Т-93 • ТЕНЬ ПА́ДАЕТ/(У)ПА́ЛА ⟨ЛОЖИ́ТСЯ/ЛЕГЛА́⟩ на кого-что [VP_{subj}] doubts are raised about the respectability of s.o. or sth.: тень падает на X-а ≃ (a shadow of) suspicion falls on X; a shadow falls on person X's name ⟨reputation⟩.

[author's usage] Что же это обозначает? А то, что акт 1643 года содержит в себе ложные сведения и, следовательно, ровно ничего не стоит. А раз так, то густая тень подозрения падает и на эту таинственную, ещё не окрещённую девочку (Булгаков 5). What can this mean? It means that the document of 1643 contains false information and, hence, is quite worthless. And if this is so, then a dense shadow of suspicion falls also upon this mysterious, still unbaptized girl (5a).

Т-94 • ЧЕ́РЕЗ ТЕ́РНИИ К ЗВЁЗДАМ lit [indep. sent] one reaches his ultimate goals by surmounting difficulties: through hardships ⟨adversity, difficulties, rough ways⟩ to the stars.

< The original Latin per aspera ad astra goes back to the tragedy Hercules Furens (The Madness of Hercules) by the Roman philosopher, Seneca the Younger (c. 1 B.C.–A.D. 65). Often used in its Latin form in both Russian and English. The Latin variant per ardua ("adversity") ad astra is also used.

Т-95 • А́НГЕЛЬСКОЕ ТЕРПЕ́НИЕ [NP] 1. ~ чьё, кого [subj, obj, or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] endless patience: the patience of a saint ⟨of Job⟩; inexhaustible ⟨infinite⟩ patience.

…Отец, большой мудрости и ангельского терпения человек, во время очередного бурного объяснения поделил жизненный путь дочери на три периода… (Акунин 5). In the course of one of their many tempestuous altercations, her father, a man of great wisdom and endowed with the patience of a saint, had divided his daughter's life into three periods… (5a).

2. у кого ~ [VP_{subj} with copula] s.o. has endless patience: у X-а ~ ≃ X has ⟨possesses, is endowed with etc⟩ the patience of a saint ⟨of Job⟩; X has inexhaustible ⟨infinite⟩ patience; X's patience is inexhaustible ⟨infinite⟩.

Т-96 • ИСПЫ́ТЫВАТЬ ТЕРПЕ́НИЕ чьё [VP; subj: human] to annoy, irritate s.o. very much: X испытывает Y-ово терпение ≃ X is trying ⟨is wearing out⟩ Y's patience.

[Иванов:] О боже мой! Анюта, испытывать так терпение… (Чехов 4). [I.:] God, to try one's patience like this, Anna— (4b).

Т-97 • ТЕРПЕ́НИЕ И ТРУД ВСЁ ПЕРЕТРУ́Т [saying] with patience and persistent work one can overcome all obstacles (said to encourage a person who is faced with a difficult undertaking, challenging task etc): ≃ little strokes fell great oaks; perseverance overcomes all things; patience wins the day; he that can have patience can have what he will; they that have patience may accomplish anything.

Т-98 • ТЕРПЕ́НИЕ ЛО́ПАЕТСЯ/ЛО́ПНУЛО чьё, (у) кого coll [VP_{subj}; more often pfv] one cannot (or could not) endure any more aggravation (and is about to, or did, react by shouting, getting visibly angry, taking severe measures etc): у X-а лопнуло терпение ≃ X's patience gave ⟨ran⟩ out; X ran out of patience; X lost his ⟨all⟩ patience; X's patience wore thin; X's patience was exhausted; X had had it.

«…Тот нахал, вообразите, развалился в кресле и говорит, улыбаясь: „А я, говорит, с вами по дельцу пришёл потолковать". Прохор Петрович вспылил…: „Я занят!" А тот, подумайте только, отвечает: „Ничем вы не заняты…" А? Ну, тут уж, конечно, терпение Прохора Петровича лопнуло, и он вскричал: „Да что ж это такое?"» (Булгаков 9). "…Just imagine, that smart aleck sank back in his chair and said, smiling, 'But I've come,' he says, 'on a little matter of business.' Prokhor Petrovich blew up again, 'I'm busy!' And the other one, can you believe it, says back, 'You're not busy with anything at all…' How do you like that? Well, naturally, at that point Prokhor Petrovich's patience ran out, and he shouted, 'What the hell is this?'" (9c).

Т-99 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ ТЕРПЕ́НИЕ coll; ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ИЗ ТЕРПЕ́НИЯ [VP; subj: human] to become extremely angry: X потерял терпение ≃ X lost (his ⟨all⟩) patience (with s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); [lim.] X lost his temper.

…Кончилось тем, что Рита, потеряв терпение, тайно от меня сама позвонила Рафику и встретилась с ним (Трифонов 5). …In the end, having lost all patience with me, she [Rita] went ahead and called Rafik on her own and secretly arranged to meet with him (5a).

Т-100 • ВООРУЖА́ТЬСЯ/ВООРУЖИ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ЗАПАСА́ТЬСЯ/ЗАПАСТИ́СЬ⟩ ТЕРПЕ́НИЕМ; НАБИРА́ТЬСЯ/НАБРА́ТЬСЯ ТЕРПЕ́НИЯ [VP; subj: human] to (try to) be very patient: X вооружился терпением ≃ X armed ⟨girded⟩ himself with patience; X prepared himself to be patient; || Imper запасись терпением ≃ you must ⟨have to⟩ be patient; you must ⟨you have to, I ask you to etc⟩ bear with me.

«Вооружитесь терпением. Приедет государь, я могу вам дать честное слово, что его монаршая милость вас не оставит» (Гоголь 3). "Arm yourself with patience. I give you my word of honour that as soon as the Emperor arrives, his Majesty won't let you go without conferring some favour upon you" (3a).

Т-101 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ ИЗ ТЕРПЕ́НИЯ кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; more often pfv; if impfv, often neg imper] to irritate s.o. greatly, make s.o. very angry: X вывел Y-а из терпения ≃ X tried ⟨exhausted, wore out⟩ Y's patience; X made Y lose Y's patience; X drove Y out of (all) patience; X exasperated Y; [lim.] X made Y lose Y's temper.

[Мамаева:] Послушайте, вы меня выведете из терпения, мы с вами поссоримся (Островский 9). [M.:] You are trying my patience, sir; you and I are going to quarrel (9b). ♦ «Фрейлейн, — говорила мисс Рони провинившейся воспитаннице, — вы ошибаетесь, если думаете, что, выведенная из терпения, я отошлю вас к родителям» (Федин 1). [context transl] "Fräulein," Miss Ronny would say to a guilty pupil, "you are mistaken if you think that I shall send you back to your parents out of exasperation" (1a).

Т-102 • ТЕРПЕ́ТЬ НЕ МОГУ́ ⟨не можешь и т.п.⟩ кого-чего or что, делать что coll [VP; subj: human; when obj is a feminine noun, it is used in the accus; pres or past; only могу conjugates; fixed WO] I (you etc) strongly dislike s.o. or sth., I (you etc) absolutely cannot tolerate s.o. or sth.: X терпеть не может Y-а ≃ X can't stand ⟨bear, stomach⟩ Y ⟨doing thing Y⟩; thing Y turns X's stomach; X hates ⟨loathes, detests⟩ Y ⟨doing thing Y⟩; X hates person Y's guts; X cannot endure Y.

«Я решился драться с вами»… — «Да за что? помилуйте». — «Я бы мог объяснить вам причину, — начал Павел Петрович. — Но я предпочитаю умолчать о ней. Вы, на мой вкус, здесь лишний; я вас терпеть не могу, я вас презираю…» (Тургенев 2). "I've decided to fight a duel with you"… "What on earth for?" "I could explain the reason to you," Pavel Petrovich replied. "But I prefer to keep silent on that score. To my way of thinking, you're superfluous here; I can't stand you, I despise you…" (2g).

Т-103 • НЕ́ЧЕГО ТЕРЯ́ТЬ кому [Invar; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] s.o. might as well venture sth., take some risk because the possible negative consequences are not that serious, because his situation could not get any worse etc: X-у нечего терять ≃ X has nothing to lose.

«Мы любили друг друга», — прошептал, роняя голову на грудь, Самсик. «С иностранной подданной?»… Ужас пронзил Самсика. Да ведь действительно она иностранная подданная!.. Да, теперь он уличён и терять больше нечего. «Угу, с иностранной подданной», — прошептал он (Аксёнов 6). "We loved each other," Samsik whispered, dropping his head on his chest. "You loved a foreigner?"… Fear gripped Samsik. It was true—she was a foreign citizen!… Yes, he was found out now and had nothing more to lose. "Uh-huh, I loved a foreigner," he whispered (6a).

Т-104 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: human] 1. to lose one's individual personality traits under the influence of others or one's surroundings: X потерял себя ≃ X lost his individuality; X lost himself.

«[Мы] поняли: столица — это царство зла, и тот, кто туда попадает, теряет себя и подвергает свою душу угрозе» (Акунин 6). "…We understood that the capital is the kingdom of evil, and anyone who goes there loses himself and places his very soul in danger" (6a).

2. obsoles, coll [pfv only] to lose one's composure, self-control: X потерял себя ≃ X lost his temper; X blew up; X lost his head.

3. obs [subj: female; pfv only] to fail to preserve one's chastity: X потеряла себя ≃ X lost her virginity ⟨her virtue⟩.

Т-105 • В ТЕСНОТЕ́, ДА НЕ В ОБИ́ДЕ [saying] even though some place is crowded, no one objects (or would turn others away) because everyone is friendly: ≃ the more the merrier; there is always room for (one) more; where there is room in the heart, there is room in the house.

Он познакомил меня со всеми своими друзьями… Мы заняли столик в столовой и расселись вокруг в тесноте, да не в обиде (Аксёнов 1). He introduced me to all his friends…. We took a table in the Lighthouse and crowded in around it, the more the merrier… (1a).

Т-106 • (СДЕ́ЛАН ⟨ИСПЕЧЁН⟩) ИЗ ДРУГО́ГО ⟨НЕ ИЗ ТОГО́⟩ ТЕ́СТА; (СДЕ́ЛАНЫ ⟨ИСПЕЧЕНЫ⟩) ИЗ РА́ЗНОГО ТЕ́СТА all coll [AdjP or PrepP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); last var.—pl only; the Part сделан may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] one is totally dissimilar from another or others in his views, character, lifestyle etc, or two or more people are totally dissimilar from one another in their views, characters, lifestyles etc: X (сделан) из другого теста (, чем Y) ≃ X is cut from a different cloth (than Y); X is cast in a different mold (than Y); X is a breed apart ⟨of a different breed⟩; [lim.] X is made of different stuff (than Y); X is of (quite) a different stripe (from Y); X is in a different category (than Y).

И я снова должна была осознавать, что все простые человеческие радости не про меня. Ко мне не приедут. Мне не положено. Я из другого теста (Гинзбург 2). Thus I was reminded all over again that all the ordinary human joys were not for me. There was no one to visit me. It was not within my rights. I was in a different category (2a).

Т-107 • (СДЕ́ЛАНЫ ⟨ИСПЕЧЕНЫ́⟩) ИЗ ОДНОГО́ ⟨ИЗ ТОГО́ ЖЕ, ИЗ ОДНОГО́ И ТОГО́ ЖЕ⟩ ТЕ́СТА all coll [AdjP or PrepP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, pl); the Part сделаны etc may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] two or more people are very similar in their views, characters, life styles etc: X и Y (сделаны) из одного теста ≃ X are Y are cut from the same cloth; X and Y are cast in the same mold; X and Y are made the same ⟨made of the same stuff⟩; X and Y are of the same breed ⟨ilk, stripe⟩.

«А тут ещё это проклятье — демократическое воспитание: эгалитэ, фратэрните, все люди — братья, все из одного теста...» (Стругацкие 1). "And then this damned democratic upbringing: égalité, fraternité, all men are brothers, we're all made the same" (1a).

Т-108 • ГЛУХА́Я ТЕТЕ́РЯ ⟨ГЛУХО́Й ТЕ́ТЕРЕВ⟩ highly coll, usu. derog [NP; 2nd var.—sing only, used in refer. to a man only; usu. subj, obj, or vocative] a person (usu. an old person) who hears poorly: [in refer. to a man only] deaf old coot; [in refer. to a woman only] deaf old bag; [in limited contexts; in refer. to either a man or a woman] (s.o. who is) stone-deaf ⟨deaf as a post⟩; (s.o. who) can't hear a bloody thing.

Т-109 • ЛЕНИ́ВАЯ ТЕТЕ́РЯ highly coll, derog or humor [NP; usu. subj, obj, or vocative] a very lazy person: lazybones; sluggard; [lim.] goof-off.

Т-110 • СО́ННАЯ ТЕТЕ́РЯ highly coll, derog or humor [NP; usu. subj, obj, or vocative] a person who likes to sleep excessively: slugabed.

Т-111 • В ТЕЧЕ́НИЕ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. for the specified period of time: for; [lim.] over (a period of); over ⟨in, during⟩ the course of; || в течение всего дня ⟨всего прошлого года и т.п.⟩ ≃ all day (long) ⟨all last year etc⟩; || в течение долгого времени ≃ for a considerable length of time; for a long time; for a good length ⟨stretch⟩ of time.

Оголённая луна висела высоко в чистом небе, и прокуратор не сводил с неё глаз в течение нескольких часов (Булгаков 9). The naked moon hung high overhead in the clear sky, and the procurator was unable to take his eyes off it for several hours (9c). ♦ До самого вечера и в течение всего следующего дня Василий Иванович придирался ко всем возможным предлогам, чтобы входить в комнату сына... (Тургенев 2). Throughout that evening and during the course of the whole next day, Vasily Ivanovich resorted to any possible pretext for entering his son's room… (2g). Till late that evening and all the following day Vassily Ivanych seized on every possible pretext to go into his son's room... (2c).

2. over the duration of (some activity, event, occasion etc): during; throughout; all through; [lim.] over ⟨in⟩ the course of.

В течение всего его градоначальничества глуповцы не только не садились за стол без горчицы, но даже развели у себя довольно обширные горчичные плантации для удовлетворения требованиям внешней торговли (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Throughout his governorship the Foolovites not only did not sit down to table without mustard, but even cultivated rather extensive mustard plantations to satisfy the requirements of foreign trade (1a).

3. inside the limits of (the specified period of time): within; in ⟨within⟩ the space ⟨the span⟩ of; [lim.] in.

Совершенно естественно, что, как только они попали в окаянную квартиру, и у них началось чёрт знает что. Именно, в течение одного месяца пропали обе супруги (Булгаков 9). Not unexpectedly, as soon as they settled into the accursed apartment, devilish things started happening to them, too. In the space of a month, both wives disappeared (9c).

Т-112 • С ТЕЧЕ́НИЕМ ВРЕ́МЕНИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] after some time has passed, or in conjunction with the passing of time: in ⟨with, over⟩ time; after a time; in the course of time; as time goes ⟨went⟩ by ⟨on⟩; as time passes ⟨passed⟩; with the passage of time; over the years.

С течением времени я понял, что он руководится вовсе не внешним видом людей и, конечно, не их засаленными бумажками (Булгаков 12). As time went by I realized that he was not guided at all by people's appearance and, of course, not by grubby pieces of paper (12b).

Т-113 • ПЛЫТЬ ПО ТЕЧЕ́НИЮ usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to live or act as circumstances dictate, passively going along with whatever happens: X плывёт по течению ≃ X drifts with the current ⟨the tide⟩.

Сдерживал меня в моём «хотении» не Достоевский, а Мандельштам. Он не позволял мне плыть по течению и следовать последней моде жестокого и ничтожного века (Мандельштам 2). The only restraining influence on me came not from Dostoyevski, but from M[andelstam]. It was he who stopped me from drifting with the current and aping the latest fashion of our cruel and tawdry age (2a).

Т-114 • ПЛЫТЬ ⟨ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́⟩ ПРОТИВ ТЕЧЕ́НИЯ usu. approv [VP; subj: human] to live or act in an independent, energetic fashion, in defiance of prevailing views, ideas etc: X плывёт против течения ≃ X swims ⟨paddles, goes⟩ against the current ⟨the tide⟩.

…Он [дядя] был потомком землепроходцев, и ему нравилось плыть против течения. Он выстроил дом для своей пассии, как крепость свободы своего духа (Евтушенко 2). …Uncle had descended from a long line of explorers and liked paddling against the current. He built a house for his lover, and it stood as his monument to freedom of the spirit (2a).

Т-115 • ТИПУ́Н НА ЯЗЫ́К кому coll [indep. sent; Invar; fixed WO] an unkind wish addressed to s.o. who says sth. inappropriate, meanspirited etc: типун тебе на язык ≃ may your tongue fall off (for saying that); bite your tongue; a plague on you for saying so ⟨such a thing⟩.

…Егор в это время ковылял по другой стороне улицы и зло и беспомощно косил на Настасью глазом: опять, блажная, типун ей на язык, рассказывает про него сказки (Распутин 4). …Meanwhile Egor would be hobbling along on the other side of the street, angrily and helplessly squinting at Nastasya: the feebleminded woman was at it again, may her tongue fall off, telling fairy tales about him (4a). ♦ «Большевики придут, батенька!» — «Типун вам на язык, батюшка!» (Булгаков 3). "The Bolsheviks are coming, old man!" "A plague on you for saying so, old man!" (3b).

Т-116 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ В ТИРА́Ж [VP; subj: human] 1. to become unfit for sth., cease working or functioning productively in one's capacity: X вышел в тираж ≃ X was (ready to be) put out to pasture; X was ⟨became⟩ a back number; X lost ⟨outlived⟩ his usefulness; X became deadwood.

«Хелло, Арси, — бормотал в трубке старый развратник, — похоже на то, что мы с тобой ещё не вышли в тираж». — «Поздравляю, — сухо сказал Арсений Николаевич. — На меня твои успехи совершенно не распространяются» (Аксёнов 7). "Hello, Arsy," came the voice of the old reprobate through the receiver. "Looks like we don't have to be put out to pasture yet, the two of us." "Congratulations," said Arseny Nikolaevich curtly, "but your prowess has nothing to do with me" (7a).

2. obs [usu. pfv] to die: X вышел в тираж ≃ X left this world; X passed away ⟨on⟩.

Т-117 • СПИ́СЫВАТЬ/СПИСА́ТЬ ⟨СДАВА́ТЬ/СДАТЬ⟩ В ТИРА́Ж кого [VP; subj: human; often infin (after пора, надо, хотеть etc) or 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to dismiss s.o. permanently, recognizing that he is unfit for some activity (usu. in refer. to a person unfit to fulfill his responsibilities at work): X-а списали в тираж ≃ X was put out to pasture; [of a statesman, political figure etc] X's political obituaries were written; X's political obituary was all but written.

С работой наш бухгалтер уже не справляется, сказывается возраст. Пора списать его в тираж. Our accountant's age is telling on him, he can't handle the work any more. It's time to put him out to pasture.

Т-118 • В ТИСКА́Х быть$_{о}$, находиться, держать кого-что и т.п.; В ТИСКИ́ попасть, взять кого-что и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj:

human or collect) or obj-compl with держать etc (obj: human or collect)] 1. mil used in refer. to the envelopment of enemy forces from two sides: X-ы оказались в тисках ≃ Xs were outflanked; || Y-и взяли X-ов в тиски ≃ Ys outflanked Xs.

2. (to be) oppressed by s.o. or (to be) in a very difficult, trying situation; (to keep s.o.) in a state of complete submission, subjugation: X (находится) в тисках у Y-а ⟨попал в тиски к Y-у⟩ ≃ X is in ⟨fell into⟩ Y's clutches; || Y держит X-а в тисках ≃ Y has X in a vise; Y has a tight ⟨viselike⟩ grip on X; Y has X in Y's clutches ⟨grasp, grip⟩.

Обломов понял, в какие тиски попал он, когда всё, что присылал Штольц, стало поступать на уплату долга, а ему оставалось только небольшое количество денег на прожиток (Гончаров 1). Oblomov realized what a vise he was in when he saw that everything Stolz sent him went to pay his debt, leaving him little to live on (1b).

Т-119 • МЁРТВАЯ ⟨ГРОБОВА́Я⟩ ТИШИНА́ [NP; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with copula] complete, profound silence: dead ⟨deadly, deathly⟩ silence; deathly hush; || наступила гробовая тишина ≃ it became ⟨got⟩ dead quiet; the room ⟨place etc⟩ went ⟨fell⟩ deadly quiet ⟨silent⟩; a deathly silence ⟨hush⟩ settled over a certain place ⟨a crowd etc⟩.

За стеной, отделяющей меня от квартиры Иванько, мёртвая тишина. Спят? (Войнович 3). Dead silence beyond the wall that separates me from Ivanko's apartment. Are they asleep? (3a).

Т-120 • ТИШЬ ДА ⟨И⟩ ГЛАДЬ (ДА ⟨И⟩ БО́ЖЬЯ БЛАГОДА́ТЬ) coll, occas. iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] (usu. of a quiet, carefree life) total peace, serenity: peace and quiet ⟨tranquillity⟩.

Николай Николаевич глядел в переулок и вспоминал прошлогоднюю петербургскую зиму, Гапона, Горького, посещение Витте, модных современных писателей. Из этой кутерьмы он удрал сюда, в тишь да гладь первопрестольной писать задуманную им книгу (Пастернак 1). Nikolai Nikolaevich stood gazing into the distance. He thought of his last winter in Petersburg—Gapon, Gorky, the visit to Prime Minister Witte, modern, fashionable writers. From that bedlam he had fled to the peace and quiet of the ancient capital to write the book he had in mind (1a).

Т-121 • А ТО́ [Invar] 1. Also: (А) НЕ ТО́ [coord Conj, connective-contrastive; introduces a clause with the verb in fut or subjunctive] used to introduce a clause indicating what will happen (would happen, or would have happened) if the order, intention etc contained in the preceding clause is not (were not, or had not been) carried out; or used to introduce a clause indicating what would occur (would have occurred) if the situation in the preceding clause were (had been) different: or else; or; otherwise; [lim.] if not.

«А ты тут лучше не ходи и не путайся под ногами, а то и тебя возьмём как соучастницу» (Войнович 4). "And you better stop coming here and getting under our feet or else we'll pick you up, too, as an accessory" (4a).

2. [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] for the reason that: because; [may be omitted in transl].

«И сейчас ещё говорит, но только всё меньше и меньше, так что пользуйтесь случаем, а то он скоро совсем умолкнет» (Булгаков 11). "He still speaks, but less and less. I would suggest you take advantage of the moment, because he'll soon grow silent altogether" (11a).

3. substand. Also: (А) НЕ ТО́ substand [coord Conj, disjunctive] used to indicate an alternative: or; or even ⟨maybe⟩.

[Расположенский:] Да вы мне ещё полторы тысячи должны… Давайте деньги, а то документ (Островский 10). [R.:] You still owe me fifteen hundred rubles…. Give me the money, or a note for it (10b).

4. [coord Conj, contrastive] used to indicate that the state of affairs expressed by the statement that follows is, in the speaker's opinion, abnormal, bad, or contrary to the way it should be, whereas the state of affairs expressed by the preceding context reflects the way things should be: but (instead ⟨on the contrary⟩); rather than; instead (of); while instead; as it is.

«Ты уж меня выручи, старика, Вить. В последний раз, а? Вить? Чего молчишь?» — «Не буду выручать, Архип Иваныч. Завязал». — «…Чего тебе завязывать-то? Если б ты какой бандит… был, а то — трудяга, шофёр» (Семёнов 1). "Do me a favour, Vic, do it for an old man. For the last time. Eh, Vic? Why don't you say something?" "I won't do you a favour, Arkhip Ivanich. I've quit." "What's the matter, Vic…. It would be different if…you had been some sort of crook, but you're a hard worker, a driver" (1a).

5. Also: А НЕ ТО́ coll [Particle; usu. foll by imper or subjunctive] used to express mild inducement or an invitation to do sth.: do [+ a positive imper]; why not; why don't you.

«Поеду, пожалуй». — «А то оставайся. Переночуешь у нас и поедешь утром». "I suppose I ought to get going." "Why don't you stay? You can spend the night here and leave in the morning."

6. coll [Particle; usu. foll. by imper; often used with пожалуй] used to introduce an expression of agreement with some suggestion after an initial refusal or vacillation: (or) well, perhaps ⟨maybe⟩; or perhaps; well, actually, maybe; well, all right.

[Анна Ивановна:] Что ж это они не идут, соколы-то наши?.. Не сходить ли за ними? [Любовь Гордеевна:] Нет, не надо. А то, пожалуй, сходи. (Обнимает её.) Сходи-ка, Аннушка (Островский 2). [A.I.:] What could be keeping them, our young gallants? Perhaps I ought to go for them? [L.G.:] Oh, no, don't. Or perhaps… (hugs her). Yes, do go, Anna (2b).

7. coll, impol [Particle] obviously, of course (used with interrogative pronouns or adverbs as an affirmative response to a question): what ⟨who, where etc⟩ else; who else's.

«Это твоя книга?» — «А то чья же?» "Is this your book?" "Who else's?"

Т-122 • А ТО́ И [coord Conj, disjunctive or connective-disjunctive] used to introduce an alternative (usu. one that is more intense or goes further than the preceding element): or (perhaps) even; (and sometimes) even; or sometimes; and even; if not…; or else…

За последнее десятилетие выяснилось, что тайное становится явным… Для этого нужно только время — десяток лет или ещё полстолетия, а то и столетие (Мандельштам 2). In the last decade we have seen how "nothing is hidden that shall not be known"…. All that is needed is time—ten years, or fifty, or perhaps even a hundred (2a).

Т-123 • (ВОТ) ТО́-ТО И ОНО́ ⟨ОНО́-ТО⟩; (ВОТ) ТО́-ТО (ОНО́) И Е́СТЬ all coll [Interj; used as indep. sent or main clause in a complex sent (usu. foll. by a что-clause); these forms only; fixed WO] this/that is the important factor, the essential thing (used to emphasize that what has just been said or is about to be said is the central issue, the most important aspect of the matter in question): that's just it ⟨the thing, the point⟩; that's the whole point; [lim.] (and) that's the problem ⟨the trouble⟩; you've put your finger on it; my point exactly; that's just my point; [when foll. by a что-clause] the thing is…; the (whole) point is…; my point is…; [lim.] the problem ⟨the trouble⟩ is…

«…А не подождать ли тебе вечера, чтобы по темноте выехать? Главное, через совхоз незамеченным проехать. А не то, если засекут…» — «Оно-то верно, — заколебался Кокетай. — Да долго ждать до вечера. Выедем потихоньку. Поста ведь нет на дороге, чтобы проверить нас?.. Случайно если наткнёшься на милицию или на кого ещё…» — «То-то и оно!» — пробурчал Орозкул… (Айтматов 1). "…It might be best if you don't start out back till evening. Let it get darker. The main thing is to get past the Soviet farm without attracting attention. If they find out…" "You're right enough." Koketay was undecided. "But it's a long wait till evening. We'll start out slowly. After all, there's no patrol post on the road to check us. Unless you accidentally run into the police or someone like that…." "That's just it," mumbled Orozkul… (1a).

Т-124 • И ТÓ 1. Also: ДА ⟨НО⟩ И ТÓ [coord Conj, connective] used to emphasize that the second of the statements it joins further restricts, narrows, or makes extreme the first statement (which is itself unusually restricted, narrow, or extreme): and then only; and even then; and (even) that; … at that.

Сам он не выпил во всё это время ни одной капли вина и всего только спросил себе в вокзале чаю, да и то больше для порядка (Достоевский 3). He himself had not drunk a drop of wine the whole time, but had only ordered some tea in the vauxhall, and even that more for propriety's sake (3c).

2. [coord Conj, contrastive] used to show that the statement it introduces is unexpected, illogical, strange etc considering the information presented in the preceding statement: (and) still…; [lim.] and even (he ⟨she etc⟩)…

Другого графолога звали Веров… Он мне сказал, что если ему дадут даже листок, напечатанный на пишущей машинке, то он и то определит характер печатавшего. Сказал также, что по почерку он может определить не то что характер, а сколько у человека комнат в квартире (Олеша 3). Another graphologist was called Verov…. He told me that if he were given only a type written sheet, he would still be able to determine the writer's personality. He said that he could not only determine personality by handwriting, but even how many rooms the person had in his apartment (3a).

3. [intensif Particle] used to emphasize that the immediately preceding element justifies, exemplifies, or supports particularly well what is stated in the preceding context: even.

[Говорящий — мул] Там, в городе, одни люди хватают других людей и отправляют в холодный край, название которого я забыл. А иногда просто убивают. А за что — никто не знает… Я одного не пойму, почему все эти люди, прежде чем их схватят, никуда не бегут… Я и то в своё время сбежал от злого хозяина и пришёл к своему старику. И ничего — обошлось (Искандер 3). [The speaker is a mule] Down there, in the city, some people are seizing other people and sending them off to a cold country, I forget the name of it. And sometimes they just kill them. No one knows what for…. One thing I'll never understand is why all those people don't run away somewhere before they get caught…. Even I, in my time, once ran away from a bad master to come to my old man. And nothing happened—it turned out all right (3a).

4. substand [Particle] used as, or as part of, an affirmative answer to or a confirmation of some preceding statement: oh, yes; yes ⟨yup, aye etc⟩ (…), that's ⟨'tis⟩ true; indeed.

[Анисья:] Да ты заходи, самовар поставим, чайком душеньку отведёшь. [Матрёна (садится):] И то уморилась, миленькие (Толстой 1). [A.:] But come in and we'll get the samovar ready. You'll feel better after a cup of tea. [M. (sitting down):] Aye, I'm tired out, that's true (1c).

Т-125 • НА ТÓ И; НА ТÓ [PrepP; these forms only; used as Particle, usu. with NP or a clause (often foll. by a чтобы-clause)] used when emphasizing that the given statement expresses the main function (job, role) or characteristic feature of s.o. or sth.: (after all,) that's what a [NP] is for ⟨does⟩; (after all,) that's what [NPs] are for ⟨do⟩; that ⟨it⟩ is what is to be expected (of a [NP] ⟨in some place etc⟩); [lim.] the job of a [NP] is to…; (as a [NP],) that's your ⟨his etc⟩ job ⟨department⟩; that's what [NP] is about; the [NP], being the [NP], …

Правда, пожары в Гаграх, как в турецкой бане, случались крайне редко, но на то и санитарные меры (Искандер 3). Admittedly, fires were as rare in Gagra as in a Turkish bath, but that's what public safety measures are for (3a).

Т-126 • НЕ ТО ЧТО… А… [coord Conj, correlative] 1. Also: НЕ ТО ЧТОБ(Ы) … (НО ⟨А⟩…); НЕ ТО ЧТО… НО… [variants with чтобы are more common] used to indicate that of the two given ways of expressing, describing, explaining etc sth., the second is more accurate, precise etc: not so much… as ⟨but⟩…; not exactly… but…; it's not so much… as…; it's not so much that… but…; it's not so much a matter of… but rather…; it's not exactly… but; if not (exactly)… then at least; (it's) not that… but…; [lim.] though one ⟨it⟩ is not exactly…

Необходимо добавить, что на поэта иностранец с первых же слов произвёл отвратительное впечатление, а Берлиозу скорее понравился, то есть не то чтобы понравился, а… как бы выразиться… заинтересовал, что ли (Булгаков 9). It must be added that the poet was repelled by the foreigner from his very first words, while Berlioz rather liked him. Well, perhaps it was not so much that he liked him, but, how shall I put it… was intrigued by him, I guess (9a).

2. Also: НЕ ТО ЧТО…; … (А) НЕ ТО ЧТО; … (А) НЕ ТО ЧТОБЫ [variants with что are more common] used in a two-part statement in which the element directly following не то что or не то чтобы is more pertinent to the speaker and the other element, an exaggeration, is used for reinforcement: not only… (, but…); [when, in translation, the element introduced by не то что etc follows the other, more extreme, element] let alone; not to mention; to say nothing of; much less.

[Говорящий — мул] «„Сейчас никому нельзя доверять. Даже собственному мулу не доверяй своих мыслей!“ Ну уж такой глупости я от Самуила никак не ожидал. Я не то чтобы предать своего хозяина, я жизнь готов за него отдать» (Искандер 3). [The speaker is a mule] "'You mustn't confide in anyone now. Don't even confide your thoughts to your own mule!' Now, I never expected to hear such foolishness from Samuel. I not only wouldn't betray my master, but would lay down my life for him" (3a).

Т-127 • НИ ТÓ НИ СЁ coll, usu. disapprov [NP; Invar; usu. this WO] 1. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, оказаться (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif] a person or thing that lacks distinguishing characteristics or features, that is mediocre: neither this nor that; neither one thing nor the other; nothing out of the ordinary; run-of-the-mill; nondescript; [lim.] betwixt and between.

…В одном звуке этого слова [миллионщик]… заключается что-то такое, которое действует и на людей подлецов, и на людей ни то ни сё, и на людей хороших, — словом, на всех действует (Гоголь 3). …The mere sound of the word ["millionaire"]… contains something that affects people of all descriptions: the ones who are scoundrels, the ones who are neither this nor that, and those who are really good—in short, it affects everybody (3c).

2. rare [adv] in a mediocre way, neither well nor poorly, neither positively nor negatively etc: so-so; fair to middling.

«Как твой сын учится?» — «Ни то ни сё». "How is your son doing in school?" "Fair to middling."

3. rare [often used as an indep. remark] used to relay one's own or someone else's previous or expected noncommittal response to a question, suggestion etc: neither yes nor no; one remains noncommittal; one doesn't give (s.o.) any definite answer.

Т-128 • ПОКА́ ТО́ ДА СЁ coll [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] while something is slowly developing or being carried out: in the meantime; meanwhile; while this is happening ⟨going on⟩.

Ждать обеда придётся долго. Давайте перекусим, пока то да сё. Dinner won't be ready for quite a while. Let's have a snack in the meantime.

Т-129 • ТО́ БИШЬ coll [subord Conj; introduces an appos clause] used by the speaker to clarify a preceding remark or correct his mistake: or rather; that is; I mean; or shall I say; I beg your pardon; excuse me.

«Вообще — куда вы направились?» Хоробров так же неторопливо обернулся и, искажённо улыбаясь, ответил раздельно: «Я хотел бы избежать говорить об этом вслух. Но если вы настаиваете, извольте: в данный момент я иду в уборную, то бишь в сортир» (Солженицын 3). "Where do you think you're going anyway?" Khorobrov, just as unhurriedly, turned around and answered with a twisted smile, stressing every syllable. "I would have preferred not to mention it out loud. But since you insist, I am at present on my way to the lavatory, or shall I say the john" (3b).

Т-130 • ТО́ ДА СЁ (, ПЯ́ТОЕ-ДЕСЯ́ТОЕ ⟨ПЯ́ТОЕ, ДЕСЯ́ТОЕ⟩); (И) ТО́ И СЁ; ТО-СЁ, often говорить, думать и т.п. О ТОМ (И) О СЁМ all coll [NP; usu. obj; пятое-десятое can be added to any variant; fixed WO] (to talk, chat, think etc about) various things, all kinds of things (usu. used instead of enumerating various topics, circumstances, matters etc): this and that; this, that, and the other (thing); one thing and another; lots ⟨a number⟩ of things; [lim.] (occupy o.s. with ⟨engage in etc⟩) small talk; and all (that).

[Гаев:] В четверг я был в окружном суде, ну, сошлась компания, начался разговор о том о сём, пятое-десятое… (Чехов 2). [G.:] While I was at the District Court on Thursday, a group of us got together and started talking about one thing and another… (2b).

Т-131 • ТО ЕСТЬ [Invar] 1. [coord Conj; introduces an appos] stating sth. again using different words, reiterating sth. using a different formulation (sometimes stating it more specifically): that is; in other words; that is to say; i.e.; (or) to put it another way; meaning; [lim.] or.

«Игорь вырос в Париже, сын эмигранта, то есть человека, пострадавшего от революции…» (Рыбаков 2). "Igor grew up in Paris, the son of an émigré, in other words someone who suffered from the Revolution…" (2a).

2. [coord Conj; introduces an appos] stating sth. more correctly, slightly correcting and specifying what has just been said: or rather; or to put it more precisely ⟨accurately⟩; [lim.] I mean; that's not right.

Искусство нагло, потому что внятно. То есть: оно нагло для ясности (Терц 3). Art is insolent because it is so clear. Or rather, it is insolent in order to make itself clear (3a).

3. coll [Particle; used with как or before как это; if the preceding remark contains an interrogative adverb or pronoun, this adverb or pronoun, or the word or phrase to which the speaker reacts, is repeated] used to express bewilderment, displeasure etc in response to the interlocutor's words: what do you mean!; what are you saying!; [lim.] you can't be serious; what's this?

…[Нюрок] обратила к Ирине Викторовне свои чудные глаза: «Страшно!» — «То есть как это?» — «Да очень просто! Очень страшно, и больше ничего!» (Залыгин 1). …[Niurok] turned her wonderful eyes to Irina Viktorovna and said, "I was scared." "What do you mean?" "Just what I say. I was really scared. That's all" (1a).

4. obs, highly coll [Particle] used to increase the emotional intensity of a statment: really.

Т-132 • ТО́ ЛИ… ТО́ ЛИ…; НЕ ТО́… НЕ ТО́… [coord Conj, disjunctive] used when citing two (or, occas., more) possibilities to show that the speaker thinks that one of them is probably correct, true: either… or (perhaps)…; whether ⟨perhaps⟩… or…; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) might have ⟨be etc⟩… or (perhaps)…; [lim.] … or is it…

«Вон оттуда, — она показала пальцем на балкон третьего этажа, — то ли столкнули голубушку, то ли сама прыгнула…» (Чернёнок 1). "From up there," she said, pointing to a third-floor balcony, "the poor thing was either pushed or she jumped…" (1a). ♦ Среди гостей была даже и одна звезда рока, то ли Карл Питерс, то ли Питер Карлтон, долговязый и худой, в золотом пиджаке на голое тело (Аксёнов 7). There was also a bona-fide rock star—Carleton Peters, or was it Peter Carleton?—with stick-figure arms protruding from a gold lamé vest over a bare chest (7a).

Т-133 • ТО́-ТО ЖЕ; НУ ⟨ВОТ⟩ ТО́-ТО ЖЕ all coll [Interj; these forms only] (used to express the speaker's satisfaction with what the interlocutor has just said, often in cases when the interlocutor agrees with the opinion or earlier statement of the speaker) that is correct, now you are talking sensibly, now you understand etc: there now; that's better ⟨right⟩; (there now,) what did I tell you?; [lim.] I told you so!; aha!

«Ты умница, — сказал Кязым разгибаясь, — другого слова не подберёшь». — «То-то же, — сказала Нуца, довольная, — хоть раз в жизни признал меня умной» (Искандер 5). "You're a smart girl," Kyazum said as he straightened up. "No other word for it." "There now," Noutsa said, pleased. "For once in your life you've admitted I'm smart" (5a).

Т-134 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ ТОВА́Р ЛИЦО́М [VP; subj: human; often pfv infin with a finite form of хотеть, уметь etc; fixed WO] to present s.o., sth., or o.s. in such a way as to highlight his, its, or one's most favorable characteristics, aspects etc: X показал товар лицом ≃ X showed s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ off; X showed off; X presented himself ⟨s.o., sth.⟩ to X's ⟨s.o.'s, its⟩ best advantage; X presented sth. in the best possible light; X put his best foot forward.

Потребовалось даже с Запада пускать к себе [в Ибанск] и показывать товар лицом (Зиновьев 1). It even began to be necessary to let foreigners from the West into Ibansk and to show ourselves off to our best advantage (1a).

Т-135 • ТОВА́РИЩ ПО НЕСЧА́СТЬЮ [NP; fixed WO] a person who, together with or like another, has fallen into some kind of misfortune or unpleasant situation: comrade in misfortune ⟨distress⟩; companion in misfortune; fellow sufferer.

Находясь всё ещё в атмосфере моей трагедии, я считал этих людей с кухни моими товарищами по несчастью (Лимонов 1).

Since I was still caught up in the atmosphere of my tragedy, I felt these people from the kitchen were my comrades in misfortune (1a).

Т-136 • ТОГДА́ КАК [subord Conj; contrastive, contrastive-temporal, or contrastive-concessive] while at the same time: while; whereas; when (in fact); [lim.] although; even though; by contrast.

Она сидела неподвижно, опустив голову на грудь; перед нею на столике была раскрыта книга, но глаза её, неподвижные и полные неизъяснимой грусти, казалось, в сотый раз пробегали одну и ту же страницу, тогда как мысли её были далеко… (Лермонтов 1). She sat motionless, her head sunk on her breast, on a table before her lay an open book, but her fixed gaze, full of inexplicable sadness, seemed to be skimming one and the same page for the hundredth time while her thoughts were far away… (1b).

Т-137 • ВВИДУ́ ТОГО́ ЧТО… lit [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] taking into account the fact that: since; as; in view of (the fact that); considering (the fact that).

…Она [труппа] однажды явилась во главе с Шарлем Лагранжем и сообщила Мольеру, что ввиду того, что он соединяет с необыкновенными способностями честность и приятное обращение, труппа просит его не беспокоиться: актёры не уйдут искать счастья на стороне, какие бы выгодные предложения им ни делали (Булгаков 5). …One day his [Moliére's] players came to him, headed by Charles La Grange, and assured him that, in view of his fairness and kindness, as well as his extraordinary talents, he had nothing to worry about—they would not leave to seek their fortunes elsewhere no matter how tempting the offers they received (5a).

Т-138 • ВМЕ́СТО ТОГО́ ЧТОБЫ [subord Conj, contrastive-comparative] in place of (doing something else): instead of; rather than.

Он [директор] выпучил глаза и замер, как бы удивляясь, что вместо того, чтобы поскорбеть вместе с ним по поводу нехватки валюты, дядя Сандро ещё требует у него золота (Искандер 3). He [the director] stopped, goggle-eyed, as if amazed that Uncle Sandro was still demanding gold from him instead of grieving with him over the currency shortage (3a).

Т-139 • ДЛЯ ⟨РА́ДИ⟩ ТОГО́ ЧТОБЫ [subord Conj; introduces a clause of purpose] for the purpose of: (in order) to; so as to; with the aim of; in order that; so (that); [lim.] the reason (for sth.) is to…; [when introducing negative purpose clauses] in order not to; so as not to; lest.

[Трофимов:] …Очевидно, все хорошие разговоры у нас для того только, чтобы отвести глаза себе и другим (Чехов 2). [T.:] It's obvious that all our fine talk is merely to delude ourselves and others (2a). [T.:] It's obvious: the only reason for all our fine words is to put the wool over people's eyes—our own included (2b). ♦ «Мы будем знать друг друга, и нам не будет совестно; а для того чтобы не бояться посторонних, дадим себе слово никогда ни с кем и ничего не говорить друг о друге» (Толстой 2). "We shall know one another and we will not be ashamed; and so as not to have to worry about outsiders, we'll promise never to say anything to anybody about one another" (2b).

Т-140 • ДО ТОГО́ [PrepP; Invar; adv or modif] to such a great degree, so intensely (usu. used to show that the high degree of some quality, the intensity of some action etc is the motivation, reason etc for sth. in the surrounding context): so; so much; [lim.] such a [NP].

«Чтоб вас куриный мор», — отозвался дядя Сандро из-под своей яблони, голосом показывая, что не делает различия между курицей и её хозяйкой, до того обе они ему надоели (Искандер 3). "May you get the chicken plague," Uncle Sandro responded from under the apple tree, his tone indicating that he made no distinction between the hen and her mistress, he was so sick of both of them (3a).

Т-141 • ДО ТОГО́ КАК [subord Conj, temporal] earlier in time than: before.

Женя пробиралась на кухню, когда все спали, утром старалась умываться до того, как проснутся жильцы (Гроссман 2). In the morning Yevgenia would steal into the kitchen when everyone was asleep and try to get washed before they woke up (2a).

Т-142 • ДО ТОГО́ (…), ЧТО… [subord Conj, correlative] to such a degree that, so intensely that: so… that; so much that; so much so that; so completely ⟨fully etc⟩ that; [lim.] such a [NP] that; to the point where.

Староста, никогда не мечтавший о существовании людей в мундире, которые бы не брали взяток, до того растерялся, что не заперся, не начал клясться и божиться, что никогда денег не давал… (Герцен 1). The head-man, who had never suspected the existence of men in uniform who would not take bribes, lost his head so completely that he did not deny the charge, did not vow and swear that he had never offered money… (1a).

Т-143 • И БЕЗ ТОГО́; БЕЗ ТОГО́ [Particle; these forms only] (some situation, state of affairs etc has been established, some quality or property is present etc) without even adding the factor(s), reason(s) etc (specified or implied by the context): as it is ⟨was⟩; (even) without that; anyway; anyhow; [lim.] already; in any case; enough (already) as it is ⟨without that⟩; already as it is.

«Вы, конечно, предложите мне дружбу; но ведь она и без того моя» (Гончаров 1). "You will, of course, offer me your friendship, but it is mine as it is" (1a).

Т-144 • И ТОГО́ [Particle; Invar; foll. by the compar form of Adj or Adv] used to emphasize that the comparative form that follows conveys a higher degree of the quality in question than what is stated in the preceding context: even; still.

Запретить издание двух лежавших в издательствах рукописей проще простого. Запретить шесть киносценариев, дошедших до режиссёрской разработки, — и того легче (Войнович 1). …Nothing could have been simpler than stopping the two books in manuscript I had at a publisher's. It was even easier to prohibit the six screenplays of mine that were being worked on by directors (1a).

Т-145 • КРО́МЕ ТОГО́ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] in addition to that (which has been stated, is available etc): besides (that); furthermore; moreover; what is more.

Множество мыслей вертелось у меня в голове… Меня должно было радовать то обстоятельство, что редактор появился у меня… Но, с другой стороны, роман ему мог не понравиться… Кроме того, нужно было предложить чаю… Вообще в голове была каша… (Булгаков 12). A host of thoughts whirled in my head…. I should have been delighted at his [the editor's] coming to see me…. On the other hand he might not like my novel…. What is more I should have been offering him some tea…. My head was in a thorough muddle… (12a).

Т-146 • НЕ БЕЗ ТОГО́ coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. indep. remark] (used as a mild affirmative response to a question or to corroborate s.o.'s or one's own statement) there is truth in what has been said: there's some truth to that; you could say that; there's no denying it; I can't deny it; I guess ⟨suppose⟩ it ⟨he etc⟩ is ⟨does, has etc⟩; [when confirming that some action or occurrence does take place sometimes] it happens.

«Да у тебя, говорю, метка от него [бати] на лбу до сих пор». — «Меня, говорит, и после того много били». — «Ну, и как, говорю, с пользой?» — «Не без того, — говорит, а сам всё отворачивается, отворачивается, — было время подумать» (Максимов 2). "Well," I said, "you've still got a scar on your forehead that my old man gave you." "There were plenty of others beside him who beat me up," he said. "And did it do you any good?" I asked him. "Guess it did," he said, trying all the time to turn away, "I've had plenty of time to think about it since" (2a).

Т-147 • НЕ ТОГО́ highly coll [Particle; Invar] 1. [usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun)] a person (or thing) is not especially good, not as good as he (or it) should be: X не того ≃ X is not up to scratch ⟨to snuff, to par⟩; X is nothing to brag ⟨to write home⟩ about; X is no great shakes.

[Ихарев:] Балык, кажется, не того, а икра ещё так и сяк (Гоголь 2). [I.:] The salmon's not up to scratch, but the caviar's satisfactory (2a).

2. ~ кому [impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] s.o. is uncomfortable (physically or emotionally): X-у не того ≃ X is not quite himself; X doesn't feel like himself; [in refer. to a physical state only] X is not feeling quite right ⟨well⟩; X is (a little) under the weather; [in refer. to an emotional state only] X is ill at ease; [in refer. to feeling uncomfortable in one's surroundings] X doesn't feel at home; X doesn't feel relaxed.

[Сорин:] Мне, брат, в деревне как-то не того, и, понятная вещь, никогда я тут не привыкну. Вчера лёг в десять и сегодня утром проснулся в девять с таким чувством, как будто от долгого спанья у меня мозг прилип к черепу и всё такое (Чехов 6). [S.:] For some reason, my boy, I'm not quite myself in the country, and, it stands to reason, I'll never get accustomed to it. I went to bed at ten o'clock last night and woke up at nine this morning feeling as though my brain were stuck to my skull from sleeping so long, and all that sort of thing (6a).

Т-148 • НЕ́Т ТОГО́ ЧТОБЫ; НЕ́Т ЧТОБЫ ⟨БЫ⟩ all coll, usu. disapprov [Particle; these forms only; foll. by infin] used to indicate that s.o. does not do, is not doing, or has not thought to do sth. (usu. an action considered by the speaker to be desirable, beneficial etc): нет того чтобы сделать Y ≃ s.o. never does ⟨never wants to do etc⟩ Y; it doesn't occur ⟨never occurs⟩ to s.o. to do Y; s.o. doesn't think ⟨never thinks⟩ of doing Y; s.o. doesn't give ⟨never gives⟩ a thought to doing Y.

«Нет чтобы хорошему примеру подражать, а всё как бы на смех друг друга поднять норовим!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "We never want to imitate a good example. We just try to make fun of one another!" (2a).

Т-149 • НИ С ТОГО́ НИ С СЕГО́ [PrepP; Invar; adv; more often used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] unexpectedly and without an obvious reason: for no reason (at all ⟨whatsoever⟩); for no good ⟨apparent⟩ reason; without any reason at all; without rhyme or reason; [lim.] (suddenly ⟨just⟩) out of the blue; (from) out of nowhere); [in refer. to saying sth. only] apropos of nothing.

«Асеев очень сложный человек. Уже здесь в Чистополе он недавно ни с того ни с сего оскорбил меня и даже вынудил жаловаться на него Федину» (Гладков 1). "Aseyev is a very complex man. A little while ago, here in Chistopol, he insulted me for no reason at all, and even forced me to complain to Fedin about him" (1a). ♦ Николай терпеливо выслушал учительницу, а потом бухнул ни с того ни с сего: «Слышь, Марь Иванна, а Тимофей-то мне проспорил пол-литру [ungrammat = пол-литра]» (Войнович 5). Nikolai patiently heard the teacher out and then blurted out, apropos of nothing: "Listen, Marya Ivanna, I've just won half a liter from Timofei on a bet" (5a).

Т-150 • ПОСЛЕ ТОГО́ КАК [subord Conj, temporal] following or subsequent to the time that: after; [lim.] when.

После того как был ранен в бою под Глубокой, Григорий провалялся в походном лазарете в Миллерове неделю… (Шолохов 3). After being wounded at Glubokaya, Grigory had spent a week in the field hospital at Millerovo… (3a).

Т-151 • СВЕРХ ТОГО́ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] in addition to that (which has been stated): besides (that); what's more; (and) furthermore; moreover; on top of that; … to boot.

Некоторое время Байбаков запирался… но когда ему предъявили найденные на столе вещественные доказательства и, сверх того, пообещали полтинник на водку, то вразумился и, будучи грамотным, дал следующее показание… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). For some time Dormousov refused to speak…. But when they confronted him with the evidence that had been found on the desk and promised him fifty kopecks for vodka besides, he saw the light, and, being literate, gave the following deposition (1a).

Т-152 • РЯДИ́ТЬСЯ В ТО́ГУ кого-чего lit [VP; subj; human or collect] to try to pass o.s. off as a member of a specific social group, a representative of a specific movement or school of thought, a possessor of specific personality traits etc: X рядится в тогу Y-а ≃ X dons the garb of Y; X clothes himself in the mantle of Y; X parades (himself) as Y ⟨in Y's garments⟩.

Т-153 • ТО́ЖЕ МНЕ… coll, condes or disapprov [Particle; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one's strong disapproval of s.o. or sth., and one's opinion that he or it is not worthy of his or its name, title etc: some [NP]!; [NP], indeed!; [NP], my foot!

«Да врёт она всё, — говорили одни, выслушав гонцов, — тоже мне царица! Мы ещё помним, как она взятки брала помидорами» (Искандер 5). "Oh, she's always telling lies," some said when they heard the heralds. "Some queen! We remember how she took bribes of tomatoes" (5a).

Т-154 • МА́ЛАЯ ТОЛИ́КА [NP; sing only] 1. old-fash ~ чего [obj or subj] a small amount (of sth.): a little (bit); a tiny bit; a small quantity; a few; [in refer. to food only] a morsel.

2. usu. получить, дать, отложить и т.п. малую толику obs (to get, give, save etc) a small amount of money: a little something; a small ⟨modest⟩ sum.

Он [губернатор] как-то втихомолку улучшал своё состояние, как крот где-то под землёю, незаметно, он прибавлял зерно к зерну и отложил-таки малую толику на чёрные дни (Герцен 1). He [the governor] was improving his fortune somehow on the sly, like a mole working unseen underground; he was adding grain to grain and laying by a little something for a rainy day (1a).

3. obs [accus only; adv or modif] (to possess some trait, display some characteristic, do sth.) to a small extent: a little; a (little) bit; somewhat.

Т-155 • ВЗЯТЬ В ТОЛК (что) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with a finite form of не мочь or neg fut; often foll. by a subord clause] to comprehend (sth.): X не мог взять в толк

≃ X couldn't understand ⟨figure out⟩ (sth.); X couldn't make (any) sense ⟨could make no sense⟩ of (sth.); X couldn't make head nor ⟨or⟩ tail of (sth.); X couldn't make heads or tails of (sth.); X couldn't fathom; [lim.] X couldn't grasp the fact that…

«Но к чему так громко? Старик услышит, обидится». — «Ничего он не услышит, туг на ухо. А и услышит, не возьмёт в толк, — с придурью» (Пастернак 1). "But don't talk so loud. You don't want to hurt the old man's feelings." "He won't hear anything, he's deaf.. And if he did, he wouldn't understand—he's not quite right in the head" (1a). "But why so loud? The old man will hear and get offended." "He won't hear anything—he's hard of hearing. And if he does hear, he won't make sense of it—he's a bit off" (1b). ♦ Преподавать, впрочем, он тоже не умел: никак не мог взять в толк, как человек, учивший язык с пятого класса, к десятому не может составить самой простой немецкой фразы; его это приводило в страшное недоуменье… (Чудаков 1). Of course, he couldn't teach, either: he could never fathom how a person who had studied German since fifth grade could reach tenth grade and still be unable to form a simple German sentence—this bewildered him utterly (1a).

Т-156 • ЗНАТЬ ⟨ПОНИМА́ТЬ⟩ ТОЛК в ком-чём coll; ЗНАТЬ ПРОК obs [VP; subj: human; if the obj is a count noun, it is usu. pl] to have an understanding of some group of people or type of person; to be extremely knowledgeable in some area, field etc: X знает толк в Y-е ⟨Y-ах⟩ ≃ X knows what's what in ⟨when it comes to⟩ Y ⟨Ys⟩; X knows all ⟨everything⟩ there is to know about Y ⟨Ys⟩; X knows all about Y ⟨Ys⟩; X knows his way around in thing Y; X knows a good thing Y when he sees ⟨tastes etc⟩ one; [lim.] X is a connoisseur of thing Y; X is a good judge of Y ⟨Ys⟩; || X понимает толк в жизни ≃ X (really) knows ⟨understands⟩ how to live (well).

Ты гурман. Ты знаешь толк в еде и в винах… (Аксёнов 2). You're an epicure. You know what's what in food, and in wines… (2a). ♦ …[Арина Власьевна] в хозяйстве, сушенье и варенье знала толк… (Тургенев 2). …[Arina Vlas'evna] knew all there was to know about housekeeping and the drying and preserving of fruit… (2e). ♦ Он знал толк в восточных единоборствах, которые тогда входили в моду, и преподавал китайский массаж (Улицкая 1). He knew his way around in the martial arts, which were just coming into fashion, and he taught Chinese massage (1a).

Т-157 • С ТО́ЛКОМ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) in the way it should be done, using good judgment (usu. producing or attempting to produce a desirable result): properly; right; the right way; well; [lim.] showing ⟨using⟩ good sense; sensibly; || провести отпуск ⟨неделю в Париже и т.п.⟩ с толком ≃ make the most of one's vacation ⟨week in Paris etc⟩.

Т-158 • БЕ́З ТОЛКУ ⟨БЕЗ ТО́ЛКУ⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only] 1. [adv] in an incoherent, senseless, disorderly manner: haphazardly; carelessly.

…Много бы можно сделать разных запросов. Зачем, например, глупо и без толку готовится на кухне? (Гоголь 3). …A great number of questions could well be asked. Why, for instance, were the meals in the kitchen prepared so foolishly and haphazardly? (3a).

2. [adv] futilely: uselessly; senselessly; pointlessly; aimlessly; for nothing; in vain; to no avail ⟨purpose⟩.

Уже поздно, ночь, но все так боятся проспать, что никто не ложится. Без толку толкаются по избе (Битов 2). It's already late at night, but they are all so afraid of oversleeping that no one goes to bed. Aimlessly they loaf around the cabin (2a).

3. [subj-compl with copula (subj: всё (это))] (all the previously mentioned actions) have not produced hoped-for results: всё было без толку ≃ it was all (completely) useless ⟨futile, hopeless⟩; it was all (of) no use; it was all to no avail; it was all to (little or) no purpose; it was all for nothing ⟨naught⟩.

Около трёх часов до того Килин и Голубев «сидели на телефоне», по очереди крутили ручку полевого аппарата. Председатель сменял парторга, парторг председателя, и всё без толку (Войнович 2). Some three hours before all this happened, Kilin and Golubev had been taking turns cranking the field telephone. The chairman would relieve the partorg, the partorg the charman, and it was all completely useless (2a).

Т-159 • НЕ ⟨нельзя, невозможно и т.п.⟩ ДОБИ́ТЬСЯ ТО́ЛКУ (от кого) [VP; subj: human] not to receive or be able to get from s.o. a reasonable answer, response, explanation: X не добился толку (от Y-а) ≃ X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ get any sense out of Y; X could get no sense out of Y; X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ get a straight answer (from Y); X got nowhere ⟨couldn't get anywhere⟩ (with Y); X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ find out (anything) (from Y); [lim.] X couldn't get a sensible account (of what had happened ⟨occurred etc⟩).

Неподалёку от санатория мы встретили Людмилу Павловну. Она вернулась утром, и я уже виделась с ней. Про сестру она ничего не узнала. «В прокуратуре народу — труба непротолчённая и никакого толку не добиться» (Чуковская 2). Not far from the rest-home we met Lyudmila Pavlovna. I had already seen her after she had returned that morning. She had not found out anything about her sister. "The Public Prosecutor's office was jammed with people and one could get no sense out of them" (2a). ♦ Не добившись толку в комиссии, добросовестный Василий Степанович решил побывать в филиале её, помещавшемся в Ваганьковском переулке (Булгаков 9). Having gotten nowhere at the Commission, the conscientious Vasily Stepanovich decided to visit its branch on Vagankovsky Lane (9a).

Т-160 • СБИВА́ТЬ/СБИТЬ С ТО́ЛКУ кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] 1. [more often pfv] to perplex s.o., throw s.o. into a state of (uneasy) confusion, make s.o. unable to see the situation clearly: X сбил Y-а с толку ≃ X confused ⟨nonplussed, bewildered, muddled, disconcerted, derailed⟩ Y; X got Y confused ⟨flustered⟩; X got Y all mixed up ⟨screwed up, shook up etc⟩; X knocked Y off track ⟨course⟩; X rattled Y; thing X threw Y off.

Его рассуждения опять сбили Надю с толку (Дудинцев 1). His reasoning had again confused Nadia (1a).

2. by serving as a bad example or exerting some influence on s.o., to induce s.o. to change his behavior for the worse, drive s.o. to do sth. wrong: X сбивает Y-а с толку ≃ X is leading Y astray ⟨into temptation, down the wrong path⟩.

Чёрт сбил с толку обоих чиновников: чиновники, говоря попросту, перебесились и перессорились ни за что (Гоголь 3). The Devil led the two officials astray: the officials, to put it plainly, went crazy and fell out with each other for no reason whatsoever (3c).

Т-161 • СБИВА́ТЬСЯ/СБИ́ТЬСЯ С ТО́ЛКУ coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] finding o.s. in a difficult, confusing situation, to become (anxiously) perplexed, lose one's ability to see the situation clearly, not know what to do: X сбился с толку ≃ X got ⟨was⟩ confused ⟨nonplussed, bewildered, muddled, disconcerted, derailed, flustered, all mixed up etc⟩; X got ⟨was⟩ knocked off track ⟨course⟩.

Дед совсем сбился с толку. Места себе не находил. То выйдет, то зайдёт, то присядет, пригорюнившись и тяжко вздыхая, то снова встанет и куда-то уйдёт (Айтматов 1). Grandfather was wholly confused and did not know what to do with himself. He would go outside, come in again, sit down for a minute, sighing heavily and grieving; then stand up and wander out again (1b).

Т-162 • ТО́ЛКУ НЕ ВЫ́ШЛО ⟨НЕ ПОЛУЧИ́ЛОСЬ less common⟩ [$VP_{subj/gen}$; usu. pfv past, fut, or subjunctive; impfv past rare; used without negation to convey the opposite meaning] 1. ~ (из чего) (certain actions) did not bring desired results: толку (из Х-а) не вышло ≃ nothing came of it ⟨X⟩; it ⟨X⟩ was (totally) useless ⟨pointless⟩; X was no use ⟨no help (at all)⟩; X didn't pan out; it didn't work out; X didn't help matters ⟨any (at all)⟩; X didn't amount to anything; X didn't get person Y anywhere; person Y got nowhere with it; || из Х-а выйдет толк ≃ X is going to work; X will work out; X will turn out fine; X will come out alright.

Через много лет, когда все подписывали письма в высшие инстанции, а Антон считал, что толку с этого не будет никакого, единственное исключение он сделал, подписав письмо против народного академика, хотя по-прежнему не верил, что выйдет толк. Не было никого и никогда, кого Антон ненавидел бы сильнее (Чудаков 1). Many years later, when signing open letters to high-ranking officials was all the rage, but Anton thought the practice was absolutely pointless, he made one single exception and signed a letter against this People's Academician, although he still felt that nothing would come of it. There was no one Anton ever hated more (1a).

2. ~ из кого. Also: ПРО́КУ НЕ БУ́ДЕТ из кого [fut only] (s.o.) failed to succeed in his studies, work, career etc, failed to achieve what he could have achieved: толку (из Х-а) не вышло ≃ X is no more than a might-have-been; X hasn't achieved anything ⟨much⟩ in life; X's life ⟨potential, career etc⟩ has gone nowhere; X hasn't made a go of it; [lim.] X squandered ⟨wasted⟩ his gifts ⟨potential⟩; X did not live ⟨come⟩ up to expectations; X didn't amount to anything; X disappointed ⟨proved a disappointment⟩; || из Х-а выйдет толк ≃ X will turn out all right ⟨fine⟩; X will amount to something; X is one to watch.

Третью неделю служил в Сыскном юный господин Фандорин, а уж твёрдо знал Ксаверий Феофилактович, бывалый сыщик, тёртый калач, что не будет из мальчишки проку (Акунин 8). The youthful Mr. Fandorin was only serving his third week in the Criminal Investigation Division, but as an experienced sleuth and a real old hand, Xavier Grushin could tell for certain that the boy would never make a go of it (8a).

Т-163 • ЧТО ТО́ЛКУ ⟨ПРО́КУ⟩? coll [indep. sent; these forms only; used as a comment or rhetorical question; often preceded by «а» or «да»; fixed WO] (sth. just mentioned) is pointless, hopeless: what's the point ⟨use, good, sense⟩ (of…)?; what good ⟨use⟩ is it?; it's no use ⟨good⟩; it doesn't do ⟨didn't do, wouldn't do, wouldn't have done, won't do⟩ us ⟨them etc⟩ any good; not much good ⟨use, point⟩ (doing sth.); it's a waste of time.

«Ну вы, Матвей Бенционович, смельчак. — И уважительно покачал головой: — Как вы про чёрный ход-то крикнуть не побоялись!» — «Да что толку, — слабым голосом произнёс товарищ прокурора. — Всё равно ведь ушёл Бубенцов» (Акунин 6). "Well, you're a brave man, Matvei Bentsionovich." He shook his head respectfully. "I'm amazed you weren't afraid to shout about the back entrance." "But it did no good," the assistant prosecutor said in a weak voice. "Bubentsov got away anyway" (6a).

Т-164 • … ДА И ТО́ЛЬКО coll [used as Particle; Invar; fixed WO] 1. used when calling or describing some person, thing etc by some name to show that the person, thing etc has all the applicable characteristics of that name: (a) real ⟨regular, sheer, total⟩ [NP]; (a) [NP], pure and simple; a [NP], a real ⟨regular etc⟩ [NP]; [lim.] really [AdjP].

Скоро приедет Эдик, и опять разговоры о любви и хватание руками, мученье да и только (Аксёнов 1). Soon Edik would come, and again there'd be talk of love and pawing around, sheer torture… (1a).

2. used to add emphasis to the named action: one just ⟨simply⟩ (does sth.).

С этой минуты настойчивый взгляд Ольги не выходил из головы Обломова. Напрасно он во весь рост лёг на спину, напрасно брал самые ленивые и покойные позы — не спится, да и только (Гончаров 1). From that moment Olga's persistent gaze haunted Oblomov. In vain did he stretch out full length on his back, in vain did he assume the laziest and most comfortable positions—he simply could not go to sleep (1a).

Т-165 • ТО́ЛЬКО И… [restr Particle; often used in the constructions только и… что ⟨как, как бы⟩] used to single out one action, phenomenon etc in order to emphasize that it is the only one that has a place in the given situation, among the given group of people etc: only; sole(ly); nothing (else) but; all (one does etc is…).

Хотя бы [Аркадий сказал] одно слово в том смысле, что служба в армии — дело серьёзное, но что он постарается держаться. Ничего подобного!.. Отец, мать, бабушка и четыре девочки только и слышали о том, какие мелодии он разучит на саксофоне в ближайшем будущем (Залыгин 1). He [Arkady] might have said something to the effect that army service was no joking matter, but that he would do his best, but he didn't say a word about it. Far from it. All his father, mother, grandmother, and the four girls heard from him was what tunes he'd soon be learning for the saxophone (1a).

Т-166 • ТО́ЛЬКО И ВСЕГО́; И ТО́ЛЬКО both coll [indep. sent (usu. the 1st var.), question (both variants), or the concluding clause in a compound or complex sent (both variants); these forms only; fixed WO] (used to emphasize that there are no additional considerations, hidden motives etc beyond what has been stated) only that (which has been stated): (and ⟨but⟩) that's all ⟨it⟩; it's as simple as that; just… (, that's all); just…, nothing more.

…У меня нет денег, есть только вкус к необычному и странному, и только (Лимонов 1). …I don't have any money, all I have is a taste for the unusual and strange, that's all (1a).

Т-167 • ТО́ЛЬКО ⟨ТО́ЛЬКО-ТО́ЛЬКО, ТО́ЛЬКО ЧТО⟩… КАК… [subord Conj, temporal] used to show that the situation or action presented in the main clause immediately follows the situation or action presented in the subordinate clause: as soon as; just as; hardly ⟨scarcely, only just⟩… when; no sooner… than; the moment ⟨the minute⟩…

Только сели в машину, как у неё [девушки] возникла новая идея (Евтушенко 2). As soon as they got back in the car, she [the girl] had another idea (2a).

Т-168 • ТО́ЛЬКО ЧТО [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [AdvP; adv] immediately before (the moment of speech or the moment indicated by the context): just; just a minute ago.

Он, конечно, скажет, кого только что встретил на улице… (Федин 1). Of course he would tell whom he had just met on the street… (1a).

2. [subord Conj, temporal] used to show that the situation or action presented in the main clause immediately follows the situation or action presented in the subordinate clause: as soon as; just as; hardly ⟨scarcely, only just⟩… when; no sooner… than; the moment ⟨the minute⟩…

Оба следили друг за другом, но только что взгляды их встречались, оба, с быстротою молнии, отводили их один от другого (Достоевский 3). Each watched the other, but the moment their eyes met, they both, with lightning speed, averted them again (3a).

Т-169 • ТО́ЛЬКО ЧТО НЕ coll [Invar; sent adv] 1. very nearly: almost; practically; all but; just about; [lim.] virtually.

Поместив сына по-прежнему в кабинет, он [Василий Иванович] только что не прятался от него и жену свою удерживал от всяких лишних изъявлений нежности (Тургенев 2). Having reinstalled his son in his study he [Vassily Ivanovich] all but hid himself from him and restrained his wife from too exuberant a display of affection (2a).

2. (used to indicate that the attribute, quality etc following the idiom is the only one in a specified or implied series that a person or thing is missing) (a person or thing has all the qualities etc specified or implied) but not…: except that s.o. is not ⟨sth. does not etc⟩…; the only thing lacking ⟨that s.o. lacks etc⟩ is…; the only thing ⟨problem⟩ is, s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ doesn't ⟨can't etc⟩…; the only thing missing is…; the only thing s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ doesn't have ⟨can't do etc⟩ is…; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ lacks only…

Мальчик он неплохой, только что не умеет вести себя. He's basically a good kid, the only thing is he doesn't know how to behave himself.

Т-170 • БЛАГОДАРЯ́ ТОМУ́ ЧТО… [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] by reason of the fact that: thanks to the fact that; owing ⟨due⟩ to the fact that; because ⟨on account⟩ of the fact that.

Всё же среди чегемцев стали распространяться слухи о том, что Тали пыталась бежать с сыном мельника и это не удалось только благодаря тому, что мул старого Хабуга догнал беглецов… (Искандер 3). Nevertheless, rumors began to spread among the Chegemians that Tali had tried to run away with the miller's son, and had failed only thanks to the fact that old Khabug's mule caught up with the fugitives… (3a).

Т-171 • К ТОМУ́ ЖЕ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] in addition to, along with sth. (mentioned in the preceding context): moreover; on top of that; … to boot; what's more; as well; besides (that); [lim.] … into the bargain.

Кязым по праву считался одним из самых умных людей Чегема. К тому же всем было известно, что он раскрыл несколько преступлений, совершённых в Чегеме и окрестных сёлах… (Искандер 5). Kyazym was rightly considered to be one of the smartest men in Chegem. Moreover, everyone knew that he had solved several crimes committed in Chegem and neighboring villages… (5a). ♦ «Одним словом, старик мог бы порассказать много интересного, если бы к концу каждого столетия писал мемуары. Но Вечный Жид был неграмотен и к тому же имел дырявую память» (Ильф и Петров 2). "In other words, the old man would have had a lot of interesting stories to tell, if he had written his memoirs at the end of each century. Alas, the Wandering Jew was illiterate, and on top of that, he had a memory like a sieve" (2d).

Т-172 • ТОМУ́ НАЗА́Д [Invar; adv; used after an NP denoting a span of time; fixed WO] used to denote the amount of time elapsed between a specific point in the past and the moment of speech or the moment indicated: ago; [lim.] (a week ⟨a few days etc⟩) before ⟨earlier⟩.

Т-173 • В ТОН [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ (чему) [the resulting PrepP is adv] in consonance, agreement with: (be) in tune ⟨harmony, unison⟩ with; go right along with.

Бабушка напевала какую-то заунывную песню в тон завыванию ветра. Grandma hummed a mournful tune that went right along with the howling of the wind.

2. ~ (чему) [usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: concr) or modif] of the same color or a different but compatible shade of the same color: X был в тон Y-у ≃ X matched Y; X went well with Y ⟨X and Y went well together⟩; || всё было в тон ≃ everything matched; || Neg X был не в тон Y-у ≃ X clashed with Y; || [when used as a modif] a matching sth.; sth. to match (sth. else); sth. that matches (sth. else); sth. that goes well with sth. else; || Neg sth. that clashes with sth. else.

Он был в синем, достаточно модном, но не вызывающе модном, костюме, в безупречно белой рубашке и галстуке в тон костюму (Аксёнов 2). He had on a smart but not flashy blue suit with a tie to match, and an impeccably white shirt (2a).

3. ~ чему. Also: ПОД ТО́Н [subj-compl with copula (subj: concr), modif, or adv] in the style, manner, spirit of sth.: in tune ⟨keeping, harmony⟩ with; in the spirit of.

На последних трёх страницах склеенного цикла стихов сохранилась карандашная запись, сделанная рукой Б.Л. [Пастернака]. Вот она: «Искренняя, одна из сильнейших (последняя в тот период) попытка жить думами времени и ему в тон» (Ивинская 1). On the last three pages of the typescript [of the cycle of poems], there is the following comment on these poems written in pencil in BL's [Pasternak's] hand: "A sincere and one of the most intense of my endeavors—and the last in that period—to think the thoughts of the era, and to live in tune with it" (1a).

4. ~ кому сказать, ответить и т.п. [adv] (to say sth., answer etc) in the same spirit, manner (as another, usu. one's interlocutor): in the same fashion; in the same tone; match(ing) s.o.'s tone.

«А ты понял, почему он в последний раз согласился прийти попрощаться с ней?» — «Ясно почему, — ответил Кемал, — он понял, что майор на нас не накапал, и, значит, за нами никто не следит». — «Дурачок, — в тон ему отозвался дядя Сандро, — твой же рассказ я тебе должен объяснять» (Искандер 5). "But did you understand why he consented to come and say good-bye to her the last time?" "It was clear why," Kemal replied. "He realized that the major hadn't squealed, so no one was watching us." "Dumbbell," Uncle Sandro replied, matching his tone, "I have to explain your own story to you" (5a).

Т-174 • ДУРНО́Й ТОН [NP; fixed WO] behavior, conduct etc that is not in accord with the socially acceptable standards of the time: bad ⟨poor⟩ form; (in) bad ⟨poor⟩ taste; (in) bad style; bad manners; it shows bad ⟨poor⟩ taste; || это считается дурным тоном ≃ it is (considered ⟨viewed as⟩) bad form ⟨style⟩; [lim.] it shows ill-breeding ⟨low breeding, a lack of upbringing, a lack of social graces⟩ || человек дурного тона old fash ≃ person of questionable ⟨low⟩ breeding; ill-bred person.

Не помню уж, что именно я там выкрикивала, но суть моих слов сводилась к контробвинению. Да, я была доведена до такого отчаяния, что стала бросать в лицо ему простые вопросы, вытекающие из элементарного здравого смысла. А такие вопросы считались… в высшей степени дурным тоном (Гинзбург 1). I no longer remember exactly what I said to him, but it amounted to a counter-accusation. Yes, I was driven to such despair that I asked him plain questions, dictated by common sense. This was the height of bad form… (1a). ♦ Он был большой враг всякой оригинальности, говоря, что оригинальность есть уловка людей дурного тона (Толстой 2). He was the confirmed enemy of any kind of "eccentricity," saying that eccentricity was the subterfuge of people of low breeding (2b).

Т-175 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ТОН [VP] 1. Also: ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ТОН music [subj: human] to sound the correct pitch (to a choir): X задал тон ≃ X gave the pitch.

2. ~ (кому-чему). Also: ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ТОН obs [subj: human or collect; more often impfv] to establish the mood, atmosphere, mode of behavior etc (that is imitated, followed by some person or group of people, or that is accepted, conformed to in some place, organization etc): X задаёт тон ≃ X sets the tone ⟨the mood⟩.

…Всё это ленинское нищенствование — игра, партийная линия, чтоб задавать тон, служить примером, «вождь без упрёка» (Солженицын 5). …This parade of poverty on Lenin's part was a game, the party line, intended to set the tone and provide an example of a "leader beyond reproach" (5a).

3. obs [subj: human; impfv only] to act self-importantly, arrogantly: X задаёт тон ≃ X puts on airs; X walks around with his nose in the air.

«…[Леницын] заважничал. Тон задаёт» (Гоголь 3). "…[Lenitzin] is making himself important. Putting on airs" (3b).

Т-176 • НЕ В ТОН петь, играть и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to sing, play etc) not in tune (with a given song, piece etc): out of tune; off-key.

Т-177 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ В ТОН (кому) [VP; subj: human] to say or do sth. in keeping with that which is said or done by another or others: X попал Y-у в тон ≃ X struck the right tone ⟨note⟩; X imitated ⟨matched⟩ Y's tone.

«Вы меня понимаете?» — «Отлично понимаю, — серьёзно ответил Стравинский и, коснувшись колена поэта, добавил: — не волнуйтесь и продолжайте». — «Продолжаю», — сказал Иван, стараясь попасть в тон Стравинскому и зная уже по горькому опыту, что лишь спокойствие поможет ему… (Булгаков 9). "Do you understand me?" "I understand very well," Stravinsky answered seriously and, touching the poet's knee, he added: "Don't get upset. Continue please." "I will continue," said Ivan, trying to strike the same tone and knowing from bitter experience that only a calm approach could help him (9a).

Т-178 • СБАВЛЯ́ТЬ/СБА́ВИТЬ ⟨ПОНИЖА́ТЬ/ПОНИ́ЗИТЬ, СНИЖА́ТЬ/СНИ́ЗИТЬ⟩ ТОН [VP; subj: human] to begin to speak in a less agitated, irritated way, or in a less aggressive, insolent manner: X сбавил тон ≃ X softened his tone; X moderated his tone ⟨voice⟩; X toned it down; X toned down ⟨subdued⟩ his voice.

«Ежели я сегодня не вспашу поле, когда мне лошадь достанется?» — «Лошадь, лошадь…» — Егорша презрительно, не разжимая зубов, цыкнул слюной… Михаил мрачно сдвинул брови, и Егорша сразу же сбавил тон: «Ладно… ладно… Мне-то что» (Абрамов 1). "If I don't plow the plot today when will I get the horse again?" "The horse, the horse… Phthat!" Egorsha scornfully spat without unclenching his teeth…. Mikhail frowned grimly and Egorsha toned it down at once. "Okay, okay. What do I care?" (1a).

Т-179 • ХОРО́ШИЙ ТОН [NP; fixed WO] behavior, manners etc that are in accord with the socially acceptable standards of the time: good form; (in) good taste; good ⟨proper⟩ manners; it shows ⟨is in⟩ good taste; || это считается хорошим тоном ≃ it is (considered ⟨viewed as⟩) proper ⟨good⟩ form; [lim.] it shows good breeding ⟨upbringing, command of social graces etc⟩; || правила хорошего тона ≃ the rules of etiquette; the proprieties.

Общество победившего социализма, писал лектор, не приемлет буржуазные правила хорошего тона, в которых проявились принципы господства одних людей над другими (Войнович 2). The society of victorious socialism, he wrote, does not accept the bourgeois rules of etiquette which are tainted by exploitation (2a).

Т-180 • ТО́НОМ ВЫ́ШЕ сказать, заговорить и т.п. [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to say sth., start to speak etc) in a more agitated, irritated tone of voice: X заговорил ~ ≃ X's voice took on a sharper tone; X raised his voice.

Т-181 • ТО́НОМ НИ́ЖЕ сказать, заговорить и т.п. [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to say sth., start to speak etc) more calmly and/or softly (after having raised one's voice in irritation, anger etc): X заговорил ~ ≃ X softened his tone; X moderated his tone ⟨voice⟩; X toned it down; X lowered his voice ⟨pitch⟩; X toned down ⟨subdued, dropped⟩ his voice.

«Я не позволю вам так со мной разговаривать!» – воскликнула Вера Павловна, и АннаИвановна сразу же заговорила тоном ниже. "I will not permit you to speak to me this way!" exclaimed Vera Pavlovna, and Anna Ivanovna immediately softened her tone. ♦ [Дорн (перелистывая журнал, Тригорину):] Тут месяца два назад была напечатана одна статья… письмо из Америки, и я хотел вас спросить, между прочим… (берёт Тригорина за талию и отводит к рампе)… так как я очень интересуюсь этим вопросом… (Тоном ниже, вполголоса.) Уведите отсюда куда-нибудь Ирину Николаевну. Дело в том, что Константин Гаврилович застрелился… (Чехов 6). [D. (leafing through a magazine, to Trigorin):] Two months ago there was an article in this magazine… a letter from America, and I've been meaning to ask you… (Putting his arm around Trigorin's waist and walking him up to the footlights.) You see, I'm very interested in the matter… (Dropping his voice, in an undertone.) Try and get Irina Nikolaevna away from here. Konstantin has just killed himself… (6d).

Т-182 • (ХОТЬ) ТОПО́Р ВЕ́ШАЙ; МО́ЖНО ТОПО́Р ВЕ́ШАТЬ highly coll [(хоть +) VP_{imper}, used as impers predic (1st var.); impers predic with $быть_{ø}$ (2nd var.); fixed WO (with можно movable)] it is unbearably stuffy, it feels as if there is no air to breathe (in some lodging or room): you could cut the air with a knife; you can hardly breathe.

[author's usage] Я люблю набитые ребятами кузова машин, бараки и палатки, хоть там топор можно повесить (Аксёнов 1). What I like is trucks, barracks, tents, so jammed with guys you can hardly breathe (1a).

Т-183 • НОСИ́ТЬСЯ КАК С ПИ́САНОЙ ТО́РБОЙ с кем-чем; НОСИ́ТЬСЯ КАК ДУРА́К ⟨ДУ́РЕНЬ⟩ С ПИ́САНОЙ ТО́РБОЙ all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human or collect] to relate outwardly to s.o. or sth. undeserving of special attention with an excessive display of caring, attention etc, exaggerating his or its significance to an extreme degree: X носится с Y-ом как с писаной торбой ≃ X makes a great ⟨big⟩ fuss over ⟨of⟩ Y; X makes a big to-do over Y; X treats person ⟨animal⟩ Y like someone ⟨something⟩ special; X acts as if person ⟨animal⟩ Y is someone ⟨something⟩ special; [lim.] X is parading Y like a child with a new toy.

В Краснодаре с ним [Владом] носились, как с писаной торбой, наперебой таскали по кабинетам, громогласно рекомендуя: «Поэт-колхозник!» (Максимов 2). The people in Krasnodar made a great fuss of him [Vlad], vying with one another to show him off to a succession of officials, to whom they introduced him loudly and brashly: "This is the peasant poet from a collective farm!" (2a).

T-184 • ВВЕРХ ⟨КВЁРХУ⟩ ТОРМА́ШКАМИ ⟨ТОРМА́ШКИ obs⟩ coll [AdvP] 1. [adv] with the top downward and the bottom upward: upside down; topsy-turvy; head over heels; [lim.] turn turtle.

…Я видел, как кидали мяч в картонную на шарнирах фигуру японского солдата, заставляя её при попадании не то повалиться вверх тормашками, не то… не помню! (Олеша 3). …I saw balls thrown at the hinged cardboard figure of a Japanese soldier, forcing it either to topple head over heels, or… I don't remember! (3a).

2. ~ идти, пойти и т.п. [adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr, often всё)] (of a course of events, s.o.'s everyday life etc) (to be going or begin to go) not the way it should, in a way contrary to normal: (be ⟨be going⟩) topsy-turvy; (go) haywire.

Настёна слушала, как разоряется свёкор, и устало думала: чего уж так убиваться по какой-то железяке, если давно всё идёт вверх тормашками (Распутин 2). Nastyona listened to her father-in-law rant and thought tiredly: why get so excited over a scrap of metal when everything else has been topsy-turvy for so long? (2a).

T-185 • ЛЕТЕ́ТЬ/ПОЛЕТЕ́ТЬ ВВЕРХ ТОРМА́ШКАМИ ⟨ТОРМА́ШКИ obs⟩ coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr, often всё] (of s.o.'s plans, a course of events, s.o.'s life etc) to get completely disrupted, be thrown into disorder: X полетел вверх тормашками ≃ X was turned upside down; X went topsy-turvy ⟨haywire⟩.

…Через несколько часов произошло событие, от которого вся её, в общем, налаженная, как она считала, спокойная жизнь полетела вверх тормашками (Некрасов 1). …Within a few hours what she considered her generally well-ordered and tranquil life was to be turned upside down (1a).

T-186 • ПЕРЕВЁРТЫВАТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ⟩/ПЕРЕВЕРНУ́ТЬ ВВЕРХ ТОРМА́ШКАМИ что coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] (in refer. to s.o.'s way of life, a state of affairs etc) to bring abrupt change, disorder, confusion into sth.: X перевернул Y вверх томашками ≃ X turned Y upside down; X turned Y topsy-turvy.

T-187 • СПУСКА́ТЬ/СПУСТИ́ТЬ НА ТОРМОЗА́Х что coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to reconcile an unpleasant matter quietly, without creating a stir or punishing those involved: X спустил Y на тормозах ≃ X settled Y quietly; X soft-pedaled Y; [usu. in refer. to accusations, a case against s.o. etc] X (discreetly ⟨quietly etc⟩) let Y ⟨the matter⟩ drop; [usu. in refer. to a scandal, embarrassing incident etc] X swept Y under the rug.

Обвинение во взяточничестве было доказано, и руководству фирмы не удалось спустить это дело на тормозах. The bribery charge was substantiated, and company management was unable to sweep it under the rug.

T-188 • ТОСКА́ ЗЕЛЁНАЯ; СКУ́КА ЗЕЛЁНАЯ ⟨СМЕ́РТНАЯ⟩ all coll [NP; sing only; usu. VP$_{subj}$ (with быть$_{ø}$) or obj; usu. this WO] terrible boredom: intolerable ⟨unbearable, deadly, utter⟩ boredom; (s.o. is) bored stiff ⟨to tears, to death⟩; (s.o. is) dying of boredom; (it is) as tedious ⟨boring⟩ as watching paint dry ⟨waiting for paint to dry⟩; [said sarcastically] (it is) as interesting ⟨exciting etc⟩ as watching paint dry ⟨waiting for paint to dry, watching grass grow⟩.

[Утешительный:] Помнишь, почтеннейший, как я приехал сюды [ungrammat = сюда]: один-одинёшенек. Вообразите: знакомых никого. Хозяйка — старуха. На лестнице какая-то поломойка, урод естественнейший… Словом, скука смертная (Гоголь 2). [U.:] Do you recall, dear fellow, my circumstances when I arrived—all alone, not knowing a soul, an old bitch for a landlady, a chambermaid who was an absolute horror…. In a word—I was bored stiff (2a).

T-189 • НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́ ⟨НАГОНЯ́ТЬ/НАГНА́ТЬ⟩ ТОСКУ́ на кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to evoke despondency in s.o.: X наводит на Y-а тоску ≃ X depresses Y; X gets Y down; thing X gives Y the blues; [lim.] person X spreads gloom.

Хозяйственные дрязги наводили на него тоску… (Тургенев 2). The petty troubles of estate management depressed him… (2c). ♦ Вот жёнка! — думал Михаил. Сама держится и на других тоску не нагоняет (Абрамов 1). What a woman! thought Mikhail. She just keeps going and doesn't get other people down (1a).

T-190 • (И) ТО́Т И ДРУГО́Й [NP (usu. subj or obj) or AdjP (modif)] one and the other: both; [in limited contexts, with predic expressing refutation] neither.

Ирина Викторовна вышла из троллейбуса, обогнула ограду и тоже подошла к Огню и Могиле. Она видела и то и другое не раз, но теперь всматривалась в прозрачную яркость и в синеву огня с особым вниманием… (Залыгин 1). Irina Viktorovna got out of the bus, stepped round the barrier and approached the flame and the tomb. She had seen both many times before, but now she looked into the bright transparent blue of the flame with special attention… (1a).

T-191 • НЕ ТО́Т [AdjP; modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun)] 1. not identical or similar to the specified or implied person or thing, or to what one or it was like at an earlier time: (quite) different; not the same; [lim.] not the [NP] one ⟨it⟩ once was; not what ⟨like⟩ one ⟨it⟩ used to be; || не те времена ≃ times have changed.

[Маша:] Он [мой муж] казался мне тогда ужасно учёным, умным и важным. А теперь уж не то, к сожалению (Чехов 5). [M.:] In those days he [my husband] seemed to me terribly learned, clever, and important. But now, unfortunately, it is different (5a). ♦ …Россия уже не та. Выдают чугун Магнитка и Кузнецк… построены первые советские блюминги (Рыбаков 2). …Russia was not the country she once was. They were already turning out cast-iron at Magnitogorsk and Kuznetsk… and the first Soviet rolling-mills had been built (2a).

2. unsuitable: not right; (all) wrong; not the right [NP].

[Таня:] Что ж… Я пойду… [Колесов:] Извините, Таня. Но сами видите — не та обстановка. Возможно, ещё увидимся… (Вампилов 3). [T.:] Oh well… I'd better be off… [K.:] I'm sorry, Tania. But you can see for yourself—the setting is all wrong. Maybe we'll meet again (3a). [T.:] Well, then… I'm leaving… [K.:] I'm sorry, Tanya. But you can see for yourself—it's not the right time. Maybe we'll still see each other (3b).

T-192 • НИ ТО́Т НИ ДРУГО́Й [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] not one and not the other (of the two named people, things, phenomena etc): neither; neither [NP]; neither of them ⟨of the two⟩; neither one; neither one nor the other; neither [NP] nor [NP].

«Водку купить или коньяку?» — «Ни того, ни другого» (Семёнов 1). "Shall we get vodka or brandy?" "Neither" (1a).

Т-193 • ОДИ́Н И ТО́Т ЖЕ [AdjP (modif) or NP (neut only, subj or obj); fixed WO] being exactly the same, not another, or being exactly identical: the (very) same [NP]; one and the same [NP]; the selfsame [NP]; || одно и то же ≃ (one and) the same (thing); [lim.] only one thing.

В самом деле сходство Пугачёва с моим вожатым было разительно. Я удостоверился, что Пугачёв и он были одно и то же лицо… (Пушкин 2). Indeed, the similarity between Pugachev and my guide was striking. I came to realize that the two were one and the same person (2a).

Т-194 • ТО́Т ЖЕ [AdjP; modif] 1. being exactly the same or exactly identical: the same; the very ⟨exact⟩ same; that very; the ⟨that⟩ selfsame.

Народ знал мою девицу Светку, мне тотчас в тот же вечер доносили, если видели её на другой танцплощадке с другим парнем… (Лимонов 1). The people knew my girl Svetka; they would inform me at once, that very night, if they saw her at another dance pavilion with another guy (1a).

2. equivalent in effect, value, status etc to another (or others): as good ⟨bad etc⟩ as; just ⟨exactly⟩ like; tantamount to.

[Подколёсин:] …Надворный советник тот же полковник, только разве что мундир без эполет (Гоголь 1). [P.:] …A court councilor is as good as a colonel, except perhaps for having no epaulets on his uniform (1c).

Т-195 • ТО́Т ИЛИ ДРУГО́Й ⟨ИНО́Й⟩ [AdjP (modif) or NP (subj or obj)] used when referring to some unspecified member(s) (of a group, category etc): one… or another; some… or other; [lim.] certain.

…Несмотря на то, что все начальники отделов кадров только тем и занимаются, что вчитываются в анкеты, выискивая несоответствия и изъяны в биографии сотрудников того или иного учреждения, иногда самые невероятные нелепости проходят мимо их бдительного ока (Войнович 1). …Despite the fact that all personnel managers do nothing but pore over questionnaires seeking out inconsistencies and flaws in the biographies of employees of one institution or another, the most incredible absurdities do sometimes slip past their watchful eyes (1a).

Т-196 • ГОРЯ́ЧАЯ ТО́ЧКА ⟨«ГОРЯ́ЧАЯ ТО́ЧКА»⟩ media [NP; usu. pl; fixed WO] a country or region where military unrest, political turmoil etc is at a high level or brewing: hot ⟨trouble⟩ spot; flash-point country ⟨city etc⟩; [lim.] tinderbox.

«Когда мы были у власти, люди нас не любили. А теперь они сравнивают и видят, что было при коммунистах и что есть сегодня. Нищета, проституция, безработица, разорённая армия, бастующие шахтёры, голодные учителя. Воровство, коррупция, горячие точки и терроризм. Народ возвращается к нам, Аглая Степановна» (Войнович 7). [context translation] "When we were in power, people didn't like us. But now they compare and they see how things were under the communists and how they are today. Poverty, prostitution, unemployment, a ruined army, striking miners, hungry teachers. Stealing, corruption, armed conflicts and terrorism.The people are coming back to us, Aglaya Stepanovna" (7a).

Т-197 • И ТО́ЧКА coll [indep. clause (usu. the concluding clause in a compound or complex sent); Invar; fixed WO] and there is nothing more to be said or done about the matter: and that's that; and that's final; and that's all there is to it; and that's the end of it; period; [lim.] and that settles it; case closed.

(…За спиной Хороших появляется Еремеев. Он протягивает Хороших деньги.) [Хороших:] Нет, нет. Сказала, ни грамма [водки] — и точка (Вампилов 2). (Yeremeyev appears behind Khoroshikh. He holds out some money to her.) [Kh.:] No, siree. I said no more [vodka], and that's final (2b).

Т-198 • ТО́ЧКА В ТО́ЧКУ; ТОЧЬ-В-ТО́ЧЬ both coll [NP or AdvP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv] precisely: exactly; to a T; to the letter; perfectly; letter-perfect; [in refer. to time] to the minute; on the button; on the dot.

Всё вышло так, как думал Михаил. Правда, через милицию Першин его не разыскивал, во всяком случае при нём не заводил речь об этом, а всё остальное — точь-в-точь, тютелька в тютельку (Абрамов 1). It turned out just as Mikhail thought. Granted, Pershin had not gotten the police after him—or at least he made no mention of having done so—but as for the rest: to a T, to a hair (1a).

2. ~ (похож, походит на кого-что и т.п.) [modif or adv] (a person or thing resembles another person or thing) very closely: X точка в точку похож на Y-а ≃ X is the spitting image ⟨spit and image⟩ of Y; X is identical in every way (to Y); X looks just like Y; X is an exact copy ⟨replica, duplicate⟩ of Y.

«Вводят, значит, этого китайца в кремлёвский дом и показывают на какого-то человека, точка в точку похожего на царя Николая» (Искандер 3). "So they bring this Chinaman into a house in the Kremlin and point out a man who's the spitting image of Czar Nicholas" (3a).

Т-199 • ТО́ЧКА ЗРЕ́НИЯ [NP; usu. sing; usu. subj or obj; fixed WO] a way of considering or judging a phenomenon, person, thing etc: point of view; viewpoint; standpoint; vantage point; perspective; || с точки зрения чьей, кого-чего ≃ from s.o.'s point of view; from the viewpoint ⟨standpoint, vantage point, perspective⟩ of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; in the light of sth.; in the eyes of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; || стоять на точке зрения чьей, кого-чего ⟨стать на точку зрения чью, кого-чего⟩ ≃ side with s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; be on the side of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; || отстаивать свою точку зрения ≃ stick to one's guns; stand firm; || точка зрения большинства ⟨меньшинства⟩ ≃ the majority ⟨minority⟩ view.

Лёва мягко уговаривает Бланка переменить его точку зрения на Есенина (Битов 2). Lyova mildly coaxes Blank to change his viewpoint on Esenin (2a). ♦ «Мы добились главного: завтра правление будет докладывать точку зрения большинства» (Войнович 1). "…We got the main thing: tomorrow the board will report the majority view" (1a).

Т-200 • ТО́ЧКА ОТПРАВЛЕ́НИЯ; ОТПРАВНА́Я ТО́ЧКА both lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the initial, beginning point of a line of reasoning, train of thought, action etc: point of departure; starting point.

…Тема слёз непозволительно ширится… вернёмся к отправной её точке (Набоков 1). …The theme of tears is expanding beyond all reason… let us return to its point of departure (1a).

Т-201 • ТО́ЧКА СОПРИКОСНОВЕ́НИЯ (у кого-чего с кем-чем) [NP; fixed WO] an attribute, feature, characteristic etc that is shared by two or more people, groups, or phenomena: (point of) connection; something ⟨one thing, things⟩ in common; common ground; commonality; [usu.

of phenomena, abstract notions etc] point of contact; [of people or groups only] areas of common interest.

«Я за кипятком схожу, воды нагрею». — «Кто она, эта женщина? — между тем думал доктор в её отсутствие. — Какое-то ощущение, будто у нас могут быть точки соприкосновения и я должен её знать. Что-то виденное или слышанное. Вероятно, она кого-то напоминает. Но чёрт побери, кого именно?» (Пастернак 1). "I'll go and boil the kettle." "Whoever can she be?" Yurii Andreievich wondered. He had a feeling he had some connection with her—something he had seen or heard, someone she reminded him of—but he could not think who it was (1a).

Т-202 • НА МЁРТВОЙ ТО́ЧКЕ ⟨НА ТО́ЧКЕ ЗАМЕРЗА́НИЯ lit⟩ [PrepP; subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr); fixed WO] some matter (project etc) is in a static state, a state where it shows no advancement, the same state as it was in previously etc: X — на мёртвой точке ≃ X is ⟨has come to⟩ a complete standstill; X is deadlocked; X has come to a dead stop; X is getting nowhere.

Т-203 • ДО ТО́ЧКИ[1] дойти, довести кого coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to reach or drive s.o. to) a hopeless, desperate state, the limits of one's (or the other person's) emotional endurance: X дошёл ⟨довёл себя⟩ ~ ≃ X reached ⟨was at⟩ the end of his rope ⟨tether⟩; X was at the breaking point; || Y довёл X-а ~ ≃ Y pushed X to the limit ⟨to the breaking point⟩; [lim.] Y drove X off the deep end.

«Ничего я не хочу, ничего мне не нужно — пусть только придёт к ней [Марии Михайловне] выздоровление. Мне кажется, что она себя уже довела до точки» (Максимов 2). "Personally I want and need nothing—I only pray that she [Maria Mikhailovna] will recover her health. I actually think she has reached the end of her tether" (2a).

Т-204 • ДО ТО́ЧКИ[2] знать кого-что, изучить, объяснять что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; often after всё] (to know, learn, explain etc sth.) fully, completely: (down) to the last detail; in every ⟨the finest⟩ detail; thoroughly.

Я хочу объяснить свои поступки до точки… (Марченко 2). I want to explain my actions down to the last detail… (2a).

Т-205 • СДВИ́НУТЬ С МЁРТВОЙ ТО́ЧКИ что [VP; subj: human or abstr] to push forward some matter that has long shown no progress: X сдвинул Y с мёртвой точки ≃ X got Y out of Y's rut; X activated Y; X got Y moving ⟨rolling⟩; X moved Y off dead center.

[author's usage] По-видимому, прав Виктор Франк; он видит огромную заслугу Пастернака в том, что тот столкнул воз русского романа с мёртвой точки и «повёл его по направлению не беловскому, не прустовскому, не джойсовскому, а по направлению совершенно иному, ещё не нанесённому на карту…» (Ивинская 1). Victor Frank is clearly right when he sees it as Pasternak's great achievement to have gotten the Russian novel out of its rut, taking it "not in the direction mapped out by Bely, Proust, or Joyce, but in a completely new, still uncharted one"… (1a).

Т-206 • СДВИ́НУТЬСЯ ⟨СОЙТИ́⟩ С МЁРТВОЙ ТО́ЧКИ [VP; subj: usu. abstr] (in refer. to a matter than has long shown no progress) to begin moving forward, showing progress: X сдвинулся с мёртвой точки ≃ X moved off dead center; X got moving ⟨rolling⟩; [lim.] person X stopped spinning his wheels.

[Сахаров] предложил очередной призыв об амнистии, который мы все, конечно, подписали, но прошёл он незамеченным. Мы понимали, однако, что с мёртвой точки сдвинуться надо (Амальрик 1). …He [Sakharov] suggested a routine appeal for amnesty. Naturally, we all signed it, but it went unnoticed. We realized that we had to stop spinning our wheels (1a).

Т-207 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ТО́ЧКИ ⟨ВСЕ ТО́ЧКИ, ТО́ЧКУ⟩ НАД ⟨НА obs⟩ И ⟨„И“, „І“⟩ [VP; subj: human] to clarify some matter fully and in all its details, leaving no ambiguities: X поставил точки над и ≃ X dotted the i's (and crossed the t's).

Верно, и чирьи замучили [Михаила], и обещание с его [Першина] стороны насчёт замены было, а всё-таки факт остаётся фактом: самовольно, без разрешения ушёл со сплава, а ежели все ставить точки над «и», то и так сказать можно: дезертировал (Абрамов 1). It was true his [Mikhail's] boils had been plaguing him and that Pershin had made a promise to get him replaced, but facts were facts: absent without leave. He had left the timber floating without permission. To dot the i's and cross the t's, you could indeed say that he had deserted (1a).

< (?) Translation of the French mettre les points sur les i. The letter "i" existed in the Russian alphabet prior to the orthography reform of 1917.

Т-208 • БИТЬ В ОДНУ́ ТО́ЧКУ [VP; subj: human or abstr (слова, действия etc)] to direct all one's energies toward a set goal (usu. over a long period of time; often in refer. to arguing the same point persistently): X бьёт в одну точку ≃ X keeps ⟨has been⟩ hammering away at the same thing ⟨point⟩.

«Сергей Леонидович, — сказал Ребров, — а как вы полагаете с моим вопросом? Как мне-то быть?» — Вновь, как в кабинетике Маревина, возникло грубое вожделение халтурщика: бить в одну точку. А что делать? Явился в таком качестве — и должен вести себя соответственно (Трифонов 1). "But Sergei Leonidovich," said Rebrov, "what's your answer to my question? What am I to do?" As in Marevin's office he felt once again that vulgar compulsion to hammer away at the same point. Well, what else could he do? He had come here as a supplicant, so he might as well behave accordingly (1a).

Т-209 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ В (СА́МУЮ) ТО́ЧКУ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv; in a dialogue, the verb may be omitted] to say or do exactly the right thing, the precise thing that is fitting at the given moment: X попал в самую точку ≃ X hit the nail on the head; X hit the bull's-eye ⟨the bull's eye⟩; X hit the mark; X was right on target ⟨on the mark, on the money⟩; X hit it just right; X hit it right on the nose; || [as a remark in a dialogue] в самую точку! ≃ right on target!; right on the mark ⟨the money⟩!; you said it!; exactly!; precisely!; [lim.] to a T.

Решения 20-го съезда обнадёжили его [Хикмета] всерьёз, — как многих. Он написал тогда чудесную сатирическую пьесу «А был ли Иван Иванович?», высмеивая советских сателлитов — очевидно, Венгрию и Ракоши. Последовали венгерские события. Хикмет попал в самую точку (Аллилуева 2). The decisions of the Twentieth Congress raised his [Hikmet's] hopes in earnest, as they did those of many others. He wrote a wonderful satirical play called But Was There an Ivan Ivanovich? In it he made fun of Soviet satellites—obviously of Hungary and Rakosi. The Hungarian events of 1956 followed. Hikmet had hit the nail on the head (2a).

Т-210 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ТО́ЧКУ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (на чём, в чём, где) (in refer. to a process, development, series of actions etc) viewing sth. as finished (whether permanently or, occas., temporarily), to cease pursuing it: X поставил точку ≃ X called it quits; X quit at that; X hung it up; X left it at that; [lim.] X called it a day; || X поставил точку на Y-е ≃ X closed the book(s) ⟨the door⟩ on Y; X drew the curtain on ⟨over⟩ Y; X laid Y to rest; [in refer. to a discussion, investigation etc] X closed Y.

«Если бы не всплыл портфель с миллионом, мы бы поставили в расследовании точку» (Акунин 3). "If the briefcase with the million rubles had not turned up, we should have closed the investigation" (3a).

2. ~ (на ком-чём, в чём, где) to terminate a relationship with s.o.: X поставил точку на Y-е ≃ X put an end to thing Y; X was through with person Y; X severed his relationship with person Y; X parted company with person Y.

[Колесов:] А если ты отнеслась ко всему серьёзно — наплюй, переживи… Вот и всё, что я тебе хотел сказать. [Таня:] Всё? [Колесов:] Всё. И на этом поставим точку. Встречаться больше не будем (Вампилов 3). [K.:] And if you took it seriously—say to hell with it and get over it… There, that's all I wanted to say. [T:] That's all? [K.:] All. And with that we're through. We're not going to see each other any more (3b).

Т-211 • И ТО́ЧНО [Invar; used as Particle; fixed WO] used to introduce a statement confirming, supporting etc sth. previously stated, s.o.'s guess etc: and indeed; and in fact; and, true ⟨sure⟩ enough; and I ⟨he etc⟩ was right; and so it was; there it ⟨he etc⟩ was.

