PREFACE

When the Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms first came out in 1995, it quickly drew the attention of translators and other potential users. They immediately recognized a number of features that distinguished it from traditional bilingual dictionaries. The Dictionary was the first of its kind in several respects. It included more idioms and meanings than any bilingual dictionary at the time, along with numerous synonyms and variants of idioms. It was the first bilingual dictionary to provide definitions for each entry and meaning, as well as extended usage notes, where needed, in an attempt to create semantic microworlds that would contribute to a better understanding of every idiom presented. By creating a semantic habitat for each idiom, the dictionary offered assistance without curtailing the translator's ingenuity and creativity. Each idiom was accompanied by essential grammar information and a wide range of style and usage labels—temporal, stylistic, and sociolinguistic—on the Russian side. This information enabled users to develop a sense of how an idiom is used in both typical and atypical contexts, and to pair the Russian idiom with the most suitable equivalent for each context.

The introduction of patterns demonstrating the correlation between Russian and English constructions, especially in syntactically challenging structures, was an additional unique feature. Russian patterns for idiomatic verb phrases were presented in typical tense-aspect forms, as well as in numerous special patterns for negated predicate, imperative, and more, thus showing the user how an idiom was used. Patterns and grammar information were included to encourage users who were willing to take an extra step to make a given idiom part of their active lexicon.

Presentation of English equivalents differed greatly from the traditional approach. It happens very rarely that one English equivalent fits every context. Instead of one or two equivalents traditionally found in bilingual dictionaries, this Dictionary offered equivalents for many potential contexts. My aim was to avoid the all-too-familiar impasse experienced when a word or phrase can be easily found on the left side of a bilingual dictionary, but its equivalent on the right side simply cannot be squeezed into a given context. Trying to force it in may weaken the idiomaticity of the English sentence. To highlight the relevance of context, the dictionary provided ample illustrative material for most entries—predominantly bilingual citations from Russian works of literature and expository prose together with their published translations, and, in rare cases, self-contained invented examples. This approach made it possible to select the majority of illustrative examples from works whose translators enjoyed the benefit of having the context of the entire literary work at their fingertips. Finally, an attempt was made to give translators the credit they deserve: every citation could be easily traced to its translator.

The dictionary found its audience not only in English-speaking countries, but also in Russia, where it was published twice: in 1996 by Shkola: Yazyki russkoi kultury, and in 2004 by AST-Press. In both Russian editions, the Guide to the Dictionary and Introduction to the Index were in Russian. Beyond that, there were no changes.

The dictionary was widely reviewed both in English-speaking countries and in Russia, and the response from users, especially translators and lexicographers, has been overwhelmingly favorable. Occasionally, user feedback included suggestions regarding the addition of phrases that recently acquired currency or idioms which had been overlooked in the Dictionary, should a new edition materialize. Many of the users' suggestions are incorporated in this first revised and enlarged edition.

Features of the First Revised Edition

The revised edition has built on the strengths of the 1995 dictionary, and the underlying lexicographic principles employed in the original edition have been preserved. The structure of the dictionary entry has remained unchanged. When selecting new equivalents for existing entries and working on new entries, I abided by the ironclad rule that each equivalent should be practically applicable.

At the same time, this edition differs considerably from the original edition. About 550 new entries containing over 900 new idioms along with their synonyms and variants have been added, thus increasing the total number of entries in the current edition to approximately 7,500 and bringing the total number of idioms close to 14,000. These new entries reflect changes in the living language and its use in the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries: they present new idioms that have become rooted in the language and are commonly used in speech and writing. Some of the idioms included in the original edition have acquired new idiomatic meanings. These idioms have been revised and are presented differently in this edition. In selecting English equivalents, special attention was paid to phrases that have been enjoying wide currency on television, in the press, and on the street, but have not yet found their way into Russian-English dictionaries. Although most of these phrases, as well as other equivalents presented in the dictionary, are common to all varieties of the English language, the dictionary predominantly reflects American usage.

The availability of language corpora made it possible to check the idioms' register and usage in multiple contexts and to make the labels more uniform. Numerous citations come from the works of Russian authors of the last two decades: B. Akunin, A. Chudakov, R. Gallego, V. Pelevin, V. Sorokin, L. Ulitskaya, and A. Eppel. While Russian classics of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries figured prominently in the 1995 edition, the current edition has benefited from a number of new translations of these works. Regrettably, I had to reduce the number of citations—a necessary and unavoidable move—in order to make room for new entries and meanings.

It is largely because of the initiative and enthusiasm of my editor Vadim Staklo and Yale University Press that the dictionary has found a new and extended life. I am most grateful.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In my work on both the original and revised editions of the Russian-English Dictionary of Idioms, I have received valuable help and contributions from many people and sources. The dictionary has benefited enormously from their generosity, and it is with profound and sincere gratitude that I acknowledge my debt to them.

This revised and expanded version of the dictionary grew out of the original Random House edition, which was funded by a generous grant from the National Cryptologic School, Department of Defense. I gratefully acknowledge that grant, which made the publication of the original dictionary possible.

The availability of online language corpora has drastically changed the lexicographer's job. In my work on the revised edition, I have benefited enormously from the National Russian Corpus (Национальный корпус русского языка), an incomparable lexicographic tool, which enabled me to streamline and bring up to date certain important contextual and sociolinguistic features of many idioms—collocation, stylistic register, appropriacy, and more. My gratitude to the creators of the NRC is boundless. And it may sound cliché, but I have to admit that dictionary-making in the Google era is much more fun than in long-forgotten pre-Google times.

Of all the individuals to whom tribute is due, I owe my greatest debt to Judith Hehir, who worked with me as an editor on the revised edition (and also on an early version of the original edition, where she is acknowledged as Judith VanDyk), and Marjorie McShane, who served as a developmental editor for the original edition. Both Judith and Marjorie worked with total dedication, showing fine feeling for language and style, superb editorial skills, and unsurpassed critical flair.

Several accomplished translators kindly agreed to serve as my consultants on controversial cases of English usage for the revised edition: I am deeply indebted to Robert Chandler, Michael R. Katz, Stephen Pearl, and Timothy D. Sergay for their generosity. It is a pleasure to thank Melanie and Dmitry Savransky for their insights on the use of challenging English idioms. A great debt is also owed to my translation consultants for the original edition, Charles Rougle and Rebecca Stanley, whose erudition and translation skills have improved the dictionary.

I extend my special thanks to two outstanding linguists, Jurij Apresjan and Igor Mel'čuk, for their advice and assistance regarding linguistic matters. It was an inspiration to work with both of them on the original edition.

Many colleagues and friends on both sides of the Atlantic—linguists, translators, literary scholars—have generously assisted me in my attempts to answer a multitude of questions related to the usage and stylistic register of idioms. I wish to express my special appreciation to those who have helped me in various ways with both the original and revised editions: Lena Jacobson, Larisa Lebedeva, Slava Paperno, Vladimir Savransky, Inna Sazonova, and Nelly Zhuravlyova. I am grateful to Natalia Bragina, Irina Sandomirskaya, and Igor Sharonov, who offered their help and advice for the revised edition, and to Alina Israeli, Lidija Iordanskaja, Elena Krasnostchekova, the late Olga Levchinskaya, the late Aleksei Mikhalyov, and the late Alexander Penkovsky for their help with the original edition. I thank them all for providing me with countless fine examples of idiomatic usage in speech. Many of the invented examples in this volume are theirs.

Michael Scammell graciously helped me find equivalents for several difficult idioms, and Lt. Col. James Holbrook, U.S. Army (Ret.), kindly assisted me with military expressions and usages for the original edition. I would like to thank them.

A number of translators and their publishers have responded willingly and graciously to my request to share electronic versions of their recent translations with me: Robert Chandler, Anne O. Fisher, Konstantin Gurevich and Helen Anderson, Michael R. Katz, Stephen Pearl, Marian Schwartz, Timothy D. Sergay, and Arch Tait. My heartfelt appreciation goes to them and their publishers for their generosity (and their willingness to help save my eyesight). While I did use files furnished by the translators and e-books as well, each citation was checked against its print counterpart. My special appreciation goes to Henryk Baran and Alla Smyslova for their unsparing willingness to help obtain the numerous books I needed for citations and for their unstinting support along the way.

Computers and I do not get along well, hence my very heartfelt appreciation for help and support in this area. I am ever grateful to Boris Yamrom for creating a unique computer program to produce the Index for the original edition and writing an entirely new—and better—program for the revised edition. As I faced innumerable challenges, I knew that I could always rely on Slava Paperno's steady helping hand and Robert C. Atwood's knowledge and patience to stabilize my love-hate relationship with my computer. My special thanks to Boris, Slava, and Robert.

I am deeply obliged to my bibliographer for the original edition, the late Kay L. Shaffer. Because the format she selected is user friendly, I opted to retain it in the revised edition.

Many former graduate students at the State University of New York at Albany gave abundantly of their time and expertise to the original edition of the dictionary. Nancy Downey, Erika Haber, Eric Nehrbauer, and the late Michael Slattery earn special thanks for their work on the earliest version of this volume. I am also indebted to many others, whose work for the original edition is recognized there, and I wish to thank them all once again in the hope that they will forgive me for not recognizing them individually on this page.

No book is possible without a good and caring publisher. I owe an enormous debt of gratitude to my sponsoring editor, Vadim Staklo, whose enthusiasm and drive made this edition possible, and to the entire Yale University Press team. My production editor at YUP, Ann-Marie Imbornoni, is any author's dream—unfailingly efficient, always supportive, and infinitely gracious. Karen Hohner copyedited this edition, and her enviable knowledge, perfect grasp of the complexities involved, and incomparable expertise have served to refine the dictionary. Thank you, Vadim, Annie, and Karen.

I am deeply grateful to Kevin Krugh of Technologies 'N Typography: his technical expertise, prompt solution of all kinds of problems, and inexhaustible patience-cum-good-humor made the editing and production stages of this complex project as smooth and enjoyable as possible.

Three anonymous readers for Yale University Press contributed perceptive comments, and I am grateful. My particular thanks go to the reader who offered a number of specific constructive suggestions. Very special recognition is due to the Random House team that worked with me on the original edition—especially the late Sol Steinmetz, my project editor and first-rate lexicographer, from whose perceptiveness and wisdom I benefited tremendously, and English-text editor, Joyce O'Connor, whose excellent contribution is much appreciated.

While acknowledging with pleasure and gratitude my indebtedness to those who helped me produce this dictionary, I wish to emphasize that I alone am ultimately responsible for its content and presentation. My hope is that this edition, like its predecessor, will justify the time and effort invested by all involved.

GUIDE TO THE DICTIONARY

The first revised and expanded edition of this dictionary presents close to 14,000 idioms. Some 550 new entries containing nearly 900 new idioms, together with their variants, have been added to the body of the dictionary. Numerous idioms are polysemous, ranging from two meanings (for example, П-110 • ВСТАВИТЬ ПЕРО В БОК) to as many as eight (e.g., С-714 • В СТОРОНУ).

The dictionary is descriptive in that it reflects how the language functions. It combines, in a rather unconventional manner, features of translational and learner's dictionaries. While presenting sufficient English equivalents to cover any context a translator from Russian may encounter, it also aims to provide sufficient grammatical and explanatory information to allow the user to apply the idioms actively. In general, the dictionary is based on American usage. It is likely, though, that all speakers of English will find it useful, since most of the equivalents presented in the dictionary are common to all varieties of the English language. Speakers of Russian may also benefit from the wide variety of English equivalents presented and from the illustrations of their usage in the examples and citations.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES

The dictionary contains a number of features that distinguish it from other dictionaries of Russian idioms, including those published after the original edition of this dictionary came out.

Range of Entries

It includes not only traditional idioms, but also several other types of fixed expressions not found in traditional monolingual or bilingual dictionaries of Russian idioms (see Types of Idioms under Idiomaticity, below).

Grammatical Descriptions

It includes a grammatical description for each entry, a feature generally not found in bilingual dictionaries or, with some recent exceptions, in any existing comprehensive monolingual dictionary of Russian idioms. The grammatical description provides users with the information they need to learn to use the idioms productively.

Definitions

Definitions—another feature rarely found in bilingual dictionaries—are provided for each entry in order to:

1) describe minute semantic nuances that may not be conveyed by the English equivalents alone;
2) help the user determine which sense of a polysemous equivalent is intended in the given instance;
3) provide adequate information to create a context-specific translation, should the user deem this necessary or preferable.

Usage Notes

When applicable, a usage note is provided in conjunction with (or, rarely, in place of) the definition. It describes the contexts in which the given idiom may be used and various other aspects of its usage—information that is for the most part absent in monolingual Russian dictionaries. Usage notes, like definitions, are given in English.

Russian Idioms and Their Equivalents

Sources of Russian idioms include approximately 285 works of Russian literature; numerous contexts provided by the National Russian Corpus; all available monolingual general dictionaries; monolingual phraseological dictionaries; surveys of Russian speakers spanning several generations; and linguistic works on Russian phraseology. In addition to the books used for the original edition, this edition has benefited from the more recent works of B. Akunin, A. Chudakov, R.D.G. Gallego, A. Lvov, V. Pelevin, V. Sorokin, T. Tolstaya, L. Ulitskaya, and A. Eppel.

The equivalents—the English phrases that suitably render the Russian idiom—are intended to cover all possible contexts in which the given idiom can occur and to offer the translator a complete picture of the semantic range of the idiom. The contextual adequacy of the equivalents was evaluated in numerous contexts: citations provided by the National Russian Corpus (including examples from colloquial speech), selected Internet texts, and illustrations in Russian monolingual dictionaries. A number of recent translations of Russian literature, including first-time translations into English and new translations of books quoted in the original edition of this dictionary, have been used for illustration (see Bibliography).

Variables and Patterns

The equivalents for verbal idioms are presented in patterns that employ the variables X, Y, and Z to indicate the subject, object(s), and, occasionally, location. This notation, which is widely accepted by linguists and is used in Mel'čuk and Zholkovsky's trailblazing "explanatory-combinatorial" dictionary of Russian[1] (and Mel'čuk's et al. dictionary of French[2]), has several advantages:

1) It allows for the presentation of a wide variety of equivalents that might otherwise not be presented for fear of confusion as to who is doing what, especially equivalents that reverse the Russian subject and object. For example, in Г-89 ПОПАДАТЬСЯ/ПОПАСТЬСЯ НА ГЛАЗА кому…, the use of variables allows for the inclusion of equivalents that have both X and Y as the subject:

   X попался на глаза Y-у = X caught Y's eye; Y caught sight of X; Y's eyes lighted ⟨lit⟩ on X…

2) In Russian the full names of the variables employed can be declined in both the singular and the plural (X-а = икса, X-у = иксу, X-ов = иксов, Y-а = игрека, Y-у = игреку, Y-ов = игреков, Z-а = зета, Z-у = зету, Z-ов = зетов, etc.). Therefore, when used in patterns, the variables clearly show both the case and number of the corresponding Russian noun or pronoun. When used in the English equivalents, variables can show the possessive (X's, Y's, etc.).

3) It allows the explicit indication of those instances in which a noun (usually one used as a direct, indirect, or prepositional object) will be plural; for example, in Г-63 ГЛАЗА РАЗБЕГАЮТСЯ (у кого) the following pattern is presented:

   у X-а глаза разбегаются (от Y-ов) ≃ …X is dizzied by the multitude of Ys; it's more ⟨there are more Ys⟩ than the eyes can take in.

4) It makes possible the illustration of special constructions in which a given idiom is often used, along with the English equivalents that best translate those special constructions. That is, in addition to the basic affirmative pattern (which is presented for practically all verbal idioms), the following patterns are presented as applicable: negative, imperative, negative imperative, and verb used with a particular adverbial or adverbials. For example:

   П-469 • ОСТАТЬСЯ… БЕЗ ПОСЛЕДСТВИЙ… X остался без последствий ≃ no action was taken on X…; || Neg X не остался без последствий ≃ …X had its consequences ⟨consequence⟩; X took its toll (on s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); that was not the end of it.

   Д-282 • ЗАБЫВАТЬ/ЗАБЫТЬ ДОРОГУ… X забыл дорогу к Y-у ≃ X stopped going ⟨coming⟩ to Y's place…; || Imper забудь дорогу в наш дом ≃ don't bother coming back here; don't come here (ever) again…

   Г-250 • ВЕШАТЬ/ПОВЕСИТЬ… ГОЛОВУ… X повесил голову ≃ X lost heart…; || Neg Imper не вешай голову ≃ keep your chin up!; cheer up!

   Н-168 • УНОСИТЬ/УНЕСТИ НОГИ… X унёс ноги ≃ X cleared out…; || X еле ⟨едва, насилу⟩ ноги унёс ≃ X escaped ⟨got away⟩ by the skin of his teeth…

While the English equivalents provided for these special patterns tend to be best used in the specified construction, all or most of the equivalents for the basic affirmative pattern can usually be used in the negative, the imperative, the negative imperative, and with many adverbials.

The variables X, Y, and Z cover both genders for human nouns. In those few instances when an idiom can be used only with a female (or male) subject or object, gender specifications are included in the grammatical description; for example:

В-260 • ДАВАТЬ/ДАТЬ ВОЛЮ РУКАМ… 2. [subj: usu. male]… X даёт волю рукам ≃ X lets his hands wander…

С-166 • НОСИТЬ ПОД СЕРДЦЕМ кого… [VP; subj: human, female]… X носила Y-а ⟨ребёнка⟩ под сердцем ≃ …X was with child…

The words "person" and "thing" are used with variables X, Y, and Z to indicate animacy/inanimacy restrictions (the word "thing" is used for all types of inanimate nouns). For example, the last equivalent in sense 2 of Г-86 is presented thus:

Г-86 • ОТКРЫВАТЬ/ОТКРЫТЬ… ГЛАЗА кому (на кого-что) [subj: human or abstr]… X открыл Y-у глаза на Z-а ≃ …thing X was an eye opener ⟨eye-opener⟩.

The notation "thing X" shows that the subject for this equivalent must be inanimate, while the grammatical brackets indicate that any inanimate subject must be abstract.

The compiler's lexicographic conservatism initially militated against the introduction of variables and patterns. In the end, however, it became obvious that the use of variables is significantly more user-friendly than the traditional one and that it tremendously expands a lexicographer's possibilities for presenting a greater number of faithful translations in a clear and understandable fashion. Feedback from users suggests they concur.

PRINCIPLES, DIMENSIONS, AND ATTRIBUTES OF THIS DICTIONARY

IDIOMATICITY

For the purposes of this dictionary, an idiom is interpreted as a nonfree combination of two or more words that acts as a semantic whole. In most cases, the meaning of an idiom cannot be predicted from the meanings of its components. An idiom is reproduced in speech as a ready-made unit, and it functions as a part of speech or an independent sentence. This dictionary includes idioms per se as well as other phrases whose idiomaticity varies in degree and type.

Characteristics of Idioms

Idioms possess the following characteristic properties, which occur in various combinations:

1) Many idioms have a defective paradigm. The defectiveness of a paradigm may involve:
   a) case – for example, САМАЯ МАЛОСТЬ 'a tiny bit' is used only in the accusative case in one of its senses (самую малость)
   b) number – for example, ВЫСОКИЕ МАТЕРИИ 'lofty topics ⟨matters⟩' is used only in the plural; ДУРНОЙ ГЛАЗ 'the evil eye' is used only in the singular
   c) person – for example, БОЮСЬ СКАЗАТЬ 'I'm not sure' is used only in the first-person singular; НЕДОРОГО ВОЗЬМЁТ 'one won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ think twice about doing sth.' is not used in the first person
   d) tense/aspect – for example, В МУТНОЙ ВОДЕ РЫБУ ЛОВИТЬ 'fish in troubled waters' is used only in the imperfective; МАЛО НЕ ПОКАЖЕТСЯ 'it will be worse than anyone can imagine', only in the perfective; В ЧЁМ ДУША ДЕРЖИТСЯ 's.o.'s body and soul are scarcely held together', only in the present; ПОШЛА ПИСАТЬ ГУБЕРНИЯ 'there they go', only in the perfective past
   e) finite versus nonfinite forms – for example, НЕ ПРОПАДЁТ (as in За мной не пропадёт 'I will pay you ⟨him⟩ back') has no corresponding nonfinite forms (that is, no infinitive, participle, or verbal adverb)
2) Many idioms lack some syntactic functions of the type of phrase to which they belong. For example, some noun phrases are used only predicatively: НЕ ИГОЛКА 'not exactly invisible'. Others are used only or mainly as a subject or object (that is, not predicatively): ЦЕЛЫЙ КОРОБ новостей 'a whole lot (of news)'.

3) Some idioms are metaphorical extensions of nonidiomatic word combinations. For example, ПОДНИМАТЬ/ПОДНЯТЬ РУКУ has the literal meaning ‘to raise one’s hand/arm’, as well as two idiomatic meanings:

   1. ~ на кого to (try to) harm s.o. physically
   2. ~ на кого-что to criticize openly and express strong disapproval of some person, idea, policy, school of thought etc

   Another such example is ГОЛОВА БОЛИТ. While it literally means ‘s.o. has a headache’, it has the idiomatic meaning ‘s.o. gives himself a headache over sth.’
4) Some idioms contain a unique lexical component not found elsewhere in the language. For example, ВО ВСЕОРУЖИИ ‘fully armed’, ДО СКОНЧАНИЯ ВЕКА ‘till the end of time’, БЕЗ УМОЛКУ ‘nonstop’.
5) Some components of idioms preserve archaic grammatical forms. For example, ТЕМНА ВОДА ВО ОБЛАЦЕХ ‘it is all shrouded in darkness’ has the old form of the locative plural of облако – во облацех; СКРЕПЯ СЕРДЦЕ ‘reluctantly’ has the old form of the short active participle of the verb скрепить – скрепя (the corresponding modern form is the perfective verbal adverb скрепив).
6) The role of the negative particle НЕ in idioms is often unpredictable.
   a) Some affirmative idioms cannot be used with negation at all: БАБУШКА НАДВОЕ СКАЗАЛА ‘that remains to be seen’; КАМЕНЬ С ДУШИ СВАЛИЛСЯ ‘a load was taken off s.o.’s mind’.
   b) In other idioms, used only with НЕ, the negative particle loses its meaning of negation: КОМАР НОСА НЕ ПОДТОЧИТ ‘(it’s) done to a T’.
   c) Idioms that can be used with and without negation comprise a rather heterogeneous group:
      i) The use of negation may produce the antonym of the affirmative idiom: ПО ВКУСУ/НЕ ПО ВКУСУ ‘(not) to s.o.’s taste ⟨liking⟩‘
      ii) The idiom with negation may have a different number of senses than the corresponding affirmative idiom. For example, Л-15 В ЛАДУ has only one sense, ‘(to be) friendly with s.o., have a good rapport with s.o.’, whereas Л-16 НЕ В ЛАДУ has three senses:

         1. ~ с кем… one is in disagreement with s.o., has a strained relationship with s.o.
         2. ~ с чем… one cannot understand or master sth., cannot learn how to use, apply etc sth.
         3. rare ~ с чем… sth. is in discord with some other thing

      iii) The idiom may have the same meaning regardless of whether it is used with or without negation: (НЕ) ПРИШЕЙ КОБЫЛЕ ХВОСТ ‘excess baggage’
7) Idioms differing only in verbal aspect may have different meanings as well as a different number of meanings. For example, Д-341 ВАЛЯТЬ ДУРАКА (the imperfective) has four meanings:

   1. to pretend not to understand, know about (sth.), feign stupidity (in order to fool s.o.)
   2. to act in such a way as to amuse (and occasionally annoy) others with one’s tricks, anecdotes etc; behave mischievously, in a silly manner
   3. to act irresponsibly, unintelligently, unseriously, make a stupid blunder
   4. to be idle, spend time lazily

   In contrast, СВАЛЯТЬ ДУРАКА (the perfective) has only one meaning, ‘to make a blunder’. It is included at sense 3 of ВАЛЯТЬ ДУРАКА.

Types of Idioms

The overwhelming majority of entries included in the dictionary are idioms per se, or “traditional” idioms. This group includes idioms that function as a part of speech (ТЕЛЯЧЬИ НЕЖНОСТИ ‘sloppy sentimentality’ – noun phrase; ИЗ РЯДА ВОН ВЫХОДЯЩИЙ ‘extraordinary’ – adjective phrase; БЕЖАТЬ ВПЕРЕДИ ПАРОВОЗА ‘jump the gun’ – verb phrase; ВКРИВЬ И ВКОСЬ ‘every which way’ – adverb phrase); and idioms that function as a sentence (БАБУШКА НАДВОЕ СКАЗАЛА ‘that remains to be seen’; ТАК НЕ ПОЙДЁТ ‘that won’t do’). The other types of fixed expressions included in the dictionary are:

1) Phrases serving as intensifiers, restrictive markers, etc., for the words with which they collocate. This group includes:
   a) pure intensifiers – for example, ДО ПОЛУСМЕРТИ ‘intensely, to a very high degree’
   b) negative intensifiers – for example, нужен КАК РЫБКЕ ЗОНТИК ‘(be as much use to s.o.) as an umbrella to a duck’
   c) frozen similes – for example, красный КАК РАК ‘(as) red as a beet’; скользкий КАК УГОРЬ ‘(as) slippery as an eel’
   d) phrases that consist of a word and its intensifier – for example, ВОЛЧИЙ АППЕТИТ ‘a ravenous ⟨voracious⟩ appetite’
2) Interjections used to express various emotions and reactions. For example, НУ И НУ! ‘well, I’ll be (damned)!’; НИ ФИГА СЕБЕ! ‘if that don’t beat all!’
3) Formula phrases, that is, fixed phrases used in common communication situations (in greeting and in parting, when apologizing or responding to an apology, when thanking s.o., etc.). For example, ВСЕГО ХОРОШЕГО ‘all the best!’; НЕ СТОИТ ‘don’t mention it’.
4) Grammatical, or function, idioms:
   a) prepositions – for example, ПО НАПРАВЛЕНИЮ к кому-чему ‘toward’
   b) conjunctions – for example, ПЕРЕД ТЕМ КАК ‘before’
   c) particles – for example, ТОГО И ГЛЯДИ ‘(one may do sth. ⟨sth. may happen⟩) any minute now’
5) Approximately 350 commonly used proverbs and sayings that occur in Russian literature and/or colloquial speech. For example, ЯБЛОКО ОТ ЯБЛОНИ НЕДАЛЕКО ПАДАЕТ ‘the apple never falls far from the tree’.
6) Some крылатые слова, or “winged words,” that is, commonly used quotations from works of Russian literature and poetry. For example, БЫЛИ КОГДА-ТО И МЫ РЫСАКАМИ ‘we too had our hour of glory’, from A.N. Apukhtin’s poem “A Team of Bays” («Пара гнедых», 1895).
7) The dictionary follows the Russian lexicograpic tradition in including some other types of set phrases that are not strictly idiomatic, such as НЕСТИ/ПОНЕСТИ ВЗДОР (АХИНЕЮ, БЕЛИБЕРДУ…) ‘spout drivel’.

The dictionary does not include composite terms such as ЦАРСКАЯ ВОДКА ‘aqua regia’, БЕЛАЯ ГОРЯЧКА ‘delirium tremens', АНЮТИНЫ ГЛАЗКИ 'pansy', and the like, which can be found in comprehensive general bilingual dictionaries.

Etymological Groups

Etymologically, Russian idioms include the following groups:

1) Idioms rooted in Russian reality, past and present, including the Soviet era. For example, ПОПАДАТЬ/ПОПАСТЬ ВПРОСАК 'put one's foot in it', from the old practice of using a machine called «просак» for making rope; БЕЗ СУЧКА БЕЗ ЗАДОРИНКИ 'without a hitch', from the speech of carpenters and joiners; ИСКУССТВОВЕД В ШТАТСКОМ 'plain-clothes agent', referring to a secret police agent, specifically to the KGB's widespread practice of recruiting informers during the Soviet era. The source of such idioms is explained either in an etymological note at the end of the entry, or in the definition and/or usage note.
2) Idioms based on or derived from the Bible. For example, КАИНОВА ПЕЧАТЬ 'the mark of Cain'; МАННА НЕБЕСНАЯ 'manna from heaven'.
3) Idioms drawn from Greek and Roman mythology. For example, АХИЛЛЕСОВА ПЯТА 'Achilles' heel'; АВГИЕВЫ КОНЮШНИ 'Augean stables'; ТАНТАЛОВЫ МУКИ 'the torments of Tantalus'.
4) Idioms that are full or partial loan translations of phrases from other languages. For example, КАЖДОМУ СВОЁ 'to each his own' (from the Latin suum cuique); ВЕЩЬ В СЕБЕ 'thing-in-itself' (from the German Ding an sich); СТРОИТЬ КУРЫ 'pay court to s.o.' (partial loan translation of the French faire la court).

GRAMMAR

It is assumed that the user has a basic knowledge of Russian and English grammar and grammatical terminology. There are, however, several points that deserve special attention.

The term "copula," used widely in the grammatical descriptions, is understood to embrace a rather broad group of copula-like verbs. It includes both those verbs that are regularly used as copulas (that is, оказываться/оказаться, казаться/показаться, становиться/стать, делаться/сделаться, считаться, представляться, оставаться/остаться, бывать, and являться in its copular use) and some other verbs occasionally used as copulas (сидеть, стоять, and the like).

Some idioms are used as subject-complements only with the copular быть, which takes a zero form in the present tense. This is shown in the grammatical brackets of the entry or sense as быть$_{ø}$.

Some idioms can be used both with copular быть$_{ø}$, and with existential or possessive быть (which can be used in the present tense in the form есть). Such idioms are presented with two patterns, one with and one without есть. For example, НА ПРИМЕТЕ has the following two patterns:

> у Y-а есть на примете один ⟨такой и т.п.⟩ X ≃ Y has an ⟨a certain, one⟩ X in mind…; || (этот) X у Y-а давно на примете ≃ Y has had an ⟨his⟩ eye on (this ⟨that⟩) X for (quite) some time…

The user must be aware that when a verb is used as a participle or a verbal adverb (whether as part of an idiom or not), it changes its syntactic function. Such change of function is common to all Russian verbs and is therefore not specified for verbal idioms.

In the dictionary it is assumed that the grammatical subject may be in the nominative or the genitive case. This approach (suggested by a number of linguists including Mel'čuk 1974[3], Chvany 1975[4], and Apresjan 1980[5] and 1985[6]) differs from the traditional approach, which assigns the role of subject only to noun phrases in the nominative case. In addition, a noun phrase in the genitive case is considered to function as the subject in constructions where a quantifier functions as the predicate; for example, Денег у меня кот наплакал 'I have practically no money'.

In definitions and equivalents, the English pronouns "one," "one's," and "o.s." (for "oneself") correspond to the subject of the Russian clause, while the pronouns "s.o." and "s.o.'s" (for "someone" and "someone's") correspond to the object of the Russian clause (direct, indirect, and/or prepositional). For example, the idiom УТЕРЕТЬ НОС кому... has the definition 'to outdo s.o., prove one's superiority in sth.' Here, "s.o." corresponds to the Russian indirect object кому, and "one's" refers to the Russian subject of the verb phrase. The abbreviated forms "s.o." and "sth." are used in all instances except when the phrases "someone else" and "something else" are irreplaceable elements in an equivalent, as in the case of С ЧУЖОГО ПЛЕЧА '…off someone else's back; someone else's castoff(s)'; НА ⟨ЗА⟩ ЧУЖОЙ СЧЁТ '…at someone else's expense; …on someone else's tab'. When the Russian verb has two objects, "s.o." or "s.o.'s" is used in reference to only one of them; the other object is referred to as a "person" (or a "thing"), "another," etc.

In looking at the equivalents for Russian patterns, one must remember that the Russian and English tense-aspect forms do not fully correspond. For example, the Russian present tense (imperfective verbs only) can be rendered by the English simple present or present progressive; the Russian perfective past can be rendered by the English simple past, present perfect, or past perfect. The English tense-aspect forms most commonly used in patterns are the simple present and the simple past, but they should be viewed as models to be modified as contexts require.

ORDERING OF ENTRIES

Each entry begins with a letter-number indicator showing its placement in the dictionary, as:

П-163 • ВЫСШИЙ ПИЛОТАЖ…

Idiomatic homographs are listed as separate entries, each of which is marked by a superscript number:

П-559 • ПО ПРАВУ[1]…

П-560 • ПО ПРАВУ[2]…

Entries are ordered alphabetically by their key words in precisely the same form as the key words are used in the idioms. For example, ИЗ РЯДА ВОН ВЫХОДЯЩИЙ is entered under РЯДА (genitive singular) rather than РЯД (nominative singular).

Whenever possible, the key word is a content word. Content words are nouns (including substantivized adjectives and participles), adjectives, numerals, main verbs, adverbs, and pronouns. If a complex particle, conjunction, preposition, or interjection has a content word, the idiom is placed under that content word; for example, А МЕЖДУ ТЕМ '(and) yet' is placed under ТЕМ. Idioms not containing any content word (such as many interjections and complex particles) are entered under their first word; for example, АЙ ДА 'what (a)…!' is entered under АЙ.

According to this approach, an idiomatic noun phrase is entered under its noun. An idiomatic phrase containing two nouns is entered under the first noun, regardless of the cases the nouns are in. An adjective phrase is entered under its adjective (or the first adjective, if there is more than one), and a prepositional phrase is entered under the key word of the preposition's nominal complement. When the only noun in an idiom is a proper name (personal or geographical), the idiom is listed under that proper noun; for example, КАК МАМАЙ ПРОШЁЛ 'it's as if an army had marched through (some place)' is entered under МАМАЙ.

Idiomatic verb phrases containing a noun are generally entered under the noun (or the first noun if an idiom contains more than one). For example, ПОДНИМАТЬ/ПОДНЯТЬ ПЛАНКУ 'raise the bar higher' is listed under ПЛАНКУ; ВЫХОДИТЬ/ВЫЙТИ ЗА РАМКИ ПРИЛИЧИЯ 'overstep the bounds of propriety' is listed under РАМКИ. This approach has been taken for pragmatic reasons, in order to spare the user the difficulty of dealing with Russian verbal aspect. The noun in a verbal idiom is the least changeable part of the idiom; only in rare cases can it change its number and/or gender. One exception is ГОДИТЬСЯ В ОТЦЫ ⟨В МАТЕРИ, В СЫНОВЬЯ и т.п.⟩ 'be old ⟨young⟩ enough to be s.o.'s father ⟨mother, son etc⟩', which has changeable noun components and is entered under the verb. Verbal idioms not containing a noun are entered under the verb (or the first verb if there is more than one); for example, РВАТЬ И МЕТАТЬ 'rant and rave'.

Within a group of idioms having the same key word, idioms are arranged alphabetically word by word rather than letter by letter. For example, the entries for idioms with the key word МЕСТА are arranged as follows:

ВЗЯТЬ… С МЕСТА
ЖИВОГО МЕСТА НЕТ…
МЕСТА НЕ СТОЛЬ ОТДАЛЁННЫЕ
НЕ НАХОДИТЬ… (СЕБЕ) МЕСТА
НЕ СОЙТИ МНЕ… С (ЭТОГО) МЕСТА
НЕ СХОДЯ С МЕСТА
НЕТ МЕСТА
НИ С МЕСТА
[etc.]

For the purposes of alphabetization, the Russian letters Е and Ё are treated as the same letter.

Each element in a hyphenated entry is treated as a separate word, as:

ЧТО ТАМ
ЧТО-ТО НЕ ТАК
ЧТО ТЫ!
ЧТО-ЧТО, А…

Optional elements in parentheses are counted in determining alphabetical order in the dictionary proper, as:

(В) ПЕРВОЕ ВРЕМЯ
(В) ПОСЛЕДНЕЕ ВРЕМЯ
В СВОЁ ВРЕМЯ
В ТО ВРЕМЯ КАК
В ТО ЖЕ ВРЕМЯ

A slightly different approach has been taken in the Index, which is explained at the introduction to the Index.

Lexical, morphological, and orthographic variants in angle brackets are not counted in determining alphabetical order, as:

ПЕСЕНКА ⟨ПЕСНЯ⟩ СПЕТА
ИЗ ПЕСНИ СЛОВА НЕ ВЫКИНЕШЬ

For verb phrases used in both aspects, only the imperfective, which is given first, is counted in determining alphabetical order.

To ensure that the user can easily find any entry, the corpus of the dictionary is followed by an alphabetical Russian index. Each Russian entry is listed in the Index for each of its content words, and each content word is listed in the same form in which it occurs in the idiom. Verbs—both imperfective and perfective forms—are listed in the infinitive. Sayings are listed under each of the first three content words plus all other particularly important words.

THE DICTIONARY ENTRY

Each dictionary entry has the following elements: a letter-number indicator, the head matter proper (rendered in boldface capital letters), grammatical information, a definition, and one or more English equivalents. The head matter proper includes variations and optional elements that constitute the idiom(s) being presented. Most entries include some or all of the following as well: collocates; an indication of case government; style and usage labels; a usage note; a Russian pattern or patterns (for verb phrases and selected other idioms); illustrations (literary citations and/or invented examples); and an etymological note.

Head Matter

All entries are presented in their canonical variant(s), that is, in the form or forms common in Standard Russian. Regular word stress is marked for all polysyllabic words in the head matter, in synonyms presented in the various senses, and in related noun phrases. When a word or phrase allows two possibilities for stress, both are indicated: НАДЕВА́ТЬ… ПЕ́ТЛЮ́ НА СЕБЯ́; НА́ СЕ́РДЦЕ. Stress may be marked on monosyllabic words to denote phrasal stress in interjections (НУ И НУ́! 'how do you like that!') or to indicate unusual emphatic stress patterns (Я́ ТЕБЕ! 'I'll teach you!').

Idioms that are synonymous with only one of the senses of a polysemous idiom do not appear in the head matter, but, rather, are listed at the applicable sense after the word "Also." For example, МЕДНАЯ ГЛОТКА '(s.o.) has a lot of lung power' is synonymous with sense 2 of Г-148 ЛУЖЁНАЯ ГЛОТКА, and so is presented at the latter as: 2. Also: МЕДНАЯ ГЛОТКА.

Noun and Adjective Phrases

Noun phrases used only in the singular or in both the singular and the plural are listed in the nominative singular: КОСОЙ ВЗГЛЯД 'sidelong glance'. Noun phrases used only or commonly in the plural are listed in the plural: МЁРТВЫЕ ДУШИ 'dead souls'; РАБОЧИЕ РУКИ 'manpower'; АХИ И ОХИ 'ohs and ahs'. Adjective phrases used only in the singular or in both the singular and the plural are listed in the nominative singular, masculine: ВЕРНЫЙ САМОМУ СЕБЕ 'true to o.s.'

Verbal Idioms

Verbal idioms used in finite forms and in all or some of the nonfinite forms (the infinitive, participles, and verbal adverbs) are listed in the infinitive: ДУТЬ В ДУДКУ 'play s.o.'s tune'; РВАТЬ И МЕТАТЬ 'rant and rave'. If an idiom is used in both the imperfective and the perfective aspects, the imperfective is entered first, followed by a slash and the perfective: РАЗМАЗЫВАТЬ/РАЗМАЗАТЬ ПО СТЕНКЕ кого 'wipe the floor with s.o.'. If only one aspectual form is listed, it means that the other aspect is not used in the given idiom or that the verb does not have an aspectual partner. For example, БИТЬ БАКЛУШИ 'twiddle one's thumbs' is listed only in the imperfective and НАВЯЗНУТЬ В ЗУБАХ 'bore s.o. to death' is listed only in the perfective, because neither of these verbs has an aspectual partner. Verbal idioms that are used only in finite forms are generally listed in the third-person singular present and perfective past forms (and have sentential definitions): БРОСАЕТ/БРОСИЛО В КРАСКУ… 's.o. flushes out of shame, embarrassment'. If no restrictions are stated, such idioms can be used in the future tense as well. Future-tense forms are presented in the head matter only for idioms that are used exclusively or predominantly in the future tense (usually the perfective future): НЕДОРОГО ВОЗЬМЁТ 'one won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ think twice about doing sth.' Idioms used only in one finite form are listed in that form: НЕ КАПЛЕТ 's.o. is not in any rush'; БОЮСЬ СКАЗАТЬ 'I'm not sure'. Idioms with one component functioning as the subject are presented in sentential form: ДУША УХОДИТ/УШЛА В ПЯТКИ 's.o.'s heart sinks into his boots'; УДАР ХВАТИЛ кого 's.o. had a seizure'.

An idiom containing the word НЕТ used as a predicate is described as a verb phrase (shown as VP). Numerous idioms with НЕТ are presented only in their present-tense form: ИЗНОСУ НЕТ чему 'sth. doesn't wear out'. If no restrictions are stated for such idioms, they can be used in the past (не было) and future (не будет) tenses as well.

Idioms used only or most commonly in the negative are listed in the negative. Most idioms presented in the negative can never be used without negation: НЕ ВЫХОДИТ ⟨НЕ ИДЁТ, НЕЙДЁТ⟩ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ 's.o. can't get sth. out of his mind'; НЕ ЗНАТЬ… ПОКОЯ 'know no peace'; НЕ ОСТАВАТЬСЯ/НЕ ОСТАТЬСЯ В ДОЛГУ 'pay s.o. back (in kind)'. Some idioms, however, while generally negative, can occasionally be used without negation; they are described as "used without negation to convey the opposite meaning."

Collocates and Case Government

For idioms with a limited range of collocates, the collocates (or the most typical of them) are listed, for example: С ВЕРХОМ налить, наполнить, насыпать что '(fill, pour sth.) to the brim'. When collocates differ for different senses of a polysemous idiom, they are listed separately in each sense, as at Н-240 НОСОМ К НОСУ:

> 1. ~ столкнуться, встретиться… (to meet, run into one another) right up close, facing one another…
> 2. увидеть кого-что и т.п. ~ (to see s.o. or sth.) at close proximity…

Case government for both the main entry and its collocates is shown by the forms кого-чего, кому-чему, к кому, к чему, etc. Кого, кому, etc., must be replaced by human (or, occasionally, animal) nouns, whereas чего, чему, etc., can be replaced by inanimate or collective nouns, as: НЕ ПАРА кому 'one is not a (good) match for s.o.'; ПО СЕБЕ (sense 1) найти, выбрать кого-что '(to find, choose s.o. or sth.) coinciding with one's taste, of one's preference, commensurate with one's abilities, status etc'.

In instances when the main entry includes two or more synonymous idioms with the same government or collocates, the collocates and government are shown with the first idiom only, implying that they carry over to successive idioms. For example, Г-94 contains three synonymous idioms with the same government and collocates:

> ПУЩЕ ГЛАЗА беречь кого-что, хранить что; ПАЧЕ ГЛАЗА ⟨ОКА⟩ obs…

If the verbal government differs for variants or synonyms, it is provided for each one, as: ПОКАЗЫВАТЬ ⟨УКАЗЫВАТЬ, ТЫКАТЬ⟩ ПАЛЬЦЕМ… (на кого-что); ТЫКАТЬ ПАЛЬЦЕМ… в кого.

The head matter for verbal idioms does not include related noun phrases; these are shown after the verbal equivalents following the symbol ○.

Proverbs and Sayings

Proverbs and sayings are given in their canonical forms. If part of a saying is used as an independent idiom, it is presented as a separate entry. For example, the saying ЛУЧШЕ СИНИЦА В РУКАХ, ЧЕМ ЖУРАВЛЬ В НЕБЕ 'a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush' has two offshoot idioms: СИНИЦА В РУКАХ 'the proverbial bird in the hand' and ЖУРАВЛЬ В НЕБЕ '(like) the proverbial two birds in the bush'. The full saying is given as one entry (at С-220), and each of its offshoots is entered separately (С-221, Ж-92) with a note referring the user to the full saying.

Usage Labels

Usage labels are provided for Russian idioms only. When provided, usage labels follow the idiom to which they refer, whether it is located in the head matter of the entry or only at a given sense. The label or labels apply as well to any lexical variants, morphological variants, or synonymous idioms that appear in angle brackets. For example, in К-65 НА КАПЛЮ ⟨НА КАПЕЛЬКУ⟩… coll '(hardly) an ounce (of…)', the label coll refers to both КАПЛЮ and the КАПЕЛЬКУ variant. If synonymous idioms that are separated by a semicolon take the same usage label, it is preceded by the word "both" (for two variants) or "all" (for three or more variants). For example, the label all coll at С-527 refers to all four cited variants of the idiom:

> ПО СОВЕСТИ[2]; ПО СОВЕСТИ ГОВОРЯ ⟨СКАЗАТЬ, ПРИЗНАТЬСЯ⟩ all coll… speaking openly…

A label is placed within the angle brackets when it refers only to the variant inside those brackets. For example, the label obs at Л-71 refers only to the variant В РЕКУ ЗАБВЕНИЯ:

КАНУТЬ В ЛЕТУ ⟨В РЕКУ ЗАБВЕНИЯ obs⟩ lit… to disappear completely, be forgotten forever…

Usage labels fall into three main categories: temporal, stylistic, and emotive-expressive.

Stylistic and emotive-expressive labels should be seen as general, not absolute, guidelines for the interpretation and use of an idiom, since the nuances that an idiom can convey depend largely on contextual factors. One exception in this regard is the type of label attached to expletives. To help English speakers correctly understand the sociolinguistic usage of phrases that go far beyond the boundaries of standard literary Russian, the dictionary provides a number of "prohibitive" labels.

Temporal labels indicate an idiom's standing in relation to contemporary usage. These are the temporal labels used in the dictionary:

obs (obsolete) – The idiom is not generally used in contemporary literary or colloquial Russian; it may be used strictly for stylization purposes.
obsoles (obsolescent) – The idiom is used rarely in contemporary literary or colloquial Russian and is perceived as becoming out of date.
old-fash (old-fashioned) – The idiom is used only or chiefly by older people.
rare – The idiom is used rarely and may be perceived as somewhat unusual. recent – The idiom is typically perceived as relatively recent.

Stylistic labels indicate the stylistic register of an idiom. Russian idioms presented without a stylistic label are stylistically neutral, meaning that they can be used under any circumstances and with any interlocutor. Two major factors have been considered in the assignment of stylistic labels: first, the circumstances in which an idiom can typically be used (a friendly conversation or letter, an official gathering, etc.); second, the ages and relative social status of the speaker, his interlocutor, and the person(s) referred to. While no stylistic labels are provided for English equivalents, an effort was made to find equivalents that are as close as possible to the stylistic register of the Russian. The following stylistic labels appear in the dictionary:

coll (colloquial) – The idiom is used in casual or informal speech and writing.
highly coll (highly colloquial) – The idiom is used in very casual speech and writing and is often colored by the speaker's emotive attitude; highly colloquial idioms are inappropriate in formal or semiformal situations.
substand (substandard) – The idiom is characterized by a deviation from grammatical or syntactical standards and/or by having a vernacular word as one of its components; it is used by less educated or uneducated people.
slang – The idiom has come into the spoken language from, or is still used predominantly in, the speech of a specific social group, profession, age group, etc. Such idioms are used in extremely casual speech; they are often metaphorical and sometimes sexually suggestive.
euph (euphemism) – The idiom is used as an inoffensive substitute for a vulgar, blasphemous, or shocking expression.
iron (ironic) – The idiom is used in a meaning opposite to its direct meaning.
lit (literary) – The idiom is characteristic of educated, well-read people and is used mainly, albeit not exclusively, in learned conversation and formal speech and writing (public speeches, scholarly essays, etc.).
rhet (rhetorical) – The idiom is used with the intention of producing a certain effect on the listener(s) or reader(s). It occurs mainly, but not only, in declamatory speech or in exhortative speech and writing.
elev (elevated) – The idiom is used in exalted (sometimes stilted) writing or very formal speech.
offic (official) – The idiom is used in formal, official contexts and/or belongs to bureaucratic jargon.
special – The idiom is used only or predominantly in specialized contexts.
folk poet (folkloric poetic) – The idiom comes from popular lore, especially folk tales, and preserves to some degree or other its folkloric, poetic overtones.
vulg (vulgar) – The idiom is socially or aesthetically in bad taste, or is generally considered indecent or obscene.
taboo – The idiom directly refers to sexual and/or scatological practices, and is unacceptable in standard contexts.

Occasionally, synonymous idioms of two different registers are grouped together in the same head entry, as: ГОЛОВА ВАРИТ (у кого) coll; КОТЕЛОК ВАРИТ substand; МОЗГИ ВАРЯТ substand… 's.o. is bright, intelligent'. An attempt has been made to provide equivalents covering all stylistic registers presented in the entry.

Emotive-expressive labels describe the emotions commonly conveyed by the given idiom. The intensity of these emotions, expressed particularly clearly in colloquial speech, may be affected by such factors as the speaker's frame of mind, the relationship between the speaker and the interlocutor, and the status of the party to whom the idiom refers (the speaker himself, the interlocutor, or a third party). These are the emotive-expressive labels appearing in the dictionary:

humor (humorous)
iron or humor, humor or iron – Said with ironic or humorous intonation; the prevailing emotion comes first.
disapprov (disapproving)
derog (derogatory)

Grammatical Information

The grammatical description is intended to supply the basic information needed to use an idiom actively in speech and writing. The majority of the terminology in the grammatical descriptions should be familiar to anyone who has studied a foreign language; exceptions are specified below.

The grammatical description appears within square brackets [ ] and refers to the Russian idiom and its variants and/or synonyms as presented in the head matter. If an idiom's variants and synonyms differ in structure and/or syntactic function from the main form, a description of each variant/synonym is provided. When different senses of a polysemous idiom require different grammatical information, grammatical brackets are included at each numbered sense.

An idiom is described according to its phrase type in those instances when it is used in all or most of the syntactic functions characteristic of the given type of phrase. The phrase types referred to in the grammatical brackets are NP (noun phrase), VP (verb phrase), AdjP (adjective phrase), AdvP (adverb phrase), and PrepP (prepositional phrase). To avoid complicating the grammatical description, the following labels are used as umbrella terms: NP encompasses both a noun and a noun phrase; VP both a verb and a verb phrase; and so on. (These grammatical labels and their syntactic parameters are described separately below.)

When an idiom is "frozen" and the description of the type of phrase (if altogether possible) would in no way help the user to apply it correctly, it is described either as "Invar" (invariable) or as "these forms only." "Invar" indicates that the single form presented in the head matter is the only form used: Г-429 ГРУДЬ В ГРУДЬ [Invar; adv]. The label "these forms only" indicates that the multiple variants presented in the head matter are the only forms used: Д-305 ДОХНУТЬ ⟨ДЫХНУТЬ⟩ НЕКОГДА [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$]. The labels "Invar" and "these forms only" are also used to describe sentential idioms that are used only in the form or forms listed in the head matter: Б-6 БАБУШКА (ЕЩЁ) НАДВОЕ СКАЗАЛА ⟨ГАДАЛА⟩ [these forms only]. These two labels do not imply anything about the linear order of the components of an idiom, which is described separately.

When an idiom requires an object or complement to perform a specific syntactic function, its grammatical description includes an indication of the required object or complement: М-32 ПОД МАРКОЙ чего […the resulting PrepP is adv].

When an idiom functions only as a subject-complement, it is described in grammatical brackets as "subj-compl." In some instances, an idiomatic subject-complement can be used only with быть$_{ø}$; such an idiom is described as "subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$." In other instances, an idiomatic subject-complement can be used with other copular verbs, in which case it is described as "subj-compl with copula."

When an idiom that functions as an object-complement can be used only with a specific verb or verbs, the grammatical brackets specify that verb or those verbs:

Ж-40 • В ЖИВЫХ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, остаться (subj: human) or obj-compl with застать (obj: human)]…

When an idiom that is not fixed in form (not "Invar" or "these forms only") is used as a subject- or object-complement, its gender and number are controlled by the subject or object, respectively.

Noun Phrases

As stated above, an idiom is described as "NP" when it is used in all or most of the typical syntactic functions of a noun phrase; that is, as a subject, an object, and a complement. For idioms in which one noun governs another or others, NP refers to the key word of the idiom: ГЕРОЙ ДНЯ 'the hero of he hour'; КНИГА ЗА СЕМЬЮ ПЕЧАТЯМИ 'a closed book'; ПАРА ПУСТЯКОВ 'child's play'. Grammatical brackets indicate when an idiom is used only or predominantly in one or two of the above functions: К-313 ЦЕЛЫЙ КОРОБ [NP; sing only; subj or obj]. Grammatical brackets also indicate when an idiom is usually (or often) used as a vocative or appositive: Г-225 ШАЛЬНАЯ ГОЛОВА [NP; usu. appos, vocative, or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)].

Restrictions are provided for noun phrase idioms that are used only in one grammatical case; for example, sense 2 of М-18 САМАЯ МАЛОСТЬ… 'a tiny bit' has the restriction "accus only" (sense 1 has no restrictions with regard to case).

Restrictions are also given for noun phrase idioms used only in the singular or only in the plural: В-290 АДМИНИСТРАТИВНЫЙ ВОСТОРГ [NP; sing only] 'bureaucratic zeal'; Д-401 МЁРТВЫЕ ДУШИ [NP; pl only] 'dead souls'. Such restrictions are not presented for idioms whose key noun is used in the language only in the singular or only in the plural: Г-327 ГОРЕ ЛУКОВОЕ '(you) lummox' and Т-56 ТАРЫ-БАРЫ 'tittle-tattle'.

For idioms comprised of two nouns connected by a conjunction, the grammatical restriction "sing only" refers to each noun component of the idiom: ЦАРЬ И БОГ 'lord and master'; АЛЬФА И ОМЕГА 'the alpha and omega'. Similarly, АХИ И ОХИ 'ohs and ahs' is described as "pl only," which means that each of its components may be used only in the plural.

For idioms consisting of a noun in the nominative case plus another element, the restriction "sing only" or "pl only" refers only to the noun in the nominative case. It is understood that the remaining component(s) of the idiom can be used only in the form or forms shown in the head matter: for example, in the idioms ДОЛЯ ПРАВДЫ 'grain of truth' and ПРЕВРАТНОСТИ СУДЬБЫ 'vagaries of fate', the indicators "sing only" and "pl only" refer only to the words ДОЛЯ and ПРЕВРАТНОСТИ, respectively.

When a noun phrase that is used as a subject-complement can occur both in the nominative and in the instrumental case, the noun phrase is described as "subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum"; for example:

В-235 • ВОЛК В ОВЕЧЬЕЙ ШКУРЕ… [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human)…] …wolf in sheep's clothing.

Adjective Phrases

Adjective phrases (including participles) that contain long-form adjectives are presented in the nominative case only, in the masculine singular: ЦЕЛЫЙ И НЕВРЕДИМЫЙ 'safe and sound'. Adjective phrases that contain short-form adjectives are listed in the masculine singular: НИ ЖИВ НИ МЁРТВ 'more dead than alive'. If no restrictions are provided, the given adjective phrase can be used in other genders, in the plural, and (long-form only) in other cases as well.

An adjective phrase that can be placed only before or only after the word or phrase it modifies is described as "premodif" (premodifier) or "postmodif" (postmodifier), respectively.

An adjective phrase that is used as a subject-complement with a plural subject only is listed in the plural: ОДНИМ МИРОМ МАЗАНЫ 'tarred with the same brush'. An adjective phrase used as a subject- or object-complement is described similarly to a noun phrase used in these functions. For example, НЕ ЛИШНЕЕ ⟨НЕ ЛИШНЕ⟩ 'it wouldn't be (such) a bad idea (to do sth.)' is described as:

[AdjP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. infin or a clause) or obj-compl with находить, считать (1st var. only, obj: usu. deverbal noun or infin)]

Verb Phrases

A verb phrase is described as "VP" when it can be used in all or at least some finite and non-finite forms: ВЛЕЧЬ/ПОВЛЕЧЬ ЗА СОБОЙ что 'lead to (sth.)'.

Verbal idioms that function as predicates require that a subject (and often an object or objects) be added to them to create a complete utterance. To help the user apply such idioms actively, the grammatical brackets indicate the type(s) of subject(s) and, if relevant, object(s) with which the given idiom is used: human noun, personal or geographical name, animal noun, collective noun, concrete noun (understood as denoting a thing), abstract noun, infinitive, and clause. For example, В-196 ЛИТЬ ВОДУ НА МЕЛЬНИЦУ чью, кого 'be grist to s.o.'s mill' has a human or abstract subject and is described as "VP; subj: human or abstr." When an idiom can be used only with a specific thematic group or a limited number of nouns as subjects and/or objects, this restriction is indicated:

К-116 • КАШИ ПРОСЯТ… [VP; subj: a noun denoting heavy, sturdy footwear or individual parts of shoes…] s.o.'s boots (shoes etc) are in bad condition, in need of repair…

К-97 • СТАВИТЬ/ПОСТАВИТЬ НА КАРТУ что [VP; subj: human or collect; obj: abstr (usu. жизнь, честь etc)] to risk one's life, reputation, security etc in the hope of winning or gaining sth…

Д-7 • ДАВАТЬ/ДАТЬ СЕБЯ ЗНАТЬ… [VP; subj: abstr or concr…] to manifest itself, become noticeable…

Р-170 • НА РОДУ НАПИСАНО… [AdjP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin or a clause)…] sth. is predestined, preordained for s.o…

Restrictions are provided for verb phrases and sentences that are used only or usually in the specified tense-aspect and/or person form(s):

К-117 • МАЛО КАШИ ЕЛ/СЪЕЛ… […2nd or 3rd pers; past only…] one is (too) inexperienced, young etc (for sth.)…

В-225 • НЕДОРОГО ⟨НЕ ДОРОГО⟩ ВОЗЬМЁТ… […fut only…] one will do sth. (sth. bad, reprehensible, as denoted by the preceding verb) readily, without hesitation…

К-46 • КАМЕНЬ… С ДУШИ ⟨С СЕРДЦА) СВАЛИЛСЯ у кого […usu. past] s.o. experienced a sense of relief, felt liberated from his worries…

Some idioms are used only or predominantly in the generic «ты» form, perfective future. This feature is indicated in the grammatical brackets, along with the verb form itself:

К-35 • КАЛАЧОМ НЕ ЗАМАНИТЬ… […usu. fut gener. 2nd pers sing не заманишь…] to be unable by any means to convince s.o. to go to some place or see s.o….

In those rare instances in which a verbal idiom consists of two verb forms, only one of which conjugates, the grammatical brackets specify "only verb conjugates":

Д-329 • И ДУМАТЬ ЗАБЫТЬ… […only забыть conjugates…] to stop thinking about s.o. or sth….

Some infinitival idioms do not act as regular verb phrases in that they do not conjugate and are used only as the complement of given predicates. The entries for such idioms indicate the type of predicates with which the idiom can be used. For example, С-318 ДВУХ СЛОВ СВЯЗАТЬ, which is not used as a regular verb phrase, is presented as follows:

С-318 • ДВУХ СЛОВ СВЯЗАТЬ не мочь, не уметь и т.п. [VP; infin subj-compl with не мочь, не уметь (subj: human)] to be unable to speak or express one's thoughts coherently…

Verb phrases that are often or most commonly used in the third-person plural with an omitted subject are described as "3rd pers pl with indef. refer." For example, К-174 ПУСКАТЬ/ПУСТИТЬ КОЗЛА В ОГОРОД is such an idiom, and has the above grammatical description as well as the following illustrative pattern:

пустили козла в огород ≃ they put the cow to mind the corn; they put the wolf in charge of the sheep…

Idioms Functioning as Adverbials

Idioms that function as adverbials are divided into two groups based on their function. The first group, labeled "adv" (adverbial), comprises adverbials of manner, time, space, degree, cause, etc. The second group, labeled "sent adv" (sentence adverbial), comprises adverbial idioms that refer to the sentence or clause as a whole and are syntactically more detached from the elements of the sentence than adverbials belonging to the first group. Sentence adverbials may do the following:

- Indicate a manner of speaking (МЯГКО ВЫРАЖАЯСЬ 'putting it mildly'
- Express an emotion or a value judgment (К НЕСЧАСТЬЮ 'unfortunately'; НА ДЕЛЕ 'in deed')
- Convey modality (ОТКРОВЕННО ГОВОРЯ 'frankly speaking')
- Anticipate the possibility that something might happen (ЧЕГО ДОБРОГО 'for all one knows, s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might…')
- Emphasize a statement or one of its parts (ЕСЛИ ХОТИТЕ 'if you will'; МОЖНО СКАЗАТЬ 'one might say')
- Play an organizing role in a text or speech in various ways:
  1) by connecting two halves of a statement by means of a contrast (С ОДНОЙ СТОРОНЫ… С ДРУГОЙ СТОРОНЫ… 'on the one hand… on the other [hand]')
  2) by marking a transition to a new topic (КСТАТИ СКАЗАТЬ 'incidentally')
  3) by introducing a summary (В ЗАКЛЮЧЕНИЕ 'in conclusion'), a specification (К ПРИМЕРУ 'for example'), a result (В РЕЗУЛЬТАТЕ 'as a result'), and so forth.

Most of the idioms used as adverbials or sentence adverbials cannot change in form and are therefore described as "Invar; adv," "Invar; sent adv," "these forms only; adv," or "these forms only; sent adv."

The grammatical brackets note when an idiom functioning as an adverbial occurs only or mainly with one verbal aspect:

В-12 • ВДОЛЬ И ПОПЕРЁК… 1. [more often used with pfv verbs] …far and wide…

Г-48 • ВО ВСЕ ГЛАЗА… […used with impfv verbs…] …all eyes…

There are some idiomatic Russian adverbials which, although positive in form and used with non-negated verbs, are negative in meaning; each such adverbial is described as "neg intensif" (negative intensifier). For example, разбираться… в чём КАК СВИНЬЯ В АПЕЛЬСИНАХ, literally 'to understand sth. like a pig understands oranges', means 'to understand absolutely nothing (with regard to sth.)'.

Adverbials used only with a negated predicate are described as "used with negated verbs." This group of idioms consists mainly of НИ idioms such as НИ ЗА КАКИЕ БЛАГА (В МИРЕ) 'not for anything (in the world)'. The definitions for these idioms include an English negation (usually "not"), which corresponds to the combination of НЕ and НИ.

In adverbials of the type как + adjective (КАК ОШПАРЕННЫЙ 'as if one had been scalded') and как + noun (КАК БАРАН 'like a mule'), the adjective and noun, respectively, are always in the nominative case. Therefore such idioms are described as "nom only." These idioms are co-referential with the subject (or, less commonly, the object), and their adjectival or nominal components must agree with the subject or object in gender (adjectives only) and number (both adjectives and nouns).

Quantifiers

Quantifiers may function as predicates and/or adverbials. Quantifiers that function predicatively are described as "quantit subj-compl" (quantitative subject-complement). Some predicative quantifiers can be used only with $быть_{ø}$ and are described as "quantit subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$." Other predicative quantifiers can be used with a number of copular verbs and are described as "quantit subj-comp with copula." For example, КОТ НАПЛАКАЛ 'practically no… (at all)' and ХОТЬ ЗАВАЛИСЬ 'lots ⟨a lot⟩ of' are described as "quantit subj-compl with copula."

Quantifiers that function as adverbials—for example, КАК НА МАЛАНЬИНУ СВАДЬБУ '(cook) enough for an army'—are described as "adv (quantif)."

Interjections

The label "Interj" (interjection) describes idioms that express the speaker's emotional attitude toward, or emotive evaluation of, the person, thing, situation, etc., in question. Interjections are syntactically independent structures that can express different, and sometimes even opposite, emotions depending on the context and the speaker's intonation; for example, ЁЛКИ-ПАЛКИ can express annoyance, admiration, delight, surprise, and bewilderment, among others.

Formula Phrases

The label "formula phrase" describes situationally conditioned idioms used in communicative contexts. Such idioms are often referred to as "speech etiquette formulae" in Russian sources. They are used in greeting (СКОЛЬКО ЛЕТ, СКОЛЬКО ЗИМ! 'it's been ages!'), at parting (ВСЕГО ХОРОШЕГО ⟨ДОБРОГО⟩! 'all the best!'), when wishing someone something (СЧАСТЛИВОГО ПУТИ! 'have a good trip!'), in making a request (БУДЬ ДОБР ⟨БУДЬТЕ ДОБРЫ⟩ 'be so kind as to…'), in expressing gratitude (ПОКОРНО БЛАГОДАРЮ, sense 1, 'I humbly thank you'), in responding to an expression of thanks (НЕ СТОИТ 'don't mention it'), and the like.

Sentential Idioms

Sentential idioms fall into three basic groups:

1) Idioms that need only a direct, indirect, or prepositional object to become a complete sentence. For example, in order to become a complete sentence, НОГИ НЕ ДЕРЖАТ кого 's.o.'s legs won't support him' requires a direct object, and ВРЕМЯ РАБОТАЕТ на кого 'time is on s.o.'s side' requires a prepositional object. Such idioms are described as "VP_{subj}," which means that they contain both the subject and the predicate (or part of the predicate).
2) Idioms that need $быть_{ø}$ or another copular verb (and often an object) to become a complete sentence. Such idioms are described as "VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$" or "VP_{subj} with copula"; for example, ГАЙКА СЛАБА у кого 's.o. doesn't have it in him (to do sth.)' is described as "VP_{subj} with copula."
3) Idioms that are complete sentences as they are listed. Such idioms are described as "sent." This group includes numerous sayings, adages, and крылатые слова ("winged words"), as: БАБУШКА НАДВОЕ СКАЗАЛА 'that remains to be seen'; РУКОПИСИ НЕ ГОРЯТ 'manuscripts don't burn'. Generally, such idioms can function in all or some of the following ways: as an independent sentence, as a clause in a compound sentence, or as the main or subordinate clause in a complex sentence. Exceptions are specified.

Sayings

All proverbs and sayings are described as "saying" since, for the purposes of this dictionary, the difference between a proverb and a saying is irrelevant.

Word Order

When an idiom has a free order of elements, no reference to word order (WO) is made in the grammatical description. However, when an idiom has a fixed order of elements, it is described as "fixed WO," as in КАЛАНЧА ПОЖАРНАЯ […fixed WO] 'beanpole'.

When the order of an idiom's components can be changed only in rare cases, the idiom is described as "usu. this WO."

When only one component of an idiom can change its position (and the rest cannot), this information is provided, as:

> К-37 • ДОВОДИТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ ДО БЕЛОГО КАЛЕНИЯ… […the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to irritate s.o. past the limits of his endurance, make s.o. lose his self-control completely…
> Д-11 • ДОРОГО БЫ ДАЛ… […fixed WO with бы movable] one would be willing to give up, sacrifice sth. of great value in order to get sth. he really wants or make some desired event happen…

In the second example the grammatical description shows that бы can be placed before ДОРОГО or after ДАЛ.

When the word order of a noun phrase can change only when the noun phrase is used in a specified syntactic function, this information is provided: for example, ВОЛЧИЙ АППЕТИТ [fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with copula] (as in Он ел с волчьим аппетитом 'He ate with a ravenous ⟨voracious⟩ appetite', but Аппетит у него волчий 'He has a ravenous ⟨voracious⟩ appetite').

Since "grammatical" idioms (conjunctions and prepositions) and hyphenated idioms always have fixed word order, the label "fixed WO" is not provided for them.

The labels "fixed WO" and "usu. this WO" apply to the idiom per se only and do not take into account placement of the copula, collocate(s), object(s), etc., whose typical placement is shown in patterns and citations.

It should be understood that even when a given idiom has fixed word order in standard literary and colloquial usage, this does not exclude its occasional use with a different word order in poetry, in utterances with shifted emphasis, or by an individual speaker or author for stylistic purposes. Thus, the idioms ОТ ПОЛНОТЫ ДУШИ (СЕРДЦА) 'from the fullness of one's heart' and НА ГОЛОДНЫЙ ЖЕЛУДОК 'on an empty stomach' are assigned the label "fixed WO" despite the existence of such well-known nineteenth-century citations as «Дай, обниму тебя от сердца полноты», "Let me embrace you now, from the fullness of my heart" (A.S. Griboedov) and «И кому же в ум пойдет на желудок петь голодный!», "And who would even think of singing on an empty stomach?" (I.A. Krylov).

Definitions and Usage Notes

The definition and, where applicable, usage note are placed directly after the grammatical brackets. When possible, the definition is presented in the same form as the defined Russian idiom, that is:

- as a noun phrase for a Russian noun phrase: ВЛАСТИТЕЛЬ ДУМ [NP…] 'a person who has much influence on his contemporaries, an intellectual and spiritual leader'
- in the infinitive for a regular verb phrase presented in the infinitive: СЫГРАТЬ В ЯЩИК [VP…] 'to die'
- as an adjective phrase for a Russian adjective phrase: ЦЕЛЫЙ И НЕВРЕДИМЫЙ ⟨ЦЕЛ И НЕВРЕДИМ⟩ [AdjP…] 'unhurt, in fine condition'
- as an adverb for a Russian idiom functioning as an adverbial: НЕЖДАННО-НЕГАДАННО [AdvP…] '(to appear, arrive etc) suddenly, unexpectedly'

Idioms that function as sentences have sentential definitions; for example: БАБУШКА НАДВОЕ СКАЗАЛА… 'it is yet unknown whether the event in question will happen or not (usu. the implication is that it will not happen)'.

In entries with two or more senses, each sense has its own definition, placed after the Arabic numeral introducing the sense.

Definitions and usage notes use generic "he" to refer to both sexes. In usage notes, "of" generally introduces the subject of the Russian phrase or the person or thing modified by the phrase; "in refer. to" indicates the object of the Russian phrase or the general situation surrounding the use of the idiom. For example:

М-153 • СИДЕТЬ МЕШКОМ на ком… (of a garment that is too large, wide etc) to fit poorly…

Л-58 • КТО В ЛЕС, КТО ПО ДРОВА… (often in refer. to singing and playing musical instruments) (people do sth.) without coordination among themselves, without agreement, cooperation…

Collocates in Definitions

The translations of collocates are generally given in parentheses as part of the definition. However, in those rare cases in which different collocates would require different wordings of the definition, the collocates are not included in the definition; for example: П-493 отдать на ПОТОК И РАЗГРАБЛЕНИЕ что; предать ПОТОКУ И РАЗГРАБЛЕНИЮ что… 'complete destruction and widespread looting (of some place, country etc)'. Usage of the collocates is then shown in patterns:

X-ы отдали Y на поток и разграбление ≃ Xs surrendered Y to be ravaged and plundered ⟨pillaged and ruined⟩; || X-ы предали Y потоку и разграблению ≃ Xs ravaged and plundered ⟨pillaged and ruined⟩ Y.

Prepositions, Conjunctions, Particles

No definition per se has been provided for most complex prepositions, complex conjunctions, and particles; instead, there is a usage note describing the relationship between the element(s) associated with the idiom and other elements of the context. In those cases where a definition per se has been provided, it follows the usage note. Some typical descriptions are:

- used to indicate the unexpected nature of the action that follows
- used to introduce a clause, phrase etc whose information adds to, and is more important than, the information in the preceding statement
- used to show that the situation or action presented in the main clause immediately follows the situation or action presented in the subordinate clause
- used to show that the truthfulness or realization of what is stated in the main clause is contingent upon the fulfillment of the condition stated in the subordinate clause

Interjections

Interjections are described in terms of the emotions they can convey; for example: НУ И НУ! 'used to express surprise, delight, displeasure, an ironic attitude etc.'

English Equivalents

The overwhelming majority of entries contain more than one English equivalent, since different contexts often require different translations of a given idiom. When a Russian idiom has several English equivalents, those that are most broadly applicable (or most similar to the Russian) are presented first, and those that are most restricted are presented last. Equivalents in a given entry may differ stylistically in order to cover nineteenth- as well as twentieth- and twenty-first–century contexts.

Whenever possible, equivalents are presented in the same form as the Russian idiom, that is, an English noun phrase for a Russian noun phrase, an English verb phrase for a Russian verb phrase, and so forth. Equivalents for Russian idioms that function as complete sentences are presented in sentential form.

The notation "Cf." (which when given follows the last English equivalent in an entry) is used to introduce English idioms and sayings that, although not suggested for purposes of translation, provide insight into the meaning of the Russian idiom. Often such phrases (as "every Tom, Dick, and Harry" for КАЖДЫЙ ⟨ВСЯКИЙ⟩ ВСТРЕЧНЫЙ 'anyone and everyone') have a distinct national flavor, include typical American or British names, and the like. However, not all culturally bound elements are reserved for "Cf." Since substantial Russian communities can be found in English-speaking countries, the terms "ruble" and "kopeck," for example, are included with "penny," "dime," etc., in numerous English equivalents.

Collocates in Equivalents

In cases when it is impossible to present the English equivalent of a Russian idiom without collocates, the collocates are provided along with the equivalent (in parentheses, when possible). For example, many adverbial intensifiers cannot be translated without a verb. In such cases, the English equivalents are presented with their collocates, occasionally in a pattern, as in (И) В ГЛАЗА не видал, не видел…: X (и) в глаза не видел Y-а ≃ X has never set ⟨laid⟩ eyes on ⟨upon⟩ Y…

Infinitives

Infinitives in the equivalents are presented without the infinitive marker "to," except in instances when "to" is a fixed component of the English equivalent, as in ПО ПРАВДЕ ГОВОРЯ ⟨СКАЗАТЬ⟩… 'to tell (you) the truth' used as a sentence adverbial.

Articles

Noun phrases are generally presented without an article, but there are some exceptions. For example, the definite article "the" is provided when an idiom is not used without it (ЦАРСТВО НЕБЕСНОЕ, sense 1, 'the kingdom of heaven; the heavenly kingdom; the kingdom of God'); the indefinite article "a/an" may be added to indicate that the equivalent cannot be used without an article or specifier of some type (ФОМА НЕВЕРНЫЙ 'a doubting Thomas').

Illustrative Patterns

Some English equivalents are preceded by a Russian pattern that illustrates the use of the idiom in a sentence. Patterns are used for all verb phrases and for many idioms functioning as subject-complements.

Some Russian idioms that function as predicates do not contain a verb, and the temporal frame of the action must be interpolated from the context. In order to translate the Russian pattern, some temporal context must be assumed. The assumed temporal context is indicated in brackets preceding the English equivalents: for example, the pattern for Н-171 НИ НОГОЙ (sense 1) reads:

> X к Y-у ⟨в место Z⟩ ни ногой ≃ [in present contexts] X doesn't set ⟨never sets⟩ foot in Y's house ⟨in place Z etc⟩…

Occasionally, patterns are provided for context-specific uses of an idiom. For example, Д-247 ПО ДОЛГУ чего 'in order to meet the demands dictated by or intrinsic to sth.' has separate patterns for по долгу службы 'as part of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ duties ⟨responsibilities etc⟩…' and по долгу чести 'true to one's honor'. In addition to the equivalents offered in these patterns, some or all of the general equivalents presented for this idiom may also fit по долгу службы and по долгу чести.

Restrictions

A restriction is presented in square brackets and applies to all equivalents that follow it, up to the next restriction or pattern, if there is one. English equivalents that can be used only in select contexts and should therefore be used cautiously are preceded by the restriction "[lim.]" to indicate that they are to be used only in limited contexts. Other restrictions may point out syntactic or situational limitations, the collocates with which an equivalent may be used, or the particular element of a semantically rich Russian idiom that is stressed by the equivalents that follow; for example:

> Б-213 • НАШ БРАТ… [when used as obj or subj] people ⟨men, guys, fellows etc⟩ like us ⟨me⟩; …[usu. when foll. by an appos] we ⟨us⟩ writers ⟨workers etc⟩; our ⟨my⟩ fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩…

The entry 3-203 ЗАГОВАРИВАТЬ/ЗАГОВОРИТЬ ЗУБЫ has the following restrictions: [esp. with the goal of avoiding an unpleasant topic]; [esp. with the goal of deceiving the interlocutor]; [esp. with the goal of obtaining sth. from s.o. or extricating o.s. from an uncomfortable situation].

When a Russian idiomatic preposition can be used with both animate and inanimate nouns, but its English equivalents have animate/inanimate restrictions, these restrictions are specified as part of the equivalent; for example:

> С-714 • В СТОРОНУ… 1. ~ кого-чего, чью… in the direction of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; in s.o.'s direction; toward s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; s.o.'s way…

Citations and Examples

Most of the entries in the dictionary are illustrated by citations from Russian and Soviet literature accompanied by a published translation or, in many cases, more than one translation. In the absence of clear, typical, or correctly translated citations, some entries are provided with invented examples. No excerpts from published translations have been retranslated for the purposes of this dictionary. Literary citations and invented examples are generally presented in the same order as their corresponding equivalents.

Style and Conventions

All citations from works of literature, memoirs, and so forth are followed by the author's name and the number that the given work has been assigned in the Bibliography. The English translation of the citation is followed by the same number plus a letter indicating which translation of the work has been cited (that is, if two translations of a work have been used, they are designated "a" and "b"). Illustrations that do not include an author's name at the end are invented examples provided by the compiler. When selecting literary citations for illustration, minor inaccuracies in translation have been disregarded if they do not harm the sense of the text or the effective illustration of the idiom. It must be kept in mind that a certain amount of freedom is acceptable, and even desirable, in literary translation, as the goal is to make the translation faithful to the original both in meaning and in style. However, some steps have been taken to draw the Russian and English versions of the citations closer together and to clarify points that may not be clear out of context.

In some cases, for example, part of the Russian and/or English text has been ellipted in order to make the texts match better. There is no typographical difference between the author's/translator's ellipsis points and the compiler's.

In other cases a word in a citation is followed by square brackets providing information about that word (for example, that it is a nonce word, a phonetically spelled word, or an ungrammatical, dialectal, regional, or Ukrainian word). Square brackets in citations are also used to indicate pertinent names and pieces of information intended to clarify citation contexts.

Finally, some bracketed additions serve to make the Russian and English variants more similar. It should be noted that such insertions do not imply that the translation is unfaithful; they merely reflect the reality that dictionary contexts are sometimes insufficient to present the situation clearly. Wherever possible, wording found in the cited texts is used for such insertions.

When a speech impediment is shown through English spelling, as in some citations from Tolstoy, the affected words have been replaced by their correctly spelled counterparts in brackets. For example, in ОТДУВАТЬСЯ СВОИМИ БОКАМИ 'bear the brunt of sth.' the translation of the citation from Tolstoy's War and Peace reads, "This is certainly Scythian warfare. It's all [very] fine—except for those who bear the [brunt] of it." The translator has spelled the bracketed words as "vewy" and "bwunt."

Generally, the transliteration chosen by the translator is preserved for proper names in citations and for the names of characters in plays. However, since the designations of characters in Gogol's The Government Inspector are so different in different translations, the compiler has chosen to make uniform the names of the characters when indicating the speaker in citations. For example, although Городничий is translated as "Mayor," "Chief of Police," and "Prefect" in various translations, it is uniformly rendered "Mayor" in this dictionary.

Occasionally, two or more translations of the same citation are quoted. The user must be aware that translators' approaches differ, and so there may be significant differences in the cited translations. For example, two translations were used for Saltykov-Shchedrin's История одного города (The History of a Town). The names in this book are meaningful. One translator (Susan Brownsberger) chose to translate them into meaningful English names, while the other (I.P. Foote) transliterated them. Thus, "Melancholov" and "Dormousov" in the Brownsberger translation represent the same characters as "Grustilov" and "Bajbakov," respectively, in the Foote translation.

In some cases, the tense forms in the Russian and English versions of a citation do not coincide, but it would require a great amount of context to show why this is so. In such cases, the tense discrepancy has been overlooked. For example, in К-269 СВОДИТЬ/СВЕСТИ КОНЦЫ С КОНЦАМИ (sense 2) 'tie up the loose ends', the beginning of the citation from Zalygin reads «…Мужикам, по их натуре, нужна любая техника…» (present tense) and the translation has "By their nature they [men] needed any sort of science…" (past tense).

Another lack of parallelism in citations concerns the use of quotation marks. Some Russian authors (as Aksyonov and Zinoviev) omit quotation marks in some of their works, while their translators have chosen not to do so. The authors' and translators' choices are retained in the presentation of citations.

Russian citations are presented exactly as they appear in the published text with the exception of a few archaic forms that have been replaced with contemporary ones. For example, in the entry Б-274 НИЧУТЬ... НЕ БЫВАЛО the archaic того же дни in the Gogol citation has been replaced by the contemporary того же дня. In some cases, Western editions of Russian texts have been used as sources for citations. However, since these editions are not as carefully edited as most editions published in Russia and the former Soviet Union, Soviet/Russian editions have occasionally been used to check punctuation, spelling, etc.

The word «Бог» in the citations is capitalized when the source has it capitalized, and lowercase when the source has it lowercase.

The transliteration of proper names in invented examples and Russian names in etymological notes follows the transliteration system used in the Handbook of Russian Literature, edited by Victor Terras. The transliteration of authors' names in the Bibliography follows the spelling currently used by the Library of Congress (with diacritics omitted).

When a Russian author uses a nonstandard form of an idiom, the citation is preceded by the bracketed label "author's usage." When a Russian author uses an idiom either metaphorically or in an atypical context, the citation is preceded by the label "extended usage."

When the English translation of a citation translates the given idiom correctly but in a way that would not apply in most or any other contexts, the translation is preceded by the label "context transl" (contextual translation). Such translations of idioms are not included in the list of equivalents. Citations with contextual translations are presented in order to offer the user examples of creative and original approaches to translation.

When an idiom that originated in a work of Russian literature is illustrated by a citation from that same work, the citation is preceded by the label "source." For example, the idiom Р-432 КУВШИННОЕ РЫЛО 'jug snout' originated in Gogol's Dead Souls, so the Dead Souls citation containing the idiom has this label.

English translations of citations are rendered precisely as they occur in the published texts with two exceptions: spellings or orthographic forms that are not found in any mainstream American or British dictionary have been normalized, and the American system for quotation marks has been adopted throughout (that is, double quotes for direct speech and single quotes for a quote within a quote).

In some instances, a translator has come up with an original and creative translation of a Russian idiom or saying. When such translations are offered in this dictionary as regular English equivalents, the translator's version is acknowledged by citing the excerpt in question. For example, the saying ПАНЫ ДЕРУТСЯ, А У ХЛОПЦЕВ ⟨ХОЛОПОВ⟩ ЧУБЫ ТРЕЩАТ has two equivalents, both of which come from published translations, and both of which are illustrated by their respective citations: "the poor man always gets the blame" comes from a Nabokov citation (translated by Michael Scammell), and "when (the) masters fall out their men get the clout" comes from a Sholokhov citation (translated by Robert Daglish). All the translators' names are, of course, indicated in the Bibliography.

Every citation was cross-referenced to ensure that a citation used to illustrate idiom A, for example, does not have an incorrect equivalent for idiom B. Ideally, and in most cases, the translation of idiom B will be among the equivalents presented in entry B. However, in view of the fact that there are many criteria for a good overall translation apart from idiom translation, this rule has been relaxed in some instances. In no case has a citation been used for one idiom that has an incorrect translation of another idiom in it, but occasionally the translation of the secondary idiom may be bland and read more like the definition of the idiom than an idiomatic equivalent, or be correct only as a contextual translation, not as a general one.

Notes on the Origin of Idioms

Notes on the source or origin of idioms and other relevant information have been provided in cases where they might contribute to the user's understanding of a Russian idiom and facilitate the selection of an English equivalent. Notes have been provided for the following groups of idioms:

1) idioms from the Bible
2) idioms from works of Russian and Western literature
3) idioms from Russian folk tales
4) idioms that are loan translations of phrases from classical or modern languages
5) idioms that are rooted in Russian history, customs, and the Russian way of life.

For Biblical references, the King James Bible was used.

English titles of works of Russian literature are presented as they are known in English translation.

A

А-1 • ОТ А ДО Я (прочитать, знать что и т.п.); ОТ А ДО ЗЕТ; ОТ А́ЛЬФЫ ДО ОМЕ́ГИ lit; ОТ АЗА́ ДО И́ЖИЦЫ obs, lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to read sth.) from the very beginning to the very end; (to know sth.) thoroughly: [of books, journals etc] (read sth.) from cover to cover; [of documents] (read sth.) from top to bottom; (know sth.) from A to Z; (know sth.) inside out.

А-2 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА АБОРДА́Ж кого-что [VP; subj: human; obj: most often human] to take decisive action with s.o. or sth.: X взял Y-а на абордаж ≃ X took ⟨tried⟩ a hard-nosed approach with person Y; X got tough with person Y; X tackled thing Y head-on.

< From the French abordage. Originally the Russian phrase meant "to attack an enemy vessel by coming alongside it and mooring with it for the purpose of hand-to-hand combat."

А-3 • С ПЕ́РВОГО А́БЦУГА; ПО ПЕ́РВОМУ А́БЦУГУ both obs [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] immediately, at or from the very beginning: from the outset; from the very first; right from the start; right off; from the word go.

А-4 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ АВА́НСЫ кому old-fash, coll, humor [VP] 1. [subj: human or collect] to approach s.o. (repeatedly) showing that one is well-disposed toward him (usu. in order to secure his support in sth. or to interest him in sth.—some deal, a job etc): X делает Y-у авансы ≃ X makes advances toward ⟨to⟩ Y; X makes overtures to Y.

Вы говорите, что эта фирма делает вам авансы? Учтите, у них очень плохая репутация. You say that firm is making overtures to you? Bear in mind that they have a very bad reputation.

2. [subj: human, female] to encourage a man (through coquettish behavior) to flirt with or court one: X делает Y-у авансы ≃ X makes a play for Y; X makes a move on Y; X casts coquettish ⟨flirtatious⟩ glances Y's way; X makes advances to Y.

«Виноват, мадемуазель, но с Михаем Луканом так не поступают. Вы мне в некотором роде делали авансы, а теперь вздумали публично позорить?! Не на того напали!» (Акунин 5). "I'm sorry, mademoiselle, but nobody treats Mikhai Lukan like that. First you make advances to me after your own fashion, and then you take it into your head to disgrace me in public? You've picked the wrong man this time!" (5a).

А-5 • АВО́СЬ ДА НЕБО́СЬ; АВО́СЬ, НЕБО́СЬ ДА КА́К-НИБУДЬ both obs, coll [AdvP; these forms only; usu. indep. sent or clause; fixed WO] (used to describe s.o.'s lack of discipline, idleness, lack of initiative, or negligence) s.o. does nothing, thinking, assuming, or hoping that things will work out by themselves without his efforts: somehow or other ⟨some way or other, one way or another⟩ (it will work out ⟨things will turn out all right etc⟩).

А-6 • НА АВО́СЬ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to venture sth.) counting on good fortune, success, even though chances may be against success: on the off-chance; hoping for the best; trusting to luck; chance it; leave it to chance; [lim.] by guess and by God.

…Они [Петька и Михаил] не с пустыми руками вернулись к избе. С рыбой… «Лиза, эво-то! Посмотри-ко!» — звонко закричал Петька, едва они завидели избу, и высоко над головой поднял вязанку с рыбой. «Да, — сказал Михаил… — А я думал: Ося-агент всё выбродил. Так, на авось кинулся» (Абрамов 1). …They [Petka and Mikhail] did not go back empty-handed: there were fish… "Liza! Hey there! Look!" shouted Petka ringingly as soon as they caught sight of the house, and he lifted the string of fish high above his head. "Yes," said Mikhail…. "I thought Osya the agent had fished the place out. I just threw out a line on the off-chance" (1a).

А-7 • КАК АВТОМА́Т делать что, работать, двигаться и т.п. [как + NP; Invar; adv] (to do sth., work, move etc) mechanically, in a monotonous way: like an automaton ⟨a robot, a windup toy⟩; in a preprogrammed way; as if preprogrammed.

«Мама, окрести его, благослови его, поцелуй его», — прокричала ей Ниночка. Но та, как автомат, всё дергалась своею головой и безмолвно, с искривлённым от жгучего горя лицом, вдруг стала бить себя кулаком в грудь (Достоевский 2). "Mamma, give him the sign of the Cross, give him blessing, kiss him," Ninochka cried to her. But, like an automaton, she kept jerking her head and speechlessly, with a face that was distorted by burning grief, suddenly began to beat her breast with her fist (2b).

А-8 • АД КРОМЕ́ШНЫЙ [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] 1. an extremely trying, unbearable situation or condition: sheer hell ⟨torture, misery⟩; hell on earth; a nightmare; || ад кромешный на душе ⟨на сердце⟩ у кого ≃ s.o. feels like hell; s.o. is going through hell.

2. utter confusion, unbearable noise, commotion: sheer pandemonium; a hell of a racket.

А-9 • ОТ ⟨С⟩ АДА́МА начинать (рассказ) и т.п. obsoles [PrepP; these forms only; adv or nonagreeing modif] (to begin a story etc) from something distant or unrelated: from day one.

А-10 • В А́ДРЕС кого ⟨В чей А́ДРЕС⟩ высказываться, критика, похвала, аплодисменты и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv or nonagreeing modif; can be used with collect noun] used to indicate the object of a statement, criticism, praise etc: (address one's words etc) to s.o.; (direct ⟨aim⟩ one's words etc) at s.o.; (direct one's criticism etc) against s.o.; (criticism) of s.o.; (criticism) intended for s.o.; (praise ⟨applause⟩) for s.o.; [lim.] (criticism ⟨praise⟩) comes s.o.'s way; (a remark) at s.o.'s expense.

«Прежде чем скрещивать оружие с инженером Лопаткиным, — пробасил он, — я хочу сказать несколько слов критики в адрес почтенных представителей НИИЦентролита» (Дудинцев 1). "Before I cross swords with Engineer Lopatkin," he growled, "I would like to address a few words of criticism to the respected representatives of C.S.I.F.R. [the Central Scientific Institute of Foundry Research]" (1a).

А-11 • НЕ ПО А́ДРЕСУ (обратиться, направить что, явиться и т.п.) [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr)] (to address a question, complaint etc; come etc) to the incorrect or an inappropriate person or place: (to) the wrong person ⟨party, place etc⟩; [usu. in refer. to criticism, rebukes etc] bark up the wrong tree.

«Лево сделал [плакат], в своей, свободной манере… Приношу… „Вы, говорит [шеф], Чупров, не по адресу обратились; такая, говорит, продукция для «Лайфа», может быть, и подходит, а для нас не годится"» (Аржак 1). "I painted a nonconformist one [poster], in my own, free manner…. I took it to them…. 'You've brought it to the wrong place,' he [the Chief] says. 'This may be all right for Life but not for us'" (1a).

А-12 • ПО А́ДРЕСУ [PrepP; Invar] 1. писать, отправлять что и т.п. ~ [adv] (to write, send sth. etc) to the appropriate person or place: to the right ⟨proper⟩ person ⟨place etc⟩; [lim.] to where it belongs.

Глядя снизу на этот подъём и последующий спуск, Кублицкий-Пиоттух всё больше наполнялся уверенностью, что приехал по адресу, что старик Лучников уникален и тоже предназначен Господом для особого дела… (Аксёнов 7). Observing ascent and descent from below, Kublitsky-Piottukh felt certain that he had come to the right place, that Luchnikov was his man, the man predestined by God for the task he had in mind… (7a).

2. высказываться, шутить, злословить, замечание и т.п. ~ (кого, чьему) [Prep; the resulting PrepP is usu. adv or nonagreeing modif; can be used with collect noun] (to say sth., make a joke, a remark is etc) about s.o., in reference to s.o.: (gossip ⟨a remark etc⟩) directed at ⟨against⟩ s.o.; (a remark ⟨reproach etc⟩) addressed to s.o.; (some word etc is) applied to s.o.; (say sth. ⟨joke etc⟩) at s.o.'s expense.

Здесь опять послышались одобрительные смешки в публике, и всё по адресу прокурора (Достоевский 2). Here again approving chuckles came from the public, all directed at the prosecutor (2a).

А-13 • В (ПО́ЛНОМ) АЖУ́РЕ coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr, often всё)] in fine condition, in excellent shape: in perfect order; A-OK; just so; tiptop; in tiptop shape; shipshape; [lim.] (person X is) sitting pretty; (person X is) on velvet. Cf. in apple-pie order.

…Люди бегут. И какие люди!.. Проверенные! И в местной партийной организации их проверяли. И на райкоме характеристику утверждали. И выездная комиссия ЦК и КГБ всю подноготную бдительно изучала. И всё, как говорится, было в ажуре (Войнович 1). …People are fleeing the country. And what people!… They'd all been checked out. The local Party organizations had run checks. Their files had been approved by the district committees. The Central Committee and the KGB commission on travel had vigilantly scrutinized all the ins and outs. Everything was, as they say, tiptop… (1a).

А-14 • НИ АЗА́ не знать, не смыслить, не понимать и т.п. coll; (НИ) АЗА́ В ГЛАЗА́ obsoles, coll [NP$_{gen}$; these forms only; obj; used with negated verbs] (to know, understand) absolutely nothing (about sth.): not (know ⟨understand⟩) a thing ⟨the first thing⟩ (about sth.); not (have) the foggiest ⟨the faintest⟩ idea ⟨notion⟩ (what sth. is about etc); not (know) the ABCs of sth.; not know from A to B about sth.; [lim.] not (know) one's ABCs.

< From the name of the first letter of the Church Slavonic alphabet.

А-15 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ ⟨ПРИХОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИЙТИ́, ВПАДА́ТЬ/ВПАСТЬ⟩ В АЗА́РТ [VP; subj: human] to become extremely agitated, impassioned: X вошёл в азарт ≃ X got all excited; X got all worked up; X got carried away; X worked himself into a frenzy; X got into a lather.

«Очень возможно, что куры у него вылупятся. Но ведь ни вы, ни я не можем сказать, какие это куры будут… Может быть, они подохнут через два дня. Может быть, их есть нельзя!.. Может быть, у них кости ломкие.» Персиков вошёл в азарт и махал ладонью и загибал пальцы (Булгаков 10). "It is quite possible that the hens will hatch. But neither you nor I can say what sort of hens they will be…. Maybe they'll die in a day or two. Maybe they'll be inedible!… Maybe their bones will be brittle." Persikov got all excited and waved his hands, crooking his index fingers (10b).

А-16 • С АЗО́В начинать coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to begin) from the very beginning, from the very first step: (start) from scratch; (begin) from square one; [lim.] (start) all over (again).

< From the name of the first letter of the Church Slavonic alphabet.

А-17 • А́Й ДА…! coll [Interj; Invar; foll. by NP; fixed WO] used to express approval, admiration: [when foll. by an anim noun] what (a)…!; good for you ⟨her, him etc⟩!; you are ⟨he is etc⟩ (really) quite a…!; atta boy ⟨girl⟩!; he ⟨she etc⟩ is really something!; ah, that…!; good job (…)!; well done (…)!; [when foll. by an inanim noun] what (a)…!; (now) that's ⟨here's there's⟩ (a)…(for you)!; that's (really) quite a…!; [when used ironically only] some…!; some…he ⟨she, that etc⟩ is!

…Совершенно неожиданно было получено письмо за подписями начальника и политрука музыкальной команды военной части номер такой-то, в котором родителям ефрейтора Аркадия Мансурова от лица командования выражалась благодарность за хорошее воспитание сына… Ай да Аркашка! (Залыгин 1). …There came a completely unexpected letter signed by the C.O. and the political officer of the concert party of unit No. so-and-so, expressing official gratitude to the parents of Lance-corporal Arkady Mansurov for bringing him up so well…. Good for you, Arkady! (1a).

А-18 • ЗАКЛЮЧИ́ТЕЛЬНЫЙ АККО́РД чего lit [NP; sing only; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. abstr); fixed WO] an event, action, phenomenon etc that concludes sth.: final event; finale; culmination.

А-19 • В АККУРА́Т substand [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif] precisely (the amount, time, location etc stated): exactly; right (before ⟨after etc⟩); [when emphasizing the smallness of a quantity] just; only.

«Я тут у бугра сено косил, когда гляжу: летит [аэроплан]. И в аккурат, Нюрка, на твою крышу, на трубу прямо, да» (Войнович 2). "I'm over by the rise cutting hay when I see it [the plane] coming. Right for your roof, Nyurka, straight for your chimney" (2a).

А-20 • В АККУРА́ТЕ substand [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: всё, дела etc)] (to do sth.) the way it should be done, flawlessly; (to be) in good order, in fine shape: as it should be; properly; to a T; (be) letter-perfect.

Хорошо хоть двадцать третье число. …Подготовиться в аккурате времени хватит (Акунин 1). But at least it was already the twenty-third. …Still enough time to prepare properly (1a).

А-21 • ПИТА́ТЬСЯ АКРИ́ДАМИ (И (ДИ́КИМ) МЁДОМ) lit, occas. humor [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to eat poorly, limit one's food intake, usu. as a form of self-denial: X питается акридами (и мёдом) ≃ X lives ⟨feeds⟩ on locusts and wild honey.

«Будь уж последовательным. Надень рясу, прими схиму, уйди куда-нибудь в пещеры или в заброшенные каменоломни… сиди там и созерцай собственный пуп, как тибетский монах. Питайся акридами» (Трифонов 3). "Take your beliefs to their logical conclusion: put on the black habit, shave the top of your head, take your vows and go and live in a cave or in an abandoned stone-quarry… sit there and contemplate your navel, like a Tibetan lama. Live on locusts and wild honey" (3a).

< From the Biblical account of John the Baptist, who lived in the wilderness and ate locusts and wild honey (Mark 1:6).

А-22 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ АКЦЕ́НТ на чём [VP; subj: human or collect] to accentuate (some idea), make (it) prominent (in a speech, statement, proposal etc): X сделал акцент на Y-е ≃ X emphasized ⟨stressed, underscored, highlighted⟩ Y; X gave special emphasis to Y; X placed (the) emphasis on Y; X called attention to Y.

А-23 • РАССТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/РАССТА́ВИТЬ АКЦЕ́НТЫ [VP; subj: human] (in making a speech, statement etc) to emphasize certain points, setting them apart from less important ones: X расставил акценты ≃ X highlighted key points; || X должен иначе ⟨правильно⟩ расставить акценты ≃ X should highlight different ⟨the right⟩ points.

Я прочитал черновик вашего выступления и в общем с вами согласен, но думаю, что нужно иначе расставить акценты. I read the draft of your speech and basically concur, but I think different points should be highlighted.

А-24 • А́КЦИИ чьи, кого-чего ПА́ДАЮТ/УПА́ЛИ [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o.'s (or sth.'s) chances for success are diminishing: X-овы акции падают ≃ X's stock is falling; things are looking bleak for X; X's odds are getting worse.

А-25 • А́КЦИИ чьи, кого-чего ПОВЫША́ЮТСЯ/ПОВЫСИЛИСЬ ⟨ПОДНИМА́ЮТСЯ/ПОДНЯЛИ́СЬ⟩ [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o.'s (or sth.'s) chances for success are improving: X-овы акции повышаются ≃ X's stock is rising ⟨going up⟩; things are looking up ⟨better⟩ for X; X's prospects are getting brighter.

А-26 • А́ЛЬФА И ОМЕ́ГА чего lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. the beginning and the end of sth.: the alpha and omega.

2. the very essence, the most essential components of sth.: the alpha and omega.

Судилище явное и судилище тайное — вот альфа и омега нашей жизни (Мандельштам 2). Trials, "open" or secret, were the alpha and omega of our existence (2a).

< From the names of the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. Used in the Bible (Rev. 1:8).

А-27 • УДАРЯ́ТЬСЯ/УДА́РИТЬСЯ ⟨ВПАДА́ТЬ/ВПАСТЬ, ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ obsoles, ВЛА́МЫВАТЬСЯ/ВЛОМИ́ТЬСЯ obsoles⟩ В АМБИ́ЦИЮ all coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to express or display emphatically one's anger, hurt etc when one's pride has been wounded or when one interprets s.o.'s words or actions as offensive, show extreme edginess and stubbornness in defending one's (often unjustified) position: X ударился в амбицию ≃ X got his back up; [with the emphasis on one's being offended] X took offense; X took umbrage (at sth.); [with the emphasis on the manner in which one expresses his annoyance] X got into a huff ⟨a snit⟩; [lim.] X picked a fight ⟨a quarrel⟩; || зачем ты ударяешься в амбицию? ≃ don't be so touchy.