Среди служащих Варьете тотчас разнеслось шушуканье о том, что пёс — не кто другой, как знаменитый Тузбубён. И точно, это был он. Поведение его изумило всех (Булгаков 9). An excited whisper ran throughout the building, spreading the information that the dog was none other than the famous Ace of Diamonds. And indeed, it was. His behavior amazed everyone (9a). The whisper spread at once among the Variety staff that the dog was none other than the famous Ace of Diamonds. And so it was. His behaviour amazed them all (9d).

Т-212 • Э́ТО ТО́ЧНО coll [Invar; indep. sent; fixed WO] used to confirm sth. said by the interlocutor or by the speaker himself; also used as a question when seeking confirmation: that's for sure; that's (for) certain; [when expressing agreement with the interlocutor] that's ⟨you're⟩ right; right you are!; indeed it is ⟨they do, he could etc⟩; (it is ⟨they do, he could etc⟩) indeed; [when used as a question] (are you) sure ⟨certain⟩?; did you ⟨has he, is it etc⟩?

«А во время войны умирать за начальников отделов кадров никто не хочет. Написать на просьбе „отказать" либо выгнать из кабинета солдатскую вдову может любой холуй. А чтобы выгнать немца, нужно быть сильным, настоящим человеком». — «Это точно», — сказал Бова (Гроссман 2). "And in wartime people don't want to die just for the sake of the head of some personnel department. Any flunkey can stamp 'Refused' on some petition. Any flunkey can kick some soldier's widow out of his office. But to kick out the Germans you have to be strong. You have to be a man." "That's for sure," said Bova (2a).

Т-213 • В ТО́ЧНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar; adv or modif] (to do sth.) with complete accuracy, (be like s.o. or sth.) with regard to every detail: exactly; precisely; to the letter; to a hair; to a T.

«Я предложил господину градоначальнику обратиться за помощью в Санкт-Петербург, к часовых и органных дел мастеру Винтергальтеру, что и было ими выполнено в точности» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "…[I proposed] to Mr. Town Governor that he turn to St. Petersburg for help, to Winterhalter, master craftsman of clockworks and music boxes; which is precisely what he did" (1a). ♦ «Я счастлив, что имею в настоящий момент возможность сообщить вам, что это поручение я в точности исполнил…» (Федин 1). "I am happy that I am now able to inform you that I carried out your mission to the letter…" (1a).

Т-214 • ДО ТО́ЧНОСТИ obs [PrepP; Invar; adv] thoroughly, in a very detailed manner: exactly; precisely; with precision; to the smallest detail; down to the last detail.

«Мы… уже всё рассчитали с Дунечкой до точности, и вышло, что дорога возьмёт немного» (Достоевский 3). "…Dunya and I have worked it all out exactly and it comes out that the trip won't cost very much" (3a).

Т-215 • ТО́ЧНОСТЬ — ВЕ́ЖЛИВОСТЬ КОРОЛЕ́Й [saying] it is impolite to be late, even—and perhaps especially—if one's position, status, or rank entitles him to much privilege: punctuality is the politeness of kings ⟨princes⟩.

В понедельник утром капитан явился на работу, как всегда, — минута в минуту. «Точность — вежливость королей, — говорил он обычно своим подчинённым и не забывал добавлять: — В переносном, конечно, смысле». Чтобы никто не заподозрил его в монархических настроениях (Войнович 2). On Monday the captain appeared at work, as always right on time. "Punctuality is the politeness of kings," he was fond of saying to his staff, never failing to add, "figuratively speaking, of course" (so that no one would suspect him of monarchist sentiments) (2a).

< The original French, l'exactitude est la politesse des rois, is attributed to Louis XVIII (1755–1824). Occasionally used in its French form in both Russian and English texts.

Т-216 • ТОЧЬ-В-ТОЧЬ КАК [subord Conj, compar] similar or equivalent to: exactly as ⟨like⟩; just as ⟨like⟩.

Верховые были одеты по-разному — кто в чём, и напоминали сразу и мужиков и солдат, точь-в-точь как красноармейцы сводного полка… (Федин 1). The horsemen were in various dress—in what they had been able to find, and immediately reminded one of both muzhiks and soldiers, exactly like the Red soldiers of the composite regiment… (1a).

Т-217 • ДО ТОШНОТЫ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif) or modif] very much, to an extreme degree: to the point of nausea; ad nauseam; || X надоел Y-у ~ ≃ Y is sick to death of X; Y has had it up to here with X; || X наелся ~ ≃ X stuffed himself to the gills; X ate himself sick; || X накормил Y-а ~ ≃ X stuffed Y to the gills; || ~ голодный ≃ sick with hunger; || ~ однообразный ⟨одинаковый, похожий⟩ ≃ dreadfully monotonous; disgustingly alike ⟨similar⟩; so alike it's sickening ⟨disgusting etc⟩.

Пресловутый «Господин из Сан-Франциско» — беспросветен, краски в нём нагромождены до тошноты (Олеша 3). The notorious Gentleman from San Francisco is cheerless; the images in it are piled up to the point of nausea (3a).

Т-218 • НИ ТПРУ́ НИ НУ́ highly coll [Invar; predic; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human or collect] one does nothing, takes no action (usu. when some action is expected): X ни тпру ни ну ≃ X doesn't make a move; X doesn't do a (damn) thing; X won't budge.

Разве от этих бюрократов чего-нибудь дождёшься? Обещают помочь, а сами — ни тпру ни ну. Do you really expect anything from those bureaucrats? They promise to help, but don't do a damn thing.

2. [subj: abstr or human] some work (a person etc) makes no progress: X ни тпру ни ну ≃ X isn't getting anywhere; X is going nowhere (fast); thing X isn't moving at all; [in refer. to beginning an undertaking] I ⟨he etc⟩ can't get thing X off the ground.

«…Я уже пятьдесят лет бьюсь над этой проблемой и ни тпру ни ну». (Евтушенко 2). "I've been struggling with the problem for fifty years and still haven't gotten anywhere" (2a).

3. [subj: concr] (of a machine, device, apparatus) sth. is not functioning: X ни тпру ни ну ≃ X isn't working; X is on the blink ⟨on the fritz⟩.

Т-219 • КАК ТРАВА́; ТРАВА́ ТРАВО́Й both coll [как + NP (1st var.) or NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: a noun denoting food)] sth. is completely tasteless: X как трава ≃ X tastes like cardboard ⟨wallpaper paste⟩; X tastes like nothing.

Т-220 • ХОТЬ ТРАВА́ НЕ РАСТИ́ (кому) coll [хоть + VP$_{imper}$; impers predic; Invar; fixed WO] s.o. is completely indifferent (to sth.), does not care at all (about sth.): (X-y) хоть трава не расти ≃ X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less; X doesn't care; X doesn't give a damn ⟨a hoot etc⟩.

«Любовь? Что это такое, ты хочешь спросить? А это только обозначение обязанностей. Да. Пошлое и… легкомысленное обозначение, которое позволяет человеку в любой момент отказаться от своих самых главных обязанностей: разлюбил, и конец, а там хоть трава не расти…» (Залыгин 1). "Love? You mean, what is it? It's only another name for duty. A tasteless and flippant name… which permits people to abandon their most important obligations whenever they feel like it, so that they can say: 'I don't love her any more, and that's the end of it, and I don't care what happens now…'" (1a).

Т-221 • ХУДУ́Ю ⟨ДУРНУ́Ю, СО́РНУЮ⟩ ТРАВУ́ ИЗ ⟨С⟩ ПО́ЛЯ ВО́Н; ХУДА́Я ⟨ДУРНА́Я, СО́РНАЯ⟩ ТРАВА ИЗ ПО́ЛЯ ВО́Н [saying] those that are harmful or not needed should be removed (usu. said as an appeal to get rid of a person or people who are considered harmful or useless to society or to some group): ≃ get rid of the bad apples ⟨the deadwood⟩.

…Заседавшие негодовали, стучали ногами, выкрикивая отдельные слова вроде: «Позор!», «Долой!», «Хватит!», «Нахальство!» — «Покайся!» — кричала с места Муравьёва. Директор мясокомбината Ботвиньев снова выскочил вперёд с криком: «Дурную траву с поля вон!» — и стал дёргать руками, как будто дёргал траву (Войнович 7). [context translation] …The delegates were indignant; they stamped their feet and yelled out single words, such as "Shame!"; "Out!"; "Enough!"; "Cheek!" "Recant!" Muravyova called from her seat. The boss of the meat-processing combine, Botviniev, leapt to the front once again, yelling: "Rip the bad grass out of the field!" And he began jerking his arms, as though he was pulling up weeds (7a).

Т-222 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ⟨УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ⟩ ТРАГЕ́ДИЮ (из чего) [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] to view or present sth. as far more hopeless, problematic etc than it is in reality: X делает из Y-а трагедию ≃ X makes Y into a tragedy; X makes a tragedy (out) of Y; X acts as if Y were the end of the world.

Ну, получила ты одну двойку, не надо из этого делать трагедию. So you got one D, don't go making a tragedy out of it.

Т-223 • ЧТО И ТРЕ́БОВАЛОСЬ ДОКАЗА́ТЬ coll [indep. sent; this form only; fixed WO] used to show that some outcome was expected or predicted earlier by s.o. (when the speaker refers to his own expectation or prediction, the idiom is pronounced with satisfaction often colored by irony): what did I tell you!; I told you so!; that's just what I ⟨he etc⟩ said ⟨told you etc⟩ before!; just as I ⟨he etc⟩ predicted ⟨expected⟩; just as expected; I knew it all along.

[Кудимов:] Почему вы молчите? Ведь это вы были на похоронах… [Сарафанов:] Да, я должен признаться… Михаил прав. Я играю на похоронах. На похоронах и на танцах… [Кудимов:] Ну вот! Что и требовалось доказать (Вампилов 4). [K.:] Why don't you say something? I know it was you at the funeral…. [S.:] Yes, I must admit… Mikhail is right. I play at funerals. And at dances…. [K.:] There! What did I tell you? (4a).

< From the Latin quod erat demonstrandum, a formula phrase used to conclude the proof of a theorem or the like in mathematics (attributed to the Greek mathematician Euclid, 3rd cent. B.C.).

Т-224 • БИТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ⟩ ТРЕВО́ГУ [VP; subj: human or collect] to draw attention to impending danger, trouble etc, calling for measures to suppress or fight it: X забил тревогу ≃ X sounded ⟨raised⟩ the alarm.

Да, да, именно враги первыми разгадали его замысел и забили тревогу (Искандер 3). Ah, yes—it was the enemy who were the first to guess the meaning of his design and sound the alarm (3a).

Т-225 • ЧТО У ТРЕ́ЗВОГО НА УМЕ́, ТО У ПЬЯ́НОГО НА ЯЗЫКЕ́ [saying] when a person is drunk he talks freely, says what he would not say when sober: ≃ drunkenness reveals what soberness conceals; what soberness conceals, drunkenness reveals; the sober hide what drunks confide; the truth comes out when the spirits go in.

[author's usage] [Платонов:] Я пьян… пьян… Голова кружится… [Глагольев (в сторону):] Спрошу! Что у трезвого на душе, то у пьяного на языке (Чехов 1). [P.:] I'm drunk—drunk! My head's spinning… [G. (aside):] I'll ask him. What soberness conceals drunkenness reveals (1a). [P.:] I'm drunk, drunk. My head's spinning. [G. (aside):] I'll ask my question. The sober hide what drunks confide (1b).

Т-226 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ТРЕЗВО́Н(У) obs, coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] 1. ~ кому to scold, reprimand s.o. severely: X задал Y-у трезвону ≃ X gave it to Y good; X gave Y hell ⟨the business, a good tongue-lashing, a good talking-to⟩; X chewed Y out.

2. to behave in a loud, unruly, boisterous fashion, often when drinking: X задал трезвону ≃ X raised hell; X made a ruckus; X had a wild time.

Т-227 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДА́ТЬ⟩ ТРЁПКУ кому highly coll [VP] 1. Also: ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДА́ТЬ⟩ ВЗБУ́ЧКУ ⟨ВЫ́ВОЛОЧКУ⟩ coll [subj: human] to beat s.o. severely: X задал Y-у трёпку ≃ X gave Y a good beating ⟨thrashing⟩; X knocked ⟨beat⟩ the tar ⟨the crap, the shit etc⟩ out of Y; [lim.] X trashed ⟨knocked⟩ some sense into Y; X whipped ⟨flogged⟩ Y.

[Горецкий:] Глафира Алексеевна, хотите, весь этот забор изломаю?.. [Глафира:] Нет, зачем? [Горецкий:] Как бы я для вас прибил кого-нибудь, вот бы трёпку задал весёлую!.. Глафира Алексеевна, прикажите какую-нибудь подлость сделать! (Островский 5). [G.:] Glafira Alekseyevna, if you want me to, I'll break this fence down. [G.:] No. What for? [G.:] If I could thrash someone for your sake, I'd give him a good beating…. Glafira Alekseyevna, do command me to do some dirty trick (5a).

2. Also: ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДА́ТЬ⟩ ВЗБУ́ЧКУ ⟨ВЫ́ВОЛОЧКУ⟩; УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ ВЫ́ВОЛОЧКУ; УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДА́ТЬ⟩ НАГОНЯ́Й all coll [subj: human] to rebuke s.o. severely, reprimand s.o. harshly: X дал Y-у

взбучку ≃ X gave Y a (good) dressing-down ⟨tongue-lashing⟩; X gave Y hell; X bawled ⟨chewed⟩ Y out; X gave it to Y (but good); X (really) gave Y the business; X gave Y a sharp ⟨severe, harsh etc⟩ reprimand; X called ⟨hauled⟩ Y on(to) the carpet.

Оставалось и Русанову заснуть. Скоротать ночь, не думать — а уж утром дать взбучку врачам (Солженицын 10). All Rusanov, too, had to do was get to sleep, while away the night, think of nothing, and then tomorrow give the doctors a dressing-down (10a).

3. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to overwhelm and defeat a hostile army, the enemy: X-ы задали трёпку Y-ам ≃ Xs crushed ⟨routed, clobbered⟩ Ys; Xs ran ⟨drove⟩ Ys into the ground; Xs gave Ys a bashing.

…Фомин предложил Григорию занять должность начальника штаба. «Надо нам грамотного человека, чтобы ходить… по карте, а то когда-нибудь зажмут нас и опять дадут трёпки» (Шолохов 5). …Fomin offered Grigory the post of chief of staff. "We need someone who can read, so that we can go by the map, or one day they'll corner us and give us another bashing" (5a).

Т-228 • ПОЛУЧА́ТЬ/ПОЛУЧИ́ТЬ ТРЁПКУ highly coll; ПОЛУЧА́ТЬ/ПОЛУЧИ́ТЬ ВЗБУ́ЧКУ ⟨ВЫ́ВОЛОЧКУ, НАГОНЯЙ⟩ (от кого) coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to be severely beaten: X получил трёпку (от Y-а) ≃ X got a (good) beating ⟨thrashing, whipping, flogging⟩ (from Y); X got the tar ⟨the crap, the shit etc⟩ knocked ⟨beaten⟩ out of him (by Y).

2. to receive a severe rebuke, harsh reprimand: X получил взбучку (от Y-а) ≃ X got a (good) dressing-down ⟨tongue-lashing⟩ (from Y); X caught hell (from Y); X got bawled ⟨chewed⟩ out (by Y); X got it in spades (from Y); X got it but good; X (really) got the business.

Т-229 • С ТРЕ́СКОМ провалиться, проиграть, вылететь откуда; выгнать, выставить кого и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (to fail) utterly and completely: (to fail, flop, lose etc) spectacularly; (kick s.o. out, throw s.o. off the team, fire s.o. etc) with a lot of fuss; || X провалился с треском ≃ X was a complete ⟨great, spectacular⟩ flop; X failed shamefully; person X fell flat on his face; thing X fell flat (on its face); X bombed (out); person X suffered a complete failure.

Фильм, от которого так много ожидали, провалился с треском. The movie everyone hoped would be so good was a spectacular flop.

Т-230 • ТРЕ́ТИЙ ЛИ́ШНИЙ coll [NP; sing only; often used as indep. sent; fixed WO] a third person is not necessary, would cause uncomfortableness or inconvenience in a situation where two people are enough or are happy to be by themselves: (two's company,) three's a crowd; [lim.] fifth wheel; interloper.

Т-231 • ЛЮБО́ВНЫЙ ТРЕУГО́ЛЬНИК [NP; fixed WO] an emotional relationship that involves three people – usu. a couple (often married) and a lover (traditionally, a woman and two men or a man and two women): love triangle; eternal triangle.

Т-232 • СООБРАЖА́ТЬ/СООБРАЗИ́ТЬ ⟨СКИ́НУТЬСЯ⟩ НА ТРОИ́Х highly coll [VP; subj: human, pl; more often pfv; usu. this WO] to share the cost of a bottle of alcohol (usu. vodka) three ways and drink it: X-ы ⟨X, Y и Z⟩ сообразили на троих ≃ Xs ⟨X, Y, and Z⟩ (chipped in and) split a bottle (of vodka) three ways; Xs ⟨X, Y, and Z⟩ knocked off a bottle between the three of them.

В галичевской песне о том, как «сообразить на троих», рабочий, выпив, уснул (Орлова 1). In Galich's song about how to "split a bottle three ways," a worker, after drinking, falls asleep… (1a).

Т-233 • ИЕРИХО́НСКАЯ ТРУБА́ lit [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: голос)] a very loud, resounding voice: stentorian voice.

< From the name of the city of Jericho. According to the Biblical account (Josh. 6), its walls collapsed from the sound of the Israelites' trumpets.

Т-234 • НЕТОЛЧЁНАЯ ⟨НЕПРОТОЛЧЁНАЯ⟩ ТРУБА́ народу, гостей и т.п. obs [NP; these forms only; usu. subj or quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: народу, гостей etc)] there is a huge number (of people, often guests, in some place): a (whole) slew of people; a huge ⟨whole⟩ crowd of people; scads of people; [in refer. to many people in a relatively small space] (some place is) jammed ⟨packed etc⟩ with people.

Неподалёку от санатория мы встретили Людмилу Павловну. Она вернулась утром и я уже виделась с ней. Про сестру она ничего не узнала. «В прокуратуре народу — труба непротолчёная и никакого толку не добиться» (Чуковская 2). Not far from the rest-home we met Lyudmila Pavlovna. I had already seen her after she had returned that morning. She had not found out anything about her sister. "The Public Prosecutor's office was jammed with people and one could get no sense out of them" (2a).

Т-235 • ВЫЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЛЕТЕТЬ В ТРУБУ́ coll [VP; usu. pfv] 1. [subj: human or a noun denoting an enterprise] to become insolvent, financially ruined: X вылетел в трубу ≃ X went bankrupt ⟨broke, bust, belly-up⟩; [of a person only] X got wiped out.

Разве при свободе творчества назвал бы его хоть кто-нибудь писателем? А что бы он делал в своём комитете при той же свободе? Издавал бы Турганова? Или Козловского? Да весь его комитет вылетел бы в трубу (Войнович 3). With freedom of artistic expression, could he possibly be called any sort of writer? And what would he do on his committee with these same freedoms? Would he publish Turganov? Or Kozlovsky? Why, his whole committee would go broke (3a).

2. [subj: a noun denoting a sum of money, a fortune etc] to be wasted, spent in vain: X вылетел в трубу ≃ X was squandered ⟨burned, blown⟩; X went ⟨was poured⟩ down the drain; X was frittered ⟨thrown⟩ away.

3. [subj: abstr] to be lost in vain, to no purpose: X вылетел в трубу ≃ X went down the tubes ⟨the drain⟩; X went to the dogs; X went ⟨flew⟩ out the window; [usu. of time] X was wasted ⟨frittered away, squandered⟩.

А если меня никто не поддержит? Тогда меня прихлопнут, как муху. Всё моё геройство вылетит в трубу, и никакого толку… (Аксёнов 6). But suppose no one backed me up? In that case, I would be swatted like a fly. All my heroism would go down the tubes, and to no purpose… (6a).

Т-236 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ПУСТИТЬ⟩ В ТРУБУ́ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] 1. ~ кого to drive s.o. to bankruptcy, financial ruin: X пустил Y-а в трубу ≃ X wiped ⟨cleaned⟩ Y out.

2. ~ что [obj: a noun denoting a sum of money, a fortune etc] to waste, spend (money) foolishly, imprudently: X пустил Y в трубу ≃ X squandered ⟨burned, blew⟩ Y; X poured Y down the drain; X frittered ⟨threw⟩ Y away.

Т-237 • ХОТЬ В ТРУБУ́ ⟨В ТРУ́БЫ⟩ ТРУБИ́ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; usu. subord clause; these forms only; fixed WO] no matter how much noise you make (you will not wake s.o. up): (you couldn't wake s.o. up) with a shotgun ⟨a shotgun blast, dynamite⟩.

Т-238 • В ТРУ́БЫ ⟨ВО ВСЕ ТРУ́БЫ, В ТРУБУ́⟩ ТРУБИ́ТЬ (о ком-чём, про кого-что) coll [VP; subj: human] to tell everyone about s.o. or sth., spread some news or rumors: X во все трубы трубит (об Y-е) ≃ X spreads the news of ⟨about⟩ Y all over ⟨far and wide⟩; X spreads rumors ⟨gossip⟩ about Y all over ⟨far and wide⟩; X trumpets ⟨broadcasts⟩ the news about ⟨of⟩ Y.

Т-239 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ НА СЕБЯ́ ТРУД [VP; subj: human; foll. by infin; when the verb is negated, the gen. труда is usu. used; fixed WO] to undertake, pledge, volunteer to do sth.: X взял на себя труд (с)делать Y ≃ X took it upon ⟨on⟩ himself to do Y; X took upon himself the burden ⟨the labor, the work⟩ of doing Y; [lim.] X went to the trouble of doing Y; X made the effort to do Y; || X любезно взял на себя труд сделать Y ≃ X was kind ⟨good⟩ enough to do Y; || [when used as a polite request] вы не возьмёте на себя труд сделать Y? ≃ would you be so kind ⟨good⟩ as to do Y?

Но кто же брал на себя труд уведомить отца моего о моём поведении?.. Я терялся в догадках (Пушкин 2). But who then took it on himself to inform my father of my conduct?… I was at a loss (2a).

Т-240 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ СЕБЕ́ ТРУД [VP; subj: human; foll. by infin; usu. neg or condit; when the verb is negated, the gen. труда is used; fixed WO] to make the effort (to do sth.), considering it necessary, one's responsibility etc; to burden o.s. (with sth.): X не дал себе труда сделать Y ≃ X did not take the trouble ⟨did not trouble himself, did not take pains⟩ to do Y; X did not bother doing Y.

«Вот те вопросы, над которыми тебе предстоит задуматься, читатель, и над которыми ты несомненно задумаешься, если дашь себе труд вникнуть в смысл моих слов» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "Those are the questions, reader, which you ought to think about and which, we are sure, you will think about, if only you take the trouble to grasp my meaning" (2a).

Т-241 • МАРТЫ́ШКИН ТРУД coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] meaningless, futile work that yields no results: useless ⟨senseless, pointless⟩ work.

< From Ivan Krylov's fable "Monkey" («Обезьяна»), 1811.

Т-242 • СИЗИ́ФОВ ТРУД; СИЗИ́ФОВА РАБО́ТА both lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] ceaseless, hard, and futile labor: labor of Sisyphus; Sisyphean labor.

Где итог? Или всё это был сизифов труд? (Залыгин 1). Where was the result? Was it all a labour of Sisyphus? (1a).

< From the Greek legend of Sisyphus, king of Corinth, who was condemned to roll a heavy stone up a hill in Hades. Each time he neared the top, the stone escaped him and rolled back down to the bottom and he had to start all over again.

Т-243 • БЕЗ ТРУДА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) with ease, without having to exert o.s.: without difficulty; easily; with no trouble at all; without any ⟨a bit of⟩ trouble; not have any trouble ⟨problem⟩ (doing sth.); be easy (for s.o. to do sth.).

Матушка не нарадовалась: Лёва — работал, писал, без труда сдал экзамены в аспирантуру… (Битов 2). Mama could not find words for her joy: Lyova worked, wrote, easily passed his examinations for graduate school… (2a). ♦ Мне без труда удаётся располагать к себе людей (Довлатов 1). It has been easy for me to get people to like me (1a).

Т-244 • БЕЗ ТРУДА́ НЕ ВЫ́ТАЩИШЬ И РЫ́БКУ ИЗ ПРУДА́ [saying] you cannot achieve anything without strenuous effort and hard work: ≃ no pain(s), no gain(s); there are no gains without pains; no sweat, no sweet.

Т-245 • НЕ СТО́ИТ ТРУДА́ [VP; subj: abstr or infin; 3rd pers only; pres or past] sth. does not deserve the energy that was or will be expended on it: X не стоит труда ≃ X is not worth the trouble ⟨the effort⟩; it's not worth it ⟨the trouble, the effort⟩ to do X; [lim.] X is not worth the ⟨s.o.'s⟩ time.

«А на что он [художественный смысл] нужен, позвольте спросить?» — «Да хоть на то, чтоб уметь узнавать и изучать людей». Базаров усмехнулся. «Во-первых, на это существует жизненный опыт; а, во-вторых, доложу вам, изучать отдельные личности не стоит труда. Все люди друг на друга похожи как телом, так и душой…» (Тургенев 2). "What good is it [artistic feeling], may I ask?" "Well, if only to know how to study and understand people." Bazarov smiled. "In the first place, one's life experience serves that purpose; in the second, I can tell you it isn't worth the trouble to study separate individuals. All people resemble each other, in soul as well as body…" (2g).

Т-246 • НЕ ТРУДИ́ТЕСЬ! [indep. sent] used in a dialogue to tell the interlocutor that the speaker does not want him to do what the interlocutor offered to do or was about to do: don't bother (doing sth.); don't trouble yourself (doing sth.); you needn't bother (to do sth.); never mind (doing sth).

[Мечеткин (задушевным голосом):] Замечательная погода… Листал я сегодня одну книженцию. Так, вместо отдыха. И вот попалось мне там одно стихотворение. Лирическое, между прочим… Такое… (Мнётся, напрягает память.) Одну минуту… [Кашкина (безразлично):] Не трудитесь вспоминать. [Мечеткин:] Простите… (Вампилов 2). [M. (In an intimate voice):] Such wonderful weather… I was looking through a book today, you know, for relaxation. And I came across a poem. A lyric poem, by the way… It went like this… (He squirms, straining to remember). Just a minute… [K. (Indifferently):] Don't bother remembering. [M.:] Oh, excuse me… (2b).

Т-247 • ПОСЛЕ ТРУДО́В ПРА́ВЕДНЫХ coll, humor [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] after having worked well: after a job well done; [lim.] after an honest day's work.

А теперь, после трудов праведных, хорошо бы выпить. Now, after a job well done, I wouldn't mind having a drink.

Т-248 • С ТРУДО́М [PrepP; Invar; adv] having to exert effort and almost not succeeding: with difficulty; hardly ⟨barely, scarcely⟩ manage (to do sth.); have trouble (doing sth.); find it hard (to do sth.); have difficulty (in) (doing sth.); [lim.] one can ⟨could⟩ hardly ⟨barely, scarcely⟩ (do sth.).

На седьмой день выступили чуть свет, но так как ночью дорогу размыло, то люди шли с трудом… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). On the seventh day they got on the march at daybreak, but, since the road had been washed away in the night, the men had trouble walking… (1a).

Т-249 • ПЕРЕСТУПИ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕШАГНУ́ТЬ⟩ ЧЕРЕЗ ТРУП чей, кого [VP; subj: human] to ruin s.o.'s life, career etc in order to further one's own aims: X переступит через Y-ов труп ≃ X will destroy Y; X will crush Y underfoot.

Т-250 • (только) ЧЕРЕЗ МОЙ ТРУП! coll [indep. clause; Invar; occas. used in 2nd pers (in dialogues) and 3rd pers (in indirect speech); fixed WO] used to express a categorical protest against s.o.'s intention to do sth. or to act in a specific way: over my dead body!

«[Редактор] Автандил Автандилович хотел с тобой расстаться, но я ему сказал: только через мой труп» (Искандер 6). "Avtandil Avtandilovich [the editor] wanted to bid you farewell, but I told him it would be over my dead body" (6a).

Т-251 • ШАГА́ТЬ ⟨ХОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ПО ТРУ́ПАМ (чьим, кого) [VP; subj: human] to destroy others in order to achieve one's own aims: X шагал по трупам ≃ X made his way over corpses; X crushed others underfoot; X trampled others into the ground.

Прошло время, когда можно было душить в темноте, убивать безнаказанно, ходить по трупам среди всеобщего безмолвия (Эткинд 1). The time is past when it was possible to stifle people in the dark, to murder with impunity and to make your way over corpses amidst universal silence (1a).

Т-252 • ТРУ́СА ⟨ТРУ́СУ obs⟩ ПРА́ЗДНОВАТЬ; ИГРА́ТЬ/СЫГРА́ТЬ ТРУ́СА all coll [VP; subj: human] to experience (and sometimes show) fear, show cowardice, get nervous before undertaking sth. etc: X труса праздновал ≃ X got scared; X got the jitters; X got (all) weak in the knees; [in refer. to showing fear] X was a chicken ⟨a scaredy-cat⟩; [in refer. to fear before undertaking sth. only] X got cold feet.

Праздновать труса у всех на виду? Никогда! (Аксёнов 12). "Be cowards in public? Never!" (12a).

Т-253 • ТРЫН-ТРАВА́ кому, для кого coll [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. всё, всё это)] s.o. is not troubled or concerned (about sth. or anything at all): X-у всё трын-трава ≃ [in refer. to a given situation] it doesn't affect ⟨ruffle⟩ X at all ⟨a bit⟩; it has no effect on X; X doesn't care ⟨couldn't care less, could care less⟩ about it; X doesn't care a straw ⟨a rap etc⟩ for it; it doesn't mean a thing to X; X doesn't take it seriously; [in refer. to s.o.'s general attitude toward things] nothing affects ⟨ruffles⟩ X; X couldn't care less about anything; X doesn't care a fig ⟨a rap⟩ for anything; X doesn't take anything ⟨takes nothing⟩ seriously.

«Для Нади всё трын-трава!» — говорила с лёгким осуждением мама. Беспечность тёти Нади вошла в нашей семье в поговорку (Паустовский 1). "Nadya doesn't care a fig for anything!" Mama used to say with a slight reproach in her voice. Aunt Nadya's happy-go-lucky good spirits were proverbial in our family (1b).

Т-254 • МОЛЧА́ТЬ ⟨ПОМА́ЛКИВАТЬ⟩/ПОМОЛЧА́ТЬ В ТРЯ́ПОЧКУ coll [VP; subj: human; more often impfv; often imper; fixed WO] to keep quiet, not express one's opinions, views, ideas aloud: X молчит в тряпочку ≃ X keeps his mouth ⟨his trap, his yap⟩ shut; X keeps mum.

Обыкновенные люди к этому времени уже научились молчать в тряпочку, и шумели только старухи в очередях (Мандельштам 2). By that time ordinary people had learned to keep their mouths shut, and the only ones who still made any fuss were old women standing in queues (2a).

Т-255 • (ЕЩЁ) ТУДА́-СЮДА́ coll [AdvP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: any noun) or impers predic] a person (a thing etc) is not bad, is tolerable: X ещё туда-сюда ≃ X is (more or less) all right; X isn't (so ⟨all that⟩) bad; [lim.] X is so-so; X is passable; X will do; thing X is in reasonable shape.

[Виктория:] Смотреть на него [футбол] — ещё туда-сюда, а так [слушать репортаж по радио] — не понимаю (Вампилов 1). [V.:] It's not so bad if you can watch it [soccer], but listening like this… I don't understand (1a).

Т-256 • (И) ТУДА́ И СЮДА́; ТУДА́-СЮДА́; ТУДА́, СЮДА́ all coll [AdvP; these forms only] 1. Also: ТУДА́ ДА СЮДА́ coll; ТУДЫ́-СЮДЫ́ substand, regional [adv] in one direction and then in the other or another: back and forth; up and down (some place); to and fro; this way and that; [lim.] (dash ⟨run etc⟩) around ⟨about⟩.

Мансуров-Курильский походил по комнате туда-сюда… (Залыгин 1). …Mansurov-Kurilsky started pacing up and down the room… (1a). ♦ Трещали дрова, таял снег, и чёрные тени солдат туда и сюда сновали по всему занятому, притоптанному в снегу, пространству (Толстой 7). The wood crackled, the snow began to melt, and shadowy figures of soldiers moved to and fro over the occupied space where the snow had been trodden down (7a).

2. Also: ТУДЫ́-СЮДЫ́ substand, regional [predic (subj: human) or adv] (one looks, searches for s.o. or sth.) in several or many different places: X туда-сюда ≃ [in past contexts] X looked here and there; [lim.] X searched for s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ everywhere.

«Из крепости убёг зарестованный [ungrammat = убежал арестованный] злодей. Туды-сюды искать — нету» (Шолохов 2). "A great villain had escaped from the fortress. The authorities were searching for him everywhere but couldn't find him" (2a).

3. [predic; subj: human] (one attempts to achieve, attain etc sth.) using several or many different approaches: X и туда и сюда ≃ X (has) tried ⟨acted etc⟩ this way and that ⟨one way and then another⟩; X tried ⟨did⟩ this and that; X tried several different tacks.

Он наотрез отказался ехать с нами. Я туда, сюда — не смогла уговорить его. He refused outright to go with us. I tried this and that, but I couldn't convince him to change his mind.

Т-257 • И ТЫ ⟨вы, он и т.п.⟩ ТУДА́ ЖЕ! coll [indep. remark; these forms only; fixed WO] an exclamation directed toward or used in refer. to s.o. who is saying, doing, or trying to do as others do, but who, in the speaker's opinion, cannot, has no right to, or is not in a position to do so: и X туда же! ≃ not X, too ⟨as well⟩!; X is no better than the others; so X wants sth. ⟨to do sth.⟩ too!; so X is at it, too!; [lim.] and X too, if you please!

[Шпигельский (украдкою поглядывая на Ракитина):] А, видно, не одни нервы страдают, и жёлчь тоже немножко расходилась… [Наталья Петровна:] Ну, и вы туда же! Наблюдайте сколько хотите, доктор, да только не вслух (Тургенев 1). [Sh. (stealing a look at Rakitin):] Oh, I see, not just nerves, a little bile, too. [N.:] Not you, as well! Be as observant as you like, but not out loud (1c).

Т-258 • НИ ТУДА́ (И) НИ СЮДА́ coll; НИ ТУДЫ́ (И) НИ СЮДЫ́ substand [AdvP; these forms only; adv or predic; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human, animal, or concr] some person (animal, or object) cannot move, will not move, cannot be moved etc in any direction from where he (or it) is (standing, sitting, presently located etc): X ни туда и ни сюда ≃ X won't ⟨can't⟩ move ⟨go⟩ one way or the other; s.o. can't ⟨can't manage to⟩ move X one way or the other; X won't budge; X is stuck.

Ключ почему-то застрял в скважине и не поворачивался ни туда, ни сюда (Гинзбург 2). The key somehow stuck in the lock and I couldn't manage to move it one way or the other (2a).

2. [subj: human or concr] some person (project etc) is not progressing toward the desired goal, some matter (undertaking etc) is not developing: X ни туда и ни сюда ≃ X is going nowhere (fast); person X isn't getting anywhere; person X is making no headway; X is at a standstill.

Т-259 • ТО ТУДА́, ТО СЮДА́ [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] first in one direction, then in another (either back and forth or in random directions): this way and that; (up and down some place,) now this way, now that; to and fro.

К Елизавете Павловне присоединилась в первом ряду Чернышевская; и по тому, как мать изредка поворачивала то туда, то сюда голову, поправляя сзади причёску, Фёдор, витавший по залу, заключил, что ей малоинтересно общество соседки (Набоков 1). Elizaveta Pavlovna was joined in the first row by Mme. Chernyshevski; and from the fact that his mother occasionally turned her head this way and that while adjusting her hairdo from behind, Fyodor, hovering about the hall, concluded that she was little interested in the society of her neighbor (1a).

Т-260 • ТУДА́ И ОБРА́ТНО ⟨НАЗА́Д⟩ [AdvP; these forms only; adv or postmodif; fixed WO] 1. съездить, сходить, поездка ~ и т.п. (to go, a trip etc) to some place and back again: there and back; || поездка ~ ≃ round trip; || билет ~ ≃ round-trip ticket.

…Там был вопрос, с какой целью еду я в Соединённые Штаты. А я подумал и написал: «Джаст фор фан». То есть, говоря по нашему, просто для удовольствия… И американские власти этим ответом были, видимо, удовлетворены, потому что через пятнадцать минут мне была выдана виза на четыре года, в течение которых я могу ездить хоть каждый день туда и обратно, если, конечно, хватит денег (Войнович 1). There was a question about my purpose in visiting the United States. I thought for a minute and then I wrote: "Just for fun!" The U.S. authorities apparently found that answer satisfactory, because fifteen minutes later I was granted a visa good for four years, during which time I could go to the United States and back every day of the week—if I had the money, of course (1a).

2. ходить, прогуливаться и т.п. ~ (to walk, pace etc) in one direction and then the other in some place or at some location: back and forth; over and back.

Т-261 • В ТУ́ЛУ СО СВОЙМ САМОВА́РОМ НЕ Е́ЗДЯТ [saying] there is no need to bring sth. to a place that already has an abundance of it: ≃ why ⟨don't⟩ carry water to the river. Cf. it's useless to carry ⟨it would be like carrying⟩ coals to Newcastle.

Т-262 • ТУМА́Н В ГЛАЗА́Х у кого [NP; sing only; VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. cannot see clearly, distinctly (because he is exhausted, agitated, not feeling well etc): у X-а туман в глазах ≃ everything looks fuzzy to X.

Т-263 • ТУМА́Н В ГОЛОВЕ́ у кого [NP; sing only; subj or VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] 1. s.o. has a heavy feeling in his head, is not as alert as usual (from fatigue, illness, drunkenness etc): у X-а туман в голове ≃ X's head is in a fog; X's brain is ⟨feels⟩ all fuzzy; || туман в голове X-а стал рассеиваться ≃ the fog in X's head began to lift ⟨clear, dissipate⟩.

Туман в голове быстро рассеивался, наступало знакомое состояние пронзительной ясности и чёткости восприятий… (Стругацкие 4). The fog in Rumata's head lifted quickly, the usual penetrating lucidity and reliability of all his senses returned (4a).

2. s.o. is confused, is having difficulty understanding sth. etc: у X-а туман в голове ≃ X ⟨X's head⟩ is in a fog; X's brain is clouded ⟨fuzzy, confused⟩.

Т-264 • (КАК) В ТУМА́НЕ [(как +) PrepP; these forms only] 1. видеть, помнить кого-что и т.п. ~ [adv] (to see, remember etc s.o. or sth.) only vaguely, unclearly: (see s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) as if through a fog ⟨a mist⟩; (have) a cloudy ⟨foggy, hazy⟩ recollection (of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

2. жить, ходить, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. ~ [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human, occas. abstr, esp. всё] (of a person) (to live, walk around, be etc) in a state of mental confusion; (of some course of events, everything etc) (to be etc) perceived or remembered by s.o. in an unclear manner: X был как в тумане ≃ X was ⟨lived etc⟩ in a fog; X walked around as if in a fog; [in refer. to a temporary state only] X was befuddled; || всё было как в тумане ≃ everything happened as if in a fog.

Наташа, по замечанию матери и Сони, казалась по-старому влюблённою в Бориса. Она пела ему его любимые песни… не позволяла поминать ему о старом, давая понимать, как прекрасно было новое; и каждый день он уезжал в тумане, не сказав того, что намерен был сказать, сам не зная, что он делал, и для чего он приезжал, и чем это кончится (Толстой 5). It seemed to her mother and to Sonya that Natasha was in love with Boris as she had been before. She sang his favorite songs to him… and would not allow him to allude to the past, making him feel how delightful the present was; every day he went away in a fog, without having said what he meant to say, not knowing what he was doing, why he continued to go there, or how it would end (5a).

Т-265 • НАПУСКА́ТЬ/НАПУСТИ́ТЬ ТУМА́НУ ⟨ТУМА́Н(А)⟩ (В ГЛАЗА́ кому obs); НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́ ТУМА́НУ ⟨ТУМА́Н(А)⟩ all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; more often pfv past, infin with a finite form of уметь or любить, or impfv neg imper] to present some matter or issue in an unclear, muddled fashion (usu. in order to hide the actual facts, the true state of affairs): X напустил туману ≃ X clouded ⟨obscured, fogged⟩ the issue; X confused matters ⟨the issue⟩; [lim.] X put up ⟨laid down⟩ a smoke screen ⟨a smokescreen⟩.

Дамы умели напустить такого тумана в глаза всем, что все, а особенно чиновники, несколько времени оставались ошеломлёнными (Гоголь 3). The ladies succeeded in confusing matters so thoroughly that the population in general and the government employees in particular were momentarily speechless (3e). ♦ «…Опросите тысячу изобретателей… и я уверен, 95 процентов из них скажут, что тов. Шутиков им не помогал, а лишь топил изобретения. Большой мастер напускать тумана, он обманул и вас, тов. редактор!» (Дудинцев 1). "…Ask a thousand inventors… and I am certain that 95 per cent of them would say that Comrade Shutikov had not helped them, but only smothered their inventions. A past master of the smoke screen, he has deceived you, too, comrade editor" (1a).

Т-266 • ЗАВОДИ́ТЬ/ЗАВЕСТИ́ В ТУПИ́К кого [VP; subj: human or abstr; more often pfv] to lead s.o. into a difficult, hopeless situation from which there is no escape: X завёл Y-а в тупик ≃ X led Y into a dead end ⟨a cul-de-sac⟩; X led Y up ⟨down, into⟩ a blind alley.

…По характеру вопросов, задаваемых наседкой, очень легко определить, куда следствие клонит и что знает. А дезинформируя их через наседку, можно завести следствие в… тупик… (Буковский 1). …It was easy to determine in which direction the investigation was headed, and what they knew, from the nature of the questions the snooper asked. And by misinforming them through him, it was possible to lead them into… a blind alley… (1a).

Т-267 • ЗАХОДИ́ТЬ/ЗАЙТИ́ В ТУПИ́К [VP; subj: human, collect, or abstr (дело, дела, спор etc); more often pfv past] (of a person, a group, a matter, an argument etc) to reach or end up at a point from which further progress cannot be made, the goal in question cannot be attained, the problem in question cannot be solved etc (usu. in cases when all possible means of reaching the desired goal have been exhausted): X зашёл в тупик ≃ X reached an impasse ⟨a dead end, a deadlock⟩; X ran into a blind alley ⟨a dead end⟩; thing X was deadlocked; person X came up against a brick wall ⟨a dead end⟩; || переговоры зашли в тупик ≃ the negotiations ⟨the talks⟩ collapsed.

Дела мои зашли в тупик. Долги, семейный разлад, отсутствие перспектив… (Довлатов 1). My life had reached an impasse. Debts, family strife, a lack of perspective… (1a).

Т-268 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ В ТУПИ́К кого [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. this WO] (of a person, what a person says, an incomprehensible phenomenon etc) to put s.o. in a difficult position in which he does not know what to do, what to say, how to react etc: X поставил Y-а в тупик ≃ X baffled ⟨nonplussed, stumped⟩ Y; X put Y in a bad ⟨difficult etc⟩ position; Y was at a loss (for what to say ⟨to do etc⟩); Y didn't know what to say ⟨to do etc⟩; thing X brought Y to ⟨landed Y in⟩ an impasse.

Администрация их [монахинь-заключённых] ненавидит. Твёрдость духа истязаемых ими женщин их самих ставит в тупик (Ивинская 1). The camp authorities hated them [the imprisoned nuns] and were quite baffled by the firmness of spirit shown by these women they were so cruelly mistreating (1a).

Т-269 • СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТА́ТЬ В ТУПИ́К [VP; subj: human or collect] to end up in a position in which one does not know what to do, what to say, how to react etc, become confused: X стал в тупик ≃ X was baffled ⟨stumped, nonplussed⟩; X was in a bad ⟨difficult⟩ position; X was at a loss (for what to say ⟨do etc⟩); X didn't know what to say ⟨do etc⟩; X reached ⟨came to, arrived at, was at⟩ an impasse; [lim.] X didn't know what to make of it.

«Я хочу квартиру хорошую»… — «Гм…» — похоже она [председатель ревизионной комиссии кооператива] растерялась. Она рассчитывала, что я буду доказывать, что хочу получить именно плохую квартиру… тогда она могла бы мне возражать. А тут стала в тупик (Войнович 3). "I want a good apartment."… "Hmm…" It looked as if she'd [the director of the cooperative's Review Committee had] lost her way. She had counted on my arguing that I wanted to get a really bad apartment…; then she could have objected. But now she was stumped (3a). ♦ Выслушав такой уклончивый ответ, помощник градоначальника стал в тупик (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). When he heard this evasive answer, the assistant town governor was at a loss (1a).

Т-270 • ТУРУ́СЫ НА КОЛЁСАХ (разводить, подпускать, нести, строить и т.п.) coll [NP; pl only; fixed WO] foolish, senseless talk, absurdities: (tell) tall tales ⟨cock-and-bull stories⟩; that's baloney ⟨(a bunch of) twaddle, (a lot of) nonsense etc⟩; (come out with ⟨blather about, babble about⟩) all kinds of nonsense ⟨absurd plans, nonsensical schemes etc⟩.

[author's usage] «Бубенцов большую силу взял, таких турусов наворотил, такого шуму на всю Россию поднял, прямо не знаю, отобьюсь ли…» (Акунин 6). "Bubentsov has become very strong; he has concocted such a pack of cock-and-bull stories and raised such a clamor throughout the whole of Russia, that I simply don't know if I'll be able to hold him off" (6a).

< The prevailing point of view connects this idiom with «турусы» (or «тарасы»)—the old Russian word for turrets that were moved on wheels and employed when besieging a fortified place. Stories about them were considered unbelievable and grossly exaggerated.

Т-271 • ТО ТУ́Т, ТО ТА́М; ТО ТА́М, ТО ТУ́Т ⟨СЯ́М⟩ all coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (some action occurs or similar actions occur, some objects are located etc) in different places, usu. in an alternating fashion (may refer to the way s.o. perceives some objects, people etc as he moves along, as his gaze moves over some area etc): now here, now there; now here and now there; first here, then there; first in one place and then in another ⟨the other⟩; here and there.

Столы были сдвинуты со своих, геометрией подсказанных, правильных мест и стояли то там, то сям, вкривь и вкось… (Битов 2). The tables had been moved from their geometrically suggested correct places to stand here and there, every which way (2a).

Т-272 • ТУ́Т ЖЕ [AdvP; Invar; adv] 1. in the very place or very close to the place where one is or that is being referred to: right here ⟨there⟩.

«…Добрый день, — сказал человек в халате, — мне хотелось бы поговорить…» Тут он положил локти на перила, ладонями подпёр щёки и стал похож на смешную обезьяну в колпаке… Арманда и Барон с изумлением поняли, что он желает разговаривать тут же, на лестнице… (Булгаков 5). "…Good afternoon," said the man in the robe. "We must have a talk…." He rested his elbows on the railing, propped his cheeks with hands, and began to look like a funny monkey in a nightcap. Armande and Baron realized with astonishment that he intended to talk with them right there, on the stairs… (5a).

2. at this or that very moment: right now ⟨then⟩; (right) there and then ⟨then and there⟩; instantly; on the spot; right away; straight off; immediately; at once.

Он тут же уснул, а Хикур плакала, плакала, уткнувшись головой в подушку… (Искандер 4). He fell asleep then and there, and Khikur wept, wept with her face buried in the pillow… (4a). ♦ [Бабушка:] В нашей молодости мы не знали такого сервиса. Теряешь документы, и тут же их тебе возвращают (Панова 1). [Grandmother:] In our days there was no such service. Now you lose your travel papers, and right away they hand them back to you (1a).

Т-273 • ТУ́Т КАК ТУ́Т coll [AdvP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, collect, or animal), usu. pres] one appears suddenly and at the precise moment when (he is expected, sth. desirable becomes available, people are talking about him, sth. concerning him happens etc): X тут как тут ≃ X is there in a flash ⟨like a shot⟩; X is right there ⟨right in front of you, right next to you, beside you etc⟩; X is right at ⟨by⟩ your side; there X is.

У этого Учреждения создалась такая репутация, что оно всё видит, всё слышит, всё знает, и если чего не так, оно уже тут как тут (Войнович 2). This Institution acquired the reputation of seeing everything, hearing everything, knowing everything, and, if something was out of line, the Institution would be there in a flash (2a).

Т-274 • ТУ́ЧА ТУ́ЧЕЙ[1] ходить, прийти и т.п.; МРА́ЧНЫЙ КАК ТУ́ЧА; МРАЧНЕ́Е ⟨ЧЕРНЕ́Е⟩ ТУ́ЧИ all coll [NP, Invar, fixed WO (1st var.) or AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or modif] morose, sullen, in a bad mood: (look) gloomy ⟨grim⟩; (walk around) as black as thunder; (look) (as) black as thunder; (look) as black ⟨dark⟩ as a thundercloud; (look) blacker than thunder; (look) blacker ⟨darker⟩ than a thundercloud; (look ⟨be⟩) darker than a storm cloud.

«Разумеется, я осёл, — проговорил он, мрачный как туча, — но ведь… и ты тоже» (Достоевский 3). "I know I'm a dope," he said, looking black as thunder, "but then… you're one too." (3a). ♦ …Вошёл курьер и сообщил, что приехал иностранный артист. Финдиректора почему-то передёрнуло, и, став уж совсем мрачнее тучи, он отправился за кулисы, чтобы принимать гастролёра, так как более принимать было некому (Булгаков 9). …The messenger boy came in and announced that the foreign artiste had arrived. For some reason this made the financial director wince with pain. Turning darker than a storm cloud, he headed backstage to receive the guest artiste, there being no one left but him to do so (9c).

Т-275 • ТУ́ЧА ТУ́ЧЕЙ[2] кого-чего [quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: human or animal)] (in some place there is) a very large or excessive quantity (of animals, insects, or less often, people): (there's) a multitude ⟨a swarm, a throng, a horde⟩ of [NPs]; (there are) droves of [NPs]; (some place is) swarming ⟨teeming⟩ with [NPs].

Т-276 • ТУ́ЧИ СГУЩА́ЮТСЯ/СГУСТИ́ЛИСЬ ⟨СОБИРА́ЮТСЯ/СОБРА́ЛИ́СЬ⟩ над кем-чем or НАД ГОЛОВО́Й чьей, кого; ТУ́ЧА НАВИ́СЛА ⟨ТУ́ЧИ НАВИ́СЛИ⟩ [VP_{subj}] danger is threatening s.o., trouble is coming: над Х-ом ⟨над Х-овой головой⟩ сгущаются тучи ≃ storm clouds are gathering overhead ⟨over X⟩; there is a dark cloud on the ⟨X's⟩ horizon; trouble is brewing for X; trouble is in the air.

Предчувствия ожидаемых гонений и бед в это прекрасное воскресное летнее утро в тихом будничном подмосковье представились мне чрезмерностью воображения… По словам Б.Л. [Пастернака], над ним нависла грозовая туча (Гладков 1). On that beautiful summer morning in the peaceful, familiar countryside near Moscow his [Pasternak's] forebodings of troubles and persecutions to come seemed to me the product of excessive imagination…. He told me that the storm clouds were gathering over him (1a).

Т-277 • ВИ́ШЬ ТЫ substand [Particle (parenth); occas. used as Interj; Invar] used to express surprise, displeasure etc: look at that (, will you)!; get a load of this!; [when expressing displeasure] some [NP]!

«Вишь ты, — сказал один [мужик] другому, — вон какое колесо!» (Гоголь 3). "Look at that, will you!" said one muzhik to the other. "What a wheel!" (3b). ♦ Дмитрий Алексеевич сразу же развернул и положил на стол большой лист. «Вишь ты, изобретатель! — министр ухмыльнулся. — Уже и светокопию успел сделать!» (Дудинцев 1). Dmitri unfolded a large drawing and laid it on the table. "Some inventor!" the Minister said, laughing. "He's even had a photocopy made!" (1a).

Т-278 • И́ШЬ ТЫ coll [Particle; usu. used as Interj; Invar] 1. used to express surprise, amazement: would you believe it!; how do you ⟨d'you⟩ like that!; look at that!; (just) look at him ⟨it etc⟩!; how about that!; isn't that something!; well, I'll be!; what do you know!

«А я, правду сказать… думал, всё, концы. А она [старуха]: кашу, говорит, хочу, варите, говорит, мне кашу. Проголодалась, значит. Ишь ты!» (Распутин 3). "To tell the truth I… thought it was all over. And up she [the old lady] pipes: Make us a bit of kasha. She's hungry. Would you believe it!" (3a). ♦ Она смешалась и покраснела. «Ишь ты, ещё краснеет», — про себя удивился Алтынник (Войнович 5). Embarrassed, she blushed. How about that, she still blushes, Altinnik marveled to himself (5a).

2. used to express disagreement, opposition, refusal, or dissatisfaction: I like that!; how do you like that!; oh come on!

[Булычов:] Надобно тебя ругать, а не хочется. [Шура:] Не хочется, значит — не надо. [Булычов:] Ишь ты! Не хочется — не надо. Эдак-то жить легко бы, да нельзя! (Горький 2). [B.:] I ought to be scolding you but I don't feel like it. [Sh.:] If you don't feel like it then you needn't. [B.:] I like that! If you don't want to you needn't! Life would be easy that way, but it can't be done! (2a).

Т-279 • НА ТЫ́ с кем быть$_{o}$, переходить, называть кого, обращаться к кому; ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ТЫ́ кому [PrepP, Invar, subj-compl with copula or adv (1st var.); VP (2nd var.); subj: human] (to address s.o., speak to or with s.o. etc) using the «ты» (informal "you") form of address: Х с Y-ом на ты ≃ X is on familiar terms with Y; X addresses Y in the familiar way ⟨fashion, manner⟩; X uses the familiar form of address with Y; [lim.] X is on a first-name basis with Y; X calls Y by Y's first name. ○ ОБРАЩЕ́НИЕ НА ТЫ [NP; sing only] ≃ the familiar way one addresses s.o. ⟨one is addressed⟩; the familiar form (of address).

Едва поселившись в Павлинове, она уже знала всех соседей, начальника милиции, сторожей на лодочной станции, была на «ты» с молодой директоршей санатория… (Трифонов 4). She'd hardly settled in Pavlinovo when she already knew all the neighbors, the police chief, the watchmen at the wharf, and was on familiar terms with the young directress of the sanatorium… (4a). ♦ …В кухне он называл меня на «вы» и мне это понравилось, а теперь вдруг на «ты» (Каверин 1). …In the kitchen, he had spoken to me in the formal way in which grown-ups are addressed and I had liked it, but now he had suddenly changed to the familiar form (1a).

Т-280 • ТЫ́СЯЧА ИЗВИНЕ́НИЙ! [indep. sent; used as a remark in a dialogue or, occas., as sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] I apologize profusely: a thousand apologies ⟨pardons⟩!; please accept my most humble apology!; I beg your most humble pardon!

Гвоздиков так распереживался от своей оплошности, что даже привстал на стуле. «Боже мой, ради всего… Тысяча извинений… Недослышал по телефону (Акунин 4). Gvozdikov's torment at his own blunder was so great that he even sat at attention in his chair. "My God, in the name of… A thousand apologies… I misheard you on the telephone" (4a).

Т-281 • КРОМЕ́ШНАЯ ТЬМА; КРОМЕ́ШНЫЙ МРАК [NP; sing only] total darkness: absolute ⟨impenetrable⟩ darkness; pitch-darkness; || там ⟨внутри, снаружи и т.п.⟩ была кромешная тьма ≃ it was pitch-dark ⟨black as pitch⟩ there ⟨inside, outside etc⟩.

На ночь сотню загнали в землянку. Там была кромешная тьма… (Кузнецов 1). For the night the hundred men were herded into the dugout. It was pitch-dark inside… (1b).

Т-282 • ТЬМА́ ЕГИ́ПЕТСКАЯ obs, lit [NP; sing only] impenetrable darkness: pitch-darkness; pitch-blackness.

< From the Biblical account of one of the Egyptian plagues—a supernatural darkness sent by God to punish Egypt (Ex. 10:22).

Т-283 • ТЬМА-ТЬМУ́ЩАЯ[1] coll [NP; sing only] total darkness: impenetrable darkness; pitch-darkness.

Т-284 • ТЬМА-ТЬМУ́ЩАЯ[2] кого-чего coll [usu. subj or quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun)] very many, a countless number: vast numbers; countless multitudes; millions and millions; [of people and animals only] hordes and hordes; swarms and swarms.

…Он получил неслыханный урожай огурцов. Сколько ни шарили в кустах колхозники, проходившие мимо его бахчи, огурцов оставалась тьма-тьмущая (Искандер 3). …He had an unparalleled crop. No matter how often the cucumber patch was rifled by passing kolkhoz workers, countless multitudes of cucumbers remained (3a).

Т-285 • ТЬФУ НА кого-что! highly coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express strong disapproval, disgust with s.o., s.o.'s words or actions, sth. mentioned earlier etc: тьфу на тебя ⟨на X-а, на X⟩ ≃ to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨X, that⟩!; (God) damn you ⟨X⟩!; phooey on you ⟨X, that⟩!; [esp. when used facetiously or in older texts] fie on you ⟨X, that⟩!; [when accompanied by spitting or mock spitting] I spit on you ⟨X⟩.

Иван что-то хотел ответить, но при упоминании о самогоне новые спазмы схватили желудок, и он едва успел расставить ноги пошире, чтобы не забрызгать ботинки. «О Господи! — с беспросветной тоской высказалась вдруг Афродита. — Ещё одного дерьмом напоил, ирод проклятый, погибели на тебя нету. Тьфу на тебя!» — Она смачно плюнула в сторону мужа (Войнович 2). Ivan was about to answer, but at the mere mention of the home brew new spasms had seized his stomach and he had barely enough time to spread his legs apart so as not to splatter his boots. "Oh, Lord!" said Aphrodite suddenly, in hopeless anguish. "You've gone and given another one shit to drink, you goddamned tyrant, there's no getting rid of you. I spit on you!" she said and spat juicily in her husband's direction (2a).

Т-286 • ТЮРЬМА́ ⟨ОСТРО́Г obs⟩ ПЛА́ЧЕТ по ком, по кому, о ком coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pres] s.o. deserves a prison sentence or some other severe form of punishment: по X-у тюрьма плачет ≃ X should be locked up ⟨put in jail⟩; X should be (put) behind bars; X should be sent up (the river).

«Ты же верный кандидат в тюрягу. Она же по тебе горькими слезами плачет! Ты хоть контролируй свои поступки». — «Стараюсь». — «Ни хрена ты не стараешься!» (Владимов 2). [context transl] "You're a prime candidate for jail—the prison people must be missing you badly! So just watch your step." "I'll try." "Like hell you'll try!" (2a).

Т-287 • ТЮ́ТЕЛЬКА В ТЮ́ТЕЛЬКУ coll [Invar; adv or Particle; fixed WO] precisely (the same as something else, what was expected, conforming to the standard etc): exactly; to a T; to a hair; to the letter; [in refer. to time] to the minute; on the button; on the nose; on the dot.

«…Их как раз двенадцать, Залогиных-то! Вот тебе и двенадцать кулацких душ! Тютелька в тютельку!» (Евтушенко 2). "…There are exactly twelve Zalogins! There's your twelve kulak souls! Exactly!" (2a). ♦ Всё вышло так, как думал Михаил. Правда, через милицию Першин его не разыскивал, во всяком случае при нём не заводил речь об этом, а всё остальное — точь-в-точь, тютелька в тютельку (Абрамов 1). It turned out just as Mikhail thought. Granted, Pershin had not gotten the police after him—or at least he made no mention of having done so—but as for the rest: to a T, to a hair (1a).

Т-288 • В ТЯ́ГОСТЬ кому [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula] 1. [subj: human] one is or becomes an encumbrance to s.o., s.o.'s burdensome responsibility: X стал Y-у в тягость ≃ X became ⟨was⟩ a burden to Y.

«Спасибо за хлеб-соль, за приют. Спасибо за всё. Я сам вижу, что в тягость тебе, но куда же мне деваться? Все ходы у меня закрыты» (Шолохов 5). "Thanks for your hospitality, for sheltering me. Thanks for everything. I can see I'm a burden to you, but where am I to go? All roads are closed to me" (5a).

2. [subj: abstr] sth. is or becomes unpleasant, burdensome for s.o.: X стал Y-у в тягость ≃ X became ⟨was⟩ a burden to Y; X became ⟨was⟩ too much (for Y) to bear; X became annoying ⟨irksome, (too) trying, an embarrassment etc⟩ for Y; || Neg X Y-у не в тягость ≃ Y doesn't find X a burden ⟨a bother, annoying, irksome, (too) trying etc⟩; X is no bother ⟨burden⟩ to Y.

И опять наступила тишина… Теперь молчали с полчаса, не меньше. Видно было, что Бердичевскому безмолвие отнюдь не в тягость (Акунин 2). Silence descended again. This time they said nothing for about half an hour at least. It was clear that Berdichevsky did not find the silence irksome (2a).

Т-289 • ПУСКА́ТЬСЯ/ПУСТИ́ТЬСЯ ВО ВСЕ ТЯ́ЖКИЕ ⟨ВО ВСЯ ТЯ́ЖКАЯ obs⟩ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] 1. to begin to behave in a morally reprehensible manner (usu. by starting to drink excessively, womanize etc): X пустился во все тяжкие ≃ X has plunged into dissipation ⟨into a life of moral abandon⟩; X has become a wastrel ⟨a profligate, a rake etc⟩; X has adopted ⟨taken to⟩ a disgraceful ⟨shameful etc⟩ lifestyle; X has abandoned himself to drinking ⟨debauchery etc⟩.

2. to resort to any means (occas. unlawful) in order to achieve one's aims: X пустился во все тяжкие ≃ X went to all lengths; X pulled out all the stops; X went all out; X did whatever it took.

Т-290 • ТЯ́П ДА ЛЯ́П; ТЯ́П-ЛЯ́П both coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [adv] (to do sth.) hastily and carelessly: slapdash; sloppily; in a slipshod way; (do) a slipshod job; any old way; bing, bang, boom.

Граник сказал, он напишет объявление дома — там у него бумага, краски, кисти, и, вообще, он привык работать дома, — но мадам Малая категорически заявила: нет, пусть лучше будет на плохой бумаге и чернилами, а не красками, но объявление нужно повесить уже сейчас… В этот раз Граник согласился, что Клава Ивановна правильно смотрит на дело, но тут же выдвинул новую причину — насчёт своей профессиональной чести, которая не позволяет ему написать такое важное объявление как-нибудь, тяп-ляп (Львов 1). Granik said that he would make the announcement at home; he had his paper, paints, and brushes there and was used to working at home. But Madame Malaya declared, "No, better you use poor paper and ink instead of paints. The announcement has to be posted at once…" Now Granik agreed with Klava Ivanovna's view of the matter but immediately posed another objection—his professional honor did not allow him to do a slipshod job on such an important announcement (1a).

2. [Interj; often used as predic (impers or with subj: всё)] used as an appraisal of how s.o. does sth. quickly but carelessly and crudely: (slam) bang—and it's done; [esp. in refer. to cleaning or housework] a lick and a promise.

«Вы хотели ведь написать к домовому хозяину?.. Вот бы теперь и написали». — «Теперь, теперь! Ещё у меня поважнее есть дело. Ты думаешь, что это дрова рубить? Тяп да ляп?» (Гончаров 1). "But you were going to write to the landlord, weren't you, sir?… You ought to write him now, sir." "Now, now! I have much more important business to attend to. You think it's just like chopping wood? Bang—and it's done?" (1a).

У

У-1 • НИ УБА́ВИТЬ, НИ ПРИБА́ВИТЬ! coll [usu. indep. sent, sent adv, or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. inanim); Invar; fixed WO] (sth. is or is done, written, built etc) precisely as it should be, with no room for any improvement (usu. used in refer. to a piece of writing): it's ⟨sth. is⟩ perfect (just) as is; that's ⟨just⟩ the ticket; I wouldn't change it in the slightest ⟨at all⟩; [of a piece of writing only] (there's) not a word to be changed; you cannot ⟨I wouldn't⟩ change a single word.

Репортаж получился отличный: хорошо написан, все детали на месте. Как говорится, ни убавить, ни прибавить. The report came out perfect—it's well written, all the particulars are included. It's just the ticket, as they say.

У-2 • ХОТЬ УБЕ́Й(ТЕ) coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; these forms only; subord clause] 1. [used with a negated verb as intensif] s.o. absolutely cannot (understand, believe, carry out etc sth.): I ⟨he etc⟩ can't for the life of me ⟨him etc⟩ (do sth.); I ⟨he etc⟩ couldn't (do sth.) (even) if my ⟨his etc⟩ life depended on it; I ⟨he etc⟩ couldn't (do sth.) (even) if you put a gun to my ⟨his etc⟩ head; I ⟨he etc⟩ couldn't (do sth.) to save my ⟨his etc⟩ life; (I'm) hanged if I know ⟨understand etc⟩; (I'm) damned if I know.

Это был день решающего боя за Киев, и сейчас, снова переживая его начало, я опять и опять, хоть убейте меня, не могу понять, почему на этой прекрасной, благословенной земле… возможно такое предельное идиотство, как агрессия, война, фашизм (Кузнецов 1). This was the day of the decisive battle for Kiev; and when I relive its beginning I find again and again that I cannot, for the life of me, understand how such a delightful, joyous world… could harbor such boundless idiocies as aggression, war and fascism (1a).

2. (used to express one's categorical refusal to do sth.) under no circumstances (will s.o. do sth.): I ⟨he etc⟩ wouldn't (do sth.) (even) if my ⟨his etc⟩ life depended on it; I'll be damned if I'll (do sth.); [lim.] not on your life!

Он ни за что не уступит — хоть убей, не уступит. He won't give in for anything; even if his life depended on it he wouldn't give in.

3. used as an emphatic assurance of the truth or correctness of a statement: strike me dead (on the spot) if (I'm lying ⟨it's not true etc⟩); I swear to God.

У-3 • НЕ УБИ́Й lit [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] one of the Ten Commandments: thou shalt not kill; you shall not kill ⟨murder⟩.

Ахимас поднял камень, чтобы ударить ещё раз, но вспомнил, что закон Бога говорит: «Не убий» — и не стал (Акунин 3). Achimas lifted up the stone to hit him again, but then he remembered that God's law said: "Thou shalt not kill"—and he stopped himself (3a).

< From the Bible (Ex. 20:13, Deut. 5:17 et al.). «Убий» is the Church Slavonic imperative form of the verb «убити»; the corresponding modern Russian forms are «убей» and «убить», respectively.

У-4 • КАК УБИ́ТЫЙ спит, заснул, уснул coll [как + AdjP; nom only; adv (intensif)] (one is sleeping) very soundly, (one fell) quickly into a deep sleep: (one is sleeping) like a log; (one is) dead to the world; (one was ⟨went⟩) out like a light; (one fell) dead away ⟨asleep⟩; (one fell) into a dead sleep.

«Я намёрзлась дорогой — как убитая спала» (Абрамов 1). "I got so frozen coming here, I slept like a log" (1a). ♦ [Саша:] Принесла я тебе стакан, а ты уж лежишь на диване и спишь как убитый (Чехов 4). [S.:] By the time I brought you a glass, you were lying on a sofa, dead to the world (4b).

У-5 • УБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОВЕ́СИТЬ⟩ МА́ЛО кого за что coll, occas. humor [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$, usu. pres; these forms only] not even the most severe punishment could make up for what s.o. has done: убить X-а мало (за Y) ≃ hanging ⟨death⟩ is too good for X; [humor only] a pox on X!

«Мамка нехорошая». — «Твою мамку повесить мало», — отозвался ещё не остывший от злости Михаил (Распутин 3). "Mummy's horrid." "Hanging's too good for that Mummy of yours," replied Mikhail, whose anger still had not cooled (3a).

У-6 • УБИ́ТЬСЯ МО́ЖНО! highly coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express great delight, admiration etc: (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is) a real knockout!; (s.o. ⟨sth., it⟩) will make you flip!; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is) breathtaking!; you could lose your head over (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩)!; I'd sell my soul (for sth.)!

…Когда Ирина Викторовна вошла в прихожую своей квартиры, Нюрок громко на всю квартиру завопила [, увидев её новую причёску]: «Вот это да — убиться можно! Неотразимо!» (Залыгин 1). When Irina Viktorovna came into the hall of her flat Niurok [, seeing her new hairdo,] let out a whoop for the whole flat to hear: "Isn't that superb! Breathtaking! Irresistible!" (1a).

У-7 • НА УБО́Й [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. посылать, отправлять, гнать кого ~ (to send, drive s.o.) to inevitable death: (send ⟨herd⟩ s.o.) to slaughter; (send s.o. off ⟨put s.o. somewhere etc⟩) to be slaughtered ⟨killed, butchered⟩.

«Ваши генералы в Финляндии и в Польше гнали на убой своих солдат, чтобы убедить нас в своей мнимой слабости» (Копелев 1). "Your generals in Finland and Poland herded your men to slaughter so as to convince us of your false weakness" (1a).

2. кормить кого ~ coll. Also: КАК НА УБО́Й coll (to feed s.o.) large amounts of food (usu. good, varied food; usu. implies that s.o. ends up eating more than he should or would like to): X кормит Y-а (как) на убой ≃ X stuffs Y to the gills; X feeds Y until Y is ready to burst; X feeds Y heartily.

У-8 • НЕ УБУ́ДЕТ кого от чего highly coll [VP; impers; Invar] sth. (or doing sth.) cannot or will not adversely affect s.o.: X-а (от Y-а) не убудет ≃ Y ⟨it⟩ won't ⟨can't⟩ hurt X; Y ⟨it⟩ won't kill X; Y ⟨it⟩ won't do X any harm.

У-9 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ НА У́БЫЛЬ [VP] 1. [subj: usu. abstr. or noncount concr] to (begin to) decrease, diminish in quantity, volume, intensity etc: X идёт на убыль ≃ X is beginning to ebb ⟨wane, recede, lessen, die down, subside etc⟩; X is on the ebb ⟨the wane, the decrease, the decline etc⟩; X is subsiding ⟨ebbing, dying down etc⟩; [lim.] the crisis

(of the disease etc) has passed; || дни идут на убыль ≃ the days are getting shorter; || [in refer. to the diminution of the moon after the full moon] луна идёт на убыль ≃ the moon is waning ⟨on the wane⟩; || Neg X не идёт на убыль ≃ X shows no signs of subsiding ⟨weakening etc⟩; X is ⟨has proved (to be)⟩ persistent.

Так вот, они утверждают, будто у советского народа вера в коммунизм пошла на убыль (Зиновьев 2). “So, they allege that the faith of the Soviet people in communism is on the ebb” (2a). ♦ Эпидемия поноса упорно не шла на убыль (Гинзбург 2). The diarrhea outbreak proved very persistent (2a).

2. [subj: abstr] to enter its final period, approach its finish: X идёт на убыль ≃ X is coming to an end ⟨a close⟩; X is winding down; [of a period of time] it is late (in the day ⟨the season etc⟩); || [with subj: годы, дни etc; in refer. to s.o.’s old age, approaching death] X-овы дни идут на убыль ≃ time is ⟨the sands of time are⟩ running out for X; X is not long for this world.

Меня накормили сыром и мамалыгой, дед дал мне одну из своих палок, и я пустился в путь, хоть день шёл на убыль и солнце стояло над горизонтом на высоте дерева (Искандер 6). After the women had filled me up on cheese and hominy grits and grandfather had provided me with one of his walking sticks, I finally set off, though by now it was already late in the day and the sun was hanging low in the sky, no higher than the treetops (6a).

У-10 • В УБЫ́ТКЕ ⟨В НАКЛА́ДЕ⟩ быть$_{ø}$, оставаться и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect); often neg] to suffer material loss: X остался в убытке ≃ X lost out; X lost (out) by it; X came out a loser; || Neg X в убытке не будет ≃ X will be no loser (in the transaction ⟨the deal etc⟩); X won’t lose anything ⟨will lose nothing⟩; [lim.] it will be ⟨person Y will make it⟩ worth X’s while.

[Вася:] Я пятьдесят рубликов накину… В убытке не будем-с… (Островский 11). [V.:] I’ll raise the price by fifty roubles…. We shan’t lose by it (11a). ♦ Ты бы, начальник, помог устроить парня. В накладе не останешься (Зиновьев 1). “You wouldn’t try helping us to get him a place, guv’nor? We’d make it worth your while” (1a).

У-11 • В УБЫ́ТОК кому-чему быть$_{ø}$, торговать, продать что и т.п.; СЕБЕ́ В УБЫ́ТОК coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv, subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr or это, всё это etc), or nonagreeing modif] (to operate, trade, sell sth. etc) with material loss to s.o., some enterprise, or o.s.: (run ⟨function, trade etc⟩) at a loss ⟨a deficit⟩; (run ⟨be⟩) a loss; [lim.] (be) in the red; one ⟨s.o.⟩ has lost money on sth.

На другой день утром Марья Дмитриевна свозила барышень к Иверской и к m-me Обер-Шальме, которая так боялась Марьи Дмитриевны, что всегда в убыток уступала ей наряды, только бы поскорее выжить её от себя (Толстой 5). Next morning Marya Dmitriyevna took the young ladies off to the Iversky chapel and then to Madame Pascal, who was so intimidated by Marya Dmitriyevna that she always sold clothes to her at a loss in order to get rid of her as fast as she could (5c).

У-12 • БУДЬ УВЕ́РЕН ⟨БУ́ДЬТЕ УВЕ́РЕНЫ⟩!; МО́ЖЕШЬ БЫТЬ УВЕ́РЕН ⟨МО́ЖЕТЕ БЫТЬ УВЕ́РЕНЫ⟩ all coll [VP_{imper} or VP; used as indep. sent, main clause in a complex sent, or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] have no doubt: you can ⟨may⟩ be sure; be sure; you may ⟨can⟩ be (quite) certain; I can assure you; be (well) assured; rest assured; you can ⟨may⟩ depend on it; (you can ⟨may⟩) take my word for it; [lim.] you can bet ⟨count⟩ on it; doubt (you) not; sure enough; (s.o. does sth. ⟨knows how to do sth.) all right; you must believe (that…).

Она молча указала на низенькое оконце, завешенное шторой с помпонами. Тогда он ясно услышал далеко и ясно хлопушки выстрелов. «Вас сейчас же убьют, будьте уверены», — сказала она (Булгаков 3). She pointed silently to the small low window hung with a tasseled curtain. That was when he distinctly heard, far away and clearly, the pops of gunfire. “They’ll kill you now, you can be sure of that,” she said (3b). ♦ [Кречинский:] Поручаю вам судьбу мою. [Атуева:] Будьте уверены; я всё сделаю. Прощайте! (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] I’m putting my fate in your hands. [A.:] Rest assured I’ll do everything I can. Goodbye! (2b).

У-13 • УВЫ́ И АХ! coll, humor [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express regret, lamentation: alas (and alack)!; woe is me!; dear(ie) me!

«Знаете, Максим Петрович, я вам устрою индивидуальный билет. Один полетите. Значит, на когда?..» — «…Пожалуй, на послезавтра…» — «Увы и ах, на послезавтра у нас рейса аэрофлотовского нету» (Аксёнов 12). “You know, Maxim, I’ll get you an individual ticket. You’ll fly alone. So, what date do you want?”… “I guess the day after tomorrow….” “Oh, dearie me, we don’t have an Aeroflot flight the day after tomorrow” (12a).

У-14 • ИЗ УГЛА́ В У́ГОЛ ходить, шагать, слоняться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to walk, pace within a room, office etc) to one end and back or in various directions (usu. when a person is pondering sth., has nothing to do etc): (pace) from corner to corner; (walk ⟨pace etc⟩) up and down (the room ⟨the office etc⟩); pace the room (up and down); (walk ⟨pace etc⟩) to and fro (across the room etc); (pace) back and forth; (walk ⟨pace⟩) all around (the room etc).

Во время обеденного перерыва Штрум не пошёл в столовую, шагал из угла в угол по своему кабинету (Гроссман 2). Instead of going to the canteen at lunchtime, Viktor paced up and down his office (2a).

У-15 • ИЗ-ЗА УГЛА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing postmodif] 1. ~ напасть на кого, нанести удар кому, убить кого и т.п. (to attack, kill s.o.) treacherously, without giving him a chance to fight back: (assault ⟨attack etc⟩ s.o.) from behind ⟨without warning⟩; (stab ⟨shoot, shiv⟩ s.o.) in the back; || нападение из-за угла ≃ attack from behind; sneak attack; ambush.

«Если вы меня не убьёте, я вас зарежу ночью из-за угла. Нам на земле вдвоём нет места…» (Лермонтов 1). “If you do not kill me, I shall stab you in the back some night. The world is too small to hold both of us…” (1b).

2. ~ делать что, действовать (to do sth.) in a dirty, unfair, deceitful manner: behind s.o.’s back; underhandedly; in an underhanded manner ⟨fashion⟩.

У-16 • (КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩) ИЗ-ЗА УГЛА́ (ПЫ́ЛЬНЫМ) МЕШКО́М ПРИБИ́Т(ЫЙ) ⟨УДА́РЕН(НЫЙ), ТРА́ХНУТЫЙ⟩ obsoles [(как etc +) AdjP; subj-compl with copula, subj: human (all variants) or modif (variants with long-form Part); the Part usu. takes the final position] (of a person) eccentric, quirky, a little crazy: X (как) из-за угла мешком ударен(ный) ≃ (it’s as if) X has a few screws loose; X is (a little ⟨a bit⟩) flaky ⟨weird, nutty, touched, off etc⟩.

А про его собственного отца, Абрама Ноевича, говорили, что он, конечно, прекрасный, сочувственный, честный человек, золотые руки, работяга, если нужно, может сутками не выходить на типографии, только… маленько он тряхнутый, из-за угла пыльным мешком его ударили, пьёт много, а пьяный рассуждать любит… (Домбровский 2). As for his own father, Abram Noevich, they used to say he was, of course a fine, honest, compassionate man, a master of his craft, a hard slogger, who could work the clock round when necessary, without emerging from the typesetting room, but… a bit touched, dropped on his head when a baby, a hard drinker and fond of arguing when drunk… (2a).

У-17 • ПО УГЛА́М шептаться; разговоры coll [PrepP; Invar; adv or modif] (to whisper, talk, gossip about s.o. or sth.) secretively, so that no one can hear; secretive (conversations): X-ы шепчутся ~ ≃ Xs talk (about sth.) behind closed doors ⟨in corners⟩; Xs talk ⟨gossip etc⟩ in (huddled) whispers ⟨in secret, in hushed tones⟩; Xs talk ⟨gossip etc⟩ in (the) corners; || разговоры ~ ≃ huddled conversations ⟨talks⟩; private conversations.

Тётка на разговоры по углам, на прогулки Обломова с Ольгой смотрела… или, лучше сказать, никак не смотрела (Гончаров 1). The aunt looked upon the huddled conversations between Olga and Oblomov and their walks together… or rather it would be truer to say that she didn't look at all (1c). The aunt considered Olga's walks and private conversations with Oblomov as—or, rather, she did not consider them at all (1b).

У-18 • ПОД УГЛО́М (ЗРЕ́НИЯ) чего, каким рассматривать кого-что lit [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] (to regard s.o. or sth.) in a certain way (as specified): from the viewpoint ⟨the standpoint, the vantage point, the perspective⟩ of; in the light of; from a ⟨the⟩ [AdjP] point of view.

Своих знакомых она теперь рассматривала лишь под углом их восприимчивости к её утрате… (Набоков 1). Now she regarded all her friends only in the light of their receptivity toward her loss… (1a).

У-19 • НА КА́ЖДОМ УГЛУ́; НА ВСЕХ УГЛА́Х [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] everywhere and/or all the time: at every step ⟨turn, corner⟩; all over the place; here, there, and everywhere.

«Как же вам не стыдно смотреть людям в глаза? Ведь вы же на каждом углу… твердите, что вы коммунист» (Войнович 3). "How can you look people in the eye! And you insist at every turn that you are a Communist" (3a). ♦ «Только хочу совет дать, ты эту пулю при себе храни, а не шуми о ней на всех углах» (Тендряков 1). "But I'd like to give you one piece of advice: keep that bullet to yourself, and don't go talking about it all over the place" (1a).

У-20 • СГЛА́ЖИВАТЬ/СГЛА́ДИТЬ (О́СТРЫЕ) УГЛЫ́ [VP; subj: human; often impfv infin with старается, умеет etc; fixed WO] to (try to) reduce the significance or minimize the intensity of differences, disagreements etc between people: X сглаживает острые углы ≃ X papers over (the) disagreements ⟨(the) differences etc⟩; X smoothes ⟨papers⟩ things over.

Конфликтов он не любит, всегда старается сглаживать острые углы. He doesn't like conflicts and always tries to smooth things over.

У-21 • УГОВО́Р ДОРО́ЖЕ ДЕ́НЕГ [saying] if you have agreed to do sth., then you must honestly fulfill your obligation (said as a reminder that sth. agreed upon must be done): ≃ a promise is a promise; a deal is a deal; a bargain is a bargain.

У-22 • НА ВСЕХ НЕ УГОДИ́ШЬ [saying] it is impossible to satisfy everyone by your behavior or actions: ≃ you can't please everyone ⟨everybody⟩; you can't be all things to all people.

[author's usage] «…Казаки, что же, вообще, довольны жизнью?» — «Кто доволен, а кто и нет. На всякого не угодишь» (Шолохов 2). "Are the Cossacks, in general, satisfied with life?" "Some are, some aren't. You can't please everybody" (2a).

У-23 • ДА́МСКИЙ ⟨ЖЕ́НСКИЙ⟩ УГО́ДНИК humor or iron [NP; fixed WO] a man who likes to pursue and romance women: ladies' man; womanizer; skirt chaser.

У-24 • ГДЕ ⟨КУДА́⟩ УГО́ДНО [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому) at or to any place one desires or chooses: wherever ⟨anywhere⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want, wish etc⟩.

Когда сидишь в битком набитом театре в духоте, приятно сознавать, что над одной из дверей… горят буквы: «Запасный выход». В любую минуту можешь встать с кресла и направиться к этим буквам. И выйти на улицу, на воздух, и, пользуясь тем, что вечер лишь начинается, отправиться куда угодно — в ресторан, к приятелю (Трифонов 5). When you sit in a packed, stuffy theater, it is pleasant to see the brightly illuminated emergency exit sign above one of the doorways. At any time, you can get up from your seat and head for this sign. You can step outside into the fresh air and, taking advantage of the fact that the evening is just beginning, you can go wherever you please—to a restaurant or to visit a friend (5a).

2. at or to any location (used to emphasize limitless possibilities): anywhere; anyplace.

Он перебирал в уме все места, где мог бы быть Трофимович, но тот мог быть где угодно… (Войнович 2). He mentally reviewed all the places Trofimovich could possibly be, but he could be anywhere… (2a).

У-25 • ЕСЛИ ⟨Е́ЖЕЛИ obsoles, coll, КОЛИ obs⟩ УГО́ДНО [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] it could be said, we may assume, I will grant you: if you will; if you (so) wish ⟨desire⟩; [lim.] perhaps; granted; [when contrasting or juxtaposing two features, qualities etc] s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ may ⟨might⟩ be ⟨do etc⟩… but ⟨yet⟩…

У-26 • КАК УГО́ДНО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому) in whatever manner one desires or chooses: as ⟨any way, (in) whatever way⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want, wish etc⟩; [lim.] as ⟨any way etc⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ think ⟨see⟩ fit; whatever you ⟨they etc⟩ say; suit yourself ⟨-selves⟩.

С побочным писателем можно обращаться как угодно. Его можно печатать, можно не печатать, можно хвалить, можно ругать, можно и вовсе не замечать… (Войнович 1). Those in power can deal with these "marginal writers" as they please. They can publish them or not, praise or curse them, pay them no notice… (1a). ♦ «Я еду в санаторий…» Виктор посмотрел на часы. «Не рано ли?» — сказал он. «Как угодно. Только имейте в виду, с сегодняшнего дня автобус отменили. За нерентабельностью» (Стругацкие 1). "I'm going to the health resort…" Victor looked as his watch. "Isn't it early?" he said. "Suit yourself. Only keep in mind that starting today the bus service has been canceled. It wasn't profitable" (1a).

2. in any way (used to emphasize that it is inconsequential how): however; any which way; it doesn't matter how.

«Книги расставить в определённом порядке?» — «Нет, их можно расставить как угодно». "Should I put these books in any particular order?" "No, you can put them however."

У-27 • КАКО́Й УГО́ДНО [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] 1. whatever kind one desires or chooses: any one ⟨whichever⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want etc⟩; any ⟨whatever⟩ [NP] you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want etc⟩; whichever suits your ⟨his etc⟩ fancy.

Пусть Ганчук сам подберёт руководителя для глебовского диплома. Пусть даст заявление. С указанием какой угодно причины. Всё это чепуха и формальность (Трифонов 2). Let Ganchuk himself choose another supervisor for Glebov's dissertation; he need only submit his proposal in the usual form, giving whatever reasons he liked. All that was a mere formality anyway (2a).

2. any thing or kind of thing without specification or identification (used to emphasize the limitless scope covered by the statement in question): any (one); any [NP] (whatsoever).

…Виконт готов был стать на сторону какого угодно убеждения или догмата, если имел в виду, что за это ему перепадёт лишний четвертак (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …The Vicomte was ready to defend any conviction or dogma whatsoever if he thought it might bring him an extra twenty-five kopecks (1a).

У-28 • КОГДА́ УГО́ДНО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому) (one can do sth.) at whatever time one likes: whenever ⟨anytime⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want etc⟩.

[Негина:] Какие у вас лошади! Вот бы прокатиться как-нибудь. [Великатов:] Когда вам угодно, прикажите только (Островский 11). [N.:] What horses you have! If one could only drive behind them just once! [V.:] Whenever you like. You have only to command (11a).

2. (sth. could happen) at any given moment: anytime; at any time.

Стихийное бедствие может произойти когда угодно. An act of God can happen at any time.

У-29 • КТО УГО́ДНО [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] 1. any person one desires or chooses: anyone ⟨whomever⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want, wish etc⟩.

[Бакин:] По крайней мере, я сделал открытие, которым могу поделиться… [Мелузов:] С кем угодно (Островский 11). [B.:] At least I've made a discovery which I can pass on. [M.:] To who[m]ever you like (11a).

2. any person or people at all (used to emphasize that it is inconsequential who): anyone ⟨anybody⟩ at all; absolutely anyone ⟨anybody⟩; anyone ⟨anybody⟩ (, it doesn't matter who).

Да, это внезапное появление могло испугать кого угодно, и тем не менее в то же время оно являлось большою радостью. Высунулся хоть один кончик в этом запутанном деле (Булгаков 9). Indeed, that sudden appearance could have frightened anyone, and yet, at the same time, it came as a great joy: at least one small thread in this tangled business had unraveled (9c).

У-30 • НЕ УГО́ДНО ЛИ кому [VP; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; pres or fut; used with infin] 1. old-fash [used as formula phrase] used when making a polite invitation or suggestion to do sth.: would ⟨wouldn't⟩ you like (to do sth.)?

«Да, итак мы остановились на осетрине? Голубчик мой! Свежесть, свежесть и свежесть, вот что должно быть девизом всякого буфетчика. Да вот, не угодно ли отведать…» (Булгаков 9). "Now then we were talking about the sturgeon, were we not? My dear fellow! Freshness, freshness, and more freshness—that should be every buffet manager's motto. Yes, well, wouldn't you like to have a taste…" (9c).

2. used when making an ironically polite request that s.o. do sth.: would you be so kind ⟨good⟩ as (to do sth.)?; would you be good enough (to do sth.)?

Не угодно ли вам избавить меня от своего присутствия? Would you be so kind as to relieve me of your presence?

3. iron [sent adv (parenth)] used to emphasize the most striking, shocking etc part of a statement: (just) imagine; can you imagine (it ⟨that⟩)?; if you please; fancy that; just fancy.

И тут Стёпины мысли побежали уже по двойному рельсовому пути, но, как всегда бывает во время катастрофы, в одну сторону и вообще чёрт знает куда. Головную Стёпину кашу трудно даже передать. Тут и чертовщина с чёрным беретом, холодной водкой и невероятным контрактом, — а тут ещё ко всему этому, не угодно ли, и печать на двери! (Булгаков 9). And at this point Styopa's thoughts began racing down two tracks, but as always happens in a catastrophe, they were both going in the same direction, and only the devil knows where they were headed. It is hard even to convey the confusion that reigned in Styopa's head. First there was the devilish character with the black beret, the cold vodka, and the improbable contract, and now, if you please, to top it all off, a seal on the door! (9c).

У-31 • СКО́ЛЬКО УГО́ДНО [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. (кому) [adv] as much, as many, or as long as one desires or chooses: as much ⟨many, long⟩ as you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want etc⟩; all you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want etc⟩.

[Негина:] Значит, молодых можно обижать, сколько угодно, и они должны молчать (Островский 11). [N.:] But you can insult young people as much as you like, and they have to keep quiet! (11a). ♦ «Ты, — сказал я себе, — можешь сколько угодно притворяться своим среди этих людей… но если ты не научишься говорить на их языке, они тебе до конца никогда не поверят» (Войнович 4). "You, I said to myself, can pretend to be one of them all you want… but if you don't learn to speak their language, they will never trust you completely" (4a).

2. ~ (кого-чего) [adv (quantif) or quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun)] an unspecified large amount or number: any number of; countless; [lim.] all you could ever want.

Он [Пастернак] жалуется, что последние дни не работается… «Я знаю, что дело не в помехах, на которые я всё сваливаю, а во мне самом. Помех всегда оказывается в нашем распоряжении сколько угодно, когда работать не хочется» (Гладков 1). He [Pasternak] complained about not having been able to work the last few days…. "I know… that it's nothing to do with all the hindrances I blame it on, but that it's my own fault. You will always find any number of things to get in the way when you don't want to work" (1a).

3. coll [indep. remark] (used in response to a request) certainly: of course; by all means; you bet; sure(ly); I sure will ⟨you sure can etc⟩.

«Ты можешь мне помочь?» — «Сколько угодно!» "Could you give me a hand?" "You bet!"

У-32 • ЧТО УГО́ДНО [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому) any thing (phenomenon etc) that s.o. desires or chooses: anything ⟨whatever, any one⟩ you ⟨they etc⟩ like ⟨please, want, wish etc⟩.

Почему он просил четвёртую комнату? На каком основании? Просить можно что угодно, я тоже могу попросить четыре комнаты, но мне же их никто не даст (Войнович 3). Why did he request a fourth room? On what basis? You can request anything you like. I, too, could request four rooms, but no one would give them to me (3a).

2. any thing (phenomenon, occurrence etc) whatever (used to emphasize limitless possibilities): anything at all; anything whatsoever; (от Х-а) можно ожидать чего угодно ≃ one never knows ⟨one has no idea etc⟩ what to expect (from X).

Впрочем, утреннее замечание могло касаться чего угодно: занавески, например, грязные, или сорт кофе отвратительный, пахнет варёной капустой… (Улицкая 2). Her morning scolding could, however, relate to anything at all: the curtains might need cleaning, or the variety of coffee might be revolting and smell of boiled cabbage (2a). ♦ И тут, опираясь на палку, поднялся Хаим Ягудин. Я забеспокоился, от Хаима Ягудина можно ожидать чего угодно: длинной нелепой басни в лучшем случае, скандала — в худшем (Рыбаков 1). Then up got Khaim Yagudin, leaning on his stick. I felt uneasy, as you never knew what to expect from him, a string of nonsense at best, a scandal at worst (1a).

У-33 • В УГО́ДУ кому-чему [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to do sth.) out of a desire to satisfy s.o., gain s.o.'s favor, or in order to further sth.: (just ⟨in order⟩) to please ⟨oblige⟩ s.o.; for the benefit of sth.; in the interest(s) of sth.

Может быть, некоторые читатели назовут всё это невероятным, автор тоже в угоду им готов бы назвать всё это невероятным… (Гоголь 3). Perhaps some readers will call this incredible—the author too would be glad to call all this incredible just to please them… (3c).

У-34 • ЗАГОНЯ́ТЬ/ЗАГНА́ТЬ ⟨ПРИПИРА́ТЬ/ПРИПЕРЕ́ТЬ, ПРИЖИМА́ТЬ/ПРИЖА́ТЬ⟩ В У́ГОЛ кого coll [VP; subj: human] by using conclusive arguments or irrefutable facts, to make it impossible for s.o. to deny sth., defend his own position etc: Х припёр У-а в угол ≃ X drove ⟨forced, backed⟩ Y into a corner.

…Увольнять Олёну за то, что муж её загнал их в угол, а они ни черта толком не могли возразить ему, — нет, с этим он не согласен (Абрамов 1). …To fire her [Olyona] just because her husband had driven them into a corner and they had not been able to do a damn thing to get back—no, that he could not agree to (1a)

У-35 • КРА́СНЫЙ У́ГОЛ [NP; fixed WO] a place in a peasant hut where icons are hung and a table is placed for honored guests: icon corner; sacred corner; place of honor.

«Парамошин, конечно, демагог, крикун… но и ты тоже хорош. К тебе всякий народ ходит, а у тебя в красном углу церковный парад. Так ведь и билет положить недолго!.. По твоей милости и мне… намылят шею…» (Максимов 3). "Paramoshin is a demagogue and a loudmouth, of course. But you're not one to talk—all sorts of people come to your house, and you've got a religious display in the place of honor. That way you'll be handing your party card in before you know where you are…. And thanks to you I shall get it in the neck, too" (3a).

У-36 • МЕДВЕ́ЖИЙ ⟨ГЛУХО́Й⟩ У́ГОЛ coll [NP; fixed WO] a remote, out-of-the-way, and usu. undesirable place: the boondocks; the sticks; godforsaken place ⟨hole, corner⟩; provincial hole.

Хоробров был вятич, и из самого медвежьего угла — из-под Кая, откуда сплошным тысячевёрстным царством не в одну Францию по болотам и лесам раскинулась страна ГУЛаг (Солженицын 3). Khorobrov was a native of Vyatka, from its most godforsaken corner, near Kai, bordering on the land of the Gulag, thousands upon thousands of versts of marsh and forests, an expanse greater than France (3b).

У-37 • СВОЙ ⟨СО́БСТВЕННЫЙ⟩ У́ГОЛ coll [NP; sing only; often obj of иметь] one's own living space: one's own place; a place of one's own; a place one can call one's own.

«Будем снимать [квартиру]… И запишемся в кооператив». — «Это дорого!» — «Ну и что?.. Главное, свой угол… Свой угол», — повторил он упрямо, угрюмо (Ерофеев 3). "We'll rent a place…. And sign up for a co-op." "That's expensive!" "So what!… The main thing is to have our own place… our own place," he repeated stubbornly, morosely (3a).

У-38 • СРЕЗА́ТЬ/СРЕ́ЗАТЬ У́ГОЛ [VP; subj: human, animal, or noun denoting a vehicle; fixed WO] to take a route between two points that is shorter than the commonly used route: Х хотел сре́зать угол ≃ X wanted to take a shortcut ⟨short cut⟩.

Пугающее чувство неожиданной струёй пронзило Дмитрия Алексеевича [Лопаткина] в эту осень, когда однажды он по пути… в свой институт решил срезать угол и пошёл через Сокольнический парк (Дудинцев 1). A sudden terrifying feeling stabbed Lopatkin sharply one day that autumn, when, on his way to his Institute, he decided to take a short cut and walk across Sokolniki Park (1a).

У-39 • У́ГОЛ ЗРЕ́НИЯ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a way of regarding a phenomenon, occurrence etc: point of view; viewpoint; standpoint; vantage point; perspective.

Время от времени он выискивал новый угол зрения, под которым можно было рассматривать проблему разведения козлотуров… (Искандер 6). …From time to time [he] would discover a new vantage point from which to view the problems of goatibex breeding (6a).

У-40 • КРА́СНЫЙ УГОЛО́К [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] a room in an institution, dormitory, hotel etc that can be used for various activities—reading, small meetings, instruction etc: activity room; reading ⟨information, conference, study⟩ room; day room; reading and recreation room.

Там тебе, на лесопункте, и красный уголок, и столовка, и ларёк — всё, что надо (Абрамов 1). At their logging station they have a recreation and reading room and a canteen and a little store—everything they need (1a).

< The name «красный уголок» is a takeoff on «красный угол» (see У-35), with «красный» in this case meaning "related to a revolution or a socialist regime." Originally used by the Communist Party as a site for Communist agitation, Party functions, and the dispersal of propaganda, the room was later put to more general use, but it long retained certain Party-related features, such as a ready supply of Communist literature.

У-41 • КАК НА (ГОРЯ́ЧИХ) У́ГОЛЬЯХ ⟨У́ГЛЯХ⟩ сидеть, быть$_{ø}$, чувствовать себя coll [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (to be) in a state of extreme agitation, uneasiness, or anxiety: Х был как на (горячих) угольях ≃ X was like a cat on hot bricks; X was on tenterhooks; X was on pins and needles; X was (as) nervous as a cat ⟨a kitten⟩.

Он в течение всего спора сидел как на угольях и только украдкой болезненно взглядывал на Аркадия (Тургенев 2). He had been sitting on tenterhooks all through the dispute, now and again stealing pained glances at Arkady (2a).

У-42 • КАК УГОРЕ́ЛЫЙ бежать, бегать, метаться, носиться и т.п. coll [как + AdjP; nom only; adv (intensif)]

(to run) very fast, not paying attention to anything around one, or (to move about) hurriedly, frantically: (run ⟨race etc⟩) like one possessed ⟨like a madman, like a madwoman⟩; (run etc) as if one's tail were on fire; (run around ⟨bustle about etc⟩) like mad ⟨like crazy, like a chicken with its head cut off⟩.

Дуняша бегала взад и вперёд как угорелая и то и дело хлопала дверями… (Тургенев 2). Dunyasha ran hither and thither like one possessed and kept banging the doors… (2e). Dunyasha ran back and forth like a madwoman and kept slamming doors… (2g).

У-43 • КАК У́ГОРЬ скользкий, увёртливый, ловок и т.п. [как + NP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or modif (intensif)] (of a person who is) cunning, devious, crafty, untrustworthy: (as) slippery as an eel ⟨as a snake (in wet grass)⟩.

У-44 • УГРЫЗЕ́НИЕ ⟨УКО́Р⟩ СО́ВЕСТИ [NP; more often pl (1st var.); fixed WO] bitter regret for having done wrong, an uneasy feeling of repentance: pang(s) ⟨twinge(s), qualm(s)⟩ of conscience; (stings of) remorse; (be) conscience-stricken.

…Сказали: из колхозной бывшей земли бери сколько можешь обработать — обрабатывай. И Спиридон взял, и стал пахать её и засевать безо всяких угрызений совести… (Солженицын 3). …He was told to take as much of the former collective farm land as he could work. Spiridon took it and began to plow and sow with not a pang of conscience… (3a). He was told to take as much of the former kolkhoz land as he could work—and to work it. Spiridon plowed and sowed with no qualms of conscience… (3b).

У-45 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ПОД УДА́Р кого-что [VP; subj: human or abstr] to put s.o. or sth. in a dangerous position: X поставил Y-а под удар ≃ X put Y in danger ⟨in jeopardy, at risk⟩; X endangered ⟨jeopardized⟩ Y; [lim.] X left Y open to attack.

Поняли ли оксфордцы, под какой удар они поставили Зощенко? На него обрушилась вторая волна травли, и он уж больше никогда не поднял головы (Мандельштам 2). Did those Oxford students ever realize what danger they put Zoshchenko in? He was subjected to a second wave of persecution from which he never recovered (2a).

У-46 • УДА́Р ХВАТИ́Л кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. suddenly became paralyzed or died as the result of an apoplectic stroke: X-а удар хватил ≃ X had a seizure ⟨a stroke⟩; X dropped dead from a stroke ⟨from apoplexy⟩.

Я не знаю, жив ли остался священник, по лицу которого катились слёзы. У него был такой вид, что вот-вот его хватит удар (Мандельштам 2). I do not know whether the priest with tears running down his cheeks survived: he looked as though he would have a stroke any moment (2a).

У-47 • В УДА́РЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is in an inspired state that makes what he is doing turn out well: X в ударе ≃ X is in good ⟨top, great, excellent etc⟩ form; X is at his best; || Neg сегодня X не в ударе ≃ this isn't X's day.

Четырежды грек менял кости, но ничего не помогало, они ложились так, как хотел скотопромышленник. Он был в ударе и каждый раз из дюжины возможных комбинаций почти безошибочно выбирал наиболее надёжную для продолжения партии (Искандер 3). Four times the Greek changed the dice, but nothing helped; they fell the way the cattle dealer wanted. He was in good form, and every time, from a dozen possible combinations, he almost unerringly chose the one that would keep his game going best (3a).

2. obs [subj-compl with $быть_ø$ (subj: human); used with the infin of another verb] one is inclined (to do sth.), is well disposed (toward doing sth.): X в ударе (делать Y) ≃ X is in the mood (to do Y); X is of a mind (to do Y); X feels like (doing Y).

У-48 • ПОД УДА́РОМ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula] 1. mil [subj: collect or a geographical name] some military unit (town etc) is in a vulnerable, undefended position: X оказался под ударом ≃ X was (left) open to attack; X was exposed to attack ⟨to the enemy⟩.

2. [subj: human or collect] one is in a precarious, insecure position: X под ударом ≃ X is in danger ⟨in jeopardy⟩.

Когда началась реорганизация института, стало ясно, что наш отдел под ударом. When they started reorganizing the institute it became clear that our division was in jeopardy.

У-49 • БЕЗ (ВСЯ́КОГО) У́ДЕРЖУ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] 1. (of a person) (to do sth.) immoderately, without restricting o.s.: uncontrollably; unrestrainedly; with abandon; without (any) restraint; wildly.

Что касается здешнего председателя, то он, хотя тоже пьёт без всякого удержу, однако, на что-то ещё надеется (Войнович 2). As for their own chairman, well, he too drank uncontrollably but wasn't what you'd call a hopeless case yet (2a).

2. (of some phenomenon, occurrence etc) (to go on) unceasingly, uninterruptedly, and in such a manner as cannot be contained: without (a) letup; without stopping; unstoppably.

Дождь хлещет без удержу уже два дня. It's been pouring without letup for two days already.

У-50 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ (НИКАКО́ГО) У́ДЕРЖУ (в чём) coll [VP; subj: human] to show immoderation (in sth.), not control o.s.: X не знает удержу ≃ X knows no restraint ⟨bounds⟩; X is unrestrained; X goes overboard; [lim.] X's desires are ⟨ambition is etc⟩ beyond restraint.

Однажды в Ташкенте она [Ахматова] мне призналась, что в молодости была очень трудной — раздражительной, капризной… не знала удержу, спешила жить и ни с чем не считалась (Мандельштам 2). She [Akhmatova] once confided to me in Tashkent that as a girl she had been quick-tempered, moody, and quite unrestrained, stopping at nothing in her impatience to make the most of life (2a).

У-51 • НЕТ (НИКАКО́ГО) У́ДЕРЖУ кому, на кого coll [VP; impers] it is impossible to restrain s.o. in sth.: нет X-у удержу ≃ there is no holding X back; there is no stopping X; no restraints exist for X; || [of people fighting] нет (X-у и Y-у) удержу ≃ there's no pulling X and Y apart.

Он вдруг ощутил в себе тот восхищающий душу подъём, который всегда предвещал для него риск, дело, власть. В подобные минуты для него не существовало препятствий и не было удержу (Максимов 1). He suddenly sensed within him that elation, that exaltation which always heralded risk, action, power. At such moments no obstacles or restraints existed for him (1a).