Она молчала. Когда-то ударялась в амбицию, спорила со мной из-за каждого пустяка, теперь же новый метод — молчание (Трифонов 5). She was silent. At one time she would have taken offense and argued with me over every trifle, but now she had a new method: silence (5a).

А-28 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ АМЕ́РИКУ ⟨-и⟩ iron [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past; often used in the form «Открыл Америку!» as a response to s.o.'s statement] to discover for o.s. and announce aloud sth. that has long been known, that was discovered long ago: X открыл Америку ≃ X reinvented the wheel; [lim.] so what else is new? ○ ОТКРЫ́ТИЕ АМЕ́РИКИ [NP] ≃ reinventing the wheel.

А-29 • ПРЕДАВА́ТЬ/ПРЕДА́ТЬ АНА́ФЕМЕ кого-что [VP; subj: human] 1. special [subj: a noun denoting an ecclesiastical authority; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to pronounce s.o. excommunicated: X предал Y-а анафеме ≃ X anathematized Y.

2. lit to condemn, stigmatize s.o.: X предал Y-а анафеме ≃ X anathematized ⟨execrated⟩ Y.

С нашей стороны было невозможно заарканить Белинского; он слал нам грозные грамоты из Петербурга, отлучал нас, предавал анафеме и писал ещё злее в «Отечественных записках» (Герцен 2). On our side it was impossible to rope in Belinsky; he sent us threatening epistles from Petersburg, excommunicated and anathematised us, and wrote more angrily than ever in the Notes of the Fatherland (2a).

А-30 • АНДРО́НЫ Е́ДУТ obs, coll [VP_{subj}; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [used as Interj] absurdity, foolish talk: balderdash; tommyrot; hogwash; sheer nonsense.

Какая же причина в мёртвых душах? Даже и причины нет. Это, выходит, просто: Андроны едут, чепуха, белиберда, сапоги всмятку! Это, просто, чёрт побери!.. (Гоголь 3). …What reason could there be in dead souls? None whatsoever. It was all sheer nonsense, absurdity, moonshine! It was simply… oh, the Devil take it all!… (3c).

2. it is unknown whether sth. will come to pass: it's a big question mark; that's an open question; we shall see what we shall see.

А-31 • АНТИ́К С ГВОЗДИ́КОЙ ⟨С МАРМЕЛА́ДОМ⟩ obs, coll, approv [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom only (subj: any common noun); fixed WO] wonderful, delightful: jim-dandy; a peach; a real gem; the bee's knees.

А-32 • РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ АНТИМО́НИИ ⟨-ю⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ с кем to talk about insignificant matters, engage in idle chatter: X разводит антимонии ≃ X is blabbing ⟨gabbing⟩; X is shooting the breeze (with person Y).

2. ~ с кем to treat s.o. with excessive gentleness, leniency: X с Y-ом антимонии разводит ≃ X treats Y with kid gloves; X is too easy on Y; X is too soft with Y.

3. [often infin with нечего, хватит, брось(те) etc] to observe superfluous social conventions: X разводит антимонии ≃ X stands on ceremony; || брось(те) разводить антимонии ≃ (oh, stop,) I don't want to hear another word about it; [lim.] oh, don't be silly.

А-33 • АППЕТИ́Т ПРИХО́ДИТ ВО ВРЕ́МЯ ЕДЫ́ [saying] your interest in or desire for sth. grows as you practice, experience, or learn it: ≃ appetite comes ⟨grows⟩ with eating; eating and scratching ⟨drinking⟩ want but a beginning.

«Пока чай дойдёт, закусите», — Алферов обвёл рукой стол. «Спасибо, чай попью, а есть не хочу, завтракал». — «Ну, ну, смотрите, а захотите — ешьте, аппетит приходит во время еды» (Рыбаков 2). "Have a bite while the tea is brewing," he [Alferov] said, indicating the food. "Thank you, I'll have some tea, but I won't eat. I've already had breakfast," Sasha replied. "Well, just look and if you feel like it, eat something. The appetite grows with eating" (2a).

А-34 • ВО́ЛЧИЙ АППЕТИ́Т coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with copula] (s.o. has) a very big appetite: the appetite of a wolf; a ravenous ⟨voracious⟩ appetite.

«У меня всегда появляется волчий аппетит от волнения» (Каверин 1). "Excitement always gives me the appetite of a wolf" (1a).

А-35 • ПРИЯ́ТНОГО АППЕТИ́ТА! coll [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] used as a wish that s.o. enjoy the meal he is eating or is about to eat: bon appétit!; enjoy your meal ⟨your food etc⟩!; enjoy!; hearty appetite!

Костерок оказался у небольшого причала, пылал уже затухающим пламенем, освещая нескольких то ли геологов, то ли рыбаков, и край большой лодки. «Здравствуйте, товарищи!» — Подойдя ближе, Золотарёв присел позади них на корточки. «Приятного аппетита» (Максимов 1). The dying flames of the bonfire, which turned out to be at a little mooring-stage, lit up the faces of a group of men—geologists perhaps, or fishermen—and the edge of a large boat. "Good evening, comrades! Enjoy your food." Zolotarev went up and crouched beside them (1a).

А-36 • КАК В АПТЕ́КЕ coll, humor [как + PrepP; Invar; adv] exactly (the right amount, measure etc): precisely; to the drop ⟨ounce, gram etc⟩.

«Ты всё делаешь точно по рецепту?» — «А как же! Полстакана сахару, десять грамм желатина, чайная ложка ликёра… Как в аптеке». "You go exactly by the recipe?" "Of course! Half a cup of sugar, ten grams of gelatin, and one teaspoon of liqueur… to the drop."

А-37 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА АРА́ПА кого highly coll [VP; subj: human; often neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не возьмёшь] to (try to) get sth. from s.o., make s.o. do as one wishes by telling him sth. deceitful (and getting him to act before he has had time to realize he is being tricked): X взял Y-а на арапа ≃ X pulled a fast one on Y; Y was taken in by X; X hoodwinked Y; X threw dust in Y's eyes.

Билеты на этот концерт давно распроданы, а попасть очень хочется. Решил я взять администратора на арапа: пришёл к нему, заговорил с акцентом, выдал себя за шведского журналиста — и вот они, билеты! The concert has been sold out for a long time, but I really wanted to go, so I decided to pull a fast one on the concert hall manager: I went up to him and, speaking with an accent, passed myself off as a Swedish journalist. And… here are the tickets!

А-38 • ЗАПРАВЛЯ́ТЬ АРА́ПА (кому) substand [VP; subj: human; often neg imper] to lie, make things up, tell farfetched stories etc (in an attempt to dupe s.o. or make an impression): X Y-у арапа заправляет ≃ X is trying to put one over on Y ⟨to take Y for a ride⟩; X is playing Y for a fool; [lim.] X is spinning Y yarns; [of lighthearted kidding] X is putting Y on; X is pulling Y's leg.

«Ты что, лавочку здесь собрал? Рука руку моет, да? По тюрьме соскучился? Ты мне арапа не заправляй, не таких обламывали!» (Максимов 3). "So you've got a gang of crooks here? Honor among thieves? Can't wait to go to prison, is that it? I'm warning you, don't try to take me for a ride, we've had tougher ones than you to handle" (3a).

А-39 • НА АРА́ПА highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to accomplish sth.) by acting insolently, in a brash manner, in a way that defies accepted rules or expected approaches: bluff one's way through (sth.); wing it; finagle ⟨fast-talk⟩ one's way (into sth. etc).

Я не успел подготовиться к экзамену, пошёл сдавать на арапа — и, представьте, сдал! I didn't have time to prepare for my exam, so I just winged it and, would you believe it, I passed! ♦ «На выставку пускают только по пригласительным билетам». — «Ничего, пройдём на арапа, не в первый раз». "You have to have a special invitation to get into this exhibit." "Don't worry, we'll fast-talk our way in—it won't be the first time."

А-40 • ТАЩИ́ТЬ/ЗАТАЩИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОТАЩИ́ТЬ, ТЯНУ́ТЬ/ЗАТЯНУ́ТЬ, ПОТЯНУ́ТЬ⟩ НА АРКА́НЕ кого куда coll [VP; subj: human; usu. neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не затащишь, neg pfv infin (used as impers predic), or impfv infin with придётся, надо etc] to force s.o. to go (to some place): X-а в место Y на аркане не затащишь ⟨не затащить⟩ ≃ wild horses couldn't drag X to place Y; try as you might ⟨no matter what you do, however hard you try⟩, you won't get X to place Y; || X-а в место Y на аркане тащить нужно ≃ X has to be dragged ⟨you have to drag X⟩ to place Y.

[Жарков:] [Егорьев] сказал — приду завтра, а скоро неделя этому завтра… Может, он просто не хочет. На аркане потяну, что ли (Розов 4). [Zh:] He [Yegorev] said he'd come tomorrow, and that was nearly a week ago…. Perhaps he doesn't want to come. I can't drag him here, can I? (4a).

А-41 • ТЯЖЁЛАЯ АРТИЛЛЕ́РИЯ [NP; fixed WO] 1. iron or humor a slow, sluggish person, or slow, sluggish people: a slowpoke ⟨slowpokes⟩; dead weight; (one who is) hard to get moving.

2. the most effective, powerful means of achieving sth. (to which one resorts when other means are exhausted): heavy artillery; big guns; [lim.] one's trump card.

…Первым делом надо было Вику прописать… Как ни облучала Вера [обаянием] начальника паспортного стола — не помогало. Письмо народной артистки Куниной тоже оказалось пустым номером. Пришлось вывести на позиции тяжёлую артиллерию в лице «очень ответственного» из номера люкс… (Грекова 3). …First of all Vika had to be registered in her [Vera's] house…. No matter how Vera sparkled at the director of the passport bureau it didn't help. A letter from People's Artist Kunina also didn't do the trick. She had to make use of heavy artillery in the form of a very important person staying in one of the luxury suites (3a).

А-42 • СДАВА́ТЬ/СДАТЬ В АРХИ́В [VP; subj: human; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer., infin with надо, пора, рано etc, or short-form past passive Part] 1. ~ кого to dismiss s.o., regarding him as unfit for some activity (usu. of a person unfit to fulfill his responsibilities at work because of his age, lack of abilities etc): X-а сдали в архив ≃ X was put ⟨turned, sent⟩ out to pasture; X was put on the shelf; X was written off as a has-been; X was sent to the glue factory; [lim.] X is a back number.

В то время, когда Козлику исполнилось тридцать лет, князь ещё не совсем был сдан в архив… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). At the time Kozelkov reached the age of thirty, the prince had not been put on the shelf altogether… (2a).

2. ~ что to stop using sth. forever because it has become outdated: X сдал Y в архив ≃ X consigned Y to oblivion; X scrapped ⟨shelved⟩ Y; X put Y away for good; X relegated Y to the archives.

«Увы! — с сожалением ответил Берлиоз, — ни одно из этих доказательств ничего не стоит, и человечество давно сдало их в архив» (Булгаков 9). "Alas!" answered Berlioz regretfully, "all of these proofs are worthless, and mankind has long since consigned them to oblivion" (9c). "Alas!" Berlioz answered with regret. "None of these proofs is worth a thing, and humanity has long since scrapped them" (9a).

А-43 • (КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩) АРШИ́Н ПРОГЛОТИ́Л coll, humor [(как etc +) VP; adv (variants with как etc) or predic with subj: human (all variants); past only; fixed WO] (a person who) has unnaturally straight posture (may refer to a permanent or a temporary characteristic): straight as a ramrod; ramrod-straight; stiff as a poker; (one) looks like he has a broomstick ⟨a poker⟩ up his butt.

«Я вот чего хотел-то: разводец бы нам организовать… Да что ты молчишь?» — как будто удивился [Дмитрий]… А она [Маруся] стоит и крикнуть не может… Ведь её — Дмитрий! Как же так?.. «Ну вот, будешь теперь стоять, как аршин проглотила…» (Суслов 1). "What I wanted was this: we should get a divorce…. Why are you so quiet?" he [Dmitry] asked, as if he were surprised…. And she [Marusia] stood there and couldn't cry out…. It was her Dmitry! How could this be?… "So now you just stand there, stiff as a poker" (1a).

< «Аршин» is an old Russian measure of length (0.71 meter). The term also refers to a stick or ruler of that length (formerly used by merchants, tailors etc).

А-44 • МЕ́РИТЬ ⟨МЕ́РЯТЬ⟩ (кого-что) НА какой АРШИ́Н ⟨каким АРШИ́НОМ, НА какую МЕ́Р(К)У, какой МЕ́Р(К)ОЙ⟩ often disapprov [VP; subj: human] to evaluate s.o. or sth. by certain (as specified by the modifier) criteria: X мерит Y-а [AdjP] аршином ≃ X measures ⟨judges⟩ Y by a [AdjP] yardstick; X judges ⟨measures⟩ Y by [AdjP] standards; || X мерит Y-а не на тот аршин ≃ X measures Y by the wrong yardstick; X judges ⟨measures⟩ Y by the wrong standards.

«…Народ другой стал с революции, как, скажи, заново народился! А они [генералы] всё старым аршином меряют» (Шолохов 5). "The people are different since the revolution, it's like they'd been born again! But these generals, they still measure everything by the old yardstick" (5a). ♦ «…Подобных ему людей не приходится мерить обыкновенным аршином…» (Тургенев 2). "People like him can't be judged by ordinary standards" (2e).

< See A-43.

А-45 • МЕ́РИТЬ ⟨МЕ́РЯТЬ⟩ НА ОДИ́Н АРШИ́Н ⟨ОДНИ́М АРШИ́НОМ, НА ОДНУ́ МЕ́Р(К)У, ОДНО́Й МЕ́Р(К)ОЙ⟩ кого-что [VP; subj: human; obj: pl, often всех, всё; often infin with нельзя, не надо etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to evaluate different people, things, phenomena by the same criteria, without taking into account their individual properties or qualities: X мерит Y-ов на один аршин ≃ X measures Ys by the same yardstick; X judges ⟨measures⟩ Ys by the same standards.

< See A-43.

А-46 • МЕ́РИТЬ ⟨МЕ́РЯТЬ⟩ НА СВОЙ АРШИ́Н ⟨СВОИ́М АРШИ́НОМ, НА СВОЮ́ МЕ́РКУ, СВОЕ́Й МЕ́РКОЙ, ПО СЕБЕ́⟩ кого-что often disapprov [VP; subj: human; obj: often всех, всё; often infin with нельзя, не надо etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to evalute s.o. or sth. one-sidedly, subjectively, applying solely one's own criteria: X мерит Y-а на свой аршин ≃ X measures Y by X's own yardstick ⟨measure⟩; X judges ⟨measures⟩ Y by X's own standards; [lim.] X measures another man's foot by X's own last.

< See A-43.

А-47 • ВИ́ДЕТЬ НА ТРИ АРШИ́НА ⟨НА ДВА АРШИ́НА, НА АРШИ́Н⟩ В ЗЕ́МЛЮ ⟨ПОД ЗЕМЛЁЙ, ПОД ЗЕ́МЛЮ⟩ obs, coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be very observant, perceptive, astute: X на три аршина в землю видит ≃ X never misses ⟨doesn't miss⟩ a trick ⟨a thing⟩; X is nobody's fool; you can't put one over on X; there are no flies on X.

< See A-43.

А-48 • НАКАЛЯ́ТЬ/НАКАЛИ́ТЬ АТМОСФЕ́РУ (где) [VP; subj: human or abstr] to cause a situation to become tense, make people agitated: X накалил атмосферу ≃ X generated tension; || атмосфера накалена ≃ the atmosphere has become very heated.

А-49 • РАЗРЯДИ́ТЬ АТМОСФЕ́РУ [VP; subj: human or abstr; often infin with надо, нужно etc or in a чтобы-clause] to alleviate the strain or anxiety in a situation, make people calmer, more relaxed: X разрядил атмосферу ≃ X eased ⟨reduced⟩ the tension (in the air); X diffused the situation; X cooled things off ⟨down⟩; [lim.] things simmered down.

А-50 • КАК АУ́КНЕТСЯ, ТАК И ОТКЛИ́КНЕТСЯ [saying] you will be treated the same way as you treat others (often said when justifying the behavior of a person who repays unkindness or ill will with the same): ≃ as you sow, so shall you reap; you reap what you sow; one ill ⟨good⟩ turn deserves another; what goes around comes around; as the call, so the echo.

А-51 • А́ХИ И ⟨ДА⟩ О́ХИ; О́ХИ И ⟨ДА⟩ А́ХИ all coll [NP; pl only; subj or obj] words used to express lamentation, regret, or delight, surprise etc: [lamentation, regret etc] oh mes and oh mys; ohs and ahs; moans ⟨sighs⟩ and groans; [delight, surprise etc] oohs and ahs; gasps of delight and astonishment.

«И матери моей хорошо: день её до того напичкан всякими занятиями, ахами да охами, что ей и опомниться некогда…» (Тургенев 2). "…Mother, too, is happy: her day is crammed with so many occupations, and so many oh's and ah's that she hasn't time to stop and think…" (2a).

А-52 • НЕ АХТИ́ КАК coll [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. Also: НЕ АХТИ́ coll [adv or impers predic] not very well; (it is) not very good, pleasant etc: not particularly ⟨terribly, too⟩ well ⟨good⟩; not all that well ⟨good⟩.

[Лёва:] В доме у вас не ахти. [Альберт:] Я это чувствую. [Лёва:] Молодец! [Альберт:] Но мне хочется, чтобы было хорошо (Розов 4). [L.:] Things are not too good at home just now, are they? [A.:] That's what I feel. [L.:] Good lad! [A.:] But I want them to be good (4a).

2. [adv; foll. by Adv or short-form Adj or Part denoting a positive quality, quantity, or distance] not very, not especially: not particularly; not all that; not terribly ⟨too, exactly⟩.

…Пока он [Гладышев] в горнице накачивал и разжигал примус, гость его остался в передней… Чонкин ещё не успел как следует рассмотреть всё, что было в этой комнате, как яичница была готова, и Гладышев позвал его к столу. Здесь было тоже не ахти как убрано, но всё же почище, чем в передней… (Войнович 2). While Gladishev pumped and kindled the primus, his guest remained in the front room…. Chonkin had still not managed to have a proper look at everything in the room when the omelet was ready and Gladishev summoned him to the table. The back room too was not particularly tidy, but at least it was a bit cleaner than the front room (2a).

А-53 • НЕ АХТИ́ КАКО́Й coll [AdjP; fixed WO] 1. Also: НЕ АХТИ́ coll [modif (when foll. by NP) or subj-compl with copula, var. with какой—nom or instrum (subj: any common noun); var. не ахти is used as subj-compl only] not especially good, rather poor: not so great ⟨hot⟩; not the best ⟨the greatest, the most brilliant etc⟩ (of…); not much of a…; nothing to rave ⟨to brag, to write home⟩ about.

«Акустика, конечно, не ахти, но ничего, работать можно» (Войнович 4). "Of course the acoustics are nothing to rave about, but it doesn't matter, we'll manage" (4a).

2. [modif; foll. by Adj denoting a positive quality, quantity, or distance] not very, not especially: not particularly; not all that; not terribly ⟨too, exactly⟩.

Хотя роль Евдокии, жены Игната Тимофеевича, директорши сельской школы-семилетки, была не ахти какая завидная — очень уж лобовата, ревность, страдания, разговоры поучительные, — но Ляля надеялась всех поразить… (Трифонов 1). Although the role of Yevdokia, Ignat Timofeevich's wife and the principal of the seven-year village elementary school, was not a particularly enviable one—it was terribly overdone, with all sorts of jealousy, sufferings, and didactic conversations—still, Lyalya hoped to impress everyone… (1a).

А-54 • НЕ АХТИ́ СКО́ЛЬКО кого-чего coll [AdvP; Invar; quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun) or adv (quantif); fixed WO] a relatively small amount (of sth.), relatively few (people, things etc): not very ⟨too⟩ much ⟨many⟩; anything but plentiful ⟨numerous⟩; not an overabundance; [with count nouns only] few and far between; only a handful.

Денег у меня сейчас не ахти сколько, так что покупку телевизора придётся отложить. I don't have too much money at the moment, so I'll have to put off buying a TV.

Б

Б-1 • БА́БА С ВО́ЗУ — КОБЫ́ЛЕ ЛЕ́ГЧЕ [saying] rather rude (said sarcastically or angrily to or in refer. to a person who does not want to participate in sth. along with others, to keep others' company etc) we are (or I am) better off without you: ≃ good riddance to bad rubbish!

< In both Russian and English, the saying is often reduced to include only the first half.

Б-2 • БАЗА́РНАЯ БА́БА; БАЗА́РНАЯ ⟨РЫ́НОЧНАЯ⟩ ТОРГО́ВКА highly coll, rude [NP; usu. obj, subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human), or adv (after как); variants with торговка of a woman only] a loud, abusive person: fishwife; shrew; || кричать ⟨орать⟩ как базарная баба ≃ scream ⟨shriek, shout etc⟩ like a fishwife.

Б-3 • НЕ ЗНА́ЛА БА́БА ГО́РЯ, (ТАК) КУПИ́ЛА БА́БА ПОРОСЯ́; НЕ́ БЫЛО У БА́БЫ ХЛОПО́Т ⟨ЗАБО́Т⟩, (ТАК) КУПИ́ЛА БА́БА ПОРОСЯ́ [saying] s.o. has caused himself much anxiety, trouble, or discomfort (said when new cares or worries arise for a person because of obligations or matters he has voluntarily undertaken): ≃ trouble comes to him who seeks it; (it's) a trouble of his ⟨your etc⟩ own making; I ⟨he etc⟩ invited trouble for myself ⟨himself etc⟩.

Б-4 • ПОДБИВА́ТЬ/ПОДБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДСЧИ́ТЫВАТЬ/ПОДСЧИТА́ТЬ⟩ БА́БКИ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to examine and summarize the net results of sth.: sum it up (and draw conclusions); sum up what one has done; [lim.] sum it up and see what we've ⟨you've etc⟩ got; [in refer. to scoring in games] tally up the score(s).

Три дня они заседали, обсуждали, а когда пришло время подбить бабки, оказалось, что ни до чего не договорились. For three days they discussed and debated, but when it came time to sum up what they had done, it turned out they had gotten nowhere.

Б-5 • БА́БУШКА ВОРОЖИ́Т кому obs, coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pres; fixed WO] 1. (s.o.) is very lucky, everything comes easy (for s.o.): X-у бабушка ворожит ≃ X is blessed with (good) luck; luck is (always) on X's side; X is never down on his luck.

2. (s.o.) has the advantage of having influential friends, patronage: X-у бабушка ворожит ≃ X has friends in high places; X has a friend at court.

Б-6 • БА́БУШКА (ЕЩЁ) НА́ДВОЕ СКАЗА́ЛА ⟨ГАДА́ЛА⟩ coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. a clause) or indep. sent; ещё may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] it is yet unknown whether the event in question will happen or not (usu. the implication is that it will not happen): that ⟨it⟩ remains to be seen; it's anybody's guess; there is no telling (just yet); that's ⟨it's⟩ an open question; I wouldn't be so sure about that; it could go either way; we shall ⟨we'll⟩ see what we shall see; we'll (just) have to wait and see.

«Мы после обеда засядем в ералаш, и я его обыграю». — «Хе-хе-хе, посмотрим! Бабушка надвое сказала» (Тургенев 2). "We'll have a round of whist after dinner, and I'll clean him out." "He! he! he! We shall see! That remains to be seen" (2b). "After dinner we'll sit down to a game of cards and I'll clean him out." "Ha, ha, ha! We'll see! I wouldn't be so sure about that!" (2g).

Б-7 • ВО́Т ТЕБЕ, БА́БУШКА, И ЮРЬЕВ ДЕНЬ! [saying] used to express the speaker's surprise, dismay, or disappointment over an unexpected occurrence which he has just discovered and which betrayed his expectations: ≃ here's ⟨that's⟩ a fine ⟨nice⟩ how-d'ye do ⟨how-do-you-do⟩!; this is ⟨here's⟩ a fine kettle of fish!

По левую сторону городничего: Земляника…; за ним судья… сделавший движенье губами, как бы хотел посвистать или произнесть: «Вот тебе, бабушка, и Юрьев день!» (Гоголь 4). On the left side of The Mayor stands Zemlyanika…; next to him is the Judge… making a movement with his lips as though he were going to whistle and say: "Here's a nice how-d'ye-do!" (4c).

< The origin of this saying is commonly linked to the ban in 1580–90 on the peasants' right to move from one landlord's estate to another's. Prior to this, peasants had the right to move during the two weeks surrounding St. George's (or St. Yury's, «Юрьев») Day, the day of the patron saint of field workers (Nov. 26, Old Style).

Б-8 • РАССКА́ЗЫВАЙ/РАССКАЖИ́ Э́ТО СВОЕ́Й БА́БУШКЕ ⟨КОМУ́-НИБУДЬ ДРУГО́МУ, less often СВОЕ́Й ТЁТЕ⟩ coll [imper sent; usu. this WO (variants with бабушке and тёте)] (used to express one's strong disbelief of s.o.'s statement) I absolutely do not believe that: you can't expect me to believe that; don't give me that; get outta ⟨out of⟩ here! Cf. tell it ⟨that⟩ to the marines!

Б-9 • У БА́БЫ ВО́ЛОС ДО́ЛОГ, ДА ⟨А⟩ УМ КО́РОТОК [saying] (used to express the condescending opinion held by some men that women lack worldly wisdom) although a woman may be attractive, she lacks sound judgment: ≃ long of hair and short of brains.

Строже всего Семён хранил тайну от жены. Баба и есть баба — волос долог, да ум короток. Поведай, не утерпит — разнесёт по селу (Тендряков 1). Simon kept his secret carefully from his wife. A woman was a woman—long of hair and short of brains, as the saying is. In all likelihood she wouldn't be able to keep her mouth shut, and would go round telling everybody in the village (1a).

Б-10 • ПОДВОДИ́ТЬ/ПОДВЕСТИ́ (какую) БА́ЗУ (под что) offic; in coll speech, often iron [VP; subj: human or collect] to substantiate sth. (usu. with one's own interests in mind): X подводит [AdjP] базу (под Y) ≃ X justifies Y on [AdjP] grounds; X produces a(n) [AdjP] explanation (to back up ⟨to support⟩ Y); X makes a case for Y (based on…).

Почему и зачем издан этот Указ — это мне всё равно. И нечего подводить под это научную базу и трепаться о революции (Аржак 1). I didn't care why the Decree had been put out. And there was no point in producing scientific explanations and in jabbering about the Revolution (1a).

Б-11 • ЗАБИВА́ТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ ⟨ВКРУ́ЧИВАТЬ/ВКРУТИ́ТЬ⟩ БА́КИ кому slang [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] to deceive, intentionally mislead s.o.: X забивает Y-у баки ≃ X is trying to con ⟨put one over on, fast-talk⟩ Y; X is pulling the wool over Y's eyes.

уже не люди. Зурзмансор мне просто баки забивал» (Стругацкие 1). “It’s got to happen some time. Maybe it’s been going on for a long time now. A new species arising out of an old one, and we call it a genetic illness…. Intelligent and talented, every single one of them. And what does it lead to? That they’re not human anymore. Zurzmansor was just pulling the wool over my eyes” (1a).

Б-12 • БИТЬ БАКЛУ́ШИ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to be idle, do nothing: X бил баклуши ≃ X twiddled his thumbs; X frittered away the ⟨his⟩ time; X sat around doing nothing; X goofed off; [lim.] X killed time.

[Аннушка:] Ты меня, братец, отпусти домой! На что я тебе! [Бессудный:] А дома что делать? Баклуши бить (Островский 8). [A.:] Brother, let me go home! What use am I to you? [B.:] What will you do at home? Twiddle your thumbs? (8a).

< Баклуши, small chunks of wood chopped from large blocks, were once commonly used to make wooden objects. Chopping off chunks was considered an easy job. The word is used in this idiom only.

Б-13 • (И) КО́НЧЕН БАЛ [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] that is the end of what has been going on, it is all over: the party ⟨the game, the ball⟩ is over; [in refer. to criminal activities, wrongdoings etc] the jig ⟨the game⟩ is up.

Каждое её слово камнем откладывалось в нём, всё утяжеляя и утяжеляя тёмный груз переполнявшей его горечи… Никогда раньше Золотарёву не приходилось испытывать подобной муки… И горячечно забываясь в ночи, он с отчаянием подытожил: «Кончен бал!» (Максимов 1). Every word she spoke fell like a stone upon him, making the dark burden of the anguish that filled him more and more unbearable…. Zolotarev had never experienced such torment before…. And as he drifted into feverish sleep he concluded in despair, “The ball is over!” (1a).

Б-14 • БЕССТРУ́ННАЯ БАЛАЛА́ЙКА coll, disapprov [NP; usu. sing; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human), obj-compl with называть etc (obj: human), or vocative] a person who talks a lot but says nothing of substance: windbag; gasbag; chatterbox.

Б-15 • ТРАВИ́ТЬ БАЛА́НДУ slang [VP; subj: human] to babble, talk about trifles, make things up: X травит баланду ≃ X is shooting the breeze ⟨the bull⟩; X is flapping his jaw; X is beating his gums.

Б-16 • ПОД БАЛДО́Й highly coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (one is) somewhat intoxicated with alcohol, narcotics etc: high; stoned; under the influence; [in refer. to intoxication with alcohol only] tipsy; fuzzy; tight; half-stewed.

«У меня пистолет под подушкой, а сам я стою за домом в трусах, майке и тапках. Трудно представить более глупую ситуацию. Да ещё слегка под балдой. На ночь спирту тяпнули, конечно» (Искандер 5). “My pistol’s under my pillow, and I’m standing out back of the house in my shorts, undershirt, and slippers. Hard to imagine a stupider situation. And besides I was a little fuzzy. We’d knocked back a few for the night, of course” (5a).

Б-17 • БА́ЛОВЕНЬ СУДЬБЫ́ ⟨ФОРТУ́НЫ, СЧА́СТЬЯ⟩; ИЗБРА́ННИК ⟨ИЗБРА́ННИЦА⟩ СУДЬБЫ́ all lit [NP; usu. this WO] a lucky person: fortune’s child ⟨darling, favorite, minion⟩; child ⟨darling, favorite, minion⟩ of fortune; [usu. when used predicatively] favored by fortune.

Я был поражён, что этот самый Бунин, счастливчик и баловень судьбы — как мне тогда казалось, — так глубоко не удовлетворён своим положением в литературе… (Катаев 3). I remember being astonished that this Bunin, this child of fortune—as he then seemed to me—should be so deeply dissatisfied with his position in literature… (3a).

Б-18 • ПРОЛИВА́ТЬ/ПРОЛИ́ТЬ БАЛЬЗА́М на что, often на душу чью, кого ⟨на раны чьи, кого⟩ obsoles, often iron [VP; subj: human or abstr] to console, soothe s.o.: X пролил бальзам на Y-ову душу ⟨на Y-овы раны⟩ ≃ thing X was ⟨person X’s words etc were⟩ as balm to Y’s soul ⟨wounds⟩; thing X was ⟨person X’s words were⟩ (like) a panacea for Y’s soul ⟨wounds⟩.

Б-19 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ БА́НЮ кому highly coll [VP; usu. pfv] 1. [subj: human] to scold s.o. sharply: X задал Y-у баню ≃ X made it hot for Y; X gave Y what for; X let Y have it (with both barrels); X gave it to Y (good); X gave Y hell.

Герой наш трухнул… порядком. Хотя… деревня Ноздрёва давно унеслась из вида… он всё ещё поглядывал назад со страхом, как бы ожидая, что вот-вот налетит погоня… «Эк, какую баню задал! Смотри ты какой!» (Гоголь 3). Our hero…had been considerably scared. Although… Nozdrev’s village had long since vanished from sight… he was still casting apprehensive glances over his shoulder, as though expecting a pursuer to overtake him any moment…. “He surely made it hot for me! What a character, that one!” (3c).

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to overwhelm, defeat s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy): X-ы задали баню Y-ам ≃ Xs clobbered ⟨crushed, routed⟩ Ys; Xs ran Ys into the ground.

3. [subj: human] to beat, thrash s.o.: X задал Y-у баню ≃ X beat the tar ⟨the hell, the (living) daylights⟩ out of Y; X worked Y over; X gave Y a good working over ⟨going-over⟩.

Б-20 • ПО БАРАБА́НУ кому highly coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr, usu. всё, это, всё это): sth. does not matter to s.o., s.o. does not care about sth. at all: X Y-у по барабану ≃ Y couldn’t ⟨could⟩ care less about X; Y couldn’t care a snap about X; Y doesn’t ⟨couldn’t⟩ give a damn ⟨a hoot, a rip⟩ about X.

Б-21 • КАК БАРА́Н упереться, упрямый highly coll [как + NP; nom only; adv (intensif)] (to resist sth.) very stubbornly: (balk) like a mule; (be stubborn) as a mule; (be) bullheaded ⟨pigheaded⟩; (be) mulishly stubborn.

Б-22 • КАК БАРА́Н НА НО́ВЫЕ ВОРО́ТА смотреть, уставиться и т.п. highly coll, derog [как + NP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to look, stare) in utter confusion, understanding nothing: (stare) dumbly ⟨blankly⟩; (give s.o.) a blank stare.

Б-23 • НЕ БАРА́Н НАЧИХА́Л substand [Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr or, rare, concr), pres only; fixed WO] sth. significant, sth. that should be taken into account: X — не баран начихал ≃ X is nothing to sneeze at; X is no small thing; X is no trifle ⟨no trifling matter⟩.

Б-24 • ВЕРНЁМСЯ К НА́ШИМ БАРА́НАМ [sent; Invar; fixed WO] let us return to the main topic of our conversation (used as a request to the interlocutor not to digress from the main topic; also used by the speaker to indicate a return to the main topic): let's get back to the subject ⟨the matter⟩ at hand; let's return to the question at hand; let's get back to the point at issue; let's get back on track; (back ⟨and now back, let's go back etc⟩) to our muttons.

< Loan translation of the French revenons à ces moutons or retournons à nos moutons ("let us return to our sheep"), from the medieval farce Maistre Pierre Pathelin.

Б-25 • БАРА́ШЕК В БУМА́ЖКЕ obs [NP; sing only; usu. obj; fixed WO] a bribe: palm oil ⟨grease⟩; hush money.

Б-26 • СИДЕ́ТЬ БА́РИНОМ ⟨КАК БА́РИН⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to be idle while everyone else is working cooperatively: X сидит барином ≃ X sits around like royalty; X sits on his hands.

Б-27 • КИСЕ́ЙНАЯ БА́РЫШНЯ derog [NP; usu. obj, subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human), or adv (after как); fixed WO] a coddled person (usu. a young woman) who is unable to adjust to real life (orig., an affected and prudish young woman with petty interests): pampered young lady; pampered darling; prim young lady.

«Я кисейных барышень не люблю и вам такой быть не советую. Капризы извольте оставить» (Михайловская 1). "I don't like pampered young ladies and I don't advise you to become one. Please stop being capricious" (1a).

Б-28 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ БАРЬЕ́Р(Ы) [VP; subj: human] to overcome obstacles to success: X возьмёт барьеры ≃ X will cross ⟨surmount⟩ barriers; X will leap over hurdles.

«Потребность в таком безделье — чаще всего неосознанная необходимость перескочить в том, что называется подсознанием, трудный барьер… Как часто я бессознательно и поражающе легко брал такие барьеры, стоило только мне перестать стараться и погрузиться в подобное безделие, в неожиданный сон» (Гладков 1). "The need for such idleness comes more often than not from an instinctive wish to leap over some difficult hurdle in the so-called subconscious…. How often I have crossed such barriers unconsciously and with astonishing ease once I stopped trying and simply sank into idleness, into a sudden lethargy" (1a).

Б-29 • НЕ ЛЕЗЬ ПОПЕРЁД БА́ТЬКИ В ПЕ́КЛО; ПРЕ́ЖДЕ ОТЦА́ ⟨БА́ТЬКИ⟩ В ПЕ́ТЛЮ НЕ СУ́ЙСЯ ⟨НЕ ЛЕЗЬ⟩ [saying] do not rush to undertake sth. risky or dangerous, let older and more experienced people make a move first: ≃ don't rush ahead of people who know better; don't jump the gun.

«Не спеши, — поморщился Коба. — Ты всегда спешишь поперёд батька [sic] в пекло» (Войнович 5). "Not so fast," said Comrade Koba, knitting his brows. "You're always jumping the gun" (5a).

Б-30 • ПО БА́ТЮШКЕ (звать, величать *кого) old-fash, coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (to call, address s.o.) by the name derived from his or her father's name (by adding a suffix), which follows the first name and precedes the last name (in formal address, it is used in conjunction with the first name, whereas in uneducated or humorous speech it may be used alone): patronymic.

«Как, бишь, её зовут?» — спросил Базаров. «Фенечкой… Федосьей», — ответил Аркадий. «А по батюшке? Это тоже нужно знать». — «Николаевной» (Тургенев 2). "What did you say her name was?" asked Bazarov. "Fenichka… Fedosya," Arkady replied. "And her patronymic? One must know that too." "Nikolayevna" (2c).

Б-31 • БА́ТЮШКИ МОИ́ ⟨СВЕ́ТЫ⟩! obsoles, coll; БА́ТЮШКИ СВЯ́ТЫ! obsoles, substand; МА́ТУШКИ МОИ́ ⟨СВЕ́ТЫ⟩! obs, coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express amazement, admiration, fear etc: (my) goodness (gracious)!; (my) gracious!; good heavens ⟨God, Lord⟩!; merciful heavens!; (good) God in heaven!; saints alive!; (holy) Mother of God!

«Ой, батюшки светы, дорогие товарищи, что с нами сделалось… Дрожим, ни живы ни мёртвы, язык отнялся от ужаса …!» (Пастернак 1). "Oh, God in heaven, need I tell you the state we were in…. We were shaking all over, half dead with fright and speechless with terror!" (1a). "Oh, saints alive, dear comrades, what a state we were in… We tremble, more dead than alive, can't speak from fright…" (1b).

Б-32 • БАШ НА БАШ highly coll [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ менять(ся), обменивать и т.п. [adv] (in refer. to goods) (to exchange) one thing for another without additional payment, without adding anything: (make) an even swap ⟨trade⟩; (make) a straight ⟨equal⟩ swap.

2. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. всё), adv, or indep. sent] an action (is undertaken), form of behavior (is demonstrated) etc in retaliation or reciprocation for a similar action, form of behavior etc: tit for tat.

Он [Мишка-сын] работал с Галибутаевым на одном производстве… То спросит какую-нибудь гадость, то толкнёт… Гонял его. Галибутаев… спуску тоже не давал. Баш на баш (Попов 1). He [Sonny Mishka] worked at the same factory as Galibutayev…. One minute he'd be asking Galibutayev some filthy question, the next he'd be shoving him…. Always after him…. But [Galibutayev] would also let Sonny Mishka have it, when he got the chance. Tit for tat (1a).

Б-33 • ПОД БАШМАКО́М ⟨ПОД БАШМАЧКО́М⟩ чьим, (у) кого быть$_{ø}$, находиться и т.п. or держать кого; ПОД БАШМА́К чей, кого, к кому попадать all coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with держать (obj: human)] under the full control or influence of s.o., completely dependent on s.o. (usu. of a husband in relation to his wife): X под башмаком у женщины Y ≃ X is under Y's thumb; X lets Y boss him around; [lim.] X is henpecked ⟨a henpecked husband⟩; ‖ Y держит X-а под башмаком ≃ Y has ⟨keeps⟩ X under Y's thumb; Y has X wrapped around Y's little finger; [lim.] Y wears the pants (in the family).

Общее мнение было то, что Пьер был под башмаком своей жены, и действительно это было так. С самых первых дней их супружества Наташа заявила свои требования (Толстой 7). The general opinion was that Pierre was under his wife's thumb, which was really true. From the very first days of their married life Natasha had announced her demands (7b).

Б-34 • БА́ШНЯ ИЗ СЛОНО́ВОЙ КО́СТИ lit [NP; sing only; usu. obj; fixed WO] a place or state of isolation from the realities of life, esp. a preoccupation with remote intellectual pursuits rather than worldly affairs: ivory tower.

Думать, что в башне из слоновой кости он [Пастернак] охранял своё олимпийское спокойствие, — это абсурд (Ивинская 1). It is absurd to imagine that he [Pasternak] sat in an ivory tower, preserving an Olympian calm (1a).

< Loan translation of the French tour d'ivoire.

Б-35 • НИ БЕ НИ МЕ (НИ КУКАРЕ́КУ) highly coll [these forms only; fixed WO] 1. ~ (в чём) [usu. predic with subj: human] one knows, understands etc nothing (about sth.): X

«И как это таких людей за границу посылают, когда они ни бе ни ме ни по-каковски?» (Трифонов 4). "And how is it they send such [people] abroad when they can't say two words in any other language?" (4a).

2. [predic (with subj: human) or obj] one says nothing, keeps silent: X (не говорит) ни бе ни ме ≃ X doesn't say boo; X doesn't let out a peep; X doesn't utter a sound.

Б-36 • В БЕГА́Х [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] 1. (one is) hiding from the police, the authorities, fleeing from the law: on the run; on the lam; on the loose; in hiding.

«Сегодня поздно вечером, гуляя в парке, я натолкнулся на какого-то человека, искавшего дорогу… Вид у него измученный, он, вероятно, несколько дней в бегах» (Федин 1). "Late this evening, while walking in the park, I came across a man trying to find his way…. He looked exhausted, he has probably been on the run several days" (1a).

2. coll (one is) rushing around from place to place, incessantly running about taking care of business, doing chores etc: on the move ⟨the run⟩; off ⟨out⟩ on errands; off ⟨out⟩ running errands; out and about; [lim.] out running around.

Б-37 • толстокожий КАК БЕГЕМО́Т ⟨СЛОН, НОСОРО́Г⟩ coll, disapprov [как + NP; these forms only; modif (intensif)] 1. (of an imperceptive, unfeeling person who is) unable to recognize subtle things about people or their actions, sentiments, needs etc: as insensitive as a rhino (ceros) ⟨an elephant⟩; [when said ironically] (about) as sensitive as a rhino(ceros) ⟨an elephant⟩.

2. (of a person who is) not easily upset, insulted, offended by criticism etc: as thick-skinned as a rhino(ceros) ⟨an elephant, a hippo(potamus)⟩.

Б-38 • СПАСА́ТЬСЯ/СПАСТИ́СЬ БЕ́ГСТВОМ (от кого-чего) [VP; subj: human, collect, or animal; usu. this WO] to (try to) run away from danger or threat: X-ы спаслись (от Y-а) бегством ≃ Xs escaped (Y); Xs fled (from Y); Xs got away from Y; Xs turned tail; Xs flew the coop; Xs made their escape; Xs took flight ⟨to their heels⟩; Xs took off running.

В Пруссии жили единоверцы. Когда-то, давным-давно, они прибыли сюда, тоже спасаясь бегством от Антихриста (Акунин 3). There were fellow believers living in Prussia. They had come there long, long before, also fleeing from the Antichrist (3a).

Б-39 • НА БЕГУ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. while one is running: as one runs.

За машиной, рыдая и спотыкаясь, бежала Нюра… «Ваня! — кричала Нюра, давясь от рыданий. — Ванечка!» — и на бегу тянула руки к машине (Войнович 2). Sobbing and stumbling, Nyura ran after the truck…. "Vanya!" cried Nyura, choking on her sobs. "Vanechka!" She reached her arms out to the truck as she ran (2a).

2. coll (one does sth.) hastily, (one is, does sth.) in a hurry: on the run; [lim.] on the fly; (have) a quick (chat ⟨cry etc⟩).

«Ну конечно… я всегда бывала у Нюрка — зачем? Чтобы на бегу поплакаться в жилетку» (Залыгин 1). "Now, why was it I always used to go to Niurok? To have a quick cry on her shoulder, of course" (1a).

Б-40 • СЕМЬ БЕД — ОДИ́Н ОТВЕ́Т [saying] if the punishment for two transgressions of different magnitudes is the same, one might as well commit the more serious (and personally beneficial) one: ≃ one might ⟨may⟩ as well be hanged for a sheep as (for) a lamb.

…Он [Золотарёв] жёг мосты… он окончательно прощался с самим собою, ему не о чем было больше сожалеть и не в чем раскаиваться. Семь бед — один ответ! (Максимов 1). …He [Zolotarev] burned his bridges…. He bade himself a final goodbye, he had no more regrets now and no reason to repent. He might as well be hanged for a sheep as for a lamb! (1a).

Б-41 • БЕДА́ (НИКОГДА́) НЕ ПРИХО́ДИТ ⟨НЕ ХО́ДИТ⟩ ОДНА́; БЕДА́ В ОДИНО́ЧКУ НЕ ХО́ДИТ [saying] said when troubles or misfortunes follow one after another, when one misfortune seemingly evokes another: ≃ troubles ⟨misfortunes⟩ never come singly; it never rains but it pours; when it rains, it pours.

Беда в одиночку сроду не ходит: утром, по недогляду Гетька, племенной бугай Мирона Григорьевича распорол рогом лучшей кобылице-матке шею… Рану промыли. Мирон Григорьевич… зашивал сам… Не успел Мирон Григорьевич отойти от колодца, из куреня прибежала Лукинична… Она отозвала мужа в сторону. «Наталья пришла, Григорич!.. Ушёл зятёк из дому!» (Шолохов 2). Troubles never come singly. That morning, because of Hetko's carelessness Miron Grigorievich's thoroughbred bull gored the neck of his best brood-mare…. They washed the wound…. Miron… put in the stitches himself…. But before he could step away from the well, Lukinichna came running from the house…. She called her husband aside. "Natalya has come back!… Our son-in-law's left home!" (2a).

Б-42 • ЛИХА́ БЕДА́ obsoles, coll [NP; Invar; impers predic; foll. by infin; fixed WO] one must merely (do sth.): one has only (to do sth.); one need only (do sth.).

Б-43 • ЛИХА́ БЕДА́ НАЧА́ЛО ⟨НАЧА́ТЬ⟩ [saying] beginning an endeavor is harder than continuing it once you have begun (may be used in refer. to both good deeds and reprehensible actions): ≃ the first step is (always) the hardest; it's the first step that costs; the first blow is half the battle; a good start is half the race; well begun is half done; [lim.] the first step is (always) the worst.

[Большинцов:] Говорят, в этих делах лиха беда начать… (Тургенев 1). [B.:] They say, in these matters the first step is [the] hardest (1c). ♦ Лиха беда — начало. Одним словом, я аккуратнейшим образом, даже после ночной смены, посещала политзанятия у Евдокии Ивановны… (Гинзбург 2). As a good start is half the race, I made a point, even after my night shift, of attending punctiliously every one of Eudokia Ivanovna's political talks (2a).

Б-44 • НЕ БЕДА́ coll [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. это or a clause), pres only, or indep. sent] it is of no great consequence, it is not worth worrying about: no matter; it doesn't matter; that's not a problem; it's not so terrible; that's no misfortune; [lim.] never mind (if…).

Когда я ухожу, он [Пастернак] снова церемонно извиняется, что не успел дочитать пьесу. «То есть, вернее, — я и не раскрыл её. Мне вчера помешали. Но это не беда. У нас будет повод снова вскоре встретиться, хорошо?» (Гладков 1). As I was leaving him [Pasternak], he again apologized very profusely for not having finished reading my play: "Or rather, I should say, I haven't even looked at it yet. I was interrupted yesterday. But no matter— we shall soon be meeting again, won't we?" (1a).

Б-45 • (НЕ) ВЕЛИКА́ БЕДА́ coll [NP; these forms only; usu. indep. sent or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: a clause), pres only; fixed WO] it is not important, significant: it's not the end of the world; it's ⟨that's⟩ no (great) tragedy; (there's) no harm done; (well,) no big deal!; [lim.] no problem.

Я ушёл, недоумевая, почему всё это так его встревожило. Ну, даже если и испортил рыбу, подумаешь, велика беда (Кузнецов 1). I went away, wondering why all this had made him so apprehensive. What if he had spoiled the fish—that was no tragedy (1a).

Б-46 • ПРИШЛА́ БЕДА́ — ОТВОРЯ́Й ⟨РАСТВОРЯ́Й, ОТКРЫВА́Й⟩ ВОРОТА́ [saying] if sth. unfortunate has happened, then you can expect more trouble to follow (said when misfortunes come one after another): ≃ troubles ⟨misfortunes⟩ never come singly; it never rains but it pours; when it rains, it pours.

Собрание вынесло рекомендацию освободить меня от обязанностей заведующего отделом… Тамара затеяла развод и раздел квартиры… Но пришла беда — открывай ворота. Не стало Ленки (Зиновьев 2). The Commission recommended that I should be relieved of the responsibilities of head of section…. Tamara started divorce proceedings and demanded the division of our apartment…. But troubles never come singly. Lenka died (2a).

Б-47 • ЧТО ЗА БЕДА́ coll [Invar; usu. a clause in a compound sent or the main clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] (used in refer. to some action, circumstance etc which is mentioned in the preceding context or is about to be mentioned) that is no cause for concern, that will not hurt anyone or anything: what's ⟨where's⟩ the harm (in that)?; what harm is there in that?; what's wrong with that?; what does it matter?; it's no great matter.

«Г. прапорщик, вы сделали проступок, за который и я могу отвечать…» — «И полноте! что ж за беда? Ведь у нас давно всё пополам» (Лермонтов 1). "Ensign, you have committed an offense for which I, too, may be held responsible…." "Oh, come! Where's the harm? We've long shared everything, haven't we?" (1a).

Б-48 • БЕ́ДНОСТЬ НЕ ПОРО́К [saying] one should not be ashamed of one's poverty: ≃ poverty is no crime ⟨vice, sin⟩.

«Сегодня вас не ждали, батюшка, говядинки не привезли», — промолвил Тимофеич… «И без говядинки обойдёмся, на нет и суда нет. Бедность, говорят, не порок» (Тургенев 2). "They weren't expecting you today, sir; no beef's been delivered," said Timofeich… "We'll manage without beef; where nothing is, nothing can be had. Poverty, they say, is no sin" (2g).

Б-49 • НА БЕДУ́ (чью) [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (usu. parenth)] (in refer. to an action or event) resulting in undesirable consequences (for s.o. or o.s.): to one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ misfortune; unluckily ⟨unfortunately⟩ (for one ⟨s.o.⟩); to one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ cost; [lim.] as luck would have it.

«Множество лет назад, на мою беду, в мой дом пришёл бродячий художник и стал умирать от лихорадки» (Искандер 5). "Many years ago, to my misfortune, a wandering artist came to my house and began dying of a fever" (5a).

Б-50 • НЕ БЕЗ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] with a certain degree (of sth.): not without…; (with) some…; [lim.] (with) a certain (amount of) …

Не без страха глядел он и теперь на растворявшуюся дверь (Гоголь 3). It was not without fear, even now, that he watched the door opening (3b). ♦ …Хотя чегемцы посмеивались над ним [Тимуром], однако относились не без опаски (Искандер 5). Although the Chegemians snickered at him [Timur], they treated him with some caution (5a).

Б-51 • БЕ́ЗДНА ⟨КЛА́ДЕЗЬ⟩ ПРЕМУ́ДРОСТИ humor or iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a source, treasury of profound knowledge: a wealth of knowledge; a storehouse of wisdom; [usu. of a person] a (veritable) font of wisdom.

Б-52 • НА БЕЗРЫ́БЬЕ И РАК РЫ́БА [saying] in the absence of a better or needed person or thing, the one that is available will do: ≃ better a ⟨one⟩ small fish than an empty dish; half a loaf is better than none ⟨no bread⟩; in the kingdom of the blind a ⟨the⟩ one-eyed man is king.

Б-53 • ДО БЕЗУ́МИЯ; ДО БЕЗРАССУ́ДСТВА [PrepP; these forms only] 1. ~ любить кого, влюбиться в кого, ненавидеть кого, кому хочется (с)делать что и т.п. [adv (intensif)] (to love, fall in love with, hate s.o.) intensely: (love s.o.) to (the point of) distraction; (fall ⟨be⟩) passionately ⟨madly⟩ in love (with s.o.); (love ⟨hate⟩ s.o.) with a passion; (love s.o. ⟨want to do sth. etc⟩) desperately.

Бывали примеры, что женщины влюблялись в таких людей до безумия… (Лермонтов 1). There have been cases when women have fallen madly in love with men like him… (1b).

2. ~ какой, каков, как [modif (intensif)] extremely, to the utmost degree: terribly; awfully; exceedingly; incredibly; to the point of foolhardiness ⟨folly⟩.

Глебов, читая, удивлялся: а всё-таки Федька Лисакович храбрец! Одно из двух: либо храбрец до безрассудства, — так гнуть против Друзяева, Дороднова и прочих, — либо же что-то знает. Борьба разгоралась нешуточная (Трифонов 2). As he read this, Glebov was surprised: Fedya Lisakovich was showing real bravery. One of two things: either he was brave to the point of folly by speaking out so strongly against Druzyaev, Dorodnov and the rest of them, or he knew something. It was turning into a really serious battle (2a).

Б-54 • БЕЛЕНЫ́ ОБЪЕ́ЛСЯ highly coll, rude when addressed to the interlocutor [VP; subj: human; past only; often after (как) будто, словно, точно; often in questions; fixed WO] one behaves in an unreasonable fashion, as if he were crazy: X белены объелся ≃ X is off his rocker ⟨trolley⟩; X is out of his gourd ⟨mind⟩; X has taken leave of his senses; X is nuts ⟨loony⟩; X has cracked up; X has gone mad.

«Что с вами, Руслан Павлович? Вы белены объелись?» (Трифонов 6). "…What's the matter with you, Ruslan Pavlovich? Are you off your rocker?" (6a).

< «Белена» ("henbane") is a poisonous plant. Ingesting its seeds causes madness.

Б-55 • (ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ ⟨КРУЖИ́ТЬСЯ, КРУТИ́ТЬСЯ⟩) КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ БЕ́ЛКА В КОЛЕСЕ́ coll [VP (with subj: human) or как etc + NP (these forms only, adv); the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be incessantly bustling about, doing various things, occupied with various concerns: X вертится как белка в колесе ≃ X is like a squirrel on a treadmill ⟨in a cage⟩; X is in a constant whirl; X is continually ⟨always⟩ on the go.

…«[Виллон] жил в Париже, как белка в колесе, не зная ни минуты покоя» (Мандельштам 2). …" [Villon] lived in Paris in a constant whirl—like a squirrel on a treadmill, never still for a moment" (2a).

Б-56 • РЕВЕ́ТЬ/ЗАРЕВЕ́ТЬ БЕЛУ́ГОЙ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to (begin to) cry profusely, loudly, piercingly: X ревел белугой ≃ X was crying hysterically;

X was crying ⟨yelling, bawling⟩ his head off; [lim.] X was howling like a jackal ⟨a hyena⟩.

[Львов:] Скоро благословение? [Косых:] Должно, скоро. Зюзюшку в чувство приводят. Белугой ревёт, приданого жалко (Чехов 4). [L.:] Will the benediction be soon? [K.:] It should be soon. They're trying to bring Zyuzyushka around. She's howling like a jackal… upset about the dowry (4a).

Б-57 • БЕ́ЛЫЙ И ПУШИ́СТЫЙ recent, coll, iron [AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or, occas., collect); fixed WO] (of a person or group possessing some attractive, alluring quality which, while unspecified, may be more clearly understood from the context) good, virtuous, righteous; or kind, accommodating; or non-threatening, law-abiding etc (typically used, sarcastically or mockingly, to make clear that the quality in question, positive image etc is lacking): lily-white; squeaky clean; pure as the driven snow; warm ⟨nice⟩ and fuzzy; || среди них белых и пушистых нет ≃ none of them is spotless ⟨completely clean⟩; there are no angels among them; everyone's got some dirt on them; everybody ⟨each one of them⟩ has done his share of dirt; [with the emphasis on past actions; lim.] everyone has skeletons in his closet.

Никто не говорит, что Пётр белый и пушистый, но гадостей делать не станет, это точно! Nobody says that Pyotr is squeaky clean, but he's not about to pull any nasty stunts—that's for sure! ♦ Белым и пушистым директора школы никак не назовёшь, и дети его не любят. Но работу свою он делает хорошо. The principal is not at all what you would call warm and fuzzy, and students do not like him. But he does his job well.

Б-58 • ГРЯ́ЗНОЕ БЕЛЬЁ (чьё, often своё), usu. ПОЛОСКА́ТЬ ⟨СТИРА́ТЬ⟩ (СВОЁ ⟨ЧУЖО́Е⟩) ГРЯ́ЗНОЕ БЕЛЬЁ (НА ЛЮ́ДЯХ), КОПА́ТЬСЯ ⟨РЫ́ТЬСЯ⟩ В ГРЯ́ЗНОМ БЕЛЬЕ кого, чьём ⟨В ЧУЖО́М ГРЯ́ЗНОМ БЕЛЬЕ etc⟩ media, disapprov [NP, fixed WO or VP, subj: human or collect] secrets, personal matters, scandals etc of a person, family, or organization that cause embarrassment or shame when publicly exposed: (one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩) dirty linen ⟨laundry⟩; || полоскать своё грязное бельё на людях ≃ wash ⟨air⟩ one's dirty linen ⟨laundry⟩ in public; expose one's dirty laundry to the public gaze ⟨eye⟩; || копаться в чужом грязном белье ≃ dig up s.o.'s dirty laundry; dig up dirt on s.o. ⟨on other people⟩; try to wash ⟨air⟩ s.o.'s dirty linen ⟨laundry⟩ in public; seek to expose s.o.'s dirty laundry to the public gaze ⟨eye⟩; pry ⟨snoop⟩ into s.o.'s ⟨other people's⟩ personal affairs; stick ⟨poke⟩ one's nose in(to) s.o.'s ⟨other people's⟩ personal affairs.

«Чем, кроме рыбалки, увлекается ваш Пётр Иванович?» — «Обожает рыться в грязном белье своих сотрудников». "What does your Pyotr Ivanovich like to do besides go fishing?" "He loves to pry into his coworkers' personal affairs."

Б-59 • НИ БЕЛЬМЕ́СА ⟨НИ БУМ-БУ́М⟩ не знать, не понимать, не смыслить (в чём) highly coll [these forms only; obj (both variants) or predic with subj: human (2nd var.)] to know or understand nothing (about sth.): X (в Y-е) не понимает ни бельмеса ⟨X в Y-е ни бум-бум⟩ ≃ X doesn't know beans ⟨squat⟩ about Y; X doesn't know ⟨understand⟩ a thing ⟨the first thing⟩ about Y; X doesn't have the foggiest (notion) about Y; X doesn't have a clue ⟨the first (damn) clue⟩ about Y; [of one's command of a foreign language, technical jargon etc] X doesn't know ⟨understand⟩ a word of Y; [of a foreign language only] X can't say two words in ⟨speak a word of⟩ Y.

«Играть не умеете! В миттельшпиле ни бум-бум…» (Аксёнов 3). "You don't know how to play! You don't know a thing about the midgame!" (3a). ♦ «Теперь [Херувимов] в направление тоже полез; сам ни бельмеса не чувствует, ну а я, разумеется, поощряю» (Достоевский 3). "Now he's [Cherubimov has] jumped onto the progressive bandwagon too; hasn't got the foggiest, of course, but naturally I encourage him" (3a).

Б-60 • (КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩) БЕЛЬМО́ В ⟨НА⟩ ГЛАЗУ́ (у кого) coll, disapprov [(как etc +) NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human or concr) or adv (var. with как etc only); fixed WO] (a person or thing is) a source of constant irritation to s.o. by his or its presence: X (у Y-а) как бельмо на глазу ≃ X is a thorn in Y's side ⟨flesh⟩; X is a thorn ⟨a burr⟩ in the side of Y; [lim.] X sticks out like a sore thumb; thing X is an eyesore; thing X is a blot on the landscape.

Опора своему брату и заступник всех обиженных… он [Брадjеш] был, конечно, бельмом на глазу у раджи (Аллилуева 2). To his brother he [Brajesh] had been a real support, a protector to the wronged…. As a result, he became a thorn in the side of the Raja (2a).

Б-61 • УСТРО́ИТЬ БЕНЕФИ́С кому coll [VP; subj: human] to scold, rebuke s.o. sharply (usu. in a noisy manner); to vent one's anger at s.o., punish him for his behavior: X устроил Y-у бенефис ≃ X made it hot for Y; X gave it to Y; X had a few choice words for Y; X lowered the boom on Y.

Об администраторе гостиницы она сказала: «Я его предупредила, в следующий раз я ему устрою такой бенефис, что он после этого собственную маму примет за собственного папу» (Горенштейн 1). About the hotel manager she said: "I warned him that the next time I'd make it so hot for him he wouldn't be able to tell his own mother from his own father (1a).

Б-62 • БЕРЕЖЁНОГО (И) БОГ БЕРЕЖЁТ [saying] a person who is cautious and alert avoids danger (said as advice to be careful, not to take risks, and also as a justification for taking what may seem to be unnecessary precautions): ≃ God helps those who help themselves; God takes care of those who take care of themselves; better (to be) safe than sorry; [lim.] discretion is the better part of valor.

Все эти предосторожности были, конечно, с запасом, но бережёного Бог бережёт (Солженицын 2). Some of these precautions, of course, proved not to have been strictly necessary, but God helps those who help themselves (2a).

Б-63 • НА́ША ⟨ВА́ША, ТВОЯ́⟩ БЕРЁТ/ВЗЯЛА́ coll [VP$_{subj}$; more often pfv; if impfv, pres only; fixed WO] we (you etc) are (or are about to be) victorious: наша взяла ≃ we've won; our side (has) won; we're the winner(s) ⟨victor(s)⟩; || наша берёт ⟨возьмёт⟩ ≃ we're winning ⟨going to win⟩; our side is winning ⟨going to win⟩; we're going to be the winner(s).

«„Дураки, — говорю я им, — глупые несмышлёныши. Эту власть Гитлер не смог опрокинуть со своими танками, а вы что сможете со своей болтовнёй?.. " — „Ничего, — говорит один из них, — это так кажется, что они сильные, наша возьмёт"» (Искандер 4). "'You fools,' I said to them, 'you're a couple of babes in the woods. Hitler couldn't topple this regime with all his tanks, and what can you do with your blather?…' 'Nuts,' says one of them. 'They only look strong, we're going to win'" (4a).

Б-64 ОТКУ́ДА ЧТО БЕРЁТСЯ/ВЗЯЛО́СЬ! coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (of some behavior, action, circumstances etc) sth. manifested itself inexplicably and unexpectedly: откуда что берётся ⟨взялось⟩! ≃ where does ⟨did⟩ that come from?!; goodness knows ⟨I don't know etc⟩ where on earth one gets ⟨got⟩ it?!; where does ⟨did⟩ one get it from?!; who could ever expect ⟨would ever had expected⟩ it?!; [pfv взялось only] whatever brought that on?!; [in refer to an event, situation etc] goodness knows how (it happened)!; [lim.] will wonders never cease!

…[Соня] носилась разгорячённая, суматошная, предовольная и готова была, кажется, приковать себя к этой квартире. А ведь тоже деревенская баба, с князьями да дворянами не возжалась [nonstand = не водилась], красивой жизни не нюхала, но… распушилась, откуда что и взялось? (Распутин 4). …[Sonya] raced around excited, animated, bustling, ever so happy and apparently ready to live forever in that apartment. And yet she was a country woman too, she didn't hang around with princes and nobles, she hadn't tasted the good life, but… she took to it right away. Where did that come from? (4a).

Б-65 • ДО БЕСКОНЕ́ЧНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv; used with impfv verbs] for a very long time: to infinity; endlessly; till the end of time; forever; ad infinitum.

Пить он мог до бесконечности, но мог и совсем не пить… (Достоевский 3). He could drink to infinity or not drink at all… (3a). ♦ «Посмотрите: вот нас двое умных людей, мы знаем заранее, что обо всём можно спорить до бесконечности…» (Лермонтов 1). "Now here we are, two intelligent people; we know in advance that everything can be argued about endlessly…" (1b). ♦ «Он мне всё рассказал: секретный институт… Вы знаете, Голем, они там у вас воображают, будто смогут вертеть генералом Пфердом до бесконечности» (Стругацкие 1). "He told me everything: a high-security think tank….You know, Golem, your friends over there imagine that they can manipulate General Pferd forever" (1a). ♦ «Надо подать проект, — подумал секретарь, — чтобы в каждом районе было два Учреждения. Тогда первое будет выполнять свои функции, а второе будет наблюдать, чтобы не пропало первое… А кто же будет наблюдать за другим Учреждением? Значит, нужно создать третье, а за третьим — четвёртое и так далее до бесконечности…» (Войнович 2). A resolution should be submitted, thought the Secretary, that there be two Institutions in each district. The first would carry out its usual functions and the second would keep an eye on the first so that it wouldn't disappear…. But who's going to keep their eye on the second Institution? That means a third will have to be created, and a fourth for the third and so on, ad infinitum… (2a).

2. [modif or adv (intensif)] extremely: to the nth degree; like you wouldn't believe; [lim.] unbearably ⟨an unbearable…⟩; abysmally ⟨an abysmal…⟩; as [AdjP] as they come.

Повторяю: всё это [рассказы иностранцев о России] в высшей степени преувеличено и до бесконечности невежественно… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). All this [foreigners' portrayals of Russian life], I repeat, is not only shamelessly exaggerated, but also reveals a quite abysmal ignorance of the conditions in our country (2a).

Б-66 • РАССЫПА́ТЬСЯ МЕ́ЛКИМ БЕ́СОМ перед кем coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to try hard to impress s.o. in an attempt to gain his favor; to flatter s.o. in every way possible (often of a man trying to win a woman's affections): X рассыпался перед Y-ом мелким бесом ≃ X fell all over himself to please ⟨to shine up to⟩ Y; X danced attendance (up)on Y; [lim.] X waited on Y hand and foot.

Егорша мелким бесом начал рассыпаться: Раечка, Раечка, дорогая соседка… (Абрамов 1). Egorsha started falling all over himself to shine up to her. "Raechka, Raechka, dear neighbor…" (1a).

Б-67 • ПРОДУВНА́Я БЕ́СТИЯ ⟨ШЕ́ЛЬМА⟩ coll, disapprov [NP; usu. sing; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a sly, sneaky person, a swindler: an out-and-out rogue; a sly fox; a slippery character; a crafty devil.

…Вошла чиновная особа — Самосвистов, эпикуреец, собой лихач… отличный товарищ, кутила и продувная бестия, как выражались о нём сами товарищи (Гоголь 3). …In walked a certain official—one Samosvistov, an epicure, a daredevil, a capital companion, a rake, and an out-and-out rogue, as his own friends spoke of him (3c).

Б-68 • ЗА БЕСЦЕ́НОК купить, продать и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to buy, sell etc) very inexpensively: (buy sth.) for a song; (buy for ⟨sell for, pay⟩) next to nothing; (buy ⟨sell⟩) for practically nothing; (get sth.) dirt cheap; (pay) a mere trifle; [lim.] (sth. was) a real bargain.

«Помещики, под влиянием досады, возбуждённой в них упразднением крепостного права, бросились вырубать принадлежащие им леса и продавать оные за бесценок» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "The landowners, impelled by spite aroused in them by the abolition of serfdom, have rushed to cut down their forests and sell them for a song" (2a).

< The word «бесценок» is used in this idiom only.

Б-69 • БЕ́ЛЫЙ БИЛЕ́Т [NP; fixed WO] a document certifying exemption from military service on medical grounds: (be considered ⟨deemed etc⟩) unfit for military service; (have ⟨receive⟩) a medical deferment. Cf. NPQ (not physically qualified).

Б-70 • ВО́ЛЧИЙ БИЛЕ́Т [NP; fixed WO] 1. obs Also: ВО́ЛЧИЙ ПА́СПОРТ in tsarist Russia, a document affirming a person's political unreliability, corrupt, immoral behavior etc and thus denying him access to state jobs, universities etc: blacklisting; (be) blacklisted; (be put on) a blacklist.

Всё это была, конечно, политика. У Львовых мне казалось, что политика существует только для того, чтобы объяснить, почему Митю исключили с волчьим билетом. Как бы не так! (Каверин 1). All this, of course, was politics. When I was at the Lvovs, I imagined that the only point of politics was to explain why Mitya had been expelled and blacklisted. Nothing of the sort! (1a).

2. coll an extremely negative written evaluation (often a notation in s.o.'s work record) of s.o.'s work, political views, character etc: a scathing evaluation ⟨character reference⟩.

[extended usage] Но кому-то понадобилось настучать в НКВД, что зав РОНО Крючков держит в школе нетрудоспособных… В облоно переполошились, заставили Крючкова направить обоих педагогов на ВТЭК, где им и выдали волчьи билеты (Чудаков 1). But someone felt the need to report to the NKVD that Kryuchkov, the head of the Regional Department of Public Education, was keeping disabled staff in his employ… There was a great commotion at the Department, and Kryuchkov was forced to send both instructors to an occupational health commission, which classified both of them as permanently unfit for employment (1a).

Б-71 • ЖЁЛТЫЙ БИЛЕ́Т obs [NP; fixed WO] in tsarist Russia, a passport printed on yellow paper stating that its holder was a prostitute: a prostitute's ID ⟨ticket⟩.

…Когда Амалия Ивановна вдруг закричала что-то про жёлтый билет, Катерина Ивановна отпихнула Соню и пустилась к Амалии Ивановне, чтобы немедленно привести свою угрозу, насчёт чепчика, в исполнение (Достоевский 3). …When Mme Lippewechsel suddenly shouted something about a prostitute's ticket, Katerina Ivanovna repulsed Sonya and swooped on Mme Lippewechsel, intending to lose no more time in carrying out her threat concerning the bonnet (3a).

Б-72 • ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ЛОЖИТЬ⟩ БИЛЕ́Т ⟨ПАРТБИЛЕ́Т⟩ (НА СТОЛ) coll [VP; subj: human] in the Soviet era, to be expelled from or leave the Communist Party: X положил на стол билет ≃ X turned ⟨handed⟩ in his (Party) card; X surrendered his Party card.

Я спросила его [Абдуллина], что мне делать: оставаться в партии на таком положении, когда у тебя не хотят принимать взносов? Или положить билет на стол, дав этим новую пищу обвинениям? (Гинзбург 1). I asked Abdullin what I should do: stay in the party although my dues were being refused, or turn my card in and thereby invite fresh accusations (1a).

Б-73 • СЧАСТЛИ́ВЫЙ (ЛОТЕРЕ́ЙНЫЙ) БИЛЕ́Т вытащить, вытянуть; достался, выпал кому (to have, s.o. has) a piece of good luck: (have ⟨get, hit⟩) a stroke of luck; (draw) a lucky ticket; [lim.] (have ⟨get, hit⟩) a run of luck; [of financial success] strike it lucky ⟨rich⟩.

«Хорошо, что здесь как раз оказался я. Можете быть уверены, дамы и господа, что я досконально разберусь в этой истории, отыщу виновных и верну лесных дикарей в лоно церкви». — «Не сомневаюсь, — ухмыльнулся Поджио. — Ох и везучий же вы человек, господин Бубенцов. Такой счастливый билет вытянуть» (Акунин 6). "It is a good thing that I happened to be here. You may be sure, ladies and gentlemen, that I shall investigate this incident with great thoroughness, seek out the guilty parties, and return the forest savages to the bosom of the church." "I do not doubt it," chuckled Poggio. "Oh, you are a fortunate man, Mr. Bubentsov, to have drawn such a lucky ticket" (6a).

Б-74 • ЖИТЬ БИРЮКО́М [VP; subj: human] to be unsociable, live in seclusion: X живёт бирюком ≃ X lives the life of ⟨lives like⟩ a recluse ⟨a hermit⟩.

Б-75 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ, СИДЕ́ТЬ⟩ БИРЮКО́М [VP; subj: human] to look gloomy, morose: X бирюком смотрит ≃ X is being a (real) sourpuss; X is scowling.

Б-76 • ИГРА́ТЬ В БИРЮ́ЛЬКИ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; often neg or infin after хватит, перестань(те) etc] to occupy o.s. with trifles (with the implication that one should be doing sth. serious, productive instead): X в бирюльки играет ≃ X fritters ⟨fiddles⟩ away the time; X fiddles ⟨fools, putters⟩ around; || Neg X не в бирюльки играет ≃ [with an emphasis on the seriousness of the matter] X is not playing games (with person Y). ○ ИГРА́ В БИРЮ́ЛЬКИ [NP] ≃ fiddling ⟨fooling, puttering⟩ around; trifles; trifling matters.

«А это ты нас не учи, что делать. — Он подступал к арестованному, красноречиво поигрывая деревянной кобурой у пояса. — Мы из тебя, ваше благородие, быстро гонор вышибем. Мы сюда не в бирюльки играть заявились» (Максимов 3). "Don't you tell us what to do." …He went up to the prisoner, eloquently fingering the wooden holster at his waist. "We'll soon cut you down to size. We haven't come here to fool around" (3a).

< From the name of an old game in which a large number of very small objects («бирюльки») were scattered on a table and the players tried to pull out one item at a time with a small hook without disturbing the other objects. Cf. jackstraws, pick-up sticks.

Б-77 • МЕТА́ТЬ ⟨РАССЫПА́ТЬ⟩ БИ́СЕР ПЕРЕД СВИ́НЬЯМИ ⟨перед кем⟩ [VP; subj: human; often infin after зачем, хватит etc, or neg imper; usu. this WO] to try in vain to explain or prove sth. to a person or people who cannot or do not want to understand or appreciate it: X мечет бисер перед свиньями ≃ X casts pearls before swine.

Всё-таки эти жёлтые не такие, как мы, подумал Гош. А ещё возись с ним: прокурор, адвокат, присяжные, судьи в мантиях. То есть, конечно, всё правильно, демократия есть демократия, но по-простому это называется «метать бисер перед свиньями» (Акунин 7). These yellow devils really are different from us, thought Gauche. And just think of all the trouble they would have to take with him: a prosecutor, a defense attorney, a jury, judges in robes. Of course, that was the way it ought to be, democracy is democracy after all, but surely this was casting pearls before swine (7a).

< From the Bible (Matt. 7:6).

Б-78 • БИТЬ НАВЕРНЯКА́ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to act in a fashion that guarantees success, rules out any possibility of failure: X бил наверняка ≃ X followed ⟨adopted⟩ a surefire ⟨foolproof⟩ plan of action; X made sure he wouldn't fail ⟨he'd get what he wanted etc⟩; [in refer. to one's previously mentioned course of action] it was a sure thing ⟨bet⟩; [lim.] X went for the sure thing.

Остап сразу же выяснил, что Провал для человека, лишённого предрассудков, может явиться доходной статьёй. «…Это кажется, единственное место, куда пятигорцы пускают туристов без денег… Я исправлю досадное упущение». И Остап поступил так, как подсказывали ему разум, здоровый инстинкт и создавшаяся ситуация. Он остановился у входа в Провал и, трепля в руках квитанционную книжку, время от времени вскрикивал: «Приобретайте билеты, граждане! Десять копеек!..» Остап бил наверняка. Пятигорцы в Провал не ходили, а с советского туриста содрать десять копеек за вход «куда-то» не представляло ни малейшего труда (Ильф и Петров 1). Ostap had seen at once that for a man without prejudice the Drop could be a source of income. "…It seems to be the only place where the people of Pyatigorsk allow the sight-seers in free. I will… rectify the sad omission." And Ostap acted as his reason, instinct, and the situation in hand prompted. He stationed himself at the entrance to the Drop and, rustling the receipt book, called out from time to time. "Buy your tickets here, citizens. Ten kopeks…" It was a sure bet. The citizens of Pyatigorsk never went to the Drop, and to fleece the Soviet tourists ten kopeks to see "Something" was no great difficulty (1a).

Б-79 • БИ́ТЬ кого НЕ́КОМУ coll [impers predic with быть$_ø$; pres or, rare, past; usu. this WO] s.o. deserves to be admonished or punished: бить X-а некому ≃ what X needs is a good hiding ⟨talking-to⟩; X deserves a good swift kick ⟨dressing-down⟩.

[author's usage] «Что ж у тебя с твоим генералом будет?» — «Я боюсь об этом думать». — «Ох, сечь тебя некому». — «Я не могла иначе поступить!» — сказала Евгения Николаевна (Гроссман 2). "So what's going to happen about this general of yours?" "I can't bear to think." "What you need is a good hiding." "But there just wasn't anything else I could do," pleaded Yevgenia (2a).

Б-80 • ВСЕХ БЛАГ [formula phrase; Invar; also used as obj of желать/пожелать; fixed WO] may everything go well for you (used when parting with s.o.): all the best; best of luck; take care.

Б-81 • НИ ЗА КАКИ́Е БЛА́ГА ⟨СОКРО́ВИЩА⟩ (В МИ́РЕ) coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with negated verbs (usu. pfv fut or subjunctive); fixed WO] (one will not or would not do sth.) under any conditions or circumstances (used to express one's strong unwillingness to do sth. or accept s.o.'s suggestion): not for anything (in the world ⟨on earth⟩); not for (all) the world; not for all the money in the world; [lim.] nothing in the world (can persuade ⟨force etc⟩ one to do sth.); one has no desire in the world (to do sth.). Cf. not for all the tea in China.

Дядя Сандро был совершенно не подготовлен для встречи с девушкой, у которой при каждой улыбке на щеках возникают головокружительные ямочки, куда каждый раз душа дяди Сандро (предварительно раздвоившись) опускалась и ни за какие блага не желала оттуда выходить (Искандер 5). Uncle Sandro was completely unprepared to meet a girl whose every smile brought dizzying dimples to her cheeks. Every time she smiled, Uncle Sandro's soul split in half and fell into these two little traps, and had no desire in the world to climb out (5a).

Б-82 • СЧЕСТЬ ⟨ПОЧЕ́СТЬ, РАССУДИ́ТЬ obs⟩ ЗА БЛА́ГО [VP; subj: human or collect; foll. by infin; fixed WO] to decide that one course of action is more beneficial than other options (and to undertake that course of action): X счёл за благо сделать Y ≃ X saw fit to do Y; X thought ⟨deemed⟩ it best to do Y; X decided it would be best to do Y; X opted to do Y.

Решение пленума ЦК было для него [Твардовского] обязательным не только административно, но и морально. Раз пленум ЦК почёл за благо снять Хрущёва — значит, действительно терпеть его эксперименты дальше было нельзя (Солженицын 2). For him [Tvardovsky] any decision taken by a plenum of the Central Committee had moral and not just executive force. If a plenum of the Central Committee had seen fit to remove Khrushchev, it meant that his experiments were indeed no longer to be tolerated (2a).

Б-83 • ПОКО́РНО ⟨ПОКО́РНЕЙШЕ⟩ БЛАГОДАРЮ́ [VP; 1st pers only; indep. sent] 1. obs [fixed WO] used when addressing s.o. with a humble, polite expression of gratitude: I humbly thank you; thank you kindly; (I am) much obliged.

[Аркадина (подаёт повару рубль):] Вот вам рубль на троих. [Повар:] Покорнейше благодарим, барыня (Чехов 6). [A. (gives the Cook a ruble):] Here's a ruble for the three of you. [Cook:] Thank you kindly, madam (6b). ♦ [Ихарев:] Пара целковиков! (Суёт ему в руку.) [Алексей (кланяясь):] Покорнейше благодарю (Гоголь 2). [I.:] Here's a couple of rubles for you! (Thrusts them into his hand.) [A. (bowing):] Much obliged, Your Honor (2a).

2. coll, iron [in contemp. usage, WO is usu. благодарю покорно] used to express disagreement with sth., rejection of sth., or a negative reaction to some statement: [all said with ironic intonation] much obliged, I'm sure; thanks a lot!; thank you very much!; I can't thank you enough; [lim.] no, thank you!; thanks, but no thanks!

[Работник:] Пожалуйте, Михаил Львович, за вами приехали. [Астров:] Откуда? [Работник:] С фабрики. [Астров (с досадой):] Покорно благодарю (Чехов 3). [Labourer:] Will you come please, Dr. Astrov? You're wanted. [A.:] Who by? [L.:] The factory. [A. (irritated):] Much obliged, I'm sure (3c).

Б-84 • ПО БЛА́ТУ достать, получить что, устроить кого-что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] (to get, receive, arrange sth., get s.o. a desired position etc) by using connections, with the help of influential friends, contacts etc illicitly: by pulling strings; through ⟨thanks to⟩ one's connections; (by) exploiting (one's) connections; by ⟨through⟩ knowing the right people; use influence (to get sth. etc); (one got ⟨obtained etc⟩ sth.) because one has pull ⟨connections⟩.

«Кончаю, т.к. пишу при скверной, трещащей, хотя и добытой по блату свечке — в этом Богом забытом ужасном „городе" почему-то всё время перебои с керосином» (Чудаков 1). I close this now, since I'm writing by the light of a wretched, sputtering candle that I had to exploit connections to get. For some reason there's a chronic shortage of kerosene in this horrible, godforsaken "city." (1a) ♦ …Растление литературы дошло до того, что совершенно стёрлись всякие грани между профессиональным писателем и пришедшим по блату (Войнович 1). The corruption of literature has gone so far as to have obliterated all the boundary lines between the professional writer and those who are published because they have pull (1a).

Б-85 • ДЛЯ БЛЕЗИ́РУ ⟨-а⟩ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] in order to create a certain impression: for show; for appearance' sake; [lim.] as a smoke screen.

[Андрей] Гуськов… пошагал к двери. Замок на ней, как и раньше, висел для блезиру: Гуськов дёрнул его — он тут же раскрылся (Распутин 2). Andrei… headed for the door…. The lock on it, like before, was mostly for show; he pulled on it and it opened (2a).

Б-86 • ВО ВСЁМ БЛЕ́СКЕ (чего) [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. human, animal, or concr), obj-compl with показать etc (obj: usu. human, animal, or concr), or adv; fixed WO] showing the full extent of one's or its perfection: in all one's ⟨its⟩ glory ⟨splendor⟩; in one's ⟨its⟩ full splendor; ‖ во всём блеске своей красоты ⟨своего остроумия и т.п.⟩ ≃ as breathtakingly beautiful ⟨as brilliantly witty etc⟩ as ever.

«И неужели, неужели вы из-за того только, чтоб обучить собаку, всё время не приходили!» — воскликнул с невольным укором Алёша. «Именно для того, — прокричал простодушнейшим образом Коля. — Я хотел показать его [пса] во всём блеске!» (Достоевский 1). "And can it be, can it be that you refused to come all this time only in order to train the dog!" Alyosha exclaimed with involuntary reproach. "That's precisely the reason," Kolya shouted in the most naive way. "I wanted to show him in all his glory!" (1a).

Б-87 • С БЛЕ́СКОМ [PrepP; Invar; adv] magnificently, excellently: brilliantly; superbly; [lim.] with flair; [of the passing of exams, tests etc] with flying colors.

«На съездах и конференциях… Валентин Сергеевич с блеском доказывает, что наш план тесно связан с задачами третьего пятилетнего плана» (Каверин 1). "At congresses, at conferences… Valentin Sergeyevich brilliantly proves that our plan is closely connected with the tasks of the Third Five-Year Plan" (1a).

Б-88 • ПЕ́РВЫЙ БЛИН (ВСЕГДА́) КО́МОМ [saying] you cannot expect your first attempt to be successful (usu. said to justify a failed first effort): ≃ the first try is bound to be a flop ⟨a washout⟩; the first time is always the hardest; [lim.] you must spoil before you spin.

Б-89 • ПЕЧЬ КАК БЛИНЫ́ что coll [VP; subj: human or collect; obj: pl; usu. pres] to produce things (often stories, articles etc) rapidly and in large quantities: X Y-и как блины печёт ≃ X cranks out Ys ⟨Y after Y⟩; X turns ⟨knocks⟩ out Ys left and right; X churns out lots of Ys.

Б-90 • ЛОВИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫЙСКИВАТЬ и т.п.⟩ БЛОХ highly coll [VP; subj: usu. human or collect] to find fault with s.o. or sth. for small and unimportant deficiencies: X ловит блох ≃ X nitpicks ⟨nit-picks⟩; X splits hairs; X picks (minor) holes in sth.

Она заговорила о том, что всякая критика должна быть в первую очередь объективной, оценивать в целом, а потом уж выискивать блох (Трифонов 2). She said that criticism should above all be objective and should assess the work as a whole, and only then proceed to nit-picking (2a).

Б-91 • КАК НА БЛЮ́ДЕЧКЕ ⟨БЛЮ́ДЕ⟩ виден и т.п. coll [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv] (sth. can be seen) clearly, distinctly: (be) in clear ⟨full⟩ view; (be) in plain sight; [lim.] (be) as clear as anything.

…День был чудесный, светлый и не жаркий; все горы видны были как на блюдечке (Лермонтов 1). It was… a really lovely day, bright but not too hot. The mountains all round were as clear as anything (1c).

Б-92 • НА БЛЮ́ДЕЧКЕ С ГОЛУБО́Й КАЁМОЧКОЙ преподносить, подавать что и т.п.; НА БЛЮ́ДЕЧКЕ (С ЗОЛОТО́Й КАЁМОЧКОЙ); НА БЛЮ́ДЕ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] (to give sth. to s.o., let s.o. have sth. etc) without the recipient's having to work hard to obtain it: (hand s.o. sth. ⟨have sth. handed to one etc⟩) on a silver platter.

[Андрей:] Слушай, я, наверно, оттого такой пустой, что мне всё на блюдечке подавалось — дома благополучие… сыт, одет… (Розов 1). [A.:] I'm probably so shallow because everything has been handed to me on a silver platter—the family is well-off… they feed and clothe me… (1a).

< The source of the first variant is The Golden Calf («Золотой телёнок») by Ilya Ilf and Evgeny Petrov, 1931, ch. 2. The original source of the last variant is possibly the Russian translation of the Bible. Cf. Matt. 14:8, Mark 6:25, in reference to Salome's demand that John the Baptist's head be given to her "in a charger."

Б-93 • НА БОБА́Х остаться, сидеть, оставить кого coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with оставить (obj: human)] (to end up, be, or leave s.o.) without sth. hoped for or counted on: high and dry; empty-handed; out in the cold; with nothing.

[Антонина Николаевна:] Я не спешила замуж, но сейчас это надо сделать. И быстрее, иначе я рискую остаться на бобах (Розов 3). [A.N.:] I haven't rushed to get married, but now it has to be done. And rather soon, or else I run the risk of being left empty-handed (3a).

Б-94 • УБИ́ТЬ БОБРА́ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. iron or humor to miscalculate, choosing the worst of the available options: X убил бобра ≃ X put the saddle on the wrong horse; X put his eggs in the wrong basket; [said with ironic intonation] X picked a (real) winner; [lim.] X really did it this time; that was some catch.

2. obs to acquire sth. of great value or achieve sth. remarkable: X убил бобра ≃ X hit it big; X hit the jackpot.

Б-95 • БОБЫ́ РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ substand [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. to waste one's time on trifles, act very slowly, procrastinate: X бобы разводит ≃ X fritters ⟨fiddles⟩ away the time; [lim.] X drags his feet.

[author's usage] «Чем в губернское правление-то шататься да пустяки на бобах разводить, лучше бы дело делать!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "Instead of wasting his time in government departments and frittering away the precious minutes on some stupid trifles, he [the pompadour] should have been doing something!" (2a).

2. obsoles to talk about insignificant, frivolous matters (often in order to distract s.o. from sth.), engage in idle chatter: X бобы разводит ≃ X is prattling (on); X is babbling; [lim.] X is beating around ⟨about⟩ the bush; || X и Y бобы разводят ≃ X and Y are gabbing; X and Y are shooting the breeze ⟨the bull⟩.

Б-96 • БО́Г ДАЁТ/ДАЛ кого (кому) obs [VP_{subj}; obj: сына, дочь, детей etc; usu. this WO] God has given s.o. (a child or children) for which s.o. feels thankful: бог дал Y-у X-а ≃ God has blessed Y with X; Y is blessed with X.

…Ребятишек Люсе бог не дал (Распутин 3). …God had not blessed her [Liusia] with children (3a).

Б-97 • БО́Г ДАЛ ⟨ПРИВЁЛ⟩ встретиться, свидеться и т.п. obsoles [VP_{subj}] it happened that s.o. had the occasion (to meet with another etc): it is ⟨was⟩ God's will (that…); God (has) willed ⟨granted, ordained⟩ it ⟨that…⟩; (I didn't expect ⟨who would have thought etc⟩ that) the Lord would have us ⟨you, them⟩ (meet etc).

[Андрей:] Ты был когда-нибудь в Москве? [Ферапонт:] Не был. Не привёл бог (Чехов 5). [A.:] Were you ever in Moscow? [F.:] Never was. It was not God's will (5a). ♦ «А, старый хрыч! — сказал ему Пугачёв. — Опять бог дал свидеться» (Пушкин 2). "You old grumbler!" Pugachev said to him. "So God has ordained that we should meet again" (2b).

Б-98 • БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩ ДАЛ, БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩ И ВЗЯЛ obs [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] said with resignation upon s.o.'s death or upon the loss of sth.: ≃ the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away.

< From the Bible (Job 1:21).

Б-99 • БОГ ДАСТ coll [VP_{subj}; Invar; sent adv (parenth)] I hope, one hopes (that things will turn out as desired): God ⟨Lord⟩ willing; with God's help; I hope to God; God grant.

«Ну, бог даст, ещё увидимся». Шофёр, поняв это как указание, надавил на газ, и машина рванулась (Евтушенко 2). "Well, God willing, we'll see each other again." The driver, interpreting this as a command, stepped on the gas, and the car sped away (2a).

Б-100 • БОГ ДАСТ ДЕНЬ, БОГ ДАСТ ПИ́ЩУ; БОГ ДАСТ ДЕНЬ, ДАСТ И ПИ́ЩУ; БУ́ДЕТ ДЕНЬ, БУ́ДЕТ ПИ́ЩА [saying] somehow or other everything will work out fine (usu. said to s.o. who is concerned about the future): ≃ God will give the day, God will give us food ⟨will provide⟩.

Я тратил все деньги… меня мало интересовало, что будет завтра. «Бог даст день, Бог даст пищу», — как говорила моя бабушка Вера (Лимонов 1). I spent all my money… I cared little about what the morrow would bring. "God will give the day, God will give us food," as my grandma Vera used to say (1a).

Б-101 • БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ, АЛЛА́Х⟩ (ЕГО́ ⟨тебя и т.п.⟩) ЗНА́ЕТ ⟨ВЕ́ДАЕТ⟩; БОГ ВЕСТЬ all coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; usu. the main clause in a complex sent or indep. sent; fixed WO] no one knows, it is impossible (for s.o.) to know: God ⟨(the) Lord, heaven, goodness⟩ (only) knows; God alone knows.

Я отвечал Пугачёву: Слушай, скажу тебе всю правду. Рассуди, могу ли я признать в тебе государя? Ты человек смышлёный: ты сам увидел бы, что я лукавствую.» — «Кто же я таков, по твоему разумению?» — «Бог тебя знает; но кто бы ты ни был, ты шутишь опасную шутку» (Пушкин 2). "Listen," I replied, "I shall tell you the whole truth. Judge for yourself: how can I acknowledge you as my sovereign? You're no fool—you'd see straight through me." "Who am I then, in your judgment?" "God alone knows. But whoever you may be, you're playing a dangerous game" (2c).

Б-102 • БОГ ЗНА́ЕТ ⟨ВЕСТЬ⟩ кто, что, как, какой, где, куда, откуда, почему, отчего, сколько coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [usu. the main clause in a complex sent; when foll. by an Adv, may be used as adv] no one knows (who, what, how etc): God ⟨(the) Lord, heaven, goodness⟩ (only) knows (who ⟨what, how etc⟩).

Выкопали всё, разузнали его [Чичикова] прежнюю историю. Бог весть, откуда всё это пронюхали… (Гоголь 3). Everything was dug up and all the past history of his [Chichikov's] life became known. God only knows how they got on the scent of it… (3a).

2. [used as NP (when foll. by кто, что), AdjP (when foll. by какой), or AdvP (when foll. by где, куда etc)] used to express a strong emotional reaction—anger, indignation, bewilderment etc: God ⟨(the) Lord, heaven, goodness⟩ (only) knows (who ⟨what, how etc⟩)!; what sort ⟨kind⟩ of (a) [NP] is he ⟨she, that etc⟩!; [in limited contexts; said with ironic intonation] some [NP] (I must say)!

«Да ведь она тоже мне двоюродная тётка». — «Она вам тётка ещё бог знает какая: с мужниной стороны…» (Гоголь 3). "But, you know, she is a cousin of mine." "What sort of a cousin is she to you… only on your husband's side…" (3d).

Б-103 • БОГ ЗНА́ЕТ КА́К obs [AdvP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] to a great degree: greatly; extremely; utterly.

Наконец почувствовал он себя лучше и обрадовался бог знает как, когда увидел возможность выйти на свежий воздух (Гоголь 3). At last he felt better and was greatly overjoyed when he realized that he could…go out for a breath of fresh air (3a).

Б-104 • БОГ ЗНА́ЕТ СКО́ЛЬКО чего coll [AdvP; Invar; quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun) or adv (quantif); fixed WO; usu. said with emphatic intonation] a great number or amount (of people, things etc): God knows how much ⟨many, long etc⟩; an enormous amount ⟨number, quantity etc⟩ of.

«А ты что так беспокоишься, что я уезжаю. У нас с тобой ещё бог знает сколько времени до отъезда. Целая вечность времени, бессмертие!» (Достоевский 1). "And why do you worry so much about my leaving? You and I still have God knows how long before I go. A whole eternity of time, immortality!" (1a).

Б-105 • БОГ ЗНА́ЕТ ЧТО́ coll [NP; fixed WO; usu. said with emphatic intonation] 1. ~ творится, начинается; городить, говорить и т.п. ~ [usu. subj or obj] sth. unimaginable, incredible, that elicits aggravation, indignation etc: God ⟨Lord, goodness, heaven⟩ knows what (is going on); God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩ knows the sort of things (one is saying ⟨that are happening etc⟩); all kinds of strange ⟨horrible etc⟩ things (are happening etc); (one said ⟨witnessed etc⟩ all sorts of bizarre ⟨wild etc⟩) things; || в месте X началось ~ ≃ all hell broke loose in place X.

«Он дурно выбирал свои знакомства… Сын князя Василия, он и один Долохов, они, говорят, бог знает что делали» (Толстой 4). "He made a bad choice of friends…. Prince Vasily's son, he, and a certain Dolokhov, they say, have been up to heaven knows what!" (4a).

2. [Invar; Interj; often preceded by это] used to express aggravation, indignation, extreme perplexity on account of sth.: it's God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩ knows what!; God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩ (only) knows what's going on ⟨what it means etc⟩!

3. ~ дать, отдать, заплатить, запросить и т.п. [accus only; obj] (to pay, charge, be willing to give etc) very much (for sth.): God ⟨Lord⟩ knows what (one has to pay ⟨one will charge etc⟩); (pay ⟨charge etc⟩) an exorbitant ⟨enormous⟩ amount (of money); [usu. fut, subjunctive, or infin with готов] (give ⟨pay, bet etc⟩) anything; (give) anything in the world; [subjunctive only] what one wouldn't give ⟨pay etc⟩.

«Клад! — закричал дед. — Я ставлю бог знает что, если не клад!» — и уже поплевал было в руки, чтобы копать, да спохватился, что нет при нём ни заступа, ни лопаты (Гоголь 5). "A treasure!" cried Grandad. "I'll bet anything it's a treasure!" And he was just about to spit on his hands to begin digging when he remembered that he had no spade or shovel with him (5a).

Б-106 • БОГ МИ́ЛОВАЛ obs, coll [VP_{subj}; past only; fixed WO] (s.o.) was saved from danger, things turned out well (for s.o.) because of God's help: God was merciful ⟨kind⟩ (to s.o.); the Lord spared s.o.; by God's grace s.o. was spared; (s.o.) was lucky ⟨spared⟩.

«Доселе бог миловал. Всего-навсе [obs = всего-навсего] разграбили у меня один амбар…» (Пушкин 1). "So far the Lord has spared me. Until now, they've only plundered one of my barns…" (1b).

Б-107 • БОГ НА ⟨В⟩ ПО́МОЩЬ; БОГ (НА ⟨В⟩) ПО́МОЧЬ; ПОМОГА́Й БОГ all obs, coll [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] used as a wish for success to s.o. who is working on or undertaking sth.: (may) God ⟨the Lord⟩ help ⟨bless etc⟩ you.

«Вы не в армию?» — «Да». — «Помогай вам бог» (Шолохов 2). "Are you bound for the army?" "Yes." "May the Lord help you" (2a).

Б-108 • БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩ НЕ ВЫ́ДАСТ, СВИНЬЯ́ НЕ СЪЕСТ [saying] God willing, things will turn out all right (usu. said when undertaking sth. risky, the outcome of which is uncertain): ≃ (he) whom God ⟨the (good) Lord⟩ helps, nobody ⟨no man⟩ can harm.

«Бог милостив: солдат у нас довольно, пороху много, пушку я вычистил. Авось дадим отпор Пугачёву. Господь не выдаст, свинья не съест!» (Пушкин 2). "God is merciful: we have soldiers enough, plenty of powder, and I have cleaned out the cannon. Perhaps we'll manage to repulse Pugachev. Whom God helps nobody can harm" (2b). "God is merciful. We have soldiers enough, plenty of powder, and I've cleaned out the cannon. Maybe we'll be able to send Pugachov on his way. Whom the Lord helps no man can harm" (2c).

Б-109 • БОГ НЕ ОБИ́ДЕЛ ⟨ПРИРО́ДА НЕ ОБИ́ДЕЛА⟩ кого (чем) [VP_{subj}; past only; used without negation to convey the opposite meaning; usu. this WO] s.o. is endowed with (a specified quality): бог X-а Y-ом не обидел ≃ the good Lord provided X with (plenty of) Y; nature blessed X ⟨X was blessed⟩ with Y; fortune favored X with Y; [lim.] God didn't grudge X Y.

Ни лицом, ни фигурой Бог [Нюру] не обидел, красавицей, может, и не была, но и уродиной никто не считал (Войнович 2). God had grudged her [Nyura] neither face nor figure, and while she may not have been a beauty she was certainly no freak either (2a).

Б-110 • (куда, откуда и т.п.) БОГ НЕСЁТ *(кого)?; (зачем, откуда и т.п.) БОГ ПРИНЁС *(кого)? both obs [VP_{subj}; if impfv, pres only; fixed WO] (where) is s.o. going (or coming from)?; (why, from where etc) has s.o. come? (бог несёт is often used as a question addressed to a person going in the direction opposite to the speaker's): куда Х-а бог несёт? ≃ where (in the world) is X headed ⟨going, off to⟩?; || откуда Х-а бог несёт? ≃ where (in the world) is X coming from?; || зачем Х-а бог принёс? ≃ why (in the world) is X here ⟨did X come here⟩?; how come X is ⟨came⟩ here?; what brought X here?; [when addressed to the interlocutor only] what brings you here ⟨to these parts etc⟩?

[Борис:] Кудряш, это ты? [Кудряш:] Я, Борис Григорьич… Вас куда бог несёт? (Островский 6). [B.:] Kudryash, is that you? [K.:] It's me, Boris Grigorich!… Where're you headed? (6a).

Б-111 • БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩ ПРИБРА́Л кого obsoles, coll [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. died: Х-а бог прибрал ≃ God ⟨the Lord⟩ took X (home); X went to meet his Maker.

Колдун посмотрел на воду и говорит: «Будет жить… Но лучше б его Господь прибрал» (Терц 3). The fortune-teller looked at the water and said: "He will live.... But it would be better if the Lord took him" (3a).

Б-112 • БОГ С ТОБО́Й ⟨с вами, с ним, с ней, с ними⟩; ГОСПО́ДЬ ⟨ХРИСТО́С obs⟩ С ТОБО́Й ⟨с вами⟩ [indep. clause; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. rather elev [variants с тобой ⟨с вами⟩ only] may everything be well with you: God bless you; God ⟨Christ⟩ be with you.