У-52 • ЗАКУ́СЫВАТЬ/ЗАКУСИ́ТЬ УДИЛА́ [VP; subj: human] being irritated or agitated, to act rashly, imprudently, without restraint or common sense: X закусил удила ≃ X took the bit between ⟨in⟩ his teeth.

«Можно с вами идти?» — спросил он. «Конечно, — не мне с вами опасно, а вам со мной. Но Лондон велик…» — «Я не боюсь, — и тут вдруг, закусивши удила, он быстро проговорил: — Я никогда не возвращусь в Россию…» (Герцен 3). “May I walk with you?” he asked. “Of course; there is no danger for me in being seen with you, though there is for you in being seen with me. But London is a big place.” “I am not afraid”—and then all at once, taking the bit between his teeth, he hurriedly burst out: “I shall never go back to Russia…” (3a).

У-53 • ТРЕ́БОВАТЬ/ПОТРЕ́БОВАТЬ УДОВЛЕТВОРЕ́НИЯ у кого [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to respond to an offense to one’s honor by challenging the offender to a duel: X потребовал удовлетворения (от Y-а) ≃ X demanded satisfaction (from Y); || [in questions] вы требуете удовлетворения? ≃ do you want ⟨demand⟩ satisfaction?

«Я не слыхивал о медведе, — отвечал Дефорж, — но я всегда ношу при себе пистолеты, потому что не намерен терпеть обиду, за которую, по моему званью, не могу требовать удовлетворения» (Пушкин 1). “I knew nothing of the bear,” Desforges replied, “but I always carry a pistol about my person, because I do not intend to endure insults for which in view of my position, I am unable to demand satisfaction” (1c).

У-54 • В СВОЁ УДОВО́ЛЬСТВИЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. жить ~ (to live) joyfully, lightheartedly, without worries: X живёт ~ ≃ X lives and enjoys himself; X lives happily; X enjoys (his) life; [lim.] X lives a life of pleasure.

[Костылёв:] Зачем тебя давить? Кому от этого польза? …Живи знай в своё удовольствие… (Горький 3). [K.:] Why should I hang you? What good would it do anybody?… Live and enjoy yourself!… (3f).

2. (to do sth.) to one’s complete satisfaction, to whatever extent one desires: to one’s heart’s content; as much ⟨as long⟩ as one pleases ⟨likes, wants etc⟩.

Меньшевичка Люся Оганджанян уже бывала здесь. И она снова и снова, как Шехерезада, повторяет волшебную сказку о свердловском санпропускнике. Какой он чистый, большой, просторный. Ничем не хуже Сандуновских бань. В раздевалке — огромное зеркало. Мочалки всем выдают. Можно помыться в своё удовольствие (Гинзбург 1). The Menshevik Lucia Oganjanian, who had been there more than once in her time, told us nightly tales, as in the Arabian Nights, of the magical delights of the large, clean, spacious disinfection center in Sverdlovsk, just like the famous public baths in Moscow. There was a huge mirror in the changing room, everybody got a wash-cloth, one could wash to one’s heart’s content… (1b).

У-55 • РАСТЯ́ГИВАТЬ/РАСТЯНУ́ТЬ УДОВО́ЛЬСТВИЕ [VP; subj: human or animal] to do something enjoyable very slowly, thus enjoying the process longer: X растягивает удовольствие ≃ X is prolonging ⟨lengthening, spinning out⟩ the ⟨his⟩ pleasure ; X is stretching out the ⟨his⟩ pleasure.

Вдруг кухарка позвала нас: «Воду носить до бака будете, хлопчики? Супу дадим»… Носили до самого закрытия, подлизывались, заглядывали кухаркам в глаза, и нам налили по тарелке, до краёв, и мы, гордые, счастливые, хлебали долго, растягивая удовольствие, молясь, чтобы вода была нужна завтра, послезавтра (Кузнецов 1). Then one day the cook called us: “Will you go and fetch some water to fill the tank, kids? I’ll give you some soup if you do.”… We went on carting water until the canteen closed, then sidled up to the cooks, looked them straight in the eye, and they poured us out a bowlful of soup each. Proud and contented, we spent as long as we could over it, spinning out the pleasure and praying that the cooks would want us to carry water the next day and the day after (1b).

У-56 • УДОВО́ЛЬСТВИЕ НИ́ЖЕ СРЕ́ДНЕГО coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr or infin); usu. this WO] an unpleasant experience: not what I ⟨you⟩ would call fun; no fun; not my ⟨our⟩ idea of a good time; no barrel of laughs.

Они такие неряхи! Убирать за ними — удовольствие ниже среднего. They’re such slobs! Picking up after them is not what you’d call fun.

У-57 • СМА́ТЫВАТЬ/СМОТА́ТЬ У́ДОЧКИ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to depart, withdraw, retreat hurriedly (usu. in order to avoid trouble, danger, or when fleeing from an enemy): X сматывает удочки ≃ X takes off; X takes to his heels; X hightails it (out of here ⟨out of there etc⟩!; X beats it; [lim.] X vamooses; || X-у надо сматывать удочки ≃ X has to ⟨should⟩ get out of here ⟨there⟩.

Уже поздно, мне пора сматывать удочки, а то дома будет скандал. It’s already late. I’d better take off or I’ll catch hell when I get home.

У-58 • ЗАКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ЗАКИ́НУТЬ ⟨ЗАБРА́СЫВАТЬ/ЗАБРО́СИТЬ⟩ У́ДОЧКУ coll [VP; subj: human] to say or ask sth. indirectly with the purpose of finding out some information: X закинул удочку ≃ X dropped a hint; X put out a feeler ⟨feelers⟩; X tested the waters.

…Сейчас не время доказывать свою правоту. Сейчас ей оставалось одно — попытаться извлечь из сложившихся обстоятельств хотя бы маленькую пользу для своих колхозников. И она издалека стала закидывать удочку: «Холод в воде-то бродить. У людей обутки [regional = обуви] нету» (Абрамов 1). [context transl] …Now was not the time for her to make her point. The only thing she could do now was to try to use the situation to gain some benefit, however small, for her kolkhozniki. And she began by casting her line from afar. “Wading around in the water is cold work. My people have no shoes” (1a).

У-59 • ПОЙМА́ТЬ ⟨ПОДДЕ́ТЬ, ПОДЦЕПИ́ТЬ⟩ НА У́ДОЧКУ ⟨УДУ́ obs⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to outwit, delude s.o. using a cunning ruse: X поймал Y-а на удочку ≃ X duped ⟨tricked, hoodwinked, conned etc⟩ Y; X got Y on the hook; [in refer. to getting s.o. to marry one] X hooked ⟨snagged, snared⟩ Y.

[author’s usage] [Городничий:] Тридцать лет живу на службе; ни один купец, ни подрячик не мог провести; мошенников над мошенниками обманывал, пройдох и плутов таких, что весь свет готовы обворовать, поддевал на уду… (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] Thirty years I’ve been in the service; never a merchant, never a contractor that I couldn’t get the better of; swindlers upon swindlers and I fooled them, cheats and tricksters out to rob the whole world and I got them on the hook (4b).

У-60 • ПОПАДА́ТЬСЯ/ПОПА́СТЬСЯ ⟨ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́, КЛЮ́НУТЬ, ПОЙМА́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА У́ДОЧКУ (кого-чего, кому, к кому) [VP; subj: human] to end up being deceived, duped: X попался на удочку ≃ X swallowed ⟨took, fell for⟩ the bait; X fell for it; X was hoodwinked ⟨taken in⟩; [in refer. to agreeing to marry s.o.] X got hooked; || X попался на ту же удочку ≃ X fell for the same old song and dance; X fell for the same old trick(s).

«А я вам говорю, — кричал старик в ухо великому комбинатору, — что Макдональд на эту удочку не пойдёт! Он не пойдёт на эту удочку!» (Ильф и Петров 2). “I’m telling you,” shouted the old man into the grand strategist’s ear, “MacDonald is not going to take this bait! He will not take this bait!” (2d). “But I tell you,” the old man shouted into the ear of the great schemer,

"MacDonald will not fall for that: He will never fall for that…" (2b).

У-61 • ДАЛЕКО́ НЕ УЕ́ДЕШЬ ⟨НЕ УЙДЁШЬ, НЕ УСКА́ЧЕШЬ⟩ на чём, с кем-чем, без кого-чего coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only; fixed WO] you will not gain, achieve much (from sth., from your dealings with s.o., without s.o., without sth. etc): на Х-е ⟨с Х-ом, без Х-а⟩ далеко не уедешь ≃ you can't go ⟨get⟩ (very) far with X ⟨on thing X, without X⟩; thing X doesn't ⟨won't⟩ get you (very) far; X isn't much help; you can't ⟨don't, won't⟩ get very far on thing X.

[Дорн:] Он мыслит образами, рассказы его красочны, ярки, и я их сильно чувствую. Жаль только, что он не имеет определённых задач. Производит впечатление, и больше ничего, а ведь на одном впечатлении далеко не уедешь (Чехов 6). [D.:] He thinks in images, his stories are vivid, striking, and I am deeply moved by them. It's only a pity that he has no definite purpose. He creates impressions, nothing more, and, of course, you don't get very far on impressions alone (6a). [D.:] He thinks in images; his stories are intense and vivid. I find them moving. I'm only sorry he doesn't write with a definite purpose in mind. It's all impression. You can't go far on impression alone (6d).

У-62 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ УЖА́ЛЕННЫЙ вскочить, броситься, вскрикнуть и т.п. coll [как etc + AdjP; nom only; adv] (to jump up, dash out, cry out etc) suddenly, abruptly: as if ⟨as though⟩ one had been stung ⟨bitten, shot⟩.

И снова Пата Патарая, вскрикнув, как ужаленный, шмякается на колени, скользит и, раскинув руки, замирает у самых ног товарища Сталина в позе дерзновенной преданности (Искандер 3). Again Pata Pataraya, crying out as if he had been stung, plopped to his knees, slid, and froze with arms outflung in a posture of audacious devotion, at Comrade Stalin's very toes (3a).

У-63 • ТИ́ХИЙ У́ЖАС(!) coll [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun)] (a person, thing, situation etc named) causes a strong reaction of condemnation, alarm, fear, shock, astonishment etc: Х — это тихий ужас ≃ X is simply ⟨just, absolutely⟩ horrible ⟨awful⟩; X is sheer horror; X is horrible beyond belief: X is a total nightmare.

2. [Interj] used to express, emphatically, extreme indignation, vexation, shock etc on account of sth. disagreeable and often unexpected: (it's) simply ⟨just, absolutely⟩ horrible ⟨awful⟩!; (it's) horrible beyond belief!; (it's) a total nightmare!; horrors!

У-64 • ДО У́ЖАСА coll [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] very, extremely, to the highest possible degree: terribly; horribly; awfully; dreadfully; frightfully; like you wouldn't believe.

Я думаю, что Ахматова переоценила его как поэта — ей до ужаса хотелось, чтобы ниточка поэтической традиции не прервалась (Мандельштам 2). I think Akhmatova overestimated him as a poet—she was terribly anxious that the thread of the tradition she represented should not be broken… (2a). ♦ «…В самом деле, что мне о нём было известно? Да ничего, кроме того, что он был лыс и красноречив до ужаса» (Булгаков 9). "What did I actually know about him? Nothing, except that he was bald and horribly eloquent" (9c). "In fact, what did I know about him? Nothing, except that he was bald and frightfully eloquent" (9a).

У-65 • ИЗВИВА́ТЬСЯ УЖО́М coll disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ перед кем to fawn upon s.o., act in a servile manner: Х извивается ужом перед Y-ом ≃ X falls all over Y; X grovels before Y.

2. Also: КРУТИ́ТЬСЯ УЖО́М to act in a crafty, sneaky manner, displaying resourcefulness: Х извивается ужом ≃ X weasels around; || Х-у приходится крутиться ужом ≃ X has to be cunning ⟨sly, wily⟩; [lim.] X has to live by his wits.

Когда по радио гремели салюты и голос диктора сообщал о новых победах, лицо Ларичева омрачалось: не его это были победы, не его дело… Его дело — крутиться ужом, исхитряться, добывать, обеспечивать (Грекова 3). When the cannon salutes thundered over the radio and the announcer reported new war victories, Larichev's face darkened: they were not his victories, not his cause. His cause was to weasel around, be cunning, get, obtain (3a).

У-66 • В УЗДЕ́ держать кого coll [PrepP; Invar; obj-compl with держать] (to keep s.o.) under strict control: Х держит Y-а в узде ≃ X keeps Y on a tight rein ⟨leash⟩; X keeps a tight rein ⟨leash⟩ on Y; X keeps ⟨holds⟩ Y in check; X keeps Y in line.

Хитрый и циничный Хрущёв имел… отличный способ держать Королёва «в узде», не применяя к нему грубого насилия, как когда-то сделал Сталин (Владимиров 1). …Khrushchev, crafty and cynical, had an excellent device for keeping Korolyov on a tight rein without having to resort to force as Stalin had done in his day (1a).

У-67 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ В УЗДЕ́ coll [VP; subj: human] to refrain from emotional outbursts, control o.s.: Х держит себя в узде ≃ X keeps himself in check; X restrains himself; X keeps a tight rein on himself ⟨his emotions⟩; X keeps a (tight) lid on his emotions.

Однажды в Ташкенте она [Ахматова] мне призналась, что в молодости была очень трудной — раздражительной, капризной… не знала удержу, спешила жить и ни с чем не считалась. Тогда её слова показались мне неправдоподобными, а она сказала, что просто научилась обуздывать себя. В старости, когда прорвались основные черты характера, я поняла, как трудно было ей держать себя в узде (Мандельштам 2). She [Akmatova] once confided to me in Tashkent that as a girl she had been quick-tempered, moody, and quite unrestrained, stopping at nothing in her impatience to make the most of life. At the time I found this incredible, even when she explained that she had later learned to control herself. But in her old age, when the basic features of her character broke to the surface again, I could see how hard it was for her to keep herself in check (2a).

У-68 • ГО́РДИЕВ У́ЗЕЛ lit [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] an extremely complicated problem or great difficulty: Gordian knot; || разрубить ⟨рассечь⟩ гордиев узел ≃ cut (through) the Gordian knot.

…[Голохвастов] рассказал мне всё дело, прибавив, что именно потому поторопился приехать, чтоб предупредить меня, в чём дело, прежде чем я услышу что-нибудь о размолвке. «Недаром, — сказал я ему шутя, — меня зовут Александром: этот гордиев узел я вам тотчас разрублю» (Герцен 2). …He [Golokhvastov] told me all about it… adding that he had made haste to come to me expressly to warn me what was wrong before I should hear anything of the falling out. "I am not called Alexander for nothing," I said jokingly; "I shall cut this Gordian knot for you at once" (2a).

< From the name of an intricate knot tied by Gordius, legendary king of Phrygia, and supposedly cut by Alexander the Great with his sword.

У-69 • ЗАВЯ́ЗЫВАТЬ/ЗАВЯЗА́ТЬ УЗЕЛО́К (НА ПА́МЯТЬ) coll [VP; subj: human] (to try) not to forget sth.: X завяжет (на память) узелок ≃ X will see that he won't ⟨doesn't⟩ forget it; X will be sure not to forget it; [lim.] X will tie a string around his finger.

< From the custom of making a knot at the end of a handkerchief so as not to forget something.

У-70 • СВОЙХ НЕ УЗНА́ЕШЬ coll [VP; subj: human; 2nd and 3rd pers only; fut or subjunctive; fixed WO] you will be punished, beaten (up) severely: (I'll thrash ⟨beat⟩ you) within an inch of your life; you won't know what hit you; [usu. in refer. to severe beating] your own mother won't recognize you.

Кирила Петрович нахмурился и сказал, качая головою: «Тут замешалась Марья Кириловна. Признавайся во всём, или так отдеру тебя розгою, что ты и своих не узнаешь» (Пушкин 1). Kirila Petrovich frowned and said, shaking his head, "So Maria Kirilovna's mixed up in all this, is she? You'd better make a clean breast of it now—or I'll thrash you within an inch of your life" (1c).

У-71 • У́ЗЫ КРО́ВИ; КРО́ВНЫЕ У́ЗЫ [NP; pl only; fixed WO] a blood relationship: blood ties ⟨bonds⟩; bonds ⟨the bond⟩ of blood.

«…Я понял, что дом, где обитаете вы, священ, что ни единое существо, связанное с вами узами крови, не подлежит моему проклятию» (Пушкин 1). "…I understood that the house where you lived was sacred, and that no being related to you by the bond of blood could be subject to my curse" (1a).

У-72 • НЕ УЙДЁТ (от кого) coll [VP; subj: any noun (usu. inanim); 3rd pers fut only] there will be time to do sth. later, s.o. will not lose anything by temporarily postponing the action in question: X (от Y-а) не уйдёт ≃ X isn't going anywhere; X can wait; there will be time enough ⟨plenty of time⟩ for X ⟨for Y to do thing X⟩ (later); X will still be there (later); Y will have a ⟨his⟩ chance (to do thing X) (later); Y's turn ⟨day⟩ will come.

Это была та блестящая атака кавалергардов, которой удивлялись сами французы… «Что мне завидовать, моё не уйдёт, и я сейчас, может быть, увижу государя!» — подумал Ростов и поскакал дальше (Толстой 4). This was the brilliant charge of the Horse Guards that amazed even the French…. "Why should I envy them? I'll have my chance. I may see the Tsar at any moment now," thought Rostov, and galloped on (4a). This was one of those brilliant cavalry charges by our horse guards which even the French were said to admire… "I don't need to envy them. My turn will come, and anyway I might see the Emperor!" thought Rostov as he galloped off (4c).

У-73 • НЕДАЛЕКО́ ⟨НЕ ТАК УЖ ДАЛЕКО́, НЕ О́ЧЕНЬ ДАЛЕКО́⟩ УЙТИ́ [VP; subj: human; usu. past] 1. в чём ~ (от кого) not to make significant progress or have much success (in some area, subject matter etc), or not to progress significantly past the level of another (in some area, subject matter etc): в Y-е X недалеко ушёл (от Z-а) ≃ X didn't get ⟨hasn't got(ten)⟩ very far in ⟨with⟩ Y; X didn't get ⟨hasn't got(ten)⟩ all that far ahead of Z in Y; X doesn't know that much about Y.

«Ненавижу я этого лекаришку; по-моему, он просто шарлатан; я уверен, что со всеми своими лягушками он и в физике недалеко ушёл» (Тургенев 2). "I detest that wretched little leech; in my opinion he's nothing but a charlatan! I am convinced that for all his frogs he hasn't got very far in physics" (2e). ♦ «И по работе он не так уж далеко ушёл от тебя» (Искандер 5). "He hasn't gotten all that far ahead of you, even in his job" (5a).

2. ~ от кого to be very similar to s.o., not superior to s.o. in some respect: X недалеко ушёл от Y-а ≃ X is no ⟨not much⟩ better (than Y); X hasn't progressed much beyond Y.

Он говорил слишком резко, но и ты недалеко от него ушёл. He spoke too harshly, but then you weren't much better. ♦ В сущности Матвей Ильич недалеко ушёл от тех государственных мужей Александровского времени, которые, готовясь идти на вечер к г-же Свечиной, жившей тогда в Петербурге, прочитывали поутру страницу из Кондильяка; только приёмы у него были другие, более современные (Тургенев 2). In essence, Matvei Ilich hadn't progressed much beyond those statesmen of Alexander I, who, to prepare themselves for an evening at Madame Svechina's—living in Petersburg at the time—would read a page or two of Condillac that very morning; but his methods were different, more up-to-date (2g).

У-74 • НЕ УКА́З ⟨НЕ УКА́ЗЧИК⟩ кому coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$] 1. [subj: usu. human or collect] one has no right or power to control s.o. or give orders to s.o.: X Y-у не указ ≃ X is no authority to Y; X can't lay down the law to Y; X can't order ⟨boss⟩ Y around; Y doesn't ⟨won't⟩ take orders from X.

О Лукашине заговорили в районе. Кто? Откуда такой смельчак взялся, что ему и Подрезов не указ? (Абрамов 1). People in the district office started talking about Lukashin. Who was he? Where did this hothead come from, who doesn't even take orders from Podrezov? (1a).

2. [subj: human, collect, or abstr] there is no reason why some person (organization etc) should be looked upon as a model, standard for s.o. (often because the person or organization in question does not deserve to be so looked upon): X Y-у не указ ≃ X is not an example for Y to follow; X is no example for Y; Y is not obliged to do what X does.

«Мы не можем себе этого позволить. Я — солдат. Жизнь кочевая, сегодня здесь, завтра там… Тут не до пелёнок»… — «А как же другие?» — позволила она себе вопрос. «„Другие" мне не указ. Если „другие" глупы, это не значит, что я должен быть глуп» (Грекова 3). "We can't allow ourselves that. I'm a soldier and lead a wandering life, here today, there tomorrow…. We'll have no time for diapers."… "And what about other people?" she permitted herself to ask. "I'm not obliged to do what other people do. If others are stupid it doesn't mean I have to be stupid" (3a).

У-75 • ЦЕ́ННЫЕ УКАЗА́НИЯ давать (кому), получать iron [NP; pl only; fixed WO] (to offer s.o.) one's unsolicited opinion, suggestions, instructions etc, which are unwanted, inappropriate, or out of place, and usu. annoy the recipient (in speech, the acronym ЦУ, pronounced ⟨цэ-у⟩, is occas. used): put in one's two cents ⟨two cents' worth⟩; (give ⟨get etc⟩) unsolicited advice ⟨a few (unsolicited) words of advice etc⟩; (get) unasked-for directions ⟨advice⟩; [often in neg. contexts] put one's oar in.

У-76 • ПО УКА́ЗКЕ чьей, кого coll [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to do sth.) because s.o. orders one to: on orders from s.o.; at s.o.'s command ⟨bidding⟩; on s.o.'s instructions; (do) what s.o. tells one (to do); || жить по чужой указке ≃ let s.o. run one's life.

Всем было ясно, что предложение сделано с одобрения и по указке вышестоящих товарищей (Войнович 7). It was clear to everyone that the proposal was made with the approval and on the instructions of more highly placed comrades (7a).

У-77 • ПОД УКЛО́Н [PrepP; Invar; adv] down the slope of a hill, from a higher to a lower place: downhill; downward(s).

Дорога поворачивала направо и шла под уклон. The road turned to the right and dipped downward.

У-78 • БУЛА́ВОЧНЫЙ УКО́Л obsoles [NP; fixed WO] 1. a brief caustic remark: pinprick ⟨pin-prick⟩; dig; gibe.

…Она [жена Энгельсона] не могла пропустить ни одного случая, чтоб не кольнуть меня самым злым образом… Наконец булавочные уколы в такое время, когда я весь был задавлен болью и горем, вывели меня из терпенья (Герцен 2). …She [Engelson's wife] could not let slip any chance for having a spiteful dig at me…. Finally these pin-pricks, at a time when I was utterly crushed by grief and distress, drove me out of all patience (2a).

2. a minor irritation intentionally caused by another person: pinprick; petty annoyance; fleabite.

[Дорн:]. Кстати говоря, Константин Гаврилович жаловался, что вы привезли ему журнальную книжку с его вещью, а сами даже страницы не разрезали. Всё остальное в журнале прочли, а его рассказ — нет. Это вы что же, нарочно хотели его задеть? Или считали его до такой уж степени бездарным? [Тригорин (явно думая о чём-то другом):]. Бездарным? Совсем напротив. Он был бесконечно талантлив. …Что до неразрезанного рассказа — маленькая гнусность, обычный булавочный укол. У нас, писателей, это в порядке вещей. (Акунин 9). [D.:] By the way, Konstantin Gavrilovich complained that you brought him the issue of the journal containing his piece, but hadn't even bothered to slit the pages. You'd read everything else in the issue except his story. Did you intend to hurt him on purpose? Or do you consider him lacking in talent? [T.:] (Obviously thinking about something else.) Lacking in talent? Quite the contrary. He was extremely talented. …As far as his story is concerned, with its pages uncut, that's just a nasty little trick, the usual pinprick. For us writers, it's in the nature of things (9a).

У-79 • ЖИВО́Й УКО́Р (кому-чему) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] s.o. or sth., often within view, that causes or should cause a person or group to experience pangs of conscience, feelings of guilt etc: living ⟨vivid⟩ reproach ⟨rebuke⟩ (to s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

У-80 • НЕ В УКО́Р ⟨НЕ В УПРЁК⟩ (кому) БУДЬ СКА́ЗАНО coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth) or a clause in a complex sent; often addressed to the interlocutor; fixed WO] you or the person(s) in question should not be offended or angered by what I said or am about to say: не в упрёк (X-у) будь сказано ≃ no harm meant ⟨intended⟩ (to X); no offense meant ⟨intended⟩; no criticism (of X) intended ⟨meant, implied⟩; nothing against X, but…; (it's) nothing personal; [when addressed to the interlocutor(s)] if you'll excuse my saying so; don't take it ⟨this⟩ the wrong way, but…; don't take it amiss, but…

«Злодей-то, видно, силён; а у нас всего сто тридцать человек, не считая казаков, на которых плоха надежда, не в укор будь тебе сказано, Максимыч» (Пушкин 2). "The villain is clearly strong, and we've only got 130 men, not including the Cossacks, who cannot be relied upon, no offence meant, Maksimich" (2c). "The villain is evidently strong, and we have only a hundred and thirty men, not counting the Cossacks, who cannot be relied on, if you'll excuse my saying so, Maksimych" (2a).

У-81 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ В УКО́Р ⟨В УПРЁК⟩ кому что [VP; subj: human or collect] to rebuke or blame s.o. for sth.: X поставил Y-у в упрёк Z ≃ X reproached ⟨reprimanded⟩ Y (for Z); X pinned Z on Y; X put ⟨pinned, laid, placed⟩ the blame for Z on Y; X laid the blame for Z at Y's door; X blames Y for (doing) Z; X considered Y ⟨regarded Y as⟩ blameworthy in Z.

…Одновременно мы находим в истории совершенно противоположные взгляды на то, что было зло и что было благо: одни данную Польше конституцию и Священный Союз ставят в заслугу, другие в укор Александру (Толстой 7). …We find at one and the same time quite contradictory views as to what is bad and what is good in history: some people regard giving a constitution to Poland and forming the Holy Alliance as praiseworthy in Alexander, while others regard it as blameworthy (7b).

У-82 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ УКОРО́Т highly coll [VP; subj: human or collect; often infin with надо, пора etc] 1. ~ кому to humble, restrain s.o., thus causing him to break off his activity: X дал Y-у укорот ≃ X brought ⟨took, knocked⟩ Y down a peg ⟨a notch⟩ (or two); X brought Y to heel; X put Y in Y's place; X brought ⟨pulled⟩ Y up short.

…Инспектор народных училищ Илья Николаевич Федякин, слывший у прогрессистов язвой, каких мало, попробовал дать чересчур самоуверенному говоруну укорот… (Акунин 6). …The inspector of public schools, Ilya Nikolaevich Fedyakin, reputed among the progressives to be a notably acerbic wit, attempted to put the overconfident speaker in his place… (6a).

2. ~ чему to cause some activity to terminate: X дал Y-у укорот ≃ X put ⟨brought ⟩ an end to Y; X cut Y short.

У-83 • НЕ УКРАДИ́ lit [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] one of the Ten Commandments: thou shalt not steal; you shall not steal.

У околицы тянулись длинные грядки огурцов. Ахимас огляделся вокруг — никого. Раньше ему и в голову не пришло бы брать чужое, потому что Бог отца сказал: «Не укради», но теперь ни отца, ни его Бога не было, и Ахимас, опустившись на четвереньки, стал жадно поедать упругие пупырчатые плоды (Акунин 3). At the edge of the village there were long beds of cucumbers. Before this Achimas would never even have thought of taking someone else's property, because his father's God had said, "Thou shalt not steal," but now he had no father and no God, either, and he sank down onto his hands and knees and began greedily devouring the plump, pimply green fruits (3a).

< From the Bible (Ex. 20:15, Deut. 19 et al.). «Укради» is the Church Slavonic imperative form of the verb «украсти»; the corresponding modern verb is «украсть».

У-84 • кислый КАК У́КСУС [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] (of a drink, usu. wine, that has) unpleasant, very sour taste: (as) sour as vinegar.

У-85 • ЗЕЛЁНАЯ У́ЛИЦА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. a clear path, without obstacles or delays (along which a vehicle can move, a project can develop, a plan can be implemented etc): a green light all the way; clear passage.

«Приношу [в издательство] рецензии [на свою брошюру] от светил, — это не проблема. За меня хватаются. Тут же — в план. Зелёная улица» (Зиновьев 2). "I submit [to the publishers] a few testimonials [for my pamphlet] from leading lights—that's no problem. I've got plenty of them. And they immediately include me in their publishing plan. It's a green light all the way" (2a).

2. obs a punishment in the Imperial army by which the offending soldier was forced to run between two rows of soldiers who beat him with rods as he ran: (run ⟨make s.o. run⟩) the gauntlet.

У-86 • БУ́ДЕТ И НА НА́ШЕЙ ⟨моей, твоей и т.п.⟩ У́ЛИЦЕ ПРА́ЗДНИК [saying] we (I, you etc) too will rejoice, celebrate success etc (said during hard, unsuccessful times in the hope that the person or group in question will eventually be successful, victorious, in a position of power etc): ≃ our ⟨my, your etc⟩ day ⟨time⟩ will come; we'll ⟨I'll etc⟩ have our ⟨my etc⟩ day, too; every dog has his day.

«Время работает на нас, — думали они, разноцветно поблёскивая в свете электричества, — наше дело правое, будет и на нашей улице праздник…» (Аржак 1). "Time is on our side," they told themselves, as their many colours gleamed in the electric light. "Our cause is just, our day will come…" (1a).

У-87 • НА У́ЛИЦЕ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, оказаться etc (subj: human)] 1. one is (finds o.s. etc) without lodging: (out) on ⟨in⟩ the street.

…Соня билась за свою комнату, добилась наконец, дорожит ею, и я не на улице, есть крыша над головой, буду жить у неё и дожидаться, чтобы и мне дали комнату… (Рыбаков 1). Sonya had struggled to get her room and now that she had, it really meant something to her, and, since I wasn't out on the street, but had a roof over my head, I could live with her and wait till they gave me my own place (1a).

2. one is (ends up etc) without work, employment: (out) on ⟨in⟩ the street; [lim.] out the door.

На фабрике шли массовые увольнения, многие квалифицированные рабочие оказались на улице. There were mass firings at the factory and many skilled laborers ended up on the street.

У-88 • ВЫБРА́СЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́БРОСИТЬ ⟨ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́КИНУТЬ, ВЫШВЫ́РИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ШВЫРНУТЬ⟩ НА У́ЛИЦУ кого [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. to evict s.o. from his living quarters, deprive s.o. of lodgings without offering him any other place to stay: X выбросил Y-а на улицу ≃ X threw ⟨turned, kicked, tossed⟩ Y out on ⟨onto, in, into⟩ the street; [lim.] X turned Y out of house and home.

2. to fire s.o.: X выбросил Y-а на улицу ≃ X threw ⟨tossed⟩ Y out (on ⟨onto, in, into⟩ the street); X kicked Y out.

…[Они] расскажут, при случае, что они, Боже упаси, не антисемиты: у них половина друзей — евреи. А раздастся в тиши кабинета «звонок», поступят «сигнал», «закрытое письмо», с тем же деловитым дружелюбием выбросят тебя на улицу, оставят без хлеба… (Свирский 1). …[They] tell you whenever the opportunity occurs that they aren't anti-Semitic, heaven forbid. Half of their friends are Jews. But if in the silence of their offices the phone rings, or a "signal" comes, or a secret letter, then they'll throw you out on the street with that selfsame businesslike friendliness, leave you to starve… (1a).

У-89 • ВЫНОСИ́ТЬ НА У́ЛИЦУ что [VP; subj: human; often neg or infin with не надо, не нужно, незачем etc] to divulge a private, intimate matter, make it open to public discussion: X не выносит Y на улицу ≃ X doesn't make Y public knowledge; [lim.] X doesn't tell tales out of school.

У-90 • человек, люди С У́ЛИЦЫ coll, rather condes or derog [PrepP; Invar; usu. nonagreeing modif or adv] 1. ordinary person or people (often with the implication that the person is undeserving, lacking in status, uneducated etc): man ⟨men, people etc⟩ in the street; [when the modified noun is pl only] general public; the common people; commoners; the masses; hoi polloi.

По справедливости он [ресторан Грибоедов] считался самым лучшим в Москве. И не только потому, что размещался он в двух больших залах со сводчатыми потолками… не только потому, что на каждом столике помещалась лампа, накрытая шалью, не только потому, что туда не мог проникнуть первый попавшийся человек с улицы, а ещё и потому, что качеством своей провизии Грибоедов бил любой ресторан в Москве, как хотел… (Булгаков 9). It was justly considered the best in Moscow. And not only because it was housed in two large rooms with vaulted ceilings…; not only because on every table there was a lamp with a silk shawl draped around the shade; not only because it was impossible for the man in the street to gain admission to it; but also because, in the quality of its fare, Griboyedov's beat any restaurant in Moscow… (9a). Griboyedov was considered the best restaurant in Moscow and with good reason. Not only because of its layout in two large rooms with vaulted ceilings… or because each table had its own shawl-shaded lamp, or because it was exclusive and closed to the general public, but also because it served better-quality food than any restaurant in Moscow… (9c).

2. unfamiliar, altogether unknown (person or people): (a man ⟨people etc⟩) off the street; || Neg человек не с улицы ≃ not just anybody ⟨anyone⟩.

«Товарищ Сандро — уважаемый человек», — твёрдо сказал чёрный китель. «О чём говорить! — воскликнул сван, сидевший рядом со мной. — Сопровождать генерала Клименко с улицы человека не возьмут» (Искандер 4). "Comrade Sandro is a respected man," Black-Tunic said firmly. "That goes without saying!" exclaimed the Svan sitting next to me. "They don't just pick someone off the street to escort General Klimenko" (4a).

У-91 • БРА́ТЬСЯ/ВЗЯ́ТЬСЯ ЗА УМ coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv; often infin with пора, надо etc] to become more prudent, begin to act judiciously: X взялся за ум ≃ X came to his senses; X became ⟨grew⟩ sensible ⟨reasonable⟩; X began to act sensibly.

«Вы плохо мне служите, фройляйн Толле, — произнёс резкий баритон. — Конечно, хорошо, что вы взялись за ум и сделали то, что вам было велено. Но зачем было ломаться и попусту меня нервировать?» (Акунин 3). "You serve me badly, Fräulein Tolle," a harsh baritone declared. "Of course, it is good that you came to your senses and did as you were ordered. But why did you have to be so obstinate and cause me such pointless nervous aggravation?" (3a).

У-92 • НАСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/НАСТА́ВИТЬ НА УМ ⟨НА РА́ЗУМ obs⟩ кого old-fash, coll [VP; subj: usu. human] to teach s.o. something good, useful (usu. in the form of sensible advice): X наставил Y-а на ум ≃ X taught Y some sense; X made Y see sense ⟨the light⟩; X put some sense into Y's head ⟨into Y⟩; X brought Y to Y's senses; X brought Y (back) to reason; X wised Y up.

[Гордей Карпыч:] Ну, брат, спасибо, что на ум наставил, а то было свихнулся совсем. Не знаю, как и в голову вошла такая гнилая фантазия (Островский 2). [G.K.:] Well, brother, thank you for bringing me back to reason; I almost went out of my mind completely. I don't know how such a rotten notion got into my head (2a).

У-93 • УМ ЗА РА́ЗУМ ЗАХО́ДИТ/ЗАШЁЛ у кого coll [VP$_{subj}$; fixed WO with the verb movable] s.o. is confused, his thoughts are jumbled, he cannot think coherently (often as a result of pondering some topic for a long time, trying to solve a difficult problem, or being overwhelmed with complex matters): у X-а ум за разум заходит ≃ X can't think straight ⟨clearly⟩; X's mind is reeling ⟨going (a)round in circles⟩; X doesn't know whether he's coming or going; [lim.] (some problem etc) is too much for X's (poor) brain.

«…Так, например, один горожанин, как мне рассказывали, получив трёхкомнатную квартиру… без всякого пятого измерения и прочих вещей, от которых ум заходит за разум, мгновенно превратил её в четырёхкомнатную, разделив одну из комнат пополам перегородкой» (Булгаков 9). "I heard of one man, for example, who received a three-room apartment and immediately turned the three into four without any fifth dimension or any other things that make your mind reel, simply by dividing one room with a partition" (9a).

У-94 • УМ ХОРОШО́, А ДВА ЛУ́ЧШЕ [saying] it is better to confer with s.o. when solving a problem than to try to do it alone (said when asking s.o. for help in solving a problem, offering s.o. one's help in solving a problem etc): ≃ two heads are better than one.

«…Русская пословица говорит: „Если есть у кого один ум, то это хорошо, а если придёт в гости ещё умный человек, то будет ещё лучше, ибо тогда будет два ума, а не один только…"» — «Ум хорошо, а два — лучше», — в нетерпении подсказал прокурор… (Достоевский 2). "…The Russian proverb says: 'It is good when someone has one head, but when an intelligent man comes to visit, it is better still, for then there will be two heads and not just one…'" "Two heads are better than one," the prosecutor prompted impatiently… (2a).

У-95 • БЕЗ УМА́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ от кого-чего [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] one is spellbound, enraptured by s.o. or sth.: X без ума от Y-а ≃ X is crazy ⟨mad, wild, dotty, nuts⟩ about Y; X goes wild ⟨crazy⟩ over Y; X has lost his head over person Y; X is madly ⟨head over heels⟩ in love with person Y; X is head over heels over person Y.

«…Мы приходим однажды к нашим девушкам. Мою звали Катрин, я её Катей называл, а молоденькую звали Гретой… Мне нравится моя Катя, и я, чувствую, ей нравлюсь, а эти вообще без ума друг от друга» (Искандер 5). "…One time we came to see our girls. Mine was named Katrin—I called her Katya—and the young one was named Greta…. I liked my Katya, and she liked me, I could feel it, and the other two were just plain crazy about each other" (5a). ♦ Мне была совершенно ясна бессмыслица гартвиговских авантюр, но иные интеллигенты, и в особенности дамы с воспалённым воображением, были от них без ума (Трифонов 5). The absurdity of Gartvig's adventures was perfectly clear to me, but some intellectuals—and especially certain ladies with overly vivid imaginations—went wild over them (5a).

2. ~ любить кого, rare что, влюбляться в кого, быть$_{ø}$ влюблённым в кого [adv (intensif)] (to love s.o.) ardently, fervently: madly; to distraction; beyond all measure.

Ещё до войны видела однажды Настёна в кино… как городская баба, не зная, чем угодить мужику, которого она без ума любила, кормила его, как маленького, из рук (Распутин 2). Once before the war Nastyona saw a movie… in which a city woman, not knowing how to please the man she loved madly, spoon-fed him like a child (2a).

У-96 • ВСЯК ⟨ВСЯ́КИЙ, КА́ЖДЫЙ⟩ ПО-СВО́ЕМУ С УМА́ СХО́ДИТ [saying] everyone has his whims, oddities (said condescendingly of s.o. whose behavior, tastes, or actions strike others as unusual): ≃ everyone is crazy in his own way; we all have our little idiosyncracies.

У-97 • ВЫ́ЖИВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЖИТЬ ИЗ УМА́ coll, derog [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past] to lose the ability to think, reason sensibly because of old age: X выжил из ума ≃ X has lost his mind ⟨his senses⟩; X has become ⟨got(ten), grown⟩ senile; X has lost possession of his faculties; X's mind is gone; X has outlived his wits; X is in his dotage.

«Так это должно быть! — думал князь Андрей, выезжая из аллеи лысогорского дома. — Она, жалкое невинное существо, остаётся на съедение выжившему из ума старику. Старик чувствует, что виноват, но не может изменить себя» (Толстой 6). "That's how it has to be!" thought Prince Andrey as he drove down the avenue leaving Bald Hills behind. "Poor innocent creature, she has to stay there at the mercy of an old man who has outlived his wits. The old man can tell he's in the wrong, but he can't help it" (6c).

У-98 • ДОВОДИ́ТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ́ ДО УМА́ coll [VP; subj: human; often pfv fut or infin with надо, нужно etc] 1. ~ кого to cause s.o. to be sensible, prudent, force s.o. to be reasonable: X доведёт Y-а до ума ≃ X will bring Y ⟨make Y come⟩ to Y's senses; X will make Y see sense.

«А до ума мы вас, Митёк, доведём, не пойдёте — силой дотащим, для вашей же пользы» (Максимов 2). "We'll make you see sense, though, Mitya—and if you don't, we'll knock it into your head the hard way, for your own good" (2a).

2. ~ что to get (a project, work etc) in good condition by making improvements: X доведёт Y до ума ≃ X will shape Y up; X will get Y in(to) shape; X will whip Y into shape.

Чтобы довести до ума этот наспех сколоченный дом, нужно вложить в него много денег и труда. It would take a lot of money and work to shape up this hastily thrown-together house.

У-99 • ЛИША́ТЬСЯ/ЛИШИ́ТЬСЯ УМА́ ⟨РАССУ́ДКА⟩; ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ РАССУ́ДОК [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past] to become insane: X ума лишился ≃ X went mad ⟨crazy, out of his mind⟩; X lost his mind.

Мчал Абдильхан, к седлу пригнувшись чёрной тучей. К аулу, к дому! Сородичи, что волчьей стаей рядом шли, ему кричали на скаку: «Брат твой рассудком тронулся! Ума лишился!» (Айтматов 2). Abdil'khan, crouched low over the saddle, rode on like a black cloud. To the aul [the village]! Home! His kinsmen raced beside him like a pack of wolves, shouting, "Your brother is mad! He's gone out of his mind!" (2a).

У-100 • НАБИРА́ТЬСЯ/НАБРА́ТЬСЯ УМА́ ⟨РА́ЗУМА, УМА́-РА́ЗУМА⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv (in questions, neg, or infin with хочет, надо бы etc)] to become more serious, sensible, knowledgeable etc: X-у надо (бы) ума набраться ≃ X should get some sense into his head; X needs to learn some sense ⟨a thing or two⟩; X has much ⟨a lot⟩ to learn; || Neg X ума не набрался ≃ [lim.] X doesn't know any better.

«…Дай, говорю, продам [крестьян], да и продал сдуру! — Засим он повесил голову так, как будто сам раскаивался в этом деле, и прибавил: — Вот и седой человек, а до сих пор не набрался ума» (Гоголь 3). "Well, I said to myself, let's sell them [my peasants], and I sold them like a fool!" Then he hung his head as though he were really sorry for what he had done and added: "I may be a grey-haired old man, but I've still got no sense" (3a).

У-101 • НЕ МОЕГО́ ⟨твоего́ и т.п.⟩ УМА́ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP$_{gen}$; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: это, abstr, or infin), pres only; fixed WO] sth. is beyond s.o.'s ability to understand and/or does not concern s.o.: это не Х-ова ума дело ≃ X doesn't ⟨wouldn't⟩ understand it and it doesn't have anything to do with him anyway; [with the focus on s.o.'s inability to understand] X wouldn't understand (it); it's over X's head; it's out of ⟨beyond⟩ X's depth; it is ⟨such matters are etc⟩ beyond X's reach; [with the focus on sth.'s not concerning s.o.] it has nothing to do with X; it's none of X's business ⟨concern⟩; it's not for X to know.

«И за это получили из артиллерии?.. С бронепоезда?» — «Разумеется». — «Прискорбно. Достойно сожаления. Впрочем, это не нашего ума дело» (Пастернак 1). "So they were shelled?… From the armored train?" "Of course." "That's bad. All our sympathy. Still, it's none of our business" (1a).

У-102 • ОТ ⟨С⟩ БОЛЬШО́ГО УМА́ coll, iron [PrepP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs] (to do sth.) out of stupidity, foolishness: in one's infinite wisdom; out of sheer brilliance; in one's great intelligence.

«…Русского мужика, вообще говоря, надо пороть. Я это всегда утверждал. Мужик наш мошенник, его жалеть не стоит, и хорошо ещё, что дерут его иной раз и теперь… Мужиков мы драть перестали с большого ума, а те сами себя пороть продолжают. И хорошо делают» (Достоевский 1). "…Generally speaking, the Russian peasant should be whipped. I have always maintained that. Our peasants are cheats, they're not worth our pity, and it's good that they're still sometimes given a birching… In our great intelligence, we've stopped flogging our peasants, but they go on whipping themselves. And right they are" (1a).

У-103 • С УМА́ СОЙТИ́ ⟨СОЙДЁШЬ⟩! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express utter surprise, amazement, delight, a sarcastic reaction to sth. etc: (truly) unbelievable ⟨amazing, incredible etc⟩!; that's unbelievable ⟨amazing etc⟩!; my goodness!; [lim.] you're kidding!; I can't believe it!; it's ⟨she's etc⟩ a knockout!; it'll ⟨she'll etc⟩ make you flip; it drives ⟨can drive⟩ you crazy ⟨mad, nuts, out of your mind⟩!; you could lose your mind!

Чуйков вернулся в блиндаж. Гуров, поджидавший его с ужином, сказал: «Николай Иванович, с ума сойти: тихо» (Гроссман 2). He [Chuykov] went back to the bunker. Gurov was waiting for him so they could have supper. "What silence, Nikolay Ivanovich!" said Gurov. "I can't believe it" (2a). ♦ «Я думаю, [он] куда-нибудь в Сибирь подался…» — «А почему в Сибирь?» — «Я там в экспедиции был, с ума сойти как здорово…» (Семёнов 1). "I reckon he's off to Siberia…." "But why Siberia?" "I was out there with an expedition, it's a knockout, great" (1a).

У-104 • СВОДИ́ТЬ/СВЕСТИ́ С УМА́ кого coll [VP] 1. [subj: human or abstr] to upset, disturb, annoy etc s.o. so greatly that he cannot think coherently: X сводит Y-а с ума ≃ X drives Y mad ⟨crazy, insane, out of Y's mind etc⟩; X drives Y up the wall.

«…Он едва самого меня не свёл с ума, доказывая мне, что меня нету!» (Булгаков 9). "He nearly drove me mad, trying to prove that I didn't exist" (9b). "He nearly drove me out of my mind, trying to prove to me that I don't exist!" (9c).

2. [subj: human, abstr, or concr] to enthrall, captivate, charm s.o. overwhelmingly; (of people only) to cause s.o. to fall deeply, passionately in love with one: X сводил Y-а с ума ≃ X was driving Y out of Y's mind; X was driving Y mad ⟨crazy, wild⟩.

А что представляла из себя она, если не считать её необъяснимой прелести, сводящей мужчин с ума? (Катаев 2). And what was she, if one didn't count her mysterious charm which drove men out of their minds? (2a).

У-105 • СПЯ́ТИТЬ ⟨СВИХНУ́ТЬ(СЯ), СВОРОТИ́ТЬ, СБРЕ́НДИТЬ⟩ С УМА́ substand; РЕША́ТЬСЯ/РЕШИ́ТЬСЯ УМА́ obs, substand [VP; subj: human] 1. to become insane: X спятил с ума ≃ X went ⟨was⟩ out of his mind ⟨out of his head, off his rocker, off his nut etc⟩; X lost his marbles.

Окружат вас мерзкими харями, кикиморами, упырями. Страшно станет. Запьёте пуще прежнего. И чем больше пить будете, тем страшнее будет. Пока не свихнётесь с ума, как бедный Николай Николаевич! (Терц 5). They'll surround you with loathsome snouts, specters, and vampires. You'll be terrified. You'll take to drinking more than ever before. And the more you drink, the more terrified you'll be. Until you go off your rocker like poor Nikolay Nikolayevich! (5a).

2. to say or do nonsensical things, act as if one has gone insane: X с ума спятил ≃ X has gone nuts ⟨crazy, berserk, off his head etc⟩; X must be off his rocker; X has flipped his lid ⟨flipped out⟩; [lim.] X is talking crazy.

«Ты послушал бы, что давеча доктор сказал. „За границу, говорит, ступайте, а то плохо: удар может быть"»… — «Что ж? — хладнокровно сказал Штольц. — В Египте ты будешь через две недели, в Америке через три». — «Ну, брат Андрей, и ты то же! Один толковый человек и был, и тот с ума спятил» (Гончаров 1). "If you'd heard what the doctor told me only this morning. 'You must go abroad!' he said, 'otherwise you're heading for trouble, even a stroke.'"… "So what," Stoltz said in a matter of fact tone. "You can be in Egypt in two weeks and in America in three." "Not you too, Andrei! You were the only one I could rely on to talk sense and now you're talking crazy too!" (1c).

У-106 • СХОДИ́ТЬ/СОЙТИ́ С УМА́ [VP; subj: human] 1. to become insane: X сошёл с ума ≃ X went ⟨was⟩ mad ⟨crazy, insane, out of his mind, out of his head⟩; X lost his mind; X went (a)round the bend.

Чтобы не сойти с ума, надо было действовать решительно и скорее (Пастернак 1). If they were not to go insane they must act quickly and firmly (1a).

2. Also: ПОСХОДИ́ТЬ С УМА́ coll [var. with посходить is used with pl subj] to say or do stupid, nonsensical things, act as if one has gone insane: X с ума сошёл ≃ X has gone (quite) crazy ⟨mad etc⟩; X has gone berserk ⟨nuts etc⟩; X must be crazy ⟨mad, out of his mind etc⟩; X has taken leave of his senses.

Что творится во время приёма! Сегодня было 82 звонка. Телефон выключен. Бездетные дамы с ума сошли и идут… (Булгаков 11). The things that go on during visiting hours! The bell rang eighty-two times today. The telephone was disconnected. Childless ladies have gone berserk and are coming in droves… (11a). ♦ «Люди совсем посходили с ума, — покачал головой Соломон Евсеевич. — Мне уже двадцать человек звонили про эти шапки» (Войнович 6). "People have completely taken leave of their senses," said Fishkin, shaking his head. "Twenty phone calls I've had already about these hats" (6a).

3. coll [pfv past only; 2nd or 3rd pers only] used to express the speaker's reaction to s.o.'s irrational actions, thoughtless statements etc: ты с ума сошёл! ≃ you're ⟨you must be⟩ out of your mind ⟨off your head etc⟩!; are you crazy!; you're nuts ⟨crazy etc⟩!

«Итак, друзья мои, мы по всей вероятности будем сматываться отсюда», — сказал Дима… «На родину предков?» — спросил Антон. «Ты с ума сошёл, — возмутился Дима. — В Канаду или США. На худой конец — в Париж» (Зиновьев 2). "Well, then, my friends, we'll probably be pushing off quite soon," said Dima…. "To return to the land of your forefathers?" Anton asked. "You must be off your head," said Dima indignantly. "To Canada or to the States. Paris at worst" (2a). ♦ «Забегает в бар молодой парень и — к бармену: „В двухсотграммовый стакан можете триста граммов коньяка налить?" Бармен с удивлением: „С ума сошли!"» (Чернёнок 1). "A young man runs into a bar and says to the bartender: 'Can you pour three hundred grams of cognac into a two-hundred-gram glass?' The bartender says: 'You're nuts!'" (1a).

4. ~ (от чего) [impfv only] to become very agitated, restless, excited etc (in response to worry, alarm, joy etc): X с ума сходит (от Y-а) ≃ [in response to worry, alarm etc] X is going ⟨is nearly⟩ out of his mind ⟨head⟩ (with Y); X is crazy with Y; Y is driving ⟨is enough to drive⟩ X crazy ⟨mad, insane⟩; [in response to joy, happiness] X is (going) wild with Y.

«Боже мой, без двадцати двенадцать! Мама, наверное, с ума сошла. Я обещала быть к ужину…» (Ерофеев 3). "Oh my God, it's twenty of twelve! Mama's probably crazy with worry. I promised to be home for supper…" (3a).

5. ~ от кого-чего, по кому-чему, по ком coll [prep obj: more often human; impfv only] to be or become excessively delighted by, excited over s.o. or sth.: X с ума сходит по Y-у ≃ X is crazy ⟨wild, mad etc⟩ about Y; X goes crazy ⟨wild etc⟩ over Y; X loses his head over Y.

…Тётушка Хрисула прямо с ума сходила по чёрному инжиру (Искандер 5). …Auntie Chrysoula was really wild about black figs (5a). ♦ Женщины от него [Кирсанова] с ума сходили, мужчины называли его фатом и втайне завидовали ему (Тургенев 2). Women were crazy about him, and men called him a dandy and envied him in secret (2g). Women lost their heads over him, and men dubbed him a fop but were secretly envious (2c).

В ауле множество собак встретило нас громким лаем. Женщины, увидя нас, прятались; те, которых мы могли рассмотреть в лицо, были далеко не красавицы. «Я имел гораздо лучшее мнение о черкешенках», — сказал мне Григорий Александрович. «Погодите», — отвечал я усмехаясь. У меня было своё на уме (Лермонтов 1). At the village a lot of dogs met us with a loud howling. The women saw us and hid; those whose faces we did manage to see were no beauties. "I had a much better opinion of Circassian women," Grigory Alexandrovich told me. "Just you wait," I replied, chuckling. I had something of my own in mind (1e). At his village, a lot of dogs met us with loud barking. The women hid at the sight of us. Those whose faces we were able to make out were far from being beauties. "I had a far better opinion of Circassian women," said Pechorin to me. "Just wait!" I replied with a smile. I had something up my sleeve (1a).

У-117 • СЕБЕ́ НА УМЕ́ coll [Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human), pres or past; fixed WO] one is guarded, tight-lipped (with regard to his plans, intentions etc), guileful, protective of his own interests etc (the focus may be on any combination of the above elements; may imply that one's plans etc are not aboveboard): X себе на уме ≃ X is secretive ⟨closemouthed, sly etc⟩; X is secretive and wily ⟨sly, mindful of his own interests etc⟩; X plays a deep game.

…Свидригайлов вдруг опять рассмеялся. Раскольникову явно было, что это на что-то твёрдо решившийся человек и себе на уме (Достоевский 3). …Svidrigailov suddenly laughed again. It was obvious to Raskolnikov that this was a man with his mind firmly set on something and one who was also secretive (3a).

У-118 • ЧТО НА УМЕ́, ТО И НА ЯЗЫКЕ́ (у кого) coll [Invar; VP$_{subj}$ or predic; when used predicatively, it is usu. preceded by another predicate; fixed WO] an open person who cannot conceal his feelings: у X-а ~ ≃ X says what he thinks and thinks what he says; X (always) says what's on his mind; [lim.] X wears ⟨pins⟩ his heart on his sleeve.

Мама была очень скрытной и самолюбивой. Она не любила признаваться, что ей плохо. Не любила обсуждать свои личные дела. За это на неё обижались и бабушка, и её сестра, Анна Сергеевна, — сами они были чрезвычайно открытые, откровенные, — что на уме, то и на языке (Аллилуева 1). My mother had a great deal of reticence and pride. She hated to admit there was anything wrong or to discuss her private affairs. Her mother and her sister Anna were sometimes hurt by this quality of hers, since they themselves could scarcely have been more open and frank. They wore their hearts on their sleeves (1a).

У-119 • УМЕРЕ́ТЬ (—) НЕ ВСТАТЬ coll [Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun); also used as Interj; fixed WO] (used to express delight, astonishment etc) amazing, overwhelming, unrivaled: X — умереть не встать ≃ X is a breathtaking ⟨an astonishing etc⟩ sight; X blows you away ⟨blows your mind⟩; X takes your breath away; X bowls you over; X knocks you dead; you ⟨you'd⟩ have to see ⟨hear⟩ it to believe it; [when used as Interj] it (really) knocks your socks off ⟨knocks you for a loop⟩!; you could knock ⟨have knocked⟩ me down ⟨over⟩ with a feather!; it can knock you off your feet!

Цыгане поразили Оглоткова роскошными бархатными шароварами бордового цвета, которые носили все мужчины табора; зрелище — умереть не встать (Чудаков 1). Oglotkov was struck by the sumptuous velvet wide trousers the color of claret that all the Gypsy men were wearing—an astonishing sight (1a).

У-120 • БЕЗ У́МОЛКУ говорить, болтать, трещать и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to talk, chatter, chirp etc) without stopping or growing quiet: nonstop; without pause ⟨letup, a break⟩; incessantly; continuously; unceasingly.

Завтрак продолжался долго. За первою бутылкой шампанского последовала другая, третья и четвёртая… Евдоксия болтала без умолку… (Тургенев 2). The lunch dragged on a long «Неужели же вам понравились эти зайцы?» — «Зайцы! — Он презрительно махнул рукой. — Кто говорит о зайцах? Глупая игра, не дающая ни уму, ни сердцу» (Грекова 1). "Did you really like those rabbits?" "Rabbits"—he waved his hand contemptuously—"who's talking about rabbits? A stupid game holding nothing for either the intellect or the emotions" (1b).

У-131 • УМУ́ НЕПОСТИЖИ́МО [Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: a clause) or impers predic; fixed WO] sth. is absolutely unfathomable, impossible to comprehend or explain: it's beyond (all) understanding ⟨belief⟩; it's inconceivable; it boggles the mind; the mind cannot grasp it; it defies understanding; it's beyond me.

«Нет, это просто удивительно, что мне удалось от неё удрать. Уму непостижимо, и как это она меня выпустила?» (Стругацкие 1). "No, it's just amazing that I managed to get away from her. It boggles the mind—how did she let me?" (1a). ♦ И что он рассказывал о немцах, о том, что они вытворяют, уму непостижимо, поверить невозможно (Рыбаков 1). As for what he told us about the Germans, what they were up to, the mind just couldn't grasp it, it was impossible to believe (1a).

У-132 • УМУ́ ⟨УМА́⟩ ПОМРАЧЕ́НЬЕ ⟨ПОМРАЧЕ́НИЕ⟩ obsoles, coll [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: concr or human); also used as Interj; fixed WO] (often of food, a person's appearance or clothes etc) extraordinary, fabulous, making a very strong impression: X — уму помраченье ≃ X is out of this world; X takes your ⟨one's⟩ breath away; X blows your ⟨one's⟩ mind; X is mind-blowing; you get dizzy from X; [in refer. to food] X tastes like it was made in heaven.

«…Словом: лаки на всём такие — в некотором роде ума помрачение. Один швейцар уже смотрит генералиссимусом…» (Гоголь 3). "…In a word such shine and polish that, in a way, you'd get dizzy. Even the doorman looked like a generalissimo…" (3e).

У-133 • УЧИ́ТЬ/НАУЧИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОУЧИ́ТЬ⟩ УМУ́-РА́ЗУМУ кого coll [VP; subj: human or, less often, abstr; more often impfv; if pfv, usu. fut or subjunctive; more often this WO] to teach s.o. something good, helpful, admonish s.o., give s.o. advice on how to act or live: X научит Y-а уму-разуму ≃ X will teach Y some (good) sense; X will make Y see sense; [when punishment, including beating, is implied] X will knock some sense into Y; X will teach Y a lesson.

…Надо сшибать с него спесь, учить его уму-разуму, этакого дурачка долговязого! (Трифонов 3). This lanky upstart should be taken down a peg or two and taught some sense (3a). ♦ «А этот, — она снисходительно кивнула в сторону мальчишки… — совсем от рук отбился, никакого сладу с ним нет. Был бы отец, научил бы уму-разуму…» (Максимов 1). "But as for him," she gave a contemptuous nod in the direction of the boy… "he's got completely out of hand, I can't do anything with him. If his father was here he'd knock some sense into him…" (1a).

У-134 • В УНИСО́Н [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. петь, звучать ~ (с чем) music (to sing, sound notes etc) at the same pitch or in octaves: in unison.

2. ~ с чем, чему corresponding exactly to the mood, emotional spirit (of some person, group, happening etc): in unison with; in harmony ⟨tune, keeping⟩ with; harmonize with.

«В воздухе чувствовалось дыхание приближающейся грозы». Этой фразой я завершу роман «В поисках радости»… Приближающаяся гроза оживляет пейзаж и звучит в унисон событиям: легкий намёк на революцию, на любовь моего Вадима к Татьяне Кречет… (Терц 4). "The breath of an approaching thunderstorm could be sensed in the air." With this phrase I would end my novel In Search of Joy…. An approaching storm would enliven the landscape and harmonize with the novel's events, introducing a faint hint of revolution and of the love of my hero Vadim for Tatyana Krechet (4a).

3. ~ с кем-чем (to do sth.) in coordination, together (with s.o. or sth.): as one; in unison.

4. ~ отвечать (to answer) with the same inflection, intonation, expressing the same emotion (as one's interlocutor): in the same fashion ⟨spirit, tone⟩; match(ing) s.o.'s tone.

«А я всё больше нажимал на производство. Вкалывал до упаду» (Копелев 1). "And I kept pushing the production part. I worked till I dropped" (1a). ♦ [Иванов:] Надо бы хохотать до упаду над моим кривлянием, а ты — караул! (Чехов 4). [I.:] You should laugh yourself silly at my antics, not sound the alarm-bell! (4b).

У-136 • В УПО́Р [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. подойти, подступить к кому, столкнуться ~ и т.п. (to approach, come up to etc s.o.) very closely, so that hardly any distance separates one from s.o., (to run) directly, right (into s.o.): face to face; eyeball-to-eyeball; right up to; [lim.] (be) close up to.

[extended usage] Человек взмахнул руками, вцепился в мою шубу, потряс меня, прильнул и стал тихонько выкрикивать: «Голубчик мой… доктор… скорее… умирает она»… Я взял безжизненную руку… Под пальцами задрожало мелко, часто, потом стало срываться, тянуться в нитку. У меня похолодело привычно под ложечкой, как всегда, когда я в упор видел смерть (Булгаков 6). The man waved his arms, clutched my fur coat and shook me as he pressed against me, moaning softly: "Oh, doctor… my dear fellow… quickly… she's dying." …I took the lifeless arm…. I could feel a thin, rapid flutter which broke off and picked up again as a mere faint thread. I felt the customary stab of cold in the pit of my stomach as I always do when I see death face to face (6a).

2. стрелять, целиться в кого-что, убить кого ~ и т.п. (to shoot, aim at s.o. or sth., kill s.o. etc) from a very short distance away, having moved right up to him or it: point-blank; at point-blank ⟨close⟩ range.

Высокий белобровый австриец… почти в упор выстрелил в Григория с колена. Огонь свинца опалил щёку. Григорий повёл пикой, натягивая изо всей силы поводья (Шолохов 2). A tall fair-browed Austrian… fired almost point-blank at Grigory from a kneeling position. The heat of the molten lead scorched Grigory's cheek. He aimed his lance and reined in with all his strength (2a).

«А что он сделал?» — спросил Сталин и в упор посмотрел на Берию. «Болтает лишнее, выжил из ума», — сказал Берия (Искандер 3). "What has he done?" Stalin asked. He looked point-blank at Beria. "He blabs too much, he's gotten senile," Beria said (3a). ♦ «Это что ещё такое?» — вскричал [Иван Фёдорович], вглядываясь в упор в лицо пристава, и вдруг, схватив его за плечи, яростно ударил об пол (Достоевский 2). "What is the meaning of this?" Ivan Fyodorovich exclaimed, staring straight into the marshal's face, and suddenly, seizing him by the shoulders, he flung him violently to the floor (2a).

4. сказать, спросить ~ (to say, ask) directly and in plain terms: point-blank; flat out; bluntly.

«Где брала?» — в упор спросил Николай. «Чего?» — испугалась учительница. «Да танкетки ж», — нетерпеливо сказал Николай (Войнович 5). "Where'd you get them?" Nikolai asked point-blank. "Get what?" said the teacher, quite startled. "The shoes, the shoes," said Nikolai impatiently (5a).

У-137 • В УПО́Р НЕ ВИ́ДЕТЬ кого coll [VP; subj: human; pres or past; fixed WO] to ignore s.o. completely, usu. in a demonstrative fashion: X Y-а в упор не видит ≃ X looks right through ⟨past⟩ Y; X pretends not to see Y; X snubs Y.

Он зазнался, старых друзей в упор не видит. He's gotten a swelled head, and he snubs his old friends.

У-138 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ УПО́Р на что, на чём [VP; subj: human] to underscore sth., pay or call special attention to sth.: X делает упор на Y ≃ X emphasizes ⟨stresses, underlines⟩ Y; X puts ⟨places, lays⟩ (the) emphasis ⟨the main emphasis⟩ on Y; X lays special stress on Y; X focuses on Y.

«И христиане, не выдумав ничего нового, точно так же создали своего Иисуса, которого на самом деле никогда не было в живых. Вот на это-то и нужно сделать главный упор…» (Булгаков 9). "And the Christians, displaying no originality whatsoever, followed the same pattern when they created their Jesus, who, in fact, never existed at all. That's where you have to put your main emphasis…" (9c). "And the Christians, lacking any originality, invented their Jesus in exactly the same way. In fact, he never lived at all. That's where the emphasis has got to be placed" (9b).

У-139 • ДО УПО́РА напиться, пьян и т.п. slang [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] (to get or be) extremely (drunk): X был пьян ⟨напился⟩ ~ ≃ X was ⟨got⟩ blind drunk; X was ⟨got⟩ smashed ⟨plastered, pickled, stewed etc⟩; X was loaded ⟨stewed⟩ to the gills.

У-140 • НАЙТИ́ ⟨СЫСКА́ТЬ obs⟩ УПРА́ВУ на кого coll [VP; subj: human] to curtail s.o.'s arbitrary or lawless actions, often punishing him as well: X найдёт на Y-а управу ≃ X will find a way to stop Y; X will bring justice to bear on Y; [lim.] X will not let Y get away with it; [in refer. to illegal or criminal actions only] X will get the law after Y.

«…Платить все бессчётные подати, акцизы и пошлины, многие из коих нелепы и непомерны, не хочет никто. От этого весь вред и происходит: и взяточничество, и оскудение казны, и те самые „нужные люди", на которых ни вы, ни ваши предшественники не сумели сыскать управу» (Акунин 6). "…No one wishes to pay all of the countless levies, duties, and taxes, many of which are both absurd and exorbitant. This is what causes all the harm: the bribery and corruption, the impoverishment of the treasury, and the appearance of these so-called right people against whom neither you nor your predecessors have ever been able to bring effective justice to bear" (6a).

У-141 • УПРА́ВЫ НЕТ на кого coll [VP; impers] it is impossible to control s.o., keep s.o. from acting reprehensibly etc: на X-а управы нет ≃ there is no way to stop ⟨restrain etc⟩ X; there is no (way of) stopping ⟨restraining etc⟩ X; there is no way ⟨it is impossible⟩ to keep X in check ⟨in line, under control etc⟩.

«…Управы на них нет. Хорошенький пример контингенту показывают! Не хозяйство, а кабак круглосуточный!» (Максимов 1). "There's no way of stopping them. A very good example they give to the men! They never do a stroke of work—it's round-the-clock drinking" (1a).

У-142 • ОСЫПА́ТЬ/ОСЫ́ПАТЬ УПРЁКАМИ (кого) [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to rebuke s.o. profusely: X осы́пал Y-а упрёками ≃ X rained down ⟨poured, heaped⟩ reproaches on Y; X unfurled ⟨hit Y with⟩ a litany of reproaches; [lim.] X hit Y with a litany of you-should-haves.

У-143 • НА УРА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. взять, захватить что (крепость, город и т.п.) ~ (to take, seize sth.—a fortress, town etc) by a swift assault, attack: by storm.

2. coll (to venture sth.) without adequate preparation, hoping to be aided by luck, or (to succeed in accomplishing sth.) even though one did not prepare adequately, aided by luck: on luck alone.

«Ты что, надеешься сдать экзамен на ура?» — спросила мать, видя, что Сергей даже не притронулся к учебникам. "What, do you expect to pass your exam on luck alone?" asked Sergei's mother, seeing that he hadn't even touched his books.

3. прошёл, приняли кого-что и т.п. ~ coll sth. went excellently, s.o. or sth. was received with enthusiasm: (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ was) a hit ⟨a smash, a smash hit⟩; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ was) a tremendous ⟨smashing, great etc⟩ success; (sth.) went off tremendously ⟨wonderfully etc⟩; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ was received) enthusiastically; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ was received) with hurrahs; [lim.] (pass an exam ⟨a test etc⟩) with flying colors.

…Читка прошла «на ура», и по дороге домой Маяковский был в прекрасном настроении… (Катаев 3). …The reading was a tremendous success and on the way home Mayakovsky was jubilant… (3a). ♦ Так или иначе, а Ирина Викторовна прошла в НИИ-9 на «ура»… (Залыгин 1). All in all Irina Viktorovna passed the test with flying colours… (1a).

У-144 • В У́РОВЕНЬ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. становиться, ставить кого ~ с кем obs. Also: НА (ОДИ́Н) У́РОВЕНЬ (to end up or put s.o.) in(to) the same category as another (with regard to morals, conduct etc): on the same level as; on a par ⟨a level⟩ with; in a class with.

Вероятно, по её замыслу, я должна была осознать, что своим неслыханным поступком я поставила себя на один уровень с уголовниками (Гинзбург 2). Presumably her idea was that I should be made to realize that my unprecedented action had put me on a level with common criminals (2a).

2. идти, развиваться, стоять и т.п. ~ с чем (to move, develop etc) at a pace equal to that of (some branch of science, technology etc, or the times in general), (to be) in full conformity with (some requirements): keep ⟨stay⟩ abreast of ⟨with⟩; keep up with; keep pace (with); || X идёт в уровень с веком ≃ X keeps ⟨stays⟩ abreast of the times; X keeps up with the times; X keeps ⟨is⟩ in step with the times; X keeps up-to-date.

«Кажется, я всё делаю, чтобы не отстать от века: …читаю, учусь, вообще стараюсь стать в уровень с современными требованиями…» (Тургенев 2). "I thought I was doing everything to keep up with the times:… I read, I study, I try in every way to keep abreast with the requirements of the age…" (2c).

У-145 • НА У́РОВНЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ чего [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr)] at or on the same horizontal plane as s.o. or sth.: at the level of; at ⟨on⟩ a level with; level with.

Когда она присела на корточки её глаза оказались на уровне глаз ребёнка. When she squatted down her eyes were on a level with the child's.

2. ~ кого, каком [the resulting PrepP is adv or nonagreeing postmodif] at the specified level, involving people of the specified rank, status etc: at the level of; at (the) [AdjP] level; || на высоком ⟨высшем⟩ уровне ≃ at the highest level; || встреча ⟨совещание⟩ на высшем уровне ≃ summit (meeting ⟨conference⟩).

Такие «проблемы» приходилось ежедневно решать на самом высшем уровне с огромными потерями времени, с невероятными расходами, при сильнейшем нервном напряжении (Владимиров 1). Such problems had to be resolved every day at the highest level with tremendous loss of time, unbelievable expense and extreme nervous strain (1a). ♦ Забавное зрелище представляют… встречи на высшем уровне, когда встречаются главы политической власти Запада и неполитической власти Ибанска (Зиновьев 1). …Summit meetings between the leaders of the political powers of the West and the leaders of the non-political power of Ibansk present an amusing spectacle (1a).

3. coll [subj-compl with copula (subj: any noun)] a person (thing, organization etc) meets the strictest standards: X на уровне ≃ X is up to the mark; X is up to par ⟨snuff, scratch⟩; X can pass muster.

У-146 • ДАТЬ УРО́К кому [VP; subj: human] to reprimand or punish s.o. in such a way as to ensure that he will improve his behavior and not act similarly again: X дал Y-у урок ≃ X taught ⟨gave⟩ Y a (good ⟨painful etc⟩) lesson; X taught Y a thing or two.

«О, ему надо дать урок, чтоб этого вперёд не было! Попрошу ma tante отказать ему от дома: он не должен забываться…» (Гончаров 1). “He must be taught a lesson, so it doesn’t happen again! I’ll tell ma tante not to permit him to come to the house: he must not again forget himself” (1b). ♦ «Что же вы намерены делать?» — «Дать ему такой урок, которого он долго не забудет» (Герцен 3). “What do you intend to do?” “Give him such a lesson as he will not forget for some time” (3a).

У-147 • ИЗВЛЕКА́ТЬ/ИЗВЛЕ́ЧЬ УРО́К из чего [VP; subj: human or collect] to benefit from past experience: X извлёк урок из Y-а ≃ X learned his ⟨a⟩ lesson (from Y); ‖ X извлёк урок из прошлого ≃ X learned the lessons ⟨lesson⟩ of the past; ‖ Neg X не извлёк урока из Y-а ≃ X failed to learn the lesson(s) of Y; X failed to learn his lesson(s).

…Было отмечено, что Марк Семёнович урока из прошлого не извлёк, опять скатился к антисоветской деятельности, в настоящий момент является наиболее ценным прихвостнем западных спецслужб и поставщиком клеветы на родину… (Войнович 7). …It was noted that Mark Semyonovich had failed to learn the lessons of his past, had backslid into anti-Soviet activity and was presently the Western security services’ most highly prized lickspittle and purveyor of slander against his homeland… (7a).

У-148 • (И) В УС (СЕБЕ́) НЕ ДУТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pres or past; fixed WO] not to care (about sth. one should care about, or about anything at all): X и в ус не дует ≃ X doesn’t give a damn; X couldn’t ⟨could⟩ care less.

Есть такие молодцы, что весь век живут на чужой счёт, наберут, нахватают справа, слева, да и в ус не дуют! Как они могут покойно уснуть, как обедают — непонятно! (Гончаров 1). There were, of course, those clever fellows who lived their entire lives at other people’s expense, grabbing right and left, never giving a damn! How could they sleep in peace? How could they enjoy their dinner? Incomprehensible! (1b).

У-149 • МОТА́ТЬ ⟨НАМА́ТЫВАТЬ⟩/НАМОТА́ТЬ (СЕБЕ́) НА УС coll [VP; subj: human; often imper] to pay special attention to and remember sth. (sometimes so that it can be taken into consideration when making future plans, decisions etc): X намотал себе на ус ≃ X took note (of sth.); X made a mental note (of sth.); X stored (sth.) away in his mind; X kept in mind (that…); ‖ Imper намотай (себе) на ус ≃ (and) don’t (you) forget it.

Передонов был ошеломлён. Наскажет чего и не было, а жандармский на ус намотает и, пожалуй, напишет в министерство. Это скверно (Сологуб 1). Peredonov was stunned. She might say a lot of things, true and untrue, which the police lieutenant might take note of and, perhaps, report to the ministry. It promised to be a nasty business (1a). ♦ Бунин в прекрасном, несколько саркастическом настроении. Он искоса смотрит на могучую даму… «Вам, Елена Васильевна, не хватает маленьких чёрных усиков, и вы — вылитый… Пётр Великий»… Мотаю себе на ус, обобщая бунинскую находку: «дамское лицо Петра» (Катаев 3). Bunin is in a splendid, rather sarcastic mood. He glances sideways at the forceful corpulent lady…. “All you need, Elena Vasilyevna, is a little black moustache and you would be the image of—Peter the Great.”… I stored the incident away in my mind, generalizing Bunin’s discovery as “the feminine face of Peter” (3a).

У-150 • СА́МИ С УСА́МИ coll; САМ С УСА́М substand [AdjP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human), usu. 1st pers; fixed WO] we are (or I am) not stupid, we (or I) understand things (or the matter in question) perfectly well (no worse than others): мы сами с усами ≃ we weren’t ⟨I wasn’t⟩ born yesterday (either); we ⟨I⟩ know what’s what (too); we ⟨I⟩ know a thing or two about (sth.) ourselves ⟨myself⟩.

Это она и есть, она самая — Кроваткина. Сущая ведьма. Ухо к дверям приложит и контролирует, о чём мы с вами беседуем. Уж я её чувствую, знаю. Раз говорю — значит знаю! У меня на это дело своё осязание есть. Сами с усами (Терц 5). That’s who it is, Krovatkina in person. A real witch. Glues her ear to the door and keeps a check on our conversation. Oh, I can sense her all right; I know. If I say so, that means I know! I’ve got a feeling for those things, wasn’t born yesterday (5a).

У-151 • УСЕ́РДИЕ НЕ ПО РА́ЗУМУ (чьё, кого) usu. sarcastic [NP; also used as Interj; fixed WO] excessive diligence that brings more harm than good: more zeal than (good) sense; more zeal than thought; more eagerness ⟨fervor⟩ than (good) sense; [lim.] losing ⟨one has lost⟩ (all) sense of proportion.

[Сидоров] возмутился формулировкой бейлинского решения, в котором говорилось, между прочим: «запретить пропаганду марксизма-ленинизма». «Чёрт знает что! Запретить коммунисту пропаганду марксизма! Ни в какие ворота не лезет! Усердие не по разуму» (Гинзбург 1). [Sidorov] became indignant over a passage in Beylin’s report which said among other things that I was to be forbidden to conduct Marxist-Leninist propaganda. “Damn it all, this is really too much! How can you forbid a Communist to carry on Marxist propaganda? The fellow’s lost all sense of proportion” (1a).

У-152 • МЕДВЕ́ЖЬЯ УСЛУ́ГА coll [NP; sing only; usu. obj of оказать; fixed WO] an action or gesture intended to help s.o. that unwittingly turns out to cause him trouble, discomfort etc: a good deed that backfired; misdirected good intentions; (unintentional) disservice; (do) more harm than good; [lim.] a lot of help that was!

Соколов помялся: «Такое чувство, Виктор Павлович, что ваши хвалители и поклонники оказывают вам медвежью услугу, — начальство раздражается» (Гроссман 2). Sokolov hesitated for a moment. “I get the feeling, Viktor Pavlovich, that the people who sing your praises so unreservedly are doing you a disservice. It upsets the authorities” (2a).

< From Ivan Krylov’s fable “Hermit and Bear” («Пустынник и Медведь»), 1808.

У-153 • УСЛУ́ГА ЗА УСЛУ́ГУ [saying] sth. nice done for s.o. is or will be reciprocated: ≃ one good turn deserves another; [lim.] (you) scratch my back and I’ll scratch yours; one hand washes the other.

Мандельштам решил пристроить урбаниста комсомольскому Авербаху. Мальчишку Авербах взял рассыльным, а Мандельштама попросил перевести — услуга за услугу — стишок какого-то революционного венгра (Мандельштам 2). M[andelstam] sent the young urbanist to Averbakh, who took him on as an errand boy. On the principle that one good turn deserves another, Averbakh commissioned M[andelstam] to translate a poem by some Hungarian revolutionary (2a).

У-154 • ГОТО́ВЫЙ К УСЛУ́ГАМ obs [formula phrase; fixed WO] a polite closing phrase before the signature in a letter: (I remain) your (most) humble servant; I am, (dear) Sir ⟨Madam⟩, your (most) humble servant; (I remain) at your service.

У-155 • К ВА́ШИМ ⟨ТВОЙ́М⟩ УСЛУ́ГАМ obs [PrepP; these forms only; used as formula phrase or as subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: я or мы); fixed WO] used to express one's readiness to be of service: (I am ⟨we are⟩) at your service ⟨disposal⟩.

«…Но, серьёзно, у меня есть много кой о чём переговорить с вами, барон!» — «К вашим услугам…» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "But, seriously, I've lots of things to discuss with you, baron." "At your service…" (2a).

У-156 • К УСЛУ́ГАМ чьим, кого obs [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr)] s.o. or sth. is offered to some person for his use: X к Y-овым услугам ≃ X is at Y's service ⟨disposal⟩.

«Хотите пороху понюхать? — сказал он Пьеру. — Да, приятный запах. Имею честь быть обожателем супруги вашей, здорова она? Мой привал к вашим услугам» (Толстой 6). "So, you want a whiff of gunpowder?" he said to Pierre. "Yes, it's a nice smell… I have the honour of being a great admirer of your wife. I do hope she's well. My quarters are at your service" (6c). "So you want to smell gunpowder?" he said to Pierre. "Yes, it's a pleasant smell. I have the honor to be one of your wife's adorers. Is she well? My quarters are at your disposal" (6a).

У-157 • НЕ УСПЕ́Л ⟨НЕ УСПЕ́ЕШЬ и т.п.⟩… КАК… [used as temporal correlative Conj; не успел etc is foll. by pfv infin; fixed order of clauses] (of two actions, one of which immediately follows the other) the moment one does one thing (or sth. happens), something else occurs: hardly ⟨barely⟩… when ⟨before, and⟩; no sooner… than; before one could ⟨managed to etc⟩ do sth. (sth. else happened).

[Артемий Филиппович:] Больной не успеет войти в лазарет, как уже здоров… (Гоголь 4). [A.F.:] A sick man hardly gets into the infirmary and he's already well… (4a). [A.F.:] A patient no sooner sets foot in the hospital than he's cured (4f). ♦ «Моя фамилия Поплавский. Я являюсь дядей…» Не успел он договорить, как Коровьев выхватил из кармана грязный платок, уткнулся в него носом и заплакал (Булгаков 9). "My name is Poplavsky. I am the uncle…" But before he could finish, Korovyov pulled a dirty handkerchief out of his pocket, buried his nose in it, and burst into tears (9c).

У-158 • С ТЕМ ЖЕ ⟨ТАКИ́М ЖЕ, ОДИНА́КОВЫМ⟩ УСПЕ́ХОМ coll, usu. iron [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] with a similar, usu. unsuccessful outcome (often used when comparing the results of a real action, approach etc with those of an exaggerated one invented by the speaker): with the same result; with equal ⟨exactly the same⟩ success; (might ⟨could⟩) just as well ⟨easily⟩; (might) equally well.

Протопал, наверное, добрый километр, пока не упёрся в непроходимые заросли тальника, но ничего не поймал. Бегом я вернулся и снова проделал тот же путь — с тем же успехом (Кузнецов 1). I had probably tramped well over half a mile before I got stuck in an impenetrable willow-bed, but I caught nothing. So I ran back and covered the same ground again—and with the same result (1b).

У-159 • С УСПЕ́ХОМ occas. iron [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth., sth. is done) in a satisfactory way, without difficulties, achieving the desired result: effectively; could very well; might well (do sth.); (might) just as well ⟨easily⟩; effectually; with no trouble at all.

Что-то здесь всё-таки было не так. Не мог этакий слизняк держать в страхе весь преступный мир большого города. Для этого требуются железная воля, недюжинная сила характера. Или что-то, с успехом эти качества заменяющее (Акунин 3). Something was definitely not right here. A sniveler like this could not possibly have terrorized the entire criminal underworld of a big city. That required a will of iron and exceptional strength of character. Or at least something that could effectively take the place of those qualities (3a).

У-160 • ИЗ ПЕ́РВЫХ УСТ узнать, услышать что [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to find out, hear sth.) from an eyewitness (eyewitnesses), or a participant (participants): (straight) from the horse's mouth; from s.o.'s own lips; firsthand; from the source.

У-161 • ИЗ ТРЕ́ТЬИХ ⟨ВТОРЫ́Х⟩ УСТ узнать, услышать что [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to find out, hear sth.) not from eyewitnesses or direct participants, but through an intermediary (intermediaries): at second hand; secondhand; thirdhand; through the grapevine.

У-162 • ИЗ УСТ чьих, кого узнать, услышать что [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to find out, hear sth.) from the named person: from s.o.'s lips; from (the mouth of); coming from.

Он надеялся увидеть графиню Румянцеву и, может быть, даже из её уст услышать подтверждение случившемуся (Окуджава 2). He hoped to find Countess Rumyantseva there, and perhaps obtain a confirmation of the incident from her (2a). ♦ Такие слова — из уст профессора? Трудно поверить! Such words coming from a professor? Hard to believe!

У-163 • ИЗ УСТ В УСТА́ переходить, передавать(ся) [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with impf verbs; fixed WO] (of rumors, stories, news, jokes etc) (to be passed, conveyed) orally from one person to another: (be spread ⟨pass around etc⟩) by word of mouth; be going (a)round; go ⟨make⟩ the rounds.

В ту пору Самиздата почти не было. Стихи из уст в уста… передавались, но только политические (Эткинд 1). In those days there was virtually no Samizdat. There were poems passed around by word of mouth… but they were always political (1a).

У-164 • ВКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЛОЖИ́ТЬ что В УСТА́ чьи, кого, кому lit [VP; subj: human; direct obj: usu. слова, мысли etc] (usu. in refer. to the words that an author has his characters say) to get s.o. to say certain words, voice certain thoughts: X вложил Y-и в Z-овы уста ≃ X put ⟨placed⟩ Ys into Z's mouth ⟨into the mouth of Z⟩.

«Автор пишет на языке, имеющим мало общего с русским. Он любит выдумывать слова. Он… вкладывает в уста действующих лиц торжественные, но не совсем грамотные сентенции…» (Набоков 1). "The author writes in a language having little in common with Russian. He loves to invent words. He… places solemn but not quite grammatical maxims in the mouths of his characters…" (1a).

У-165 • БЕЗ У́СТАЛИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with impf verbs] (to do sth.) continuously, (of animates only) without experiencing a desire or need to stop and rest: incessantly; unceasingly; tirelessly; indefatigably; without stopping ⟨getting tired⟩.

Он веселился без устали, почти ежедневно устраивал маскарады… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). He made merry tirelessly, arranged masquerades almost every day… (1a). ♦ Без устали звонил телефон — звали Веру Платоновну (Грекова 3). The telephone rang unceasingly for Vera Platonovna (3a).

У-166 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ У́СТАЛИ [VP; subj: human] to be hardy, strong, in a condition to work for long stretches of time without getting tired: X не знает устали ≃ X is indefatigable ⟨tireless⟩; X's energy never runs out.

У-167 • ВА́ШИМИ ⟨ТВОЙ́МИ⟩ БЫ УСТА́МИ (ДА) МЁД ПИТЬ [saying] it would be good if everything would turn out as you say (said in response to favorable predictions, assumptions, comforting words etc): ≃ may your words come true; from your mouth ⟨lips⟩ to God's ear(s).

«Франция спит, мы её разбудим». Мне оставалось сказать: «Дай бог вашими устами мёд пить!» (Герцен 3). "France is asleep, but we shall wake her up." There was nothing left for me to say but, "God grant that your words may come true!" (3a).

У-168 • УСТА́МИ МЛАДЕ́НЦЕВ ⟨МЛАДЕ́НЦА⟩ ГЛАГО́ЛЕТ И́СТИНА [saying] wise judgments, pronouncements etc may come from young and inexperienced people: truth comes out of the mouths of babes; out of the mouths of babes (and sucklings); [lim.] trust a child to go right to the heart of the matter.

Плащ неотмываемо покрылся угольной пылью, намертво въевшейся в самые поры ткани. «Если бы мы жили на Севере, — внёс свой вклад Антон, — можно было бы его положить в то место, куда падает вода в водопаде Кивач». — «В сливное зеркало, — уточнил дед и добавил задумчиво: — Устами младенца…» (Чудаков 1). The coat was hopelessly grimed with coal dust, which had permeated every pore in the fabric. "If only we lived up North," Anton offered helpfully, "we could put it under the Kivach Waterfall, right in the place where the water comes down." "The plunge pool," Grandfather said, supplying the right term, then added thoughtfully, "Out of the mouths of babes…" (1a).

< A modified form of the Biblical expressions found in Ps. 8:2 (Ps. 8:3 in the canonical Russian edition) and Matt. 21:16.

У-169 • В УСТА́Х чьих, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] when spoken, verbalized by s.o.: coming from s.o. ⟨from s.o.'s lips⟩; on s.o.'s lips.

Француз, к сожалению, очень скоро ушёл, на прощанье… сказав: «Я думаю, это лучше для вас — что вас бросила жена». В его устах это звучало убедительно… (Лимонов 1). The Frenchman very soon left, unfortunately. In parting he… said, "I think you're better off that your wife deserted you." On his lips this sounded convincing (1a).

У-170 • НА УСТА́Х [PrepP; Invar] 1. (у кого) ~ old-fash [subj-compl with быть$_ø$ (subj: usu. abstr) or adv] sth. is about to be said, mentioned, s.o. is ready to say, mention sth.: X был у Y-а на устах ≃ X was on ⟨rose to⟩ Y's lips; Y was ready ⟨about⟩ to say ⟨ask, mention etc⟩ X.

«Эпоха умрёт с моим именем на устах» (Олеша 2). "Our epoch will die with my name on its lips" (2a).

2. у кого ~ [subj-compl with быть$_ø$ (subj: usu. abstr)] sth. is continually mentioned, discussed, repeated: X у Y-ов на устах ≃ X is on Ys' lips; X keeps popping ⟨cropping⟩ up (in conversation); || X у всех на устах ≃ X is on everybody's lips ⟨on every lip, on every tongue⟩; everyone is talking about X.

…Широкому кругу читателей он [Бунин] был мало заметен среди шумной толпы — как он с горечью выразился — «литературного базара». Его затмевали звёзды первой величины, чьи имена были на устах у всех: Короленко, Куприн, Горький, Леонид Андреев, Мережковский, Фёдор Сологуб… (Катаев 3). …For the wider public he [Bunin] did not stand out from among the noisy crowd of what he bitterly called the "literary bazaar." He was overshadowed by stars of the first magnitude, whose names were on every lip: Korolenko, Kuprin, Gorky, Leonid Andreyev, Merezhkovsky, Fyodor Sologub… (3a).

У-171 • ГА́ДКИЙ УТЁНОК coll [NP; fixed WO] an unattractive, plain child who grows up to become a very attractive, accomplished adult: ugly duckling.

< From the Russian translation of Hans Christian Andersen's story of that title.

У-172 • ПОДСАДНА́Я У́ТКА [NP; fixed WO] an informer for the police, secret police etc, who poses as a criminal (or a like-minded dissenter in the case of the secret police) in order to obtain incriminating information about others: plant; stool pigeon; stoolie; police informer ⟨informant⟩.

У-173 • УТОПА́ЮЩИЙ ХВАТА́ЕТСЯ (И) ЗА СОЛО́МИНКУ [saying] a person in a hopeless situation will do anything to try to extricate himself from it, including taking measures that obviously will not help: ≃ a drowning man will grasp ⟨clutch, catch⟩ at a straw ⟨at straws⟩.

[Лидия:] Ради бога, maman! подите к моему мужу, позовите его сюда, скажите, что я умираю… [Надежда Антоновна:] Я сейчас еду. (Уходит.) (Входит Андрей.) [Андрей:] Господин Глумов. [Лидия (привстав):] Принимать его или нет? Ещё муж придёт или нет, неизвестно. Утопающий хватается за соломинку. (Андрею.) Проси! (Островский 4). [L.:] For heaven's sake, mamma, go to my husband and call him here. Tell him I'm dying…. [N.A.:] I'll go this minute. (She goes out.) (Andrey comes in). [A.:] Mr. Glumov. [L. (who has risen):] Shall I receive him or not? I still don't know whether my husband will come. A drowning man catches at a straw. (To Andrey.) Show him in! (4a).

У-174 • ВЕЗЁТ КАК УТО́ПЛЕННИКУ кому coll, humor [VP; impers; usu. pres or past] s.o. is very unlucky: X-у везёт как утопленнику ≃ X has rotten ⟨the worst etc⟩ luck; X has no luck at all; talk about bad ⟨rotten etc⟩ luck!; just X's luck!

У-175 • В ОДНО́ ПРЕКРА́СНОЕ У́ТРО [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] on one particular, significant, or memorable morning, on a given morning, at a certain point (often used as a stylistic device to give the flavor of a fairy tale, epic, or the like): one fine ⟨fair⟩ morning ⟨day⟩; some sunshiny morning ⟨day⟩; [in refer. to the future] one of these (fine) mornings ⟨days⟩.

Сызмальства почти, от молодых ногтей, любимым словом моим было «дерзание». И — Бог свидетель — как я дерзал! …Если бы вы дерзали так, как я в ваши годы дерзал, вы бы в одно прекрасное утро взяли да и не проснулись (Ерофеев 1). Ever since childhood, since thumb-sucking days, my favorite word has been "dare," and, as God is my witness, I took plenty of chances. …If at your age you took the chances I did, one fine morning you'd wake up dead (1a).

У-176 • ДО́БРОЕ У́ТРО; С ДО́БРЫМ У́ТРОМ [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] a morning greeting (said upon meeting s.o.): good morning.

…Музыка неожиданно глохнет, и Тишка появляется на кухне умытый, причёсанный, аккуратно одетый… «Здорово, папан!» — «Доброе утро!» Тишка садится завтракать (Войнович 6). Suddenly the music stops, and Tishka appears in the kitchen, washed, combed, and neatly dressed…. "Morning, Papa!" "Good morning!" Tishka sits down to breakfast (6a).

У-177 • У́ТРО ВЕ́ЧЕРА МУДРЕНЕ́Е [saying] (when faced with a decision in the evening,) it is better to put it off until the next morning (since the situation may change, things will appear different to one in the morning, and one generally makes better decisions when his mind is fresh): ≃ night brings ⟨is the mother of⟩ counsel; things will ⟨always⟩ look better ⟨brighter⟩ in the morning; one's mind is always sharper in the morning; (let's) sleep on it.

«Ладно, ложись, утро вечера мудренее, хотя здесь и не разберёшь, когда утро, а когда вечер» (Максимов 2). "OK, you'd better get some sleep. Things always look brighter in the morning—although I must say it's hard to tell morning from evening in this part of the world" (2a).

У-178 • НЕНАСЫ́ТНАЯ УТРО́БА highly coll [NP; usu. sing] 1. a voracious person or animal, one with an insatiable appetite: glutton; chowhound.

У-179 • ДЕМЬЯ́НОВА УХА́ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] sth. that is importunately offered, thrust upon s.o. in excessive quantity (and is therefore irritating): too much of a good thing.

< The title of Ivan Krylov's fable "Demyan's Fish Soup" («Демьянова уха»), 1813.

У-180 • НИ У́ХА НИ РЫ́ЛА не смыслить, не понимать (в чём), не знать substand [NP_{gen}; Invar; obj; fixed WO] (to understand, know) absolutely nothing (about sth.): X ~ не смыслит (в Y-е) ≃ X doesn't know ⟨understand⟩ a (damn) thing (about Y); X doesn't know his ass from his elbow ⟨from a hole in the ground⟩.

…Если случайно оказывалось, что в какой-то области человеческих знаний проявлял он [номенклатурный работник] некоторые способности или познания, то его тут же перекидывали в другую область, постепенно доводя до той, в которой он не смыслил ни уха ни рыла… (Войнович 4). And if by chance it so happened that [a member of the nomenclature] displayed skill or knowledge in some area of human endeavor, he would immediately be booted to another field until, by degrees, he was brought to that field where he did not know his ass from his elbow… (4a).

У-181 • В ОДНО́ У́ХО ВХО́ДИТ/ВОШЛО́, (А) В ДРУГО́Е ВЫХО́ДИТ/ВЫ́ШЛО coll [VP; subj: всё, слова etc, usu. omitted; fixed WO] sth. said passes s.o. by without that person's really hearing or assimilating it (because he is not listening attentively): it goes ⟨s.o.'s words etc go⟩ in one ear and out the other.

У-182 • В У́ХО ⟨ПО́ УХУ⟩ дать, заехать, съездить кому, получить и т.п. highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to deliver or receive) a powerful blow to the side of the head: X дал Y-у по уху ≃ X boxed Y's ear(s); X boxed ⟨clouted, bashed⟩ Y on the ear; || Y получил в ухо ≃ Y got a box ⟨a clout⟩ on the ear.

«Он [твой муж] заслуженный ангел республики, он ни разу не заехал тебе в ухо, не вынудил тебя выцарапать ему ни одного глаза…» (Залыгин 1). "…He [your husband] deserves the order of Angel of the Soviet Union! He's never once boxed your ears, never forced you to scratch his eyes out, not even one eye" (1a).

У-183 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ У́ХО ВОСТРО́ coll; ДЕРЖА́ТЬ У́ШКИ НА МАКУ́ШКЕ coll, usu. humor [VP; subj: human; often imper or infin with надо, нужно, следует etc; usu. this WO] 1. ~ с кем not to trust s.o., to be very cautious with s.o.: с Y-ом держи ухо востро ≃ be on your guard with Y; be very careful with Y; watch Y carefully; [in refer. to caution when speaking with s.o. or in s.o.'s presence] watch what you say when Y is around ⟨when you talk to Y etc⟩.

[Хлестаков:] Я еду в Саратовскую губернию, в собственную деревню. [Городничий (в сторону, с лицом, принимающим ироническое выражение):] В Саратовскую губернию! А? И не покраснеет! О, да с ним нужно ухо востро (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] I'm on my way to my own estate in the province of Saratov. [Mayor (aside with an ironical expression):] In the province of Saratov! And not a blush! Oh, you have to be on your guard with him (4c).

2. to be cautious, attentive, vigilant (in order to avoid danger or trouble, protect one's interests etc): X-у надо держать ухо востро ≃ X must ⟨has to⟩ be on his guard ⟨on the alert⟩; X must keep his eyes and ears open; X must ⟨has got to etc⟩ keep his ear to the ground ⟨keep his ears pricked⟩; X must keep a sharp lookout; [lim.] you can't be too careful.

Она знала, её научили, что здесь [на Западе] ухо надо держать востро (Войнович 1). She knew, for she had been taught well, that in the West you have to be on your guard (1a). ♦ …Ребров знал, что при Лялином мягкосердечии самая страстная ненависть может легко перекинуться в страстное сожаление, даже в сочувствие, тут надо держать ухо востро (Трифонов 1). …With Lyalya's softheartedness Rebrov knew that the strongest hatred could easily transform itself into feelings of pity or even sympathy, so here he would have to keep his eyes and ears open (1a).

У-184 • НА́ УХО говорить, сказать, шептать [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to say, whisper sth.) quietly, in secret, with one's lips close to the ear of the hearer: in(to) s.o.'s ear.

«А за деньгами он не постоит, — Коровьев оглянулся, а затем шепнул на ухо председателю: — миллионер!» (Булгаков 9). "Money's no object with him." Koroviev looked around, then whispered into the chairman's ear, "A millionaire!" (9a).

У-185 • РЕ́ЗАТЬ У́ХО ⟨У́ШИ, СЛУХ⟩ (кому чем) coll [VP; subj: abstr (usu. слова, пение, брань etc); usu. pres or past] to make an unpleasant impression on the ear (because of its sound quality, style, content etc): X режет ухо ≃ X grates on ⟨upon⟩ the ⟨person Y's⟩ ear(s); X offends the ⟨person Y's⟩ ear(s); X is jarring to the ear(s); X pains the ear(s).

У-186 • ТУГ ⟨ТУГОВА́Т, КРЕ́ПОК, ТУГО́Й, ТУГОВА́ТЫЙ, КРЕ́ПКИЙ⟩ НА́ УХО coll [AdjP; subj-compl with copula, subj: human (all variants) or modif (variants with the long-form Adj)] lacking the ability to hear or hear well: X туг на ухо ≃ X is hard of hearing; X is (almost) deaf; || X туговат на ухо ≃ X is a bit ⟨a little⟩ hard of hearing; X is a little on the deaf side.

«Но к чему так громко? Старик услышит, обидится». — «Ничего он не услышит, туг на ухо. А и услышит, не возьмёт в толк, — с придурью» (Пастернак 1). "But don't talk so loud. You don't want to hurt the old man's feelings." "He won't hear anything, he's deaf.. And if he did, he wouldn't understand—he's not quite right in the head" (1a). "But why so loud? The old man will hear and get offended." "He won't hear anything—he's hard of hearing. And if he does hear, he won't make sense of it—he's a bit off" (1b).

У-187 • У́ХО В У́ХО ⟨К У́ХУ⟩ с кем идти, бежать и т.п.; НОЗДРЯ́ В НОЗДРЮ́ all coll [NP; these forms only; adv] (usu. of animals) (to go, run) next to, parallel with another or each other: side by side; neck and neck.

У-188 • УХОДИ́ТЬ/УЙТИ́ В СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. to become unsociable, avoid people: X ушёл в себя ≃ X withdrew into himself; X retreated into his shell.

Иногда, отдаляясь и уходя в себя или в дружбу с кем-нибудь, он [Мандельштам] выпускал меня на свободу (Мандельштам 2). Occasionally, withdrawing into himself, or into his friendship with someone, he [Mandelstam] would let me be for a while (2a).

2. Also: УГЛУБЛЯ́ТЬСЯ/УГЛУБИ́ТЬСЯ В СЕБЯ́ to become temporarily self-absorbed, concentrating on one's own thoughts and/or feelings: X ушёл в себя ≃ X withdrew ⟨retreated⟩ into himself; X became ⟨was⟩ engrossed ⟨submerged⟩ in his own thoughts.

Зарипа… горько зарыдала, уйдя вся в себя, в свою боль и утрату (Айтматов 2). She [Zaripa] wept bitterly, completely retreating into herself, into her pain and her loss (2a).

У-189 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ УЧА́СТИЕ в ком [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to show s.o. kindness, attention, usu. by aiding him: X принимает участие в Y-е ≃ X shows concern for Y; X shows kindness to Y; X takes an interest in Y; X helps ⟨tries to help⟩ Y; X gives ⟨shows⟩ Y (some) support.

Рюхин тяжело дышал, был красен и думал только об одном, что он отогрел у себя на груди змею, что он принял участие в том, кто оказался на поверку злобным врагом (Булгаков 9). Ryukhin was red, breathing heavily, and thinking of only one thing, that he had nursed a viper to his breast and shown kindness to someone who turned out to be a vicious enemy when put to the test (9c).

У-190 • НЕ УЧИ́ УЧЁНОГО coll [imper sent; occas. used without negation to convey the same meaning; fixed WO] do not give advice to those who are more experienced at sth. than you are: an old fox needs not ⟨doesn't need⟩ to be taught tricks; don't (try to) teach your grandmother to suck eggs.

«Неплохо, — сказал Антон, прочитав моё сочинение. — Только вот тебе мой совет: …в Главлит дай липу, а не подлинник… Иначе не пропустят. И на конгресс не поедешь». — «Само собой разумеется, — сказал я, возбуждённый удачей. — Не учи учёного» (Зиновьев 2). "That's not bad," said Anton when he'd read the work. "But here's my advice: don't give the real thing to the censorship; give them a bit of window-dressing…. Otherwise they'll never pass it, and you'll never make it to the Congress." "But of course!" I said elated by my success. "Don't teach your grandmother to suck eggs!" (2a).

У-191 • УЧЁНЬЕ — СВЕТ, А НЕУЧЁНЬЕ — ТЬМА [saying] said, often jokingly, to emphasize the importance of knowledge, education (usu. when advising s.o. to study): ≃ knowledge is power; knowledge is light, (and) ignorance is darkness.

Пословица «ученье свет, а неученье тьма» бродила уже по сёлам и деревням вместе с книгами, развозимыми букинистами (Гончаров 1). The proverb "Knowledge is light, and ignorance is darkness" was slowly finding its way into villages and hamlets, along with the books sold by book peddlers (1b).

У-192 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ⟩ НА УЧЁТ кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect] to put s.o. or sth. on a list (at some organization, office etc): X взял Y-а на учёт ≃ X registered Y. ○ ПОСТАНО́ВКА НА УЧЁТ [NP] ≃ registration.

У-193 • СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ ⟨ВСТАВА́ТЬ/ВСТАТЬ, БРА́ТЬСЯ/ВЗЯ́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА УЧЁТ где [VP; subj: human] to place one's name or have one's name placed on a list (at some organization, office etc): X стал на учёт ≃ X got ⟨was⟩ registered; X registered; X got ⟨was⟩ listed (with s.o.).

«Вы, гражданин Шариков, говорите… несознательно. На воинский учёт необходимо взяться». — «На учёт возьмусь, а воевать — шиш с маслом», — неприязненно ответил Шариков… (Булгаков 11). "Citizen Sharikov, your words are… lacking in social consciousness. It is most essential to be registered in the military rolls." "I'll register, but if it comes to fighting, they can kiss…" Sharikov answered coldly… (11a).

У-194 • БЕЗ УЧЁТА чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] without allowing for sth.: without taking sth. into account ⟨into consideration⟩; without considering sth.; [lim.] if you ignore sth.

До Коряжска было шестьдесят пять километров, то есть часа два езды с учётом местных дорог и без учёта странностей Володиного характера (Аксёнов 3). It was about 65 kilometers to Koryazhsk, or a two hour drive if you take into consideration the condition of local roads and ignore the peculiarities of Volodya's personality (3a).