[Аня:] Я спать пойду. Спокойной ночи, мама… Прощай, дядя. [Гаев (целует ей лицо, руки):] Господь с тобой (Чехов 2). [A.:] I'm going to bed. Good night, mama…. Good night, Uncle. [G. (kisses her face and hands):] God bless you (2a).

2. coll [more often variants с тобой ⟨с вами⟩] used to express agreement, concession, conciliation: all right (then); so be it; have it your way; let s.o. have it his way; do as you like ⟨please⟩; let s.o. do as he pleases.

«Ну, бог с вами, давайте по тридцати [рублей] и берите их [мёртвые души] себе!» (Гоголь 3). "Well then, all right, thirty rubles a soul and they're yours" (3e).

3. coll [usu. variants с тобой ⟨с вами⟩] how can you say or do that? (used to express reproach, disagreement, astonishment, fright etc): good heavens ⟨Lord, God⟩!; my God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩!; for heaven's sake!; God ⟨heaven⟩ forbid!

«Лучше всё это не было бы так роскошно. Я к роскоши не привыкла». — «Бог с тобой, какая роскошь? Обыкновенный уют» (Грекова 3). "It would be nicer if all this weren't so luxurious. I'm not used to luxury." "Good Lord, what luxury? Ordinary comfort." (3a).

4. [variants с ним ⟨с ней, с ними⟩ only; often foll. by a word or phrase denoting the person or thing in question] let us (or I should) not be concerned about s.o. or sth., let us not talk about s.o. or sth. anymore (because he or it is unimportant, is not deserving of our attention): never mind s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; forget (about) s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; who cares (about s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

Бог с ней, с этой Картучихой, баба она и есть баба, но разве в Петербурге его [Александра Петровича] понимают? (Искандер 3). Never mind her, this Kartuchikha; she was only a woman. But would they understand him [Alexander Petrovich] in Petersburg? (3a).

Б-113 • БОГ ТРО́ИЦУ ЛЮ́БИТ [saying] the third person or thing, when added to two others, is likely to bring luck or a sense of completeness, the third attempt is likely to be successful: ≃ three is the magic number; three ⟨third time⟩ is a charm; all good things come in threes; third time lucky.

[Зилов:] Слушай! Бог троицу любит. Бросим третий раз. Решка — признаемся, орёл — нет (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] Listen! Three's a charm. Let's toss a third time. Tails, we own up, heads, we don't (5b).

Б-114 • ВИ́ДИТ БОГ coll [VP_{subj}; Invar; usu. sent adv (parenth); usu. this WO] 1. honestly, I swear I am telling the truth: (as) God is my witness; honest to God ⟨to goodness⟩; by God; [lim.] God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩ knows.

[Муромский:] Двадцать четыре тысячи [серебром]… Где я их возьму? Их у меня нет, видит бог, нет… (Сухово-Кобылин 1). [M.:] Twenty-four thousand silver…. Where will I get it? God knows, I don't have it… (1a).

2. as is obvious, of course, naturally: God ⟨Lord, goodness⟩ knows.

Скажу коротко, я уснул… Видит бог, дело прошлое, я изо всех сил крепился и, наконец, как это бывает на собраниях, если сидишь где-нибудь в задних рядах, решил на минуточку прикорнуть с тем, чтобы потом очнуться с посвежевшей головой (Искандер 3). To put it briefly, I fell asleep…. Goodness knows, it doesn't matter anymore; I resisted with all my might and at last, as happens at meetings if you sit anywhere in the back rows, I decided to lean back a moment in order to awake with my mind refreshed (3a).

Б-115 • ВОТ (ТЕБЕ́ ⟨вам⟩) БОГ, А ВОТ ПОРО́Г [saying] (used when asking s.o. to leave some place, usu. after a disagreement, quarrel etc) go away: ≃ there's the door, why don't you use it; good-bye ⟨goodbye⟩ and good riddance; here's your hat, what's your hurry?; [in refer. to a third party] I ⟨you⟩ can show him ⟨her, them⟩ the door.

Попробовал прикинуть, сколько могут дать деньжонок… Станут скупиться — вот им Бог, а вот им порог. На высококлассного мастера деликатных дел заказчики всегда сыщутся (Акунин 4). He tried to figure out how much money they might give him… If they got stingy, then he could always show them the door. A high-class specialist in delicate matters would never be short of clients (4a).

Б-116 • ДАВА́Й/ДАЙ БОГ НО́ГИ coll [these forms only; predic; subj: human or animal; usu. follows one or more predicates having the same subj; usu. impfv; usu. used in past contexts; fixed WO] (s.o.) ran off quickly: Х давай бог ноги ≃ X took to his heels; X hightailed it; X beat it; X ran for his life; X took ⟨zipped⟩ off.

«Э! да ты, я вижу, Аркадий Николаевич, понимаешь любовь, как все новейшие молодые люди: цып, цып, цып, курочка, а как только курочка начинает приближаться, давай бог ноги!» (Тургенев 2). "Ugh! I can see, Arkady Nikolayevich, that your idea of love is the same as that of all the other young men of this new generation. 'Cluck, cluck, cluck,' you call to the hen, and the moment the hen comes anywhere near you, you run for your life!" (2c). ♦ «Сунул сумку к Алику в портфель и — дай бог ноги» (Чернёнок 1). "I stuck the bag in Alik's briefcase and zipped off" (1a).

Б-117 • ДАЙ БОГ [Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому) [usu. indep. sent or sent adv (parenth)] used to express one's wish that sth. hoped-for be realized, come to pass: God grant; I ⟨let's⟩ hope to God (that…); [lim.] please God.

[Городничий:] Да, признаюсь, господа, я, чёрт возьми, очень хочу быть генералом. [Лука Лукич:] И дай бог получить (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] Yes, I must admit, ladies and gentlemen, God damn it, I very much want to be a general. [L.L.:] And God grant you get it (4a).

2. coll [adv (intensif) or predic (subj: usu. concr or abstr)] (used to emphasize the high degree of some quality or the intensity of some activity) incredibly (much, hard etc, as specified by the context): like you wouldn't believe; [lim.] like nobody's business; one hell of a [NP].

На кухне твои друзья похозяйничали дай бог: перебили половину бокалов и даже не удосужились собрать осколки. Your friends messed up the kitchen like you wouldn't believe: they smashed half the wineglasses and didn't even bother to sweep up the pieces. ♦ Ты с этим парнем в драку не лезь: он боксёр, удар у него дай бог! Don't get into a fight with that guy. He's a boxer and has one hell of a punch!

Б-118 • ДАЙ БОГ ВСЯ́КОМУ ⟨ВСЕМ (…), КА́ЖДОМУ (…), ЛЮБО́МУ…⟩ coll [these forms only; usu. predic (with subj: any common noun); fixed WO] extremely, impressively strong, big, much etc (used to emphasize a very high degree of some positive quality or the intensity of some worthy activity): as good ⟨much etc⟩ as anyone ⟨any man etc⟩ could want; (such a [NP]) that anyone ⟨any man etc⟩ would be thankful for; (may) God grant everyone as good a [NP] as mine ⟨ours etc⟩; nobody could ask for (a) better [NP]; [lim.] may God give everybody as good.

…На голых её [официантки] руках вздулись такие бицепсы, что дай бог любому мужику (Аксёнов 1). …Her [the waitress's] bare arms swelled with biceps that any man would be thankful for (1a). ♦ Теперь же у нас тишь и благолепие, по дорогам не шалят, не убивают… Хорошо живём, дай Бог всякому (Акунин 6.) Nowadays a splendid peace reigns supreme in these parts, with no brigandage on the roads, no killing… God grant everyone a life as good as ours (6a).

Б-119 • ДАЙ БОГ ЗДОРО́ВЬЯ кому [Invar; indep. sent or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] a wish for s.o.'s well-being: дай бог X-у здоровья ≃ (God) bless X; bless X's heart; (may) God grant X (good) health.

Да, хорошие были люди, дай бог им здоровья, если они ещё живы (Искандер 4). Yes, they were good people, God grant them health, if they were still alive (4a).

Б-120 • ДАЙ БОГ ПА́МЯТИ ⟨ПА́МЯТЬ⟩ coll [these forms only; usu. indep. sent or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] let me try to recall (used when trying hard to remember sth.): (now) let me think ⟨see⟩; let me jog my memory; if only I could remember.

[Анна Петровна:] Цветы повторяются каждую весну, а радости — нет. Кто мне сказал эту фразу? Дай бог память… Кажется, сам Николай сказал (Чехов 4). [A.P.:] Flowers come round every spring, but happiness doesn't. Who told me that? Now let me see. I think Nicholas himself said it (4b).

Б-121 • КАК БОГ НА́ ДУШУ ПОЛО́ЖИТ coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) whatever way one desires, or allowing things to happen as they might (may express the speaker's opinion that the action is carried out unsystematically, haphazardly, without concern for the result): any which ⟨old⟩ way; however it strikes one's fancy; however it turns out; [lim.] when(ever) the spirit moves one ⟨it⟩; letting matters take their course ⟨take care of themselves⟩; catch as catch can.

Тебе поручили серьёзное дело: делай всё как следует, а не как бог на душу положит. You've been given an important assignment—do it properly, not any old way. ♦ …Радио нет, а ходики идут как им бог на душу положит, поэтому прежде, чем выйти на улицу, бабка шла узнавать время к соседям… (Кузнецов 1). We had no radio, and the wall clock ran when the spirit moved it. So before going into the street, Grandmother would call on the neighbors to find out the time… (1a).

Б-122 • КАК БО́Г СВЯТ obsoles, coll [Invar; usu. this WO] 1. [sent adv (parenth) or predic (with subj: это or a clause)] undoubtedly, definitely: as sure as I'm standing here; surely; you can be darn sure.

Между тем уважение к Надежде Петровне всё росло и росло. Купцы открыто говорили, что, «если бы не она, наша матушка, он [помпадур] бы, как свят бог, и нас всех, да и прах-то наш по ветру развеял!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). Meantime the respect in which Nadyezhda Petrovna was held grew and grew. The merchants were saying quite openly, "Were it not for her, that dear lady of ours, he [the pompadour] would surely have murdered us all by now and scattered our dust and ashes to the four winds!" (2a).

2. [sent adv (parenth) or indep. clause] (used to emphasize one's sincerity and trustworthiness) I swear, honestly: I swear it; I swear to God!; (as) God is my witness; honest to God ⟨to goodness⟩; [lim.] I swear before God; cross my heart (and hope to die).

«Как вам не стыдно было, — сказал я ему сердито, — доносить на нас коменданту после того, как дали мне слово того не делать?» — «Как бог свят, я Ивану Кузьмичу того не говорил, — отвечал он, — Василиса Егоровна выведала всё от меня. Она всем и распорядилась без ведома коменданта» (Пушкин 2). "Didn't you feel any shame in denouncing us to the commandant," I asked him angrily, "when you'd given your word that you wouldn't?" "God is my witness, I said nothing to Ivan Kuzmich," he replied. "Vasilisa Egorovna wormed the secret out of me. It was she who saw to it all without the commandant's knowledge" (2a).

Б-123 • НЕ БОГ ВЕСТЬ ⟨ЗНА́ЕТ⟩ КАК coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. not especially well, in a mediocre fashion: not (all) that well; so-so; [lim.] (be) not much of a [NP].

Наконец, я вспомнил, как играют, и дело у нас пошло лучше. Джон тоже играл не Бог весть как, но постепенно, я говорю, дело пошло… (Лимонов 1). Finally I remembered how to play, and things started to go better. John wasn't much of a player either, but gradually, as I say, things got going… (1a).

2. [foll. by AdvP, short-form Adj, or Part denoting a positive quality, quantity, or distance] not very, not particularly: not any too…; not all that…; not especially…

Она его и раньше-то, своего собственного сына, не бог весть как хорошо знала, а теперь, через год разлуки? (Залыгин 1). Even before he went away she didn't know him any too well, her own son, so what might this year of absence have done? (1a).

Б-124 • НЕ БОГ ВЕСТЬ ⟨ЗНА́ЕТ⟩ КАКО́Й coll [AdjP; fixed WO] 1. [modif (when foll. by NP) or subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun)] not especially good, mediocre, not in any way special: not all that good ⟨great etc⟩; not too ⟨terribly, particularly⟩ good ⟨great etc⟩; not much of a [NP]; nothing to brag ⟨write home⟩ about.

Конечно, не Бог весть какая комната могла получиться из бывшего чулана, но да разве в хоромах дело? (Максимов 3). You couldn't make much of a home out of an old storeroom, true enough, but who wanted a mansion? (3a).

2. [modif; foll. by AdjP denoting a positive quality, quantity, or distance] not very, not particularly: not all that…; not too ⟨terribly, especially⟩…; none too…

…Она внезапно догадалась, что Никандров её не любит… Он её не преследовал, не ухаживал за ней… относился как ко всем вокруг относится. Ну, а когда она бросилась к нему, почему бы ему и не подобрать кусочек, если даже он и не бог весть какой лакомый? (Залыгин 1). [context transl] …She suddenly realized that Nikandrov did not love her…. He hadn't pursued her, hadn't paid court to her… he'd behaved towards her exactly as he behaved towards everybody else. But since she'd forced herself upon him why shouldn't he help himself, even if the morsel offered wasn't the choicest? (1a).

Б-125 • НЕ БОГ ВЕСТЬ ⟨ЗНА́ЕТ⟩ СКО́ЛЬКО (кого-чего) coll [AdvP; these forms only; usu. quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: human, concr, or abstr); fixed WO] relatively little, relatively few: not very ⟨too⟩ much ⟨many⟩; anything but plentiful ⟨numerous⟩; not an overabundance; [with count nouns only] few and far between; only a handful.

Б-126 • НЕ БОГ ВЕСТЬ ЧТО coll [NP; obj or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr); fixed WO] (sth. that is) nothing out of the ordinary, not very important or worthwhile: nothing special; nothing to brag ⟨write home⟩ about; no great shakes; no big deal.

«Муниципалитет составил петицию в департамент здравоохранения, господин Росшепер подпишется, вы, я надеюсь, тоже, но это не Бог весть что. Гласность нужна!» (Стругацкие 1). "The city council put together a petition to the Department of Health. Mr. Rosheper will sign it, and you, I hope, will also sign it but that's no big deal. What I need is real publicity" (1a).

Б-127 • НЕ ДАЙ ⟨НЕ ПРИВЕДИ́⟩ БОГ ⟨БО́ЖЕ, ГО́СПОДИ⟩; НЕ ПРИВЕДИ́ ГОСПО́ДЬ all coll [these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [indep. clause, sent adv (parenth), or predic (with subj: usu. infin)] (used to express concern that sth. disagreeable may happen, a warning to s.o. not to do sth., or the undesirability, inadmissibility of sth.) it would be bad, unfortunate if…: God ⟨heaven⟩ forbid; (may) God preserve ⟨save⟩ s.o. (from sth.); God ⟨heaven⟩ help s.o. (if…); [lim.] (avoid sth.) at all costs.

«А если бы сбились с пути, да до утра, не приведи господи, закоченели бы как ледышки» (Айтматов 1). "What if you'd been lost right through until morning, God forbid? You'd have frozen solid, like icicles" (1b).

2. [usu. predic (with subj: any common noun), indep. clause, or adv (intensif)] (a person or thing is) extremely bad, awful etc, (some undesirable quality is) very strongly manifested, (some undesirable action is carried out) with extreme intensity: goodness ⟨God⟩, how [AdjP] one ⟨sth.⟩ is; one got ⟨sth. is etc⟩ incredibly [AdjP]; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) like I hope never to see ⟨hear etc⟩ again; God ⟨may the Lord⟩ save us ⟨you etc⟩ from such a [NP] ⟨from a [NP] like that⟩; God ⟨may the Lord⟩ spare you ⟨me etc⟩ a [NP] like that; [lim.] I wouldn't wish him ⟨her, that etc⟩ on my worst enemy; [as a response to a question or a rejoinder to an exclamation] God, yes!; and how!; [lim.] a God-awful [NP].

«Когда я был ещё подпоручиком, раз, знаете, мы подгуляли между собою, а ночью сделалась тревога; вот мы и вышли перед фрунт навеселе, да уж и досталось нам, как Алексей Петрович узнал: не дай господи, как он рассердился!» (Лермонтов 1). "When I was still a second lieutenant we all got a little high one time, and during the night there was an alarm; so we came out lit up in front of the soldiers, and did we get it from Aleksey Petrovich when he found out: goodness, how furious he was!" (1a).

Б-128 • НЕ ПРИВЕДИ́ БОГ ⟨ГО́СПОДИ⟩ СКО́ЛЬКО coll [AdvP; these forms only; quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun); fixed WO] a lot: more… than you ⟨one⟩ can shake a stick at; scads ⟨oodles, loads⟩ of.

Б-129 • ПОМИ́ЛУЙ БОГ! old-fash [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] (used to express the speaker's strong disagreement with or objection to some suggestion, idea, or question—usu. one voiced by the interlocutor) absolutely not, I am appalled that such a thing has been suggested, asked: (good) heavens, no!; goodness, no!; how could you even say ⟨think⟩ such a thing!; [lim.] for God's ⟨goodness', heaven's⟩ sake (, of course not)!; not on your life!

Б-130 • (САМ) БО́Г ВЕЛИ́Т/ВЕЛЕ́Л (кому) coll; И БО́Г ВЕЛИ́Т/ВЕЛЕ́Л obs, coll [VP_{subj}; past or pres; usu. used with infin; fixed WO] 1. it is proper, normal (for s.o. to do sth.): X-у сам бог велел сделать Y ≃ it's only natural for X to do Y; it's in the order of things for X to do Y; it's only fitting that X do Y; [lim.] who wouldn't do Y?

«Странно, как хорошо я всё это помню. — Он обнаружил, что у него побелели щёки и кончик носа. — Вот таким я и был тогда, на такого орать сам Бог велел» (Стругацкие 1). "It's strange how well I remember it all." He discovered that his cheeks and the tip of his nose had turned pale. "That's the way I looked then—who wouldn't go after a guy who looked like that?" (1a).

2. (s.o.) must (do sth.): X-у и бог велел сделать Y ≃ it's X's (sacred) duty to do Y; it would be wrong for X not to do Y.

«Подойди, подойди, любезный! Я и отцу-то твоему правду одна говорила, когда он в случае был, а тебе-то и бог велит» (Толстой 4). "Come on, come closer, my dear! I used to be the only one to tell that father of yours the truth in the days when he was a court favorite, and now it's my sacred duty to do the same for you" (4a).

Б-131 • СКО́ЛЬКО БОГ НА́ ДУШУ ПОЛО́ЖИТ coll [AdvP; Invar; usu. adv (quantif); fixed WO] however much or many one desires, an arbitrary amount (may express the speaker's opinion that the quantity in question is somehow inappropriate): as much as one likes ⟨pleases, feels like, wants⟩; however much one likes ⟨would like etc⟩).

Деньги мой бывший муж на ребёнка дает, но нерегулярно и каждый раз — сколько бог на душу положит. My ex-husband pays me child support, but irregularly and each time however much he feels like.

Б-132 • СЧА́СТЛИВ ТВОЙ ⟨его, её, ваш, их⟩ БО́Г old-fash [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] s.o. is lucky (that he made the decision he did, that he acted as he did, that things turned out the way they did etc): счастлив твой ⟨его и т.п.⟩ бог ≃ (you should) thank your ⟨he should thank his etc⟩ lucky stars; you ⟨he etc⟩ must have been born under a lucky star; lucky for you ⟨for him etc⟩.

[Елена:] Счастлив ваш бог, что вы догадались мне об этом сказать (Булгаков 4). [E.:] Thank your lucky stars that you were smart enough to tell me about it (4a).

Б-133 • УБЕ́Й ⟨ПОБЕ́Й, РАЗРАЗИ́, ДА РАЗРАЗИ́Т, ПОКАРА́Й⟩ МЕНЯ́ БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ obs⟩ coll [these forms only; usu. this WO] 1. [indep. sent, a clause in a compound sent, or sent adv (parenth)] (used to add emphasis to a statement or to convince the interlocutor that what is being stated is true) I swear: may God strike me dead; I swear to God; honest to God; cross my heart (and hope to die).

2. Also: УБЕ́Й БОГ coll [main clause in a complex sent (often foll. by a если-clause), a clause in a compound sent (usu. foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «а» or «но»), or sent adv (parenth)] used to emphasize that one cannot or does not understand or believe sth., know sth. etc: [of understanding, knowing sth. etc] God strike me (dead) if (I know ⟨understand etc⟩); I'll be damned ⟨darned, hanged⟩ if…; [in limited contexts] for the life of me (I can't understand ⟨remember etc⟩); God help me if (I know ⟨under- stand etc⟩); [of believing s.o. or sth.] there is no way in hell ⟨in the world⟩ (I will believe him ⟨her, that… etc⟩); nothing in the world (could make me believe him ⟨her, that… etc⟩).

Откуда взялся этот писатель? Писатель Иванько. Всё-таки имею какое-то отношение к этому делу, слежу за новинками литературы, и — убей меня бог — если я хоть когда-нибудь слышал такую фамилию (Войнович 3). Where had this writer come from? The writer Ivanko. I still have some contact with that profession, follow the new literary figures, but God strike me if I've ever heard that name before (3a).

Б-134 • ЧЕМ БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ obs⟩ ПОСЛА́Л угощать кого, закусывать, завтракать и т.п.; ЧТО БО́Г ПОСЛА́Л есть, отведать both coll [subord clause; past or, rare, fut; used as obj; fixed WO] (to treat s.o. to, snack on, breakfast on etc) whatever food happens to be available: (give ⟨take⟩) potluck; whatever there is ⟨one has⟩; whatever is ⟨one has⟩ on ⟨at⟩ hand (to eat); whatever is in the house.

Я чувствую, что как только мы покончим со сбором орехов, дядя возьмёт их [бойцов] к себе и угостит чем бог послал (Искандер 4). I have a feeling that as soon as we finish gathering nuts, Uncle will take the men home and give them potluck (4a). ♦ …Антон впервые видел человека, регулярно отказывающегося от бабкиного предложения закусить чем Бог послал (Чудаков 1). …Serov was the first person Anton ever met who regularly declined Grandma's offers to join the family in a bite of whatever they had on hand to eat (1a).

Б-135 • ЧТО БОГ ДАСТ coll [Invar; usu. indep. clause (often after «а там») or subord clause; fixed WO] (of an action or activity the outcome of which does not depend on the doer; expresses the speaker's hope for a favorable outcome) things will turn out the way they will turn out: what(ever) will be will be; whatever God grants s.o.; we'll see what God ⟨the Lord⟩ has in store for us; we shall see (what comes next ⟨how things go etc⟩).

«Здоров ли ты?»… Лукавый мальчишка здоровёхонек, но молчит. «Посиди-ка ты эту недельку дома, — скажет она, — а там — что бог даст» (Гончаров 1). "Do you feel well?" The sly little boy was quite well, but said nothing. "You had better stay at home this week," she would say, "then we shall see…" (1b).

Б-136 • ЧТО БОГ НА́ ДУШУ ПОЛО́ЖИТ coll [subord clause; usu. used as obj; fixed WO] anything one desires (may express the speaker's opinion that the thing or phenomenon in question is somehow inappropriate, of poor quality etc): whatever strikes one's fancy; whatever one feels like; (to say etc) whatever comes ⟨pops⟩ into one's head; whatever ⟨anything that⟩ comes to mind.

Как-то я… решил посмотреть документацию уволенного математика. И глаза у меня буквально полезли на лоб. Он, оказывается, открыл тривиальную истину, что расчёты в этом звене вообще излишни и не влияют на последующие операции. И писал что бог на душу положит (Зиновьев 1). "Once… I decided to glance through the work of the mathematician who'd been fired. My eyes almost literally popped out. It turned out that he'd discovered the banal truth that calculations at this stage of the operation were totally unnecessary and had no influence on the subsequent stages. He just used to write whatever came into his head" (1a).

Б-137 • НА БО́ГА НАДЕ́ЙСЯ, А САМ НЕ ПЛОША́Й [saying] act decisively, intelligently, enterprisingly, not counting on favorable circumstances to help you: ≃ God helps those who help themselves; (put your) trust in the Lord ⟨in God⟩, but keep your powder dry. Cf. praise the Lord and pass the ammunition.

Б-138 • ПОБО́ЙСЯ БО́ГА; БО́ГА БЫ ПОБОЯ́ЛСЯ both coll [indep. sent; usu this WO] 1. (used as an attempt to put s.o. to shame for unconscionable, inappropriate behavior, and/or as an attempt to convince him to change his behavior, reverse his decision etc) you (he etc) should be ashamed of yourself (himself etc): побойся бога ≃ have you no fear of God?; have you no shame?; [lim.] have a heart!; for God's ⟨goodness', pity's⟩ sake!

[Саша:] Этот [отец] пьян, Николай пьян, Миша тоже… Хоть бы бога вы побоялись… если людей не стыдитесь! (Чехов 1). [S.:] Here's Father drunk, and so are Nicholas and Michael…. Have you no fear of God, even if you don't care what men think? (1b). ♦ «Кондрат Иванович! Ведь завод останется без специалистов… Побойтесь бога…» (Ильф и Петров 2). "Kondrat Ivanovich! The plant will be left without any specialists…. Have a heart!" (2a).

2. (used as an attempt to prevent s.o. from doing sth. imprudent, risky) be sensible: be reasonable; come to your senses; [lim.] don't tempt the gods ⟨the Lord⟩.

«Ну, Савельич, — сказал я ему, — …я еду в Белогорскую крепость». — «Батюшка Пётр Андреич! — сказал добрый дядька дрожащим голосом. — Побойся бога; как тебе пускаться в дорогу в нынешнее время, когда никуда проезду нет от разбойников!» (Пушкин 2). "Well, Savelich," I said to him, "…I am going to Fort Belogorsk." "Petr Andreich, young master!" said my good-natured attendant in a trembling voice. "Don't tempt the Lord! How could you set out now, when all the roads are cut off by the brigands?" (2a).

Б-139 • РА́ДИ БО́ГА ⟨БО́ГА РА́ДИ more emphatic⟩ *coll; РА́ДИ (САМОГО́) ГО́СПОДА (БО́ГА) obs, coll [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. Also: РА́ДИ ВСЕГО́ СВЯТО́ГО obsoles, coll [sent adv (parenth); usu. used with imper] (used to express beseechment, entreaty) please, I implore you: for God's ⟨goodness', heaven's, mercy's⟩ sake; I beg of you; [lim.] for the sake of all that's holy.

«Ради бога успокойтесь, — сказала она, отняв у меня свою руку. — Вы ещё в опасности: рана может открыться. Поберегите себя хоть для меня» (Пушкин 2). "For heaven's sake, calm yourself," she said, withdrawing her hand. "You're still not out of danger: your wound may reopen. Take care of yourself, if only for my sake" (2a).

2. [sent adv (parenth) or indep. sent] surely, naturally (used to express compliance with a request or agreement with a statement): by all means!; of course!; [in response to a request] please do!; [in response to a question or request with negated predic] of course not!; certainly not!; heavens, no!

«…Жалуйтесь, ради бога, хоть самому генералу Деникину! Сказал, не могу, — и не могу, вы русский язык понимаете?» (Шолохов 5). "…Complain by all means, to General Denikin himself, if you choose! I've said I can't and I can't, don't you understand the Russian language?" (5a). ♦ «Вы не возражаете, если я закурю?» — «Ради бога. Я сама курю». "Do you mind if I smoke?" "Of course not, I'm a smoker myself."

Б-140 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨МОЛИ́ТЬСЯ⟩ на кого КАК НА БО́ГА ⟨ИКО́НУ⟩ [VP; subj: human or collect] to admire, revere, idolize s.o.: X смотрит на Y-а как на бога ≃ X worships the ground Y walks on; X adores Y as if Y were God; X has (put) Y on a pedestal.

Б-141 • ЧЕМ БОГА́ТЫ, ТЕМ И РА́ДЫ [saying] you are welcome to share all that we (or I) have (usu. used when inviting a guest to enjoy all the—often modest—food, comforts etc that one has to offer; also used as an apology for not having anything more or better to offer): ≃ what's mine ⟨ours⟩ is yours; you're welcome to what(ever) we ⟨I⟩ have; help yourself to whatever we ⟨I⟩ have; [lim.] my home is your home; that's the best we have ⟨we've got⟩ (at the moment).

Б-142 • НЕ БО́ГИ ГОРШКИ́ ОБЖИГА́ЮТ [saying] even an ordinary person can cope with sth. difficult (said to encourage or instill confidence in s.o. who is undertaking a task which is new to, or difficult for, him): ≃ it can't be that hard; you can do anything you put ⟨set⟩ your mind to; what ⟨whatever⟩ man has done man can do; any man can do what another man has done; [lim.] the longest journey ⟨a journey of a thousand miles⟩ begins with one ⟨a single⟩ step.

Б-143 • БО́ГОМ ЗАБЫ́ТЫЙ уголок, посёлок, городишко и т.п. [AdjP; fixed WO] out-of-the-way, usu. undesirable (town, settlement etc): godforsaken place ⟨hole, corner etc⟩; provincial hole.

«Кончаю, т.к. пишу при скверной, трещащей, хотя и добытой по блату свечке — в этом Богом забытом ужасном „городе" почему-то всё время перебои с керосином» (Чудаков 1). I close this now, since I'm writing by the light of a wretched, sputtering candle that I had to exploit connections to get. For some reason there's a chronic shortage of kerosene in this horrible, godforsaken "city" (1a).

Б-144 • БО́ГОМ ОБИ́ЖЕН(НЫЙ) obsoles [AdjP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human) or modif (full-form var. only); usu. this WO] (one is) unlucky, unfortunate: forsaken by God; pitiable; unblessed; a hapless creature.

Б-145 • ВСЕ́ (МЫ) ПОД БО́ГОМ ХО́ДИМ [saying] we never know what is going to happen to us, our fate is beyond our control (often in refer. to illness, death): ≃ we are all in God's hands; we are all subject to God's will; we are all mortal.

[Серебряков:] …Все мы под богом ходим; я стар, болен и потому нахожу своевременным регулировать свои имущественные отношения постольку, поскольку они касаются моей семьи (Чехов 3). [S.:] …We are all mortal. I am old, ill, and therefore find it timely to settle matters relating to my property, in so far as they concern my family (3a).

Б-146 • С БО́ГОМ old-fash [PrepP; Invar] 1. [indep. sent or adv] (used to wish s.o. success—or occas. used as encouragement for a group that includes the speaker—before undertaking something new or setting out on a trip) may things go well: (may) God be with you; God bless you; good luck to you; [when the speaker participates in the undertaking in question] with God's grace ⟨help, blessing⟩; [as a wish for a pleasant journey only] I wish you Godspeed ⟨good speed⟩; have a nice ⟨good etc⟩ trip.

«Вы нынче ведь все влюблены. Ну, влюблена, так выходи за него замуж, — сердито смеясь, проговорила графиня, — с богом!» (Толстой 5). "You're all in love nowadays, it seems. Well, if you're in love, marry him," said the Countess, with a laugh of annoyance, "and God bless you!" (5a).

2. [adv] (used when dismissing s.o. peacefully, or in order to soften a command or suggestion that s.o. leave some place) you can, you should (leave, get out of here), it would be best if (you left, got out of here): you'd better…; you'd be best off…; [when dismissing s.o.] you may (go ⟨leave now etc⟩).

Б-147 • НИ БО́ГУ СВЕ́ЧКА ⟨СВЕЧА́⟩ НИ ЧЁРТУ КОЧЕРГА́ highly coll, disapprov [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human); fixed WO] undistinguished, mediocre, devoid of striking characteristics: X ни богу свечка ни чёрту кочерга ≃ X is lackluster ⟨run-of-the-mill, colorless⟩; neither this nor that; neither one thing nor the other.

Б-148 • ОДНОМУ́ БО́ГУ ⟨ГО́СПОДУ, АЛЛА́ХУ⟩ ИЗВЕ́СТНО ⟨ВЕ́ДОМО obs⟩; ОДИ́Н (ГОСПО́ДЬ-)БОГ ЗНА́ЕТ ⟨ВЕ́ДАЕТ obs⟩ all coll [AdjP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: a clause (1st var.); VP$_{subj}$ (2nd var.); pres or past; fixed WO] (it is) unknown to anyone: God ⟨(the) Lord, heaven⟩ only knows; God alone knows ⟨can say⟩; only God knows.

[Астров:] Одному богу известно, в чём наше настоящее призвание (Чехов 3). [A.:] Only God knows what our real vocation is (3a).

Б-149 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ БО́ГУ ДУ́ШУ euph, coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to die: X отдал богу душу ≃ X surrendered ⟨commended, gave up⟩ his soul to God; X departed this life ⟨this world, to God's care, to the hereafter⟩; X met ⟨went to meet⟩ his Maker; X gave up the ghost.

Бедняга Тендел объелся на юбилее своего собственного столетия и отдал богу душу (Искандер 4). Poor Tendel had overeaten at his own centennial celebration and surrendered his soul to God (4a). ♦ [Щербук:] Чуть не убили… Думал, что богу душу отдам… (Чехов 1). [context transl] [Shch.:] They nearly killed me. I honestly thought my hour had come (1a).

Б-150 • РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ БОДЯ́ГУ coll [VP; subj: human] to engage in idle talk: X разводит бодягу ≃ X is chewing the fat ⟨the rag⟩ (with s.o.); X is shooting the breeze ⟨the bull⟩ (with s.o.).

Б-151 • СМЕ́РТНЫМ БО́ЕМ бить кого coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv (intensif); used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to beat s.o.) unmercifully: beat the (living) daylights ⟨the stuffing, the tar⟩ out of s.o.; beat s.o. to a pulp; beat s.o. black-and-blue; [in refer. to a one-time beating] give s.o. the hiding of his life.

…Никого из своих сыновей дедушка так не бил, как Иосифа. Бил смертным боем (Рыбаков 1). …Grandfather never beat his other sons as much as he did Yosif. He used to beat the living daylights out of him… (1a). ♦ В этот момент Петро не помнил, что собирался бить жену смертным боем… (Шолохов 3). At that moment Petro completely forgot that he had intended to give his wife the hiding of her life (3a).

Б-152 • БО́ЖЕ ⟨БОГ⟩ (ТЫ) МОЙ! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express surprise, disbelief, delight, fear etc: my God ⟨goodness, heavens⟩!; good God ⟨Lord, heavens, gracious, grief⟩!; goodness gracious!; God Almighty!; oh, Lord!

Вот опять нам пришло на ум уотергейтское дело. Кто из нас, следивших за его перипетиями по передачам зарубежного радио, не приходил в изумление! Боже мой, из-за чего весь сыр-бор? Президент величайшей страны собирался кого-то подслушать. Всего-навсего (Войнович 3). Once again the Watergate affair comes to mind. Who among us, following its peripeteia on the foreign radio broadcasts, was not amazed? My heavens, what was all the commotion about? The President of the greatest country on earth wanted to eavesdrop on someone. That's all there was to it (3a).

Б-153 • БО́ЖЕ УПАСИ́ coll [VP_{imper}] 1. ~ (кого от чего). Also: УПАСИ́ ⟨СОХРАНИ́, ОБОРОНИ́ obs⟩ БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩; БО́ЖЕ СОХРАНИ́ ⟨ОБОРОНИ́ obs⟩; ИЗБА́ВИ БОГ ⟨БО́ЖЕ, ГО́СПОДИ⟩ [usu. indep. sent, sent adv (parenth), or predic (with subj: infin)] used to express caution, concern that sth. undesirable may happen, or a warning to s.o. not to do sth.: God ⟨heaven⟩ forbid; (may) God preserve ⟨save⟩ s.o. (from sth.); God ⟨heaven⟩ help s.o. (if…); [lim.] (don't do sth.) for God's ⟨heaven's⟩ sake.

«Если вы заботитесь о своём пищеварении, мой добрый совет — не говорите за обедом о большевизме и о медицине. И, Боже вас сохрани, не читайте до обеда советских газет» (Булгаков 11). "If you care about your digestion, my advice is—don't talk about Bolshevism or medicine at the table. And, God forbid—never read Soviet newspapers before dinner" (11b).

2. Also: УПАСИ́ ⟨СОХРАНИ́, ОБОРОНИ́ obs⟩ БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩; БО́ЖЕ СОХРАНИ́ ⟨ОБОРОНИ́ obs⟩; ИЗБА́ВИ БОГ ⟨БО́ЖЕ, ГО́СПОДИ⟩ [indep. sent or sent adv (parenth)] used to express an emphatic denial of sth. that is, in fact, possible or may be assumed: God ⟨heaven⟩ forbid!

«Я не хочу пугать тебя, но временами у меня ощущение, будто не сегодня-завтра меня арестуют». — «Сохрани Бог, Юрочка» (Пастернак 1). "I don't want to worry you, but occasionally I have the feeling that they might arrest me any day." "God forbid, Yurochka" (1a).

3. [usu. predic (with subj: any common noun), modif, or adv (intensif)] (a person or thing is) extremely bad, awful etc, (some undesirable quality is) very strongly manifested, (some undesirable action is carried out) with extreme intensity: God ⟨may the Lord⟩ save us ⟨you etc⟩ from such a [NP] ⟨from a [NP] like that⟩; God ⟨may the Lord⟩ spare you ⟨me etc⟩ a [NP] like that; (sth.) like I hope never to see ⟨hear etc⟩ again; goodness ⟨God⟩, how [AdjP] one ⟨sth.⟩ is; God, how…!; a God-awful [NP]; God help us.

И все [ведьмы], сколько ни было их там, как хмельные, отплясывали какого-то чертовского трепака. Пыль подняли боже упаси какую! (Гоголь 5). And the whole bunch of them [the witches] were dancing some sort of devil's jig as though they were drunk. What a dust they raised, God help us! (5a).

Б-154 • НИ БО́ЖЕ МО́Й coll, often humor [sent; Invar; fixed WO] certainly not, not under any circumstances (used as an emphatic negation of sth. or a negative reply to a question): heavens ⟨good God⟩, no!; nothing of the kind ⟨sort⟩; nothing doing; not on your life!; no way; by no means.

Да ведь, может, [Гриша] не догадывается? Ни боже мой! Догадывается… (Трифонов 1). Was it possible that he [Grisha] hadn't guessed? Good God, no! He knew… (1a). ♦ [Лидия:] Вы знаете в Казани мадам Чурило-Пленкову?.. Она, говорят, разошлась с мужем. [Васильков:] Ни боже мой! (Островский 4). [L.:] Do you know Madam[e] Churilo-Plenkov in Kazan?… They say she's separated from her husband. [V.:] Not on your life! (4a).

Б-155 • ПОЧИ́ТЬ В БО́ЗЕ obs [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to die: X почил в бозе ≃ X joined ⟨met, went to meet⟩ his Maker; X went the way of all flesh.

«Но не доехав до места назначения, папаша мой не выдержал обиды своего должностного понижения и почил, как говорится, в Бозе в номере парижской гостиницы…» (Максимов 2). "Before he reached his destination, however, my papa was unable to endure the affront of his political demotion, and he joined his Maker, as they say, in a Paris hotelroom…" (2a).

Б-156 • БО́Й-БА́БА; БО́Й-ДЕ́ВКА both coll [NP; usu. subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human, female)] a clever, brave, determined woman or girl: X — бой-баба ⟨бой-девка⟩ ≃ X is one helluva ⟨hell of a⟩ woman ⟨girl⟩; X is quite a woman ⟨girl⟩; X is a real firecracker.

Б-157 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ БОЙ (кому) [VP; subj: human or collect; fixed WO] to speak out against, criticize s.o. openly, boldly: X дал бой (Y-у) ≃ X rose up (in arms) against Y; X put up a fight; X crossed swords with Y; X gave battle to Y; [lim.] X took a stand against Y.

«Еще в тридцать четвёртом году группа пролетарских писателей давала бой Бухарину, сказавшему, что надо ориентироваться на Пастернака» (Ивинская 1). "Already in 1934 a group of proletarian writers rose up in arms against Bukharin for saying that everyone should take their cue from Pasternak…" (1a).

Б-158 • ОБЪЯВЛЯ́ТЬ/ОБЪЯВИ́ТЬ БОЙ чему [VP; subj: human or collect; fixed WO] to initiate a struggle, begin taking organized action (against sth.—usu. some negative phenomenon): X объявил бой Y-у ≃ X declared war on Y; X waged war against ⟨on⟩ Y; X began a campaign against Y; X started a crusade against Y.

Директор заявил, что пора объявить бой пьянству. The director announced that it was time to declare war on drunkenness.

Б-159 • РВА́ТЬСЯ В БОЙ [VP; subj: human or collect] to be keen on doing sth. and/or show one's eagerness to act decisively (in defense of some idea, stand etc, or in order to prove one is right, defeat one's opponent etc): X рвётся в бой ≃ X is champing at the bit; X is raring to go ⟨to get into the thick of things etc⟩; X is itching to get into the action; X is spoiling ⟨itching⟩ for a fight; [lim.] X wants to plunge ahead.

Однажды был такой разговор с Ритой: «Ну, что ты вычитала в этой книге? Чем обогатилась?» В тот день она чем-то особенно меня раздражала, я так и рвался в бой. Рита сидела в своём любимом кресле под торшером, курила сигарету и только что отговорила с кем-то битый час по телефону. Затянувшись дымом и глядя на меня с необычной внимательностью, она сказала: «Чем обогатилась? Хотя бы тем, что лучше узнала твой характер» (Трифонов 5). I once had the following conversation with Rita: "Well, what did you get out of that book? In what way were you enriched by it?" She had done something particularly irritating that day, and I was just spoiling for a fight. Rita was sitting smoking in her favorite armchair by the standing lamp after having just talked to someone on the phone for a solid hour. Inhaling on her cigarette and gazing at me with unusual attentiveness, she said, "In what way was I enriched by it? Well, if nothing else, I gained a better understanding of your character" (5a).

Б-160 • НЕ БО́ЙСЯ ⟨БО́ЙТЕСЬ⟩ coll [VP_{imper}; these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] there is no need to be concerned, what is stated is or will be so without doubt: not to worry; don't (you) worry; nothing to worry about; that's for sure ⟨certain⟩; you can be sure of that.

Б-161 • БОК О́ БОК; О́ БОК both coll [these forms only; the resulting phrase is adv] 1. ~ с кем-чем идти, ехать, стоять, находиться и т.п. (to walk, ride, stand, be etc) next to each other, right beside (s.o. or sth.): side by side (with); alongside (of); abreast; [lim.] cheek by jowl (with).

…Семён Тетерин и Дудырев, прислонив ружья к стволу берёзы, бок о бок отдыхают, отмахиваются от комаров (Тендряков 1). …Simon Teterin and Dudyrev, with their guns leaning against the trunk of a birch tree, were resting side by side, waving away the mosquitoes (1a).

2. ~ (с кем) жить, работать, воевать и т.п. (of people only) (to live, work, fight etc) together: side by side (with); shoulder to shoulder (with); [lim.] cheek by jowl (with).

«Поживу дома, а там услышу, как будут они идтить [ungrammat = идти] мимо, и пристану к полку», — отстранённо думал он о тех, с кем сражался вчера бок о бок (Шолохов 4). "I'll have a spell at home and then, when I hear them going past, I'll slip \out and join them," he thought indifferently of those with whom only the day before he had been fighting shoulder to shoulder (4a).

Б-162 • (БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ) ЗА БОКА́ кого highly coll [VP (with subj: human) or PrepP (used as predic, often as imper)] 1. to censure, blame s.o., holding him responsible for sth. he has done wrong: X взял Y-а за бока ≃ X called Y to account; X called ⟨had⟩ Y on the carpet; X took Y to task.

2. to compel, force s.o. to do sth.: X взял Y-а за бока ≃ X put ⟨turned⟩ the heat on Y; X put the screws on Y; X strong-armed Y; X twisted Y's arm; X put pressure on Y.

Не приехал бы некий Виктор в гости к брату, тот не выпил бы лишку и не умер, тетя Глаша не отдала бы иконы, Гартвиг их не привёз бы, Нюра не стала бы просить старую икону в больницу как раз в тот момент, когда приятели Кирилла взяли его за бока, и не случилось бы всего остального… (Трифонов 5). If a certain Viktor hadn't come to visit his brother, the brother wouldn't have drunk too much and died, Aunt Glasha wouldn't have given up her ikons, Gartvig wouldn't have brought them to us, Nyura wouldn't have started asking for the old ikon in the hospital just at the moment when Kirill's friends were putting pressure on him, and none of the rest would have happened… (5a).

Б-163 • НАМЯ́ТЬ ⟨НАЛОМА́ТЬ⟩ БОКА́ кому substand [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: ПОМЯ́ТЬ ⟨ОБЛОМА́ТЬ, НАГРЕ́ТЬ⟩ БОКА́ кому substand (often used as a threat) to beat, thrash s.o.: X намнёт Y-у бока ≃ X will break Y's ribs; X will crack ⟨break⟩ a few of Y's ribs; X will knock Y around; X will beat Y up.

«Бока ему [Егорше] наломать надо! С пьяных глаз зашёл к нам — Лизавету за него отдайте» (Абрамов 1). "I've got to crack a few ribs for him [Egorsha]! He comes to our house in his cups: 'Give me Lizaveta to marry,' he says" (1a).

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to overwhelm, defeat s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy): X-ы намяли Y-ам бока ≃ Xs crushed ⟨routed, clobbered⟩ Ys.

3. to scold s.o. severely, criticize s.o. harshly: X намял Y-у бока ≃ X let Y have it (with both barrels); X gave Y what for; X came down hard on Y; X gave Y a tongue-lashing.

Б-164 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ БОКА́Л(Ы) за кого-что [VP; subj: human] to offer a toast to or drink in honor of s.o. or sth.: X поднял бокал за Y-а ≃ X drank to Y; X raised a ⟨his⟩ glass (to Y); X proposed a toast to Y; X held his glass high (in congratulation etc).

До гроба, до поздних дней благодарный воспитанник, подняв бокал в день рождения своего чудного воспитателя, уже давно бывшего в могиле, оставался, закрыв глаза, и лил слёзы по нём (Гоголь 3). To the grave, to the very last days, the grateful pupil would raise a glass on the birthday of his wonderful teacher though he had long been in his grave, and closing his eyes, he would weep for him (3a).

Б-165 • ОТДУВА́ТЬСЯ СВОИ́МИ ⟨СО́БСТВЕННЫМИ⟩ БОКА́МИ (за кого-что) coll [VP; subj: human] to bear the negative consequences of sth. (usu. someone else's error, wrongdoing etc): X отдувается своими боками ≃ X takes the rap (for sth.); X bears the brunt (of sth.); X pays with his own skin.

«Вот и скифская война. Это всё хорошо, только не для тех, кто своими боками отдувается» (Толстой 6). "This is certainly Scythian warfare. It's all [very] fine—except for those who bear the [brunt] of it" (6a).

Б-166 • НА БОКОВУ́Ю пора, отправиться и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (with the infin implied)] (it is time to, s.o. has to etc) go to sleep, (to leave some company etc to) go to bed: (it's time etc to) hit the sack ⟨hit the hay, turn in, sack out, get some Zs⟩.

«Теперь притащу Зосимова, он вам отрапортует, а затем и вы на боковую; изморились, я вижу, донельзя» (Достоевский 3). "Now I'm going to get Zosimov. He'll report to you. Then you better hit the sack yourselves. I can see you're exhausted" (3b).

Б-167 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ БО́КОМ кому coll [VP; subj: abstr or, less often, human, animal, or concr] to bring trouble to s.o.: X вышел Y-у боком ≃ X gave ⟨caused⟩ Y (a lot of ⟨considerable etc⟩) trouble; thing X turned out bad(ly) for Y; X did Y (a lot of ⟨plenty of etc⟩) harm; [lim.] Y ended up in trouble (because of X); Y got hurt when thing X misfired; [in refer. to one's own mistake, misjudgment etc] thing X boomeranged ⟨backfired, came home to roost⟩.

словии, что «считаю своим приятным долгом поблагодарить сотрудников КГБ и прокуратуры» за то, что они рукопись не изъяли, но мои насмешки вышли боком: некоторые на Западе приняли мою благодарность всерьёз (Амальрик 1). …I said in my foreword that I felt pleasantly obliged to thank the KGB agents and the prosecutor's office for not having confiscated my manuscript. But my little joke at the expense of the KGB boomeranged: some people in the West took my expression of gratitude seriously (1a).

Б-168 • ПОД БО́КОМ (у кого) coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr, a geographical name, a noun denoting an organization etc, or human] very near, in immediate proximity: close ⟨near⟩ at hand; (right) close by; nearby ⟨near by⟩; [lim.] right there ⟨here⟩; in s.o.'s immediate neighborhood; just ⟨right⟩ around the corner; (right) at s.o.'s side; (right) under s.o.'s nose; at ⟨on⟩ s.o.'s doorstep.

…Стрелецкая слобода была у него под боком и он мог прибыть туда через полчаса (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …The Musketeers District was right close by and he could have been there in half an hour (1a).

Б-169 • ЛЕЖА́ТЬ НА БОКУ́ ⟨НА ПЕЧИ́, НА ПЕ́ЧКЕ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to do nothing, be idle: X лежит на боку ≃ X loafs (around); X lounges ⟨sits⟩ around.

Б-170 • ПО́ БОКУ кого-что highly coll [PrepP; Invar; used as predic (with subj: human or impers), usu. in past or fut contexts, often as imper; if obj: inanim, it is usu. abstr] to free o.s. of s.o. or sth. (by getting rid of s.o., putting sth. to the side etc): X Y-а по боку ≃ [past context] X dropped ⟨ditched⟩ Y; X got rid of person Y; X got person Y out of X's way ⟨hair⟩; X put ⟨set⟩ thing Y aside; [lim.] there is no room for thing Y; || Imper Y-а по боку ≃ to ⟨the⟩ hell with Y.

«Меня от зарезанной курицы с души воротит, а здесь не курица — душа живая. Полномочия даны, а рука поднимется ли?» А полномочия ему даны были… недвусмысленные: жалость по боку (Максимов 3). "Seeing a hen's throat slit turns my stomach and this is a human being. I've been given full powers, but can I bring myself to do it?" The full powers he'd been given were… unambiguous: there was no room for pity (3a).

Б-171 • ПОДХОДИ́ТЬ/ПОДОЙТИ́ С ДРУГО́ГО БО́КУ ⟨-а⟩ (к кому-чему) coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to try a different method of addressing s.o. or some matter: X подошёл к Y-у с другого боку ≃ X tried a different approach with person Y ⟨to thing Y⟩; X looked at thing Y from a different ⟨another⟩ angle ⟨point of view, standpoint⟩.

«А теперь, если с другого боку подойти: ведь наша дирекция совхоза только цифру понимает» (Гинзбург 2). "Look at it from another angle—the only thing our management understands is figures" (2a).

Б-172 • С БО́КУ НА́ БОК [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ ворочаться, переворачиваться и т.п. to be unable to sleep and keep changing the position one is lying in so as to get comfortable enough to fall asleep: X ворочался ~ ≃ X turned ⟨tossed⟩ from side to side; X tossed and turned.

Если Обломов поедет в театр или засидится у Ивана Герасимовича и долго не едет, ей не спится, она ворочается с боку на бок… (Гончаров 1). If Oblomov went to the theater or was late in coming home from Ivan Gerasimovich's, she was unable to sleep and tossed from side to side… (1b).

2. переваливаться ~ to walk in an awkward, swaying fashion: X переваливался ~ X waddled (like a duck); X walked like a duck.

Семёновна давно уже ждала невестку, чтобы сделать себе наконец послабление, и, дождавшись, расхворалась, у неё стали сильно отекать ноги, ходила она тяжело, переваливаясь с боку на бок, как утка (Распутин 2). Semyonovna had been waiting for a daughter-in-law for a long time so that she could relax a little, and when she finally got one she fell very sick, her legs swelled badly, and she walked with difficulty, waddling like a duck (2a).

Б-173 • С КАКО́ГО БО́КУ ⟨-а⟩ рассматривать что, интересовать кого и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used in questions and subord clauses; fixed WO] from which aspect, in what relation: ~ X рассматривает Y? ≃ from which angle ⟨side, direction, perspective⟩ does X look at Y?; [lim.] how does X look at Y?; || ~ X-а интересует Y? ≃ why should Y interest X?; in what way ⟨on what account⟩ does Y interest X?

«Ты что, поссорился с Верой?» — «А тебя-то это с какого боку интересует?» "What happened, did you have a fight with Vera?" "Why should that interest you?"

Б-174 • (не знать, думать и т.п.,) С КАКО́ГО БО́КУ ⟨-а, С КАКО́Й СТОРОНЫ́⟩ ПОДОЙТИ́ ⟨ПОДСТУПИ́ТЬСЯ⟩ к кому coll [subord clause; these forms only; fixed WO] (not to know, to wonder etc) how to address s.o. with sth. and/or whether s.o. is approachable: (not know ⟨not be sure⟩) how to approach s.o.; (wonder) what would be the best approach to take with s.o.; (wonder ⟨not know⟩) which tack to try with s.o.; [lim.] (be afraid) to come ⟨go⟩ near s.o.

Он думал, с какой стороны лучше подойти к Лукину… (Войнович 6). He was wondering what the best approach would be to take with Lukin (6a).

Б-175 • БО́ЛЕЕ ИЛИ МЕ́НЕЕ [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [modif] somewhat, relatively (but not completely): more or less.

Было непонятно, во-первых, как он [котёл] здесь очутился, а во-вторых, как он уцелел… Только успели найти более или менее толковое объяснение этому чуду — было решено, что божество четвероногих подбросило этот котёл, чтобы крестьяне не расстраивались… (Искандер 3). They could not understand, in the first place, how it [the kettle] had gotten here, and in the second place, how it had survived…. They could find only one more or less sensible explanation for this miracle: it was decided that the god of the four-legged had surreptitiously placed the kettle here so that the peasants would not fall into confusion… (3a).

2. [adv] to a relatively large extent (but not completely): more or less.

3. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. a noun that can be evaluated)] acceptable, bearable (but not outstanding): fine ⟨okay⟩, more or less; more or less tolerable ⟨satisfactory, adequate, okay⟩; reasonably good; one can't really complain about it.

В этот приезд, когда Антон в очередь навестил учительницу, она, как всегда, серьёзно рассказывала, что здоровье у неё более или менее… (Чудаков 1). On this visit, when Anton's regular rounds took him to the teacher's house again, she told him as she always did, in serious tones, that she felt fine, more or less… (1a).

Б-176 • БО́ЛЕЕ ⟨БО́ЛЬШЕ⟩ ТОГО́ [these forms only; usu. sent adv; fixed WO] in addition to and beyond what has just been stated (used to indicate the significance of the statement that follows): (and) what is more; more than that; and not only that; moreover; on top of that; [lim.] even worse.

…Он [юный негодяй] при всём своём нахальстве никак не мог там [в доме дяди Сандро] показаться. Более того. Ему пришлось совсем уехать из наших мест (Искандер 3). …Despite his considerable effrontery, he [the young reprobate] did not dare make an appearance there [at Uncle Sandro's]. More than that, he had to get out of our part of the world altogether (3a). ♦ …С момента исключения [из Союза писателей] и до самого моего отъезда в декабре 1980 года ни в одной советской газете моё имя не было упомянуто ни разу. Больше того, чиновники из Союза писателей делали вид, что они о таком писателе даже не слышали… (Войнович 1). …From the moment I was expelled [from the Writers' Union] until I left the country, in December 1980, my name was not mentioned in a single Soviet newspaper. Moreover, the officials in the Writers' Union pretended not to have ever heard of a writer named Voinovich… (1a). ♦ …Остаётся признать, что сюр-интендант Ратабон умышленно не предупредил труппу об уничтожении театра. Более того, он скрыл всякие приготовления к этому… (Булгаков 5). We must… conclude that Superintendent Ratabon had deliberately refrained from informing the company of the imminent demolition of its theater. Even worse, he concealed all the preparations for this action… (5a).

Б-177 • БО́ЛЕЕ ⟨БО́ЛЬШЕ⟩ ЧЕМ… [AdvP; these forms only; modif (intensif); fixed WO] extremely, to the highest degree: more than [AdjP] or [AdvP]; a more-than-[AdjP] + [NP]; [lim.] (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) couldn't be more [AdjP]; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is) nothing if not [AdjP]; stranger than strange ⟨better than good, worse than bad etc⟩.

…[Наши предки] остались верными начальстволюбию, и только слегка позволили себе пособолезновать и попенять на своего более чем странного градоначальника (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). They [our forebears] remained faithful to archophilism, and only in passing allowed themselves to complain and reproach their more-than-strange town governor (1a). ♦ Ваше предложение более чем своевременно. Your suggestion is nothing if not timely.

Б-178 • ВСЁ БО́ЛЕЕ И БО́ЛЕЕ; ВСЁ БО́ЛЬШЕ И БО́ЛЬШЕ [AdvP; these forms only; adv (intensif); fixed WO] used to show increasing intensification of some action, feeling etc: more and more.

Он [Обломов] каждый день всё более и более дружился с хозяйкой: о любви и в ум ему не приходило… Он сближался с Агафьей Матвеевной — как будто подвигался к огню, от которого становится всё теплее и теплее, но которого любить нельзя (Гончаров 1). He [Oblomov] was becoming more and more friendly with [his landlady] every day; the thought of love never entered his head…. He simply drew closer to Agafya Matveyevna as to a fire which makes one feel warmer and warmer, but is not loved (1b).

Б-179 • НЕ БО́ЛЕЕ ⟨НЕ БО́ЛЬШЕ⟩ (ТОГО́) [these forms only; usu. sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] just what was stated, named, and not sth. more significant: (and) nothing more; (and) that's all; [lim.] (and) that's the extent of it.

«А смерть… вы её, вероятно, видали близко в своей жизни… ведь она только смерть, не более» (Богданов 1). "As for death…. I am sure you have seen it close up sometime in your life. Death, after all, is only that and nothing more" (1a).

Б-180 • БОЛЕ́ЗНИ РО́СТА [NP; fixed WO] 1. [usu. pl] the emotional problems and rebelliousness one experiences during adolescence: growing pains.

2. [pl only] difficulties that arise in the developmental stages of an enterprise, a new phenomenon in social life etc: growing pains.

Б-181 • ЗВЁЗДНАЯ БОЛЕ́ЗНЬ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] arrogant, capricious behavior of a popular, well-known person (usu. an actor, athlete etc): stardom sickness ⟨fever, disease⟩.

Б-182 • КАК ОТ ЗУБНО́Й БО́ЛИ морщиться, кривиться (от чего) [как + PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (of a person who shows, by recoiling, that he is) distressed, disgusted, or suffering: wince as if in pain ⟨as if one has bitten down on a bad tooth, as if one has bitten on an abscessed tooth, as if one has got a rotten tooth, as if a dentist is drilling into one's teeth, as if a dentist's drill had hit a nerve⟩.

Б-183 • У КОГО́ ЧТО ⟨ЧТО У КОГО́⟩ БОЛИ́Т, ТОТ О ТОМ И ГОВОРИ́Т [saying] a person unceasingly talks about what disturbs or concerns him: ≃ you (always) talk about what ails you; the tongue ever turns to the ailing tooth.

Извините, я долго задержался на этом, но у людей слабость говорить о своём деле. У кого что болит, тот о том и говорит, хотя, может быть, другого твои болячки не интересуют (Рыбаков 1). I'm sorry for going on about it, but then, everybody likes to talk about their profession, or as the saying goes, you talk about what ails you, though maybe your problems are not so interesting to anyone else (1a).

Б-184 • НУ́ ТЕБЯ ⟨его и т.п.⟩ В БОЛО́ТО! highly coll, rather rude when addressed to the interlocutor [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express irritation, anger, contempt directed at s.o. or sth., or a desire to be rid of s.o. or sth.: ну X-а в болото! ≃ to hell ⟨to blazes⟩ with X!; to the devil with X!; (let X) go to hell ⟨to the devil⟩!; let X rot!; (let person X) go jump in the lake!; (why doesn't person X) beat it ⟨get lost⟩!

«Почему, собственно, я так взволновался из-за того, что Берлиоз попал под трамвай? — рассуждал поэт. — В конечном счёте, ну его в болото!» (Булгаков 9). "Properly speaking, why did I get so upset when Berlioz fell under the streetcar?" the poet argued. "In the final analysis, to blazes with him!" (9a). "Why did I get so upset over Berlioz falling under a streetcar?" the poet reasoned. "In the final analysis, let him rot!" (9c).

Б-185 • ВСЁ БО́ЛЬШЕ [AdvP; Invar; usu. adv; more often this WO] mainly, predominantly: mostly; for the most part; [lim.] most of…

Тут же забрался и Фавори, но говорил мало, а всё больше слушал (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). Favori was also there, but he spoke little and mostly listened (2a). ♦ «Сколько ты времени провёл здесь всего?» — спросил Аркадий. «Года два сряду; потом мы наезжали. Мы вели бродячую жизнь; больше всё по городам шлялись» (Тургенев 2). "How much time did you spend here all together?" asked Arkady. "A couple of years in a row; then we moved around. We led a life of wandering, trudging around towns for the most part" (2g).

Б-186 • СА́МОЕ БО́ЛЬШЕЕ ⟨БОЛЬШО́Е⟩ [AdjP; these forms only; used as a restr marker; fixed WO] to an amount or extent not exceeding the one specified: at (the) most; at the very most; no more than…

«Я устроюсь скоро, очень скоро, Мари». — «Ну, как ты думаешь, с полгода, или…» — «…Месяца два, самое большее…» (Федин 1). "I'll get settled quickly, very quickly, Marie." "Well what do you think, in six months, or…?" "…Two months at the very most…" (1a).

Б-187 • В БОЛЬШИНСТВЕ́ (СВОЁМ) [PrepP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif or sent adv; fixed WO] the significantly larger part of (a specific group of people or things): for the most part; mostly; the majority (of); most (of); the greater part of; predominantly.

В приёмной было людно, посетители, в большинстве женщины, стояли в очереди к окошечкам… (Гроссман 2.) There were lots of people there [in the reception room]; the visitors, mostly women, were standing in line in front of the windows (2a). ♦ …Когда я познакомился ещё с несколькими его коллегами, я заметил, что кагебешники… в большинстве своём очень обидчивы (Войнович 1). …When I got to know others of his colleagues in the KGB, I observed that the majority are quick to take offense (1a).

Б-188 • ПО БОЛЬШО́Й играть, ходить coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to play cards) for large sums of money: X играет по большой ≃ X plays for high stakes.

Б-189 • САМ БОЛЬШО́Й obs, substand [AdjP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, male); fixed WO] (one is) entirely independent in his actions and judgments, acts as he chooses: X сам большой ≃ X is his own boss ⟨master, man⟩.

Б-190 • ПО БОЛЬШО́МУ ⟨ПО-БОЛЬШО́МУ⟩ euph, coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (with the infin implied), usu. with хотеть, нужно etc] to move one's bowels: do one's business; do ⟨go, make⟩ number two; take a crap.

Б-191 • ВЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЛЕТЕ́ТЬ БО́МБОЙ ⟨КАК БО́МБА⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to run into some place swiftly, hurriedly: X влетел как бомба ≃ X flew ⟨burst⟩ in like a bolt of lightning; X barreled in.

Б-192 • С БОРОДО́Й coll [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: анекдот, шутка etc)] (of an anecdote, joke etc) old, stale, hackneyed: so old it has whiskers ⟨moss⟩ on it; as old as the hills; a chestnut; (pretty) tired.

Б-193 • В БО́РОДУ ⟨В УСЫ́⟩ смеяться, усмехаться и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to laugh) to o.s., (grin) unnoticeably etc: laugh in ⟨grin into, chuckle into⟩ one's beard; laugh up ⟨in⟩ one's sleeve.

А вор-новотор, сделавши такое пакостное дело, стоит, брюхо поглаживает да в бороду усмехается (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). And Thief-Among-Thieves, though he'd done such a dastardly deed, stands rubbing his belly and grinning into his beard (1a).

Б-194 • ЗА ЧТО БОРО́ЛИСЬ, НА ТО И НАПОРО́ЛИСЬ [saying, contemp.] what we (you etc) have fought for and achieved has turned out to work against us (you etc): ≃ what we ⟨you, they⟩ fought for has been our ⟨your, their⟩ undoing; their ⟨our, your⟩ efforts backfired on them ⟨us, you⟩.

Парадокс — я, который хочет нового больше всех, сам оказался жертвой этих новых отношений между мужчиной и женщиной. За что боролись — на то и напоролись (Лимонов 1). A paradox. I myself, who want the new more than anyone, proved to be the victim of these new relationships between man and woman. "What we fought for has been our undoing" (1a).

Б-195 • БОРО́ТЬСЯ С (САМИ́М) СОБО́Й [VP; subj: human] to try to overcome a certain feeling or desire in o.s., try to resolve an inner conflict: X боролся с собой ≃ X struggled ⟨wrestled⟩ with himself; X did battle with himself; X fought an internal battle; [lim.] X tried to stop himself (from doing sth.); X tried to force himself (to do sth.).

Космонавт вообще любил драться. Вернее, не то чтобы любил — приходилось. Когда он видел какую-нибудь «морду», ему всегда хотелось врезать в неё. Он боролся с собой, воспитывал себя, но не получалось (Евтушенко 2). The cosmonaut liked fighting in general. Actually, it wasn't that he liked to fight—he had to. Whenever he saw a troublemaker, he wanted to smash his ugly face. He tried to stop himself, practiced self-control, but it didn't help (2a).

Б-196 • ВЫБРА́СЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́БРОСИТЬ ⟨БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ, ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́КИНУТЬ, ВЫШВЫ́РИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ШВЫРНУТЬ⟩ ЗА́ БОРТ кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect; often past passive Part выброшен, выброшенный etc; usu. this WO] to dispose of sth. considered useless, dismiss s.o. considered unsuitable: X выбросил Y-а за борт ≃ X threw Y overboard ⟨over the side⟩; X jettisoned Y; [in contexts of firing] X gave person Y the boot ⟨the sack, the ax⟩.

Неперестроившихся делили на две группы: одним следовало помочь, других — выбросить за борт, как безнадёжных (Мандельштам 2). The "unreformed" were divided into two groups: those who could be "helped" to see the light and those it only remained to throw overboard as incorrigible (2a).

Б-197 • ЗА БОРТО́М оказаться, остаться, очутиться [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or concr)] (to end up being) rejected, not included in sth.: X оказался за бортом ≃ X was left out (of sth.); X was thrown out; person X was counted out; person X was left on the sidelines ⟨out in the cold⟩.

В третий «Камень» Мандельштам вернул несколько стихотворений, которые раньше оставались за бортом… (Мандельштам 2). In the third edition of Stone M[andelstam] included a few poems he had left out in the previous editions… (2a).

Б-198 • С БО́РУ ДА С СО́СЕНКИ набрать, собрать кого-что, собраться и т.п.; С БО́РУ ПО СО́СЕНКЕ; И С БО́РУ И С СО́СЕНКИ all coll, disapprov [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr); fixed WO] (to assemble people or, less often, things, or to come together) unsystematically, arbitrarily: (take ⟨choose⟩ people etc) at random ⟨randomly, haphazardly⟩; a random collection ⟨assortment⟩; [lim.] scratch crew ⟨team⟩; a mixed bag ⟨bunch⟩.

На каждом объекте люди с бору да сосенки, во всём ни складу ни ладу… (Иоффе 1). People are chosen at random to do certain jobs, no rhyme or reason to it at all (1a).

Б-199 • СО́РОК БО́ЧЕК АРЕСТА́НТОВ наговорить highly coll [NP$_{accus}$; Invar; obj; fixed WO] (to produce) an outpouring of (usu. empty) words: (a lot of) hot air; (a lot of) garbage ⟨blather⟩.

Б-200 • БЕЗДО́ННАЯ БО́ЧКА coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. [usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human)] a person who can drink a lot of alcohol without getting drunk: X — бездонная бочка ≃ X drinks like he's got a hollow leg; X can really hold his liquor.

2. [subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. a noun denoting an enterprise), or obj] sth. that requires perpetual monetary investments (which fail to bring about the desired result): X is like a bottomless pit; X sucks up s.o.'s money; spending money on X is like pouring your money down the drain.

Б-201 • БО́ЧКА ДАНАЙД lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] futile, endless work: Danaidean task.

< From Greek mythology. The Danaidae were the 50 daughters of Danaus, 49 of whom were condemned eternally to pour water into a leaky vessel in Hades for having killed their husbands on their wedding night.

Б-202 • КАК БО́ЧКА highly coll [как + NP; Invar] 1. пить ~ [adv (intensif)] (to drink liquor) in large quantities: like a fish ⟨a sailor⟩; like there's no tomorrow.

2. толстый ~ [modif (intensif)] extremely rotund: (be) (as) fat as a (stuffed) pig; (look ⟨be⟩) like the side of a house; (be) as round as a barrel; (be) (as) big as a blimp ⟨a balloon⟩.

Б-203 • ПОРОХОВА́Я БО́ЧКА; ПОРОХОВО́Й ПО́ГРЕБ [NP; fixed WO] a dangerous, potentially explosive situation or thing that may bring about drastic repercussions: powder keg.

«…Ты знаешь, на какой пороховой бочке мы живём, в какую клоаку превратился наш остров… Тридцать девять одних только зарегистрированных политических партий. Масса экстремистских групп. Идиотская мода на марксизм распространяется, как инфлуэнца» (Аксёнов 7). "You are well aware that we are living on a powder keg… and you know what a sewer our Island has become. Thirty-nine officially registered political parties. Any number of extremist groups. And Marxism spreading like the flu" (7a).

Б-204 • ВО ВСЯ́КОЙ ⟨В КА́ЖДОЙ⟩ БО́ЧКЕ ЗАТЫ́ЧКА; ВСЯ́КОЙ ⟨КА́ЖДОЙ⟩ БО́ЧКЕ ЗАТЫ́ЧКА all highly coll, disapprov [NP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a meddlesome person who wants to take part in everything that is going on: X — ко всякой бочке затычка ≃ X has a finger in every pie; X makes everything his business; X is a busybody ⟨a buttinsky⟩; X butts into everything.

Б-205 • КО ВСЯ́КОЙ ⟨К КА́ЖДОЙ⟩ БО́ЧКЕ ЗАТЫ́ЧКА highly coll [NP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who is made to do all kinds of jobs, tasks etc, a person who serves in whatever capacity needed: X — ко всякой бочке затычка ≃ X is a general factotum; [lim.] X is chief cook and bottlewasher.

Б-206 • несёт от кого КАК ОТ ПИВНО́Й ⟨ВИ́ННОЙ⟩ БО́ЧКИ highly coll, disapprov [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif)] (of a person who has consumed plenty of alcohol and gives off) a very strong, foul odor: от X-а несёт как от пивной бочки ≃ X smells ⟨reeks⟩ like a beer barrel ⟨like (stale) alcohol⟩; X smells ⟨reeks⟩ as if he has been drinking hard.

Б-207 • КАТИ́ТЬ/ПОКАТИ́ТЬ БО́ЧКУ на кого highly coll [VP; subj: human] to blame s.o., charge s.o. (usu. a person who is not at fault) with some wrongdoing (for which he is subsequently punished): X катит бочку на Y-а ≃ X is laying ⟨trying to lay⟩ the blame on Y; X is making ⟨trying to make⟩ Y a scapegoat ⟨a whipping boy, a fall guy⟩; X is passing the buck to Y; X is pinning ⟨trying to pin, sticking, trying to stick⟩ it ⟨the blame⟩ on Y.

Б-208 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ С БО́Ю что [VP] 1. mil [subj: collect or human (pl)] to capture the opponent's fortifications, territory etc by means of battle: X-ы взяли с бою Y ≃ Xs took Y by force ⟨by storm⟩.

Жители, издали завидев приближающееся войско, разбежались… и окопались в неприступной позиции. Пришлось брать с бою эту позицию… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The residents, having seen the troops approaching, had scattered… and entrenched themselves in an inaccessible position. The position would have to be taken by force… (1a). On seeing the approaching soldiers, the inhabitants had fled… entrenching themselves in an impregnable position. This position would have to be taken by storm (1b).

2. [subj: human] to obtain sth. by expending great effort, acting very resolutely: X берёт Y с бою ≃ X fights (tooth and nail) for Y; X sweats for Y; X goes all out for Y; X goes to great pains ⟨lengths⟩ to get Y.

[author's usage] …Другой крупы в тот год нельзя было купить в Торфопродукте, да и ячневую-то с бою… (Солженицын 6). …No other grain could be bought in Torfoprodukt that year, and even the barley you had to fight for… (6a).

Б-209 • БОЮ́СЬ СКАЗА́ТЬ ⟨НАЗВА́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ coll [VP; 1st pers sing only; fixed WO] (often used as a response to a question) I hesitate to say because I am not positive: I'm not sure ⟨certain⟩; I can't say for sure; I don't know for sure; (it's) hard to say.

«Фрадковы уже переехали?» — «Боюсь сказать, я их давно не видел». "Have the Fradkovs moved yet?" "I'm not sure—I haven't seen them in quite a while."

Б-210 • БРАЗДЫ́ ПРАВЛЕ́НИЯ elev, occas. humor [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] governing power, rule, leadership: the reins of government ⟨of power⟩.

«Он [Людовик Святой] вздумал пойти в Иерусалим и передал бразды правления своей матери» (Толстой 2). "He [Louis the Pious] took it into his head to go to Jerusalem and handed over the reins of government to his mother" (2b).

Б-211 • БРАНЬ НА ВОРОТУ́ НЕ ВИ́СНЕТ [saying] verbal abuse, ridicule etc should be ignored inasmuch as it can cause no real harm: ≃ hard words break no bones; sticks and stones may ⟨will⟩ break my bones, but names ⟨words⟩ will never hurt me.

Б-212 • ВАШ БРАТ coll [NP; sing only; often foll. by an appos denoting the class of people in question; when used as obj or (less often) subj, usu. refers to the class as a whole; when used as subj-compl with copula, nom only (subj: human), usu. refers to a specific individual within that class; fixed WO] (you and) a person or persons similar to you with regard to position, profession, social status, views etc (more often of males): [when used as obj or subj] people ⟨men, guys, fellows etc⟩ like you; the likes of you; [usu. when foll. by an appos] you writers ⟨workers etc⟩; [lim.] your kind ⟨sort⟩; your lot; those ⟨people⟩ of your ilk; [when used as subj-compl] one of you (writers ⟨workers etc⟩); one of your kind ⟨sort⟩; one of your fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩; your fellow writer ⟨worker etc⟩; [lim.] one of your ilk.

[Анна Петровна:] Денег у меня нет и не будет для вашего брата! (Чехов 1). [A.P.:] I have no money and I shall never have it for people like you (1a). ♦ «Разное [я] в жизни испытала; вашего брата — мужиков — должна бы уж хорошо знать» (Копелев 1). "I've seen a lot in life; I should know you men well by now" (1a).

Б-213 • НАШ БРАТ coll [NP; sing only; often foll. by an appos denoting the class of people in question; when used as obj or (less often) subj, usu. refers to the class as a whole; when used as subj-compl with copula, nom only (subj: human), usu. refers to a specific individual within that class; fixed WO] (we or I and) a person or persons similar to us or me with regard to position, profession, social status, views etc (more often of males): [when used as obj or subj] people ⟨men, guys, fellows etc⟩ like us ⟨me⟩; the likes of us ⟨me⟩; [usu. when foll. by an appos] we ⟨us⟩ writers ⟨workers etc⟩; our ⟨my⟩ fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩; [lim.] our (own) kind ⟨sort⟩; those ⟨people⟩ of our ilk; [when used as subj-compl] one of us (writers ⟨workers etc⟩); one of our kind ⟨sort⟩; one of our ⟨my⟩ fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩; our ⟨my⟩ fellow writer ⟨worker etc⟩; [lim.] one of our ilk.

[Пепел:] Ты барин… было у тебя время, когда ты нашего брата за человека не считал… (Горький 3). [P.:] You're a gentleman, and once upon a time you didn't look on people like us as human beings (3d). ♦ «Она умна, — повторял он [чиновник], — мила, образованна, на нашего брата и не посмотрит» (Герцен 1). "She is intelligent," he [the clerk] repeated, "nice, cultured, but she won't look at fellows like us" (1a).

Б-214 • СВОЙ БРАТ coll [NP; sing only; often foll. by an appos denoting the class of people in question; when used as obj or (less often) subj, usu. refers to the class as a whole; when used as subj-compl with copula, nom only (subj: human), usu. refers to a specific individual within that class; fixed WO] a person or persons similar to the person or persons specified (by the appositive and/or context) with regard to position, profession, social status, views etc (more often of males): [when used as obj or subj] people ⟨men, guys, fellows etc⟩ like us ⟨me, you etc⟩; the likes of us ⟨me, you, him, her, them⟩; [usu. when foll. by an appos] our ⟨my, your, his, her, their⟩ fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩; [lim.] our ⟨my, your, his, her, their⟩ (own) kind ⟨sort⟩; those ⟨people⟩ of our ⟨your, their⟩ ilk; [when used as subj-compl] one of us ⟨you, them⟩; one of us ⟨you⟩ writers ⟨workers etc⟩; one of our ⟨your, their⟩ kind ⟨sort⟩; one of our ⟨my, your, his, her, their⟩ fellow writers ⟨workers etc⟩; our ⟨my, your, his, her, their⟩ fellow writer ⟨worker etc⟩; [lim.] one of our ⟨your, their⟩ ilk.

Обычно у Крымова складывались хорошие отношения со строевыми командирами, вполне сносные со штабными, а раздражённые и не всегда искренние со своим же братом политическими работниками (Гроссман 2). As a rule, he [Krymov] was able to establish good relations with officers in the field, tolerable relations with staff officers, and only awkward, rather insincere relations with his fellow political-workers (2a). ♦ Слуги также привязались к нему [Базарову], хотя он над ними подтрунивал: они чувствовали, что он всё-таки свой брат, не барин (Тургенев 2). The servants also grew attached to him [Bazarov], though he was always deriding them: they felt that none the less he was one of them, and not a master (2f).

Б-215 • СВОЙ СВОЕМУ́ ПОНЕВО́ЛЕ БРАТ ⟨ДРУГ⟩ [saying] people who share kinship, common interests, occupations etc usu. support and help one another (albeit sometimes reluctantly): ≃ birds of a feather flock together; [lim.] blood is thicker than water; the devil is kind to his own.

Несколько зная язык, он писал статью начерно, оставляя пробелы, вкрапливая русские фразы и требуя от Фёдора Константиновича дословного перевода своих передовичных словец: …чудеса в решете… пришла беда — растворяй ворота… свой своему поневоле брат (Набоков 1). Having a smattering of the language, he wrote his article out in rough, with gaps and Russian phrases interspersed, and demanded from Fyodor a literal translation of the usual phrases found in leaders: …wonders never cease… troubles never come singly… birds of a feather flock together… (1a).

Б-216 • НА БРА́ТА ⟨НА́ НОС⟩ (приходится, давать что и т.п.) coll [PrepP; these forms only; prep obj] each (gets), (to give) to each: for ⟨to⟩ every person ⟨man etc⟩; (to) a person ⟨a customer, a man etc⟩; per person ⟨customer, man etc⟩; a head; apiece.

[Расплюев:] …Ведь они [англичане] потому такими и стали, что у них теснота, духота, земли нет, по аршину на брата не приходится… (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [R.:] They [the English] got that way because they're so crowded, packed in like sardines. Not a square yard of land per man (2a).

Б-217 • С БРА́ТА ⟨С НО́СА, С ГОЛОВЫ́⟩ (брать, получать что и т.п.) coll [PrepP; these forms only; prep obj] (to take, get sth.) from each: from each ⟨every⟩ person ⟨man etc⟩; from each (and every) one (of us ⟨you, them⟩); a head; apiece; each.

«Я здесь договорился с местной властью: вечером устраиваем сольный концерт. По полтиннику с носа» (Максимов 3). "I've arranged with the local authorities—we're putting on a one-man concert tonight. Half a ruble a head" (3a).

Б-218 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ НА СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ что, occas. кого [when obj: human or collect, the implication is that one undertakes to do sth. for or involving the person or group in question] to undertake to carry out sth. or to accept responsibility for sth.: [obj: inanim] X взял на себя Y ≃ X took Y upon himself; X took it upon himself to do Y; X took Y on ⟨took on Y⟩; X assumed (responsibility for) Y; X took care of Y; [lim.] X handled ⟨volunteered to handle⟩ Y; || X-у пришлось ⟨X был вынужден и т.п.⟩ взять на себя Y ≃ Y fell onto X's shoulders; || [obj: human or collect] X взял Y-а на себя ≃ X took ⟨took care of, handled⟩ Y.

Не странно ли это: вот этот человек, недавно ещё совершенно незнакомый, сейчас уже знает обо мне так много, что взял на себя устройство моей судьбы (Аллилуева 2). Wasn't it strange, though: here was a man who recently had been a total stranger, and already he knew so much about me, had taken upon himself to settle my fate for me (2a). ♦ «Но согласится ли она?! — воскликнул Аслан. — Она же меня любит. И как я ей в глаза посмотрю после этого?» — «Я всё беру на себя», — сказал дядя Сандро… (Искандер 5). "But will she consent?" Aslan exclaimed. "She loves me. How will I ever look her in the eye?" "I'll take care of everything," Uncle Sandro said… (5a).

2. ~ что to assume leadership of sth.: X взял Y на себя ≃ X took charge ⟨control, command⟩ of Y; X took over Y; X undertook to direct Y.

Я знаю, что вы терпеть не можете административную работу, но всё же вам придётся взять на себя отдел патентов — больше некому. I know you can't stand administrative work, but nonetheless you have to take over the patent division—there's no one else who can do it.

3. ~ что to declare o.s. accountable (for another's guilt, wrongdoing, crime etc): X взял Y на себя ≃ X took the blame ⟨the rap⟩ for Y; X took responsibility for Y; X claimed ⟨said etc⟩ that Y was (all) X's (own) doing.

«Хочешь, возьму на себя дела ста восьмидесяти миллионов по обвинению в измене Родине?» (Алешковский 1). "Listen, if you want I'll take the rap for all the hundred and eighty million cases of treason against the motherland" (1a). ♦ На суде заведующий всё взял на себя, и остальных продавцов не тронули…

(Искандер 4). The manager took full responsibility in court, and the other salesmen were not touched (4a).

Б-219 • МНО́ГО НА СЕБЯ́ БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ coll, rather impol when addressed to the interlocutor [VP; subj: human] to overestimate one's capabilities, exceed the limits of one's authority, act in a way one has no right to etc: X много на себя берёт ≃ X is biting off more than he can chew; X is taking on more than he can handle; X is getting in over his head; X is going too far; [in refer. to one exceeding one's authority] X is (way) out of line; X is overstepping his bounds.

[Нина:] [Мой жених] волевой, целеустремлённый… Много он на себя не берёт, но он хозяин своему слову. Не то что некоторые (Вампилов 4). [N.:] He's [my fiancé is] headstrong and purposeful…. He won't take on more than he can handle, but he's as good as his word. Not like some… (4a).

Б-220 • КАК БРЕВНО́ highly coll, disapprov [как + NP (1st var.) or NP (2nd var.); these forms only; fixed WO (2nd var.)] 1. лежать, валяться ~. Also: БРЕВНО́ БРЕВНО́М highly coll, disapprov [usu. adv] (of a person lying) motionless, indifferent to what is going on about him: lie around ⟨there⟩ like a bump on a log.

2. глуп(ый), туп(ой) и т.п. ~. Also: туп(ой) КАК ВА́ЛЕНОК highly coll, disapprov [modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] extremely stupid or slow-witted person: X глуп как бревно ≃ X is (as) thick as a brick ⟨a short plank, two short planks⟩; X is (as) thick as pig shit.

Б-221 • БРЕД СИ́ВОЙ КОБЫ́ЛЫ highly coll, rude [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: идея, статья, заявление, предложение, это, всё это etc); fixed WO] (some idea, article, statement, proposal etc is) nonsense, absurdity: (a bunch of) baloney; raving nonsense; horsefeathers; hogwash; a load of bull ⟨rubbish⟩; bullshit.

Хотя сказали много умного и даже верного, Болтун заявил, что всё это бред сивой кобылы (Зиновьев 1). Although much of what was said was intelligent and even true, Chatterer said that it was nothing but raving nonsense (1a). ♦ «Вообрази, [Конский] пустил по нью-йоркскому фото снобистскую идею — русское фото нуждается в переводе на западные языки. …Если же ты где-нибудь говоришь, что это бред сивой кобылы, тебя тут же зачисляют в восточные варвары…» (Аксёнов 12). "Just imagine, he's [Konsky has] started this snob idea in New York, that Russian photography requires translation into Western languages…. And if you dare say anywhere that it's all bullshit, you immediately become an Eastern Barbarian…" (12a).

Б-222 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, КАК БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ В БРЕДУ́ ⟨В ТРА́НСЕ⟩ [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif)] 1. повторять, говорить, твердить и т.п. ~ (to repeat, keep saying sth. etc) in an incoherent, disconnected fashion, as if not in control of o.s.: as if in a daze ⟨a trance, a stupor⟩; as if delirious.

«Ты, ты!.. — говорил он, целуя опять у ней руки и волнуясь у ног её. — Одна ты! Боже мой, какое счастье! — твердил он, как в бреду. — И ты думаешь — возможно обмануть тебя, уснуть после такого пробуждения, не сделаться героем!» (Гончаров 1). "You are! You are!" he said, again kissing her hands, overcome with emotion at her feet. "You alone! My God, what happiness!" he repeated, as if delirious. "And you think I could deceive you, fall asleep after such an awakening, and not become a hero!" (1d).

2. ходить, делать что, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. ~ (of a person who is) behaving sluggishly, as if not fully aware of what is going on or of what he is doing: as if in a daze ⟨a trance, a stupor, a torpor⟩; as if delirious; (s.o.) seems delirious.

Ко мне беспрерывно прибегают знакомые с новостями, глаза у всех безумные, люди как в бреду (Гроссман 2). People I know are constantly coming round with bits of news. Their eyes are mad and they seem quite delirious (2a).

Б-223 • РАЗРЕША́ТЬСЯ/РАЗРЕШИ́ТЬСЯ ОТ БРЕ́МЕНИ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (кем) lit [subj: female] to bear a child: X разрешилась от бремени (Y-ом) ≃ X gave birth (to Y); X brought Y into the world; X brought forth Y.

Одна из невесток — Маша — была на последнем месяце и разрешилась от бремени сразу после переселения к нам (Рыбаков 1). One of her daughters-in-law, Masha, was in her last month of pregnancy and gave birth soon after moving to us (1a).

2. ~ чем humor to produce sth. (often a literary work) after lengthy preparation, effort: X разрешился от бремени Y-ом ≃ X (finally ⟨recently etc⟩) brought forth Y; (in the end ⟨at long last etc⟩) X came out with Y.

Б-224 • ПРОБИ́ТЬ БРЕШЬ в чём [VP; subj: abstr; usu. this WO] to do damage, harm to sth.: X пробил брешь в Y-е ≃ X put a dent in Y; X dealt a (serious) blow to Y.

Покупку швейной машины придётся отложить: это пробило бы большую брешь в нашем бюджете. We'll have to put off buying a sewing machine—that would really put a dent in our budget.

Б-225 • О́СТРЫЙ КАК БРИ́ТВА (язык) [AdjP; modif] (s.o. is) sarcastic, caustic, resourceful in a conversation, quick and clever with words: у X-а язык острый как бритва ≃ X has a tongue like a razor; X has a razorlike tongue ⟨wit⟩; X has a razor-sharp tongue ⟨wit⟩; X is tart-tongued ⟨sharp-tongued⟩.

…«Агент реакции» оказался вовсе не страшен. Во-первых, он выказал полнейшее отсутствие всякого обскурантизма и совершенно свободно говорил о новой литературе… Изрядное впечатление произвёл и острый как бритва язык гостя (Акунин 6). The "agent of reaction" proved not to be frightening at all… In the first place, he demonstrated a total absence of any obscurantism whatever and spoke quite freely about the latest literature… The guest also produced quite an impression with his razor-sharp tongue (6a).

Б-226 • НЕ В БРОВЬ, А (ПРЯ́МО) В ГЛАЗ попадать, бить и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: слова, замечание etc); fixed WO] (to say sth.) aptly, addressing what is most essential; (some criticism, observation etc is) apt, exactly right: hit the nail on the head; hit the bull's-eye ⟨bull's eye⟩; hit the mark; (be) right on target ⟨on the mark⟩.

Б-227 • (И) БРО́ВЬЮ ⟨ГЛА́ЗОМ, У́ХОМ, НО́СОМ, У́СОМ⟩ НЕ ВЕДЁТ/НЕ ПОВЁЛ; (И) БРО́ВЬЮ НЕ ШЕВЕЛЬНУ́Л all coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv past; usu. this WO] one does not outwardly react to sth., does not display his emotions toward sth. said or done in his presence: X и бровью не повёл ≃ X didn't bat ⟨blink⟩ an eye ⟨an eyelid⟩; X didn't (so much as) turn a hair; X didn't raise an eyebrow; [lim.] X didn't (even) seem to hear; X didn't show a flicker of interest.

«Борода-то у вас настоящая?» — спросила Таня. «Можете дёрнуть», — улыбнулся Востоков. Она с удовольствием дёрнула. Востоков даже и глазом не повёл (Аксёнов 7). "Is your beard real?" "You may pull it, if you like," Vostokov said, smiling. She gave it a good, stiff tug. Vostokov did not blink an eye (7a).

Б-228 • (СТО́ИТ) ТО́ЛЬКО БРО́ВЬЮ ⟨У́СОМ⟩ ПОВЕСТИ́ ⟨ШЕВЕЛЬНУ́ТЬ⟩ (кому) coll [VP, impers, pres or past (var. with стоит); infin only, impers predic (var. without стоит); a clause in a compound sent or the main clause in a complex sent (foll. by a как- or чтобы-clause)] a hint or indication from s.o. is sufficient (to get another to do sth.): X-у стоит только бровью повести ≃ all X has to do is ⟨X need only⟩ drop a hint ⟨say the word, give the signal⟩; [lim.] X just has to snap his fingers.

Б-229 • НЕ ЗНА́Я ⟨НЕ СПРОСЯ́СЬ⟩ БРО́ДУ, НЕ СУ́ЙСЯ В ВО́ДУ [saying] do not attempt sth. unfamiliar to you unprepared (said when a person fails at some undertaking because of his lack of knowledge of it; also said as a warning against acting hastily, rashly): ≃ look before you leap.

…[Полицмейстер] мне заметил: «…Я бы ему, дураку, вздул бы спину, — не суйся, мол, в воду, не спросясь броду, — да и отпустил бы его восвояси, — все бы и были довольны…» (Герцен 1). …He [the politsmeyster] observed: "…I would have given the fool a good drubbing—to teach him to look before he leaps—and would have sent him home. Everyone would have been satisfied…" (1a).

Б-230 • ХОТЬ БРОСЬ substand [Invar; predic with subj: human, animal, concr, or abstr] (a person or thing is) useless: good for nothing; no good (at all); of no value (at all); worthless.

Пятьдесят пять лет ходил он на белом свете с уверенностью, что всё, что он ни делает, иначе и лучше сделано быть не может. И вдруг теперь в две недели Анисья доказала ему, что он — хоть брось… (Гончаров 1). He had lived in the world for fifty-five years in the conviction that nothing he did could be done better or differently, but it took Anisya only two weeks to show him that he was good for nothing… (1b).

Б-231 • ПИТЬ/ВЫ́ПИТЬ (НА) БРУДЕРША́ФТ ⟨НА ТЫ obs⟩ (с кем) [VP; subj: human; if there is no obj, subj: pl] to drink a special ritual toast indicating that camaraderie, a sort of brotherhood, has developed between two (or occas. more) individuals (the participants clink and drink their glasses, kiss, and begin to address each other using the familiar «ты» and/or by their first names): X с Y-ом ⟨X и Y⟩ выпили на брудершафт ≃ X and Y drank Brüderschaft ⟨brotherhood, fraternity⟩.

Когда подали шампанское, все поздравили меня, и я выпил через руку «на ты» с Дубковым и Дмитрием и поцеловался с ними (Толстой 2). When the champagne was served everyone congratulated me and I drank Bruderschaft [sic], with linked arms, with Dubkov and Dmitri, and embraced them (2b).

Б-232 • ПО́ЛЗАТЬ НА БРЮ́ХЕ (перед кем) highly coll, derog [VP; subj: human] to be servile to, fawn before, s.o.: X ползает на брюхе перед Y-ом ≃ X crawls on his belly (before ⟨to⟩ Y); X grovels (before Y); X kowtows ⟨bows and scrapes⟩ (to Y).

Бретейль вспомнил [фон Шаумберга] и поморщился… Да, эти [немцы] чувствуют, что они победили. Они опьянели от победы… Зачем говорить с таким человеком о сотрудничестве? Его не сумели поставить на колени. Теперь он заставит нас ползать на брюхе (Эренбург 4). Breteuil remembered von Schaumberg and frowned…. Yes; these Germans realized they were the conquerors. They were drunk with victory…. What was the use of talking to such a man about collaboration? He had not been brought to his knees before and now he was forcing the French to crawl on their bellies (4a).

Б-233 • ВСЕ ТАМ БУ́ДЕМ [saying] everybody will die eventually: ≃ we all have to go sometime; no one lives forever; [lim.] all men are mortal.

Посреди Старопанской площади… велись оживлённые разговоры, вызванные известием о тяжёлой болезни Клавдии Ивановны. Общее мнение собравшихся горожан сводилось к тому, что «все там будем»… (Ильф и Петров 1). In the middle of the square… an animated conversation was in progress following the news of Claudia Ivanovna's stroke. The general opinion of the assembled citizens could have been summed up as "We all have to go sometime"… (1a).

Б-234 • ВИ́ДНО БУ́ДЕТ [VP; impers; Invar; usu. a clause in a compound sent preceded by another clause; often after a там, а дальше etc] it will become clear in time, as matters progress, how one or s.o. should act or what some outcome will be: (I will ⟨we can, you should etc⟩ do sth. and) see what happens; we shall ⟨we'll, I'll⟩ see; [lim.] we'll ⟨let's, I'll etc⟩ see what's to be done; we ⟨you etc⟩ can sort things out later.

«Практически мой вывод такой, что мы готовы заключить с вами договор, а там видно будет» (Солженицын 2). "The practical conclusion I draw is that we are prepared to sign a contract with you, and see what happens" (2a).

Б-235 • ЖИ́РНО БУ́ДЕТ кому, для кого; БО́ЛЬНО ⟨СЛИ́ШКОМ⟩ ЖИ́РНО (БУДЕТ) all highly coll [VP; impers or with subj: это or infin; these forms only; usu. this WO] (s.o.) is not worthy of sth., does not merit sth.: X-у жирно будет ≃ that's too good ⟨nice⟩ for X; that's more than X deserves.

[Олег:] Гена, ты плачешь, когда тебя отец бьёт? [Геннадий:] Как бы не так! Больно жирно ему будет (Розов 2). [O.:] Genna, do you cry when your father hits you? [G.:] Not likely! That'd be too nice for him (2a).

Б-236 • ТО ЛИ (ЕЩЁ) БУ́ДЕТ coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; indep. clause (var. with ещё) or the main clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] some action, phenomenon etc (mentioned in the preceding context) will manifest itself on a larger scale, to a greater degree than it did before: more is coming ⟨on the way⟩; more [NPs] are coming ⟨on the way⟩; there's more to come; there will be more [NPs]; you ain't seen nothin' yet; this is just the beginning (of sth.); I ⟨we etc⟩ haven't even begun to… yet; [lim.] this is just the tip of the iceberg.

«Как нас однако уже успели воспитать (то ли ещё будет!..): что что-нибудь непременно у тебя должно быть, что как-нибудь именно так должно быть, кроме, как есть, что как-нибудь надо, чтоб было» (Битов 2). …How they've managed to condition us already (more to come!): that you absolutely ought to have something, that somehow you ought to have it precisely this way, other than as it is, that somehow you must have it (2a).

Б-237 • ХУ́ДО ⟨ПЛО́ХО⟩ БУ́ДЕТ (кому) coll [VP; impers; these forms only; usu. a clause in a compound sent; preceded by one or more clauses expressing prohibition, warning etc; often after a то, не то, иначе etc] (if s.o. disobeys an order, fails to do what he should do etc) there will be trouble (for him and/or another or others): X-у худо будет ≃ X will be sorry; X will be in hot water; X will have the devil to pay; X will come to a bad end; [when the situation is already bad] things will only get worse.

(Шолохов 5). “One day I rides up to him and says joking like, ‘Time to call a halt, Your Honour—Comrade Melekhov!’ And you should have seen his eyes flash! ‘Just you drop those jokes of yours, or you’ll come to a bad end,’ he says” (5a).

Б-238 • ЧТО БУ́ДЕТ, ТО БУ́ДЕТ [saying] (of an action undertaken without certainty as to its outcome, or of an event the outcome of which is uncertain) what is going to happen will happen the way it is destined to: ≃ what(ever) will be will be; what(ever) happens happens; what(ever) will happen will happen; [lim.] let the chips fall where they may.

«Что будет — то будет, — сказала попадья, — а жаль, если не Владимир Андреевич будет нашим господином» (Пушкин 1). “What will be, will be,” said the priest’s wife. “But it’ll be a pity if Vladimir Andreyevitch does not become our master” (1b).

Б-239 • НАСИ́ЛЬНО МИЛ НЕ БУ́ДЕШЬ [saying] a person cannot be forced to extend his affections to another, nor can he be forced to accept another’s affections: ≃ love cannot be compelled ⟨forced⟩; you can’t force someone ⟨him, her etc⟩ to love ⟨like⟩ you; [lim.] you can lead a horse to water, but you can’t make him ⟨it⟩ drink.

…Я подал заявление об увольнении ввиду возвращения в родной город, моя фабрика прислала запрос с просьбой вернуть меня обратно. Бойцов не хотел меня отпускать. «Чем мы вас обидели?» — «Ничем, — отвечаю, — но так сложились семейные обстоятельства, надо возвращаться домой». — «Ну что ж, — говорит, — насильно мил не будешь» (Рыбаков 1). …I put in a request for a transfer to my home town; my own factory had written to ask whether I could be sent back. Boitsov didn’t want me to go. “How did we offend you?” “You didn’t,” I replied. “Family circumstances, I have to go home.” “Oh well, love can’t be forced,” he said (1a).

Б-240 • БУ́ДТО БЫ 1. [subord Conj; introduces a nominal clause] used to express doubt or uncertainty as to the reliability of what is stated in the clause that follows: that (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) seems to ⟨appears to⟩; that (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) supposedly ⟨allegedly⟩; (a rumor ⟨a message etc⟩) alleging that…

С первой санной оказией из города пришёл слух, будто бы Германия подписала перемирие… (Федин 1). With the first opportunity to use sleds a rumor came from town alleging that Germany had signed an armistice… (1a).

2. [subord Conj; introduces a compar clause] (used to convey the unreal, illusory nature of the comparison) just like it would be if: as if ⟨though⟩; like; [lim.] (so… that) one ⟨it etc⟩ seems to…

Вы так смотрите, будто бы видите меня в первый раз! You’re looking at me as if you were seeing me for the first time!

3. coll [Particle] used to express the speaker’s doubt or uncertainty as to the reliability of the information contained in the statement as well as the source of that information: allegedly; supposedly; ostensibly; apparently; purportedly; [lim.] it seems that…

…Переписывая по случаю летнего времени в беседке сада, он будто бы слышал, как Николай Гаврилович и Владислав Дмитриевич, ходя между собой под руку (чёрточка верная!), говорили о поклоне от их доброжелателей барским крестьянам… (Набоков 1). …While doing his copying “on account of the summer weather in a garden pavilion,” he allegedly heard Nikolay Gavrilovich and Vladislav Dmitrievich as they were strolling arm-in-arm (a not implausible detail), talking about greetings from well-wishers to the serfs… (1a).

Б-241 • (Я) НЕ Я́ БУ́ДУ (, если не…) coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; the main clause in a complex sent; usu. this WO] (used to express certainty that some event or action did take, is taking, or will take place; also used to express one’s firm resolve to do sth.) I am convinced, absolutely certain (of sth.), I am determined (to accomplish sth.): (if sth. is not as stated ⟨as I say etc⟩) I’ll eat my hat; (sth. is as stated ⟨as I say etc⟩) or I’ll eat my hat; …or my name isn’t…; my name’s not… if…; I’ll be hanged ⟨damned⟩ if…; strike me blind ⟨dumb, dead etc⟩ if…; [in limited contexts, in refer. to one’s resolve] I’ll damn well see (to it) that…

«Я как „Семерых козлят“ по радио услыхала, так и сказала себе: „Не я буду, если эта женщина не будет у меня работать“…» (Гинзбург 2). “As soon as I heard the ‘Seven Little Kids’ on the radio, I said to myself, ‘My name’s not Kraevskaya if I don’t get that woman onto my staff…’” (2a).

Б-242 • ЗАГЛЯ́ДЫВАТЬ/ЗАГЛЯНУ́ТЬ В БУ́ДУЩЕЕ ⟨В ЗА́ВТРА, ВПЕРЁД⟩ [VP; subj: human] to (attempt to) envision future events, to contemplate the future: X заглядывает вперёд ≃ X looks into the future; X looks ahead.

[Аркадина:] И у меня правило: не заглядывать в будущее. Я никогда не думаю ни о старости, ни о смерти. Чему быть, того не миновать (Чехов 6). [A.:] And another thing: I make it a strict rule never to look into the future, never to worry about old age or death. What will be, will be (6b).

Б-243 • В БУ́ДУЩЕМ [PrepP; Invar; adv] at some time(s) or during some period yet to come: in the future; tomorrow; someday.

«Думаю, что те знания, которые достал тут, в окопах, пригодятся в будущем…» (Шолохов 3). “I think the knowledge I’ve gained here in the trenches will come in useful in the future…” (3a).

Б-244 • БУДЬ БЛАГОНАДЁЖЕН ⟨БУ́ДЬТЕ БЛАГОНАДЁЖНЫ⟩ obs [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] have complete confidence, have no doubts: have no fear!; fear not!; rest assured; doubt not.

Б-245 • БУДЬ ДОБР ⟨БУ́ДЬТЕ ДО́БРЫ, БУДЬ ЛЮБЕ́ЗЕН, БУ́ДЬТЕ ЛЮБЕ́ЗНЫ⟩ [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. (used to express a polite request) be obliging and do what I am asking you to do: (please ⟨would you⟩) be so kind ⟨good⟩ as to…; would you be kind ⟨good⟩ enough to…; would you please ⟨kindly, mind⟩…; might I trouble you to ⟨for a⟩…; do me a favor and…

[Серебряков:] Друзья мои, пришлите мне чай в кабинет, будьте добры! (Чехов 3). [S.:] My friends, be so kind as to have my tea brought to the study (3a). ♦ В прихожей заверещал звонок… Скрипач поднял голову и попросил: «Откройте дверь, будьте любезны» (Семёнов 1). …The doorbell tinkled in the hall. The violinist lifted his head and said: “Do me a favour and open the door, will you?” (1a).

2. (used to express a demand that may go against the will of the person addressed) do what I am telling you (even if you do not want to): make sure that (you do ⟨don’t do⟩ sth.); be sure (to do ⟨not to do⟩ sth.); be sure and (do sth.); make it a point (not) to…; see that you (do ⟨don’t do⟩ sth.); if you please; [with ironic intonation] please ⟨would you⟩ be so kind as to (not)…; would you be kind enough (not) to…; would you please ⟨kindly, mind⟩ (not)…

«Потрудись отправиться в Орлеан, — сказал Поклен-отец… — и держи экзамен на юридическом факультете. Получи учёную степень. Будь так добр, не провались, ибо денег на тебя ухлопано порядочно» (Булгаков 5). “You will now be kind enough to take a trip to Orléans,” said Poquelin the elder… “and take an examination in jurisprudence. You must get a degree. And see that you don't fail, for I spent plenty of money on you" (5a).

Б-246 • БУДЬ ЗДОРО́В[1] ⟨БУ́ДЬТЕ ЗДОРО́ВЫ⟩ [VP_{imper}; fixed WO] 1. Also: БЫВА́Й ЗДОРО́В ⟨БЫВА́ЙТЕ ЗДОРО́ВЫ⟩ folk, coll [formula phrase; these forms only] used to wish s.o. well upon parting: take care (of yourself ⟨-selves⟩); stay well!; [lim.] take it easy; all the best; good luck (to you).

«Мы ещё увидимся, — сказал он. — Я тебе буду писать». — «Ну, будь здоров» (Грекова 3). "We'll see each other again," he said. "I'll write to you." "Well, all the best" (3a).

2. [formula phrase; these forms only] (used to wish good health to s.o. who has just sneezed) may you be healthy: (God) bless you!; gesundheit!

Кто-то чихнул, и ты не сказал, будь здоров, — штраф (Зиновьев 1). If someone sneezes and you don't say "Bless you"—a fine (1a). ♦ …[Павор] извлёк… большой мокрый платок и принялся сморкаться и чихать. Жалкое зрелище… «Меня этот город доконает… Р-р-рум-чж-ж-жах! Ох…» — «Будьте здоровы», — сказал Виктор (Стругацкие 1). He [Pavor] retrieved a huge, wet handkerchief… and started sneezing and blowing his nose. It was a piteous sight…. "This town is driving me crazy. He-he-hep chuuu! Oh, hell." "Gesundheit," said Victor (1a).

3. Also: БУ́ДЕМ ЗДОРО́ВЫ [formula phrase; these forms only] (used when toasting as a wish for good health) may you (or we all) have good health: (here's) to your (good) health!; to good health!; cheers!

Григорий присел к столу… Оставшееся в бутылке Степан разлил поровну в стаканы, поднял на Григория задёрнутые какой-то дымкой глаза. «За всё хорошее!» — «Будем здоровы!» Чокнулись. Выпили. (Шолохов 5). Grigory seated himself at the table…. Stepan filled their glasses evenly with what was left in the bottle and raised his strangely misted eyes. "To all that's good!" "Your good health!" They clinked glasses and drank (5a).

4. coll, iron [indep. clause; if used as a clause in a complex sent, takes the final position] (let s.o.) get out, go away (used to express one's displeasure with s.o., one's desire to get rid of s.o. etc): (let s.o.) clear out ⟨hit the road⟩!; good riddance!

Люди у нас в цеху хорошие, не поладишь с ними — будь здоров! We've got good people in our shop. If you don't get along with them—clear out!

Б-247 • БУДЬ ЗДОРО́В[2] slang [Invar] 1. [predic (subj: any common noun)] excellent, superior, of the highest quality: topnotch; topflight; first-class; first-rate; one ⟨a, some⟩ helluva…

Попроси Васю помочь с компьютером. Он будь здоров какой специалист. Ask Vasya for help with the computer. He's a topnotch specialist.

2. [usu. adv (intensif)] (used to emphasize the high degree of some quality or the intensity of some activity) very much or many, very strong, big etc: like you wouldn't believe; like nobody's business; really ⟨incredibly⟩ [Adj or Adv]; [lim.] plenty(!).

Больше всех зарабатывают шахтеры — он [Коля] и подался на шахту. Работал он там — будь здоров! Он и умеет работать… (Марченко 1). The biggest wages are earned by miners, so Kolya decided to go down the mines. He worked away there like nobody's business. He liked work and knew how to go about it… (1a).

Б-248 • БУДЬ ТЫ ⟨он и т.п.⟩ НЕЛА́ДЕН highly coll [VP_{imper}; 2nd and 3rd pers only; indep. clause or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] (used to express dissatisfaction, disapproval, displeasure etc) s.o. or sth. (mentioned in the preceding context) is extremely irritating, deserves to be rejected, scorned: blast ⟨curse, damn⟩ you ⟨him etc⟩; the devil take you ⟨him etc⟩; to ⟨the⟩ hell with you ⟨him etc⟩; (this) damn [NP].

После массажей Картучихи, будь она неладна, и осмотра ремонтных мастерских, кормление пеликанов было третьим по силе воздействия успокаивающим средством Александра Петровича (Искандер 3). Next to being massaged by Kartuchikha, blast her, and inspecting the repair shops, feeding the pelicans was third in its power to soothe Alexander Petrovich (3a).

Б-249 • БУДЬ ТЫ ⟨он и т.п.⟩ (ТРИ́ЖДЫ) ПРО́КЛЯТ highly coll [VP_{imper}; 2nd and 3rd pers only; indep. clause or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] (used to express strong dissatisfaction, disapproval, displeasure etc) s.o. or sth. (mentioned in the preceding context) is abhorrent, deserves to be harshly rejected, cursed: будь X (трижды) проклят ≃ (God) damn X (to hell); to ⟨the⟩ hell with X; X can go to (bloody) hell; may X be (thrice) damned!

[Саяпин:] Он (показывает на дверь кабинета Кушака) требует статью. Что будем делать? Так он этого не оставит… [Зилов:] Опять статья! Будь она проклята! (Вампилов 5). [S.:] (Indicating the door to Kushak's office):] He's yelling for the article. What are we going to do? He won't let it drop… [Z.:] The hell with the article (5b).

Б-250 • БУДЬ ЧТО БУ́ДЕТ [imper sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used to emphasize one's determination to pursue a certain course of action—usu. one that may have unwelcome or dangerous repercussions) despite what may happen: come what may; [lim.] come hell or high water; no matter what; let the chips fall where they may; regardless; I'll take my chances.

[Михаил] походил-походил вокруг да около и поехал в район: будь что будет, пускай под суд его отдадут, а он должен увидеть Варвару. Своими глазами (Абрамов 1). He [Mikhail] had walked around and around, and then had gone to the district center: let them take him to court, but come what may he had to see Varvara—with his own eyes (1a).

Б-251 • БУДЬ Я (ТРИ́ЖДЫ) ПРО́КЛЯТ (, если…) highly coll [VP_{imper}; 1st pers only; fixed WO] an oath used by the speaker to emphasize the truth of a statement: I'll be damned ⟨darned, hanged⟩ if…

Б-252 • НЕ ТЕМ БУДЬ ПОМЯ́НУТ obsoles, coll [VP_{imper}; sent adv (parenth); cannot be addressed to the interlocutor; fixed WO] (used after making a negative statement about the characteristics or actions of some person or group with whom the speaker had contact in the past) it is unfortunate that I have nothing better to say about this person (or these people): (I'm) sorry to say; sad to say.

Б-253 • БУ́ДЬТЕ ПОКО́ЙНЫ [VP_{imper}; fixed WO] 1. obs. Also: БУДЬ ПОКО́ЕН [2nd pers only; indep. clause] there is no reason to be concerned about that, do not be disturbed by that: set your mind at rest ⟨at ease⟩.

[Алексей:] …Изволите говорить насчёт блох? Уж будьте покойны. Если блоха или клоп укусит, уж это наша ответственность… (Гоголь 2). [A.:] Your honor means fleas? Set your mind at rest. If a flea or bug bites you, we take the responsibility… (2b).

2. coll [Invar; sent adv (parenth)] undoubtedly: rest assured; you can be sure of that; no doubt about it; you can bank ⟨count, bet⟩ on it; for sure; don't (you) worry.

«Дождались станишники [phonetic spelling = станичники] своего часа. И уж они, будьте покойны, они своё возьмут»

(Максимов 3). “This is just what the Cossacks have been waiting for. They’ll take their revenge, don’t you worry” (3a).

Б-254 • БУ́КВА В БУ́КВУ повторять, запоминать, передавать что и т.п. [Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to repeat, memorize, recount etc sth.) exactly as sth. was said, written etc: word for word; verbatim; literally.

Вот мой разговор с I… Я воспроизвожу этот разговор буква в букву — потому что он, как мне кажется, будет иметь огромное, решающее значение для судьбы Единого Государства… (Замятин 1). Here is my conversation with I-330…. I shall reproduce the conversation word for word, for it seems to me that it may have an enormous and decisive importance for the fate of the United State… (1b).

Б-255 • БУ́КВА ЗАКО́НА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a formal interpretation of the law (based on its literal meaning as opposed to its spirit): the letter of the law.

Голос следователя был почтительно-бережный… «Поверьте, мы не формалисты, хватающиеся за букву закона. Мы понимаем очевидную невиновность как Митягина, так и вашу. Но поставьте себя на наше место. Представьте, что мы прикроем это дело, не доведём до суда» (Тендряков 1). [The Assistant Prosecutor’s] voice was respectful and soothing…. “Believe me, we are not just pedants sticking to the letter of the law. We know that neither you nor Mityagin is really guilty. But put yourself in our place. Imagine if we just covered up this business, and didn’t bring it to trial” (1a).

Б-256 • МЁРТВОЙ БУ́КВОЙ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{o}$ (past or fut), оставаться (subj: закон, декрет etc); fixed WO] (some law, decree etc remains) in existence only on paper, (sth. is) without practical application: (become ⟨be⟩) a dead letter.

Б-257 • С БОЛЬШО́Й БУ́КВЫ [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing postmodif; fixed WO] (a person, thing, or phenomenon that is) an embodiment of the highest degree of the quality or type described: (spelled) with a capital [letter as specified]; with a capital letter.

Что вам сказать? Это был Момент, Момент с большой буквы. Это была любовь-молния (Рыбаков 1). What can one say? This was the Moment, with a capital M. It was love at first sight (1a).

Б-258 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ БУ́КОЙ coll [VP; subj: human] to look gloomy, unfriendly, unsociable: X смотрит букой ≃ X looks sullen ⟨surly⟩; X is lowering ⟨glowering⟩; X has ⟨is going around with⟩ a long face; X is wearing a frown ⟨a glum expression⟩.

«Очнитесь, Тюльпанов. И поласковей с ней, не смотрите букой. Только не переборщите». — «С кем поласковей?» — шёпотом удивился Анисий. «Да с грузинкой этой» (Акунин 1). “Wake up, Tulipov. And be more affectionate with her—don’t look so surly. Only don’t overdo it.” “More affectionate? Who with?” Anisii asked in an astonished whisper. “Why, with that Georgian” (1a).

Б-259 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА БУКСИ́Р кого-что [VP; subj and obj: human or collect] to aid s.o., help s.o. improve his performance by sharing one’s own experience, expertise with him: X взял Y-а на буксир ≃ X took Y in tow; X helped Y along.

Б-260 • НА БУЛА́ВКИ ⟨НА ИГО́ЛКИ⟩ давать, получать (деньги) obs [PrepP; these forms only; usu. nonagreeing modif] (to give to or receive from s.o.) small amounts of money for minor or incidental expenses: pin money; pocket money.

[Лидия:] …Ни муж мой, ни мои обожатели не хотят ссудить меня… ничтожной суммой на булавки (Островский 4). [L.:] …Neither my husband nor my worshippers want to lend me a paltry sum for pin-money (4a).

Б-261 • БУМА́ГА НЕ КРАСНЕ́ЕТ; БУМА́ГА ВСЁ ТЕ́РПИТ/СТЕ́РПИТ [VP_{subj}; these forms only; fixed WO] (used to express a sarcastic or scornful attitude toward sth. written or published because it contains lies, tendentiousness etc) paper can bear absolutely anything: paper won’t ⟨doesn’t⟩ blush; pen and ink never blush.

Б-262 • НА БУМА́ГЕ [PrepP; Invar; usu. sent adv] as presented or described in a document, written statement etc (in contrast to what exists in actuality): on paper.

[Треплев:] Как легко, доктор, быть философом на бумаге и как это трудно на деле! (Чехов 6). [T.:] How easy it is, Doctor, to be a philosopher on paper, and how difficult in life (6a).

Б-263 • ЛОЖИ́ТЬСЯ/ЛЕЧЬ НА БУМА́ГУ ⟨ПОД ПЕРО́⟩ [VP; subj: abstr (often слова)] to be expressed in written form: слова легли на бумагу ≃ the words were written down; the words found their way to paper; || слова легко ложились на бумагу ≃ the words were flowing ⟨coming easily, falling into place⟩; || Neg слова не ложатся на бумагу ≃ the words (just) won’t come; person X cannot find the right words ⟨cannot get his ideas down on paper⟩.

Б-264 • МАРА́ТЬ БУМА́ГУ usu. derog [VP; subj: human] (usu. of a bad, untalented writer, occas. of anyone involved in writing sth.) to write sth. of no significance, of poor quality etc: X марает бумагу ≃ X is writing something unimportant ⟨worthless, of no value etc⟩; X is scribbling something or other; [when characterizing an untalented writer or poet] X is a scribbler ⟨a hack, a literary drudge⟩; [lim.] X is a poetaster.

Б-265 • ПО БУМА́ЖКЕ говорить, выступать [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (to give a speech, deliver a report etc) from a prepared script: (speak, read etc) from (written) notes ⟨from a written text⟩; (communicate sth., address a meeting etc) using (written) notes ⟨a written text⟩; (read) a prepared text.

Манера говорить у его превосходительства была особенная — будто доклад по бумажке читает (Акунин 4). His Excellency had a distinctive manner of speaking—as if he were reading a report from a written text (4a).

2. Neg НЕ ПО БУМА́ЖКЕ coll. Also: БЕЗ БУМА́ЖКИ coll (to give a speech, deliver a report etc) without a prepared script: (speak, address a meeting etc) without (any) notes ⟨without (any) written notes, without (using) a text⟩; (speak) from memory.

Б-266 • БУ́РЯ В СТАКА́НЕ ВОДЫ́ [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: abstr); fixed WO] a lot of commotion, a big disturbance, heated arguing etc, all about sth. unimportant: a tempest ⟨a storm⟩ in a teapot ⟨a teacup⟩.

И вот Хаим Ягудин объявляет, что вся возня вокруг этой истории… — буря в стакане воды (Рыбаков 1). He declared that all the fuss over this business was… a storm in a teacup (1a).

Б-267 • ПРИКЛА́ДЫВАТЬСЯ К БУТЫ́ЛКЕ ⟨К РЮ́МКЕ, К РЮ́МОЧКЕ⟩; ЗАГЛЯ́ДЫВАТЬ В БУТЫ́ЛКУ ⟨В РЮ́МКУ, В РЮ́МОЧКУ⟩ all highly coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with стать, начать] to drink alcohol regularly: X начал прикладываться к бутылке ≃ X took to ⟨started hitting⟩ the bottle ⟨the sauce⟩; X began tippling.

«Надломился он [Зарванцев] как-то… Мельчить стал, в рюмочку заглядывать» (Чернёнок 1). "He [Zarvantsev] cracked somehow…. He started degenerating, hitting the bottle" (1a).

Б-268 • ЛЕЗТЬ/ПОЛЕ́ЗТЬ В БУТЫ́ЛКУ coll ⟨В ПУЗЫ́РЬ substand⟩ [VP; subj: human] to become irritated, lose one's temper (usu. over sth. unimportant): X полез в бутылку ≃ X got (all) worked ⟨riled⟩ up; X flew off the handle; X got into a snit; [of expressing one's irritation by acting arrogantly] X got (all) uppity.

«…Я ему [Тимофею]: „Сколько колонн у Большого театра?" А он мне, как обыкновенно: „Шесть!" А я ему: „Плохо, видно, ты считал. Пальцев, мол, не хватило для счёту". Тут Тимофей обидится, полезет в бутылку» (Войнович 5). "…I'll say: How many columns on the Bolshoi Theater? And like always he'll [Timofei will] say: Six! Then I'll say: Looks like you're no good at counting. Maybe you don't have enough fingers. Then Timofei'll get offended and fly off the handle…" (5a).

Б-269 • РАЗДАВИ́ТЬ БУТЫ́ЛКУ highly coll [VP; subj: human, usu. pl] to drink a bottle of liquor (with s.o.): X и Y раздавили бутылку ≃ X and Y killed ⟨split⟩ a bottle; [lim.] X and Y made short work of a bottle.

Кто-то предложил «раздавить бутылку» — возражений особых не было. Взяли в магазине три поллитровки, пошли в столовую ткацкой фабрики… (Войнович 5). Someone proposed killing a bottle of vodka and nobody had any special objection. We bought three half liters in a store, then went to the cafeteria in a textile factory… (5a).

Б-270 • С БУ́ХТЫ-БАРА́ХТЫ сделать, сказать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do, say sth.) rashly, suddenly, without taking time to think, without preparation or deliberation: (do ⟨say⟩ sth.) without thinking ⟨out of the blue, all of a sudden⟩; (do sth.) on the spur of the moment; (say sth.) off the top of one's head; [lim.] (do sth.) just like that.

[Бабакина:] И эти дела не делаются так, с бухты-барахты (Чехов 4). [B.:] And these things are not done like that, just out of the blue… (4a). ♦ Был он нетороплив, рассудителен, и уж если говорил что-то — это было окончательно, весомо, не с бухты-барахты (Буковский 1). He was slow-moving and meditative, and if he ever said anything, it was his final word, carefully weighed, never off the top of his head (1a).

Б-271 • лучше, хуже, страшнее и т.п. НЕ БЫВА́ЕТ [VP_{impers}; Invar; used with a preceding compar form of Adj or Adv (usu. лучше or хуже)] used to emphasize a very high degree of quality conveyed by the compar (usu. in response to a question that includes the positive form of the same Adj or Adv): лучше ⟨хуже⟩ не бывает ~ ≃ it couldn't be better ⟨worse⟩; it doesn't get any better ⟨worse⟩; never better ⟨worse⟩; (as) good ⟨bad⟩ as good ⟨bad⟩ can ⟨could⟩ be; as well as well can be.

Она приоткрыла дверь. Валечка оттуда спросила: «Всё хорошо?» — И засмеялась. Клавка ей ответила чуть хрипло: «Лучше не бывает. Спасибо тебе, Валечка» (Владимов 2). She opened the door a little. Valya asked: "Everything OK?" and laughed. Klavka answered in a slightly hoarse voice: "Couldn't be better. Thanks, Valya" (2a).

Б-272 • КАК НЕ БЫВА́ЛО кого-чего coll [VP; sub/gen: more often inanim; Invar; fixed WO] (a person or thing) disappeared, went away completely: X-а как не бывало ≃ X vanished (without a trace); there is no trace (left) of X; it is as if X had never existed ⟨been⟩; thing X is completely gone.

Раздался треск и грохот… Через несколько минут крайней избы как не бывало… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). There came a resounding crack and a crash…. In a few moments the hut on the end was completely gone… (1a).

Б-273 • КАК НИ В ЧЁМ НЕ БЫВА́ЛО делать *что, вести себя и т.п. coll [AdvP; Invar; adv or sent adv; fixed WO] (to do sth., behave) in a manner suggesting that one has not been affected by the preceding or concurrent events (which would be expected to elicit some reaction): as if ⟨though⟩ nothing (had) happened ⟨were happening⟩; as if ⟨though⟩ nothing were wrong; as if it ⟨that⟩ were nothing out of the ordinary; [lim.] as if one had never seen ⟨heard etc⟩; as if ⟨though⟩ it were the most natural thing in the world; just as one used to do.

Заветная была у него [Джульбарса] мечта — покусать собственного хозяина, и он-таки её осуществил — придравшись, что тот ему наступил на лапу… Когда хозяин наутро пришёл к нему, весь перебинтованный, Джульбарс его поприветствовал как ни в чём не бывало… (Владимов 1). His [Djulbars's] cherished dream was to bite his own master, and he succeeded in carrying it out, with the excuse that his master had trodden on his paw…. When his master came to him next morning all bandaged up, Djulbars greeted him as though nothing had happened… (1a).

Б-274 • НИЧУ́ТЬ ⟨НИЧЕГО́ obs⟩ НЕ БЫВА́ЛО coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used to emphasize that sth. turned out differently than expected, presumed, described etc) absolutely not, not at all (what has been suggested, claimed etc): nothing of the sort ⟨kind⟩ (happens); far from it; that isn't ⟨wasn't⟩ the case (at all).

«Всё думаешь: с завтрашнего дня начнёшь новую жизнь, с завтрашнего дня сядешь на диету — ничуть не бывало: к вечеру того же дня так объешься, что… язык не ворочается…» (Гоголь 3). "You keep thinking that from tomorrow you'll start a new life, that from tomorrow you will go on a diet, but nothing of the sort happens: on the evening of that very day you gorge yourself so much that… you can hardly utter a word" (3a).

Б-275 • КАК БЫК coll [как + NP; nom only] 1. здоров ~ [sing only; modif] (of a person, usu. a man, in very good health) completely (healthy): healthy as a horse ⟨an ox⟩; (as) fit as a fiddle.

«Шунечка, ты болен?» — «Ерунда. Здоров как бык, просто устал» (Грекова 3). "Shunechka, are you sick?" "Nonsense. Healthy as a horse, just tired" (3a).

2. сильный, здоровый ~ [sing only; modif] (of a strong, solidly built man) extremely (strong): (as) strong as a bull ⟨an ox, a horse⟩; sturdy as an ox.

«Да что с тобой говорить! Здоровый, как бык, а ума…» — дед Момун безнадёжно махал рукой (Айтматов 1). "Ah, what's the use of talking to you. Strong as an ox, and the brain of an…." And Grandpa Momun would shake his head hopelessly (1a).

3. ~ упереться [adv (intensif)] (to resist sth.) very stubbornly: (balk) like a mule; (be) stubborn ⟨as balky⟩ as a mule; (be) bullheaded ⟨pigheaded⟩.

[Кашкина (подражая Ларисе):] «Он [Шаманов] упёрся как бык… не знаю уж, кем он себя вообразил, но он тронулся, это точно» (Вампилов 2). [K. (imitating Larisa):] "He [Shamanov] was stubborn as a mule…. I don't know who he thought he was, but he went nutty, that's for sure" (2b).

Б-276 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ХВАТА́ТЬ/СХВАТИ́ТЬ⟩ БЫКА́ ЗА РОГА́ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to take bold, resolute action, immediately and bravely addressing the most essential, difficult aspects of the matter: X взял быка за рога ≃ X took the bull by the horns.

Б-277 • БЫЛ ДА ⟨И⟩ СПЛЫЛ coll [VP; subj: any common noun (often omitted); past only; fixed WO] (a person or thing) was present somewhere, or (a thing) was in s.o.'s possession, but is no longer: (X) был да сплыл ≃ X was here ⟨s.o. did have X etc⟩, but not anymore ⟨any longer⟩; X was here ⟨s.o. did have X etc⟩ but it's all gone now; here today, gone tomorrow; here one day ⟨minute⟩, gone the next; [lim.] X came and went ⟨has come and gone⟩.

Я встал и сказал: «Да ладно уж… Сказано — сделано. Сбрею [бороду]. Считайте, что её уже нет. Была и сплыла» (Аксёнов 1). I stood up and said, "Well, okay then…. No sooner said than done. I'll shave it [my beard] off. Think of it as already gone. Come and gone" (1a).

Б-278 • И БЫЛ ТАКО́В coll [VP; subj: human or animal (more often male); past only; preceded by one or more verbs (usu. pfv past); occas. used in fut contexts] one ran away, disappeared (from sight): X... и был таков ≃ and off ⟨away⟩ X went; and that's ⟨that was⟩ the last anyone ⟨I, we etc⟩ saw of X; and X was gone (before you ⟨I, we etc⟩ knew it); and X was off in a flash; and X skipped; [lim.] and X up and ran away.

«Так вот, сударь, как настоящие-то начальники принимали! — вздыхали глуповцы, — а это что! Фыркнул какую-то нелепицу, да и был таков!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "Now that, sir, is the way real governors received you!" sighed the Foolovites. "But this one! Splutters some kind of fol-de-rol and off he goes!" (1a). ♦ Проснувшись… [Аркадий] переоделся в гражданское, навёл на себя всяческий блеск и марафет — и был таков (Залыгин 1). On waking… he [Arkady] changed into civilian clothes, spruced himself up and was gone (1a).

Б-279 • КАК ⟨В ЧЁМ⟩ БЫЛ coll [subord clause; past only; fixed WO] without having or being given a chance to change clothes: (just) as one was; in what one had on ⟨was wearing⟩.

Разбудили нас Чудаков и Евдощук. Они, как были, в шапках и тулупах, грохотали сапогами по настилу, вытаскивали свои чемоданы и орали: «Подъём!» (Аксёнов 1). Chudakov and Yevdoshchuk woke us up. Just as they were, in their hats and sheepskins, their boots clumping on the floorboards, they pulled out their suitcases and roared: "Rise and shine!" (1a).

Б-280 • КТО БЫ (ТО) НИ́ БЫЛ [NP; nom only; used as appos or subord clause; fixed WO] regardless of who a person is; any person: no matter who he is; whoever it ⟨he⟩ may ⟨might⟩ be.

[Ирина:] Человек должен трудиться, работать в поте лица, кто бы он ни был… (Чехов 5). [I.:] Man must work, he must toil by the sweat of his brow, no matter who he is… (5a).

Б-281 • БЫЛА́ НЕ БЫЛА́ coll [Invar; indep. clause or sent adv (parenth)] (used to express one's resolve to do sth. risky—usu. after some hesitation—in the hope of achieving success) I will go ahead and risk it: here goes (nothing); whatever happens happens; (I ⟨we etc⟩ will do sth.) come what may; you only live once.

«Эх, была не была! — крикнул Скороход, снимая с ног жернова, — прыгаю через радугу!» (Искандер 5). "Well, here goes," Highspeed shouted, removing the millstones from his feet. "I'm going to jump over the rainbow!" (5a). ♦ «Я вижу, вас что-то смущает?» — «Так точно, смущает, товарищ Сталин». — «Что же именно вас смущает?» А, была не была, Дрынов решился (Войнович 4). "I see something's bothering you." "Yes, sir, there is, Comrade Stalin." "So just what is it?" Here goes nothing, thought Drinov (4a).

Б-282 • ГДЕ́ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО; КУДА́ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] any (or to any) place, regardless of where: anywhere (at all ⟨whatsoever, whatever⟩); [lim.] it doesn't matter where; no matter where; wherever; [after a compar form + чем] than anywhere (else); than in any other place ⟨city, country etc⟩.

Б-283 • КА́К БЫ ТО ⟨ТАМ⟩ НИ́ БЫЛО [AdvP; these forms only; usu. sent adv (parenth); usu. in the initial position; fixed WO] whatever the circumstances or situation may be, regardless of whether the preceding statement is true (or, in the case of several preceding statements, which of them is true), even though that might be true, it is irrelevant: whatever the case ⟨the cause, the reason⟩ (may be); however that ⟨this⟩ may be; whatever the truth of the matter is; [lim.] be that as it may; at any rate.

Сейчас мне не совсем понятно, почему, собственно, потребовалось вмешательство бабушки: ведь я был достаточно взрослым мальчиком… По всей вероятности, бабушка была послана, так сказать, для отчёта. Как бы то ни было, этот день… соединён именно с бабушкой… (Олеша 3). It isn't entirely clear to me now just why my grandmother's intervention was required; I was, after all, quite sufficiently grown-up to have gone by myself…. Most likely, my grandmother was sent to keep account, so to speak. Whatever the reason, that day… is united with the memory of my grandmother (3a).

Б-284 • КАКО́Й БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] any: any… (at all ⟨whatsoever, whatever⟩); [lim.] any sort ⟨kind⟩ of; no matter what sort ⟨kind⟩ (of).

При настоящих, усложнённых формах государственной и общественной жизни в Европе возможно ли придумать какое бы то ни было событие, которое бы не было предписано, указано, приказано государями, министрами, парламентами, газетами? (Толстой 7). With the present complex forms of political and social life in Europe, can one think of any event that would not have been prescribed, decreed, or ordered by monarchs, ministers, parliaments, or newspapers? (7a).

Б-285 • КОГДА́ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] at any time, regardless of when: anytime (at all ⟨whatsoever, whatever⟩); [lim.] no matter when; whenever; [after a compar form + чем] than ever (before).

«Сейчас можно сказать, что дела у него прекрасны. Лучше, чем когда бы то ни было. Он добился многого. Машины его работают уже на одном заводе. А скоро будут работать на сотне заводов» (Дудинцев 1). "One can say that his affairs are going very well now. Better than ever before. He has achieved a great deal. His machines are already working in one factory, and soon they will be working in hundreds more" (1a).

Б-286 • КТО́ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [NP; obj or, usu. as a response to a question, subj; often used with a negated predic; fixed WO] any person, regardless of who: anyone ⟨anybody⟩ at all; anyone whatever; [lim.] no matter who; [after a compar form] than anyone ⟨anybody⟩ (else).

…Лёва не мог подозревать кого бы то ни было в чём бы то ни было… — тем более, незнакомого человека… (Битов 2). …Lyova was incapable of suspecting anyone whatever of anything whatever… especially a man he didn't know… (2a).

Б-287 • НЕ ТУ́Т-ТО БЫ́ЛО coll [sent; Invar; often a clause in a compound sent (often after Conj «но» or «да»); fixed WO] (of unrealized hopes, expectations, usu. when attempting to accomplish sth.) the desired or expected event (as specified by the preceding context) did not happen, the desired or expected result was not achieved etc: nothing doing; no such luck; nothing of the kind ⟨the sort⟩ (happened); it ⟨things etc⟩ didn't work out (that way); [lim.] far from it; it was not to be.

…К нему [старому кучеру] подбежала фрейлейн Мари и объявила ему о своём желании зарезать гусака собственноручно. Конечно, он отговаривал её, упрашивал, пригрозил даже нажаловаться. Не тут-то было! (Федин 1). …Fräulein Marie ran up to him [the old coachman] and announced her desire to cut the goose's neck personally. Of course he tried to talk her out of it, begged, threatened even to complain about her. Nothing doing! (1a). ♦ «Иди домой…!» — крикнул ей Чунка по-русски. Но не тут-то было! (Искандер 5). "Go home…!" Chunka yelled to her in Russian. No such luck (5a).

Б-288 • ПОЧЕМУ́ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] because of any circumstances: for any reason (at all ⟨whatsoever, whatever⟩); for whatever reason; [lim.] no matter what the reason (may be); whatever the reason (may be).

Характер у Никиты для бизнеса неподходящий. Если он почему бы то ни было решит заняться коммерцией, у него наверняка ничего не выйдет. Nikita's personality isn't suited for business. If he for whatever reason decides to try it, he'll certainly fail.

Б-289 • СКО́ЛЬКО БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] any number or quantity, regardless of how much or how many: however much ⟨many⟩; [lim.] it doesn't matter how much ⟨many⟩; no matter how much ⟨many⟩.

Б-290 • ЧЕЙ БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] any person's, regardless of whose: anyone's ⟨anybody's⟩; it doesn't matter whose.

«Чьи лыжи можно взять?» — «Да чьи бы то ни было». "Whose skis can I take?" "Anybody's."

Б-291 • ЧТО БЫ ТО НИ́ БЫЛО [NP; usu. obj; fixed WO] any thing, regardless of what: anything (at all ⟨whatsoever, whatever⟩); [lim.] no matter what; any of it; [after a compar form + чем] than anything (else).

…Лёва не мог подозревать кого бы то ни было в чём бы то ни было… — тем более, незнакомого человека… (Битов 2). …Lyova was incapable of suspecting anyone whatever of anything whatever… especially a man he didn't know… (2a).

Б-292 • ЧТОБЫ НЕПОВА́ДНО БЫ́ЛО ⟨ЧТОБЫ НЕ́ БЫЛО ПОВА́ДНО⟩ (кому) coll [these forms only; subord clause; the main clause indicates how s.o. was or will be punished, or expresses a threat to punish s.o.; fixed WO] (s.o. was or will be punished, rebuked etc for some wrongdoing) so that he or another will not commit a similar wrongdoing (again): чтобы (X-у) неповадно было ≃ (in order) to teach X a (good) lesson; as a lesson to X; so that X will know better ⟨think twice⟩ next time.

Как известно, наши хозяева умели предсказывать будущее, пользуясь… научными методами, а также действительно действенным методом устрашения и расправы не над виновными или сопротивляющимися, а над кем попало, чтобы другим не было повадно (Мандельштам 2). As we all know, our rulers were able to foretell the future… with the aid of "scientific principles," and also influenced its course by that most efficient means of intimidation which consists in persecuting not the guilty or the recalcitrant, but anybody who happens to come to hand—just as a lesson to the rest (2a).

Б-293 • ЧТОБ ПУ́СТО БЫ́ЛО кому-чему, usu. тебе, ему и т.п. substand [Interj; Invar; usu. this WO] 1. used to express annoyance, strong irritation, anger caused by s.o. or sth.: чтоб X-у пусто было! ≃ damn X; to hell with X!; X can go to hell; may person X rot ⟨roast⟩ in hell (, damn him)!; may place X crumble to the ground.

[Авдотья Назаровна:] Чтоб тебе пусто было, с ног сшиб! (Чехов 4). [A.N.:] You nearly knocked me over, damn you (4b). ♦ [Зилов:] Знать вас больше не желаю! Подонки!.. Чтоб вам пусто было! (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] I've had it with you! Scum!… Roast in hell, damn you! (5b).

2. used to express admiration, surprise caused by sth.: well, I'll be damned ⟨darned⟩!; (hot) damn!

Б-294 • БЫЛЬЁМ ⟨БЫ́ЛЬЮ, ТРАВО́Й⟩ ПОРОСЛО́ [VP; subj: abstr, usu. всё, (всё) это; usu. past; fixed WO] (sth.) has been completely forgotten (usu. sth. that happened long ago): всё быльём поросло ≃ it's (all) long forgotten; it's all gone and forgotten; it's all (long since) dead and buried ⟨gone⟩; it's all ancient history; [lim.] it's long dead.

В те благословенные времена советская молодёжь не воротила нос от советских же символов… Я помню, в моде были «будённовки», сталинские френчи и даже сталинские усы. Давно это было, да былью поросло (Войнович 1). In those hallowed days, Soviet youth did not turn up its nose at Soviet symbols…. I can remember when army caps, Stalin jackets, and even Stalin mustaches were in style. But those times were long ago and are long forgotten (1a).

Б-295 • ЧТО БЫ́ЛО, ТО ПРОШЛО́ (И БЫЛЬЁМ ПОРОСЛО́) [saying] what has passed has passed, and there is no point in dwelling on it: ≃ it's all water under the bridge ⟨over the dam⟩; things past cannot be recalled; [when emphasizing that a past difference between people should be forgotten] let bygones be bygones.

Б-296 • С БЫСТРОТО́Ю ⟨-ой⟩ МО́ЛНИИ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] very swiftly: with lightning speed ⟨rapidity⟩; [lim.] like wildfire.

Раскольников сел, не сводя с него [Порфирия Петровича] глаз… Оба следили друг за другом, но только что взгляды их встречались, оба, с быстротою молнии, отводили их один от другого (Достоевский 3). Raskolnikov sat down without taking his eyes off him [Porfiry Petrovich]…. Each watched the other, but the moment their eyes met, they both, with lightning speed, averted them again (3a).

Б-297 • БЫТЬ ПО СЕМУ́ obs, now humor [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used to express the speaker's agreement with, support of some suggestion, idea etc) let it be that way: so be it; [lim.] be it so enacted.

Предоставить актёрам его высочества герцога Орлеанского… зал в Малом Бурбоне, утвердить им пенсию, незначенную герцогом Орлеанским. Играть им в очередь с итальянской труппой… И быть по сему! (Булгаков 5). It was decreed that the Players of His Highness Duc d'Orléans… be given a hall at the Petit Bourbon and confirmed in the pension declared by the Duc d'Orléans. They were to take turns with the Italian troupe…. And so be it! (5a).

< Originally, the written formula phrase used by tsars and tsarinas at the end of official documents to express their support, approval etc of the material contained therein.

Б-298 • ДОЛЖНО́ БЫТЬ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] presumably: probably; (as) likely as not; most likely; in all likelihood ⟨probability⟩; [in pres and past contexts] must [+ infin]; [lim.] I suppose; chances are.

Должно быть, слова в старину читались медленнее… (Терц 3). In the old days people probably read much more slowly… (3a) ♦ [Анна Петровна:] Где Софья? [Войницев:] Должно быть, у себя… (Чехов 1). [A.P.:] Where's Sophia? [V.:] In her room, I suppose (1a).

Б-299 • КАК БЫТЬ? [sent; Invar; often a subord clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] how should one act?: what should one do?; what is one (supposed) to do?; what is ⟨needs⟩ to be done?; what ought one (to) do?; what to do?; what's best to do?; what can one do about it?; || как быть дальше? ≃ what should one ⟨can one, is one supposed to etc⟩ do next ⟨now⟩?; what should the next step be?

«Увы, не нам, не нам, — грустно заговорил Коровьев, — а ему достанется эта ледяная кружка пива, о которой мы, бедные скитальцы, так мечтали с тобой, положение наше печально и затруднительно, и я не знаю, как быть» (Булгаков 9). "Alas, not to us," began Korovyov sadly, "but to him will go that frosty mug of beer that we, poor wanderers, so dreamed of. Our situation is a sad and difficult one, and I do not know what to do" (9c). ♦ Варя слушала, потом подолгу, часами советовалась с Петрушей, как быть (Акунин 5) Varya had listened and then consulted for hours on end with her Petya about what she ought to do (5a).

Б-300 • НА́ДО БЫТЬ substand [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] presumably: probably; (as) like as not; [in pres and past contexts] must [+ infin].

Б-301 • ТАК И БЫТЬ coll [Invar; indep. clause or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] (used to express the speaker's concession, agreement to repeated requests etc) let it be as you wish or as the circumstances require: all right (then); very well; so be it; [lim.] that's ⟨it's⟩ all right; oh well.

Шунечка… целовал ей руки, не хотел никуда её отпускать — даже в аптеку. «Ну, так и быть, иди, только приходи скорей» (Грекова 3). He [Shunechka] kissed her hands and didn't want to let her go anywhere, even to the pharmacy. "Well, all right, go, but come back right away" (3a). ♦ «Добро, — сказала комендантша, — так и быть, отправим Машу. А меня и во сне не проси: не поеду» (Пушкин 2). "All right," said the commandant's wife, "so be it: we'll send Masha away. But don't dream of asking me: I won't go" (2b).

Б-302 • ТАК ТОМУ́ И БЫТЬ [Invar; indep. clause; fixed WO] 1. let it be that way: so be it.

Наверно, Лизка в своей простоте подумала: раз уж люди решили — свадьбе быть, то так тому и быть. Поздно теперь отступать (Абрамов 1). Most likely Lizka, in her innocence, thought, if they've all decided there's going to be a wedding, then so be it. It's too late to back down now (1a).

2. (used to express concession to the inevitability of sth.) that is just how it has to be: that's the way it is ⟨it goes, it was meant to be, it has to be⟩; that's (just) the way of things; it (simply) has to be that ⟨this⟩ way; it has to happen; there's no getting around it.

[Анна Петровна:] Жалко расставаться с гнёздышком, но что же поделаешь, голубчик мой? Не воротишь… Так тому и быть, значит… (Чехов 1). [A.P.:] It hurts to say good-bye to your nice little home, but what can you do, dear? You can't put the clock back now. So that's the way of things (1b).

Б-303 • ЧЕМУ́ БЫТЬ, ТОГО́ ⟨ТОМУ́⟩ НЕ МИНОВА́ТЬ [saying] you cannot avoid what must happen (said with certainty that what is fated to happen will happen regardless of how a person acts): ≃ what must be must be; what ⟨whatever⟩ will ⟨is to⟩ be will be; what's got to be has got to be; there's no avoiding the inevitable.

Жалоба Мими, единица и ключик! Хуже ничего не могло со мной случиться… «Что со мной будет? А-а-ах! что я наделал?! — говорил я вслух, прохаживаясь по мягкому ковру кабинета. — Э! — сказал я сам себе, доставая конфеты и сигары, — чему быть, тому не миновать…» (Толстой 2). Mimi's complaint, the bad mark, the key! Nothing worse could happen to me… "What will become of me? O-oh dear, what have I done!" I said aloud, walking over the soft carpet in the study. "Ha!" I said to myself as I got the candy and cigars, "what must be, must be..." (2b).

Б-304 • БЫТЬ БЫЧКУ́ НА ВЕРЁВОЧКЕ [saying] 1. a person will not escape the consequences of what he has done, will not escape punishment: ≃ you ⟨he etc⟩ will get your ⟨his etc⟩ just deserts; you will get your comeuppance; you won't get away with it ⟨get off the hook⟩ (this time).

2. (of men) s.o. cannot escape proposing and getting married: ≃ he will be snared ⟨roped in⟩ all right; he took the bait—now he's hooked for good; there's no way he can get off the hook now.

Б-305 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ИЗ БЮДЖЕ́ТА [VP; subj: human or collect] to spend too much money, more than one planned to or should have: X вышел из бюджета ≃ X exceeded ⟨went through, went over⟩ his budget; X put a hole in his budget.

«Мне нужны деньги». — «Но у вас же их никогда нет. Вы ведь вечно рыщете за полтинником». — «Я купил мебель и вышел из бюджета» (Ильф и Петров 1). "I need the money." "But you never have any. You're always trying to cadge half-roubles." "I bought some furniture and went through my budget" (1a).

В

В-1 • ВАГО́Н И МА́ЛЕНЬКАЯ ТЕЛЕ́ЖКА чего coll, usu. humor [NP; often quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: usu. concr or abstr); fixed WO] a great number, a great deal: oodles; scads; a raft of; barrels; scores; [lim.] a whole truckload; enough to feed ⟨clothe etc⟩ an army.

«Что нового в управлении?» — «Новостей вагон и маленькая тележка», — сказал Сидоркин (Войнович 5). "What's new over our way?" "I've got scads of news," said Sidorkin (5a).

В-2 • ДЛЯ (ПУ́ЩЕЙ ⟨БО́ЛЬШЕЙ⟩) ВА́ЖНОСТИ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in order to create an effect: to make an impression; just to impress (s.o.); to make o.s. look more important; just for show.

Насчёт газет и журналов приезжие, конечно, пыль пустили в глаза боранлинцам для пущей важности… (Айтматов 2). In claiming to represent newspapers and magazines, the visitors were, of course, deceiving the people of Boranly—it was just to impress them (2a).

В-3 • ВЕЛИКА́ ⟨Э́КА, ЧТО́ ЗА⟩ ВА́ЖНОСТЬ! coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (usu. used as a response to the preceding statement, rhetorical question, suggestion etc) that (fact, circumstance etc) is of no importance: what (does it ⟨that⟩) matter?; as if that ⟨it⟩ mattered!; [lim.] so what!; and what of it?; big deal!

[Лебедев:] Что ж тебе ещё нужно? Денег нет? Велика важность! Не в деньгах счастье… (Чехов 4). [L.:] What more do you want? You may be hard up, but what matter? Money doesn't bring happiness (4b). ♦ «Я начинаю соглашаться с дядей, — заметил Аркадий, — ты решительно дурного мнения о русских». — «Эка важность!» (Тургенев 2). "I am beginning to agree with my uncle," remarked Arkady; "you most certainly have a poor opinion of Russians." "As if that mattered!" (2e).

В-4 • НЕ ВЕЛИКА́ ВА́ЖНОСТЬ coll [NP; Invar; indep. clause or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. infin); fixed WO] it is unimportant, nothing to be concerned about: no problem; no big deal ⟨thing⟩; it's ⟨that's⟩ nothing.

В-5 • ДЕВЯ́ТЫЙ ВАЛ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. the strongest and most dangerous wave during a storm at sea: ninth wave.

А — выход на Западе двух моих романов сразу — дубль?! Как на гавайском прибое у Джека Лондона, стоя в рост на гладкой доске, никак не держась, ничем не припутан, на гребне девятого вала, в раздире лёгких от ветра — угадываю! предчувствую: а это — пройдёт! (Солженицын 2). But—two novels of mine appearing simultaneously in the West? A double? I felt like the Hawaiian surf riders described by Jack London, standing upright on a smooth board, with nothing to hold on to, nothing to hamper me, on the crest of the ninth wave, my lungs bursting from the rush of air. I divined, I sensed, that it would work! (2a).

2. the strongest manifestation of a serious menace, the apex of sth.: mighty ⟨surging⟩ wave; climactic moment.

В-6 • ВАЛО́М ВАЛИ́ТЬ/ПОВАЛИ́ТЬ coll [VP; usu. this WO] 1. ~ (куда) [subj: human pl or collect] to go or come (somewhere) in great numbers: X-ы валом валят (в место Y) ≃ Xs are flocking ⟨thronging, streaming⟩ (to place Y); Xs are coming ⟨going⟩ in droves; Xs are going to ⟨heading for etc⟩ place Y en masse.

Несмотря на травлю, поднятую охранителями передвижнических традиций, москвичи валом валили на выставку… (Лившиц 1). Despite the persecution begun by the guardians of the traditions of the Wanderers and the World of Art, Muscovites flocked to the exhibition… (1a). ♦ [extended usage] В хрущёвские либеральные времена чиновники стали просачиваться в литературу, а при Брежневе повалили в неё валом (Войнович 1). In the liberal Khrushchev period, officials began infiltrating literature, and under Brezhnev, they burst into literature en masse (1a).

2. [subj: usu. concr (pl or mass) or count abstr] (of letters, complaints, news, troubles etc; also of snow, steam etc) to come (or come out of) somewhere continually and in large amounts: X валом валил ≃ X kept (on) coming (in ⟨down etc⟩); there was a constant stream of X; there was no end to X; X came ⟨kept⟩ pouring ⟨streaming⟩ in ⟨out⟩; [of mail etc] (I am ⟨he is etc⟩ flooded with X; [of snow] X came down ⟨fell⟩ thick and fast.

Что-то я не припомню в своей жизни, чтобы 1-го мая шёл снег. А вот идёт, и не то что идёт, а валом валил с утра и за полчаса едва не покрыл всю землю (Терц 3). I don't somehow seem to remember snow falling on May 1st ever before. But it happened this morning, and it came down so thick and fast that almost the whole earth was covered over in half an hour (3a).

В-7 • ЛЮБОПЫ́ТНОЙ ВАРВА́РЕ НОС ОТОРВА́ЛИ [saying] a person who is excessively curious and asks questions about other people's affairs brings trouble to himself (usu. used as a warning not to ask questions, not to interfere): ≃ curiosity killed the cat.

«Ты кто?.. С какого эшелона?» — «Мы с Ожерелья… А тебе что?» — «Ничего… Спрашиваю просто». — «Любопытной Варваре нос оторвали» (Максимов 2). "Who are you?… What train are you from?" "We've come from Ozherelye…. So what?" "Oh, nothing… I was just asking." "Curiosity killed the cat" (2a).

В-8 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ВА́РОМ О́БДА́ЛО кого obs, substand [VP; impers; usu. past; fixed WO] s.o. experienced anxiety, fright: X-а как варом обдало ≃ it threw X ⟨X broke⟩ into a cold sweat; it threw X ⟨X was thrown⟩ into a panic; it startled the hell out of X.

[Нелькин:] …Подымаюсь, знаете, на лестницу, да и посматриваю: куда, мол, тут? Как звякнет он [колокольчик] мне над самым ухом, так меня как варом обдало! Уж не чувствую, как меня в гостиную ноги-то вкатили (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [N.:] Well, as I was saying, I had just started up the stairs and was just getting my bearings when the bell clanged right over my head! It threw me into a cold sweat! I can hardly remember how my legs propelled me into the drawing room (2a).

В-9 • И ВА́ШИХ НЕ́Т highly coll [indep. clause; Invar; usu. used after a clause expressing a threat; fixed WO] (of s.o. who experienced or will experience complete failure, ruin, who perished or will perish) and your life (career, undertaking etc) will be finished, over: and that's the end of you; and you're done for; and you've had it; and it's all over (for you); and you're a goner.

«Молчать! У меня с социально-опасными разговор короткий. Пулю в лоб, и ваших нет…» (Максимов 3). "Silence! I don't waste words on socially dangerous prisoners. A bullet in the head and that's the end of you" (3a).

В-10 • ВБЛИЗИ́ ОТ кого-чего [AdvP; Invar; Prep] at a short distance from (s.o. or sth. mentioned or implied): not far from; close to; near; [lim.] close by; close ⟨near⟩ at hand.

В письме этом князь Андрей представлял отцу неудобства его положения вблизи от театра войны, на самой линии движения войск, и советовал ехать в Москву (Толстой 6). In this letter Prince Andrey pointed out to his father the awkwardness of his situation at Bald Hills close to the theatre of war, in the direct line of the enemy's advance, and advised him to move to Moscow (6c). In this letter, Prince Andrei pointed out to his father the inconvenience of his position near the theater of war, directly in the line of movement of the troops, and advised him to go to Moscow (6d).

В-11 • СОЛО́МЕННЫЙ ВДОВЕ́Ц ⟨СОЛО́МЕННАЯ ВДОВА́⟩ [NP] a person who is temporarily separated from or not living with his or her spouse: grass widower ⟨widow⟩.

В-12 • ВДОЛЬ И ПОПЕРЁК [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. usu. пройти, исходить, изъездить и т.п. что ~ [more often used with pfv verbs] (to travel etc) throughout the whole of a given space, in all directions: far and wide; the length and breadth of sth.; all over; back and forth; from one end to the other.

«Сторона мне знакомая… исхожена и изъезжена вдоль и поперёк» (Пушкин 2). "As for knowing this land… I've traveled the length and breadth of it, on horseback and on foot…" (2a). ♦ В рейсах за желудёвыми шляпками и майскими жуками он облазил едва ли не каждую пядь, вдоль и поперёк исплавал все здешние пруды, держал в памяти самые потаённые стёжки (Максимов 2). On expeditions hunting for acorns or maybugs he crawled over practically every inch of the park, swam back and forth across all of its ponds, knew all the remotest trails and paths (2a).

2. знать, изучить и т.п. кого-что ~ coll [obj: more often inanim] (to learn, know s.o. or sth.) very well, down to the minutest details: inside out; backward and forward; through and through.

По физике у нас хороший преподаватель, свой предмет он знает вдоль и поперёк. We have a good physics teacher, he knows his subject inside out.

В-13 • БЕЗ ВЕ́ДОМА чьего, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] (to do sth.) without s.o.'s being aware of it or without asking the permission of s.o. (who is supposed to be notified or asked): without s.o.'s knowledge ⟨the knowledge of s.o.⟩; unbeknown(st) to s.o.; without informing s.o.; without asking s.o.'s permission.

«Я рассказал обо всём моему дяде Рязанову, но не просил его вмешиваться. Он сам, без моего ведома попросил Будягина позвонить директору института Глинской» (Рыбаков 2). "I told my uncle Ryazanov about my case, but I didn't ask him to get involved. He went to Budyagin without my knowledge and asked him to telephone Glinskaya, the director of the institute" (2a).

В-14 • С ВЕ́ДОМА чьего, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] (to do sth.) with s.o.'s being aware of it or after having received the permission of s.o. (who is supposed to be notified or asked): with s.o.'s knowledge ⟨the knowledge of s.o.⟩; with s.o.'s permission; [lim.] with s.o.'s connivance.

Пале-рояльская труппа в том же декабре с ужасом узнала, что Бургонский отель начал репетировать «Александра Великого» и что это делается с ведома Расина (Булгаков 5). That same December the Palais Royal troupe learned to its dismay that the Bourgogne had begun rehearsals of Alexander, and that this was being done with Racine's knowledge (5a).

В-15 • лить, хлынуть КАК ИЗ ВЕДРА́ coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv] (usu. of rain) (to rain, pour) heavily: (come down) in buckets ⟨in bucketfuls, in torrents, in sheets⟩; (rain) buckets; (rain ⟨pour⟩) cats and dogs.

[Зилов (Поднимает трубку, набирает номер):] …Льёт как из ведра… Привет, Дима… Поздравляю, старик, ты оказался прав… Да вот насчёт дождя, чёрт бы его подрал! Целый год ждали и дождались!.. (Вампилов 5). [Z. (Takes receiver, dials number):] …It's coming down in buckets… Hullo, Dima… Congratulations, you were right… About the blasted rain of course. You wait and wait all year long, and what happens? (5a).

В-16 • ВЕК ВЕКОВА́ТЬ obsoles, coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to spend one's life or the rest of one's life (in a humble position or circumstances, in one's native—usu. humble—setting): X будет век вековать ≃ X will live out his life ⟨days⟩.

…Уж лучше век одной вековать, чем с таким связывать свою жизнь… (Войнович 5). …Better to live out your life alone than to join it with someone like that… (5a).

В-17 • ВЕК ЖИВИ́, ВЕК УЧИ́СЬ [saying] there are always things you do not know, you can keep learning throughout your life (said as advice to keep studying or, jokingly, when a person learns sth. he did not know before): ≃ (you) live and learn; it's never too late to learn.

В-18 • ДОЖИВА́ТЬ СВОЙ ВЕК [VP] 1. [subj: human] to live the end of one's life (often used with an adv of manner, place etc): X доживал свой век ≃ X lived out his life ⟨days, last years⟩; X lived out the rest of his life ⟨days⟩; X lived ⟨spent⟩ the last years of his life.

Больной, озлобленный, всеми забытый, доживал Козырь свой век… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Hotspur lived out his life sick, embittered, forgotten by all (1a).

2. [subj: concr, abstr, or collect] to fall gradually out of use: X доживал свой век ≃ X lived ⟨finished⟩ out its days.

Трамвай доживал свой век вместе с этими домами… (Евтушенко 1). The tram had lived out its days together with these houses… (1a).

В-19 • ЗАЕДА́ТЬ/ЗАЕ́СТЬ ВЕК чей ⟨ЖИЗНЬ чью, ЧУЖО́Й ВЕК, ЧУЖУ́Ю ЖИЗНЬ⟩ all coll [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] by oppressing s.o., doing harm to s.o., to make his life unbearable: X заедает Y-ов ⟨чужой⟩ век ≃ X ruins ⟨spoils, embitters⟩ Y's ⟨another's⟩ life; X makes Y's ⟨another's⟩ life miserable; X torments Y ⟨another person⟩; X makes life a torture for Y ⟨someone else⟩.

В-20 • МАФУСАИ́ЛОВ ВЕК жить, прожить, отжить; МАФУСАИ́ЛОВЫ ГОДА́ ⟨ЛЕТА́⟩ all obs, lit [NP; these forms only; obj] (to live) a very long life: (live) as long as Methuselah; (live to be) as old as Methuselah.

< From the Church Slavonic variant of the name of the Biblical patriarch Methuselah, who lived to be 969 (Gen. 5:21–27).

В-21 • МЫ́КАТЬ ВЕК ⟨ЖИЗНЬ obsoles⟩ substand [VP; subj: human] to have a hard life, suffer hardships: X мыкает век ≃ X is struggling to get by ⟨to keep body and soul to- gether⟩; X is having a tough time of it; X has fallen on hard times; X is going through the mill; X is just scraping by.

В-22 • ОТЖИВА́ТЬ/ОТЖИ́ТЬ СВОЙ ВЕК ⟨СВОЁ ВРЕ́МЯ⟩ [VP; usu. pfv] 1. Also: ОТЖИВА́ТЬ/ОТЖИ́ТЬ СВОЁ [subj: human] to have lived one's allotted years: X отжил свой век ≃ X has lived his life ⟨share⟩; [lim.] X has already had a long life.

…Мысли [Спиридона] были о дочери. Жена, как и он, отжили уже своё (Солженицын 3). …His [Spiridon's] thoughts dwelled on his daughter. His wife and he had already lived their share (3a).

2. [subj: abstr or concr] to become out-of-date, go out of use, be no longer popular, in fashion: X отжил свой век ≃ X has outlived its usefulness; X has outlived ⟨had⟩ its day; X has become passé ⟨a thing of the past⟩; [lim.] X has seen better days.

Марксизм и прочие «измы» не привлекают молодые умы: «измы» отжили свой век (Аллилуева 2). Marxism and all other "isms" do not attract these young minds; "isms" have outlived their day (2a).

В-23 • ИСПОКО́Н ⟨СПОКО́Н substand⟩ ВЕ́КА ⟨-ов, -у obs⟩; ОТ ВЕ́КА (ВЕКО́В) [AdvP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] starting long ago and continuing up until the present (or the moment indicated): from ⟨since⟩ time immemorial; from ⟨since⟩ the (very) beginning of time; since time out of mind; from the dawn of time; for centuries.

…Какой-то человек вошёл на пустырь с косой в руках и начал сечь травяные рощи, росшие здесь испокон века (Платонов 1). …Some man came into the field with a scythe and began to hack away at the grass thickets that had grown there from time immemorial (1a).

В-24 • ЖИТЬ В ВЕКА́Х elev [VP; subj: human or abstr] to be remembered by posterity for a long time, always: X будет жить в веках ≃ X will live forever; X will live (on) through the ages; X will never be forgotten.

В-25 • АДА́МОВЫ ВЕ́КИ ⟨ВРЕМЕНА́⟩ obs [NP; pl only] ancient times: the days of creation; antiquity; (from) time immemorial.

В-26 • А́РЕДОВЫ ⟨А́РИДОВЫ⟩ ВЕ́КИ жить, прожить obs, lit [NP; pl only] (to live) a very long life: (live) as long as Jared; (live to be) as old as Jared.

< From the Church Slavonic variant of the name of the Biblical patriarch Jared, who lived to be 962 (Gen. 5:20).

В-27 • В КО́И-ТО ⟨В КО́И⟩ ВЕ́КИ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; most often used with pfv past verbs; when used with impfv or pfv fut verbs, usu. denotes a repeated action; fixed WO] finally, for the first time in a long period or after a long wait: at (long) last; after all this time; after an eternity (of waiting ⟨of silence etc⟩); [of repeated actions] once in a blue moon; once in a great while.

«…Зачем ты это сделал [загнал полицмейстера в клозет]? Ты его не любишь?» — «Давайте об этом не будем», — предложил Виктор. «Так, а о чём же мы будем?.. В кои веки случилось что-то интересное, и сразу — не будем» (Стругацкие 1). "…Why did you do it [lock the police chief in the lavatory]? Don't you like him?" "Let's not talk about it," proposed Viktor. "Then what will we talk about?… At long last something interesting happens, and right away we can't talk about it" (1a). ♦ Ефим и Наташа приехали в субботу, как раз к тому дню, когда было решено накрыть стол… В кои веки собрались все вместе… (Рыбаков 1). Yefim and Natasha arrived on a Saturday, the very day we had decided to "have a spread"—once in a blue moon the whole family got together… (1a).

В-28 • ВО ВЕ́КИ ВЕКО́В elev [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with fut verbs or with verbs denoting a wish, promise etc; fixed WO] 1. Also: ОТНЫ́НЕ И ВО ВЕ́КИ ВЕКО́В eternally, for all time: forever ⟨for ever⟩ (and ever); for ages on end; unto ages of ages; (for)evermore ⟨for ever more⟩; till the end of time.

А война 1812 года? Всегда и во веки веков она пребудет той, которая разворачивается на страницах «Войны и мира», несмотря на десятки фактических ошибок романа (Чудаков 1). What about the War of 1812? That war will forever remain the war that unfolds in the pages of War and Peace, despite dozens of factual errors on Tolstoy's part (1a).

2. [used with negated verbs] not at any future time: never; not ever; nevermore; not in a million years.

В-29 • НА ВЕ́КИ ВЕ́ЧНЫЕ ⟨ВЕКО́В⟩ elev [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] eternally, for all time: forever ⟨for ever⟩ (and ever); (for)evermore ⟨for ever more⟩; till the end of time; for ages on end; unto ages of ages; forever and a day.

[Бакченин:] На веки вечные это будет самое святое воспоминание! (Панова 1). [B.:] It will be my most sacred memory forever and ever (1a). ♦ Так что отныне и на веки веков Сталин войдет в историю как автор многих работ… (Зиновьев 2). So, now and for ever more Stalin goes down in history as the author of many books… (2a).

В-30 • (КАК ⟨СЛО́ВНО⟩) ПО ЩУ́ЧЬЕМУ ВЕЛЕ́НЬЮ ⟨-ию⟩ coll [(как etc +) PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in a most miraculous way, without anyone's intercession: as if by magic; as if by some magic formula; (as though) at the wave of a (magic) wand.

Огромные мольберты с натянутыми на подрамки и загрунтованными холстами, словно по щучьему велению, выросли за одну ночь в разных углах мастерской (Лившиц 1). In the space of a single night huge easels, their canvases primed and on stretchers, grew up in various corners of the studio, as if by magic (1a).

< Part of the saying «По щучьему велению, по моему хотению». From the fairy tale about Emelya who set free the pike («щука») he had caught. The grateful pike promised that whatever Emelya wished would be granted as soon as he said «По щучьему велению, по моему хотению...».

В-31 • ДУ́ТАЯ ВЕЛИЧИНА́ [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human)] a person whose scholarly or professional reputation is greatly exaggerated, has no factual basis: X — дутая величина ≃ X is not what he's cracked up to be; X's reputation is overblown; X is a fraud.

В-32 • ИЗОБРЕТА́ТЬ ВЕЛОСИПЕ́Д iron [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with зачем, не надо, не стоит etc; usu. this WO] starting from the very beginning, to duplicate sth. that already exists, is well known, effective etc: зачем изобретать велосипед? ≃ why reinvent the wheel?

В-33 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ПОД ВЕНЕ́Ц ⟨К ВЕНЦУ́⟩ obs [VP; subj: human] to marry, take a husband or wife: X пошёл под венец ≃ X went to the altar; X went ⟨walked⟩ down the aisle; X wedded person Y.

печёных раков — под венец не пойду! (Горький 3). [K:] Oh, no, my friend, says I, keep away from me with that. I went through all that before, says I, and now you won't make me go to the altar even if you give me a hundred boiled crawfish (3b).

В-34 • ТЕРНО́ВЫЙ ВЕНЕ́Ц lit [NP; sing only] (symbol of) suffering, torment: crown of thorns.

«Сын за царя и отечество терновый венец принял…» (Шолохов 2). "Your son wore a crown of thorns for the tsar and the fatherland…" (2a).

< From the Biblical account of the crown of thorns that the soldiers put on Jesus' head before he was crucified (Matt. 27:29 et al.).

В-35 • ВЫДЕ́ЛЫВАТЬ ⟨ВЫПИ́СЫВАТЬ, ПИСА́ТЬ⟩ (НОГА́МИ) ВЕНЗЕЛЯ́ coll ⟨КРЕНДЕЛЯ́ coll, КРЕ́НДЕЛИ coll, МЫСЛЕ́ТЕ obs⟩; ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ ⟨ПИСА́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ВАВИЛО́НЫ obs [VP; subj: human] (usu. of a drunken person) to walk with an unsteady, weaving gait: X выписывал (ногами) вензеля ≃ X was staggering along; X was weaving (unsteadily) along.

В-36 • ОТ ВЕРБЛЮ́ДА coll, humor [PrepP; Invar; used as indep. sent] used as a way to avoid directly answering the question: «Откуда?»—"Where (did you get that, did that come etc) from?": aren't we curious; wouldn't you like to know.

В-37 • ЛЕ́ГЧЕ ВЕРБЛЮ́ДУ ПРОЙТИ́ СКВОЗЬ ⟨В⟩ ИГО́ЛЬНОЕ УШКО́ (, чем ⟨нежели⟩…) [main clause in a compar complex sent] it would be easier to accomplish the impossible (than to accomplish the action in question which, presumably, should be possible): it is easier for a camel to pass ⟨go⟩ through the eye of a needle (than…).

…Легче верблюду пройти в угольное ушко, чем тюрзакутеррористу получить пропуск на члена семьи [для въезда на Колыму] (Гинзбург 2). It was easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for someone who had been imprisoned as a terrorist to obtain a permit for a relative [to come to Kolyma] (2a).

< From the Bible: "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God" (Matt. 19:24 et al.).

В-38 • ВЕРЁВКА ПЛА́ЧЕТ по кому, по ком coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pres; fixed WO] 1. s.o. deserves strict punishment, deserves to be whipped: по X-у верёвка плачет ≃ X is cruising for a bruising; what X needs is a good ⟨sound⟩ hiding ⟨thrashing⟩; X is asking for it.

2. Also: ПЕТЛЯ́ ПЛА́ЧЕТ s.o. should be hanged: по X-у верёвка плачет ≃ X deserves the gallows ⟨to be strung up⟩; X is asking for the noose ⟨the hangman's knot⟩.

В-39 • ВИТЬ ВЕРЁВКИ из кого coll [VP; subj: human] to subject s.o. (usu. a meek or weak-willed person) to one's will, be able to make s.o. do exactly as one wants: X из Y-а верёвки вьёт ≃ X wraps ⟨twists⟩ Y (a)round X's little finger; X walks all over Y; X has Y jumping through hoops; X bosses ⟨pushes⟩ Y around.

«Вот эдак кажинный [substand = каждый] раз, майор за ей [substand = ней], она — от него, не баба, а стервь, верёвки из нашего брата вьёт…» (Максимов 1). "That's the way it happens every time. The major chases after her—she runs away from him. She's not a woman—she's a witch. She twists our lads round her little finger…" (1a).

В-40 • СКО́ЛЬКО ⟨КАК⟩ ВЕРЁВОЧКЕ НИ ВИ́ТЬСЯ, А КОНЕ́Ц БУ́ДЕТ; СКО́ЛЬКО ВЕРЁВОЧКУ ⟨ВЕРЁВКУ⟩ НИ ВИТЬ, А КОНЦУ́ БЫТЬ [saying] underhanded dealings, depraved behavior etc, no matter how long they continue, will eventually be stopped: ≃ the pitcher goes often to the well, but is broken at last; the pitcher goes once too often to the well; [lim.] it will catch up with you in the end.

В-41 • ОДНО́Й ВЕРЁВОЧКОЙ ⟨ВЕРЁВКОЙ, ЦЕПО́ЧКОЙ⟩ СВЯ́ЗАН с кем all coll [AdjP; subj-compl with $быть_ø$ (subj: human); usu. pres] (two or more people are) equally involved in sth.: X с Y-ом ⟨X и Y⟩ связаны одной верёвочкой ≃ X and Y are in it together; X is (just) as mixed up in it as Y (is); X is as much a part of it as Y (is); X and Y are in cahoots ⟨X is in cahoots with Y⟩.

В-42 • ВЕ́РИШЬ ⟨ВЕ́РИТЕ⟩ ЛИ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] used to call the interlocutor's attention to the fact that sth. about to be said is unusual, surprising etc: would you believe it; believe me; can you believe it ⟨that…⟩.

В-43 • ДЛЯ (БО́ЛЬШЕЙ) ВЕ́РНОСТИ coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] in order to ascertain that sth. is more reliable, more accurate, more safe etc: as an extra ⟨additional⟩ precaution; by way of (additional) precaution; (just) to be ⟨make⟩ sure; (just) to make certain; (just) to be on the safe side; for safety's sake; for (greater) safety; [lim.] to be accurate; for the sake of accuracy; for accuracy's sake.

«Дед» мне поднёс обе бухты к ногам, и я их пощупал сапогом для верности (Владимов 2). The Chief lifted the two running coils and put them at my feet, where I felt for them with my boot just to make sure (2a). ♦ Он допятился до кресла, в недрах которого таился похищенный портфель, плюхнулся на сиденье и для верности ещё обхватил его руками (Акунин 8). He staggered backward to the armchair in the depths of which the purloined attaché case lay concealed, plumped down heavily on the seat, and put his arms around the chair for safety's sake (8a).

В-44 • ВЕ́РНЫЙ ⟨ВЕ́РЕН⟩ (САМОМУ́) СЕБЕ́ [AdjP; modif (long-form var. only) or subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (one is) consistent in carrying out one's views or displaying one's character, habits: (one is ⟨remains⟩) true to o.s.; (one is ⟨remains⟩) true to form; (one acts) in character.

Опомниться! Быть верным себе, не изменять своим привычкам. А то всё полетит прахом (Пастернак 1). He must come to his senses. He must be true to himself and to his habits. Otherwise everything would go up in smoke (1a).

В-45 • ВЕ́РОЙ И ПРА́ВДОЙ служить кому; ВЕ́РОЙ-ПРА́ВДОЙ [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. (of a person) (to serve s.o.) devotedly, honestly, with complete loyalty, (to render s.o.) good service (usu. over a long period of time): (do s.o.) yeoman ⟨yeoman's⟩ service; (serve s.o.) loyally and well; (serve s.o.) faithfully (and truly); (be) a true and faithful servant; [when the period of service is indicated] (give ten years ⟨a lifetime etc⟩ of) true and faithful service.

«Послужи мне верой и правдою, и я тебя пожалую и в фельдмаршалы и в князья» (Пушкин 2). "Serve me faithfully and truly, and I will make you field-marshal and prince" (2b).

2. (of an everyday item, piece of clothing, tool etc) (to serve s.o.) reliably for a long period of time: (serve s.o.) long and well; (do s.o.) yeoman ⟨yeoman's⟩ service; [lim.] never let s.o. down.

Мы расстелили прямо на пол старую фланелевую шаль нашей няни Фимы, — уже десятый год она служила мне верой и правдой на всех этапах!.. (Гинзбург 2). We spread out on the floor the old flannel shawl belonging to my nurse, Fima, which had already done me yeoman service in all my journeyings under escort… (2a).

В-46 • ПО ВСЕЙ ВЕРОЯ́ТНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] apparently, judging by what can be seen or what is known: in all probability ⟨likelihood⟩; most likely; to ⟨by, from⟩ all appearances; probably.

Сейчас мне не совсем понятно, почему, собственно, потребовалось вмешательство бабушки: ведь я был достаточно взрослым мальчиком… По всей вероятности, бабушка была послана, так сказать, для отчёта (Олеша 3). It isn't entirely clear to me now just why my grandmother's intervention was required; I was after all, quite sufficiently grown-up to have gone by myself.… Most likely, my grandmother was sent to keep account, so to speak (3a).

В-47 • ЗА СЕМЬ ВЁРСТ КИСЕЛЯ́ ХЛЕБА́ТЬ ⟨ЕСТЬ⟩ ехать, идти и т.п. coll [VP; infin only; usu. this WO] to go to some place a long distance away in vain (or without any special need; the place in question is implied or specified by the context): X поехал за семь вёрст киселя хлебать ≃ X went all that way for nothing ⟨for no good reason (at all)⟩; X went (all that way) on a wild-goose chase.

[author's usage] «Ты поедешь?» — спросил Павел Петрович. — «Нет; а ты?» — «И я не поеду. Очень нужно тащиться за пятьдесят вёрст киселя есть» (Тургенев 2). "Are you going?" asked Pavel Petrovich. "No. What about you?" "I'm not going either. Why drag myself thirty miles for no good reason at all" (2g). "Are you going?" asked Pavel Petrovich. "No; are you?" "No, I won't go either. Much object there would be in dragging oneself over thirty miles on a wild-goose chase" (2b).

В-48 • СЕМЬ ВЁРСТ ДО НЕБЕ́С (И ВСЁ ЛЕ́СОМ) наговорить, наобещать и т.п. coll, humor or iron [NP; these forms only; adv (quantif); fixed WO] (to say) a lot of things which are either not true or are presented in an unintelligible, long-winded fashion, (to make) a lot of promises (that one has no intention of keeping): наговорить ~ ≃ say all kinds of things; talk a lot of hot air; go on at a great rate and leave s.o. baffled; || наобещать ~ ≃ make s.o. a cartload of (empty) promises; promise s.o. the moon (and the stars).

В-49 • КОЛО́МЕНСКАЯ ВЕРСТА́; С ⟨В⟩ КОЛО́МЕНСКУЮ ВЕРСТУ́ all coll, humor [NP, sing only (1st var.); PrepP, adv, or nonagreeing modif (2nd var.)] (of a person) very tall: tall as a beanpole; beanpole; (long,) tall drink of water.

[Любим Карпыч:] Остался я после отца, видишь ты, малмалёхонек, с коломенскую версту, лет двадцати несмышлёночек (Островский 2). [L.K.:] I was left when my father died, just a kid tall as a bean pole, a little fool of twenty (2a).

< From a comparison of a very tall person with a "verst pole," i.e., a very high roadside pole marking a verst (an old Russian unit of length, about 1.06 km, used prior to the introduction of the metric system). Such poles were placed by order of Tsar Aleksei Mikhailovich on the road from Moscow to the village of Kolomenskoye, where the tsars resided in the summer.

В-50 • ЗА ВЕРСТУ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv.] 1. (being) at a relatively great distance (from some person, thing etc): a mile away; far off; (so) far away.

[Восмибратов:] Что же будет вам угодно-с? [Несчастливцев:] Не могу же я с тобой за версту разговаривать (Островский 7). [V.:] Now what is it I can do for you, sir? [N.:] I can't talk to you standing a mile away (7c).

2. ~ видно, слышно, тянет, пахнет и т.п. (sth. can be seen, heard, smelled etc) for a relatively great distance: (from) a mile away ⟨off⟩; (from) far off; for miles.

Дернула же меня нелёгкая ещё обшить телогрейку у ворота этой драной кошкой! За версту видать вчерашнюю каторжанку (Гинзбург 2). It must have been the devil's prompting that caused me to sew that strip of moulting cat fur onto the collar of my jacket! Anybody could see from a mile away that I was an ex-convict (2a).

< «Верста» is an old Russian unit of length, about 1.06 km, that was used prior to the introduction of the metric system.

< See B-50.

В-52 • ОБХОДИ́ТЬ/ОБОЙТИ́ ЗА ТРИ ВЕРСТЫ́ ⟨ЗА ВЕРСТУ́⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to (try to) avoid, keep away from s.o.: X обходит Y-а за три версты ≃ X steers ⟨keeps⟩ clear of Y; X gives Y a wide ⟨the widest possible⟩ berth; X goes miles ⟨a mile⟩ out of his way to avoid Y; X keeps his distance (from Y).

…Зэк, который вот таким образом «нарушает», старается не попадаться на глаза, офицера обойдёт за три версты (Марченко 1). …A con who commits a "violation" in this way takes good care not to be seen and gives all officers the widest possible berth (1a).

В-53 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ВЕ́РУ кому-чему obsoles [VP; subj: human] to believe, have confidence in s.o. or sth.: X даёт веру Y-у ≃ X puts ⟨places⟩ his trust ⟨faith⟩ in Y; X has ⟨puts⟩ trust ⟨faith⟩ in Y; X gives credence to thing Y; || Neg X Y-у веры не даёт ≃ X doesn't buy ⟨fall for⟩ thing Y; X doesn't take stock in thing Y.

«А вот ты наш, казак, и мы тебе веры больше даём [, чем агитаторам]…» (Шолохов 3). "But you here, you're one of us, a Cossack, we've got more trust in you [than in the agitators]…" (3a).

В-54 • НА ВЕ́РУ (с)делать что [PrepP; Invar; adv] trustingly, relying on the honesty, good will of s.o.: on trust; on faith.

Читать бумаги по всем отделениям было решительно невозможно, надобно было подписывать на веру (Герцен 2). To read the papers concerning all the departments was absolutely impossible, so one had to sign them on trust (2a).

В-55 • ОБРАЩА́ТЬ/ОБРАТИ́ТЬ В СВОЮ́ ВЕ́РУ кого [VP; subj: human; often infin with пытаться, надеяться etc; usu. this WO] to persuade or induce s.o. to adopt one's beliefs, approaches etc: X пытается обратить Y-а в свою веру ≃ X is trying to convert Y (to X's views); X is trying to bring Y around to X's way of thinking; X is trying to win Y over to X's side ⟨to X's way of thinking⟩.

[Майор] вызвал меня по поводу голодовки и дактилоскопии, а занесло куда: и про законность, и про эмиграцию, и в психологию ударился… Ведь не надеялся же он таким вот образом сразу обратить меня в свою веру… (Марченко 2). He [the major] called me in on account of a hunger strike and fingerprinting, and off he went in all directions—legality, emigration, psychology. Surely he did not think that he could convert me to his views… (2a).

В-56 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ ⟨БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ⟩ НА ВЕ́РУ что [VP; subj: human] to believe sth. trustingly, without evidence or investigation: X принял Y на веру ≃ X accepted ⟨took⟩ Y on trust ⟨on faith, as an article of faith⟩; X took person Y's word for it.

«Хорошо, я готов принять на веру. Хороши ваши стихи, скажите сами?» (Булгаков 9). "All right, I'm ready to take it on faith. Tell me yourself, are your poems any good?" (9c). "Very well, I am prepared to take your word for it. Are your poems good? Tell me yourself!" (9a).

В-57 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ВЕРХ [VP] 1. ~ (над кем, где). Also: ЗАБИРА́ТЬ/ЗАБРА́ТЬ ВЕРХ [subj: human or collect] to get control over s.o. (or in some place), subject s.o. to one's will: X взял верх (над Y-ом ⟨в месте Z⟩) ≃ X got ⟨gained, had⟩ the upper hand (over Y); X dominated Y; X held sway over Y; X had everything ⟨it all⟩ his own way (in place Z); X took over (in place Z); [lim.] X took ⟨had⟩ Y well in hand.

А особенно дома Дементьев умел брать верх над Главным: Твардовский и кричал на него, и кулаком стучал, а чаще соглашался (Солженицын 2). It was particularly easy for Dementyev to get the upper hand when he and the chief were at home. Tvardovsky might shout and hammer the table, but more often than not he would agree in the end (2a).

2. ~ (над кем-чем). Also: ОДЕ́РЖИВАТЬ/ОДЕРЖА́ТЬ ВЕРХ [subj: human or abstr; if subj: human, obj is also human; if subj: abstr, obj is also abstr] to overpower, overcome (s.o. or sth.), turn out to be stronger: X взял верх (над Y-ом) ≃ X got ⟨gained, had⟩ the upper hand (over Y); X got the better of Y; X got the best of Y ⟨of it⟩; X won out (over Y); X prevailed (over Y); person X came out on top.

…Гоголь невольно примиряет смехом, его огромный комический талант берёт верх над негодованием (Герцен 1). …Gogol cannot help conciliating one with his laughter; his enormous comic talent gets the upper hand of his indignation (1a). ♦ Он готовил ответы на те вопросы, которые ему, может быть, зададут… надеясь, что в данном конкретном случае почему-то возьмут верх его доводы и соображения здравого смысла (Войнович 4). He was preparing answers to the questions which would be asked him; that is, he was hoping that, in the specific case at hand, his arguments and the considerations of common sense would prevail (4a).

В-58 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ВЕРХ над кем, где [VP; subj: human] to dominate, control s.o., be the master (in some place): X держит верх над Y-ом ⟨в месте Z⟩ ≃ X is in charge of Y ⟨in place Z⟩; X has the final say (in place Z); X is calling the shots (in place Z); X rules the roost; [lim.] X wears the pants (in the family).

В-59 • СКОЛЬЗИ́ТЬ ПО ВЕРХА́М; НАХВАТА́ТЬСЯ ВЕРХО́В ⟨ВЕРХУ́ШЕК, ВЕРШКО́В⟩; ХВАТА́ТЬ ВЕРХИ́ ⟨ВЕРХУ́ШКИ, ВЕРШКИ́⟩ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to study sth. superficially, in a brief and cursory manner: X нахватался верхов ≃ X scratched ⟨skimmed⟩ the surface; X got a smattering of…; X just got ⟨picked up⟩ the basics.

В-60 • С ВЕ́РХОМ налить, наполнить, насыпать что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to fill, pour sth.) to the very top of the container, vessel: to the brim; to the rim; to overflowing; || ложка с верхом ≃ heaping spoon(ful); heaped (table)spoon.

Ведро с верхом было наполнено сочащимися янтарными и тёмно-коричневыми сотами (Искандер 5). The pail was full to the brim with oozing combs, amber and dark brown (5a).

В-61 • НА ВЕРХУ́ БЛАЖЕ́НСТВА быть$_{ø}$, чувствовать себя etc coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (to be, feel) elated: on top of the world; in a state of perfect bliss; on cloud nine; walking ⟨treading⟩ on air; euphoric.

В-62 • ВЕРШИ́ТЕЛЬ СУ́ДЕБ lit [NP; fixed WO] a person who possesses great power, controls the fates of other people: maker ⟨master, ruler⟩ of destinies.

…К тому времени, когда прогремела «Школа мужей», министра Фуке уже называли вершителем судеб. Вершитель судеб решил устроить у себя в поместье Во празднества для короля (Булгаков 5). By the time that The School for Husbands was winning its resounding success, Fouquet was already known as the maker of destinies. And the maker of destinies decided to arrange an entertainment for the King at his Vaux estate (5a).

В-63 • ИМЕ́ТЬ ВЕС [VP; subj: human] to be influential, have authority in society, in a certain group etc: X имеет вес ≃ X carries weight; X has influence ⟨clout, pull⟩.

Жирмунского поддерживала целая толпа докторов наук… и академик Шишмарёв, но Ахманова с Любарской имели несравненно больше весу и побеждали на всех этапах (Мандельштам 2). Zhirmunski was supported by a whole cohort of Doctors of Science… and by academician Shishmarev, but Akhmanova and Liubarskaya had infinitely more influence and got their way at all stages (2a).

В-64 • НА ВЕС ЗО́ЛОТА быть$_{ø}$, ценить кого, цениться coll, approv [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, animal, concr, or abstr); fixed WO] (to be, consider s.o. or sth. to be, be considered to be etc) very valuable, precious: worth one's ⟨its⟩ weight in gold.

[Лорд:] В наше время, Савва Лукич, такие авторы на вес золота (Булгаков 1). [L.:] In our times, Savva Lukich, authors like him are worth their weight in gold (1a).

В-65 • УДЕ́ЛЬНЫЙ ВЕС кого-чего (в чём) [NP; sing only; usu. subj or obj; fixed WO] the comparative role, significance of s.o. or sth.: relative worth ⟨importance⟩ of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; role of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; weight of sth.

Слова «Тартюф» и «Обманщик» не сходили с языков в Париже, и 11-го числа грянула новость. Весь Париж стал читать послание архиепископа. Оно было составлено очень внушительно… Удельный вес этого послания был слишком значителен, это было понятно даже наивным людям, и парижане поняли, что дело «Обманщика» проиграно (Булгаков 5). Tartuffe and The Impostor were on all tongues in Paris, and on the eleventh a new misfortune struck. All Paris was reading a message from the Archbishop. It was worded most solemnly…. The weight of this message was too great, as even the most naive people could see, and the Parisians understood that The Impostor was a lost cause (5a).

В-66 • ВЕ́СТИ́/ПОВЕСТИ́ СЕБЯ́ как [VP; subj: human] to comport o.s. in a particular way (as specified by the adv): X ведёт себя... ≃ X behaves ⟨acts⟩…; X conducts himself…; [lim.] X carries himself…

…Люди формально ведут себя так, как должны вести себя искренние члены Братии (Зиновьев 1). …People behave formally as sincere members of the Brotherhood should behave (1a). ♦ Нюра, увидев Чонкина, смешалась и опустила глаза, но потом, поняв, что так вести себя глупо, подняла их… (Войнович 2). Nyura was embarrassed to see Chonkin and dropped her eyes. Then, realizing she was acting foolishly, she brought her eyes back up again… (2a).

В-67 • ПРОПА́СТЬ БЕ́З ВЕСТИ [VP; subj: human] to disappear, leaving no sign of where one has gone or what has happened to one: X пропал без вести ≃ X disappeared ⟨vanished⟩ without (a) trace; [in military contexts] [past contexts] X had gone missing; [present contexts] X is missing (in action); || без вести пропавший ≃ missing in action; MIA.

Они почти не говорили друг с другом. Она не рассказывала об умершем в 1930 году муже, о пропавших без вести сыновьях, о дочери, уехавшей в Прилуки и забывшей о матери (Гроссман 2). They spoke to each other very little. She never mentioned her husband who had died in 1930, her sons who had disappeared without trace, or her daughter who had moved to Priluki and quite forgotten her (2a). ♦ Бедных было много — семьи без вести пропавших и не получавших ни аттестата, ни пособия, многодетные ссыльные немцы (Чудаков 1). There had been many indigents—the families of soldiers missing in action, who received neither affidavits nor benefits, and also deported Germans with many children (1a).

В-68 • ХУДЫ́Е ВЕ́СТИ НЕ ЛЕЖА́Т НА МЕ́СТЕ ⟨НЕ СИДЯ́Т НА НАСЕ́СТЕ⟩ [saying] disturbing information is quickly spread: ≃ bad ⟨ill⟩ news travels fast; [said ironically] good news travels fast.

29, 30, 31-го я слушал по всем радиостанциям, как идёт моё интервью, ликовал и дописывал… «Письмо вождям». А тем временем выкопан был «Архипелаг», и — худые вести не сидят на насесте — 1-го сентября пришли мне сказать об этом, ещё не совсем точно. 3-го — уже наверняка (Солженицын 2). On 29, 30, 31 August I heard my press statement broadcast by all the radio stations, and jubilantly finished writing… my Letter to the Leaders. Meanwhile, Gulag had been dug up. Bad news travels fast, and on 1 September someone came to warn me, although he was rather vague about it. On the third we knew for certain (2a).

В-69 • НА ВЕСУ́ держать что (less often кого), держаться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to hold, keep etc sth. or, occas., s.o) in a hanging position, without support from below or supported only by a person's hand(s): (hold s.o. or sth. ⟨keep s.o. or sth., remain etc⟩) suspended ⟨dangling⟩ in midair ⟨mid-air⟩; (hold s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) in midair; hanging in midair; (hold ⟨keep etc⟩ sth.) balanced (in one's hand ⟨hands⟩)); [lim.] (weigh sth.) in one's hand(s); hold up sth.

Гай ухватывает Лёньчика за горло обеими руками, перетягивает за стену и держит на весу (Солженицын 8). Gai grabs Lennie by the throat with both hands, pushes him over the wall and holds him there in mid-air (8a). ♦ Вместо того чтоб держать посылку бережно на весу, неопытный посланец кинул её на дно телеги… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Instead of keeping the parcel carefully balanced, the inexperienced messenger tossed it into the bottom of the wagon… (1a).

В-70 • ВЕСЬ НАРУ́ЖУ; ВСЁ НАРУ́ЖУ у кого both coll [AdjP, subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: human (1st var.); VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); usu. pres; fixed WO] (a person is) extremely open, spontaneous in the expression of his thoughts and emotions: X весь ⟨у X-а всё⟩ наружу ≃ X is an open book; X is very ⟨completely⟩ open about everything.

Лена ничего не умеет скрыть, у неё всё наружу. Lena can't hide anything—she's an open book.

В-71 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨ВЫБРА́СЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́БРОСИТЬ⟩ НА ВЕ́ТЕР деньги, имущество и т.п.; ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ШВЫРЯ́ТЬ/ШВЫРНУ́ТЬ, КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ⟩ НА ВЕ́ТЕР all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to spend (money), fritter away (one's fortune) to no purpose, senselessly: X бросает деньги на ветер ≃ X throws money to the (four) winds; X throws money away; X throws money out the window ⟨down the drain⟩; X squanders (away) money.

«…Бросать денег на ветер я не стану. Уж пусть меня в этом извинят!» (Гоголь 3). "…I am not going to throw my money to the four winds. Here they must excuse me!" (3c). ♦ Давать деньги Терещенко — это значит выбрасывать их на ветер… (Рыбаков 1). Giving money to Tereshchenko was like throwing it down the drain… (1a).

В-72 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ НА ВЕ́ТЕР СЛОВА́; ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ⟨БОЛТА́ТЬ⟩ НА ВЕ́ТЕР all coll [VP; subj: human; often neg, esp. 1st var.] to speak without thinking, make hasty promises that will not be fulfilled: X слов на ветер не бросает ≃ X doesn't throw words around; X doesn't speak lightly; X is as good as his word; X lives up to his word; X means what ⟨every word⟩ he says; X doesn't make idle ⟨rash⟩ promises

Все знали, что Болтун — не дурак, слов на ветер зря не бросает (Зиновьев 1). Everyone knew that Chatterer was no fool, that he never spoke lightly (1a). ♦ Он довольно долго молчал, а затем сказал — неторопливо, сосредоточенно — слова, которые я не могу забыть до сих пор, прибавив: «Я своих слов на ветер не бросаю» (Катаев 3). He was silent for a time, then he said—with unhurried concentration—something that I have not forgotten to this day, and added: "I mean what I say" (3a).

В-73 • ВЕ́ТЕР В ГОЛОВЕ́ (гуляет, бродит, свистит) у кого coll, disapprov [NP; Invar; VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$ or subj; usu. pres] s.o. is light-minded, frivolous (often said by older people when characterizing the young): у X-а ветер в голове ≃ X is flighty ⟨harebrained, lightheaded⟩; X never has a serious thought in his head.

В-74 • ВЕ́ТЕР (СВИСТИ́Т) В КАРМА́НАХ чьих ⟨В КАРМА́НЕ чьём⟩, у кого coll, humor [VP_{subj}] s.o. has no money: у Х-а ветер свистел в карманах ≃ X didn't have a penny ⟨a dime, a kopeck etc⟩ to his name; X didn't have a (red) cent; X was (flat) broke; X's pockets were empty.

В-75 • КУДА́ ВЕ́ТЕР ДУ́ЕТ coll, disapprov [VP_{subj}; Invar; usu. this WO] 1. знать, понимать и т.п. ~. Also: ОТКУ́ДА ВЕ́ТЕР ДУ́ЕТ [subord clause] (to understand) whose views, opinions etc one should adhere to, which line of behavior is in one's best interests (usu. of a person who adjusts his opinions and behavior to those of his superiors): Х знает, куда ⟨откуда⟩ ветер дует ≃ X knows ⟨sees etc⟩ which way ⟨how, in which direction, from which direction⟩ the wind blows ⟨is blowing⟩; X trims his sails to ⟨before⟩ the wind.

Его поддержало несколько Завторангов [nonce word]… которые сразу смекнули, куда дует ветер (Зиновьев 1). He was supported by a number of Secradeps… who immediately divined which way the wind was blowing (1a).

2. (идти, смотреть и т.п.) ~ [subord clause or, rare, predic with subj: human (sing or pl)] lacking strong principles or out of selfish motives, to change one's views according to circumstances, prevalent opinions etc: Х идёт куда ветер дует ≃ X changes ⟨goes, swims, flows⟩ with the tide; X is a weathercock ⟨weather vane⟩.

В-76 • СВОБО́ДЕН КАК ВЕ́ТЕР [AdjP; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] completely free from any obligations, without any constraints on one's actions, uninvolved in any relationships, free to do whatever one wants: (as) free as the wind ⟨as a bird⟩; free man ⟨woman, people⟩; [lim.] footloose and fancy-free.

[Трофимов:] Если у вас есть ключи от хозяйства, то бросьте их в колодец и уходите. Будьте свободны как ветер (Чехов 2). [T.:] If you have the keys, then fling them down the well and come away! Free as a bird! (2b).

В-77 • С ВЕТЕРКО́М прокатить *кого, прокатиться и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to ride, race, go) with great speed: like the wind; quick as the wind.

«Ну, как поедем? С ветерком? — спросил Егорша. — У меня сам другой езды не признаёт» (Абрамов 1). "Well, how shall we ride? Like the wind?" asked Egorsha. "The Boss won't ride any other way" (1a).

В-78 • С ВЕТЕРКО́М В ГОЛОВЕ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); often used after another compl with which it is contrasted; fixed WO] light-minded, frivolous: kind of ⟨a little etc⟩ flighty; somewhat lightheaded ⟨giddy⟩.

Он парень неглупый, но с ветерком в голове. He's a pretty smart guy, but kind of flighty.

В-79 • ИЩИ́ ⟨ДОГОНЯ́Й⟩ ВЕ́ТРА В ПО́ЛЕ; ИЩИ́-СВИЩИ́ (ВЕ́ТРА В ПО́ЛЕ); ИЩИ́ ДА СВИЩИ́ all coll [imper sent; these forms only; often after теперь, тогда etc; fixed WO] (usu. in refer. to people) it is no use searching, you will not be able to find s.o. or sth. (said when s.o. or sth. has disappeared completely and is impossible to locate): you can (go) whistle for him ⟨her etc⟩; you'll never find ⟨see⟩ him ⟨it etc⟩ again; he ⟨it etc⟩ is gone with the wind; it's a wild-goose chase.

[Хороших:] А теперь где те геологи? [Дергачев:] Ищи-свищи (Вампилов 2). [Kh.:] And where are them geologists now? [D.:] You can go whistle for them (2b). ♦ «Бежецкой, как я вам в прошлый раз уже говорил, след простыл. Дом пустой. Ни слуг, ни бумаг. Ищи ветра в поле. Кто такая — непонятно, откуда взялась — неизвестно» (Акунин 8). "As I told you last time, Bezhetskaya has vanished into thin air. The house is empty. No servants and no papers. It's a wild-goose chase. Who she is, is a mystery; where she came from no one knows" (8a)

В-80 • МОЧИ́ТЬСЯ ПРО́ТИВ ВЕ́ТРА slang [VP; subj: human] to do sth. that goes against a general tendency, prevailing policies etc: Х мочится против ветра ≃ X is pissing ⟨spitting⟩ in(to) the wind.

В-81 • ПОПУ́ТНОГО ВЕ́ТРА [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] good wishes to s.o. who is embarking on a sea voyage (usu. to sailors setting out to sea): smooth sailing!; bon voyage!

В-82 • НА СЕМИ́ ВЕТРА́Х стоять [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] located in the open space, unprotected: exposed ⟨open⟩ to the wind(s); exposed ⟨open⟩ to the elements; [lim.] windswept.

Пробегая мимо церкви Всех Скорбящих, привычно перекрестился на подсвеченную лампадой икону Божьей Матери. Любил Анисий эту икону с детства: не в тепле и сухости висит, а прямо на стене, на семи ветрах… (Акунин 1). As he ran past the Church of Consolation of All the Afflicted, he crossed himself as usual, facing toward the icon of the Mother of God, lit up by its little lamp. Anisii had loved that icon since he was a child. It didn't hang inside where it was warm and dry, but out there on the wall, exposed to the elements… (1a).

В-83 • ВЕ́ТРОМ ШАТА́ЕТ кого coll [VP; impers; fixed WO] (a person is) unable to walk steadily, hardly able to stand up (from weakness, old age, drunkenness etc): Х-а ветром шатает ≃ a (good) breeze could knock ⟨blow⟩ X over; [lim.] X trembles in the wind; (X is so drunk) he can't stand up straight.

Я был очень голодный, у меня часто кружилась голова, и я, как говорится, от ветра шатался (Кузнецов 1). I was very hungry. I used to get dizzy often, and a breeze could have knocked me over, as the saying goes (1a).

В-84 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ВЕ́ТРОМ СДУ́ЛО ⟨СДУВА́ЛО/СДУ́НУЛО⟩ кого-что coll, occas. humor [VP; impers; usu. pfv past; fixed WO] s.o. or sth. disappeared very quickly, speedily: Х-а как ветром сдуло ≃ person X was off like the wind; X vanished ⟨disappeared, was gone⟩ in a flash ⟨in an instant, in a wink⟩; it is as if X evaporated into thin air; thing X evaporated into thin air.

Делая огромные глаза, он закричал: «По трамвайной линии немцы идут! Пошли!» И меня как ветром сдуло (Кузнецов 1). With his eyes almost popping out of his head he called out: "The Germans are coming down the tramline! Let's go!" I was off like the wind (1b).

В-85 • КАКИ́М ВЕ́ТРОМ ⟨КАКИ́МИ ВЕТРА́МИ, КАКИ́МИ ВЕ́ТРАМИ⟩ ЗАНЕСЛО́ *кого (куда)?; КАКО́Й ВЕ́ТЕР ЗАНЁС ⟨КАКИ́Е ВЕ́ТРЫ ЗАНЕСЛИ́⟩?; КАКИ́М ВЕ́ТРОМ ⟨КАКИ́МИ ВЕТРА́МИ⟩? all coll [VP, impers, past only (var. with занесло); VP_{subj}, past only (variants with занёс, занесли); indep sent; these forms only; always addressed to the hearer (variants without the verb); fixed WO] what caused s.o. to come to a certain place? (often used to express surprise when meeting s.o. unexpectedly): каким ветром Х-а занесло в место Y? ≃ what brings ⟨brought⟩ X to place Y?; what on earth ⟨in the world⟩ brings ⟨brought⟩ X to place Y?; what (good) wind brings ⟨blew⟩ X to place Y?