У-195 • СНИМА́ТЬ/СНЯТЬ С УЧЁТА кого [VP; subj: human or collect] to take s.o.'s name off a list (of members or those registered for sth.): X снял Y-а с учёта ≃ X removed ⟨struck⟩ Y ⟨Y's name⟩ from the books ⟨the roster, the rolls, the register⟩; X took Y off the register ⟨the books etc⟩.

Я положил на подоконничек, обращённый в его сторону, повестку и воинский билет. Раскрыв эту мою книжечку и полистав… он вскинул на меня очень учтивый взгляд и сказал, что просит меня подождать, пока он снимет меня с учёта (Олеша 3). I put my notification and my service card down on the windowsill, facing in his direction. Having opened my booklet and thumbed through it… he glanced at me with a very courteous look and said he would ask me to wait while he removed me from the rolls (3a).

У-196 • СНИМА́ТЬСЯ/СНЯ́ТЬСЯ С УЧЁТА [VP; subj: human] to have one's name taken off a list (of members or those registered for sth.): X снялся с учёта ≃ X had his name removed ⟨stricken⟩ from the books ⟨the roster, the rolls etc⟩; X had his name stricken from ⟨taken off⟩ the register ⟨the books etc⟩.

У-197 • НА УЧЁТЕ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$] 1. ~ где. Also: СОСТОЯ́ТЬ ⟨СТОЯ́ТЬ⟩ НА УЧЁТЕ [VP; subj: human] one is placed on a list (at some organization, office etc): X на учёте ≃ X is registered; X is on the books; X is numbered (in some records etc); || X на учёте в милиции ≃ X has a (police) record; || X на учёте в психиатрической больнице ⟨туберкулёзном диспансере и т.п.⟩ ≃ X is under psychiatric observation; X is registered as a mental ⟨TB etc⟩ patient ⟨case⟩.

«Хочешь подробности о ней узнать, зайди в детскую комнату шестого отделения милиции. Она там на учёте стояла» (Чернёнок 1). "If you want to know more about her, drop by the juveniles' room of the Sixth Precinct. She has a record there" (1a).

2. [subj: human, concr, or count abstr, often preceded by каждый] the person or thing named is important, has significance: каждый X на учёте ≃ every X counts ⟨matters⟩; every X is significant ⟨precious⟩.

Людей у нас не хватает, каждый человек на учёте. We're short of people, every man counts.

У-198 • С УЧЁТОМ чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] considering sth. to be important (when preparing to do sth, making a decision etc): allowing for; taking ⟨if you take⟩ into account ⟨into consideration⟩; [lim.] making allowance for; taking account of; in view of.

До Коряжска было шестьдесят пять километров, то есть часа два езды с учётом местных дорог и без учёта странностей Володиного характера (Аксёнов 3). It was about 65 kilometers to Koryazhsk, or a two hour drive if you take into consideration the condition of local roads and ignore the peculiarities of Volodya's personality (3a).

У-199 • НЕ ВЕ́РИТЬ/НЕ ПОВЕ́РИТЬ (СВОЙМ) УША́М coll [VP; subj: human] to be extremely surprised by sth. one has heard and wonder if it really could be so: X ушам своим не верит ≃ X can't ⟨didn't, can hardly, is unable to, is hardly able to⟩ believe his ears.

Я просто ушам не поверила, когда уже на исходе развода утомлённая Верка небрежно бросила мне: «В гостиницу пойдёшь… Бригадир — Анька Полозова» (Гинзбург 1). I could hardly believe my ears when, after the rest of the team had passed through the gate, she said to me casually: "You're to work in the guesthouse. Report to Anka Polozova" (1b).

У-200 • ест, уписывает и т.п. так, что ЗА УША́МИ ТРЕЩИ́Т coll, humor [VP; impers; used with verbs of eating as intensif; fixed WO] (one eats) with a great appetite, voraciously: X ест так, что за ушами трещит ≃ X wolfs down thing Y; X gobbles up thing Y; X shovels it in; X eats ravenously ⟨greedily⟩.

…[Юра] даже не смотрел в сторону мясного… а только рубал [slang = ел] свои апельсинчики так, что за ушами трещало (Аксёнов 1). Yura… hadn't even looked at the meat dish… but was only digging into his oranges, wolfing them down (1a).

У-201 • СВОЙМИ ⟨(СВОЙМИ) СО́БСТВЕННЫМИ⟩ УША́МИ слышать что coll [NP$_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to hear sth.) oneself: (hear sth.) with one's own (two) ears; (hear sth.) for o.s.

Комендант немедленно посадил урядника под караул, а Юлая назначил на его место. Эта новость принята была казаками с явным неудовольствием. Они громко роптали, и Иван Игнатьич, исполнитель комендантского распоряжения, слышал своими ушами, как они говорили: «Вот ужо тебе будет, гарнизонная крыса!» (Пушкин 2). The commandant immediately took the sergeant into custody and appointed Iulai in his place. The Cossacks took this new development with manifest displeasure. They grumbled loudly, so much so that Ivan Ignatich, who executed the commandant's order, heard with his own ears, "You'll live to regret that, garrison rat!" (2a).

У-202 • ХЛО́ПАТЬ УША́МИ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. while listening to sth., not to understand or grasp what is being said: X ушами хлопает ≃ X looks blank.

…Сослужил Лебедев ещё одну службу: подстроил чтение вслух «Тёркина на том свете». Иностранцы ушами хлопали, Хрущёв смеялся… (Солженицын 2). …Lebedev performed another public service. He arranged a reading of "Tyorkin in the Next World." The foreigners looked blank, but Khrushchev laughed… (2a).

2. to be idle, inactive (when the situation requires decisive, energetic action, often under circumstances when taking concrete action would keep sth. harmful from happening or would allow one to obtain sth. valuable, advance one's career etc): X хлопает ушами ≃ X sits on his hands; X sits around ⟨here, there etc⟩ doing nothing; X does nothing.

«Вот, — сказал Трёшкин, проводив Ефима долгим тяжёлым взглядом. — У меня кот пропал, а ему шапку дают из кота. Как же это понять?» — «Если мы будем ушами хлопать, они и из нас шапок наделают», — сказал Черпаков (Войнович 6). "There," Tryoshkin said, following Yefim with a long heavy stare. "My tomcat disappears, and they give him a hat made of tomcat fur. How am I to interpret that?" "If we sit here long enough, doing nothing, they'll make hats out of us, too," Cherpakov said (6a).

У-203 • ВЫ́ЛИТЬ УША́Т ПОМО́ЕВ ⟨ГРЯ́ЗИ⟩ на кого; ОКАТИ́ТЬ ⟨ОБЛИ́ТЬ⟩ УША́ТОМ ПОМО́ЕВ ⟨ГРЯ́ЗИ⟩ кого coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to disgrace, defame s.o. unjustly: X вылил на Y-а ушат помоев ≃ X dragged Y through the mud ⟨the mire, the muck⟩; X threw ⟨slung, flung⟩ mud ⟨dirt⟩ at Y; X smeared Y ⟨Y's name⟩.

У-204 • ЗВЕНИ́Т/ЗАЗВЕНЕ́ЛО В УША́Х у кого (от чего) [VP; impers] (s.o. hears) a sound akin to ringing, which is usu. generated in the ear itself rather than by an external source: у X-а звенело в ушах (от Y-а) ≃ X's ears were ringing (from Y); X had ⟨there was⟩ a ringing in X's ears; Y set X's ears ringing; Y gave X a ringing in X's ears.

Воланд кивнул Бегемоту, тот очень оживился, соскочил с седла наземь, вложил пальцы в рот, надул щёки и свистнул. У Маргариты зазвенело в ушах (Булгаков 9). Woland nodded to Behemoth, who got very animated, jumped off his horse, put his fingers in his mouth, puffed out his cheeks, and whistled. Margarita's ears began ringing (9c). ♦ «Ты сама говорила, что в пещере какой-то особенный воздух, от которого слегка кружится голова и звенит в ушах» (Акунин 4). "You said yourself that the air in the cave was special in some way, that it made you feel dizzy and set your ears ringing." (4a).

У-205 • СТОЯ́ТЬ НА УША́Х coll, usu. iron [VP; subj: collect or human] 1. to make (or be prepared to make) the maximum effort to carry out some action, fulfill an assignment without fail etc, exerting o.s. (or the members of an entire group, organization etc) considerably (usu. of situations where the participants in the action experience extreme agitation, nervousness, fear of failure etc): X-ы стоят на ушах ≃ Xs bend ⟨lean, fall⟩ over backwards; Xs fall all over themselves; Xs do their damnedest ⟨utmost⟩; Xs go to great lengths; Xs go all out; Xs mobilized their efforts ⟨strengths⟩; Xs marshaled (their) forces; [with the focus on preparedness to act] Xs are on their toes; Xs hold themselves in readiness.

Власти боялись, что в городе могут возникнуть беспорядки, и милиция стояла на ушах. The authorities feared that riots might erupt in the city, and the police marshaled their forces.

2. to experience and show a very strong emotion, such as extreme agitation, nervousness, admiration, ecstasy etc (often when reacting to a public event, sports competition etc): X-ы стояли на ушах ≃ Xs went wild (with excitement ⟨joy, applause etc⟩); Xs worked themselves into a frenzy; [in refer. to extreme nervousness] Xs were sweating bullets; Xs were white-knuckling it.

У-206 • ДО УШЕ́Й [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] 1. покраснеть, вспыхнуть и т.п. ~ (to blush) very intensely: to (the tips of) one's ears.

Катя… с недоумением подняла глаза на Базарова — и, встретив его быстрый и небрежный взгляд, вспыхнула вся до ушей (Тургенев 2). Katya… lifted her eyes to Bazarov with a puzzled look, and meeting his quick casual glance she blushed to her ears (2c).

2. улыбаться и т.п. ~ (to smile) very broadly: (grin) from ear to ear.

У-207 • ДОХОДИ́ТЬ/ДОЙТИ́ ДО УШЕ́Й чьих, кого [VP; subj: abstr] to become known to s.o.: X дошёл до ушей Y-а ≃ X reached Y's ears ⟨the ears of Y⟩.

К счастью, вся эта история не дошла до ушей Нестора Аполлоновича… (Искандер 3). Fortunately, none of this story reached the ears of Nestor Apollonovich… (3a).

У-208 • НЕ ВИДА́ТЬ КАК СВОИ́Х УШЕ́Й кому кого-чего coll [VP; impers; usu. infin; usu. this WO] (in refer. to a desirable person, thing etc) s.o. will never win over, attract to o.s. etc (the person in question); s.o. will never obtain (the thing in question), achieve (the end in question) etc: не видать X-у Y-а как своих ушей ≃ X will never get ⟨get hold of, get his hands on, get near, get to see etc⟩ Y; there's no way X will ever get ⟨get hold of etc⟩ Y; X can forget about (getting) Y; Y is out of X's reach; [lim.] like hell X will get ⟨get to see, be able to go to etc⟩ Y; X can kiss thing Y good-bye.

«Меня же за одно намерение сочинить подпольную книжку выгонят из партии и с работы. А с вами что будет? Сашку укатают в Сибирь, а тебе института не видать тогда как своих ушей» (Зиновьев 2). "If I so much as had a thought of writing an underground book I'd be expelled from the party and sacked. And what'd happen to you? Sashka'd have to go off to Siberia, and you'd never get to see the inside of any institute" (2a).

У-209 • ПРОПУСКА́ТЬ/ПРОПУСТИ́ТЬ МИМО УШЕ́Й что coll [VP; subj: human; obj: слова, замечание, вопрос etc; more often this WO] intentionally not to take notice of or react to what is being said or has been said: X пропустил Y мимо ушей ≃ X turned a deaf ear to Y; X took no notice of Y; X paid no attention ⟨heed⟩ to Y; X let Y pass (unnoticed); X ignored Y; Y went ⟨X let Y go⟩ in one ear and out the other; [lim.] Y made no impression on X.

Надо сказать, что обычно слушатель пропускал мимо ушей замечание относительно крутизны берега [, куда мельник должен был подняться со своим десятипудовым грузом]… (Искандер 3). Admittedly, the listener usually turned a deaf ear to the remark about the steepness of the bank [that the miller had to climb up with his four-hundred-pound load] (3a). ♦ Он [Ефим] бросил трубку, но через минуту поднял её снова. «Извини, я погорячился», — сказал он Баранову. «Бывает, — сказал тот великодушно. — Кстати, в поликлинике работает новый психиатр…» Ефим пропустил подковырку мимо ушей… (Войнович 6). He [Yefim] slammed down the receiver, but a minute later picked it up again and dialed Kostya [Baranov]. "Sorry I blew up." "Nerves. I understand," Kostya said magnanimously. "Incidentally, the clinic has a new psychiatrist…." Yefim let the dig pass… (6a).

У-210 • ВО ВСЕ У́ШИ слушать coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to listen) very attentively, missing nothing: X слушал ~ ≃ X was all ears; X hung on every word (person Y said); X hung on Y's every word.

У-211 • ЗА́ УШИ НЕ ОТТЯ́НЕШЬ ⟨НЕ ОТТА́ЩИШЬ⟩ (кого от кого-чего) coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only] (some food is so tasty, or some person, event etc is so interesting, appealing that) it is impossible to tear s.o. away from it or him: X-а (от Y-а) за уши не оттянешь ≃ wild horses couldn't drag X away (from Y).

У-212 • НАВОСТРИ́ТЬ ⟨НАСТОРОЖИ́ТЬ⟩ У́ШИ ⟨СЛУХ⟩ coll [VP; usu. this WO] 1. [subj: animal; usu. past or Verbal Adv] (usu. of a dog or horse) to become very alert, raise the ears so as to listen intently (upon hearing some sound): X навострил уши ≃ X pricked up his ears; X cocked his ears.

2. [subj: human; usu. past] to prepare to listen or to begin listening with intense attention and interest: X навострил уши ≃ X pricked up his ears; X cocked his ears; [lim.] X was all ears.

Всё время обеда Анна Михайловна говорила о слухах войны, о Николушке… Наташа, из всего семейства более всех одарённая способностью чувствовать оттенки интонаций, взглядов и выражений лиц, с начала обеда насторожила уши и знала, что что-нибудь есть между её отцом и Анной Михайловной и что-нибудь касающееся брата и что Анна Михайловна приготавливает (Толстой 4). All during dinner Anna Mikhailovna talked of rumors concerning the war and of Nikolushka…. Natasha, who of all the family was the most gifted with the faculty of catching the subtleties of an intonation, a glance, or the expression of a face, pricked up her ears at the beginning of dinner and felt that there was some secret between her father and Anna Mikhailovna, that it had something to do with her brother, and that Anna Mikhailovna was preparing them for it (4a)..

У-213 • НАДУВА́ТЬ ⟨ДУТЬ⟩/НАДУ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕТЬ/НАПЕ́ТЬ, НАЖУЖЖА́ТЬ, НАТРУБИ́ТЬ⟩ В У́ШИ кому (что) substand [VP; subj: human] to tell s.o. gossip, incorrect, superfluous, absurd things: X надул Y-у в уши ≃ X poured twaddle into Y's ear; X filled Y's head with stories; X gave Y a lot of bull ⟨crap etc⟩.

С отцом они встретились как-то отчуждённо. Пантелей Прокофьевич (нажужжал ему в уши Петро) хмуро присматривался к Григорию… (Шолохов 3). There was a touch of estrangement in his [Grigory's] meeting with his father. Petro had filled the old man's head with stories and he now kept a surly watchful eye on Grigory… (3a).

У-214 • ПО́ УШИ; ПО СА́МЫЕ У́ШИ both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif)] 1. влюбиться, влюблён и т.п. в кого ~ (to be or fall) deeply (in love): (be ⟨fall⟩) head over heels (in love with s.o.); (be ⟨fall⟩) madly (in love with s.o.).

«Ясное дело, девушка втрескалась в него по уши» (Искандер 5). "No question, the girl was head over heels in love with him" (5a).

2. ~ уйти, погрузиться во что, увязнуть, быть$_{ø}$ в чём, often в работе, в хлопотах и т.п. (to have become) fully overwhelmed by and deeply involved in (some work, concerns etc): (be ⟨sink⟩) up to one's ears ⟨neck⟩ (in sth.); [usu. in refer. to work] (be) awash (in sth.).

[Иванов:] …Я поддался слабодушию и по уши увяз в этой гнусной меланхолии… (Чехов 4). [I.:] …I've given way to cowardice and am sunk up to my ears in this loathsome melancholy… (4a).

3. быть$_{ø}$, сидеть, увязнуть в долгах ~; влезть, залезть в долги ~ (to be or get) very deeply (in debt): (be ⟨sink⟩) up to one's ears ⟨neck⟩ in debt; (be) mired ⟨buried⟩ in debts; (be) deep in the hole.

У-215 • ПРИТЯ́ГИВАТЬ/ПРИТЯНУ́ТЬ ЗА́ УШИ ⟨ЗА́ ВО́ЛОСЫ⟩ что [VP; subj: human; usu. short-form past passive Part; usu. this WO] to introduce or try to use sth. (usu. an argument or example) that is completely unrelated to the matter in question: Y притянут за волосы ≃ Y is forced ⟨contrived, extraneous, far-fetched⟩; Y has no bearing (upon this issue ⟨this case etc⟩); || X притягивает Y-и за волосы ≃ X is bringing in extraneous Ys; X is forcing ⟨pushing⟩ it.

У-216 • ПРОЖУЖЖА́ТЬ ⟨ПРОТРУБИ́ТЬ, ПРОГУДЕ́ТЬ⟩ (ВСЕ) У́ШИ кому (о ком-чём, про кого-что) и т.п. coll [VP; subj: human or радио, телевидение etc] to annoy, tire s.o. with constant talk about one and the same thing: X прожужжал Y-у все уши (о Z-е) ≃ X dinned Z into Y's ears; person X talked Y's ear(s) off (about Z).

Её [Ахматову] запугивали, ей грозили, за ней посылали топтунов, откормленных бездельников… а свои стихи она всё же написала. Все расходы пошли в прорву… Другой вопрос, кому это нужно и как согласуется с «режимом экономии», о котором нам прожужжали уши? (Мандельштам 2). Despite all intimidation and threats, despite surveillance by the well-fed oafs ordered to follow her… she [Akhmatova] still managed to write her poems. All the expense involved was thrown down the drain…. One might well ask who needs it, and how it jibes with all the frantic appeals for economy which are constantly being dinned into our ears (2a).

У-217 • ПРОСЛУ́ШАТЬ (ВСЕ) У́ШИ coll [VP; subj: human] to listen attentively and closely for a long time, hoping to hear sth.: X прослушал все уши ≃ X had ⟨kept⟩ his ears open.

У-218 • РАЗВЕ́ШИВАТЬ/РАЗВЕ́СИТЬ У́ШИ coll [VP; subj: human] to listen intently and enthusiastically to s.o., trusting that what he says is true: X развесил уши ≃ X listened open-mouthed; X hung on person Y's every word; X hung on the words ⟨the lips⟩ of person Y; X drank it all in; [in refer. to lies, fabrications etc] X swallowed it whole; X lapped it (all) up.

Эта весёлая чушь преподносилась таким обворожительным басом, что публика слушала, развесив уши (Лившиц 1). Maiakovsky delivered this cheerful nonsense in such a charming bass voice that the audience listened open-mouthed (1a). ♦ «И говорить [Хохлушкин] большой мастер… только уши развешивай» (Максимов 1). "And he's a real talker…. You just sit there and drink it all in" (1a).

У-219 • ТАЩИ́ТЬ ⟨ТЯНУ́ТЬ⟩ ЗА́ УШИ кого coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to help an incapable, unenterprising, or inactive person in every possible way (usu. in his studies, work, career advancement etc): X тащил Y-а за уши ≃ X dragged ⟨yanked⟩ Y up the ladder ⟨up through the ranks etc⟩; [lim.] X dragged Y out of Y's rut.

Про Алферова говорили, что он из захудалых казачьих офицеришек выбился в люди лишь благодаря своей жене — бабе энергичной и умной; говорили, что она тянула бездарного супруга за уши и до тех пор не давала ему дыхнуть, пока он, три раза срезавшись, на четвёртый всё же выдержал экзамен в академию (Шолохов 3). Alferov was said to have made his way up from being a lowly Cossack officer only thanks to his energetic and intelligent wife; she had dragged her dull-witted spouse out of his rut and never let him rest until, after three failures, he had passed the Academy entrance examination (3a).

2. to pressure or force s.o. to perform some action, participate in sth., adopt some doctrine etc: X тащил Y-а за уши ≃ X dragged Y (into ⟨to⟩ sth.) by the ears ⟨by the scruff of the neck⟩; X dragged Y (into ⟨to⟩ sth.) kicking and screaming.

«Надо активнее разоблачать ловкачей», — сказал Дмитрий Алексеевич шутливым тоном, всё ещё с удивлением посматривая по сторонам. «Активнее! Учёный не всегда приспособлен к такой борьбе. Иного за уши тащи бороться, а он не может…» (Дудинцев 1). "One must expose these dodgers more actively!" Dmitri said in a jocular tone, still looking about him in wonder. "More actively! Scientists are not always adapted to fighting such battles. You can drag some of them to the fight by the ears and they are still incapable of it!" (1a).

У-220 • У́ШИ ВЯ́НУТ (у кого слушать кого-что) coll [VP_{subj}; pres or, rare, past; fixed WO] it is unpleasant or repulsive for s.o. to listen to some person, story etc (because what is being said is ridiculous, offensive etc): (у X-а) уши вянут ≃ it makes X sick (to listen to s.o. ⟨hear sth. etc⟩); it turns X's stomach (to listen to sth. etc); X can't stand listening to s.o. ⟨sth.⟩.

«Ты опять говоришь вздор! Уши вянут тебя слушать» (Трифонов 3). "You're talking nonsense again. It makes me sick to listen to you" (3a).

У-221 • У́ШКИ НА МАКУ́ШКЕ у кого coll, usu. humor [Invar; VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; fixed WO] s.o. is alert and prepared to listen very closely to sth. that has attracted his attention: у X-а ушки на макушке ≃ X has ⟨keeps⟩ his ears open; X has pricked up his ears; X is all ears.

«Ишь ведь сколько нумеров велел натащить! Подозрительно, а?» — «Ну, скажите». — «Ушки на макушке?» (Достоевский 3). "Look how many newspapers I told them to bring me! Suspicious, eh?" "Well, you tell me." "Are your ears pricked up?" (3a).

У-222 • ЗА УШКО́ ДА НА СО́ЛНЫШКО (вывести, вытащить кого и т.п.) coll [PrepP; Invar; predic with subj: human (or adv when used with a verb); can be used in past, pres, and fut contexts; fixed WO] to expose s.o. who is doing sth. reprehensible or illegal, make s.o. answer for his actions, see to it that s.o. gets punished: X Y-а за ушко да на солнышко ≃ [in past contexts] X dragged Y out into the open ⟨the sunshine⟩; X pulled the plug ⟨blew the whistle⟩ on Y.

У-223 • В УЩЕ́РБ кому-чему [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr)] causing harm, losses to s.o. or sth.: to s.o.'s ⟨one's (own)⟩ detriment ⟨disadvantage⟩; to the detriment of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; at the expense of sth.; [lim.] one ⟨s.o.⟩ is only harming ⟨hurting⟩ himself (by doing sth.).

«Мы пошли ему навстречу!.. Мы в ущерб себе согласились с его просьбой!» (Трифонов 3). "We met him halfway…. We agreed to his request to our own detriment" (3a). ♦ [Кручинина:] У меня уж слишком сильно воображение и, кажется, в ущерб рассудку (Островский 3). [K.:] I have too lively an imagination—at the expense of good sense, I fear (3a).

У-224 • НА УЩЁРБЕ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$] 1. [subj: луна, месяц] (of the crescent moon) the moon is beginning to decrease gradually in size: луна на ущербе ≃ the moon is waning ⟨on the wane⟩; the moon is a mere sliver.

«Не будет, батя, дела… Месяц на ущербе»… Старик закурил, поглядел на солнце, застрявшее по ту сторону коряги. «Сазан, он разно берёт. И на ущербе иной раз возьмётся» (Шолохов 2). "We won't get anything today, Dad… Moon's on the wane."… The old man lighted up [his cigarette] and glanced at the sun, now snagged behind the sunken tree. "Carp bite at different times. Even with a waning moon" (2a).

2. [subj: abstr] sth. is receding, nearing the end: X на ущербе ≃ X is nearly ⟨almost⟩ over; X is on the decline ⟨on the wane⟩; X is waning ⟨fading, dying out⟩; X is almost gone; X is almost at an end; X is drawing to a close ⟨to an end⟩.

«Вроде, на ущербе жизнь твоя холостяцкая, Вася?» (Максимов 3). "Vasilii, my boy… it looks as though your bachelor days are nearly over" (3a).

Ф

Ф-1 • В ФАВО́РЕ у кого быть$_{ø}$, оказаться; В ФАВО́Р к кому попасть [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect)] one is well-liked by and receives patronage from s.o.: X в фаворе у Y-а ≃ X is in favor with Y; X is in Y's favor ⟨good graces, good books⟩; [lim.] X is a favorite of Y ⟨Y's⟩; || Neg X не в фаворе у Y-а ≃ X is in disfavor with Y; X is out of favor with Y; X is in Y's bad books; [lim.] X has fallen from grace with Y.

«Мне думалось, что его цель вступления в братство состояла только в желании сблизиться с людьми, быть в фаворе у находящихся в нашей ложе» (Толстой 5). "It seemed to me that his object in entering the Brotherhood was merely to be intimate and in favor with the members of our Lodge" (5a).

Ф-2 • НЕВЕРОЯ́ТНО, НО ФАКТ [Invar; indep. sent or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: это); fixed WO] what is stated or is about to be stated may be surprising, but nevertheless it is true: (it's) unbelievable, but true; (as) unbelievable as it may seem ⟨sound⟩; (as) improbable as it may seem ⟨sound⟩; (as) incredible as it seems ⟨may seem, sounds⟩; incredible, but a fact; incredibly.

Мы впали в ничем не объяснимое спокойствие и почему-то поверили в прочность нашей жизни. Это невероятно, но факт (Мандельштам 1). Improbable as it may seem, we fell into an inexplicable state of calm and believed for some reason that our life was at last secure (1a).

Ф-3 • Э́ТО ЕЩЁ НЕ ФАКТ [indep. sent; fixed WO] there is no evidence that what has been stated is so: that may not be the case; that's not quite true; [lim.] that may not happen; that remains to be seen.

«Не турок надо опасаться, ваше превосходительство, — скрипучим голосом сказал Перепёлкин. — Турки вас, предположим, не тронут — выдохлись. Но вот главнокомандующий по головке не погладит». — «А это ещё не факт, Еремей Ионович» (Акунин 5). "It's not the Turks we need to be afraid of, your Excellency." Perepyolkin said in his squeaky voice. "We may assume that the Turks will not touch you—they've run out of steam. But the commander in chief will not be pleased at all." "Ah, but that's not quite true, Eremei Ionovich" (5a).

Ф-4 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ПЕРЕД (СВЕРШИ́ВШИМСЯ ⟨СОВЕРШИ́ВШИМСЯ⟩) ФА́КТОМ кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect] to inform s.o. of sth. that is already done or accomplished (and usu. irreversible): X поставил Y-а перед (свершившимся) фактом ≃ X presented ⟨confronted⟩ Y with a fait accompli; Y was faced with a fait accompli; X announced sth. as an accomplished fact (to Y).

[Он:] Я тебе говорю, нам надо расписаться. Поставить всех перед фактом (Рощин 1). [He:] I tell you, we must go to the [marriage] registry office. We'll present everybody with a fait accompli (1a).

Ф-5 • ГО́ЛЫЕ ФА́КТЫ coll [NP; sing less common; fixed WO] facts taken or presented without any additions, comments, or interpretation: the bare ⟨naked, unadorned⟩ facts; just the facts; the facts, pure and simple; (the facts and) nothing but the facts.

Ежели судить по рассказам летописцев, передающих только голые факты, то Феденьку пришлось бы, пожалуй, назвать злодеем (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). To judge from the accounts of chroniclers who recount only the bare facts, Fedenka would perhaps have to be called a villain (2a).

Ф-6 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ФАСО́Н highly coll; ДАВИ́ТЬ ФАСО́Н slang [VP; subj: human] to behave in an ostentatious manner in an attempt to impress others (often in refer. to how one dresses or one's general appearance): X держит фасон ≃ X shows off; X tries to make an impression; X puts on the dog.

Панин уважал нашу слабость к «отвлечённой» музыке, не мешал нам и отгонял других. Но некоторые полагали, что мы просто «давим фасон», притворяемся, будто бренчанье и пиликанье предпочитаем частушкам, хорам, опереттам (Копелев 1). Panin respected our weakness for "abstract" music; he did not disturb us and chased away others who might. But some thought that we were "just showing off," pretending that we preferred the plunking and plinking to chastushka ditties, choruses, and operettas (1a).

Ф-7 • НЕ ФАСО́Н ⟨НЕ МОДЕ́ЛЬ⟩ (кому) obs, substand [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. infin, a clause, or это)] sth. (or doing sth.) is not suitable, proper, good: (X-у) делать Y не фасон ≃ X shouldn't do Y; Y is not the thing to do; it's not ⟨it wouldn't be⟩ right (for X) to do Y.

Ф-8 • ФЕДО́Т, ДА НЕ ТОТ [saying] the person or thing in question looks like or has some of the characteristics of the named category of people or things, but is not entirely authentic or deserving of being called a member of that category: ≃ he's ⟨it's etc⟩ not the real thing; he ⟨it etc⟩ seems to…, but not really; he ⟨it etc⟩ is kind of…, but not really; he ⟨it etc⟩ is sort of…, but not quite; there's… and there's… ⟨there are…, and there are…⟩, you mustn't go by the label.

«А здесь разве не тайга?» — «Тайга-то тайга… Только Федот, да не тот… Наше Беличье — оазис в пустыне» (Гинзбург 2). "Isn't this taiga, then?" "I suppose it is. But there's taiga and there's taiga. You mustn't go by the label. Our Belichye is an oasis in the desert" (2a).

Ф-9 • К ЯДРЁНОЙ ⟨ЕДРЁНОЙ, ЕДРЕ́НЕ⟩ ФЕ́НЕ (послать *кого-что) vulg [PrepP; these forms only; usu. used as Interj or adv; fixed WO] used to express anger, irritation, scorn directed toward s.o. or sth., or a desire to get rid of s.o. or sth.: damn it!; shove it!; to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨him etc⟩!; get stuffed! || выгнать ⟨вышвырнуть и т.п.⟩ кого к ядрёной фене ≃ throw s.o. the hell out of here ⟨there etc⟩; kick ⟨throw⟩ s.o.'s (goddamned ⟨fucking, bloody etc⟩) ass out of here ⟨there etc⟩; || расстрелять кого к ядрёной фене ≃ blast s.o.'s goddamned ⟨bloody etc⟩ brains out; blow s.o. to (goddamned ⟨bloody etc⟩) hell.

…К ядрёной фене, завтра же с утра в ОВИР за формулярами, линять отсюда, линять, линять… (Аксёнов 7). …This is it, damn it. Tomorrow morning I'm going to see about emigration forms. I've got to get out of here, I've got to get out… (7a).

Ф-10 • ДО ФЕ́НИ ⟨ФЕ́НЬКИ⟩ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only] 1. кому ~. Also: ДО ФОНАРЯ́ highly coll [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun, often это, всё, всё это)] some person or thing does not matter to s.o. or interest s.o. at all: X Y-у до феньки ≃ Y doesn't give a damn about ⟨for⟩ X; Y doesn't give a crap ⟨a hoot etc⟩ about X; Y couldn't give a good goddamn about X.

«…До сегодняшнего дня мне было, как говорится, до фени, живёт ли где-то подобный Шевчук или нет» (Войнович 4). "…Up until today, I couldn't have, as they say, given a good goddamn whether there was any such Shevchuk alive anywhere" (4a).

2. кого-чего ~ [quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun)] (s.o. has or in some place there is) a very large quantity (of people, things, some category of people or things etc) or a very large amount (of some substance): X-ов (у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩) было до фени ≃ there are ⟨Y has⟩ a hell of a lot ⟨a helluva lot, tons etc⟩ of Xs; there are Xs galore (in place Z); [when the emphasis is on variety] any ⟨every⟩ kind of X one ⟨you⟩ could want ⟨imagine⟩.

Потом показался третий штурман с белым мешком за спиной. Не с мешком, а с наволочкой. В ней он, наверное, лоции приволок и аптеку, он ведь на СРТ и за доктора. Лекарств у него там до фени, самых дорогих, каких хочешь, но на все случаи жизни — зелёнка и пирамидон… (Владимов 2). Then came the Third Mate, with a sack over his back—or rather not a sack but a pillow-case. No doubt it held the contents of the medicine chest, because on a DWT the Third Mate acts as doctor. He has every kind of medicine you could want, but all he ever prescribes is green liniment or aspirin… (2a).

Ф-11 • ХОДИ́ТЬ ФЕ́РТОМ highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. obsoles. Also: СТОЯ́ТЬ ФЕ́РТОМ obsoles, highly coll to walk or stand with one's hands on one's hips (i.e., in a position resembling the Russian letter «Ф»): X ходил ⟨стоял⟩ фертом ≃ X walked ⟨stood⟩ with (his) arms akimbo.

2. Also: ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ ⟨СМОТРЕ́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ФЕ́РТОМ highly coll to carry o.s. in an overconfident, conceited manner, look self-satisfied: X ходит ⟨глядит⟩ фертом ≃ X struts about; X swaggers; X looks smug ⟨cocky, snooty⟩.

< «Ферт» is the antiquated name of the letter «Ф».

Ф-12 • ВСЕ́МИ ФИ́БРАМИ ⟨СИ́ЛАМИ⟩ ДУШИ́ ненавидеть, презирать кого-что, стремиться к чему и т.п. rather lit [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to hate, despise s.o. or sth., want sth. etc) very intensely: (hate ⟨detest etc⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with every fiber of one's being; (hate etc s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with a passion; (want sth.) with all one's being ⟨heart, soul, heart and soul⟩; with all the strength one can muster.

…Павел Петрович всеми силами души своей возненавидел Базарова: он считал его гордецом, нахалом, циником, плебеем (Тургенев 2). …Pavel Petrovich detested Bazarov with every fibre of his being: he regarded him as an arrogant, impudent fellow, a cynic and a vulgarian (2c). …Pavel Petrovich came to despise Bazarov with all the strength he could muster: he considered him arrogant, impudent, a cynic, and a plebian (2g).

Ф-13 • НА́ ФИГ highly coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. (послать) кого-что ~; иди (пошёл и т.п.) ~!; ну его ⟨тебя и т.п.⟩ ~! rude [used as Interj, intensifying Particle, or sent adv (parenth)] used to express anger, a desire to get rid (or rid o.s.) of s.o. or sth.: to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨it etc⟩; (tell s.o. to) go to hell; || иди ты ⟨ну тебя⟩ ~! ≃ get lost!; buzz off!; go jump in the lake!; go chase yourself ⟨fly a kite, climb a tree etc⟩!

«…Город тоже мне… Не Москва. Может, кому он и нравится, мне лично не то чтобы очень. Ну его на фиг!» (Аксёнов 5). "…Some town, I must say…. It's no Moscow. There may be those who like it, but they can have it as far as I'm concerned. To hell with it!" (5a).

2. ~ (нужно, сдалось кому и т.п.) [adv (neg intensif)] used (often in a rhetorical question) to express one's contempt for sth. and one's opinion that it is absolutely useless, not needed by one or s.o. etc: what the hell do I ⟨does he etc⟩ want ⟨need⟩ with it ⟨that etc⟩?; what the hell do I ⟨does he etc⟩ need it ⟨that etc⟩ for!; who (the hell) needs it ⟨them etc⟩!; [lim.] s.o. can take his [NP] and go to hell.

Обманула, а теперь сочувствует? На фиг мне нужно её сочувствие! First she deceives me and now she says she feels for me? She can take her sympathy and go to hell!

3. [sent adv (parenth)] used to emphasize the rhetorical and/or sarcastic nature of a statement or question: what the hell kind of [NP] is this ⟨are you etc⟩?; what in blazes ⟨the devil⟩ kind of [NP] is this ⟨are *they etc⟩?

Какой из него, на фиг, бизнесмен? Он же ничего в бизнесе не понимает! What in blazes kind of businessman is he? He doesn't understand a thing about business!

Ф-14 • НИ ФИГА́ СЕБЕ! highly coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [Interj] used to express surprise, astonishment or strong displeasure, indignation: if that don't ⟨doesn't⟩ beat all!; (well,) I'll be damned ⟨darned⟩!; go figure!; holy crap ⟨shit⟩!; [when expressing surprise, astonishment etc] hot damn!; get out of here ⟨town⟩!; who would have thought ⟨thunk (it)⟩?!; no kidding ⟨fooling⟩!; holy cow ⟨moly, mackerel, crap etc⟩ !; well, I'll be dipped!; [when expressing displeasure, indignation etc] for crying out loud!; well, I never!

«Мы купили эту картинку на толкучке за копейки, а теперь за неё дают сто тысяч баксов». — «Ни фига себе!» "We bought this painting at a flea market for pennies, and now it's going for a hundred thousand bucks." "Get out of town!"

2. [foll. by a NP] used to express admiration, delighted approval or strong displeasure, mockery, indignation directed at the person or thing denoted by the NP that follows it: quite a ⟨the⟩ [NP]!; a [NP] to beat all ([NPs])!; [when expressing displeasure, mockery etc] some [NP] (I must say)!; some [NP] he ⟨she⟩ is!; [NP] indeed!

Ф-15 • ПО́ ФИГУ кому highly coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: often это, всё (это); occas. any noun or a clause)] the situation, thing etc in question does not matter at all to s.o.: X Y-у ~ ≃ Y doesn't ⟨couldn't⟩ give a fig ⟨a rip, a hoot, a damn⟩ about X; Y couldn't care a snap about X; Y could ⟨couldn't⟩ care less about X; || это всем по фигу ≃ who gives a shit?

Ф-20 • ПОД ФЛА́ГОМ чего, каким usu. media [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. in the sname of sth., using sth. as a slogan: under the banner of.

2. concealing one's true intentions, purposes under the appearance of something else: under the guise ⟨the pretext⟩ of.

Под флагом укрепления дисциплины труда служащим запретили пользоваться служебным телефоном в личных целях. Under the pretext of maintaining discipline in the workplace, workers were forbidden to use office telephones for personal matters.

Ф-21 • В Э́ТОМ ВЕСЬ ФО́КУС coll [sent or parenth clause; Invar; often introduced by «и»; fixed WO] what has been stated or is about to be stated is the most important factor, argument, or point: that's (just) it ⟨the thing⟩; that's just ⟨precisely⟩ the point; that's the whole point; [lim.] the whole point is that…

Ф-22 • ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́КИНУТЬ ФО́КУС ⟨ФО́КУСЫ, ФО́РТЕЛЬ, ФО́РТЕЛИ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; variants with фокусы, фортели are usu. impfv; variants with фокус, фортель are usu. pfv] to do sth. unexpected, unusual, often absurd: X выкинул фокус ≃ X played a trick; X pulled a stunt ⟨a trick⟩; [lim.] X sprang a surprise (of his own).

Наконец кассу открывают… «Граждане, в общие и плацкартные вагоны билетов нет!» — кричит кассирша… «Не знают, как деньги выманить, — возмущается толстая… тётка. — Понаделали мягких вагонов — кому они нужны?.. Вот ещё раз, два такие фокусы выкинете, и ни один человек к вам не пойдёт» (Распутин 1). At last the ticket office opened…. "No second- or third-class tickets, citizens," shouted the cashier…." Anything to get money out of us," blustered a fat woman…. "Who wants their first-class carriages?… Play this trick once too often and you'll not have anybody using the railways" (1a).

Ф-23 • ФОМА́ НЕВЕ́РНЫЙ ⟨НЕВЕ́РУЮЩИЙ⟩ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a skeptical person who is hard to convince of something: a doubting Thomas.

«Сейчас у меня такой американский резидент сидит, что я его думаю сразу за трёхтомную эпопею усадить — на материале капиталистических разведок. И в это не веришь? Эх ты, Фома неверующий!» (Домбровский 2). "I've got an American resident with me now; I'm thinking of sitting him down to a three-volume epic—based on capitalist espionage. Don't believe that either? Ah, my doubting Thomas!" (2a).

< From the Biblical account of the apostle Thomas, who did not believe that Christ had risen from the dead until he saw and touched the wounds (John 20: 24–29).

Ф-24 • КРА́СНЫЙ ФОНА́РЬ [NP; sing only] an establishment where prostitutes live and entertain their clients: brothel; whorehouse; house of ill repute ⟨ill fame⟩; [lim.] call house. Cf. red-light district.

Ф-25 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ФОНА́РЬ кому; НАСТА́ВИТЬ ФОНАРЕ́Й all coll [VP; subj: human] to hit s.o. in such a way that he ends up with a bruise near or around the eye: X поставил Y-у фонарь ≃ X gave Y a black eye ⟨a shiner⟩; X blackened Y's eye.

[Городничий:] Да сказать Держиморде, чтобы не слишком давал воли кулакам своим: он… всем ставит фонари под глазами: и правому и виноватому (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] And tell Derzhimorda not to be too free with his fists. He gives black eyes both to the guilty and the innocent… (4c).

Ф-26 • ОТ ФОНАРЯ́ сделать, сказать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do, say sth.) without taking time to prepare in advance or think on the spot, carelessly, without any concern about the consequences: (do ⟨say⟩ sth.) without thinking ⟨out of the blue, offhandedly⟩; (say sth. ⟨answer etc⟩) off the top of one's head ⟨off the cuff, offhand⟩; [lim.] (do sth.) just like that; pull it ⟨the figure, the answer etc⟩ out of a hat.

Ф-27 • ЗОЛОТО́Й ФОНД кого-чего rhet, lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the best, most valuable, most important people (achievements, works of art or literature etc): the gold reserve (of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

Все переводчики разбиты на группы: английская, французская, скандинавская… В каждой группе есть свои корифеи… Корифеи давно работают в «Интуристе», прекрасно знают язык. Их берегут, ими дорожат. Это «золотой фонд» «Интуриста» (Михайловская 1). All interpreters are broken up into groups: English, French, Scandinavian. Each group has its star[s]…. The stars have worked for Intourist for a long time, they know their languages perfectly. They are protected, they are treasured. They are the "gold reserve" of Intourist (1a).

Ф-28 • ЗАТКНУ́ТЬ ФОНТА́Н highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human; usu. imper; fixed WO] to stop talking: заткни фонтан ≃ put a lid on it!; cork it!; put a cork in it!; dry up!; give it a rest!; turn it off!

[Телегин (плачущим голосом):] Ваня, я не люблю, когда ты это говоришь. Ну, вот, право… Кто изменяет жене или мужу, тот, значит, неверный человек, тот может изменить и отечеству! [Войницкий (с досадой):] Заткни фонтан, Вафля! (Чехов 3). [T. (with tears in his voice):] I don't like to hear you say those things, Vanya. Really… People who betray their wives or husbands are disloyal and might even betray their country! [V. (annoyed):] Oh, dry up, Waffles (3b).

< From the aphorism «Если у тебя есть фонтан, заткни его: дай отдохнуть и фонтану» ("If you have a fountain, turn it off: give the fountain a rest, too"), by Kozma Prutkov (published in «Плоды раздумья», 1854). Kozma Prutkov, a fictitious writer, was the creation of Count Aleksei Tolstoi and the brothers Zhemchuzhnikov—Aleksei and Vladimir, with occasional contributions from a third brother, Aleksandr.

Ф-29 • НЕ ФОНТА́Н coll, often humor [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr or concr)] sth. is mediocre, not very good: X не фонтан ≃ X is nothing special; X is no great shakes ⟨no prize, no gem⟩; X is nothing to brag ⟨to write home⟩ about.

«Вот, — схватил он со стола газету и сунул Ефиму. — „Всегда с партией, всегда с народом“. Хорош заголовок?» — «Мм-м», — замялся Ефим, — «Мму! — передразнил Каретников, замычав по-коровьи. — Не мучайся и не мычи, я и так вижу, что морду воротишь. Название не фонтан, но зато просто и без прикрас» (Войнович 6). “Here.” He grabbed the newspaper from his desk and thrust it at Yefim. “‘Always with the Party, Always with the People.’ Nice headline, eh?” “Mmm…” Yefim began hesitantly. “Mmooo!” Karetnikov lowed, mimicking. “Don’t squirm, don’t mumble. I can see you’re turning up your nose. The title’s no gem. It’s simple, though, straightforward” (6a).

Ф-30 • В ФО́РМЕ (какой) быть$_{ø}$, оказаться, чувствовать себя; В ФО́РМУ входить, приходить [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect (команда, класс etc), or, occas., animal)] (often of a performer, public speaker, athlete, or animal in competition) (to be in or get into) the physical or mental condition in which one’s strengths, abilities, skills etc are or can be displayed to their fullest: X в (хорошей) форме ≃ X is in good ⟨fine⟩ form; X is at his best; X is in top ⟨great etc⟩ shape; [usu. in sporting contexts] X is at the top of his game; || Neg X не в форме ≃ X is not up to par; [usu. in refer. to one’s level of fitness] X is out of shape.

Рейно говорил в палате о выдержке, мужестве. Когда он кончил, Тесса его поздравил: «Ты сегодня в форме…» (Эренбург 4). Reynaud spoke in the Chamber about firmness and courage. When he finished his speech, Tessa congratulated him. “You were in good form today” (4a).

Ф-31 • ПО ВСЕЙ ФО́РМЕ [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. Also: ПО ФО́РМЕ [adv or nonagreeing modif] according to protocol, according to a prescribed set of standards: according to (all) the rules ⟨regulations⟩; as (is) required; proper(ly); in the proper way; by the book.

[Саша] мог бы спросить [Алферова]: для чего вы меня вызвали? Для допроса? Тогда ведите его по всей форме… (Рыбаков 2). He [Sasha] could have asked why he had been summoned. For an interrogation? If so, then he [Alferov] ought to get on with it in the proper way… (2a). ♦ Следует произвести арест обстоятельно, по всей форме (Акунин 3). This was an arrest that required thorough planning, everything done by the book (3a).

2. coll. Also: ПО ФО́РМЕ; ВО ВСЕЙ ФО́РМЕ obs [adv] in keeping with high standards: in fine style.

[Гордей Карпыч:] Сколько раз говорил я тебе: хочешь сделать у себя вечер, позови музыкантов, чтобы это было во всей форме… [Пелагея Егоровна:] Ну уж, куда нам музыкантов… старухам (Островский 2). [G.K.:] How many times have I said: if you want to have some amusement, hire musicians and do it in fine style…. [P.Ye.:] What does us old ladies want with musicians? (2b).

3. obs. Also: ВО ВСЕЙ ФО́РМЕ obs [nonagreeing modif] (one is a certain type of person) entirely: a real ⟨regular⟩ [NP]; a full-fledged ⟨full-blown⟩ [NP]; an honest-to-goodness ⟨honest-to-God⟩ [NP].

«…В трёх верстах от города стоял драгунский полк… Офицеры, сколько их ни было, сорок человек одних офицеров было в городе; как начали мы, братец, пить… Штабс-ротмистр Поцелуев… такой славный! усы, братец, такие!.. Поручик Кувшинников… Ах, братец, какой премилый человек! вот, уж можно сказать, во всей форме кутила» (Гоголь 3). “…There was a regiment of dragoons stationed three versts from town…. All the officers—there must have been at least forty of them—were in town to a man; and we started drinking, brother…. Captain Potseluev—such a nice fellow! You should have seen his mustache, brother; that long!… Lieutenant Kuvshinnikov, too—such a charming fellow, brother, a full-blown rake, I’d say” (3c).

Ф-32 • ДЛЯ ФО́РМЫ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv] in order to adhere to established procedure, rules: for the sake of form ⟨protocol⟩; for good form; as a matter of procedure ⟨protocol⟩; as a formality.

…К вечеру она [Амалия], для формы, созвала опытнейших городских будочников и открыла совещание (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …That evening, for the sake of form, [Amalia] called all the most experienced constables together and held a conference (1b). Toward evening…, for good form, [Amalia] summoned the most experienced municipal patrolmen and opened a conference (1a).

2. Also: ДЛЯ ПРОФО́РМЫ [adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, abstr, or concr)] in order to create the impression that all is as it should be: for the sake of appearances; for appearance’ sake; as a matter of form; (just) for show; pro forma.

Секретарь тут лишь для проформы, его можно в расчёт не принимать (Зиновьев 1). “Secretary’s only there for the sake of appearances; you can ignore him” (1a).

Ф-33 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ФОРС highly coll [VP; subj: human] to appear calm, poised, brave etc in an embarrassing situation, troublesome circumstances etc: X держит форс ≃ X keeps ⟨puts⟩ up a (brave) front; X puts on a brave face; X keeps a stiff upper lip.

«Товарищ майор, — говорю стальным голосом, — прошу вас немедленно покинуть помещение!» Вижу, растерялся, но форс держит (Искандер 5). “Comrade Major,” I said in a steely voice, “please leave the premises immediately!” He was flustered, I saw, but still keeping up a front (5a).

Ф-34 • ДЛЯ ФО́РСУ ⟨-а⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv] simply in order to impress others: for show; (just) to show off; to cut a dash.

Он в теннис не играет, — носит с собой ракетку только для форса. He doesn’t play tennis—he carries a racket with him just for show.

Ф-35 • ФОРТУ́НА УЛЫБА́ЕТСЯ/УЛЫБНУ́ЛАСЬ кому ⟨ПОВОРА́ЧИВАЕТСЯ/ПОВЕРНУ́ЛАСЬ ЛИЦО́М к кому⟩ [VP_{subj}] (s.o.) is or became very lucky, successful: фортуна улыбается X-у ≃ fortune smiles on X; fortune favors X; luck is on X’s side; X has luck on his side; the chips fall X’s way; X hits pay dirt; [of a long streak of luck] X is blessed with (good luck); X is never down on his luck.

«Что вчерашняя игра?» — спросила Варя… «Фортуна ко мне наконец повернулась», — просиял он (Акунин 5). “How did yesterday’s game go?” asked Varya… “Fortune has finally smiled on me,” he replied, beaming (5a).

Ф-36 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ФО́РУ кому coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] 1. to give s.o. an advantage over o.s. (often in a game, competition etc): X дал Y-у фору ≃ X gave Y a handicap ⟨a head start⟩; X let Y get a jump on X.

Когда чемпион школы по шахматам играл с кем-нибудь из ребят, он обычно снимал с доски одну из своих пешек до начала партии — давал фору более слабому противнику. When the school chess champion played another student, he would usually take one of his pawns off the board before starting the game, thus giving his weaker opponent a handicap.

2. [usu. pfv] to be substantially superior to s.o. in some area: X даст Y-у фору ≃ X will ⟨can⟩ run circles ⟨rings⟩ around Y; X will leave Y in the dust; X will outclass ⟨outshine etc⟩ Y.

По скорости чтения Петя давал фору всем своим одноклассникам. When it came to reading speed, Petya ran circles around all his classmates.

Ф-37 • ВО ФРОНТ ⟨ФРУНТ obs⟩ вытянуться, стать, стоять и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to come) to or (to be) in a position with one's arms at one's sides and one's heels together: (come) to attention; (stand) at ⟨to⟩ attention.

Подходя к комендантскому дому, мы увидели на площадке человек двадцать стареньких инвалидов с длинными косами и в треугольных шляпах. Они выстроены были во фрунт (Пушкин 2). As we approached the commandant's house, we saw about twenty old soldiers standing to attention on a small square; they had their hair in long pigtails and were wearing three-cornered hats (2c).

Ф-38 • НА ДВА ФРО́НТА бороться, вести борьбу, работать, успевать и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to fight, struggle) against two sides simultaneously, (to work, succeed) in two areas simultaneously etc: on two fronts.

«Осуществляя этот план, мы должны бороться на два фронта: против того, чтобы Москва осталась „большой деревней", и против излишеств урбанизации» (Рыбаков 2). "In carrying out this plan, we will be fighting on two fronts: first, against the idea that Moscow should remain a 'big village,' and second, against excesses in urban development" (2a).

Ф-39 • ЕДИ́НЫМ ФРО́НТОМ действовать, выступать и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to act) as one, showing solidarity: (present ⟨put up⟩) a united front; (make) common cause.

[Мать:] Я только хочу сказать, чтобы вы… понимаете, если у них не будет никакой поддержки, если мы будем выступать, так сказать, единым фронтом… Он ведь тоже совсем мальчик, зачем ему это? Искалечат себе жизнь! Никакой любви здесь нет, поймите! Туман, больше ничего (Рощин 1). [Mother:] I just want to say that you and I… you understand, don't you, that if they have no support, if we present a united front, so to speak…. He's only a boy after all, so why let him do this to himself? They'll ruin their lives. There's no love here, you realize! It's a romantic mist, that's all it is (1b).

Ф-40 • ФУ́-ТЫ; ФУ́-ТЫ, НУ́-ТЫ! both coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express surprise, irritation etc (usu. colored by irony): la-di-da!; my, my!; well, well!; isn't that ⟨he etc⟩ something!; ooh!; [when said without irony] good grief!; my goodness!; ‖ фу-ты ну-ты, какой важный! ≃ isn't he hoity-toity ⟨snooty etc⟩!

«Что же ты проходишь мимо не здороваясь?» — «Фу-ты ну-ты, какой ты обидчивый!» "What's this, you walk by and don't even say hello?" "My, my, awfully touchy, aren't we!" ♦ [Городничий:] Фу ты, какая невидаль! Оттого, что ты шестнадцать самоваров выдуешь в день, так оттого и важничаешь? (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] Ooh, aren't you a wonder! Swill down sixteen pots of tea a day—is that anything to put on airs about? (4b).

Ф-41 • ПРОЙТИ́ ⟨ВЫ́ЙТИ, ПРОСКОЧИ́ТЬ⟩ ФУ́КСОМ obs, coll [VP; subj: usu. human or concr] to make it through (some test, bureaucratic process etc) by chance: by some (lucky) fluke.

Хоть десяток отказов! Пиши дальше! И в конце концов, по закону больших чисел, пропуск твой проскочит фуксом через бюрократическую машину (Гинзбург 2). You might have had ten refusals. But never mind, slap in another application! Finally, according to the law of averages, your pass would emerge by some lucky fluke from the bureaucratic machine (2a).

Ф-42 • ВОТ ТАК ФУНТ!; ВОТ ТЕ ФУНТ! both highly coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express surprise, perplexity, disappointment (usu. in reaction to sth. unexpected): you don't say!; (well,) how do you like that!; (well,) I like that!; well, I'll be (darned ⟨damned⟩)!; (well,) how about that!; [lim.] bless me if…

«А в тоне вашем, простите, содержится некий елей, нечто этакое, не то поповское, не то толстовское». — «Иначе не может быть, — сказал Иконников, — ведь я был толстовцем». — «Вот так фунт», — сказал Михаил Сидорович [Мостовской] (Гроссман 2). "But there's something rather unctuous, if I may say so, in your tone of voice. You sound like a priest or a Tolstoyan." "That's hardly surprising," said Ikonnikov. "I used to be a Tolstoyan." "You don't say!" exclaimed Mostovskoy (2a).

Ф-43 • НЕ ФУНТ ИЗЮ́МУ ⟨-а⟩ coll, often humor [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr), usu. pres; fixed WO] sth. is no trifle, is a serious matter, is not to be taken lightly: X не фунт изюму ≃ X is nothing to sneeze ⟨laugh⟩ at; X is no joke.

Сколько видел Фёдор за свою короткую жизнь, сколько слышал, войны хлебнул четыре ровных годика, тоже не фунт изюма… (Максимов 1). Fyodor had seen and heard a good deal in his short life. He'd supped four full years of war, which is also no joke (1a).

Ф-44 • ПОЧЁМ ФУНТ ЛИ́ХА узнать, знать, понять и т.п. coll [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] (to know, learn) what severe hardship is (by personally experiencing an ordeal, hard time etc): what real trouble ⟨misfortune, suffering, misery etc⟩ is; what hard times are (really like ⟨all about⟩).

«Жена воспитывалась в детском доме. Сирота… Она с детства узнала, почём фунт лиха стоит…» (Шолохов 1). "My wife had been brought up in a children's home. She was an orphan…. She had known what real trouble was since she was a kid" (1c).

Ф-45 • НА ФУФУ́ obsoles, highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) haphazardly, without proper care, thought, attention etc: carelessly; slapdash; in a slipshod ⟨slapdash⟩ manner.

Ему ничего важного поручать нельзя: всё делает на фуфу. You can't entrust him with anything important, he does everything slapdash.

Ф-46 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ ⟨ПОДЫМА́ТЬ⟩/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДДЕВА́ТЬ/ПОДДЕ́ТЬ⟩ НА ФУФУ́ кого obs, coll [VP; subj: human] to delude, deceive s.o.: X поднял Y-а на фуфу ≃ X pulled the wool over Y's eyes; X took Y in ⟨for a ride⟩; X hoodwinked Y.

[Нелькин:] Осмотритесь: вас подымают на фуфу! У вас крадут дочь!.. (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [N.:] Look around you: you're being taken in. They are stealing your daughter!… (2a).

Ф-47 • ПОЙТИ́ ⟨СОЙТИ́⟩ НА ФУФУ́ obs, coll [VP; subj; usu. abstr] to fail to succeed, end in failure: X пошёл на фуфу ≃ X fell through; X fizzled (out); X came to nothing ⟨to naught⟩.

[Кречинский:] …[Он] влепит своим хамским почерком имя моё в книгу, и как гром какой разразится по Москве весть! И кончено, и всё кончено. Свадьба пошла на фуфу; от этого проклятого миллиона остаётся дым какой-то, чад, похмелье и злость… да, злость!.. (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] He'll scrawl my name in the book with that boorish handwriting of his, and the news is bound to reverberate throughout Moscow like a clap of thunder! And that'll be the end of it, the end of everything! The marriage'll fizzle out, and all that'll be left of that damn million'll be nothing but a puff of smoke, fumes, a hangover, and malice… yes, malice (2b).

X

X-1 • НА ХАЛЯ́ВУ slang, disapprov or humor [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif] (to obtain sth., participate in some activity for which a charge, fare or fee is generally involved) at no cost to o.s., without paying for it: (for) free; free of charge; for nothing; [lim.] at s.o.'s ⟨someone else's⟩ expense; on s.o. else's tab; [mainly humorous usage] free, gratis, and for nothing; || жить на халяву ≃ live ⟨sponge⟩ off s.o.; freeload.

X-2 • ИЗ ХА́МА НЕ СДЕ́ЛАЕШЬ ⟨НЕ БУ́ДЕТ⟩ ПА́НА [saying] a rude, uncouth person cannot become refined and well-mannered: ≃ you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

X-3 • ВЫДЕ́РЖИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ДЕРЖАТЬ ХАРА́КТЕР coll [VP; subj: human] to adhere firmly and resolutely to a decision, displaying strength of character (or, occas., stubbornness): X выдержал характер ≃ X stood ⟨held⟩ firm; X hung tough; X didn't ⟨wouldn't⟩ give in ⟨budge, back down⟩; X maintained his stand; X held out; X stuck it out; || Neg X не выдержал характера ≃ X gave ⟨caved⟩ in; X gave way ⟨folded, buckled⟩.

После часто мне надо было выдерживать увещания отца, который говорил, что необходимо кюльтивировать это знакомство и что я не могу требовать, чтоб человек в таком положении, как Ивин, занимался мальчишкой, как я; но я выдержал характер довольно долго (Толстой 2). Afterwards I frequently had to endure the exhortations of my father, who said that it was essential to cultiver this acquaintance and that I could not demand of a man in Ivin's position that he bother himself about a mere boy like myself; but I maintained my stand for quite a long time (2b).

X-4 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ ХАРА́КТЕР (кому); ПРОЯВЛЯ́ТЬ/ПРОЯВИ́ТЬ ХАРА́КТЕР [VP; subj: human] to demonstrate forcefulness, will, strong-mindedness etc: X показал характер ≃ X showed some muscle (to Y); X showed his mettle; X showed what he was made (out) of.

Ревкин понял, что Ермолкину и тем, кто стоит за его спиной, пора показать характер (Войнович 4). Revkin realized that it was time to show some muscle to Ermolkin and those behind him (4a).

X-5 • НЕ СОЙТИ́СЬ ХАРА́КТЕРАМИ ⟨ХАРА́КТЕРОМ⟩ (с кем) coll [VP; subj: human; if there is no prep obj, subj: pl] to be ill-matched with regard to disposition, not to have a congenial relationship with s.o.: X и Y ⟨X с Y-ом⟩ не сошлись характерами ≃ X and Y are ⟨were⟩ incompatible; X doesn't ⟨didn't⟩ get along with Y; X and Y didn't hit it off.

[Репников:] На свадьбе стало ясно, что [жених и невеста] не сошлись характерами… Любопытно… (Вампилов 3). [R.:] At the wedding it became clear they [the bride and groom] were incompatible… that's odd… (3b).

X-6 • В ХАРА́КТЕРЕ чьём, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr or infin); often neg] it is characteristic of or natural for s.o. (to do sth.): X ⟨делать X⟩ в Y-овом характере ≃ X ⟨doing X⟩ is in (keeping with) Y's character; X ⟨doing X⟩ is in character for Y; it's (just) like Y (to do X); X ⟨doing X⟩ is typical of Y; || Neg X ⟨делать X⟩ не в Y-овом характере ≃ it's out of character for Y (to do X); it's not in Y (to do X); it's not (in) Y's nature (to do X); it's unlike Y (to do X).

Приглашение доброе и деловое, вполне в его характере… (Орлова 1). The invitation was kind and businesslike, completely in keeping with his character… (1a). ♦ [Линевский:] Если только он меня не уволил. Скорей всего уволил. Скорей всего. Не в его характере не уволить (Панова 1). [L.:] If only he hasn't fired me. Probably has, though. Probably has. It would be unlike him not to (1a).

X-7 • МОЯ́ ⟨твоя и т.п.⟩ ХА́ТА С КРА́Ю coll, usu. disapprov [sent; these forms only; rarely used in refer. to the 1st person—variants with моя and наша usu. refer to the interlocutor(s) or a third party; fixed WO] (said, usu. disapprovingly, to or about s.o. who refuses to be involved in some matter that requires courage, determination, selflessness) it does not concern me (you etc): X-ова хата с краю ≃ it's no concern ⟨business⟩ of X's; it has nothing to do with X; it's not X's affair; it's none of X's business ⟨concern⟩.

…Скорее всего, это было проявлением особого советского этикета, который твёрдо соблюдался нашим народом в течение многих десятилетий: раз начальство ссылает, значит — так и надо, а моя хата с краю… (Мандельштам 1). Most probably it was a case of the peculiar Soviet etiquette that has been carefully observed for several decades now: if the authorities are sending someone into exile, all well and good, it's none of our business (1a).

< Abbreviated version of the saying «Моя хата с краю, (я) ничего не знаю» ("My hut is set apart, and I don't know anything").

X-8 • Э́ТОГО ЕЩЁ (ТО́ЛЬКО) НЕ ХВАТА́ЛО ⟨НЕДОСТАВА́ЛО⟩!; ТО́ЛЬКО Э́ТОГО (И) НЕ ХВАТА́ЛО ⟨НЕДОСТАВА́ЛО⟩!; ЕЩЁ ЧЕГО́ НЕ ХВАТА́ЛО! all coll [Interj; these forms only; the verb is usu. in the final position] (used to express one's dissatisfaction with, indignation at, disapproval of etc some action, event, or circumstance; also used to express one's sharp and rather rude refusal to do what another has suggested) this is intolerable, unacceptable: that's all I ⟨we⟩ need!; this is ⟨that's⟩ the limit!; that is ⟨that's⟩ going too far!; this is (really) too much!; that's the last straw!

Гладышев вдруг заметил, что на переднем копыте мерина нет подковы. «Этого ещё не хватало», — пробормотал он… (Войнович 2). Suddenly Gladishev noticed that there was no shoe on the gelding's front hoof. "That's the limit," he muttered (2a).

X-9 • (ВОН ⟨ВОТ⟩) КУДА́ ХВАТИ́Л ⟨МАХНУ́Л⟩! highly coll; Э́К(А) (КУДА́) ХВАТИ́Л! substand [sent; pfv past only; fixed WO] what you (he etc) said is grossly exaggerated, foolish etc: (now) that is ⟨that's⟩ going too far!; where'd you ⟨he etc⟩ get that from?; what will you ⟨he etc⟩ say next?; what put that idea into your ⟨his etc⟩ head?; [lim.] you have really surpassed yourself ⟨he has really surpassed himself etc⟩!

[Аммос Фёдорович:] Это значит вот что: Россия… да… хочет вести войну, и министерия-то, вот видите, и подослала чиновника, чтобы узнать, нет ли где измены. [Городничий:] Эк куда хватили! (Гоголь 4). [A.F.:] Here's what I mean now: Russia… um, yes… wants to start war, and the ministry now, you see, has sent out a man to find out if there isn't treason somewhere. [Mayor:] Where'd you get that from! (4a).

Х-10 • С МЕНЯ́ ХВА́ТИТ coll [indep. sent or clause; fixed WO] I have had more (of an unpleasant experience) than I am ready to tolerate (said when the speaker is unwilling to put up with it anymore): I've had enough; I've had it; I've had all I can take; I've about had it; I've had (more than) my fill ⟨share⟩; I'm fed up.

[Шаманов:] Кое-кто в городе ждёт, что я примчусь туда и буду на этом суде выступать. [Кашкина:] А ты?.. Не собираешься? [Шаманов:] Ни в коем случае. С меня хватит. Биться головой об стену — пусть этим занимаются другие (Вампилов 2). [Sh.:] Some of the people in town are expecting me to rush there and testify. [K.:] And you?… You're not planning to? [Sh.:] Not a chance. I've had enough. Let someone else beat their head against the wall (2b).

Х-11 • МЁРТВАЯ ХВА́ТКА, usu. вцепиться в кого-что, держать кого-что и т.п. мёртвой хваткой [NP; sing only] a very tight hold on s.o. or sth.: (seize ⟨hold⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ in) a death ⟨iron, mortal⟩ grip; (seize ⟨hold, grip etc⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ in) a stranglehold.

Он сейчас мечтал о том, чтобы встретить Читу и того, второго. О, сейчас бы он знал, что надо сделать! Сейчас бы он бросился на них и вцепился мёртвой хваткой (Семёнов 1). He was dreaming now that he would meet Cheetah and that other one. Oh, now he would know what to do! Now he would hurl himself upon them and seize them in a mortal grip (1a).

< Originally referred to the way dogs and certain other animals tightly lock their jaws on a foe or prey through spasmodic muscular contraction.

Х-12 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ХВОСТ ТРУБО́Й ⟨МОРКО́ВКОЙ, ПИСТОЛЕ́ТОМ⟩ highly coll, humor [VP; subj: human; usu. imper; fixed WO] to remain hopeful, cheerful, and brave (usu. in refer. to coping with difficult circumstances or some challenge): держи хвост трубой ≃ keep your chin ⟨spirits⟩ up; hang in there; cheer up.

Х-13 • ЗАДИРА́ТЬ/ЗАДРА́ТЬ ХВОСТ highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human] to behave arrogantly, show no regard for anyone or anything: X задирает хвост ≃ X is ⟨acts⟩ stuck-up ⟨snotty, uppity etc⟩; X has ⟨sticks⟩ his nose in the air; X acts high-and-mighty.

Х-14 • (И) В ХВОСТ И В ГРИ́ВУ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif); fixed WO] to an extreme degree, as intensely as possible: with all one's might; with might and main; with all ⟨everything⟩ one's got ⟨one has⟩; like nobody's business; || гнать ⟨погонять⟩ (лошадей) ~ ≃ drive the ⟨one's etc⟩ horses for all they are worth; drive not sparing the ⟨one's etc⟩ horses; || бить ⟨лупить⟩ кого ~ ≃ beat s.o. good and hard; beat the tar ⟨the (living) daylights etc⟩ out of s.o.; || [in refer. to a hostile army, the enemy] лупить кого ~ ≃ give s.o. a good thrashing.

«…Он тебя эксплуатирует в хвост и в гриву» (Трифонов 1). "…He exploits you like nobody's business" (1a).

Х-15 • НАКРУТИ́ТЬ ХВОСТ кому highly coll; НАКРУТИ́ТЬ ХВОСТА́ substand, both rude [VP; subj: human] to reprimand s.o. sharply or harshly: X накрутил Y-у хвост ≃ X gave Y hell; X let Y have it (with both barrels); X chewed ⟨bawled⟩ Y out.

Х-16 • НАСТУПА́ТЬ/НАСТУПИ́ТЬ НА ХВОСТ кому highly coll [VP] 1. [subj: human or collect] to be following s.o. very closely and be about to catch up to him: X наступает Y-у на хвост ≃ X is (right) on Y's tail; X is in hot pursuit of Y; X is breathing down Y's neck.

Они поспешно отходили — противник наступал им на хвост. They were beating a fast retreat because the enemy was right on their tail.

2. [subj: human] to offend s.o., encroach upon his sphere of interests: X наступил Y-у на хвост ≃ X stepped on Y's toes.

«Не злись… ты злишься, как будто я у тебя девочку увёл. Ведь она же ничья была, совершенно одна и ничья, я никому не наступил на хвост…» (Аксёнов 7). "Pipe down… pipe down! You'd think she was yours the way you're reacting. She's a free agent, her own woman. I haven't stepped on anybody's toes" (7a).

Х-17 • ПОДЖИМА́ТЬ/ПОДЖА́ТЬ ⟨ПРИЖИМА́ТЬ/ПРИЖА́ТЬ, ПОДВЁРТЫВАТЬ/ПОДВЕРНУ́ТЬ, ОПУСКА́ТЬ/ОПУСТИ́ТЬ⟩ ХВОСТ ⟨ХВОСТЫ́⟩ all highly coll [VP; subj: human] to retreat, surrender, give up one's course of action because one experiences a loss of self-confidence, apprehension, humiliation etc (often in circumstances when one encounters strong, unexpected opposition, when one suddenly becomes afraid of the possible consequences of one's actions etc): X поджал хвост ≃ X tucked ⟨stuck, went away with etc⟩ his tail between his legs.

«Больно спесив Кирила Петрович! а небось поджал хвост, когда Гришка мой закричал ему: „Вон, старый пёс! долой со двора!"» (Пушкин 1). "And Kirila Petrovich may be terribly high and mighty, but he went off with his tail between his legs all right when my Grishka shouted: 'Be off, you old cur! Out of the yard with you!'" (1c).

Х-18 • ПРИЖИМА́ТЬ/ПРИЖА́ТЬ ХВОСТ ⟨ХВОСТЫ́⟩ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human or collect; more often pfv] to humble s.o. by restricting his freedom to act as he pleases, forcing him to act in accordance with one's wishes: X прижмёт Y-у хвост ≃ X will bring Y in line ⟨to heel⟩; X will cut Y down to size.

Х-19 • ПРИЩЕМЛЯ́ТЬ/ПРИЩЕМИ́ТЬ ХВОСТ ⟨ХВОСТЫ́⟩ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] to humble s.o. by putting him in a difficult or awkward position: X прищемит Y-у хвост ≃ X will take ⟨bring⟩ Y down a peg ⟨a notch⟩ (or two).

[author's usage] Я не сомневаюсь, что [директор издательства] Котов, торгуясь, не сомневался в том, что Мариетта [Шагинян] добьётся своего. Он просто хотел… ущемить ей хвост (Мандельштам 2). I have no doubt that all the time he was haggling with her [Marietta Shaginian], Kotov [the director of the publishing house] knew perfectly well that she would get her way in the end. He simply wanted to take her down a peg or two… (2a).

Х-20 • РАСПУСКА́ТЬ/РАСПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨РАСПУШИ́ТЬ⟩ (ПАВЛИ́НИЙ ⟨ПЫ́ШНЫЙ⟩) ХВОСТ; РАСПУСКА́ТЬ/РАСПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨РАСПУШИ́ТЬ⟩ ПЕ́РЬЯ (перед кем) coll [VP; subj: human] to flaunt, talk or behave in a pretentious way, trying to impress s.o. (with one's erudition, skills etc; often of a man's attempt to impress a woman): X распускает хвост (перед Y-ом) ≃ X struts like a peacock; X struts his stuff; X shows off (in front of Y); X shows off ⟨flaunts⟩ his stuff for Y to admire; X peacocks about; X puts on ⟨gives himself⟩ airs; [lim.] X struts around like a rooster in a hen house.

Всё чаще я ловила на себе его плотоядные взгляды. А когда однажды утром он, распустив вовсю свой павлиний хвост, преподнёс мне большой пуховый платок… я поняла, что передышке пришёл конец (Гинзбург 1). More and more often, I felt his greedy eyes on me. When, one morning, he turned up strutting like a peacock and offered me a large woolen scarf… I realized that my breathing space was over… (1a).

X-21 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА ХВОСТ кому-чему coll [VP; subj and obj: human or a noun denoting a vehicle] shadowing or pursuing s.o., to begin to follow him or the vehicle he is in at a close distance, usu. keeping him or it within the field of one's vision: X сел Y-у на хвост ≃ X got (right) on Y's tail; X began to follow Y in close ⟨hot⟩ pursuit; X started chasing Y.

«Когда мы башибузукам на хвост сели, они ему пулю в голову, и наутёк. А пуля — она, как известно, дура. Прошла по касательной, только лоскут кожи сорвала» (Акунин 5). "When we started chasing the Bashi-Bazouks, they shot him in the head and hightailed it. But everyone knows you can't trust a bullet. It shot off at a tangent and only tore off a little scrap of skin" (5a).

X-22 • УКОРОТИ́ТЬ ХВОСТ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human] to deflate s.o.'s ego, humble s.o. and often make him more obedient: X укоротил Y-у хвост ≃ X took Y down a peg (or two); X cut Y down to size; X got Y (back) in line.

X-23 • ХВАТА́ТЬ/СХВАТИ́ТЬ ⟨УХВАТИ́ТЬ, ЛОВИ́ТЬ/ПОЙМА́ТЬ⟩ ЗА ХВОСТ что coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ славу, счастье, фортуну и т.п. (in refer. to fame, happiness, fortune etc) to (strive to) attain something that is difficult to attain: X схватил Y за хвост ≃ X grabbed ⟨seized⟩ Y by the tail.

Меня он тогда считал счастливцем, схватившим за хвост жар-птицу (Гладков 1). At this time he looked on me as someone favoured by fortune who had seized the fire-bird by the tail (1a).

2. ~ идею, тему и т.п. suddenly to think up (a good idea), find (a successful solution): X ухватил за хвост Y ≃ X hit ⟨lighted⟩ (up)on Y.

X-24 • В ХВОСТЕ́ (чего, occas. кого) идти, плестись, оказаться, оставить кого и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv, subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect), or obj-compl with оставить etc (obj: human or collect)] (to be) unable to keep up with some person or group, or (to leave some person or group) behind one and unable to keep up as one progresses ahead: (lag ⟨trail, fall, leave s.o. lagging, leave s.o. trailing etc⟩) behind; (be) at the tail ⟨tag⟩ end (of sth.); [in refer. to studies only] (be) at the bottom of the class.

[Генерал:] …По чьей вине следователи всё ещё плетутся в хвосте? По вине руководителей отделов, да! (Солженицын 9). [General:] …Whose fault is it that the investigators are trailing behind? It's the fault of the heads of departments, yes! (9a). ♦ R — всё тот же, всё тот же. По Тэйлору и математике — он всегда шёл в хвосте (Замятин 1). R. is the same as ever. In Taylor and mathematics he was always at the bottom of the class (1a).

X-25 • ВИСЕ́ТЬ ⟨ПОВИ́СНУТЬ⟩ НА ХВОСТЕ́ (кого, у кого); НА ХВОСТЕ́ all coll [VP or PrepP (Invar, subj-compl with copula); subj: human or collect] (of a pursuer, an athlete in competition, or enemy troops) to be following s.o. very closely and be about to catch up to him: X висел на хвосте у Y-а ≃ X was (right) on Y's tail; X was right behind Y; X was closing in on Y.

«Зараз [regional = сейчас, только что] разведка вернулась, говорят, что бугор пустой. Стало быть, Журавлёв потерял нас, а то бы он теперь на хвосте висел» (Шолохов 5). "Our patrol has just come in, they say there's no one on the hill. Zhuravlyov must have lost us or he'd be on our tail right now" (5a).

X-26 • СИДЕ́ТЬ НА ХВОСТЕ́ у кого coll [VP; subj and obj: human or a noun denoting a vehicle] shadowing or pursuing s.o., to follow him or the vehicle he is in at a close distance, usu. keeping him or it within the field of one's vision: X сидел у Y-а на хвосте ≃ X stayed ⟨kept, was⟩ (right) on Y's tail; X was ⟨stayed⟩ right behind Y; X trailed Y.

X-27 • МЫШИ́НЫЙ ⟨КРЫСИ́НЫЙ⟩ ХВО́СТИК ⟨ХВОСТ⟩ coll, derog [NP; fixed WO] a very thin plait or lock of hair: ratty little braid ⟨hank⟩.

X-28 • С ХВО́СТИКОМ; С ХВОСТО́М both coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. used with a Num or quantit NP as nonagreeing postmodif] (used when expressing s.o.'s age or, less often, the time, size or quantity of sth. as an approximation rounded down to the nearest convenient figure) (the figure named) with a small excess: a little over…; a little more than…; …and then some; …plus; [Num]-odd…; [lim.] not much over…; not much more than…; [in refer. to clock time only] a little past…

На вид Борису Ивановичу было лет пятьдесят с хвостиком. Boris Ivanovich looked to be a little over fifty. ♦ «Я вам, кажется, надоел?» — «Совсем нет, только я немного устал, хочу спать, я встал в шесть часов, а теперь два с хвостиком» (Герцен 3). "I am afraid I am boring you?" "Not at all, only I am a little tired and sleepy. I got up at six and now it is a little past two" (3a).

X-29 • ВИЛЬНУ́ТЬ ХВОСТО́М highly coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human] to leave s.o. or some place suddenly and quickly (often in order to avoid s.o.'s company, doing an unpleasant chore etc): X вильнул хвостом ≃ X cut ⟨skipped⟩ out (on s.o.); X up and left; X turned round and left ⟨disappeared⟩; X did a disappearing act.

Я её попросила вывести собаку, а она вместо этого вильнула хвостом и исчезла на весь день. I asked her to walk the dog, but instead she cut out and disappeared for the entire day.

X-30 • ВИЛЯ́ТЬ/ЗАВИЛЯ́ТЬ ХВОСТО́М highly coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] 1. Also: ВЕРТЕ́ТЬ/ЗАВЕРТЕ́ТЬ ⟨КРУТИ́ТЬ/ЗАКРУТИ́ТЬ⟩ ХВОСТО́М (often in refer. to answering a question directly, answering for sth. etc) to (try to) evade sth.: X виляет хвостом ≃ X is trying to weasel his way out of it; X is hedging ⟨beating around the bush⟩; [lim.] X is trying to confuse the issue.

«Долго ли нам [= нашему городу] гореть будет?» — спросили они… Но лукавый бригадир только вертел хвостом и говорил, что ему с богом спорить не приходится (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "Is it long we [our town] must burn?" they asked…. But the sly brigadier only tried to confuse the issue by saying that it was not for him to quarrel with God (1a).

2. ~ перед кем to ingratiate o.s. before s.o., be subservient, try desperately to please s.o.: X виляет хвостом перед Y-ом ≃ X falls all over Y; X kowtows before ⟨to⟩ Y; X kisses up to Y; X fawns over ⟨on⟩ Y; ⟨X truckles to Y⟩.

«Поди, торгуются уже тыловые умники, корчаковы да гнатьевы, виляют хвостом перед англичанами. Не хватит у них пороху забрать то, что принадлежит России по древнему праву, ох не хватит!» (Акунин 5). "You can be sure that the big brains in the rear, the Korchakovs and the Gnatievs, are already horse-trading and fawning to the English. They won't have the courage to take what belongs to Russia by ancient right" (5a).

X-31 • НЕ ВЕЛИКА́ ⟨НЕ БОЛЬША́Я⟩ ХИ́ТРОСТЬ coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin), pres only; more often this WO] doing sth. is not complicated, does not require any special talent or effort: сделать X не велика хитрость ≃ it's ⟨doing X is⟩ no big deal ⟨thing⟩; it doesn't take ⟨require⟩ any great skill to do X; it doesn't take a genius to do X.

Посадить рассаду — не велика хитрость, а попробуй цветы из семян вырастить! It doesn't take any great skill to plant seedlings, but just try to grow flowers from seeds!

X-32 • (ВСЁ) ХИ́ХАНЬКИ ДА ХА́ХАНЬКИ ⟨ХА́ХАНЬКИ ДА ХИ́ХАНЬКИ⟩ coll, disapprov [NP; pl only] (in refer. to s.o.'s frivolous attitude toward everything, unserious approach to his duties, lack of due concern in handling serious problems etc) (everything is) jokes and laughter (for s.o.): X-у всё хиханьки да хаханьки ~ ≃ everything is a big joke to X; X doesn't take things ⟨anything etc⟩ seriously.

X-33 • ВОДИ́ТЬ ХЛЕ́Б-СО́ЛЬ с кем obs [VP; subj: human] to maintain friendly relations with s.o. and visit with him often: X водит хлеб-соль с Y-ом ≃ X exchanges frequent visits with Y; X is entertained by Y in Y's house and entertains Y (in X's house); X and Y are frequent guests in each other's homes ⟨at each other's tables⟩.

…Тот же читатель, который на жизненной своей дороге будет дружен с таким человеком, будет водить с ним хлеб-соль и проводить приятно время, станет глядеть на него косо, если он очутится героем драмы или поэмы (Гоголь 3). …The very same reader who would make friends with such a man in the course of his life, would entertain him in his house and be entertained by him and spend a pleasant time with him, will be sure to look askance at him if he is made the hero of a drama or an epic poem (3a).

< See X-44.

X-34 • ДА́РОМ ⟨ЗРЯ⟩ ХЛЕБ ЕСТЬ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to live or work unproductively: X даром хлеб ест ≃ X doesn't earn his keep ⟨his daily bread⟩; [in refer. to one's lifestyle] X idles away his time; [in refer. to working] X isn't worth his salt.

[Соня:] Я и дядя Ваня работали без отдыха, боялись потратить на себя копейку и всё посылали тебе… Мы не ели даром хлеба! (Чехов 3). [S.:] Uncle Vanya and I never stopped working. We were afraid to spend a kopeck on ourselves. We sent everything to you… We earned every piece of our daily bread! (3b). ♦ «Сидим тут, бюрократы проклятые, бумажки перекладываем, ничего не смотрим, хлеб зря едим!» (Солженицын 4). "We sit here like a damned lot of bureaucrats trading papers, not seeing past the ends of our noses—we're not worth our salt" (4a).

X-35 • ЕСТЬ СВОЙ ХЛЕБ coll [VP; subj: human] to earn one's own living: X ест свой хлеб ≃ X eats his own bread; X supports himself; [lim.] X makes it on his own.

[Софья Егоровна:] Мы будем людьми, Мишель! Мы будем есть свой хлеб, мы будем проливать пот, натирать мозоли… (Чехов 1). [S.Ye.:] We'll be decent people, Michael. We shall eat our own bread. We shall live by the sweat of our own brows. We shall have calloused hands (1a).

X-36 • ЕСТЬ ХЛЕБ чей, кого; ЕСТЬ ЧУЖО́Й ХЛЕБ both coll [VP; subj: human] to live at the expense of another or others: X ест Y-ов ⟨чужой⟩ хлеб ≃ X eats Y's ⟨another's⟩ bread ⟨food⟩; X lives off (of) Y ⟨off (of) others⟩.

Ну, вот хотя бы мои родители — скромные, тихие, честные люди. Но они журналисты, они создают ту самую пропаганду, которая так подло обманула меня… А я сам, разве я был лучше? Мало того, что я ел их хлеб, — я ещё был пионером, я участвовал в работе этой страшной машины, продукцией которой были либо трупы, либо палачи (Буковский 1). Take my own parents, for example—modest, quiet, honorable people. But they were journalists, writing the very propaganda that had so vilely deceived me…. And was I any better myself? It wasn't just that I ate their bread. I had been a Pioneer, I had participated in the work of this terrible machine whose end product was either hangmen or corpses (1a).

X-37 • ЗАБЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАБЫ́ТЬ ХЛЕ́Б-СО́ЛЬ чью, какую obs, disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to show a complete lack of appreciation for s.o.'s hospitality and an unwillingness to reciprocate his kindness: X забыл Y-ову хлеб-соль ≃ X repaid Y's kindness ⟨hospitality⟩ with ingratitude.

< See X-44.

X-38 • И ТО́ ХЛЕБ coll [usu. indep. sent or clause; Invar; fixed WO] it is good that at least I (we, you etc) have this (used to express one's satisfaction with, or opinion that another should be satisfied with, sth. meager when getting more is impossible): (at least) it's ⟨that's⟩ something; something is better than nothing; I'll ⟨we'll⟩ settle for that; I'll take what I can get ⟨you've got to take what you can get etc⟩.

«Между прочим, мой Тенго помог мне с оползнем»… — «Значит, выплатили?» — «Нет, бетонную канаву провели за счёт горсовета, и то хлеб…» (Искандер 3). "By the way, my Tengo helped me with the landslide."… "They paid you, then?" "No, they ran a concrete conduit at the city soviet's expense—I'll settle for that" (3a).

X-39 • ОТБИВА́ТЬ/ОТБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕБИВА́ТЬ/ПЕРЕБИ́ТЬ obs⟩ ХЛЕБ у кого coll [VP; subj: human] to deprive another person of earnings or an opportunity to earn money by taking up his work; by extension to (try to) take attention, praise etc away from s.o. by infringing on his area of activity: X отбивает хлеб у Y-а ≃ X is taking ⟨is trying to take, is stealing etc⟩ (the) bread out of Y's mouth; X is doing ⟨is trying to do⟩ Y out of a ⟨Y's⟩ job; [extended usage] X is stealing the spotlight from Y.

[Фёкла:] Знаешь ли ты, мать моя, ведь меня чуть было не прибили, ей-богу! Старуха-то, что женила Афёровых, так было приступила ко мне: «Ты такая и этакая, только хлеб перебиваешь, знай свой квартал», — говорит (Гоголь 1). [F.:] Do you know, my dear, I was almost beaten up—yes, by God! The old woman that married the Afyorovs, she comes up to me. "You're a so and so," she says, "taking the bread out of the mouths of honest people. Stick to your own district" (1b).

X-40 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА ХЛЕБ И (НА) ВО́ДУ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to limit one's food intake to the minimum of staple food: X сел на хлеб и воду ≃ X limited himself to bread and water.

X-41 • САЖА́ТЬ/ПОСАДИ́ТЬ НА ХЛЕБ И (НА) ВО́ДУ кого; ДЕРЖА́ТЬ НА ХЛЕ́БЕ И (НА) ВОДЕ́ кого [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to punish s.o. with hunger by limiting his food intake to the minimum of staple food: X посадит Y-а на хлеб и воду ≃ X will put ⟨keep⟩ Y on (a diet of) bread and water; || X держит Y-а на хлебе и воде ≃ X keeps Y on (a diet of) bread and water.

Я старался вообразить себе капитана Миронова, моего будущего начальника, и представлял его строгим, сердитым стариком, не знающим ничего, кроме своей службы, и готовым за всякую безделицу сажать меня под арест на хлеб и на воду (Пушкин 2). I tried to picture Captain Mironov, the fortress commandant, and the image that came to mind was of a stern, short-tempered old man, blind to everything beyond his army duties and ready to arrest me and put me on a diet of bread and water for the most trifling offence (2c).

X-42 • ХЛЕБ ДА ⟨И⟩ СОЛЬ!; ХЛЕ́Б-СО́ЛЬ! all obsoles, now used as an imitation of peasants' old-fashioned speech [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. a greeting, salutation to those who are seated around the table at a meal: enjoy your meal!

В дворницкую вошёл Юрий Андреевич с двумя вёдрами. «Хлеб да соль». — «Просим вашей милости. Садись, гостем будешь» (Пастернак 1). Yuri Andreevich came into the lodge with two buckets. "Enjoy your meal." "Welcome to you! Sit down, be our guest" (1b).

2. an invitation to a person or persons who arrive at mealtime and find another or others at the table, eating: you're welcome to join me ⟨us⟩; please join me ⟨us⟩; come and break bread with me ⟨us⟩.

< See X-44.

X-43 • ХЛЕБ НАСУ́ЩНЫЙ [NP; sing only] 1. the food or money a person needs in order to live; a person's means of subsistence: one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ daily bread.

Мой отец тоже остался без работы. И встала проблема — чем заняться? Как заработать на хлеб насущный? (Рыбаков 1). My father was also out of work. The question was, what could he do for a living? How could he earn his daily bread? (1a).

2. that which is most important, essential, that which some person (group etc) cannot do without: lifeblood.

< From the Bible (Matt. 6:11).

X-44 • ХЛЕ́Б-СО́ЛЬ coll [NP; sing only; usu. obj or subj] food cordially and generously given to a guest; by extension warm and generous treatment of a guest: bread and salt; (share ⟨offer⟩) one's bread; hospitality.

…Вообще они были народ добрый, полны гостеприимства, и человек, вкусивший с ними хлеба-соли или просидевший вечер за вистом, уже становился чем-то близким… (Гоголь 3). In general, they were kindly and very hospitable, and anyone who had partaken of their hospitality or spent an evening playing whist with them became one of them… (3d).

< From an old Slavic custom (still occasionally observed, especially in the countryside) of presenting a round loaf of bread and some salt to a guest of honor as a sign of respect and welcome.

X-45 • ПЕРЕБИВА́ТЬСЯ С ХЛЕ́БА НА КВАС ⟨С ХЛЕ́БА НА́ ВОДУ or НА ВО́ДУ, С КУСКА́ НА КУСО́К, С КО́РОЧКИ НА КО́РОЧКУ, С ГРОША́ НА КОПЕ́ЙКУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be very poor, endure financial hardship: X перебивается с хлеба на квас ≃ X lives from hand to mouth; X barely ⟨hardly, scarcely⟩ manages to keep body and soul together ⟨to scrape by⟩.

А Афродита вела причитания дальше, рисуя перед своим слушателем картину безрадостного будущего своего и ребёнка: «…Будем перебиваться с хлеба на воду, будем с голоду помирать…» (Войнович 4). But Aphrodite took her lamentations further, conjuring up for her listener her own and her child's joyless future: "…We'll live from hand to mouth, we'll die of hunger…" (4a).

X-46 • НЕСО́ЛОНО ХЛЕБА́ВШИ уходить, уезжать, возвращаться и т.п. coll [Verbal Adv; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to leave, return home etc) not having gotten what one came for, disappointed: empty-handed; having gotten nothing ⟨with nothing to show⟩ for one's pains ⟨efforts⟩; without having accomplished anything ⟨a thing⟩; having accomplished nothing.

Чаще всего такие купцы уходили несолоно хлебавши. Ну, а иногда и слаживалось дельце (Гинзбург 2). More often than not merchants such as these went away empty-handed. But occasionally they did get themselves a deal (2a).

X-47 • НА ХЛЕБА́Х; НА ХЛЕБА́ [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is usu. adv] 1. на хлебах у кого жить, на хлеба к кому идти both obs (to live or begin to live) in s.o.'s home, paying money in exchange for lodging and meals: (get) room and board (in s.o.'s home); (be ⟨become⟩) a boarder (in s.o.'s home).

«…Жили мы тогда в приходе Пантелеймона, близ Соляного Городка, на хлебах у одной почтенной немки, платя за всё по пятьдесят рублей на ассигнации в месяц…» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "…We lived at the time in the Panteleymon parish near the Salt Township, as boarders of a worthy German lady, paying her altogether fifty roubles in notes a month…" (2a).

2. на хлебах чьих жить, на хлеба чьи идти, держать кого на своих хлебах и т.п. all old-fash, coll to be or become s.o.'s dependent or have s.o. as one's dependent: X живёт на Y-овых хлебах ≃ X is supported by Y; X lives at Y's expense; X lives off (of) Y; ‖ Y держит X-а на своих хлебах ≃ Y keeps X (in Y's home ⟨here etc⟩) at Y's expense.

«Вот о чём я раздумывал. Нельзя ли было бы сговориться с Самдевятовым, на выгодных для него условиях, чтобы он полгода продержал нас на своих хлебах…» (Пастернак 1). "This is what I was thinking. Couldn't we come to an agreement with Samdeviatov—we'd have to give him profitable terms, of course—so that he should keep us here for six months at his expense…" (1a).

X-48 • СИДЕ́ТЬ НА ХЛЕ́БЕ И (НА) ВОДЕ́ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to live in poverty, experience hunger: X сидит на хлебе и воде ≃ X lives on bread and water; X goes hungry.

X-49 • НЕ ХЛЕ́БОМ ЕДИ́НЫМ ЖИВ ЧЕЛОВЕ́К [saying] leading a full life requires not only that one's material needs are met, but that emotional, spiritual, and intellectual yearnings are also satisfied: man cannot ⟨does not, shall not⟩ live by bread alone; [when used in a reduced form] not by bread alone.

Является ли потребность в раскаянии и исповеди подлинной особенностью человеческой души? Об этом мы много шептались с Антоном в нескончаемых тасканских ночных беседах. Вокруг нас был мир, опровергавший, казалось бы, самое воспоминание о том, что не хлебом единым… Хлебом, хлебом единым, единой царицей Пайкой дышали здесь все живые, полуживые и даже совсем умирающие (Гинзбург 2). Is the need for repentance and confession an integral part of the human soul? This was something that Anton and I had discussed at length in our endless, whispered conversations during those nights in Taskan. We were surrounded by a world that seemed to refute any notion that not by bread alone… Here the quick, the half-dead, and even the all-but-dead lived by bread, by bread alone, by the goddess of the bread ration (2a).

< From the Bible (Deut. 8:3, Matt. 4:4, Luke 4:4).

X-50 • ХЛЕ́БОМ НЕ КОРМИ́ кого (, а ⟨только, но⟩)… coll [VP_{imper}; Invar; used with another imper (usu. дай), foll. by infin; fixed WO] s.o. absolutely loves doing sth., it is his favorite thing to do: X-а хлебом не корми (, только дай делать Y) ≃ nothing pleases X so much (as doing Y); there's nothing X likes better (than doing Y); X isn't ⟨wouldn't be⟩ happy with anything less than doing Y; X won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ settle for less than doing Y; X would want ⟨wish for⟩ nothing better than doing ⟨to do⟩ Y.

«А выяснилось, что для вдохновителей революции суматоха перемен и перестановок единственная родная стихия, что их хлебом не корми, а подай им что-нибудь в масштабе земного шара» (Пастернак 1). "But it turns out that those who inspired the revolution aren't at home in anything except change and turmoil, they aren't happy with anything that's on less than a world scale" (1a). "But it turns out that for the inspirers of the revolution the turmoil of changes and rearrangements is their only native element, that they won't settle for less than something on a global scale" (1b).

X-51 • РАЗВЕ́РЗЛИСЬ ⟨ОТВЕ́РЗЛИСЬ⟩ ХЛЯ́БИ НЕБЕ́СНЫЕ obs, lit, humor [VP_{subj}; usu. past; usu. this WO] heavy rains began to fall: the heavens opened; the skies opened up; the floodgates of heaven opened.

[Гора] единственно осталась возвышаться над водами, когда «разверзошася вси источницы бездны и хляби небесные», и спасла праведных (Акунин 2). [The mountain] had remained towering alone above the waters when "the depths stirred and the heavens opened" and had saved the lives of the righteous (2a).

< From the Biblical account of the Flood: «Разверзошася вси источницы бездны, и хляби небесные отверзошася» (Gen. 7:11–12; Old Church Slavonic text).

X-52 • ХМЕЛЬ ВЫ́ЛЕТЕЛ ⟨ВЫ́СКОЧИЛ, ВЫ́ШЕЛ⟩ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ y кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. under the influence of alcohol suddenly became (more) quick and alert (usu. out of fear, strong emotion etc): хмель вылетел у X-а из головы ≃ X sobered up ⟨thing Y sobered up X⟩ in a flash ⟨in a hurry⟩; X's head cleared up fast.

Когда он увидел, что парни достают ножи, хмель сразу вылетел у него из головы. When he saw that the guys were taking out knives, he sobered up in a flash.

X-53 • ПОД ХМЕЛЬКО́М coll; ПОД ХМЕ́ЛЕМ obsoles [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv] in a slightly intoxicated state: tipsy; a little tight; slightly ⟨a little⟩ drunk.

Начальник тюрьмы полковник Петренко приходил ко мне по вечерам под хмельком, как старый приятель (Буковский 1). The prison governor, Colonel Petrenko, would come and visit me in the evening, when he was tipsy, like an old friend (1a).

X-54 • ВО ХМЕЛЮ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human)] when (one is) in an intoxicated state: when (one is) loaded; (when one is) under the influence; when (one is) in one's cups.

Тихий и уступчивый по натуре, отец во хмелю терял рассудок… (Максимов 1). Quiet and amenable by nature, he became irrational in his cups… (1a).

X-55 • ХОТЬ БЫ ХНЫ highly coll [Invar; predic] 1. ~ (кому) disapprov [impers or with subj: human] one or s.o. is completely indifferent to, unconcerned about etc sth.: X-у ⟨X⟩ хоть бы хны ≃ X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less; X doesn't care (at all ⟨in the least etc⟩); X doesn't give a damn ⟨a hoot, a darn etc⟩; it doesn't mean a thing to X.

«[Ты] мог бы встретить, — капризно и запальчиво выкрикивала она сквозь слёзы. — Думала, не дойду, думала, упаду, а… ему хоть бы хны» (Распутин 2). "You could have met me," she cried through her tears crankily. "I thought I wouldn't make it, I thought I would fall, and… you don't care!" (2a).

2. ~ кому [impers] sth. does not affect or cause any reaction in s.o.: X-у хоть бы хны ≃ it doesn't bother ⟨ruffle⟩ X a bit ⟨at all⟩; it has little ⟨no⟩ effect on X; X doesn't turn a hair; [in refer. to physical sensations, usu. pain] X doesn't even feel it.

Один человек, допустим, такой это весёлый-весёлый, что с ним хоть что ни случись — ему хоть бы хны, плюнет и дальше жить пойдёт (Попов 1). One person, let's say, is so cheerful and jolly that no matter what happens to him, it doesn't bother him a bit; he just shrugs it off and goes on living (1a).

X-56 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ЗА́ДНИЙ ХОД coll [VP; subj: human] to retract or reverse a decision, a promise, one's consent, one's support for s.o. or sth. etc: X дал задний ход ≃ X backed down ⟨off, out⟩; X backpedaled ⟨backtracked, retreated⟩; X went back (on his word ⟨promise⟩); X changed his tune; X did a flip-flop.

«…Стоило этому Тетерину объяснить, что его поведение преступно, как сразу же дал задний ход» (Тендряков 1). "…As soon as I pointed out to him [Teterin] that he was committing a criminal offence, he backed down straight away" (1a).

X-57 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ХОД чему, usu. заявлению, жалобе, делу и т.п. [VP: subj: human or collect] (in refer. to an application, complaint, case etc) to direct sth. to the appropriate authorities for review, processing, and proper action or advance sth. along the course of proper action: X дал ход Y-у ≃ X took action on Y; X acted ⟨moved⟩ on Y; X moved Y along; X followed up on Y; [lim.] X set the wheels in motion; [in legal contexts] X started proceedings; || Neg X не дал хода Y-у ≃ X tabled ⟨shelved, held up⟩ Y.

Строго говоря, совсем не была исключена возможность того, что Белый дом даст ход доносу Кривошея (Гинзбург 2). Strictly speaking, the possibility that the White House would take action on Krivoshei's denunciation was in no way excluded (2a).

X-58 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ В ХОД ⟨В ДЕ́ЛО coll⟩ [VP; subj: concr, abstr, or animal (if count noun, usu. pl)] to be or start to be used: X-ы пошли в ход ≃ Xs were put to use; Xs were used ⟨utilized⟩; (we ⟨they etc⟩) used ⟨utilized⟩ Xs; (I ⟨he etc⟩) made use of Xs.

«Чем только они кормятся?» — проговорил мой старик. «А у них всё в ход идёт, — сказал Колчерукий, — жучки, паучки, червячки» (Искандер 3). "But what do they live on?" my old man said. "They use everything," Bad Hand said. "Beetles, spiders, worms" (3a).

X-59 • НА ПО́ЛНЫЙ ХОД [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ работать, пускать что и т.п. [adv] (usu. of a factory, plant etc) (to operate, set sth. operating etc) at maximum potential, maximum output: (operate) at full capacity; (go) (at) full blast.

Завод работает на полный ход. The factory is operating at full capacity.

2. [usu. adv or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr)] (to be) in the highest state of growth, development: at its height ⟨peak⟩; going strong; in full swing; booming.

Там торговля идёт на полный ход. Trade there is going strong.

X-60 • ПО́ЛНЫЙ ХОД ⟨ВПЕРЁД⟩! [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (a command that a ship, train etc) go at top speed: full speed ahead!; at full throttle!

X-61 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ В ХОД что [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. [usu. pfv] to set sth. (usu. a factory, plant etc) operating: X пустил Y в ход ≃ X got ⟨set⟩ Y going ⟨running⟩; X got the wheels turning (at place Y).

«Он временно принял директорство над филиалом. На весь наладочный период. Пустит машину в ход, подготовит директора из местных и только тогда вернётся» (Залыгин 1). "He's taken on temporary directorship of the branch till it gets started properly. He'll set things running, train a local man as director, and won't come back till he's done it" (1a).

2. Also: ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ В ДЕ́ЛО [var. with дело is used in refer. to a tool, weapon etc] to employ or start to employ (some means, device, instrument etc) in order to achieve one's goal: X пустил в ход Y ≃ X put Y to use; X used ⟨utilized⟩ Y; X made use of Y; X brought Y into play ⟨into service, into action⟩; [lim.] X set Y in motion; X resorted to Y; || X пустил в ход своё обаяние ⟨все свои чары и т.п.⟩ ≃ X turned on the ⟨all his⟩ charm; X put his charm ⟨charisma⟩ to good use; || X пустил в ход всё ⟨все средства⟩ ≃ X used all possible ⟨available⟩ means; X did everything in his power; [lim.] X went to great lengths; X used every trick ⟨all the tricks⟩ in the book.

У них есть оружие. Они пустят его в ход (Аксёнов 6). They have weapons. They are going to put them to use (6a). ♦ [Юлия:] Сейчас сюда приедет министр финансов, и я пущу в ход все свои чары и узнаю, что они затевают (Шварц 3). [J.:] The Minister of Finance will be here any minute, and I'll turn on all my charm and find out what they're cooking up (3a).

3. to introduce sth. into general, common usage, promote the dissemination of sth.: X пустил в ход Y ≃ X put Y in(to) circulation; X brought Y into widespread use; X started Y.

«Ты представляешь, какие откроются перспективы, если пустить твоё открытие в ход!» (Аксёнов 6). "Just imagine what prospects could open up if your discovery were to be put into circulation!" (6a).

X-62 • ХОД КОНЁМ (сделать) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] (to execute) a decisive and resourceful maneuver that changes the course of events: (make ⟨pull⟩) a clever ⟨an ingenious, a shrewd etc⟩ move; [lim.] (pull) a trump card.

X-63 • В ХО́ДЕ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] while some action is being carried out or process is going on: during; in ⟨during, over⟩ the course of.

Сперва очень настороженный и недоверчивый, Демичев в ходе двухчасовой беседы потеплел ко мне и во всё поверил (Солженицын 2). Demichev was very much on his guard, very suspicious to begin with, but in the course of our two-hour conversation he warmed to me, and ended by believing everything I said (2a).