«Лучше скажите, каким вас ветром занесло? Больше года тут, и всё не могли собраться, удосужиться?» (Пастернак 1). "Better tell me what brought you here. You've been around more than a year and you never found a moment to come till now" (1a).

В-86 • ПОДБИ́ТЫЙ ⟨ПОДБИ́Т⟩ ВЕ́ТРОМ ⟨ВЕТЕРКО́М⟩ coll [AdjP; modif (long-form var. only) or subj-compl with copula (subj: a noun denoting an item of outerwear)] thin, offering little protection from the cold: skimpy; flimsy; (like) cheesecloth.

В-87 • ДО ВЕ́ТРУ пойти, выйти, хотеть и т.п. substand [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to go, go outside etc) in order to urinate or defecate: (go outside) to relieve o.s. ⟨to answer the call of nature⟩; (go to ⟨use etc⟩) the outhouse; (go out) to do one's business; relieve o.s. in the open air.

…Самая любимая их байка была о начальнике экспедиции, который вышел утром «до ветру» и, сидя за сугробом, почувствовал, что кто-то лизнул его сзади (Войнович 6). …Their favorite story was about an expedition chief who went out "to do his business" one morning and, as he was crouching behind a snowdrift, felt someone lick his behind (6a).

…Через двадцать лет упорных трудов мой старик уже имел всё — и детей, и хозяйство, и огромный загон скота… А теперь что? А теперь всем колхозом они не имеют столько скота, сколько он один тогда имел. Пустомели, всё по ветру пустили! (Искандер 3). …After twenty years of unrelenting labor my old man had it all—children, a farm, and a huge pen of stock…. And now what? Now they don't have as much stock in the whole kolkhoz as he alone had then. Big talk, but they've thrown it all to the winds! (3a).

В-89 • ДО́БРЫЙ ВЕ́ЧЕР [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] a greeting used upon meeting s.o. in the evening: good evening; hello.

В-90 • ЕЩЁ НЕ ВЕ́ЧЕР coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] there remains time before the conclusion of sth. (to accomplish sth. not yet accomplished, prove o.s., turn around a course of events etc): it's not too late (to do sth.); there's still time; it's not over yet; it's not over till it's over; we're ⟨they're etc⟩ not through yet; nothing is set in stone yet; [lim.] the final act has yet to be played out ⟨the final scene has yet to be acted out⟩. Cf. the opera isn't over till the fat lady sings.

«Вашу команду бьют!» — «Ничего, ещё не вечер, они ещё себя покажут». "Your team is getting killed!" "That's OK, there's still time. They'll show what they can do yet."

В-91 • КА́НУТЬ В ВЕ́ЧНОСТЬ lit [VP; subj: usu. abstr] to disappear forever, cease to be remembered: Х канет в вечность ≃ X will pass ⟨sink⟩ into oblivion; X will be totally ⟨long⟩ forgotten.

Антологию запретили, потому что О. М[андельштам] не включил в неё поэтов, которым уже тогда покровительствовало государство, то есть пролетарских. Их имена канули в вечность, и мне не припомнить, о ком шла речь (Мандельштам 1). The anthology was eventually forbidden by the censor because O. M[andelstam] had not included any of the "proletarian" poets who were already being sponsored by the State. Their names are now totally forgotten, and I do not remember which ones it was proposed to include (1a).

В-92 • ОТОЙТИ́ В ВЕ́ЧНОСТЬ elev [VP] 1. [subj: human] to die: Х отошёл в вечность ≃ X went to his eternal rest; X departed this life; X left this world; X awoke to life immortal; X joined the choir invisible.

2. [subj: usu. abstr] to disappear forever, cease to be remembered: Х отошёл в вечность ≃ X has passed ⟨sunk⟩ into oblivion; X is long ⟨totally⟩ forgotten.

В-93 • КАК НА ВЕ́ШАЛКЕ сидеть, висеть, болтаться на ком coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv] (some piece of clothing fits) poorly because it is too large: костюм ⟨пальто и т.п.⟩ висит на Х-е ~ ≃ that suit ⟨coat etc⟩ (just) hangs on ⟨off⟩ X; X is swimming in that suit ⟨coat etc⟩; you could fit two of him ⟨you etc⟩ in that suit ⟨coat etc⟩; (now that X lost so much weight ⟨X is so thin etc⟩,) this suit ⟨coat etc⟩ flaps around X's frame as if on a hanger.

В-94 • НАЗЫВА́ТЬ/НАЗВА́ТЬ ВЕ́ЩИ СВОИ́МИ ⟨СО́БСТВЕННЫМИ, НАСТОЯ́ЩИМИ⟩ ИМЕНА́МИ [VP; subj: human; often impfv infin with любить, привыкнуть, не хотеть etc; fixed WO] to speak of s.o. or sth. very plainly and straightforwardly, not resorting to euphemisms or toning down one's wording: Х будет называть вещи своими именами ≃ X will call a spade a spade; X will call things by their own ⟨real, right⟩ names.

Вообще резкость суждений у нас осуждалась всеми кругами без исключения… Называть вещи своими именами считалось неприличным… (Мандельштам 2). By now, in fact, everybody without exception, whatever circle he belonged to, disapproved of any blunt expression of opinion…. It was thought improper to call a spade a spade… (2a).

В-95 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ НА ВЕ́ЩИ как [VP; subj: human] to consider, regard things in a particular way (as specified by the adv): Х смотрит на вещи... ≃ X sees ⟨views, looks at, looks upon⟩ things ⟨the matter, the situation⟩ [AdvP]; X takes a [AdjP] view (of things).

Трудно сказать, когда Крикун начал систематически изучать материалы периода Хозяина, касающиеся репрессий… Он давно чувствовал, что именно здесь зарыта собака… Тогда иначе смотрели на вещи и не могли предполагать, что слова, казавшиеся им вполне справедливыми, много лет спустя станут свидетельством страшных преступлений (Зиновьев 1). It is hard to say precisely when Bawler began his systematic study of materials regarding repression in the period of the Boss…. He had long felt that this was the crux of the matter…. In those days people saw things differently, and could not suppose that words which then seemed just would later be seen as evidence of atrocious crimes (1a).

В-96 • ВЕЩЬ В СЕБЕ́ lit [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr, concr, or—by extension—human); fixed WO] (of phenomena which are) unfathomable to the human mind; by extension (of a person whose personality, mindset etc is) enigmatic, difficult to understand: thing-in-itself ⟨things-in-themselves⟩; closed book.

< Loan translation of the German Ding an sich (from Immanuel Kant's Critique of Pure Reason, 1781).

В-97 • ВЗАД И ВПЕРЁД ⟨ВЗАД-ВПЕРЁД⟩ ходить, расхаживать, бегать, метаться и т.п. [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to walk, pace, run etc) first in one direction and then in another, from one place to another and back again repeatedly: back and forth; to and fro; up and down; hither and thither; [lim.] backward(s) and forward(s).

Несмотря на мерзкую погоду и слякоть, щегольские коляски пролетали взад и вперёд (Гоголь 3). In spite of the foul weather and the muddy roads, elegant carriages kept driving rapidly back and forth (3a). ♦ «…[Печорин] выскочил в другую комнату. Я зашёл к нему; он сложа руки прохаживался угрюмый взад и вперёд» (Лермонтов 1). "Pechorin… rushed into the next room. I went there; he was gloomily pacing to and fro, with his arms folded on his chest" (1a).

В-98 • НИ ВЗАД НИ ВПЕРЁД coll [AdvP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. Also: НИ ВЗАД И НИ ВПЕРЁД [adv or predic (subj: human, animal, or vehicle is) unable to move in any direction, (does) not move from one's or its place: X ни взад ни вперёд ≃ X won't ⟨can't⟩ move ⟨go⟩ backward or forward; X won't move ⟨go⟩ one way or the other ⟨either one way or the other⟩; X won't move an inch; X won't budge (an inch).

Машина застряла в грязи — и ни взад ни вперёд. The car got stuck in the mud and couldn't go backward or forward.

2. [predic with subj: abstr, concr, or human] (of a person's work, matters etc, or of a person who is trying to do a project, task etc) not to show any progress, be in the same state: X ни взад ни вперёд ≃ X is making no progress ⟨headway⟩; X is at a (complete) standstill; there is absolutely no progress with thing X; X isn't getting anywhere.

В-99 • НА ВЗВО́ДЕ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] 1. Also: НА ПЕ́РВОМ ⟨ВТОРО́М⟩ ВЗВО́ДЕ [fixed WO] (one is) in a state of inebriation: X на взводе ≃ X is feeling no pain; X is in his cups; X is tipsy ⟨loaded⟩; X is under the influence; X is the worse for drink.

После того как они, наконец, с помощью Осипа устроились, и Антонина, вычистив и вымыв отведённую им комнату, сбегала в ларёк и накрыла на стол, комендант, уже на изрядном взводе, явился к ним в гости… (Максимов 3). When they had finally settled in with Osip's help, and Antonina had dusted and mopped the room, run down to the shop, and laid the table, the house manager, who was already well loaded, invited himself in (3a).

2. (one is) annoyed or agitated: X был на взводе ≃ X was worked up; X was on edge; X was keyed ⟨wrought⟩ up.

В-100 • НА ТРЕ́ТЬЕМ ⟨НА СЕДЬМО́М⟩ ВЗВО́ДЕ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (one is) in a state of strong inebriation: X был на третьем взводе ≃ X was dead drunk; X was three sheets in ⟨to⟩ the wind; X was tanked.

В-101 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ⟩ ВЗГЛЯД [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. ~ на кого-что to look quickly, briefly at s.o. or sth.: X бросил взгляд на Y-а ≃ X cast a glance at Y; X gave Y a look; X glanced at Y.

Временами он [Харлампо] бросал взгляд на свою невесту и тётушку Хрисулу, стараясь внушить им своим взглядом, что вот он здесь сидит с дедушкой Хабугом, что он в сущности в этом доме не какой-нибудь там нанятый пастух, а почти член семьи (Искандер 5). From time to time he [Harlampo] would cast a glance at his bride and Auntie Chrysoula, trying to impress on them that here he was, sitting with Grandpa Khabug, he wasn't actually just a hired shepherd in this house, he was practically a member of the family (5a).

2. ~ на что to think briefly about sth., return to sth. in one's thoughts: X бросил взгляд на Y ≃ X went back in his mind to Y; X looked ⟨glanced⟩ back on Y; X cast a (swift ⟨quick etc⟩) glance at Y; X took a look at Y.

Не стану час за часом следить за своими воспоминаниями, но брошу быстрый взгляд на главнейшие из них… (Толстой 2). I shall not trace my recollections hour by hour, but shall cast a swift glance at the most important ones… (2b).

В-102 • КОСО́Й ВЗГЛЯД [NP; fixed WO] a disapproving, unfriendly, suspicious glance: sidelong ⟨frowning, scowling, sideways⟩ glance; (to give s.o.) a look askance.

Шариков злобно и иронически начал коситься на профессора. Филипп Филиппович в свою очередь отправил ему косой взгляд и умолк (Булгаков 11). Sharikov began to squint at the professor with ironic malice. Philip Philippovich, in turn, sent him a sidelong glance and broke off (11a).

В-103 • НА ВЗГЛЯД coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv] outwardly: in appearance; from the looks of; to look at.

На взгляд он был человек видный; черты лица его были не лишены приятности, но в эту приятность, казалось, чересчур было передано сахару… (Гоголь 3). In appearance he was an impressive-looking man; his features were rather pleasant, but this pleasantness, one could not help feeling, had much too much sugar in it… (3a).

2. ~ чей, кого. Also: НА ГЛА́З ⟨-а⟩ obs [the resulting PrepP is sent adv (usu. parenth)] according to s.o.'s opinion, belief: на Х-ов взгляд ≃ to X's mind; in X's opinion ⟨view, book⟩; as ⟨the way⟩ X sees it; the way X looks at it; [lim.] what ⟨which⟩ one considers ⟨would consider⟩…

И тут Абесаломон Нартович нам выдал, на мой взгляд, хорошую новеллу (Искандер 4). At this point Abesalomon Nartovich produced what to my mind was a good short story (4a). ♦ В тридцать шестом году он рассорился с отцом — строгим, деспотичным, не желавшим мириться с кинематографическими, на его взгляд несерьёзными, увлечениями сына… (Некрасов 1). In 1936 he had quarreled with his father, who was strict, despotic, and did not wish to countenance his son's frivolous (as he saw it) enthusiasm for the movies… (1a).

В-104 • НА ПЕ́РВЫЙ ВЗГЛЯД [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (occas. parenth); fixed WO] on first impression: at first sight ⟨glance, blush⟩; on the face of it.

В общем-то, лицо Мансурова было довольно красивым, особенно на первый взгляд: лоб, глаза, всё крупное и как будто бы значительное (Залыгин 1). Taken as a whole Mansurov's face was quite handsome, especially at first glance: the brow, the eyes—everything was strong and seemed to be filled with meaning (1a).

В-105 • С ПЕ́РВОГО ВЗГЛЯ́ДА ⟨-у obs⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. Also: ПО ПЕ́РВОМУ ВЗГЛЯ́ДУ obs [more often used with pfv verbs] immediately: at a glance; at first sight ⟨glance⟩; the moment ⟨the minute⟩ one sets ⟨lays⟩ eyes on (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); the moment ⟨the minute⟩ one sees (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); right away; at once; || любовь с первого взгляда ≃ love at first sight.

Юре хорошо было с дядей. Он был похож на маму… Как у неё, у него было дворянское чувство равенства со всем живущим. Он так же, как она, понимал всё с первого взгляда… (Пастернак 1). Yura enjoyed being with his uncle. He reminded him of his mother…. He had the same aristocratic sense of equality with all living creatures and the same gift of taking in everything at a glance… (1a). Yura felt good with his uncle. He resembled his mother… Like her, he had an aristocratic feeling of equality with all that lived. He understood everything at first glance, just as she had… (1b).

2. Also: ПРИ ПЕ́РВОМ ВЗГЛЯ́ДЕ obs on first impression: at first sight ⟨glance, blush⟩; on the face of it.

…Теперь, глядя на отца, я начинала смутно догадываться, что он не так уж счастлив, как могло показаться с первого взгляда (Каверин 1). …Now, when I looked at my father, I began vaguely to suspect that he was not so happy as might appear at first sight (1a).

В-106 • НЕСТИ́/ПОНЕСТИ́ ВЗДОР ⟨АХИНЕ́Ю, БЕЛИБЕРДУ́, ГАЛИМАТЬЮ́, ДИЧЬ, ЕРЕСЬ, ЕРУНДУ́, ОКОЛЁСИЦУ, ОКОЛЕ́СИЦУ, ЧЕПУХУ́, ЧУШЬ, ГИЛЬ obs, ОКОЛЁСИНУ obs, ОКОЛЁСНУЮ obs⟩; МОЛО́ТЬ ВЗДОР ⟨ГАЛИМАТЬЮ́, ЕРУНДУ́, ЧЕПУХУ́⟩; ПОРО́ТЬ ВЗДОР ⟨АХИНЕ́Ю, ГАЛИМАТЬЮ́, ДИЧЬ, ЕРУНДУ́, ЧЕПУХУ́, ЧУШЬ⟩; ГОРОДИ́ТЬ/НАГОРОДИ́ТЬ ВЗДОР ⟨ЕРУНДУ́, ОКОЛЁСИЦУ, ЧЕПУХУ́, ЧУШЬ⟩; ПЛЕСТИ́ АХИНЕ́Ю ⟨ЕРЕСЬ, ОКОЛЁСИЦУ⟩; БОЛТА́ТЬ ЕРУНДУ́ ⟨ЧЕПУХУ́⟩ all coll [VP; subj: human] to say ridiculous things: X несёт вздор ≃ X is spouting ⟨talking, spewing⟩ nonsense ⟨drivel, gibberish, rubbish, crap, malarkey, bull⟩; X is babbling nonsense ⟨bull⟩; X is spouting bull ⟨crap, bosh⟩; X is talking blather ⟨bull, a lot of rot⟩; X is blathering away; [in refer. to frequent occurrences] X is always coming out with all sorts ⟨kinds⟩ of nonsense ⟨rubbish, drivel, crap etc⟩; || Neg Imper не пори ерунду ≃ [lim.] don't give me all that stuff and nonsense! don't give me that bull ⟨crap, malarkey⟩!

В-107 • ВЗДОХНУ́ТЬ НЕ́КОГДА кому coll [Invar; impers predic with $быть_{ø}$,] s.o. is extremely busy: X-у вздохнуть было некогда ≃ X didn't even have time to breathe ⟨to catch his breath⟩.

В-108 • СВОБО́ДНО ⟨-ее⟩ ВЗДОХНУ́ТЬ [VP; subj: human; usu. past] to feel relief (after being freed from some cares, worries, obligations): X вздохнул свободно ≃ X drew free breath; X breathed freely ⟨easy⟩ again; X breathed a sigh of relief.

В первый раз свободно вздохнули глуповцы и поняли, что жить «без утеснения» не в пример лучше, чем жить «с утеснением» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). For the first time the Foolovites drew free breath and realized that to live "without oppression" was far better than to live "with oppression" (1a).

В-109 • НЕ ВЗДУ́МАЙ(ТЕ) coll [VP_{imper}; these forms only; usu. foll. by infin] (used when forbidding s.o. to do sth.) you are not to do that: don't even think about it ⟨doing sth.⟩; don't take it into your head (to do sth.); don't you dare (do sth.); [lim.] don't (even) try (to do sth.).

«…Ты не вздумай ему сказать про… того парня, которого я сдуру взял в кассу» (Семёнов 1). "…Don't take it into your head to say anything about… that kid I took to the bank" (1a).

В-110 • МЫ́СЛЕННЫЙ ВЗОР [NP; sing only; usu. перед мысленным взором, used as adv; fixed WO] (of a view arising) in one's mind or imagination: (in) one's ⟨the⟩ mind's eye.

Дело-то ого-го какое. И мысленному взору обер-полицеймейстера открылись перспективы до такой степени заоблачные, что захватило дух (Акунин 3). Oh, this was truly momentous business! In his mind's eye, the chief of police pictured prospects of such transcendental glory that they took his breath away (3a).

В-111 • НЕ ВЗЫЩИ́(ТЕ) coll [imper sent; these forms only] do not be offended; be tolerant: no offense (intended); don't ⟨you mustn't⟩ hold it against me ⟨us etc⟩; (I) hope you don't mind; don't be (too) hard ⟨harsh⟩ on me ⟨us etc⟩; (please) don't judge me ⟨us⟩ too harshly; (please) don't be too critical; forgive me ⟨us etc⟩; sorry (, but…).

«Не взыщи, друг, я тут стеганул вашу лошадь невзначай…» (Искандер 5). "No offence, friend, I didn't mean to lash your horse…" (5a). ♦ «И вам… Иван Алексеич, забыла капусты к котлетам приготовить, — прибавила она, обращаясь к Алексееву. — Не взыщите» (Гончаров 1). "And I'm afraid I forgot to cook some cabbage for your cutlets, Ivan Alexeyevich," she added, turning to Alexeyev. "I hope you don't mind" (1a).

В-112 • ВСЕМ ВЗЯЛ coll, approv [VP; subj: human; past only; fixed WO] one has every positive attribute, is superior: X всем взял ≃ X has (got) everything; X has (got) it all; X is a fine figure of a man ⟨a woman etc⟩; [lim.] X is good at everything.

В-113 • ОТКУ́ДА ⟨С ЧЕГО́⟩ ТЫ ⟨он и т.п.⟩ ВЗЯЛ? [sent; past only; usu. addressed to the hearer; fixed WO] how did you arrive at that thought?: what makes you think that ⟨that…⟩?; where did you ⟨he etc⟩ get that idea ⟨the idea that…⟩?; what ⟨whatever⟩ gave you ⟨him etc⟩ that idea ⟨the idea that…⟩?

«С чего ты, например, взял, что, что бы я ни говорил вслух — втайне… я страдаю?» (Битов 2). "What makes you think, for example, that no matter what I say aloud I'm secretly suffering…?" (2a).

В-114 • ВЗЯ́ТКИ ГЛА́ДКИ с кого coll, often disapprov [sent; Invar; fixed WO] it is futile to attempt to hold s.o. responsible for sth. or get sth. out of him (because of his character traits, attitude, circumstances, financial situation etc): с Х-а взятки гладки ≃ you ⟨he etc⟩ won't get much ⟨anything⟩ out of X; you won't get anywhere with X; you're wasting your time on X; there is nothing you ⟨he etc⟩ can do to X; X cannot be called to account; [when s.o. cannot be blamed or punished for sth. because his accusers lack proof] you've ⟨they've etc⟩ got nothing on X; [in refer. to s.o.'s financial situation; lim.] you can't get ⟨draw⟩ blood out of ⟨from⟩ a stone ⟨a turnip⟩.

«Новенький полковник… донесёт, и придётся отвечать…» — «…С меня взятки гладки!» (Шолохов 5). "The new colonel… will report this, and you'll have to answer for it…." "…They won't get much out of me!" (5a). ♦ [Кречинский:] …Проглядел невесту; теперь на меня глаза пялить нечего: с меня, приятель, взятки гладки… (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [К.:] You've already lost your sweetheart—there's no sense in staring… at me like that now. You won't get anywhere with me, my friend… (2b).

В-115 • ВЗЯТЬ ДА ⟨ДА И, И⟩… coll [VP; subj: any noun; imper возьми да etc is used with any pers (sing or pl), usu. in refer. to the past; foll. by another verb in the same form; fixed WO] (to do sth., to happen) unexpectedly, suddenly: Х возьми да и сделай Y ≃ person X up and did Y; all of a sudden X did Y; X just did Y; [lim.] person X ups and does Y; || Х взял бы да сделал Y ≃ [lim.] X could do Y.

«У мамы отпуск, у папы отпуск, у меня каникулы, вот мы сюда и приехали на пять дней покататься на лыжах». — «Прямо так вот взяли и приехали?» — «Ну да» (Войнович 1). "Mama's on vacation, Papa's on vacation, and it's school break, so we came to ski for five days." "You just up and came?" "That's right" (1a). ♦ «Лаффит возьми и скажи: „Ну, старый мошенник, получишь ты свои восемьдесят четыре тысячи, но при одном условии…"» (Акунин 7). "Then suddenly Laffitte ups and says: 'Right, you old scoundrel, you'll get your eighty-four thousand, but only on one condition…'" (7a).

В-116 • ВЫСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ВЫ́СТАВИТЬ НА ВИД что, rare кого; ВЫСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ВЫ́СТАВИТЬ НАПОКА́З ⟨НАРУ́ЖУ⟩ [VP; subj: human or abstr] to reveal sth., make sth. visible: Х выставляет на вид Y ≃ X exhibits ⟨discloses, exposes⟩ Y; X makes Y known; person X puts Y on display; person X lets everyone see Y; [lim.] person X shows off Y.

Перечитывая эти записки, я убедился в искренности того, кто так беспощадно выставлял наружу собственные слабости и пороки (Лермонтов 1). While reading over these notes, I became convinced of the sincerity of this man who so mercilessly exhibited his own failings and vices (1a). Reading over these notes again, I felt convinced of the sincerity of the man who so ruthlessly exposed his own failings and vices (1c).

В-117 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ВИД [VP; subj: human; usu. foll. by a что-clause; usu. this WO] to feign (sth.), take the semblance (of sth.): Х сделал вид ≃ X pretended (that ⟨to⟩…); X acted ⟨looked⟩ as if…; X made out (that…); X made believe (that…); X gave the impression (that…).

Вы можете на него накричать, он не обидится (хотя в интересах дела может сделать вид, что обиделся)… (Войнович 3). You can scream at him and he won't be offended (though in the interests of the case he may pretend he is offended)… (3a). ♦ Дежурные сделали вид, что не слышат, и вышли (Солженицын 3). The duty officers acted as if they had not heard him and went out (3a).

В-118 • НА ВИД; С ⟨ПО⟩ ВИ́ДУ [PrepP; these forms only; adv or modif] the way (a person or thing) seems when perceived visually: look (like); look to be; [AdjP]-looking; [NP or AdjP] to look at; to look at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; from the looks of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; in appearance; give the appearance of…; seemingly; seem… to the eye; look to the eye like…; appear to the eye to be…; on the outside.

Только два человека, с виду похожие на мелких базарных торговцев, мирно пивши в углу кофе, не принимали никакого участия в этих сетованиях (Эренбург 2). Only two people, who looked like bazaar merchants, sitting quietly in their corner drinking coffee, took no part in any of these lamentations (2a). ♦ …Ведь вы молоды, вам на вид не дашь и шестнадцати (Соколов 1). …You're young, after all, from the looks of you you're not more than sixteen (1a).

В-119 • НАПУСКА́ТЬ/НАПУСТИ́ТЬ НА СЕБЯ́ ВИД какой [VP; subj: human] (to try) to look a certain way (as denoted by the modifier): Х напустил на себя [AdjP] вид ≃ X took ⟨put⟩ on a [AdjP] expression; X assumed a look ⟨an air⟩ of [NP denoting the same quality as the Russian AdjP]; X pretended to be [AdjP].

…Он, с жадностью ловя каждое слово [тёщи], напускал на себя уныло-спокойный и даже рассеянный вид, отчего теща скрытно негодовала… (Трифонов 1). …As he greedily took in her [his mother-in-law's] every word, he would take on a calmly subdued and even absentminded expression which his mother-in-law secretly resented (1a). ♦ Тут Ляля насторожилась, хотя напустила на себя равнодушный вид (Трифонов 1). Though she assumed a look of indifference, Lyalya listened with interest… (1a).

В-120 • ПРИВОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИВЕСТИ́ В БО́ЖЕСКИЙ ⟨ХРИСТИА́НСКИЙ⟩ ВИД кого-что; ПРИДАВА́ТЬ/ПРИДА́ТЬ БО́ЖЕСКИЙ ⟨ХРИСТИА́НСКИЙ⟩ ВИД кому-чему coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to make s.o. or sth. look neat, orderly in appearance, put sth. in order: Х привёл Y-а ⟨себя⟩ в христианский вид ≃ X made Y ⟨himself⟩ presentable; X tidied ⟨spruced, fixed⟩ Y ⟨himself⟩ up.

В-121 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ НА ВИД кому offic [VP; subj: human; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to reproach one's subordinate officially (about his errors, oversights at work etc): Х поставил Y-у на вид ≃ X reprimanded ⟨chided⟩ Y; X formally censured Y; [lim.] X pointed out to Y (that…).

В-122 • ДЛЯ ВИ́ДА ⟨-У⟩; ДЛЯ ВИ́ДИМОСТИ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] in order to create a certain impression: for appearance' ⟨form's⟩ sake; for the sake of appearance; [lim.] (one) puts up ⟨on⟩ a (little) show of…; (one) makes a pretense of…; (in order) to make it look good.

Предполагалось продолжать действия пяти последних градоначальников, усугубив лишь элемент гривуазности, внесённой виконтом дю Шарио, и сдобрив его, для вида, известным колоритом сантиментальности (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The intention was to continue the activities of the last five town governors, but with the element of ribaldry introduced by the Vicomte du Chariot intensified and enriched with a certain coloring of sentimentality for appearance' sake (1a). ♦ Привыкли [к Радеку] как к своему, только для виду считается — польская партия (Солженицын 5). They'd got used to thinking of him [Radek] as one of themselves—he was a "Polish comrade" only for form's sake (5a).

В-123 • НЕ ПОДАВА́ТЬ/НЕ ПОДА́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/НЕ ПОКАЗА́ТЬ⟩ ВИ́ДА ⟨-у⟩ [VP; subj: human; often a clause in a compound sent after Conj «но», a main clause in a complex sent with a что-clause, or a main or subord clause in a complex sent containing a clause of concession] not to reveal (some thought, feeling, desire, intention etc): X не подал вида ≃ X didn't let on (that…); X didn't show it ⟨that…⟩; X didn't let it ⟨anything etc⟩ show; X gave no sign (that… ⟨of it etc⟩).

Встреча с Чонкиным её [Нюру] тоже взволновала, но она не подала виду… (Войнович 2). Encountering Chonkin had excited Nyura as well, but she didn't let on… (2a).

В-124 • НЕ ВИДА́Л кого-чего coll [VP; subj: human; subj follows the verb; past only] one does not want or have need of (s.o. or sth.): не видал X Y-а ≃ what the heck would X need Y for?; X doesn't need Y; who needs Y (anyway)?; as if X needed Y!

«Куда ты дела, разбойница, бумагу?» — «Ей-богу, барин, не видывала, опричь [obs = кроме] небольшого лоскутка, которым изволили прикрыть рюмку»… — «Врёшь, ты снесла пономарёнку, он маракует, так ты ему и снесла». — «Да пономарёнок, если захочет, так достанет себе бумаги. Не видал он вашего лоскутка!» (Гоголь 3). "What have you done with the sheet of paper, you thief?" "I swear I haven't seen any paper, master, except the little scrap you used to cover the glass."… "You took it over to the sacristan—he can write, so you gave it to him." "But, master, if the sacristan wanted paper, he could get some himself. He doesn't need your bit" (3e).

В-125 • ЧЕГО́ Я ⟨ты и т.п.⟩ ТАМ ⟨ТУТ, ЗДЕСЬ⟩ НЕ ВИДА́Л ⟨НЕ ВИ́ДЕЛ⟩? coll [VP_{subj}; past only; usu. indep. sent; fixed WO] there is no reason why I (you etc) need to or would want to go there (or stay here): чего X там ⟨тут⟩ не видал? ≃ why on earth (would X want to) go there ⟨stay here⟩?; what's the point of going there ⟨staying here etc⟩?; X won't see anything there ⟨here⟩ he hasn't seen before; what does X think he will find there?; what does X want there ⟨around here⟩?; who needs it?

Так было с Францией — вдруг [Сергей] сказал, что исчезло всякое желание ехать… Сказал ей: «Чего я там не видел? То, что мне нужно, я могу найти только здесь…» (Трифонов 3). …He [Sergei] had decided against the trip to France. He suddenly announced that he had lost all desire to go…. He said to her, "What's the point of going to France? Everything that I need can be found [only] here" (3a). ♦ Явный психопат. Зачем баронету, отпрыску богатого семейства, ехать на край света, в какую-то Океанию? Чего он там не видал? (Акунин 7). Clearly some kind of mental case. Why else would a baronet, the scion of a wealthy family, go traveling to some godforsaken Oceania? What did he think he would find there? (7a).

В-126 • ГДЕ Э́ТО ВИ́ДАНО?; ГДЕ Ж(Е) Э́ТО ВИ́ДАНО? all coll [indep. clause; often foll. by a чтобы-clause; fixed WO] used to express a negative attitude toward sth., indignation etc: where did you ever see (such a thing ⟨anything like it etc⟩)?; who ever saw ⟨who's ever seen⟩ (such a thing ⟨the likes of it etc⟩)?; who ⟨who's⟩ ever heard of (such a thing ⟨anything like it etc⟩)?; it's (just ⟨simply⟩) unheard of.

«Наляпали золота кусками, аж отваливается. Где это видано, чтобы столько тратить!» (Сологуб 1). "They've scattered pieces of gold in the sky, and it's already falling off. Where did you ever see such waste!" (1a).

В-127 • В ВИ́ДАХ чего obs [PrepP; Invar; Prep; usu. foll. by a deverbal noun] for the purpose of: (in order) to (do sth.); with the goal of (doing sth.).

…Слух о богатствах, скрывающихся якобы в недрах земли, есть не более как выдумка, пущенная экспертом от наук в видах легчайшего получения из казны денег… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). [context transl] …The rumours about the riches hidden in the bowels of the earth was a pure invention of the scientific expert who wanted the State to pay his travelling expenses… (2a).

В-128 • В ВИ́ДЕ [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is usu. adv] 1. ~ чего resembling, having the shape of: in the form ⟨shape⟩ of; shaped like; like.

Если даже допустить какие-то возможности объединения усилий интеллектуалов, например — в виде особого журнала, вы всё равно в принципе не измените ситуацию (Зиновьев 1). Even if we accept the possibility of some combination of effort by the intellectuals, for instance in the form of some particular journal, you still won't change the system in principle (1a).

2. ~ чего in the capacity of: as; by way of.

…Она спросила, будут ли есть сосиски эти люди и буду ли есть сосиски я. Я сказал, что да, буду… «Он столько ест!» — сказала она им в виде шутки (Лимонов 1). …She asked would these people have sausages, and would I have sausages. I said yes…. "He eats so much!" she told them, by way of a joke (1a).

3. ~ кого having adopted the appearance of someone else: in the form of; looking like; dressed (up) as.

Олег не мог забыть спасённую им девушку. Она являлась ему во сне в виде прекрасной русалки. Oleg couldn't get the girl he had rescued out of his mind. She kept appearing to him in a dream in the form of a beautiful mermaid.

В-129 • В ЛУ́ЧШЕМ ВИ́ДЕ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human or abstr, often всё); fixed WO] in the best way, very well: (just) fine; in fine fashion; in the best possible way ⟨shape⟩; (one is ⟨one looks, sth. is going etc⟩) as well as could be; (one ⟨sth.⟩) couldn't be better; (one) couldn't look better; [lim.] as well as one can; in the proper manner; || проявить ⟨показать, выставить⟩ себя ~ ≃ show o.s. at one's best; show o.s. in the best (possible) light; || всё будет ~ ≃ everything will be shipshape.

В-130 • В ЧИ́СТОМ ВИ́ДЕ [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] in the form in which s.o. or sth. naturally exists, functions etc, without any additions, admixtures, embellishments etc: in its ⟨their⟩ pure(st) form; in pure form; in its ⟨their⟩ pure state; (just) as it ⟨he etc⟩ is; [lim.] pure and simple.

Коммунистический мир — это сюрреализм в чистом виде… (Аксёнов 12). The communist world is surrealism in pure form… (12a).

В-131 • ПРИ ВИ́ДЕ кого-чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] when seeing s.o. or sth.: at the sight of; (up)on seeing; when one sees.

При виде своих коммерческих врагов Безенчук отчаянно махнул рукой… (Ильф и Петров 1). At the sight of his business rivals, Bezenchuk waved his hand in despair… (1a).

В-132 • ТО́ЛЬКО меня ⟨его и т.п.⟩ И ВИ́ДЕЛИ; ТО́ЛЬКО меня ⟨его и т.п.⟩ И ВИ́ДЕЛ all coll [VP; subj: human; 3rd pers pl with indef. refer. (1st var.); past or, rare, subjunctive; the idiom can be used in fut contexts; fixed WO] s.o. disappeared swiftly, vanished (the context may imply that the person will not return): только Y-а и видели ⟨только X Y-а и видел⟩ ≃ Y was gone in a flash; Y was out of here ⟨there⟩ in no time; [with the emphasis on the permanence of s.o.'s leaving] that's the last you ⟨X⟩ (ever) saw of Y; X has seen the last of Y.

[Шабельский:] Эх, милейшая Сарра, выиграй я сто или двести тысяч, показал бы я вам, где раки зимуют!.. Только бы вы меня и видели (Чехов 4). [Sh.:] Ah, my dear Sarah, if I won a few hundred thousand roubles, I'd show you a thing or two. I'd be out of here in no time… (4b).

В-133 • ВИ́ДЕТЬ НАСКВО́ЗЬ кого [VP; subj: human] to understand s.o.'s true nature (often, beneath a deceptive appearance), discern s.o.'s thoughts, intentions: X видит Y-а насквозь ≃ X sees ⟨can see⟩ (right ⟨straight⟩) through Y; X reads Y like a book; X knows Y inside out.

В-134 • ВИ́ДЕТЬ НЕ МО́ЖЕТ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] one cannot tolerate s.o. or sth., one strongly dislikes s.o. or sth.: X видеть Y-а не может ≃ X can't bear ⟨stand, stomach⟩ Y; X can't bear ⟨stand, stomach⟩ the sight ⟨the thought⟩ of Y; (just) the sight ⟨the thought⟩ of Y makes X sick ⟨ill⟩.

[Васенька:] Вы мне все осточертели! (Бусыгину.) И ты тоже! Пусти, тебе говорят! Я и видеть-то вас не могу! (Вампилов 4). [V.:] I'm sick to death of all of you! (To Busygin) Of you too! Let go! Do you hear? I can't bear the sight of any of you! (4a).

В-135 • ВИ́ДИМО-НЕВИ́ДИМО кого-чего coll; И ВИ́ДИМО И НЕВИ́ДИМО obs, coll [AdvP; these forms only; usu. quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun) or adv (quantif)] a great many, an infinite number: countless numbers of; in countless numbers; multitudes ⟨a multitude⟩ of; no end of ⟨to⟩; endless [NPs]; a whole slew of; hordes ⟨myriads, thousands, hundreds⟩ of; huge ⟨great⟩ numbers of; [of people only] (some place is) a sea of humanity.

[Астров:] На этом озере жили лебеди, гуси, утки, и, как говорят старики, птицы всякой была сила, видимо-невидимо… (Чехов 3). [A.:] On this lake there were swans, geese, ducks, and, as the old people say, a powerful lot of birds of all sorts, no end of them… (3a). ♦ Везде что-то гремит, свистит, скрежещет, народу видимо-невидимо, с авоськами, с портфелями, все куда-то торопятся… (Войнович 1). No matter where you went, something was booming, whistling, gnashing, and endless crowds with net shopping bags and briefcases swept by in a hurry… (1a).

В-136 • ПО (ВСЕЙ) ВИ́ДИМОСТИ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] judging from the way it seems: apparently; from ⟨to, by⟩ all appearances; (s.o.) appears to…; it appears (that…).

С того письма, нет, уже с «Августа» начинается процесс раскола моих читателей, потери сторонников, и со мной остаётся меньше, чем уходит. На «ура» принимали меня пока я был, по видимости, только против сталинских злоупотреблений, тут и всё общество было со мной (Солженицын 2). It is not from this letter, but earlier, from the appearance of August 1914, that we must date the schizm among my readers, the steady loss of supporters, with more leaving me than remained behind. I was received with 'hurrahs' as long as I appeared to be against Stalinist abuses only; thus far the entire Soviet public was with me (2a).

В-137 • ВИ́ДИШЬ ⟨ВИ́ДИТЕ⟩ ЛИ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] 1. used to introduce an explanation or to attract the interlocutor's attention to the statement to which it belongs: you see.

[Таня:] Вы это серьёзно? [Колесов:] Что? [Таня:] Да вот приглашаете на свадьбу… [Колесов:] С полной ответственностью. Видите ли, женится мой друг, и на свадьбу я обещал прийти с самой симпатичной девушкой в городе (Вампилов 3). [T.:] Are you serious about it? [K.:] About what? [T.:] About inviting me to a wedding… [K.:] I take full responsibility. You see, a friend of mine is getting married and I promised to bring the prettiest girl in town to the wedding (3b).

2. used to express a sarcastic reaction to sth., esp. when quoting from another's statement, or one's annoyance, indignation etc at sth.: if you please; wouldn't you know it; can ⟨could⟩ you believe it.

[Львов:] У несчастной жены всё счастье в том, чтобы он был возле неё, она дышит им, умоляет его провести с нею хоть один вечер, а он… он не может… Ему, видите ли, дома душно и тесно (Чехов 4). [L.:] …His unfortunate wife's entire happiness is in having him near her; he's the breath of life to her, she begs him to spend just one evening with her, and he… he cannot…. He, if you please, feels cramped and stifled at home (4a).

В-138 • ВОТ ВИ́ДИШЬ ⟨ВИ́ДИТЕ⟩! coll [indep. sent; these forms only] used to emphasize the correctness of a statement, prediction etc made earlier by the speaker: there you are; there you have it; there, you see; (you) see!; [lim.] I told you so!; what did I tell you!; [when the statement, prediction etc is repeated after the idiom] I told you…

«Ну что ж, — сказал Киров, — если есть необходимость, поеду [в Казахстан]». — «Необходимость есть, ты это сам хорошо понимаешь, да и потом, — Сталин показал на листки конспекта по истории, — эта работа, я вижу, тебя не слишком увлекает, так ведь?» — «Да, это так, — подтвердил Киров, — какой я историк…» — «Вот видишь!» (Рыбаков 2). "Well, if it's necessary," Kirov said, "I'll go [to Kazakhstan]." "It is necessary, as you well know. And anyway,"—Stalin nodded at the notes on the history project—"you don't seem terribly taken with this work. Am I right?" "Yes, you're right," Kirov confirmed. "I'm no historian…." "Well, there you are!" (2a).

В-139 • КАК ВИ́ДИШЬ ⟨ВИ́ДИТЕ⟩ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] as is now apparent to you: as you (can) see.

[Виктория:] Что вы делаете? [Калошин:] Я?.. Лежу, как видите (Вампилов 1). [V.:] What are you doing? [K.:] Me?… Just lying down, as you see (1a).

В-140 • КАК ВИ́ДНО [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] according to what can be seen, deduced: evidently; apparently; [lim.] probably.

Он [Пугачёв] остановился; его окружили и, как видно, по его повелению четыре человека отделились и во весь опор подскакали под самую крепость (Пушкин 2). He [Pugachev] stopped; his men gathered around him; and evidently by his command, four of them peeled off from the group and galloped right up to the fort at full speed (2a).

В-141 • НИ ПОД КАКИ́М ВИ́ДОМ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with negated verbs; fixed WO] never, not for any reason, no matter what the circumstances: not on any account; on no account; not under any circumstances ⟨condition(s), pretext⟩; under no circumstances ⟨condition(s), pretext⟩ (whatsoever); [lim.] not for anyone ⟨anything⟩.

«Наташа! Ты можешь думать про меня всё, что хочешь. Считай меня, если хочешь, безумцем, но помни одно: когда вернёшься домой — не вздумай ходить в Гнездниковский. Такой переулок, возле площади Пушкина, улицы Горького. Не заглядывай туда ни под каким видом» (Терц 2). "Natasha! Think what you like about me, call me a madman if you like, but remember one thing: when you get back, keep away from Gnezdnikovsky. You know the street—near Pushkin Square and Gorki Street. Don't go there on any account…" (2a).

В-142 • ПОД ВИ́ДОМ [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is usu. adv] 1. ~ чего using sth. as an excuse: under ⟨on⟩ (the) pretext of; under ⟨on⟩ (the) pretense of.

Известно, что сочинители иногда, под видом требования советов, ищут благосклонного слушателя (Пушкин 2). It is well-known that authors, under pretext of seeking advice, sometimes attempt to find a benevolent listener (2b). ♦ …Шумилов далее сказал, чтобы он, Михаил, срочно написал и передал по телефону донесение: такой-то и такой-то под видом болезни дезертировал с лесного фронта, бывший военнопленный… (Абрамов 1). …Shumilov said further that Mikhail should immediately write out a report and transmit it by telephone: so and so, under pretense of illness, deserted from the forest front, a former prisoner of war… (1b).

2. ~ кого-чего representing o.s., s.o., or sth. falsely (as s.o. or sth. else): under ⟨in⟩ the guise of; passing o.s. ⟨s.o., sth.⟩ off as; [of a person only] posing as.

Римская история была в нём [романе], собственно, ни при чём. Изображены были под видом римлян видные парижане (Булгаков 5). Properly speaking, Rome had nothing to do with the story at all. Under the guise of Romans, the novel depicted eminent Parisians (5a).

В-143 • С УБИ́ТЫМ ВИ́ДОМ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] exhibiting a despairing expression: with a crushed ⟨crestfallen⟩ look; looking crushed ⟨dejected, depressed, crestfallen, like misery itself⟩.

Лукашин с убитым видом выслушал эту директиву (Абрамов 1). Lukashin listened to that directive with a crushed look (1a).

В-144 • В ВИДУ́ чего obs [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect, or concr) or adv] within visible distance: within view of; within ⟨in⟩ sight of; [lim.] in full view of.

Войска авангарда расположились впереди Вишау, в виду цепи неприятельской, уступавшей нам место при малейшей перестрелке в продолжение всего дня (Толстой 4). The troops of the vanguard were stationed before Wischau within sight of the enemy line, which all day long had yielded ground to us at the least skirmish (4a).

В-145 • ИМЕ́ТЬ В ВИДУ́ [VP; fixed WO] 1. ~ кого-что [subj: usu. human, occas. collect or журнал, статья etc] to intend to indicate s.o. or sth., convey sth.: X имеет в виду Y-а ≃ person X has Y in mind; person X means Y; X is referring to Y; [lim.] person X is thinking of Y.

Когда говорят о цензуре, то имеют в виду прежде всего специальное учреждение, Главлит… (Войнович 1). When people speak of censorship, they're primarily referring to a special institution, Glavlit… (1a).

2. ~ (кого-что). Also: ПОИМЕ́ТЬ В ВИДУ́ highly coll [subj: human; usu. infin with надо, нужно etc or imper; often foll. by a что-clause] to include s.o. or sth. in one's considerations, take s.o. or sth. into consideration: имей это в виду ≃ bear ⟨keep⟩ it ⟨that, this⟩ in mind; remember that ⟨this⟩; || имей в виду, что... ≃ bear ⟨keep⟩ in mind that…; mind that…; remember that…; consider that…

«…Сейчас мы тебя отправим в камеру. Но имей в виду следующее: я скажу Сударю, что ты молчишь и, таким образом, берёшь на себя роль главаря банды» (Семёнов 1). "We'll send you down to the cells now. But bear this in mind: I shall tell Squire that you're refusing to talk and are thus taking on the role of gang leader" (1a).

3. ~ что, что (с)делать coll [subj: human] to have the intention or goal to do sth.: X имеет в виду (сделать Y) ≃ X intends ⟨means, plans⟩ (to do Y); X has it in mind (to do Y).

«Вы сказали больше, чем имели в виду, и я вам за это благодарен…» (Гладков 1). "You said more than you intended, and I am grateful to you for it…" (1a).

В-146 • НА ВИДУ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ (у кого) [subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr) or adv] (fully) visible (to s.o.): in plain ⟨full⟩ view (of s.o.); within s.o.'s view; (can be) seen; before s.o.'s eyes; in front of s.o.; [lim.] exposed; out in the open; || Neg не на виду ≃ out of (s.o.'s) sight ⟨view⟩; out of view ⟨sight⟩ (of s.o.); || у всех на виду ≃ for all to see; in front of everybody; in public; || жить у всех на виду ≃ live a completely open life.

В обоих отделениях столовой кухня была отделена от общего зала стеклянной перегородкой, чтобы неряхи-повара всё время были на виду у рабочих (Искандер 3). In each department of the dining room, the kitchen was divided from the public hall by a glass partition so that the slovenly cooks were within the workers' view at all times (3a). ♦ Илья Терентьевич Хоробров задней стороной лаборатории, не на виду у начальства, тяжёлой поступью прошёл за стеллаж к Потапову (Солженицын 3). Ilya Terentevich Khorobrov, in the rear of the laboratory and out of sight of the chiefs, walked with heavy tread behind the wall of shelves to Potapov (3a).

Этот человек, проживший так открыто, так напоказ, так на виду — оказался самым скрытным, самым невидимым и унёс свою тайну в могилу (Битов 2). This man who lived so openly, so on display, so in the public eye, turns out to have been the most secretive, the most invisible. He has carried his secret to the grave (2a). ♦ «…Перейдя в гвардию, я на виду, — продолжал Берг, — и вакансии в гвардейской пехоте гораздо чаще» (Толстой 4). "…By transferring to the Guards, I shall be where I can be noticed," Berg continued, "and vacancies occur more frequently in the Foot Guards" (4a).

В-147 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ И́З ВИ́ДУ⟩ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кого-что. Also: ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ ИЗ ВИ́ДА ⟨ИЗ ГЛАЗ obs⟩ not to see s.o. or sth. anymore: X

потерял Y-а из виду ≃ X lost sight of Y; X let Y out of X's sight.

Взяв на плечи каждый по узлу, они пустились вдоль по берегу, и скоро я потерял их из виду (Лермонтов 1). Each shouldering a bundle, they set out along the shore and I soon lost sight of them (1b).

2. ~ кого to stop meeting with s.o., cease keeping in contact with s.o. or keeping o.s. informed about s.o.: X потерял Y-а из виду ≃ X lost touch with Y; X lost track of Y.

Мы надолго потеряли её [Сусанну] из виду и вдруг встретили в период наших блужданий по Москве тридцать седьмого года (Мандельштам 2). For a long time we lost touch with her [Susanna]—until we suddenly ran into her again during our wanderings around Moscow in 1937 (2a).

B-148 • УПУСКА́ТЬ/УПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫПУСКА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ПУСТИТЬ⟩ И́З ВИ́ДУ ⟨ИЗ ВИ́ДА⟩ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кого-что. Also: УПУСКА́ТЬ/УПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫПУСКА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ПУСТИТЬ⟩ ИЗ ⟨С⟩ ГЛАЗ obs [often neg; if affirm, fixed WO] to keep s.o. within the field of one's vision: X не упускал Y-а из виду ≃ X did not let Y out of X's sight; X did not lose sight of Y.

Пока я рассказывал ему [этому человеку] что и как, косясь на собаку и стараясь не упускать её из виду, он качал головой, прицокивал языком… (Искандер 6). ♦ Glancing sideways at the dog and trying not to let it out of my sight, I began filling him [the man] in on the details, while he for his part kept shaking his head and clicking his tongue (6a).

2. ~ кого-что [often neg; if affirm, fixed WO] to stop keeping o.s. informed about s.o. (or sth.), stop keeping up one's acquaintance with s.o., following s.o.'s career or the changes in his life: X не упускал Y-а из виду ≃ X did not lose ⟨never lost⟩ sight of Y; X didn't lose touch with person Y; [lim.] X kept tabs on Y.

[Треплев:] Дебютировала она под Москвой в дачном театре, потом уехала в провинцию. Тогда я не упускал её из виду и некоторое время куда она, туда и я (Чехов 6). [T.:] She made her debut in a summer theater near Moscow, then went to the provinces. At that time I never lost sight of her; wherever she went, I followed (6a).

3. ~ что [often foll. by a что-clause; fixed WO] not to consider sth., not to include sth. in one's calculations as a result of one's oversight: X упустил из виду Y ⟨что...⟩ ≃ X lost sight of Y ⟨of the fact that…⟩; X overlooked ⟨forgot (about), neglected, missed⟩ Y ⟨the fact that…⟩; X failed to see Y ⟨that…⟩; X failed to take Y into account; X failed to take account of Y ⟨of the fact that…⟩.

…Дорогая Наташа, я упустил из виду главное: план (Олеша 1). …Dear Natasha, I have overlooked the most important thing: the Plan (1a).

B-149 • ВИДА́ТЬ ⟨ВИ́ДЫВАТЬ⟩ ВИ́ДЫ coll [VP; usu. this WO] 1. Also: ВИДА́ТЬ ⟨ВИ́ДЫВАТЬ⟩ ВСЯ́КИЕ ВИ́ДЫ [subj: human; often active past Part] to have experienced much in life, endured various troubles: X видал виды ≃ X has been through plenty (in his time ⟨life, lifetime⟩); X has seen much ⟨a great deal, a lot⟩ in his time ⟨day, life, lifetime⟩; X has seen all sorts ⟨kinds⟩ of things (in his time etc); X has been through the mill; X has been around ⟨around the block⟩; X is schooled in the ways of the world; || видавший виды ≃ seasoned; battle-scarred.

У Моси был неистовый темперамент южанина и не вполне безукоризненная биография мальчишки, видавшего за свои двадцать три года всякие виды (Катаев 1). Mosya had the violent temperament of a southerner, and the not entirely faultless biography of a gamin who had seen all sorts of things in the course of his twenty-three years (1a). ♦ …Кирпиченко вдруг увидел, что ей [Ларисе] под тридцать, что она видала виды (Аксёнов 5). …Kirpichenko suddenly saw that she [Larisa] was getting on for thirty and that she had been around (5a).

2. [subj: concr] (of various devices, machines etc, often of furniture, clothes, footwear etc) to have been used a great deal, show signs of much wear: X видал виды ≃ X looks ⟨is⟩ the worse for wear; X has seen better days; X is timeworn ⟨worn-out, well-worn, shabby⟩.

B-150 • ИМЕ́ТЬ ВИ́ДЫ на кого-что [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to have definite goals, plans, intentions regarding s.o. or sth., count on s.o. or sth. in some way (occas. to have hope of marrying s.o.): X имеет виды на Y-а ≃ X has his eye on Y; X has certain ideas concerning ⟨about⟩ Y; X has plans for Y; X has something in mind for Y; [usu. in refer. to marriage, sexual pursuit] X has designs on Y.

…Сидоров разрешил Грише посетить гетто только в январе или феврале сорок второго года, а может быть, сам послал в гетто, у Сидорова были свои виды на наш город, вернее, на нашу железнодорожную станцию (Рыбаков 1). …Sidorov could permit Grisha to visit the ghetto only in January or February of 1942. He may have even sent him there, as he had his eye on our town, on the railway station, to be precise (1a). ♦ «А теперь скажите мне, когда вы могли бы приступить к работе? У меня на вас особые виды» (Акунин 8). "And now tell me, when could you come back to work? I have something special in mind for you" (8a).

B-151 • (ЕЩЁ) ВИ́ЛАМИ НА ⟨ПО⟩ ВОДЕ́ ПИ́САНО coll [AdjP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. это, всё, всё это, or a clause); usu. pres; usu. this WO] it is as yet unclear how things will turn out or whether sth. …Небольшого ума требует, взглянув на всё, понять, что выигрыш тут мал и временен и всё совершенно вилами по воде писано: выигрыш ли ещё это, — а скорее всего, что и нет… (Битов 2). …It doesn't take much intelligence to realize, all things considered, that the gain here is small and temporary and it's still up in the air whether it is a gain, more likely it's not… (2a).

B-152 • ПО ВИНЕ́ чьей, кого-чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] caused by (s.o. or sth.): because of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; (sth. is) (all) s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ fault.

B-153 • ВИНО́ВНИК ⟨ВИНО́ВНИЦА⟩ ТОРЖЕСТВА́ [NP; fixed WO] the person in whose honor a celebration is held: the hero ⟨the heroine⟩ of the occasion; [at a birthday party] the birthday boy ⟨girl⟩.

…Про виновника торжества очень быстро забыли, потому что истинным героем дня нынче был д'Эвре (Акунин 5). …The birthday boy was very soon forgotten—the true hero of the hour was Paladin (5a).

B-154 • ЗЕ́ЛЕН ВИНОГРА́Д [sent (with copula); usu. pres] said when s.o. criticizes, badmouths sth. unjustly, simply because he himself does not possess it or cannot get it: that's just sour grapes; the grapes are sour.

Я был стыдлив от природы, но стыдливость моя ещё увеличивалась убеждением в моей уродливости… Я был слишком самолюбив, чтобы привыкнуть к своему положению, утешался, как лисица, уверяя себя, что виноград ещё зелен, то есть старался презирать все удовольствия, доставляемые приятной наружностью, которыми на моих глазах пользовался Володя и которым я от души завидовал… (Толстой 2). I was bashful by nature, but my bashfulness was increased by the conviction that I was ugly…. I was too vain to reconcile myself to my situation and comforted myself, like the fox, by reassuring myself that the grapes were still sour; that is, I tried to despise all the pleasures that were obtainable through a pleasant appearance, that Volodya enjoyed before my eyes and that I envied with all my heart (2b).

В-155 • ВИ́НТИКОВ ⟨ВИ́НТИКА, ША́РИКОВ, ЗАКЛЁПОК, ЗАКЛЁПКИ, КЛЁПОК, КЛЁПКИ⟩ (В ГОЛОВЕ́) НЕ ХВАТА́ЕТ ⟨НЕДОСТАЁТ⟩ у кого all highly coll [$VP_{subj/gen}$] s.o. is dense, slow-witted, acts strangely, as if he is slightly insane: у Х-а винтиков не хватает ≃ X has a screw ⟨a few screws⟩ loose; X has bats in his belfry; X (acts as if he) has lost his marbles; X is a bit cracked ⟨touched in the head⟩; [lim.] X is off his rocker; X has gone batty.

У неё, как казалось Михаилу, и раньше кое-каких винтиков недоставало, а после смерти мужа она и совсем ослабла головой (Абрамов 1). Mikhail vaguely remembered that she had always had a few screws loose, but that after her husband's death she had gone quite weak in the head (1a).

В-156 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ⟨ВМЕНЯ́ТЬ/ВМЕНИ́ТЬ lit⟩ В ВИНУ́ кому что [VP; subj: human or collect] to accuse s.o. of sth., consider s.o. guilty of sth., or reprimand s.o. for sth.: Х ставит Y-у в вину Z ≃ X blames Y for Z; X holds Y to blame for Z; X holds Y accountable ⟨responsible⟩ for Z; X points the finger at Y (for Z); X takes Y to task for Z; [in legal contexts] Y-у вменяется в вину Z ≃ Y is accused of Z.

Наконец Аракчеев объявил моему отцу, что император велел его освободить, не ставя ему в вину, что он взял пропуск от неприятельского начальства… (Герцен 1). At last Arakcheyev informed my father that the Tsar had ordered his release, and did not hold him to blame for accepting a permit from the enemy… (1a). ♦ Есть высказывания Толстого о Наполеоне, где он снижает величие последнего, ставя ему в вину его… «суетливость», как он определяет (Олеша 3). There are Tolstoy's observations on Napoleon, where he reduces the grandeur of the latter, taking him to task… for his "fussiness," as he calls it (3a).

В-157 • ВНОСИ́ТЬ/ВНЕСТИ́ СВОЙ ⟨or какой⟩ ВКЛАД во что [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to participate in sth. and benefit it by one's labor or involvement: Х внёс свой ⟨[AdjP]⟩ вклад в Y ≃ X made his ⟨a + [AdjP]⟩ contribution to Y; X did his share ⟨part⟩ for Y.

Таким путём ибанцы [nonce word] внесли ценный вклад в мировую культуру (Зиновьев 1). So the Ibanskians made an important contribution to world culture (1a).

В-158 • КАК ⟨СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО rare⟩ ВКО́ПАННЫЙ остановился, стоит, замер и т.п. [как + AdjP; nom only; adv] (of people, animals, or, less often, vehicles) (to stop) abruptly, remaining motionless, (to stand) completely still: Х остановился ⟨стоял⟩ как вкопанный ≃ X stopped dead (in his tracks); X stopped ⟨sth. stopped X⟩ in his ⟨its⟩ tracks; X stood stock-still; X came to a dead halt ⟨stop⟩; [of a person or animal only] X stood (as if) rooted to the spot ⟨the ground⟩; X froze on the spot ⟨in his tracks⟩; X was frozen ⟨riveted, glued⟩ to the spot.

«Алексей!» — крикнул ему издали отец, завидев его, — сегодня же переезжай ко мне совсем, и подушку и тюфяк тащи…» Алёша остановился как вкопанный, молча и внимательно наблюдая сцену (Достоевский 1). "Aleksei!" his father cried from far off when he saw him, "move back in with me today, for good, bring your pillow and mattress…." Alyosha stopped in his tracks, silently and attentively observing the scene (1a). ♦ И вдруг недалеко от полицейского участка машина остановилась как вкопанная: посреди дороги валялся разбитый арбуз (Искандер 3). Suddenly, near the police station, the car came to a dead halt: in the middle of the road lay a crushed watermelon (3a).

В-159 • ВКРИВЬ И ВКОСЬ; ВКОСЬ И ВКРИВЬ [AdvP; these forms only; adv] 1. Also: И ВКРИВЬ И ВКОСЬ [fixed WO] (of numerous disorderly lines made when writing, drawing, stitching etc, of tracks left by vehicles or people, of a person's gait etc) unsystematically, in an irregular or disorderly fashion, in different ways or directions: in all (different) directions; every which way; all over (the place ⟨the paper etc⟩); this way and that (way); [lim.] crisscrossing (in all directions); [lim.] all askew; ‖ написано ⟨напечатано⟩ вкривь и вкось ≃ written ⟨printed⟩ at all angles (across the page).

Столы были сдвинуты со своих, геометрией подсказанных, правильных мест и стояли то там, то сям, вкривь и вкось… (Битов 2). The tables had been moved from their geometrically suggested correct places to stand here and there, every which way (2a). ♦ С ними [оловянными солдатиками] происходило что-то совсем необыкновенное… Усы, нарисованные вкривь и вкось, стали на свои места и начали шевелиться… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Something quite unusual was happening to [the tin soldiers]…. Their mustaches, painted all askew, rose up in their places and began to twitch… (1a).

2. (sth. is going, progressing) poorly; (sth. is done) not as it should be (done): all wrong; sloppily; any old way; twisted and awry.

И мне плохо. Плохо оттого, что всё идёт у нас с Юркой вкривь и вкось, и он этого не замечает (Михайловская 1). And I feel rotten. Because everything between Yuri and me is twisted and awry and he fails to notice it (1a).

3. толковать *(что), судить и т.п. ~. Also: ВКРИВЬ ⟨ВКОСЬ⟩ И ВПРЯМЬ obs, coll [fixed WO] (to interpret sth.) the way one wants to (with the implication that one's interpretation is incorrect or unfounded, that one distorts the phenomenon's true nature or meaning): in any way one likes; every which way; [lim.] (interpret etc sth.) to suit one's own interests.

«Давно пора понять, что это всё — пустые фразы, которые можно толковать вкривь и вкось» (Зиновьев 2). "It's high time to realise that all that is just empty phrases which you can interpret in any way you like" (2a).

В-160 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ ВО ВКУС (чего) [VP; subj: human] to begin to derive pleasure from some newly undertaken activity as one familiarizes o.s. with it and continues to pursue it: Х вошёл во вкус (Y-а) ≃ X developed ⟨acquired, got⟩ a taste for it ⟨for Y⟩; X developed a liking for it ⟨for Y⟩; X got into the swing of it ⟨of Y⟩; X got into ⟨hit⟩ his stride; X grew to like it ⟨Y⟩; X warmed (up) to it ⟨to Y⟩; X took to it ⟨to Y⟩; X began to enjoy himself ⟨it, Y⟩; [lim.] Y began to grow on X.

Они [люди, которых использовали для массовых убийств,] слепо доверялись начальникам, а потом входили во вкус убийства и издевательства (Мандельштам 2). Trusting blindly in their superiors, they [those people who were employed in the carrying out of mass murder] soon developed a taste for killing and torture (2a). ♦ …Он женился на этой красивой девушке, сыграл свадьбу, а примерно через две недели после женитьбы собрался в горы, потому что начиналось лето. Односельчане в шутку говорили ему, как это он не боится бросать без присмотра молоденькую жену, когда она только-только вошла во вкус (Искандер 4). …He married this beautiful girl, celebrated the wedding, but about two weeks after the marriage made ready to go to the mountains, because it was the beginning of summer. The villagers jokingly asked him how come he wasn't afraid to leave a little young wife without supervision when she was just getting a taste for it (4a).

В-161 • НА ВКУС чей, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] from the standpoint of s.o.'s notions about what is beautiful, right etc: to s.o.'s taste; to s.o.'s mind ⟨way of thinking⟩.

«Я решился драться с вами»… — «Да за что? помилуйте». — «Я бы мог объяснить вам причину, — начал Павел Петрович. — Но я предпочитаю умолчать о ней. Вы, на мой вкус, здесь лишний; я вас терпеть не могу, я вас презираю…» (Тургенев 2). "I've decided to fight a duel with you"… "What on earth for?" "I could explain the reason to you," Pavel Petrovich replied. "But I prefer to keep silent on that score. To my way of thinking, you're superfluous here; I can't stand you, I despise you…" (2g).

В-162 • НА ВКУС (И) НА ЦВЕТ ТОВА́РИЩЕЙ ⟨-ща⟩ НЕТ [saying] everyone has his own likes, dislikes, preferences etc; often what one person likes, another does not: ≃ there is no accounting for taste; every man to his taste; different strokes for different folks; tastes differ.

«Вы так любите этого Пастернака?» — …«Дело не в том, что я его так люблю, — терпеливо сказала я. — Мне не за него обидно, а за вас. Как легко вы отрекаетесь по чьему-то наущению от наших великих радостей…» — «Но ведь, как говорится, на вкус и на цвет товарищей нет» (Чуковская 2). "Do you really like that Pasternak so much?" "It isn't a question of me being very fond of him," I said patiently. "It's not him I'm sorry for, but you. How lightly you forego our great pleasures at someone else's instigation…." "But, as they say, there's no accounting for taste" (2a).

В-163 • О ВКУ́САХ НЕ СПО́РЯТ [saying] every person has his own tastes, one has to be tolerant of another's likes and dislikes: ≃ there is no accounting for taste; every man to his taste; [lim.] one man's meat is another man's poison.

«Обе женщины одна другой лучше, обе мировой стандарт и обе в моём вкусе» (Искандер 2) "The women are one prettier than the other, both world-class, and both to my taste" (2a).

2. ~ кого-чего, каком [subj: usu. concr or abstr; also used as adv] (sth. is, is done etc) in a certain (as specified by the context) mode, in a manner characteristic of a well-known writer, architect etc, or some movement, trend etc: in the style ⟨manner⟩ of; in the [AdjP] style ⟨manner, fashion⟩; like that ⟨those⟩ of ⟨in⟩; [lim.] along the lines of; on the order of; [as modif only] à la; [of a suit, dress etc] of [AdjP] cut.

Подъезжая к Арбатову, он не мог не любоваться чистыми и весёлыми избами крестьян и каменным господским домом, выстроенным во вкусе английских замков (Пушкин 1). Approaching Arbatovo, he could not help admiring the peasants' clean and cheerful cottages and the landlord's stone house, built in the style of an English castle (1a). Approaching Arbatovo, he could not but admire the clean and cheerful-looking peasants' cottages and the big stone house, built along the lines of an English castle (1b).

В-165 • СО ВКУ́СОМ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv] (to do sth.) with pleasure, happily: with relish; with (great) gusto; enjoy(ing) sth.

На крыльце стояла женщина лет сорока могучего телосложения, в… рваном сарафане. И со вкусом, звучно шлёпала комаров на загорелых плечах и на ляжках (Войнович 1). A powerfully built woman of around forty, wearing a torn sundress, was standing on the porch. Loudly and with great gusto, she was slapping mosquitoes on her sunburned shoulders and thighs (1a).

2. [adv or nonagreeing modif] displaying or possessing an artistic flair, a feeling for the refined: in (very) good ⟨in excellent⟩ taste; with taste; (a man ⟨a woman⟩) of ⟨with⟩ taste; tastefully (dressed ⟨decorated etc⟩); (a man ⟨a woman⟩) of refinement.

«…Хорош фрак?»… — «Отличный! С большим вкусом сшит…» (Гончаров 1). "…How do you like my coat?"… " Splendid! In very good taste" (1b). ♦ Мы недавно посмотрели фильм «Евангелие от Матфея»… И вот мнения разделились: одни были потрясены, а другим — «понравилось, но…». Такое разделение нормально, но любопытно то, что и в том и в другом лагере было приблизительно поровну людей: умных и глупых, со вкусом и безвкусных… (Битов 2). We recently saw the film The Gospel According to Matthew…. Opinion was divided: some people were deeply impressed, and others "liked it, but…" Such a division is normal, but the puzzling thing was that both camps, in approximately equal numbers, included people who were: wise and foolish, with taste and without… (2a).

В-166 • ПО ВКУ́СУ кому [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, прийтись (subj: usu. human or abstr); often neg] (a person, quality etc is) appealing to s.o.: X Y-у не по вкусу ≃ X is not to Y's taste ⟨liking⟩; X doesn't suit Y's taste; X doesn't suit ⟨please⟩ Y's fancy; Y doesn't care for X.

Простак Фейербах был Чернышевскому больше по вкусу [, чем Гегель] (Набоков 1). The simpleton Feuerbach was much more to Chernyshevski's taste [than Hegel] (1a). ♦ Глуповская распущенность пришлась ему [Грустилову] по вкусу (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The dissoluteness of Foolov suited his [Grustilov's] taste (1a).

В-167 • ВЛАДЕ́ТЬ СОБО́Й [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to be able to suppress one's feelings, hold back the expression of one's emotions: X владеет собой ≃ X has self-control; X has control of himself; X controls himself; X is in command ⟨in possession⟩ of himself; || учись владеть собой ≃ you must learn to exercise self-control; || Neg X не владеет собой ≃ X has lost self-control; X cannot ⟨is not able to⟩ control himself.

Луи Блан — и это большая сила и очень редкое свойство — мастерски владеет собой, в нём много выдержки, и он… никогда не выходит из себя в споре, не перестаёт весело улыбаться… (Герцен 3). Louis Blanc—and it is a great strength and a very rare quality—has complete self-control; he has a great deal of firmness and… never loses his temper in argument, never stops smiling good-humouredly… (3a). ♦ [Соня:] У меня уже нет гордости, нет сил владеть собой… (Чехов 3). [S.:] I have no pride left, no strength to control myself… (3a).

В-168 • В МОЕ́Й ⟨твоей и т.п.⟩ ВЛА́СТИ ⟨ВО́ЛЕ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula; fixed WO] 1. [subj: infin or это; often neg] (doing sth. is) within s.o.'s ability, authority etc: сделать X не в Y-овой власти ≃ it's not (with)in Y's power to do X; Y is not in a position to do X; Y doesn't have the wherewithal to do X.

…Если б статья была в своё время опубликована, то не в вашей власти было бы ограждать читателя от знакомства с ней… (Битов 2). …If the article had been published in its own day, you wouldn't be in a position to shield the reader from an acquaintance with it… (2a).

2. Also: ВО ВЛА́СТИ кого [subj: usu. human or collect] (a person or thing is) under s.o.'s control completely, (a person is) dependent upon or defenseless against s.o.: X был во власти Y-а ≃ X was in Y's power; X was at the mercy of Y; X was in Y's hands.

Насмешка Пугачёва возвратила мне бодрость. Я спокойно отвечал, что я нахожусь в его власти и что он волен поступать со мною, как ему будет угодно (Пушкин 2). Pugachev's taunting manner restored my courage. I answered calmly that I was in his power and he was free to deal with me in whatever way he thought fit (2a).

В-169 • ВО ВЛА́СТИ ⟨ПОД ВЛА́СТЬЮ⟩ чего [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (a person is) overcome by sth., fully absorbed in sth. (that elicits a strong emotional response): X во власти Y-а ≃ X is in the power ⟨the grip⟩ of Y; X is overpowered ⟨gripped, overwhelmed⟩ by Y; X is under the spell of Y.

…Я молчу, я весь во власти необыкновенного ритма и серебряного звука трубы (Казаков 2). …I'm quiet, I'm entirely in the power of that extraordinary rhythm and the silvery sound of the trumpet (2a). ♦ «Он сидит ночью один, весь во власти охватившей его душу любви — единственной, неповторимой любви…» (Катаев 3). "He sits there alone in the night, completely overpowered by the love that has taken possession of his soul, unique, inimitable…" (3a).

В-170 • У ВЛА́СТИ быть$_{ø}$, стоять, продержаться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect)] (to be, remain etc) in a position of leadership, (to be) a ruler: X (стоит) у власти ≃ X is in power ⟨in control, at the helm⟩; X is holding the reins; the government ⟨power etc⟩ is in X's hands; || X стал у власти ≃ X took power ⟨control, the helm, the reins of government⟩; X took over.

…Строительству этих ресторанов Абесаломон Нартович уделял особенно большое внимание, когда был у власти (Искандер 4). …Abesalomon Nartovich had devoted particular attention to the construction of these restaurants when he was in power (4a).

В-171 • ВЛАСТИ́ТЕЛЬ ДУМ (чьих, кого) lit [NP; fixed WO] a person who has much influence on his contemporaries, an intellectual and spiritual leader: molder of opinion; dominant ⟨major⟩ influence.

…За пятьдесят лет прогрессивной критики, от Белинского до Михайловского, не было ни одного властителя дум, который не произдевался бы над поэзией Фета (Набоков 1). …During fifty years of utilitarian criticism, from Belinski to Mikhailovski, there was not a single molder of opinion who did not take the opportunity to jeer at the poems of Fet (1a). ♦ Не знает он, что о ненавистном во все школьные годы физике станет когда-нибудь вспоминать с теплотою, а о кумире и властителе дум — завуче, с содроганием (Битов 2). He doesn't know that someday he will come to remember with warmth the physics teacher he has hated throughout his school years, and will shudder to remember the principal, his idol and dominant influence (2a).

< From Alexander Pushkin's poem "To the Sea" («К морю»), 1824. Used by Pushkin in reference to Napoleon and Byron.

В-172 • ВА́ША ВЛАСТЬ obs [NP; Invar; indep. sent or clause] you may do whatever you would like to: as you like ⟨wish, please⟩; please ⟨suit⟩ yourself.

В-173 • ВЛАСТЬ ИМУ́ЩИЕ; ВЛА́СТИ ПРЕДЕРЖА́ЩИЕ lit, often iron [NP; fixed WO (1st var.)] people in authority who have control over others, can control a given situation etc: the powers that be.

В-174 • ОТДАВА́ТЬСЯ/ОТДА́ТЬСЯ ВО ВЛАСТЬ кого-чего; ОТДАВА́ТЬСЯ/ОТДА́ТЬСЯ ⟨ПРЕДАВА́ТЬСЯ/ ПРЕДА́ТЬСЯ⟩ ВЛА́СТИ кого-чего all lit [VP; subj: human] to submit o.s. to s.o. or sth. (voluntarily or instinctively), come under the influence of s.o. or sth.: X отдался во власть Y-а ≃ X gave himself over to Y; X came under the power of Y.

В-175 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ ВЛАСТЬ НАД СОБО́Й [VP; subj: human] to lose one's composure: X потерял власть над собой ≃ X lost his self-control ⟨self-restraint, presence of mind⟩; X lost control of himself.

…Дарья на четвереньках ползла за ними на крыльцо; целуя, хватала негнущиеся, мёрзлые руки мужа. Григорий отталкивал её ногой, чувствовал, что ещё миг — и он потеряет над собой власть (Шолохов 4). …Darya crawled after them on to the porch, snatching at and kissing her husband's stiff, frozen hands. Grigory pushed her away with his foot, feeling that in another second he would lose control of himself (4a).

В-176 • СКО́ЛЬКО ВЛЕ́ЗЕТ coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; usu. used with impfv imper or with можешь, можете foll. by infin of another verb; fixed WO] (to do sth.) without limit or restriction, to one's complete satisfaction: to one's heart's content; as much ⟨as long etc⟩ as one likes ⟨pleases, wants⟩.

Перед тем и после того — смейся сколько влезет, а во время этого — не моги (Терц 1). Before the event and after it you could laugh to your heart's content, but during it—no (1a).

В-177 • НЕ ВЛЕ́ЗЕШЬ в кого coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing only] it is impossible to know s.o.'s true thoughts, intentions, qualities etc: you can't read s.o.'s mind; you can't see inside s.o.'s head; you can't tell what s.o. is (really) like.

[Анна Петровна:] Нравится ли он [твой жених] тебе? Признаться сказать, скоренько дело-то сделали: кто его знает, в него не влезешь (Островский 1). [A.P.:] Do you like him [your fiancé]? I must admit the thing was done pretty quickly. Who knows? You can't tell what he's like (1b).

В-178 • ВЛЕЧЬ/ПОВЛЕ́ЧЬ ЗА СОБО́Й что [VP; subj: abstr; fixed WO] to cause sth. to happen, have sth. as a consequence: X влечёт за собой Y ≃ X brings about ⟨on, with it⟩ Y; X leads to Y; X results in Y; X brings Y in X's wake; Y ensues ⟨results⟩ from X.

Очевидно было, что странное это фокусирование влечёт за собой искажение нашей реальной социалистической действительности… (Аксёнов 12). It was obvious that this strange focusing led to distortions of the "real" socialist reality… (12a). ♦ …Царь Николай стеганул камчой брата Ленина, совершенно не подозревая, какие грандиозные исторические события повлечёт за собой эта мгновенная вспышка царского гнева (Искандер 5). …Czar Nicholas lashed Lenin's brother with his quirt, never suspecting what vast historical events would ensue from this instantaneous flare of czarist wrath (5a).

В-179 • ВМЕ́СТЕ ТЕ́СНО, А ВРОЗЬ СКУ́ЧНО [saying] some (usu. two) people find it hard to be together because they argue or irritate each other, yet find it hard to be apart because they care for and miss each other (said of or by such people): ≃ you can't live with 'em and you can't live without 'em; they ⟨we etc⟩ can't be ⟨live, stand to be⟩ together, but they ⟨we etc⟩ can't be ⟨live, stand to be⟩ apart.

B-180 • ВНЕ́ШНОСТЬ ⟨НАРУ́ЖНОСТЬ⟩ ОБМА́НЧИВА [saying] one cannot judge sth.'s value by its exterior or s.o.'s inner qualities by his appearance: ≃ appearances are deceptive ⟨deceiving⟩; appearances cannot be trusted; don't ⟨you can't⟩ judge a book by its cover; beauty is but ⟨only⟩ skin-deep.

B-181 • ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ ВО ВНИМА́НИЕ что [VP; subj: human or collect; often infin with надо, нужно, должен; often foll. by a что-clause] to include sth. in one's deliberations or calculations: X должен принять во внимание Y ≃ X must take Y into account; X must take account of Y; X must take ⟨bring⟩ Y into consideration; X must consider Y; X must bear ⟨keep⟩ Y in mind; [lim.] X must allow for Y; || принимая во внимание, что… ≃ in view ⟨light⟩ of the fact that…; considering (sth. ⟨that…⟩); given (the fact) that…

…Субъективно он честный человек, не вор, не жулик, не чужак, и суд должен принять это во внимание (Рыбаков 1). Subjectively… he was an honest man, he was not a thief, or a swindler, or an intruder, and the court should take this into account (1a).

B-182 • ОСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ОСТА́ВИТЬ БЕЗ ВНИМА́НИЯ что [VP; subj: human or collect] not to pay attention to sth., consider sth. not worthy of regard: X оставил без внимания Y ≃ X took no notice of Y; X paid no heed to Y; X ignored ⟨disregarded⟩ Y; X brushed Y aside.

Крупной ошибкой, которую сделал в этот период жизни своей Мольер, была следующая: он прислушивался к тому плохому, что о нём говорят, и оскорбления, которые ему следовало оставлять без всякого внимания, задевали его (Булгаков 5). During this period of his life, Molière made the serious mistake of listening to the evil spoken of him. The insults which he should have ignored cut him to the quick (5a).

B-183 • ЖИВА́Я ВОДА́ folk [NP; usu. this WO] in fairy tales, a wonder-working water that brings the dead back to life: elixir of life.

«А в магазине — что хочешь, только живой воды нет. Лишь бы — твои деньги» (Терц 3). "And the store sold anything you like except the Elixir of Life. Provided you had the money" (3a).

B-184 • СЕДЬМА́Я ⟨ДЕСЯ́ТАЯ⟩ ВОДА́ НА КИСЕЛЕ́ coll, humor or iron [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] a very distant relative: second ⟨third etc⟩ cousin twice removed; a cousin seven ⟨ten etc⟩ times removed.

Лена спросила шёпотом: «Откуда здесь Бубрик?» Дмитриев, подавив в себе чувство неприятного удивления, сказал: «Ну, как же? Он какой-то наш родственник, седьмая вода на киселе» (Трифонов 4). Lena asked in a whisper: "Why's Bubrik here?" Dmitriev, stifling a feeling of unpleasant surprise, said: "Well, so? He's related somehow. Second cousin twice removed" (4a).

B-185 • ТЕМНА́ ВОДА́ ВО О́БЛАЦЕХ lit, humor or iron [sent; Invar; fixed WO] sth. is obscure, unclear: it is all shrouded in darkness; it's as clear as mud.

< From the Church Slavonic text of the Bible (Russian text, Psalter 17:12; cf. Ps. 18:11, King James Version). «Во облацех» is the old form of the locative plural of the word «облако».

B-186 • В МУ́ТНОЙ ВОДЕ́ РЫ́БУ ЛОВИ́ТЬ disapprov [VP; subj: human; often infin with пытаться, любить, хватит etc] to take advantage of a troubled situation or s.o.'s difficulties: X в мутной воде рыбу ловит ≃ X fishes in troubled waters.

[Золотилов:] Взгляни ты на себя… Ты изнурён, ты кашляешь, и кашляешь нехорошо… К нам отовсюду доходят слухи, что ты пьёшь… Я убеждён, что эта госпожа поддерживает в тебе эту несчастную наклонность, чтобы ловчей в мутной воде рыбу ловить (Писемский 1). [Z.:] Just look at yourself…. You are worn out: you are coughing, and coughing like a sick man…. Rumors come to us from all quarters that you are drinking…. I am also convinced that this woman encourages you in this unfortunate weakness, because it is easier to fish in troubled waters (1a).

< Loan translation of the French pêcher en eau trouble.

B-187 • КАК ВО́ДИТСЯ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as is generally or always the case: as usual; as is customary; as is one's ⟨the⟩ custom; [lim.] as people do.

Плечевой хотел сообщить лётчику ещё ряд сведений из жизни окрестных селений, но тут набежал народ. Первыми подоспели, как водится, пацаны (Войнович 2). Burly was about to provide the pilot with further information on the life of the neighboring settlements when people started running up. As usual, the kids were the first ones on the scene (2a). ♦ …Как водится, приехали родственники молодых мужей и развезли их по своим сёлам (Искандер 5). …As is customary, the husbands' relatives arrived and took them home to their villages (5a).

B-188 • ВОДО́Й НЕ РАЗОЛЬЁШЬ кого (с кем); ВОДО́Й НЕ РАЗЛИ́ТЬ both coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не разольёшь (1st var.); impers predic with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); fixed WO] (the named people) are always together, have a very close relationship: X-а и Y-а ⟨X-а с Y-ом⟩ водой не разольёшь ≃ X and Y are inseparable; nothing can part X and Y; X and Y are (as) thick as thieves.

…Какими друзьями они были, водой не разлить! (Эренбург 1). …What friends they were, nothing could part them! (1a). ♦ «Ты раньше… не любил Мишечкиных. А теперь тебя с ними водой не разольёшь…» (Евтушенко 1). "You never liked the Mishechkins… before. But now you're thick as thieves with them" (1a).

B-189 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ВОДО́Й СМЫ́ЛО кого-что coll [как etc + VP; impers; past only; fixed WO] s.o. or sth. disappeared quickly and completely: X-а как водой смыло ≃ X disappeared ⟨was gone⟩ in a flash; X disappeared without a trace; X vanished (into thin air); (it's as if) thing X evaporated.

В-190 • ОКАТИ́ТЬ ⟨ОБЛИ́ТЬ⟩ ХОЛО́ДНОЙ ВОДО́Й ⟨УША́ТОМ ХОЛО́ДНОЙ ВОДЫ́⟩ кого; КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ХОЛО́ДНОЙ ВОДО́Й ОКАТИ́ТЬ ⟨ОБЛИ́ТЬ⟩; ВЫ́ЛИТЬ УША́Т ХОЛО́ДНОЙ ВОДЫ́ на кого all coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; var. with как can be impers: окатило; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to discourage s.o., dampen s.o.'s zeal or enthusiasm: X окатил Y-а холодной водой ≃ X threw ⟨poured⟩ cold water over ⟨on⟩ Y ⟨Y's plans etc⟩; X threw a bucket ⟨a pail⟩ of cold water over Y; thing X made Y feel as though someone had thrown ⟨poured⟩ cold water over ⟨on⟩ him; thing X made Y feel as though someone had thrown a bucket ⟨a pail⟩ of cold water over ⟨on⟩ him; [lim.] person X rained on Y's parade.

Сосед Павел Сочава на всю улицу иронически сказал: «А вот и Толя награбил! Иди скажи своей матери, чтобы она тебя выпорола». Меня словно окатили холодной водой (Кузнецов 1). …Our neighbor Pavel Sochava remarked loudly and ironically, for the whole street to hear, "So Tolya has been plundering, too. Go on home and tell your mother to give you a good spanking." I felt as though someone had thrown a pail of cold water over me (1a).

В-191 • ВОЗИ́ТЬ ВО́ДУ на ком coll [VP; subj: human] to burden s.o. with hard, demeaning work: X возит воду на Y-е ≃ X makes Y do the donkey work; X has made Y X's drudge; [lim.] X walks all over Y.

«На таких, как вы, только воду и возить, лучше скотины не отыщешь» (Максимов 3). "People like you are born to do the donkey work, there's no finer beast of burden" (3a).

В-192 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ НА ЧИ́СТУЮ ⟨СВЕ́ЖУЮ obs⟩ ВО́ДУ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; often pfv fut (usu. denoting a threat) or infin with надо, нужно, пора, хотеть, решить etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to expose s.o.'s shady dealings, secretive intrigues etc, disclose s.o.'s true (usu. harmful) intentions: X выведет Y-а на чистую воду ≃ X will show up person Y; X will show Y for what Y (really) is; X will bring thing Y (out) into the open; X will blow the lid off thing Y; [lim.] X will smoke person Y out; X will blow the whistle on Y; X will bring Y to justice; X will pull the plug on person Y; X will bring person Y to book.

«Я, конечно, не знаю, какой будет у него подход. Но если ему, скажем просто, хочется вывести на чистую воду прогрессивных критиков, то ему не стоит стараться: Волынский и Айхенвальд уже давно это сделали» (Набоков 1). "Of course I don't know what his approach will be. But if he, let's speak plainly, wants to show up the progressive critics then it's not worth the effort: Volynski and Eichenwald did this long ago" (1a).

В-193 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ В ВО́ДУ ГЛЯДЕ́Л ⟨СМОТРЕ́Л⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; past only; fixed WO] (as if) one knew beforehand that sth. was going to happen, foresaw sth., had a presentiment about sth.: X как в воду глядел ≃ X must have been looking in ⟨X must have had⟩ a crystal ball; X must have second sight; it's as if X knew it all beforehand ⟨in advance⟩; [lim.] X's words turned out to be all too true; X's words ⟨remarks etc⟩ were prophetic; X's (gut) feeling was prophetic.

Нуца знала, что муж её уже завёлся и теперь ещё долго будет пить, скорее всего всю ночь… Она как в воду смотрела (Искандер 5). Noutsa knew that her husband was off; he'd drink a long time now, most likely all the night…. She must have been looking in a crystal ball (5a). ♦ «…Пока я член Политбюро, у меня есть всё. А вот когда меня выгонят, тогда неизвестно, что будет…» И как в воду глядел, выгнали-таки его (Войнович 1). "…As long as I'm a member of the Politburo, I have everything I want. But nobody knows what'll happen when they kick me out…" A prophetic remark, because later on he was kicked out of the Politburo (1a).

В-194 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ В ВО́ДУ КА́НУЛ coll [VP; subj: usu. human, animal, or concr; past only; usu. this WO] (a person, thing etc) vanished completely: X как в воду канул ≃ X (has) vanished into thin air; X (has) disappeared ⟨vanished⟩ without a trace; [lim.] X seems to have dropped into the sea; the earth seems to have swallowed X up.

Известный всей решительно Москве знаменитый театральный администратор канул как в воду (Булгаков 9). This man, known to the entire theatrical world of Moscow, seemed to have vanished without a trace (9b). The illustrious theater manager, known to all of Moscow, seemed to have dropped into the sea (9c).

В-195 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ В ВО́ДУ ОПУ́ЩЕННЫЙ (ходит, сидит и т.п.) coll [как + AdjP; nom only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human), detached modif, or adv; fixed WO] (one is, looks etc) extremely sad about sth., dispirited: depressed; dejected; crestfallen; downcast; down in the dumps ⟨in the mouth, in the doldrums⟩; forlorn(ly).

…[Доктор] вышел из комнаты, как в воду опущенный, с чувством недоброго предзнаменования (Пастернак 1). …He [the doctor] went out of the room depressed and with a feeling of foreboding (1a). ♦ Руслан сидит как в воду опущенный, на себя непохож (Трифонов 6). Ruslan sits there crestfallen, not himself (6a).

В-196 • ЛИТЬ ВО́ДУ НА МЕ́ЛЬНИЦУ чью, кого lit, often media [VP; subj: human or abstr] to further s.o.'s cause (often that of one's opponent, the opposite party, or s.o. undeserving) indirectly or unintentionally by one's actions or behavior: X льёт воду на мельницу Y-а ≃ thing X is grist to ⟨for⟩ Y's mill; X brings ⟨adds⟩ grist to Y's mill; X provides grist for Y's mill; person X is playing into Y's hands.

На очередном заседании политбюро (тогда — «президиума») стал Никита [Хрущёв] требовать от членов согласия на опубликование [«Ивана Денисовича»]… Многие отмалчивались («Чего молчите?» — требовал Никита), кто-то осмелился спросить: «А на чью мельницу это будет воду лить?» (Солженицын 2). At a regular meeting of the Politburo (or Presidium, as it then was) Nikita [Khrushchev] sought agreement to the publication of the story [Ivan Denisovich]…. Several made no comment ("Why don't you say something?" Nikita demanded), and someone ventured to ask "whose mill would it be grist to?" (2a).

В-197 • МУТИ́ТЬ ВО́ДУ coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. to confuse a certain matter intentionally, muddle some facts (usu. trying to deceive s.o., misrepresent the real situation): X мутит воду ≃ X is muddying the water(s); X is confusing the issue.

«Фантастика всё это… Никакого удава в горах нет и никогда не было»… — «Все-таки до меня ещё не полностью доходит, что всё это значит». — «А надо, чтоб дошло, надо… Давайте зададим себе вопрос: кто мутит воду, кто распускает слухи? Бригадир Потапов» (Домбровский 1). "The whole story is pure science-fiction. There is no boa-constrictor up in those hills and never was."… "I still don't see what it's all supposed to mean." "Well, it's time you realised what it means…. Now let us ask ourselves this question—who is muddying the water, who is spreading rumours? Brigade-leader Potapov" (1a).

2. to sow discord between people: X мутит воду ≃ X is stirring up trouble; X is stirring things up; X is causing ⟨making⟩ trouble.

Второй раз предупреждает её Подрезов насчёт молельни… А может, Марфа тут ни при чём? Когда она отличалась набожностью? Может, это Евсей Мошкин воду мутит? (Абрамов 1). This was the second time Podrezov had warned her about the prayer house…. But maybe it had nothing to do with Marfa. She had never been especially devout. Perhaps it was Evsei Moshkin stirring up trouble (1a).

B-198 • НОСИ́ТЬ ⟨ТАСКА́ТЬ, ЧЁРПАТЬ⟩ ВО́ДУ РЕШЕТО́М; НОСИ́ТЬ ⟨ТАСКА́ТЬ⟩ ВО́ДУ В РЕШЕТЕ́ all coll, iron or humor [VP; subj: human; usu. infin after всё равно что or то же самое, что] to do sth. knowing that one's efforts, actions are in vain, will bring no results: делать X — всё равно что воду решетом носить ≃ doing X is like trying to carry ⟨draw⟩ water in a sieve; doing X is like plowing the sands.

Дмитрий человек упрямый, спорить с ним — всё равно что воду решетом носить. Dmitry is a stubborn person: arguing with him is like trying to carry water in a sieve.

B-199 • ТОЛО́ЧЬ ВО́ДУ (В СТУ́ПЕ) coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to do something absolutely fruitless, useless for a long period of time (often used in situations when one engages in empty talk instead of taking action in some matter): X толчёт воду в ступе ≃ X is beating the air; X is pouring water through a sieve; X is milling the wind; X is plowing the sand; [of idle talk only] X is jabbering ⟨talking in circles⟩.

«За границу мы вас не выпустим! — сказал он [Суслов]… — Будут провокации». — «Какие провокации? При чём тут провокации?»… — «Вас там сразу же окружат корреспонденты. Вы не знаете, что это такое, — словом, политические провокации будут на каждом шагу. Мы вас же хотим уберечь от всего этого». Это было всё равно что толочь воду в ступе. Мы говорили о разном и с разных точек зрения (Аллилуева 2). "We shall not let you go abroad!" he [Suslov] said…. "There'll be provocations." "What provocations? What have provocations got to do with this?"… "You'll be instantly surrounded by newsmen. You don't know what it's like. In short, there will be political provocations at every step. We want to save you from it." It was like beating the air. We spoke of different things from different points of view (2a).

B-200 • ХОТЬ В ВО́ДУ; ХОТЬ В О́МУТ ⟨В ПРО́РУБЬ⟩ (ГОЛОВО́Й); ХОТЬ (С МОСТА́) В РЕ́КУ all coll [хоть + PrepP; these forms only; usu. subord clause (often introduced by что)] (a situation is so hopeless that) a person wants to drown himself, commit suicide, thinking that that is the only solution: one could jump ⟨throw o.s.⟩ off a bridge; one might (go and) drown o.s.; one wants to end it all; one is simply ⟨absolutely⟩ desperate.

Видно было, что человек дошёл до черты, погиб и ищет последнего выхода, а не удастся, то хоть сейчас и в воду (Достоевский 1). Here obviously was a man at the end of his rope, facing ruin and looking for a last way out, and if he did not find it, he might just go and drown himself (1a).

B-201 • ВОДЫ́ В РОТ НАБРА́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: human and also газеты, средства массовой информации etc; usu. past, often after как, будто, словно, точно] (often used when contrasting a person's silence with his initial intention to speak, his usual talkativeness, the expectation that he speak etc) to maintain complete silence, as if one had lost the ability to speak: X (как) воды в рот набрал ≃ X won't say a (single) word; X (has) clammed up; X is mum (on the issue); [of concealing a secret, not objecting to sth. etc] X is keeping his mouth shut; [in refer. to news media outlets] there isn't ⟨wasn't⟩ a single word (about… in ⟨on⟩…); || ты что, воды в рот набрал? ≃ has the cat got your tongue?; have you lost your tongue?

«Давно ли ещё о празднике причитали, а тут воды в рот набрали…» (Абрамов 1). "Not long ago they were wailing over the holiday, and now they won't say a word!" (1b). ♦ …Когда в конце он поставил вопрос о распределении имущества бежавших с белыми, — ответили молчанием. «Чего ж вы воды в рот набрали?» — досадуя, спросил Иван Алексеевич (Шолохов 4). …When he concluded with the proposal to share out the property of those who had fled with the Whites, the response was silence. "What's the matter? Have you lost your tongues?" Ivan exclaimed angrily (4a).

B-202 • ВОДЫ́ ⟨ВОДО́Й obs⟩ НЕ ЗАМУТИ́Т coll, approv or iron [VP; subj: human; these forms only; fixed WO] one is quiet, modest, very gentle: X воды не замутит ≃ X wouldn't hurt ⟨harm⟩ a fly; X is (as) meek ⟨gentle⟩ as a lamb; X isn't the kind ⟨the sort⟩ to give ⟨cause⟩ (anyone) trouble.

Это был тщедушный мужик с задублённым, изрезанным глубокими морщинами кротким лицом, один из тех, про кого обычно говорят — воды не замутит (Тендряков 1). He was a small man with a meek expression on his weather-beaten, deeply-furrowed peasant's face—not the sort who would ever give trouble (1a).

B-203 • МНО́ГО ⟨НЕМА́ЛО, СКО́ЛЬКО и т.п.⟩ ВОДЫ́ УТЕКЛО́ (с тех пор, с того времени и т.п.) coll [VP_{subj}; usu. past; the verb is usu. in the final position] much time has passed, many changes have taken place (since the moment or event indicated): much ⟨so much, a lot of etc⟩ water has flowed ⟨passed, gone⟩ under the bridge (since…); so much ⟨a lot of etc⟩ water has flowed by; a lot ⟨so much⟩ has happened.

«Да, княжна, — сказал, наконец, Николай, грустно улыбаясь, — недавно кажется, а сколько воды утекло с тех пор, как мы с вами в первый раз виделись в Богучарове» (Толстой 7). "Yes, Princess," said Nikolai at last, smiling sadly, "it seems not so long ago since we first met at Bogucharovo, but how much water has flowed under the bridge since then!" (7a).

B-204 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ СУХИ́М ИЗ ВОДЫ́ coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human] (of a crafty, cunning, or lucky person) to escape well-deserved punishment, remain unpunished, uncompromised: X вышел сухим из воды ≃ X got off ⟨away⟩ scot-free; X emerged ⟨came out⟩ unscathed; X came away without a scratch; X waltzed away from it; [lim.] X landed on his feet; X beat the rap; X got off.

Рассказывал обо всём этом Иван не стыдясь, а как будто хвастаясь: вот, мол, какой я ловкий, вот какой я хитрый, украл — и вышел сухим из воды (Марченко 1). Ivan told us all this without the least trace of shame and even as though proud of himself, as if to say: look how clever I am, look how crafty I am—I managed to steal the stuff and I got away scot free (1a).

B-205 • ТИ́ШЕ ВОДЫ́, НИ́ЖЕ ТРАВЫ́ быть$_{ø}$, вести себя, держаться и т.п. coll [AdjP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv; fixed WO] one is timid, humble, self-effacing; one behaves timidly, humbly: X (держится) тише воды, ниже травы ≃ X is ⟨keeps⟩ (as) quiet as a mouse; X is (as) gentle ⟨meek⟩ as a lamb; you'd never hear a peep from ⟨out of⟩ X.

«И чего на него нашло такое? Никому никогда не перечил, тише воды, ниже травы был — и на тебе вдруг!» (Айтматов 1). "What's come over him? He never crossed anyone, always quiet as a mouse, and now—look at him (1a). "What on earth's come over him? He never crossed anybody, he was meek as a lamb—then this all of a sudden" (1b).

В-206 • ЧИ́СТОЙ ⟨ЧИСТЕ́ЙШЕЙ⟩ ВОДЫ́ [NP_{gen}; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] 1. special (of precious stones, mainly diamonds) of high quality, absolutely clear: of the first water; flawless.

«…Восемьдесят каратов, особенно если речь идёт о камнях чистой воды, — это очень много» (Акунин 7). "Eighty carats is still a considerable size, especially if one is dealing with stones of the first water" (7a).

2. coll [most often used with nouns referring to a negative quality] (sth. is) the most genuine, authentic (example of some object, phenomenon etc), (s.o.) embodies some trait to the highest degree possible: of the first order ⟨water⟩; sheer; thoroughgoing; true; par excellence; pure and simple.

[Шаманов:] Ты славная девочка, ты прелесть, но то, что ты сейчас сказала, — это ты выбрось из головы. Это чистейшей воды безумие (Вампилов 2). [Sh.:] You're charming, you're adorable, but what you've just said—you must put it out of your mind. It's sheer madness (2a). ♦ А Александр Васильевич, между прочим, чистой воды догматик (Стругацкие 4). Incidentally, Alexander Vassilevitch is a dogmatist par excellence (4a).

В-207 • ВОЖЖА́ ⟨ШЛЕЯ́⟩ ПОД ХВОСТ ПОПА́ЛА кому highly coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. behaves strangely, wildly, as if possessed by sth.: X-у вожжа под хвост попала ≃ something got ⟨must have got(ten)⟩ into X; something came over X.

В-208 • ОПУСКА́ТЬ/ОПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫПУСКА́ТЬ/ВЫПУСТИТЬ и т.п.⟩ ВО́ЖЖИ coll [VP; subj: human] to lessen control (over one's subordinates or anyone under one's control), relax discipline: X опустил вожжи ≃ X loosened ⟨slackened, eased up on⟩ the reins.

Стоит нам хоть чуть-чуть ослабить вожжи — и сын начинает приносить двойки. Whenever we ease up on the reins even the slightest bit, our son starts bringing home Ds.

В-209 • ПРИБИРА́ТЬ/ПРИБРА́ТЬ ВО́ЖЖИ К РУКА́М; ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ВО́ЖЖИ В РУКА́Х both coll [VP; subj: human] to concentrate power or leadership in one's hands, taking full control of sth. or some group of people: X прибрал вожжи к рукам ≃ X seized ⟨took⟩ the reins of power; X took the reins of power into his hand(s).

В-210 • ДА ТО́ЛЬКО ВО́З И НЫ́НЕ ТА́М [sent; fixed WO] (usu. in refer. to long and useless discussions that lead nowhere) sth. is not moving, progressing: but so far there has been no headway ⟨progress⟩; but things are still right where they started; but it (still) hasn't gotten past the talking stage.

< From Ivan Krylov's fable "Swan, Pike and Crab" («Лебедь, Щука и Рак»), 1816.

В-211 • БЕЗ ВОЗВРА́ТА [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. irreversibly, forever: irrevocably; for good; never to return; and will never return.

Я понял, что молодость прошла без возврата. I realized that my youth was gone, never to return.

2. давать, брать что ~ coll (to give sth. to s.o.) without asking him to return it, (to take, borrow sth.) without planning to return it: [in refer. to giving sth.] for good; for keeps; [in refer. to taking, borrowing sth.] never returning it ⟨them⟩; never intending to return it ⟨them⟩; with no intention of returning it ⟨them⟩.

Ваня завёл себе привычку брать книги у друзей без возврата. Vanya made a habit of borrowing his friends' books and never returning them.

В-212 • ВЗЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЗЛЕТЕ́ТЬ НА ВО́ЗДУХ [VP; usu. pfv; fixed WO] 1. Also: ВЗЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЗЛЕТЕ́ТЬ В ВО́ЗДУХ [subj: concr or, less often, animal or human] to explode or be destroyed in an explosion: X взлетел на воздух ≃ X was blown to bits ⟨to pieces, to smithereens⟩; X was blown up ⟨blown sky-high⟩; X got blown to kingdom come; thing X blew up.

Предвидя конечную гибель, она решилась умереть геройскою смертью и, собрав награбленные в казне деньги, в виду всех взлетела на воздух вместе с казначеем и бухгалтером (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). [context transl] Foreseeing ultimate ruin, she resolved to die an heroic death. Gathering up the money she had garnered from the treasury, in full view of everyone she blew herself up together with the treasurer and bookkeeper (1a).

2. [subj: abstr] (of plans, hopes, dreams) to fall through, end in nothing: X взлетел на воздух ≃ X went up in smoke; X was blown to smithereens.

В-213 • КАК ВО́ЗДУХ нужен, необходим и т.п. кому [как + NP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (s.o. needs some person or thing) very much: X нужен Y-у ~ ≃ Y needs X as much as the air Y breathes; X is as necessary to Y as the air Y breathes; Y needs X as much as air to breathe.

После падения Франции я не раз встречал людей… разлагаемых потребностью политической деятельности… Им надобна, как воздух, сцена и зрители… (Герцен 1). After the fall of France I more than once met people… who were disintegrated by the craving for public activity…. A stage and spectators are as necessary to them as the air they breathe… (1a).

В-214 • ПО́РТИТЬ/ИСПО́РТИТЬ ВО́ЗДУХ euph, highly coll [VP; subj: human] to expel foul-smelling gas through one's anus: X испортил воздух ≃ X let one fly; X broke wind; X cut one ⟨the cheese⟩.

В-215 • СОТРЯСА́ТЬ ВО́ЗДУХ iron [VP; subj: human; often used with впустую, попусту etc] to engage in excessively wordy and often trivial talk (expressing an unfounded opinion, a point of view that one cannot prove etc, or saying things that an interlocutor finds irrelevant): X впустую сотрясает воздух ≃ X is just spouting (a lot of) hot air; X is (just) throwing words around; X is indulging in empty ⟨idle⟩ talk; || X любит сотрясать воздух ≃ X likes to hear himself talk. ○ СОТРЯСЕ́НИЕ ВО́ЗДУХА [NP] ≃ (a lot of) hot air; mere rhetoric ⟨palaver⟩; vaporous talk.

…Большинство слушали с неослабным вниманием, поскольку дипломат не из тех, кто попусту сотрясает воздух (Акунин 7). …Most of us continued listening attentively, for the diplomat is not a man to indulge in idle talk (7a).

В-216 • ХВАТА́ТЬ ВО́ЗДУХ ртом [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to draw quick short breaths with one's mouth open: X хватает воздух (ртом) ≃ X is gasping for air ⟨at the air⟩; X is gulping (for) air.

Верхняя часть гроба с треском отлетела в сторону, Бердичевский сел, хватая ртом воздух, огляделся по сторонам (Акунин

2). The top of the coffin flew off with a resounding crack and Berdichevsky sat up, gulping air, and looked around (2a).

В-217 • НА (СВЕ́ЖЕМ ⟨ОТКРЫ́ТОМ, ЧИ́СТОМ, ВО́ЛЬНОМ⟩) ВО́ЗДУХЕ быть$_{o}$, бывать и т.п.; НА (СВЕ́ЖИЙ ⟨ОТКРЫ́ТЫЙ, ЧИ́СТЫЙ, ВО́ЛЬНЫЙ⟩) ВО́ЗДУХ выйти, вырваться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv (all variants) or subj-compl with copula, subj: usu. human (var. with воздухе)] outside of a house or building: (be ⟨go, spend time etc⟩) outdoors ⟨outside, out of doors⟩; (be ⟨be held etc⟩) in the open air; (get some ⟨be out in the, go out(side) for a breath of etc⟩) (fresh) air; || прогулка на свежем воздухе ≃ a walk in the open ⟨fresh⟩ air.

…Не переставая бормотать: «Правь, Эндурия, правь!» — [я] скатился с третьего этажа и вырвался на воздух (Искандер 5). Without ceasing to mutter "Rule, Enduria, rule!" I raced down from the third floor and lunged outdoors (5a). ♦ [Васенька:] Ты мало бываешь на воздухе (Вампилов 4). [V.:] You don't get enough fresh air (4a).

В-218 • НОСИ́ТЬСЯ В ВО́ЗДУХЕ lit [VP; subj: abstr] (of some idea, event etc) to be anticipated, foreseen, intuited etc by many people: X носится в воздухе ≃ X is in the air; there are straws in the wind pointing to X ⟨suggesting that…⟩; [lim.] (people etc) sense X.

Идея реорганизации института вообще-то не новая — это давно уже носится в воздухе. The idea to reorganize the institute is not new—it's been in the air for quite a while now.

В-219 • ПОВИСА́ТЬ/ПОВИ́СНУТЬ В ВО́ЗДУХЕ [VP; fixed WO] 1. [subj: usu. рука, нога] having interrupted a movement before it is completed, to remain motionless in that position: рука ⟨нога⟩ повисла в воздухе ≃ s.o.'s arm ⟨leg⟩ remained ⟨was left⟩ suspended in midair.

2. coll. Also: ВИСЕ́ТЬ В ВО́ЗДУХЕ coll [subj: human or abstr (дело, поездка, планы etc)] to be in a state of uncertainty, in an indefinite position: X повис в воздухе ≃ X was left hanging; X was up in the air; X was in (a state of) limbo.

Из-за маминой болезни моя командировка в Прагу повисла в воздухе. Because of my mother's illness, my business trip to Prague is up in the air.

3. [subj: слова, возражения etc] (of s.o.'s remarks, objections etc) to receive no reaction, response, or support (from others): X повис в воздухе ≃ X fell on deaf ears; X was of ⟨to⟩ no avail.

[Бывший партийный работник] стал агитатором в каком-то техникуме, в Ленинграде… Пришёл поторопить своих подопечных в день выборов — никто идти не хочет. Он говорит: «Вам надо с нас пример брать — мы революцию делали»… А ему отвечают: «А кто вас просил революцию делать? Раньше лучше жилось…» Вся его революционная фразеология повисла в воздухе… (Мандельштам 1). …He [a former Party official] had taken on the job of giving political instruction in a Leningrad technical college…. On one election day he had come to the college early to get all the students out to vote, but none of them wanted to. He said they should take an example from people like himself who had "made the Revolution."… To this they replied that nobody had asked him to make a revolution and that people had been better off before. This had left him speechless, and the whole of his "revolutionary" claptrap had been to no avail (1a).

В-220 • МЫШИ́НАЯ ВОЗНЯ́ ⟨БЕГОТНЯ́, СУЕТА́, СУ́ТОЛОКА⟩ disapprov [NP; usu. subj or obj; usu. this WO] pursuit of trivial and/or vain interests accompanied by excessive bustle (and sometimes involving intriguing): (one is wrapped up in etc) petty cares ⟨concerns⟩; [lim.] petty scheming ⟨machinations⟩.

В прошлом году от него [романа Пастернака] отказался «Новый мир». Котов собирался его печатать в Гослитиздате, но умер, а остальным не до этого — все заняты мышиной карьеристской вознёй (Гладков 1). The previous year it [Pasternak's novel] had been turned down by Novy Mir. Kotov had been going to publish it in the State Publishing House for Literature, Goslitizdat, but had died, and all the rest of the people there had no time at all for it—they were too busy with their petty careerist scheming (1a).

В-221 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ ⟨ВСТУПА́ТЬ/ВСТУПИ́ТЬ⟩ В ВО́ЗРАСТ ⟨В ГОДА́, В ЛЕТА́⟩ obs [VP; subj: human] to become mature, develop into an adult: X вошёл в возраст ≃ X came of age; X reached (the age of) maturity ⟨adulthood, manhood, womanhood⟩; X grew to manhood ⟨womanhood⟩; [lim.] X reached ⟨approached⟩ (the age of) puberty.

По молодости лет Митрофаний придерживался аскетических воззрений… Войдя в возраст и достигнув мудрости, стал он к своей и чужой плоти снисходительней… (Акунин 6). In his young days, Mitrofanii had been an adherent of asceticism… Having reached the age of maturity and attained wisdom, he became more considerate of his own flesh and that of others… (6a).

В-222 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ИЗ ВО́ЗРАСТА ⟨ИЗ ЛЕТ obs⟩ [VP; subj: human] to exceed the age limit (when one is eligible to enroll in sth., able to perform a certain job, required to serve in a certain capacity etc): X вышел из возраста ≃ X is overage; X is past ⟨over⟩ the age limit; X is too old (for sth.); [lim.] X is past the age of eligibility.

В-223 • НА ВО́ЗРАСТЕ obs [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, usu. female)] one is an adult, has reached maturity: X на возрасте ≃ X is a grown woman ⟨man⟩; X has come of age.

В-224 • ЧТО С ВО́ЗУ ⟨-а⟩ УПА́ЛО, ТО (И) ПРОПА́ЛО [saying] what happened in the past cannot be changed, what is lost or gone will not be returned: ≃ it's no use ⟨there's no use (in), there's no point (in), what's the use of, what's the use in⟩ crying over spilt ⟨spilled⟩ milk; what's done is done.

«…Не думаешь с женой жить?» — «Давнишний сказ… отгутарили [regional, here = хватит обсуждать]…» — «Не думаешь, стал[о] быть?» — «Стал[о] быть, так… что с возу упало, то пропало» (Шолохов 2). "…You're not thinking of living with your wife?" "That's an old story…. It's all over and done with." "So you won't?" "So I won't…. What's the use of crying over spilt milk" (2a).

В-225 • НЕДО́РОГО ⟨НЕ ДО́РОГО⟩ ВОЗЬМЁТ coll [VP; subj: human; not used in the 1st pers; fut only; usu. used after another verb (in pfv fut or infin); fixed WO] one will do sth. (sth. bad, reprehensible, as denoted by the preceding verb) readily, without hesitation: X сделает Y — недорого возьмёт ≃ X won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ think twice about doing Y; it won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ take much to make X do Y ⟨to get X to do Y⟩.

[Телятев:] Хотите, с миллионщиком познакомлю? [Надежда Антоновна:] Да ты… и солгать не дорого возьмёшь (Островский 4). [T.:] May I introduce you to a millionaire? [N.A.:] Oh… it doesn't take much to make you lie (4a).

В-226 • ЧЬЯ ВОЗЬМЁТ coll [VP_{subj}; usu. fut, occas. past; fixed WO] who will achieve victory: who'll ⟨who's going to⟩ win (out); who'll come out ahead; who'll win the day; who'll get the upper hand; who'll hold the winning card; [lim.] who is the better man.

«Это ещё неизвестно, чья возьмёт», — бормочет фотограф… (Искандер 4). "No one knows yet who's going to win out," the photographer murmurs… (4a). ♦ «Чья возьмёт на этот раз, мы ещё посмотрим», — сказал Дмитрий Алексеевич, угрожающе глядя в сторону (Дудинцев 1). "It remains to be seen who will get the upper hand this time," Dmitri said with a menacing look (1a).

В-227 • ЧТО ВОЗЬМЁШЬ ⟨ВЗЯТЬ⟩ с кого-чего coll, often condes [VP; pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing возьмёшь (1st var.) or impers predic (2nd var.); these forms only; fixed WO] (the behavior, action, statement in question) is typical (of s.o.), one cannot expect anything better (from s.o.): что с Х-а возьмёшь? ≃ what (else) could ⟨can⟩ you expect from X?; what do you expect from X?

…Не было в этих коротких словах ни злости, ни обиды на сына, оставившего её без крова и хлеба, — один… всепрощающий смысл: мол, такой он у меня уродился, что с него взять?! (Распутин 4). …There was no anger or bitterness in those brief words against her son, who had left her without shelter or bread—only… [an] all-forgiving meaning: that's the way he was born to me, what can you expect from him? (4a).

В-228 • ОТКУ́ДА НИ ВОЗЬМИ́СЬ появился, выбежал, выскочил и т.п. coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; most often used with verbs in pfv past; fixed WO] (a person or thing appears etc) totally unexpectedly, from an unknown place or source: (from) out of the blue; (from) out of nowhere; out of a ⟨the⟩ clear blue sky; all of a sudden, (from) out of nowhere.

Иногда на своём пути встречаешь доброго человека, и он возникает неожиданно, откуда ни возьмись, словно вестник, чтобы сказать: держись, ещё не всё потеряно, голову выше — уныние запрещено… (Мандельштам 2). Now and then you run into a kind person, someone who suddenly appears when you least expect it, like a messenger out of the blue telling you all is not lost, to hold your head high and never despair (2a).

В-229 • ДА́РОМ НЕ ВОЗЬМУ́ кого-чего or что; ДА́РОМ НЕ НА́ДО ⟨НЕ НУ́ЖНО⟩ кому кого-чего all coll, derog [VP, subj: human, fut only (1st var.); impers predic with $быть_{ø}$, usu. pres (variants with не надо, не нужно); usu. this WO] one does not want, require etc s.o. or sth. at all: Х-у Y-а даром не надо ≃ X doesn't need Y; X has no need for ⟨of⟩ Y; X wouldn't have ⟨take⟩ Y as a gift; X wouldn't have Y (even) if they were giving Ys away; X wouldn't take Y (even) if you paid X.

«Смотри, Николай! Это в последний раз. Нам таких швейцаров в ресторане и даром не надо» (Булгаков 9). "Watch out, Nikolai! This is the last time. We don't need that kind of a doorman in this restaurant" (9c). "Watch out, Nikolai, this is the last time! We have no need of such doormen in the restaurant" (9d). ♦ «А мне обязательно нужен огромнейший краб, — сказал Зыбин. — И не такой, как на рынке, там их вываривают и кроют лаком, такого я даром не возьму» (Домбровский 2). "I must have the biggest crab there is," said Zybin. "Not the sort you see at the market; they boil and varnish them there. I wouldn't have one if they were giving them away" (2a).

В-230 • КАК ВОЛ работать, трудиться coll [как + NP; nom only; adv] (to work) excessively, indefatigably: (work) like an ox ⟨a horse, a mule, a dog⟩.

«…Я так требую с мужиков, как нигде. У меня работай — первое… Я и сам работаю, как вол, и мужики у меня…» (Гоголь 3). "…I demand of my peasants more than anyone else does. Work comes first with me…. I myself work like an ox and my peasants do the same…" (3a).

В-231 • ВОЛА́ ВЕРТЕ́ТЬ ⟨КРУТИ́ТЬ⟩ substand, disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. neg imper or infin with брось(те), хватит etc; usu. this WO] to speak nonsensically, assert sth. ridiculous intentionally: Х вола вертит ≃ X talks (a lot of) nonsense ⟨rubbish⟩; X spins (person Y) a yarn; X talks through his hat.

«Что касается Криворучко, — сказал Саша, — то на бюро я рассказал про случай с лопатами». — «Какие лопаты?» — перебил его Столпер. — «Лопаты на стройке, кладовщика не было…» — «Не крутите вола! — рассвирепел Столпер. — Отвечайте: почему вы защищали Криворучко?» (Рыбаков 2). "As far as Krivoruchko is concerned, I told the committee meeting about the problem with the shovels." "What shovels?" Stolper broke in. "Shovels, to work on the building, the storekeeper wasn't there—" "Stop talking rubbish," Stolper interrupted him savagely. "Answer the question—why did you defend Krivoruchko?" (2a).

В-232 • ПО СВОЕ́Й ⟨ПО ДО́БРОЙ, ПО СО́БСТВЕННОЙ⟩ ВО́ЛЕ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] voluntarily: of one's own free will; of one's own accord ⟨volition⟩; || Neg не по своей воле ≃ against one's will ⟨wishes⟩; under duress.

Люди разделились на два лагеря: на уходящих и на остающихся. Первые, независимо от того, уходили ли они по доброй воле или по принуждению, считали себя героями (Лившиц 1). People were divided into two camps: those who were leaving and those who were staying behind. The former, independent of whether they were leaving of their own free will or by coercion, considered themselves to be heroes (1a).

В-233 • ВОЛЕ́Й-НЕВО́ЛЕЙ [AdvP; Invar; adv] regardless of whether desired or not: willy-nilly; like it or not; have no choice but to…

Марлен Михайлович… знал, что звуки, исторгнутые «Видным лицом», волей-неволей нарушат общее молчание… (Аксёнов 7). He [Marlen Mikhailovich] knew that the Important Personage, by producing the slightest sound, would willy-nilly break the others' silence… (7a). ♦ Волей-неволей ему [Кузьме] приходилось… постоянно думать об одном и том же: где достать деньги? (Распутин 1). Like it or not, he [Kuzma] was forced to think of only one thing: where could he get money? (1a).

< Loan translation of the Latin volens nolens, which is also used in Russian both in its Latin form and in transliteration.

В-234 • ВО́ЛЕЮ СУДЬБЫ́ ⟨СУДЕ́Б⟩; ПО ВО́ЛЕ СУДЬБЫ́ ⟨СУДЕ́Б⟩ all lit [$NP_{instrum}$ or PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] as a result of circumstances (over which one has no control): by the will ⟨the hand⟩ of fate; as fate (has) willed; as the fates (have) decreed; (one ⟨s.o.⟩ has been) fated (to do sth.); it is one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ fate (to do sth.).

Оказавшись волею судеб первыми свидетелями внеземной общественной жизни, мы испытываем сложные чувства… (Айтматов 2). Since we have been fated to be the first to see an extraterrestrial civilization, we are experiencing complicated reactions… (2a).

В-235 • ВОЛК В ОВЕ́ЧЬЕЙ ШКУ́РЕ coll, disapprov [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who has evil intentions but covers them up, appears harmless or friendly: wolf in sheep's clothing.

Мы «злые», лишь по недоразумению восхитившие наименование «добрых». Мы волки в овечьей шкуре (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). It was we who were "the wicked" who merely appropriated the name of "the good" owing to a misunderstanding. We were the wolves in sheep's clothing (2a).

< Russian source: the Bible (Matt. 7:15); English source: Aesop's fables and the Bible.

В-236 • КАК ВОЛК голоден coll [как + NP; nom only; modif (intensif)] very (hungry): (hungry) as a wolf ⟨a bear⟩.

«Разве что на дороге случилось?» — «Ничего не случилось… так, замешкались немного. Зато мы теперь голодны, как волки» (Тургенев 2). "Did something happen to you along the way?" "Nothing happened… We just tarried a bit. But now we're hungry as wolves" (2g).

В-237 • МОРСКО́Й ВОЛК coll [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human, male) or obj; fixed WO] an experienced sailor: sea dog ⟨sea-dog⟩; old salt.

«…Меня окрестили здесь морским волком, а меня тошнит, когда я проезжаю мостом через Эльбу…» (Федин 1). "…They've called me a sea-dog here, but it makes me sick to cross the bridge over the Elbe…" (1a).

В-238 • ТРА́ВЛЕНЫЙ ⟨СТА́РЫЙ, СТРЕ́ЛЯНЫЙ⟩ ВОЛК; ТРА́ВЛЕНЫЙ ЗВЕРЬ all coll [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human, usu. male); fixed WO] a man who has been through much adversity, survived many dangers, and acquired much experience in life: old hand; (one) has seen it all; [lim.] (one is) battle-scarred; (one) has been there and back.

В-239 • КАК ⟨СКО́ЛЬКО⟩ ВО́ЛКА НИ КОРМИ́, (А) ОН (ВСЁ) В ЛЕС СМО́ТРИТ ⟨ГЛЯДИ́Т⟩ [saying] no matter how you try to change s.o., win s.o. over, his true nature, feelings, habits etc will surface: ≃ a leopard cannot change its spots; once a wolf always a wolf; nature is stronger than nurture; what is bred in the bone will come out in the flesh.

В-240 • С ВОЛКА́МИ ЖИТЬ — ПО-ВО́ЛЧЬИ ВЫТЬ [saying] a person should adapt himself to the habits and customs of those in whose society he finds himself: ≃ he that lives with the wolves learns to howl; when in Rome, do as the Romans do.

Как въехали они в нашу квартиру — Николай Николаевич с Ниночкой, я им сразу сказал: «Коля! — говорю, — Ниночка! держите ухо востро. Не поддавайтесь на провокацию. Живите как в отдалении. А я возле вас погреюсь на старости лет». — «Нет! — отвечает Ниночка. — С волками жить — по-волчьи выть» (Терц 5). "When they moved into our apartment—Nikolay Nikolayevich and Ninochka, that is—I told them at once: "Nicky," I said, "Ninochka! Keep your ears open. Don't give in to provocation. Keep your distance. And I'll warm myself at your hearth in my old age." "No!" Ninochka answered. "When in Rome, do as the Romans do" (5a).

В-241 • И ВО́ЛКИ СЫ́ТЫ, И О́ВЦЫ ЦЕ́ЛЫ [saying; often used as a subord clause introduced by чтобы] sth. satisfies both parties involved, both opposing sides (usu. said in situations when a person is trying to please two people or parties with different interests or views): ≃ the wolves are sated and the sheep intact; we ⟨you etc⟩ have pleased everyone; we ⟨you etc⟩ have managed to keep everyone happy; Peter has been paid without robbing Paul.

В-242 • ВОЛКО́В БОЯ́ТЬСЯ — В ЛЕ́С НЕ ХОДИ́ТЬ [saying] once you are determined to do sth., you must not let impending difficulties or risks deter you (said to encourage o.s. or another person when undertaking a dangerous or unknown affair involving risk): ≃ if you're going to play with matches ⟨fire⟩, you can't be afraid of getting burned; nothing ventured, nothing gained; risk nothing, win nothing.

В-243 • ВО́ЛКОМ ВЫТЬ/ВЗВЫТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to complain bitterly (about one's suffering, hardships): X волком взвоет ≃ X will start howling; X will ⟨thing Y will make X⟩ moan and groan.

В-244 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ ВО́ЛКОМ (на кого) coll [VP; subj: human] to look (at s.o.) angrily, in a hostile way: X (на Y-а) волком смотрит ≃ X scowls ⟨glowers, glares⟩ (at Y); X looks daggers at Y; X gives ⟨keeps giving⟩ Y dirty ⟨nasty⟩ looks.

«Так вот ты… запер его [полицмейстера], беднягу, в сортирной кабинке, припёр дверцу метлой и не выпускал…» — «Серьёзно? — сказал Виктор. — Ну и ну. То-то он сегодня на меня весь день волком смотрит» (Стругацкие 1). "What happened… is that you backed him [the police chief] into the toilet. Then you barricaded the door with a broom and refused to let him out…" "No kidding," said Viktor. "How do you like that? No wonder he's been giving me dirty looks all day" (1a).

В-245 • ХОТЬ ВО́ЛКОМ ВОЙ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; Invar; predic or subord clause; fixed WO] (used to express despair, hopelessness, impotence) (it is) an intolerable, untenable situation: it's enough to make you ⟨a grown man⟩ cry; you could just scream; it's more than one can bear ⟨take⟩.

В-246 • ДО СЕДЫ́Х ВОЛО́С (дожить и т.п.) [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (of a person) (to have lived etc) until old age: till one goes ⟨grows⟩ gray; till one's hair turns ⟨begins to turn⟩ gray; into (one's) old age.

«Что ж, тебе не хотелось бы так пожить?»… — «И весь век так?» — спросил Штольц. «До седых волос, до гробовой доски. Это жизнь!» (Гончаров 1). "Now, wouldn't you like to live like that?"… "To live like that all the time?" "Till you grow gray—till you are laid in the grave! That is life!" (1b).

В-247 • НА ВО́ЛОС; НА ВОЛОСО́К both obs [PrepP; these forms only] 1. [adv or modif; often preceded by хоть] (even) a little: (even) the slightest ⟨tiniest⟩ bit; (even) in the slightest way; [lim.] (even) by a hairbreadth ⟨a hair's-breadth etc⟩.

«…Захочу ли я хоть на волос стеснять твою жизнь, твои привычки?» (Тургенев 2). "…Would I want to interfere, even in the slightest way, with your life, with your habits?" (2d). ♦ …Штольц не мог уловить у ней на лице и в словах… даже искры чувства, которое хоть бы на волос выходило за границы тёплой, сердечной, но обыкновенной дружбы (Гончаров 1). …Stolz was unable to detect in her face or her words… a spark of feeling which by a hairbreadth exceeded the limits of warm, affectionate, but ordinary friendship (1b).

2. [adv (intensif); used with negated verbs] not at all: not the slightest ⟨tiniest⟩ bit; not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩; not a bit ⟨an inch⟩; [lim.] not by (so much as) a hairbreadth ⟨a hair's-breadth etc⟩.

В-248 • НИ НА́ ВОЛОС; НИ НА ВОЛОСО́К both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif); used with negated verbs] not at all: not the slightest ⟨tiniest⟩ bit; not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩; not a bit ⟨an inch⟩; [lim.] not by (so much as) a hairbreadth ⟨a hairsbreadth etc⟩.

Стряпала [Маргарита Антоновна] строго по рецептам, как иногда делают это мужчины, не отступая ни на волос от предписанных норм… (Грекова 3). She [Margarita Antonovna] cooked strictly by the recipes, the way men sometimes do, not deviating an inch… (3a).

В-249 • НЕ ТРО́НУТЬ ВОЛОСКА́ чьего, у кого obs, coll [VP; subj: human] not to cause s.o. any harm, not injure or hit s.o.: X не тронет Y-ова волоска ≃ X won't touch ⟨harm, hurt⟩ a hair of Y's head.

«Нет, дитя моё, никто не тронет волоска твоего. Ты вырастешь на славу отчизны…» (Гоголь 5). "No, my child, no one shall touch a hair of your head. You shall grow up to the glory of your fatherland…"(5a).

В-250 • ВИСЕ́ТЬ ⟨ДЕРЖА́ТЬСЯ⟩/ПОВИ́СНУТЬ НА ВОЛОСКЕ́ ⟨НА НИ́ТОЧКЕ, НА НИ́ТКЕ⟩ [VP; subj: human or abstr, often жизнь; if subj: human, usu. one's life or career is involved] to be in a perilous position or condition, be threatened by imminent danger, ruin, or death: X висит на волоске ≃ X is hanging by a thread; person X is within a hairbreadth ⟨a hair's-breadth etc⟩ of death; person X is on the brink of death; [lim.] X is within a hairbreadth of disaster ⟨ruin⟩; X is on the brink of disaster ⟨ruin⟩; thing X is touch and go.

Долгое время жизнь князя висела на волоске (Окуджава 2). His [the prince's] life hung by a thread for a long time (2a). ♦ …Мне претила ложь и скука старой семьи и я участвовала в её разрушении. Выход я нашла в свободном союзе. Случайно мой опыт удался, но всё всегда висело на волоске (Мандельштам 2). …Repelled by the hypocrisy and tedium of conventional family life, I helped to undermine it… by seeking my own solution in a free union based on love, not marriage. It so happens that in my particular case it succeeded—though it was very much always touch and go (2a).

< From the story of Damocles, courtier of the Syracusan tyrant Dionysius in classical mythology. At a banquet, Dionysius had Damocles seated under a sword suspended by a single hair to show him how precarious power and the ruler's happiness were.

В-251 • НА ВОЛОСО́К ⟨НА ВОЛОСКЕ́, НА ВО́ЛОС obs⟩ от чего [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or collect; prep obj: usu. от смерти, от гибели etc); usu. used with past verbs] one is very close (to death, ruin etc) (if used with a past-form verb, refers to danger or trouble that one has managed to avoid): X был на волосок от Y-а ≃ X was within a hairbreadth ⟨a hair's-breadth etc, an inch, a whisker⟩ of Y; X was a hairbreadth away (from Y); X escaped Y by a hairbreadth ⟨by the skin of X's teeth⟩; X was on the verge (of Y).

Ужасной была поездка в Москву по вызову Ярославского. Вот когда я была на волосок от самоубийства! (Гинзбург 1). The journey back to Moscow at Yaroslavsky's summons was terrible. I was within a hair's breadth of suicide (1a).

В-252 • ВО́ЛОСЫ СТАНО́ВЯТСЯ/СТА́ЛИ ⟨ВСТАЮ́Т/ВСТА́ЛИ, ПОДНИМА́ЮТСЯ/ПОДНЯЛИ́СЬ⟩ ДЫБОМ (у кого от чего or при виде чего) coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. experiences intense fear, horror (caused by sth.): у X-а волосы стали дыбом (от Y-а) ≃ Y made X's hair stand on end; X's hair stood on end; [lim.] it was enough to make X's hair stand on end; Y filled X with horror.

[Городничий:] О, я знаю вас: вы если начнёте говорить о сотворении мира, просто волосы дыбом поднимаются (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] Oh, I know you. When you start talking about the creation of the world, it makes my hair stand on end (4c).

В-253 • РВАТЬ ⟨ДРАТЬ substand⟩ НА СЕБЕ́ ВО́ЛОСЫ coll [VP; subj: human; often fut or infin with готов, должен] to experience utter despair or become very angry with o.s. (often after having realized that undesirable consequences of sth. could have been avoided): X рвёт на себе волосы ≃ X is tearing his hair (out); X is tearing out his hair; [lim.] X could kick himself.

Когда два-три часа назад ей сказали, что Митрий лежит у зарода на Марьиных лугах — отощал, идти не может, — Марфа готова была волосы рвать на себе. Господи! За что ей ещё такое наказание? (Абрамов 1). A few hours earlier, when they had told her that Mitry was lying by the hayrick in Mariny Luga, emaciated and unable to walk, Marfa had been ready to tear out her hair. God! Not another cross to bear! (1a).

В-254 • ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ ВОЛЧКО́М [VP] 1. [subj: concr] to rotate without stopping: X вертелся волчком ≃ X was spinning like a top.

Он два раза испытал это страшное мучительное чувство страха смерти… Первый раз он испытал это чувство тогда, когда граната волчком вертелась перед ним и он смотрел на жнивьё, на кусты, на небо и знал, что перед ним была смерть (Толстой 7). Twice he had experienced that agonizing feeling, the dread of death…. The first time he had felt it was when the shell had spun like a top in front of him, and he had looked at the stubble field, at the bushes, and the sky, and knew that he was face to face with death (7a).

2. [subj: human] to be in constant motion (while standing or sitting in one place): X вертится волчком ≃ X can't hold ⟨stand, sit⟩ still; [lim.] X is fidgety; X has ants in his pants.

3. [subj: human] to bustle, busy o.s. without taking any time to sit down and rest: X вертится волчком ≃ X is (always) buzzing about ⟨around⟩; X is (always) on the go ⟨the run⟩; X is (always) running around (like crazy); X is (always) busy as a bee.

[Лебедев:] В наше время, бывало, день-деньской с лекциями бьёшься, а как только настал вечер, идёшь прямо куда-нибудь на огонь и до самой зари волчком вертишься… (Чехов 4). [L.:] Now, in our time you'd sweat away at your lectures all day long, then you'd make for the bright lights in the evening and buzz around till the crack of dawn (4b).

B-255 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ПО ВОЛШЕБСТВУ́ [как etc + PrepP; these forms only; adv] in a miraculous way: as if by magic ⟨a miracle⟩; [lim.] (appear) as if out of nowhere.

Это замечательное средство! Всего один день — и ты выздоровеешь, как по волшебству. This is a wonderful remedy! In just one day you'll recover as if by magic.

B-256 • ТЯНУ́ТЬ ⟨РАЗВОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ВОЛЫ́НКУ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to act very slowly, procrastinate in dealing with s.o. or sth.: X тянет волынку ≃ X is dragging things ⟨it⟩ out; X is dragging his feet; [lim.] X is stalling; X is taking his own sweet time (about thing Y ⟨it⟩).

«…Аркашка с ней [Ириной] долго канителиться не будет, поиграет и прогонит… Он ведь не в отца, не такой, чтобы тянуть волынку годами!» (Залыгин 1). "Arkady won't waste much time on her [Irina]. He'll have his bit of fun then kick her out…. He doesn't take after his father, he won't drag it out for years" (1a).

B-257 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ВО́ЛЮ [VP; subj: human; can be used with infin of another verb] to behave willfully, inconsiderately toward others: X взял волю ≃ X took liberties with person Y; X made free with person Y; X became impudent; X was being insolent; [lim.] X bossed person Y around ⟨about⟩.

«…Сестра она вам не родная, а сведённая, а вот какую волю взяла» (Достоевский 3). "She's not your real sister, only a stepsister, and look how she bosses you about" (3a).

B-258 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ВО́ЛЮ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кому to allow s.o. to act, behave as he chooses: X дал волю Y-у ≃ X gave free ⟨full⟩ rein to Y; || дай Y-у волю [used as condit] ≃ if Y could; if Y had the opportunity; (if) given the chance, Y would…; if you ⟨we etc⟩ let Y have Y's way; || X дал себе волю ≃ X let himself go; X gave in to himself.

[Джульбарс,] свирепейший [из псов], дай только волю, наверняка бы загрыз какого-нибудь лагерника насмерть… (Владимов 1). [The dog] Djulbars, the fiercest of the fierce, if given the chance, would no doubt have cheerfully bitten a prisoner to death (1a). ♦ [Войницкий:] Дайте себе волю хоть раз в жизни, влюбитесь поскорее в какого-нибудь водяного по самые уши… (Чехов 3). [V.:] Let yourself go for once in your life, fall head over heels in love with some water sprite… (3a).

2. ~ чему [indir obj: usu. слезам, чувствам, переживаниям, мечтам etc] to allow for free expression of (one's emotions, occas. after having suppressed them), not to hold back (one's emotions, tears etc): X дал волю Y-ам ≃ X gave vent ⟨way⟩ to Ys; X gave free ⟨full⟩ rein to Ys; [lim.] X let Ys get the better of him; X made no attempt to subdue ⟨suppress etc⟩ his Ys; [in refer. to tears only] X let his tears flow freely.

Меня это взорвало… но в такой ситуации нельзя давать волю чувствам, надо сдерживать себя… (Рыбаков 1). I thought I would explode… but in a situation like that, you can't give vent to your feelings, you must control yourself… (1a). ♦ В самый день приезда в Яреськи всё было как будто хорошо. Чуть-чуть, возможно, напряжённо, но Вадим объяснял это тем, что мать боится дать волю своим чувствам (Некрасов 1). The first day in Yareski everything seemed to be all right. The atmosphere was possibly a little bit tense, but Vadim felt the explanation lay in what he imagined was his mother's reluctance to give free rein to her feelings (1a).

B-259 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ВО́ЛЮ КУЛАКА́М coll [VP; subj: human] to beat s.o. (unmercifully): X даёт волю кулакам ≃ X is free ⟨hasty⟩ with his fists; X lets fly ⟨loose⟩ with his fists; || Neg Imper кулакам воли не давай ≃ keep your fists to yourself.

[Городничий:] Да сказать Держиморде, чтобы не слишком давал воли кулакам своим (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] And tell Derzhimorda not to be too free with his fists (4c). [Mayor:] And tell Constable Derzhimorda to keep his fists to himself (4e).

B-260 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ВО́ЛЮ РУКА́М coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to beat s.o. (unmercifully): X даёт волю рукам ≃ X is free ⟨hasty⟩ with his fists; X lets fly ⟨loose⟩ with his fists; || Neg Imper рукам воли не давай ≃ keep your fists to yourself.

Одно, что иногда мучило Николая по отношению к его хозяйничанию, это была его вспыльчивость в соединении с его старою гусарскою привычкой давать волю рукам. В первое время он не видел в этом ничего предосудительного, но на второй год своей женитьбы его взгляд на такого рода расправы вдруг изменился (Толстой 7). One thing that plagued Nikolai in connection with his management of the estate was his quick temper together with the old hussar habit of being free with his fists. At first he saw nothing reprehensible in this, but in the second year of his marriage his opinion of this sort of chastisement suddenly changed (7a).

2. [subj: usu. male] (usu. in refer. to a man's behavior toward a woman) to grab, touch, try to embrace s.o.: X даёт волю рукам ≃ X lets his hands wander; X puts his hands where they don't belong; [lim.] X has his hands all over person Y.

B-261 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДА́ТЬ ВОЛЮ ЯЗЫКУ́ coll [VP; subj: human] to say more than one should, not restrain o.s.: X дал волю языку ≃ X gave free ⟨full⟩ rein to his tongue.

Хлынувшие вслед за ним [Петром Житовым] из клуба бабы едва не сбили его с ног. А когда выбрались на твёрдую, накатанную дорогу, дали волю своим языкам (Абрамов 1). Pouring out of the club building after him [Pyotr Zhitov], the women nearly knocked him off his feet. Once they reached the hard-surfaced road they gave free rein to their tongues (1a).

B-262 • БУДЬ ⟨БЫЛА́ БЫ⟩ МОЯ́ ⟨твоя и т.п.⟩ ВО́ЛЯ; МОЯ́ ⟨твоя и т.п.⟩ БЫ ВО́ЛЯ [subord clause, condit; these forms only; fixed WO] if I (you etc) were to decide how the problem, matter in question would be handled: if it were up to me ⟨you etc⟩; if I ⟨you etc⟩ had (it) my ⟨your etc⟩ way; if I ⟨you etc⟩ were in charge.

…Была бы воля Ершова, он генералу Гудзю полком не доверил бы командовать, не то что корпусом (Гроссман 2). If it had been up to him, Yershov wouldn't have trusted Gudz with a regiment, let alone a whole corps (2a).

B-263 • ВО́ЛЬНОМУ ВО́ЛЯ coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (said—occas. with resignation—to or of a person when he acts or is about to act the way he wants to; often his behavior is considered imprudent or foolish by the speaker) one can do as he wishes: one can ⟨may⟩ do as one likes ⟨pleases⟩; let one have it his ⟨her etc⟩ way; it's your ⟨his etc⟩ decision; to each his own; [lim.] nobody is forcing you ⟨him etc⟩; [when addressed to the hearer only] do as you like; have it your way; suit yourself.

Надев фартуки, мы перетирали фарш с водой… Я напоролся в фарше на что-то, порезался: кусочек полуды… «Люди будут есть?» — «Помалкивай. Вольному воля. Пусть не жрут» (Кузнецов 1). After putting on aprons, we kneaded the ground meat in water…. I struck on something in the ground meat and cut myself: a piece of tin…. "Are people going to eat that?" "Quiet. They can do as they like. They don't have to" (1a).

< Reduced version of the saying «Вольному воля, спасённому рай» (usu. only the first part is used).

В-264 • ВО́ЛЯ ВА́ША ⟨ТВОЯ́⟩ coll [these forms only] 1. [indep. sent] (said in response to s.o.'s statement expressing or implying his intention to act in a certain way) you can do whatever you want to: (do) as you wish ⟨please⟩; do as you like; it's up to you; suit yourself ⟨-selves⟩; have it your way.

2. [sent adv (usu. parenth); fixed WO] used to express the speaker's refusal to do what has been suggested or demanded; also used to express the speaker's disagreement with or objection to some statement, action etc that he considers unreasonable, ludicrous etc: say what you will ⟨like, want⟩ (, but…); (you may ⟨can⟩) think what you will ⟨wish⟩ (, but…); [lim.] that's all very well, but…

Вот этого самого незнакомца в берете, воля ваша, Степа в своем кабинете вчера никак не видал (Булгаков 9). Say what you will, but Styopa had not seen this stranger in the beret at his office at all (9a).

В-265 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ ВО́ЛЯ чья, кого old-fash, lit [NP; fixed WO] the expression of a person's final wishes before his death: last will and testament; last ⟨dying⟩ wish; last wishes.

Приехал стряпчий Корш. Бубенцов выставил Пелагию за дверь, чтоб не мешала переписывать духовную… Час спустя Корш, утирая платком пот, вышел из спальни и попросил квасу. «Нет таких обычаев, чтобы по мычанию последнюю волю угадывать», — сердито объяснил он сестре Пелагии (Акунин 6). The attorney Korsh arrived. Bubentsov put Pelagia out of the room so that she would not interfere with the rewriting of the will… An hour later Kopsh emerged from the bedroom, wiping away the sweat with his handkerchief, and asked for some kvass. "It is not customary to attempt to guess a person's last wishes from inarticulate mumbling," he explained angrily to Sister Pelagia (6a).

В-266 • (МНО́ГО) ВООБРАЖА́ТЬ О СЕБЕ́; МНО́ГО ⟨ВЫСОКО́⟩ ДУ́МАТЬ ⟨МНИТЬ lit⟩ О СЕБЕ́ [VP; subj: human] to behave haughtily, consider o.s. better, more important, or cleverer than one really is: X много воображает о себе ≃ X thinks too ⟨quite⟩ highly of himself; X thinks a lot ⟨too much⟩ of himself; X has a very high ⟨too high an⟩ opinion of himself; X has a swelled head ⟨an inflated ego⟩; X is getting too big for his britches.

[Мурзавецкая:] А Евлампия теперь с деньгами-то, пожалуй, очень высоко думает о себе: тот ей не пара, другой не жених (Островский 5). [M.:] Eulampe, rolling in money as she is now, no doubt thinks a lot of herself: No man is good enough for her (5b).

В-267 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ НА ВООРУЖЕ́НИЕ что [VP; subj: human or collect] to (begin to) make active use of (some device, idea, method, theory etc): X взял на вооружение Y ≃ X added Y to ⟨made Y part of⟩ his arsenal; X adopted ⟨seized upon⟩ Y; X put Y to use; X started using Y.

«Вопросник. Беру словечко на вооружение. Кратко и точно. У вас, наверное, есть ещё в таком роде, вы ж газетный работник» (Иоффе 1). "'Questionnaire!' I'm going to adopt this word. Brief and exact. You probably have a few more like that—after all, you are a journalist" (1a).

В-268 • БОЛЬНО́Й ВОПРО́С [NP; fixed WO] a pressing problem that has no easy solution: touchy ⟨thorny⟩ issue ⟨question⟩; sore subject.

В-269 • ВОПРО́С ЖИ́ЗНИ И ⟨ИЛИ⟩ СМЕ́РТИ [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] an extremely important matter: matter of life and death; (matter) of utmost importance.

«Знаете, Саша, — с сердцем возразил Борис, — ссыльных устроил сюда [в столовую «Заготпушнины»] я. Теперь мне, конечно, наплевать, я уезжаю. Но для тех, кто остаётся, это вопрос жизни и смерти» (Рыбаков 2). "Look, Sasha," Boris objected vehemently, "I arranged it so the exiles could come in here [to the Fur Procurement Trust Canteen]. Now that I'm going, it doesn't affect me, of course, but for those who are staying here, it's a matter of life and death" (2a).

< Loan translation of the French question de vie et de mort.

В-270 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ВОПРО́С РЕБРО́М [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to say sth. or ask sth. straightforwardly, in an abrupt manner: X поставил вопрос ребром ≃ X posed the issue ⟨put the question⟩ point-blank; X put the question bluntly ⟨squarely⟩.

Эта дама… поставила вопрос ребром: или я убираю квартиру, или должен идти домой (Лимонов 1). The lady… posed the issue point-blank: Either I cleaned the apartment or I had to go home (1a).

В-271 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ПОД ВОПРО́С что [VP; subj: human] to dispute, query sth.: X поставил под вопрос Y ≃ X called Y in(to) question; X raised doubts about Y; X questioned Y.

«Что же тут, сравнивается наша мощь с силёнками белых? Ставится под вопрос успех военного решения проблемы?» (Аксёнов 7). "Are you putting those puny Whites on a par with us? Are you questioning the success of a military solution to the problem?" (7a).

В-272 • ЧТО ЗА ВОПРО́С! coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one's astonishment at or emphatic reply to an unnecessary or ridiculous question: (why,) what a question!; what kind of question is that!; what do you mean!; what ⟨where etc⟩ do you think!; [lim.] who ⟨what, where etc⟩ else!

«Ты где сегодня ужинаешь, Амвросий?» — «Что за вопрос, конечно здесь, дорогой Фока!» (Булгаков 9). "Where will you be dining today, Amvrosy?" "Why, what a question! Here, of course, my dear Foka!" (9c).

В-273 • ПОД (БОЛЬШИ́М) ВОПРО́СОМ быть$_{0}$, оставаться, находиться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr); fixed WO] (of plans, future prospects etc) (to be, remain etc) uncertain, undecided, dubious: open to question; up in the air; a (big) question mark; (pretty) iffy.

В-274 • ВОР У ВО́РА ДУБИ́НКУ УКРА́Л [saying] a swindler cheated another swindler: ≃ one thief robs another.

В-275 • НЕ ПО́ЙМАН — НЕ ВОР [saying] a person should not be considered guilty of a wrongdoing if he is not caught at the scene of the crime (said when there is no irrefutable evidence of s.o.'s guilt; sometimes said with regret when s.o.'s obvious guilt cannot be proven): ≃ innocent until proven guilty; a thief isn't a thief unless you catch him in the act; a thief isn't a thief till he's caught (in the act) ⟨till he's caught red-handed⟩.

«А откуда вам известно про его штуки?» — «Говорили в институте…» — «Чего ж вы ему тогда холку не намылили?» — «Не пойман — не вор» (Семёнов 1). "How do you come to know so much about his tricks?" "They were talked about at the Institute…." "Why didn't you settle his hash at that time?" "You're not a thief till you're caught" (1a).

В-276 • НА ВО́РЕ ША́ПКА ГОРИ́Т [saying] a person who is guilty of sth. cannot hide his guilt (said when a person unwittingly shows himself to be guilty through his behavior or words in a case when he otherwise would not have been suspect): ≃ that's his ⟨her⟩ guilty conscience speaking.

В-277 • СТРЕ́ЛЯНЫЙ ⟨СТА́РЫЙ⟩ ВОРОБЕ́Й; СТРЕ́ЛЯНАЯ ПТИ́ЦА all coll [NP; usu. sing; often subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] an experienced, worldly-wise person who is not easily fooled: wise old bird; old hand; no novice; (one) has seen a thing or two in one's time; [lim.] (one) wasn't born yesterday; seasoned (as one is).

Конечно, Исидор Маркович прав — он опытнейший врач, старый воробей, его приглашают на консультации в другие города… (Трифонов 4). Isidor Markovich was right, of course—he's an experienced surgeon, an old hand, they invite him for consultations in other cities… (4a).

В-278 • СТА́РОГО ВОРОБЬЯ́ НА МЯКИ́НЕ НЕ ПРОВЕДЁШЬ [saying] you cannot outwit or deceive an experienced, worldly-wise person (said in praise of o.s. or another person who, thanks to his experience, is able to see through s.o.'s sly intentions or deception): ≃ he ⟨she etc⟩ is too old a bird to be caught with chaff; you can't catch old birds with chaff; an old fox isn't easily snared.

< «Мякина» is the husks and stalks separated in the winnowing and threshing of grain and certain other crops.

В-279 • ВО́РОН ВО́РОНУ ГЛАЗ НЕ ВЫ́КЛЮЕТ [saying] people who share common—usu. mercenary—interests act together and do not betray one another: ≃ a crow doesn't peck out the eye of another crow.

В-280 • ВОРО́Н ⟨ГА́ЛОК, МУХ⟩ СЧИТА́ТЬ; ВОРО́Н ⟨МУХ⟩ ЛОВИ́ТЬ all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. [often pres (in questions), neg imper, or infin with хватит, нечего etc] to look around aimlessly, absent-mindedly, getting distracted from what one is doing: X ворон считает ≃ X stands ⟨sits etc⟩ gaping; X stands ⟨sits etc⟩ there just looking (around); || Neg Imper ворон не считай ≃ [in limited contexts; with verbs of motion] look ⟨watch⟩ where you're going.

«Чего ворон-то считаете? — закричала Анна и замахала рукой. — Не видите, кто приехал?» (Абрамов 1). "Are you going to stand there just looking?" Anna waved her arms. "Don't you see who's come?" (1b).

2. to spend time aimlessly, lazily, be idle: X ворон считает ≃ X loafs (around); X twiddles ⟨sits around twiddling⟩ his thumbs; X does absolutely nothing; X sits on his hands; X goofs off.

Прекрати ворон считать! Сейчас же садись за уроки! Quit goofing off! Sit down and do your homework right now!

3. to be inactive (in a situation when some action is required or expected): X ворон считает ≃ X (stands back ⟨by⟩ and) does nothing; X sits on his hands; X takes no action.

Вопрос о том, какому отделу отдать освободившееся помещение, ещё не решён, но если вы будете ворон считать, то ваш отдел его точно не получит. It has yet to be decided which department will get the offices that have been vacated, but if you don't take action yours certainly won't.

В-281 • КУДА́ ВО́РОН КОСТЕ́Й НЕ ЗАНОСИ́Л (выслать, загнать кого, попасть и т.п.) coll [subord clause (usu. after туда); fixed WO] (to exile, send s.o.) very far away, to a most remote place: to the back of beyond; to the middle of nowhere; to the land of no return.

В-282 • ЧЁРНЫЙ ВО́РОН ⟨ВОРОНО́К⟩; ЧЁРНАЯ МАРУ́СЯ all coll [NP; fixed WO] a police wagon for transporting prisoners: Black Maria.

Я думал, что на улице меня ждёт «чёрный ворон», куда меня втащат, заламывая руки. Но никакого «ворона» не было, и мой провожатый предложил мне пройти пешком (Войнович 1). I expected there to be a Black Maria outside, that my arm would be twisted as I was thrown inside. But there was no police van waiting, and my escort suggested that we go on foot (1a).

В-283 • БЕ́ЛАЯ ВОРО́НА coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human) or obj-compl with считать, называть etc (obj: human); fixed WO] a person who is vastly different from those around him, unlike all the rest: X был ⟨казался⟩ белой вороной ≃ X was the odd man ⟨one⟩ out; X was ⟨seemed to be⟩ out of place (among ⟨in⟩…); X stood ⟨stuck⟩ out like a sore thumb.

Среди советских писателей он [Эренбург] был и оставался белой вороной. С ним единственным я поддерживала отношения все годы (Мандельштам 2). He [Ehrenburg] was always the odd man out among the Soviet writers, and the only one I maintained relations with all through the years (2a). ♦ …Все обрадовались, прочтя фамилию Лозинского в списке первых писателей, награждённых орденами. В этом списке он был белой вороной… (Мандельштам 1). …Everybody was pleased to see Lozinski's name in the list of the first writers ever to receive Soviet decorations. He was quite out of place in this company… (1a).

В-284 • ВОРО́НА В ПАВЛИ́НЬИХ ПЕ́РЬЯХ derog [NP; usu. sing; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person who tries in vain to appear better or more important than he is in reality: jay ⟨jackdaw⟩ in peacock's feathers ⟨plumes⟩.

< (?) Loan translation of the French "Le Geai paré des plumes du paon" (title of La Fontaine's fable). It came into widespread usage through Ivan Krylov's fable "The Crow" («Ворона»), 1825.

В-285 • ПУ́ГАНАЯ ВОРО́НА (И) КУСТА́ БОИ́ТСЯ [saying] a person who has been frightened by sth. or has suffered because of sth. becomes extremely wary and begins to fear even those things which are not dangerous: ≃ once bitten ⟨burned etc⟩ twice shy.

Подозрительная дружба Фомина с Капариным не осталась незамеченной. Несколько коммунистов из батальона устроили за ними слежку, сообщили о своих подозрениях начальнику политбюро Дончека Артемьеву… «Пуганая ворона куста боится, — смеясь, сказал Артемьев. — Капарин этот — трус, да разве он на что-либо решится? За Фоминым будем смотреть… только едва ли и Фомин отважится на выступление» (Шолохов 5). The suspicious friendship between Fomin and Kaparin did not pass unnoticed. Some of the Communists in the battalion started keeping a watch on them and reported their suspicions to Artemyev, head of the political Bureau of the Don Emergency Commission…. "Once frightened twice shy," Artemyev said, laughing. "That Kaparin is a coward. D'you think he'd ever dare to start anything? We'll watch Fomin… but I shouldn't think even Fomin would risk any action" (5a).

В-286 • ПРОКАТИ́ТЬ НА ВОРОНЫ́Х кого obsoles, iron [VP; subj: human, pl; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.] to vote against s.o., not elect s.o.: X-ы прокатили Y-а на вороных ≃ Xs blackballed Y; Xs voted Y down; [lim.] Xs voted Y out of office; Y was well and truly beaten.

…Он изъявил готовность баллотироваться… Против обыкновения, его прокатили на вороных (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). He… expressed his readiness to run for election…. But against all expectation, he was well and truly beaten (2a).

< This is a play on words. The word «вороной» usually means a black horse, but here it denotes the color of black balls used to represent negative ballots (19th cent.).

В-287 • ОТ ВОРО́Т ПОВОРО́Т (дать, показать кому, получить и т.п.) coll, occas. humor [NP; Invar; usu. obj or indep. sent; fixed WO] (to give s.o., receive etc) a categorical refusal or negative response to a request, suggestion etc (often in the context of matchmaking): X дал Y-у от ворот поворот ≃ X gave Y the gate ⟨the brush-off⟩; X brushed Y off; X sent Y packing ⟨about Y's business⟩; X turned thumbs down on Y; X turned Y down ⟨away⟩; ‖ Y получил от ворот поворот ≃ Y got the gate ⟨the brush-off⟩; Y was sent packing ⟨about his business⟩; Y got a flat rejection ⟨refusal⟩; Y was turned down ⟨away⟩; [lim.] good-bye ⟨goodbye⟩ to…

Его [Михаила] удивил яркий свет в своей избе, который он увидел ещё от задних воротец… Так, так, подумал Михаил. Сваты… Дадим от ворот поворот, но так, чтобы сватам обиды не было (Абрамов 1). He [Mikhail] was surprised by the bright light in his house, which he noticed from the back gate…. So that's it, thought Mikhail. Matchmakers…. We'll send 'em about their business, but don't let's offend the matchmakers (1a).

В-288 • У ВОРО́Т; У ДВЕРЕ́Й [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula] 1. [subj: abstr, often the name of a month, a noun denoting a season etc] sth. is very close, sth. will come very soon, in the immediate future: X у ворот ≃ X is just ⟨right⟩ around the corner; X is close ⟨near⟩ at hand; X is almost upon us; it's almost X.

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] some people are in immediate proximity (to s.o.), nearby: X-ы у ворот ≃ Xs are (right) at the doorstep; Xs are (knocking) at person Y's ⟨the⟩ door; Xs are at the gate(s); Xs are almost upon person Y.

Обезумевшими глазами [люди] хватали с обрывков нового приказа на стенах бесстрашные слова: «ЗА ДЕЛО! ВСЕ В РЯДЫ! БЕЙТЕ ТРЕВОГУ, ВРАГ У ВОРОТ!» (Федин 1). Their [the people's] panic-stricken eyes grasped the fearless words from scraps of a new order on the walls: "TO WORK! EVERYONE TO THE RANKS! SOUND THE ALARM, ENEMY AT THE GATES!" (1a).

В-289 • НИ В КАКИ́Е ВОРО́ТА НЕ ЛЕ́ЗЕТ; НИ В КАКИ́Е ВОРО́ТА both coll, disapprov [VP (1st var.) or PrepP, Invar, subj-compl with быть$_{0}$ (2nd var.); subj: abstr, often это; pres or, rare, past; the verb may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] sth. is absolutely unacceptable, outrageous (used to express one's indignation at s.o.'s actions, some events etc): это ни в какие ворота не лезет ≃ this is really too much; this is the limit; it's an outrage; this ⟨it⟩ simply won't do; this is really going too far; this is outlandish ⟨outrageous⟩; this is beyond the pale.

В-290 • АДМИНИСТРАТИ́ВНЫЙ ВОСТО́РГ iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] excessive devotion to and enjoyment of administrative activities: bureaucratic zeal ⟨enthusiasm, ecstasy, rapture⟩.

В-291 • ТЕЛЯ́ЧИЙ ВОСТО́РГ usu. iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] overexpressive or unfounded joy: wild enthusiasm; foolish euphoria; childlike glee(fulness).

Описывая прогулку по Москве в ту памятную для меня июльскую ночь, я сейчас спрашиваю себя: не был ли я слишком опьянён собственным успехом и похвалами Б. Л. [Пастернака] и не переношу ли я на него своё настроение, в котором было что-то от телячьего восторга, — и отвечаю себе — нет (Гладков 1). Describing at this distance in time that memorable July night I cannot help wondering whether I was not so intoxicated by my own success and Pasternak's praise that I am imputing to him my own state of mind—which was one of almost childlike gleefulness. But I think not. (1a).

В-292 • ВОТ-ВО́Т coll [AdvP; Invar; adv] (sth. will happen) very soon: any minute ⟨moment, day, time⟩ (now); at any minute ⟨moment⟩; in no time at all; be about to…

Близился полдень, и пахарь уже настораживал слух в сторону дома, что вот-вот жена его должна позвать обедать, да и быкам пора передохнуть (Искандер 4). It was getting near noon, and the plowman had an ear cocked toward the house: any minute now his wife would be calling him to dinner, and besides it was time to rest the oxen (4a).

В-293 • ВОТ, ВОТ coll [indep. sent] precisely (used to express agreement with the interlocutor's words, occas. with an implication that the speaker has already thought or said the same thing): exactly; that's right; that's just it; [lim.] hear that?; what did I tell you?; there you are.

[Иванов:] Чувствую, что сегодняшнее моё напряжение разрешится чем-нибудь… Или я сломаю что-нибудь, или… [Саша:] Вот, вот, это именно и нужно. Сломай что-нибудь, разбей или закричи (Чехов 4). [I.:] …I'm so tense, I feel something's bound to snap. I'll either smash something or… [S.:] That's right—it's just what you need. Break something, smash things or start shouting (4b). ♦ [Семён:] Приказали прийти? [Леонид Фёдорович:] Да, да… Так вот, дружок, ты так же делай, как давеча, садись и отдавайся чувству. А сам ничего не думай. [Семён:] Чего ж думать? Что думать, то хуже. [Леонид Фёдорович:] Вот, вот, вот (Толстой 3). [S.:] Did you call me? [L.F.:] That's right…. Now, my friend, you'll do just what you did before—sit down and abandon yourself to your feelings. But don't think. [S.:] Why think? It's only worse if you do. [L.F.:] That's just it (3a).

В-294 • ЯДРЁНА ВОШЬ! substand, vulg [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express a very strong emotion—admiration, joy, surprise, indignation etc: well I'll be damned!; hot damn!; (holy) shit ⟨crap⟩!; son of a gun!; for crying out loud!

«Они проскочили! — завопил Кеша. — Проскочили, ядрёна вошь!» И замахал расщеплённым веслом первой лодке (Евтушенко 2). "They made it!" Kesha yelled. "They made it, son of a gun!" And he waved the splintered oar at the first boat (2a).

В-295 • ВПЛОТЬ ДО [Invar; Prep] 1. ~ чего all the way up to (the point in time or space indicated by the noun that follows): right up to; right (up) until.

Вплоть до войны вокзалы были ещё забиты снявшимися с места крестьянами (Мандельштам 1). Right up to the last war, the railroad stations were still crowded with uprooted peasants (1a).

2. ~ кого-чего not barring even (some person, thing, or action): right up to; (up to and) including; (right) down to; on down to; even to the point of.

[Мне] угрожали убийством… устраивали всякие другие провокации (вплоть до того, что моим престарелым родителям объявили однажды, что я погиб) (Войнович 1). I was threatened with death… all sorts of other provocations were made (right up to telling my aged parents that I had been killed) (1a). ♦ «…[Чернышевский] перевёл целую библиотеку, использовал все жанры вплоть до стихов… (Набоков 1). …[Chernyshevsky] translated a whole library, cultivated all genres right down to poetry… (1a).

В-296 • ВПРЕДЬ ДО чего offic [Invar; Prep] for the span of time between the present or the moment indicated, and some subsequent event: until (such time as); up to the time (when ⟨that etc⟩); pending.

Ламуаньон был совершенно вежлив, но в конце разговора на представления «Обманщика» выдать разрешение отказался категорически, впредь до решения этого дела королём (Булгаков 5). Lamoignon was irreproachably cordial, but in the end he categorically refused to grant his permission to perform The Impostor until the King decided the matter (5a).

В-297 • ВО ВРЕД кому-чему [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr)] (sth. is) damaging (for s.o. or sth.): (be) harmful ⟨detrimental, hazardous⟩ to s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; (be) bad ⟨no good⟩ for s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; do s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ harm; do damage to sth.; not do s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ any good; [lim.] (be) unhealthy for s.o.; interfere with.

«Много б-болтаете, подполковник… Честолюбие не д-должно быть во вред делу» (Акунин 5). "You t-talk too much, Lieutenant Colonel… Personal ambition should not interfere with the p-performance of one's duty" (5a).

В-298 • С НЕЗАПА́МЯТНЫХ ВРЕМЁН [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] starting long ago and continuing up until the present (or the moment indicated): from time immemorial; from day one; [lim.] since time immemorial.

В тот год [знаменитый певец] Рой Ройсон отдыхал в Крыму. Ну, отдыхает человек — ничего особенного. Так наши товарищи и туда в Крым проникли к Рой Ройсону и передали, что… у нас с незапамятных времён живут негры (Искандер 4). That year [the celebrated singer] Roy Royson vacationed in the Crimea. Well, a man takes a vacation—nothing special. So our comrades even got to Roy Royson there in the Crimea and informed him that we've had Negroes living here from time immemorial (4a).

В-299 • ВО ВСЕ ВРЕМЕНА́ lit [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] in all periods of time, at all stages of man's existence: in all times; in every time ⟨age⟩; always.

Во все времена существовали и будут существовать богатые и бедные, счастливые и несчастные. There always have been and always will be the rich and the poor, the happy and the unhappy.

В-300 • ПО ВРЕМЕНА́М [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs] sometimes, at varying intervals: from time to time; at times; (every) now and then; now and again; occasionally.

Новый градоначальник заперся в своем кабинете, не ел, не пил и всё что-то скрёб пером. По временам он выбегал в зал, кидал письмоводителю кипу исписанных листков… и вновь скрывался в кабинете (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The new governor shut himself up in his office, did not eat, did not drink, and was always scratching away with his pen. From time to time he ran out to the hall, tossed the scrivener a stack of sheets covered with writing… and again disappeared into his office (1a).

В-301 • ПО ТЕМ ВРЕМЕНА́М [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] pertaining to standards, points of view, customs etc characteristic of a certain period (in the life of a people, state etc): for those times ⟨days⟩; by the standards of the time(s); in those days.

Тридцать рублей в месяц как комендант Цика и столько же как участник ансамбля — неплохие деньги по тем временам, прямо-таки хорошие деньги… (Искандер 3). Thirty rubles a month as superintendent at the CEC, and as much again as a member of the ensemble—not bad money for those times, downright decent money… (3a). ♦ …Центр Магадана выглядел вполне благопристойно, даже по тем временам шикарно… (Аксёнов 6). The center of Magadan… looked thoroughly respectable, and indeed, by the standards of the time, quite splendid… (6a).

В-302 • СО ВРЕ́МЕНЕМ [PrepP; Invar; adv] with the passing of time, subsequently: in time; with time; as time goes by ⟨on⟩; by and by; [in limited contexts, in refer. to future action] given time; in due time; one day.

Со временем буквы, написанные чернильным карандашом, слились, и многих слов вовсе нельзя было разобрать… (Шолохов 5). As time went by, the words scrawled in indelible pencil grew blurred, and many of them became illegible… (5a).

В-303 • ТЕМ ВРЕ́МЕНЕМ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] concurrently with (the action, activity etc mentioned in the preceding context): meanwhile; in the meantime.

У метро Краснопресненская людской поток подхватил Ефима, втянул в подземелье и, сильно помятого, вынес наружу на станции Аэропорт. Тем временем Трёшкин двигался к тому же конечному пункту совершенно иным путём (Войнович 6). At the Krasnaya Presnya metro the stream of humanity caught Yefim, pulled him underground, and ejected him, badly rumpled, at Airport Station. Meanwhile, Vaska [Tryoshkin] was proceeding to the same terminal by a completely different route (6a).

В-304 • В СКО́РОМ ВРЕ́МЕНИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] in the near future: in a short time ⟨while⟩; soon; shortly; before long; [lim.] shortly thereafter.

«…Предупреждаю тебя, милый Родя, как увидишься с ним в Петербурге, что произойдёт в очень скором времени, то не суди

слишком быстро и пылко, как это и свойственно тебе…» (Достоевский 3). "…Let me warn you, dear Rodya, when you see him in St. Petersburg, which you will do in a very short time, don't be too quick and vehement in your judgment, as you usually are…" (3a). ♦ Рассказав затем о пропавшей трёшкинской кошке, Фишкин… прошлепал к себе вниз, а в скором времени на лестнице появился Ефим в дублёнке… (Войнович 6). After telling Yefim about Vaska Tryoshkin's lost cat, Fishkin… shuffled downstairs to his apartment. Shortly thereafter, Yefim appeared in a sheepskin coat… (6a).

В-305 • ДО ВРЕ́МЕНИ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. obs for the meantime, until a moment when the situation changes and some opportunity arises: for the time being; for the present; [lim.] for now; until the time is right.

…С тем убеждением прожил я годы подпольного писательства, что я не один такой сдержанный и хитрый. Что десятков несколько нас таких — замкнутых упорных одиночек… Несколько десятков нас таких, и всем дышать нелегко, но до времени никак нельзя нам открыться даже друг другу (Солженицын 2). …I lived through those years as an underground writer in the conviction that I was not the only aloof and cunning one. That there were dozens of stubborn, self-contained individuals like me…. Yes, dozens and dozens of us, all suffering from lack of air—but for the present it was impossible for us to come out into the open and reveal ourselves even to each other (2a).

2. before the time that is customary, appropriate, or expected under normal circumstances: before one's ⟨its⟩ time; too soon; prematurely; sooner ⟨earlier⟩ than one ⟨it⟩ should; too early; [lim.] ahead of time.

Теперь уже могло показаться странным, но Митишатьев был ещё школьным товарищем Лёвы. Просто Митишатьев до времени полысел и обрюзг (Битов 2). Mitishatyev had been a schoolmate of Lyova's, although by now it was hard to believe. He had gone bald and flabby before his time… (2a).

В-306 • КО ВРЕ́МЕНИ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv] timely, opportunely: on time; in (good) time; at the right ⟨proper⟩ time.

«…Я за час управлюсь, как раз приду ко времени» (Семёнов 1). "I'll be through in an hour and can get there just on time" (1a).

2. Neg НЕ КО ВРЕ́МЕНИ [adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human, abstr, or, rare, concr)] at an inappropriate time; (sth. is) inopportune: (show up at ⟨happen at, choose etc⟩) the wrong ⟨a bad⟩ time; the time is not right for sth.; sth. is untimely; this is not ⟨is hardly⟩ the time (for sth. ⟨to do sth.⟩); it is not the right time (for sth. ⟨to do sth.⟩).

Видя, что Евгений Николаевич собирает книги, Кузьма приподнялся. «Может, я не ко времени?» (Распутин 1). Seeing Evgeny Nikolaevich gather up his books, Kuzma got up as if to go. "I'm afraid I chose the wrong time…" (1a). ♦ [Глафира:] Не к месту… не ко времени разговоры эти (Горький 2). [G.:] This isn't the place… nor the time, for that kind of talk (2b).

В-307 • ОТСТАВА́ТЬ/ОТСТА́ТЬ ОТ ВРЕ́МЕНИ ⟨ОТ ВЕ́КА⟩ [VP; subj: human or abstr] to become or be backward, failing to adapt to changes occurring over time: X отстаёт от времени ≃ X lags ⟨has fallen⟩ behind the times; X can't keep up with the times.; X is not up to date.

Отец… не хотел, чтоб сын его отставал от времени, и пожелал поучить чему-нибудь, кроме мудрёной науки хождения по делам (Гончаров 1). The father… did not want his son to lag behind the times and wished him to learn something besides the tricky business of legal practice (1a). The father… wanted his son to keep up with the times and to learn something besides the abstruse art of legal matters… (1b). ♦ «Кажется, я всё делаю, чтобы не отстать от века: крестьян устроил, ферму завёл, так что даже меня во всей губернии красным величают…» (Тургенев 2). "I seem to do all I can to keep up with the times: I've made arrangements for my peasants, established a farm, with the result that I'm called a "Red" throughout the province…" (2g).

В-308 • РА́НЬШЕ ⟨ПРЕ́ЖДЕ⟩ ВРЕ́МЕНИ; РА́НЬШЕ СРО́КА [AdvP; these forms only; adv] before the time that is customary, appropriate, or to be expected under normal circumstances: before one's ⟨its⟩ time; too soon; prematurely; sooner ⟨earlier⟩ than one ⟨it⟩ should; too early; [lim.] ahead of time.

…В гневе [Пантелей Прокофьевич] доходил до беспамятства и, как видно, этим раньше времени состарил свою когда-то красивую, а теперь сплошь опутанную паутиной морщин, дородную жену (Шолохов 2). In anger he [Pantelei Prokofievich] would go berserk, and it was probably this that had prematurely aged his buxom wife, whose once beautiful face was now a web of wrinkles (2a).

В-309 • (В) ПЕ́РВОЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP or NP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in the beginning, during the initial period (of some activity, process, s.o.'s stay somewhere etc): at first; initially; [lim.] early on; in those ⟨these⟩ first days ⟨weeks etc⟩; in the first days ⟨hours etc⟩ (of sth.).

Одно, что иногда мучило Николая по отношению к его хозяйничанию, это была его вспыльчивость в соединении с его старою гусарскою привычкой давать волю рукам. В первое время он не видел в этом ничего предосудительного, но на второй год своей женитьбы его взгляд на такого рода расправы вдруг изменился (Толстой 7). One thing that plagued Nikolai in connection with his management of the estate was his quick temper together with the old hussar habit of being free with his fists. At first he saw nothing reprehensible in this, but in the second year of his marriage his opinion of this sort of chastisement suddenly changed (7a).

В-310 • (В) ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP or NP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in the period immediately preceding (and often including) the present: recently; lately; of late; latterly; [lim.] over ⟨during⟩ the last ⟨past⟩ few weeks ⟨months⟩.

В последнее время у него был довольно мрачный вид, но здесь, в горах, он сумел сбросить свои заботы и заметно повеселел (Искандер 4). Lately he had been looking rather grim, but here in the mountains he had managed to throw off his worries and had brightened noticeably (4a). ♦ …Князь Василью нужно было решить дела с Пьером, который… последнее время проводил целые дни дома, то есть у князя Василья, у которого он жил… (Толстой 4). …Prince Vasili had to settle matters with Pierre, who… had latterly spent whole days at home, that is in Prince Vasili's house where he was staying… (4b).

В-311 • В СВОЁ ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. at some time in the past, formerly: in one's ⟨its⟩ time ⟨day⟩; at one time; there was a time when…; at one point; [lim.] in its own time ⟨day⟩.

«А чудаковат у тебя дядя», — говорил Аркадию Базаров… «Да ведь ты не знаешь, — ответил Аркадий, — ведь он львом был в своё время» (Тургенев 2). "A bit of an eccentric, your uncle," said Bazarov to Arkady…. "Ah, but you don't know," replied Arkady. "You see he was a society lion in his time" (2e). ♦ Ведь если б статья была в своё время опубликована, то не в вашей власти было бы ограждать читателя от знакомства с ней… (Битов 2). After all, if the article had been published in its own day, you wouldn't be in a position to shield the reader from an acquaintance with it… (2a).

2. [usu. used with verbs in pfv fut] at the appropriate time, when it becomes necessary: in due time ⟨course⟩; (all) in good time; when the ⟨one's, its⟩ time comes.

«Он [император] шёл с Родзянко и, проходя мимо меня… сказал по-английски: «„Вот моя славная гвардия. Ею в своё время я побью карту Вильгельма“» (Шолохов 2). "He [the Emperor] came in with Rodzyanko and as he passed he… said in English, 'These are my gallant guardsmen. In due course I'll use them to trump Wilhelm's card'" (2a). ♦ Вощев поглядел на людей и решил кое-как жить, раз они терпят и живут: он вместе с ними произошёл и умрёт в своё время неразлучно с людьми (Платонов 1). Voshchev glanced at the men and decided to live somehow, since they also endured and lived: he came into the world with them, and he would die when his time came inseparably from them (1a).

В-312 • В ТО ВРЕ́МЯ КАК lit [subord Conj] 1. [contrastive-concessive] while at the same time: whereas; while; [lim.] although; even though.

Какое ему [Орозкулу] было дело до этого дурацкого портфеля, до этого брошенного родителями мальчишки, племянника жены, если сам он был так обижен судьбой, если бог не дал ему сына собственного, своей крови, в то время как другим дарит детей щедро, без счёта?.. (Айтматов 1). What did he [Orozkul] care about that stupid schoolbag, about that brat abandoned by his parents, when he himself was so wronged by life, when God didn't see fit to grant him a son of his own, his own flesh and blood, while others were blessed with all the children they could want (1a).

2. [temporal] during the time that: while; when.

В то время как глуповцы с тоскою перешептывались… к сборищу незаметно подъехали столь известные обывателям градоначальнические дрожки (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). While the Foolovites were whispering among themselves in anguish… the gubernatorial carriage which the townsfolk knew so well drove up to the gathering unnoticed (1a).

В-313 • В ТО́ ЖЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; when used after Conj «но», «но и», and, in some contexts, «и», emphasizes contrast; fixed WO] (some action, event etc occurs) simultaneously with another previously mentioned one, (some quality, feeling etc is present in s.o. or sth.) along with another previously mentioned one (a contrast may be implied): at the same time; simultaneously; at once; [when the English equivalent is placed before the first of the two connected phrases or clauses] while; [only when a contrast is implied] (and) yet.

Дядя Сандро был рад… что ему не изменило его тогда ещё только брезжащее чутьё на возможности гостеприимства, заложенные в малознакомых людях. Впоследствии… он это чутьё развил до степени абсолютного слуха, что отчасти позволило ему стать знаменитым в наших краях тамадой, так сказать, самой весёлой и в то же время самой печальной звездой на небосклоне свадебных и поминальных пиршеств (Искандер 3). Uncle Sandro was happy… that his already sensitive nose for the possibilities of finding hospitality among people he barely knew had not betrayed him. In later years… he developed this sense to the point of absolute pitch. It was largely responsible for his becoming a celebrated tamada, or toastmaster, in our part of the world—at once the merriest and the saddest star, as it were, in the firmament of marriage and funeral feasts (3a).

В-314 • ВО ВРЕ́МЯ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] over the course of (sth.), at some point in the course of: during; at the time of; when there is ⟨are⟩…; [lim.] on; as; in.

Во время его выступления несколько раз его перебивали с места наши местные патриоты… (Искандер 4). During his speech he was interrupted several times from the floor by our local patriots… (4a). ♦ Чего не скажешь в запале, особенно во время войны! (Рыбаков 1). …You say all sorts of things in the heat of the moment, especially in wartime (1a).

В-315 • ВО ВРЕ́МЯ О́НО ⟨ВО ВРЕМЕНА́ О́НЫ obs⟩ lit, often humor or iron; В О́НЫ ДНИ́ obs, now humor [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO (variants with время, времена)] at some time in the (distant) past, very long ago: in (the) days of yore; in days of old; in the olden days; in olden times; in bygone days; in days gone by; [lim.] once upon a time.

…Слог его лился свободно и местами выразительно и красноречиво, как в «оны дни», когда он мечтал со Штольцем о трудовой жизни, о путешествии (Гончаров 1). …He wrote freely, at times even eloquently and expressively, as in "the days of yore" when he had shared Stolz's dream of a life of work and travel (1b).

В-316 • ВРЕ́МЯ — ДЕ́НЬГИ [saying] time is valuable, it should not be spent frivolously: time is money.

В-317 • ВРЕ́МЯ ⟨ДЕ́ЛО⟩ НЕ ТЕ́РПИТ ⟨НЕ ЖДЁТ⟩ [VP_{subj}; pres only (variants with терпит); fixed WO] (used in refer. to some urgent matter that should be handled without delay) s.o. should not procrastinate, s.o. must act immediately: (there is) no time to lose ⟨to waste⟩; time is running out; time is (running) short; it can't ⟨won't⟩ wait; the matter is of the utmost urgency; [lim.] time waits ⟨time and tide wait⟩ for no man.

[Дононов:] Когда официально будем оформляться? [Павел Михайлович:] Время не терпит, хоть сегодня (Погодин 1). [D.:] When will we officially fill out the papers? [P.M.:] No time to lose; today if possible (1a). ♦ Описывать свои злоключения в ремстройконторе не буду, они знакомы каждому… «Ждите», — говорят. Ждать-то нам не впервой, но время, как говорится, не ждёт (Войнович 3). I shall not describe my misadventures at the maintenance and construction department, everyone knows what that's like…. "Wait," they said. Well, it wouldn't be the first time we waited, but time, as they say, waits for no man (3a).

В-318 • ВРЕ́МЯ ОТ ВРЕ́МЕНИ; ОТ ВРЕ́МЕНИ ДО ВРЕ́МЕНИ obs [these forms only; sent adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] sometimes, at variable intervals: from time to time; (every) now and then; now and again; every so often; (every) once in a while; on occasion; occasionally.

Время от времени ворота открываются, и во двор, рыча и переваливаясь, вползают грузовики с грузом, выползают без груза (Грекова 2). Every now and then the gates swing open to allow a loaded lorry to enter, snorting and lurching, or an empty lorry to emerge (2a).

В-319 • ВРЕ́МЯ РАБО́ТАЕТ на кого [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] the passing of time will benefit s.o.'s situation, cause etc, after a time s.o. will win out, prove himself correct etc: время работает на X-а ≃ time is on X's side; X has time on his side.

В ближайшие месяцы всё выяснится, время работает на нас… (Искандер 6). In a very few months we shall see for ourselves; time is on our side… (6a).

В-320 • ВРЕ́МЯ ⟨ДЕ́ЛО⟩ ТЕ́РПИТ [VP_{subj}; pres only: fixed WO] there is still time remaining (to undertake, decide, set about doing sth. etc), haste is not necessary: there is still (plenty of) time; there is no (particular) hurry; there is no rush; it can wait.

О дороге, о мостах писал он, что время терпит, что мужики охотнее предпочитают переваливаться через гору и через овраг до торгового села, чем работать над устройством новой дороги и мостов (Гончаров 1). With regard to the road and bridges, he wrote that there was no particular hurry, since the peasants preferred going over the hill and through the ravine to the village where the market was held to working on the construction of a new road and bridges (1b).

В-321 • ВСЁ ВРЕ́МЯ [NP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] incessantly, repeatedly: all the time; always; constantly; continually; at all times; [lim.] keep ⟨never stop⟩ (doing sth.); in constant (fear ⟨expectation, denial etc⟩); [when another concurrent action is specified or implied] the whole time; all the while.

В обоих отделениях столовой кухня была отделена от общего зала стеклянной перегородкой, чтобы неряхи-повара всё время были на виду у рабочих (Искандер 3). In each department of the dining room, the kitchen was divided from the public hall by a glass partition so that the slovenly cooks were within the workers' view at all times (3a). ♦ «Кончаю, т.к. пишу при скверной, трещащей, хотя и добытой по блату свечке — в этом Богом забытом ужасном „городе“ почему-то всё время перебои с керосином» (Чудаков 1). [context translation] I close this now, since I'm writing by the light of a wretched, sputtering candle that I had to exploit connections to get. For some reason there's a chronic shortage of kerosene in this horrible, godforsaken "city" (1a).

В-322 • ВСЕ́МУ ⟨ВСЁ В⟩ СВОЁ ВРЕ́МЯ [saying] one should not rush things or show undue impatience, things should be done when the time is appropriate: ≃ everything in its season ⟨in its own good time⟩; all in good time.

Помяните моё слово, пройдёт немного времени, и всё, о чём вы, молодые, мечтаете, разрешат. Всему своё время (Зиновьев 1). Just mark my words: it won't be much longer before everything that all you young chaps dream about will be permitted. Everything in its own good time (1a).

В-323 • ВЫЙГРЫВАТЬ/ВЫИГРАТЬ ВРЕ́МЯ [VP; subj: human or collect] to gain time by using dilatory tactics (hoping that a more opportune time to do sth. will arise, in order to allow o.s. more time to accomplish sth. etc): X выигрывает время ≃ X is playing ⟨stalling⟩ for time; X is buying time; || X-у надо выиграть время ≃ X needs to gain time.

…Выигрывая время, Каледин закончил совещание ходом на оттяжку: «Донское правительство обсудит предложение ревкома и в письменной форме даст ответ к десяти часам утра назавтра» (Шолохов 3). …Playing for time, Kaledin closed the proceedings with a further delaying move. "The Don Government will discuss the Revolutionary Committee's proposal and an answer will be given in writing by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning" (3a).

В-324 • ДЕ́ТСКОЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom only (subj: a phrase denoting a point in time) or VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$] (said at some point in the evening or night to encourage s.o. to stay longer at one's place, to engage in some activity, not to go to bed yet etc) it is early, even children are still awake: it's still early; it's too early; the night is (still) young.

«Сейчас… 12 часов, для нас с тобой это детское время, а позвонить сейчас простому человеку, такому, как эта девица — значит обидеть её» (Лимонов 1). "…It's twelve o'clock. The night is young for you and me, but it would be an insult to go calling up an ordinary person like that girl" (1a).

В-325 • НА ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP; Invar; adv] for a limited time: for a while; for a time; temporarily; [lim.] for the time being; for the nonce; || давать ⟨брать⟩ что ~ ≃ give ⟨take⟩ sth. on loan.

Со свойственной ему практичностью он живо прикинул возможные последствия — на тот случай, если бы Лизка подняла шум. Во-первых, забудь на время дорогу в Пекашино… (Абрамов 1). With his customary pragmatism he quickly assessed the possible consequences in the event that Lizka should raise a stink. First of all, he could forget about visits to Pekashino for a while (1a).

В-326 • НА ПЕ́РВОЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] for the initial period (of some undertaking, project etc), for the beginning period (of a longer span of time): for starters; to start with; for the first little while; [in refer. to the present and immediate future only] for the time being; for now.

«Не перейти ли мне во флигель, Николай Петрович?» — «Это зачем?» — «Я думаю, не лучше ли будет на первое время» (Тургенев 2). "Hadn't I better move back to the wing, Nikolai Petrovich?" "What for?" "I was thinking it would be best for the time being" (2a).

В-327 • ОДНО́ ВРЕ́МЯ [NP; Invar; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] there was a time when: at one time ⟨point⟩; for a ⟨some⟩ time; for a while; once.

«Акселерация? Это что-то связанное с преждевременным созреванием? Слыхал. Об этом одно время шумели…» (Стругацкие 1). "Acceleration? That's something connected with premature maturation, isn't it? I've heard about it. At one time there was a lot of talk on the topic" (1a).

В-328 • СА́МОЕ ВРЕ́МЯ [NP; Invar; usu. impers predic with быть$_{ø}$,; foll. by infin; fixed WO] (it is) the appropriate moment (to do sth.): самое время (X-у) делать Y ≃ now is ⟨this might be etc⟩ the right ⟨the perfect, the very, an ideal etc⟩ time (for X) to do Y; this is ⟨that might be etc⟩ the ideal ⟨a perfect etc⟩ moment (for X) to do Y; now etc is (just) the time (for X) to do Y; the time is right (for X) to do Y; if ever there was a time (for X) to do Y, this is it.

…Я уезжаю с Юркой на юг! Он сказал вчера, что мы с ним поедем. Если меня отпустят… И если — самое главное! — тётя Муза разрешит мне. Я вчера робела поговорить с тётей Музой. А сейчас мы обе торопимся на работу и самое время поговорить (Михайловская 1). …Yuri and I are going to the south! He told me yesterday that we would go. If they will let me off…. And if—most important of all—Aunt Musa gives me her permission. Yesterday I hesitated to talk to Aunt Musa. Now we are both in a hurry to go to work and this might be the right time to talk (1a).

В-329 • ТЯНУ́ТЬ ВРЕ́МЯ [VP; subj: human or collect] to use delaying tactics (in bringing sth. about): X тянет время ≃ X is stalling (for time); X is dragging it out; X is dragging his feet; X is temporizing; X is taking his (sweet) time; [lim.] X is playing for time; || Neg чтобы не тянуть время ≃ (in order) to save time; so as not to waste time.

В-330 • УБИВА́ТЬ/УБИ́ТЬ ВРЕ́МЯ coll [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. to spend time doing nothing important, occupying o.s. with trifles: X убивает время ≃ X fritters away the time; X wastes his time on trifles.

2. to (try to) make some period of time pass quickly, fill up some period of time (often one's leisure time) with some activity (so as not to be bored etc): X убивал время ≃ X killed time; X passed the time.

«Время-то надо убить, правда? В дороге шахматы — милое дело», — добродушно приговаривал Г.О., расставляя фигуры (Аксёнов 9). "We've got to kill time, right?… you can't beat a game of chess on a trip," G.O. chatted as he arranged the chessmen (9a).

В-331 • ВРИ, ДА НЕ ЗАВИРА́ЙСЯ coll [imper sent; fixed WO] when lying, at least know when to stop: if you're going to lie, at least make it good; come on, at least make your lies believable; aren't you going overboard ⟨a bit too far⟩?

«Ты почему опять пропустил занятия?» — «У нас пожар был…» — «Слушай, ты ври, да не завирайся! Три пожара за две недели — не много ли?» "Why did you cut classes again?" "We had a fire…" "Look, if you're going to lie, at least make it good! Three fires in the space of two weeks—isn't that too much?"

В-332 • ВРО́ДЕ БЫ ⟨КАК coll⟩ 1. [subord Conj; introduces a compar clause] used to convey the hypothetical, provisional nature of a comparison; the var. вроде как may also be used to convey the approximate nature of a comparison: as if ⟨though⟩; (just) like.

Кузьма Кузьмич упёрся — не пробьёшь. Головой кивает, вроде бы сочувствует, а губы поджал — значит, при своём мнении! (Абрамов 1). Kuzma Kuzmich dug in his heels, and nothing would budge him. He nodded his head as if he sympathized, but his lips were pursed, meaning, I'm sticking to my guns! (1a).

2. [Particle] used to express doubt or uncertainty as to the reliability of a statement or to tone down, moderate a statement: seemingly; it seems ⟨appears⟩; it would seem ⟨appear⟩; [lim.] (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) seems ⟨appears⟩ (to); sort of; rather; you ⟨one⟩ would think; [when the reliability of the source of information is in doubt] supposedly; allegedly.

Этот вроде бы не очень грамотный старик знает историю Армении, как биографию соседей по улице (Искандер 5). This seemingly illiterate old man knew the history of Armenia like the biography of a neighbor down the street (5a). ♦ [Кушак:] …Она [жена] там одна, а я в гости… веселиться… Ведь это… мм… неэтично вроде бы (Вампилов 5). [K.:] …She's [my wife is] all alone there, and I go out enjoying myself… It's… sort of… unethical (5a). [K.:] …She's [my wife is] there alone, whereas I'm with friends, having a good time… That's… umm… rather unethical (5b).

В-333 • ВРЯД ⟨НАВРЯ́Д coll, ЕДВА́⟩ ЛИ [Particle] it is dubious: it is doubtful ⟨unlikely, hardly likely⟩ (that…); probably (…) not; I doubt it; I doubt if ⟨whether⟩…; [lim.] hardly; scarcely.

Не знаю, жив ли он сейчас. Вряд ли (Гинзбург 2). I don't know whether he's alive now. It's hardly likely (2a). ♦ «Ну как, сдадим к празднику объект?» — «Вряд ли» (Войнович 5). "So, how about it, we'll hand over the building by the holiday?" "I doubt it" (5a). ♦ …«Видному лицу» такое высокомерие к новому любимчику вряд ли понравится (Аксёнов 7). The Important Personage would scarcely countenance an overbearing attitude towards his new favorite (7a).

В-334 • ВОТ И ВСЁ; И ВСЁ both coll [sent; these forms only; usu. the concluding clause in a compound sent; fixed WO] and this concludes the matter, there is nothing else to add (to what has been said, done, or enumerated): (and) that's it ⟨that, final⟩; (and) that's all there is to it; (and) that's the end of it ⟨that⟩.

[Алексей:] Я не останусь. [Андрей:] Останешься, и всё (Розов 1). [Aleksei:] I'm not staying. [Andrei:] You are staying with us, and that's final (1a). ♦ [Платонов:] Я погубил тебя, вот и всё! Да и не тебя одну… (Чехов 1). [P.:] I've ruined you, and that's all there is to it. And not only you (1a).

В-335 • ВСЁ ЖЕ [Particle; often after contrastive Conj «но» or «а» or Conj «и»] notwithstanding or in contrast to some expressed or implied circumstance, fact, event etc: all the same; still; (and) yet; nevertheless; nonetheless; even so; still and all; [lim.] X did do sth. ⟨has done sth. etc⟩; at any rate.

[Маша:] Я вам по совести: если бы он [Константин] ранил себя серьёзно, то я не стала бы жить ни одной минуты. А всё же я храбрая. Вот взяла и решила: вырву эту любовь из своего сердца, с корнем вырву (Чехов 6). [M.:] I'll tell you honestly: if he'd [Konstantin had] hurt himself seriously, I wouldn't have gone on living, not for one minute. But all the same I've got courage. So I up and decided: I'll rip this love right out of my heart, rip it out by the roots (6c). ♦ …Он [дядя Сандро] стал просить помочь ему выхлопотать пенсию… «Дядя Сандро, — сказал я, — но ведь у вас нет трудового стажа»… Между прочим, пенсию он всё же получил той же зимой (Искандер 3). …He [Uncle Sandro] began asking for help in wangling a pension…. "Uncle Sandro," I said, "you don't have any work record."… By the way, he did receive a pension, that very winter (3a).

В-336 • ВСЕ ⟨ВСЁ⟩ И ВСЯ [NP; subj or obj; вся is Invar; usu. this WO] all people and things without exception: everyone and everything; all and sundry.

…Такое отношение к окружающим, как у Гартвига — тайная насмешливость надо всем и вся, — приводит меня в ярость (Трифонов 5). …The sort of attitude that Gartvig has—his secret mockery of everyone and everything—makes me furious (5a).

В-337 • ВСЁ РАВНО́ [Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ (кому). Also: ВСЁ ОДНО́ ⟨ЕДИ́НО⟩ substand [subj-compl with copula (subj: это or a clause) or impers predic with copula] (may refer to the subjective reaction, desire etc of the person involved, or to objective reality) (the difference, if any, between two or more expressed or implied options is) unimportant (to s.o.), of little or no significance (to s.o.): X-у всё равно ≃ it's all the same (to X); it comes to the same thing; it doesn't make any difference (to X); it doesn't matter (to X); X doesn't care; [lim.] X is past caring.

Будет говорить русский? Не всё ли равно? Пусть (Федин 1). A Russian will speak? Isn't it all the same? Let him (1a). ♦ «История показала, что специалисты могут ошибаться. Партия — никогда». По бесстрастному лицу помощника Марлен Михайлович понял, что в этот момент он слегка пережал, прозвучал слегка — не-совсем-в-ту-степь, но ему как-то уже было всё равно (Аксёнов 7). "History has shown that experts make mistakes. The Party never makes mistakes." The blank face of the Important Personage's assistant told him [Marlen Mikhailovich] that this time he had gone a bit too far, but by now he was past caring (7a).

2. Also: ВСЁ ОДНО́ ⟨ЕДИ́НО⟩ substand [adv] under any circumstances, regardless of what happens: in any case ⟨event⟩; whatever happens; [lim.] one way or another; anyway; all the same; [with a negated verb] there is no way (that s.o. will do sth. ⟨that sth. will happen etc⟩).

Когда Маяна выходила замуж, городской родственник тайно, через людей передал подарок для Маяны… Подарок… был богатый, и тётя Маша… переправила его дочери. Дочка не приняла ничего, велев передать матери, что туфли ей… малы, а подарок она всё равно брать не будет (Искандер 4). …When Mayana got married, the city relative secretly sent a present for her, through other people…. It was a rich gift, and Aunt Masha… forwarded it to her daughter. The daughter accepted nothing, returning a message to her mother that the shoes were too small for her, and she would not take the present in any case (4a).

3. [Particle] despite some (indicated or implied) circumstances: all the same; nevertheless; nonetheless; still.

Кладбище напоминало карликовый город… Возле нескольких могил стояли табуретки с вином и закуской… Я знал, что это такой обычай, приносить на могилу еду и питьё, но всё равно сделалось ещё страшнее (Искандер 6). The cemetery resembled a city of dwarfs…. I noticed several small stools on which food and wine had been placed…. I had heard of the custom of offering up food and drink to the dead, but nonetheless the sight of these stools frightened me all the more (6a).

В-338 • ВСЁ РАВНО́ ⟨ОДНО́⟩ ЧТО ⟨КАК⟩… [these forms only; used as compar Conj] similar or equivalent to: (just) like; (just) the same as; [lim.] as good ⟨bad, pleasant etc⟩ as; no better than.

«Отправить жену в ночь с ружьём — всё равно что отправить её в ночь с чужим мужчиной» (Искандер 5). “Sending a woman out into the night with a gun is the same as sending her out into the night with a strange man” (5a). ♦ …Не хватило у него [Валентинова] стойкости против Мартова, а значит стал всё равно как и меньшевик (Солженицын 5). …He [Valentinov] had lacked the stamina to stand up to Martov and had become no better than a Menshevik himself (5a).

В-339 • ЗА ВСЁ ПРО ВСЁ coll [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ругать, бранить, наказывать и т.п. кого ~ [adv] (to scold, punish etc s.o.) for everything possible, for all sorts of things: for everything under the sun; for anything and everything; for everything imaginable.

2. ~ заплатить, (от)дать и т.п. кому что; наказание ~ [prep obj] (to pay the named amount of money, receive the named extent of punishment etc) for everything in total (that one has bought, done etc): for everything altogether; for all of it (together).

В-340 • И ВСЁ ТАКО́Е (ПРО́ЧЕЕ*) coll* [NP; fixed WO] and other similar things (used at the end of an enumeration to indicate that it could be extended to include similar objects or phenomena): and so on (and so forth ⟨on⟩); and so forth; and all that; and things of that sort; and the ⟨such⟩ like; et cetera; etc.; and whatnot; and what have you; and all that sort of thing; and (all) the rest; and more of the same; and so on in the same vein; and more to that effect.

В-341 • И ВСЁ ТУТ coll [sent; Invar; usu. the concluding clause in a compound sent; fixed WO] there is nothing more to be said or done, there is nothing to talk about (used after a statement, order etc to emphasize its finality): and that’s that; and that’s all there is to it; [lim.] nothing else ⟨nothing but a [NP]⟩ (will do ⟨will satisfy s.o. etc⟩); [when a threat is implied] …or else.

«Главный врач мне приказал с ним сидеть, потому что он, то есть Росшепер, без меня не мог. Не мог — и всё тут. Ничего не мог. Даже помочиться» (Стругацкие 1). “The head doctor ordered me to sit with him because he, that is, Rosheper, couldn’t manage without me. He couldn’t, and that’s that. He couldn’t do anything. Even urinate” (1a). ♦ «Взяли и тятю моего за грудки: пишись [в колхоз] и всё тут!» (Максимов 2). “They grabbed hold of my dad and told him to sign on [to join the collective farm] or else” (2a).

В-342 • НА ВСЁ ПРО ВСЁ оставить, осталось, иметь, нужно и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to leave s.o., be left with, have, need etc the named amount of money, objects etc) to cover all one’s or s.o.’s needs, expenses etc: (all) in all; altogether; all told.

В-343 • НЕ ВСЁ ЖЕ кому что делать [Particle] s.o. should not or cannot continue doing what he is doing indefinitely (may focus on his need to make a change in the future, on the fact that he spends too much time engaging in the given activity etc), some phenomenon cannot continue indefinitely or happen all the time: не всё же X-у делать Y ≃ X can’t go on doing Y forever; thing X can’t go on ⟨continue⟩ forever; [with the focus on spending too much time on one activity] person X can’t ⟨shouldn’t⟩ spend all his time doing Y; || не всё же дождю ⟨снегу и т.п.⟩ идти ≃ it can’t go on raining ⟨snowing etc⟩ forever.

[Колесов:] Итак, дома ты не ночевала… В первый раз? [Таня:] Да, в первый раз. [Колесов:] Ну что ж. В конце концов не всё же тебе ночевать дома (Вампилов 3). [K.:] So, you didn’t spend the night at home…. For the first time? [T.:] Yes, for the first time. [K.:] Well…. You can’t go on spending the night at home forever, after all (3b).

В-344 • ВСЕГО́-НА́ВСЕГО ⟨ВСЕГО́-НА́ВСЕ obs⟩ [AdvP; these forms only; used as a restr marker] merely, and nothing more: only; just; no more than; nothing but; at (the) most; [when used as an indep. sent] that’s all (there is to it).

…У бедного Петруся всего-навсего была одна серая свитка… (Гоголь 5). …Poor Petro had only one gray jacket… (5a). ♦ Вот опять нам пришло на ум уотергейтское дело. Кто из нас, следивших за его перипетиями по передачам зарубежного радио, не приходил в изумление! Боже мой, из-за чего весь сыр-бор? Президент величайшей страны собирается кого-то подслушать. Всего-навсего (Войнович 3). Once again the Watergate affair comes to mind. Who among us, following its peripeteia on the foreign radio broadcasts, was not amazed? My heavens, what was all the commotion about? The President of the greatest country on earth wanted to eavesdrop on someone. That’s all there was to it (3a).

В-345 • ВСЕГО́ НИЧЕГО́ (кого-чего) coll [NP; Invar; quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/nom or gen: human, abstr, or concr) or adv (quantif); fixed WO] very little, very few: practically ⟨almost⟩ nothing ⟨none, no…⟩ (at all); practically ⟨almost, next to⟩ nothing ⟨none, no…⟩; nothing ⟨none, no…⟩ to speak of; hardly anything ⟨any…⟩.

[Алёна:] У шампанского есть одна особенность. Когда наливают, кажется, что через край, а осядет пена — оказывается, всего ничего, на донышке… (Панова 1). [A.:] There’s a special thing about champagne. When it’s poured, you think it will spill over, but when the foam has settled, it turns out that there's practically nothing, only a little on the bottom… (1a).

В-346 • ПРЕ́ЖДЕ ВСЕГО́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr) or obj-compl with ставить (obj: abstr)] (sth. is) most important, more important than anything else: X — прежде всего ≃ X is ⟨person Y sets X⟩ above all else; X before everything; X comes first; X matters most.

Полковник был утомлён дорожными лишениями, однообразным степным пейзажем, скучными разговорами и всем сложным комплексом обязанностей представителя великой державы, но интересы королевской службы—прежде всего! (Шолохов 5). The colonel had been wearied by the hardships of travel, the monotonous steppe scenery, the tedious conversation and all the other complex duties of a representative of a great power, but he set the interests of His Majesty's service above all else (5a).

2. [sent adv] first in order or priority, before all else: first of all; above all; first and foremost; first; [in limited contexts] the first thing to do is…

…Глуповцам это дело не прошло даром. Как и водится, бригадирские грехи прежде всего отразились на них (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The affair was not without consequence for the Foolovites…. As usual, the brigadier's sins were visited first of all upon them (1a). ♦ …Давая оценку той или иной женщине или девушке, абхазцы вообще, а чегемцы в особенности, прежде всего ценят это качество [степень лёгкости, с которой женщина обслуживает свой дом и особенно гостей] (Искандер 5). …When appraising some woman or girl, Abkhazians in general and Chegemians in particular prize this quality [the degree of lightness with which a woman served her household and especially her guests] above all (5a).