X-64 • НЕДАЛЕКО́ ХОДИ́ТЬ (ЗА ПРИМЕ́РОМ ⟨ПРИМЕ́РАМИ⟩); НЕДАЛЕКО́ ИСКА́ТЬ; (ЗА ПРИМЕ́РОМ ⟨ПРИМЕ́РАМИ⟩) ДАЛЕКО́ ХОДИ́ТЬ НЕ НУ́ЖНО ⟨НЕ НА́ДО, НЕ ПРИХО́ДИТСЯ⟩ all coll [VP; impers predic; these forms only; usu. this WO] it is easy to cite an example (examples) or find proof of (sth. stated in general terms in the immediately preceding context): you don't have ⟨need⟩ to go far ⟨to look hard⟩ (to find examples ⟨evidence⟩); you needn't go far ⟨look hard⟩ (to find examples ⟨evidence⟩).

[Вера] каялась, что не взяла [Виталия] в руки, не перевоспитала… Другие же перевоспитывают!.. И за примерами ходить недалеко (Грекова 3). She [Vera] was sorry, and wished that she had taken him [Vitaly] in hand, reformed him. After all, others do reform people! You didn't need to look hard to find examples (3a).

X-65 • ХОДИ́ТЬ ⟨КРУЖИ́ТЬ, ПЕТЛЯ́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ВОКРУ́Г ⟨КРУГО́М⟩ ДА О́КОЛО coll [VP; subj: human] to speak in a roundabout way, avoid expressing sth. directly or answering some question: X ходит вокруг да около ≃ X beats around ⟨about⟩ the bush.

[author's usage] «Всё вокруг да около…» — отметил про себя председатель [Голубев] и решил пощупать собеседника с другого конца, затронуть вопросы внешней политики (Войнович 2). He beats around the bush… the chairman [Golubev] observed to himself. Golubev decided to take a different tack—foreign affairs (2a).

X-66 • ХОДИ́ТЬ НА ПОЛУСО́ГНУТЫХ (перед кем) coll [VP; subj: human] to behave (toward s.o.) in a fawning, obsequious manner: X ходит перед Y-ом на полусогнутых ≃ X bows and scrapes before ⟨to⟩ Y.

Из института Павлу пришлось уйти: ходить на полусогнутых перед начальством он не умел, а без этого там нельзя было пробиться. Pavel had to leave the institute because he was not one to bow and scrape to the bosses, and without doing that it was impossible to make your way up the ladder.

X-67 • НЕ ХОДО́К ⟨НЕ ЕЗДО́К⟩ [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one will not or will never again go to a specified place, type of event etc: в место Y X (больше) не ходок ≃ X won't ⟨will never⟩ set foot in place Y (again); X won't ⟨will never⟩ be seen in place Y ⟨at a party etc⟩ (again); X won't ⟨will never⟩ show his face in place Y ⟨at a party etc⟩ (again); no more going to place Y ⟨to parties etc⟩ for X.

На этой невесёлой свадьбе не пили самогонки, не орали песен. Прохор Зыков, бывший на свадьбе за дружка, на другой день долго отплёвывался и жаловался Аксинье: «…Я теперича [substand = теперь] на эти новые свадьбы не ходок. На собачьей свадьбе и то веселей…» (Шолохов 5). At this dreary wedding no one drank home-brewed vodka and no songs were bawled in tipsy voices. Prokhor Zykov, who had been best man, spent most of the next day complaining to Aksinya and spitting in disgust. "…No more of these new-fangled weddings for me! It's more fun at a dog's wedding" (5a).

X-68 • ПО́ЛНЫМ ХО́ДОМ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. идти, нестись и т.п. ~ (of the movement of a train, ship etc) (to go, race etc) at maximum speed: at full ⟨top⟩ speed; full speed (ahead).

Мы увидели вдалеке поезд, который шёл полным ходом. We saw in the distance a train going full speed ahead.

2. идти, двигаться, протекать и т.п. ~ (of some work, preparations for sth. etc) (to go, proceed etc) at full capacity, maximum intensity: (go) at full speed; (go) full speed (ahead); (go) (at) full blast; (be) in full swing.

«Экспертиза по обуви движется?» — спросила Маковкина. «Полным ходом…» (Чернёнок 1). "How's the shoe analysis?" Makovkina asked. "Going full blast…" (1a). ♦ Цивилизация края шла полным ходом, хотя иногда натыкалась на неожиданные препятствия (Искандер 3). The process of civilizing the area was in full swing, although it sometimes stumbled against unexpected obstacles (3a).

X-69 • ПРЯМЫ́М ХО́ДОМ идти, двигаться, направляться и т.п. [AdvP; Invar; usu. sent adv; fixed WO] (to move toward a certain place or, when used figuratively, advance toward a certain goal) directly, straightforwardly: X идёт ~ в Y ≃ X is going straight (ahead) to Y; X is making a beeline to Y; X is heading straight for Y.

«Я-то прямым ходом в избу двигаю, на баню не гляжу» (Распутин 3). "I was heading straight for the house, not even looking at the bath-house" (3a).

X-70 • СВОЙ́М ХО́ДОМ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. идти, прийти, дойти и т.п. ~ (of a person, animal, or vehicle) (to go, move along etc) independently, without assistance: under one's ⟨its⟩ own steam ⟨power⟩; on one's ⟨its⟩ own; by oneself ⟨itself⟩; [of a person only] on one's own two feet.

Под утро все новоиспечённые офицеры… частично своим собственным ходом, частично с помощью товарищей и аборигенов вернулись в казарму в целости и сохранности… (Зиновьев 1). By morning all the newly fledged officers had returned to barracks safe and sound, partly under their own steam and partly with the help of their comrades and the aboriginal population (1a).

2. идти, развиваться ~ (of a process, matter etc) (to proceed, develop) normally, the usual way and at the usual pace, unaffected by circumstances: (proceed) at its own pace; (take) its course; (be going) as it should.

«Как твой бизнес? Не развалился, пока тебя не было?» — «Да нет, всё в порядке, всё идёт своим ходом». "How's your business? It didn't fall apart while you were away, did it?" "No, everything's fine, everything's going as it should."

X-71 • ЧЕРЕПА́ШЬИМ ХО́ДОМ двигаться, тащиться, плестись и т.п. coll, usu. disapprov [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (usu. of a vehicle or person; to move, trudge along etc) very slowly: at a snail's pace; at a crawl's pace; at a crawl.

X-72 • В ХОДУ́; В БОЛЬШО́М ХОДУ́ both coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr)] sth. occurs widely, enjoys popularity, is in general use: X в (большом) ходу ≃ X is widespread ⟨current, (very) popular, fashionable⟩; X is in (great) demand ⟨in style, in vogue⟩; || Neg X не в ходу ≃ X is outmoded ⟨passé, out of style etc⟩.

…Вообще пользование канвой лермонтовских стихов для шуток было так в ходу, что, в конце концов, становилось карикатурой на самое искусство пародии… (Набоков 1). …The use of some of Lermontov's lyrical poems as a canvas for journalistic jokes about people and events was in general so widespread that in the long run it turned into a caricature of the very art of parody… (1a). ♦ Вообще, политическая мечтательность была в то время в большом ходу… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Political dreaminess was generally in vogue then… (1a).

X-73 • ДАТЬ ХО́ДУ highly coll [VP; subj: human, collect, or animal] to flee, run away (from s.o. or sth.): X дал ходу ≃ X took ⟨ran⟩ off; X took to his heels; X turned tail (and ran); X beat it.

[Мышлаевский:] …Он, значит, при тебе ходу дал? [Шервинский:] При мне: я был до последней минуты (Булгаков 4). [M.:] …Does this mean he took off while you were there? [Sh.:] While I was there: I was there until the very last minute (4a).

X-74 • НА ХОДУ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. coll [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: a noun denoting a vehicle, factory etc)] sth. is in working condition, working as it should: X на ходу ≃ [of a vehicle] X is in running ⟨working⟩ order; [of a factory, plant etc] X is operational.

2. ~ вскочить, соскочить и т.п. [adv] (to jump into, jump off etc a vehicle, horse etc) while it is in motion: while (the car ⟨the horse etc⟩) is moving; (jump into ⟨onto, from⟩) a ⟨the⟩ moving (car ⟨train etc⟩); (jump into a car ⟨jump out of a boat etc⟩) as it is pulling out ⟨pulling in, floating out etc⟩.

Трамвай начал делать круг… Зоя ловко соскочила на ходу, потому что отсюда было короче (Солженицын 10). The [trolley] car had already begun its turn around the circle…. [Zoya] jumped off deftly while the car was moving, so as to cut down the distance she would have to walk (10b).

3. [adv] (of a person) (to do sth.) while continuing to move: as one walks ⟨goes⟩ (along); on the move ⟨the go⟩; without stopping.

Перед собой он держал половинку арбуза и ел из неё на ходу столовой ложкой (Аксёнов 6). In one hand he held half a watermelon, which he was eating with a tablespoon as he walked along (6a).

4. coll [adv] (to do sth.) hastily, without giving it one's full attention, or while in the process of doing sth. else: on the go; on the move.

Не стал читать страницу из «Дневника» Делакруа… чтобы не прочесть её кое-как, на ходу… (Олеша 3). I didn't begin reading a page in Delacroix's Diary… in order not to read it haphazardly, on the go… (3a).

5. coll [adv] quickly, without thinking or preparation: on the spur of the moment; [in refer. to saying sth., answering etc] off the top of one's head.

…Нужно было разобраться в речевом коде землян. Без помощи специального устройства, на ходу, это не просто (Обухова 1). He had to decipher the speech code of the Earthmen. This was not easy on the spur of the moment, without special instruments (1a).

X-75 • НА ХОДУ́ ПОДМЁТКИ РВЁТ ⟨РЕ́ЖЕТ⟩ highly coll, occas. disapprov [VP; subj: human; 3rd pers only; fixed WO] one is extremely resourceful and aggressive (in attaining sth.): X на ходу подмётки рвёт ≃ X (certainly) doesn't waste any time; X is a (real) go-getter; [lim.] X is slick ⟨a slick customer⟩; X is pretty brazen; X is (a young man ⟨woman⟩) on the make; X is a ⟨one⟩ fast climber; X is pushing his way to the top.

Из-за поворота выкатил встречный «ЗИЛ» Жорки Борбаряна… «Э-и-ей, дядя Митя!» — крикнул Жорка, высовывая голову из окна, и в голосе его, конечно, было восхищение сноровкой старшего товарища. Дядя Митя только успел ему сделать ручкой. Жорку он уважал. Подпирает молодёжь, на ходу подмётки рвёт (Аксёнов 10). From round a bend Zhorka Borbaryan's Zil came at them…. "Heh-e-eh, Old Mitya!" Zhorka shouted, sticking his head out of the window, his voice, of course, full of delight at his old mate's technique. Mitya had time only to wave. He had a great respect for Zhorka. These youngsters were pushing their way in—brazen they were (10a).

X-76 • НЕ ДАВА́ТЬ/НЕ ДАТЬ ХО́ДУ ⟨-а⟩ кому [VP; subj: human or collect; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to deprive s.o. of the opportunity to make full use of his abilities, obstruct s.o.'s advancement at work etc: X не даёт Y-у ходу ≃ X holds Y back; X doesn't give Y a chance; X doesn't let Y get ahead; X blocks Y's advancement ⟨promotion⟩; X stands in Y's way.

Ему надо искать другую работу, в институте ему не дадут хода. He should look for another job, they won't let him get ahead at the institute.

X-77 • НЕТ ХО́ДУ ⟨-а⟩ кому coll [VP; impers] all opportunities are denied s.o. (usu. in refer. to s.o.'s career opportunities, promotion at the workplace etc): X-у нет ходу ≃ every path ⟨way⟩ is barred to X; all roads ⟨routes⟩ are barred to X; all doors are closed to X; there's ⟨X has⟩ no hope of getting ahead.

[Сатин:] Тюрьма, дед! Я четыре года семь месяцев в тюрьме отсидел… а после тюрьмы — нет ходу! (Горький 3). [S.:] Prison, Grandpa. I spent four years and seven months in prison, and after that I found every way barred to me (3e).

X-78 • ПРИБАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ПРИБА́ВИТЬ ⟨ПОДДАВА́ТЬ/ ПОДДА́ТЬ, НАДДАВА́ТЬ/НАДДА́ТЬ⟩ ХО́ДУ coll [VP; subj: human, collect, or a noun denoting a vehicle] to begin to move more quickly: X прибавил ходу ≃ X picked up speed; X sped up; X started going faster; X increased his ⟨its⟩ speed; [of a driver] X stepped on it ⟨the gas⟩; [of a person walking] X quickened his pace ⟨his step⟩; X picked up the pace.

Заслышав конский топот, Христоня оглянулся и заметно наддал ходу (Шолохов 5). At the sound of hooves behind him, Khristonya glanced back and increased his speed perceptibly (5a).

X-79 • С ХО́ДУ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (of people, esp. attacking troops in cavalry or armored vehicle units, or of animals, esp. horses) (to do sth.) while continuing to move: as one ⟨it⟩ goes; while in motion; without stopping; [of a horse and rider only] without breaking stride.

С ходу отстреливаясь, они скакали в сторону леса. They galloped toward the woods, returning fire as they went.

2. coll instantly and without preparation or contemplation: right away; straight off; immediately; right off the bat; just like that; on the spur of the moment; (right) then and there ⟨there and then⟩; || сказать что ⟨ответить⟩ ~ ≃ say sth. ⟨answer⟩ off the top of one's head; || отвергнуть кого-что ~ ≃ reject s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ out of hand.

И вот Б.Л. [Пастернак] явился на Лубянку и с ходу начал препираться со следователем Семёновым, требуя от него выдачи «моего ребёнка» (Ивинская 1). And so BL [Pasternak] went to the Lubianka, where he immediately began to remonstrate with [the interrogator] Semionov, demanding that "my child" be handed over to him (1a).

X-80 • ХОДИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАХОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ХОДУНО́М coll; ХОДИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАХОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ХОДЕНЁМ ⟨ХО́ДНЕМ, ХО́ ДОРОМ⟩ all obs [VP; usu. impfv] 1. [subj: usu. concr] to move from side to side or up and down with quick jerky movements: X ходил ходуном ≃ X shook (violently ⟨furiously⟩); X trembled ⟨vibrated⟩; [of the human body or a part of the body] X bobbed up and down; X quaked.

Это бомбили уже советские самолёты, и в кромешной тьме взрывы бомб казались особенно близкими и мощными. Кровать так и ходила ходуном, и весь домик пошатывало, как при землетрясении (Кузнецов 1). It was Soviet planes that were doing the bombing, and in the pitch darkness the bomb explosions seemed to be particularly near and heavy. The bed trembled and the whole house shook as if it was an earthquake (1b).

2. [subj: usu. всё or a noun denoting a place and referring to the people in that place] to be very agitated, in a state of unrest, agitation, turmoil: место X ⟨всё в месте X⟩ ходило ходуном ≃ there was a great commotion in place X; all hell broke loose in place X; place X was in a frenzy ⟨an uproar⟩; everyone in place X was frantic.

Семья готовилась к приезду гостей, и в доме всё ходило ходуном. The family was preparing for the arrival of their guests, and the house was in a frenzy.

< The words «ходуном», «ходень», and «ходором» are used in this idiom only.

X-81 • ЗНАТЬ ВСЕ ХОДЫ́ И ВЫ́ХОДЫ ⟨ХОДЫ́-ВЫ́ХОДЫ⟩ (чего, где) coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be very experienced in all the details, intricacies etc (of a profession, job etc): X знает все ходы и выходы ≃ X knows all the ins and outs; X knows the ropes ⟨(all) the tricks of the trade⟩; X knows what's what.

«Ты вот лучше скажи — у начальства близко, все ходы-выходы знаешь: хлопотать мне насчёт пенсии?» (Абрамов 1). "…You can tell me this: Should I go and see about getting a pension? You're close to the bosses; you know all the ins and outs" (1b).

X-82 • ХОЖДЕ́НИЕ ПО МУ́КАМ lit [NP; fixed WO] a series of trying experiences in life, one following another: a ⟨one⟩ long ordeal; (going through) purgatory.

< From the ancient Christian belief reflected in the Old Russian apocryphal text Descent of the Virgin into Hell («Хождение Богородицы по мукам», 12th cent.), that the souls of the deceased endure forty days of torment immediately after death. The phrase came into widespread use after the publication of a trilogy under the same title by Aleksei Tolstoi (1921–41, translated into English as Road to Calvary).

X-83 • САМ СЕБЕ́ ХОЗЯ́ИН ⟨ГОСПОДИ́Н, ГОЛОВА́⟩; САМА́ СЕБЕ́ ХОЗЯ́ЙКА ⟨ГОСПОЖА́, ГОЛОВА́⟩ all coll [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who is completely independent in his or her actions and judgment, who acts as he or she chooses: X сам себе хозяин ≃ X is his own man ⟨master, boss, person⟩; || X сама себе хозяйка ≃ X is her own woman ⟨master, mistress, boss, person⟩.

«…Заходил тут ко мне один, интересовался: кто, мол, да что, мол, ты такое…» — «Я сам себе хозяин… Я из-под Чарджоу две огнестрельных вывез. Тебе ли меня не знать, Александр Петрович!» (Максимов 3). "…A man called on me, wanted to know about you, who you were, what you were like…." "I'm my own man. I brought two bullet wounds back from Chardzhou. Surely you know me well enough, Alexandr Petrovich!" (3a).

X-84 • ХОЗЯ́ИН — БА́РИН coll [indep. sent; Invar; fixed WO] the person who is in control of a given situation is in a position to make decisions and direct others accordingly (usu. used to summarize the preceding context; addressed to the interlocutor or used in refer. to a third party): the boss is the boss; the boss ⟨host⟩ calls the tune ⟨shots⟩; [when addressed to or said about a customer] you are ⟨the customer is⟩ always right.

Говорят, надумал он из дерева кривую палицу резать да в дугу её гнуть, а называть её велено будет коромыслом. Нам всё равно, хозяин — барин, можно и коромыслом, а зачем, почему, — не наше дело (Толстая 1). They say he thought up cutting a crooked stick from a piece of wood and bending it into a bow. We're supposed to call it a yoke. It's all the same to us, the boss is the boss, he can call it a yoke, the why and wherefore—it's none of our business (1a). ♦ [Зилов:] Ты вот что. (Вынимает деньги, даёт их официанту.) Ты неси сюда ещё пару бутылочек. Раз в году могу я раскрутиться? Имею право? [Официант:] Конечно, Витя. Хозяин—барин (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] You know what you can do? (Pulls out money and hands some to waiter.) You can bring me a couple more bottles. I've the right to have a fling once a year, don't you think? [W:] Sure you have, Vitia. The customer is always right (5a).

Х-85 • ХОЗЯ́ИН ⟨ХОЗЯ́ЙКА⟩ ПОЛОЖЕ́НИЯ; ГОСПОДИ́Н ⟨ГОСПОЖА́⟩ ПОЛОЖЕ́НИЯ [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] the person who is in control of the situation in question, in a position to direct the development of events: X — хозяин ⟨хозяйка⟩ положения ≃ X is (the) master ⟨(the) mistress⟩ of the situation; [lim.] X is in the driver's seat.

«И вот… я решу — в чём будет состоять моё дело, как поступлю я — хозяин положения!» (Залыгин 1). "And I'll decide… where my duty lies and what I, as master of the situation, shall do about it" (1a).

Х-86 • ХОЗЯ́ИН ⟨ХОЗЯ́ЙКА⟩ СВОЕГО́ СЛО́ВА ⟨СВОЕМУ́ СЛО́ВУ⟩ coll; ГОСПОДИ́Н ⟨ГОСПОЖА́⟩ СВОЕГО́ СЛО́ВА ⟨СВОЕМУ́ СЛО́ВУ⟩ obs, often iron [NP; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human)] a person who fulfills his promises, does what he pledges to do: X хозяин своего слова ≃ X is as good as his word; X is a man of his word; X keeps his word.

[Нина:] [Мой жених] волевой, целеустремлённый… Много он на себя не берёт, но он хозяин своему слову. Не то что некоторые (Вампилов 4). [N.:] He's [my fiancé is] headstrong and purposeful…. He won't take on more than he can handle, but he's as good as his word. Not like some… (4a).

Х-87 • ХОЗЯ́ИН ⟨ХОЗЯ́ЙКА⟩ СВОЕ́Й СУДЬБЫ́ [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who does not resign himself to what life has to offer, but applies his efforts and energies to set up his life as he pleases: master ⟨mistress⟩ of his ⟨her⟩ own life ⟨fate, destiny⟩; shaper of his ⟨her⟩ own destiny.

«И вам Кокорина совсем не жаль?» — подивился такой чёрствости Фандорин. Царица египетская равнодушно пожала плечами: «Всяк сам хозяин своей судьбы» (Акунин 8). "And do you feel no pity at all for Kokorin?" asked Fandorin, amazed at such callousness. The queen of Egypt shrugged her shoulders indifferently. "Everyone is master of his own fate" (8a).

Х-88 • ОБДАВА́ТЬ/ОБДА́ТЬ ХО́ЛОДОМ кого [VP; subj: human] to receive s.o. in a cold, unfriendly manner, making it clear that he is not wanted (in some place): X обдал Y-а холодом ≃ X gave Y the cold shoulder; X turned a cold shoulder to Y; X cold-shouldered Y.

Х-89 • НАДЕВА́ТЬ/НАДЕ́ТЬ ⟨ВЕ́ШАТЬ/ПОВЕ́СИТЬ⟩ (СЕБЕ́) ХОМУ́Т НА ШЕ́Ю; НАДЕВА́ТЬ/НАДЕ́ТЬ НА СЕБЯ́ ХОМУ́Т ⟨ЯРМО́⟩ all coll [VP; subj: human] to inconvenience o.s. excessively, cause o.s. needless worry, limit one's freedom of action (occas. in refer. to getting married, more often with male subjects): X надел себе хомут на шею ≃ X took a burden on himself; X hung ⟨took⟩ a yoke on his neck.

Работа авторского коллектива над книгой, подобной нашей, это месяцы и годы напряжённой жизни, о которой можно написать романы действительно пострашнее романов Достоевского и Бальзака… За каким же чёртом, спрашивается, я надел этот хомут на свою шею? (Зиновьев 2). The work of a collective on a book like ours means months and years of tension which could be the subject of novels truly more terrifying than those of Dostoievsky and Balzac…. You might well ask why the hell I took this burden on myself? (2a).

Х-90 • ЗА́ЖИВО ХОРОНИ́ТЬ/ПОХОРОНИ́ТЬ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to consider s.o. useless, not suitable for anything, dismiss s.o. as worthless: X Y-а заживо хоронит ≃ X writes Y off; X gives Y up as hopeless; [lim.] X sends ⟨puts⟩ Y out to pasture.

Х-91 • ЗА́ЖИВО ХОРОНИ́ТЬ/ПОХОРОНИ́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ obs, lit [VP; subj: human] to refuse o.s. contact with society and the outside world, live in seclusion (often when one is still young and in his prime): X заживо похоронил себя ≃ X lived like a hermit; X holed himself up; X buried himself alive.

[Глафира:] Я должна прятаться от всех, заживо похоронть себя, а я ещё молода, мне жить хочется… (Островский 5). [G.:] I have to hide away from everyone; I have to bury myself alive. But I'm young yet; I want to live (5a).

Х-92 • ТО́ЖЕ ХОРО́Ш!; (НО) И… ХОРО́Ш! coll [AdjP; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human)] (used by the speaker to reprove the interlocutor or another person by placing him on the same level with s.o. else, whether named or implied, who does or did sth. reprehensible, undeserving etc) and you are (he is etc) no better: X тоже хорош! ≃ X is a fine one too ⟨himself⟩!; isn't X a fine one to talk!; X is no angel either; X isn't squeaky clean either; [in older texts] X is a fine fellow ⟨goose⟩ too; [when reproving o.s.] I'm a fine one to talk!

[Нина:] Ты обиделся? [Бусыгин:] Да нет… [Нина:] Я психанула… А ты тоже хорош… [Бусыгин:] Да нет, зря я на него напустился, в самом деле (Вампилов 4). [N.:] Are you angry? [B.:] Not really… [N.:] I flew off the handle… And you're a fine one too… [B.:] Of course, I shouldn't have attacked him, really (4b).

Х-93 • ХОРО́Ш ⟨ХОРОША́⟩ СОБО́Й [AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] possessing a pleasing physical appearance: good-looking; attractive; fine-looking; handsome; a looker.

…Я даже не рассмотрел хорошенько её лица и до сих пор не знаю, была ли она точно хороша собой или нет (Толстой 2). …I did not even see her face properly and do not know to this day whether she was really attractive or not (2a).

Х-94 • ВСЕГО́ ХОРО́ШЕГО ⟨ДО́БРОГО⟩!; ВСЕГО́ (НАИ)ЛУ́ЧШЕГО! [formula phrase; these forms only; also used as obj of желать/пожелать] (used when parting with s.o. or in concluding a nonofficial letter) may everything go well for you: all the best!; best of luck!; the best of luck to you!; best regards!; take care (of yourself).

[Маша:] Ну-с, позвольте пожелать вам всего хорошего. Не поминайте лихом (Чехов 6). [M.:] Well, I wish you all the best. Don't think badly of me (6a).

Х-95 • ХОРО́ШЕНЬКОГО ⟨ХОРО́ШЕГО⟩ ПОНЕМНО́ЖКУ coll, often iron or humor [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] sth. pleasant or good should be enjoyed in small quantities (used to convey the speaker's belief that he or another has had enough of sth. pleasurable or, when used ironically, sth. unpleasant): don't ⟨you mustn't etc⟩ overdo a good thing; enough is enough.

Аванесян решительно поднялся и, старательно избегая её взгляда, сделал шаг к выходу. В его поспешности было что-то суетливо-жалкое. «Хорошенького понемножку, погрелся, пора и честь знать» (Максимов 3). Avanesyan rose resolutely, and moved toward the door, carefully avoiding her eyes. There was something pathetic in his haste. “Mustn’t overdo a good thing. I’ve warmed up, and I mustn’t disturb you anymore” (3a).

Х-96 • НЕ ПО́ ХОРОШУ МИЛ, А ПО́ МИЛУ ХОРО́Ш [saying] there are no absolute standards for beauty, goodness etc, and people tend to consider those they like to be more beautiful, good etc than others might consider them to be: ≃ beauty is in the eye of the beholder; it’s not those who are fair we love, but those we love who are fair.

«Мне кажется, что ты не можешь любить меня, что я так дурна… и всегда… а теперь… в этом по…» — «Ах, какая ты смешная! Не по хорошу мил, а по милу хорош» (Толстой 7). “It seems to me that you can’t love me, that I am so ugly… always… and now… in this condi—” “Oh, how absurd you are! It’s not those who are fair we love, but those we love who are fair” (7a).

Х-97 • ГДЕ ХОТЕ́НЬЕ, ТАМ И УМЕ́НЬЕ [saying] if a person wants sth. very much or is determined to do sth., he will find a way to obtain or do it no matter how difficult it is: ≃ where there’s a will there’s a way.

Х-98 • НА ВСЯ́КОЕ ХОТЕ́НЬЕ ЕСТЬ ТЕРПЕ́НЬЕ [saying] you must learn how to wait patiently because not everything that you want can be gotten immediately (usu. said jokingly, often to children, when s.o. exhibits impatience and wants his wish fulfilled immediately): ≃ everything comes to him who waits.

Х-99 • ЕСЛИ ХОТИ́ТЕ ⟨ХО́ЧЕШЬ⟩ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] it is acceptable, possible, reasonable to present (phrase or rephrase) sth. the way the speaker is about to present (phrase or rephrase) it: if you will; if you prefer; one could even say…; [lim.] perhaps.

Он человек малообразованный, если хотите, попросту невежественный. He’s a poorly educated man, simply ignorant, if you will. ♦ «Хоть мы идём и разными путями, но я глубокий поклонник вашего таланта. Даже если хотите — ученик. Ваш и Хлебникова» (Катаев 3). “Though we are following different paths, I am a profound admirer of your talent. Perhaps even a pupil. Yours and Khlebnikov’s” (3a).

Х-100 • КАК ХОТИ́ТЕ ⟨ХО́ЧЕШЬ⟩ [these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [subord clause] (you can do sth.) any way you want, (you can do) whatever you choose: (do) as you please ⟨will, wish, like⟩; [lim.] (do) whatever you want.

«Так пойдёшь ужинать?» — «Не хочется». — «Дело хозяйское. Как хочешь» (Залыгин 1). “Are you going to get supper?” “I don’t feel like it.” “Suit yourself. Do as you like” (1a).

2. [sent adv (parenth); usu. foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «а» or «но»] (usu. used when objecting to s.o.’s statement or when anticipating an objection to one’s own statement) whether you agree with me or not, regardless of whether you think the way I do: say what you like ⟨will⟩, but…; that’s all very well, but…; [lim.] all the same.

«Нет, господа, как хотите, а Коршунова превзойти невозможно! Дракон, а не человек!» (Шолохов 5). “No, gentlemen, say what you like, but Korshunov is unbeatable! He’s not a man but a dragon!” (5a).

Х-101 • ХОТИ́ТЕ ВЕ́РЬТЕ, ХОТИ́ТЕ НЕ́Т ⟨ХО́ЧЕШЬ ВЕ́РЬ, ХО́ЧЕШЬ НЕ́Т⟩ coll [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] used to emphasize that something about to be stated or, less often, already stated is true, even though it may seem surprising: believe it or not; believe (you) me; believe me or believe me not; incredibly; [lim.] I can tell you.

«Хотите, я с ним поговорю?» — «Ой, поговорите, Марья Владимировна! Он вас послушает, я знаю. Он вас сильно уважает. Хотите верьте, хотите нет, мы когда с ним встречаемся, он только о вас и говорит» (Грекова 1). “Would you like me to talk to him?” “Oh yes, do, Marya Vladimirovna! I know he’ll listen to you. He respects you so much. Believe it or not, whenever we go out he only talks about you” (1b).

Х-102 • ХОТЬ ⟨ХОТЯ́⟩ БЫ… [these forms only] 1. [subord Conj, concessive] used to express hypothetical concession: even if.

«Я хотела уж зайти к Катерине Ивановне…»… — «Катерина Ивановна ведь вас чуть не била, у отца-то?» — «Ах нет, что вы, что вы это, нет!.. Господи, била! А хоть бы и била, так что ж! Ну так что ж? Вы ничего, ничего не знаете…» (Достоевский 3). “I was even going to go to Katerina Ivanovna…”… “But Katerina Ivanovna all but beat you when you lived at your father’s?” “Ah, no, what are you saying, no!… Beat me—Lord! And even if she did beat me, what of it! Well, what of it! You know nothing, nothing…” (3c).

2. [Particle] (used to show that the person, thing, phenomenon etc named is less than optimal) if nothing better, more substantial, more important etc: at least; if nothing else; [lim.] if only.

…Видно, его могучая, замкнутая в своей безысходности страсть нуждалась в поддержке доброжелателей или хотя бы зрителей (Искандер 5). …His mighty passion, locked in hopelessness, must have needed the support of well-wishers, or at least spectators (5a).

3. [intensif Particle; used with a verb in the affirmative] used to indicate that sth. that was to be expected did not take place: not even.

[Телятев:] Выпили по бутылке, и хоть бы краска в лице прибавилась… (Островский 4). [T.:] We had a bottle each and his face didn’t even colour… (4b).

4. [exemplifying Particle] as an example: for example; for instance.

Сколько всего напридумано ими, безвестными следователями соответствующих органов. Возьмите хотя бы знаменитую теперь стенограмму процесса Бухарина и других (Войнович 3). How much of all this did they make up themselves, the unsung investigators of the appropriate organs! Take for example the now famous shorthand report of the trial of Bukharin et al. (3a).

5. [Particle] (used to express a wish or desire) it would be good if: if only; would that; I wish…; [lim.] oh, that…

[Нина:] У меня в руке только одна горошина. Я загадала: идти мне в актрисы или нет? Хоть бы посоветовал кто (Чехов 6). [N.:] There’s just one pea in my hand. I was trying to tell my fortune: should I become an actress or not? If only someone would advise me (6c). [N.:] Only one pea in my hand. I’m trying to decide whether to go on the stage or not. I wish someone would give me advice (6d).

Х-103 • ХОХОТУ́Н НАПА́Л на кого coll [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. has been overcome by a desire to laugh and cannot contain his laughter: на Х-а хохотун напал ≃ X had a fit of laughter.

Х-104 • МНО́ГОГО ⟨ИШЬ ЧЕГО⟩ ХО́ЧЕТ/ЗАХОТЕ́Л coll [sent; 3rd or 2nd pers (var. with многого); 3rd pers only, but may refer to the interlocutor (var. with ишь чего); pres or pfv past only; fixed WO] your (his etc) requests, expectations, demands etc are extreme and unreasonable (and if their fulfillment depends on me, I will not fulfill them): that’s too much!; that’s a tall order!; you must be kid- ding!; you have to be joking!; (oh, you) don't want much, do you!; [lim.] (now) that's going (a bit) too far!

«Ты, как я, пиши смело, морду не воротя: „Всегда с партией, всегда с народом". Да посиди лет десять-двадцать-тридцать с важной и кислой рожей в президиумах, да произнеси сотню-другую казённых речей, вот после этого и приходи за шапкой. А то, ишь чего захотел!» (Войнович 6). "You must write boldly, as I do, without turning up your nose: 'Always with the Party, Always with the People.' And sit in presidiums for ten, twenty, thirty years wearing a solemn sourpuss face. And deliver a few hundred bureaucratic speeches. Then come for your hat. Otherwise—you have to be joking" (6a).

Х-105 • (И) ХО́ЧЕТСЯ И КО́ЛЕТСЯ coll, humor [VP; impers; these forms only; fixed WO] s.o. is torn between the desire to do sth. and the fear of doing it because of the risk, danger, or loss that might be involved: I want ⟨he wants etc⟩ to, but I'm ⟨he's etc⟩ scared ⟨wavering, hanging back⟩; I ⟨you etc⟩ want to, but…; I am ⟨he is etc⟩ dying ⟨itching⟩ (to do sth.), but…; the cat loves fish but hates water; honey is sweet, but the bee stings.

Х-106 • ХО́ЧЕШЬ НЕ ХО́ЧЕШЬ coll; РАД (ИЛИ) НЕ РАД coll; ХОШЬ НЕ ХОШЬ substand [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] regardless of whether desired, liked etc or not: (whether you) like it or not ⟨no⟩; (whether you) want to or not; whether he ⟨she etc⟩ likes it or not ⟨wants to or not⟩; willy-nilly; [lim.] one can't help (doing sth.).

«Расставаться нам с тобой пора, хочешь не хочешь» (Владимов 1). "Like it or not, it's time for you and me to say good-bye" (1a). ♦ «Что всё это значит?» — спросил Лучников. Он злился. Двое уже знают некий секрет, который собираются преподнести третьему, несведущему. Хочешь не хочешь, но в эти минуты чувствуешь себя одураченным (Аксёнов 7). "What's going on here?" asked Luchnikov. He was beginning to lose his temper. When two people are in possession of a secret and haven't quite come round to letting a third person in on it, the third person can't help feeling exasperated (7a).

Х-107 • ЕШЬ ⟨ПЕЙ, БЕРИ́ и т.п.⟩ — НЕ ХОЧУ́ coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] in some place there is a great quantity of food, drink, some item etc and one is free to eat, drink, or avail o.s. of it without limit or restriction: there is more than one could ever want ⟨one could possibly eat, one could take etc⟩; one can eat ⟨drink etc⟩ to one's heart's content; one can eat ⟨drink, take etc⟩ as much as one likes ⟨wants⟩.

«Они оказались действительно среди развалов богатств — бери не хочу!» (Битов 2). "They found themselves really among mountains of riches—more than they could take!" (2a).

Х-108 • ЧЕРЕЗ НЕ ХОЧУ́ ⟨«НЕ ХОЧУ́»⟩! coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] trying to overcome one's unwillingness, aversion: reluctantly; grudgingly; force ⟨forcing⟩ o.s. (to do sth.); making an effort; [lim.] (do sth.) against one's will.

Он пессимист, всегда видит всё в чёрном цвете. He's a pessimist—he always looks on the dark side of things.

Ц-14 • ВО ⟨В⟩ ЦВЕ́ТЕ ЛЕТ ⟨СИЛ⟩; В РАСЦВЕ́ТЕ ЛЕТ ⟨СИЛ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif, adv, subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human or, rare, collect), or obj-compl with знать, оставить etc (obj: human); fixed WO] the years when one's or s.o.'s mental and physical abilities are at their peak: in one's prime; in the prime of life; at the height of one's powers; [in older texts] in the bloom of life; in the flower of one's age.

Нет спору, ему было жаль племянника жены, погибшего в расцвете лет. Но, конечно, как человек деловой, он понимал, что никакой особенной надобности в его присутствии на похоронах нету (Булгаков 9). Although he did indeed feel sorry for his wife's nephew, who had died in the prime of his life, he was a practical man and saw that there was no particular need for him to attend the funeral (9c). There is no arguing that he felt sorry for his wife's nephew, who had died in the bloom of life. But, of course, being a practical man, he realized that there was no special need for his presence at the funeral (9d).

Ц-15 • ПЫ́ШНЫМ ЦВЕ́ТОМ расцвести, распуститься и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] (to develop) extensively, in full measure (in contemp. usage, usu. used ironically of negative qualities and phenomena): blossom; flourish; thrive; reach full flower; [of negative phenomena only] run rampant; (be) rife and rampant.

Талант его расцвёл пышным цветом лишь в последний период его жизни. It was only in the last period of his life that his talent blossomed. ♦ В труппе театра пышным цветом расцвела зависть. Jealousy ran rampant in the theater company.

Ц-16 • Э́ТО ЕЩЁ ⟨ТО́ЛЬКО⟩ ЦВЕТО́ЧКИ ⟨ЦВЕ́ТИКИ, ЦВЕТКИ́⟩, А Я́ГОДКИ (БУ́ДУТ) ВПЕРЕДИ́ [saying; often only the first half of the saying is used] this first thing, beginning stage etc is bad, but what is to come will be many times worse: ≃ this is only the half of it (, there are more "treats" in store); this is just a taste of what's to come; this is only ⟨just⟩ the beginning (, there's much more to come ⟨the real stuff comes later⟩); the worst is yet to come; you ain't seen nothin' yet; what you've ⟨we've etc⟩ seen so far is nothing (compared to ⟨with⟩ what is to come ⟨what is yet to unfold etc⟩); [said ironically] the best is yet to come.

[Лебедев:] Тебе в приданое назначается пятнадцать тысяч рублей серебром… Вот… Смотри, чтоб потом разговоров не было! Постой, молчи! Это только цветки, а будут ещё ягодки. Приданого тебе назначено пятнадцать тысяч, но, принимая во внимание, что Николай Алексеевич должен твоей матери девять тысяч, из твоего приданого делается вычитание… (Чехов 4). [L.:] Your dowry's to be fifteen thousand rubles. Now look, we don't want arguments afterwards. No, don't speak, this is only the half of it, there are more treats in store. Your dowry's to be fifteen thousand, but as Nicholas owes your mother nine thousand, that's being deducted from the dowry (4b).

Ц-17 • СРЫВА́ТЬ ЦВЕТЫ́ УДОВО́ЛЬСТВИЯ obsoles, lit [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to give o.s. in a carefree manner to the joys of life: X срывал цветы удовольствия ≃ X enjoyed the finer things in life; X indulged in life's little pleasures; X picked the flowers ⟨gathered the blossoms⟩ of pleasure.

[source] [Хлестаков:] Я люблю поесть. Ведь на то живёшь, чтобы срывать цветы удовольствия (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] I like a good meal. But, then, what is life for if not to pick the flowers of pleasure? (4c).

«Марш!» — крикнул он на офицеров. «Хорошо же! — не робея и не отъезжая, кричал маленький офицер. — Разбойничать, так я вам…» — «К чёрту марш скорым шагом, пока цел». — И Денисов повернул лошадь к офицеру (Толстой 5). "Now, march!" he shouted at the officers. "Very well then!" cried the little officer, not in the least intimidated and not moving. "If you're determined to go through with this raid, then I'll—" "Go to hell! Quick march, while you're still in one piece!" And Denisov turned his horse and made for the officer (5a).

Ц-19 • БИТЬ МИМО ЦЕ́ЛИ [VP; subj: abstr or, occas., human] (usu. of an argument, criticism etc) to be ineffective, fail to attain the desired result: X бил мимо цели ≃ X didn't have any ⟨had no⟩ effect ⟨impact⟩; X didn't make any impact.

Нина приводила десятки аргументов, пытаясь отговорить мужа от сомнительной сделки, но все они били мимо цели. Nina tried dozens of different arguments in an attempt to talk her husband out of getting involved in a shady deal, but they had no effect.

Ц-20 • ЦЕЛИКО́М И ПО́ЛНОСТЬЮ coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] totally, thoroughly: utterly and completely ⟨completely and utterly⟩; (solely and) completely; fully; entirely; wholly and solely; wholeheartedly and absolutely; …through and through; [lim.] lock, stock, and barrel; || X поддерживает Y-а ⟨согласен с Y-ом и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ X gives his full and total ⟨undivided⟩ support to Y; X is in full and total agreement with Y; || переделать целиком и полностью ≃ redo ⟨remodel etc⟩ from stem to stern ⟨from start to finish, from top to bottom⟩; remake from start to finish ⟨from top to bottom⟩.

В голову ни Анне Федоровне, ни Кате, ни даже входящей в возраст Леночке не пришло бы в этот дом, целиком и полностью принадлежащий Мур, привести даже самого скромного, самого незначительного мужчину (Улицкая 2). It would never have occurred to Anna, Katya, or even Lenochka, who was approaching puberty, to introduce into this house which was so completely and utterly the domain of Mour, even the most modest, the most insignificant male (2a).

Ц-21 • В ЦЕ́ЛОМ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv or sent adv] all of something considered, as a sum total of all components: as a whole; in toto; in the aggregate.

«Вот так вы и отталкиваете людей! Всё — или ничего! Никаких компромиссов, никакой поблажки. А если я в целом принять не могу?» (Солженицын 3). "That's what repels people! All or nothing! No compromises, no allowances made. But suppose I can't accept it in toto?" (3b).

2. [sent adv] in essence, in general, main aspects or features considered: on the whole; by and large; all in all; overall; basically; [lim.] the overall ⟨general⟩ impression ⟨picture, results etc⟩.

Эраст Петрович деликатно, но зорко посматривал на высокое начальство и в минуту составил первое впечатление — в целом благоприятное (Акунин 3). Erast Petrovich cast a tactful but acute glance at his superior and formed his first impression in a moment. On the whole it was a positive one (3a).

Ц-22 • В ЦЕ́ЛОСТИ И СОХРА́ННОСТИ ⟨НЕВРЕДИ́МОСТИ⟩ быть$_{ø}$, доставить кого-что, вернуть что и т.п.; В ЦЕ́ЛОСТИ-СОХРА́ННОСТИ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr) or obj-compl with доставить etc (obj: human or concr); fixed WO] (a person or thing is, to deliver a person or thing, return a thing etc) unhurt, undamaged: safe and sound; unharmed; (all) in one piece; [of a person only] alive and well; [of a thing only] intact; in (good) working order.

Под утро все новоиспечённые офицеры… частично своим собственным ходом, частично с помощью товарищей и аборигенов вернулись в казарму в целости и сохранности… (Зиновьев 1). By morning all the newly fledged officers had returned to barracks safe and sound, partly under their own steam and partly with the help of their comrades and the aboriginal population (1a).

Ц-23 • ЦЕ́ЛЫЙ И НЕВРЕДИ́МЫЙ ⟨ЦЕЛ И НЕВРЕДИ́М⟩ [AdjP; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr), occas. detached modif (var. with long-form Adj only); fixed WO] unhurt, in fine condition: safe and sound; (whole and) undamaged; unharmed; untouched; (all) in one piece; [of a person only] alive and well; alive and in one piece; [of a thing only] intact.

И они ринулись к выходу. К их удивлению, у двери, ведущей со сцены в переулок, лежал на спине целый и невредимый гамбсовский стул (Ильф и Петров 1). They raced to the door. To their surprise, the Hambs chair was lying on its back, undamaged, at the exit from the stage to the street (1a). They tore over to the exit. To their surprise, the Gambs chair, whole and undamaged, was lying on its back at the stage door 1b).

Ц-24 • БИТЬ (ПРЯ́МО) В ЦЕЛЬ [VP; subj: abstr or, occas., human] (usu. of arguments, criticism, advice etc) to be effective, attain the desired result: X бьёт в цель ≃ X achieved its ⟨his⟩ aim ⟨goal⟩; X was (right) on target ⟨on the mark⟩; X hit the mark.

…Его [Миляги] советы всегда оказывались точными, немногословными, но всегда били в цель (Войнович 4). [Milyaga's] advice was precise and terse but always on the mark (4a).

Ц-25 • ЦЕЛЬ ОПРА́ВДЫВАЕТ СРЕ́ДСТВА [saying] if a goal is good, then any method of achieving it, however unfair, violent etc, is justified: ≃ the end justifies the means.

Цель оправдывает средства, говорила она Участковому, обещавшему за флакон парижских духов скомпрометировать Сожительницу… (Зиновьев 1). "The end justifies the means," she said to the Fuzz, who had promised, at the price of a phial of Parisian perfume, to compromise Mistress… (1a).

Ц-26 • С ЦЕ́ЛЬЮ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ чего. Also: В ЦЕ́ЛЯХ [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] having (sth.) as one's goal: with the purpose ⟨the aim, the object, the motive⟩ of; for [AdjP] ⟨[NP]⟩ purposes; [lim.] in the interests of.

…Он с негодованием отверг даже предположение о том, что брат мог убить с целью грабежа… (Достоевский 2). …He indignantly rejected even the suggestion that his brother could have killed with the purpose of robbery… (2a).

2. [used with infin; the resulting PrepP is adv] as a means to (achieving sth.): with the aim ⟨the purpose, the intention, the object, the motive⟩ of (doing sth.); for the purpose of (doing sth.); (in order) to; with a view to (doing sth.).

Колония была заключена в сравнительно изолированное помещение с целью наблюдать законы крысиной жизни в чистом виде (Зиновьев 1). The colony was housed in a fairly isolated environment with the aim of observing the laws of rodent life in their pure form (1a).

Ц-27 • КРА́СНАЯ ЦЕНА́ чему coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: a noun denoting a specified amount of money); fixed WO] the most s.o. thinks that sth. is worth, the highest price that s.o. would be willing to pay for sth.: X-у красная цена — десять рублей ≃ X isn't worth more than ten rubles; ten rubles is the top ⟨the best⟩ price (that s.o. would offer) for X; s.o. would pay ten rubles tops for X; the most s.o. would pay for X is ten rubles.

«Я полагаю с своей стороны…: по восьми гривен за душу, это самая красная цена!» (Гоголь 3). "I, for my part, would offer eighty kopecks per soul…. This is the top price" (3c).

Ц-28 • В ЦЕНЕ́ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$] 1. [subj: usu. concr (count pl or mass)] (some category of items) is highly valued and therefore has a high market price: X-ы в цене ≃ Xs are (very ⟨quite, rather⟩) costly; Xs are highly priced ⟨high-priced⟩; the price of Xs is high; Xs are worth (quite) a bit; Xs are worth a pretty penny; Xs bring ⟨fetch⟩ a good price; Xs are in demand; || Neg X-ы не в цене ≃ Xs don't fetch ⟨bring⟩ much.

Батько ещё в начале весны повёз в Крым на продажу табак… Табак был тогда в цене (Гоголь 5). Just at the beginning of spring Father went with the wagons to the Crimea to sell tobacco; …tobacco brought a good price in those days (5a). ♦ [Анчугин:] Часы теперь не в цене (Вампилов 1). [A:] Watches don't fetch much these days (1a).

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or abstr] (people of some category, items of some type etc) are considered to be of great value (among some group, in some place etc): X-ы в цене ≃ Xs are highly valued.

Опытный и честный работник всегда в цене. An experienced and honest worker is always highly valued.

Ц-29 • ДОРОГО́Й ЦЕНО́Й достаться кому, добиться, достигнуть чего, заплатить за что и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to attain, get, accomplish etc sth.) at the cost of great effort, sacrifice etc: X достался Y-у ⟨Y добился X-а и т.п.⟩ дорогой ценой ≃ Y paid dearly ⟨a high price, a heavy price⟩ for X; X came to Y at a great price ⟨at great cost⟩.

Мы действительно многого не знали и не понимали, и знание далось нам дорогой ценой (Мандельштам 1). We really didn't know and understand many things—and we paid a heavy price for our ignorance (1a).

Ц-30 • ЛЮБО́Й ЦЕНО́Й [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] by any means available, regardless of the time, effort, risk etc involved: at any cost ⟨price⟩; at all costs; at whatever (the) cost; no matter (what) the cost; no matter what the sacrifice.

«Задержите противника сами любой ценой. Резервов у меня нет», — сказал Родимцев (Гроссман 2). "You must stop the enemy yourselves, at whatever the cost," said Rodimtsev. "There are no reserves" (2a).

Ц-31 • ЦЕНТР ТЯ́ЖЕСТИ (чего) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the most essential, important part (of sth.): the main ⟨chief, focal⟩ point; the focus; the essence; the sum and substance; || перенести центр тяжести на X ≃ shift (the) emphasis to X; move the emphasis to X; place ⟨put, lay⟩ a greater emphasis on X; [used figuratively] center of gravity.

Я перечеркнула блоковский эпиграф, который обязывал к непосильному для меня общефилософскому раскрытию темы, и взяла новый, из стихотворения Евтушенко, перемещавший центр тяжести в область конкретной борьбы с наследием Сталина (Гинзбург 2). I crossed out the Blok epigraph committing me to a general, philosophical treatment of the subject beyond my powers, and adopted from Yevtushenko's poetry a new one, which shifted the emphasis to the concrete struggle against Stalin's crimes (2a).

Ц-32 • В ЦЕ́НТРЕ ВНИМА́НИЯ (кого) [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or abstr, occas. concr); fixed WO] (to be or become) the object of intense interest, special attention: X был ~ ≃ X was the center ⟨focus⟩ of attention; all attention was focused on X; X took (the) center stage; [lim.] all eyes were on X.

Тот факт, что она была профессиональная актриса, уже выделял её… И когда она приезжала, то оказывалась в центре внимания… (Рыбаков 1). The fact that she was a professional actress already singled her out… When she came she was the centre of attention… (1a).

Ц-33 • В ЦЕ́НТРЕ СОБЫ́ТИЙ быть, оказаться [PrepP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect)] to be, find o.s. at the center of activity: in the thick of things ⟨all that is going on, (the) action⟩; at the hub of things ⟨activity, action, events⟩; in the middle of things ⟨events, the action⟩.

Что бы там ни происходило, разведчику надлежит быть в центре событий (Стругацкие 4). Whatever happens, a scout must always be right in the thick of all that is going on (4a).

Ц-34 • ЗНАТЬ СЕБЕ́ ЦЕ́НУ [VP; subj: human; pres or past] to evaluate accurately and appreciate fully one's own abilities, merits etc: X знает себе цену ≃ X knows his own worth.

«Баб-то, конечно, по военному времю [ungrammat = времени] много свободных, — размышлял счетовод, — да такую, как Зинаида, днём с огнём не найдёшь. А ежели и найдёшь, так та, которая себе цену знает, нешто пойдёт за мужика, у которого пять детей и одна рука» (Войнович 4). Of course, there's lots of women around during wartime, reflected the bookkeeper, but ones like Zinaida are scarce as hen's teeth. And if you do find one like her, she'll know her own worth and wouldn't be likely to marry a man with five children and one arm (4a).

Ц-35 • ЗНАТЬ ⟨less often УЗНАВА́ТЬ/УЗНА́ТЬ⟩ ЦЕ́НУ кому-чему [VP; subj: usu. human] to assess correctly the value of s.o. or sth. (occas. refers to a negative evaluation): X знает цену Y-у ≃ X knows Y's worth ⟨the worth of Y⟩; X knows what Y is (really) worth; X knows the (true) value of Y; [in refer. to a negative evaluation only] X knows Y for what Y is.

Чем вызван был такой успех? Ведь цену своим рассказам я знаю. Не такие уж они замечательные (Довлатов 1). What was the reason for my success? After all, I knew the true value of my stories. They weren't all that remarkable (1a).

Ц-36 • ЗНАТЬ ЦЕ́НУ ДЕНЬГА́М ⟨КОПЕ́ЙКЕ coll⟩ [VP; subj: human] to be thrifty, economical (usu. after having experienced need): X знает цену деньгам ≃ X knows the value of money ⟨of a ruble, of a dollar⟩.

Рано лишившись родителей, Антон работал по двенадцать часов в сутки, чтобы прокормить себя и сестрёнку, и хорошо знал цену деньгам. Anton lost his parents at a young age and worked twelve hours a day to feed himself and his little sister. He really knew the value of money.

Ц-37 • НАБИВА́ТЬ/НАБИ́ТЬ СЕБЕ́ ЦЕ́НУ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pres or past] to (try to) better s.o.'s opinion of o.s., make o.s. look more important to others (usu. in order to achieve a certain status, obtain sth. etc): X набивает себе цену ≃ X is building himself up (in s.o.'s eyes); X is trying to enhance his own value ⟨image⟩; X is trying to convince s.o. of how invaluable ⟨indispensable etc⟩ X is; X is trying to make s.o. appreciate X (more).

Рассказывая новому начальнику, как неохотно её отпускали с предыдущего места работы, она надеялась набить себе цену. By telling her new boss stories about how they hated to see her leave her old job, she hoped to build herself up in his eyes.

Ц-38 • НАБИВА́ТЬ/НАБИ́ТЬ ЦЕ́НУ на что coll [VP; subj: usu. human] to raise the price of some merchandise: X набивает цену на Y ≃ X jacks ⟨hikes⟩ up the price of Y.

«Легко жить Ракитину: „Ты, — говорит он мне сегодня, — о расширении гражданских прав человека хлопочи лучше али хоть о том, чтобы цена на говядину не возвысилась…" Я ему на это и отмочил: „А ты, говорю, без бога-то, сам ещё на говядину цену набьёшь… и наколотишь рубль на копейку"» (Достоевский 2). "Life is simple for Rakitin: 'You'd do better to worry about extending man's civil rights,' he told me today, 'or at least about not letting the price of beef go up….' But I came back at him: 'And without God,' I said, 'you'll hike up the price of beef yourself… and make a rouble on every kopeck'" (2a).

Ц-39 • ЦЕНЫ́ НЕТ кому-чему [VP; impers] s.o. or sth. possesses such admirable or remarkable qualities that his or its worth cannot be overestimated: X-у цены нет ≃ X is invaluable ⟨priceless⟩; X is worth his ⟨its etc⟩ weight in gold; X is beyond price.

«…Ей [газете] бы цены не было, если б её без закорючек выпускали» (Искандер 5). "It'd [the newspaper would] be worth its weight in gold if they'd issue it without all these crooked little lines" (5a).

Ц-40 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ С ЦЕПИ́ ⟨С ПРИ́ВЯЗИ⟩ СОРВА́ТЬСЯ coll, often disapprov [VP; subj: human; past or Verbal Adv; fixed WO] 1. [usu. after вбежал, помчался etc] one ran in, raced, took off etc headlong: X вбежал ⟨помчался и т.п.⟩ как с цепи сорвался ≃ X ran in ⟨took off etc⟩ like one possessed; X took off etc like a wild animal ⟨like a bat out of hell⟩.

2. one acts, behaves etc irrationally, in an extreme, uncontrolled, wild manner: X как с цепи сорвался ≃ X acted ⟨was⟩ like a mad dog on the loose ⟨a mad dog broke loose⟩; X acted like one possessed; X acted like a wild man ⟨woman⟩.

[Кудряш:] Ну, да та [Кабаниха] хоть, по крайности, всё под видом благочестия, а этот [Дикой] как с цепи сорвался! (Островский 6). [K.:] At least she [Kabanova] serves her words up with a sauce of piety, but Dikoy—he's like a mad dog broke loose (6b).

Ц-41 • КИТА́ЙСКИЕ ЦЕРЕМО́НИИ usu. humor or iron [NP; pl only; fixed WO] an excessive display of politeness or formality: standing on ceremony; excessive ceremony ⟨formality⟩.

Тебе понравятся Мария Семёновна и её муж: они люди простые и китайских церемоний не любят. You'll like Marya Semyonovna and her husband: they're regular people who don't like standing on ceremony.

Ц-42 • БЕЗ ЦЕРЕМО́НИЙ; БЕЗО ВСЯ́КИХ ЦЕРЕМО́НИЙ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] without observing the conventions of behavior or manner characteristic of a formal, ceremonious person: without ceremony; without (observing) any formalities; casually; informally; [in limited contexts] offhandedly.

«Вы извините, что я к вам вот так, без церемоний подошёл. Я, знаете ли, до чрезвычайности общителен… (Акунин 2). "Pardon me for approaching you so offhandedly. You know, I am an exceptionally sociable individual…" (2a).

Ц-43 • НА ЦУГУ́НДЕР брать, тянуть кого obs, now humor [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to take s.o. away) for severe punishment (often putting him in jail): X-а тянут на цугундер ≃ X is being hauled off ⟨taken away⟩; they're hauling X off ⟨taking X away⟩; X is being tossed in the clink ⟨the slammer, the hoosegow etc⟩.

«Пролетарский поэт и восхищался стихами контрика? И никто не донёс? И никого из вас не взяли, как говорится, „на цугундер"?» (Копелев 1). "A proletarian poet enjoying the poetry of a 'contra'? And no one denounced him? And none of you was taken away?" (1a). ♦ «Если у тебя ещё хоть один только раз в твоём благородном доме произойдёт скандал, так я тебя самое на цугундер, как в высоком слоге говорится» (Достоевский 3). "If a scandal takes place in your respectable house just once more, then I will personally, as they say in high society, toss you in the clink" (3b).

< From the German zu Hundert (?), of uncertain derivation. It may mean "to arrest."

Ц-44 • ЦЫПЛЯ́Т ПО О́СЕНИ СЧИТА́ЮТ [saying] one should not rejoice until the outcome of sth. is clear (said when s.o. is confident that an endeavor will turn out successfully when it is still too early to be sure): ≃ don't count your chickens before they're hatched.

Ц-45 • НА ЦЫ́ПОЧКАХ ходить, стоять; НА ЦЫ́ПОЧКИ стать, подняться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to walk, stand etc) on one's toes: (walk ⟨stand, get etc⟩) on tiptoe; (stand etc) on one's tiptoes; tiptoe.

Взобравшись на третий этаж, Княжицкий отпер своим ключом дверь, бесшумно притворил её и на цыпочках двинулся по коридорчику (Аржак 3). Knyazhitsky got up to the third floor, unlocked the door, closed it silently and crept along the passage on tiptoe (3a).

Ц-46 • ХОДИ́ТЬ НА ЦЫ́ПОЧКАХ перед кем coll [VP; subj: human] to behave cautiously, deferentially, obediently in dealing with s.o. so as not to anger, displease, or fall out of favor with him: X ходит на цыпочках перед Y-ом ≃ X walks on tiptoe ⟨tippytoe⟩ in Y's presence ⟨before Y, in front of Y⟩.

«Неужто наши старцы так и не велят Хабугу изгнать его?» — «Наши старцы перед Хабугом на цыпочках ходят!» (Искандер 5). "I can't believe our elders won't order old Khabug to banish him!" "Our elders walk on tippytoe in front of old Khabug" (5a).

Ч

Ч-1 • В ЧАДУ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. Also: КАК ⟨КАК БУ́ДТО⟩ В ЧАДУ́ [adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] (to do sth., be) in a state of mental confusion or emotional turmoil: (as if) in a fog ⟨a trance⟩; dazed; in a daze.

«Говорю тебе, [Григорий] живой и здоровый, морду наел во какую!»… Аксинья слушала, как в чаду… Она опомнилась только у мелеховской калитки (Шолохов 5). "I tell you he's [Grigory is] safe and sound, and real fat in the face!"… Aksinya listened as if in a trance. She came to herself only at the Melekhovs' gate (5a).

2. ~ чего, often увлечений, удовольствий, романов и т.п. [the resulting PrepP is adv] being completely absorbed by sth. (often passions, pleasures, love affairs etc): in the whirl ⟨swirl⟩ of sth.; being caught up in sth.; being thoroughly absorbed in sth.; [lim.] amid the hurly-burly of sth.; in the hustle and bustle of sth.

Жизнь его [Пьера] между тем шла по-прежнему, с теми же увлечениями и распущенностью… В чаду своих занятий Пьер, однако, по прошествии года начал чувствовать, как та почва масонства, на которой он стоял, тем более уходила из-под его ног, чем твёрже он старался стать на ней (Толстой 5). Meanwhile his [Pierre's] life went on as before, with the same kind of sudden passions and dissipation… Although Pierre was thoroughly absorbed in his work and his life of pleasure, by the time a year had gone by he had begun to feel more and more as if the masonic ground on which he stood was giving way under his feet despite his best efforts to stand there even more firmly (5c).

Ч-2 • ГОНЯ́ТЬ ЧАЙ́ (с кем) highly coll, often humor [VP; subj: human, often pl] to drink tea in an unhurried manner and with great enjoyment, pleasurably occupy o.s. with drinking tea (usu. for an extended period of time and consuming great quantities): X-ы чаи гоняют ≃ Xs sit (around) drinking tea; Xs spend their time drinking tea.

Ч-3 • НА ЧАЙ[1] давать кому, брать, получать, просить и т.п.; НА ЧАЁК obs, coll, humor [PrepP; these forms only; prep obj] (to give s.o., take, receive, ask for etc) a small monetary reward for a minor service: X дал Y-у ⟨Y получил⟩ ~ ≃ X gave Y ⟨Y received⟩ a tip ⟨tips⟩; X gave Y ⟨Y received⟩ a ruble ⟨two rubles etc⟩ as ⟨for⟩ a tip; X tipped Y.

Носильщики, но не те, которых мы сначала подрядили, а какие-то новые, подхватили багаж. Мне… сказали, что я могу ни о чём не беспокоиться: всё будет доставлено прямо в вагон. И я заметила, что первые носильщики даже не подошли ко мне поклянчить на чай, а просто испарились… (Мандельштам 1). Some porters—not the ones we had hired, but some new ones—picked up my luggage. They told me I needn't worry and that everything would be taken right through to the train. I noticed that the first ones didn't come up to beg for tips, but just vanished (1a).

Ч-4 • НА ЧАЙ[2] приглашать, звать кого (к кому) и т.п.; НА ЧА́ШКУ ЧА́Я ⟨-ю⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to invite s.o. over) to partake of tea (and refreshments): (invite s.o.) to tea; (invite s.o. over ⟨(a)round etc⟩) for (a cup of) tea.

В этот день он пригласил к себе своего фельдфебеля на чашку чая (Федин 1). That day he had invited his sergeant-major round for a cup of tea (1a).

Ч-5 • ЧАЙ ДА ⟨И⟩ СА́ХАР!; ЧАЙ С СА́ХАРОМ! all obs, substand [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] a greeting expressing kind wishes to s.o. found drinking tea: enjoying your tea, I hope!

Ч-6 • АДМИРА́ЛЬСКИЙ ЧАС obs, humor [NP; sing only] noon, the time for a lunch break: lunchtime.

< Starting in 1865, the beginning of the lunch break in St. Petersburg was signaled at 12 noon by a shot fired from one of the admiralty cannons.

Ч-7 • БИ́ТЫЙ ЧАС coll, disapprov [NP; Invar; adv; usu. this WO] (for) a very long time, an hour or more (usu. said with frustration, vexation to express the opinion that an hour is a very long time to spend or waste on the matter in question): (for) the longest time; (for) a whole ⟨good, solid⟩ hour.

Знаешь, я битый час не мог взять в толк, что он мне говорит (Зиновьев 1). You know, for a whole hour I couldn't understand what he was getting at (1a).

Ч-8 • В ДО́БРЫЙ ЧАС!; ЧАС ДО́БРЫЙ! coll [formula phrase; these forms only; usu. this WO (1st var.), fixed WO (2nd var.)] used to wish s.o. success, prosperity etc, usu. when he is about to begin some important undertaking or set out on a trip: good luck (to you)!; the best of luck!; all the best (to you)!; I wish you luck!; [as a wish for a successful trip only] have a good ⟨safe, nice⟩ trip; have a safe ⟨good⟩ journey.

«Ну, с богом. Час добрый», — проговорил старик, крестясь. Петро привычным движением вскинул в седло своё сбитое тело, поправил позади складки рубахи, стянутые пояском. Конь пошёл к воротам (Шолохов 2). "Well, God be with ye! Good luck," the old man said, making the sign of the cross. With habitual ease Petro swung his well-knit body into the saddle and straightened the back folds of his belted shirt. The horse walked to the gate (2a).

Ч-9 • В НЕДО́БРЫЙ ⟨НЕ В ДО́БРЫЙ⟩ ЧАС coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (s.o. did sth., sth. happened) at an unfortunate time, a time foreboding trouble: in an evil hour; on a black day; (it was) a black day.

Право, плохой знак, если Мари забежит на чужой двор. Непременно после её появления в хозяйстве случится какая-нибудь беда: захворает лошадь, или сломается жнейка, или — по меньшей мере — прокиснет молоко… Не иначе как сидел в девчонке какой-то бес, и родилась она не в добрый час (Федин 1). It was truly a bad sign if Marie ever ran into someone else's yard. After her appearance some kind of trouble was sure to happen on that farm: a horse would fall sick, or a reaper would break, or—at the very least—the milk would go sour…. It was as if nothing less than a demon had settled in the wench, and she had been born in an evil hour… (1a).

Ч-10 • В СВО́Й ЧАС [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] at a suitable moment, at the appropriate time: at the proper ⟨right⟩ moment; at the ⟨in its⟩ proper time; when the time is right; in due time; [in refer. to death only] (die) at the appointed hour; (die) a timely death; [lim.] (die) when one's time comes; || Neg (умереть) не в свой час ≃ (die) before one's time; (die) an untimely death.

Всё ещё ночь… с трудом верится, что ничего не случится и в свой час придёт рассвет и наступит утро (Распутин 1). It was still night… it was hard to believe that dawn would come in its proper time and day would follow (1a).

Ч-11 • ЗВЁЗДНЫЙ ЧАС (чей, кого) lit, occas. iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the moment or period (in s.o.'s life, some field etc) when the greatest success or triumph is achieved, the greatest accomplishments are made etc: shining ⟨finest, brightest⟩ hour; s.o.'s ⟨one's⟩ moment of glory.

Никто, как я понял, не желает колоться [slang = признаваться] и брать дело на себя. Молчат, как вполне нормальные люди с развитым инстинктом самосохранения. Наконец кто-то, почуявший свой звёздный час, сказал: «Разрешите доложить?» (Алешковский 1). Nobody wanted to open his mouth and take the rap. They all keep their traps shut, like any normal guy with a well-developed instinct for self-preservation. Finally someone who felt his moment of glory had come said, "Permission to report" (1a).

Ч-12 • КОТО́РЫЙ ЧАС [Invar; used as a question or subord clause; fixed WO] what the time of day is (usu. used when asking the time): который час? ≃ what time is it?; what's the time?; [lim.] do you have the time?

[Лопахин:] Пришёл поезд, слава богу. Который час? [Дуняша:] Скоро два (Чехов 2). [L.:] Thank God the train's in. What time is it? [D.:] Nearly two (2b).

Ч-13 • МЁРТВЫЙ ⟨ТИ́ХИЙ⟩ ЧАС [NP; sing only] the time of rest, sleep after lunch in hospitals, sanatoriums, kindergartens etc: rest ⟨nap⟩ time; quiet ⟨rest⟩ hour.

Мандельштам откармливал меня молоком и виноградом и требовал, чтобы я лежала в мёртвый час, как велели врачи (Мандельштам 2). M[andelstam] made me drink milk and eat grapes, and insisted that I lie down during the rest hour prescribed by the doctors (2a).

Ч-14 • НЕ РОВЁН ЧАС old-fash, coll [sent; Invar; often used as sent adv; fixed WO] 1. (in refer. to an action, event etc specified or implied by the context) used to express fear that sth. unpleasant or dangerous may happen: who knows; you never know; one never knows.

«Пожалуйте только расписочку». — «Да на что ж вам расписка?» — «Всё, знаете, лучше расписочку. Не ровён час, всё может случиться» (Гоголь 3). "Please let me have a receipt." "What do you want a receipt for?" "It's always better to have a receipt. Who knows, anything might happen" (3a).

2. used to indicate that some unspecified dangerous, unpleasant etc thing may happen (often used as a conclusion after a warning): you never know what might happen; all kinds of things could happen; something might ⟨could⟩ go wrong.

Деньги надо хранить в банке: не ровён час. You should keep your money in the bank—you never know what might happen.

Ч-15 • СМЕ́РТНЫЙ ⟨ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ⟩ ЧАС (чей, кого) [NP; sing only] 1. the moment a person dies or the actual occurrence of a person's death: the time ⟨the moment⟩ of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ death; one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ time to die; the hour of death; [lim.] death.

«Наш бог… послал мне этого мальчика в утешение, чтобы было кому радовать меня на старости лет и было кому закрыть мне глаза в смертный час» (Искандер 5). "Our God… has sent me this little boy for consolation, so that I will have someone to gladden my old age and someone to close my eyes in the hour of death" (5a).

2. the relatively brief time preceding the actual point of a person's death: (one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩) last hours (of life); (one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩) final ⟨dying⟩ hour(s).

Бог мой, какую горькую чашу надо испить, чтобы и в свой последний час [говорить] об этом! Только об этом… (Свирский 1). My God, what a bitter cup it must be, to have to talk about that in one's last hours of life! Only of that… (1a).

Ч-16 • ЧАС В ЧАС coll [NP; Invar; adv] at the precise hour (expected, predicted, anticipated etc): right ⟨precisely⟩ at the appointed ⟨expected etc⟩ time ⟨hour⟩; (predict ⟨prophesy etc⟩ sth.) (right) to the very hour; [lim.] right on time.

«…Я тебе рассказывала, кажется, как Кирюша день в день, час в час предсказал покойнику папеньке его кончину» (Толстой 2). "I believe I told you how Kiryusha prophesied the end of poor Papa, right to the very day and hour" (2b).

Ч-17 • ЧАС О́Т ЧАСУ ⟨ОТ ЧА́СУ⟩ [NP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs] (in refer. to the gradual intensification or diminishing of sth.) continuously over the course of time: by the hour ⟨the minute⟩; every hour ⟨minute⟩; with every ⟨each⟩ passing hour ⟨minute⟩; hour by hour.

Между тем здоровье Андрея Гавриловича час от часу становилось хуже (Пушкин 1). In the meantime, Andrei Gavrilovich's condition worsened by the hour (1a).

Ч-18 • ЧАС О́Т ЧАСУ НЕ ЛЕ́ГЧЕ coll [sent with быть$_{ø}$ (usu. pres); fixed WO] the situation becomes worse with each new piece of information or each new development (used, usu. in a dialogue, to express annoyance when news is received of new trouble or new difficulties): it gets ⟨is getting⟩ worse all the time; it gets ⟨is getting⟩ worse by the minute ⟨every minute⟩; it gets ⟨is getting⟩ worse and worse; things are going from bad to worse; it's one thing on top of ⟨after⟩ another.

Нюрок и тут взбеленилась: «…Неужели ты не видишь, что он давно умеет делать, чтобы за него всё делали?.. Он всегда кого-нибудь эксплуатирует — мать, отца, каких-то там приятелей, а прежде всего приятельниц!» Час от часу было не легче. Ирина Викторовна спросила: «Значит, ты меня окунаешь, милая? В действительность?» (Залыгин 1). Niurok lost her temper completely: "…Can't you see he knows how to arrange things so that other people do everything for him?… He's forever exploiting somebody—his mother, his father, his friends, but most of all his girlfriends." It was getting worse all the time. Irina Viktorovna asked, "Giving me a crash course in reality, are you, my dear?" (1a).

Ч-19 • ЧАС ПРО́БИЛ ⟨НАСТА́Л, ПРИШЁЛ⟩ (чей, кого); УДА́РИЛ ЧАС [VP$_{subj}$] the time has arrived (for s.o. to do sth., for sth. important to happen etc): (X-ов) час пробил ≃ X's hour ⟨turn, time⟩ has come; X's ⟨the⟩ hour has struck.

«Дело вот в чём, — начал Иван, чувствуя, что настал его час, — меня в сумасшедшие вырядили, никто не желает меня слушать!..» (Булгаков 9). "The point is this," began Ivan, feeling that his hour had come. "They've rigged me out here as a madman, and no one wants to listen to me!…" (9a).

Ч-20 • ЧЕРЕЗ ⟨В⟩ ЧАС ПО ЧА́ЙНОЙ ЛО́ЖКЕ; ЧЕРЕЗ ⟨В⟩ ЧАС ПО (СТОЛО́ВОЙ) ЛО́ЖКЕ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to do sth.) very slowly or taking an excessively long time (usu. in refer. to an activity that can and should be done more quickly): at a snail's pace; drag sth. out; in dribs and drabs; in driblets.

Библиографию можно было проверить за день, а он тянет уже неделю, делает через час по чайной ложке. The bibliography could have been checked in a day, but he's been at it for a week already, going at a snail's pace.

Ч-21 • ЖДАТЬ ⟨ОЖИДА́ТЬ, ДОЖИДА́ТЬСЯ/ДОЖДА́ТЬСЯ⟩ СВОЕГО́ ЧА́СА [VP; subj: human or, less common, abstr or concr] (of a person) to await the most suitable, opportune time to do sth.; (of a thing—an invention, idea etc) to be held in a state of readiness until a suitable, opportune moment comes: X ждёт своего часа ≃ X is awaiting ⟨waiting for⟩ the proper ⟨right⟩ moment; X is waiting for the time to be right; person X is biding his time; || X дождался своего часа ≃ this is what X has been waiting for.

Всё это, незаконченное, сумбурное, грудами черновиков лежало в бесчисленных папках, ожидая своего часа (Трифонов 1). All of this unfinished muddle lay heaped in draft notebooks inside innumerable folders, awaiting the right moment for completion (1a).

Ч-22 • ПО ЧАСА́М [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. in correspondence with a fixed time schedule: according to schedule; according to a strict timetable; (right) on schedule ⟨on time⟩; by the clock.

Она кормит ребёнка точно по часам. She feeds her baby according to a strict timetable. ♦ Что же бы делали Соня, граф и графиня… ежели бы не было этих пилюль по часам, питья тёпленького, куриной котлетки и всех подробностей жизни, предписанных доктором, соблюдать которые составляло занятие и утешение для окружающих? (Толстой 6). What would Sonya and the Count and Countess have done… had there not been those pills to administer by the clock, the warm drinks, the chicken patties, and all the rest of the regimen prescribed by the doctors, the carrying out of which kept them occupied and provided consolation? (6a).

2. obs [used with impfv verbs] (in refer. to a gradual intensification or diminishing of sth.) constantly over the course of time: with every ⟨each⟩ passing hour; every hour; by the hour; hour by hour.

Ч-23 • НА ЧАСА́Х стоять, быть$_{ø}$ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] to perform the duty of a guard, watch over sth.: X стоит на часах ≃ X stands (on) guard; X keeps ⟨stands⟩ watch.

…Один из юнкеров стоял на часах у двери, не спуская глаз с мотоциклетки у подъезда… (Булгаков 3). A cadet stood on guard at the door keeping constant watch on the motor-cycle and sidecar parked outside… (3a).

Ч-24 • ПО МОЕ́Й ⟨твоей и т.п.⟩ ЧА́СТИ coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr or infin)] sth. pertains to my (your etc) area of expertise, interest, jurisdiction, involvement etc: X по Y-овой части ≃ X is (in) Y's department; X is (right) in Y's line ⟨up Y's alley⟩; X is Y's specialty; || Neg X не по Y-овой части ≃ X is outside Y's province; X is out of Y's line ⟨province⟩; X is off Y's beat; X is not Y's bailiwick.

«Виктор, откупорьте бутылку; это по вашей части» (Тургенев 2). "Victor, uncork a bottle; that's your department" (2f).

Ч-25 • ПО ЧА́СТИ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ чего, less often кого. Also: В ЧА́СТИ [Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] concerning (sth.): as regards; in ⟨with⟩ regard to; with respect to; as far as… goes; in the field ⟨area, realm⟩ of; when it comes to; apropos of; about.

…По части музыкальных инструментов, надо прямо сказать, в Чегеме не густо… (Искандер 3). …As regards musical instruments, it must be plainly stated that Chegem did not have a great variety… (3a).

2. ~ какой (работать, служить, пойти и т.п.) [the resulting PrepP is adv] in some field of knowledge, interest, or in some sphere of activity: in the area ⟨realm, sphere⟩ of; || по торговой ⟨медицинской и т.п.⟩ части ≃ in trade ⟨medicine etc⟩; || по этой ⟨сей⟩ части ≃ in these ⟨such⟩ matters; in this regard; in that department ⟨area, domain⟩.

…Дедушка Рахленко решил пустить его [Якоба] по торговой части (Рыбаков 1). …Grandfather Rakhlenko decided to get him [Jakob] going in trade (1a). ♦ «Хорошо бы ещё и брань запретить, но это, конечно, мечтание. Я и сам бываю по сей части грешен» (Акунин 6). "It would be good to forbid bad language, too, but of course that is only a dream. I myself am guilty in that area" (6a).

Ч-26 • РАЗРЫВА́ТЬСЯ ⟨РВА́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА ЧА́СТИ coll [VP; subj: human] to try frantically to do many things at the same time: X разрывается на части ≃ X is going in ten different directions ⟨trying to do ten (different) things etc⟩ at the same time; X is running around like a madman ⟨a madwoman⟩.

У меня столько дел, что я просто разрываюсь на части. I've got so much to do that I'm running around like a madwoman.

Ч-27 • РВАТЬ ⟨РАЗРЫВА́ТЬ⟩ НА ЧА́СТИ кого coll [VP; subj: human, pl, usu. omitted; usu. 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] (in refer. to many people's simultaneous demands of s.o., invitations to s.o. etc) to besiege s.o. with requests, invitations etc, ask that s.o. provide services to many people at the same time etc: X-а рвут на части ≃ X is being pulled in a thousand ⟨a dozen etc⟩ different directions; they want X to be in five ⟨ten etc⟩ places at the same time; everyone and his brother is making demands on X's time; X is overwhelmed by requests for his services ⟨demands for his services, invitations etc⟩.

Когда он изредка приезжал в родной город, друзья разрывали его на части, наперебой приглашая в гости. When he would return to his hometown for an occasional visit, his friends would pull him in a dozen different directions, all vying for the opportunity to entertain him in their homes. ♦ В нашем городке всего два водопроводчика, их просто рвут на части. There are only two plumbers in our town, and they're overwhelmed by demands for their services.

Ч-28 • В ЧА́СТНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (often parenth)] used to single out and emphasize a specific case, example etc: in particular; particularly; specifically; especially; [lim.] in this ⟨your, his etc⟩ (particular) case.

Поступив на работу в Марфино и узнав, что Рубин, бывший коммунист, всюду похваляется, что остался им в душе, несмотря на посадку, — Мышин вызвал его на беседу о жизни вообще и о совместной работе в частности (Солженицын 3). When he started work in Marfino and learned that Rubin, an ex-Communist, went around boasting that, jail or no jail, he was still a Communist at heart, Myshin had called him in for a talk about life in general and about their future collaboration in particular (3b).

Ч-29 • ИЗБИРА́ТЬ/ИЗБРА́ТЬ БЛАГУ́Ю ЧАСТЬ obs, lit [VP; subj: human] (usu. said sarcastically of a person who chooses the safest, most convenient etc option) to choose the best alternative: X избрал благую часть ≃ X chose the better part.

…Я сказал ему, что мне ужасно нравится его морская жизнь, что он из всех эмигрантов избрал благую часть (Герцен 2). …I told him how immensely I liked his seafaring life, and that of all the exiles he was the one who had chosen the better part (2a).

< From the Biblical account of Christ's visit to Mary and Martha's home. While Martha was busy serving, Mary chose "that good part" and listened to Christ's words (Luke 10:38–42).

Ч-30 • БО́ЛЬШЕЙ ЧА́СТЬЮ; ПО БО́ЛЬШЕЙ ЧА́СТИ [$NP_{instrum}$ or PrepP; these forms only; adv or sent adv (often parenth)] 1. (for) the greatest part, predominantly: for the most part; mostly; [lim.] in most respects; the majority (of); the greater part of.

Крепости выстроены были в местах, признанных удобными, заселены по большей части казаками… (Пушкин 2). Forts were built in convenient locations and settled mostly by Cossacks… (2a).

2. most often, usually: more often than not; most of the time; as a rule; generally; by and large; [lim.] (spend) most of one's time.

…Он по большей части к обеду был несколько навеселе (Герцен 1). …More often than not he was somewhat tipsy by dinner-time (1a). ♦ Пастернак большей частью жил в Переделкине, где я бывал редко (Гладков 1). …Pasternak spent most of his time in Peredelkino, which I visited only rarely (1a).

Ч-31 • С ЧА́СУ НА ЧА́С [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (of sth. that is expected, awaited) (sth. will happen) very soon: any time now; any moment ⟨minute⟩ (now); at any moment (now).

Он был в отлучке, но Обломов ждал его с часу на час (Гончаров 1). He was away, but Oblomov was expecting him back any moment (1a).

2. continuously over the course of time: with each ⟨every⟩ passing hour; by the hour; hour by hour.

Вода продолжала подниматься, и ситуация с часу на час становилась всё более угрожающей. The water continued to rise, and the situation became more and more threatening with each passing hour.

Ч-32 • КАК ЧАСЫ́ работать, действовать coll [как + NP; Invar; adv; more often used with impfv verbs] (to work, run, go) smoothly, with precision: like clockwork; [of a motor, a car etc] (sth.) purrs like a kitten.

Мотор работает как часы. The engine is purring like a kitten.

Ч-33 • ЧАСЫ́ ⟨ЧАС⟩ ПИК [NP; fixed WO] the busiest time(s) of day (for transport, when traffic is heaviest or the crowds are the greatest, or at the workplace, when the workload is heaviest or the level of activity is the greatest): busiest time(s) of (the) day; peak (hour ⟨hours⟩); [in refer. to transport only] rush hour; [in refer. to the workplace only] most hectic ⟨most frantic, craziest etc⟩ time(s) of (the) day.

Был час пик, Анна Андреевна не попала на трамвай, прошла всю дорогу пешком… (Мандельштам 1). She had to go back all the way on foot—it was the rush hour and she could not get on a tram… (1a).

Ч-34 • МИНОВА́ЛА Э́ТА ⟨СИЯ́⟩ ЧА́ША кого lit [VP_{subj}] s.o. has been spared some ordeal, misfortune: X-а миновала эта чаша ≃ this cup has passed from X.

Уже собравшись и купив билет, она [Ахматова] задумалась, стоя у окна. «Молитесь, чтобы вас миновала эта чаша?» — спросил Пунин, умный, жёлчный и блестящий человек (Мандельштам 1). When she [Akhmatova] had packed and bought her ticket, her brilliant, irritable husband Punin asked her, as she stood in thought by a window: "Are you praying that this cup should pass from you?" (1a).

< From the Bible (Matt. 26:39).

Ч-35 • ПО́ЛНАЯ ЧА́ША [NP; sing only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. дом); fixed WO] s.o. has (in s.o.'s house there is) an abundance of everything: (a house) of plenty; (live) in plenty; be ⟨live⟩ in clover; live off the fat of the land; (have) plenty of everything (in the house).

И дом его был полная чаша, и гостей, бывало, полон двор, так что жена его и пять дочерей едва успевали их обслуживать (Искандер 3). His was a house of plenty, and guests used to fill the yard, so that his wife and five daughters could hardly take care of them (3a).

Ч-36 • ЧА́ША чья ПЕРЕПО́ЛНИЛАСЬ; ЧА́ША ⟨МЕ́РА⟩ чьего ТЕРПЕ́НИЯ ПЕРЕПО́ЛНИЛАСЬ all lit [VP_{subj}; the verb may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] s.o. cannot tolerate sth. any longer: X-ова чаша переполнилась ≃ X's patience ran out ⟨was exhausted, reached its limit⟩; thing Y brought X to the limit of X's endurance; thing Y was more than X could bear.

[author's usage] И даже если Лёвина чаша переполнялась от такого глумления, он лишь срывался, как правило, на глупую и позорную грубость… (Битов 2). Even if such desecration brought Lyova to the limit of his endurance, as a rule he merely descended to foolish and ignominious rudeness… (2a).

Ч-37 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ⟩ НА ЧА́ШУ ⟨ЧА́ШКУ⟩ ВЕСО́В что lit [VP; subj: human] (often in refer. to one's professional reputation, authority, the prestige of one's firm etc) to use sth. in the hope of gaining the advantage or a victory in some matter or area: X бросил на чашу весов Y ≃ X used Y in an attempt to tip ⟨tilt⟩ the scale(s) in his favor; X used Y in an attempt to turn the tide in his favor.

Ч-38 • ПЕРЕПОЛНЯ́ТЬ/ПЕРЕПО́ЛНИТЬ ЧА́ШУ (чьего ТЕРПЕ́НИЯ) lit [VP; subj: abstr; usu. pfv; fixed WO] to drive s.o. to the limit of his patience, forbearance: X переполнил чашу Y-ва терпения ≃ X brought Y to the limit of Y's endurance; X was more than Y could bear; X exhausted Y's patience; [lim.] X was the last straw ⟨the straw that broke the camel's back⟩.

…Эти непрошенные крюгеровские последыши казались ему насмешкою судьбы, её намеренной каверзой, и переполняли чашу его терпения (Пастернак 1). These uninvited remnants of Krueger's family seemed to him fate's crowning joke, a deliberate trick, which was more than he could bear (1a).

Ч-39 • ПИТЬ/ИСПИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ПИТЬ, ДОПИ́ТЬ⟩ (ГО́РЬКУЮ) ЧА́ШУ (ДО ДНА); ПИТЬ/ИСПИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ПИТЬ⟩ (ДО ДНА) ГО́РЬКУЮ ⟨ПО́ЛНУЮ⟩ ЧА́ШУ чего all elev [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to endure the full pain and suffering associated with some adverse situation, misfortune etc, suffer a great deal: X испил горькую чашу до дна ≃ X drained ⟨drank⟩ the cup (of misery ⟨grief etc⟩) to the dregs; X drained ⟨drank⟩ the bitter cup; X drank this ⟨that⟩ cup (to the dregs).

«Ты уезжаешь?» Виар смутился: «Да. То есть лично я остаюсь. Я выпью чашу до дна. Но я отправляю картины. Я не вправе рисковать моей коллекцией!» (Эренбург 4). "Are you going away?" he asked. Villard looked embarrassed. "Yes", he said. "That is, personally I'm remaining. I'm going to drain the cup to the dregs. But I'm sending my pictures away. I've got no right to risk my collection" (4a).

< From the Bible (Isa. 51:17).

Ч-40 • ПА́ЧЕ ЧА́ЯНИЯ lit; СВЕРХ ⟨ПРО́ТИВ⟩ ВСЯ́КОГО ЧА́ЯНИЯ lit [AdvP or PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] in opposition to or exceeding what is or would be expected: contrary to (all) expectation(s); against all (one's) expectations; [in refer. to sth. undesirable] God forbid; [lim.] by any chance.

Матушка была ещё мною брюхата, как уже я был записан в Семёновский полк сержантом… Если бы паче всякого чаяния матушка родила дочь, то батюшка объявил бы куда следовало о смерти неявившегося сержанта, и дело тем бы и кончилось (Пушкин 2). I was still in my dear mother's womb when they registered me as a sergeant in the Semenovskii Regiment…. If against all expectations my mother had delivered a baby girl, my father would have simply informed the appropriate authorities that the sergeant could not report for duty because he had died, and that would have been the end of that (2a). …I was enrolled as a sergeant in the Semyonov regiment while still in my mother's womb. Had Mother—God forbid!—given birth to a daughter, Father would have notified the authorities of the death of the sergeant who had failed to report for duty—and that would have been the end of it (2c).

Ч-41 • ДО ЧЕГО́… [Particle; Invar; often used in exclamations] 1. very, extremely: [when foll. by AdjP or AdvP] how…; so…; [when foll. by NP containing a modif] what (a)…

[Ирина:] Милая наша московская квартира, до чего же ты облезлая! (Розов 3). [I.:] Our darling Moscow apartment, how shabby you are! (3a). ♦ До чего умная корова! — и здесь, где скот одичал без выпасов и присмотра… она сама каждый день приходит домой (Распутин 4). What a smart cow!—even here, where the cattle had run wild without pastures or attention…she came home every day on her own (4a).

2. [used with a verb] to a very high degree: so (very) much; how much…; so; so incredibly; how ⟨so⟩ very…; [usu. when the verb is translated by AdjP or Part] how (very); || до чего ты меня напугал ≃ you scared me so badly; you got me so scared; you gave me such a scare.

«Я тебя искал, кулацкое отродье… чтобы сказать, до чего я жалею, что не упёк вас в тридцатом в Сибирь!» (Искандер 5). "I was looking for you, you spawn of a kulak… to say how very sorry I am that I didn't pack you off to Siberia in 1930!" (5a).

3. [used with a verb] (to drive s.o.) to an extreme condition, or (to arrive) at an extreme condition (usu. with the implication that the condition in question is undesirable): до чего X довёл Y-а ≃ what a (sorry) state X has driven Y to; what X has driven Y to; the state X has driven Y to; || до чего X дошёл ≃ what a (sorry) state X ended up in; the state X ended up in; [lim.] to what extent X has gone downhill; how far downhill X has gone; X deteriorated to such an extent that…

Посмотри, до чего ты довёл мать: она из-за тебя сон потеряла. Look what you've driven your mother to, she's lost sleep over you.

Ч-42 • ЕЩЁ ЧЕГО́! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one's rejection of some suggestion or offer, one's refusal to comply with some request, one's total disagreement with sth. etc: what next!; no way!; not on your life!; you've got to be kidding!; that's (asking) too much!; that's all I ⟨we etc⟩ need!

[Таня (вдруг подняв голову):] Перестань глаза таращить, я тебе сказала. [Генадий:] Пойдём посидим во дворе на лавочке. [Таня:] Ещё чего! (Розов 2). [T. (raising her head suddenly):] Stop staring at me like that, I've told you already. [G.:] Let's go out and sit on the bench in the yard. [T.:] What next! (2a).

Ч-43 • НЕ́ ДЛЯ ЧЕГО (кому) что делать coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin)] it would be pointless for s.o. to do (or attempt to do) sth., doing sth. is illogical, unnecessary etc: X-у не для чего делать Y ≃ there's no reason for X to do Y; there's no reason for doing Y; it would make no sense for X to do Y.

«…Если общество устроить нормально, то разом и все преступления исчезнут, так как не для чего будет протестовать, и все в один миг станут праведными» (Достоевский 3). "…If society itself is normally set up, all crimes will at once disappear, because there will be no reason for protesting and everyone will instantly become righteous" (3c).

Ч-44 • НЕ́ С ЧЕГО coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ кому-чему что делать [adv] there is nothing that can cause (s.o. to do sth. or sth. to happen): there is no reason (for sth. to happen ⟨why sth. should happen, that sth. should happen⟩); s.o. has no reason to do sth.; [lim.] s.o. is not going ⟨about⟩ to do sth.; sth. is not going ⟨about⟩ to happen.

Да и не с чего было ей «настоящим образом» проклинать, потому что в последнее время у них не было даже предлогов для столкновения (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). And anyway there was no reason why she should wish to curse him "properly," since latterly there had not been even any pretexts for discord between them (3a).

2. ~ жить (кому) [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: жить)] (to be) without money or any means to feed and support o.s., one's family etc: X-у было не с чего жить ≃ X had nothing to live on; X had no money to put food on the table.

Ч-45 • С ЧЕГО́ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used in questions and subord clauses] for what reason, on what grounds: why; what for; what makes him ⟨her etc⟩ (do sth.); what makes that happen; how come; what could have caused that.

[Соня:] А ты, дядя Ваня, опять напился с доктором. Подружились ясные соколы. Ну, тот уж всегда такой, а ты-то с чего? В твои годы это совсем не к лицу. (Чехов 3). [S.:] Drinking with the doctor again, Uncle Vanya. A fine pair you make. He's always been like that, but why you? It's not particularly attractive at your age (3b).

Ч-46 • ЧЕГО́ РА́ДИ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] for what reason (often used in questions to express the speaker's bewilderment, annoyance etc): what for?; why (on earth)?; why should…?; what's the point of…?

[Тригорин:] Сын [Аркадиной] ведёт себя крайне бестактно. То стрелялся, а теперь, говорят, собирается меня на дуэль вызвать… А чего ради? (Чехов 6). [T.:] Her [Arkadina's] son is behaving most tactlessly. First he shoots himself, and now they say he's going to challenge me to a duel. And what for? (6a).

Ч-47 • ЧЕГО́ ⟨ЧЕГО́-ЧЕГО́⟩ ТО́ЛЬКО нет у кого, где; ЧЕГО́ ТО́ЛЬКО… не [subj/gen (1st var.) or obj of a negated verb (2nd var.); fixed WO] s.o. has or in some place there is a great variety and/or a great abundance of things; one does a great variety of things: у X-а ⟨в месте Y⟩ чего только нет ≃ X ⟨place Y⟩ has (just about) everything under the sun; you name it, X ⟨place Y⟩ has (got) it; you name it, it's there ⟨here⟩; X wants for ⟨lacks⟩ nothing; X has anything and everything you'd ever want; || чего только Z не придумывал ⟨не пробовал, не насмотрелся и т.п.⟩ ≃ the things Z has thought up ⟨tried, seen etc⟩; you name it, Z has thought it up ⟨tried it, seen it etc⟩; there's nothing Z hasn't thought up ⟨tried, seen etc⟩.

…Автолавка — это тебе не камни и не травы какие-то. Чего там только нет, в автолавке! (Айтматов 1). …The mobile shop wasn't a collection of stones or some species of grass. It had just about everything under the sun, that mobile shop! (1b).

Ч-48 • КО́НЧЕНЫЙ ЧЕЛОВЕ́К [NP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who has lost interest in life, is doomed, has no future: X — конченый человек ≃ X is finished ⟨cooked, done (for)⟩; X is a goner ⟨a dead duck, a toast, history⟩.

«Ведь случись скандал, он конченый человек. Я британские обычаи знаю — в обществе ему никто руки не подаст, хоть обвесься орденами с головы до ног» (Акунин 5). "After all, if there is a scandal, he's finished. I know how the British are about such things—no one in society will ever offer him their hand again, even if he is covered with medals from head to foot" (5a).

Ч-49 • ЛИ́ШНИЙ ЧЕЛОВЕ́К [NP; fixed WO] in 19th-cent. Russian literature, a character who is unable to apply his talents, who finds himself in a state of discord with the surrounding world etc: superfluous man.

< The phrase became current after the publication of Ivan Turgenev's Diary of a Superfluous Man («Дневник лишнего человека»), 1850.

Ч-50 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ ЧЕЛОВЕ́К coll [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom or instrum (subj: human), or obj-compl with считать (obj: human); fixed WO] an inferior, insignificant person who has no status or power in society or the workplace: the lowest of the low; a (real) nothing; [lim.] low man on the totem pole.

Я ни во что не ставлю русскую эмиграцию, считаю их последними людьми, жалкими, нелепыми… (Лимонов 1). I think very little of the Russian emigration, I consider them the lowest of the low, pathetic, absurd… (1a).

Ч-51 • ЧЕЛОВЕ́К В ФУТЛЯ́РЕ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a person who immerses himself in narrow-minded interests, who is afraid of anything new, who isolates himself from the outside world: man (who lives) in a cocoon ⟨a shell⟩.

< Title of a short story by Anton Chekhov, 1898, commonly translated as "The Man in a Case" or "The Man in a Shell."

Ч-52 • ЧЕЛОВЕ́К НАСТРОЕ́НИЯ [NP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a person whose actions are determined by his moods: man ⟨woman, person⟩ of many moods.

Ч-53 • ЧЕЛОВЕ́К ПРЕДПОЛАГА́ЕТ, А БОГ РАСПОЛАГА́ЕТ [saying] people may make plans, but it is God or fate that determines whether those plans will be realized (usu. said when a person's life does not turn out the way he had hoped or expected): ≃ man proposes, (but) God disposes.

«Шесть лет и семь месяцев я жил в городе у сапожного мастера, и хозяин любил меня. Он сказал: „Карл хороший работник, и скоро он будет моим Geselle [подмастерьем]!", но… человек предполагает, а бог располагает… в 1796 году была назначена Conscription [рекрутский набор], и все, кто мог служить, от восемнадцати до двадцать первого года должны были собраться в город» (Толстой 2). "For six years and seven months I lived in town at the cobbler's and my master liked me. He said: 'Karl is a good workman and soon he will be my Geselle!' but… man proposes, God disposes… in seventeen ninety-six conscription was introduced and all who could serve and were between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one had to gather in the town" (2b).

Ч-54 • ЧЕЛОВЕ́К СЛО́ВА [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human), or appos; fixed WO] a person who honors his promises, does what he pledges to do: X — человек слова ≃ X is a man of his word ⟨a woman of her word⟩; X is as good as his word; X (always) keeps his word.

«Сумму запрашивает немалую, но ведь и сделает в срок — человек слова» (Акунин 3). "The amount he is asking is certainly not small, but then he will do the work on time—he is a man of his word" (3a).

Ч-55 • НЕ СЧИТА́ТЬ ЗА ЧЕЛОВЕ́КА кого coll [VP; subj: human] to have an extremely low opinion of s.o. and consider him unworthy of being called a human being: X Y-а за человека не считает ≃ X doesn't consider Y a person.

«Ты думаешь, ты любишь?! Как же! Да ты за человека никого не считаешь» (Битов 2). "You think you love? Sure! But you don't consider anyone a person" (2a).

Ч-56 • ЧТОБЫ УЗНА́ТЬ ЧЕЛОВЕ́КА, НА́ДО С НИМ ПУД СО́ЛИ СЪЕСТЬ [saying] in order to know a person well, you must spend a great deal of time with him: ≃ you must eat a peck of salt with someone before you know him; you have to winter and summer with people to know them; [lim.] before you choose a friend, eat a bushel of salt with him; eat a peck of salt with a man before you trust him.

Ч-57 • ЧЕЛОВЕ́КУ СВО́ЙСТВЕННО ОШИБА́ТЬСЯ lit [saying] we all make mistakes – it is human nature to do so: ≃ to err is human; nobody is infallible ⟨perfect⟩; no man is wise at all times.

< Translaton of the Latin errare humanum est. A longer English version, first used by Alexander Pope (1688–1744), "to err is human, to forgive divine," has been given a humorous twist in the more contemporary versions, for example, "to err is human, but to really foul things up requires ⟨you need⟩ a computer."

Ч-58 • БИТЬ ⟨УДАРЯ́ТЬ/УДА́РИТЬ⟩ ЧЕЛО́М obs, now used in stylized speech [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (кому) to bow respectfully when greeting s.o. (often as a sign of deference, subordination): X бил челом Y-у ≃ X bowed low to Y; X bowed humbly before Y.

2. ~ кому to request (sth.) respectfully and deferentially: X бил челом Y-у ≃ X humbly implored ⟨begged⟩ Y; X asked Y most humbly; X made (a) humble petition to Y.

[Хлестаков:] А что вы, любезные? [Купцы:] Челом бьём вашей милости. [Хлестаков:] А что вам угодно? (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] What is it, my good fellows? [Merchants:] We make humble petition to Your Grace. [Kh.:] Well, and what do you want? (4b).

3. ~ (кому) на кого to complain to s.o. (in a position of authority) about another person's wrongdoings: X челом бил Y-у на Z-а ≃ X made humble petition to Y against Z; X lodged a complaint (to Y) against Z.

[Скотинин:] Сколько меня соседи ни обижали, сколько убытку ни делали, я ни на кого не бил челом… (Фонвизин 1). [S.:] No matter how much my neighbors have offended me, no matter how many losses they've caused me, I've not lodged a complaint against anyone… (1a).

4. ~ кому за что to express profound gratitude: X бил челом Y-у ≃ X bowed low ⟨bowed down⟩ to Y in gratitude; X offered Y humble thanks.

Ч-59 • ЧЕ́ЛЮСТЬ ОТВИ́СЛА ⟨ОТВАЛИ́ЛАСЬ⟩ у кого highly coll [VP_{subj}] s.o.'s face shows astonishment, s.o. gapes in amazement: у X-а отвисла челюсть ≃ X's jaw dropped; X's mouth fell ⟨dropped, hung⟩ open.

…Мерзавцы не давали Тане и рта раскрыть. Наконец она стряхнула руку «Ходока» со своего бедра и небрежно щёлкнула его по носу. У обоих… челюсти отвисли (Аксёнов 7). …Tanya had still not been able to get a word in edgewise. At last she brushed Stud's hand off her thigh and gave him a punch in the nose. Both men's jaws dropped (7a).

Ч-60 • НИ ПРИ ЧЁМ[1] (тут, здесь) coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$] 1. [subj: human or collect] a person or group is not involved in the matter at hand (often implies that the person or group in question is not guilty in the given matter): X (тут) ни при чём ≃ X has nothing to do with it (at all); X doesn't come into it at all; X plays no part in it; [lim.] it's not X's fault ⟨doing etc⟩; X is not responsible ⟨at fault etc⟩.

«Ах, вы считаете, что во всём виновата я? А ваш Виктор был ни при чём?» (Трифонов 4). "Ah, you consider me guilty for everything? And your Viktor had nothing to do with it?" (4a).

2. [subj: concr or abstr] sth. has no relevance to the matter or topic at hand: X (тут) ни при чём ≃ X has nothing to do with it ⟨sth.⟩ (at all); X is irrelevant ⟨unrelated, beside the point⟩.

…[Мадлена] сочинила роман под названием «Клелия (Римская история)». Римская история была в нём, собственно, ни при чём. Изображены были под видом римлян видные парижане (Булгаков 5). …[Madeleine] composed a novel she titled Clélie, A Roman Story. Properly speaking, Rome had nothing to do with the story at all. Under the guise of Romans, the novel depicted eminent Parisians (5a).

Ч-61 • НИ ПРИ ЧЁМ[2] остаться coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with остаться (subj: human)] one is left without anything at all, usu. without having attained sth. desired or expected: X остался ни при чём ≃ X was left with nothing; X was left out in the cold.

Всем дали премии, а я снова остался ни при чём. Everybody else got a bonus, but again I was left with nothing.

Ч-62 • НИ С ЧЕМ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. остаться, оставить кого ~ [subj-compl with остаться (subj: human) or obj-compl with оставить (obj: human)] (to end up or leave s.o.) without any money or means of subsistence: (be left ⟨leave s.o.⟩) with nothing; (leave s.o.) nothing; (be left ⟨leave s.o.⟩) penniless.

[Анна Петровна:] Как бы папенька-то твой не мотал без памяти, так бы другое дело было, а то оставил нас почти ни с чем (Островский 1). [A.P.:] If only your papa hadn't spent his money like water, then everything'd be different. As it is, he left us almost nothing at all (1a).

2. остаться, уйти, уехать, вернуться и т.п. ~ [subj-compl with остаться etc (subj: human); more often used with pfv verbs] (to end up, go away, come back etc) without what one had hoped to attain, not having achieved the desired results: with nothing; empty-handed; (be left) high and dry; without having achieved ⟨accomplished⟩ anything; [lim.] nothing comes out of it.

Приходил, чтобы поговорить о хозяйстве, потолковать. Ушёл ни с чем (Пильняк 1). He came to have a word about the housekeeping, to have a chat. He went away with nothing (1a). ♦ …Барышников забрала милиция, и Сударь, приехав в субботу к условленному месту, остался ни с чем (Семёнов 1). …The police rounded up the middlemen and Squire, arriving at his customary spot, was left high and dry (1a).

Ч-63 • ПРЕ́ЖДЕ ⟨РА́НЬШЕ⟩ ЧЕМ; ПРЕ́ЖДЕ НЕ́ЖЕЛИ lit [subord Conj, temporal] used to show that what is stated in the main clause precedes what is stated in the subordinate clause: before.

«Мы привыкли к тому, что римский прокуратор выбирает слова, прежде чем что-нибудь сказать» (Булгаков 9). "We are accustomed to having the Roman procurator choose his words carefully before he speaks" (9c).

Ч-64 • ПРИ ЧЁМ (тут ⟨здесь⟩) coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: any noun); used in questions, exclamations, and subord clauses] what relationship the person, thing etc in question has to the matter at hand: при чём (тут) X? ≃ what does X have ⟨what has X got⟩ to do with it?; what's all this about X?

[Бусыгин:] Ты что, не видишь, что с пацаном делается из-за этой женщины? [Сильва:] А я-то тут при чём? Вампилов 4). [B.:] Can't you see what's happening to the kid because of that woman? [S.:] But what have I got to do with it? (4b).

Ч-65 • ЧЕМ НЕ… coll [Invar; used (with NP that follows it) as indep. sent, usu. as a rhet question or exclamation] the person (thing etc) named has all or most of the qualities, characteristics to qualify him (it etc) as a member of the category to which he (it etc) is said to belong: (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) is nothing short of a [NP]; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) is a perfectly good [NP]; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) is a regular [NP]; how's that for a [NP]?

Приезжай отдыхать к нам. У нас тут и речка, и песчаный пляж — чем не курорт! Come vacation at our place. We've got a stream and a sandy beach—it's nothing short of a resort! ♦ Слушали: «О неправильном поведении председателя правления Б.А. Турганова». Постановили: «Предложить тов. Турганову письменно до 22 мая объяснить свои действия. До представления письменных объяснений и их рассмотрения отстранить Б.А. Турганова от обязанностей председателя правления»… Чем вам не процесс импичмента? (Войнович 3). Discussed: Board Chairman B.A. Turganov's irregular conduct. Resolved: Comrade Turganov required to explain his actions in writing by May 22. Until presentation of the written explanations and their examination, B.A. Turganov to be relieved of his duties as board chairman…. How's that for an impeachment process? (3a).

Ч-66 • ЧЕМ… ТЕМ… [subord Conj, correlative; used with compar forms of Adj or Adv] used to show that the action in the second clause develops proportionally to the action in the first clause in terms of intensity: the… the…

Чем больше он думал обо всём этом, тем меньше он во всём этом разбирался (Гроссман 2). The more he thought about it all, the less he understood (2a).

Ч-67 • СИДЕ́ТЬ НА ЧЕМОДА́НАХ ⟨НА УЗЛА́Х⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to be waiting to leave, having already packed one's luggage: X сидит на чемоданах ≃ X has his bags packed and ready to go; X is packed and ready to go; X is waiting with his bags packed; [lim.] X is sitting on his suitcase(s).

Мы уже сидели на чемоданах, но заболела мама и поездку к морю пришлось отложить. We were all packed and ready to go, but Mom got sick and our trip to the sea had to be postponed.

Ч-68 • К ЧЕМУ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used in questions and subord clauses (often without a verb)] 1. for what purpose: what for?; whatever for?; what's the use ⟨the point⟩ (of…)?; [lim.] why (on earth)?; || к чему этот разговор ⟨к чему вы мне это говорите и т.п.⟩? ≃ what are you driving at?; what is (all) this leading to?

[Беляев:] Отдайте ей эту записку и скажите… Нет, не говорите ей ничего. К чему? (Тургенев 1). [B.:] Give her this note and tell her—No, don't tell her anything. What's the use? (1b).

2. what the significance or possible consequences of sth. are: к чему (бы) это? ≃ what could that mean?; why should this ⟨that⟩ be?

«У нас мулица ожеребилась… К чему бы это?»… — «Не положено по природе. Хотим узнать, что предзнаменует» (Искандер 5). "Our mule has foaled…. Why should this be?"… "It's not supposed to happen in nature. We want to find out what it portends" (5a).

Ч-69 • НЕ́ К ЧЕМУ (кому) coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin)] it would be pointless for s.o. to do sth. because no advantage would come of it, nothing would be achieved by it etc: делать X (Y-y) не к чему ≃ there is no point ⟨sense⟩ in (Y's) doing X; it makes no sense (for Y) to do X; there is no need ⟨reason⟩ (for Y) to do X; it's useless (for Y) (to do X); [when used as indep. remark only] (there's) no need for that.

[Терентий:] Не станем мы вместе с тобой в кино ходить, батя. (Отдаёт ему билеты.) Не к чему (Арбузов 2). [T.:] Dad, we are not going to the cinema together. (Returns the tickets to him.) There is no point… (2a).

Ч-70 • НИ К ЧЕМУ́ coll [Invar] 1. (кому) [subj-compl with copula (subj: any noun, most often concr)] a thing (or, less often, a person or group) is not needed by s.o., cannot be used by s.o. (and, therefore, s.o. does not want to deal with it or him): X Y-y ни к чему ≃ X is of no ⟨isn't of any⟩ use to Y; X isn't (of) much use to Y; Y has no use for X; Y has no need of ⟨for⟩ X; [lim.] X won't help; thing X won't do any good.

«Ведь ему безразлично, покойнику, — шёпотом сипел Коровьев, — ему теперь, сами согласитесь, Никанор Иванович, квартира эта ни к чему?» (Булгаков 9). "After all, it is all the same to him—to the dead man," Koroviev hissed in a loud whisper. "You will agree yourself, Nikanor Ivanovich, that he has no use for the apartment now?" (9a)

2. [subj-compl with copula (subj: infin, deverbal noun, or это)] some action is unnecessary, useless, futile: делать X ни к чему ≃ there's no point ⟨sense⟩ in doing X; (there's) no need to do X; it's pointless to do X; there's little use doing X; [in limited contexts] doing X isn't doing ⟨won't do⟩ (person Y) any good.

Продолжать этот разговор было ни к чему (Распутин 2). There was no point in continuing the conversation (2a).

3. [adv] without reason or cause: for no (good) reason; for no apparent reason; to no purpose.

И ни к чему, некстати — у меня вырвалось (если бы я удержался): «А скажите: вам когда-нибудь случалось пробовать никотин или алкоголь?» (Замятин 1). And inappropriately, to no purpose, the words broke out (if I had only restrained myself!): "Tell me, have you ever tasted nicotine or alcohol?" (1a).

Ч-71 • ЗАМОРИ́ТЬ ЧЕРВЯЧКА́ ⟨ЧЕРВЯКА́ obs⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to alleviate one's hunger by having a little something to eat: X заморил червячка ≃ X took the edge off his hunger; X had a snack ⟨a bite to eat⟩.

Заморив червячка, мы опять разговорились о разных вещах (Кожевников 1). After we'd had a snack, we talked about different things (1a).

Ч-72 • СВОЙМ ЧЕРЕДО́М идти, пойти, течь и т.п. coll; СВОЕ́Й ЧЕРЕДО́Й obs [NP$_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (usu. of life, a course of events etc) (to go etc) the same way as previously, following the normal routine: (take ⟨resume⟩) its normal ⟨usual⟩ course; (go ⟨go on⟩) as usual ⟨as always, the same as usual, the same as always, just as before⟩; [lim.] (run) its course; (proceed) according to plan; (be) business as usual.

«Антон, — сказал дон Кондор. — Во вселенной тысячи планет, куда мы ещё не пришли и где история идёт своим чередом» (Стругацкие 4). "Anton," said Don Kondor, "there are thousands of other planets in the universe which we have not yet visited and where history runs its course" (4a).

Ч-73 • КАК ЧЕРЕПА́ХА идти, ехать, плестись, тащиться coll [как + NP; adv] (usu. of a person or vehicle) (to go, trudge along etc) very slowly: (creep along) at a snail's pace; (move ⟨be⟩) as slow as a turtle ⟨tortoise, snail⟩; [lim.] drag one's feet.

Ч-74 • Э́ТО УЖЕ́ ⟨УЖ⟩ ЧЕРЕСЧУ́Р!; (УЖ) Э́ТО ЧЕРЕСЧУ́Р! all coll [Interj or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin or a clause); fixed WO] (of sth. mentioned or implied) this exceeds the limits of the permissible, goes beyond accepted norms: that's (really) too much; that's a bit (too) much!; that would be (rather) too much!; that's ⟨this is⟩ going too far!; [lim.] this is really pushing it!

«Поехал туда, напился и теперь оттуда телеграфирует!» — «Ну, уж это чересчур, — дёргаясь щекой, ответил Римский, и в глазах его горела настоящая тяжёлая злоба, — ну что ж, дорого ему эта прогулка обойдётся…» (Булгаков 9). "He must have gone there, had too much to drink, and started sending us telegrams!" "This is really too much," replied Rimsky, his cheek twitching and his eyes blazing with real fury. "Well, he'll play a heavy price for this little jaunt!…" (9c).

Ч-75 • НАЗЫВА́ТЬ/НАЗВА́ТЬ ЧЁРНОЕ БЕ́ЛЫМ (И БЕ́ЛОЕ ЧЁРНЫМ) ⟨БЕ́ЛОЕ ЧЁРНЫМ (И ЧЁРНОЕ БЕ́ЛЫМ)⟩; ВЫДАВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ДАТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ ЧЁРНОЕ ЗА БЕ́ЛОЕ (И БЕ́ЛОЕ ЗА ЧЁРНОЕ) ⟨БЕ́ЛОЕ ЗА ЧЁРНОЕ (И ЧЁРНОЕ ЗА БЕ́ЛОЕ)⟩ [VP; subj: human] to interpret, represent, or perceive sth. as the opposite of what it really is: X называет чёрное белым ⟨принимает чёрное за белое (и белое за чёрное) и т.п.⟩ ≃ X calls black white (and white black); X says ⟨swears⟩ that black is white (and white is black); X sees ⟨presents⟩ black as white (and white as black); X sees a negative as a positive (and a positive as a negative).

Ч-76 • ЧЁРНЫМ ПО БЕ́ЛОМУ написано, напечатано и т.п. [Invar; adv; more often used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] (written, printed etc) very clearly and unambiguously: stated ⟨laid out etc⟩) in the clearest possible terms; (stated etc) in no uncertain terms.

Ч-77 • КАК ЧЁРТ ⟨ЧЕ́РТИ⟩ злой, усталый и т.п. coll [как + NP; nom only; modif or adv (intensif)] (of a person) extremely (angry, tired etc): as hell; || X злой как чёрт ≃ X is fuming (mad); X is mad as a hornet; X is as bad-

tempered as the devil; X is in a filthy temper; || X устал как чёрт ≃ X is dead on his feet; X is dead beat.

Ещё за дверью я услышал, что они о чём-то спорят, а когда вошёл, увидел, что Мишка зол, как чёрт, и у Нины красные пятна на лице (Аржак 2). I had heard them arguing about something while I was still outside and when I went in I saw that Mishka looked as angry as hell and that Nina had red blotches on her cheeks (2a).

Ч-78 • КАК ЧЁРТ ЛА́ДАНА боя́ться кого-чего coll [как + NP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to fear s.o. or sth.) very intensely: like the devil fears holy water.

Хорошего администратора из меня не выйдет: боюсь ответственности как чёрт ладана. I would never make a good administrator: I fear responsibility like the devil fears holy water.

Ч-79 • КАК ЧЁРТ ОТ ЛА́ДАНА бежа́ть, бега́ть, убега́ть от кого-чего и т.п. coll [как + NP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to run or keep away from s.o. or sth.) trying to avoid him or it by all possible means: (flee sth.) like the devil flees incense; run from sth. like the devil (runs) from holy water; (avoid s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) like the plague.

Ч-80 • КОЙ ⟨КАКО́Й⟩ ЧЁРТ highly coll, rude [NP; these forms only] 1. [usu. used as subj] used to express irritation, annoyance: why ⟨what, who⟩ the devil ⟨the hell⟩; what in hell.

…То, что он участок свой загубил, это пострашнее всего. Да, загубил. Кой чёрт уродится, ежели уже трава выросла, а поле ещё не пахано! (Абрамов 1). …That he had ruined his own plot—that was the most terrible thing. Yes, ruined it. What the hell was going to grow if the grass was up already and the field hadn't even been plowed yet? (1a).

2. [Interj] said with aggravation to express disagreement with or a denial of sth. stated previously (the word or phrase disagreed with or denied is usu. repeated after the idiom): like hell; what the hell are you talking about, …; what the hell do you mean by…

«Ты что здесь делаешь?» — спросил дядя Кязым у Кунты. «А ты что, тоже заблудился?» — ответил Кунта вопросом на вопрос. «Кой чёрт я заблудился, — отвечал ему дядя Кязым, — я в собственном сарае…» (Искандер 4). "What are you doing here?" Uncle Kyazym asked Kunta. "Why, are you lost too?" Kunta said, answering a question with a question. "Like hell I'm lost," Uncle Kyazym replied. "I'm in my own barn…" (4a).

Ч-81 • НА КОЙ ЧЁРТ ⟨ДЬЯ́ВОЛ, ЛЕ́ШИЙ, ФИГ, БЕС⟩; НА ЧЁРТА ⟨НА ФИГА́⟩; КАКО́ГО ФИГА́; НА ⟨ДЛЯ⟩ КАКО́ГО ЧЁРТА ⟨ДЬЯ́ВОЛА⟩; НА (КАКО́ГО) ШУ́ТА; ЗА КАКИ́М ЧЁРТОМ ⟨ДЬЯ́ВОЛОМ, ЛЕ́ШИМ, БЕ́СОМ⟩ all highly coll, often rude; НА КОЙ ПЁС ⟨ЛЯД, ПРАХ⟩ substand [PrepP; these forms only; adv] why, for what reason (usu. used to express annoyance or irritation; occas. used to express indifference): why ⟨how etc⟩ the hell ⟨the devil, the heck, the dickens⟩; what the hell ⟨the devil⟩ (for); why in blazes; the devil (only) knows why ⟨what for⟩; why ⟨how etc⟩ the hell ⟨the heck, on earth, in the world⟩.

«Лев Григорьич!.. Зачем вы ходите по вечерам? Что вам тут делать?.. Да на кой чёрт нам тут ещё филологи! Ха-ха-ха!.. Ведь вы же не инженер!» (Солженицын 3). "Lev Grigorich!… Why come here nights? What is there for you to do here?… What the hell do we need philologists for! Ha, ha, ha!… After all, you're no engineer!" (3a).

Ч-82 • НЕ ТАК СТРА́ШЕН ЧЁРТ, КАК ЕГО́ МАЛЮ́ЮТ [saying] although the person, place, phenomenon etc in question is bad, he or it is not so terrible as he or it seems to be or is said to be (usu. said to hearten s.o. who fears some new place, some unfamiliar circumstances, some person in a position of power etc; also used to describe one's experiences at such a place, in such a circumstance, or with such a person; occas. used in response to another's attempt to intimidate one): ≃ the devil is not so ⟨as⟩ black as he is painted.

Густой… туман стоял над Эльгеном, когда наши машины въехали на его главную магистраль… Мимо нас, по направлению к лагерю, шли длинные вереницы «работяг», окружённых конвоирами… «Да не сокрушайтесь сильно-то… Эльген да Эльген… Не так страшен чёрт, как его малюют» (Гинзбург 1). Elgen was covered with thick mist as we drove along its main thoroughfare…. Long lines of workers, surrounded by guards, filed past us on their way to camp…. "Don't get too down-hearted. We're at Elgen all right but the devil isn't always as black as he's painted" (1a).

Ч-83 • НИ ОДИ́Н ЧЁРТ highly coll [NP; nom sing only; subj; used with negated verbs] absolutely no one: not a (living) soul; not one person ⟨one of them etc⟩.

Гнали письма в единственную отдушину, через смутную Польшу (ни один чёрт не знал, кстати говоря, что в ней творится и что это за такая новая страна — Польша) в Германию… (Булгаков 3). They sent off letters through the only escape-hole across turbulent, insecure Poland (not one of them, incidentally, had the slightest idea what was going on there or even what sort of place this new country—Poland—was) to Germany… (3a).

Ч-84 • ОДИ́Н ЧЁРТ ⟨ФИГ⟩ highly coll [NP; Invar] 1. [usu. subj-compl with быть$_ø$ (subj: usu. two or more clauses or abstr NPs)] two or more phenomena (notions etc) are exactly identical: X и Y — один чёрт ≃ X and Y are the same damned thing.

«…Которые в бога не веруют, ну те о социализме и об анархизме заговорят, о переделке всего человечества по новому штату, так ведь это один же чёрт выйдет, всё те же вопросы, только с другого конца» (Достоевский 1). "…Those who do not believe in God, well, they will talk about socialism and anarchism, about transforming the whole of mankind according to a new order, but it's the same damned thing, the questions are all the same, only from the other end" (1a).

2. (кому) [subj-compl with быть$_ø$ (subj: usu. это or a clause) or impers predic with быть$_ø$] (the difference, if any, between two or more expressed or implied options is) unimportant or of little or no significance (to s.o.): (X-у) один чёрт ≃ it doesn't make a damn bit of difference (to X); it doesn't matter one damn bit (to X); it doesn't damn well make any difference (to X); X doesn't give a damn; it comes to the same damn thing.

Он быстро брился, включив газовую колонку и полоская кисточку под горячей струёй, потом мыл лицо над старым, пожелтевшим, с отбитым краем умывальником — его давно полагалось сменить, но Фандеевым один чёрт, над каким умывальником мыться, а Ираида Васильевна жалела деньги… (Трифонов 4). He shaved quickly, turning on the water heater and rinsing the brush under the hot stream, then washed his face over the old yellowed washstand with the broken corner—it was supposed to have been replaced a long time ago, but the Fandeevs didn't give a damn what kind of washstand they washed up over, and Iraida Vasilievna begrudged the money… (4a).

Ч-85 • (САМ) ЧЁРТ НЕ БРА́Т кому coll [VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_ø$; usu. pres] (in refer. to s.o. who acts with extreme independence, daring, audacity etc) nothing frightens s.o., s.o. boldly takes on any task, challenge, opponent etc, no one can compete with or intimidate s.o. (in the named area): сам чёрт Х-у не брат ≃ the devil himself is ⟨would be⟩ no match for X; X would take on the devil himself.

…В центре круга Диана отплясывала с тем самым желтолицым пижоном, обладателем орлиного профиля. У неё горели глаза, горели щёки, волосы летали над плечами, и чёрт был ей не брат (Стругацкие 1). In the center of the circle Diana was engaged in a wild dance with the sallow-faced fop, the owner of the eagle's profile. Her eyes burned, her cheeks burned, her hair flew above her shoulders, the devil himself was no match for her (1a).

Ч-86 • САМ ЧЁРТ ⟨НИ ОДИ́Н ЧЁРТ, И ЧЁРТ⟩ не разберёт, не поймёт coll [NP; nom sing only; subj] no one (will understand sth.), it is absolutely impossible (to make sth. out): the devil himself (couldn't figure sth. out ⟨would be hard put to know sth. etc⟩.

«Сам чёрт не разберёт, кто тут плохой, кто хороший…» (Гинзбург 2). "The devil himself would be hard put to know who's good and who's bad around here" (2a).

Ч-87 • (САМ) ЧЁРТ НО́ГУ ⟨ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ СЛО́МИТ (в чём, где) coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; fixed WO] some matter is so convoluted, intricate, or confused that it is impossible to understand, make sense of, or clarify it: сам чёрт ногу сломит (в Х-е) ≃ it ⟨X⟩ could trip up the devil himself; the devil himself would be stumped ⟨at a loss⟩; s.o. would have the devil's own time with X ⟨trying to make sense of X⟩.

Анкеты бывают разные. Бывают попроще, бывают потруднее, а бывают такие, что чёрт ногу сломит (Войнович 1). There are various types of questionnaires. Some are a bit easier than others, some a bit more difficult; then there are those that could trip up the devil himself (1a).

Ч-88 • ТЬФУ ⟨ФУ⟩ ТЫ ЧЁРТ ⟨ПРО́ПАСТЬ⟩!; ТЬФУ ЧЁРТ ⟨ПРО́ПАСТЬ⟩! all highly coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express vexation, annoyance: (well,) what the hell ⟨the devil⟩!; to ⟨the⟩ hell with it!; damn it (all)!

«Фу ты, чёрт! как красиво и как глупо! Экую мы комедию отломали! Учёные собаки так на задних лапах танцуют. А отказать было невозможно; ведь он меня, чего доброго, ударил бы, и тогда… (Базаров побледнел при одной этой мысли; вся его гордость так и поднялась на дыбы.) Тогда пришлось бы задушить его, как котёнка» (Тургенев 2). "Damn it all! So elegant and so stupid! What a farce we've just acted! That's how trained dogs dance on their hind legs. But it was impossible to refuse; he'd have thrashed me, and then… [Bazarov grew pale at the very thought of it, all his pride suddenly rearing up.] Then I'd have had to strangle him like a little kitten" (2g).

Ч-89 • ЧЕМ ЧЁРТ НЕ ШУ́ТИТ [saying] all kinds of things could happen, anything can happen (used to express the fear that sth. bad might happen, or the hope that sth. desirable but unlikely will happen): ≃ (there's) no telling what could ⟨might⟩ happen; you can never tell what might happen; you never can tell; you never know your luck; stranger things have happened; anything's possible.

Теперь мне светила вполне определённая цель — предложить эту рукопись толстым журналам. Может быть, «Юности», где я уже печатала свои очерки? Или — чем чёрт не шутит! — даже «Новому миру», где уже появился к тому времени «Иван Денисович»? (Гинзбург 2). I had assigned myself a specific aim: to offer the manuscript to the major journals. Perhaps to Yunost, where I had already published some of my pieces. Or—you never know your luck—even to Novy Mir, which by that time had already published Ivan Denisovich (2a).

< Abbreviated form of the saying «Чем чёрт не шутит, пока ⟨когда⟩ Бог спит» ("The devil plays all kinds of tricks while God is asleep").

Ч-90 • ЧЁРТ В СТУ́ПЕ obs [NP; sing only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. это) or obj of наговорить, наобещать etc] words (statements etc) devoid of logic, meaning, common sense etc: balderdash; poppycock; tommyrot; nonsense.

«Тебе не легко будет сообщить им [родителям] это известие [об отъезде]. Они всё рассуждают о том, что мы через две недели делать будем». — «Не легко. Чёрт меня дёрнул сегодня подразнить отца… Он очень сконфузился, а теперь мне придётся вдобавок его огорчить…» (Тургенев 2). "You're not going to find it easy to break it [the news of your leaving] to them [your parents]. They are always discussing what we are going to do in two weeks' time." "No, it won't be easy. The Devil got into me today to annoy Father…. He was quite overcome, and now I shall have to disappoint him into the bargain" (2e). "It won't be easy to break the news to them. They talk all the time about what we'll be doing two weeks from now." "It won't be easy. I don't know what possessed me to tease my father today… He was very embarrassed; now it turns out I'll have to upset him again" (2g).

Мне позвонил пьяный Олеша и долго плакался по телефону, что всё до чёрта надоело (Мандельштам 2). The drunken Olesha telephoned me and bewailed the whole business at great length, saying he was sick to death of everything (2a).

2. ~ кого-чего (где, у кого). Also: ДО ФИГА́ ⟨ДО ХРЕНА́⟩ highly coll [usu. quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun)] (s.o. has or in some place there is) a very large or excessive quantity (of people, some category of people, things etc) or a very large or excessive amount (of some substance, some quality etc): X-ов (у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩) было до чёрта ≃ there are ⟨Y has⟩ a hell of a lot ⟨a helluva lot, tons etc⟩ of Xs; there are Xs galore (in place Z); (place Z is) packed ⟨crammed⟩ with Xs.

«Наука о происхождении и эволюции человека». — «Биология?» — «Тут букв до фига…» — «Не сообразишь сразу…» (Сорокин 1). "Science concerning the origin and evolution of man." "Biology?" "It's got a hell of a lot of letters…" "Can't think offhand…" (1a). ♦ …Народу на земле до чёрта и каждому хочется куда-то подвинуться (Войнович 4). The world is packed with people and every one wants to get ahead (4a).

Ч-107 • КАКО́ГО ЧЁРТА ⟨ДЬЯ́ВОЛА, БЕ́СА, ЛЕ́ШЕГО, ШУ́ТА⟩ all highly coll [NP_{gen}; these forms only; used in questions and subord clauses; fixed WO] 1. [adv] why, what for: why the devil ⟨the hell, in hell, in blazes⟩; what the hell ⟨the devil⟩ for.

«Зачем вы вернулись? — спросил я. — Какого чёрта вы вернулись?» (Олеша 2). "Why did you come back?" I asked. "Why the hell did you come back?" (2a).

2. ~ надо, нужно, не хватает кому [obj] what is it (that s.o. needs, that is lacking for s.o. etc)?: какого чёрта X-у надо? ≃ what the devil ⟨the hell, in hell, in blazes⟩ (does X want ⟨need⟩)?; what does X want ⟨need⟩, damn it?

«Не надо… переводов…» — пробормотал Раскольников, уже спускаясь с лестницы. «Так какого же тебе чёрта надо?» — закричал сверху Разумихин (Достоевский 3). "I don't need… translations…" muttered Raskolnikov, who was already descending the stairs. "What the hell do you need, then?" Razumikhin shouted from above (3b). "I don't need any… translations…" Raskolnikov muttered, already on his way downstairs. "Well, what do you need then, damn it?" Razumikhin shouted from above (3d).

Ч-108 • НИ ЧЕРТА́; НИ ФИГА́ all highly coll [NP_{gen}; these forms only] 1. ~ не знать, не понимать, не получать, не получаться, не делать, не делаться и т.п.; не видно, не нужно и т.п. Also: НИ ШУТА́; НИ ЛЕ́ШЕГО both highly coll [obj or subj/gen] (to know, understand, receive, do, see, need etc) absolutely nothing; not (to be done, work out, be understood etc) at all: not (know ⟨understand, do, see, need, be able to understand etc⟩) a damn ⟨damned, goddamn, frigging⟩ thing; not (understand sth. etc) one damned bit; [lim.] not be able to make any goddamn sense of sth.

«Не нужно нам никакой квартиры, — сказал Дмитриев задыхающимся голосом. — Не нужно, понятно тебе? Во всяком случае, мне не нужно. Мне, мне! Ни черта мне не нужно, абсолютно ни черта» (Трифонов 4). "We don't need any apartment at all," said Dmitriev in a choked voice. "We don't need it, you understand? In any case I don't need it. I, me! I don't need a damn thing, absolutely not a damn thing" (4a).

2. [impers predic; often used as indep. clause] sth. does not have any (negative) effect on s.o. at all, in no way reflects on s.o.: it doesn't harm ⟨affect etc⟩ s.o. one damn bit; it's nothing for s.o.

Ты посмотри на него! Пять километров пробежал и — ни черта, даже не устал. Just look at him! He ran five kilometers and it didn't affect him one damn bit, he isn't even tired.

Ч-109 • У ЧЁРТА НА КУЛИ́ЧКАХ ⟨НА РОГА́Х⟩ жить, быть$_{ø}$, находиться и т.п. coll; У ДЬЯ́ВОЛА НА РОГА́Х coll; К ЧЁРТУ ⟨К ЧЕРТЯ́М⟩ НА КУЛИ́ЧКИ ⟨НА РОГА́⟩ уехать, забраться и т.п. coll; К ДЬЯ́ВОЛУ НА РОГА́ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human, collect, or a geographical name); fixed WO] (to live, be etc or go, go away etc) in or to a remote and sometimes desolate, undesirable place: at ⟨to⟩ the ends of the earth; in ⟨to⟩ the middle of nowhere; at ⟨to⟩ the back of beyond; in ⟨to⟩ some godforsaken place ⟨hole⟩; in ⟨to⟩ the sticks; || у чёрта на куличках, в месте Z ⟨к чёрту на кулички в место Z⟩ ≃ in ⟨to, for⟩ the distant sticks of place Z.

И теперь, подаваясь в дальние края, к чёрту на кулички, на Курилы… Фёдор уверен был, что пройдёт не так много времени и его опять потянет сюда… (Максимов 1). And now, on his way to distant parts, to the back of beyond, to the Kurile Islands,… Fyodor was convinced that it would not be that long before he would be drawn to come back here… (1a).

Ч-110 • ЧЁРТА ⟨БЕ́СА⟩ ЛЫ́СОГО highly coll [NP_{accus}; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [Interj] nothing of the kind, absolutely not (used to express vehement disagreement, rejection, usu. when sharply objecting to sth.): like ⟨the⟩ hell (one does ⟨will etc⟩)!; no way ⟨not a chance⟩ in hell!; hell, no!

«Мы проворно поворачивались, мы думали: достаточно изменить способ производства — и сразу изменятся люди. А — чёрта лысого! А — нисколько не изменились. Человек есть биологический тип! Его меняют тысячелетия!» (Солженицын 10). "We made a very quick turnaround, we thought it was enough to change the mode of production and people would immediately change with it. But did they? The hell they did! They didn't change a bit. Man is a biological type. It takes thousands of years to change him" (10a).

2. ~ получить, дать, понять и т.п. [obj] (to receive, give, understand etc) absolutely nothing: not a damn thing.

«Продай мне душ одних, если уж ты такой человек, что дрожишь из-за этого вздору». — «Чёрта лысого получишь! Хотел было, даром хотел отдать, но теперь вот не получишь же!» (Гоголь 3). "Sell me your souls by themselves, if you're the sort of man who gets worked up over such nonsense." "You won't get a damn thing from me. I was going to let you have them for nothing, but now you shan't have them" (3a).

Ч-111 • ЧЁРТА С ДВА́! highly coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [Interj] absolutely not (used to express vehement disagreement, energetic refusal): like ⟨the⟩ hell (one does ⟨will etc⟩)!; hell, no!; no way ⟨not a chance⟩ in hell!;

Правда, уже в наше время, когда начальство на поминальные и праздничные пиршества запросто приезжает на служебных машинах, эти проклятые подражатели опять-таки приспособились к обстоятельствам. Например, какой-нибудь лавочник, имеющий свою «Волгу», будучи приглашённым на такое пиршество, думаете, просто садится в свою машину и приезжает? Чёрта с два! Нет, он… нанимает шофёра… Поди пойми, лавочник он или начальник… (Искандер 3). Admittedly, in our own day, when the authorities arrive at funeral and holiday feasts without fanfare, in official cars, these damned imitators have again adapted to circumstances. For example, some store manager who has his own Volga: if he's invited to such a feast, do you think he just gets in his car and comes? Hell, no! He hires a chauffeur…. Just try and figure out whether he's a store manager or an official… (3a).

2. [adv (neg intensif); used with pfv verbs] in no case, not under any circumstances: like hell (one will do sth.); (one) sure as hell (won't do sth.); one damn well (won't do sth.); (one won't have) a chance in hell (of doing sth.); there's no way in hell (one will do sth.); no way (will one do sth.).

«А когда вы пришли в виде киевского надзирателя, я сразу понял, что вы мелкий жулик. К сожалению, я ошибся. Иначе чёрта с два вы бы меня нашли» (Ильф и Петров 2). "And when you came over disguised as an inspector from Kiev, I could tell right away that it was a small-time con. Unfortunately, I was wrong. Otherwise you wouldn't have had a chance in hell of finding me" (2c). "When you showed up as a cop from Kiev, I knew right away you were a small-time crook. Unfortunately, I was wrong. Otherwise, there's no way in hell you would've found me" (2d).

Ч-112 • В О́БЩИХ ⟨ГЛА́ВНЫХ, ОСНОВНЫ́Х⟩ ЧЕРТА́Х lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (usu. in refer. to the way some information is conveyed, presented, remembered etc) without details, in general: in rough ⟨broad⟩ outline; in general ⟨broad⟩ terms; [lim.] along general lines; (give s.o. ⟨have⟩) a general idea (of sth.); (give s.o. etc) a general account ⟨description etc⟩; (tell s.o. ⟨understand, grasp etc⟩) roughly (what is going on ⟨has happened etc⟩).

[Серебряков:] Нужно изыскать такие меры, которые гарантировали бы нам постоянную, более или менее определённую цифру дохода. Я придумал одну такую меру… Минуя детали, изложу её в общих чертах (Чехов 3). [S.:] We must seek some means which would guarantee us a permanent, and more or less definite income. I have thought of one such measure…. Omitting details, I shall put it before you in rough outline (3a). [S.:] What we are after is a method of guaranteeing ourselves a constant and more or less stable income. I have hit upon such a method… I shan't go into detail. My idea, in broad terms, is this (3b).

Ч-113 • ДО ЧЁРТИКОВ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)]

1. ~ надоело, наскучило, жаль и т.п. (s.o. is bored, is aggravated, feels sorry for another etc) to an extreme degree: extremely; awfully; terribly; dreadfully; || X-у до чёртиков надоел Y ⟨надоело делать Y⟩ ≃ X is utterly fed up with Y ⟨with doing Y⟩; X is sick and tired of Y ⟨of doing Y⟩; X has had it up to here with Y ⟨with doing Y⟩.

Мансурову-Курильскому, Аркашке и свекрови она объяснила, что ей до чёртиков надоел весь тот вид, в котором она неизвестно почему существует едва ли не четверть века… (Залыгин 1). She explained to Mansurov-Kurilsky, Arkady, and her mother-in-law that she was sick and tired of the form in which she had existed, without knowing why, for nearly a quarter of a century (1a).

2. ~ допиться, напиться и т.п. (to get or be drunk) to an extreme degree: X допился ~ ≃ X was ⟨got⟩ blind ⟨stone⟩ drunk; X got drunk out of his mind ⟨gourd⟩; X drank himself silly ⟨cockeyed etc⟩; X got drunk as hell.

«Мне кажется, здесь убийство. С симуляцией несчастного случая». — «Почему вы так думаете? — спросил Костенко. — Напился до чёртиков и сгорел» (Семёнов 1). "It looks like murder to me. Disguised as an accident." "What makes you think that?" asked Kostyenko. "He drank himself silly and set fire to himself" (1a).

Ч-114 • К ЧЁРТУ[1] ⟨К ЧЕРТЯ́М, КО ВСЕМ ЧЕРТЯ́М, К ЧЕРТЯ́М СОБА́ЧЬИМ⟩ К ЧЁРТОВОЙ МА́ТЕРИ ⟨БА́БУШКЕ⟩ highly coll; rude [PrepP; these forms only] 1. послать, выгнать, вышвырнуть и т.п. кого ~. Also: К ЛЁ́ШЕМУ highly coll; К ⟨КО ВСЕМ⟩ СВИНЬЯ́М substand, rude [adv] to send s.o. away or drive s.o. out rudely (often when rejecting s.o.'s requests, claims, demands etc): tell s.o. to go to the devil ⟨to hell⟩; throw ⟨kick⟩ s.o. the hell out (of some place).

Панкрат… явился в кабинет и вручил Персикову великолепнейшую атласную визитную карточку. «Он тамотко [regional = там]», — робко прибавил Панкрат… «Гони его к чёртовой матери», — монотонно сказал Персиков и смахнул карточку под стол (Булгаков 10). …Pankrat entered the office and handed Persikov a magnificent satiny calling card. "He's out there," Pankrat added timidly…. "Tell him to go to hell," Persikov said in a monotone, and he threw the card under the table (10b).

2. ну тебя ⟨его и т. п⟩ ~!; иди ⟨пошёл, убирайся и т.п.⟩ ~! Also: К ЛЁ́ШЕМУ highly coll; НА́ ХРЕН! highly coll, rude; К ⟨КО ВСЕМ⟩ СВИНЬЯ́М substand, rude; К ЛЯ́ДУ substand, rude [adv] used to express irritation, anger, contempt directed at s.o. or sth., a desire to be rid of s.o. or sth.: to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨him etc⟩!; go ⟨let him etc go⟩ to (bloody) hell!; go ⟨let him etc go⟩ to the (fucking) devil!;get ⟨let him etc get⟩ the hell out of here!; go (and) hang yourself!

[Зилов (вслед уходящим):] Вот и прекрасно! Катитесь к чертям собачьим! Знать вас больше не желаю! Подонки!.. (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] (Shouting after the departing guests) Good riddance! Go to the fucking devil! I've had it with you! Skum!… (5b).

3. ~ (кого-что)! Also: К ЛЁ́ШЕМУ highly coll [Interj] used to express protest, a complete rejection of s.o. or sth.: damn it ⟨him etc⟩!; the ⟨to⟩ hell with this ⟨him etc⟩!; to the devil with this ⟨him etc⟩!

К чёрту! К чёртовой матери! Я не могу позволить им убить себя. Я должен жить (Аржак 1). Damn it! To hell with it! I couldn't let them kill me! I must live (1a).

4. взорвать что, взорваться, разлететься, развалиться и т.п. ~ [adv] (to blow up, collapse, be ruined etc) completely, irretrievably: dammit; the damn…; (blow ⟨smash⟩ sth.) to bits ⟨to smithereens⟩; (burst) into bits ⟨into smithereens⟩; [lim.] shot to hell; to hell and gone.

5. [formula phrase] used in response to «ни пуха ни пера» (see П-762), which is a wish for success or luck in sth.: I'll do my best!; thanks!

Ч-115 • К ЧЁРТУ[2] ⟨К ЧЕРТЯ́М, К БЕ́СУ, К ДЬЯ́ВОЛУ, К ЛЕ́ШЕМУ, К НЕЧИ́СТОМУ, К ШУ́ТУ⟩ coll; К ЧЁРТОВОЙ МА́ТЕРИ ⟨БА́БУШКЕ⟩ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth); used after interrog pronouns and adverbs (usu. какой, куда)] used to indicate or emphasize the rhetorical and/or sarcastic nature of a statement: what the hell kind of [NP] is this ⟨is he etc⟩; what kind of fucking [NP] do you call this ⟨that⟩?; some bloody [NP] he is ⟨you are etc⟩.

«Какая, к чёрту, в Семидоле революция? Четыре маслобойки и одна мельница… Весь город пополз ко всенощной, к Покрову пресвятой богородицы» (Федин 1). "What the hell kind of revolution is there in Semidol? Four creameries and one windmill…. The whole town's crept off to vespers, to the Feast of the Intercession of the Holy Virgin" (1a). ♦ [Зилов:] А это что такое? (Тычет пальцем в открытую дверь, через которую видна освещённая улица.) Что это?.. Разве это ночь? Ну? Светло как днём! Какая же это к чёрту ночь! (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] And what's that? (He points at the open door through which the lighted street is visible.) Well? It's light as day! What kind of fucking night do you call that! (5b)

Ч-116 • ЛЕЗТЬ/ПОЛЕ́ЗТЬ К ЧЁРТУ В ЗУ́БЫ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to do sth. risky, dangerous, not thinking about the consequences: X лезет к чёрту в зубы ≃ X sticks his neck out; X puts ⟨sticks⟩ his head in the lion's mouth.

Ч-117 • ЛЕТЕ́ТЬ/ПОЛЕТЕ́ТЬ ⟨ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́⟩ К ЧЁРТУ coll; ЛЕТЕ́ТЬ/ПОЛЕТЕ́ТЬ ⟨ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́⟩ К ЧЕРТЯ́М ⟨КО ВСЕМ ЧЕРТЯ́М, К ЧЕРТЯ́М СОБА́ЧЬИМ, К ЧЁРТОВОЙ МА́ТЕРИ⟩ highly coll [VP; subj: abstr or, rare, concr] (usu. of some plans, matters, s.o.'s life etc) to move toward a state of collapse or be totally ruined: X полетел к чёрту ≃ X went to hell; X went (all) to pieces⟩; X went to the devil ⟨to the dogs⟩; X went down the drain ⟨the tube(s)⟩; [when used as a euphemism for a taboo expression] X went down the crapper ⟨the toilet⟩

Надо сказать, что мне тридцать один год. Со спортом всё покончено, однако я стараюсь не опускаться. Утренняя гимнастика, абонемент в плавательный бассейн — без этого не обходится. Правда, все эти гигиенические процедуры — а иначе их не назовёшь — летят к чертям, когда я завожусь (Аксёнов 8). I should mention that I am thirty one, past sport, but trying not to let myself go. Morning gymnastics, season's tickets at a swimming pool—those are a must. It's true all this health habit—there is no other word for it—goes down the drain when I get wound up (8a).

Ч-118 • НИ К ЧЁРТУ (не годится, не годный, не годен) all coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, abstr, or concr) or, when used with не годится etc, adv or modif (intensif)] some person is without merit, not suited for anything; sth. is worthless, of bad quality, in poor condition, or unsuitable for the matter in question: X ни к чёрту (не годится) ≃ X isn't worth a damn; X isn't good for anything; X is good for nothing; X is no damn good; [lim.] X is hopeless; X stinks ⟨smells⟩ to high heaven; [of the condition of a person's nervous system] s.o.'s nerves are ⟨nervous system is⟩ (all) shot (to pieces).

Да, Кязым знал, что всё ещё силён, но сердце у него ни к чёрту не годилось (Искандер 5). Yes, Kyazym knew he was still strong, but his heart wasn't worth a damn (5a). ♦ Я прочитал [гостям] вторую порцию [своего романа]… «Язык ни к чёрту! но занятно…» (Булгаков 12). I read the second portion [of my novel to my guests]… "The language is no damn good! But it's amusing" (12b). I read the second part [of my novel to my guests]…. "The language is hopeless! But it's intriguing…" (12a). ♦ «Извините, что плохо о вас подумала. Нервы ни к чёрту» (Акунин 1). "I'm sorry I suspected you. My nerves are all shot" (1a).

Ч-119 • ОДНОМУ́ ЧЁРТУ ИЗВЕ́СТНО highly coll [AdjP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. a clause); usu. pres; fixed WO] it is unknown to anyone: the devil ⟨God⟩ (only) knows; only the devil ⟨God⟩ knows; (I'll be) damned if I know.

Уже целую неделю льёт дождь, и одному чёрту известно, когда это кончится. It's been raining a whole week already, and the devil only knows when it's going to let up.

Ч-120 • ПОДВОДИ́ТЬ/ПОДВЕСТИ́ ЧЕРТУ́ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (под чем) to stop, conclude, sum up sth.: X подвёл черту ≃ X closed the books (on sth.); X put an end (to sth.); X brought sth. to an end ⟨a close⟩; X tallied up the score.

2. to suspend the acceptance of nominations, speeches etc at a meeting: X подвёл черту ≃ X closed the nominations ⟨the discussion⟩; [lim.] X concluded the session; || X предложил подвести черту ≃ X moved that the nominations ⟨the discussion⟩ be closed.

«Есть предложение прекратить прения и подвести черту» (Стругацкие 3). "There is a motion to end the debate and to conclude the session" (3a).

Ч-121 • ПРОВАЛИ́СЬ (ТЫ ⟨вы, он, она, они⟩) К ЧЁРТУ highly coll, rude [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express anger, strong dissatisfaction, a desire to rid o.s. of s.o. or sth. etc: провались X к чёрту ≃ to hell ⟨to the devil⟩ with X; let X go to hell ⟨to the devil⟩; X can go to hell ⟨to the devil⟩.

Проезжий… поглядывал в одно и посвистывал к великому неудовольствию смотрительши, сидевшей за перегородкою. «…Эк посвистывает, — чтоб он лопнул, окаянный басурман… Дай ему лошадей, да провались он к чёрту» (Пушкин 1). The traveler… looked through the window and whistled—an action that greatly annoyed the stationmaster's wife, who was sitting behind the partition. "…Ugh, he does whistle, may he be struck dumb, the damned infidel…. Give him some horses and let him go to the devil!" (1a).

Ч-122 • ХОТЬ К ЧЁРТУ (НА РОГА́ ⟨В ЗУ́БЫ, В ПЕ́КЛО⟩) бежать, отправить кого и т.п.; ХОТЬ К ЧЕРТЯ́М ⟨КО ВСЕ́М ЧЕРТЯ́М⟩ all highly coll [хоть + PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] to any place at all, even a dangerous or highly undesirable one: (even) to the devil himself; (even) to hell itself.

…Я три ночи не спал, измучился и начинал сердиться. «Веди меня куда-нибудь, разбойник! хоть к чёрту, только к месту!» — закричал я (Лермонтов 1). I'd had no sleep for three nights and was tired…. I began to lose my temper. "Take me anywhere, damn you!" I shouted. "To the devil himself, as long as it's a place to sleep" (1c).

Ч-123 • В ЧЕСТИ́ у кого, где [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$; often neg] 1. [subj: usu. human, collect, or abstr] a person (group, idea etc) enjoys the respect of s.o., recognition in some place etc: X в чести у Y-ов ≃ X is highly regarded by Ys; Ys hold person X in high regard ⟨esteem⟩; || Neg X у Y-ов не в чести ≃ X is viewed with disfavor by Ys; Ys don't think much of X.

2. [subj: usu. human] one enjoys popularity with s.o. (usu. with some group of people): X у Y-ов в чести ≃ X is popular with Ys; X is a (great) favorite of Ys; [lim.] Ys are keen on X.

«Я еврейка, ты разве не замечал? Еврейки теперь у вас не в чести» (Максимов 1). "I'm a Jew, hadn't you noticed? You Russians aren't very keen on Jewish women at the moment" (1a).

Ч-124 • ИЗ ЧЕ́СТИ obs [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) out of respect for s.o., as a sign of respect: do s.o. the honor (of doing sth.).

[Кречинский:] Разве я вам в платеже отказываю? Я прошу вас из чести подождать два-три дня (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] Am I refusing to pay? All I am asking is that you do me the honor of waiting two or three days (2a).

Ч-125 • К ЧЕ́СТИ чьей, кого (надо сказать, нужно заметить и т.п.) [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is usu. sent adv] (to say or mention sth. with regard to some person or group) acknowledging a good point, merit etc of that person or group: to s.o.'s credit; in s.o.'s favor.

Неловко ездить в автобусе и громко разговаривать «об умном». А Лёва как раз способен увлечься и что-нибудь такое брякнуть не к месту. Хотя, к чести его, могу добавить, что он легко краснеет (Битов 2). It's awkward having a loud "intelligent" conversation on the bus. And Lyova is just the kind to get carried away and blurt out something inappropriate. Although, to his credit, I can add that he blushes easily (2a).

Ч-126 • МНО́ГО ЧЕ́СТИ (кому, для кого) coll, disapprov [usu. indep. sent (with быть$_0$, pres or fut)] s.o. does not merit sth., is not worthy of sth.: много чести X-у ≃ X doesn't deserve the honor; that's too good for X.

«Мамка нехорошая». — «Твою мамку повесить мало», — отозвался ещё не остывший от злости Михаил. «Давай, папка, повесим её и поглядим». — «…Сильно много чести ей будет». (Распутин 3). "Mummy's horrid." "Hanging's too good for that Mummy of yours," replied Mikhail, whose anger still had not cooled. "Ooh, let's hang her, Daddy, and see what happens." "…She doesn't deserve the honour" (3a).

Ч-127 • НЕ ДЕ́ЛАТЬ ЧЕ́СТИ кому [VP; subj: abstr] (of some action, mode of behavior etc) to characterize s.o. negatively: X не делает чести Y-у ≃ X does Y no honor; X doesn't do Y any credit; || это не делает чести вашему уму ≃ this is no credit to your wit.

«Почему вы его [Анатолия] не арестовали?..» — «За что?»… — «Представьте себе… Анатолий бабник и… водку пьёт»… — «Это не делает ему чести — и только». — «Значит, вы его ни в чём не обвиняете?» — «А в чём мне его обвинять?» (Чернёнок 1). "Why haven't you arrested him [Anatoly]?" "For what?"… "Well, you know… Anatoly is a womanizer and… drinks vodka."… "That doesn't do him any credit, but that's all." "That means you're not charging him with anything?" "What should I charge him with?" (1a).

Ч-128 • НЕ ОТКАЗА́ТЬ В ЧЕ́СТИ кому old-fash [VP; subj: human; foll. by pfv infin; often imper] (usu. used to extend a courteous invitation or convey a polite request) to favor s.o. by doing sth., deem s.o. worthy (of one's presence etc): X не откажет (Y-у) в чести сделать Z ≃ X will do Y the honor (of doing Z); X will not deny ⟨refuse⟩ Y the honor (of X's doing Z).

Ч-129 • ПО ЧЕ́СТИ[1] [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (to do sth.) properly, as it should be done, in good faith: honestly; the right way.

Конечно, и Олег мог бы так же полезть, и была б его верная полка, но насточертело это за прошлые годы, хотелось по чести… (Солженицын 10). Of course it was a ruse Oleg could have tried, and he'd have had a proper bunk to himself. But the past years had made him tired of such tricks. He wanted things done honestly… (10a).

2. ~ сказать, говорить (to say sth., speak) frankly, truthfully: on one's honor; candidly; sincerely; (be) honest (with s.o.).

«Каждый ваш шаг вызывает против вас огонь. Даже я, скажу вам по чести, даже я был вынужден иногда преграждать вам путь» (Дудинцев 1). "Every step you take draws the fire toward yourself! Even I, I tell you candidly, even I was forced at times to bar your way!" (1a).

Ч-130 • ПО ЧЕ́СТИ[2]; ПО ЧЕ́СТИ СКАЗА́ТЬ ⟨ГОВОРЯ́⟩ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] (used to introduce a personal opinion or to admit sth.) speaking totally honestly, openly: to tell (you) the truth; in all honesty; to tell the honest truth; truth to tell; if the truth be told; (quite) frankly.

Он хотел бы именно так истолковать своё равнодушие, чтобы стать как все, не быть уродом, но, по чести, он не мог так себя в этот миг истолковать (Битов 2). He would have liked to explain his apathy in just this way, so as to become like everyone else and not be a freak, but in all honesty he could not so explain himself at this instant (2a).

Через три года у Харлампо было трое детей. Первую, девочку, в честь тётушки назвали Сулой (Искандер 5). Inside of three years Harlampo had three children. The first, a girl, was named Soula in honor of her auntie (5a).

Ч-135 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ЧЕСТЬ [VP] 1. ~ кому [subj: human] to show respect to s.o., confer a distinction upon s.o. by doing sth.: X сделал Y-у честь ≃ X did Y the honor of doing Z; X honored Y (by doing Z); X bestowed an honor on ⟨upon⟩ Y (by doing Z); X extended an honor to Y (by doing Z); X did Y an honor by doing Z.

Эти господа, по-видимому, охотно, как своего (честь, которую они делали немногим), приняли в свой кружок князя Андрея (Толстой 4). These gentlemen received Prince Andrew as one of themselves, an honour they did not extend to many (4b).

2. coll [subj: human; pfv only; usu. imper] used to express encouragement, prompting (when inviting s.o. to do sth.): сделай честь ≃ do us the honor.

«Ты, Авдеич, лучше рассказал бы молодым, как ты в Санкт-Петербурге разбойника споймал [ungrammat = поймал]», — предложил Мирон Григорьевич… — «Что там рассказывать-то», — заскромничал Авдеич. «Расскажи!» — «Просим!» — «Сделай честь, Авдеич!» (Шолохов 2). "Come on, Avdeich, you'd do better to tell us the story of how you caught a brigand in St. Petersburg when you were young," Miron suggested…. "What is there to tell," Avdeich became suddenly modest. "Tell us!" "Yes, go on!" "Do us the honor, Avdeich!" (2a).

3. ~ кому-чему [subj: abstr or (less common) human; if subj: human, indir obj is usu. collect; impfv only] (of some action, quality etc) to improve s.o.'s reputation, (of some person) to add to the honor of some group or organization etc: X делает Y-у честь ≃ X does Y credit ⟨honor⟩; thing X is to Y's credit; X is a credit ⟨an honor⟩ to Y; X brings honor to Y.

«…У этого идиота промелькнуло одно весьма и весьма любопытное замечание, сделавшее бы честь и поумнее его наблюдателю…» (Достоевский 2). "…This idiot let drop one very, very curious remark, which would do honor even to a more intelligent observer…" (2a).

2. ~ кому to show s.o. one's full appreciation of his qualities, achievements etc: X отдал Y-у честь ≃ X paid ⟨showed⟩ honor to Y; X honored Y; [lim.] X gave Y credit.

Тому, что Багратион выбран был героем в Москве, содействовало и то, что он не имел связей в Москве и был чужой. В лице его отдавалась честь боевому, простому, без связей и интриг, русскому солдату… (Толстой 5). And what was also conducive to his [Bagration's] being chosen as Moscow's hero was the fact that he had no connections in the city and was virtually a stranger there. In his person honor was paid to the simple combat soldier, unsupported by connections or intrigue…(5a).

3. ~ чему humor to accept (and fully enjoy) some food or drink that is offered to one: X отдал честь Y-у ≃ X did Y the honor of having some; X did Y justice.

Вообще-то я не пью, но не могу не отдать честь вашему коньяку. Generally I don't drink, but I certainly won't deny your brandy the honor of having some.

Ч-141 • ПОРА́ ⟨НА́ДО⟩ (И) ЧЕСТЬ ЗНАТЬ coll [sent; these forms only; usu. this WO] 1. the time has come to cease, stop sth.: it's (high) time to stop ⟨to quit⟩; you ⟨he etc⟩ ought to know when to stop ⟨to quit⟩; you've ⟨he's etc⟩ got to know when to call it quits; enough is enough; there's a limit to everything; [lim.] your ⟨his etc⟩ time is up; you ⟨he etc⟩ shouldn't overdo it; let's not overdo it.

«Слушайте, оставьте споры, пора и честь знать, ведь остальные спать хотят» (Шолохов 2). "Enough argument, you fellows. There's a limit to everything. Other people want some sleep" (2a).

2. the time has come for s.o. to leave, go away: it's (high) time for me ⟨you etc⟩ to leave ⟨to go⟩; it's (high) time I was on my way ⟨you were going etc⟩; I ⟨you etc⟩ mustn't outstay ⟨wear out⟩ my ⟨your etc⟩ welcome; [lim.] I ⟨you etc⟩ have outstayed my ⟨your etc⟩ welcome; I ⟨you etc⟩ mustn't disturb s.o. anymore.

[Бусыгин:] Хорошо мы погостили, весело, но пора и честь знать (Вампилов 4). [V.:] We've had a good visit, it was fun, but it's time to go (4b). [V.:] We've had a good time, enjoyed our stay, and now it's time we were on our way (4a).

Ч-142 • СЧИТА́ТЬ/ПОСЧИТА́ТЬ ⟨СЧЕСТЬ, ПОЧЕ́СТЬ obs, СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ obs⟩ ЗА ЧЕСТЬ что [VP; subj: human] to deem sth. an honor for o.s.: X считает за честь Y ⟨сделать Y⟩ ≃ X is honored by Y; X considers it an honor to do Y.

Я считаю за честь ваше предложение работать вместе. I am honored by your suggestion that we work together. ♦ «…[Авдотья Романовна] потребовала от меня, чтоб я оставил бедную Парашу в покое… Я, разумеется, почёл за честь удовлетворить её желанию…» (Достоевский 3). "…[Avdotya Romanovna] demanded that I leave poor Parasha alone…. I naturally considered it an honor to satisfy her wish…" (3c).

Ч-143 • ЧЕСТЬ И МЕ́СТО obs, coll, now humor [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. (кому) ~ [formula phrase] (a polite invitation to a person who has just arrived) please sit down and join the company: please take ⟨have⟩ a seat (at our table); please be seated; please join us.

«А, ваше благородие! — сказал Пугачёв, увидя меня. — Добро пожаловать; честь и место…» (Пушкин 2). "Ah, your Honour!" Pugachov called out to me. "Welcome, welcome! Take a seat at our table…" (2c). "Ah, Your Honor!" said Pugachev on seeing me. "Welcome. Please be seated" (2a).

2. кому где ~ [impers predic] s.o. is accepted gladly, willingly: X-у в месте Y честь и место ≃ X is welcomed in place Y with open arms; X is most welcome in place Y.

Хорошему специалисту у нас в институте всегда честь и место. In our institute a good specialist is always welcomed with open arms.

Ч-144 • ЧЕСТЬ ИМЕ́Ю obs [formula phrase; Invar] 1. a greeting said upon meeting s.o.: what an honor; an honor, to be sure ⟨truly⟩; (this is) quite an honor.

[Кречинский:] Позвольте мне вам представить доброго приятеля и соседа, Ивана Антоновича Расплюева. [Расплюев (оставив кресла, раскланивается и конфузится):] Честь… честь… имею… [Муромский (встав):] Ах, очень приятно. (Жмёт Расплюеву руку и садится на диван.) (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] Please allow me to present my dear friend and neighbor, Ivan Antonovich Rasplyuev. [R. (leaving the chairs and bowing, obviously flustered):] An honor… Sir… an honor… truly… [M. (rising):] A pleasure. (Shakes hands with Rasplyuev and returns to the sofa.) (2b).

2. Also: ЧЕСТЬ ИМЕ́Ю КЛА́НЯТЬСЯ obs [the var. with кланяться has fixed WO] said upon parting with s.o.: allow me to bid you farewell; I shall take my leave of you (, sir ⟨madam⟩); I have the honor of taking my leave (of you); it's time to say good-bye; I (have the honor to) bid you good-bye ⟨goodbye, good day⟩; good day to you.

«Засим, милостивый государь, мне остаётся только благодарить вас и возвратить вас вашим занятиям. Честь имею кланяться». — «До приятного свидания, милостивый государь мой», — промолвил Базаров, провожая гостя (Тургенев 2). "Then, my good sir, all that remains is for me to thank you and allow you to return to your work. I have the honor of taking my leave." "Until our next pleasant meeting, my dear sir," said Bazarov, seeing his guest out (2g).

Боже мой, думал Михаил, сколько у них было надежд, когда Лукашина председателем назначили! Вот, думали, дождались хозяина. Этот не чета Першину. Этот колхоз поведёт (Абрамов 1). My God, thought Mikhail, what hopes they'd had when they appointed Lukashin as Chairman! Now we've got a real boss, they had thought. This one's a good cut above Pershin. This one'll steer the kolkhoz (1a).

Ч-150 • НА ЧЕТВЕРЕ́НЬКАХ стоять, ползти и т.п. coll; НА КАРА́ЧКАХ substand; НА ЧЕТВЕРЕ́НЬКИ становиться, (в)стать coll; НА КАРА́ЧКИ substand [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to be, crawl, get down, get up from a lying position etc) supporting o.s. on both hands and knees: on all fours; on one's hands and knees.

Людмила вернулась как раз в тот момент, когда Алтынник, ползая по полу на карачках, показывал, как именно старшина де Голль учит молодых солдат мыть полы (Войнович 5). Ludmilla returned just as Altinnik was crawling on all fours across the floor to demonstrate de Gaulle's method of teaching a raw recruit the proper way to wash floors (5a).

Ч-151 • ЧИН ЧИ́НОМ ⟨ПО ЧИ́НУ⟩ coll; ЧИН ЧИНАРЁМ substand, humor [NP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: всё); fixed WO] in a suitable, appropriate manner, in the correct manner: (do sth. ⟨everything is done etc⟩) the right way ⟨just right, properly⟩; (handle sth. ⟨everything is handled etc⟩) in the right way; (sth. is done ⟨handled etc⟩) just ⟨exactly⟩ like ⟨as⟩ it should be (done ⟨handled etc⟩); (do sth.) just ⟨exactly⟩ like ⟨as⟩ one should (do it); [when used as subj-compl only] all neat ⟨right, good⟩ and proper.

«Помню, когда пацаном был, мы все в «начинку» играли. Завернёшь, бывало, мусору какого в белый листок, ленточкой броской чин чинарём перевяжешь и бросишь на тротуар, а сам сидишь за забором и смотришь в щёлку: кто подберет?» (Максимов 3). "I remember when I was a kid we were always playing 'parcels.' You wrapped up some rubbish in a sheet of white paper, tied it up all neat and proper with a bright ribbon, dropped it on the pavement, sat yourself down behind a fence, and looked through the crack to see who'd pick it up" (3a).

Ч-152 • В (БОЛЬШИ́Х ⟨КРУ́ПНЫХ и т.п. ⟩) ЧИНА́Х obs [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: hu-

[Хлестаков:] Что вы, господа, стоите? пожалуйста, садитесь! [Городничий:] Чин такой, что ещё можно постоять. [Артемий Филиппович:] Мы постоим. [Лука Лукич:] Не извольте беспокоиться. [Хлестаков:] Без чинов, прошу садиться (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] Why are you standing, gentlemen? Please sit down. [Mayor:] A person of my rank, sir, can stand. [A.F.:] We don't mind standing, sir. [L.L.:] Don't worry sir. [Kh.:] Don't stand on ceremony, gentlemen. Do sit down (4c).

Ч-154 • НЕ ПО ЧИ́НУ БЕРЁШЬ! obs, coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] you are allowing yourself more than is customary for s.o. in your position, you are going too far: you are overstepping your rank; that's not a thing for someone in your position ⟨of your rank etc⟩ to do; you are (stepping) out of line; you mustn't ⟨can't⟩ behave like that in your position.

«…Говорит Настасья Ивановна, что ты… надерзил Ивану Васильевичу? Расстроил его? Он тебе стал советы подавать, а ты в ответ, говорит Настасья Иванна, — фырк! Фырк! Ты меня прости, но это слишком! Не по чину берёшь!» (Булгаков 12). "…Nastasya Ivanovna said… that you'd annoyed Ivan Vasilievich somehow, upset him? He started to give you some advice and you just sniffed at him! Sniffed! I'm sorry, old man, but really that's going a bit far! You can't behave like that in your position!" (12a).

< From Nikolai Gogol's The Inspector General («Ревизор»), 1836. Originally the expression meant "You are taking bigger bribes than someone of your rank is entitled to."

Ч-155 • ПО ЧИ́НУ (кому) [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr or infin) or adv] in accordance with one's or s.o.'s position, title, status: according to ⟨in keeping with, as befits etc⟩ one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ rank; [lim.] (s.o. is obliged ⟨permitted etc⟩) by his rank ⟨office etc⟩ (to do sth.); s.o.'s rank ⟨office, status etc⟩ gives s.o. (some privilege ⟨responsibility etc⟩); || Neg [lim.] who is s.o. (to do sth.)?

Им положено по чину интересоваться всем тем, к чему они сами не испытывают никакого интереса и в чём ничего не смыслят (Зиновьев 1). "They're obliged by their office to take an interest in everything they haven't the slightest interest in and which means nothing at all to them" (1a).

Ч-156 • В ТОМ ЧИСЛЕ́ (И…) [PrepP; Invar; used as coord Conj; indicator of appos] used after naming a group or category to specify one or more members, objects, facts etc included in that group or category: including; and that includes; [lim.] …among them; …included; [in refer. to an extreme, striking etc case] even.

Ч-157 • ПО ПЕ́РВОЕ ЧИСЛО́ всыпать, задать, влететь кому, получить и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to reprimand, punish, beat, defeat etc s.o.) severely, harshly: X всыпал Y-у по первое число ≃ X gave it to Y good; X let Y have it; [in refer. to reprimands only] X gave Y what for ⟨a good dressing-down⟩; X gave Y hell; X raked Y over the coals; [in military and sporting contexts] X-ы всыпали Y-ам по первое число ≃ Xs clobbered ⟨routed⟩ Ys; Xs ran ⟨drove⟩ Ys into the ground; || X получил по первое число ≃ X got it good; [in refer. to reprimands or punishment only] X got ⟨caught⟩ it in the neck; [in refer. to reprimands only] X caught hell; X got a good dressing-down.

«И вдруг встаёт Ирина и говорит… В общем, неважно, что именно она говорила. Вложила им по первое число. И я немного добавил» (Аржак 2). "Then suddenly Irina gets up and says—as a matter of fact, it doesn't matter what she said. She really gave them what for. And I added a thing or two" (2a).

Ч-158 • ЗА́ДНИМ ЧИСЛО́М coll [NP$_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. помечать что, оформлять кого-что to mark some document with a date that is earlier than the date on which the mark is made: predate; backdate; antedate.

2. ~ понять что, сообразить, оценить кого-что, жалеть, испугаться и т.п. (to understand sth., figure sth. out, appreciate s.o. or sth., regret having done sth., get scared etc) at some point after the event, action etc in question has already taken place or been carried out: in ⟨with⟩ hindsight; in retrospect; after the event ⟨the fact⟩; later (on); [lim.] looking back on it.

Настёна и не подозревала в себе этой порчи и пошла замуж легко, заранее зная бабью судьбу, радуясь самой большой перемене в своей жизни и немножко, задним числом, как это обычно бывает, жалея, что походила в девках мало (Распутин 2). Nastyona had not even suspected that there was something wrong with her and she entered marriage easily, knowing a woman's fate, happy about the greatest change in her life and only being sorry a little, in hindsight, as usually happens, about not having remained unmarried longer (2a). ♦ У-у-удивительно, как задним числом становятся понятны козни этих негодяев! (Солженицын 3). Extraordinary how transparent the machinations of these scoundrels became in retrospect! (3b).

Ч-159 • ПО ЧИ́СТОЙ списать, демобилизовать кого, демобилизоваться coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to dismiss s.o. or be dismissed from military service) entirely and forever: (be) completely discharged; (give s.o. ⟨get⟩) a complete ⟨full⟩ discharge.

Глубокий осенью 1917 года стали возвращаться с фронта казаки. Пришёл постаревший Христоня с тремя казаками, служившими с ним в 52-м полку. Вернулись уволенные по чистой, по-прежнему голощёкий Аникушка, батарейцы Томилин Иван и Яков Подкова, за ними — Мартин Шамиль, Иван Алексеевич, Захар Королёв, нескладно длинный Борщев… (Шолохов 3). Late in the autumn of 1917 the Cossacks started coming home from the front. Khristonya, looking much older, returned with three other Cossacks who had served with him in the 52nd Regiment. Anikei, as hairless as ever, and gunners Ivan Tomilin and Horseshoe Yakov with a complete discharge were followed by Martin Shamil, Ivan Alexeyevich Kotlyarov, Zakhar Korolyov, and the tall ungainly Borshchev… (3a).

Но из розового миража возникает передо мной не догматик, не ортодокс, а деятель нового типа, которого я и спешу вам представить, любезный читатель (Войнович 3). But from a rosy mirage there arises before me not a dogmatist, not an orthodox person, but a figure of a new type. I hasten to present him to you, dear reader (3a).

Ч-161 • НА ВСЯ́КИЙ ЧИХ ⟨НА ВСЯ́КОЕ ЧИХА́НЬЕ⟩ НЕ НАЗДРА́ВСТВУЕШЬСЯ coll [saying] (used to indicate that some comment, rumor, gossip etc does not deserve attention) you should not let what others say bother you, since it is impossible to satisfy everyone by your behavior or actions: ≃ there's no pleasing everybody; you can't please everyone; [when addressed to the interlocutor] don't pay it any mind; don't pay any attention; let it go.

[Анна Петровна:] …Ещё тут сплетни какие-то распустили про Машеньку! На что это похоже! [Добротворский:] На всякое чиханье, сударыня, не наздравствуешься (Островский 1). [A.P.:] …They've even spread abroad some scandal about Mashenka! How outrageous! [D.:] There's no pleasing everybody, madam (1b).

Ч-162 • НЕ ВЕ́РИТЬ НИ В ЧОХ, НИ В СОН (, НИ В ПТИ́ЧИЙ ⟨ВОРО́НИЙ⟩ ГРАЙ) coll, folk [VP; subj: human] not to believe in the existence of or fear any supernatural forces, not to be superstitious: X не верил ни в чох ни в сон ≃ X feared ⟨believed in⟩ neither God nor the devil; X believed in neither heaven nor hell.

Ч-163 • ДО ЧРЕЗВЫЧА́ЙНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] to a very high degree, utterly: extremely; exceptionally; incredibly; extraordinarily; [of a quality or phenomenon viewed negatively by the speaker] unbearably.

«Вы извините, что я к вам вот так, без церемоний подошёл. Я, знаете ли, до чрезвычайности общителен… (Акунин 2). "Pardon me for approaching you so offhandedly. You know, I am an exceptionally sociable individual…" (2a). ♦ Дни стояли жаркие до чрезвычайности. Над полями видно было ясно, как переливался прозрачный, жирный зной (Булгаков 10). The days were unbearably hot. You could see the dense, transparent heat wavering over the fields (10a).

Ч-164 • (А) МНЕ́-ТО ⟨тебе-то и т.п.⟩ ЧТО? coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] that does not have any relation to me (you etc), that does not interest or concern me (him etc): (a) мне-то ⟨тебе-то, ему-то и т.п.⟩ что? ≃ what's it to me ⟨you, him etc⟩?; what do I ⟨do you, does he etc⟩ care?; I ⟨he etc⟩ couldn't care less; it's no skin off my ⟨your, his etc⟩ nose.

«Говорят, будут сливать несколько отделов». — «Тебе-то что! Твоего отдела это не коснётся». "I hear they're going to merge several departments." "What do you care, your department won't be affected."

Ч-165 • А ЧТО? coll [Invar] 1. [indep. remark] what is your reason for asking or saying this (used in response to a question or as a remark intended to induce the interlocutor to continue speaking, to give an explanation): why (do you ask ⟨say that⟩)?; what about it ⟨him etc⟩?; what of it?; [lim.] why not?; what's wrong with it ⟨that⟩?

[Клавдия Васильевна:] Где Олег? [Геннадий:] А что?.. Зачем он вам? (Розов 2). [K.V.:] Where's Oleg? [G.:] What about it?… What do you need him for? (2a).

2. [Particle] used in the beginning of a question or exclamation to add emphasis to it or to draw the interlocutor's attention to it: listen; look; say; hey; [lim.] what.

[Гомыра:] Не поверите, не принимал сегодня ни грамма и сейчас не хочу. А что, ребята, может я желаю воспоминания сохранить об этом вечере? (Вампилов 3). [G.:] You won't believe it, but I haven't had a drop today, and now I don't want any. Look fellows, maybe I want to cherish some memories of this evening? (3b). ♦ «А что, коньячку не выпьешь?..» — «Нет, не надо, благодарю. Вот этот хлебец возьму с собой, коли дадите…» (Достоевский 1). "Say, how about a little cognac?…" "No, no, thank you. But I'll take this bread with me, if I may…" (1a).

Ч-166 • ВО́Т ⟨ВО́Н⟩ ОНО́ ЧТО! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express surprise, amazement, sudden understanding etc: so that's it!; so that's what ⟨how⟩ it is!; so that's ⟨this is⟩ what it's all about!; so that's what happened!; (now) I see ⟨understand, get it⟩!; [lim.] how about that!; really!; so that's why…; so that's where s.o. got sth. ⟨why s.o. did sth. etc⟩.

…[Я] сказал, что ни с кем не общаюсь и нигде не бываю. «…Но вы же были на художественной выставке и там смотрели абстрактные картины». Ах, вот оно что! Хотя это была выставка совершенно официальная и никто не предупреждал, что ходить на неё не надо, но как советский человек я должен был понимать, что на абстрактные картины лучше всё-таки не смотреть (Войнович 1). I said that I didn't associate with anyone and didn't go anywhere. "…You've been to an art exhibit, and you looked at abstract paintings." Oh, so that was it! Even though that exhibit had been entirely official, and no one had warned me not to go there, as a good Soviet I should have known that, no matter what, it's best to avoid looking at abstract paintings (1a). ♦ [Саяпин:] …Без жены он, сам знаешь, ни шагу. [Зилов:] А он жену вчера на юг отправил. [Саяпин:] Вот оно что. То-то загулял мужик… (Вампилов 5). [S.:] …You know he doesn't make a move without his wife. [Z.:] But he sent her off to the south yesterday. [S.:] So that's why the guy is cutting loose… (5b).

Ч-167 • ВО́Т ЧТО coll [Interj or Particle; Invar; fixed WO] used to introduce and draw the interlocutor's attention to a statement, or, when used at the end of a statement, to conclude and add emphasis to that statement: [when introducing a statement] now, listen to me; look here; here's the thing ⟨the story, the deal⟩; [when recalling sth. one had not been able to recall earlier in the conversation] oh yes (, that's it); [when concluding a statement] that's what (it is); that's the thing; [lim.] that's the trouble.

[Полуорлов:] Вот что! Не надо извращать моих слов (Рощин 2). [P.:] Look here! You don't need to twist my words (2a). ♦ «Вы не хотите, чтоб я любил вас, вот что!» — воскликнул я мрачно… (Тургенев 3). "You don't want me to love you—that's what it is," I burst out gloomily… (3b).

Ч-168 • ДА ЧТО́…! coll [Particle; Invar; often foll. by NP] used in exclamations to show that the commentary in the preceding context, which refers to the person(s), thing(s) etc reintroduced by the idiom, is in some way an understatement or does not reflect the entirety of the situation, and that what is to follow is both more extreme and closer to the truth: what am I saying, [+ the word or phrase in question from the preceding context]; s.o. ⟨sth., doing sth. etc⟩ isn't the half of it!; and not just ⟨only⟩…!

«Вы, может быть, думаете, что наука — это лёгкое дело? Это, сударыня, годы труда, самоотверженного и незаметного! Да что там годы — вся жизнь!» (Каверин 1). "Perhaps you think that scientific research is an easy thing? Madam, it means years of labour, selfless and unregarded! What am I saying: years—one's whole life!" (1a).

Ч-169 • ÉСЛИ ЧТО coll; ÉЖЕЛИ ЧТО highly coll [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] if some trouble should occur or need should arise: if something ⟨anything⟩ happens ⟨should happen⟩; if anything happens ⟨should happen⟩ to me ⟨it etc⟩; in case something ⟨anything⟩ happens; if anything comes ⟨crops⟩ up; if need be; if something ⟨anything⟩ goes wrong; if things go wrong ⟨take a wrong turn⟩; in the event of trouble; if there's any trouble; [lim.] any tricks (and…).

[Гомыра:] Я это к тому говорю, что раз уж он попал в такую историю, то пусть он знает… (Обращаясь к Букину.) Короче, если что, то знай, Вася, у тебя есть друзья, которые не бросят тебя на произвол судьбы (Вампилов 3). [G.:] I'm saying this so that, since he's got himself into a situation like this, he'll know… (Turns to Bukin.) In other words, if anything happens, Vasia, you know you've got friends who won't just leave you to your fate (3a). ♦ «Ну гляди, — …пригрозил Алтынник, — если что, всех вас перережу, под расстрел пойду, а жить с Людкой не буду» (Войнович 5). "But now listen"—Altinnik decided to throw in a threat…—"any tricks and I'll cut all of you to ribbons. I'll take a firing squad over living with Ludmilla" (5a).

Ч-170 • ЗА ЧТÓ; ЗА ЧТÓ ПРО ЧТÓ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used in questions and subord clauses] for what reason or cause: what (on earth) for; why; whatever for.

«Я решился драться с вами». Базаров вытаращил глаза. «Со мной?» — «Непременно с вами». — «Да за что? помилуйте». — «Я бы мог объяснить вам причину, — начал Павел Петрович. — Но я предпочитаю умолчать о ней» (Тургенев 2). "I've decided to fight a duel with you." Bazarov opened his eyes very wide. "With me?" "With you, absolutely." "What on earth for?" "I could explain the reason to you," Pavel Petrovich replied. "But I prefer to keep silent on that score" (2g). "I have decided to fight you." Bazarov opened his eyes wide. "Me?" "Precisely." "But what for, pray?" "I could explain the reason to you," began Pavel Petrovich, "but I prefer to keep silent about it" (2c).

Ч-171 • НА ЧТÓ[1] кому кто-что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used in questions without a verb and in subord clauses] for what purpose (does s.o. need some person or thing): на что Y-у X? ≃ why does Y need X?; what does Y need X for?; what does Y want with X?; [when said ironically, mockingly etc] what good ⟨use⟩ is X to Y?; what is X to Y?; what does Y care about X?

…Помнили, что так же, как и теперь, в руках его торчала целая пачка радужных и он разбрасывал их зря, не торгуясь, не соображая и не желая соображать, на что ему столько товару, вина и проч.? (Достоевский 1). …They remembered that he had a whole wad of money sticking out of his hand, just as now, and was throwing it around for nothing, without bargaining, without thinking and without wishing to think why he needed such a quantity of goods, wines, and so forth (1a). ♦ [Хомич:] Я инженер, я талантливый человек… [Граня:] На что мне твой ум? На что мне твой ум? (Солженицын 8). [Kh.:] I'm an engineer, I've got talent…. [G.:] What do I care about your brains? What do I care? (8a).

Ч-172 • НА ЧТÓ[2]…; УЖ НА ЧТÓ… both coll [Particle; these forms only] 1. [usu. foll. by a clause introduced by «а» or «но»] despite the fact that the person or thing in question possesses the named quality to a high degree, displays the named characteristics to a great extent, does sth. with a high degree of intensity etc: (уж) на что X…, а ⟨но⟩ и он… ≃ (as)… as X is ⟨does sth.⟩, even he ⟨it etc⟩…; even X, as… as he ⟨it etc⟩ is ⟨does sth.⟩,…; heaven knows X is ⟨does sth.⟩…, but ⟨yet, and⟩ even he ⟨it etc⟩…; X is… as anything, but…

«Я уж на что глуп, — сказал он, — а вы ещё глупее меня!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "I'm foolish as anything," said he, "but you are more foolish than I!" (1a).

2. [foll. by AdjP or AdvP; used in exclamations] extremely, to a high degree: how [AdjP]!; what (a) [NP]!; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) is so [AdjP]!; [with a compar form; used when confirming the previously expressed evaluation] as… as could ⟨can⟩ be!

«Справедливо ли я говорю?» — «Уж на что же справедливее!» — «Тоже и об заслугах надо сказать» (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). "Is it right what I say?" "As right as could be!" "There's this to be said about merits, too" (3a).

Ч-173 • НÉ ЗА ЧТО coll [formula phrase; Invar] used in response to an expression of thanks: don't mention it; it was nothing ⟨no trouble⟩ (at all); no problem; [lim.] my pleasure.

Понял как будто. Сам попробовал и получилось. Расцвёл от радости. «Спасибо», — говорит. «Не за что. Спасибо мне твоего не надо» (Владимов 2). [context transl] He seemed to understand, tried it himself and it worked. He beamed with joy. "Thanks," he said. "Forget it. I don't need your thanks" (2a).

Ч-174 • НÉ НА ЧТО жить, купить что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin)] s.o. has no money at all or not enough money to buy sth.: (s.o.) has nothing ⟨no money⟩ (to buy sth. with ⟨to live on⟩); (s.o.) doesn't have enough (to buy sth. with ⟨to live on⟩); (s.o.) doesn't have enough money (to buy sth. with ⟨to live on⟩).

Не только драгоценных металлов и мехов не получали обыватели в обмен за свои продукты, но не на что было купить даже хлеба (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Not only did the townsfolk receive no precious metals or furs in exchange for their products, they had nothing even to buy bread with (1a).

Ч-175 • НЕ ЧТÓ ИНÓЕ, КАК… [NP; used as intensif Particle; foll. by NP (inanim or, rare, human); fixed WO] the named thing itself: не что иное, как X ≃ nothing but X; nothing less ⟨else, other, more⟩ than X.

…Честолюбие есть не что иное, как жажда власти… (Лермонтов 1). …Ambition is nothing but greed for power… (1b). …Ambition is nothing else than thirst for power… (1a).

Ч-176 • НИ ЗА ЧТÓ[1]; НИ ЗА ЧТО НА СВÉТЕ both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with negated verbs (more often pfv fut or subjunctive); fixed WO] under no conditions or circumstances: not for anything (in the world ⟨on earth⟩); not for (all) the world; on no ⟨not on any⟩ account; not at any price; nothing on earth (would ⟨could⟩ make one do sth.); [lim.] not on your life!; no way! no dice!; nothing doing; no matter what; never. Cf. not for all the tea in China.

«…Мне ни за что не хотелось бы расстаться с вами» (Булгаков 9). "I would not like to part with you for anything" (9a). "I do not wish to lose you on any account" (9c). ♦ «Каретников человек очень плохой и очень злопамятный. Если ты сейчас же с ним не помиришься…» — «Ни за что!» — прокричал Ефим (Войнович 6). "Karetnikov is quite powerful. If you don't patch this up with him right away—" "Not for the world!" Yefim shouted (6a). ♦ [Бусыгин:] Мы едем домой. [Сильва:] Ни за что (Вампилов 4). [B.:] We're going home. [S.:] Not on your life! (4a). [B.:] We're going home. [S.:] No dice (4b).

Ч-177 • НИ ЗА ЧТÓ[2]; НИ ЗА ЧТÓ НИ ПРО ЧТÓ; НИ ЗÁ ЧТО НИ ПРÓ ЧТО all coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; more often used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] 1.

погибнуть, пропасть и т.п. ~ (of a person) (to perish, be destroyed etc) to no purpose, futilely: (all) for nothing ⟨naught⟩; (all) in vain.

Здесь ни за что погиб мой отец… Ни за грош пропала моя собственная жизнь (Зиновьев 1). "My Father died here for nothing…. My own life has been ruined for nothing" (1a).

2. обидеть, оскорбить, ударить, ругать, арестовать кого и т.п. ~ (to offend, insult, hit, berate, arrest etc s.o.) without any reason or grounds for doing so: for no reason (at all); for no reason whatever ⟨whatsoever⟩; for no good ⟨particular⟩ reason; for nothing (at all); for nothing, for no reason; just for the hell of it; (quarrel) over nothing.

Настёна обычно отмалчивалась, она научилась этому ещё в то… лето, когда обходила с Катькой ангарские деревни и когда каждый, кому не лень, мог ни за что ни про что её облаять (Распутин 2). Nastyona usually held her peace. She had learned how that summer when she and Katya made the rounds of the Angara villages and anyone who felt like it could shower her with curses for no reason at all (2a).

Ч-178 • НУ И ЧТО́ (ЖЕ)? coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] used in response to s.o.'s statement to ask for an explanation of its significance (often said pointedly to express disagreement with the implications of what was said, one's opinion that the statement is irrelevant etc): so what?; (and ⟨so, well,⟩) what of it?; so?; (well,) what about it?

[Мечеткин:] Между прочим, уже десять девятого. [Хороших:] Ну и что? [Мечеткин:] Опаздываете, Анна Васильевна (Вампилов 2). [M.:] By the way, it is now ten minutes past eight. [A.:] So what? [M.:] You're late, Anna Vassilievna (2a).

Ч-179 • НУ ЧТО́ coll [Particle; Invar] used to induce one's interlocutor to answer a question: well (now); so.

Он достал из кармана шаровар несколько золотых и положил ей на блюдо. «Ну что, как живёшь?» — сказал Кутузов, направляясь к отведённой для него комнате (Толстой 6). He took some gold coins out of his trouser pocket and put them on her dish. "Well now, how is life treating you" he said, walking through to the room that had been set aside for him (6c).

Ч-180 • ХОТЬ БЫ ЧТО́ coll [Invar; predic] 1. ~ (кому) disapprov [impers] s.o. is totally indifferent to sth.: X-у хоть бы что ≃ X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less; X doesn't give a hoot ⟨a damn, a darn⟩; X doesn't care a hang; X doesn't care; it means nothing ⟨it doesn't mean a thing⟩ to X.

«Смотрю, у обочины под кустом сидит на мотоцикле товарищ Красивый Фуражкин, автоинспектор, газету читает, а мимо грузовики идут, хоть бы что» (Аксёнов 10). "I see at the side of the road, under a bush, sitting on his motor-bike—Comrade Smart-Hat, traffic-cop. He's reading a newspaper while lorries go by, he couldn't care less" (10a).

2. ~ кому or кто [impers or, less often, with subj: human] sth. (fatigue, physical or emotional stress, alcohol etc) has no impact on s.o., in no way reflects on s.o.: X-у хоть бы что ≃ it doesn't affect ⟨tell on⟩ X at all ⟨a bit⟩; it has no effect on X; it's nothing for X; [in refer. to emotional stress] it doesn't ruffle X at all ⟨a bit⟩; [in refer. to doing sth. dangerous, difficult etc] (X does sth.) without turning a hair.

Он может один выпить бутылку водки — и хоть бы что! He can drink a whole bottle of vodka all by himself—and it doesn't affect him a bit. ♦ [Миронов:] Отчаянный, однако, у вас водитель, товарищ председатель. Гонит в самую пургу, хоть бы что! (Салынский 1). [M.:] You've got a fearless chauffeur, Comrade Chairman. She drives through a blizzard without turning a hair! (1a).

Ч-181 • ХОТЬ ТЫ ЧТО́ highly coll [subord clause; Invar] regardless of what one does (the desired outcome is unattainable): try as you ⟨he etc⟩ may ⟨might⟩; no matter what you do ⟨try⟩; it's a lost cause; it's hopeless.

«Рафаэля считают чуть не дураком, потому что это, мол, авторитет; а сами бессильны и бесплодны до гадости, а у самих фантазия дальше „Девушки у фонтана" не хватает, хоть ты что! И написана-то девушка прескверно» (Тургенев 2). "Raphael they practically regard as a fool because, if you please, he is an authority. Yet they themselves are so impotent and sterile that their imagination cannot rise above Girl at the Fountain, try as they may. And the girl is abominably drawn" (2c).

Ч-182 • ЧТО́ БЫ ⟨Б⟩… coll [modal Particle; Invar] (used in exclamations to express the wish that s.o. do sth. or that sth. happen, express frustration that s.o. did not do sth. or that sth. did not happen etc) it would be (or would have been) good if: why don't…; why not…; it would be ⟨might be, would have been etc⟩ nice if…; [lim.] if only…

Что бы тебе помолчать. Why don't you keep quiet. ♦ «Один раз вы велели мне тридцать рублей отдать, так я и помню». — «Что бы тебе записывать?» — упрекнул его Обломов (Гончаров 1). "One day you told me to give him thirty rubles, that I remember." "If only you had written it down!" Oblomov said reprovingly (1b).

Ч-183 • ЧТО ДО… (, ТО ⟨ТАК⟩…) [subord Conj] as concerns (s.o. or sth.): что до X-а (, то…) ≃ as ⟨so⟩ far as X is concerned; as for ⟨to⟩ X; when it comes to X; for person X's part.

«Что же до меня, то я давно уже положил не думать о том: человек ли создал бога или бог человека?» (Достоевский 1). "As for me, I long ago decided not to think about whether man created God or God created man" (1a).

Ч-184 • ЧТО́, ЕСЛИ ⟨ЕСЛИ Б(Ы)⟩; ЧТО́, Е́ЖЕЛИ ⟨Е́ЖЕЛИ Б(Ы)⟩ highly coll [these forms only; fixed WO] 1. used to introduce a question expressing inquiry, apprehension etc: what if…; suppose…

[Хлестаков:] Что, если в самом деле он [городничий] потащит меня в тюрьму? (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] Suppose he [the Mayor] really does haul me off to jail? (4b).

2. used to introduce a question expressing a suggestion, invitation, request: why not…; why don't…; how about…; what if…; what about…

Некоторые довольно интеллигентные люди, замечая отдельные недостатки, которые всё ещё имеют место в нашей стране, думают: а что, если слегка потеснить большевиков, чтобы в дальнейшем, устранив эти недостатки, перестать их теснить? (Искандер 4). There are certain rather well-informed people who notice the isolated shortcomings that still exist in our country and think: What if we crowd the Bolsheviks a little, with the idea that we'll stop crowding them in the future, when we've eliminated these deficiencies? (4a).

Ч-185 • ЧТО́ Ж(Е) coll [Particle; Invar] 1. Also: ЧЕГО́ Ж(Е) coll; ЧТО́ (ЖЕ) Э́ТО coll [used in questions and subord clauses] for what reason?: why?; what for?; how come?

«Эхе, хе! двенадцать часов! — сказал… Чичиков, взглянув на часы. — Что ж я так закопался?» (Гоголь 3). "Oh, my, it's twelve o'clock already," said Chichikov, glancing at his watch. "Why have I been lingering over the stuff so long?" (3c).

2. used to introduce questions, often rhetorical ones, or exclamations (when the question or exclamation is positively phrased, a negative response is expected; when the question or exclamation is negatively phrased, a confirmation or expression of agreement is expected): what; (and) so; [lim.] you don't expect ⟨think⟩?

«Мы к товарищу председателю [Голосову]…» — «Голосова сейчас здесь нет, он ушёл». По кустам прокатился глухой смех. «Это вы, товарищ, изволили сказать несправедливо…» — «Вот чудаки! — воскликнул Покисен. — Что же, я вам врать, что ли, буду? Голосов вышел в сад» (Федин 1). "We want the comrade chairman [Golosov]…." "Golosov isn't here at the moment, he went out." A hollow laugh rolled through the bushes. "Now you're speaking falsely, Comrade…." "What fools!" exclaimed Pokisen. "What, d'you think I'm going to lie to you? Golosov's gone out to the orchard" (1a).

3. used in a dialogue to induce one's interlocutor to answer a question or give an explanation: well; now; (and) what about it?; (and) what of it?; [lim.] …I suppose.

«…Как проехать отсюда к Плюшкину, так, чтобы не мимо господского дома?» Мужик, казалось, затруднился таким вопросом. «Что ж, не знаешь?» — «Нет, барин, не знаю» (Гоголь 3). "How can we drive to Pliushkin's place from here without passing by the manor house?" The peasant seemed puzzled by the question. "Well, don't you know?" "No, sir, I don't" (3c). ♦ «Он, что же, по-советски женился?» — «Не знаю. Думаю — да», — ответил Старцов (Федин 1). "He had a Soviet wedding, I suppose?" "I don't know. I think so—yes," replied Startsov (1a).

4. Also: НУ ЧТО́ Ж(Е) coll used to introduce a remark expressing concession, agreement: well (then); all right then; [lim.] I see your point.

«Со мной в дороге легко». — «Ну что ж, идём», — сказал Джамхух, и они пошли (Искандер 5). "Traveling with me is no trouble." "Well then, let's go," Jamkhoukh said, and they started out (5a).

Ч-186 • ЧТО́ Ж(Е) ТАКО́ГО?; ЧТО́ ТУТ ⟨В Э́ТОМ⟩ ТАКО́ГО?; ЧТО́ Ж(Е) ТАКО́ГО, что…? all coll [indep. sent (first two variants) or main clause in a complex sent (3rd var.); fixed WO] what is unusual (often wrong or bad) about what has been said or done?: so what (if I do ⟨if there is etc⟩)?; what of it (if…)?; what's wrong (the matter) with that?; what's the big deal?; what's so special ⟨bad, terrible etc⟩ about that?; why (make) such a fuss about that?; …and who minds that?

[Фёкла:] Впрочем, что ж такого, что иной раз выпьет лишнее — ведь не всю же неделю бывает пьян; иной день выберется и трезвый (Гоголь 1). [F.:] But what of it if he has a drop too much now and then? He's not drunk all week. Some days he turns up sober (1b). ♦ [Колесов:] …Зря вы от свадьбы отказываетесь. Пожалеете, Таня. [Таня:] Ничего, переживу как-нибудь. [Колесов:] Ну, смотрите. А то приходите, если вздумаете. Комната сорок два — запомнили? [Таня:] Как? Вы опять меня приглашаете? А с Голошубовой как же? [Колесов:] Приглашаю и вас и Голошубову. Что тут такого? Места всем хватит — свадьба (Вампилов 3). [K.:] …You shouldn't turn down the wedding. You'll be sorry, Tanya. [T.:] Never mind. I'll survive, somehow. [K.:] Well, it's up to you. But if you change your mind, come anyway. Room forty-two—got it? [T.:] What? You're inviting me again? What about Goloshubova? [K.:] I'm inviting you and Goloshubova. What's wrong with that? There's room for everybody—it's a wedding! (3b).

Ч-187 • ЧТО́ (Ж) С ТОГО́?; НУ И ЧТО́ (Ж) С ТОГО́?; (НУ И) ЧТО́ (Ж) С ТОГО́, что…? all coll [indep. sent (first two variants) or main clause in a complex sent (3rd var.); fixed WO] used in response to s.o.'s statement, description of an action etc to emphasize that the implications of that statement, consequences of the action etc are irrelevant or unimportant: (well,) so what?; (so) what if (I did ⟨she didn't, there isn't etc⟩)?; (and ⟨well,⟩) what of it?; well, and what of it?; what's the matter with that?; what does it matter (that ⟨if⟩…)?; what difference does it make (that ⟨if⟩…)?; [in older texts] what matter (if…)?

«Владимир Николаевич, — кажется, она тоже сердится, — мне о вас говорили как о порядочном человеке». — «Ну и что с того, что вам говорили? Почему же я при этом должен ждать вашей смерти?» (Войнович 3). "Vladimir Nikolaevich." I suppose she was getting angry, too. "I was told you are a decent man." "Well, what of it? Why should I wait for you to die?" (3a).

Ч-188 • ЧТО́ Ж(Е) Э́ТО Я (…) coll [indep. sent or question; fixed WO] used by the speaker or narrator to interrupt himself when he suddenly realizes that what he is saying, doing, or thinking is not quite right: what am I saying ⟨asking, thinking of, doing⟩?; why am I saying ⟨asking etc⟩ such things?

Прошло сколько-то времени. Нюра очнулась. Солнце жгло спину… «Что ж это я лежу?» — подумала она недоуменно и тут же вспомнила про железную птицу (Войнович 2). After a while Nyura came to. The sun was beating down on her back… What am I doing lying down? she thought, bewildered, and immediately remembered the iron bird (2a).

Ч-189 • ЧТО́ ЗА… [Particle; Invar] 1. [used in questions and obj or subj clauses] used when asking the interlocutor to describe the character, personality etc of the named person(s), or the nature, characteristics etc of the named thing: what kind ⟨sort⟩ of (a) [NP] is (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩)?; what is (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) like?; what is (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩)?

«А насчёт квартиры я вам вот что скажу: соглашайтесь. Нет, не кидайтесь так сразу. Скажите, что вам надо подумать, посмотреть, что за квартира…» (Войнович 3). "But here's what I have to say to you about the apartment: agree. No, don't just give in right away. Say that you have to think it over, see what kind of apartment it is…" (3a).

2. (used in exclamations expressing the speaker's feeling about or emotional reaction to some person, thing, or phenomenon) (s.o. or sth. is) very (pretty, nice, revolting etc): what a [NP]!; what a beautiful ⟨terrible etc⟩ [NP]!; (he ⟨it etc⟩) is such a [NP]; (he ⟨she etc⟩) is such an exquisite ⟨beautiful etc⟩ [NP]; [when the Russian NP is translated by an AdjP] how [AdjP].

[Альда:] Что за славный лесочек! (Солженицын 11). What a gorgeous little wood! (11a). ♦ Те из моих читателей, которые не живали в деревнях, не могут себе вообразить, что за прелесть эти уездные барышни! (Пушкин 3). Those of my readers who have never lived in the country cannot imagine how delightful these provincial young ladies are! (3c)

Ч-190 • ЧТО́ К ЧЕМУ́ знать, понимать, соображать, разобраться, объяснить и т.п. coll [Invar; usu. used as an obj clause; fixed WO] (to know, understand, grasp, explain etc) how a business, process etc operates, or what the situation is or demands: what's what; what it's all about; (know) the score; what is afoot; what's happening ⟨going on⟩; (learn ⟨understand etc⟩ the how and why ⟨the hows and whys⟩ of things; [lim.] size up (sth.); (get) the point; understand things.

riors" (2a). ♦ Она, видно, догадалась, что здесь к чему, но виду не подала… (Максимов 2). She had obviously guessed what was afoot but gave no sign of it (2a).

Ч-191 • ЧТО́ ЛИ coll [Particle; Invar] 1. used to express uncertainty, indecisiveness, hesitation, assumption: perhaps; maybe; or something; or whatever; I suppose.

Что она там делает? Гладит, что ли? (Трифонов 4). What was she doing there? Ironing or something? (4a).

2. [used in questions, rhet questions, exclamations] used to express doubt, bewilderment, incredulity etc: or what?; what?; [lim.] what am I ⟨are you etc⟩…?; is that it?; [may be translated as part of general context].

«Откуда угрозыску стало известно, что я в „Орбите" гулял? Следили за мной, что ли?» (Чернёнок 1). "How did CID find out that I was partying at the Orbit? Were you watching me, or what?" (1a).

3. [usu. used with imper] used to express exhortation: do [foll. by imper]; why don't you…?; …, will you?; [lim.] shall we…?

«Отсаживай, что ли, нижегородская ворона!» — кричал чужой кучер (Гоголь 3). "Back up, why don't you, you Nizhni Novgorod crow!" shouted the strange coachman (3c).

Ч-192 • ЧТО НИ… (ТО…) [subord Conj, correlative] (used to show that the stated phenomenon, situation etc repeats regularly with respect to time or space; also used to show that each member of the stated group falls into the stated category) each or almost each: each; every; each and every; there isn't ⟨there's hardly⟩ a day ⟨a year etc⟩ without a [NP].

Мне казалось, что я здорово поднаторела в лагерной медицине, а тут что ни слово — то загадка… (Гинзбург 2). I thought I had acquired a pretty good working knowledge of camp medicine, but here each word was a riddle… (2a).

Ч-193 • ЧТО (…) НИ…; ЧТО БЫ (…) НИ… [NP; used as subord Conj, concessive] regardless of what: whatever; no matter what; [lim.] everything.

…Она ему в рот смотрела, что бы он ни говорил (Битов 2). She listened spellbound no matter what he said (2a).

Ч-194 • ЧТО ТА́К? coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] for what reason?: how's ⟨how is⟩ that?; why's ⟨why is⟩ that?; how come?; why so?; why?; what makes you ⟨why do you⟩ say that?; [in response to a negative statement] why not?

«Не хотите ли подбавить рома? — сказал я моему собеседнику: — у меня есть белый из Тифлиса; теперь холодно». — «Нет-с, благодарствуйте, не пью». — «Что так?» (Лермонтов 1). "Have some rum in it?" I asked my companion. "I've got some white rum from Tiflis. It's turned cold now." "Thanks all the same, I don't drink." "How is that?" (1c).

Ч-195 • ЧТО ТАКО́Е [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [predic; subj: human, abstr, or concr; used in questions and subord clauses] what (the person or thing in question) is or represents: что такое X? ≃ what is X (exactly ⟨really⟩)?; what is X like?; what sort of (a) [NP] is X?; what is the nature of thing X?; ‖ …вот что такое X! ≃ that's what X is!; that's the kind of [NP] X is.

«Что такое общество?» — задал он себе вопрос… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "What is society?" he asked himself… (2a). ♦ «Ma tante, вы читали эту книгу — что это такое?»… — «Ах, какая гадость!» (Гончаров 1). "You've read this book, Auntie…. What is it like?" "Oh, it's horrible!" (1a).

2. coll [foll. by infin; usu. used in subord clauses] what the significance of some action is, what possible repercussions it may lead to etc: what it means (to do sth.).

«Влепят вам десять лет, вот тогда колхозники будут знать, что такое оскорблять председателя колхоза…» (Рыбаков 2). "You'll get ten years for that, and then the kolkhozniks will know what it means to insult the kolkhoz chairman" (2a).

3. coll [indep. sent] what is taking place? what is wrong?: what's the matter?; what is it ⟨this⟩?; what's going on?

«Приходит раз Герасим Николаевич [Горностаев] к Августе Авдеевне в кабинет… Подошёл к окну, побарабанил пальцами по стеклу, стал насвистывать что-то очень печальное и знакомое до ужаса. Вслушалась, оказалось — траурный марш Шопена. Не выдержала, сердце у неё по человечеству заныло, пристала: „Что такое? В чём дело?"» (Булгаков 12). "One day Gornostayev came into Augusta Avdeyevna's office…. He went over to the window, drummed his fingers on the glass and began to whistle a sad, terribly familiar snatch of music. She listened for a moment and recognized Chopin's Funeral March. Unable to contain herself, filled with human kindness, she asked, 'What's the matter? What is it?'" (12a).

Ч-196 • ЧТО́ ⟨ЧЕГО́⟩ (УЖ) ТАМ; ЧТО́ ⟨ЧЕГО́⟩ (УЖ) ТУТ all coll [Invar] 1. [Particle] used to express unenthusiastic agreement: well, all right ⟨OK⟩; why not.

«Дамы, можно рассказать грубоватый анекдот?» — «Рассказывай, чего уж там». "May I tell an off-color joke, ladies?" "Well, OK, go ahead."

2. [Particle] used to emphasize that sth. is insignificant, not worth worrying about etc: never mind; (it's) no big deal; it's nothing; [when responding to a previously stated argument] never mind that.

…Он всё нёс банальщину и тривиальщину, всё воображал… что, чего там, и так сойдёт… (Стругацкие 1). …He kept on going with his banalities and trivialites, imagining… that never mind, he'd make it (1a). ♦ Дед объявил, что парк будет точной копией — в миниатюре — Люксембургского сада в Париже. Это произвело впечатление, смету увеличили. «Но ты же не был в Париже!» — говорила бабка. «А, чего там!» — отвечал дед своим любимым присловьем, к которому иногда добавлял: «Не боги горшки обжигают» (Чудаков 1). Grandfather proclaimed that the garden would be an exact replica, in miniature, of the Jardin du Luxembourg in Paris. This went over well, and his budget was increased. "But you've never even been to Paris," Grandma told him. "Never mind that," he answered her with his favorite phrase, to which he sometimes added "the longest journey begins with a single step" (1a).

3. [adv] for what reason (implying that there is no reason for doing sth.): why; why should one…; (there's) no point in (doing sth.).

[Сильва:] Я считаю, лучше сказать сразу! Честно и откровенно!.. Чего тут темнить, когда всё уже ясно? (Вампилов 4). [S.:] I think it's better to say it right out! Honestly and openly!… Why hide anything when it's already clear? (4b).

Ч-197 • ЧТО́-ТО НЕ ТАК ⟨НЕ ТО⟩ coll [these forms only; usu. indep. sent or obj clause with $быть_{ø}$; fixed WO] sth. about the situation is suspicious, not quite as it should be: что-то не так ≃ something is wrong ⟨amiss, out of line, just not right, not quite right etc⟩; there is something wrong ⟨amiss etc⟩; [lim.] something smells fishy ⟨funny⟩.

«Хороший дом, — сказал мой старик, кивнув головой, — вызывай хозяина, поговорим, поторгуемся…» — «Хозяина нет», — сказал Сандро, — дом продаёт горсовет». — «А хозяин что, умер?»… — «Не то чтобы умер… здесь жил один грек. Так его вместе с женой арестовали и в Сибирь отправили…» — «Вот оно как», — сказал мой старик и замолчал. Сандро тоже мол-

чал. Я же сразу почувствовал, что здесь что-то не то! (Искандер 3). “It’s a good house,” my old man said with a nod. “Call out the owner, let’s talk, let’s drive a bargain.” “There isn’t any owner,” Sandro said. “The city soviet is selling the house.” “What, did the owner die?”… “It’s not that he died…. A Greek lived here. He and his wife were arrested and sent to Siberia.” “So that’s it,” my old man said, and fell silent. Sandro was also silent. I knew there was something wrong here! (3a).

Ч-198 • ЧТО́ ТЫ ⟨ВЫ⟩!; ДА ЧТО́ ТЫ ⟨ВЫ⟩! all coll [Interj; these forms only] 1. used to express surprise, bewilderment, fright etc: you don’t say (so)!; what do you mean!; good Lord!; how can that be!; really!; is that so!

«Я устроюсь скоро, очень скоро, Мари». — «Ну, как ты думаешь, с полгода, или…» — «Что ты, Мари! Месяца два, самое большее…» (Федин 1). “I’ll get settled quickly, very quickly, Marie.” “Well what do you think, in six months, or…?” “What do you mean, Marie! Two months at the very most…” (1a).

2. Also: НУ ЧТО́ ТЫ ⟨ВЫ⟩! coll used to express a skeptical or sarcastic reaction to the interlocutor’s statement: come ⟨go⟩ on!; oh come!; good Lord (, …indeed)!; what are you talking about!; the things you say!; [lim.] oh, get away with you!

[Себейкин:] Есть [водка]? [Вася:] Да что ты, полно! [Себейкин:] Надо же! Водка осталась! Когда это такое было-то! (Рощин 2). [S.:] Is there any [vodka] left? [V.:] Com’on, there’s plenty! [S.:] What do you know! There’s vodka left! When has that ever happened before? (2a).

3. Also: НУ ⟨НЕ́Т,⟩ ЧТО́ ТЫ ⟨ВЫ⟩! coll used to express one’s disagreement with or a denial of some statement, or as a negative answer to a question: what do you mean!; what are you saying!; what are you talking about!; (no,) not at all; (no,) it’s out of the question; good heavens, no!; certainly not; of course not.

[Макарская:] Вы в каком суде разводились? [Сильва:] Ну что вы! Никогда этого не было (Вампилов 4). [M.:] In what court did you get your divorce? [S.:] What do you mean! I never had one (4b).