3. [sent adv] predominantly, basically: primarily; chiefly; mainly; most of all; more than anything else.

Когда говорят о цензуре, то имеют в виду прежде всего специальное учреждение, Главлит… (Войнович 1). When people speak of censorship, they're primarily referring to a special institution, Glavlit… (1a).

В-347 • СВЕРХ ВСЕГО́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] in addition to all the rest: on top of everything (else); on top of it all; to top it all off; in addition to everything else.

«…Лучше шампанского подавай, долг на тебе, сама знаешь!» — «Вправду долг. Ведь я, Алёша, ему за тебя шампанского сверх всего обещала, коль тебя приведёт» (Достоевский 1). "You'd better bring us champagne, you owe it to me, you know!" "It's true, I owe it to him. I promised him champagne, Alyosha, on top of everything else, if he brought you to me" (1a).

В-348 • ПРИ ВСЁМ (ПРИ) ТОМ coll; СО ⟨ЗА⟩ ВСЕМ ТЕМ obs, coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] notwithstanding sth.: (but) for all that; nonetheless; in spite of that ⟨there being etc⟩; regardless of that ⟨there being etc⟩; (and) yet.

Услышав, что даже издержки по купчей он [Чичиков] принимает на себя, Плюшкин заключил, что гость должен быть совершенно глуп… При всём том он однако ж не мог скрыть своей радости… (Гоголь 3). Hearing that Chichikov was even taking the expenses of the deed of purchase on himself, Plyushkin concluded that his visitor must be an utter fool…. For all that, he could not conceal his joy… (3a).

В-349 • ПО ВСЕМУ́ видно, выходит, ясно и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; the resulting phrase is indep. clause or sent adv (parenth)] judging by all available signs, outward manifestations etc: to ⟨by⟩ all appearances; by all indications; judging by all appearances; (judging) by what one can tell; it looks like; as far as one can see ⟨tell⟩; it seems clear enough ⟨pretty clear⟩; [lim.] obviously.

Чонкин, по всему выходило, вроде даже в каком-то лучшем положении, чем другие. Вроде как бронёй защищён он от фронта тюремными стенами (Войнович 4). To all appearances Chonkin was in a better position than other men. As if he were protected from the front by the armor of prison walls (4a).

В-350 • ВО ВСЕОРУ́ЖИИ lit [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect) or sent adv] 1. (one is) completely ready (for sth.): fully armed; fully ⟨totally⟩ prepared; fully equipped; all ⟨quite⟩ ready.

…Крестьянская реформа не только не застигла его врасплох, как других, но, напротив того, он встретил её во всеоружии и сразу сумел поставить своё хозяйство на новую ногу (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). …The peasant reform did not catch him unawares as it did the others. On the contrary, he was quite ready for it, meeting it fully armed, as it were, and he was able to reorganize his farm immediately in accordance with the new requirements of the time (2a).

2. ~ чего possessing sth. (knowledge, talent etc) to a very high degree: with a full arsenal of; fully ⟨well-⟩ equipped with; || ~ знаний ≃ in full command ⟨with a full mastery⟩ of the facts ⟨the subject⟩.

В-351 • ВСЕРЬЁЗ И НАДО́ЛГО coll, often humor [AdvP; Invar; usu. adv; fixed WO] for a long period of time and in a serious, fundamental etc way: for a good, long while ⟨time⟩; [lim.] (sth. is) not easily or quickly remedied ⟨fixed⟩; with no end in sight.

Похоже, что экономический спад затянулся всерьёз и надолго. It looks like the recession will last for a good long time. ♦ «Далее вспомним историю с мифическим Али-беем, у которого д'Эвре якобы брал интервью. Это „интервью" обошлось нам в две тысячи убитых, и теперь русская армия застряла под Плевной уже всерьёз и надолго» (Акунин 5). "Well, then, to continue, let us recall the story of the mythical Ali-bei, whom Paladin supposedly interviewed. That 'interview' has cost us two thousand dead, and now the Russian army is bogged down at Plevna with no end in sight" (5a).

В-352 • ВО ВСЕУСЛЫ́ШАНИЕ заявить, объявить что и т.п. lit [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to declare, announce sth.) so that everyone can hear it, in order to make it common knowledge: for all (the world) to hear; for everyone to hear; to anyone who cares to listen; publicly.

Он во всеуслышанье заявил… что прекрасно помнит Тендела ещё в те времена, когда тот имел вполне приличный (для своего рода), ничем не повреждённый нос (Искандер 3). He said for all to hear… that he well remembered Tendel in the days when he had a perfectly decent nose (for his clan), in no way damaged (3a).

< The word «всеуслышание» is used in this idiom only.

В-353 • ВСЕХ И КА́ЖДОГО; ВСЕМ И КА́ЖДОМУ [NP; these forms only; obj; fixed WO] absolutely everyone without exception: anyone and everyone; anybody and everybody; one and all; all and sundry; each and every one; everybody ⟨everyone⟩ under the sun; everybody ⟨everyone⟩ and his uncle ⟨brother⟩. Cf. every Tom, Dick, and Harry.

…[Помощник градоначальника] приступил к дознанию, и в то же время всем и каждому наказал хранить по этому предмету глубочайшую тайну… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …He [the assistant town governor] set in motion an inquiry, and at the same time bade one and all to maintain the deepest secrecy on the subject… (1a). ♦ Матвей Ильич был настоящим «героем праздника», губернский предводитель объявлял всем и каждому, что он приехал собственно из уважения к нему… (Тургенев 2). Matvey Il'ich was the true hero of the hour. The Marshal of the Nobility informed all and sundry that he had consented to come out of respect for him (2e).

В-354 • ВСЛЕД ЗА кем-чем [Invar; Prep] (immediately) coming after s.o. or sth. (in time or space): (right) after; on the heels of; [lim.] in s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ wake; [in refer. to space] (right) behind; [with verbs of motion] follow (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) (in ⟨out etc⟩); followed by.

…Щащико вдруг остановился, к чему-то прислушался и с криком «Ложись!» сам бросился на землю. Дядя Сандро шлёпнулся вслед за ним… (Искандер 3). …Shashiko suddenly stopped, listened to something, and with the cry "Get down!" threw himself to the ground. Uncle Sandro flopped down after him… (3a). ♦ Тальберг… глянул на часы и неожиданно добавил: «Елена, пойдём-ка на пару слов…» Елена торопливо ушла вслед за ним на половину Тальбергов в спальню… (Булгаков 3). Talberg… glanced at his watch an added unexpectedly: "Elena, I must have a word with you in our room…" Elena hastily followed him out into the bedroom in the Talbergs' half of the apartment… (3a).

В-355 • ВСЛЕД ЗА ТЕ́М [AdvP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] following that which precedes in time: after that; next.

…В 1812 году французами одержана победа под Москвой, Москва взята, и вслед за тем, без новых сражений, не Россия перестала существовать, а перестала существовать шестисоттысячная армия, потом наполеоновская Франция (Толстой 7). …In 1812, the French win a victory near Moscow. Moscow is taken, and after that, with no further battles, it is not Russia that ceases to exist, but the French army of six hundred thousand, and then Napoleonic France itself (7a).

В-356 • КТО РА́НО ВСТАЁТ, ТОМУ́ БОГ (ПО)ДАЁТ [saying] he who rises early and acts without delay enjoys success: ≃ the early bird catches the worm.

Я уж и не помню, как Дегтярёв отвёл меня спать на топчане… Чуть свет он уже тормошил: «На базар, на базар! Кто рано встаёт, тому бог подаёт!» (Кузнецов 1). I can't even remember how Degtyarev got me to my makeshift cot…. He shook me awake when it was barely light outside. "To the bazaar, to the bazaar! The early bird catches the worm!" (1a).

В-357 • КА́ЖДЫЙ ⟨ВСЯ́КИЙ⟩ ВСТРЕ́ЧНЫЙ; (КА́ЖДЫЙ ⟨ВСЯ́КИЙ⟩) ВСТРЕ́ЧНЫЙ И ПОПЕРЕ́ЧНЫЙ ⟨ВСТРЕ́ЧНЫЙ-ПОПЕРЕ́ЧНЫЙ⟩ all coll [NP; sing only (variants with каждый or всякий); usu. obj; fixed WO] any person, everyone without discrimination (usu. of people who are complete strangers or are not the right people for the action in question): anyone and everyone; anybody and everybody; one and all; everyone who crosses one's path; every stranger one meets; [lim.] (people) right and left ⟨left and right⟩; (people) right, left, and center. Cf. every Tom, Dick, and Harry.

И ещё очень важное он [Твардовский] требовал: чтобы я никому не говорил, что отобран у меня роман! — иначе нежелательная огласка сильно затруднит положение… Чьё положение??.. верхов или моё? Нежелательная?.. Да огласка — одно моё спасение! Я буду рассказывать каждому встречному! (Солженицын 2). He [Tvardovsky] had another very important request to make: I must tell no one that the novel had been taken from me! Otherwise, undesirable publicity would make the situation much more difficult…. Make whose situation more difficult? That of the top people—or my own? Undesirable publicity?… But that was the one thing that could save me! I would tell anybody and everybody! (2a).

В-358 • ПЕ́РВЫЙ ВСТРЕ́ЧНЫЙ occas. disapprov [NP; sing only; subj or obj; fixed WO] 1. the first person one encounters: the first person to come ⟨to happen⟩ along; the first person one meets ⟨sees, comes across⟩; the first passerby.

Самба как будто не замечал гражданских бурь, которые потрясали в те годы Париж. Иногда он удивлённо спрашивал первого встречного: «Кто это стреляет?» (Эренбург 1). Sembat did not seem to notice the civil storms shaking Paris in those years. Sometimes he would inquire in surprise of the first passerby: "Who's that shooting?" (1a).

2. any person without discrimination: anyone who comes one's way; anyone ⟨anybody⟩ at all; anyone one meets ⟨sees, comes across⟩; a complete ⟨total⟩ stranger.

…Самим есть нечего, а он [Илья] единственный кусок отдавал первому встречному (Распутин 3). …When his [Ilia's] own family had nothing to eat he would give the last crust to a complete stranger (3a).

В-359 • И ВСЯ НЕДОЛГА́; ВО́Т (ТЕБЕ) И ВСЯ НЕДОЛГА́ both highly coll [sent; these forms only; usu. the concluding clause in a compound sent; the preceding clause usu. has a verb in fut, imper, or subjunctive; fixed WO] (used in refer. to the preceding action, problem etc to emphasize that it can or will be done, solved etc quickly and easily) and with that the matter is finished, there is nothing more to be said about it: and that's that ⟨it⟩; and that's the end of it; and that's all (there is to it); and that settles ⟨does⟩ it.

Сам по себе процесс выглядел делом нехитрым: помпа, вашгерт — ящик с ситами, наподобие улья, — вот и вся, казалось, недолга… (Максимов 2). The process itself seems fairly uncomplicated: a pump, a buddle (a box looking like a large beehive that contained a series of sieves), and that was all… (2a).

В-360 • БЕЗ(О) ВСЯ́КИХ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv] (one does sth.) without argument or doubts, unreservedly: without a moment's hesitation; without a second thought; no questions asked; right away; [usu. when used with a command] (and) no nonsense ⟨backtalk, arguments⟩; and no (ifs, ands, or) buts about it; and no guff.

Если бы мне предложили работу в этой лаборатории, я бы пошла туда безо всяких. If I were offered a job in that laboratory, I'd take it without a moment's hesitation. ♦ А что я могу сделать, если сам министр приказал: «Принять Кочкина на работу — и без всяких!»? What can I do when the minister himself ordered: "Give Kochkin a job, and no ifs, ands, or buts about it!"?

В-361 • ВСЯ́КАЯ ВСЯ́ЧИНА coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. [obj or subj] the most diverse things, objects, phenomena: all sorts ⟨kinds⟩ of things ⟨stuff⟩; [of material objects] sundries; (all kinds of) odds and ends; odd items; every trifle imaginable; [when introduced by Conj «и» at the end of an enumeration] and what have you.

Мужик и работники заткнули дыру всякой всячиной (Герцен 1). The peasant and the others plugged the hole with all sorts of things (1a). ♦ «Что везёшь к нам?» — спросил мой старик. «Ткани для женских платьев и мужских рубашек, — сказал Самуил, — галоши с загнутыми носками, какие обожают абхазцы, стёкла для ламп, иголки для швейных машин, нитки, пуговицы, чуму, холеру и другую всякую всячину» (Искандер 3). "What are you bringing us?" my old man asked. "Yard goods for women's dresses and men's shirts," Samuel said, "galoshes with turned-up toes of the kind Abkhazians adore, lamp chimneys, sewing-machine needles, thread, buttons, plague, cholera, and other sundries" (3a).

2. [usu. prep obj; used with verbs of speaking] different things, topics, subjects (of conversation, discussion, reading, or contemplation): anything and everything; everything under the sun; all sorts ⟨kinds, manner⟩ of things; this and that; every trifle imaginable.

Так, разговаривая о всякой всячине, они шли по дороге… (Искандер 5). Thus they walked along the road, talking of anything and everything (5a). ♦ Ему хотелось на постоялый двор, к… Козлевичу, с которым так приятно попить чаю и покалякать о всякой всячине (Ильф и Петров 2). He was longing to get back to the tavern, to… Kozlevich, with whom it was so nice to drink tea and chat about this and that (2a).

В-362 • жить КАК НА ВУЛКА́НЕ coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv] (to live) in a potentially dangerous situation, expecting sth. unpleasant, disastrous to happen: (be living) on top of a volcano; (be sitting) on a time bomb ⟨a volcano⟩.

«Живём мы, знаете, как на вулкане… Всё может произойти…» (Ильф и Петров 1). "We're living on top of a volcano, you know. Anything can happen" (1a).

В-363 • ИДУ́ НА ВЫ obs, now coll, often humor [sent; Invar; fixed WO] I am going to attack you (in contemp. usage, I intend to oppose you, argue against your point of view etc): I come against ye!

Бородавкин вспомнил, что великий князь Святослав Игоревич, прежде нежели побеждать врагов, всегда посылал сказать: иду на вы! — и, руководствуясь этим примером, командировал своего ординарца к стрельцам с таким же приветствием (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Wartkin remembered that Grand Prince Svyatoslav Igorevich, before conquering his enemies, always sent ahead to say, "I come against ye!" Guided by this example, he dispatched his orderly to the musketeers with the same greeting (1a).

< According to Russian chroniclers, this phrase was used by Prince Svyatoslav (10th cent.) as a declaration of war. In old Russian, the pronoun «вы» had two forms of the accusative case: the full form «васъ» and the short, or enclitic, form «вы».

В-364 • НА ВЫ с кем быть$_{ø}$, переходить; называть кого, обращаться к кому; ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ВЫ кому [PrepP, Invar, subj-compl with copula or adv (1st var.); VP (2nd var.); subj: human] (to begin) to use the «вы» (formal "you") form of address when speaking to or with s.o.: X с Y-ом на вы ≃ X is on formal terms with Y; X and Y are on formal terms with each other; X addresses Y ⟨X and Y address each other⟩ formally ⟨in the formal way⟩; ‖ X должен говорить Y-у вы ≃ [lim.] X must treat Y with respect. ○ ОБРАЩЕ́НИЕ НА ВЫ [NP; sing only] the formal way one addresses s.o. ⟨one is addressed⟩.

…В кухне он называл меня на «вы» и мне это понравилось, а теперь вдруг на «ты» (Каверин 1). …In the kitchen, he had spoken to me in the formal way in which grown-ups are addressed and I had liked it, but now he had suddenly changed to the familiar form (1a). ♦ «А ты мне „ты" не говори, — сказал Прохор улыбчиво, — ты мне „вы" должен говорить» (Семёнов 1). "And don't you be so familiar," said Prokhor smilingly, "you must treat me with respect" (1a).

В-365 • НА ВЫ́БОР (чей) давать, предлагать и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif or sent adv] allowing s.o. to select from two or more things: (give ⟨offer⟩ s.o.) a choice; (have ⟨give s.o., offer s.o.⟩ several things) to choose from ⟨between⟩; (have) one's choice; (take) whatever one would like; ‖ бери любой [NP] ~ ≃ take any ⟨whichever⟩ [NP] you please ⟨you'd like etc⟩; ‖ любой [NP] ~ ≃ any ⟨whichever⟩ [NP] one chooses ⟨wants etc⟩.

[Альда:] Если б вы дали мне на выбор две одинаковых конфеты — я б не выбрала (Солженицын 11). [A.:] If you'd given me two identical pieces of candy to choose between—I wouldn't have been able to choose (11a). ♦ Сижу вот, пишу, на эти берёзы поглядываю. А надоест, куплю билет и поеду, куда захочу. Хоть в Америку, хоть в Италию… Любая страна на выбор (Войнович 1). I sit here and write, gazing out at those birches. If I get bored, I can buy a ticket and travel wherever I please. To the United States, to Italy… to any country I choose (1a).

В-366 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ ИЗ СЕБЯ́ кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to make s.o. lose his self-control, irritate s.o. badly: X вывел Y-а из себя ≃ X made Y lose Y's temper ⟨cool⟩; X drove Y crazy ⟨berserk, out of Y's wits⟩; X got Y's dander up; X drove Y up the wall; X raised Y's hackles; thing X got Y's back up; X exasperated Y.

«А сюрпризик-то не хотите разве посмотреть?» — захихикал Порфирий, опять схватывая его [Раскольникова] немного повыше локтя и останавливая у дверей. Он, видимо, становился всё веселее и игривее, что окончательно выводило из себя Раскольникова (Достоевский 3). "But don't you want to take a look at my little surprise?" giggled Porfiry, again taking him [Raskolnikov] just above the elbow and stopping him in the doorway. He was clearly growing ever more cheerful and playful, which drove Raskolnikov completely berserk (3a).

В-367 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ НАРУ́ЖУ что obsoles [VP; subj: usu. human] to make sth. (usu. some reprehensible designs, actions etc) evident to everyone, expose sth.: X вывел наружу Y ≃ X brought Y to light; X brought Y (out) into the open; X took the wraps off Y; X unmasked Y; X blew the lid off Y.

В-368 • ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАЕТ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУЛО ⟨ВЫ́ВОРОТИЛО⟩ НАИЗНА́НКУ кого highly coll [VP; impers] s.o. is very nauseated, vomiting: X-а выворачивало наизнанку ≃ X was sick to his stomach; X was green around the gills; X was barfing ⟨puking⟩ his brains out; X was violently ill.

Эраста Петровича Фандорина, чиновника особых поручений при московском генерал-губернаторе… выворачивало наизнанку. (Акунин 1). Erast Petrovich Fandortin, the governor-general of Moscow's deputy for special assignments… was violently ill. (1a).

В-369 • ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ВОРОТИТЬ⟩ НАИЗНА́НКУ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ что to interpret and/or present sth. incorrectly, falsely (may refer to an intentional distortion or an honest mistake): X вывернул Y наизнанку ≃ X turned Y inside out; [of an intentional distortion] X twisted Y around ⟨about⟩; [of an honest mistake] X got Y all wrong ⟨backward⟩; X misconstrued ⟨misinterpreted⟩ Y.

Что Виктору ни скажешь, он всё выворачивает наизнанку. No matter what you tell Viktor, he turns it inside out.

2. ~ кого-что to comprehend and reveal the true essence of s.o. or sth.: X вывернул наизнанку Y-а ≃ X showed Y for what Y really is ⟨was⟩; X got to the bottom of thing Y; [lim.] X got to the heart of the matter.

Эта экономическая теория только кажется новаторской: выверни её наизнанку и увидишь, что в основе её лежат старые марксистские догмы. This economic theory only seems innovative: when you get to the bottom of it you see that it's based on old Marxist dogmas.

В-370 • ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬСЯ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬСЯ НАИЗНА́НКУ coll [VP; subj: human] to try very hard (to do sth.), resort to whatever means are necessary (to attain or accomplish sth.): X вывернется наизнанку ≃ X will bend over backward; X will go to any lengths; X will knock himself out; X will do his damnedest ⟨darnedest⟩.

Они готовы вывернуться наизнанку, чтобы дать сыну высшее образование. They're willing to go to any lengths to give their son the opportunity for a higher education.

В-371 • ВЫДАВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ДАТЬ ⟨ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ⟩ ЗА́МУЖ кого (за кого) [VP; subj: human; obj: human, female] to give one's daughter, sister etc in marriage: X выдал женщину Y замуж ≃ X married off Y ⟨married Y off⟩; X gave Y away in marriage; [lim.] X found Y a husband ⟨found a husband for Y⟩.

От времени до времени Кирила Петрович выдавал некоторых из них [горничных] замуж, и новые поступали на их место (Пушкин 1). Now and again Kirila Petrovich would give some of them [chambermaids] away in marriage, and new ones would take their place (1c). From time to time Kirila Petrovitch found husbands for some of them [maidservants], and new girls took their place (1b).

В-372 • ВЫДАВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ДАТЬ СЕБЯ́ [VP] 1. ~ (чем кому) [subj: human or animal] to reveal one's presence: X выдал себя ≃ X gave himself away; X made his presence known.

2. ~ (чем) [subj: human] to reveal involuntarily one's true feelings, state of mind, attitude etc: X выдал себя ≃ X gave himself away; X gave away his true feelings.

…Однажды вечером отец позвал Евгения к себе… «Ты простишь мне вмешательство в твои личные дела. Но я хочу знать, как ты думаешь поступить с Аксиньей?» Торопливостью, с какой стал закуривать, Евгений выдал себя… «Не знаю… Просто не знаю…» — чистосердечно признался он (Шолохов 4). …One evening his [Yevgeny's] father called him in…. "Forgive my intruding in your personal affairs. But I want to know what you intend to do about Aksinya." Yevgeny gave himself away by the haste with which he lighted a cigarette…. "I don't know…. I simply don't know," he confessed frankly (4a).

В-373 • НЕ ВЫ́ДАЙ(ТЕ) coll [VP_{imper}; these forms only] 1. obs do not abandon me (or us), help me (or us) (used as an appeal for help): don't turn your back on me ⟨us⟩; don't run out on me ⟨us⟩; don't leave me ⟨us⟩ in the lurch.

2. do not disappoint me (or us) (used to urge s.o. to apply all his efforts to the work he is doing or is about to do): don't let me ⟨us⟩ down; don't fail me ⟨us⟩ now.

В-374 • НА ВЫ́ДАНЬЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, female) or nonagreeing modif] at an age when a young woman is expected to get married: of marriageable age; marriageable.

«Одна беда: Маша; девка на выданье, а какое у ней приданое? Частый гребень, да веник, да алтын денег…» (Пушкин 2). "There's just one problem: Masha. She's of marriageable age, but what does she have for a dowry? A fine-tooth comb, a besom, and a three-kopeck piece…" (2a).

< The word «выданье» is used in this idiom only.

В-375 • ХОТЬ ВЫ́ЖМИ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: concr)] (of clothing) thoroughly wet (from rain, perspiration etc): wringing ⟨soaking, sopping⟩ wet; soaked (through); drenched; wet right through.

Платье на тебе — хоть выжми. Скорее переоденься, а то простудишься. Your dress is sopping wet. Hurry up and get changed or you'll catch cold.

В-376 • С ВЫ́ЗОВОМ сказать, ответить, посмотреть и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to say, answer, look etc) in a provoking manner: with a challenge; challengingly; defiantly; [lim.] as a challenge.

«Могу предложить очную ставку. Пригласить Звонкову?» — спокойно спросил Антон. Глаза Сипенятина растерянно заметались, но ответил он с вызовом: «Приглашай!» (Чернёнок 1). "I can suggest a meeting. Shall I call in Zvonkova?" Anton asked calmly. Sipeniatin's eyes darted about nervously, but he answered with a challenge. "Go ahead!" (1a).

В-377 • В ВЫ́ИГРЫШЕ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula] 1. [subj: human] one is winning at cards: X был ⟨оказался⟩ в выигрыше ≃ X was winning ⟨the winner⟩; X came out the winner; X was ⟨came out⟩ ahead of the game.

Едва успели мы, сойдя вниз, поздороваться со всеми гостями, как нас позвали к столу. Папа был очень весел (он был в выигрыше в это время)… (Толстой 2). We had hardly had time to go downstairs and greet all the guests when we were summoned to table. Papa was very gay (he was winning at this time)… (2b).

2. [subj: human or collect] (a person or group) has or gets the advantage (in sth.): X будет ⟨останется⟩ в выигрыше ≃ X will get the better end of it ⟨of the deal etc⟩; X will come out ahead (of the game); [lim.] X will be better off; X will benefit from it.

Не вмешивайся ни в какие конфликты на работе — и ты будешь в выигрыше. Avoid getting mixed up in any disputes at work and you'll come out ahead of the game. ♦ «…Интересная может получиться комбинация, ваше величество. Если всё это правда, то на сей раз англичане зарвались, переусердствовали. Хорошо отработать — так ещё и в выигрыше окажемся» (Акунин 5). "…An interesting scheme could be made of this, Your Majesty. If it is all true, then this time the English have allowed themselves to get carried away and overstepped the line. With a bit of careful planning, we could still benefit from all this" (5a).

В-378 • ВЫ́КРАСИТЬ ДА ⟨И⟩ ВЫ́БРОСИТЬ что coll [VP; usu. infin used as impers predic] (of things that are worn out, falling to pieces, in terrible condition) sth. should be thrown away, discarded: X [accus] только выкрасить да выбросить ≃ X belongs in the garbage ⟨the trash⟩ (can); X is ready ⟨fit⟩ for the junk heap; X deserves to be deep-sixed ⟨chucked, trashed⟩; one should (just) deep-six ⟨chuck, trash⟩ X.

Зачем переделывать это старое платье? Его только выкрасить да выбросить. Why bother to fix up that old dress? You should just chuck it.

В-379 • НА́-КА ⟨НА́-КАСЬ, НА́-КАСЯ, НА́⟩, ВЫ́КУСИ! substand, rude [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] emphatically no (used to express one's categorical refusal to do sth., refutation of some statement etc): [when refusing to do sth.] no (frigging) way!; you can whistle for it!; not on your life!; nothing doing!; like hell I ⟨we⟩ will!; I'll see you in hell first!; [when refuting a statement] what (a load of) crap!; that's bullshit!; [when emphasizing a previous statement of refusal etc] put that in your pipe (and smoke it)!

whistle for it! I'm not going!" "Yes you are. If not of your own free will, then the court will make you go" (1a). ♦ «Правильно! Ты думаешь человек человеку кто? Друг? Товарищ? Братишка? Нака выкуси! Человек человеку люпус ест! [transliteration of the Latin lupus est = волк]» (Войнович 4). "Right! What do you think man is to man? A friend? A comrade? A brother? Ha-ha, what crap! Man is like a wolf to his fellow man" (4a)..

В-380 • ВЫНЬ ДА ПОЛО́ЖЬ (кому, кого-что) highly coll [VP_{imper}; Invar; predic; fixed WO] do sth. or give sth. to s.o. immediately: give sth. to s.o. ⟨produce sth., do it etc⟩ on the spot ⟨right away, at once⟩; [in pres contexts only] give sth. to s.o. here and now; [in past contexts only] give sth. to s.o. there and then; [lim.] come on, let's have it ⟨him etc⟩; [when threatening s.o.] hand s.o. over ⟨cough sth. up etc⟩ or else.

«Уж как мне этого Бонапарта захотелось! — говаривала она [Марфа Терентьевна] Беневоленскому, — кажется, ничего бы не пожалела, только бы глазком на него взглянуть!» Сначала Беневоленский сердился… но так как Марфа Терентьевна не унималась, а всё больше приставала к градоначальнику: вынь да положь Бонапарта, то под конец он изнемог (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "How I'm taken with that Bonaparte!" she [Marfa Terentevna] used to say to Benevolensky. "I think there is nothing I wouldn't give just to peep at him once!" At first, Benevolensky would grow angry…. But Marfa Terentevna would not desist and grew even more importunate, insisting that Benevolensky should produce her Bonaparte at once, and in the end he gave way (1b). ♦ Мне передали, что Твардовский срочно хочет меня видеть. Это было 8 июня… Я ответил А.Т. [Твардовскому], что — совершенно невозможно, приеду 12-го. Он очень расстроился… Потом, говорят, ходил по редакции обиженный и разбитый. Это — всегда в нём так, если возгорелось — то вынь да положь, погодить ему нельзя (Солженицын 2). …A message reached me that Tvardovsky urgently wanted to see me. This was on 8 June…. My answer to A.T. [Tvardovsky] was that it was absolutely impossible, and I would come to see him on the twelfth. He was very upset…. I have heard that after our conversation he wandered from room to room, looking hurt and disconsolate. It was always the same with him: if he set his heart on something, it was "Come on, let's have it!" He couldn't bear to wait (2a). ♦ …Рита сказала: «Молодцы твои родственники. Так и впились клешнями, вынь да положь им Гартвига» (Трифонов 5). …Rita said, "Your relatives are really something. The way they dug in with their claws—it was hand over Gartvig or else!" (5a).

В-381 • МЯ́ГКО ВЫРАЖА́ЯСЬ ⟨ГОВОРЯ́⟩ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to indicate that the speaker is intentionally avoiding phrasing sth. harshly, abruptly: putting ⟨to put⟩ it mildly ⟨gently, nicely⟩.

«Обвинять меня в несчастье, случившемся с Саней, мягко говоря, — откровенная нелепость» (Чернёнок 1). "Accusing me of the misfortune that befell Sanya is, to put it mildly, a blatant absurdity" (1a).

В-382 • ИЗВИНИ́(ТЕ) ⟨ПРОСТИ́(ТЕ)⟩ ЗА ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЕ coll; ИЗВИНЯ́ЮСЬ ЗА ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЕ highly coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to ask the listener's indulgence when the speaker uses improper, vulgar language: (if you'll) pardon the expression ⟨my language⟩; excuse the expression. Cf. excuse ⟨pardon⟩ my French.

[Маргарита:] Ах, вы, шкура вы эдакая, извиняюсь за выражение (Эрдман 1). [M.:] Oh you… you tramp, you! If you'll pardon the expression (1a). ♦ Мне на принципы так же насрать [taboo], извини за выражение, как и тебе (Алешковский 1). I feel the same way about principles you do—fuck 'em, excuse the expression (1a).

В-383 • С ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЕМ читать, декламировать, петь и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to read, recite, sing etc sth.) with emotional appeal, expressively: with feeling; with expression (in one's voice); with (genuine) emotion; with spirit; in an expressive voice.

…Какой-то несостоявшийся артист, встав в позу, читал с выражением поэму Маяковского «Хорошо» (Войнович 4). …Some failed actor, striking a pose, was reciting Mayakovsky's poem "It's Good" with genuine emotion (4a).

В-384 • БЕЗ ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЯ читать, говорить и т.п.; БЕЗ(О) ВСЯ́КОГО ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЯ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to read sth., speak etc) in a monotone, unexpressively: without feeling; without expression (in one's voice); without any ⟨the slightest⟩ expression; without emotion; flatly.

«Сразу видно, что вы никогда не любили и даже, кажется, вообще не знаете, что такое любовь». Хозяйка вспыхнула, но не нашлась, что сказать, да и вообще усомнилась — не прислышалось ли, потому что странные слова были произнесены безо всякого выражения (Акунин 6). "One can see immediately that you have never loved and, I think, do not even have any idea of what love is." His hostess blushed, but could not think of anything to say, and in any case she felt doubtful whether she had heard right, because the strange words had been pronounced without the slightest expression (6a).

В-385 • ВЫБИРА́ТЬ ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЯ ⟨СЛОВА́⟩ [VP; subj: human; often imper or neg] to phrase carefully what one is saying (in order not to offend s.o. or make a mistake): выбирай(те) выражения ≃ choose your words carefully; watch what you're saying; [lim.] watch your tongue; ‖ Neg X не выбирал выражений ≃ X did not mince words.

«Расскажите-ка, Максим Петрович, что за подпольное издание вы затеяли?» — «Ого! — сказал Ого. — Начинается свистопляска!» — «Выбирайте выражения!» — рявкнул вождь (Аксёнов 12). "Tell me, Maxim Petrovich, what is this underground publication you've come up with?" "Oho!" said Ogo. "The witch-hunt begins." "Choose your words carefully!" the leader barked (12a).

В-386 • НЕ СТЕСНЯ́ТЬСЯ В ВЫРАЖЕ́НИЯХ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to speak without restraint, disregarding propriety and decorum, ignoring the interlocutor's feelings etc: X не стеснялся в выражениях ≃ X didn't mince words; X minced no words; X didn't watch his tongue ⟨what he was saying⟩; [in refer. to using profanity] X used the choicest language.

С раннего утра начиналась кухонная жизнь. Пятнадцать женщин — из них немало бывших уголовниц — во весь голос, не стесняясь в выражениях, обсуждали свои дела, скандалили, пели (Гинзбург 2). The kitchen came to life early in the morning. Fifteen women, several of them former common criminals, were constantly in and out of it, discussing their daily business, quarrelling, singing—all at the top of their voices and in the choicest language (2a).

В-387 • ЕСЛИ МО́ЖНО ТАК ВЫ́РАЗИТЬСЯ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to emphasize that what was just said or is about to be said is expressed in an unusual way: if one may say so; if one may ⟨might⟩ put it that way ⟨like that⟩; what one might call.

[Кушак:] Какой вечер! Волшебный, если можно так выразиться… Я благодарю судьбу… (Вампилов 5). [K. :] What an evening ! It was enchanting, if I may say so… I give thanks to fate for… (5a).

В-388 • НА ВЫ́РОСТ ⟨НА РОСТ⟩ шить, покупать и т.п.; одежда, пальто, костюм и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or nonagreeing modif] (usu. of children's clothing) (to sew, buy a piece of clothing etc) too big in order to allow for the wearer's growth: with room for s.o. to grow; with room (for s.o.) to grow into; to give s.o. room to grow (into); so (that) s.o. won't outgrow it too quickly.

Московское платье оказалось превосходно: коричневые полуфрачки с бронзовыми пуговками были сшиты в обтяжку — не так, как в деревне нам шивали, на рост… (Толстой 2). Our Moscow clothes turned out to be superb: the brown dress coats had bronze buttons and were made close-fitting—not like they had been made in the country, with room for you to grow… (2b). ♦ Я — маленький гимназист в платье на выросте (Олеша 5). I am a small schoolboy wearing clothes that are too big so that I won't outgrow them too quickly (5a).

В-389 • ВЫ́СЛУГА ЛЕТ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the period of continuous employment which entitles the employee to receive special benefits, privileges etc: long service; || за выслугу лет ≃ for length of service.

В Германии до сих пор судят нацистов, а наши вонючие псы получают пенсии, а то и ордена за выслугу лет (Аксёнов 6). In Germany they are still indicting Nazis and bringing them to justice, but our stinking hell hounds are getting pensions and even long-service medals (6a). ♦ Под расстёгнутой шинелью Фёдора Фёдоровича блестели две золотые Звезды Героя Советского Союза (вторую ему дали за выслугу лет)… (Войнович 7). Gleaming brightly under Fyodor Fyodorovich's open greatcoat were two golden stars of a Hero of the Soviet Union (he had been awarded the second for length of service) (7a).

В-390 • НА ВЫСОТЕ́ быть$_{ø}$, оказаться, чувствовать себя и т.п.; НА ДО́ЛЖНОЙ ВЫСОТЕ́ [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula] 1. Also: НА ВЫСОТЕ́ ПОЛОЖЕ́НИЯ [subj: human or collect] (to be, feel that one is etc) performing in the best, most fitting manner in a given situation, demonstrating the daring, courage etc required under particular circumstances: X был ⟨оказался⟩ на высоте (положения) ≃ X rose ⟨measured up⟩ to the occasion; X was equal to the occasion ⟨to the task⟩; X rose to ⟨met⟩ the challenge; [lim.] X lived up to person Y's expectations; X was at his best; || Neg X был ⟨оказался⟩ не на высоте ≃ X fell short of expectations ⟨of the mark⟩; X was found wanting.

…По слухам, которые распространяли чегемцы… Маяна в первую же брачную ночь сломала своему почтенному мужу два ребра… Но опять же, если верить чегемским слухам, старик оказался на высоте, потому что будучи человеком со сломанными рёбрами, он, по крайней мере, успел зачать ещё двух детей, если первого ребёнка, как предполагали чегемцы, он успел зачать до того, как треснули его рёбра (Искандер 4). …According to rumors that the Chegemians spread… on their wedding night Mayana broke two of her venerable husband's ribs…. What is more, if we are to believe Chegem rumors, the old man rose to the occasion, because, even as a man with broken ribs, at least he succeeded in begetting two more children, if, as the Chegemians hypothesized, he had succeeded in begetting the first child before his ribs got cracked (4a). ♦ …Он [Кирилл] оказался на высоте — сдержал своё обещание… (Лимонов 1). …He [Kirill] lived up to my expectations and kept his promise… (1a).

2. [subj: human, collect, abstr, or concr] (to be, feel that one is etc) able to satisfy the highest demands, excellent in quality: X на высоте ≃ X is first-rate ⟨topnotch⟩; [lim.] person X is at his best; || [usu. with negated predic or in questions] X был не на высоте ≃ X did not measure up; X was not up to the mark ⟨to snuff, to scratch, to par, to it⟩.

«Ваши разговоры были записаны, когда вы звонили в [американское] посольство. Наша техника на высоте и позволила разоблачить ваши преступные замыслы…» (Копелев 1). "Your conversations were recorded when you called the [American] embassy. Our technology is first-rate and has allowed us to expose your criminal plans…" (1a). ♦ «Как работают заводы, какие у вас впечатления от личности Фосса, на высоте ли, по-вашему, химики?» — быстро спрашивал он [Эйхман] (Гроссман 2). "How are the factories getting on? What are your impressions of Voss? Do you think the chemists are up to it?" he [Eichmann] asked rapidly (2a).

В-391 • С ВЫСОТЫ́ ПТИ́ЧЬЕГО ПОЛЁТА; С ПТИ́ЧЬЕГО ПОЛЁТА [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] 1. seen from high up, from a place allowing one to see everything: (get, have) a bird's-eye view (of sth.); (look at sth.) from a bird's-eye view.

С утра до вечера сидел он, сгорбившись, перед лестничным окном второго этажа во флигеле и оттуда — как бы с высоты птичьего полёта — печально и трезво оглядывал двор (Максимов 3). From morning to night he sat hunched up by the staircase window on the second floor of the outbuilding, where he had a sad and sober bird's-eye view of the yard (3a).

2. судить (о ком-чём), рассматривать что и т.п. ~ (to judge s.o. or sth., examine sth. etc) cursorily, without an in-depth analysis: (give ⟨get⟩) a bird's-eye view (of a subject etc); (judge sth.) superficially; [lim.] judge a book by its cover.

В-392 • С ВЫСОТЫ́ СВОЕГО́ ВЕЛИ́ЧИЯ смотреть, взирать на кого-что, сказать что и т.п. iron [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to look at s.o. or sth., say sth. etc) haughtily, condescendingly, with an excessive sense of self-importance: look down one's nose (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (look at ⟨say sth. to⟩ s.o.) condescendingly; (say sth.) pompously; one thinks he is ⟨behaves as if he were⟩ God's gift to mankind ⟨to the world⟩.

«Я такими мелкими делами не занимаюсь, — процедил хозяин роскошного кабинета с высоты своего величия. — Обратитесь с этим вопросом к моему секретарю». "I don't deal with such trifling matters," said the occupant of the luxurious office condescendingly. "Take your question to my secretary."

В-393 • ХОТЬ НА ВЫ́СТАВКУ кого-что coll, occas. iron [хоть + PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any common noun)] (looking) wonderful, beautiful: (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) could be placed on exhibition ⟨put on display⟩; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) could be sent to ⟨shown at⟩ an exhibition; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) is fit for an exhibition; (s.o. is ⟨looks⟩) (as) pretty as a picture; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is) picture perfect.

«А чудаковат у тебя дядя… Щегольство какое в деревне, подумаешь! Ногти-то, ногти, хоть на выставку посылай!» (Тургенев 2). "Queer fellow, that uncle of yours…. Fancy all that foppery out in the country! And talk about nails, why, they could be placed on exhibition!" (2a). "Your uncle's a bit of an eccentric… Such dandyism in the country, just think! And his fingernails, what fingernails, they could be put on display!" (2g).

В-394 • НА ВЫ́СТРЕЛ подходить, подъезжать и т.п. к кому-чему [PrepP; Invar; adv] at a distance near enough to be reached by a bullet or shell when fired from a weapon; by extension very nearby: within firing ⟨close⟩ range; within shooting distance; (come ⟨get etc⟩) anywhere near (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

Петро не велел им [жителям хутора] подходить даже на выстрел к казачьей цепи. Но одно появление их произвело на красных заметное воздействие (Шолохов 4). Petro would not allow the village folk to come anywhere near the Cossack positions. But their mere appearance on the scene produced a noticeable impression on the Reds… (4a).

В-395 • НА ПУ́ШЕЧНЫЙ ВЫ́СТРЕЛ не подпускать, не допускать кого к кому-чему, не подходить к кому-чему [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (not to allow s.o. to see some person or appear in some place) at all, (to avoid some person or place) entirely: X-а нельзя на пушечный выстрел подпускать к Y-у ≃ X should ⟨must⟩ not be allowed within firing ⟨shooting⟩ range of Y (no matter what); X should not ⟨cannot⟩ under any circumstances be allowed in place Y ⟨near person Y, to see person Y etc⟩; X should ⟨must⟩ not be allowed in place Y ⟨near person Y etc⟩ no matter what; || X к Y-у на пушечный выстрел не подойдёт ≃ X won't go anywhere near Y (no matter what); X won't go near Y for anything; [lim.] X won't ⟨wouldn't⟩ touch Y with a ten-foot pole.

…Давным-давно известно, кому из писателей можно дать слово… а кого нельзя к трибуне подпускать и на пушечный выстрел (Свирский 1). …They'd known for a long time which writers could be allowed to speak…. And they knew who couldn't under any circumstances be allowed on the platform (1a).

В-396 • ХОЛОСТО́Й ВЫ́СТРЕЛ iron [NP; fixed WO] sth. worthless, useless that has not fulfilled or will not fulfill its intended purpose: like firing a blank (cartridge); (like) a shot from a stage pistol.

Хорошо, что письмо осталось при мне. Иначе получился бы холостой выстрел (Олеша 2). It's lucky that I kept the letter. Otherwise it would have been like firing a blank (2a). ♦ Тупо задуманный, занудно подготовленный якировский процесс пролетел холостым выстрелом, никого не поразив, никого не напугав, только позором для ГБ (Солженицын 2). The Yakir trial, a crass idea fumblingly executed, was a shot from a stage pistol, which hit no one, frightened no one, and merely brought disgrace on the KGB (2a).

В-397 • ВЫ́ХОД В СВЕТ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. See С-51 ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ В СВЕТ.

2. taking part in a social activity (such as musical entertainment, theater, visiting friends etc): going out; (attending) a social function ⟨occasion, event⟩; an evening ⟨a night etc⟩ out.

Нам сегодня предстоит выход в свет — идём с друзьями в ресторан отмечать их годовщину. We have an evening out ahead of us today—we're going to a restaurant with friends to celebrate their anniversary.

В-398 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ВЫ́ХОД ⟨ИСХО́Д⟩ чему [VP; subj: human or, rare, abstr; usu. pfv] to allow o.s. to express (some emotion) without constraint: X дал выход Y-у ≃ person X gave vent ⟨free rein⟩ to Y; person X freely expressed Y; X let loose Y; X unleashed Y.

До последней минуты Рита не могла поверить своему счастью и только получив выигрыш, дала выход своему ликованию. Until the last moment Rita couldn't believe her luck, and it was only after she had received her winnings that she let loose her joy.

В-399 • ВЫ́ХОДЕЦ С ТОГО́ СВЕ́ТА [NP; fixed WO] in popular belief, the spirit of a deceased person: ghost; apparition; phantom; specter; s.o. who has returned ⟨come back⟩ from the grave ⟨the dead⟩.

В-400 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ЗА́МУЖ (за кого) [VP; subj: human, female] to take (s.o.) in marriage, take a husband: X вышла замуж (за Y-а) ≃ X married Y; X got married.

[Ольга:] Всё хорошо, всё от бога, но мне кажется, если бы я вышла замуж и целый день сидела дома, то это было бы лучше (Чехов 5). All's well in God's world, of course, but I do have the feeling that if I'd married and could have stayed at home all day things would have been better (5d).

В-401 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ИЗ СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: human] to become enraged, explode with anger: X вышел из себя ≃ X lost his temper ⟨self-control⟩; X lost control of himself; X flew off the handle; X blew up; X blew his top ⟨stack⟩; X was beside himself; [lim.] X flew into a rage.

[Глафира:] Без меня начинается в доме ералаш: то не так, — другое не по вас… Вы начинаете выходить из себя… (Островский 5). [G.:] When I am gone, confusion begins. This thing is wrong; the other doesn't suit you…. You begin to lose your temper (5a).

В-402 • ЗА ВЫ́ЧЕТОМ чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] 1. upon deduction of: after deducting; [of taxes and other deductions from one's pay] after; [the English equivalent and its obj precede the NP denoting the final sum] less; minus.

2. excluding: except for; with the exception of; apart from; save; not counting; outside of.

…Мой актив, за вычетом вещей, разбросанных по будетлянским [from «будетляне», a Slavonic name for the Futurists coined by Velimir Khlebnikov] сборникам, сводился в ту пору к одной лишь «Флейте Марсия»… (Лившиц 1). …Apart from pieces scattered throughout the budetliane miscellanies, my assets at that time amounted merely to the Flute of Marsyas (1a).

В-403 • ВЕСЬ ВЫ́ШЕЛ coll [VP; past only; often used as part of the statement «Был (…), да весь вышел»; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human or animal (usu. omitted)] one no longer possesses some (usu. positive) quality that he once possessed (said of a person whose energy has been spent, talent has gone unrealized or been used up, beauty has faded etc): (one's talent ⟨creativity, energy etc⟩) is all gone; one has lost (his spark ⟨spunk, sense of humor etc⟩); [in response to the interlocutor's remark stating that a person possesses or used to possess a certain quality] not anymore; there's none of that left now.

«Твой дядя очень изменился. Раньше он был бодрым, энергичным». — «Был, да весь вышел». "Your uncle has really changed. He used to be upbeat and energetic." "Used to be, but not anymore."

2. [subj: concr, usu. a noun denoting an appliance, machine, gadget etc] sth. no longer functions (usu. from long use): X весь вышел ≃ X died; X is no more.

В-404 • НЕ ВЫ́ШЕЛ чем coll [VP; subj: human; past only; used in present or past contexts] s.o. lacks a particular quality (usu. beauty, intelligence etc): X Y-ом не вышел ≃ [in present contexts] X is short on Y; X is not as [AdjP] as he could be; [lim.] X is not big in the Y department; || [in past contexts] X лицом ⟨умом⟩ не вышел ≃ X was not much to look at ⟨not much of a brain etc⟩; X was anything but good-looking ⟨brainy⟩; || X ростом не вышел ≃ X ⟨X's body⟩ was puny; X was anything but tall; || X статью не вышел ≃ X did not cut an impressive figure; X was not what you would call a fine figure of a man ⟨a woman⟩.

И что из того, что он [Митрий] не вышел телом? Разве его вина? А она-то [Марфа] сама вышла? (Абрамов 1). So what if his [Mitry's] body was puny? Was that his fault? Was her [Marfa's] body that marvelous? (1a). ♦ Собою Тарик-бей был не так пригож, как его господин, и статью не вышел… (Акунин 1). Tarik-bei was not as handsome as his master, and his figure was not very impressive… (1a).

В-405 • КАК БЫ ЧЕГО́ НЕ ВЫ́ШЛО [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (usu. reflects s.o.'s cowardliness, extreme indecisiveness, alarmism etc) sth. bad, unpleasant, dangerous etc might happen: all sorts of things could happen; you never know what might happen; that may lead to trouble; [lim.] you ⟨one⟩ can never be too careful.

А вдруг как раз в день рождения матери приехал Аркашка? Приехал и ждет её…? А она ходит в чистом поле сама по себе и ничего-то не знает… И вообще — как бы чего не вышло, уж очень умиротворённым и спокойным оказался нынче день, а за спокойствием всегда что-нибудь да кроется (Залыгин 1). But what if Arkady had turned up at home, on his mother's birthday? What if he was waiting for her now…? And she'd been wandering gaily in the open fields, never thinking he might be there…. All sorts of things could have happened! The day had been too serenely calm, and there was always something lurking under a calm surface (1a).

< From Anton Chekhov's «Человек в футляре», 1898, commonly translated as "The Man In a Case" or "The Man in a Shell."

В-406 • ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ВИ́ТЬСЯ и т.п.⟩ ВЬЮНО́М [VP; subj: human] 1. to move quickly from one place to another, be in motion all the time: X вертелся вьюном ≃ X was scurrying ⟨bustling⟩ about.

2. ~ около кого to flatter s.o., be excessively (and usu. insincerely) attentive to s.o. (usu. in order to gain s.o.'s favor): X вьётся вьюном около Y-а ≃ X is playing up to Y; X is dancing attendance on Y.

«Илья Золотарёв… в большие начальники вышел, другие кругом него вьюном крутятся…» (Максимов 1). "He [Ilya Zolotarev] has become an important boss; the others dance attendance on him" (1a).

В-407 • НЕ ВЯ́ЖЕТСЯ [VP; subj: дело, разговор etc; pres or past] sth. (usu. some project, s.o.'s work, a conversation etc) is not going as it should, as was expected or hoped: X не вяжется ≃ X isn't coming out right; X isn't jelling; X isn't coming together; [of a conversation] X is flagging.

…[Митенька] делал всевозможные усилия, чтоб соблюсти приличие и заговорить с своею соседкой по левую сторону, но разговор решительно не вязался… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). …[Mitenka] did his best to observe the rules of decorum by engaging the lady on his left in conversation, which, however, flagged badly… (2a).

Г

Г-1 • ТИ́ХАЯ ГА́ВАНЬ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a place (job etc) that provides protection from hardship, danger etc, a sanctuary: quiet ⟨peaceful, safe⟩ haven; peaceful abode; safe refuge ⟨shelter⟩.

«Какой-то процент ведь уцелел же? Так вот я попал в этот процент. Я ушёл в чистую биологию — нашёл себе тихую гавань!..» (Солженицын 10). "A certain percentage managed to survive, didn't they? Well, I was part of that percentage. I withdrew into the study of pure biology, I found myself a quiet haven (10a).

Г-2 • ДАТЬ ГАЗ; ПРИБАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ПРИБА́ВИТЬ ⟨ПОДДАВА́ТЬ/ПОДДА́ТЬ coll⟩ ГА́ЗУ [VP; subj: human (all variants) or a noun denoting a vehicle (var. with прибавлять)] (of a person) to cause a vehicle to go faster, accelerate, (of a vehicle) to go faster, accelerate: X прибавил газу ≃ X sped up; [subj: human only] X stepped on it ⟨on the gas⟩; X gave it ⟨her⟩ the gun; X put the pedal to the metal.

Происходит нечто позорное, подумал Огородников. Я бегу от русских под защитой американской машины… Однако, что делать дальше? Сейчас они прибавят газу, и я останусь наедине с нашими мазуриками (Аксёнов 12). Something shameful is happening, thought Ogorodnikov. I am running from Russians under cover of an American car…. However, what do I do next? They're going to speed up and I'll be left alone with our boys (12a).

Г-3 • СБАВЛЯ́ТЬ/СБА́ВИТЬ ГАЗ [VP; subj: human or a noun denoting a vehicle] (of a person) to cause a vehicle to go more slowly, decelerate, (of a vehicle) to decrease speed: X сбавил газ ≃ X slowed down; [subj: human only] X eased off ⟨up on⟩ the gas; X backed off the pedal.

Г-4 • ПОД ГА́ЗОМ slang [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with видеть кого etc (obj: human)] one is in a state of intoxication (more often, mild): tight; tipsy; under the influence.

[Авдонин:] Побежал я, короче говоря, в контору. Комнату просить. Очень плохо соображал… [Третий коммунист:] Под газом? [Авдонин:] Какой — под газом! Рано утром (Салынский 1). [A.:] …To put it briefly, I ran to the office to ask for a room. I hardly knew what I was doing…. [Third communist:] Were you tight? [A.:] I wasn't tight at all. It was early in the morning (1a).

Г-5 • НА ПО́ЛНОМ ГАЗУ́ ехать, мчаться и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (of a car, truck etc) (to go, race etc) very fast, with great speed: (go ⟨race along etc⟩) at full ⟨top, breakneck⟩ speed; burn up the road.

Г-6 • ГА́ЙКА ЗАСЛА́БИЛА у кого substand, rude [VP_{subj}] s.o. became very frightened, lost his nerve, behaved in a cowardly way: у X-а гайка заслабила ≃ X got cold feet; X turned yellow; X chickened out.

Г-7 • ГА́ЙКА СЛАБА́ у кого highly coll [Invar; VP_{subj} with copula; usu. pres; usu. used with infin] s.o. lacks the ability, energy, willpower etc (to undertake or accomplish sth.): гайка у X-а слаба (сделать Y) ≃ X doesn't have it in him (to do Y); X doesn't have what it takes (to do Y); X isn't made of the right stuff; [lim.] X doesn't have the guts (to do Y); X isn't man ⟨woman⟩ enough (to do Y).

Г-8 • ЗАКРУ́ЧИВАТЬ/ЗАКРУТИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАВИ́НЧИВАТЬ/ЗАВИНТИ́ТЬ⟩ ГА́ЙКИ; ПОДКРУ́ЧИВАТЬ/ПОДКРУТИ́ТЬ ГА́ЙКИ (кому) all highly coll [VP; subj: human] (usu. of a superior toward subordinates, a government toward its people, the head of a family toward other family members etc) to become more strict, oppressive with s.o.: X закрутил гайки ≃ X tightened ⟨turned⟩ the screws (on person Y); X put the screws on person Y; X cracked down (on person Y); ○ ЗАКРУ́ЧИВАНИЕ ⟨ЗАВИ́НЧИВАНИЕ⟩ ГА́ЕК [NP] ≃ screw-tightening (process); crackdown.

И ведь извне нам опять грозят — атомные бомбы, западногерманские реваншисты, все, кого пугают наши победы… И значит, опять надо закручивать гайки? (Копелев 1). And we were threatened from without also—the atom bomb, West German revanchists, everyone who was frightened by our victories. And did that mean that we had to tighten the screws again? (1a).

Г-9 • С ГА́КОМ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. used after a Num as a postmodif] (used when making an approximate estimate of some quantity or measurement, distance between two points, s.o.'s age etc) with an excess, a little more than the figure indicated: … and then some; …-odd; more than…; … or more; … plus; (just ⟨a little⟩) over…; … or better.

Дегтярёв был плотный, немного сутуловатый и мешковатый, но подвижный и энергичный мужчина лет пятидесяти с гаком, с сединой в волосах, большим мясистым носом, узловатыми руками (Кузнецов 1). Degtyaryov was a thickset, rather round-shouldered and awkwardly built but very active and energetic man of just over fifty, with greying hair, a big, fleshy nose and knobbly fists (1b). ♦ «В общем, до конца года ещё далеко, — сказал Михаил. Тысячу-то [трудодней] наколотим. И даже с гаком» (Абрамов 1). "And the end of the year's still a long way away," Mikhail had said. "We'll run up a thousand [workdays] or better" (1a).

Г-10 • ЗАКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ/ЗАЛОЖИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАЛИВА́ТЬ/ЗАЛИ́ТЬ⟩ ЗА ГА́ЛСТУК ⟨ЗА ВОРОТНИ́К⟩ euph, old-fash [VP; subj: human] to drink alcohol, usu. in considerable amounts: X закладывает за галстук ≃ X hits the bottle; X boozes (it up); X bends an elbow; X puts away a fair amount ⟨a lot⟩ of booze.

Г-11 • (И) НИКАКИ́Х ГВОЗДЕ́Й coll [these forms only; sent; usu. the concluding clause in a compound sent or indep. sent; often used after a verb denoting a command, decision etc that should be carried out; fixed WO] (used to emphasize the categorical nature of an order, the finality of a decision etc) no objection or discussion will be tolerated: and that's that; and that's final; and I ⟨he etc⟩ won't take no for an answer; and I ⟨he etc⟩ won't hear of anything else; [when used with a command] and no (ifs, ands, or) buts (about it); and no argument(s) ⟨back talk, nonsense⟩.

…Как здорово она [Яковлева] отбрила этого Бударина: «Всё, с этим вопросом покончено». И никаких гвоздей! Участвовать в нарушении закона она не может (Войнович 3). How soundly she [Yakovleva] rebuked that Budarin: "That's all, the matter is finished." And that was that! She would not be an accessory to a violation of the law (3a).

Г-12 • ГВОЗДЁМ ЗАСЕ́СТЬ ⟨СИДЕ́ТЬ⟩ В ГОЛОВЕ́ чьей, у кого ⟨В МОЗГУ́ чьём, у кого⟩ coll; ЗАСЕ́СТЬ ⟨СИДЕ́ТЬ⟩ В ГОЛОВЕ́ чьей, у кого ⟨В МОЗГУ́ чьём, у кого⟩ [VP; subj: abstr (all variants) or a clause (var. without гвоздём)] (of a persistent thought, idea etc) not to leave s.o.'s mind, to dominate s.o.'s thoughts persistently: X гвоздём сидит у Y-а в голове ≃ X preys on Y's mind; X has lodged (itself) in Y's head; X haunts Y.

[Маша:] …Не выходит у меня из головы… Просто возмутительно. Сидит гвоздём в голове, не могу молчать. Я про Андрея… Заложил он этот дом в банке, и все деньги забрала его жена, а ведь дом принадлежит не ему одному, а нам четверым! (Чехов 5). [M.:] I can't get it out of my head. It's simply disgraceful. It preys on my mind. I can't keep silent. I mean about Andrey. He's mortgaged the house to a bank, and his wife's grabbed all the money, but the house doesn't belong to him alone, does it? It belongs to all four of us (5b).

Г-13 • ГДЕ (…) НИ…; ГДЕ Б(Ы) (…) НИ…; КУДА́ (…) НИ…; КУДА́ Б(Ы) (…) НИ… [AdvP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] in or to any location: wherever; no matter where; [lim.] anywhere; anyplace; in whatever direction.

Где бы ни появлялась Тали, повсюду она вносила тот избыток жизненных сил, которыми её наградила природа (Искандер 3). Wherever Tali went, she introduced the excess of vitality that nature had conferred on her (3a).

Г-14 • ВЗЛЕТЕ́ТЬ НА ГЕЛИКО́Н obs, lit [VP; subj: human] to become a poet: X взлетел на Геликон ≃ X ascended the heights of (Mount) Helicon.

< Mount Helicon was regarded by ancient Greeks as the abode of the Muses.

Г-15 • СВА́ДЕБНЫЙ ГЕНЕРА́Л obs, now iron or humor [NP] an important, high-ranking guest at a celebration or ceremony invited to add importance to the event: a very important personage ⟨a VIP⟩; high-muck-a-muck ⟨high-muckety-muck⟩.

Г-16 • ДО́БРЫЙ ГЕ́НИЙ чей lit [NP; sing only] a person who exerts a beneficial influence on s.o., who helps, protects, and does beneficial things for s.o.: guardian angel; good fairy.

[Аллочка Токарева], почувствовавшая ко мне симпатию, была в течение всего месяца, проведённого мной на владивостокской транзитке, моим добрым гением. Она очень тактично и доброжелательно вводила меня в новый для меня мир (Гинзбург 1). [Allochka Tokareva] took a fancy to me and acted as my good fairy during the whole month that I spent in the transit camp, instructing me kindly and tactfully in the conditions of my new life (1b).

Г-17 • ЗЛОЙ ГЕ́НИЙ чей lit [NP; sing only] a person who has a strong negative influence on s.o., who causes s.o. harm: evil genius. Cf. Svengali.

Г-18 • ГЕРО́Й ⟨ГЕРОИ́НЯ⟩ ДНЯ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the person who attracts everyone's attention, is most popular at the moment: the hero ⟨the heroine, the man, the woman⟩ of the hour ⟨the day⟩; (X is) the center ⟨focus⟩ of attention; [lim.] all eyes are on X.

Я выждал минуту: тихо. Высунулся: никого. И пошёл себе, посвистывая. Спустился в проходную, предъявил дылде пропуск, смотрю — он мне честь отдаёт. Герою дня, значит. «Вольно, сержант», — говорю (Стругацкие 5). I waited a minute. Silence. Stuck out my head. Nobody. And I went on my way, whistling a tune. I went down to the lobby, showed my pass to the beanpole sergeant, and saw that he was saluting me. I guess I was the hero of the day. "At ease, sergeant," I said (5a).

Г-19 • ГЕРО́Й НЕ МОЕГО́ ⟨твоего, вашего, её⟩ РОМА́НА [NP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, male); fixed WO] some man is not the kind of man that impresses me (you, her) or that I (you, she) might fall in love with: X — герой не моего романа ≃ X is not my type (of hero); X is not my idea of a romantic hero.

Г-20 • ГИГА́НТ МЫ́СЛИ iron [NP; fixed WO] (in refer. to a person whose pretensions to intellect are unjustified) a great thinker: mental giant; mastermind; genius.

[source] «Вы знаете, кто это сидит?» — спросил Остап, показывая на Ипполита Матвеевича. «Как же, — ответил Кислярский, — это господин Воробьянинов». — «Это, — сказал Остап, — гигант мысли, отец русской демократии, особа, приближенная к императору» (Ильф и Петров 1). "Do you know who that is sitting there?" asked Ostap, pointing to Ippolit Matveyevich. "Of course," said Kislarsky. "It's Mr. Vorobyaninov." "That," said Ostap, "is the mastermind, the father of Russian democracy and a person close to the emperor" (1a).

Г-21 • ВО ГЛАВЕ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. идти, маршировать и т.п. ~ кого-чего [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect) or adv] (to walk, march etc) in front, ahead of others: at the head (of sth.); leading (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); in the lead; [lim.] in the first row.

Полгода назад он [Коля] шёл с лопатой через плечо во главе комсомольского воскресника и пел во всю глотку — а сейчас даже о боли своей не мог рассказать громче шёпота (Солженицын 10). Six months ago he [Kolya] had been striding along, a spade over his shoulder, at the head of a Young Communists' Sunday working party, singing at the top of his voice. Now he could not raise his voice above a whisper, even when talking about his pain (10a).

2. быть$_{ø}$, стоять, (в)стать и т.п. ~ [the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect) or obj-compl with поставить кого etc (obj: human or collect)] (to be) in a position of authority, (to take over) as leader (of s.o. or sth.): (be ⟨put s.o.⟩) at the head (of sth.); (be ⟨become⟩) s.o.'s leader; (be ⟨become⟩) leader of sth.; (be ⟨leave s.o. etc⟩) in charge (of sth.); take command of sth.; [lim.] take the lead (in sth.); spearhead (sth.).

По-видимому, он про себя рассуждал так: сегодня женщину поставили во главе государства, а завтра поставят во главе стола (Искандер 4). He apparently reasoned thus: Today they've put a woman at the head of the government, tomorrow they'll put her at the head of the table (4a). ♦ «Я бы, товарищи, ещё трижды подумал, оставлять ли его во главе столь ответственного участка, как Лаборатория No 4» (Аксёнов 6). "I would think twice, comrades, before leaving him in charge of such a sensitive department as Laboratory Number 4" (6a).

3. ~ с кем [the resulting PrepP is nonagreeing modif] having s.o. as leader: with s.o. at the head; under the leadership of; led ⟨headed⟩ by.

В дежурное помещение, поддерживая друг друга, явилась невероятная компания во главе с известным в городе гражданином директором санатория имени XIX партсъезда, генералом в отставке Чувиковым (Аксёнов 6). The duty room was invaded by an incredible rabble of people, supporting one another, who were led by a well-known citizen of Yalta, director of the Nineteenth Party Congress Sanatorium, retired Major-General Chuvikov (6a).

Г-22 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ⟨КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ⟩ ВО ГЛАВУ́ УГЛА́ что lit [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to consider sth. to be vital, of extremely great importance, more important than anything else: X ставит Y во главу угла ≃ X puts Y ahead of everything else; X puts Y at the top ⟨the head⟩ of the list; X assigns primary importance to Y; X considers Y (to be) of paramount importance; X gives Y top ⟨first⟩ priority; X makes Y X's top priority.

Г-23 • ГЛАЗ ДА ГЛАЗ нужен за кем-чем coll [NP; Invar; subj] s.o. or sth. should be kept under strict, constant supervision: за X-ом нужен глаз да глаз ≃ X has to be watched all the time ⟨constantly⟩; X must be closely watched; person Y must keep a close eye on ⟨a constant watch over⟩ X.

Второй период [нашей совместной жизни] ознаменовался тем, что я перестала быть добычей, украденной Европой, девчонкой, за которой нужен глаз да глаз. Нас стало двое (Мандельштам 2). The noteworthy thing about this second period [of our life together] was that he [Mandelstam] ceased to treat me as a prize he had carried off, a Europa abducted by Zeus, a little girl who had to be watched all the time. We now became a real couple (2a).

Г-24 • ГЛАЗ НАМЁТАН ⟨НАБИ́Т⟩ чей, у кого, в чём, на чём; НАМЁТАННЫЙ ГЛА́З (у кого) all coll [these forms only (variants with short-form Part); NP, sing only (var. with long-form Part); VP_{subj} with copula (all variants) or subj or indir obj (last var.)] s.o. has experience and skill in some area and can easily evaluate things within that area (with regard to their classification, worth etc) just by looking at them: у X-а (в Y-е) глаз намётан ≃ X has a trained ⟨practiced, experienced⟩ eye; X has an eye ⟨a good eye⟩ for Y.

Тут только дядя Сандро обратил внимание на то, что сидящие за столом уже порядочно выпили. Теперь он присмотрелся к ним своим намётанным глазом и определил, что выпито уже по двенадцать-тринадцать фужеров (Искандер 3). Only now did Uncle Sandro turn his attention to the fact that those sitting at the table had had a great deal to drink. Now he trained his experienced eye on them and determined that they had already consumed twelve to thirteen glasses apiece (3a).

Г-25 • ДУРНО́Й ГЛАЗ coll; ХУДО́Й ⟨ЧЁРНЫЙ⟩ ГЛАЗ obsoles, coll [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] (a look believed to have) the power to bring harm or bad luck to the recipient: the evil eye; || отвести дурной глаз ≃ avert ⟨ward off⟩ the evil eye.

«…Мать Фреда говорила, помнится, что у них [мокрецов] дурной глаз… и что накликают они нам войну, мор и голод…» (Стругацкие 1). "I remember Fred's mother saying that they [the slimies] had the evil eye… and that they'd bring us war, pestilence, and famine" (1a).

Г-26 • ЛАСКА́ТЬ ГЛАЗ ⟨ВЗОР⟩ [VP; subj: concr; usu. pres or past] to be pleasant to look at: X ласкает глаз ≃ X pleases ⟨is pleasing to⟩ the eye.

Где-то вдалеке море сливалось с небом, всё вокруг ласкало глаз. Somewhere in the distance the sea drifted into the sky, and everything around pleased the eye.

Г-27 • НА ГЛАЗ ⟨НА ГЛАЗО́К⟩ определять, прикидывать [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to measure sth., judge the size of sth. etc) just by looking and approximating, without using any measuring devices: (measure ⟨judge etc⟩ sth.) by eye; (determine ⟨measure etc⟩ sth.) by eyeballing it; (tell) by looking; [the equivalent incorporates both the idiom and the verb it collocates with] eyeball (sth.).

«Я и так на глаз вижу, сколько там пудов в мешках!» (Искандер 5). "Anyway, I can tell by looking how many pounds there are in the sacks!" (5a).

Г-28 • НАСКО́ЛЬКО ⟨КУДА́, СКО́ЛЬКО⟩ ХВАТА́ЕТ ⟨ХВАТА́Л⟩ ГЛАЗ; НАСКО́ЛЬКО ⟨КУДА́, СКО́ЛЬКО⟩ ХВАТА́ЛО ГЛАЗ ⟨ГЛА́ЗА, ГЛА́ЗУ⟩ [VP_{subj} or VP, impers; used as subord clause; more often this WO] for the whole distance that can be seen: as far as the eye can ⟨could⟩ see.

Насколько хватало глазу, поле было засыпано людьми и узлами (Федин 1). As far as the eye could see the field was scattered with people and bundles (1a).

Г-29 • НЕ КАЗА́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/НЕ ПОКАЗА́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗ (куда, к кому) coll [VP; subj: human] not to visit s.o., not to go or come to some place: X (к Y-у ⟨в место Z⟩) глаз не кажет ≃ X hasn't shown his face (at Y's place ⟨in place Z⟩); X doesn't show himself at Y's place ⟨in place Z⟩; X hasn't been to see Y ⟨to place Z, in place Z⟩; X is keeping away from Y; || ты что ⟨почему⟩ глаз не кажешь? ≃ where have you been hiding ⟨keeping⟩ yourself?

«Забыли совсем, Лев Львович, старика. Вторую неделю глаз не кажете» (Максимов 3). "Thought you'd quite forgotten an old man, Lev Lvovich. Haven't shown your face for over a week now" (3a). ♦ В Рубежин приехали к обеду. Фомин действительно оказался дома. Он встретил Петра по-хорошему… «Ты что-то, односум, и глаз не кажешь», — говорил Фомин протяжно, приятным баском… (Шолохов 4). They reached Rubezhin at dinnertime. Fomin was indeed at home. He greeted Petro affably…. "Where've you been hiding yourself, chum?" Fomin drawled in his pleasant bass… (4a).

Г-30 • НЕ ОСУША́ТЬ ГЛАЗ lit [VP; subj: human] to weep unconsolably for a long period of time, cry much: X не осушает глаз ≃ X is crying his eyes ⟨heart⟩ out; X keeps crying all the time; X is in tears all the time; X has been crying ⟨weeping etc⟩ for days ⟨hours etc⟩ (without drying his eyes ⟨without stopping, nonstop⟩).

Когда Василий содержался в части, Маша по целым дням, не осушая глаз, жаловалась на свою горькую судьбу Гаше… и, презирая брань и побои своего дяди, потихоньку бегала в полицию навещать и утешать своего друга… (Толстой 2). When Vasily was being kept in detention, Masha wept for whole days without drying her eyes, complained of her bitter fate to Gasha… and, scorning her uncle's abuse and blows, ran to the police station in secret in order to visit and console her friend (2b).

Г-31 • НЕ ОТРЫВА́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ОТВОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗ от кого-чего [VP; subj: human] to look at s.o. or sth. intently, steadily: X не отрывал глаз от Y-а ≃ X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ take his eyes ⟨gaze⟩ off Y; X kept his eyes on Y (the whole time); X's eyes were fixed on ⟨glued to⟩ Y; X kept his eyes fixed on ⟨glued to⟩ Y; X didn't remove his eyes from Y.

(Входит Треплев и садится на скамеечке у ног Сорина. Маша всё время не отрывает от него глаз.) [Дорн:] Мы мешаем Константину Гавриловичу работать. [Треплев:] Нет, ничего (Чехов 6). (Enter Treplev. He sits on a stool at Sorin's feet. Masha never takes her eyes off him.) [D.:] We're keeping Konstantin Gavrilovich from his work. [T.:] No,that's all right (6d). ♦ …Я

вкушал жареного судака, не отрывая глаз от вашего романа (Акунин 2). …I was eating my grilled zander with my eyes glued to your novel (2a).

Г-32 • НЕ СВОДИ́ТЬ ⟨НЕ СПУСКА́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДА, ВЗО́РА⟩ с кого-чего [VP; subj: human] 1. to look at s.o. or sth. closely, steadily: X не сводил глаз с Y-а ≃ X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ take his eyes ⟨gaze⟩ off Y; X kept his eyes on Y (the whole time); X's eyes were fixed on ⟨glued to⟩ Y; X was eyeing Y intently; X didn't remove his eyes from Y.

Мне было вовсе свободно идти в шагах трёх, не спуская взгляда с той девушки… (Набоков 1). I was quite free to walk at about three paces distance without taking my gaze off that girl… (1a). ♦ Азазелло… одетый, как и Воланд, в чёрное, неподвижно стоял невдалеке от своего повелителя, так же как и он не спуская глаз с города (Булгаков 9). Azazello… dressed in black like Woland, stood motionless not far from his master, his eyes also fixed on the city (9a).

2. to observe, watch s.o. or sth. carefully, closely: X не спускал глаз с Y-а ≃ X kept an eye ⟨a close eye⟩ on Y; X kept (a) constant watch on ⟨over⟩ Y; X didn't let Y out of X's sight; X kept (close) tabs on Y; X watched person Y's every move.

…Один из юнкеров стоял на часах у двери, не спуская глаз с мотоциклетки у подъезда… (Булгаков 3). A cadet stood on guard at the door keeping constant watch on the motor-cycle and sidecar parked outside… (3a). ♦ «Если ты вылетишь из Новосибирска утром, то как раз успеешь встретить Реваза Давидовича. Встретишь и — глаз с него не спускай» (Чернёнок 1). "If you leave Novosibirsk in the morning, you'll get there in time to meet Revaz Davidovich. Meet him and don't let him out of your sight" (1a).

Г-33 • НЕ СМЫКА́ТЬ/НЕ СОМКНУ́ТЬ ГЛАЗ [VP; subj: human] not to sleep at all or not be able to fall asleep: X не сомкнул глаз ≃ X didn't ⟨couldn't⟩ sleep a wink; X didn't have ⟨get⟩ a wink of sleep; X didn't get any sleep (at all); X kept ⟨stayed⟩ awake; [lim.] X couldn't get back to sleep.

Всю ночь мы не смыкали глаз. Мы счастливы возвращением к людям (Гинзбург 1). That night, neither of us slept a wink. We were happy to be among people again… (1a).

Г-34 • не мочь, не в силах, нельзя и т.п. ОТОРВА́ТЬ ⟨ОТВЕСТИ́⟩ ГЛАЗ от кого-чего; НЕ ОТОРВА́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ОТВЕСТИ́⟩ ГЛАЗ [VP; these forms only; infin compl of не мочь, не в силах etc (subj: human), infin compl of нельзя etc (impers), or neg infin used as impers predic] (to be unable) to stop looking at s.o. or sth. (usu. because of his or its beauty, power to captivate, transfix etc): X не мог оторвать глаз от Y-а ≃ X couldn't take his eyes ⟨gaze⟩ off Y; X couldn't tear himself away from Y.

Приближение весны сказывалось только в совершенно ослепительном великолепии чистого снега и в разноцветном сверкании на нём солнечных лучей. От этого зрелища нельзя было оторвать глаз (Гинзбург 1). The only sign of the approach of spring was the blinding splendour of the clean snow and the iridescent play of the sun's rays on it. One couldn't take one's eyes off it… (1a).

Г-35 • ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ГЛАЗ на кого highly coll [VP; subj: human (more often male)] to become actively interested in s.o., pay special attention to s.o. (often in refer. to one's being physically attracted to s.o. and desiring an intimate relationship with him or her): X (давно) положил глаз на Y-а ≃ X took notice ⟨note⟩ of Y (quite a while ago); X has been keeping an eye on Y (for quite a while); [in refer. to one's being physically attracted to s.o.] X has had his eye on Y (for quite a while); X took a fancy to Y (quite a while ago); X has had a yen for Y (for quite a while).

А Иосиф вернулся из армии в семнадцатом, и вот рядом красивая молодая солдатка без мужа, Иосиф, естественно, положил на неё глаз… (Рыбаков 1). Now, Yosif came back from the army in 1917, and there, living right next door, was a soldier's pretty young wife, minus a husband. Naturally, Yosif had his eye on her (1a).

Г-36 • РА́ДИ ⟨ДЛЯ⟩ ПРЕКРА́СНЫХ ГЛАЗ чьих, кого; ЗА ПРЕКРА́СНЫЕ ⟨КРАСИ́ВЫЕ⟩ ГЛАЗА́ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) simply out of a desire to help s.o., without being motivated by self-interest: out of sheer goodness of heart; out of the goodness of one's heart; out of sheer kindness; just to please (s.o.).

Едва ли Анфим благодетельствует Ларисе Фёдоровне ради её прекрасных глаз (Пастернак 1). It was hardly likely that Samdeviatov helped Lara out of sheer goodness of heart (1a).

Г-37 • РА́ДОВАТЬ ГЛАЗ ⟨ВЗОР⟩ [VP; subj: concr; usu. pres or past] to be pleasant to look at: X радует глаз ≃ X is delightful ⟨a pleasure⟩ to behold; X is a feast ⟨a treat⟩ for the eye(s); X pleases ⟨gladdens⟩ the eye; X delights one's eyes.

[author's usage] «…Наш город издревле прославлен своими базарами, банями, портом, крепостью, храмом Великому Весовщику и многими другими радующими глаза делами рук человеческих» (Искандер 5). "Our city has been famed from earliest times for its bazaars, baths, harbor, fort, temple to the Great Weighmaster, and many other works of man delightful to behold" (5a).

Г-38 • С БЕЗУ́МНЫХ ГЛАЗ obs, substand [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] in a state of extreme agitation or complete loss of self-control: in one's madness ⟨crazed state⟩; having gone mad; having lost one's head.

[Расплюев:] Однако не качнул бы он [Кречинский] меня с безумных-то глаз… (Сухово-Кобылин 2) [R.:] I better be on the lookout or he'll [Krechinsky will] do me in… in his madness… (2a).

Г-39 • С ГЛАЗ ДОЛО́Й ⟨С ГЛАЗ (чьих)⟩ уходить, прогонять кого, убирать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (both variants) or indep. sent (1st var.); fixed WO] (to go, send s.o., take sth. etc) away from some person, so that one (s.o. or sth.) will not be in view of that person; or (to go, send s.o., take sth. etc) away from some place, so that one (s.o. or sth.) will not be present at that place: [of a person] уйти ⟨убраться и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ get out of sight; make o.s. scarce; || уходи ⟨убирайся⟩ ~! ≃ (get) out of my sight!; get ⟨clear⟩ out (of here)!; || прогнать кого ~ ≃ get s.o. out of one's ⟨another's⟩ sight; see to it that s.o. is kicked out of some place; || [of a thing] убрать что ~ ≃ get ⟨put⟩ sth. out of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ sight; remove sth. from sight ⟨view⟩.

«Ступай, ступай себе только с глаз моих! Бог с тобой!» — говорил бедный Тентетников… (Гоголь 3). "Go, go now, only get out of my sight," poor Tentetnikov would say… (3c).

Г-40 • С ГЛАЗ ДОЛО́Й — ИЗ СЕ́РДЦА ВОН [saying] when you do not see s.o. for a long time, you forget about him, stop thinking about him (occas. used as a reproach to a person who fails to keep in contact with one): ≃ out of sight, out of mind; seldom seen, soon forgotten.

«…Ты меня послушай, хоть я и старая и неучёная… Капкан, Евгенья, капкан [во]круг тебя вьётся… Беги, покуда цела… С глаз долой — из сердца вон!» (Гинзбург 1). “You listen to me even though I’m old and ignorant. They’re setting a trap for you, Genia, and you’d better run while you still can…. ‘Out of sight, out of mind’…” (1b).

Г-41 • С ПЬЯ́НЫХ ГЛАЗ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] in a state of intoxication: (being ⟨when, because one is⟩) drunk ⟨smashed, loaded, tight, in his cups etc⟩.

«Ну что ж, идти как идти, — сказал Мольер, — но вот в чём дело, друзья. Нехорошо топиться ночью после ужина, потому что люди скажут, что мы сделали это с пьяных глаз» (Булгаков 5). “Well, if that’s what we are going to do, let’s do it,” said Molière. “But there’s one thing that troubles me, my friends. It isn’t right for us to drown ourselves at night, after supper. People will say we did it because we were drunk” (5a). ♦ «Бока ему наломать надо! С пьяных глаз зашёл к нам — Лизавету за него отдайте» (Абрамов 1). “I’ve got to crack a few ribs for him! He comes to our house in his cups: ‘Give me Lizaveta to marry,’ he says” (1a).

Г-42 • СВОЙ ГЛАЗ — АЛМА́З (, А ЧУЖО́Й — СТЕКЛО́); СВОЙ ГЛАЗ ⟨ГЛАЗО́К⟩ — СМОТРО́К [saying] it is preferable to see sth. oneself and make one’s own conclusions, as opposed to relying on another’s interpretation of it: ≃ your own eye is the best spy; it is better to trust the eye than the ear; one eye has more faith than two ears.

…[Коровьев] выложил председателю пять новеньких банковских пачек. Произошло подсчитывание, пересыпаемое шуточками и прибаутками Коровьева, вроде «денежка счёт любит», «свой глазок — смотрок» и прочего такого же (Булгаков 9). …He [Koroviev] stacked five bundles of new bank notes before the chairman. There was a careful count, interspersed with Koroviev’s little quips and pleasantries, such as “money loves to be counted,” “your own eye is the best spy,” and so on in the same vein (9a).

Г-43 • СКРЫВА́ТЬСЯ/СКРЫ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ИСЧЕЗА́ТЬ/ИСЧЕ́ЗНУТЬ⟩ ИЗ ГЛАЗ ⟨ИЗ ВИ́ДА, ЙЗ ВИДУ⟩; СКРЫВА́ТЬСЯ/СКРЫ́ТЬСЯ С ГЛАЗ [VP; subj: human, animal, or concr] to cease to be visible: X скрылся из глаз ≃ X disappeared from sight ⟨from view⟩; X passed out of sight ⟨out of view⟩; X vanished from sight; X faded ⟨receded⟩ from view.

Я следил за ней [девушкой], пока она со своими спутницами не скрылась из глаз (Искандер 6). I followed her [the girl] with my eyes until she and her companions had disappeared from sight (6a).

Г-44 • ХОТЬ ГЛАЗ ⟨ГЛАЗА́⟩ ВЫ́КОЛИ ⟨КОЛИ́ obsoles⟩ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; usu. subord clause after темно, темнота, тьма etc; fixed WO] (there is) total darkness, absolutely nothing is visible: (it’s) pitch-black; (it’s) pitch-dark; (it’s) so dark (that) you can’t see your hand before ⟨in front of⟩ your face.

На дворе было темно, хоть глаз выколи. Тяжёлые, холодные тучи лежали на вершинах окрестных гор… (Лермонтов 1). It was pitch black outside. The mountains were capped by cold, heavy clouds… (1c). ♦ Я вышел из кибитки. Буран ещё продолжался, хотя с меньшею силою. Было так темно, что хоть глаз выколи (Пушкин 2). I stepped out of the wagon. The blizzard was still blowing, though with lesser force by now. It was pitch-dark: you couldn’t see your hand before your face (2a).

Г-45 • БИТЬ В ГЛАЗА́ (кому) [VP; subj: concr or abstr] to stand out to such an extent that one cannot fail to notice it: X бьёт (Y-у) в глаза ≃ Y cannot help noticing ⟨but notice⟩ X; [lim.] X is striking; [in limited contexts; of things that evoke a negative reaction from the speaker] X is hard on the eyes; X hurts the eye(s).

…Город никак не уступал другим губернским городам: сильно била в глаза жёлтая краска на каменных домах и скромно темнела серая на деревянных (Гоголь 3). [The town] in no way yielded to the other provincial towns—the paint on the stone houses was the usual yellow and just as hard on the eyes, while the paint on the wooden houses showed as a modestly dark gray, quite unexceptional (3a).

Г-46 • БРОСА́ТЬСЯ/БРО́СИТЬСЯ ⟨КИДА́ТЬСЯ/КИ́НУТЬСЯ⟩ В ГЛАЗА́ (кому) [VP] 1. ~ (чем) [subj: usu. concr or human] to attract s.o.’s gaze, be noticed because of one’s or its prominence: X бросался в глаза ≃ X caught the eye; X was striking ⟨conspicuous⟩; one couldn’t help but notice ⟨one couldn’t help noticing⟩ X; || Y-у бросился в глаза X ≃ X caught Y’s eye; X struck Y’s eye; Y couldn’t help but notice ⟨Y couldn’t help noticing, Y couldn’t help but see⟩ X; || первым Y-у в глаза бросился X ≃ X was the first (person ⟨thing⟩) to meet ⟨catch⟩ Y’s eye; || Neg X не бросается в глаза ≃ X is inconspicuous; [lim.] person X keeps a low profile.

Остальные [красноармейцы] были бледны, безличны. Один он бросался в глаза дюжим складом плеч и татарским энергичным лицом (Шолохов 4). The others [the Red Army men] were a pale, faceless lot. Only he caught the eye with his massive shoulders and energetic Tatar face (4a). ♦ Иногда он выглядел много старше: бросались в глаза отёки, болезненная серость кожи, сутулость… (Эренбург 4). Sometimes he looked much older. One could not help noticing the dropsical puffiness, the morbid greyness of his skin, and the stoop of his shoulders (4a). ♦ …Monsieur Перси не был шумным человеком, даже наоборот — был бессловесен, тих и не бросался в глаза (Федин 1). …Monsieur Percy was not a noisy man, he was even, on the contrary, wordless, quiet and inconspicuous (1a).

2. [subj: usu. abstr] (of a personality trait, an aspect of some phenomenon etc) to attract attention to itself by being prominent: X бросался (Y-у) в глаза ≃ X was striking ⟨evident, apparent⟩; X struck Y; Y was struck by X; Y couldn’t help noticing ⟨but notice⟩ X.

Также в европейском искусстве бросается в глаза графичность, геометрическая терпкость, колючесть изображения (Терц 3). Also striking in European art is its graphic quality, its geometric starkness, its trenchant way of depicting things (3a). ♦ Даже при беглом чтении [«Доктора Живаго»] в глаза бросается много самоповторений, или, вернее, авто-цитат (Гладков 1). Even on a cursory reading [of Doctor Zhivago] one is struck by the number of times he repeats things he has said somewhere else before… (1a).

Г-47 • В ГЛАЗА́ кому говорить что, смеяться, лгать, называть кого чем, хвалить, бранить кого и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to say sth., laugh at s.o., lie to s.o., call s.o. sth., praise s.o., scold s.o. etc) openly, directly addressing the person in question: (right ⟨straight⟩) to s.o.’s face; (laugh) in s.o.’s face; (tell s.o. sth.) face to face.

Если бы Т. кто-нибудь назвал в глаза лицемером, он искренно огорчился бы (Гладков 1). If anyone had ever called T. a hypocrite to his face, he would have been genuinely shocked (1a). ♦ «Они за глаза всякую ерунду говорят, а в глаза смеются» (Сологуб 1). “They spread all sorts of scandal behind your back and then laugh in your face” (1a).

Г-48 • ВО ВСЕ ГЛАЗА́ ⟨В О́БА ГЛА́ЗА rare⟩ смотреть, глядеть на кого-что coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to look, stare at s.o. or sth.) with one’s full attention, completely absorbed in what is happening, intensely, trying not to miss anything: (be ⟨look at s.o., stare at sth. etc⟩) all eyes; (stare etc at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) wide-eyed ⟨with wide-open eyes⟩; (look) hard (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); fix one's eyes (on s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (look etc at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with rapt attention.

Видимо, он [человек с лопатой] так был поражён, что товарищ Сталин вдруг оказался в такой близости от него, что, забыв про все инструкции, открыто, во все глаза смотрел на него (Искандер 3). Evidently he [the man with the shovel] was so thrilled that Comrade Stalin had suddenly appeared so close to him that he forgot all his instructions and stared at him openly, all eyes (3a). ♦ «Да разве после одного счастья бывает другое, потом третье, такое же?» — спрашивала она, глядя на него во все глаза (Гончаров 1). "Do you really think that one happiness is followed by another, and then a third, exactly like it?" she asked, looking at him wide-eyed (1b).

Г-49 • (ВСЕ) ГЛАЗА́ ПРОГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ ⟨ПРОСМОТРЕ́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: (ВСЕ) ГЛАЗА́ ВЫ́СМОТРЕТЬ coll to exhaust o.s. by staring into the distance for a long time in anticipation of the arrival of s.o. or sth.: X все глаза проглядел ≃ X has ⟨had⟩ worn himself out watching for person Y; X's eyes were tired from watching the door ⟨the horizon etc⟩; [lim.] X had his eyes on ⟨fixed on, glued to⟩ the door the whole time; X kept watching the door the whole time.

[Варвара Капитоновна:] Вот вы, Вероника!.. Здравствуйте, здравствуйте! Боренька все глаза на двери просмотрел (Розов 3). [V.K.:] Veronika, here you are!… Hello, hello! Borenka kept watching the door the whole time (3a).

2. ~ (на кого-что) obsoles to look at s.o. steadily, constantly (out of interest, because of emotional attachment etc): X все глаза проглядел (на Y-а) ≃ X couldn't ⟨didn't⟩ take his eyes off (of) Y; X never took his eyes off (of) Y.

[Курчаев:] Тетка в вас влюблена… [Глумов:] Каким же это образом? [Курчаев:] В театре видела, все глаза проглядела… (Островский 9). [K.:] …My aunt is… in love with you. [G.:] How did that happen? [K.:] She saw you at the theatre, couldn't take her eyes off of you… (9b).

Г-50 • ВЫ́ПЛАКАТЬ ⟨ПРОПЛА́КАТЬ⟩ (ВСЕ) ГЛАЗА́ coll [VP; subj: human, usu. female] to cry a lot, to the point where one can cry no more: X выплакала все глаза ≃ X cried her eyes ⟨heart⟩ out; X cried herself out; X had no more tears (left) to cry ⟨weep⟩.

Через четыре месяца бедная Маяна, бросив школу, внезапно возвратилась домой, неся в руке свой красный фанерный чемодан, а в животе плод от этого ужасного хитреца. Тёте Маше кое-как удалось замять эту историю, и бедняга Маяна, выплакав все глаза, поняла, что на богатыря теперь нечего рассчитывать (Искандер 4). Four months later poor Mayana quit school and suddenly returned home, carrying the red plywood suitcase in her hand and the child of this terrible deceiver in her belly. Aunt Masha somehow managed to hush up the story, and poor Mayana, after crying her eyes out, came to understand that she must give up hope for her hero (4a).

Г-51 • ГЛАЗА́ БЕ́ГАЮТ [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] 1. ~ чьи, (у) кого disapprov s.o. glances rapidly in different directions in order to avoid looking directly into another's eyes (usu. because he fears that eye contact will betray his guilt, fraudulence etc): глаза у X-а бегали ≃ X had shifty ⟨darting⟩ eyes; X's eyes darted ⟨kept darting about⟩; X's eyes were never still.

…Взгляд [Лёвы] оттого был подозрительным, что глазки автора бегали… (Битов 2). …Lyova's glance was suspicious because the author had shifty eyes (2a). ♦ В чёрной бороде его показывалась проседь; живые большие глаза так и бегали (Пушкин 2). His black beard was beginning to go grey; his large lively eyes were for ever darting about (2b). There were streaks of grey in his black beard; his large, lively eyes were never still (2c).

2. ГЛАЗА́ чьи, кого БЕ́ГАЮТ по чему. Also: БЕ́ГАТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ по чему [VP; subj: human] s.o. moves his eyes quickly over (some place, text etc) in the process of surveying it, trying to get a general picture of what is there etc: X-овы глаза бегали по месту Y ⟨по Y-ам⟩ ≃ X's eyes darted ⟨shot, roamed⟩ around place Y ⟨from one Y to another⟩; X's eyes strayed about place Y; [in refer. to a text] X's eyes ran quickly over the lines ⟨along the lines, down the page etc⟩.

Он медленно проводил своими длинными пальцами по бакенбардам, а глаза его бегали по углам (Тургенев 2). He was slowly stroking his long side whiskers while his eyes were roaming around the room (2g). He slowly passed his fingers over his side whiskers, while his eyes strayed about the room (2b).

Г-52 • ГЛАЗА́ БЫ (МОЙ) НЕ ГЛЯДЕ́ЛИ ⟨НЕ СМОТРЕ́ЛИ⟩ (на кого-что); ГЛАЗА́ БЫ (МОЙ) НЕ ВИДА́ЛИ ⟨НЕ ВИ́ДЕЛИ⟩ (кого-чего) all coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; usu. this WO] it is unpleasant, painful, or disgusting to look (at s.o. or sth.): глаза бы (мои) не глядели на X-а ≃ I don't even want to see ⟨to look at⟩ X; I can't stand the sight of X; X is not a pretty sight; it's no sight for my eyes.

Утром [Марья] встанет, заткнет космы за плат и пошла растрёпа растрёпой. Ворот рубахи не застёгнут, груди болтаются, крест на грязном гайтане болтается — глаза бы не глядели (Абрамов 1). She [Marya] would get up in the morning, tuck her mane under a scarf and go around looking like a blowzy slut. The neck of her shirt undone, her breasts flopping around, her cross bobbing on its filthy strap: not a pretty sight (1a).

Г-53 • ГЛАЗА́ В ГЛАЗА́ видеть кого-что, столкнуться с кем и т.п.; ЛИЦО́ В ЛИЦО́ [Invar; sent adv or non-agreeing modif] (to see s.o. or sth.) right by, close up, (to run) directly, right (into one another etc): face to face.

…И ему самому доводилось не раз бывать понятым при арестах, просто он никогда не предполагал, что вот такая, глаза в глаза, встреча с ними посреди безлюдной степи может так жгуче и горестно в нём отозваться… (Максимов 3). He had been called on more than once to witness an arrest himself. But he had never imagined that an encounter like this, face to face on the empty steppe, would affect him so painfully (3a).

Г-54 • ГЛАЗА́ НА ЗАТЫ́ЛКЕ у кого coll, humor [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$, pres only] 1. (in refer. to an inattentive, absent-minded person) s.o. is not watching, paying attention to what he is doing or what is going on around him: у X-а глаза на затылке ≃ X is out of it; X's mind is somewhere else; || [in questions only] у тебя что, глаза на затылке? ≃ what, are you daydreaming ⟨woolgathering⟩?

…Абесаломон Нартович не был бы Абесаломоном Нартовичем, если бы он, написав книгу о певчих птицах Абхазии, не внёс бы в неё нечто такое, от чего у специалиста глаза полезут на лоб… (Искандер 4). …Abesalomon Nartovich would not have been Abesalomon Nartovich if, in writing a book about the songbirds of Abkhazia, he had failed to insert something that would make a specialist's eyes start from his head… (4a).

Г-56 • ГЛАЗА́ НА МО́КРОМ МЕ́СТЕ (у кого) coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; Invar; fixed WO (except in questions)] s.o. cries often, is inclined to cry, or is ready to start crying: у X-а глаза (всегда) на мокром месте ≃ X is (always) on the verge of tears; X is (always) ready to burst into tears; X is (always) ready to turn on the waterworks; X is one for turning on the waterworks; [in reference to s.o.'s state at a given moment] X is about to cry ⟨to burst into tears⟩; X's eyes are brimming ⟨filled⟩ with tears.

[Трилецкий:] Будем теперь плакать… Кстати, глаза на мокром месте… (Чехов 1). [T.:] Now we're going to cry—we've always been one for turning on the waterworks, haven't we? (1b).

Г-57 • ГЛАЗА́ НАВЫ́КАТ(Е) [NP; pl only] eyes that jut out: protruding ⟨bulging⟩ eyes.

Наш замполит, капитан Сазонов, — типичный замполит, тупой, обрюзгший, с красной бычьей шеей и глазами навыкате, — был особенно ревнив (Буковский 1). Captain Sazonov, a typical commissar—stupid, flabby, with a red bull neck and bulging eyes—was the most jealous of all (1a).

Г-58 • ГЛАЗА́ НЕ ОСУША́ЮТСЯ чьи, у кого [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] s.o. is unable to or does not stop crying: глаза X-овы не осушаются ≃ X cannot stop the tears; the tears keep coming; the tears keep ⟨won't stop⟩ flowing from X's eyes; X keeps on ⟨cannot stop⟩ crying.

Г-59 • ГЛАЗА́ (чьи) НЕ ОТРЫВА́ЮТСЯ от кого-чего; ВЗГЛЯД (чей) НЕ ОТРЫВА́ЕТСЯ [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. looks at s.o. or sth. steadily, intently: X-овы глаза не отрываются от Y-а ≃ X does not ⟨cannot⟩ take his eyes ⟨gaze⟩ off Y; X's eyes are ⟨X's gaze is⟩ fixed on Y; X's eyes are glued to Y.

Г-60 • ГЛАЗА́ НЕ ПРОСЫХА́ЮТ у кого [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] s.o. is constantly crying: у X-а глаза не просыхают ≃ X never stops crying; X cries nonstop; X (just) keeps on crying.

Г-61 • ГЛАЗА́ ОТКРЫВА́ЮТСЯ/ОТКРЫ́ЛИСЬ у кого (на что) [VP_{subj}; more often pfv] having rid himself of delusions or misconceptions, s.o. begins to understand the situation as it really is: у X-а открылись глаза (на Y) ≃ X's eyes have been opened (to Y); X's eyes are wide open ⟨have been opened wide⟩; the scales fell ⟨have fallen⟩ from X's eyes.

[Войницкий:] …Теперь у меня открылись глаза! Я всё вижу! Пишешь ты об искусстве, но ничего не понимаешь в искусстве! (Чехов 3). [V.:] …Now my eyes have been opened. Everything's perfectly clear. You write about art, but you haven't the faintest idea what art is all about (3c). [V.:] …Now my eyes are wide open! I see everything! You write on art, but you don't know the first thing about it! (3b).

Г-62 • как, стыдно, страшно и т.п. ГЛАЗА́ ПОКАЗА́ТЬ кому куда coll [VP; subj: human; usu. infin, used as subj (with стыдно, страшно etc), in infin clause (after как), or as infin compl of не мочь etc] s.o. is ashamed to appear somewhere: X-у стыдно глаза показать (в место Y) ≃ X can't ⟨is ashamed to, is afraid to, doesn't dare to⟩ show his face (in place Y); X can't face person Z.

[Анна Петровна:] Мне теперь глаза показать никуда нельзя (Островский 1). [A.P.:] I can't show my face anywhere now (1b).

Г-63 • ГЛАЗА́ РАЗБЕГА́ЮТСЯ/РАЗБЕЖА́ЛИСЬ (у кого от чего) coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. cannot concentrate visually or fix his gaze on any one thing, owing to a great number and diversity of objects, impressions etc: у X-а глаза разбегаются (от Y-ов) ≃ X doesn't know ⟨X scarcely knows⟩ where to look (first ⟨next⟩); X doesn't know ⟨scarcely knows⟩ which way to look; X doesn't know ⟨X scarcely knows⟩ what ⟨whom⟩ to look at first ⟨next⟩; X is dizzied by the multitude of Ys; it's more ⟨there are more Ys⟩ than the eyes can take in.

В ослепительных белых и чёрных лимузинах ехали, весело разговаривая, офицеры в высоких картузах с серебром. У нас с Шуркой разбежались глаза и захватило дыхание (Кузнецов 1). The officers in their tall peaked caps with silver braid travelled in dazzling black and white limousines, chatting cheerfully among themselves. We, Shurka and I, caught our breath and scarcely knew where to look next (1b). ♦ …У случайного посетителя Грибоедова начинали разбегаться глаза от надписей, пестревших на ореховых тёткиных дверях… (Булгаков 9). …The chance visitor at Griboyedov's was all but dizzied by the multitude of signs peppering the aunt's heavy walnut doors… (9a).

Г-64 • ГЛАЗА́ ⟨(ГЛАЗА́ И) ЗУ́БЫ⟩ РАЗГОРЕ́ЛИСЬ у кого (на что) coll, occas. disapprov or humor [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] s.o. has developed a strong desire to obtain, appropriate sth.: у X-а глаза разгорелись на Y ≃ X has his heart set on Y; X has his sights (set) on Y; X has his eye on Y; X is dying ⟨itching⟩ to get Y.

Г-65 • ГЛАЗА́ СЛИПА́ЮТСЯ ⟨ЗАКРЫВА́ЮТСЯ⟩ чьи, у кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. wants to sleep very badly: у X-а глаза слипаются ≃ X can't ⟨can hardly, can barely, can scarcely⟩ keep his eyes open; X's eyes won't stay open; X's eyelids are drooping ⟨heavy⟩.