Ч-199 • ЧТО-ЧТО́ ⟨чего-чего и т.п.⟩, А… coll [NP + Conj; used as a restr. marker] used to single out one thing, phenomenon etc (or group of things, phenomena etc) among others: что-что, а X ⟨делать X⟩…≃ perhaps not something else, but (s.o. will do ⟨give etc⟩) X; if anything, X is…; whatever else (s.o. doesn’t have ⟨know etc⟩), he does have ⟨know etc⟩ X…; say what you like, but (s.o. certainly has ⟨knows how to do etc⟩ X); [when foll. by a clause with negated predic] that’s ⟨X is⟩ the last thing (s.o. will do etc); ‖ чего-чего, а X-а… ⟨чему-чему, а X-у… и т.п.⟩ ≃ if there’s anything (s.o. has ⟨knows how to do etc⟩), it’s X; there’s one thing (s.o. has ⟨can do etc⟩), and that’s X; one thing you can say for s.o.: he knows how (to do X).

[Аркадина:] На мне был удивительный туалет… Что-что, а уж одеться я не дура (Чехов 6). [A.:] I wore a lovely dress. Say what you like, but I do know how to dress (6b). [A.:] I was wearing a fantastic outfit… One thing you can say for me: I know how to dress (6d).

Ч-200 • ЧУТЬ ЧТО́ coll [subord clause; Invar; fixed WO] 1. in case some new development (usu. trouble) should occur: if something ⟨anything⟩ happens ⟨should happen⟩; in case something ⟨anything⟩ happens; if anything crops up; if something ⟨anything⟩ goes ⟨should go⟩ wrong; in the event of trouble; if there’s any trouble.

[Кудряш:] А мать-то не хватится?.. [Варвара:] У неё первый сон крепок… Да и Глаша стережёт; чуть что, она сейчас голос подаст (Островский 6). [K.:] But that ma of yours—no danger of her catching on?… [V.:] She sleeps like a log the first half of the night…. Besides, Glasha is keeping watch; she’ll let us know directly if anything goes wrong (6b).

2. when even the most minor problem, unpleasantness, complication etc arises, or even without any cause at all (one acts as stated): at the slightest excuse ⟨provocation⟩; at the least little thing; at the drop of a hat.

В баню нас водили обычно два надзирателя, Ваня и Саня. Ваня маленький, чёрный, злой; у него была кличка «Цыган». Чуть что — орёт, кроет матом, грозит, дерётся (Марченко 1). We were usually taken to the bath house by two warders, Vanya and Sanya. Vanya was short, dark and bad-tempered. His nickname was “Gipsy.” At the slightest excuse he started bellowing, cursing, threatening and pummeling you (1a).

Ч-201 • ЛИША́ТЬСЯ/ЛИШИ́ТЬСЯ ЧУВСТВ; ПА́ДАТЬ/УПА́СТЬ БЕЗ ЧУВСТВ ⟨БЕЗ СОЗНА́НИЯ, БЕЗ ПА́МЯТИ⟩; ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ СОЗНА́НИЕ [VP; subj: human] to become unconscious: X лишился чувств ≃ X lost consciousness; X passed out; X fainted; X fell down unconscious; X fell (to the ground) senseless; X fell in a faint; X swooned; [lim.] (sth.) knocked X senseless.

В это самое время меня сильно кольнуло в грудь пониже правого плеча; я упал и лишился чувств (Пушкин 2). At that moment I felt a sharp stab in my chest just under the right shoulder; I fell down and lost consciousness (2a). ♦ Он обнял её. Она вскрикнула и без чувств упала на его плечо (Толстой 4). He embraced her. She gave a litle cry and fell in a faint on his shoulder (4c).

Ч-202 • В РАСТРЁПАННЫХ ЧУ́ВСТВАХ coll, usu. humor [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human) or adv] in a state of great agitation, emotional disturbance, confusion: (one is ⟨one does sth., one does sth. when he is⟩) in an emotional turmoil; (one is ⟨one does sth. etc⟩) in a state of emotional turmoil; (one is) all shook up; (one is) thrown off balance; (one is) shaken.

Так, теперь всё ясно. В растрёпанных чувствах [Нина] забыла «заказец», а ведь именно за заказцем приезжала контра на «жигулях» (Аксёнов 6). So everything was now clear. In the emotional turmoil Nina had forgotten her little “job,” and obviously that counterrevolutionary in the Zhiguli had come with the intention of collecting it (6a).

Ч-203 • ПРИВОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИВЕСТИ́ В ЧУ́ВСТВО кого [VP] 1. Also: ПРИВОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИВЕСТИ́ В СОЗНА́НИЕ ⟨В ПА́МЯТЬ obs⟩ [subj: human or abstr] to cause s.o. to regain consciousness, come out of a stupor etc: X привёл Y-а в чувство ≃ X brought Y to Y’s senses; X brought Y (a)round.

…Он привёл [мертвецки пьяного] музыканта в чувство, а через час тот уже настраивал непослушными пальцами свой инструмент у него за сценой (Максимов 2). …He brought the [dead-drunk] musician to his senses, and an hour later Govorukhin’s somewhat wooden fingers were tuning his instrument backstage at the club (2a).

2. [subj: human] to take decisive measures and cause s.o. to stop doing sth. offensive, reprehensible, undesirable etc, make s.o. act sensibly: X привёл Y-а в чувство ≃ X brought Y (back) to Y’s senses.

[Репников:] …Что он [Колесов] натворил? [Милиционер:] …[Ваш студент] нанёс телесные повреждения музыканту Шафранскому. [Колесов:] Этот тип ворвался в номер, стал кричать, оскорбил женщину, и меня он оскорбил. Я привёл его в чувство… (Вампилов 3). [R.:] …What do you want him [Kolesov] for? [Policeman:] …[Your student] inflicted bodily harm on the musician, Shafransky. [K.:] That character forced his way into the room and started yelling. He insulted the woman, and he insulted me too, I brought him to his senses… (3b).

Ч-204 • ПРИХОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИЙТИ́ В ЧУ́ВСТВО ⟨В СОЗНА́НИЕ, В ПА́МЯТЬ obs⟩ [VP; subj: human] to come out of a state of unconsciousness, semiconsciousness, drowsiness etc: X пришёл в чувство ≃ X regained ⟨recovered⟩ consciousness; X came to; X came (a)round.

У доктора закружилась голова. Он лишился чувств и упал на тротуар без памяти. Когда он пришёл в сознание и ему помогли встать, ему предложили отвести его, куда он укажет. Он поблагодарил и отказался от помощи, объяснив, что ему только через дорогу, напротив. (Пастернак 1). The doctor's head was spinning. He fainted and fell down unconscious on the sidewalk. When he came to and people helped him to get up and offered to take him where he wished to go, he thanked them and refused, saying he had only to cross the street (1a).

Ч-205 • СТА́ДНОЕ ЧУ́ВСТВО usu. disapprov [NP; sing only] the inclination to conform to the behavior of the crowd: herd instinct.

«Зачем ты накупил столько лотерейных билетов? Ведь всё равно не выиграешь» — «Стадное чувство: все покупали помногу — и я купил». "Why did you buy so many lottery tickets? You won't win anything anyway." "It was the herd instinct. Everyone was buying a lot so I bought a lot too."

Ч-206 • ЧУ́ВСТВО ЛО́КТЯ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] mutual support and loyalty between friends: (feeling of) camaraderie; (sense of) fellowship.

Он тут ощущал «чувство локтя», спайку коллектива — одним словом, настоящую демократию (Домбровский 2). Here he had the feeling of camaraderie, the fellowship of the collective, in a word, genuine democracy (2a).

Ч-207 • ШЕСТО́Е ЧУ́ВСТВО [NP; sing oly; fixed WO] intuitive perception that appears to be independent of the five primary senses: sixth sense.

Какое-то шестое чувство заставило нас одновременно протянуть руки из-под колючих серых одеял и чокнуться жестяными кружками, в которых была заранее заготовлена сладкая вода (Гинзбург 1). Prompted by some sixth sense, we simultaneously stretched out our hands from under the gray, prickly blankets and clinked together our tin mugs, which we had previously filled with sugar and water (1a).

Ч-208 • ЧУДЕСА́ В РЕШЕТЕ́ coll [NP; pl only; often used as exclamation; fixed WO] an astonishing, highly unusual thing, occurrence, phenomenon etc: no less than a miracle; a real wonder; (will) wonders never cease; truly amazing.

Несколько зная язык, он писал статью начерно, оставляя пробелы, вкрапливая русские фразы и требуя от Фёдора Константиновича дословного перевода своих передовичных словец: …чудеса в решете… пришла беда — растворяй ворота… (Набоков 1). Having a smattering of the language, he wrote his article out in rough, with gaps and Russian phrases interspersed, and demanded from Fyodor a literal translation of the usual phrases found in leaders:… wonders never cease… troubles never come singly… (1a).

Ч-209 • ЧУ́ДО КАК… coll [Invar; modif (intensif); foll. by Adv or short-form Adj or Part] (usu. refers to a high degree of some positive quality) very, extremely: amazingly; wonderfully; incredibly; impressively; marvelously; || X чудо как хорош(а) ≃ X is impressively handsome ⟨beautiful⟩; X is stunningly attractive ⟨unbelievably good-looking, totally divine etc⟩; X looks absolutely gorgeous ⟨marvelous, stunning etc⟩; [in limited comtexts] X is (absolutely) superb ⟨breathtaking, glorious etc⟩; X makes quite a picture!

[Кречинский:] …Как вы отдохнули после вчерашнего бала? [Лидочка:] У меня голова что-то болит. [Кречинский:] А ведь чудо как было весело! [Лидочка:] Ах, чудо как весело! (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] Have you rested well after the ball?… [L.:] I have a slight headache. [K.] What a wonderfully gay time we had! [L.:] Oh, yes, wonderfully gay (2a). ♦ «Поезжай, поезжай, там сейчас чудо как хорошо, а чтоб ты не соскучился, так я поручение тебе дам, отвезёшь моей подружке подарок» (Улицкая 1). "Oh, but you must go! It's absolutely marvellous there at this time of the year, and so that you don't get bored, I'll give you an errand. You can take a present to my friend" (1a).

Ч-210 • СИ́НИЙ ЧУЛО́К disapprov or derog [NP; fixed WO] a woman who is absorbed exclusively in scholarly interests (and usu. devoid of femininity): bluestocking.

«…Она презирает меня, я знаю. Нина — синий чулок. Я не ставлю ей это в вину, уважаю её стремления, она общественница, это хорошо, прекрасно! Но не все созданы такими» (Рыбаков 2). "She despises me, I know, because she's a bluestocking, but I don't mind. I admire her ambition. She's socially minded and that's good, that's wonderful. But we're not all made the same way" (2a).

< Loan translation of the English "bluestocking."

Ч-211 • КАК ЧУМЫ́ ⟨ЗАРА́ЗЫ, ЗАЧУМЛЁННОГО⟩ избегать, бояться кого-чего, сторониться кого и т.п. [как + NP; these forms only; зачумлённого is used in pl, too; adv (intensif)] to try extremely hard not to have contact with s.o., to avoid sth. in every possible way: avoid ⟨shun⟩ (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) like the plague; avoid s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ at any cost; keep ⟨stay⟩ as far away from s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ as possible ⟨as one can⟩; give s.o. the widest possible berth.

Начались судебные процессы. И в каждом из них главным свидетелем обвинения выступал Адам Казимирович [Козлевич]… Последней его жертвой пало филиальное отделение областной киноорганизации… Весь филиал упрятали на шесть лет… После этого наступил крах. Зелёного автомобиля стали бояться, как чумы. Граждане далеко обходили Спасо-Кооперативную площадь, на которой Козлевич водрузил полосатый столб с табличкой: «Биржа автомобилей» (Ильф и Петров 2). The trials soon commenced. In all of them, the main witness for the prosecution was Adam Kozlevich… His last victim was a branch of the regional film studio… The entire staff of the branch was locked up for six years… After that, Adam's business crashed. People avoided the green vehicle like the plague. They made wide circles around Holy Cooperative Square, where Kozlevich had erected a tall sign: automobile for hire (2d).

Ч-212 • НИ ЧУ́ТОЧКИ coll [NP_{gen}; Invar; adv (intensif); used with a negated predic] not even in the smallest degree: not a ⟨one, the slightest⟩ bit; not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩.

Почему ты думаешь, что я эту собаку боюсь? Мне ни чуточки не страшно. Я её даже погладить могу. Why do you think I'm afraid of that dog? I'm not one bit afraid. Look, I can even pet it!

Ч-213 • ЧУ́ТЬ БЫЛО НЕ…; ЧУ́ТЬ-ЧУ́ТЬ БЫЛО НЕ… [Particle; these forms only; usu. foll. by a pfv past verb, Part, or Verbal Adv] s.o. was about to do sth. but did not, or began doing sth. but quickly stopped; sth. was about to happen but did not, or began happening but was quickly interrupted: (very) nearly; almost; all but; (be) on the verge of (doing sth. ⟨happening⟩).

«Дура — чуть было не вышла замуж» (Грекова 3). "Fool… you nearly got married" (3a).

Ч-214 • ЧУ́ТЬ ЛИ НЕ…; ЕДВА́ ЛИ НЕ… [Particle; these forms only; foll. by NP, AdjP, or AdvP] 1. Also: ЧУ́ТЬ ЧТО НЕ… obs almost but not quite or entirely: almost; nearly; practically; virtually; [lim.] barely; just about.

Слава Голубев соскочил на перрон чуть ли не первым… (Чернёнок 1). Slava Golubyov was practically the first to jump down to the platform… (1a).

2. apparently, it seems: possibly; perhaps; must [+ infin]; most likely.

…Действительная причина его увольнения заключалась едва ли не в том, что он был когда-то в Гатчине истопником… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …The real reason for his dismissal most likely lay in the fact that he had at one time been a stoker in Gatchina… (1b).

Ч-215 • ЧУ́ТЬ НЕ [Particle; Invar] 1. Also: ЕДВА́ НЕ; ЧУ́ТЬ-ЧУ́ТЬ НЕ [usu. foll. by a pfv past verb, Part, or Verbal Adv] s.o. was about to do sth. but did not, or began doing sth. but quickly stopped; sth. was about to happen but did not, or began happening but was quickly interrupted: almost; (very) nearly; all but; (be) on the verge of (doing sth. ⟨happening⟩); [of a person only] (come) near to (doing sth.).

В войну сад едва не погиб (Трифонов 1). During the war the garden had almost perished (1a).

2. [usu. foll. by NP, AdjP, or AdvP] almost but not quite or entirely: [may be translated as part of general context]; almost; nearly; practically; virtually; [lim.] barely; just about.

«Ну, веришь, Порфирий, [Раскольников] сам едва на ногах, а чуть только мы, я да Зосимов, вчера отвернулись — оделся и удрал потихоньку и куролесил где-то чуть не до полночи…» (Достоевский 3). "Now, would you believe it, Porfiry, he [Raskolnikov] could hardly stand, and yet the minute we, that is Zosimov and I, turned our backs on him yesterday, he got dressed and sneaked out on the sly and was whooping it up somewhere till almost midnight…" (3a).

Ч-216 • ЧУШЬ СОБА́ЧЬЯ; БРЕД СОБА́ЧИЙ highly coll, derog [NP; these forms only; usu. used as Interj or subj-compl with copula (subj: всё, всё это)] total nonsense: absolute bosh ⟨claptrap, malarkey etc⟩; sheer blather ⟨hogwash, tripe etc⟩; a load of rubbish ⟨crap etc⟩; utter poppycock ⟨balderdash etc⟩.

Много я ещё городил глупостей, но вот когда она мне начала отвечать, тут я и понял: всё это бред собачий, не больше (Владимов 2). I babbled a lot more nonsense, but when she began to answer me, I realized it was all nothing but a load of rubbish (2a).

Ш

Ш-1 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ШАГ НАВСТРЕ́ЧУ (кому-чему) [VP; subj and obj: human or collect; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to show the initiative in establishing or improving relations with s.o. (may refer to making an effort to meet s.o., reconcile a conflict with s.o. etc): X сделал шаг навстречу (Y-y) ≃ X took the first step (to meet Y ⟨make up with Y etc⟩); [lim.] X made a conciliatory gesture (toward Y).

Любой интеллигентный человек тут понял бы, что надо же сделать шаг навстречу. Но Оглоед ничего этого понять не мог. Он не оценил тактичности Павла Николаевича (Солженицын 10). Any educated man would have seen at this point that it was time to make a conciliatory gesture, but Bone-chewer couldn't understand this. He couldn't appreciate Pavel Nikolayevich's tact (10a).

Ш-2 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ШАГ ⟨НО́ГУ⟩ [VP; subj: human or collect] to march in time with others: X-ы держали шаг ≃ Xs kept ⟨marched⟩ in step.

Ш-3 • ЛО́ЖНЫЙ ⟨НЕВЕ́РНЫЙ⟩ ШАГ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an erroneous action, mistake: false move ⟨step⟩; wrong move ⟨step⟩; misstep.

Колебания матери можно понять: один неверный шаг — и конец! (Рыбаков 1). It's easy to understand mother's hesitation, one false step and it would be the end! (1a).

Ш-4 • НА ШАГ от чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (often in refer. to death, committing a sin, being in an accident etc) one is very close to (doing) sth.: X был на шаг от Y-a ≃ X was one step away from (doing) Y; X was on the verge ⟨the brink⟩ of (doing) Y.

Михаил так переживал смерть жены, что был на шаг от самоубийства. Mikhail took his wife's death so hard that he was on the verge of committing suicide.

Ш-5 • НИ НА ШАГ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ (не отставать, не отходить и т.п.) от кого-чего. Also: НИ НА ПЯДЬ coll [adv or predic (with subj: usu. human or animal)] not (to fall behind s.o. or sth.) even the slightest distance (when walking, running etc): X не отставал ⟨не отходил⟩ от Y-a ~ ≃ X stayed right on person Y's heels ⟨tail⟩.

Мы бежали по улице, и собака не отставала ни на шаг. We ran down the street, and the dog stayed right on our heels.

2. «…Здесь отец мне твердит: „Мой кабинет к твоим услугам — никто тебе мешать не будет"; а сам от меня ни на шаг» (Тургенев 2). "Here father keeps on repeating: 'My study's at your disposal—nobody will be in your way,' but he doesn't leave my side for a minute" (2a). "Here my father keeps telling me, 'My study's at your service—no one'll bother you'; but he doesn't leave me alone for a moment" (2g).

3. ~ без кого [predic; subj: human] not to do or undertake anything (without s.o.'s consent or permission): X без Y-a ~ ≃ X doesn't (dare to) take a step ⟨make a move⟩ without Y ⟨Y's permission, Y's go-ahead, Y's OK⟩.

4. ~ без кого-чего [predic; impers or with subj: human] to be unable to function, act etc without s.o. or sth.: X без Y-a ~ ≃ X won't ⟨can't, doesn't etc⟩ do anything ⟨go anywhere etc⟩ without Y; X is lost ⟨helpless⟩ without Y; [lim.] X can't get along without Y.

Наша Лена без своей любимой куклы ни на шаг. Our Lena's lost without her favorite doll.

5. ~ не продвинуть что, не продвинуться, не отступать от чего и т.п. [adv] not (to move some matter ahead, advance, deviate from some regulations etc) to any extent or in any way: not (by) one ⟨a, a single⟩ step; not in the least; not at all; not one bit.

«Я — по закону-с! Не отступая-с… ни на шаг-с… ни на волос-с!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "I'm acting according to law! Without deviating by a single step… not by a hair's breadth, sir!" (2a). ♦ Пьер с главноуправляющим каждый день занимался. Но он чувствовал, что занятия его ни на шаг не подвигали дела (Толстой 5). Every day Pierre went into things with his head steward. But he felt that this did not forward matters in the least (5a).

Ш-6 • ОДИ́Н ШАГ от чего до чего coll [NP; sing only; usu. impers predic with copula; fixed WO] it does not take much for one phenomenon, condition, emotion etc to develop into another more serious, significant etc one or to turn into an opposite or contrasting one: от X-a до Y-a один шаг ≃ it's only one ⟨a short, a single⟩ step from X to Y; it's but a short ⟨a single⟩ step from X to Y; Y is only one ⟨just a⟩ step away from X; from X to Y is but a single step.

…Издали казалось, что солдатики иронически улыбаются. А от иронии до крамолы — один шаг (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …From a distance it looked as though they [the soldiers] were smiling ironically. And from irony to sedition is but a single step! (1b).

Ш-7 • СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ПЕ́РВЫЙ ШАГ (к чему) [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] 1. to undertake an initial action toward some goal: X сделал первый шаг ≃ X took the first step.

«Я сам хотел добра людям и сделал бы сотни, тысячи добрых дел вместо одной этой глупости… Этою глупостью я хотел только поставить себя в независимое положение, первый шаг сделать… Но я, я и первого шага не выдержал, потому что я — подлец!» (Достоевский 3). "I myself wanted to do good to people and I'd have done hundreds and thousands of good deeds to make up for that one stupidity…. By that stupidity I merely wanted to place myself in an independent position, to take the first step…. But I—I couldn't even endure the first step, because I'm vile!" (3a).

2. to be the first to act in establishing or improving relations with another (may refer to making an effort to meet s.o., reconcile a conflict with s.o. etc): X сделал первый шаг ≃ X took the first step; X made the first move.

«Я очень хорошо понял, с первого взгляда, что тут дело плохо, и — что вы думаете? — решился было и глаз не подымать на неё. Но Авдотья Романовна сама сделала первый шаг…» (Достоевский 3). "I understood very well, at first glance, that things were bad here, and—what do you think?—I decided not even to raise my eyes to her. But Avdotya Romanovna herself took the first step…" (3c).

Ш-8 • ЧТО НИ ШАГ (, то…) coll [subord clause; Invar; used as adv; fixed WO] everywhere: (one keeps finding ⟨seeing etc⟩ sth.) at every step ⟨at every turn, everywhere⟩; everywhere you look ⟨every time you turn around⟩ (you see ⟨there is etc⟩…); at each step ⟨at every turn⟩ (one finds ⟨sees⟩ sth.).

«Как печка протопится, закрою и вернусь к разборке остальных ящиков. Что ни шаг, то новые находки в столе и комоде. Мыло, спички, карандаши, бумага, письменные принадлежности. И открыто на виду такие же неожиданности. Например, лампа на столе, налитая керосином» (Пастернак 1). "Once the stove is heated, I'll close it and go back to sorting the remaining drawers. At each step I find new things in the desk and chest. Soap, matches, pencils, paper, writing materials. And also unexpected things in plain sight. For instance, a lamp on the desk, filled with kerosene" (1b). ♦ В этом городе что ни шаг, то ресторан. In that town, everywhere you look you see a restaurant.

Ш-9 • ШАГ ВПЕРЁД [NP; sing only; often subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr); fixed WO] movement toward improvement, advancement etc: (sth. is ⟨one takes etc⟩) a step forward; (sth. is ⟨one takes etc⟩) a step in the right direction; (make) progress ⟨forward steps⟩ (in sth.); || (сделать) большой ⟨огромный⟩ шаг вперёд ≃ (make) a quantum leap; || Neg ни шагу вперёд (не сделать) ≃ (make) no headway ⟨progress⟩.

«Шаг вперёд в науке делается по закону отталкивания… Шаг вперёд в искусстве делается по закону притяжения, с подражания, следования и поклонения любимым предтечам» (Пастернак 1). "Progress in science is governed by the laws of repulsion… Forward steps in art are governed by the law of attraction, are the result of the imitation of and admiration for beloved predecessors" (1a).

Ш-10 • ШАГ ЗА ША́ГОМ ⟨ШАГ ЗА ШАГ obs⟩ [these forms only; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] 1. (to do sth. or sth. happens) steadily: step by step; little by little; one step at a time.

«…Ты говоришь Бонапарте; но Бонапарте, когда он работал, шаг за шагом шёл к своей цели, он был свободен, у него ничего не было, кроме его цели, — и он достиг её» (Толстой 4). "…You talk of Bonaparte—why, when he was working toward his goal, he went forward step by step; he was free; he had nothing except his goal to consider, and he attained it" (4a).

2. consecutively, doing each action in its proper order: step by step.

«Учёные различных стран напишут подробные исследования его произведений и шаг за шагом постараются проследить его таинственную жизнь» (Булгаков 5). "Scholars in diverse lands will write detailed analyses of his works, seeking step by step to reconstruct the mysterious thread of his life (5a).

Ш-11 • СЕМИМИ́ЛЬНЫМИ ⟨ГИГА́НТСКИМИ, СЕМИВЁРСТНЫМИ obs⟩ ШАГА́МИ идти, двигаться вперёд и т.п. media or lit [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to walk, move or by extension proceed, develop) quickly and efficiently: (make) seven-league ⟨giant, rapid, great⟩ strides; (take) giant steps; (make) amazing progress ⟨great advances⟩.

«А как стал я к городу подъезжать, вдруг над соснами он!» — «Да кто он-то?» — в сердцах воскликнул Митрофаний… «Он самый, Василиск! Видно, за мной припустил, семивёрстными шагами или по воздуху!» (Акунин 2). "And just as I was approaching your town, there he was, above the trees!" "Who do you mean by he?" Mitrofanii exclaimed angrily. "Basilisk himself! He must have set out after me, taking seven-league strides or moving through the air!" (2a).

Ш-12 • В ДВУХ ⟨В ТРЁХ, В НЕ́СКОЛЬКИХ⟩ ШАГА́Х (от кого-чего) coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr); fixed WO] very close (to s.o. or sth.), very near: within a stone's throw of; a stone's throw away ⟨away from, from⟩; two ⟨a few⟩ steps away ⟨away from, from⟩; within a few steps; no distance at all; right ⟨just⟩ near here ⟨there etc⟩; right ⟨just⟩ around the corner; (only ⟨just⟩) a little way from here.

Я… даже в Историческом музее, в двух шагах от Кремля работал… (Солженицын 2). I was able… even to work in the Historical Museum, a stone's throw from the Kremlin (2a). ♦ «Знаете ли что? Пойдёмте теперь к ней все вместе. Она живёт отсюда в двух шагах» (Тургенев 2). "Do you know what? Let's drop in on her together right now. She lives only a little way from here" (2g).

Ш-13 • ПЕ́РВЫЕ ШАГИ́ (кого, чьи, в чём, на чём); ПЕ́РВЫЙ ШАГ (кого, чей, в чём, на чём) [NP; fixed WO] (often in refer. to s.o.'s actions in the initial stage of his career) the first action(s), measure(s) etc taken in some area and/or toward the realization of some goal, plan etc: first step(s); first move(s) ; s.o.'s earliest progress (in sth.).

Она напомнила ему правду: первыми шагами своими в службе он был обязан её отцу (Толстой 4). She had only reminded him of what was true: he was indebted to her father for his first steps in the service (4a). She had reminded him of the truth: his earliest progress in the service had been due to her father (4c).

Ш-14 • С ПЕ́РВЫХ ШАГО́В (чего) [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] from the start of some activity, process, endeavor: from its first ⟨earliest⟩ steps ⟨stages⟩; from the very first steps; from the outset; (right) from the beginning; from the very beginning; [lim.] from the infancy (of sth.).

«А я именно об этой красоте. Мне кажется, чтобы её увидеть, требуется нетронутость воображения, первоначальность восприятия. А это как раз у меня отнято. Может быть, у меня сложился бы свой взгляд на жизнь, если бы с первых шагов я не увидела её в чуждом опошляющем отпечатке (Пастернак 1). "And I'm thinking precisely of that beauty. It seems to me that what's needed in order to see it is intact imagination, primary perception. And that is just what was taken from me. Perhaps I would have formed my own view of life, if I hadn't seen it, from the very first steps, with someone else's vulgarizing stamp on it" (1b). "It's this beauty I'm thinking of. I think that to see it your imagination has to be intact, your vision has to be childlike. That is what I was deprived of. I might have developed my own view of life if I hadn't, right from the beginning, seen it stamped in someone else's vulgar distortion" (1a).

Ш-15 • ЧЕРЕПА́ШЬИМ ША́ГОМ; ЧЕРЕПА́ШЬИМИ ТЕ́МПАМИ both coll, usu. disapprov [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. двигаться, плестись и т. п ~ (usu. of a vehicle or person; to move, trudge along etc) very slowly: at a snail's pace; at a crawl's pace; at a crawl.

Ш-26 • ША́ПКАМИ ЗАКИДА́ТЬ кого coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut (1st pers pl закидаем or neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не закидаешь); fixed WO] to defeat s.o. quickly and easily (usu. used when brazenly predicting a quick victory over s.o.): (мы Y-ов) шапками закидаем ≃ we'll bag an easy win over Ys; it's in the bag; we'll beat Ys all hollow; it's going to be a walkover; we'll win an easy victory over Ys; || Neg шапками Y-ов не закидаешь ≃ you won't get ⟨beat⟩ Ys that easily.

…Они возмечтали, что счастье принадлежит им по праву и что никто не в силах отнять его у них. Победа над Наполеоном ещё более утвердила их в этом мнении, и едва ли не в эту самую эпоху сложилась знаменитая пословица: шапками закидаем! — которая впоследствии долгое время служила девизом глуповских подвигов на поле брани (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …They started dreaming that happiness belonged to them by right and that no one had the power to take it away from them. The victory over Napoleon convinced them of this opinion still more firmly. The famous saying "It's in the bag!"—which afterwards served for a long time as the motto for Foolovian exploits on the field of battle—must have arisen in this period (1a).

Ш-27 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ПО ША́ПКЕ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to drive away, dismiss, punish, or reprimand s.o. (as implied by the context): Y-у дадут по шапке ≃ they'll give it to Y in the neck; they'll really give it to Y; they'll give it to Y good; Y will get it good ⟨get it in the neck, catch it in the neck, really get it⟩; they'll rake ⟨haul⟩ Y over the coals; [lim.] they'll boot ⟨throw⟩ Y out; they'll send Y packing; they'll give Y the boot; [in refer. to firing only] Y will get ⟨they'll give Y⟩ the sack ⟨the ax⟩; Y will get ⟨be⟩ canned.

«Красная армия победила. Теперь беспартийным военным, которые стояли близко к верхам и слишком много знают, дадут по шапке» (Пастернак 1). "The Red Army is victorious. Now the nonparty military, who were close to the top and know too much, are going to get it in the neck" (1b).

Ш-28 • ПО ША́ПКЕ кого-что highly coll [PrepP; Invar; predic; usu. impers or with subj: human] to free o.s. of a person, thing etc one considers undesirable or abandon sth. tedious, unproductive etc: X-а по шапке ≃ [past context] he ⟨I etc⟩ got rid of X; he ⟨I etc⟩ sent X packing; he ⟨I etc⟩ threw X out; he ⟨I etc⟩ gave X the boot; he ⟨they etc⟩ ousted X; [in refer. to an undertaking] he ⟨I etc⟩ bagged X; [in refer. to firing only] he ⟨I etc⟩ gave X the ax ⟨the sack⟩.

[Войницев:] И откуда у вас, у женщин, берётся столько тоски? Ну чего тосковать? Полно! Будь весела!.. Нельзя ли эту тоску, как говорит Платонов, по шапке? (Чехов 1). [V.:] Why are you women always so terribly depressed? Why on earth should you feel depressed? Come, cheer up, darling!… Can't you send this depression packing, as Platonov says? (1a).

Ш-29 • ПОЛУЧА́ТЬ/ПОЛУЧИ́ТЬ ПО ША́ПКЕ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to be driven away, dismissed, punished, or reprimanded (as implied by the context): X получил по шапке ≃ X got ⟨caught⟩ it in the neck; X really got it; X got it good; [lim.] X got ⟨was⟩ thrown out; X was sent packing; X got the boot; [in refer. to firing only] X got the sack ⟨the ax⟩; X got sacked ⟨canned, axed⟩.

Ш-30 • ША́ПКИ ДОЛО́Й! [formula phrase; fixed WO] a command addressed to a group of people to remove headgear as a sign of respect: caps ⟨hats⟩ off!

«Староста-то? На что вам?..» — спросил Карп. Но не успел он договорить, как шапка слетела с него и голова мотнулась набок от сильного удара. «Шапки долой, изменники!» — крикнул полнокровный голос Ростова (Толстой 6). "Elder? What do you…?" asked Karp. But before he could finish his cap was sent spinning and his head jerked back from a hard punch. "Caps off, traitors!" roared Rostov in a voice that told them his blood was up (6c).

Ш-31 • ЛОМА́ТЬ ⟨ЛОМИ́ТЬ obs⟩ ША́ПКУ перед кем coll [VP; subj: human] 1. obs to remove one's cap (and bow) in greeting as a sign of respect: X ломал шапку перед Y-ом ≃ X doffed ⟨raised⟩ his cap to Y; [lim.] X bowed to Y, cap in hand.

Раздался топот конских ног по дороге… Мужик показался из-за деревьев. Он гнал двух спутанных лошадей перед собою и, проходя мимо Базарова, посмотрел на него как-то странно, не ломая шапки, что, видимо, смутило Петра, как недоброе предзнаменование (Тургенев 2). The tramp of horses' hoofs was heard along the road…. A peasant came into sight from behind the trees. He was driving before him two horses hobbled together, and as he passed Bazarov he looked at him rather strangely, without doffing his cap, which it was easy to see disturbed Peter, as an unlucky omen (2b).

2. to humble o.s. before s.o., behave in a servile manner: X ломает шапку перед Y-ом ≃ X bows and scrapes before ⟨to⟩ Y; X grovels before Y.

[Платонов:] Он благодеяния делает, обеды даёт, всеми уважаем, все перед ним шапку ломают… (Чехов 1). [P.:] He contributes to public charities, he gives public dinners, he is a respected member of society, everyone bows and scrapes to him (1a).

Ш-32 • ПОД КРА́СНУЮ ША́ПКУ попасть, отдать кого; ПОД КРА́СНОЙ ША́ПКОЙ ходить и т.п. both obs [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (to become, give s.o. over to be, serve as etc) a soldier: (be ⟨send s.o. etc⟩) under a red cap.

«Этому охотнику ещё года три надо под красной шапкой походить». — «Это ты об армии, Миша?» (Абрамов 1). "Your hunter has a three-year stretch under a red cap to go yet." "You mean the army, Misha?" (1a).

Ш-33 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ ША́ПКУ ПО КРУ́ГУ; ПОЙТИ́ С ША́ПКОЙ (ПО КРУ́ГУ) [VP; subj: human] to ask different people for donations (often with the goal of helping s.o. or contributing to a good cause): X пустил шапку по кругу ≃ X passed the hat around ⟨passed around the hat⟩ (to everyone ⟨his neighbors, his colleagues etc⟩).

Ш-34 • БЕ́ЛЫЙ ШАР old-fash [NP] a vote for: yes-vote.

< Formerly, «белый шар» ("a white ball") was placed in a ballot box to cast a positive vote.

Ш-35 • ПРО́БНЫЙ ШАР lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an action or method that serves as a means of finding out sth.: trial balloon ⟨run⟩; test run.

Клава Ивановна возразила, что Чеперухи здесь ни при чём, а крутит лишь Катерина, но Иона Овсеич ответил на это: когда один из компании проявляет инициативу, остальные могут спокойно делать вид, что они в стороне. Получается неплохой пробный шар (Львов 1). Klava Ivanovna objected that the Cheperukhas had nothing to do with this, Katerina was the only one involved. Iona Ovseich replied that when one member of a group launches a project, the other members can always pretend that they're not involved. That makes for a good trial balloon (1a).

Ш-36 • ЧЁРНЫЙ ШАР old-fash [NP] a vote against: blackball; no-vote; || положить (кому) чёрный шар ≃ blackball (s.o.).

«Я сам позавидовал ему на защите [диссертации]. Молодость, чистота и вместе с тем какая зрелая, глубокая любовь к своему делу! Разумеется, это чувство не могло заставить меня положить чёрный шар» (Каверин 1). "I myself envied him for his defence [of his dissertation]. Youth, single-mindedness, and along with it such a deep, mature love for his work. Of course, that feeling wasn't strong enough to make me blackball him" (1a).

< Formerly, «чёрный шар» ("a black ball") was placed in a ballot box to cast a negative vote.

Ш-37 • НА ШАРА́П obs, substand [PrepP; Invar; usu. indep. sent] a call to snatch whatever one can when something is tossed into a crowd: grab it ⟨what you can⟩.

Ш-38 • ША́РИКИ ЗА РО́ЛИКИ ЗАХО́ДЯТ/ЗАШЛИ́ ⟨ЗАЕЗЖА́ЮТ/ЗАЕ́ХАЛИ и т.п.⟩ у кого highly coll [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. is unable to think logically and coherently (often as a result of being overwhelmed with difficult matters, prolonged attempts to solve a challenging problem etc): у X-а шарики за ролики заходят ≃ X doesn't know whether he's coming or going; X can't think straight; X (feels that he) is losing his marbles; X's mind is reeling ⟨going (a)round in circles⟩; || у тебя что, шарики за ролики заехали? ≃ have you lost your marbles?; are you off your rocker ⟨nut⟩?; are you nuts?; have you flipped out?

Ш-39 • КРУТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЕРТЕ́ТЬ, ЗАВОДИ́ТЬ/ЗАВЕСТИ́⟩ ШАРМА́НКУ highly coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to repeat sth. incessantly or bring up the same subject repeatedly: X крутит шарманку ≃ X keeps harping on the same string ⟨thing, subject etc⟩; X keeps repeating the same thing over and over; X goes on like a broken ⟨a phonograph⟩ record; [lim.] X grinds away (at Y).

Юрий Андреевич лёг ничком на койку, лицом в подушку. Он всеми силами старался не слушать оправдывавшегося Ливерия… «Завёл шарманку, дьявол! Заработал языком!..» — вздыхал про себя и негодовал Юрий Андреевич (Пастернак 1). Yurii Andreievich lay down flat on his bunk, his face on his pillow, doing his utmost not to listen to Liberius justifying himself…. "Just like a phonograph record, the devil!" Yurii Andreievich raged in silent indignation. "He can't stop"(1a). Yuri Andreevich lay prone on the bunk, his face in the pillow. He tried as hard as he could not to listen to Liberius justifying himself… "He keeps grinding away, the devil! Giving his tongue a workout!…" Yurii Andreievich sighed to himself in indignation (1b).

Ш-40 • ХОТЬ ШАРО́М ПОКАТИ́ gde coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; Invar; impers predic with $быть_{ø}$; fixed WO] there is no one, nothing, or none of some type of person or thing present or available in some place (often in refer. to a complete lack of food or belongings in s.o.'s home): в месте X хоть шаром покати ≃ there is no [NP] ⟨not a single [NP], not a bite to eat etc⟩ in place X; you can search place X and not find one [NP] ⟨a single [NP]⟩; place X is (as) bare as a bone; place X is pretty well bare.

«Остался [я] один. Родни — хоть шаром покати, — нигде, никого, ни одной души» (Шолохов 1). "I was left entirely alone. You could search the whole world and not find one relation of mine, not a single soul" (1a). ♦ «Хоть шаром покати на камбузе. Все кореши-иностранцы подъели, а ужин кандей не варил…» (Владимов 2). "The galley's pretty well bare. Our foreign friends have eaten what there was, and the cook hasn't got the dinner ready yet…" (2a).

Ш-41 • И ША́ТКО И ВА́ЛКО (И НА́ СТОРОНУ) жить, делать что и т.п. obs, coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to live, do sth. etc) very badly: I couldn't be worse ⟨it couldn't be worse, he couldn't have done it worse etc⟩; as bad as can be.

Ш-42 • НИ ША́ТКО НИ ВА́ЛКО жить, работать и т.п.; НИ ША́ТКО НИ ВА́ЛКО НИ НА́ СТОРОНУ both coll

[AdvP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to do sth., live) neither well nor poorly, in a mediocre way: so-so; fair to middling; (be) not good, not bad.

Два дня прошли ни шатко ни валко: трезво, угрюмо. На третий день [Таля] опять стал просить водки, да как-то нахально, злобно… (Грекова 3). Two sober, glum days passed—not good, not bad. On the third day he [Talya] again began to get angry, rudely asking for vodka (3a).

Ш-43 • ТРЕЩА́ТЬ ПО (ВСЕМ) ШВАМ coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr, often всё; usu. this WO] to be collapsing, heading for ruin: X трещит по всем швам ≃ X is coming ⟨falling⟩ apart at the seams; X is falling apart; X is falling ⟨going⟩ to pieces; X is coming unglued.

…Два-три крохотных события, две-три случайные встречи, и мир, взлелеянный [Петром Васильевичем] с такой любовью, с таким тщанием, начинал терять свою устойчивость, трещать по швам, разваливаться на глазах (Максимов 3). Two or three trivial events, two or three chance meetings, and the world he [Pyotr Vasilievich] had cherished with such loving care began to crumble, fall apart, disintegrate before his very eyes (3a).

Ш-44 • КАК ШВЕД (ПОД ПОЛТА́ВОЙ) пропал, погиб, горит и т.п. coll, often humor [как + NP; nom only; adv; fixed WO] (one was or is about to be) destroyed, ruined; (one finds o.s.) in a hopeless, disastrous situation: (perish ⟨be destroyed etc⟩) like a Swede at Poltava; go up in smoke; [when the verb is in fut or subjunctive] (perish ⟨be destroyed etc⟩) as surely as a Swede at Poltava.

«Воровал мой оголец, как ни попадя. Я тряпьё на базар таскала. Сколько верёвочке ни виться… Сгорели мы, как шведы. Он подельников выгораживал, всё на себя взял, ему на всю катушку, а мне, по моей глупости, — пять без поражения» (Максимов 3). “He stole everything he could lay his hands on, this man of mine. I used to take it all down to the market to sell. It caught up with us in the end. We went up in smoke. He wouldn’t squeal on his mates, he took all the blame, so they gave him the full treatment and I got five years without deprivation of rights for being stupid” (3a).

< Refers to the 1709 battle at Poltava, in which Russian troops won a decisive victory over the Swedes.

Ш-45 • И ШВЕЦ, И ЖНЕЦ, И НА ДУДЕ́ ⟨И В ДУДУ́⟩ ИГРЕ́Ц coll, usu. humor [NP; sing only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom only (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who is skillful at many different kinds of work: jack-of-all-trades.

«[Сутырин] задавала, конечно… зато, как говорят, на все руки: и швец, и шнец, и на дуде игрец, обломается» (Максимов 3). “He’s [Sutyrin is] a show-off, of course, but he can turn his hand to anything. Jack-of-all-trades. He’ll shape up” (3a).

Ш-46 • ВИСЕ́ТЬ НА ШЕ́Е у кого; ПОВИ́СНУТЬ НА ШЕ́Е у кого ⟨НА ШЕ́Ю⟩ кому all coll [VP; subj: human] 1. (usu. in refer. to a smaller person embracing a taller, stronger etc one) to wrap one’s arms around s.o.’s neck in an embrace and continue to embrace him for some time (expressing affection, joy etc): X висит у Y-а на шее ≃ X hangs (up)on Y’s neck; ‖ X повис на шее у Y-а ≃ X threw his arms around Y ⟨around Y’s neck⟩; X threw himself on Y’s neck.

Женщина эта была похожа на жену Ермолкина, но она была значительно старше, чем он предполагал. Он даже подумал, что, может быть, это вовсе и не жена, а тёща приехала из Сибири, но женщина кинулась к Ермолкину, вскрикнула: «Борис!»… и повисла на шее, как тёщи обычно не виснут (Войнович 4). This woman resembled Ermolkin’s wife, but she was significantly older than he would have expected. He even thought for a minute that it was not his wife at all but that his mother-in-law had come to see them from Siberia. But the woman raced over to him crying “Boris!”… She threw her arms around his neck as mothers-in-law rarely do (4a).

2. disapprov to burden s.o. by being dependent on him for care, monetary support etc: X висит у Y-а на шее ≃ X is a (heavy) burden to ⟨on⟩ Y; X is a millstone around Y’s neck.

Прожить на свою пенсию Иван Петрович не мог, и он устроился на работу, чтобы не висеть на шее у детей. Ivan Petrovich’s pension wasn’t enough to live on, and he got himself a job so that he wouldn’t be a burden on his children.

Ш-47 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ПО ШЕ́Е кому coll; ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ПО ШЕЯ́М highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ В ШЕ́Ю coll; НАДАВА́ТЬ ПО ШЕ́Е ⟨В ШЕ́Ю, ПО ШЕЯ́М⟩ highly coll; to hit or beat s.o.: X дал Y-у по шее ≃ X gave Y a thrashing ⟨a beating); X walloped Y; X beat Y up; X clouted Y (over the head).

Не может быть, не может быть, думал Шалико, вот сейчас даст мне по шее и отпустит (Искандер 4). It can’t be, it can’t be, Shaliko thought, he’s going to give me a thrashing and let me go (4a).

2. [often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to punish s.o. severely; (in job-related contexts) to fire s.o.: X даст Y-у ⟨Y-у дадут⟩ по шее ≃ X will give it to Y ⟨Y will get it⟩ in the neck; X will give Y ⟨Y will get⟩ hell; [in refer. to firing] X will give Y ⟨Y will get⟩ the sack ⟨the ax, the boot⟩; X will can Y; Y will get booted ⟨canned⟩; Y will get kicked out; X will kick Y out.

Я создатель новой науки. Но, увы, пользы для себя из этого не извлеку. А если Вы выдадите меня, мне ещё за это по шее дадут (Зиновьев 1). “I am the founder of a new science. But unfortunately I won’t be able to get any personal benefit from it. And if you betray me I’ll get it in the neck” (1a).

Ш-48 • СИДЕ́ТЬ НА ШЕ́Е чьей ⟨НА ГОРБУ́ чьём⟩, у кого; ЖИТЬ НА ШЕ́Е all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to burden s.o. by being dependent on him for care, monetary support etc: X сидит у Y-а на шее ≃ X is a (heavy) burden to ⟨on⟩ Y; X is a millstone around Y’s neck; X hangs (a)round Y’s neck; [lim.] X lives off Y.

…Работать [отцу] надо, содержать семью надо, нельзя с женой и детьми сидеть на шее у дедушки Рахленко (Рыбаков 1). …He [father] had to work, he had his family to support and he couldn’t let himself and his wife and children hang round grandfather Rakhlenko’s neck (1a).

Ш-49 • мягкий КАК ШЁЛК [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] (of hair, fur, fabric) soft to the touch; (of skin) very soft, tender: (as) smooth as silk; (as) soft as satin; silky ⟨satiny⟩ (smooth); (have) a satiny feel; [of fur, fabric, or skin] satin-like.

Ш-50 • КАК ШЁЛКОВЫЙ coll [как + AdjP; nom only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv] one is well-behaved, one acts obediently (occas. out of fear): (as) good as gold; (as) meak ⟨docile⟩ as a lamb; [lim.] (be) like putty (in s.o.’s hands).

Шунечка, пока шёл скандал, ни во что не вмешивался, а когда всё кончилось, вызвал к себе мальчиков и что-то им внушал наедине… после чего они два дня были как шёлковые (Грекова 3). While the row was going on Shunechka did not interfere, but when it was all over he called in the boys and drummed something into them. For two days after that they were good as gold (3a). ♦ Матвей Бенционович очень волновался. Не из-за полиц-мейстера — тот был как шёлковый (Акунин 6). Matvei was feeling very worried. Not because of the chief of police—he was like putty in his hands (6a).

Ш-51 • ШЕ́РОЧКА ⟨МАШЕ́РОЧКА⟩ С МАШЕ́РОЧКОЙ obs, now humor or iron [NP; these forms only; fixed WO] orig., girls or women dancing together in pairs (usu. because of a shortage of men); in contemp usage, a pair of females: one girl ⟨gal⟩ (dances) with another.

< From the French ma chère, the form of address formerly used by finishing-school girls in Russia.

Ш-52 • ГЛА́ДИТЬ/ПОГЛА́ДИТЬ ПО ШЕ́РСТИ ⟨ПО ШЁРСТКЕ⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to do or say sth. that is pleasing to s.o., makes s.o. feel good: X погладил Y-а по шерсти ≃ X complimented ⟨praised, flattered etc⟩ Y; [lim.] X stroked Y's ego; X smoothed Y's rumpled feathers; [when used with negation] X rubbed ⟨stroked⟩ Y the wrong way.

«Но пусть никто не заблуждается: советская власть умеет гладить не только по шерсти» (Львов 1). "But let there be no mistake about it: the Soviet Government can stroke the wrong way, too" (1a).

Ш-53 • ГЛА́ДИТЬ/ПОГЛА́ДИТЬ ПРОТИВ ШЕ́РСТИ ⟨ПРОТИВ ШЁРСТКИ, НЕ ПО ШЕ́РСТИ, НЕ ПО ШЁРСТКЕ⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to annoy or displease a person by saying or doing sth. that he does not like: X погладил Y-а против шёрстки ≃ X ruffled Y's feathers; X pushed ⟨pressed⟩ Y's buttons; [lim.] X rubbed ⟨stroked⟩ Y the wrong way.

Тут Лизка немного покривила душой. На самом-то деле она знала, из-за чего взъелся на них председатель [Першин]. Из-за критики. Из-за того, что он, Михаил, против шерсти погладил Першина (Абрамов 1). Lizka was playing somewhat false here. She did in fact know why the Chairman [Pershin] was out to get them: because of the criticism, because Mikhail had rubbed Pershin the wrong way (1a).

Ш-54 • ПРОТИВ ШЕ́РСТИ ⟨ПРОТИВ ШЁРСТКИ, НЕ ПО ШЕ́РСТИ, НЕ ПО ШЁРСТКЕ⟩ кому, для кого highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr)] sth. is displeasing, irritating to s.o.: X Y-у не по шерсти ≃ X goes against the grain; X rubs Y the wrong way; X ticks Y off; [lim.] X is galling.

«…Не заботясь о себе, ты заботился о том, чтобы у нас было хорошее жильё… Не всякому и не всегда нравилось, кой-кому приходилось против шерсти, но в глубине души каждый знал, что лично для себя Дегтярю ничего не нужно, ему нужно только одно: построить для всех наших людей полный коммунизм» (Львов 1). "…You worked unsparingly to make sure we all had a good place to live. Not everyone liked you all the time, and you rubbed some people the wrong way, but in his heart of hearts everyone knew that Degtyar never wanted anything for himself, all he wanted was to build communism for all of us" (1a).

Ш-55 • БРОСА́ТЬСЯ/БРО́СИТЬСЯ ⟨КИДА́ТЬСЯ/КИ́НУТЬСЯ⟩ НА ШЕ́Ю (к) кому coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to rush to embrace s.o., throwing one's arms around his neck: X бросился Y-у на шею ≃ X threw ⟨flung⟩ himself on Y's neck; X threw his arms (a)round Y's neck; X fell on Y's neck.

«О прости. Я не то говорю. Это неправда». Она бросилась на шею к нему и разрыдалась (Пастернак 1). "Oh, forgive me. I'm not saying the right thing. It's not true." She threw herself on his neck and burst into tears (1b).

2. [subj: female] to make persistent attempts to win a man's love by forcing one's attentions upon him: X бросается Y-у на шею ≃ X throws herself at Y; X runs ⟨chases⟩ after Y; X chases Y.

[Платонов:] Я сделаю из тебя то, что делал я из всех женщин, бросавшихся мне на шею… Я сделаю тебя несчастной! (Чехов 1). [P.:] I'll make you what I've made all the women who've thrown themselves at me—miserable (1b).

Ш-56 • В ШЕ́Ю ⟨В ТРИ ШЕ́И⟩ гнать, выгнать, вытолкать и т.п. highly coll, rude [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to turn, drive, push etc s.o. out) rudely, with verbal abuse or blows: X выгнал Y-а в шею ≃ X kicked Y out; X threw Y out (on Y's ear ⟨ass⟩); X sent Y packing.

«Непостоянны сильные мира сего, — говорил Мольер Мадлене, — и дал бы я совет всем комедиантам. Если ты попал в милость, сразу хватай всё, что тебе полагается. Не теряй времени, куй железо, пока горячо. И уходи сам, не дожидайся, пока тебя выгонят в шею!..» (Булгаков 5). "How inconstant are the mighty of this world," Molière said to Madeleine. "And I would give this advice to all players: if you happen to win favor, seize everything you can at once. Lose no time, strike while the iron is hot. And leave of your own choice, don't wait till you are thrown out!…" (5a).

Ш-57 • ВЕ́ШАТЬСЯ НА ШЕ́Ю кому; ВИ́СНУТЬ НА ШЕ́Е у кого both coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to embrace s.o., hug s.o. with one's arms around his neck (expressing affection, joy etc): X виснет у Y-а на шее ≃ X hangs (up)on Y's neck.

2. disapprov [subj: female] to make persistent attempts to win a man's love by forcing one's attentions upon him: X вешается Y-у на шею ≃ X throws herself at Y; X runs ⟨chases⟩ after Y; X chases Y.

Ш-58 • НАМЫ́ЛИТЬ ⟨НАМЯ́ТЬ⟩ ШЕ́Ю кому highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: НАЛОМА́ТЬ ШЕ́Ю; НАКОСТЫЛЯ́ТЬ ШЕ́Ю ⟨В ШЕ́Ю, ПО ШЕ́Е⟩ all substand to beat s.o. severely: X намылит Y-у шею ≃ X will give Y a good beating ⟨thrashing etc⟩; X will beat Y up.

2. Also: МЫ́ЛИТЬ ШЕ́Ю; НАМЫ́ЛИТЬ ХО́ЛКУ both highly coll to reproach s.o. severely, upbraid s.o.: X намылил Y-у шею ≃ X gave Y hell ⟨the business, a tongue-lashing⟩; X bawled ⟨chewed⟩ Y out; Y got it in the neck; Y got a good talking-to ⟨a good scolding⟩; [lim.] X settled Y's hash.

«Садчиков, я повторил тебе уже три раза — выполняй то, что предписано. Холку потом мне будут мылить, а не тебе» (Семёнов 1). "Sadchikov, I've told you three times already—carry out your instructions. It's me that'll get it in the neck afterwards, not you" (1a).

Ш-59 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА ШЕ́Ю coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ чью, кого, кому to (begin to) burden s.o. by becoming dependent on him for care, financial support etc: X сядет Y-у на шею ≃ X will become a (heavy) burden to ⟨on⟩ Y; [lim.] X will live ⟨sponge⟩ off Y.

В Игарке Влада ожидало разочарование: начальство переехало в Ермаково, жаловаться было некому, расчёт получить негде. Снова садиться на шею Мухаммеду в ожидании лучших времён он не решился. Оставалось тем же манером пуститься дальше — на Ермаковский маяк (Максимов 2). [context transl] Disappointment awaited Vlad in Igarka: the expedition's headquarters had moved to Yermakovo, so there was no one to whom he could complain and no one to pay him off. He decided against imposing himself again on Mukhammed while waiting for better times. The only thing to do was to press on to Yermakovo on foot (2a).

2. to make persistent demands of s.o., force s.o. to satisfy one's will, assert one's control over s.o. etc: X сядет Y-у на шею ≃ X will walk all over Y; X will be on Y's back; X will take advantage of Y; X will push Y around.

«Погрубее надо с ними [женщинами], пожёстче. Главное — ни намёка на перспективы. А то на шею сядут» (Евтушенко 2). You have to be tougher with them [women], harder, he thought. Most important, not a hint of marriage. Otherwise, they'll be on your back forever (2a).

Ш-60 • САЖА́ТЬ/ПОСАДИ́ТЬ кого НА ШЕ́Ю чью, кому coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to thrust responsibility for some person, some person's cares etc on s.o. who does not want it: X посадил Y-а на шею Z-у ≃ X burdened ⟨saddled⟩ Z with Y.

[Ксения:] Чего я от него [Егора] не терпела! Дочь прижил на стороне да посадил на мою шею (Горький 2). [K.:] The things I've had to stand from him [Yegor]! Brought in a bastard daughter from somewhere and burdened me with her (2b).

2. to force s.o. to take on some unwanted person (as an employee, team member etc): X посадил Y-а Z-у на шею ≃ X burdened ⟨saddled, stuck⟩ Z with Y.

Никто из заведующих лабораториями не хотел посадить на шею своим сотрудникам студентов-стажёров, которые только мешали бы им работать. None of the laboratory supervisors wanted to saddle their staff members with student trainees who would only get in the way.

Ш-61 • СВЕРНУ́ТЬ ШЕ́Ю ⟨ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ кому coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to kill (a bird or animal) by breaking its neck or decapitating it: X свернул шею Y-у ≃ X chopped ⟨yanked⟩ off Y's head; X snapped Y's neck.

[Гаттерас:] Я вас уверяю, лорд, этой проклятой птице необходимо свернуть голову. От неё житья нет (Булгаков 1). [G.:] My lord, I tell you that damned bird must have its head yanked off. He makes life impossible (1a).

2. Also: СЛОМИ́ТЬ ШЕ́Ю ⟨ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ obs; СВЕРНУ́ТЬ БАШКУ́ substand (usu. used as a threat) to do s.o. great physical harm, even kill him: X свернёт Y-у шею ≃ X will wring ⟨break⟩ Y's neck; X will kill ⟨murder⟩ Y.

[Бубнов:] Дуришь ты, Василий. Чего-то храбрости у тебя много завелось… гляди, храбрость у места, когда в лес по грибы идёшь… а здесь она — ни к чему… Они тебе живо голову свернут… (Горький 3). [B.:] You're playing the fool, Vassily. What's all this showing off how brave you are? Bravery is all right when you go picking mushrooms in the woods. It's not much use in these parts. They'll wring your neck in no time here (3b).

Ш-62 • СЛОМА́ТЬ ⟨СЛОМИ́ТЬ obs⟩ (СЕБЕ́) ШЕ́Ю ⟨ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ coll; СВИХНУ́ТЬ (СЕБЕ́) ШЕ́Ю coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: СВЕРНУ́ТЬ (СЕБЕ́) ШЕ́Ю ⟨ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ coll; СВЕРНУ́ТЬ (СЕБЕ́) БАШКУ́ substand [usu. fut or infin with мочь, бояться, рисковать etc] to get seriously injured or killed: X свернёт себе шею ≃ X will break his neck; X will get himself killed; || X рискует свернуть себе шею ≃ X is risking his neck.

[Тишка:] …Уууx!!! (Свёртывается с лестницы; она падает. Шум. Вбегают слуги.) [Атуева (кричит):] Боже мой!.. Батюшки!.. Он себе шею сломит (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [T.:] Ouch!!! (Tumbles from the ladder; it falls after him. Noise. Servants run in.) [A. (shouting):] My God!… Help!… He'll break his neck (2b).

2. ~ (на чём) to suffer complete failure, defeat in sth. (often damaging one's career or losing one's social status as a result): X свернёт себе шею (на Y-е) ≃ X will come a cropper; X will fall flat on his face (in Y); [lim.] X will cut his own throat; || X рискует свернуть себе шею ≃ X is risking his neck.

Высокий тенор Берлиоза разносился в пустынной аллее, и по мере того, как Михаил Александрович забирался в дебри, в которые может забираться, не рискуя свернуть себе шею, лишь очень образованный человек, — поэт узнавал всё больше и больше интересного и полезного… (Булгаков 9). The editor's high tenor resounded in the deserted avenue. And, as he delved deeper and deeper into jungles where only a highly educated man could venture without risking his neck, the poet learned more and more fascinating and useful facts… (9a).

Ш-63 • ЗА ШИ́ВОРОТ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. ~ (кому) попасть и т.п. (to fall, land etc) on the skin of the dorsal side of s.o.'s neck, inside the collar: on the nape ⟨back⟩ of s.o.'s ⟨the⟩ neck.

2. взять, схватить, держать и т.п. кого ~ (in refer. to a person) (to seize, grab, hold etc s.o.) by the part of his clothing that encircles the neck or, possibly, by the back of the neck itself; (in refer. to an animal) (to seize, take hold of an animal) by the back of the neck: by the scruff of the neck; [in refer to a person only] by the collar.

Основное обвинение отец решительно отверг, но то, что он не сгрёб Лёву за шиворот и не вышвырнул тут же из кабинета, само по себе было очень примечательно (Битов 2). Father emphatically rejected the main accusation, but the mere fact that he didn't scoop Lyova up by the scruff of the neck and fling him right out of the study was very noteworthy (2a).

Ш-64 • ШИ́ВОРОТ-НАВЫ́ВОРОТ coll [AdvP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. всё)] 1. in refer. to the physical placement of some object or objects, the way a piece of clothing is worn etc) in a direction, order, position etc opposite to the customary one: backward(s); inside ⟨wrong side⟩ out; upside down.

…Во дворике, впритык к стене, огородик на полторы сотки, на который требуется возить землю, чтобы выросло что-то, потому что отмерен он на камнях и глине, — и это было тоже диковинно: отчего так шиворот-навыворот — не огород на земле, а землю на огород (Распутин 4). …In the yard, up against the wall, there was a tiny garden, for which you had to haul in soil to grow anything because it was set up in stones and clay—and that was very strange too: why was it so backwards—you didn't have a garden on the soil, you had to have soil on top of the garden (4a).

2. идти, получаться, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. ~ (often in refer. to some matter, s.o.'s life etc) (to go, come out, be etc) opposite to the way it should be, not as it is supposed to be: topsy-turvy; backward(s); upside down; || сделать что ~ ≃ put the cart before the horse.

…Тут брехня на брехне, всё шиворот-навыворот. Егорша передовой… Егорша новый… С Егорши пример надо брать… (Абрамов 1). …This was one piece of garbage after another, everything turned topsy-turvy. Egorsha the progressive… Egorsha the New Man… One should take Egorsha as an example… (1a).

Ш-65 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ШИК ⟨ШИ́КУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to live or do sth. lavishly, striving to make an impression on others and being aware that one is succeeding: X задаст шику ≃ X will live ⟨do sth.⟩ in (high ⟨grand⟩) style; X will put on the dog ⟨the ritz⟩.

[Аннушка:] Там старик-то и помер, да и отказал все свои деньги и все пески золотые Таисе Ильинишне, вот она и разбогатела. Приехала сюда, да теперь шику и задаёт (Островский 3). [A.:] There the old fellow dies and leaves all his money and his gold-fields to Taisa. That's how she got her money. She came back after he died and she's been living in style ever since (3a).

Ш-66 • ШИ́ЛА В МЕШКЕ́ НЕ УТАЙ́ШЬ [saying] you cannot hide something that reveals itself on its own or gives itself away (said when a person tries to conceal an act, deed, emotion etc that makes itself apparent): ≃ murder will out; (the) truth will out ⟨will come to light⟩; [lim.] love (and a cough) cannot be hidden.

Ш-67 • МЕНЯ́ТЬ/СМЕНЯ́ТЬ ШИ́ЛО НА МЫ́ЛО coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to rid o.s. of an undesirable person or thing only to find o.s. with a worse person or thing, extricate o.s. from a bad situation only to find o.s. in a worse situation etc: X сменял шило на мыло ≃ X jumped out of the frying pan into the fire; X traded bad for worse; X traded something bad for something (even) worse.

[author's usage] «Он за что сидел-то?» — «За кражу…» — и Люба беспомощно посмотрела на подругу. «Шило на мыло, — сказала та. — Пьяницу на вора… Ну и судьбина тебе выпала! Живи одна, Любка» (Шукшин 1). "What was he in prison for?" "Burglary…" And Lyuba looked at her friend helplessly. "Out of the frying pan into the fire," said the latter. "A drunkard for a thief. What a terrible fate, poor thing. Live alone, Lyuba" (1a).

Ш-68 • ПОПЕРЁК СЕБЯ́ ШИ́РЕ ⟨ТО́ЛЩЕ⟩ highly coll [AdjP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (to be or have become) very fat: X (стал) поперёк себя шире ≃ X is ⟨has grown, has become⟩ wider than he is tall; X is ⟨has become⟩ a butterball; X is ⟨has gotten to be⟩ like the side of ⟨as big as⟩ a house ⟨a barn⟩.

[author's usage] [Гусев:] …У всех наших девочек вот такие дети, и все они стали шире себя… (Рощин 1). [G.:] …All the girls I went to school with have children so high, and they've all grown wider than they're tall… (1b).

Ш-69 • ВО ВСЮ ШИРЬ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. very broadly, without bounds: to its full width; in all its vastness.

Во всю ширь раскинулась приволжская степь. The steppes of the Volga stretched out in all their vastness.

2. развернуться, развернуть что и т.п. ~ (in refer. to the development of some matter, s.o.'s displaying his qualities etc) as fully as possible: to the fullest; in full measure; to the full(est) extent.

Ш-70 • ШИ́ТО-КРЫ́ТО ⟨ШИ́ТО И КРЫ́ТО, ШИ́ТО ДА КРЫ́ТО⟩ делается, остаётся и т.п. coll [AdvP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: всё) or adv] sth. is or remains secret, concealed from others, sth. is done in complete secrecy: всё было шито-крыто ≃ everything was kept hush-hush ⟨dark, under wraps, under cover⟩; it was all hushed up; [lim.] everything was swept under the rug ⟨the carpet⟩; || сделай так, чтобы всё было шито-крыто ≃ make ⟨be⟩ sure nobody gets wind of it.

Иосиф ездил за золотом в Харьков, Киев, Москву, даже в среднюю Азию, но никогда не попадался, всё было шито-крыто… (Рыбаков 1). Yosif used to travel to Kharkov, Kiev, and Moscow to get the gold, even to Central Asia; he was never caught, everything was kept hush-hush (1a).

Ш-71 • ШИШ В КАРМА́НЕ у кого highly coll [NP; sing only; often VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. has no money: у X-а шиш в кармане ≃ X is (flat) broke; X doesn't have a kopeck ⟨a penny, a dime etc⟩ to his name ⟨in his pocket⟩; X doesn't have two nickels to rub together.

«Видишь, что человеку [пассажиру] надо ехать, а он от тебя по вагону прячется, — значит, у него в кармане шиш» (Паустовский 1). "You can see the man [the passenger] has to go somewhere, but he's trying to hide from you—it means he hasn't a kopeck in his pocket" (1b).

Ш-72 • НИ ШИША́ highly coll [NP_{gen}; Invar; obj or subj/gen] 1. ~ нет у кого, не дать, не получить и т.п. (to have, give, receive etc) no money, nothing at all: not (so much as) a kopeck ⟨a penny, a dime etc⟩; (be) without a kopeck ⟨a penny, a dime etc⟩; not a bean; zero; not a fig.

Оказывается, на днях тем, кто едет на дальний сенокос, правление выписало по три килограмма ячменной муки, а им [Пряслиным] ни шиша (Абрамов 1). It turned out that the people who had been sent out to the remote hayfields had recently been issued three kilos of barley flour, while they [the Pryaslins] had been given zero (1a). ♦ «Денег он не просит, правда, а всё же от меня ни шиша не получит» (Достоевский 1). "It's true he's never asked for money, and he won't get a fig out of me anyway" (1a).

2. ~ не знать, не смыслить и т.п.; ~ не светит и т.п. (to know, understand etc) absolutely nothing; (there is) absolutely no chance (of obtaining, achieving, realizing etc sth.): [in refer. to knowing, understanding etc] not a damn(ed) ⟨goddamn(ed), frigging⟩ thing; not one damn(ed) bit; [lim.] not be able to make any goddamn(ed) sense of sth; know damn(ed) little (about sth.); [in refer. to being unable to obtain, achieve etc sth.] there's no chance in hell…; (s.o.) hasn't a snowball's chance in hell…; there's absolutely no way in the world…

«Не понимаю я ни шиша в литейных машинах, — сказал Коля, выпрямляясь и всё ещё не глядя на Дмитрия Алексеевича. — Вижу только, что редукторов где надо и где не надо натыкано» (Дудинцев 1). «I know damn little about casting machines," said Kolia, straightening up and still not looking at Lopatkin. "I see only that reducers have been stuck in both where they are wanted and where they are not" (1a).

Ш-73 • НА КАКИ́Е ШИШИ́ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used in questions] what money will or did s.o. use (to do sth.) (usu. implying a lack of money or an assumed lack of money): with what money ⟨dough⟩?; what is one going to use ⟨did one use, does one plan on using etc⟩ for money?; where's the money ⟨the cash, the dough⟩ coming from ⟨where did the money etc come from⟩?; where would one get the cash ⟨the dough etc⟩?; who is going to shell out (the cash ⟨the dough, the money⟩) for it?

«Я купил. Ко дню рождения. А на какие шиши? А за что мне эти шиши платят? А шиши мне эти платят за то, что я людей… — он приблизил к ней красное лицо и резко выдохнул: — …убиваю» (Войнович 4). "I bought it. For your birthday. And with what dough? The dough they pay me because I"—he brought his red face close to her, then exhaled abruptly—"kill people" (4a). ♦ К осени надо было закупать нефть для парового отопления, а на какие шиши — неизвестно (Булгаков 9). They had to buy heating oil for the fall, and where the money would come from was a mystery (9c). Fuel had to be bought for the heating system by fall, but who was going to shell out for it—no one knew (9d).

Ш-74 • БОЛЬША́Я ⟨ВА́ЖНАЯ, КРУ́ПНАЯ⟩ ШИ́ШКА coll, iron or humor [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] an important, influential person: big wheel ⟨cheese, shot⟩; bigwig; high muckamuck ⟨muckety-muck⟩; [esp. of a military person] brass hat.

…И Вадька Батон стал в своей области важной шишкой. Не знаю точно, какой, меня это не интересует (Трифонов 2). …In his particular sphere even Vadim French Loaf became a big wheel, although I don't know exactly what it was, because it was of no interest to me… (2a).

Ш-75 • ШИ́ШКА НА РО́ВНОМ МЕ́СТЕ coll, derog [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who exaggerates his own importance (usu. said in refer. to s.o.'s position, office): a small fry who thinks he's a big fish; [said ironically] big cheese; big shot.

Ш-76 • ВСЕ ШИ́ШКИ ВА́ЛЯТСЯ на кого or НА ГО́ЛОВУ чью, кому coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pres; fixed WO] a lot of troubles (or all the troubles that arise in a given situation) befall or are befalling s.o.: на X-а все шишки валятся ≃ X is ⟨has been⟩ up to his neck in troubles; X has had trouble after trouble; it's as if trouble seeks X out; X has ⟨has had⟩ more than his share of troubles; X is ⟨has been⟩ inundated with troubles; X can't win for losing; [in limited contexts, usu. when a contrast with another or others is drawn or implied] X gets ⟨takes⟩ all the lumps; X is the one getting ⟨taking⟩ all the lumps; X gets ⟨is the one getting⟩ all the blame.

< From the saying «На бедного Макара все шишки валятся». See М-4.

Ш-77 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ЗА ШКИ́РКУ кого highly coll [VP; subj: human] to force s.o. into a position in which he must obey one: X возьмёт Y-а за шкирку ≃ X will put the screws ⟨the squeeze⟩ on Y; X will have Y over a barrel; X will get Y where X wants him.

Ш-78 • СВОЯ́ ШКУ́РА coll [NP; sing only; obj or subj; usu. this WO] one's own life, well-being, career etc: one's own skin ⟨hide⟩; || спасать свою шкуру usu. derog ≃ save one's own skin ⟨hide⟩; || думать о своей шкуре ⟨дорожить своей шкурой, дрожать за свою шкуру и т.п.⟩ derog ≃ think of saving ⟨want to save, look out for, worry about (saving), be afraid for etc⟩ one's own skin ⟨hide⟩; || Neg не жалеть своей шкуры ⟨не дрожать за свою шкуру и т.п.⟩ ≃ not mind risking one's (own) skin ⟨hide⟩.

«Люди трусы. Видят, как жулик в карман лезет, — отвернутся, потому что за свою шкуру дрожат» (Семёнов 1). "People are cowards. When they see a thief's hand in somebody's pocket they turn away, because they're afraid for their own skins" (1a). ♦ «…Ежели вашей светлости понадобится человек, который бы не жалел своей шкуры, то извольте вспомнить обо мне…» (Толстой 6). "…If Your Serene Highness has need of a man who doesn't mind risking his skin, please think of me" (6a).

Ш-79 • В ШКУ́РЕ чьей, кого coll [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human); often used in condit clauses] one is, finds o.s. in another's (usu. unenviable) position (implying that only a person who has been in that position can understand how bad, difficult etc it is): in s.o.'s skin ⟨shoes, place⟩.

«Ты, Лиза, не была в нашей шкуре и не говори» (Распутин 2). "You haven't been in our skins, Liza, so don't you talk about it" (2a).

Ш-80 • НА СВОЁЙ ШКУ́РЕ испытать что; НА (СВОЁЙ) СО́БСТВЕННОЙ ШКУ́РЕ both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to experience, live through sth.) personally, so that one understands it intimately: X на своей шкуре испытал Y ≃ X (has) experienced Y firsthand ⟨at first hand⟩; X went ⟨has gone⟩ through Y himself; X knows ⟨learned etc⟩ what Y feels ⟨is⟩ like.

В этот… период жизни с Альбиной, дано было Лёве на своей шкуре испытать всю силу и ужас собственной НЕ любви (именно отдельно НЕ, а не вместе: просто нелюбовь — просто эмоция)… (Битов 2). In this period of his life with Albina… Lyova was allowed to experience firsthand the full force and horror of his own not-love (precisely, not-love: mere unlove is mere emotion)… (2a). ♦ Снова долг заставляет меня свидетельствовать о том, что пока ещё, по-моему, никто не рассказал, а мне довелось испытать на собственной шкуре (Марченко 2). Duty once more compels me to tell what I think has not yet been told by anyone and what I went through myself (2a).

Ш-81 • ВЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ВЛЕЗТЬ В ШКУ́РУ ⟨В КО́ЖУ⟩ чью, кого coll [VP; subj: human; often pfv imper or infin used with a finite form of another verb] to imagine, picture, put etc o.s. in another's (usu. unenviable) position: влезь в Y-ову шкуру ≃ crawl inside Y's skin; put yourself in ⟨step into⟩ Y's shoes.

«Казалось бы, чего легче понять ближнего! Надо только хоть на мгновение влезть в его шкуру, поставить себя на его место, и ты всегда будешь поступать правильно» (Максимов 2). "You'd think there was nothing easier than to understand your fellow-man. You only have to crawl inside his skin for a moment, to put yourself in his place—and you'll always act decently" (2a).

Ш-82 • ДЕЛИ́ТЬ ШКУ́РУ НЕУБИ́ТОГО МЕДВЕ́ДЯ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to count on future benefits that may never materialize, divide expected profits etc from a job not yet accomplished: X-ы делят шкуру неубитого медведя ≃ Xs should catch the bear before they sell his skin; Xs are dividing up the bearskin before the bear is shot; Xs are counting their chickens (before they hatch ⟨are hatched⟩); Xs should first catch their hare ⟨rabbit⟩, then go about skinning it.

В вопросе о предоставлении независимости Украине я… выразил сомнение в целесообразности делить шкуру неубитого медведя сейчас, именно сейчас, когда Советское государство столь сильно, как никогда (Лимонов 1). On the question of granting independence to the Ukraine, I… expressed doubt as to the expediency of dividing up the bearskin before the bear was shot, especially right now, when the Soviet government was stronger than ever (1a).

Ш-83 • ДРАТЬ/СОДРА́ТЬ ШКУ́РУ с кого highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. [usu. fut or subjunctive] (usu. used as a threat) to whip or beat s.o. severely; by extension to deal cruelly with s.o. in a more general sense: X сдерёт шкуру с Y-а ≃ X will have Y's hide; X will skin ⟨flay⟩ Y alive; X will beat the hide off Y.

«Признавайся, — помилуем, не признаешься — шкуру с тебя сдерём, кости переломаем и повесим как шпиона…» (Копелев 1). "Confess, and we'll pardon you; don't confess, we'll skin you alive, break all your bones, and hang you as a spy" (1a).

2. Also: ДРАТЬ ⟨СДИРА́ТЬ⟩/СОДРА́ТЬ СЕМЬ ШКУР ⟨(ПО) ДВЕ ШКУ́РЫ, (ПО) ТРИ ШКУ́РЫ⟩ highly coll being in a position of power, to exploit s.o. pitilessly by making him pay large taxes, very high interest, exorbitant prices etc: X драл шкуру с Y-а ≃ X exploited Y mercilessly; X skinned Y; X squeezed Y dry; X took the food out of Y's mouth ⟨the bread off Y's table⟩.

«Мы с голоду на улицах подыхаем, а вы с нас последнюю шкуру содрать хотите!..» (Пильняк 1). "We're croaking on the streets from hunger, and you want to skin us even more!" (1a).

Ш-84 • СПУСКА́ТЬ/СПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨СНЯТЬ⟩ ШКУ́РУ ⟨ТРИ ШКУ́РЫ, СЕМЬ ШКУР⟩ с кого highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut or subjunctive] to subject s.o. to extremely cruel physical punishment (usu. a beating); by extension to deal cruelly with s.o. in a more general sense (often used as a threat): X с Y-а шкуру спустит ≃ X will skin ⟨flay⟩ Y alive; X will flay the hide off Y; X will beat the hide off Y; X will knock ⟨beat⟩ the hell out of Y; X will have Y's hide.

«Выслушал он всё разъяснение Апокалипсиса — и про зверя, и про дракона, и что значит число шестьсот шестьдесят шесть… Потом встал, потянулся, обошёл вокруг моего стула и с тоской говорит: „Ох, попался бы ты мне два года назад, ведь я бы с тебя всю шкуру спустил!..“» (Терц 3). "He listened to my explanation of the Revelation, about the beast and the dragon, and about the meaning of the number six hundred three score and six…. Then he got up, stretched himself, went round and stood at the back of my chair and said: 'Oh, if you had only come into my hands two years ago I would have skinned you alive!'" (3a).

Ш-85 • ПРИКИ́ДЫВАТЬСЯ/ПРИКИ́НУТЬСЯ ШЛА́НГОМ slang [VP; subj: human] to pretend that one does not understand what is going on and what is expected of him: X прикинулся шлангом ≃ X played ⟨acted⟩ dumb; X played the dumbass; X feigned stupidity.

Ш-86 • (ЕЩЁ) КУДА́ НИ ШЛО́ coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [usu. used as Particle] let it be so, agreed (used to express hesitant agreement): very well; all right (then); here goes; so be it; [lim.] I wouldn't mind.

[Астров:] Пока здесь никого нет, пока дядя Ваня не вошёл с букетом, позвольте мне… поцеловать вас… На прощанье… Да? (Целует её в щеку.) Ну, вот… и прекрасно. [Елена Андреевна:] Желаю вам всего хорошего. (Оглянувшись) Куда ни шло, раз в жизни! (Обнимает его порывисто…) (Чехов 3). [A.:] Before anybody comes, before Uncle Vanya brings in his bouquet, let me… kiss you… good-bye… May I? (He kisses her on the cheek.) There… Now everything's fine. [Ye.:] All the best. (She looks around.) Well, here goes, for once in my life! (She embraces him impulsively.) (3b).

2. [predic; subj: infin, это, or any noun] acceptable, adequate to some degree (used to express mild approval): X — (ещё) куда ни шло ≃ X is not so ⟨that⟩ bad; X is more or less all right; X is okay; X is (more or less) tolerable; X can be tolerated; doing X makes sense.

Если б одним собой рисковать, ещё куда ни шло… (Акунин 2). If it were only himself he were risking, that would not be so bad… (2a).

Ш-87 • СНИМА́ТЬ/СНЯТЬ ШЛЯ́ПУ перед кем-чем lit [VP; subj: human] to exhibit great respect toward s.o., s.o.'s achievements, s.o.'s deeds etc: X снимает шляпу перед Y-ом ≃ X takes off his hat to Y.

«Настоящую машину узнаёшь постепенно, как человека. Сначала нас поражает идея — мы снимаем шляпу перед автором» (Дудинцев 1). "One only gets to know a real machine gradually, as one does a human being. At first we are simply struck with the idea and take our hats off to the originator" (1a).

Ш-88 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ В ШО́РЫ кого; ДЕРЖА́ТЬ В ШО́РАХ [VP; subj: human] to repress s.o., limit his freedom of action: X взял Y-а в шоры ⟨держал Y-а в шорах⟩ ≃ X clamped down on Y; X tightened the reins ⟨kept a tight rein⟩ on Y.

Мать никогда не держала Веру в шорах — отношения между ними были дружескими, доверительными. Vera's mother never kept a tight rein on her—their relationship was friendly and trusting.

Ш-89 • СКРЕ́ЩИВАТЬ/СКРЕСТИ́ТЬ ШПА́ГИ ⟨МЕЧИ́, ОРУ́ЖИЕ⟩ (с кем) lit [VP; subj: human] 1. obs to fight with s.o. one on one in battle or a duel: X скрестил шпаги с Y-ом ⟨X и Y скрестили шпаги⟩ ≃ X crossed swords with Y ⟨X and Y crossed swords⟩.

2. to enter into an ideological, political etc argument with s.o., defending one's position, interests etc: X скрестит шпаги с Y-ом ≃ X will cross swords ⟨lock horns⟩ with Y.

«Прежде чем скрещивать оружие с инженером Лопаткиным, — пробасил он, — я хочу сказать несколько слов критики в адрес почтенных представителей НИИЦентролита» (Дудинцев 1). "Before I cross swords with Engineer Lopatkin," he growled, "I would like to address a few words of criticism to the respected representatives of C.S.I.F.R. [the Central Scientific Institute of Foundry Research]" (1a).

Ш-90 • ПОДПУСКА́ТЬ/ПОДПУСТИ́ТЬ ШПИ́ЛЬКИ ⟨ШПИ́ЛЬКУ⟩ (кому, по поводу чего и т.п.); ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ ШПИ́ЛЬКИ ⟨ШПИ́ЛЬКУ⟩ all coll [VP; subj: human; var. with шпильки is usu. impfv; var. with шпильку is usu. pfv] to make caustic remarks or a caustic remark (to s.o.): X подпускал шпильки ⟨подпустил шпильку⟩ (Y-у ⟨по поводу Z-а⟩) ≃ X made digs ⟨a dig⟩ (at Y ⟨about Z⟩); [usu. in refer. to lighthearted teasing] X needled Y.

[Андрей:] Господин Харман знает русский язык, так что если вы начнёте пускать шпильки по поводу принадлежности его к капиталистическому обществу — то получится неловкость (Олеша 6). [A.:] Mr. Harman knows Russian, so if you start making digs about his being a capitalist—well, it would be awkward (6a).

Ш-91 • ОСТАВА́ТЬСЯ/ОСТА́ТЬСЯ ⟨ХОДИ́ТЬ⟩ БЕЗ ШТАНО́В highly coll, often humor [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] to be left without any means, be ruined financially: X останется без штанов ≃ X will end up flat broke; X will end up losing his shirt; X will be left penniless ⟨without his shirt, without a pot to piss in⟩; X won't have two nickels to rub together.

Будешь играть в рулетку — без штанов останешься. If you play roulette you'll end up losing your shirt.

Ш-92 • НАЛОЖИ́ТЬ В ШТАНЫ́; НАЛОЖИ́ТЬ ПО́ЛНЫЕ ШТАНЫ́ (со страху, от страха) coll [VP] 1. [subj: human] to defecate in one's clothes: X наложил в штаны ≃ X soiled ⟨messed, crapped, fouled⟩ his pants (in ⟨from⟩ fear); X soiled himself (in ⟨from⟩ fear).

Здесь перед ней, бывало, мужчины больших должностей и крупного телосложения дрожали, потели, заикались, хватались за сердце и теряли сознание. Был случай, когда один из них самым натуральным образом наложил в штаны, а другой, директор совхоза, пропивший полугодовой совхозный бюджет, не найдя объяснения, как ему это удалось, рухнул, тут же поражённый инсультом (Войнович 7). Here men with high positions and large physiques used to tremble before her, sweating and stammering, clutching at their hearts and losing consciousness. There was even one occasion when one of them had quite simply messed his pants, and another—the director of a state farm who was unable to explain how he had managed to drink the farm's entire six-month budget—had collapsed on the spot, felled by a stroke (7a).

2. [subj: human or collect] feeling uncontrollable fear, to become panicky: X наложил полные штаны ≃ X pushed ⟨pressed⟩ the panic button; X got scared stiff ⟨to death, out of his wits, shitless⟩.

Ш-93 • ПРОТИРА́ТЬ ⟨ПРОСИ́ЖИВАТЬ⟩ ШТАНЫ́ highly coll, humor or iron [VP; subj: human] to work or study long hours, usu. very diligently (in refer. to a job—often a clerical one—or other occupation that the speaker considers unworthy of such diligence): Х протирает штаны ≃ X wears out ⟨polishes⟩ the seat of his pants.

«Сажа валит из труб — это убыток и одновременно напоминание: есть приказ… о ликвидации убытков, над чем мы ежедневно просиживаем штаны» (Дудинцев 1). “If soot pours from a chimney, that is a loss and at the same time a reminder: there is an order… about the reduction of losses and we wear out the seats of our pants day after day trying to achieve this” (1a).

Ш-94 • ПО ШТА́ТУ ПОЛАГА́ЕТСЯ ⟨ПОЛО́ЖЕНО⟩ кому occas. humor [VP or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (var. with положено); subj: это, такое etc or infin] (some action, manner of behavior etc) corresponds to s.o.’s position, social status, merits etc: Х-у по штату положено делать Y ≃ it befits ⟨is appropriate to⟩ X’s station ⟨rank etc⟩ to do Y; it ⟨doing Y⟩ is in keeping with X’s position ⟨station, status etc⟩; it’s X’s job ⟨duty etc⟩ to do Y; X is supposed to ⟨has to etc⟩ do Y, it’s his job ⟨duty etc⟩.

Никто не знает, сколько у нас классов чиновников, кроме самих чиновников, но они-то отлично разбираются в тонкой структуре и не возьмутся за лом, если такое им по штату не положено (Мандельштам 2). Nobody knows how many different grades of officials we have, but they themselves have a very keen sense of all the nuances, and none of them would dream of wielding a crowbar if it were not appropriate to his station (2a).

Ш-95 • ВОТ ТАК ШТУ́КА!; ВОТ ТАК ⟨Э́ТО⟩ НО́МЕР! all coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express surprise, disappointment, perplexity etc (usu. in reaction to sth. unexpected): (well,) how do you like that!; (well,) I like that!; well, I’ll be darned ⟨damned⟩!; what a mess ⟨a business⟩!; well, what do you know!; so that’s how it is!; [lim.] that’s a new ⟨good⟩ one!

«Понимаю, понимаю. У него буква „В“ была на визитной карточке. Ай-яй-яй, вот так штука!.. Так он, стало быть, действительно мог быть у Понтия Пилата? Ведь он уже тогда родился? А меня сумасшедшим называют!» — прибавил Иван, в возмущении указывая на дверь (Булгаков 9). “Now I understand, now I understand. He had the letter ‘W’ on his visiting card. Well I’ll be, so that’s how it is!… So that means he really could have been with Pontius Pilate, doesn’t it? Since he was already born then, right? And they call me a madman!” Ivan added, pointing in outrage at the door (9c).

Ш-96 • НЕ ШТУ́КА; НЕ ВЕЛИКА́ ШТУ́КА both obsoles, coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. infin or abstr), pres only] doing sth. does not require much work or great effort, sth. or dealing with sth. is not difficult: сделать Х не штука ≃ X ⟨doing X⟩ is nothing ⟨no great trick⟩; there’s nothing to it; it’s not hard at all (to do X); it’s a no-brainer (to do X).

«Придёт муж [Степан] — небось, бросишь меня? Побоишься?» — «Мне что его бояться… Степан придёт — это не штука. Батя вон меня женить собирается» (Шолохов 2). “You’ll give me up when my husband [Stepan] comes back, won’t you? You’ll be afraid?” “Why should I be afraid of him?… Stepan coming back—that’s nothing. It’s my Dad; he wants to marry me off” (2a).

Ш-97 • ОТМА́ЧИВАТЬ/ОТМОЧИ́ТЬ ⟨ОТКА́ЛЫВАТЬ/ ОТКОЛО́ТЬ, ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫКИНУТЬ, УДРА́ТЬ obs⟩ ШТУ́КУ ⟨ШТУ́КИ⟩ highly coll [VP; subj: human; variants with штуки are usu. impfv; variants with штуку are usu. pfv] to do sth. unexpected, unusual, absurd: Х отмочил штуку ≃ X pulled a stunt ⟨a trick, a number⟩; X played a trick.

Тогда Стёпа отколол такую штуку: стал на колени перед неизвестным курильщиком и произнёс: «Умоляю, скажите, какой это город?» (Булгаков 9). Then Styopa pulled a crazy stunt; he dropped on his knees before the unknown smoker and asked: “I implore you, tell me what city is this?” (9a).

Ш-98 • СТОЛИ́ЧНАЯ ШТУ́ЧКА iron [NP; fixed WO] a person possessing the appearance, manners, clothes style etc typical of the privileged who live in large cities: a metropolitan sort ⟨kind⟩ of person ⟨guy, gal, creature etc⟩; a metropolitan personage; a big-city sort ⟨kind⟩ of person ⟨guy, girl etc⟩; [lim.] a big-city hotshot; a city slicker; a metropolitan swell; an upstart from the capital.

Про него было известно немногое: столичная штучка, в Москве бывает наездами — по важным делам, карьерист, обретается у самого алтаря государственной власти (Акунин 8). [context transl] Not very much was known about him: a St. Petersburg sort who made flying visits to Moscow on important business; a careerist with close connections to the inner sanctum of state power… (8a).

Ш-99 • КАК ШТЫК прийти, явиться, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. coll [как + NP; nom only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv] (to come to, appear at some place) unfailingly and at the appointed time (if the time is indicated or implied): (on time and) without fail; [with the focus on the exact time] on the dot ⟨on the nose, on the button⟩.

«Где-нибудь переночуешь и придёшь завтра в одиннадцать как штык!» (Домбровский 2). “Get a night’s sleep somewhere and come back tomorrow at eleven on the dot” (2a).

Ш-100 • В ШТЫКИ́ встретить, принять кого-что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to react to s.o. or sth.) with hostility, (to be) violently opposed to sth., ready to argue or fight with s.o. about sth.: (react to s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with open ⟨extreme⟩ hostility; (give s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) a hostile reception; (be) up in arms over ⟨about, at⟩ sth.

Все мои домашние встретили в штыки моё предложение официально удочерить Тоню (Гинзбург 2). All the members of my household were up in arms at my proposal to adopt Tonya (2a).

Ш-101 • ШУ́БЫ НЕ СОШЬЁШЬ из чего coll, usu. humor; НЕ ШУ́БУ ШИТЬ obs, coll [VP; these forms only; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing (1st var.); impers predic (2nd var.); fixed WO] sth. is or will be of no practical use whatsoever: it ⟨that⟩ won’t ⟨doesn’t⟩ do you ⟨me etc⟩ any good; it won’t put clothes on your ⟨his etc⟩ back; [lim.] it won’t fill your ⟨his etc⟩ belly.

Ш-102 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ ШУМ ⟨ШУМИ́ХУ coll, КРИК coll⟩ [VP; subj: human or collect, usu. газеты, пресса etc (variant with шумиху)] to protest, make an issue of sth., act etc in a fashion intended to attract much attention, publicity (variant with шумиху usu. implies undeserved attention): Х-ы подняли шум ≃ Xs raised a hue and cry ⟨a clamor⟩; Xs kicked up a fuss ⟨a storm⟩; Xs created ⟨raised⟩ a brouhaha ⟨a ballyhoo⟩; Xs made a ⟨much⟩ hullabaloo; [lim.] Xs raised a stink.

Мимо проходила учительница. Зашла на крик, увидела меня, лежащего голым на цементном полу в говне и слезах. Поняла всё, подняла шум. Добрые взрослые умыли меня, отнесли в постель (Гальего 1). A teacher was walking by. She came in at my shouting and saw me lying naked on the cement floor in shit and tears. She understood immediately and raised a hue and cry. Good grown-ups washed me and carried me to my bed (1a). ♦ «Но газеты-то наши московские хороши: сами известили москвичей о приезде „его высочества“, сами подняли шумиху, задурили всему городу голову…» (Акунин 1). “But look what fine informants our Moscow newspapers are. First they inform the citizens of Moscow about His Highness’s arrival, then they go on to create a ballyhoo and fill everyone’s head with nonsense…” (1a).

Ш-103 • БЕЗ ШУ́МА И ПЫ́ЛИ recent, coll [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] in a quiet and secretive fashion: without any fuss (or fanfare); on the quiet; on the q.t.; in a hush-hush manner ⟨way⟩; hush hush.

Ш-104 • МНО́ГО ШУ́МА ⟨ШУ́МУ⟩ ИЗ НИЧЕГО́ [saying] a lot of needless talk, commotion etc over something of little or no substance: much ado about nothing; a lot of fuss (made) over ⟨about⟩ nothing.

«Но благодарное население хоть убивать-то себя и давало, а всё брало на заметочку и посылало в Рим „вопли“. И когда они попадали в руки императору, Пилат получал нагоняи. От него требовали объяснений. Тиберий был опытный администратор и много шума из ничего терпеть не мог» (Домбровский 2). “But the grateful populace, while allowing themselves to be killed, had taken due note of this and had sent ‘lamentations’ to Rome. And when they came to the eyes of the emperor, Pilate received a telling-off. Explanations were demanded of him. Tiberius was an experienced administrator and couldn’t stand a lot of fuss being made over nothing” (2a). .

< The Russian translation of the title of William Shakespeare’s comedy Much Ado About Nothing, 1598–99, first published in Russia in Andrei Kroneberg’s 1847 translation.

Ш-105 • ПОД ШУМО́К coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth., usu. sth. that would be disapproved of by those present) secretly, unobserved by others, making use of general noise and/or confusion to cover o.s.: in (the midst of) all the confusion ⟨the commotion, the bustle etc⟩; taking advantage of the commotion ⟨the confusion, the bustle etc⟩; using the commotion ⟨the confusion etc⟩ to one’s advantage; while the racket ⟨all this etc⟩ is going on; [lim.] quietly; on the quiet.

И тут только я, зачарованный его таинственным рассказом, догадался, что он под шумок выпил всю нашу оставшуюся водку (Попов 1). And only then did I, entranced by his mysterious tale, guess the truth—that in all the commotion he had drunk up what vodka we had left (1a). ♦ Среди этой общей тревоги об шельме Анельке совсем позабыли. Видя, что дело её не выгорело, она, под шумок, снова переехала в свой заезжий дом, как будто за ней никаких пакостей и не водилось… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). In the general commotion, the rascal Anelka was completely forgotten. Seeing that the deal had not come off, she moved back to her inn on the quiet, just as if she hadn’t been playing dirty tricks… (1a).

Ш-106 • НАДЕ́ЛАТЬ (много) ШУ́МУ ⟨-а⟩ coll [VP; subj: abstr or concr] to give rise to much talk, attract general attention: X наделал шуму ≃ X caused ⟨created⟩ a sensation ⟨a stir⟩; [lim.] X made a splash.

Картина наделала много шуму и, в конце концов, её сняли до закрытия выставки (Искандер 4). The painting caused quite a sensation, and they finally took it down before the exhibition closed (4a).

Ш-107 • ШУТ ГОРО́ХОВЫЙ; ЧУ́ЧЕЛО ⟨ПУ́ГАЛО⟩ ГОРО́ХОВОЕ all coll [NP; sing only (variants with чучело and пугало); fixed WO] 1. disapprov [often subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] a person dressed funnily, unbecomingly, or out of fashion: (look ⟨be dressed⟩ like) a scarecrow ⟨a clown⟩.

Посмотри на себя в зеркало. Ты выглядишь как чучело гороховое! Где ты взяла эти лохмотья? Just look at yourself in the mirror. You look like a clown! Where did you get those rags from anyway?

2. disapprov [often subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] a person whose jokes or behavior seem bizarre to others and make him an object of ridicule: laughingstock; buffoon; clown.

…Этот самоуверенный Базаров и не подозревал, что он в их [мужиков] глазах был всё-таки чем-то вроде шута горохового… (Тургенев 2). …That same self-confident Bazarov didn’t even suspect that in their eyes he was still something of a laughingstock… (2g). …Bazarov the self-confident did not for a moment suspect that in their [the peasants’] eyes he was after all nothing but a sort of buffoon (2c).

Ш-108 • РАЗЫ́ГРЫВАТЬ (ИЗ СЕБЯ́) ШУТА́ (ГОРО́ХОВОГО); СТРО́ИТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ, КО́РЧИТЬ⟩ ИЗ СЕБЯ́ ШУТА́ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to behave in an absurd, ridiculous, outlandish way: X разыгрывает из себя шута ≃ X plays the clown ⟨the fool, the buffoon⟩; X acts like a clown ⟨a fool, a buffoon⟩.

[Митя] заметил только, надевая платье, что оно богаче его старого платья и что он бы не хотел «пользоваться». Кроме того, «унизительно узко. Шута, что ли, я горохового должен в нём разыгрывать… к вашему наслаждению!» (Достоевский 1). He [Mitya] merely observed, as he was putting the clothes on, that they were more costly than his old ones, and that he did not want “to gain by it.” And besides, “they’re embarrassingly tight. Shall I play the buffoon in them… for your pleasure?” (1a).

Ш-109 • ШУТИ́ТЬ НЕ ЛЮ́БИТ; НЕ ШУ́ТИТ; ШУТИ́ТЬ НЕЛЬЗЯ́ с кем-чем all coll [VP; subj: human, collect, or a noun denoting a natural phenomenon (1st and 2nd variants); impers predic with быть$_{ø}$, pres only (3rd var.); fixed WO (1st var.)] a person (group, or force of nature) should be taken seriously, paid serious attention to, obeyed etc because he (or it) may cause trouble (if s.o. is careless, disobedient etc): X шутить не любит ≃ X is not to be taken lightly; X is not something ⟨someone⟩ to mess with; there’s no fooling around with X; [of people only] X doesn’t ⟨won’t⟩ stand for any nonsense; X dislikes being trifled with; || X шутить этим ⟨такими вещами и т.п.⟩ не любит ≃ X doesn’t treat such things ⟨things like this, such matters etc⟩ lightly.

Прачка Палашка, толстая и рябая девка, и кривая коровница Акулька как-то согласились в одно время кинуться матушке в ноги, винясь в преступной слабости и с плачем жалуясь на мусье, обольстившего их неопытность. Матушка шутить этим не любила и пожаловалась батюшке (Пушкин 2). Palashka, the stout, pock-marked young washerwoman, and Akulka, the one-eyed dairymaid, decided one day to go and throw themselves at Mother’s feet, confessing their lamentable weakness and complaining tearfully about how Monseer had taken advantage of their inexperience. Mother did not take such matters lightly and complained to Father (2c).

Ш-110 • НЕ ШУ́ТКА ⟨-и⟩; НЕ ШУ́ТОЧКА ⟨-и⟩ all coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, pres only] 1. [subj: a quantit NP] the amount or quantity of people (things etc) in question is considerable, is relatively large: no small number ⟨amount, sum etc⟩; no piddling amount; a hefty number ⟨amount⟩; nothing to sneeze at; [lim.] it counts for something.

Мелодия уплывала за кладбищенские кроны, а Пётр Васильевич, поворачивая к дому, озаботился про себя: «Надо бы как-нибудь днями зайти, посочувствовать. Сколько вёрст вместе намотали, не шутка. Да, надо…» (Максимов 3). The melody floated away over in the cemetery treetops, and Pyotr Vasilievich made an anxious mental note, as he turned for home. "Ought to drop in someday soon, offer my sympathy. Chalked up a few miles together, we did… Counts for something. Yes, I ought to…" (3a).

2. [subj: usu. abstr or a clause, occas. concr] some action (phenomenon etc) should be taken seriously, considered significant (because it may have serious consequences, is a significant accomplishment etc): no joke; no laughing ⟨joking⟩ matter; nothing to sneeze at; not to be sneezed at.

«Ведь случись скандал, он конченый человек. Я британские обычаи знаю — в обществе ему никто руки не подаст, хоть обвесься орденами с головы до ног. Опять же два убийства — это не шутки» (Акунин 5). "After all, if there is a scandal, he's finished. I know how the British are about such things—no one in society will ever offer him their hand again, even if he is covered with medals from head to foot. And then again, two murders is no laughing matter" (5a).

3. [subj: infin] doing sth. is not easy, requires resolve, effort, courage etc: no easy task; no joke; quite a feat.

Закончить аспирантуру за два года — это не шутка. Обычно на это уходит пять-шесть лет. Getting a doctorate in two years is quite a feat. It usually takes five or six years.

Ш-111 • ШУ́ТКА ЛИ; ШУ́ТКА (ЛИ) СКАЗА́ТЬ all coll [these forms only; sent adv, parenth (all variants); indep. clause or predic with subj: infin (1st var.); fixed WO] it is very important, serious, not a trifle (because it may have serious consequences, is a significant accomplishment etc; sometimes used to express surprise at or admiration of the importance of sth.): it's no joke; it's no laughing ⟨small⟩ matter; [lim.] seriously.

Как только разносится слух, что в лагерь едет Громов, поднимается страшный переполох. Шутка ли, сам Громов! (Марченко 1). As soon as word goes round that Gromov is on his way to the camp there's a terrible hustle and bustle. It's no joke—Gromov in person! (1a).

Ш-112 • В КА́ЖДОЙ ⟨ВО ВСЯ́КОЙ⟩ ШУ́ТКЕ ЕСТЬ ДО́ЛЯ ПРА́ВДЫ [saying] every joke contains or is somehow based upon sth. serious or truthful: ≃ in every joke there's a grain of truth; there is many a true word spoken in jest; many a true word is spoken in jest.

[author's usage] Всё это говорится в подчёркнуто шутливом тоне, но при этом она бросает на меня быстрый и тревожный взгляд. Она боится, что в шутке есть доля истины (Войнович 5). [context transl] She made a point of saying all this jokingly, yet at the same time she kept casting quick, worried looks at me. She was afraid there might be some truth in her jest (5a).

Ш-113 • ШУ́ТКИ В СТО́РОНУ; ШУ́ТКИ ПРО́ЧЬ [usu. indep. clause; these forms only; fixed WO] speaking seriously; it is time to become serious (used as an appeal or proposal to begin to discuss sth. in a serious manner, get to the matter at hand): (all) joking ⟨kidding⟩ aside; let's get serious; this is no time for joking.

[Серебряков:] Я пригласил вас, господа, чтобы объявить вам, что к нам едет ревизор. Впрочем, шутки в сторону. Дело серьёзное (Чехов 3). [S.:] I've invited you here, gentlemen, to inform you that an Inspector General is on his way. But joking aside, this is a serious matter (3b).

Ш-114 • ШУ́ТКИ ПЛО́ХИ с кем-чем coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; usu. pres; fixed WO] (some person, group, or force of nature) should be dealt with seriously, with caution, otherwise unpleasant consequences or troubles may follow: с Х-ом шутки плохи ≃ X is not to be trifled with; don't ⟨you shouldn't⟩ fool ⟨mess⟩ around with X; person X is not a person to play ⟨toy etc⟩ with; [lim.] person X is a tough customer.

Бедняга Маяна не знала, что с природою шутки плохи… (Искандер 4). Poor Mayana did not know that nature is not to be trifled with (4a).

Ш-115 • ШУ́ТКИ ⟨ШУ́ТКУ rare⟩ ШУТИ́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. [often infin with нечего, не собираюсь etc or neg infin with пришёл, приехал etc] to say or do sth. to amuse o.s. and/or others: Х шутки шутит ≃ X is making ⟨cracking⟩ jokes; X is kidding ⟨fooling⟩ around; || Х и Y шутки шутят ≃ X and Y are exchanging ⟨cracking⟩ jokes; || Neg Х не шутки шутить пришёл ≃ X is in no mood to joke (around) ⟨to play games⟩; || Neg Imper ты шутки ⟨шуток⟩ не шути ≃ keep your jokes to yourself.

Он зарычал — грозно, яростно, исступлённо, показывая, что не шутки он будет шутить, но убивать, и сам готов умереть… (Владимов 1). He growled—angrily, menacingly, savagely, to show that he was in no mood to joke but ready to kill or to die himself… (1a).

2. ~ над кем, с кем to mock s.o., jeer at s.o.: Х шутки шутит над Y-ом ≃ X is making fun of Y; X is making ⟨trying to make⟩ a fool of Y.

[Атуева (начинает сердиться):] Теперь выше! Ниже!! Выше!!! Ниже!! Ах ты, боже мой! А, да что ты, дурак, русского языка не понимаешь?.. [Тишка:] Помилуйте, как не понимать!.. Я понимаю-с, я оченно [substand = очень], сударыня, понимаю. [Атуева (нетерпеливо):] Что ты там болтаешь?.. А! Ты, разбойник, со мною шутку шутишь, что ли?.. (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [A. (starting to get angry):] Now higher a little! Lower!! Higher!!! Lower!! Oh, my God, Tishka! What are you, a fool, don't you understand Russian at all? [T.:] By your leave, Ma'am, of course I do! I understand, Your Ladyship, I most certainly understand. [A. (impatiently):] What are you yapping about?… Oh! Are you trying to make a fool of me, you scoundrel you?! (2b).

Ш-116 • ШУ́ТКИ ШУ́ТКАМИ ⟨ШУ́ТКА ШУ́ТКОЙ⟩, а ⟨но⟩… coll [these forms only; usu. a clause in a compound sent; fixed WO] (used to introduce a response to, or as a rejoinder for, an exaggerated, humorous, or nonserious statement) speaking seriously, without exaggeration: joking aside ⟨apart⟩; kidding aside; it's all very well to joke, but…

«Канцлер на меня сердится, — сказал прокурор. — Мне это чертовски неприятно». — «Хорошо, — сказал Странник. — Я ему это передам». — «Шутки шутками, — сказал прокурор, — а если бы ты замолвил словечко…» (Стругацкие 2). "Chancellor is angry with me," said the prosecutor. "It's damned unpleasant for me." "All right, I'll tell him that." "Joking aside, if you could put in a word for me…" (2a).

Ш-117 • В ШУ́ТКУ; РАДИ ⟨ДЛЯ⟩ ШУ́ТКИ [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv] (to do sth.) in order to provoke amusement, laughter, not seriously: as ⟨for, by way of⟩ a joke; in jest; (say sth.) jokingly ⟨jestingly⟩; (say sth.) (with) tongue in cheek; [lim.] be (just) a joke.

Таким образом чегемцы, якобы в шутку, пытались узнать у Баграта, чего он добивается у тёти Маши… (Искандер 3). Thus the Chegemians, as if in jest, tried to find out from Bagrat what he was after at Aunt Masha's… (3a).

Ш-118 • НЕ НА ШУ́ТКУ рассердиться, испугать(ся), встревожить(ся), увлечься и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (to become) extremely (angry, frightened, upset, enamored etc): really; genuinely; seriously; (quite) in earnest.

Проснулся он [Лёва] резко, и в нём сразу возникло подозрение, что он проспал… Лёва выбежал из избы, чтобы увидеть, как стало светло, что напротив выгоняют корову, и не на шутку встревожился… (Битов 2). He [Lyova] woke abruptly, and immediately had a suspicion that he had overslept…. Lyova ran out of the cabin to see how light it had grown. Someone across the way was driving a cow out, and he became alarmed in earnest (2a).

Ш-119 • СЫГРА́ТЬ ШУ́ТКУ с кем coll; СЫГРА́ТЬ ШТУ́КУ obsoles, coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to do sth. mischievous, unkind to s.o., causing him grief, embarrassment etc: X сыграл штуку с Y-ом ≃ X played a trick ⟨a joke⟩ on Y; X pulled a prank on Y; [lim.] X played a practical joke on Y; || X сыграл с Y-ом злую ⟨скверную и т.п.⟩ шутку ≃ X played a nasty ⟨mean etc⟩ trick on Y; X played a cruel ⟨vicious⟩ joke on Y; X pulled a mean prank on Y.

«Слышал ты, какую без тебя сыграл с нами штуку Леницын? Захватил пустошь» (Гоголь 3). “Have you heard what trick Lenitsyn played on us while you were away? He has grabbed our wasteland” (3c).

Ш-120 • БЕЗ ШУ́ТОК [PrepP; Invar] 1. [sent adv (usu. parenth)] speaking in earnest: (all) joking ⟨kidding⟩ aside; joking apart; (speaking) seriously.

«Нет, без шуток, батюшка, она [княжна Марья] очень уродлива? А?» — …спросил он [Анатоль], как бы продолжая разговор, не раз ведённый во время путешествия (Толстой 4). “Joking apart, father, is she [Princess Marya] very hideous? Eh?” Anatol asked his father, as if continuing a subject that had been discussed more than once during the journey (4a).

2. [adv] (to say or do sth.) in earnest, without joking: in all seriousness; seriously; earnestly.

Ш-121 • КРО́МЕ ШУ́ТОК [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (parenth) or indep. remark] speaking in earnest: (all) joking ⟨kidding⟩ aside; joking apart; (speaking) seriously; [when questioning or confirming sth. stated previously] no kidding?⟨!⟩; you're kidding! ⟨are you kidding? etc⟩; really⟨!⟩

«Но кроме шуток, ведь протоплазма эта состоит из людей, из отдельных личностей…» (Аксёнов 6). “But all joking aside, this protoplasm of yours consists of human beings, of individual personalities…” (6a). ♦ «Вчера моя сестра родила тройню». — «Кроме шуток?» — «Кроме шуток». “Yesterday my sister had triplets.” “No kidding?” “No kidding.”

Ш-122 • НЕ ДО ШУ́ТОК ⟨НЕ ДО СМЕ́ХУ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] 1. (кому) sth. is a serious matter, not to be laughed about or taken lightly: it's no laughing ⟨joking⟩ matter; it's not something to laugh at ⟨joke about⟩; it's no joke; this is no time for joking.

…Потом всё поворачивается такой стороной, что не до шуток. Правда, происходит не сразу. Года через полтора (Трифонов 6). Later… things take a turn that is no joking matter. True, this does not happen immediately, but about a year and a half later (6a).

2. кому ~ s.o. is not in a lighthearted mood, not inclined to look at the given situation in a humorous way: X-у не до шуток ≃ X is in no mood for jokes ⟨joking⟩; X is in no mood to fool ⟨joke⟩ around.

…В тот день Владу было не до шуток. Голодный, без копейки денег… он сразу сделался игрушкой в руках судеб, от которых, как известно, спасенья нет (Максимов 2). At the time… Vlad was in no mood for jokes. Hungry, without a kopeck to his name… he became a plaything in the hands of fate—from which, as we know, there is no salvation (2a).

Ш-123 • НЕ ШУТЯ́ coll [Verbal Adv; Invar] 1. [adv] in a serious way, genuinely: seriously; in all seriousness; (quite) in earnest; earnestly; (one is) serious.

«Как? Вы не шутя думаете сладить с целым народом?» (Тургенев 2). “What? Do you seriously think you can take on the whole nation?” (2c).

2. [sent adv (parenth)] speaking in earnest: (all) joking ⟨kidding⟩ aside; joking apart; (speaking) seriously.

[Анна Петровна (смеётся):] Вы даже простого каламбура не можете сказать без злости. Злой вы человек. (Серьёзно.) Не шутя, граф, вы очень злы (Чехов 4). [A.P. (laughs):] You can't even make a simple joke without malice. You're a malicious person. (Seriously.) Joking aside, Count, you are exceedingly malicious (4a).

Ш-124 • СТОЯ́ТЬ/ПОСТОЯ́ТЬ НА ШУ́ХЕРЕ; НА ШУ́ХЕРЕ slang [VP (1st var.) or PrepP, subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); subj: human] to be on guard for s.o. (usu. for a person or persons doing sth. reprehensible), in order to ensure unhindered completion of the action and give a warning in the event of s.o.'s unexpected appearance: X стоит на шухере ≃ X stands watch; X keeps a lookout; X acts as the lookout; X is on the lookout; X is the lookout man.

Ш-125 • НИ ШЬЁТ НИ ПО́РЕТ coll, often disapprov [VP; subj: human; 3rd or 2nd pers, pres only; fixed WO] one takes no definite action on sth., refrains from a definite decision etc: X ни шьёт ни порет ≃ X is sitting on it; X is dragging his feet; X (still) hasn't moved on it; [lim.] X is just sitting there twiddling his thumbs.

«Мама, ты чего ни шьёшь ни порешь? — начала, не мешкая, распоряжаться Лизка. — Самовар будем греть или баню затоплять?» (Абрамов 1). “Mama, why are you just sitting there twiddling your thumbs?” asked Lizka, promptly taking control. “Aren't we going to heat up the samovar or get the bathhouse going?” (1a).

Щ

Щ-1 • ОТ СВОИ́Х ЩЕДРО́Т дарить, давать, отстегнуть кому что и т.п.; ОТ ЩЕДРО́Т чьих, кого usu. humor or iron [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to give, donate etc sth. to s.o.) as an act of kindness, showing generosity: out of largesse ⟨kindness⟩; out of the kindness of one's heart; [lim.] in a generous ⟨expansive⟩ moment.

Шулепников предлагал от своих щедрот: «Глебыч, на тебя есть заявка!» Это значило, что какая-то из Лёвкиных девиц, приметив Глебова или же что-то прослышав о нём… желает с ним познакомиться, а может быть, Лёвка и привирал, заявок не было, просто хотел приобщить друга к земным радостям (Трифонов 2). In an expansive moment Lev [Shulepnikov] would say, "Glevych, you're in demand!" This meant that one of Lev's girls had noticed Glebov, had heard something about him or wanted to meet him… Lev, of course, might have been exaggerating and the girl might not have asked to meet Glebov at all; it was just Lev offering him a taste of the joys of life (2a).

Щ-2 • ЗА О́БЕ ЩЁКИ ⟨ЩЕКИ́⟩ уплетать, уписывать, уминать что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (of a person) (to eat) heartily and with a great appetite: X уплетает (Y) ~ ≃ X is stuffing himself with Y; X is stuffing ⟨cramming⟩ his face with Y; X is wolfing down Y; X is gobbling up Y; X is packing ⟨tucking⟩ it away.

То покажется, что заглянула она в погреб, а там Юлька с Фешкой так-то за обе щеки уписывают, так-то уписывают! (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). Then she fancied herself peeping into one of the cellars and seeing Yulka and Feshka there furiously cramming their faces with food, my word, how they crammed it in! (3a).

Щ-3 • ЗА ЧУЖО́Й ЩЕКО́Й ЗУБ НЕ БОЛИ́Т [saying] one does not or cannot feel the pain of another or truly empathize with his grief, misfortune etc: ≃ your neighbor's toothache can't ⟨won't⟩ hurt you; when your tooth doesn't ache, you can't sympathize with another's aching tooth; we can always bear our neighbors' misfortunes; your neighbor's burden is always light.

Да если б на Западе хоть расшумели б о моём романе, если б арест его стал всемирно-известен — я, пожалуй, мог бы и не беспокоиться, я как у Христа за пазухой мог бы продолжать свою работу. Но они молчали!.. За чужой щекою зуб не болит (Солженицын 2). If only someone in the West had raised an outcry, if the whole world had been told that my novel had been impounded, I should have been in clover, I could have gone on working without a care in the world. But they were silent!… Your neighbor's toothache won't hurt you (2a).

Щ-4 • БОРЗЫ́МИ ЩЕНКА́МИ брать, давать кому iron or humor [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to take or give as a bribe) something other than money: token(s) (of gratitude).

< From Nikolai Gogol's The Inspector General («Ревизор»), 1836. Borzoi puppies («борзые щенки») were what judge Lyapkin-Tyapkin, a character in the play, admitted to accepting as bribes.

Щ-5 • КАК ЩЕ́ПКА худой, тощий coll [как + NP; Invar; modif; fixed WO] (of a person) extremely thin: (as) thin ⟨skinny⟩ as a rail ⟨a rake, a reed⟩; (as) skinny as a toothpick.

Щ-6 • В ЩЕ́ПКИ разбить, разнести и т.п. что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] 1. Also: разбиться ~ (to break sth., ruin sth., be broken etc) irretrievably, beyond repair: (smash sth. ⟨get smashed etc⟩) to bits ⟨to pieces, to smithereens, to splinters⟩; (burst ⟨break sth., knock sth.) into bits; (burst) into smithereens; (be ⟨get⟩ shattered) into pieces.

К воротам вышли кухарка и лавочник. Все с весёлым любопытством старались увидать проносившиеся над их головами снаряды. Из-за угла вышло несколько человек людей, оживлённо разговаривая. «То-то сила! — говорил один. — И крышку и потолок так в щепки и разбило» (Толстой 6). The cook and a shopkeeper also came out to the gate. They were all bright and cheerful, eager to get a glimpse of the shells flying overhead. Several people came round the corner chatting away. "Some force!" one was saying. "Roof and ceiling smashed to bits" (6c).

2. (to destroy s.o.'s arguments, theory, conclusions etc) completely: (pick sth.) to pieces; (tear sth.) to shreds; (smash sth.) to smithereens.

Разнести её аргументы в щепки было несложно: в них явно не хватало логики. It was easy to tear her arguments to shreds—they were obviously lacking in logic.

Щ-7 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ ⟨ПОДЫМА́ТЬ⟩/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ НА ЩИТ кого-что lit [VP; subj: human] to praise, extol s.o. or sth. excessively: X поднимает на щит Y-а ≃ X turns person Y into a hero; X makes a hero out of person Y; X hero-worships person Y; X praises Y to the skies; X extols the virtues of Y; X puts person Y on a pedestal; X lionizes Y.

Студентом Антон уже сам задавал ему вопросы. Почему продолжают подымать на щит Зою Космодемьянскую, которая пыталась поджечь какую-то конюшню? А о партизанах Игнатовых, изобретших не обнаруживаемые миноискателем деревянно-корпусные мины и подорвавших десятки поездов, не пишет никто? (Чудаков 1). During his university years, Anton himself asked questions of the major. Why was Zoya Kosmodemyanskaya still being lionized for trying to torch some stable? Why didn't anyone ever write about the Ignatovs, the partisans who invented wood-cased landmines that were invisible to mine detectors and were used to blow up dozens of trains? (1a).

Щ-8 • НА ЩИТЕ́ вернуться, прийти и т.п. lit [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (to return etc) vanquished, a loser: (return) (up)on one's shield; (return ⟨come back⟩) defeated.

< According to Plutarch and other sources, a Spartan woman seeing her son off to battle handed him his shield («щит») and said, "Either this or upon this" (Plutarch, Moralia, "Sayings of Spartan Women," 16). These words are traditionally interpreted as meaning "Return victorious or be brought home dead upon your shield."

Щ-9 • СО ЩИТО́М вернуться, прийти и т.п. lit [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (to return etc) having gained victory: (return) with one's shield; (return) victorious ⟨a winner, triumphant⟩; [lim.] (return etc) with a success story.

О том, чтобы заявиться к своим, не могло быть и речи: он посмел бы это сделать только «со щитом» (Максимов 2). There was no question of turning up on his family's doorstep: he would only have dared to do that if he could arrive with a success story (2a).

Э

Э-1 • СЛОВЕ́СНАЯ ЭКВИЛИБРИ́СТИКА usu. disapprov [NP; fixed WO] ability to use language resources with unusual adroitness and ease (often paying more attention to form than content, esp. when seeking to dodge a question, escape an unpleasant topic, impress one's listeners etc): verbal pyrotechnics ⟨acrobatics⟩; word juggling.

[author's usage] «А ведь вы талантливый человек, изощрённого ума, — с укоризной продолжил Митрофаний. — Что же эквилибристикой заниматься?» (Акунин 6). "You are, after all, a talented man with a subtle mind," Mitrofanii continued reproachfully. "Why do you indulge in these verbal acrobatics?" (6a).

Э-2 • ХОДЯ́ЧАЯ ⟨ЖИВА́Я⟩ ЭНЦИКЛОПЕ́ДИЯ; ХОДЯ́ЧИЙ УНИВЕРСИТЕ́Т; ЖИВО́Й СПРА́ВОЧНИК all humor [NP; sing only] a person possessing extensive knowledge in various fields, capable of providing an answer to any question: walking encyclopedia ⟨dictionary⟩; mine of information.

Говорили, что он не только помнит наизусть «Капитал» и «Анти-Дюринг», но и, хорошо разбираясь в местных проблемах, держит в голове все цифры показателей промышленного и сельскохозяйственного производства… Его называли ходячей энциклопедией… (Войнович 4). It was… said that he not only knew Das Kapital and Anti-Dühring but also had a good grasp of local problems, knew by heart all the figures for the indices concerning industrial and agricultural production…. People called him a walking encyclopedia… (4a).

Э-3 • ПЕРЕДАВА́ТЬ/ПЕРЕДА́ТЬ ЭСТАФЕ́ТУ кому usu. media [VP; subj: human] to entrust s.o. (usu. one's follower or followers) with, and encourage s.o. to continue developing, one's ideas, traditions, undertakings: X передал эстафету Y-у ≃ X passed Y the baton ⟨the torch⟩; X handed (on) the torch to Y.

Э-4 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ ЭСТАФЕ́ТУ от кого, у кого usu. media [VP; subj: human] to continue developing s.o.'s ideas, carrying on s.o.'s traditions, furthering s.o.'s undertakings etc: X принял эстафету от Y-а ≃ X took the torch ⟨the baton⟩ from Y; X carried on Y's work ⟨the tradition⟩.

«Как ты наивен, — прощептала Нина. — Бедный, бедный, бедный мой мальчик…»… Приняла эстафету от мамочки! Сучья сердобольность, видно, у них в крови! (Аксёнов 6). "How naive you are," whispered Nina. "My poor, poor, poor boy."… She has picked up the baton from her mother! Obviously all that big-deal compassion is in their blood (6a).

Э-5 • В ТРИ ЭТАЖА́ загнуть, крыть кого и т.п. highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to swear, curse etc) fiercely, using expletives: X загнул ⟨крыл Y-а⟩ ~ ≃ X cursed a blue streak; X cursed Y up and down; X turned the air blue; X let loose a (terrific ⟨incredible etc⟩) hail of curses (at Y).

Воркута стоял в очереди за бандеролью и вот, как загнёт в три этажа! Цензор, видно, решил показать, что тоже не лаптем щи хлебает, тоже кое-что умеет — и отозвался ещё похлеще (Марченко 1). He [Vorkuta] was lining up for printed packets when, all of a sudden he let loose a terrific hail of curses. The censor evidently decided to show that he wasn't born yesterday either and also knew a thing or two—and sent back an even bluer reply (1a).

Э-6 • ПРО́ЙДЕННЫЙ ЭТА́П (для кого) [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: any noun); fixed WO] sth. that has been done, experienced, connected to a certain person, place etc is no longer relevant: X (для Y-а) — пройденный этап ≃ X is a thing of the past (for Y); thing X is passé; Y is through ⟨over and done⟩ with X; X is old ⟨yesterday's⟩ news; [lim.] thing X is a road we've been down before; || (всё) это — пройденный этап ≃ it ⟨the whole thing⟩ is so been there, done that.

Э-7 • ПО ЭТА́ПУ отправлять, гнать кого и т.п.; ЭТА́ПНЫМ ПОРЯ́ДКОМ [PrepP (1st var.); $NP_{instrum}$ (2nd var.); these forms only; adv] (in refer. to the transfer of prisoners who are) watched over by a special police unit: (send ⟨transport etc⟩ s.o.) under guard ⟨under (police) escort, under convoy⟩; [lim.] on a prison train.

Тянулись в одну сторону обозы с чаями, хлебом и железом фабричной выделки, а в другую прогоняли под конвоем по этапу пешие партии арестантов (Пастернак 1). Caravans of tea, bread, and pig iron travelled one way, and convicts under guard, on foot, were driven the other (1a). Wagon trains of tea, bread, and wrought iron went one way, and in the other parties of convicts were driven on foot under convoy to the next halting place (1b). ♦ «Стерва, — сделал пальцем Ефим, — ты у меня поговори, я тебя в двадцать четыре часа из Одессы по этапу!» (Львов 1). "You bitch," he said, wagging a finger at her, "you talk like that to me, you'll be on your way out of Odessa on a prison train in twenty-four hours!" (1a).

Э-8 • ВОТ Э́ТО ДА́! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express delight, admiration, amazement etc: how about that!; (well,) how do you like that!; that beats all!; that's a new ⟨a good⟩ one!; that's the way! that's it!; he ⟨she etc⟩ is really something!; isn't that superb ⟨fabulous etc⟩!

На удивление всем, он ахнул до дна почти полный стакан водки и, оглушённый, замотал старой головой. «Вот это да!» (Айтматов 1). …To everyone's surprise, he gulped down almost a full glass in a single breath. Then, stunned, he shook his old head. "That's the way!" (1a).

Э-9 • ПРО Э́ТО (СА́МОЕ) рассказать, говорить, разговор и т.п. euph [PrepP; Invar; usu. obj or nonagreeing modif] (to tell s.o., have a conversation etc) about sex: about doing it; about that; about you know what; [lim.] what d'you think?; [usu. in the context of educating children about sex] about the birds and the bees.

Герои наши были рабоче-крестьянского происхождения и воспитания, сексуального обучения не проходили, теперешних программ телевидения «про это» не видели... (Войнович 7). Our characters came from a workers' and peasants' background and upbringing, they never had any sex education, they hadn't seen our modern television programs "about that"... (7a). ♦ «Без мужа-то как обходишься?» Она [женщина] повернулась к Григорию лицом. На смуглых скулах её заиграл румянец, в глазах вспыхнули и погасли рыжеватые искорки. «Ты про что это?» — «Про это самое». Она сдвинула с губ платок, протяжно сказала: «Ну, этого добра хватает! Свет не без добрых людей…» (Шолохов 5). "But how d'you make out with no husband?" She [the woman] turned to face Grigory. A flush played on her brown cheeks and tiny reddish sparks flared and died in her eyes. "What are you getting at?" "What d'you think?" She pulled the kerchief away from her lips and drawled, "Oh, there's plenty of that! There's still a few kind folk in the world…" (5a).

Э-10 • Э́ТО СА́МОЕ substand [NP; Invar; parenth; fixed WO] used as a filler when the speaker cannot immediately recall a word, formulate his thoughts etc: er; um; you know; like; I mean.

Э-11 • Э́ТО (УЖ ⟨УЖЕ⟩) СЛИ́ШКОМ coll [sent with быть$_{ø}$; fixed WO] this exceeds the limits of the acceptable, permissible etc: that ⟨this⟩ is ⟨would be⟩ going too far; that's too much; [in refer. to exaggeration] s.o. is ⟨that would be⟩ spreading it (on) too thick(ly).

«И Ленин дурак», — спокойно сказал Адмирал. Тут уж я просто не выдержал. «Ну, знаете, — сказал я. — …К Ленину я и сам отношусь критически, но называть его дураком — это уж слишком» (Войнович 7). "Lenin's a fool too," the Admiral said calmly. I couldn't restrain myself at that. "Look here," I said. "…I regard Lenin critically myself, but calling him a fool is going too far" (7a).

Э-12 • НА Э́ТОМ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] used to indicate the point where the previous action, situation etc ends and a change occurs: on this ⟨that⟩ note; with that; at this ⟨that⟩ point; that's where; here; [in limited contexts; usu. when the verb in the clause containing на этом is translated antonymically] that's as far as.

«Без туч дождя не бывает», — заметил Чонкин. «Без туч не бывает». — «А бывает так, что и тучи есть, а дождя всё равно нету». — «Бывает и так», — согласился Лёша. На этом они расстались. Жаров поехал догонять стадо, а Чонкин вернулся в избу (Войнович 2). "You don't get rain without clouds," remarked Chonkin. "Without clouds, that's right, no rain." "Sometimes you get clouds and still you don't get rain." "Sometimes you do," agreed Lyosha. On that note they parted. Zharov rode on to catch up with the herd and Chonkin went back to the hut (2a). ♦ Депеш поступило три: из Вашингтона, из Парижа и из Константинополя. Шапка у всех была одинаковой: «Срочно. Его высокопревосходительству Лаврентию Аркадьевичу Мизинову…». Подписаны донесения были самими посланниками. На этом сходство кончалось (Акунин 8). Three telegrams had arrived: from Washington, Paris, and Constantinople. The heading on all of them was identical: Urgent. To His Excellency Lavrentii Arkadievich Mizinov... The reports were signed by the ambassadors themselves, but that was as far as the similarity went (8a).

Э-13 • ПРИ Э́ТОМ; ПРИ ВСЁМ (ПРИ) Э́ТОМ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; often preceded by Conj «и» or «но»] 1. in addition to, along with (some previously mentioned action, characteristic etc): (and) at the same time; while ⟨as one is⟩ doing sth.; [lim.] in the process; thus; as well; on top of this ⟨that⟩; …to boot; in so doing.

На стене [летней уборной] справа, наколотые на гвоздик, висели квадратные куски газет. Чонкин срывал их по очереди и прочитывал, получая при этом немало отрывочных сведений по самым разнообразным вопросам (Войнович 2). Squares of newspaper had been nailed to the wall [of the summer outhouse] on Chonkin's right. He tore them off one after the other and read them through, thus acquiring no little fragmentary information on the most diverse matters (2a).

2. notwithstanding some action, fact, circumstance etc just mentioned: despite ⟨in spite of⟩ all this ⟨that⟩; but for all that ⟨this⟩; (yet) for all that ⟨this⟩; (but ⟨yet⟩) at the same time; and yet; all ⟨just⟩ the same…; nevertheless; still.

Удивительное было лицо у Чепыжина — простое, даже грубое, скуластое, курносое, мужицкое и при этом уж до того… тонкое, куда там лондонцам, куда там лорду Кельвину (Гроссман 2). Chepyzhin had an extraordinary face. It was simple, coarse, with high cheekbones and a snub nose, the face of a peasant—yet at the same time so fine… as to be the envy of any Englishman, even Lord Kelvin (2a).

Э-14 • ПРОИЗВЕСТИ́ ⟨ИМЕ́ТЬ⟩ ЭФФЕ́КТ РАЗОРВА́ВШЕЙСЯ БО́МБЫ [VP; subj: usu. abstr. (новость, событие, сообщение etc); fixed WO with the verb movable] to produce a dramatic and entirely unexpected impact, whether positive or negative: X произвёл эффект разорвавшейся бомбы ≃ X came as ⟨landed like⟩ a bombshell; X hit like a bombshell; X had a shocking ⟨sensational⟩ effect.

Сообщение об аресте президента компании произвело эффект разорвавшейся бомбы. News of the company president's arrest hit like a bombshell.

Ю

Ю-1 • В Ю́БКЕ iron or humor [PrepP; Invar; usu. Nonagreeing postmodif] used to liken a woman to a well-known fictitious male character (or, less often, a real male figure) who embodies some trait to an extreme extent (e.g., greed, envy, gluttony); occas. used when describing a woman who works, has dealings etc in a traditionally male profession, sphere of interest etc: a female (version of)…; …in a skirt; …in female form; (s.o.'s) female counterpart.

…Отец, большой мудрости и ангельского терпения человек… поделил жизненный путь дочери на три периода: чертёнок в юбке; Божье наказание; полоумная нигилистка. До сегодняшнего дня Варя такой дефиницией гордилась и говорила, что останавливаться на достигнутом не собирается… (Акунин 5). …Her father, a man of great wisdom and endowed with the patience of a saint, had divided his daughter's life into three periods: the imp in a skirt; the perfect nuisance; the loony nihilist. To this day Varya prided herself on this characterization, declaring that she had no intention of resting on her laurels as yet… (5a).

Ю-2 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬСЯ ЗА Ю́БКУ чью ⟨ЗА БА́БЬЮ Ю́БКУ⟩ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human, male] to be completely under the control of, and fully dependent on, some woman (one's wife, mother etc): X держится за Y-ову ⟨за бабью⟩ юбку ≃ X clings ⟨is tied⟩ to Y's ⟨to a woman's, to his wife's etc⟩ apron strings.

Когда князь Андрей вошёл в кабинет, старый князь… сидел за столом и писал. Он оглянулся. «Едешь?» — И он опять стал писать. «Пришёл проститься». — «Целуй сюда, — он показал щёку, — спасибо, спасибо!» — «За что вы меня благодарите?» — «За то, что не просрочиваешь, за бабью юбку не держишься. Служба прежде всего» (Толстой 4). When Prince Andrei entered the study, his father… sat at the table writing. He looked up. "Going?" And he went on writing. "I have come to say good-bye." "Kiss me here," he indicated his cheek. "Thanks, thanks." "What are you thanking me for?" "For not dilly-dallying, for not being tied to a woman's apron strings. Duty before everything" (4a).

Ю-3 • Ю́МОР ВИ́СЕЛЬНИКА iron [NP; fixed WO] gloomy humor, jokes, witticisms of a person in a difficult and inescapable situation: gallows humor.

< Loan translation of the German Galgenhumor.

Я

Я-1 • (ВОТ) Я́ ТЕБЯ́ ⟨его, её, вас, их⟩! highly coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used (sometimes after a command) as a threat to the person addressed or to another person: I'll show you ⟨him etc⟩ (what's what)!; I'll get ⟨fix⟩ you ⟨him etc⟩!; I'll give it to you ⟨him etc⟩ (good)!; I'll make it hot for you ⟨him etc⟩!; I'll give you ⟨him etc⟩ what for!

«Ах, Рабинович! — говорит начальник… — Да ты что, — говорит, — Рабинович! Да кто тебе разрешил, Рабинович? Да я тебя, Рабинович!» (Войнович 1). "Ah, Rabinovich!" said the chief…. "What do you think you're doing, Rabinovich? Who gave you permission? I'll show you, Rabinovich" (1a).

Я-2 • ВТОРО́Е ⟨ДРУГО́Е⟩ «Я» lit [NP; sing only; preceded by a possessive pronoun; fixed WO] a person who has close emotional contact with another person and whose values, attitudes, beliefs etc are identical with, or very close to, that person's; often a close friend: alter ego; soul mate; [lim.] other self.

…Но всё это ничуть не касается того манекена с механическими движениями и застывшими глазами, который теперь существует под моим именем. Разве это ещё я? Разве я могу ещё быть живой после того, как свершилась надо мной самая страшная моя кара? После того как погиб мой сын, мой первенец, моё второе «я»? (Гинзбург 2). But none of this was of the least concern to the clockwork figure with her mechanical movements and lifeless eyes who now went by my name. Was there still a me? Could I still be alive after the most fearful of all punishments had been visited on me? After the death of my son, my first-born, my other self? (2a).

< Loan translation of the Latin alter ego, which is also used in Russian in its Latin form. The phrase, used by Cicero (106–43 B.C.), was likely a translation from Greek.

Я-3 • Я НЕ Я coll [usu. indep. clause; Invar; fixed WO] I do not know anything because I am not involved: it has nothing to do with me; search ⟨beats⟩ me; it's not my affair; I haven't the foggiest.

Я и виду не покажу, что знаю об этом деле. А если спросят, то скажу: «Я не я, в первый раз об этом слышу». I won't let on that I know anything about it. And if they ask me I'll say, "Search me, this is the first I've heard of it."

< From the saying «Я не я, (и) лошадь не моя (и я не извозчик)»—"I am not I, and the horse is not mine (and I am not a coachman)."

Я-4 • В Я́БЛОКАХ [PrepP; Invar; postmodif] (of a horse's coat) marked with dark, roundish spots: dappled; || серый в яблоках ≃ dapple-gray ⟨dappled gray⟩.

По этому поводу дед рассказывал про лошадь Липку, на которой он ездил в бытность директором совхоза «Весёлые Терны» на Украине в двадцатых годах, — кобылу необыкновенной резвости, орловской породы (следовал рассказ о графе Орлове и его конзаводах), серой в яблоках, а хвост и грива белые (Чудаков 1). In this connection Grandfather used to reminisce about a horse named Lipka that he rode back in the 1920s, when he was the director of the Vesyolye Terny sovkhoz in the Ukraine. Lipka was an unusually spirited mare, an Orlov (here would follow a digression on Count Orlov and his studs), a dappled gray mare with white mane and tail (1a).

Я-5 • Я́БЛОКО ⟨Я́БЛОЧКО⟩ ОТ Я́БЛОНИ ⟨Я́БЛОНЬКИ⟩ НЕДАЛЕКО́ ПА́ДАЕТ [saying] children usually resemble their parents in character, habits etc (usu. said disapprovingly when children have the same faults as their parents): the ⟨an⟩ apple never falls far from the tree; it runs in the family; like father, like son ⟨daughter, child⟩; like mother like daughter ⟨son, child⟩; as the baker so the buns, as the father so the sons.

А Комиссаров, полицейский прихвостень, который схватил Каракозова, ответил бы на шестой пункт: «из мещан». Его бы приняли в университет, утвердили в должности. А ведь Сталин сказал: «Сын за отца не отвечает». Но ведь Сталин сказал: «Яблочко от яблони недалеко падает». Ну что ж, из мещан так из мещан (Гроссман 2). And Komissarov, the Tsarist police stooge who grabbed Karakozov, would have answered the sixth point: "petit bourgeois." He would have been accepted by the University. Stalin said: "The son isn't responsible for the father." But he also said: "An apple never falls far from the tree…" Well, petit bourgeois it is" (2a).

Я-6 • Я́БЛОКО РАЗДО́РА между кем-чем lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the cause of a quarrel, argument, serious disagreement: apple of discord; bone of contention.

Имущество это состояло из капитала в пятнадцать тысяч рублей и из скудной движимости, в числе которой был и знаменитый тарантас, едва не послуживший яблоком раздора между матерью и сыном (Салтыков-Щедрин 3). This property consisted of a capital sum of 15,000 roubles and a meagre assortment of effects—including the celebrated carriage which had nearly become an apple of discord between mother and son (3a).

< From the Greek myth of a golden apple inscribed "for the most beautiful," which caused a dispute among Aphrodite, Athena, and Hera, each of whom claimed the apple for herself.

Я-7 • Я́БЛОКУ НЕ́ГДЕ ⟨НЕ́КУДА⟩ УПА́СТЬ [these forms only; impers predic with $быть_{ø}$] some place is so full of people or things that there is no free space: there's no room to sneeze ⟨to turn around⟩; there's hardly ⟨barely, scarcely⟩ room to breathe ⟨to move an elbow etc⟩; there isn't room to swing a cat.

…Комната наполнилась так, что яблоку упасть было негде (Достоевский 3). …The room had become so full of people that there was hardly room to move an elbow (3d).

Я-8 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ В Я́БЛОЧКО coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. pfv] to do or say sth. that is exactly the right thing, precisely achieves its goal: X попал в яблочко ≃ X hit the bull's-eye ⟨bull's eye⟩; X scored a bull's-eye; X hit the mark; X was right on target ⟨on the mark, on the money⟩; X hit it just right; thing X was a bell ringer ⟨a home run⟩; ○ ПОПАДА́НИЕ В Я́БЛОЧКО [NP] ≃ bull's-eye.

«Опишите внешность. Есть ли особые приметы?»… «Обыкновенная внешность. Волосами блондин. Особые приметы… Разве что глаза-с. Очень уж светлые, какие у чухонцев бывают». Фандорин хищно хлопнул ладонью по стойке. В яблочко! Вот он, главный персонаж (Акунин 3). "Describe his appearance. Does he have any distinctive features?"… "An ordinary appearance. Blond hair. No distinctive features… Except for his eyes. They were very pale, the kind that Finns sometimes have." Fandorin slapped his hand down on the counter like a predator pouncing. Bull's-eye! Here was the central character of the plot (3a).

Я-9 • ЯВИ́ЛСЯ НЕ ЗАПЫЛИ́ЛСЯ! coll [indep. sent; fixed WO] (used as a comment on s.o.'s arrival) s.o. who is expected (or should have arrived earlier) finally appears or s.o. appears unexpectedly: here he comes!; finally!; at last!; here he is (at last)!; it's about time!; he made it; [of s.o. whose name was just mentioned] speak ⟨talk⟩ of the devil.

…Наш парень, наглый и очень бойкий на язык дома, совершенно меняется с чужими людьми (Трифонов 5). …However bold and quick-tongued our son might be at home, he changed completely in the presence of strangers (5a).

Я-11 • ВЫ́СУНУВ ⟨ВЫ́СУНУВШИ, ВЫ́СУНЯ obs⟩ ЯЗЫ́К ⟨ЯЗЫКИ́ rare⟩ coll [Verbal Adv; these forms only; usu. used with impfv verbs; var. with язык may be used with pl subj; fixed WO] 1. бежать, удирать и т.п. ~ (to run, run away) very quickly: like the dickens; like mad; like a bat out of hell.

Мальчишки залезли в колхозный сад, но сторож их заметил, и им пришлось удирать, высунув язык. The boys got into the kolkhoz garden, but the guard saw them and they had to run like the dickens.

2. бегать, мотаться и т.п. ~ (to run, be on the go etc) nonstop, without taking a breather (because one is overwhelmed by the number of things he has to do): with one's tongue hanging out; like mad; till one is dropping in his tracks.

Я такой же кинозритель, какой в своё время был театрал. Но сыновья мои большие любители, и когда кинофестиваль, бегают по Москве высунув язык и меня тащат… (Рыбаков 1). I'm about as much of a film-goer as I used to be a theatre-goer in the old days, but my sons are great film-fans and during the festival they rush all over Moscow with their tongues hanging out, and dragging me along with them (1a).

Я-12 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ЯЗЫ́К ЗА ЗУБА́МИ ⟨НА ПРИ́ВЯЗИ obs⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; often imper or infin with надо, должен, советовать, просить etc] to remain silent, not revealing some information, expressing some opinion etc: X держал язык за зубами ≃ X kept his mouth shut; X held his tongue; X kept his tongue in check; X buttoned his lip; [lim.] X didn't breathe a word about sth. (to s.o.); X kept a tight rein on his tongue; X kept his wagging tongue in check.

«Я думаю, что здесь все коммунисты и все умеют держать язык за зубами» (Войнович 4). "I think we are all Communists here and know how to keep our mouths shut" (4a).

Я-13 • ДЁРНУЛО ЗА ЯЗЫ́К кого coll; ЧЁРТ ⟨less often БЕС, ЛЕШИЙ⟩ ДЁРНУЛ ЗА ЯЗЫ́К highly coll; НЕЛЁГКАЯ ДЁРНУЛА ЗА ЯЗЫ́К highly coll [VP, impers (1st var.); VP_{subj} (other variants)] used to express the speaker's extreme regret, anger, or annoyance over the fact that he or another person said sth. inappropriate, offensive, out of place etc: дёрнуло ⟨чёрт дёрнул⟩ X-а за язык ≃ what ⟨something must have⟩ possessed X to say that!; why the hell ⟨in blazes, on earth⟩ did X (have to) say that?; what the hell ⟨in blazes, on earth⟩ did X say that for?; X and his big mouth!; there goes X with his big mouth!

И дёрнуло ж меня за язык! Промолчи я насчёт его топорика, ничего бы не было (Искандер 4). What had possessed me to say that! If I'd kept quiet about his ax, nothing would have happened (4a). ♦ «Ты-то выпьешь со мной на радостях?» — спросил он. И тотчас же с тревогой подумал: «Ну, вот и опять дёрнул меня чёрт за язык!» (Шолохов 5). "You'll have one [a drink] with me to celebrate, won't you?" he asked. And at once the alarming thought crossed his mind, "There I go again with my big mouth!" (5a).

Я-14 • ДЛИ́ННЫЙ ЯЗЫ́К coll, disapprov [NP] 1. ~ чей, кого [fixed WO] excessive talkativeness, the inability to keep a secret or restrain o.s. in conversation: big mouth; loose ⟨wagging⟩ tongue; ‖ ты и твой длинный язык! ≃ you and that tongue of yours!; you and your big mouth!

«Ведь время сейчас того… острое. Так с чего мы должны верить, что этот поп битый-перебитый… будет… вывёртываться наизнанку. Он ведь не дурак! Он знает, что теперь за длинный язык бывает. Вот поэтому он его и держит за зубами.» (Домбровский 2). "These days things are… acute. So why should we believe that this priest who's been through the mill… is going to… turn himself inside out for you? He's nobody's fool! He knows the cost of a wagging tongue by now. So he keeps a tight rein on it." (2a).

2. у кого ~ [VP_{subj} with copula] s.o. is excessively talkative, says too much, is unable to keep a secret: у X-а длинный язык ≃ X talks too much; X has a big mouth; X has a loose ⟨wagging⟩ tongue; X is loose-lipped ⟨loose-tongued⟩.

Утром, ещё было темно, Аня Котляр зашла к мадам Малой и спросила: это правда, что ночью взяли Лапидиса? Клава Ивановна разозлилась, назвала Аню дурой, но тут же сама расплакалась и сказала: здесь какая-то ошибка, у Лапидиса длинный язык, это да, но откуда он может быть враг народа или вредитель! (Львов 1). The next morning before dawn, Anya Kotlyar went to Madame Malaya's and asked if it was true that Lapidis had been arrested that night. Klava Ivanovna became angry and called Anya a fool but then at once burst into tears herself and said: "It must be some kind of a mistake, sure Lapidis has a big mouth, but that doesn't make him an enemy of the people or a saboteur!" (1a).

Я-15 • ЗЛОЙ НА ЯЗЫ́К [AdjP; modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who speaks in a malicious, mocking, sarcastic manner: evil-tongued; mean-tongued.

Злые на язык чегемцы говорили, что она [тётя Катя] выслеживает больных собак и, высмотрев, какие они травы кусают, разводит их у себя в огороде (Искандер 3). Evil-tongued Chegemians said that she [Aunt Katya] followed sick dogs to see what kinds of herbs they ate, and then raised them in her garden (3a).

Я-16 • ЗЛОЙ ЯЗЫ́К [NP; sing only] 1. ~ чей, кого [NP; sing only] a person's habit of saying unkind, mocking etc things at the expense of s.o. or sth.: malicious ⟨spiteful, vicious, evil, sharp, acid etc⟩ tongue.

…Его обыкновенная угрюмость, крутой нрав и злой язык имели сильное влияние на молодые наши умы (Пушкин 3). …His habitual sullenness, gruff disposition and spiteful tongue had a powerful effect on our young minds (3c). …His habitual sullenness, acrimonious temper, and sharp tongue made a strong impression on our young minds (3a).

2. ~ у кого [VP_{subj} with copula] s.o. speaks in an unkind, mocking, sarcastic manner: у X-а злой язык ≃ X has a ma- licious ⟨spiteful, vicious, evil, acid etc⟩ tongue; X is evil-tongued.

У него был злой язык: под вывескою его эпиграммы не один добряк прослыл пошлым дураком (Лермонтов 1). He had a malicious tongue, and, branded by his epigrams, more than one good soul came to be regarded as a vulgar fool (1b).

Я-17 • НАХОДИ́ТЬ/НАЙТИ́ О́БЩИЙ ЯЗЫ́К (с кем) [VP; subj: human; if there is no prep obj, subj: pl; usu. this WO] to discover a basis for mutual understanding, such as common interests, values, views etc: X и Y нашли общий язык ≃ X and Y found a common language; X and Y found (some) common ground; X and Y found (they had) much in common; X and Y came to speak the same language.

«…Если мы не найдём общего языка, если вы меня пошлёте сейчас подальше, я и это пойму, поверьте…» (Аксёнов 7). "…If we, shall we say, fail to find a common language, if you tell me to go to blazes, I'll understand, believe me" (7a).

Я-18 • О́БЩИЙ ЯЗЫ́К (у кого с кем) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] common interests, values, views etc that allow two or more people to find mutual understanding: (have ⟨share etc⟩) a common language; (speak) the same language; (share) common ground; [lim.] (be) on the same wavelength.

Я-19 • ОСТЁР ⟨О́СТРЫЙ⟩ НА ЯЗЫ́К coll [AdjP; subj-compl with copula, subj: human (all variants) or modif (var. with long-form Adj); fixed WO] a person who is sarcastic and biting in conversation: X остёр на язык ≃ X has a sharp tongue; X is sharp-tongued.

Был он непочтителен к авторитетам, дерзок, остёр на язык и заносчив… (Акунин 2). He was disrespectful to authorities, insolent, sharp-tongued, and overbearing… (2a).

Я-20 • О́СТРЫЙ ЯЗЫ́К [NP; sing only] 1. ~ чей, кого. Also: О́СТРЫЙ ЯЗЫЧО́К coll s.o.'s ability to say and habit of saying sarcastic, cutting things in conversation: sharp ⟨biting, barbed, quick etc⟩ tongue.

Мужчины побаивались Машенькиного острого язычка: она могла такое сказать, что потом над неудачником долго потешался весь отдел. The men feared Masha's sharp tongue: she could say things that would have the entire department laughing at you for a long time to come.

2. у кого ~ [VP_{subj} with copula] s.o. is witty, sarcastic in conversation: у X-а острый язык ≃ X is sharp-tongued ⟨tart-tongued⟩; X has a sharp ⟨biting, quick etc⟩ tongue.

«Был сегодня у неё [Елизаветы], угощала чаем с халвой… Острый язык, в меру умна…» (Шолохов 2). "Called on her [Yelizaveta] today, she gave me tea and halvah…. Sharp tongue, moderately clever…" (2a).

Я-21 • ОТСО́ХНИ (у меня) ЯЗЫ́К; ПУСТЬ у меня ЯЗЫ́К ОТСО́ХНЕТ both substand [Interj; these forms only; often foll. by a clause introduced by если, коли; fixed WO] used to emphasize the truth of a statement or the sincerity of a promise; also used to express certainty that some event or action did take, is taking, or will take place: may my tongue dry up and fall off (if…); may my tongue wither ⟨fall out⟩ (if…); I'll eat my hat (if…).

Я-22 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ ЯЗЫ́К кому [VP; subj: human] to poke one's tongue out of one's mouth in s.o.'s direction in order to tease, mock, provoke etc him: X показал язык Y-у ≃ X stuck his tongue out ⟨stuck out his tongue⟩ (at Y).

Глохнут внешние звуки под водой, и в ушах остаётся лишь журчанье. И он, тараща глаза, старательно смотрит на всё то, что можно увидеть под водой. Глаза щиплет, глазам больно, но он горделиво улыбается себе и даже язык показывает в воде. Это он бабке. Пусть знает, вовсе и не утонет он, и вовсе ничего не боится (Айтматов 1). Under the water all outside sounds vanish—you hear only the rushing of the stream. Keeping his eyes wide open, he stared hard to see everything that could be seen. His eyes prickled and hurt, but he smiled proudly to himself and even stuck his tongue out. That was for grandma. Let her know. He wouldn't drown. And he wasn't afraid of anything (1a).

Я-23 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ ⟨ПОПАДА́ТЬСЯ/ПОПА́СТЬСЯ⟩ НА ЯЗЫ́К ⟨НА ЯЗЫЧО́К⟩ (к) кому coll [VP; subj: human] to become the subject of gossip or (usu. unkind) conversation: X попал(ся) Y-у на язык ≃ X fell victim to Y's tongue; X is the victim of Y's tongue; Y's tongue is wagging about X.

«Нашим бабам только попади на язык, такого наговорят!» (Максимов 3). "Once our women's tongues start wagging about you, there's no knowing what they'll say" (3a).

Я-24 • ПРИДЕ́РЖИВАТЬ/ПРИДЕРЖА́ТЬ ⟨ПОПРИДЕРЖА́ТЬ⟩ ЯЗЫ́К ⟨ЯЗЫЧО́К⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. imper or infin with надо] to refrain from talking or arguing, keep silent: (по)придержи язык ≃ hold your tongue; keep your mouth shut; control ⟨curb, restrain⟩ your tongue.

«Даю тебе два дня, — объявил последнее решение уполномоченный. — Не уплатишь — пеняй на себя. Опишем имущество». — «А есть такой закон?»… — «Есть». — «Ну нет, товарищ Черёмный, это ты малость призагнул…» — «Не призагнул. А язык советую попридержать» (Абрамов 1). "I'm giving you two days," was the official's final decision. "If you don't pay up you have only yourself to blame. We'll seize your property." "Is that legal?" "Yes." "But Comrade Cheryomny, that's a bit rough…" "It's not a bit rough. And I would advise you to hold your tongue" (1a).

Я-25 • ПРИКУ́СЫВАТЬ/ПРИКУСИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАКУСИ́ТЬ⟩ ЯЗЫ́К ⟨ЯЗЫЧО́К⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past or imper] to fall silent suddenly or refrain from saying sth.: X прикусил язык ≃ X bit ⟨held, bridled etc⟩ his tongue; X kept his mouth shut ⟨closed⟩; X bit back a remark.

«Ты не у себя в Чегеме», — огрызнулся писарь, видимо, осмелев от выпитого. «Чтоб раздавить жабу, не обязательно ехать в Чегем», — сказал дядя Сандро и так посмотрел на писаря, что тот сразу же отрезвел и прикусил язык (Искандер 3). "You're not at home in Chegem," the clerk snarled, evidently made bold by drink. "I don't have to go to Chegem to squash a toad," Uncle Sandro said, with a look that instantly made the clerk sober up and hold his tongue (3a).

Я-26 • ПРОГЛОТИ́ТЬ ЯЗЫ́К; often БУ́ДТО ⟨КАК БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ЯЗЫ́К ПРОГЛОТИ́Л coll [VP; subj: human; usu. past; often used in questions] to keep or fall silent, refrain from saying anything (out of fear, embarrassment, a lack of confidence etc, or in an attempt not to reveal sth.): X как будто язык проглотил ≃ it was as if ⟨as though⟩ X had swallowed ⟨lost⟩ his tongue; it seemed the cat had gotten X's tongue; || ты что, язык проглотил? ≃ (what,) has the cat got your tongue?

…В кабинете установилось долгое и тягостное молчание. Голубев смотрел на посетителя выжидательно, но Чонкин слов-но язык проглотил (Войнович 2). A long and painful silence ensued. Golubev gazed expectantly at his visitor, but it seemed the cat had gotten Chonkin's tongue (2a).

Я-27 • ПРОСИ́ТЬСЯ НА ЯЗЫ́К [VP; subj: слово, имя etc] (of a word, phrase etc that s.o. is eager to say) to be about to be said: X просится на язык ≃ X is on the tip of person Y's tongue; person Y is dying ⟨itching⟩ to say X.

Выпитое ли вино, или потребность откровенности, или мысль, что этот человек не знает и не узнает никого из действующих лиц его истории, или всё вместе развязало язык Пьеру. И он… рассказал всю свою историю: и свою женитьбу, и историю любви Наташи к его лучшему другу, и её измену, и все свои несложные отношения к ней (Толстой 6). Whether it was the wine he had drunk or an impulse of frankness or the thought that this man did not, and never would, know any of those who played a part in his story, or whether it was all these things together, something loosened Pierre's tongue…. He told the whole story of his life: his marriage, Natasha's love for his best friend, her betrayal of him, and all his own simple relations with her (6a).

2. ~ кому [subj: human] to force, impel a person to speak, divulge a secret: X развяжет Y-у язык ≃ X will loosen Y's tongue; X will make Y talk.

3. [subj: human] fearing punishment, reprisal, to speak after a silence and divulge some secret: X развязал язык ≃ X started talking; [lim.] X came clean.

«Ещё раз повторяю вам, что на подобные вопросы отвечать не стану». — «На выбор: или ты, собака, сейчас же развяжешь язык, или через десять минут будешь поставлен к стенке! Ну?!» (Шолохов 5). "I repeat, I refuse to answer such questions." "You have the choice. Either you come clean, you dog, or in ten minutes from now we'll have you up against a wall! Now then?" (5a).

4. often disapprov [subj: human] to become talkative (usu. after a silence), talk a great deal: X развязал язык ≃ X began to talk (a lot); X began to wag his tongue; X began to jabber ⟨chatter⟩ away.

Я-29 • РАСПУСКА́ТЬ/РАСПУСТИ́ТЬ ЯЗЫ́К coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to become too talkative, speak excessively, without restraint: X распустил язык ≃ X talked too much ⟨too freely⟩; X wagged ⟨began to wag⟩ his tongue; || Neg Imper не распускай язык ≃ shut your mouth; quit wagging ⟨don't wag⟩ your tongue; put a sock in it; put a lid on it.

В это мгновение чёрный китель поднял голову и начал что-то выговаривать своему земляку. Сван, что сидел на корточках, добродушно оправдывался, поглядывая в нашу сторону, как на союзников. Чёрный китель постепенно успокоился и на интонации мелкого административного раздражения замолк. «Язык не распускай», — сказал он ему в конце по-русски… (Искандер 4). At that instant, Black-Tunic raised his head and began saying something to his countryman. The Svan who was sitting on his haunches defended himself good-naturedly, glancing in our direction as if we were allies. Black-Tunic gradually wound down and concluded in a tone of petty administrative irritation. "Don't wag your tongue," he said finally, in Russian… (4a).

Я-30 • СЛАБ ⟨СЛА́БЫЙ⟩ НА ЯЗЫ́К obsoles, substand [AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, both variants) or modif (var. with full-form Adj); fixed WO] a person who is too talkative, has a tendency to talk unrestrainedly: X слаб на язык ≃ X has a loose tongue; X talks nonstop; X has trouble keeping his mouth shut; X can't keep his tongue still; X is a blabbermouth.

Я-31 • СУКО́ННЫЙ ЯЗЫ́К; СУКО́ННАЯ РЕЧЬ [NP] inexpressive, colorless, unimaginative language: dull ⟨vapid, uninspired, insipid⟩ language.

Он и личные письма пишет таким же суконным языком, как и деловые бумаги. He writes personal letters in the same vapid language that he uses for business documents.

Я-32 • ТОЧИ́ТЬ/ПОТО́ЧИТЬ ЯЗЫ́К highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to engage in idle chatter: X точит язык ≃ X wags his tongue; X shoots the breeze ⟨the bull⟩; X flaps his jaws ⟨gums⟩; X gabs ⟨jabbers, chatters⟩ away.

По субботам у Марьи Семёновны собиралось небольшое дамское общество. За чашкой чая дамы точили языки, обсуждая последние городские новости. On Saturdays a small group of ladies would gather at Marya Semyonovna's home. Over tea they would wag their tongues, discussing the latest news of the city.

2. ~ на ком [impfv only] to gossip maliciously, make snide or mocking remarks about s.o.: X точит язык на Y-е ≃ X picks Y apart; X makes sport ⟨fun⟩ of Y; X makes Y the butt of X's ridicule ⟨jokes⟩.

«Да, Фома Гурьянович. Я, собственно… Мы, собственно… Мы уверены, что [преступник] — среди этих пяти». (А что он мог ещё сказать?..) Фома слегка прищурил глаз. «Вы отвечаете за свои слова?» — «Да, мы… Да… отвечаем…»… — «Смотрите, я за язык не тянул» (Солженицын 3). "Yes, Foma Guryanovich. I, to be sure… we certainly… we are convinced that he [the criminal] is among these five." What else could he say? [Foma] Oskolupov squinted one eye. "Will you answer for what you say?" "Yes, we… yes… we will answer."… "Listen here, I didn't force you to talk" (3a).

Я-34 • УКОРОТИ́ТЬ ЯЗЫ́К highly coll [VP] 1. ~ кому [subj: human or abstr; often infin with надо, нужно etc] to force s.o. to stop saying rude or inappropriate things or sth. he should not say: X укоротит Y-у язык ≃ X will shut Y up; X will shut Y's mouth ⟨trap⟩ for him; X will silence Y.

У властей было достаточно способов укоротить язык недовольным, самых активных могли в двадцать четыре часа вышвырнуть из города. The authorities had plenty of ways to silence dissenters, and they could throw the most vocal ones out of the city within twenty-four hours.

2. [imper only] stop talking: укороти язык ≃ shut up!; shut your mouth ⟨trap, face⟩!; hold your tongue!

«Довольно чесать языком! Ещё писатель называется!» — не раз возмущался я его способностью вечно плести всякую чушь (Терц 4). "Stop wagging your tongue! Call yourself a writer?" I often said in indignation at his capacity for perpetually concocting every possible kind of nonsense (4a).

Я-36 • ЧТОБ У ТЕБЯ́ ⟨у него, твой, его и т.п.⟩ ЯЗЫ́К ОТСО́Х highly coll, rude [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] an evil wish directed at a person who brings bad news or speaks inappropriately or too much: may your ⟨his etc⟩ tongue wither ⟨dry up⟩ (and fall off).

«Верни моего сына!» — крикнула ему вслед старуха. «Чтоб язык твой отсох», — бормотнул мой старик… (Искандер 3). "Bring back my son!" the old woman shouted after him. "May your tongue dry up," my old man muttered (3a).

Я-37 • ЭЗО́ПОВ ⟨ЭЗО́ПОВСКИЙ⟩ ЯЗЫ́К; ЭЗО́ПОВСКАЯ РЕЧЬ all lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an allegorical expression of thoughts: Aesopian language.

Работая с Усовой в Ташкенте в университете, мы не искали стукачей, потому что «писали» все. И мы упражнялись в эзоповом языке (Мандельштам 1). When Alisa Usov and I later taught at Tashkent University, there was no point in trying to pick up informers, because we knew everybody "wrote." And we tried to become adept in Aesopian language (1a).

< From Aesop, the name of the Greek fabulist.

Я-38 • ЯЗЫ́К БЕЗ КОСТЕ́Й у кого coll, disapprov [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$, pres only; fixed WO] s.o. is very talkative, says things he should not, is not careful about what he says: у X-а язык без костей ≃ X has a loose tongue; X's tongue runs away with him; X runs off at the mouth; X's tongue is out of control; X's tongue is always wagging.

«Ишь, сопит! Обиделся, видно, малолетка… Я ведь так, не со зла… Язык без костей, вот и мелю…» (Максимов 2). "Hell, he's snivelling! Must have offended him…. Don't mind me, kid, I don't mean any harm. My tongue runs away with me and I say all kinds of junk…" (2a).

Я-39 • ЯЗЫ́К ДО КИ́ЕВА ДОВЕДЁТ [saying] inquiries can always help one to find what one needs (said when a person does not know how to get somewhere): ≃ he who uses his tongue will reach his destination; he who has a tongue can find his way; you can always find the way by asking. Cf. he who has a tongue goes to Rome.

Я-40 • ЯЗЫ́К ЗАПЛЕТА́ЕТСЯ у кого coll [VP_{subj}; pres or past] s.o. is unable to speak articulately, distinctly (from drunkenness, fatigue, embarrassment etc): у X-а язык заплетается ≃ X is stammering; X is tripping (all) over his tongue; X's speech is thick; X can hardly get his tongue (a)round the words; [lim.] X's speech is slurred.

[Лебедев:] Николаша, совестно мне, краснею, язык заплетается, но, голубчик, войди в моё положение, пойми, что я человек подневольный, негр, тряпка… (Чехов 4). [L.:] Nikolasha, I feel ashamed, I'm blushing and stammering, but, my dear boy, put yourself in my place, try to understand that I am helpless, a slave, a milksop… (4a).

Я-41 • ЯЗЫ́К КАК ⟨ЧТО⟩ БРИ́ТВА (у кого); НЕ ЯЗЫ́К, А БРИ́ТВА [NP; fixed WO (2nd var.)] s.o. is witty, capable of making caustic remarks, speaks sarcastically: у X-а язык как бритва ≃ X has a razor-sharp tongue ⟨wit⟩; X and his razor-sharp tongue!; X has a sharp ⟨biting⟩ tongue.

Я-42 • ЯЗЫ́К МОЙ — ВРАГ МОЙ [saying] an unnecessarily loquacious, unrestrained person only harms himself: ≃ my tongue is my (worst) enemy; I am my own worst enemy; me and my big mouth.

«Пришёл брат Урусов, беседовали о суетах мира. Рассказывал о новых предначертаниях государя. Я начал было осуждать, но вспомнил о своих правилах и слова благодетеля нашего о том, что истинный масон должен быть усердным деятелем в государстве, когда требуется его участие, и спокойным созерцателем того, к чему он не призван. Язык мой — враг мой» (Толстой 5). "Brother Urusov called—conversation about worldly vanity. Told me about the Tsar's new projects. I was on the point of coming out against them, but then remembered my principles and the words of my benefactor: a true mason should work hard for his country when his contribution is needed but watch quietly when not called upon. My tongue is my enemy" (5c).

Я-43 • ЯЗЫ́К НА ПЛЕЧЕ́ ⟨НА ПЛЕЧО́⟩ (у кого) coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; pres only; fixed WO] s.o. is very tired, exhausted (from physical exertion, work etc): (у X-а) язык на плече ≃ X is ready to drop (from exhaustion); X is dead on his feet; X is dead beat.

«Я ещё в детстве пускал змеев, отец драл меня! А на заводе был, семь километров в аэроклуб ходил после работы, язык на плече, а ни одного занятия не пропустил» (Гроссман 2). "As a kid, I was always flying kites. My father used to thrash me for it. And when I was at the factory, I used to walk seven kilometres to the flying club after work. I was dead beat. But I didn't miss a single lesson" (2a).

Я-44 • ЯЗЫ́К НЕ ПОВОРА́ЧИВАЕТСЯ ⟨НЕ ПОВЁРТЫВАЕТСЯ, НЕ ВОРО́ЧАЕТСЯ obs⟩/НЕ ПОВЕРНУ́ЛСЯ ⟨НЕ ПОВОРОТИ́ЛСЯ obs⟩ (у кого) сказать, спросить и т.п. coll [VP_{subj}; used without negation to convey the opposite meaning, usu. in the constructions как язык поворачивается, если повернётся язык etc] s.o. does not have the courage, resolve etc to say or ask sth. (usu. when having to break bad news to s.o., when saying sth. that may embarrass the hearer, or when lying): у X-а язык не поворачивается сказать Y ≃ X can't bring ⟨get⟩ himself to say Y; X's tongue refuses to ⟨won't⟩ say ⟨repeat⟩ Y; X's tongue refuses to obey him; X doesn't have the nerve ⟨the heart, the gall⟩ to say Y; X can't work up the nerve to say Y; || как у тебя язык поворачивается? ≃ how can ⟨could⟩ you say such things ⟨such a thing⟩?; how can you talk that way ⟨like that⟩?; the things you say!

Как же можно обмануть его, нарушить слово? Зря обещала, но обещала! У неё не повернётся язык сказать «нет» (Рыбаков 2). How could she possibly deceive him by breaking her word? She may have made an idle promise, but it was a promise just the same. She simply couldn't bring herself to say "No" (2a).

Я-45 • ЯЗЫ́К ОТНЯ́ЛСЯ (у кого) coll [VP_{subj}; Invar] s.o. suddenly lost the ability to speak (usu. from surprise, fear, fright etc): у X-а язык отнялся ≃ X lost his tongue; X's tongue froze; X was speechless (with terror ⟨fear etc⟩); X was (struck) dumb (with fear ⟨astonishment etc⟩); X couldn't speak (from fright ⟨horror etc⟩); X was tongue-tied (with fright ⟨embarrassment etc⟩).

«Ты кто такой? — властно спросил он. — …Чего же молчишь? Язык отнялся? Кто такой, спрашиваю». — «Красноармеец» (Шолохов 5). “Who are you?” he asked sternly…. “Why don’t you speak? Lost your tongue? Who are you, I said.” “I’m in the Red Army” (5a).

Я-46 • ЯЗЫ́К ПЛО́ХО ПОДВЕ́ШЕН ⟨ПРИВЕ́ШЕН⟩ у кого coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; pres or past] s.o. is inarticulate, cannot speak smoothly: у X-а язык плохо подвешен ≃ X doesn’t speak well; X is not good with words; X isn’t a good speaker.

Зря вы поручили докладывать о проекте Бочкарёву. Язык у него подвешен плохо, ни на один вопрос вразумительно ответить не сможет. It’s too bad you assigned the presentation of the project to Bochkaryov. He’s not good with words and won’t be able to answer a single question clearly.

Я-47 • ЯЗЫ́К чей, (у) кого ПРИЛИ́П ⟨ПРИСО́Х⟩ К ГОРТА́НИ coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. suddenly lost the ability to speak (from surprise, amazement, fright etc): у X-а язык прилип к гортани ≃ X’s tongue froze; X lost his tongue; X was speechless ⟨tongue-tied, dumbstruck⟩; X was struck dumb.

…В это самое время увидел [бригадир] Алёнку и почувствовал, что язык у него прилип к гортани (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …Just then he [the brigadier] caught sight of Alyonka and felt himself tongue-tied (1a).

Я-48 • ЯЗЫ́К ПРОГЛО́ТИШЬ coll, approv [VP; pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only] (of food) very tasty: it makes your mouth water; it’s mouth-watering; it melts in your mouth.

Обед был — язык проглотишь. Dinner was mouth-watering.

Я-49 • ЯЗЫ́К РАЗВЯ́ЗЫВАЕТСЯ/РАЗВЯЗА́ЛСЯ у кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. begins to talk a lot, becomes talkative (often as a consequence of drinking alcoholic beverages): у X-а развязался язык ≃ X’s tongue loosened (up); X became chatty; X’s tongue began to wag.

Володя фуганул полный стакан [«Столичной»], и язык у него тогда развязался (Аксёнов 12). He [Volodya] slugged down a full glass [of Stolichnaya], and his tongue loosened (12a).

Я-50 • ЯЗЫ́К СЛОМА́ЕШЬ; ЯЗЫ́К СЛОМА́ТЬ МО́ЖНО coll [VP; pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing (1st var.); Invar, impers predic with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); fixed WO (1st var.)] some word (combination of words, phrase etc) is very difficult to pronounce: it’s a (real) jawbreaker ⟨tongue twister⟩; you can’t ⟨it’s impossible to⟩ get your tongue around it; you’d tie your tongue in knots trying to say it ⟨to talk like that etc⟩.

Ну и имя! Язык сломаешь! What a name! A real jawbreaker! ♦ «Послушай, Юрочка, что Анфим Ефимович говорит. Между прочим, не во гнев вам будь сказано, имя отчество у вас — язык сломаешь» (Пастернак 1). “Listen to what Anfim Efimovich told me, Yurochka, and by the way, if you don’t mind my saying so, Anfim Efimovich, your name is a real tongue-twister!” (1a).

Я-51 • ЯЗЫ́К ХОРОШО́ ⟨НЕПЛО́ХО, ЗДО́РОВО и т.п.⟩ ПОДВЕ́ШЕН ⟨ПРИВЕ́ШЕН⟩ у кого; ХОРОШО́ ⟨НЕПЛО́ХО и т.п.⟩ ПОДВЕ́ШЕННЫЙ ЯЗЫ́К all coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$ (variants with short-form Part), pres or past; NP (variants with full-form Part)] s.o. is articulate, eloquent: у X-а язык хорошо подвешен ≃ X has the gift of gab; X has a way with words; X is smooth-tongued; X has a glib tongue; X is a good speaker; X speaks well.

Старуху использовали для всех приезжающих журналистов — у неё был ловко подвешенный язык. Активная колхозница, она работала безотказно, куда бы её ни послали (Мандельштам 2). The old woman was… always produced for the benefit of visiting journalists because she was a model member of her kolkhoz who always did everything asked of her and also had the gift of gab (2a).

Я-52 • ЯЗЫ́К ЧЕ́ШЕТСЯ/ЗАЧЕСА́ЛСЯ у кого coll [VP_{subj}; usu. impfv] s.o. feels an uncontrollable urge to say sth., to speak: у X-а язык чешется ≃ X ⟨X’s tongue⟩ is itching (to say sth.); X is itching to speak; X is bursting (to say sth.); X just can’t wait (to say sth.).

…Хотя язык у неё и чесался, рассказывать побоялась, памятуя Прохорово наставление: «Так и знай: скажешь об этом кому хоть слово — положу тебя головой на дровосеку, язык твой поганый на аршин вытяну и отрублю» (Шолохов 5). …Although she was itching to speak, she was afraid, remembering Prokhor’s warning, “Mark my words. If you so much as breathe a word to anyone about it, I’ll put your head on the chopping block, pull your tongue out till it’s a yard long, and cut it off” (5a).

Я-53 • БЕЗ ЯЗЫКА́ быть$_{ø}$, остаться obsoles [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] to have lost permanently or temporarily the ability to speak: X остался без языка ≃ X was unable to speak; X was incapable of speaking ⟨speech⟩; [of a temporary inability to speak] X was tongue-tied.

Прошло несколько дней, и я узнала, что у Кривицкого — второй удар. Теперь он опять без языка и почти неподвижен (Гинзбург 2). A few days went by and I learned that Krivitsky had had a second stroke. He was once more unable to speak and almost unable to move (2a).

Я-54 • ЛИШИ́ТЬСЯ ЯЗЫКА́ ⟨РЕ́ЧИ⟩ [VP; subj: human] to lose the ability to speak to say sth. (because of fear, fright, illness etc): X лишился языка ≃ X lost the power ⟨the gift⟩ of speech; X lost the use of his voice; X lost his tongue; X was dumbstruck ⟨struck dumb⟩.

Марья Афанасьевна умирала. Ещё в самом начале ночи, когда по истошным Таниным воплям догадалась о случившемся, лишилась языка (Акунин 6). Marya Afanasievna was dying. At the very beginning of the night, when she guessed what had happened from Tanya’s heartrending wailing, she lost the power of speech (6a).

Я-55 • НЕ СХОДИ́ТЬ С ЯЗЫКА́ ⟨С УСТ⟩ (у) кого [VP; subj: слово, имя etc] (of a word, name etc that is key to some topic of conversation) to be continually said, mentioned in conversation: X не сходит у Y-а с языка ≃ X is constantly on Y’s tongue; X is always on Y’s lips; X keeps coming up (in conversation); Y never stops talking about X; || X не сходит с языков в месте Z ≃ X is on all tongues in place Z.

Эти имена наших «национальных героев» не сходили у нас с языка (Лимонов 1). The names of these “national heroes” of ours were always on our lips (1a)..

Я-56 • СРЫВА́ТЬСЯ/СОРВА́ТЬСЯ ⟨СЛЕТА́ТЬ/СЛЕТЕ́ТЬ⟩ С ЯЗЫКА́ ⟨С УСТ, С ГУБ⟩ (у кого) [VP; subj: слово, имя etc; usu. pfv] to be uttered involuntarily and unexpectedly: X сорвался у Y-а с языка ≃ X escaped ⟨burst from⟩ Y’s lips; Y let X slip; X was ⟨Y made⟩ a slip of the tongue; X (just) slipped ⟨popped, flew⟩ out (of Y’s mouth); Y said something he shouldn’t have ⟨didn’t want to say⟩.

Он встал и быстро удалился, как бы испугавшись слов, сорвавшихся у него с языка (Тургенев 2). He stood up and quickly walked away, as if frightened by the words that had just escaped his lips (2g). He got up and walked quickly away, as though frightened by the words which had burst from his lips (2e).

Я-57 • ГОВОРИ́ТЬ НА РА́ЗНЫХ ЯЗЫКА́Х [VP; subj: human (pl) or, occas., collect] (of two or more people or groups) not to understand one another, not to have any basis for mutual understanding (as a result of having markedly different opinions, perspectives, tastes etc): X и Y говорят на разных языках ≃ X and Y speak ⟨are speaking⟩ different languages; X and Y do not speak a common ⟨the same⟩ language; X and Y are on different wavelengths; X and Y talk ⟨are talking⟩ at cross-purposes.

Открывается заседание. Весь смысл происходящего в том, что героиня не понимает, в чём её обвиняют. Судьи и писатели возмущены, почему она отвечает невпопад. На суде встретились два мира, говорящие… на разных языках (Мандельштам 2). The trial begins, and the main point to emerge from the proceedings is that the heroine has not the faintest idea what she is being accused of. Her judges and fellow writers are indignant because her answers bear no relation to the questions she is asked. The trial is an encounter between two different worlds in which the two sides are talking at cross purposes… (2a).

Я-58 • ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ НА ЯЗЫКЕ́ ⟨НА КО́НЧИКЕ ЯЗЫКА́⟩ у кого coll [VP] 1. [subj: слово, вопрос etc or infin] (of sth. that the speaker is eager to say) to be about to be said, asked etc: X вертится у Y-а на языке ≃ X is on the tip of Y's tongue; Y is itching ⟨dying⟩ to say X; [lim.] X keeps coming to the tip of Y's tongue.

День был жаркий, и человек в плаще выглядел странно. Когда он подошёл ближе, я узнал Б.Л. [Пастернака] и окликнул его. Он улыбнулся, подошёл и сел рядом. У меня вертелось на языке посоветовать ему снять плащ, но я не решался (Гладков 1). …It was a hot day for anyone to be wearing a coat. When this strange figure got closer I recognized Pasternak and called out to him. He smiled, came over and sat down close to me. It was on the tip of my tongue to suggest he might feel better without his coat on, but I refrained (1a).

2. [subj: usu. имя, фамилия, название etc] (of sth. that the speaker knows well and is trying to recall) to be momentarily forgotten by s.o.: X вертится у Y-а на языке ≃ X is (right) on the tip of Y's tongue; [lim.] X will not come to Y.

Потом я ещё раз увидел растение, осыпанное яркокрасными, как бы светящимися цветами — сигналами калифорнийской зимы, — но я уже забыл, как оно называется. Его название вертелось на языке, я мучительно напрягал память, но не мог вспомнить… (Катаев 2). Later I again saw that plant, sprinkled with the bright red glowing flowers that herald the Californian winter, but I had forgotten its name. Its name was on the tip of my tongue, I strained my memory to the utmost, but I couldn't recall it… (2a).

Я-59 • НА ЯЗЫКЕ́ у кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting phrase is usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$] 1. [subj: вопрос, слово etc] some question (word etc) is about to be asked, said by s.o. (who is eager to ask or say it): X у Y-а на языке ≃ X is on the tip of Y's tongue; Y has X on the tip of his tongue.

На языке у него было множество вопросов, но задать их так и не удалось. He had many questions on the tip of his tongue, but didn't get to ask them.

2. [subj: abstr] sth. is continually mentioned, discussed, repeated: X у Y-ов на языке ≃ X keeps popping ⟨cropping⟩ up (in conversation); Ys keep ⟨are always, are constantly⟩ talking about X; Ys talk about X all the time; || X у всех на языке ≃ X is on everyone's lips; X is the talk of the town.

Его злоключения у всех на языке — мне уже трое сегодня говорили об этом. His misadventures are the talk of the town—I've heard about them from three people already today.

Я-60 • ЗЛЫ́Е ЯЗЫКИ́ [NP; usu. subj (pl only); sing can be used as appos; fixed WO] people who engage in base gossip, slanderers: evil ⟨malicious, venomous⟩ tongues; malicious gossips ⟨gossipers, gossipmongers⟩; people ⟨men, women⟩ with evil ⟨malicious, venomous⟩ tongues; people known ⟨famous, famed⟩ for their acid tongues.

Ходил слушок, что Жан-Батист, отец, помимо торговли креслами и обоями, занимался и отдачею денег взаймы за приличные проценты. Не вижу в этом ничего предосудительного для коммерческого человека. Но злые языки утверждали… что будто бы драматург Мольер, когда описывал противного скрягу Гарпагона, вывел в нём своего родного отца (Булгаков 5). It was rumored on the quiet that Jean-Baptiste the father, in addition to selling armchairs and wallpaper, engaged in lending money at handsome interest. I see nothing prejudicial in that for a merchant. But evil tongues asserted… that the playwright Molière depicted his own father in the image of the revolting miser Harpagon (5a).

Я-61 • ЧЕСА́ТЬ/ПОЧЕСА́ТЬ ЯЗЫКИ́ ⟨ЯЗЫЧКИ́, ЯЗЫКА́МИ⟩ (о ком, про кого, на чей счёт) coll [VP; subj: human pl] to engage in empty conversation, usu. gossip: X-ы ⟨X и Y⟩ чешут языки (про Z-а) ≃ Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ are wagging ⟨are busy wagging⟩ their tongues (about Z); Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ are beating their gums (about Z); Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ are gabbing (about Z); [in contexts not involving gossip] Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ are shooting the breeze ⟨the bull⟩.

Вообще, скоро все будут иметь высшее образование. А работать кому? Работать некому: все будут чесать языками (Львов 1). Anyway, soon everyone will have a higher education. So who's going to work then? There won't be anyone to work—everyone will be busy wagging their tongues (1a).

Я-62 • БОЛТА́ТЬ ЯЗЫКО́М coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to talk far too much and about nonsense, rubbish: X болтает языком ≃ X babbles ⟨prattles, jabbers⟩ away ⟨on (and on)⟩; X blathers; X runs off at the mouth; X beats his gums; X flaps his jaw ⟨gums⟩; there X goes bumping his gums.

Прогоревший начисто глава Блестящего Театра подошёл к окну и в виртуозных выражениях проклял Париж… Потом он обругал парижскую публику, которая ничего не понимает в искусстве, и к этому добавил, что в Париже есть только один порядочный человек, и этот человек — королевский мостовщик Леонар Обри. Он долго ещё болтал языком, не получая ответа… (Булгаков 5). The head of the Illustrious Theater, flat broke, went over to the window and heaped curses of consummate eloquence on Paris…. Then he proceeded to pile abuse upon the Paris public, which had no inkling of what art was, and added that there was only one decent man in Paris, and that was the Royal paver, Léonard Aubry. He babbled on for a long time, receiving no answer… (5a).

2. to talk to no purpose (promising sth. one cannot or will not deliver, expressing an unfounded opinion etc): X болтает языком ≃ X throws words around; X is spouting (a lot of) hot air; X is all talk.

Он только зря языком болтает, а как до дела дойдёт — ничего не сделает. He's just throwing words around—when it comes right down to it, he won't do anything.

3. to talk freely and indiscreetly: X болтает языком ≃ X talks too much; X says whatever comes ⟨pops⟩ into his head; X (just) shoots off his mouth; X goes and shoots off his mouth ⟨X goes shooting off his mouth⟩.

«Иосиф, — Аня перешла на диван к мужу, — поклянись моим здоровьем, что ты больше не будешь болтать языком где попало» (Львов 1). "Joseph," said Anya, joining her husband on the couch, "swear by my life that you won't go shooting off your mouth wherever you happen to be" (1a).

Я-63 • Е́ЛЕ ЯЗЫКО́М ВОРО́ЧАТЬ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to speak slowly and indistinctly (from drunkenness, fatigue etc): X еле ворочает языком ≃ X can hardly get his tongue (a)round the words; X is tripping (all) over his tongue; X's speech is thick.

Я-64 • РУ́ССКИМ ЯЗЫКО́М говорить, спрашивать и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (usu. said with irritation when the speaker must repeat sth. because of the interlocutor's failure to understand, unwillingness to comply etc) (to say, ask etc sth.) perfectly clearly: in plain Russian; in plain language ⟨words⟩; in no uncertain terms.

[Лопахин:] Простите, таких легкомысленных людей, как вы, господа, таких неделовых, странных, я ещё не встречал. Вам говорят русским языком, имение ваше продаётся, а вы точно не понимаете (Чехов 2). [L.:] I'm sorry, but you and your brother—you're the most scatterbrained, the most strange and impractical people I've ever met. Here I tell you in no uncertain terms that your estate is up for sale, and you can't seem to get it into your heads (2b).

Я-65 • ДО́РОГО ЯЙЧКО К ХРИСТО́ВУ ДНЮ [saying] sth. is valuable at the very time it is needed: ≃ slow help is no help; it's all in the timing; timing is everything; he gives twice who gives quickly ⟨promptly⟩; [lim.] while the grass grows the horse starves.

Я-66 • ВЫ́ЕДЕННОГО ЯЙЦА́ НЕ СТО́ИТЬ coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr; usu. 3rd pers, pres or past] not to be worth anything, not warrant attention: X выеденного яйца не стоит ≃ X isn't worth a (tinker's) damn; X isn't worth wasting your ⟨his etc⟩ breath on; X isn't worth a plugged nickel ⟨a brass farthing, a straw⟩; X isn't worth beans.

[Муромский:] …Эти два свидетеля выеденного яйца не стоят (Сухово-Кобылин 1). [M.:] …These two witnesses aren't worth a damn (1a). ♦ …Состряпали дело, написали фельетон, ошельмовали порядочных людей, десять человек, в том числе и моего отца. Отец сказал, что всё это чепуха, неправда, яйца выеденного не стоит. Но он был наивный человек, мой отец (Рыбаков 1). …The case was cooked up, and the article written to defame decent people, ten in all, including my father. Father said the whole thing was rubbish, untrue, and not worth wasting one's breath on. But father was naive (1a).

Я-67 • Я́ЙЦА КУ́РИЦУ НЕ У́ЧАТ [saying] s.o. young and inexperienced should not try to educate s.o. older and more experienced (said in scorn when a young person gives advice to an older person): ≃ don't teach your grandmother to suck eggs.

Я-68 • ВЫ́ЕДЕННОЕ ЯЙЦО́ obs, coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a trifle, an insignificant matter: trifling ⟨piddling⟩ matter; matter of trivial importance ⟨of no concern⟩; nothing at all; small potatoes.

…[Бородавкин] поражал расторопностью и какою-то неслыханной административной въедчивостью, которая с особенной энергией проявлялась в вопросах, касавшихся выеденного яйца (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …Wartkin was striking for his snappy efficiency and an unprecedented administrative voracity, which manifested itself with especial energy in matters that were small potatoes (1a).

Я-69 • БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КИ́НУТЬ⟩ Я́КОРЬ где, куда [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to stop moving from place to place and settle somewhere permanently or for a long period of time: X бросил якорь в месте Y ≃ X cast anchor ⟨settled down, put down roots⟩ in place Y.

Я устал переезжать с места на место, хочу бросить якорь где-нибудь на юге. I'm tired of moving from place to place, I want to cast anchor somewhere in the South.

Я-70 • Я́КОРЬ СПАСЕ́НИЯ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a last means or prospect (of saving a hopeless or embarrassing situation): last hope ⟨resort⟩; last means of salvation.

«Для вас якорь спасения в Микулицыне… Но кто вам сказал, что этот старый управляющий жив и по-прежнему в Варыкине?» (Пастернак 1). [context translation] "You are relying on the old manager, Mikulitsyn, to see us through, but who is to tell us if he is still there? Or whether he is still alive?" (1a).

Я-71 • НЕ РОЙ ДРУГО́МУ Я́МУ ⟨-ы⟩, САМ В НЕЁ ПОПАДЁШЬ [saying] s.o. who wishes trouble on, or makes trouble for, others can find himself in trouble: ≃ he who digs a pit for others may fall himself therein; curses like chickens come home to roost; he who mischief hatches mischief catches; when you plot mischief for others, you're preparing trouble for yourself.

Я-72 • РЫТЬ/ВЫ́РЫТЬ ⟨КОПА́ТЬ/ВЫ́КОПАТЬ⟩ Я́МУ кому, под кого coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu impfv] to prepare serious trouble for s.o., scheme against s.o.: X роет яму под Y-а ≃ X is plotting Y's downfall; X is plotting ⟨cooking up⟩ trouble for Y; X is digging a hole ⟨a pit⟩ for Y.

Я-73 • ДВУЛИ́КИЙ Я́НУС lit, disapprov [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a deceitful, hypocritical person: double-faced Janus; two-faced Janus; (s.o. is) Janus-faced.

«Этот случай должен показать, что нельзя быть двуликим Янусом и сидеть между двух стульев» (Эткинд 1). "This case should be a lesson to us that one must not act like a two-faced Janus, sitting on the fence…" (1a).

< From Janus, the ancient Roman god of doorways and gates. Janus was represented with one head and two faces that looked in opposite directions.

Я-74 • НАКЛЕ́ИВАТЬ/НАКЛЕ́ИТЬ ⟨ПРИКЛЕ́ИВАТЬ/ПРИКЛЕ́ИТЬ, ЛЕПИ́ТЬ/ПРИЛЕПИ́ТЬ, НАВЕ́ШИВАТЬ/НАВЕ́СИТЬ⟩ ЯРЛЫКИ́ ⟨ЯРЛЫ́К⟩ (кому, на кого-что) disapprov [VP; subj: human] to call some person, phenomenon etc by a name that places him or it into a ready-made category (upon having evaluated him or it superficially or one-sidedly; may be used to categorize s.o. in the context of a political or ideological struggle): X наклеил ярлык Y-у ≃ X stuck ⟨pinned⟩ a label on Y; X stuck the label of [NP] on Y; X tagged Y with a label; X labeled Y.

«Ах, какой вздор все эти направления! Кем меня только не объявляли критики: и декадентом, и символистом, и мистиком, и реалистом, и неореалистом, и богоискателем, и натуралистом, да мало ли ещё каких ярлыков на меня не наклеивали, так что в конце концов я стал похож на сундук, совершивший кругосветное путешествие…» (Катаев 3). “Oh, what a lot of nonsense all these trends are! According to the critics I am a decadent, a symbolist, a mystic, a realist, a neorealist, a god-seeker, a naturalist and God knows what else. They have stuck so many labels on me that I feel like a suitase that has travelled all round the world…” (3a).

Я-75 • ЯСНÉЕ Я́СНОГО [AdjP; fixed WO] 1. [subj-compl with copula, subj: abstr., often всё, (всё) это] absolutely obvious: crystal clear; as clear as could be; perfectly clear; (as) clear ⟨plain⟩ as day ⟨daylight⟩.

Мужчина — пробный образец человека, эскиз, в то время как женщина — окончательно утверждённый вариант, исправленный и дополненный. Ведь это яснее ясного! (Акунин 5). Man was the experimental prototype of the human being, the rough draft, while woman was the final, approved version, as revised and amended. Why, it was as clear as day! (5a).

2. [adv] (to explain, show etc sth.) in a perfectly understandable way: in a crystal clear way ⟨manner, fashion⟩; as clearly as could be; (make sth.) perfectly clear ⟨as clear as day etc⟩.

Я-76 • ЗАМНЁМ ДЛЯ Я́СНОСТИ coll [usu. indep. sent; Invar] let us not speak of this (anymore) in order to avoid embarrassment, hard feelings, offense etc: let’s give it ⟨this topic etc⟩ a rest; let’s not talk about that; [lim.] you know what I mean.

«Федька, Федька Косой меня упёк. Ох, зверь-человек… И заданьем твёрдым обкладывал, и из лесу по месяцам не выпускал… А и зазря, как потом выяснилось. Тамошние власти поумнее — с меня и вину всю сняли»… — «Ну ладно, — важно, как если бы он вёл собрание, сказал Егорша. — Этот вопрос для ясности замнём» (Абрамов 1). “Fedka, Fedka Kosoi did me in. Oh, what a monster of a man…. He made me pay more taxes… and wouldn’t let me leave the forest for months on end. All to no avail, as it turned out later: the authorities out there were smarter than him; they said I was completely innocent.”… “All right then,” said Egorsha in a pompous voice, as if he was conducting a meeting. “Let’s give that topic a rest” (1a).

Я-77 • НА ЯТЬ old-fash, coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun) or nonagreeing postmodif] very good, excellent in quality, form etc: with a capital A ⟨B etc⟩; one in a million; a [NP] in the finest sense of the word.

[Шервинский:] Вы красивая, умная, как говорится, интеллектуально развитая. Вообще женщина на ять. Аккомпанируете прекрасно на рояле. А он рядом с вами — вешалка, карьерист, штабной момент (Булгаков 4). [Sh.:] You are beautiful, intelligent, intellectually developed, as they say. In general a woman with a capital “W.” You are a fine accompanist on the piano. And compared to you he’s a coat rack, a careerist, a headquarters nothing (4a).

2. сделать что ~ [adv] (to do sth.) excellently: to a T; to perfection; perfectly; splendidly; || знать что ~ know sth. inside out; know sth. backward and forward.

«По сравнению с нынешней мебелью, которая разваливается через год, старая мебель была сработана на ять, — сказал дед. — Этот стул, к примеру, служит уже третьему поколению семьи Афанасьевых». “As compared with furniture of today, which falls apart in a year, old furniture was splendidly crafted,” said Grandfather. “This chair, for example, is already serving the third generation of Afanasyevs.”

Я-78 • В ДÓЛГИЙ Я́ЩИК откладывать, положить и т.п. (что) coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; the verb is usu. negated or used with нельзя, не надо, незачем etc; often Verbal Adv не откладывая; fixed WO] (of a person or group) (to postpone some matter) for an indefinite period: X не откладывает дел ⟨ничего не откладывает⟩ в долгий ящик ≃ X doesn’t put things off (indefinitely); X doesn’t leave anything ⟨things⟩ to gather dust on the shelf; X doesn’t put things on the back burner; || Imper не откладывай это в долгий ящик ≃ don’t let the grass grow under your feet; don’t shelve it; || не откладывая в долгий ящик ≃ right away; without delay; losing no time.

[Елена Андреевна:] Откладывать в долгий ящик не будем, допросим его теперь же. Он собирался показать мне какие-то чертежи… Поди скажи, что я желаю его видеть (Чехов 3). [Ye.:] …There’s no point in putting it off. We’ll do it immediately. He’s been meaning to show me some maps or something… Go and say I want to see him (3b).

Я-79 • СЫ́ГРАТЬ В Я́ЩИК substand [VP; subj: human] to die: X сыграл в ящик ≃ X kicked the bucket; X popped off.

«Вот вы, например, мужчина видный, возвышенного роста, хотя и худой. Вы, считается, ежели, не дай бог, помрёте, что в ящик сыграли. А который человек торговый, бывшей купеческой гильдии, тот, значит, приказал долго жить» (Ильф и Петров 1). “Now you, for instance. You’re distinguished-looking and tall, though a bit on the thin side. If you should die, God forbid, they’ll say you popped off. But a tradesman, who belonged to the former merchants’ guild, would breathe his last” (1a).

Я-80 • Я́ЩИК ПАНДÓРЫ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a source of misfortune or disaster: Pandora’s box.

< In Greek mythology the gods used a beautiful woman, Pandora, to punish mankind for Prometheus’s theft of fire. They sent her to earth with a box full of all the evils that could befall mankind, certain that she would give in to her curiosity and open the box, thus releasing those evils into the world.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

The Bibliography identifies the literary and reference works cited and used in the preparation of this dictionary. The names of literary authors are presented alphabetically in Russian (surname, given name, and patronymic) followed by the English transliteration (surname and given name only). The English transliterations of authors' names do not adhere to a single transliteration system but, rather, follow the spelling currently used by the Library of Congress (with diacritics omitted). Literary authors' birth dates and, when applicable, death dates are provided because idiom usage can change over time, and an author's choice and use of idioms are best understood in relation to the time frame within which the author wrote. In addition, the Bibliography includes the real names of authors who wrote under pseudonyms; the real names appear only within the pseudonym entry and are transliterated.

When multiple works from a collection by a single author (or team of authors) are used in the dictionary, the full citation is given only at the first occurrence of the collection in the Bibliography, with all subsequent occurrences being cross-referred back to that initial citation. All works and translations from anthologies are cross-referred to subsection B of the Bibliography, "Anthologies," where a full bibliographic citation is presented. When a collection or anthology is translated by a single translator (or team of translators), the translator's name is indicated only in the full bibliographic citation for the volume. Cross references to that bibliographic citation do not repeat the translator's name. However, when the works included in a collection or anthology are translated by different translators, all references to that edition include the name of the translator who translated the work in question.

Because in this dictionary the source of each citation has been identified with only its author's surname (in Russian) followed by the number assigned to the relevant work, a special numbering convention has been employed to distinguish works by two authors with the same name and first initial, Venedikt Erofeev and Viktor Erofeev. The cited work by Venedikt Erofeev has been identified as Ерофеев 1, while works by Viktor Erofeev have been numbered starting with Ерофеев 2.

In some instances two editions of a work have been consulted as sources for citations: an earlier, less carefully edited version (usually published in the West), and a later, more carefully edited version (published in the former Soviet Union or in present-day Russia). Where applicable, both editions have been listed in the Bibiliography.

INDEX

The Index consists of main entries, or headwords, each with one or more subentries. The headwords represent the significant words of the idioms in the dictionary. Significant words are usually content words. The headwords appear in boldface capital letters, are presented in the precise form (with respect to case, number, etc.) in which they occur in an idiom or idioms, and are ordered alphabetically.

Subentries appear in lightface lower case letters and are in alphabetical (word-by-word) order under the headword. Each subentry to a headword is an idiom in which that headword occurs. This subentry idiom is followed by the letter-number indicator of its location in the dictionary. For example, the idiom НЕ В ПОСЛЕДНЮЮ ОЧЕРЕДЬ, which appears as О-213 in the dictionary, is entered under the content words ПОСЛЕДНЮЮ and ОЧЕРЕДЬ:

ПОСЛЕДНЮЮ
не в последнюю очередь, О-213

ОЧЕРЕДЬ
не в последнюю очередь, О-213

Proverbs and sayings are entered under their first three content words and under other especially significant words.

Many idioms in the dictionary have morphological, lexical, and/or aspectual variants. To avoid cluttering the Index, such variants have been presented together when feasible (that is, when no other idioms intervene alphabetically and no difficulties in finding a variant are foreseen). The ordering of variants in the Index does not always correspond to the ordering of variants in the dictionary proper because the Index observes strict alphabetical order. For example, the idiom КРЕПКИЙ ⟨ТВЁРДЫЙ⟩ ОРЕШЕК ⟨ОРЕХ⟩ (О-114) is listed under each of its four content words (КРЕПКИЙ, ТВЁРДЫЙ, ОРЕШЕК, and ОРЕХ). Under КРЕПКИЙ and ТВЁРДЫЙ the variants орешек and орех are listed together, since combining them causes no problems in locating any variant of the idiom.

КРЕПКИЙ
крепкий орех ⟨орешек⟩, (О-114)
ТВЁРДЫЙ
твёрдый орех ⟨орешек⟩ (О-114)

For idioms like КАЖДАЯ ⟨ВСЯКАЯ, ЛЮБАЯ⟩ СОБАКА (С-513), variants have been presented separately in the Index only when other idioms come between the variants alphabetically:

СОБАКА
всякая ⟨каждая⟩ собака, С-513
как побитая собака, С-514
как собака, С-515
как собака на сене, С-516
как собака палку, С-517
любая собака, С-513

Many idioms contain the variants КАК ⟨БУДТО, СЛОВНО, ТОЧНО⟩. To avoid redundancy, such idioms are entered as follows:

1) under КАК, БУДТО, СЛОВНО, and ТОЧНО (that is, four Index occurrences)

2) under each other content word as the basic variant как*…, with the asterisk indicating that the variants будто, словно, and точно (or some combination of them) are also found in the indicated entry. Idioms containing the variants КАК БУДТО (СЛОВНО, ТОЧНО) are treated similarly, with как будто* indicating the existence of other variants. For example, the idiom КАК ⟨БУДТО, СЛОВНО, ТОЧНО⟩ НА СМЕХ (С-463) is entered in the Index as follows:

БУДТО
будто на смех, С-463

КАК
как на смех, С-463

СЛОВНО
словно на смех, С-463

СМЕХ
как* на смех, С-463

ТОЧНО
точно на смех, С-463

When aspectual variants are combined and the imperfective aspect precedes the perfective alphabetically, the variants are separated by a slash, as in the dictionary proper. For example, the idiom СНИМАТЬ/СНЯТЬ СТРУЖКУ (С-752) is entered under СТРУЖКУ as follows:

СТРУЖКУ
снимать/снять стружку, С-752

(The idiom is, of course, entered under each verb as well.)

When the perfective aspect precedes the imperfective alphabetically, the imperfective is presented in angle brackets following the perfective. For example, the idiom ДОВОДИТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ ДО СОЗНАНИЯ (С-542) is entered under СОЗНАНИЯ as follows:

СОЗНАНИЯ
довести ⟨доводить⟩ до сознания, С-542

In compliance with the rule of alphabetization, the perfective and the imperfective may be presented as separate Index entries.

Hyphenated idioms are generally presented under the first word. For example, ТАК-СЯК (Т-13) is entered only under ТАК. In cases where the first of two words in a hyphenated idiom is not perceived as a content word, the idiom itself is used as an Index heading and is also entered under the second word. Thus, бой-баба, Б-156, is entered under БОЙ-БАБА and БАБА; по-чёрному, П-523, is entered under ПО-ЧЁРНОМУ and ЧЁРНОМУ.

Homographic forms are combined under one Index headword. For example, in some idioms listed under the headword ДОРОГОЙ, дорогой is an instrumental singular adjective (Ц-29, Д-413), whereas in others it is an instrumental singular noun (Д-275, Д-276, Д-277):

ДОРОГОЙ
дорогой ценой, Ц-29
идти прямой дорогой, Д-275
идти своей дорогой, Д-276
обойти (обходить) десятой дорогой, Д-277
пойти своей дорогой, Д-276
с дорогой душой, Д-413

Praise for Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms, Revised Edition:

"I own many dictionaries of many kinds, but there is none I enjoy using more than Sophia Lubensky's. It is organised impeccably. The explanations are crystal clear. And the illustrative examples are entertaining and often memorable. I am delighted that it is being republished in an expanded version."—Robert Chandler, translator of Vasily Grossman's Life and Fate

"Sophia Lubensky's Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms is a masterpiece of scholarship and a treasure trove for translators. Updated to capture the rapid changes in contemporary usage, it is an indispensable guide to understanding idioms in various contexts and time periods, learning how to use them, and translating them into English. No student of Russian or translator should be without it."—Michele A. Berdy, author of The Russian Word's Worth

"Mae West said it best: 'Too much of a good thing can be wonderful!' While she may not have had this book in mind, I own that sentiment with regard to this new revised edition of Sophia Lubensky's magnificent Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms, first published in 1995. As a lifelong student of the Russian language, a retired professor of Russian literature, and as an experienced translator, I cannot express enough praise for this labor of love. How on earth did we ever manage before it? And now, we are treated to a new edition. How lucky can we get?"
—Michael R. Katz, Middlebury College

"It is a great pleasure to learn that Yale University Press has undertaken to publish a new, revised version of Sophie Lubensky's wonderful Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms. All of us who deal professionally with Russian have for years kept her book close at hand, an indispensable resource. It not only explains Russian idioms whose meaning is often far from readily apparent, but also renders them into genuine English, and at a corresponding stylistic level, from solemn and lofty to folksy, colloquial, or slang. The original edition was a monumental achievement, and the revision can only add to its value."—Hugh McLean, University of California, Berkeley

"A most complete Russian-English dictionary of idioms, Sophia Lubensky's dictionary offers virtually the only lexicographic description of Russian phraseology alongside its English counterpart that is based on contemporary notions of linguistically significant features of idioms. In addition to English equivalents and government patterns (for verbal idioms), this dictionary provides definitions of Russian idioms in English. The presentation of entries and principles employed to describe the idioms meet the highest lexicographic standards."—Dmitrij Dobrovolskij, Vinogradov Russian Language Institute

"Hardly a day goes by when I do not open my 'Lubensky.' My bookshelves groan with mediocre Russian-English dictionaries, but this one gathers no dust. Thank goodness for the revised edition. This is an indispensible work for any student of the Russian language and especially for Russian into English translators."—Nora Seligman Favorov, Russian Life Magazine

"Eighteen years after publishing her enormously successful Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms, Sophia Lubensky has given us a significantly enlarged and revised edition. Anyone who explores the nearly 14,000 idioms included here, traces their past and current usage in a wide variety of contexts, compares them to their English equivalents, will once again be struck by the aptness of Ivan Turgenev's famous characterization of the Russian language as 'great, mighty, truthful, and free.' The new edition will delight translators and others dealing professionally with Russia, teachers and students of Russian, and all who cherish Russian culture and its verbal core."—Henryk Baran, University at Albany

"Professor Lubensky has made what I already considered to be the definitive Russian-English dictionary of idioms even better. It is indispensable for any Russian-English translator, as well as any serious student of the Russian language."—Steven Shabad, ATA-certified translator

"[The book] stands out for its excellent organization, systematic approach, detailed grammatical information and a variety of usage examples."—Anatoly Liberman, University of Minnesota

Praise for the first edition:

"Sophia Lubensky's long-awaited Random House Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms is a work of exquisite scholarship that . . . represents a quantum leap in the mediation between colloquial Russian and colloquial English, and sets new standards of comprehension and precision. It is destined to become an essential prop for translators from Russian to English, and is unlikely to be surpassed in this generation."—Prof. Michael Scammell, Columbia University, biographer of Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn and Arthur Koestler

"Your book is a first-rate piece of work and I don't hand out such compliments lightly. Just collecting all those idioms, I'm sure, was no small job. And the English translations are excellent—wonderfully idiomatic and usually catching the meaning exactly. Do I have any criticism to make of it at all? No, I have none. It is an outstanding achievement."—Kenneth Katzner, author of English-Russian, Russian-English Dictionary

"I LOVE YOUR DICTIONARY OF RUSSIAN IDIOMS. There, I've said it. I couldn't live without it."
—Michael R. Katz, Middlebury College

"All who seek or need to understand the intricate world of Russian idioms, as at some stage all students, speakers, and readers of Russian must, since they form an integral part of the language, will be more than indebted to Professor Sophia Lubensky, who with her editorial team and publishers has produced a reference resource of rare finesse."—Adrian Room, International Journal of Lexicography, Vol. 11, No. 1, March 1998

"Russian idiom dictionaries are like cable television channels: lots of choices but nothing you want to look at. Sophia Lubensky's dictionary changes all that. . . . This comprehensive volume not only fills a long-standing lexicographic void but also serves as a model of how such a dictionary should be structured. . . . In scope, Lubensky's effort dwarfs all previous attempts."—Richard M. Robin, Slavic Review, Vol. 55, No. 2, Summer 1996

"It has occurred to me many times that we don't thank fellow scholars enough for all they do for us, and at last I have been spurred into action. I want to thank you most sincerely for the splendid tool you have provided me and many others with your dictionary of Russian idioms. I use it constantly and sometimes enjoy just thumbing through it. It really is an amazing piece of work, and I can't imagine how you managed to do it, to collect all the items and the quotations to illustrate them, and especially to figure out appropriate English equivalents—it seems it would take an army of researchers to assemble all that. And the translations are so good! Really, we are much in your debt, and I wanted you to know that your work is appreciated and admired."—Hugh McLean, University of California, Berkeley

"An absolutely stunning piece of work. For what it sets out to do, it is easily the best reference book on translation that I have ever seen. The reasons are quite simple. First, whether I expect to find a phrase in the index or don't expect to, I almost invariably find it. I can barely remember a case when I looked for an entry and failed to find it. The index is impeccably done. Second, the various options for rendering a specific idiom are almost always right on the mark, or at least one of them is. And if not, they certainly give a clear enough idea so that I can use my own preferred phrase. Third, and somewhat intimidating, this book has astonished me with how many idiomatic Russian expressions I was not familiar with."—Steven Shabad, ATA-certified translator

"Before another day goes by, I must tell you that every translator on the staff of The Current Digest of the Post-Soviet Press greatly admires your Dictionary of Idioms and makes daily use of it. There is a personal copy on almost every desk as well as a 'public' one on the reference table. I can think of no other single reference work that solves as many problems for us as yours does. It's almost as good as having a very literate native informant with a native grasp of English at your elbow with nothing else to do all day long but help you translate Russian idioms. I've wanted to communicate this to you for over a year, and finally hit on the idea of finding your e-mail through the University internet directory." — Timothy D. Sergay, University at Albany

"This dictionary of Russian idioms and set expressions, compiled over the course of twelve years of research, is the most comprehensive, scholarly, and important Russian language reference book on the market today. . . . This dictionary serves as both a valuable reference book and a valuable teaching tool because of the way it has been designed and presented."— Jonathan Z. Ludwig, Slavic and East European Journal, Vol. 44, No. 4, Winter 2000

"I can't tell you how many times your dictionary has rescued me in my work. It's obvious how much thought, scholarship, and hard work has gone into its making. So, in three words—spasibo bol'shoe Vam!"—Elliott B. Urdang, MD, MA (in Russian)

"The compilation and publication of this dictionary is an enormous achievement of the author and an outstanding event in Russian-English lexicography. It fills a glaring gap in the otherwise fairly explored ground of Russian-English translation dictionaries. . . . Strictly speaking, Sophia Lubensky's dictionary is not the first of its kind, but it is definitely first in its class. . . . An unquestionable merit and achievement of S. Lubensky's dictionary is a very thorough and innovative approach to the content and structure of each dictionary entry. This dictionary displays the distinct subtlety and profundity of S. Lubensky's understanding of complex language processes and phenomena like homonymy, polysemy, lexical variants versus synonyms and so on."—Nonna Danchenko, New Zealand Slavonic Journal, Vol. 32, 1998

"Sophia Lubensky deserves full praise for the academic side of this mammoth and highly professional lexicographic work."—Paul Cubberley, University of Melbourne, Australian Slavonic and East European Studies, Vol. 9, No. 2, 1995