…Почему прежде, бывало, с восьми часов вечера у ней слипаются глаза, а в девять… она ложится — и уже никакая пушка не разбудит её до шести часов? (Гончаров 1). …Why was it that before, she could hardly keep her eyes open at eight o'clock in the evening… she used to go to bed at nine, and a cannon could not have wakened her till six o'clock in the morning? (1a).

Делая большие глаза… Елена Павловна рассказывала, что солдаты совсем не пленных ищут, а грабят… (Кузнецов 1).

Wide-eyed… Yelena Pavlovna related that the soldiers were not looking for prisoners at all, but simply plundering (1a).

Г-68 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ СТРА́ШНЫЕ ГЛАЗА́ ⟨СТРА́ШНОЕ ЛИЦО́⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to express one's fear, relay a warning to s.o., alert s.o. to some threat etc through the look in one's eyes or on one's face: X сделал страшные глаза ≃ X gave (person Y) a look ⟨a glance⟩ of warning; X gave (person Y) a warning look ⟨glance⟩; X gave (person Y) a menacing ⟨dreadful⟩ look; X darted a dreadful look (at person or thing Y); X made a terrifying face.

Хозяин переводил и, делая страшные глаза, косился на щёлкающую камчу, но дядя Сандро предпочел не заметить намёка (Искандер 3). The host translated, darting dreadful looks at the flicking quirt, but uncle Sandro preferred not to take the hint (3a).

Г-69 • ЗА ГЛАЗА́[1] [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. ~ называть кого кем-чем, говорить что о ком, смеяться над кем и т.п. (to call s.o. sth., say sth. about s.o., laugh at s.o.) in s.o.'s absence: behind s.o.'s back; not to s.o.'s face; when s.o. isn't around ⟨present⟩.

Лицо у неё, как всегда, было спокойным и немного сонным. За глаза её называли «Мадам Флегма» (Аржак 1). Her face was as always calm and a little sleepy. Behind her back they called her "Lady Phlegmatic" (1a).

2. ~ купить, снять что, нанять кого и т.п. (to buy, rent, hire etc) without seeing sth. or meeting s.o. first: sight unseen; without even having set ⟨laid⟩ eyes on (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩).

«Куда изволите вы ехать?» — спросил он [Дубровский] его [француза]. «В ближний город, — отвечал француз, — откуда отправляюсь к одному помещику, который нанял меня за глаза в учители» (Пушкин 1). "Where you are going?" he [Dubrovsky] asked him [the Frenchman]. "To the next town," the Frenchman replied, "and from there to the estate of a landowner who has engaged me as a tutor without ever having set eyes on me" (1b). [context transl] "May I ask where you are going?" he [Dubrovsky] asked. "To the nearest town," the Frenchman replied, "and from there to a landowner who's engaged me by letter as a tutor" (1c).

Г-70 • кому ЗА ГЛАЗА́[2] хватит, достаточно, довольно и т.п. чего, less often кого coll [PrepP; Invar; modif] (the quantity or amount of sth. or the number of people is) entirely sufficient, (sth. is even) more than sufficient: X-у Y-а ~ хватит ≃ Y is quite ⟨more than⟩ enough for X; Y is more than X needs ⟨will ever need⟩.

Я никогда не спал много, в тюрьме без всякого движения мне за глаза было достаточно четырёх часов сна… (Герцен 1). I have never been a great sleeper, and in prison, where I had no exercise, four hours' sleep was quite enough for me… (1a).

Г-71 • ЗАВОДИ́ТЬ/ЗАВЕСТИ́ ГЛАЗА́ [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: ЗАКА́ТЫВАТЬ/ЗАКАТИ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́ (of a person who is sick, about to faint etc; also of a person who wants to express some strong emotion or attract another's attention when flirting) to raise one's eyes so that the pupils are under the upper eyelids: X завёл глаза ≃ [of a sick person] X rolled up ⟨back⟩ his eyes; X's eyes rolled back; [when expressing a strong emotion etc] X turned up his eyes; X rolled his eyes.

…Истерика Катерины Ивановны кончилась обмороком, затем наступила «ужасная, страшная слабость, она легла, завела глаза и стала бредить» (Достоевский 1). …Katerina Ivanovna's hysterics had ended in a fainting spell, then she felt "terrible, horrible weakness, she lay down, rolled up her eyes, and became delirious" (1a). ♦ «Вы Безухову скажите, чтоб он приезжал. Я его запишу. Что, он с женою?» — спросил он. Анна Михайловна завела глаза, и на лице её выразилась глубокая скорбь… «Ах, мой друг, он очень несчастлив», — сказала она (Толстой 5). "Tell Bezukhov to come. I'll put his name down. Is his wife with him?" he asked. Anna Mikhailovna turned up her eyes and an expression of profound sorrow came over her face. "Ah, my friend, he is most unfortunate," she said (5a).

2. obs to close one's eyes and fall asleep: X завёл глаза ≃ X shut his eyes and nodded ⟨dropped, dozed⟩ off.

Г-72 • ЗАКРЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАКРЫ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́[1] [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кому to be with a dying person in his last moments and shut his eyes after death: X закрыл Y-у глаза ≃ X closed Y's eyes.

…Отец его, дед, дети, внучата и гости сидели или лежали в ленивом покое, зная, что есть в доме… непокладные руки, которые обошьют их, накормят, напоят… спать положат, а при смерти закроют им глаза… (Гончаров 1). …The father, grandfather, children, grandchildren, and guests, all sat or lay about, indolent and idle, knowing that they were continually attended by… untiring hands, which were there to sew for them, to give them food and drink… put them to bed, and close their eyes when they were dead (1b).

2. [pfv only] to expire: X закрыл глаза ≃ X died; X passed on ⟨away⟩.

Г-73 • ЗАКРЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАКРЫ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́[2] на что [VP; subj: human; often infin with нельзя, (не) надо etc] to ignore sth. Как только Шурочка вышла из комнаты, молодой человек запустил глаза в её раскрытый дневник, лежавший на столе. The moment Shurochka left the room, the young man sneaked a peek at her open diary lying on the table.

2. ~ на что to show a mercenary interest in sth. in the hope of obtaining it: X запускает глаза на Y ≃ X is eyeing Y; X has (got) his eye on Y.

[Кочкарёв:] …[Дом невесты] не только заложен, да за два года ещё проценты не выплачены. Да в сенате есть ещё брат, который тоже запускает глаза на дом; сутяги такого свет не производил… (Гоголь 1). [К.:] Not only is it [the young lady's house] mortgaged, the interest hasn't been paid for two years. And there's a brother in the Senate who's got his eye on the property—a shyster; you've never seen anything like him (1b).

3. ~ на кого to look at an object of sexual attraction with desire: X запускает глаза на Y-а ≃ X has his eye on Y.

«Заметили, как Фуфков переживает? На новопреставленную смотрел, слёзы градом… А рядом муж». — «Он всю жизнь на неё запускал глазенапа» (Пастернак 1). "Did you see how upset Fufkov was? Looking at her [the deceased], tears pouring down his face…. Standing next to her husband at that." "He always had his eye on her" (1a).

Г-77 • (И) В ГЛАЗА́ не видал, не видел кого-что or чего coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with neg past tense] (one has not seen s.o. or sth.) ever: X (и) в глаза не видел Y-а ≃ X has never set ⟨laid⟩ eyes on ⟨upon⟩ Y; X has never so much as seen Y; X has never even seen Y.

Из 12 ораторов, выступавших на заседании, я знаком только с четырьмя. Остальных никогда в глаза не видел, а если и видел, то едва ли узнал бы (Эткинд 1). Of the twelve speakers at the meeting, I only know four. The rest I have never set eyes on, or if I have met them, I would be hard put to recognize them (1a). ♦ «Ваня говорил, что у этого французика славная дочка. Может, ты с ней?..» — «Я её и в глаза не видал» (Эренбург 2). "Vanya says this Frenchman has a nice daughter; perhaps you're in love with her?" "I've never so much as seen her" (2a).

Г-78 • КОЛО́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́ ⟨ГЛАЗ obs⟩ coll [VP] 1. ~ кому (чем) [subj: human] to remind s.o. consistently of, reproach s.o. for etc (some shortcoming, mistake, foolish behavior etc): X колол Y-у глаза Z-ом ≃ X kept ⟨was⟩ throwing Z in Y's face ⟨teeth⟩; X kept ⟨was⟩ throwing Z up to Y; X was ⟨kept⟩ rubbing Y's nose in it.

[Чеглов:] Что ж ты мне всё этой любовью колешь глаза? (Писемский 1). [Ch.:] Why do you throw this love in my teeth all the time? (1a).

2. ~ (кому) [subj: concr or abstr] to irritate s.o., be disagreeable to s.o.: X колет глаза Y-у ≃ X sets Y's teeth on edge; X gets under Y's skin; X gets on Y's nerves; X gets Y's goat; [of sth. that makes an unpleasant visual impression] X offends the eye; X hurts the eye(s); X is an eyesore.

[Мамаева:] Если вы видите, что умный человек бедно одет, живёт в дурной квартире, едет на плохом извозчике, — это вас не поражает, не колет вам глаз… (Островский 9). [M.:] If you happen to see a clever man poorly dressed, living in an ugly apartment, riding in second-rate cabs—… this doesn't startle you, or set your teeth on edge (9c).

Г-79 • КУДА́ ГЛАЗА́ ГЛЯДЯ́Т coll [Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. идти, брести, бежать и т.п. ~ (to walk, roam, run etc) without choosing a specific direction, without a prepared plan, indifferent to where one ends up (often used in cases when one is escaping from a dangerous, intolerable, volatile etc situation; also used when s.o. is deep in thought, emotionally distraught etc): уйти ⟨убежать и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ leave ⟨run away etc⟩ not caring where one is going; go anywhere (just to get out of here ⟨there etc⟩); ‖ брести ~ ≃ wander aimlessly ⟨randomly, at random⟩; go wherever one's legs carry ⟨take⟩ one; go wherever one's feet take one; walk without thinking ⟨paying attention to⟩ where one is going; go ⟨walk etc⟩ heedlessly ⟨blindly etc⟩; ‖ беги ~! ≃ run away, go anywhere at all!; get out of here ⟨there⟩, it doesn't matter where you go!; go anywhere, just get out of here ⟨there⟩!

…Он хотел было поворотить назад, к дому, но домой идти ему стало вдруг ужасно противно… и он пошёл куда глаза глядят (Достоевский 3). …He was about to turn back and go home, but the thought of going home suddenly repelled him…. He walked on at random (3a).

2. идти, ехать, отправляться и т.п. ~ (to walk, go, set off) wherever one chooses, desires (without restrictions or limitations): wherever one's fancy takes one; wherever one feels like (going); wherever the spirit moves one; wherever one's legs (will) carry ⟨take⟩ one; wherever one's feet (will) take one.

И вдруг мелькнула в голове [у Орозкула] отчаянная мысль: «А плюну на всё и уйду куда глаза глядят!» (Айтматов 1). Suddenly a desperate thought flashed across his [Orozkul's] mind: "I'll spit on all this and get out. Just leave for wherever my fancy takes me" (1b).

Г-80 • ЛЕ́ЗТЬ В ⟨НА⟩ ГЛАЗА́ (кому) coll [VP] 1. [subj: human] to try to attract s.o.'s attention to o.s. by remaining constantly in his presence, within his view: X лезет на глаза (Y-у) ≃ X is trying to get ⟨make⟩ himself noticed; X is trying to make Y notice X.

Мой помощник всегда лезет на глаза, особенно когда появляются репортёры. My assistant is always trying to get himself noticed, especially when there are reporters around.

2. [subj: human, concr, or abstr] to attract attention to o.s. or itself, be noticeable: X лезет в глаза ≃ X catches the ⟨one's⟩ eye; X grabs person Y's attention; X calls attention to himself ⟨itself⟩.

Первое, что лезет в глаза, когда разворачиваешь газету, — это огромная реклама бюро путешествий «Вокруг света». The first thing to catch your eye when you open the newspaper is a huge ad for the travel agency Around the World.

Г-81 • ЛО́ПНИ (МОЙ) ГЛАЗА́ substand [VP_{imper}; these forms only; usu. a main clause in a complex sent or indep. sent; often foll. by a clause introduced by the Conj если, коли etc] (used as an oath to emphasize the truth or accuracy of one's statement) I swear that what I say is true: strike me blind ⟨dead⟩ if…; I'll be darned ⟨damned⟩ if…

«Что я вижу! — закричала жена Кязыма и, бросив свою лопаточку, тоже подбежала ко мне. — Лопни мои глаза, если это не Арапка!» (Искандер 3). "What do I see!" cried Kyazym's wife. She dropped her spatula and ran over too. "Strike me blind if it isn't Blackamoor!" (3a).

Г-82 • МОЗО́ЛИТЬ/НАМОЗО́ЛИТЬ ГЛАЗА́ кому coll [VP] 1. [subj: human or concr] to be annoying, irritate s.o. with one's or its constant presence: X мозолит Y-у глаза ≃ X is a pain in the neck (to Y); X drives Y crazy; thing X is an eyesore (to Y); X is a nuisance (to Y); person X makes a nuisance of himself.

«Мастера — они всегда мозолят людям глаза и от них отделываются при первой же возможности» (Максимов 2). "Such men [master-craftsmen] are always a pain in the neck to others, and they get rid of them at the first available opportunity" (2a). ♦ [Лапшин:] Я к нашим в гостиницу проеду, а ты поди отсюда. Покушал — и поди, не мозоль глаза (Розов 2). [L.:] I'm going to see our lot in the hotel. You make yourself scarce. You've had your bit. So off you go, don't make a nuisance of yourself (2a).

2. ~ чем [subj: human] to pester s.o. with constant complaints about sth., reproaches etc: X мозолит Y-у глаза Z-ом ≃ X is (always) bugging Y about Z; X is (getting) after Y about Z; X is on Y's case about Z.

Г-83 • НАВОСТРИ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́ на кого-что coll [VP; subj: human] to look attentively, watchfully (at s.o. or sth.): X навострил глаза на Y-а ≃ X gazed intently at Y; X fixed his eyes on Y; X was all eyes.

…Девочка навострила на него глаза, ожидая, что он сделает с сухарями (Гончаров 1). …The little girl still gazed intently at him, waiting to see what he would do with the cakes (1b).

Г-84 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ, КУДА́ ГЛАЗА́ ДЕВА́ТЬ/ДЕТЬ coll [VP (subj: human) + subord clause (these forms only)] to experience a feeling of embarrassment, awkwardness, shame: X не знал, куда глаза девать ≃ X didn't know where ⟨which way⟩ to look; X didn't know where to hide (from embarrassment etc).

«Стали снимать [меня с должности председателя] — ни у людей, и у райкома слова доброго для меня не нашлось». Михаил не знал, куда и глаза девать: это ведь его стараниями так отблагодарили [iron] Анфису Петровну (Абрамов 1). "When they decided to throw me out, nobody from the village or the District Committee could find a good word to say about me." Mikhail did not know which way to look. After all, it was his doing that they had shown their gratitude to Anfisa Petrovna in that way (1a).

Г-85 • ОТВОДИ́ТЬ/ОТВЕСТИ́ ГЛАЗА́ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to mislead s.o. intentionally, give s.o. a false impression of sth., deceive s.o.: X отводит Y-у глаза ≃ X throws dust in Y's eyes; X pulls the wool over Y's eyes; X deludes Y.

Представляя слуг и рабов распутными зверями, плантаторы отводят глаза другим и заглушают крики совести в себе (Герцен 1). By picturing servants and slaves as degraded animals, the slave-owners throw dust in people's eyes and stifle the voice of conscience in themselves (1a). ♦ [Трофимов:] …Очевидно, все хорошие разговоры у нас для того только, чтобы отвести глаза себе и другим (Чехов 2). [T.:] It's obvious: the only reason for all our fine words is to pull the wool over people's eyes—our own included (2b). [T.:] It's obvious that all our fine talk is merely to delude ourselves and others (2a).

Г-86 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ ⟨РАСКРЫВА́ТЬ/РАСКРЫ́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́ [VP; usu. pfv past; fixed WO] 1. ~ (на что) [subj: human] to begin to see a situation as it really is or people as they really are: X открыл глаза (на Y) ≃ X opened his eyes (to Y); X saw the light.

[Люди] просыпались от вынужденной спячки периода Хозяина, открывали глаза на действительность и рвались развернуть свои творческие потенции, зажимавшиеся столько десятилетий (Зиновьев 1). …People were beginning to wake up after the forced hibernation of the Boss period, to open their eyes to reality, impatient to give full rein to their creative potential which had been repressed for so many decades (1a).

2. ~ кому (на кого-что) [subj: human or abstr] to show s.o. that his perceptions of sth. are erroneous, help s.o. to comprehend the true nature of some person or phenomenon: X открыл Y-у глаза на Z-а ≃ X opened Y's eyes ⟨the eyes of Y⟩ to Z; X made ⟨helped⟩ Y see what…Z is; X showed Y the truth about Z; thing X was an eye opener ⟨eye-opener⟩.

«Иванько воспользовался тем, что Борис Иванович [Стукалин, председатель Государственного комитета по делам издательств], к сожалению, слишком мягок и доверчив»… В таком случае не открыть ли нам глаза доверчивому Борису Ивановичу на одного из его ближайших соратников? (Войнович 3). "Ivanko took advantage of the fact that, unfortunately, Boris Ivanovich [Stukalin, Chairman of the State Committee on Publishing] is too soft and credulous."… But, in that case, shouldn't we open the eyes of the credulous Boris Ivanovich to one of his closest comrades-in-arms? (3a). ♦ В Олю он окончательно влюбился после велосипедной прогулки с ней и с Яшей по Шварцвальду, которая, как потом он показывал на следствии, «нам всем троим открыла глаза»… (Набоков 1). He fell in love with Olya conclusively after a bicycle ride with her and Yasha in the Black Forest, a tour which, as he later testified at the inquest, "was an eye-opener for all three of us"… (1a).

Г-87 • ПЛЕВА́ТЬ/НАПЛЕВА́ТЬ ⟨ПЛЮ́НУТЬ⟩ В ГЛАЗА́ ⟨В ЛИЦО́, В РО́ЖУ rude⟩ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to express extreme contempt or disrespect for s.o. in a harsh manner: X наплевал в глаза Y-у ≃ X spat in Y's eye ⟨face⟩.

На лице [Иванько] ничего, кроме страдания. Ещё бы!.. Ему же не просто не дали, чего он хотел. Ему в лицо плюнули, его не признали достаточно большим человеком (Войнович 3). On his [Ivanko's] face was nothing but suffering. Of course!… They didn't just fail to give him what he wanted; they spit in his face, they did not recognize him as a big enough man (3a).

Г-88 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬСЯ ⟨КАЗА́ТЬСЯ obs, substand⟩/ ПОКАЗА́ТЬСЯ НА ГЛАЗА́ кому coll [VP; subj: human; if impfv, usu. neg (often neg imper) or with a negated verb denoting a command, prohibition; often pfv infin with нельзя, не мочь, бояться, как etc] to appear before s.o. or at s.o.'s place: X боится показаться на глаза Y-у ≃ X is afraid to show ⟨of showing⟩ his face to Y; X is afraid to show himself at Y's place ⟨before Y⟩; [lim.] X is afraid of facing Y; X can't face Y; || Neg Imper не показывайся на глаза Y-у ≃ don't let Y set eyes on you; keep out of Y's sight.

«Теперь ступай и больше на глаза мне не показывайся» (Бунин 1). "Be off with you now and never show your face to me again" (1a). ♦ «Как покажусь я на глаза господам? Что скажут они, как узнают, что дитя пьёт и играет» (Пушкин 2). "How can I ever face the master and mistress? What'll they say when they hear that their child drinks and gambles?" (2a).

Г-89 • ПОПАДА́ТЬСЯ/ПОПА́СТЬСЯ ⟨ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ⟩ НА ГЛАЗА́ кому [VP; subj: human, animal, or concr; often neg infin after стараться or in infin clause introduced by чтобы] to happen to be seen or met by s.o., or to attract s.o.'s attention: X попался на глаза Y-у ≃ X caught Y's eye; Y caught sight of X; Y's eyes lighted ⟨lit⟩ on X; [lim.] thing X came to Y's notice ⟨to the notice of Y⟩; Y came across thing X; thing X turned up; || Neg [or with negated predic; of people only] X не хотел ⟨X старался не etc⟩ попадаться Y-у на глаза ≃ X tried to keep out of Y's sight; [lim.] X didn't want ⟨tried not⟩ to invite attention; || Neg Imper [usu. used as a warning or threat] не попадайся Y-у на глаза ≃ stay ⟨keep⟩ out of Y's sight.

Конечно же, и шкаф, и граммофон попадались ему на глаза множество раз, но лишь сейчас он отметил их… (Максимов 3). Of course, the cupboard and the gramophone had caught his eye countless times in the past but he had never before taken notice of them… (3a). ♦ Практика показала, что… эти надписи обязательно попадут на глаза кому нужно (Буковский 1). Practice showed that these inscriptions would invariably come to the notice of whomever they were meant for (1a). ♦ Она невольно отворачивалась от меня… невольно; вот что было горько, вот что меня сокрушало! Но делать было нечего — и я старался не попадаться ей на глаза… (Тургенев 3). Involuntarily she turned away from me… involuntarily; it was that which was so bitter, so crushing— but there was nothing I could do. I did my best to keep out of her sight… (3b).

Г-90 • ПРОДИРА́ТЬ/ПРОДРА́ТЬ ⟨ПРОТИРА́ТЬ/ПРОТЕРЕ́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́ coll; ПРОДИРА́ТЬ/ПРОДРА́ТЬ ЗЕ́НКИ ⟨ГЛАЗЕНА́ПА obs⟩ substand [VP; subj: human] to awaken from sleep: X продрал глаза ≃ X opened his eyes; X woke up; [lim.] X rubbed the sleep out of his eyes.

«Я и сегодня пришёл в камеру только в третьем часу ночи. И заснул не сразу… Утром еле глаза продрал…» (Копелев 1). "I only got in last night from working after two in the morning. And I couldn't fall asleep right away…. I could barely open my eyes in the morning… (1a). ♦ Едва продирал я глаза по утрам — тянуло меня не к роману, а Предупреждение ещё раз переписать, это было сильней меня, так во мне и ходило (Солженицын 2). As soon as I rubbed the sleep out of my eyes in the morning I longed to get to my novel, but the urge to rewrite my Warning just once more would be too strong for me, I was so worked up about it (2a).

Г-91 • ПРОТЕРЕ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́ [VP; subj: human] 1. highly coll [usu. imper] (to begin) to see things as they are, think clearly: протри глаза! ≃ open your eyes!; wake up (to reality)!; come to your senses!

2. ~ чему, usu. деньгам, денежкам obs, substand. Also: ПРОТЕРЕ́ТЬ ГЛА́ЗКИ to waste money, spend money senselessly: X протёр глаза деньгам ≃ X squandered the money; X blew the money ⟨a fortune⟩.

3. ~ кому obs, substand. Also: ПРОТЕРЕ́ТЬ ГЛА́ЗКИ to prove one's superiority over s.o. in sth., outdo s.o.: X протёр глаза Y-у ≃ X showed Y up; X got the better ⟨the best⟩ of Y.

Г-92 • ПРЯ́ТАТЬ ГЛАЗА́ ⟨ВЗГЛЯД, ВЗОР⟩ [VP; subj: human] to avoid or be afraid of looking directly at another or others: X прятал глаза ≃ X hid his eyes (from Y); X avoided Y's eyes; X averted his eyes; X wouldn't look at Y; X wouldn't ⟨took care not to⟩ look Y in the eye; X avoided eye contact (with Y).

«Оно надо же, беда свалилась… Кто ж гадал…» — виновато забормотал он, пряча глаза (Тендряков 1). "What a thing to happen to me… you never can tell…." he muttered guiltily, avoiding Simon's eyes (1a).

Г-93 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ НА ГЛАЗА́ кого к кому coll [VP; subj: human; usu. neg or neg imper] to allow s.o. to come to one's or another person's home or office: X не пустил Y-а к себе ⟨к Z-у⟩ на глаза ≃ X didn't let Y set foot in X's ⟨Z's⟩ place ⟨office etc⟩; X didn't let Y show Y's face in X's ⟨Z's⟩ house ⟨office etc⟩; || Neg Imper не пускай Y-а ко мне ⟨к Z-у⟩ на глаза ≃ keep Y out of my ⟨Z's⟩ sight.

[Кречинский:] Нелькина вы больше на глаза к себе не пустите (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K:] And you'll never let Nelkin set foot in your house again (2a).

Г-94 • ПУ́ЩЕ ГЛА́ЗА беречь кого-что, хранить что; ПА́ЧЕ ГЛА́ЗА ⟨О́КА⟩ obs [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to treat s.o. or sth. that one cherishes, that is very valuable etc) as very dear, (to guard, watch over sth. valuable) vigilantly, attentively: (cherish ⟨treasure⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) more than life itself ⟨more than one's life⟩; (guard sth.) with one's life.

[Мигаев:] Да, чудак, давно б я его [портсигар] заложил, да нельзя — дарёный, в знак памяти, пуще глазу его берегу (Островский 11). [M.:] I'd have pawned it [the cigar case] long ago, but I mustn't; it was given to me as a token of remembrance. I treasure it more than my life (11a).

Г-95 • РАЗУ́Й ГЛАЗА́ ⟨БЕ́ЛЬМА⟩ substand, rude [VP_{imper}; these forms only] look carefully, take a close look: open ⟨use⟩ your eyes; open your peepers.

Г-96 • РЕ́ЗАТЬ ГЛАЗА́ ⟨ГЛАЗ⟩ (кому чем) [VP] 1. [subj: usu. concr] to have an unpleasant effect upon the (or s.o.'s) eyes (usu. by being too bright or colorful): X режет глаза ≃ X hurts the ⟨s.o.'s⟩ eye(s); X offends the eye; X is an eyesore.

Одета она была безвкусно, яркое платье в огромных цветах резало глаз. She was dressed tastelessly: her bright dress with huge flowers offended the eye.

2. [subj: abstr] to make a negative impression on s.o. by deviating conspicuously from the proper or expected form, manner etc: X режет глаза (Y-ом) ≃ X is glaring; X is glaringly [AdjP].

Эта статья режет глаза своей научной несостоятельностью. Scientifically, this article is glaringly unsound.

Г-97 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ В ГЛАЗА́[1] кому coll [VP; subj: human] to try to please s.o., fawn upon s.o.: X смотрит Y-у в глаза ≃ X dances attendance on Y; X tries to anticipate Y's every wish; X plays up to Y; X falls all over Y.

«Я и Иван Матвеич ухаживали за тобой… словно крепостные служили тебе, на цыпочках ходили, в глаза смотрели…» (Гончаров 1). "Ivan Matveyevich and I took care of you, we waited on you as if we were your serfs, walked on tiptoe, tried to anticipate your every wish…" (1b).

Г-98 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ В ГЛАЗА́[2] ⟨В ЛИЦО́⟩ чему [VP; subj: human; indir obj: опасности, трудностям, фактам etc; often infin with надо, должен etc] not to fear sth., to confront sth. boldly: X должен смотреть в глаза Y-у ≃ X has to look Y straight ⟨right⟩ in the eye; X has to face (up to) Y; X has to meet Y head-on.

«…Нет, нет, поймите правильно! Кто-кто, а уж я-то не поклонник газетных штампов. Но факты есть факты, и надо смотреть им в глаза…» (Аржак 1). "…No, no, don't misunderstand me. You know me, I'm the last man in the world to be impressed by newspaper clichés. But facts are facts, and you've got to face them…" (1a).

Г-99 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ ПРЯ́МО ⟨СМЕ́ЛО⟩ В ГЛАЗА́ кому [VP; subj: human; often infin compl of мочь] to feel that one is acting honestly, honorably, that one does not have to be ashamed of his actions before s.o.: X может прямо смотреть Y-у в глаза ≃ X can look Y straight in the eye.

[author's usage] До сих пор он покойно жил, никого не боялся, любому и каждому мог без опаски смотреть в глаза (Тендряков 1) Up till now he had lived quietly, fearing no one, and able to look any man straight in the eye (1a).

Г-100 • СОВА́ТЬСЯ/СУ́НУТЬСЯ НА ⟨В⟩ ГЛАЗА́ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to attempt to gain s.o.'s attention by constantly appearing before him or staying close to him: X совался на глаза Y-у ≃ X thrust ⟨threw⟩ himself on Y ⟨at Y, in Y's path⟩.

Вовремя посторониться — вот всё, что было нужно… Но они [глуповцы] сообразили это поздно, и в первое время, по примеру всех начальстволюбивых народов… совались ему [градоначальнику] на глаза (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). All you had to do was to get out of the way in time…. But they [the Glupovites] understood it only later, and at first followed the example of all peoples who love their superiors, thrusting themselves in his [the town governor's] path… (1b).

Г-101 • ТАРА́ЩИТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ТАРАЩИТЬ, ПУ́ЧИТЬ, ВЫ́ПУЧИТЬ, ВЫКА́ТЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́КАТИТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́ (на кого-что) highly coll; ПЯ́ЛИТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ПЯЛИТЬ, ЛУПИ́ТЬ, ВЫ́ЛУПИТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́ substand; ПЯ́ЛИТЬ ⟨ВЫ́ПЯЛИТЬ, ПУ́ЧИТЬ, ВЫ́ПУЧИТЬ, ЛУПИ́ТЬ, ВЫ́ЛУПИТЬ⟩ ЗЕ́НКИ ⟨БЕ́ЛЬМА⟩ substand, rude [VP; subj: human] to look (at s.o. or sth.) intently, raptly, opening one's eyes wide: X таращил глаза (на Y-а) ≃ X was staring at Y (, wide-eyed); X opened his eyes (very) wide; X was gawking at Y; X's eyes were popping ⟨bugging⟩ out (of X's head); X's eyes were bulging ⟨goggling, bugging⟩ (with fright ⟨in disbelief etc⟩); [usu. of looking at s.o. or sth. one wants; often used when making advances to a person of the opposite sex] X was eyeing ⟨ogling⟩ Y; || [in questions and Neg Imper] ты что пялишь глаза? ≃ why are you staring like that?

«Я решился драться с вами». Базаров вытаращил глаза. «Со мной?» — «Непременно с вами». — «Да за что? помилуйте». — «Я бы мог объяснить вам причину, — начал Павел Петрович. — Но я предпочитаю умолчать о ней» (Тургенев 2). "I've decided to fight a duel with you." Bazarov opened his eyes very wide. "With me?" "With you, absolutely." "What on earth for?" "I could explain the reason to you," Pavel Petrovich replied. "But I prefer to keep silent on that score" (2g). ♦ «Ну что… — он [инвалид] обратился к Ермолкину, — что глаза вылупил?» (Войнович 4). "What are you gawking at?" he [the invalid] said to Ermolkin (4a). ♦ «На пирожки-то глаз не пяль, не дам, тебе вредно…» (Достоевский 2). "Don't ogle the pirozhki, you won't get any, they're not good for you…" (2a).

Г-102 • ТЫ́КАТЬ В ГЛАЗА́ ⟨В НОС⟩ кому что or кем-чем highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human] to mention sth. or remind s.o. of sth. (usu. his inadequacies, failures, or one's own or another's positive qualities, achievements) repeatedly and obtrusively, with the goal of reproaching him, making him feel guilty for sth., embarrassing him etc: X тычет Y-у в глаза Z-ом ≃ X throws ⟨keeps throwing⟩ Z in Y's face; X casts ⟨keeps casting⟩ Z in Y's teeth; X throws ⟨keeps throwing⟩ Z up to Y; X will never let Y forget Z.

[extended usage; говорящий — мул] Я же, например, не оспариваю, что собаки преданы своих хозяевам. Да это и в самом деле так. Но то, что эту преданность они всё время тычут в глаза, забывая о собственном достоинстве, тоже не признак ума (Искандер 3). [The speaker is a mule] I don't deny, for example, that dogs are devoted to their masters. This really is true. But the way they always cast this devotion in your teeth, forgetting their own dignity, is no sign of intelligence either (3a).

Г-103 • НЕ ВЕ́РИТЬ/НЕ ПОВЕ́РИТЬ (СВОИ́М) ГЛАЗА́М coll [VP; subj: human] to be extremely surprised at sth. one has seen: X глазам (своим) не верил ≃ X couldn't believe his eyes; X could scarcely ⟨hardly⟩ believe his eyes; X wondered if he was seeing straight ⟨seeing things⟩; X did a double take.

«Маралы! Маралы!» — вне себя от испуга и радости вскричал дед Момун. И замолк, будто не веря своим глазам (Айтматов 1). "Deer! Deer!" Grandfather Momun cried out, beside himself with fright and joy. And instantly fell silent, as though he did not believe his eyes (1a). ♦ И вдруг рядом я прочёл такое, что не поверил своим глазам… (Кузнецов 1). Then my eye fell on something next to the poster which made me wonder if I was seeing straight (1b).

Г-104 • ПО ГЛАЗА́М ВИ́ДЕТЬ ⟨ВИ́ДНО⟩ [VP, subj: human (var. with видеть); Invar, usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: usu. a clause or это (var. with видно)] to draw a conclusion (about what s.o. is thinking or feeling, what kind of person s.o. is etc) by looking at the expression in s.o.'s eyes: X по глазам видит (, что ⟨как и т.п.⟩…) ≃ X sees ⟨can see⟩ it in Y's eyes; X sees ⟨can see⟩ in Y's eyes that…; X sees ⟨can see, can tell⟩ by ⟨from, by the look in⟩ Y's eyes (that…); Y's eyes show ⟨tell⟩ (X) (that ⟨how much etc⟩…).

[Елена Андреевна:] Вы не любите её, по глазам вижу… (Чехов 3). [E.A.:] You don't love her, I see it in your eyes… (3a). ♦ «Вам это интересно? Не говорите, что понятно, не поверю. А вот что интересно, вижу по глазам» (Копелев 1). "Does that interest you? Don't tell me that you understand; I won't believe it. But I can see by the look in your eyes that you're interested" (1a).

Г-105 • ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ ПЕРЕД ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨НА ГЛАЗА́Х⟩ (у кого) coll [VP; subj: human; often used with постоянно, всегда etc] to stay near s.o., vexing, annoying him with one's presence: X вертится у Y-а перед глазами ≃ X hangs ⟨keeps hanging⟩ around (Y); X hovers about; X hovers around Y.

[Иванов:] Всегда ты, дядя, перед глазами вертишься, не даёшь поговорить наедине! (Чехов 4). [I.:] You're always hanging around, Uncle, you never give me a chance to talk to anyone alone! (4a).

Г-106 • ВПИВА́ТЬСЯ/ВПИ́ТЬСЯ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ⟩ в кого-что [VP; subj: human] to gaze steadily at s.o. or sth. without taking one's eyes off him or it: X впился глазами в Y-а ≃ X stared (hard) at Y; X fixed his eyes ⟨gaze⟩ on Y; X riveted his eyes on Y; X's eyes were ⟨X had his eyes⟩ glued to ⟨on⟩ Y; [lim.] X devoured Y with X's eyes.

Я жадно впивалась взглядом в каждую дверь, точно можно было через её толщу увидать томящихся в камерах людей (Гинзбург 1). I stared hard at each door, as though I could see right through to the people inside (1b). ♦ Тётушка Хрисула впивалась в них глазами, и они под её взглядом как-то замирали… (Искандер 5). Auntie Chrysoula fixed her eyes on them, and under her gaze they stood rooted to the spot… (5a).

Г-107 • ВСЁ ПЛЫВЁТ/ПОПЛЫ́ЛО ПЕРЕД ГЛАЗА́МИ у кого; ВСЁ ПЛЫВЁТ/ПОПЛЫ́ЛО ВОКРУ́Г (перед кем) [VP$_{subj}$] s.o. experiences dizziness or vertigo (usu. caused by weakness, a state of semiconsciousness, intoxication etc): у X-а всё плывёт перед глазами ≃ everything is swimming before X's eyes ⟨before X, in front of X's eyes⟩; everything is growing blurred (before X's eyes); everything is spinning ⟨swimming⟩ around (X); X's head is spinning ⟨swimming, reeling etc⟩.

С насыпи вопили на великолепнейшем московско-русском языке: «То-ва-рищи! Выходите! Советская власть пришла!» Ёлки-палки, у меня всё поплыло перед глазами! (Кузнецов 1). There came a bawling from the embankment in the loveliest Muscovite Russian: "Co-o-mrades! Co-me out! Soviet power is back!" And everything grew blurred, damn it! (1a).

Г-108 • ВСТАВА́ТЬ/ВСТАТЬ ПЕРЕД ГЛАЗА́МИ чьими, (у) кого [VP; subj: usu. human or concr] (usu. of some past event, or some person or thing with which s.o. had contact in the past) to appear in s.o.'s mind very clearly, in full detail: X встаёт у Y-а перед глазами ≃ Y can see X now; Y can see X in Y's mind's eye; X arises ⟨appears⟩ before Y; X comes back to Y (as if it were yesterday); Y can visualize X.

Как ни старался Григорий, уехав в поле, забыть о своём горе, в мыслях он неизбежно возвращался к этому… Перед глазами его вставала живая, улыбающаяся Наталья. Он вспоминал её фигуру, походку, манеру поправлять волосы… (Шолохов 5). Try as he would, even out in the fields Grigory could not forget his grief; it was for ever in his thoughts…. The living, smiling Natalya would arise before him. He would recall her figure, her walk, her way of patting her hair into place… (5a).

Г-109 • ЕСТЬ ⟨ПОЕДА́ТЬ, ПОЖИРА́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́МИ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; more often this WO] to look at s.o. or sth. intently, without diverting one's gaze, usu. with desire or obsequiousness: X ел Y-а глазами ≃ X devoured Y with X's eyes; X eyed Y greedily; X ogled Y; X watched Y with a hungry look (in X's eyes); X drank Y in with X's eyes.

«Сидоркин, вы там опять в шахматы режетесь?» — «Никак нет!» — рявкает Сидоркин и нагло ест начальство глазами (Войнович 5). "Sidorkin, are you playing chess over there?" "Of course not!" barked Sidorkin, devouring the chief with his impudent eyes (5a).

Г-110 • ИГРА́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ [VP; subj: human; often Verbal Adv] to glance at s.o. in a flirtatious manner, trying to gain his or her interest: X играл глазами ≃ X was flirting with his eyes; X was making eyes at person Y; X was casting coquettish glances person Y's way.

Г-111 • МЕ́РИТЬ/СМЕ́РИТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ⟩ кого [VP; subj: human] to look at s.o. intently as if evaluating him: X смерил Y-а глазами ≃ X looked Y up and down; X looked Y over; X measured Y with X's gaze ⟨eyes⟩; X sized Y up; X gave Y the once-over; || X смерил Y-а [AdjP] взглядом ≃ X measured Y with a [AdjP] look.

Самозванцы встретились и смерили друг друга глазами (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The pretenders met and looked each other up and down (1b). ♦ Орозкул даже приостановился, смерил старика взглядом (Айтматов 1). Orozkul stopped short and measured the old man with his gaze (1b).

Г-112 • ПЕРЕД ГЛАЗА́МИ у кого [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr or concr) or adv] (some person or thing is, sth. happens etc) close to s.o., so that he should be aware of him or it: right in front of s.o. ⟨of s.o.'s eyes, of s.o.'s face⟩; (right) before s.o.'s eyes; (right) under s.o.'s nose; [usu. of death, ruin etc] (sth. is) staring s.o. in the face.

Пьер почти не изменился в своих внешних приёмах. На вид он был точно таким же, каким он был прежде. Так же, как и прежде, он был рассеян и казался занятым не тем, что было перед глазами, а чем-то своим, особенным (Толстой 7). Outwardly Pierre had hardly changed at all. In appearance he was just the same as before. Also as before, he was absentminded and seemed to be concerned not with what was before his eyes, but with something exclusively his own (7a).

Г-113 • ПРОБЕГА́ТЬ/ПРОБЕЖА́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ что [VP; subj: human] to glance over (a text etc) quickly: X пробежал глазами Y ≃ X ran his eyes over Y; X skimmed (through) Y; X scanned Y.

…Как-то через несколько дней ему под руку попался всё тот же шахматный журнальчик [«8 х 8»], он перелистал его, ища недостроенных мест, и, когда оказалось, что всё уже сделано, пробежал глазами отрывок в два столбца из юношеского дневника Чернышевского… (Набоков 1). …A few days later he happened to come across that same copy of [the chess magazine] 8 X 8; he leafed through it, looking for unfinished bits, and when all the problems turned out to be solved, he ran his eyes over the two-column extract from Chernyshevski's youthful diary… (1a).

Г-114 • ПРОВОЖА́ТЬ/ПРОВОДИ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ, ВЗО́РОМ⟩ кого-что [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to watch steadily as s.o. or sth. moves away from one, keeping one's eyes fixed on him or it: X проводил Y-а глазами ≃ X followed Y with X's eyes; X's eyes followed Y.

Степан выехал из ворот торопким шагом, сидел в седле, как врытый, а Аксинья шла рядом… Григорий провожал их долгим, неморгающим взглядом (Шолохов 2). Stepan rode out of the gate at a brisk walk, sitting like a rock in the saddle. Aksinya kept pace with him…. Grigory's eyes followed them to the turn in a long unblinking stare (2a).

Г-115 • ПРОНЗА́ТЬ/ПРОНЗИ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ⟩ кого [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to look at s.o. (or sth.) sharply, scrutinizingly: X пронзил Y-а глазами ≃ X pierced Y with X's eyes ⟨gaze⟩.

Штольц и Обломов остались вдвоём, молча и неподвижно глядя друг на друга. Штольц так и пронзал его глазами (Гончаров 1). Stolz and Oblomov were left alone, looking silently and motionlessly at each other. Stolz seemed to pierce him with his gaze (1a).

Г-116 • С ЗАКРЫ́ТЫМИ ГЛАЗА́МИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. (to undertake sth. serious, risky) imprudently, unthinkingly: with one's eyes closed; blindly.

То, что ты собираешься сделать, может плохо кончиться для тебя. Хорошо ли ты всё обдумал? Такой шаг нельзя делать с закрытыми глазами. What you're planning to do could turn out badly for you. Have you thought it all through? You can't take a step like this with your eyes closed.

2. without wavering: without thinking twice; without (giving it) a second thought.

Г-117 • С КАКИ́МИ ГЛАЗА́МИ появиться, показаться к кому, у кого, где; КАКИ́МИ ГЛАЗА́МИ смотреть, глядеть в глаза кому both coll [PrepP (1st var.) or $NP_{instrum}$ (2nd var.); these forms only; adv; often after не знать (1st var.); fixed WO] (not to know) how to act, behave in s.o.'s presence out of shame, embarrassment etc: (not know) how to face s.o.; (not know) how one can ever face s.o. (again); (be) ashamed to show one's face (in front of s.o.); (feel that one cannot) look s.o. (straight) in the eye.

Обломов не знал, с какими глазами покажется он к Ольге, что будет говорить она, что будет говорить он… (Гончаров 1). Oblomov did not know how to face Olga, what to say to her, or what she would say to him… (1b).

Г-118 • С ОТКРЫ́ТЫМИ ГЛАЗА́МИ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) knowingly, fully aware of the consequences: with open eyes; with one's eyes (wide) open.

Мы начинаем кампанию протеста с открытыми глазами, прекрасно представляя себе все возможные последствия. We are starting the protest movement with our eyes wide open, well aware of all the possible consequences.

Г-119 • СВЕРКА́ТЬ/СВЕРКНУ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ (на кого) [VP; subj: human] to give (s.o.) a brief, angry look: X сверкнул глазами ≃ X flashed his eyes; X's eyes flashed; X's eyes glinted (with anger ⟨with fury etc⟩).

«…Потрудитесь снять и носки». — «Вы не шутите? Это действительно так необходимо?» — сверкнул глазами Митя. «Нам не до шуток», — строго отпарировал Николай Парфёнович (Достоевский 1). "…May I also trouble you to take off your socks?" "You must be joking! Is it really so necessary?" Mitya flashed his eyes. "This is no time for joking," Nikolai Parfenovich parried sternly (1a).

Г-120 • СВОИ́МИ ⟨(СВОИ́МИ) СО́БСТВЕННЫМИ⟩ ГЛАЗА́МИ видеть кого-что, убедиться в чём и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to see s.o. or sth.) personally, (to become convinced of sth.) through one's own observation: (see s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with one's own (two) eyes; (see sth.) for o.s.

«Я своими глазами видел, как какая-то неопрятная девушка подливала из ведра в ваш громадный самовар сырую воду…» (Булгаков 9). "I saw with my own eyes how some slattern poured unboiled water from a pail into your huge samovar…" (9a).

Г-121 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ ГЛАЗА́МИ чьими or кого на кого-что [VP; subj: human] to view things as another person does because one is under that person's influence: X смотрит на Y-а глазами Z-а ≃ X looks at Y ⟨sees Y⟩ through the eyes of Z ⟨through Z's eyes⟩; X sees Y Z's way.

Я смотрела на всё глазами Мандельштама и потому видела то, чего не видели другие (Мандельштам 2). I looked at it all through the eyes of M[andelstam] and hence saw things that others did not see (2a).

Г-122 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ/ПОСМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ/ПОГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ, ВЗГЛЯНУ́ТЬ⟩ ДРУГИ́МИ ⟨ИНЫ́МИ⟩ ГЛАЗА́МИ на кого-что [VP; subj: human] to evaluate or regard s.o. or sth. differently (than previously or than someone else does): X смотрит на Y-а другими глазами ≃ X sees Y in a different light ⟨from a different perspective⟩; X looks at Y from a (whole) different angle; X differs (from person Z) in his view of Y; X takes a different view of Y (than person Z).

Новый ходок, Пахомыч, взглянул на дело несколько иными глазами, нежели несчастный его предшественник (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The new envoy, Pakhomych, differed somewhat from his unfortunate predecessor in his view of the affair (1a).

Г-123 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ⟨МАЯ́ЧИТЬ coll⟩ ПЕРЕД ГЛАЗА́МИ чьими, у кого; СТОЯ́ТЬ В ГЛАЗА́Х у кого [VP; subj: usu. human or concr] (usu. of some past event, or some person or thing with which s.o. had contact in the past) to be continually present in s.o.'s thoughts: X стоит у Y-а перед глазами ≃ X is always on ⟨in the forefront of⟩ Y's mind; X is forever before Y's eyes; X keeps rising up before Y's eyes; Y cannot help thinking of X; Y cannot get X out of Y's mind; [lim.] thing X haunts Y.

О чём бы кто ни заговорил, он [Вадим] сейчас же вспоминает какую-то историю из «тех лет» [когда он был в лагере и в ссылке]… Это можно понять — всё ещё слишком свежо, не успело зарасти, стоит перед глазами (Некрасов 1). No matter what anybody started to talk about, it would at once remind him [Vadim] of some story from "those years" [when he was in the camp and in exile]…. That one could understand—those days were so fresh and recent, they were always in the forefront of his mind, the memories hadn't had time to heal (1a). ♦ …У нас с О.М[андельштамом] в глазах стоял Ломинадзе, отозванный для казни из Тифлиса, когда О.М. вёл с ним переговоры о том, чтобы остаться на архивной работе в Тифлисе (Мандельштам 1). …M[andelstam] and I couldn't help thinking of Lominadze, who was recalled to Moscow for his execution while we were in Tiflis talking with him about the possibility of M. staying there to work in the archives (1a).

Г-124 • СТРЕЛЯ́ТЬ/СТРЕЛЬНУ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to glance rapidly at s.o. or sth., around some place etc: X стрелял глазами ≃ X was ⟨kept⟩ casting quick glances at Y ⟨all around, all over place Z etc⟩; || X стрельнул глазами (в сторону Y-а) ≃ X cast ⟨shot⟩ a (quick) glance at Y.

Он стрелял по сторонам глазами, словно пытаясь найти какое-нибудь срочное дело, за которое нужно немедленно взяться, чтобы оправдать свое присутствие. He was casting glances this way and that, as if trying to find some urgent matter he needed to address immediately in order to justify his presence.

2. Also: СТРЕЛЯ́ТЬ/СТРЕЛЬНУ́ТЬ ГЛА́ЗКАМИ; ПОСТРЕ́ЛИВАТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ГЛА́ЗКАМИ⟩ all coll [usu. impfv] to glance flirtatiously (at s.o.): X стреляет глазами ≃ X is making eyes at ⟨is ogling⟩ person Y; X keeps giving person Y the eye.

Г-125 • ХЛО́ПАТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ coll; ЛУ́ПАТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ substand, both often disapprov or iron [VP; subj: human] 1. to open one's eyes wide and blink them (in surprise, confusion, embarrassment etc): X хлопал глазами ≃ X (just) stood ⟨sat⟩ there blinking (dumbly ⟨confusedly etc⟩); X stood ⟨sat etc⟩ there blinking in bewilderment ⟨confusion, surprise, embarrassment etc⟩; || ты что глазами хлопаешь? ≃ what are you blinking (at me) like that?

[Пепел:] Вчера, при свидетелях, я тебе продал часы за десять рублей… три — получил, семь — подай! Чего глазами хлопаешь? (Горький 3). [P.:] Yesterday, before witnesses, I sold you a watch for ten rubles. I received three rubles, now hand over the other seven. Why are you blinking at me like that? (3b).

2. to be idle, not take action when immediate action is called for: X хлопает глазами ≃ X sits on his hands; X doesn't lift a finger; X (sits back and) does nothing.

«Из-под носа дочь уводят… а ты, старый хрыч, глазами хлопаешь!» (Максимов 3). "Your daughter's being carried off under your very nose, and you don't lift a finger, you silly old devil" (3a).

Г-126 • ША́РИТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ⟩ по чему, less often по кому coll [VP; subj: human] to look at the whole of (some place, thing, or, less often, person) intently, moving one's eyes over all parts in an attempt not to miss anything: X шарил глазами по Y-у ≃ X looked Y over intently; X ran his eyes over Y; X scanned Y; [usu. of looking at s.o. or sth. with desire] X eyed Y.

Г-127 • ШНЫРЯ́ТЬ ГЛАЗА́МИ по чему, often по сторонам highly coll [VP; subj: human] to shift one's eyes anxiously from one thing (or person) to another, look stealthily around some place: X шнырял глазами (по комнате ⟨по сторонам etc⟩) ≃ X was casting furtive glances (about the room ⟨from side to side etc⟩); X's eyes were darting about (the room etc); X was casting his eyes about (the room etc).

Г-128 • В ГЛАЗА́Х чьих, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] according to s.o.'s perception or opinion:

in the eyes of s.o.; in s.o.'s eyes ⟨estimation, opinion⟩; as s.o. sees it; [lim.] s.o. looks on s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ as (on)…; to s.o.

«Я не скрываюсь: я люблю то, что вы называете комфортом, и в то же время я мало желаю жить. Примирите это противоречие как знаете. Впрочем, это всё в ваших глазах романтизм» (Тургенев 2). "I'm not hiding anything: I love what you call comfort, and at the same time I have little desire to live. Explain that contradiction as best you can. Besides, in your eyes it's all romanticism" (2g). "I don't deny that I love what you call comfort and yet I have little desire to live. Try and reconcile those inconsistencies if you can. In any case it's all romanticism to you" (2a).

Г-129 • В ГЛАЗА́Х ТЕМНЕ́ЕТ/ПОТЕМНЕ́ЛО ⟨МУТИ́ТСЯ/ПОМУТИ́ЛОСЬ, ЗАМУТИ́ЛОСЬ, ЗЕЛЕНЕ́ЕТ/ПОЗЕЛЕНЕ́ЛО⟩ у кого coll [VP; impers; more often pfv] s.o. ceases to see clearly, s.o.'s vision is distorted (because of fatigue, illness, a blow etc), or s.o. ceases to see at all (directly after a blow or as one loses consciousness): у X-а потемнело в глазах ≃ everything went black; everything became blurred (before X's eyes); everything started to spin (before X's eyes); X saw ⟨began to see⟩ spots before his eyes; X felt dizzy.

Раз утром, когда я встал с постели, у меня всё сразу потемнело в глазах (Богданов 1). One morning as I was getting up everything suddenly went black… (1a). ♦ И опять у Юрия Андреевича стало мутиться в глазах и голове (Пастернак 1). Once again everything in his [Yurii Andreievich's] head and before his eyes became confused, blurred (1a).

Г-130 • В ГЛАЗА́Х ЧЁРТИКИ ⟨ЧЕРТЕНЯ́ТА⟩ (ПРЫГАЮТ) у кого coll [VP_{subj} (with быть$_{ø}$ if the verb is omitted)] s.o.'s eyes sparkle merrily: у X-а в глазах чёртики (прыгают) ≃ X's eyes twinkle; X has a twinkle ⟨a gleam⟩ in his eye(s); [lim.] X has mischief in his eye(s).

Г-131 • ДВОИ́ТСЯ ⟨ТРОИ́ТСЯ⟩ В ГЛАЗА́Х у кого [VP; impers or, rare, with subj: human or concrete] s.o. sees two or three images of a single object: у X-а двоится ⟨троится⟩ в глазах ≃ X is seeing double ⟨two of…, three of…⟩

«…У природы двоилось в глазах, когда она создавала нас…» (Набоков 1). "…Nature was seeing double when she created us…" (1a).

Г-132 • НА ГЛАЗА́Х [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] 1. ~ чьих, у кого in such a way as to be visible, noticeable, known, etc: (right) before s.o.'s (very) eyes; in front of s.o.; in s.o.'s presence; || на глазах у всех ≃ for all to see; in plain ⟨full⟩ view (of everyone); openly; right out in the open.

[Михаил:] Извольте видеть, какая ситуация! Служащий ваш, которого вы оборвали за дерзость, фамильярничает на ваших глазах с женой брата вашего компаньона… (Горький 1). [M.:] There's a situation for you, if you please. Your employee, whom you've cut short for impertinence, permits himself, before your very eyes, to be familiar with the wife of your partner's brother (1a). ♦ Фашисты на глазах у всех формировали боевые отряды… (Эренбург 4). The fascists were openly forming military detachments… (4a).

2. ~ чьих, у кого (sth. happens) during s.o.'s life, giving him the opportunity to have personal knowledge of it: before s.o.'s (very) eyes; in ⟨during⟩ s.o.'s lifetime; to witness…

Литературная карьера товарища Сизова началась почти на моих глазах (Войнович 1). Comrade Sizov's literary career had begun before my very eyes (1a).

3. (sth. happens) surprisingly quickly (bringing about a radical change in the situation, s.o.'s or sth.'s state of being etc): right before your ⟨s.o.'s⟩ eyes; (right) before your ⟨s.o.'s⟩ very eyes; [lim.] dramatically.

…Два-три крохотных события, две-три случайные встречи, и мир, взлелеянный с такой любовью, с таким тщанием, начинал терять свою устойчивость, трещать по швам, разваливаться на глазах (Максимов 3). Two or three trivial events, two or three chance meetings, and the world he had cherished with such loving care began to crumble, fall apart, disintegrate before his very eyes (3a). ♦ Слух о зловещем высказывании члена Политбюро быстро рассыпался по Москве, и отношение к Ефиму людей на глазах менялось. Некоторые его знакомые перестали с ним здороваться… (Войнович 6). The report of the Politburo member's statement regarding foreign elements spread rapidly throughout Moscow, and people's behavior toward Yefim changed dramatically. Some of his acquaintances stopped greeting him… (6a).

Г-133 • РЯБИ́Т/ЗАРЯБИ́ЛО В ГЛАЗА́Х у кого (от чего) [VP; impers] s.o. experiences the sensation of having various spots, colors, or images race and change quickly before his eyes: у X-а рябит в глазах (от Y-ов) ≃ X sees spots (before his eyes); Ys ⟨spots, things⟩ are flashing ⟨dancing⟩ before X's eyes; Ys dazzle the eye; X is dazzled (by Ys); Ys make X's head spin ⟨swim⟩.

До шести часов, когда уже зарябило в глазах, Ребров просидел в библиотеке, исписав страниц двадцать — боже мой, для чего же? — разных фактов и соображений, почерпнутых из жизни Ивана Гавриловича и из его сочинений. Потом пошёл в кафе «Националь» ужинать (Трифонов 1). By six that evening he had managed to fill up some twenty pages of a notebook—my God, what on earth for?!—with various facts and ideas drawn from Ivan Gavrilovich's life and writings. Then, as spots were already dancing before his eyes, he left the library and set off to have supper in the cafe of the Hotel National (1a).

Г-134 • СТРО́ИТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ ГЛА́ЗКИ кому coll [VP; subj: human, usu. female] to look at s.o. flirtatiously in an attempt to attract his or her attention: X строит глазки Y-у ≃ X is making (sheep's ⟨goo-goo⟩) eyes at Y.

Г-135 • (хоть, хотя бы) ОДНИ́М ГЛАЗКО́М ⟨ГЛА́ЗОМ⟩ взглянуть, посмотреть на кого-что и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] (to look, glance at s.o. or sth.) quickly, (if only) for a moment: (take ⟨get⟩) a quick look ⟨glance⟩ (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (catch) a glimpse (of s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (if only one could have) just one (quick) look (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (if one could just have) a (quick) peek (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); have a look (at s.o. ⟨sth.⟩), however fleeting.

Ей очень хотелось под каким-нибудь предлогом пойти к Мелеховым, побыть там хоть минутку, хоть одним глазком взглянуть на Григория. Просто немыслимо было думать, что он тут, рядом, и не видеть его (Шолохов 5). She was longing to go to the Melekhovs on some pretext and spend a few minutes there, just to catch a glimpse of Grigory. It was unbearable to think that he was so close and yet not be able to see him (5a). ♦ …Ещё ей хотелось хоть одним глазком, хоть краешком глаза взглянуть на Егоршу: как он сегодня-то, на трезвую голову? (Абрамов 1). …She also wanted to have a peek at Yegorsha, if only out of the corner of one eye: how is he today, sober? (1b).

Г-136 • ГЛА́ЗОМ НЕ МОРГНУ́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; often Verbal Adv, used with pfv verbs] 1. [used in conjunction with another pfv verb denoting the action in question; when the idiom is in fut (or, occas., subjunctive), it is usu. used with убьёт, зарежет, обманет (убил бы etc)] not to hesitate, waver, or pause before doing sth.: X глазом не моргнул ≃ X didn't think twice; X (did sth.) without (giving it) a second thought; || глазом не моргнув ≃ without thinking twice; without (giving it) a second thought.

2. [usu. past, often after хоть бы] not to show any signs of emotion (agitation, fear, anxiety etc) on one's face: X глазом не моргнул ≃ X didn't bat an eye ⟨an eyelid, an eyelash⟩; X didn't turn a hair; || глазом не моргнув ≃ without batting an eye ⟨an eyelid, an eyelash⟩; without turning a hair.

«Дайте мне взаймы рублей пятьдесят, я вам отдам не позже чем послезавтра…» …Она была смущена ещё больше, чем я, но и глазом не моргнула. «Ах, пожалуйста, пожалуйста» (Катаев 2). "Lend me fifty roubles [or so] and I'll give it back to you not later than the day after tomorrow."… She was even more embarrassed than I, but she didn't bat an eyelid. "Oh, of course, of course" (2a).

Г-137 • КАКИ́М ГЛА́ЗОМ ⟨КАКИ́МИ ГЛАЗА́МИ⟩ посмотреть, взглянуть на что coll [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] the way (one perceives sth.), the perspective (from which one views sth.): what (point of) view (one takes of sth.); how (one feels about ⟨looks at⟩ sth.); what angle ⟨stance⟩ (one takes).

Г-138 • КУДА́ НИ КИНЬ ⟨НИ КИ́НЕШЬ⟩ ГЛА́ЗОМ ⟨ВЗГЛЯ́ДОМ, ВЗГЛЯД⟩ [subord clause; these forms only; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] everywhere, regardless of where you look (used to characterize the vast expanse one can see or whatever lies within this expanse): wherever ⟨no matter where, whichever way⟩ you look; wherever you cast your gaze ⟨eye(s)⟩.

Набережная Тесьмы вспоминалась мне, плоты, плоты, куда ни кинешь взгляд, и утренний парок над ними, и шум у пристани… (Каверин 1). I remembered the Tesma embankment, rafts, rafts, wherever you looked, and the morning mist rising over us, and the noise and the wharves… (1a).

Г-139 • НЕВООРУЖЁННЫМ ГЛА́ЗОМ видеть, разглядеть, видно и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. Also: ПРОСТЫ́М ГЛА́ЗОМ (to be able to see s.o. or sth., sth. is visible etc) with the eye alone, without the aid of any optical instrument: with the naked ⟨unaided⟩ eye; with one's naked eye.

А коршуны в поисках прохлады забирались невесть в какую высь — их невозможно было разглядеть простым глазом (Айтматов 2). Meanwhile, the kites were trying to get cool by soaring to such heights that you could no longer see them with the naked eye (2a).

2. often humor (to discern sth., sth. is obvious etc) without careful examination or one's needing any special knowledge: (be obvious) to the untrained eye; (even) an untrained eye (can see it).

«Вы, конечно, знаете, что Клава беременна?» — «В общем… Конечно… я догадывался…» — «В общем, конечно, — передразнила она [гинеколог]. — Что там догадываться? Это — извините меня — видно невооружённым глазом» (Войнович 5). "You know of course that Klava is pregnant." "Of course. I'd just about guessed." "Just about guessed," she [the gynecologist] mimicked me. "But what's there to guess? You'll excuse me, but it's obvious even to the untrained eye" (5a).

Г-140 • НЕ УСПЕ́ТЬ (И) ГЛА́ЗОМ МОРГНУ́ТЬ ⟨МИГНУ́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; often used in neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не успеешь; usu. the first clause in a complex sent, foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «как» or «а»] not to have time to realize sth. or react to sth. (because it happened so quickly): X не успел глазом моргнуть ≃ before X could bat an eye ⟨an eyelid, an eyelash⟩; before X had time to blink; before X knew it. Cf. before X can ⟨could⟩ say Jack Robinson.

«Не мой [ребёнок]», — сказал Алтынник и облизнул губы. «Ах, не твой? — вскрикнула Людмила. — Вот тебе!» — И Алтынник не успел глазом моргнуть, как свёрток очутился в пыли у его ног (Войнович 5). "It's not mine [my child]," said Altinnik, licking his lips. "Ach, it's not yours?" screeched Ludmilla. "Here, you take him!" Before Altinnik could bat an eye, the bundle was in the dust at his feet (5a).

Г-141 • ОДНИ́М ГЛА́ЗОМ наблюдать, присматривать, следить за кем-чем и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv] (to observe, look after s.o. or sth.) not giving him or it one's full attention, while doing something else: (keep ⟨have⟩) one eye on s.o. ⟨sth.⟩.

Бабушка что-то шила и одним глазом присматривала за детьми. Grandmother kept one eye on the kids while doing some sewing.

Г-142 • В ЧУЖО́М ГЛАЗУ́ СУЧО́К ВИ́ДИМ, А В СВОЁМ (И) БРЕВНА́ НЕ ЗАМЕЧА́ЕМ [saying] we notice minor shortcomings in other people while being unaware of our own far more serious faults: ≃ one sees the speck ⟨the splinter, the mote⟩ in another's ⟨one's brother's⟩ eye and ignores the log ⟨the plank⟩ in his own.

< From the Bible (Matt. 7:3, Luke 6:41).

Г-143 • НИ В ОДНО́М ГЛАЗУ́ ⟨ГЛА́ЗЕ obs⟩; ХОТЬ БЫ В ОДНО́М ГЛАЗУ́ ⟨ГЛА́ЗЕ obs⟩ all coll [PrepP or хоть бы + PrepP); these forms only] 1. [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human); usu. preceded by one or more predicates] one is not at all drunk, scared, tired etc (as specified by the preceding context): X... ни в одном глазу ≃ X isn't drunk ⟨scared, tired etc⟩ in the least; X isn't the least ⟨the slightest⟩ bit drunk ⟨scared, tired etc⟩; X is far from drunk ⟨scared, tired etc⟩; X is dead ⟨stone-cold⟩ sober; X is wide awake; [lim.] X can't sleep a wink; [when used in response to a question] not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩; not a bit.

На следующий день в вагоне с утра появился Мозговой, вновь ни в одном глазу, как всегда резкий в слове и в движении (Максимов 1). The next morning Mozgovoy entered the carriage stone-cold sober, as laconic of word and gesture as ever (1a).

2. сна, страха, хмеля, усталости и т.п. (у кого) ~ [subj-compl with $не\ быть_{ø}$; subj/gen: abstr (сна, страха etc); pres or past (var. with ни), pres only (var. with хоть)] s.o. does not (sleep) at all, is not (scared, drunk, tired etc) at all: сна ⟨страха, хмеля, усталости и т.п.⟩ (у Y-а) ни в одном глазу ≃ Y is far from asleep ⟨scared, drunk, tired etc⟩; Y is wide awake; Y isn't scared ⟨drunk, tired etc⟩ in the least; Y isn't the least ⟨the slightest⟩ bit scared ⟨drunk, tired etc⟩; Y is dead ⟨stone-cold⟩ sober; [lim.] Y can't sleep a wink.

Утром Альбина заспешила на работу, робко пытаясь разбудить его [Лёву]: у него сна ни в одном глазу не было, но он мычал, как бы не в силах проснуться, и глаз не разлеплял (Битов 2). In the morning Albina hurriedly left for work, timidly trying to wake him [Lyova]. He was far from asleep, but he mumbled as if unable to rouse himself and would not unstick his eyes (2a).

Г-144 • С ГЛА́ЗУ НА ГЛАЗ говорить, беседовать, оставаться и т.п., разговор, беседа и т.п. coll; ГЛАЗ НА ГЛАЗ obs; МЕЖДУ ЧЕТЫРЁХ ГЛАЗ obs [PrepP; these forms only; adv or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] (to talk) privately, (to remain) solely with one other person, excluding anyone else: in private; alone (with s.o.); tête-à-tête; [lim.] without witnesses; confidentially.

«Нам нужно поговорить с глазу на глаз» (Эренбург 4). "We've got something to talk about in private" (4a). ♦ «Останься ради меня… Я ни с какой стороны не боюсь очутиться с глазу на глаз с ним [Комаровским]. Но это тягостно» (Пастернак 1). "Please don't go, for my sake…. It isn't that I'm frightened of being alone with him [Komarovsky], but it's painful" (1a).

Г-145 • ГЛАС ВОПИЮ́ЩЕГО В ПУСТЫ́НЕ; ГЛАС ⟨ГО́ЛОС⟩, ВОПИЮ́ЩИЙ В ПУСТЫ́НЕ all lit [NP; sing only] an appeal disregarded by everyone, unheeded: a voice (crying) in the wilderness.

Призыв Солженицына [«жить не по лжи»] остаётся гласом вопиющего в пустыне (Эткинд 1). Solzhenitsyn's appeal ["not to live by lies"] has remained a voice crying in the wilderness (1a).

< From the Bible (Isa. 40:3, Matt. 3:3 etc).

Г-146 • НИ ГЛА́СА НИ ВОЗДЫХА́НИЯ obs [NP_{gen}; Invar; used as subj/gen with $быть_{ø}$; fixed WO] (there is) complete silence (in some place): dead ⟨utter, total⟩ silence.

Г-147 • ПРЕДАВА́ТЬ/ПРЕДА́ТЬ ГЛА́СНОСТИ что [VP; subj: human or пресса, газета etc; often infin with должен, нужно etc; fixed WO] to make sth. (often sth. hitherto concealed) widely known, open to public judgment: X предал гласности Y ≃ X made Y public (knowledge); [lim.] X gave Y publicity.

Выйдя в 1966 году из лагеря, я считал, что написать и предать гласности то, чему я был свидетелем, — это мой гражданский долг (Марченко 2). When I was discharged from prison camp in 1966, I considered it my civic duty to write down and make public what I had seen (2a).

Г-148 • ЛУЖЁНАЯ ГЛО́ТКА (у кого) substand [NP; often VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] 1. (s.o. has) the capacity to drink much alcohol without getting drunk: у X-а лужёная глотка ≃ X has a hollow leg; X can drink you ⟨anyone etc⟩ under the table; X can (really) hold his liquor.

2. Also: МЕ́ДНАЯ ГЛО́ТКА (у кого) substand [fixed WO] (s.o. has) the ability to shout, swear, sing etc loudly and for a long time: у X-а лужёная глотка ≃ X has a lot of lung power; X has a terrific ⟨powerful⟩ set of lungs; [in refer. to swearing etc] X has a mouth on him like you wouldn't believe.

Г-149 • ЗАТЫКА́ТЬ/ЗАТКНУ́ТЬ ГЛО́ТКУ ⟨ГО́РЛО⟩ кому highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human] to force s.o. to be silent, prevent s.o. in a harsh manner from speaking, voicing his opinion: X заткнул Y-у глотку ≃ X shut Y's mouth; X shut Y up; X made Y keep Y's (big) mouth shut; X gagged Y; X put a muzzle on Y; || Imper заткни глотку! ≃ shut it!; shut your face ⟨trap⟩! put a sock in it!

…[Партийный лектор] объяснил, что сборник [стихов Осипа Мандельштама] издан, чтобы продемонстрировать Западу свободу печати. «…Мы издали Мандельштама, чтобы заткнуть им глотку». — «Заткните и нам тоже!» — раздался голос из зала (Войнович 1). …A Party lecturer explained that the volume [of poems by Osip Mandelstam] had been published to demonstrate our freedom of the press to the West. "…We have published Mandelstam in order to shut their mouths." "Shut ours too!" came a voice from the audience (1a).

Г-150 • В ГЛУБИНЕ́ ВЕКО́В [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] in the distant past: in times past; in ancient times; in the remote past; long, long ago.

Г-151 • В ГЛУБИНЕ́ ДУШИ́ ⟨СЕ́РДЦА⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (in refer. to one's innermost feelings, thoughts) internally, secretly: in one's heart of hearts; in the depths of one's soul ⟨heart⟩; deep in one's heart ⟨soul⟩; deep down (in one's soul ⟨heart⟩); deep down inside.

Я остался в совершенном одиночестве на земле, но, признаюсь, в глубине души обрадовался (Булгаков 12). I was now totally alone in the world but I confess that in my heart of hearts I was glad (12a). ♦ Радуясь за неё [дочь], он в глубине души ревновал её к Николаю, постепенно заместившему отца в сердце дочери… (Максимов 3). He was glad for her [his daughter], but deep down he felt jealous of Nikolai, who had gradually replaced her father in his daughter's heart (3a).

Г-152 • ДО ГЛУБИНЫ́ ДУШИ́ ⟨СЕ́РДЦА obsoles, lit⟩ волновать, трогать, потрясать, поражать и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to worry, move, affect s.o. etc) profoundly, intensely: to the (very) depths of one's soul ⟨being⟩; deeply; terribly.

Некий Плаписсон, усердный посетитель парижских салонов, возмущённый до глубины души содержанием пьесы, сидя на сцене, при каждой остроте или трюке обращал багровое от злобы лицо к партеру и кричал: «Смейся же партер! Смейся!» (Булгаков 5). A certain Monsieur Plapisson, a faithful habitué of Paris salons, who had a stage seat, was outraged by the play to the depths of his soul. At every witticism or stunt, he turned his apoplectic face to the parterre, shouting furiously, "Laugh, parterre! Go on, laugh!" (5a).

Г-153 • ИЗ ГЛУБИНЫ́ ВЕКО́В ⟨ПРО́ШЛОГО⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] from the distant past: from ancient times; from the remote past; from long, long ago.

Г-154 • ОТ ГЛУБИНЫ́ ДУШИ́ желать, сказать что и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to wish sth.) very deeply, (to say sth.) with great feeling: from the depths of one's soul; with one's whole being; with all one's heart.

Г-155 • ТОГО́ И ГЛЯДИ́ ⟨ЖДИ, СМОТРИ́⟩; ТОГО́ ГЛЯДИ́ all coll [Particle; fixed WO] (sth. unpleasant, and often unexpected, might happen) momentarily (its reason is often specified in the preceding context): (one may or will do sth. ⟨sth. may happen, it looks as if sth. will happen⟩) any minute now ⟨(at) any minute, (at) any moment, before you ⟨we etc⟩ know it⟩; (the) next thing you know (sth. will happen); you can never ⟨never can⟩ tell when you ⟨s.o., sth.⟩ might…; [lim.] if one doesn't watch out; unless one watches out; if one isn't careful; one has to be careful (not to…).

«Ишь ты, месяц-то, как вертухай на стене, — усмехнулся Саня. — Того и гляди пальнёт!» (Аксёнов 6). "Say, look at that moon, like a guard on a prison wall," said Sanya, laughing. "Any minute now it'll open fire on us" (6a). ♦ [Лебедев:] Столько, брат, про тебя по уезду сплетен ходит, что того и гляди к тебе товарищ прокурора приедет… (Чехов 4). [L.:] There's so much gossip going around about you that before you know it, my boy, the assistant prosecutor will be dropping in on you… (4a).

Г-156 • НАВОДИ́ТЬ/НАВЕСТИ́ ГЛЯ́НЕЦ на что coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to make the final improvements on sth., bring sth. to a good, acceptable, finished state (occas. used when sth. bad is made to appear deceptively good): X наводит глянец на Y ≃ X is putting a gloss ⟨a finish⟩ on Y; X is putting the final ⟨finishing⟩ touches on

Y; X is polishing Y (up); [in refer. to sth. bad made to appear good] X is putting a positive gloss ⟨face⟩ on Y.

Г-157 • МЕНЯ́ТЬ ⟨СМЕНЯ́ТЬ⟩/СМЕНИ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕМЕНИ́ТЬ, ПРЕЛОЖИ́ТЬ obs, ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ obs⟩ ГНЕВ НА МИ́ЛОСТЬ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv (past or Verbal Adv); usu. this WO] to cease being angry at s.o. and start treating him kindly: X сменил гнев на милость ≃ X relented; X's anger changed ⟨gave way⟩ to pity ⟨mercy etc⟩; X's heart ⟨anger⟩ softened.

Сам флигель-адъютант первый, сменив гнев на милость, говорил, что он «никакого зла сделать старосте не хочет…» (Герцен 1). The adjutant himself, relenting, was the first to declare that he "wished the man no harm…" (1a). ♦ Он [Чик] боялся, что когда они напьются и уйдут отсюда, ему придётся по всему городу нести одежду Керопчика, если Мотя не сменит гнев на милость (Искандер 1). He [Chik] was afraid that when they got drunk and left he would have to carry Keropchik's clothes all through town, if Motya's anger didn't change to pity (1a).

Г-158 • ВИТЬ/СВИТЬ (СЕБЕ́) ГНЕЗДО́ [VP] 1. [subj: human] to set up one's family life, make a comfortable home for o.s.: X свил себе гнездо ≃ X built his nest; X built himself a nest; X built a nest for himself.

…[Анна Сергеевна] подала ему [Базарову] сложенный листок почтовой бумаги. Это было письмо от Аркадия: он в нём просил руки её сестры… «Так ты задумал гнездо себе свить? — говорил он в тот же день Аркадию… — Что ж? Дело хорошее» (Тургенев 2). …[Anna Sergeyevna] handed him [Bazarov] a folded sheet of notepaper. It was a letter from Arkady, in which he asked for her sister's hand…. "So you've decided to build a nest for yourself?" he was saying the same day to Arkady…. "Well, not a bad idea" (2a).

2. ~ где [subj: human] to establish residence or remain in some place permanently or for a long time: X свил себе гнездо в месте Y ≃ X put down roots in place Y; X settled (down) in place Y; X made place Y his home.

3. ~ где [subj: abstr] to become fixed, firmly established (in some place, in s.o.'s mind etc): X свил себе гнездо в Y-е ≃ X took root in Y.

Публика… заключила, что измена свила себе гнездо в самом Глупове… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The assemblage… concluded that treachery had taken root right in Foolov (1a).

Г-159 • ОСИ́НОЕ ГНЕЗДО́ [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] a group or crowd of hostile, malicious, or socially dangerous people, or their dwelling or whereabouts: hornet's nest; ‖ разворошить ⟨растревожить и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ stir up a hornet`s nest.

В те времена он считал, что все меньшевики эндурского происхождения. Конечно, он знал, что у них есть всякие местные прихвостни, но сама родина меньшевизма, самое осиное гнездо, самая идейная пчеломатка, по его мнению, обитала в Эндурске (Искандер 3). In those days he believed all Mensheviks came from Endursk. Of course he knew they had a bunch of local stooges around here, but in his opinion Endursk was the true motherland of Menshevism, its hornet's nest, its ideological queen bee (3a).

Г-160 • НЕ ГОВОРИ́ ГОП, ПОКА́ НЕ ПЕРЕПРЫ́ГНЕШЬ ⟨НЕ ПЕРЕСКО́ЧИШЬ⟩ [saying] do not consider sth. finished until it is brought to a conclusion (said to or of a person who is too self-confident, who celebrates his success before it is ensured): ≃ don't count your chickens before they are hatched; don't whistle ⟨halloo⟩ till you are out of the wood(s); don't speak too soon; there's many a slip 'twixt ⟨betwixt, between⟩ the cup and the lip; (you) do not shout dinner till you have your knife in the loaf.

Г-161 • (А ⟨НУ⟩) ЧТО́ Я (вам) ГОВОРИ́Л! coll [sent; fixed WO] used to express the speaker's reaction upon learning that sth. he maintained earlier has been confirmed: (there!) what did I tell you!; (that's) just ⟨exactly⟩ what I said!; just like I said!; didn't I tell you!; I told you so!

«Знаешь, Вера действительно беременна!» — «А что я говорила!» "You know, Vera really is pregnant!" "What did I tell you!"

Г-162 • ГОВОРИ́Т КАК ПИ́ШЕТ coll [VP; subj: human; pres only; fixed WO] one speaks smoothly and articulately: X говорит как пишет ≃ X has a silver tongue; X is silver-tongued; X has a way with words; [when reacting to a speech etc] quite a piece ⟨a bit⟩ of oratory!; what an eloquent presentation!

Ваш завкафедрой говорит как пишет, но когда пытаешься потом вспомнить, о чём шла речь, понимаешь, что это были пустые слова. Your department chair has a silver tongue, but when you try to remember afterward what he was talking about, you realize it was all just empty words.

Г-163 • САМ ЗА СЕБЯ́ ГОВОРИ́Т [VP; subj: usu. abstr] some fact, quality etc is so obvious or attests to sth. so clearly that it does not require any explanation, proof etc: X сам за себя говорит ≃ X speaks for itself; X is self-evident.

Придворные объяснили князю Андрею невнимание к нему государя тем, что его величество был недоволен тем, что Болконский не служил с 1805 года. «Я сам знаю, как мы не властны в своих симпатиях и антипатиях, — думал князь Андрей, — …но дело будет говорить само за себя» (Толстой 5). Courtiers explained to Prince Andrei that the Tsar's disregard of him was due to His Majesty's displeasure at Bolkonsky's not having served since 1805. "I know myself that one cannot help one's likes and dislikes," thought Prince Andrei, "…but the project will speak for itself" (5a).

Г-164 • (И) НЕ ГОВОРИ́(ТЕ) coll [usu. indep. sent; these forms only] (used to express total agreement with the interlocutor in his evaluation of sth., more often of sth. bad, unpleasant etc) yes, of course, definitely: you can say that again!; I'll say!; that's for sure!; you bet!; no argument there ⟨here⟩!; [lim.] don't even suggest such a thing; perish the thought!

«Ну и геройским сынком сподобил тебя господь!..» И польщённый в отцовских чувствах Пантелей Прокофьевич охотно согласился: «И не говори!» (Шолохов 5). "That's a real hero of a son God granted you!…" And with his paternal feelings thus flattered Pantelei readily agreed, "You can say that again!" (5a).

Г-165 • ЧТО́ ⟨КА́К⟩ НИ ГОВОРИ́(ТЕ) coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth) or indep. clause; often foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «а»; fixed WO] regardless of any contrary opinions or judgments that may be voiced or held (the opinion or judgment that follows is the correct one): say what you like; no matter what you say ⟨anyone says⟩; whatever you say.

Подарок, что ни говори, был богатый… (Искандер 4). Say what you like, it was a rich gift… (4a). ♦ Баба Дуня тащила свою добычу. Ноша была нелёгкая. Одной соли пуд, да мыла тридцать шесть кусков по четыреста граммов каждый… Что ни говори, тяжесть получилась порядочная (Войнович 2). Granny Dunya was lugging her booty home. It was no light burden. The pood of salt alone was thirty-six pounds, then there were the thirty-six bars of soap, four hundred grams each…. No matter what you say, a respectable load (2a).

Г-166 • КАК ГОВОРИ́ТСЯ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as it has become accepted to say: as ⟨like⟩ they say; as the saying ⟨the expression⟩ goes; to borrow a phrase.

«Так что до сегодняшнего дня мне было, как говорится, до фени, живёт ли где-то подобный Шевчук или нет» (Войнович 4). "So, up until today, I couldn't have, as they say, given a good goddamn whether there was any such Shevchuk alive anywhere" (4a). ♦ Нам, как говорится, не то обидно, что этот безумный мир многих гениальных людей принимает за сумасшедших (Искандер 5). It doesn't bother us, as the saying goes, that this mad world takes many geniuses for madmen (5a).

Г-167 • (ЕЩЁ) НИ О ЧЁМ НЕ ГОВОРИ́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: abstr; 3rd pers or Part; pres or past; the verb is usu. in the final position] (of some action, quality etc) not to provide sufficient grounds for drawing conclusions: X (ещё) ни о чём не говорит ≃ X doesn't mean anything ⟨a thing⟩; X doesn't prove anything; X tells one ⟨you⟩ nothing; X says nothing; X is of no significance.

…С какой стати он, то есть скот, должен предчувствовать человеческое кровопролитие и тревожиться по этому поводу, непонятно. Ссылка на то, что скот перестал кричать, как только началась перестрелка, тоже ни о чём не говорит (Искандер 3). …No one knows why they—the livestock, that is—should have had a premonition of human bloodshed and been anxious on that account. The fact that the livestock ceased to cry out as soon as the shooting started doesn't mean anything either (3a).

Г-168 • НЕ́ЧЕГО И ГОВОРИ́ТЬ, что… or о ком-чём, про кого-что coll [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$, usu. pres; и always precedes говорить] 1. it is so obvious that it does not even have to be stated: нечего и говорить, что... ≃ needless to say; it goes without saying (that…); of course; || об X-е нечего и говорить ≃ one need hardly mention ⟨say anything about⟩ X; [when the person or thing in question is juxtaposed with a person or thing in the preceding context] to say nothing of X; not to mention X.

«Нечего и говорить о том, что мы приняли решение вашего превосходительства к непременному исполнению…» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "Needless to say, we accepted your excellency's decision and put it into effect immediately" (2a). ♦ Нечего и говорить о том, как утешительно было находить в письмах незнакомых людей отклик на то сокровенное, что годами вынашивалось молчком (Гинзбург 2). I need hardly say how reassuring it was to discover in letters from unknown people their reaction to inner secrets that for long years had been cherished in silence (2a).

2. sth. or s.o. is excluded altogether (as a possibility): об X-е нечего и говорить ≃ X is out of the question; [lim.] there is no question of (person Y's) doing thing X.

[author's usage] …Маргарите решительно нечего было надеть, так как все её вещи остались в особняке, и хоть этот особняк был очень недалеко, конечно, нечего было и толковать о том, чтобы пойти туда и взять там свои вещи (Булгаков 9). …Margarita had nothing to put on, since all her things remained in her house, and though it was not far, there was, of course, no question of her going there to take her clothes (9a).

Г-169 • ЧТО И ГОВОРИ́ТЬ; (ДА) ЧТО (ТАМ ⟨ТУТ, И⟩) ГОВОРИ́ТЬ all coll [these forms only; indep. clause or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] definitely, undoubtedly, truly (used to emphasize that there is no reason to argue or disagree with the statement that precedes or follows): no question ⟨doubt⟩ about it; true; that's for sure; to be sure; sure enough; it can't be denied; [lim.] really and truly.

«Ну, при нём-то [председателе сельсовета] не будут подкладывать», — сказал он, опуская бинокль. «Что и говорить, при нём не посмеют», — согласились женщины… (Искандер 3). "Well, with him [the chairman of the village soviet] there they won't cheat," he said, lowering the binoculars. "No question about it, with him there they won't dare," the women agreed… (3a).

Г-170 • ЧТО ТЫ ГОВОРИ́ШЬ ⟨ВЫ ГОВОРИ́ТЕ⟩! coll [indep. sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used to express surprise, amazement, or disbelief at sth. said) can it really be true?; is it true?: well, what do you know!; you don't say!; what are you saying!; you don't mean that!; [lim.] you're kidding!

«Дядя Сандро!.. А я вас ищу по всему городу…» — «Что ты говоришь!» — оживился дядя Сандро… (Искандер 3). "Uncle Sandro!… I've been looking for you all over town…." "Well, what do you know!" Uncle Sandro said, reviving (3a). ♦ «А знаете фамилию этого молодого вьюноши [obs = юноши]? — вдруг, точно угадывая его мысль, спросил Соколов. — Чей он родич?» — «Понятия не имею…». Соколов, приблизив губы к уху Штрума, зашептал. «Что вы говорите!» — воскликнул Штрум (Гроссман 2). "Do you know the surname of the young grandee?" Sokolov asked suddenly, as though reading Viktor's thoughts. "Do you realize whose relative he is?" "I've no idea." Sokolov leant over and whispered in Viktor's ear. "You don't say!" exclaimed Viktor (2a).

Г-171 • ВООБЩЕ́ ГОВОРЯ́ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] when considered in general terms: generally speaking.

Вообще говоря, он [Григорий Васильевич Кутузов] был честен и неподкупен (Достоевский 1). Generally speaking, he [Grigory Vasilievich Kutuzov] was honest and incorruptible (1a).

Г-172 • ИНА́ЧЕ ГОВОРЯ́ ⟨ВЫРАЖА́ЯСЬ⟩ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO (1st var.)] expressed differently (used to introduce a statement that conveys the meaning of the preceding statement but phrases it differently): in other words; to put it another way; that is (to say).

…Кроме комиссий на станции есть некомиссии, иначе говоря, люди, не являющиеся членами комиссий, они стоят вне этого, заняты на других работах или вообще не служат (Соколов 1). …Besides the commissions there is a noncommission at the station too, or to put it another way, people who are not members of commissions, they stand outside them, employed at other jobs, or they don't work here at all (1a).

Г-173 • КОРО́ЧЕ ⟨КО́РОТКО⟩ ГОВОРЯ́ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] if the essence of the matter is to be summarized, stated briefly, then it is as follows (usu. used by the speaker before summarizing an account, explanation etc, or when he realizes he is failing to express himself clearly and tries to present the matter more succintly): in short; to make a long story short; in a word; in brief; to put it briefly; to be brief.

…В тот день они [дядя Сандро и абрек Щащико] славно попили грушевой водки и Щащико ещё раз приходил в Большой Дом… Коротко говоря, знаменитый абрек больше дядю Сандро в вероломных замыслах не подозревал (Искандер 3). …They [Uncle Sandro and the abrek Shashiko] drank gloriously of pear brandy that day. Shashiko came again to the Big House more than once…. To make a long story short, the famous abrek never again suspected Uncle Sandro of perfidious plots (3a). ♦ [Авдонин:] Побежал я, короче говоря, в контору. Комнату просить. Очень плохо соображал… (Салынский 1). [А.:] …To put it briefly, I ran to the office to ask for a room. I hardly knew what I was doing… (1a).

Г-174 • МЕЖДУ НА́МИ ГОВОРЯ́; МЕЖДУ НА́МИ both coll [Verbal Adv (1st var.), PrepP (2nd var.); these forms only; sent adv, parenth (both variants) or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, остаться (subj: usu. это or этот разговор, наша беседа etc—2nd var.)] as a secret that should not be known to anyone other than ourselves: (just ⟨strictly etc⟩) between us ⟨you and me, ourselves⟩; between you, me, and the lamppost ⟨bedpost, back porch etc⟩.

…В газетах появилось мрачное имя Чомбе. (Между нами говоря, правильнее было бы сказать Чомба.) (Искандер 4). …The name of Tshombe appeared in the papers. (Just between us, it would be more correct to say Tshomba.) (4a). ♦ Говоря строго между нами… я соврал тебе давеча про наше хорошее положение. Положение у нас хуже некуда (Терц 6). Strictly between ourselves… I told you a lie when I said that things were not as bad as they might be. The fact is, they couldn't be worse (6a).

Г-175 • НЕ ГОВОРЯ́ (УЖЕ́ ⟨УЖ⟩) о ком-чём; Я УЖЕ́ ⟨УЖ⟩ НЕ ГОВОРЮ́ о ком-чём [Verbal Adv (1st var.); VP$_{subj}$, я is always in the initial position (2nd var.); these forms only] and also, in addition to, as well as: not to mention; to say nothing of; let alone; not to speak of (sth. ⟨s.o., the fact that…⟩); quite apart from the fact that…; I'm not even talking about (sth. ⟨s.o., the fact that…⟩); never mind (sth. ⟨s.o., the fact that…⟩).

А как быть [жителям села] с освященной древними традициями необходимостью побывать на свадьбе и других родовых торжествах? А дежурство у постели больного родственника? А годовщина смерти, а сорокадневье? Я уж не говорю о свежих похоронах (Искандер 3). What were they [the villagers] to do about the necessity, sanctified by ancient tradition, of attending a wedding or any other clan celebration? And the vigil at the bedside of a sick relative? And the anniversary of a death, or the fortieth-day memorial feast? Not to mention the funeral itself! (3a). ♦ «Вот видишь ли, Евгений, — промолвил Аркадий, оканчивая свой рассказ, — как несправедливо ты судишь о дяде! Я уже не говорю о том, что он не раз выручал отца из беды, отдавал ему все свои деньги… но он всякому рад помочь…» (Тургенев 2). "So you see, Yevgeny," said Arkady, finishing his story, "how unfairly you jump to conclusions about Uncle! Quite apart from the fact that he has often helped my father out of trouble and given him all his money… he is always glad to help anybody…" (2e). "So you see, Evgeny," said Arkady, finishing his story, "how unfair you were to judge my uncle! I'm not even talking about the fact that on more than one occasion he's rescued my father from misfortune, given him all his money… he's glad to help anyone…" (2g).

Г-176 • ОТКРОВЕ́ННО ⟨ЧЕ́СТНО⟩ ГОВОРЯ́; ОТКРОВЕ́ННО СКАЗА́ТЬ [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] speaking honestly: frankly speaking; to be (perfectly ⟨quite⟩) frank ⟨honest⟩; I must admit.

«Откровенно говоря, мне самой было бы не очень интересно восстанавливать всё, что я чувствовала по этому поводу, когда была курсисткой» (Набоков 1). "Frankly speaking, I myself wouldn't be very interested in resuscitating everything that I felt in this connection when I was a college student…" (1a).

Г-177 • ПО́ПРОСТУ ГОВОРЯ́ ⟨СКАЗА́ТЬ⟩ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] speaking directly: to put it plainly; quite simply; simply put ⟨stated⟩; [lim.] to put it bluntly; to be blunt.

Чёрт сбил с толку обоих чиновников: чиновники, говоря попросту, перебесились и перессорились ни за что (Гоголь 3). The Devil led the two officials astray: the officials, to put it plainly, went crazy and fell out with each other for no reason whatsoever (3c).

Г-178 • СО́БСТВЕННО ГОВОРЯ́ [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [sent adv (parenth)] (used in conjunction with a statement that specifies the situation, provides a more precise phrasing of sth. stated earlier etc) in reality, in truth: actually; after all; strictly speaking; in fact; as a matter of fact.

Собственно говоря, именно Октябрь и привил ему начальную тягу ко всякого рода машинам… (Аксёнов 12). It was actually October who infected him with a passion for all sorts of machinery… (12a).

2. [used as Particle with interrog and relative pronouns, adverbs etc] used to emphasize, draw attention to some word or phrase: exactly; precisely; just.

«Почему же, собственно говоря, вы себя выдаёте за папу товарища Сталина?» — «Потому что я и есть папа товарища Сталина. Мой сын, товарищ Зиновий Сталин, самый известный в Гомеле зубной техник». — «Вот оно что!» (Войнович 2). "…Just why are you trying to pass yourself off as Comrade Stalin's papa?" "Because I am the father of Comrade Stalin. My son, Comrade Zinovy Stalin, is the most-well-known dental technician in Gomel." "So that's it!" (2a).

Г-179 • ГОВОРЯ́Т ⟨ГОВОРЮ́⟩ ВАМ ⟨ТЕБЕ́⟩ coll [VP; subj: implied; these forms only; often used as sent adv (parenth); usu. this WO] used to emphasize a statement or make a command more emphatic: I'm telling you; I tell you; [lim.] I've ⟨we've⟩ (already) told you.

[Анна Андреевна:] Кто ж бы это такой был? [Марья Антоновна:] Это Добчинский, маменька… [Анна Андреевна:] Ну вот: нарочно, чтобы только поспорить. Говорят тебе — не Добчинский (Гоголь 4). [A.A.] Whoever could it be? [M.A.:] It's Mr Dobbin, Mummy…. [A.A.:] There now, you said that deliberately, simply for the sake of argument. I tell you it is not Mr Dobbin (4b).

Г-180 • ХОДИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЫСТУПА́ТЬ⟩ ГО́ГОЛЕМ coll [VP; subj: human] to walk with a self-important, arrogant air: X ходит гоголем ≃ X struts about; X struts like a peacock ⟨a bantam (rooster)⟩; X swaggers.

[Офицерским жёнам] тоже скучно в тесном офицерском посёлке, расположенном обычно рядом с лагерем, вдали от больших населённых пунктов. Развлечений никаких, даже кино нет… Одна надежда — завести роман в лагере, с зэком помоложе. Разумеется, избраннику завидует весь лагерь, и он ходит гоголем — первый парень на деревне (Буковский 1). [The officers' wives] too found life boring, for in the cramped officers' quarters, which were usually situated next to the camp and far away from any population centers, there were no amusements, not even a movie…. Their only distraction was to start a romance with one of the young cons in the camp. Of course, the entire camp would be green with envy at the lucky fellow, and he would strut like a bantam—the cock of the village (1a).

Г-181 • ГОД ОТ ГО́ДА ⟨О́Т ГО́ДУ⟩; С ГО́ДУ ⟨-а⟩ НА́ ГОД [these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] as the years go by: with every ⟨each⟩ passing year; from year to year; year by year; from one year to the next; every year.

Национальность… Вот пятый пункт… Он [Штрум] не знал, что год от года будут сгущаться вокруг этого пятого пункта мрачные страсти (Гроссман 2). Nationality… Point five…. He [Shtrum] wasn't to know what dark passions would gather year by year around this point (2a).

Г-182 • ГОДА́ ⟨ГО́ДЫ⟩ ВЫ́ШЛИ кому, чьи substand [VP_{subj}] 1. s.o. has become an adult, reached a suitable age for sth. (often marriage): года X-у вышли ≃ X is ⟨has come⟩ of age; [lim.] X is old enough; [of a young woman considered ready for marriage] X is of marriageable age.

[2-ой мужик:] Что же замуж не выдают? Года-то уж небось вышли? (Толстой 3). [Second Peasant:] Why don't they marry them off? They're old enough, aren't they? (3a).

2. s.o. is beyond the maximum age allowed for sth.: года X-овы вышли ≃ X is past ⟨has passed⟩ the age limit ⟨the cutoff age⟩; X is overage ⟨too old⟩ (for sth.).

Г-183 • ИЗ ГО́ДА В ГО́Д ⟨И́З ГОДУ В ГО́Д⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (used to convey the constant, uninterrupted nature of an action) every year, over the course of several or many years: year after year; from year to year; year in (,) year out; year in and year out.

[Алекс:] …Честно говоря, надоело как-то [преподавать детишкам]. Из года в год параграфы — потом спрашивать, опять параграфы — и опять каждого спрашивать (Солженицын 11). [A.:] …To be frank, I just got fed up [with teaching kids]. Year after year going through sections of a textbook, questioning the kids on them, then some more out of the textbook, and then again questioning the kids one after the other (11a). ♦ «Возьмите очереди. Раз постоять — пустяк. Сто раз — пустяк. А если изо дня в день, из года в год?» (Зиновьев 2). "Take queues. To stand in line once is nothing. To stand in line a hundred times is nothing. But if it's day in day out, year in year out? (2a).

Г-184 • ОБЕ́ЩАННОГО ТРИ ГО́ДА ЖДУТ [saying] said jokingly when the fulfillment of a promise is delayed for a long time or when a person does not believe in the fulfillment of s.o.'s promise: ≃ between promising and performing a man may marry his daughter; [lim.] promises are made ⟨meant⟩ to be broken; promises demand patience.

Г-185 • НЕ ПО ГОДА́М ⟨ЛЕТА́М, ВО́ЗРАСТУ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only] 1. ~ какой, каков etc [usu. modif or adv] not in accordance with one's age: for one's age; beyond one's years; for someone his ⟨her etc⟩ age; for a man ⟨woman etc⟩ of his ⟨her etc⟩ age; [in refer. to an unusually mature young person] (have) an old head on young shoulders; || X одевается не по возрасту ≃ X doesn't dress in keeping with his years ⟨age⟩.

Тендел вскочил со скамейки, костистый, не по годам проворный старик, и глянул издали на Кязыма… (Искандер 5). Tendel jumped up from the bench. A bony old man, agile for his age, he looked at Kyazym from afar… (5a). ♦ У меня есть приятель, ещё совсем молодой, но умный и мрачный не по возрасту (Мандельштам 1). I have a certain acquaintance who, though still quite young, is both wise and gloomy beyond his years (1a).

2. ~ (кому) [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: abstr or infin)] not befitting s.o.'s age, not within s.o.'s capacity because of his age: X (Y-у) не по годам ≃ X is unbecoming at Y's age; X is inappropriate for someone Y's age; Y is too old for X; Y is past X ⟨that sort of thing⟩.

Я вздохнул и отвернулся. Да, да, конечно, моя страсть не по возрасту (Искандер 3). I sighed and looked away. No, of course such passion was unbecoming at my age (3a).

Г-186 • С ГОДА́МИ; С ЛЕТА́МИ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] with the progression of time: with the (passing) years; over the years; as the years pass ⟨go by⟩; in time.

С годами у неё стал слишком развязываться язык, сказывался, видно, возраст… (Максимов 1). With the passing years her tongue had begun to wag too freely—evidently the effect of age… (1a).

Г-187 • В ГОДА́Х; В ЛЕТА́Х [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif] older, elderly: X в годах ≃ X is getting on in years; X is advanced in years; X is no youngster.

Дельце, о котором просил хозяин, касалось его сбежавшей жены. Начал он издалека, говоря, что он уже не мальчик, чтобы есть что попало и как попало, а человек в летах, и ему нужен человек, который мог бы приготовить и подать ему пищу (Искандер 4). The favor that Omar had requested concerned his runaway wife. He began in a roundabout way, saying that he was no longer a boy, to eat any old thing fixed any old way; he was a man getting on in years, he needed a person who could prepare and serve his food for him (4a).

Г-188 • КУДА́ Э́ТО ГОДи́ТСЯ! coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] this is utterly inappropriate, unacceptable (used to express a harsh judgment of or negative attitude toward sth.): this is just ⟨really⟩ too much!; how could you ⟨he etc⟩ do such a thing!; how can this be!

Почему мне об этом раньше не сказали? Куда это годится! Why wasn't I told about this before? This is really too much!

Г-189 • НИКУДА́ НЕ ГОДи́ТСЯ coll [VP; subj: human, abstr, or concr; fixed WO] some person (thing, phenomenon) is totally unsuitable, does not meet the required or desired standards, some action or situation is totally unacceptable: X никуда не годится ≃ X just won't do; X will never do; X is no good (at all); X is good for nothing; X is not good for anything; person X is utterly incompetent; X is utterly worthless; X is of no use (whatsoever); [lim.] X is an utter waste of time.

…Стихи всё равно никуда не годились, как подавляющее большинство описательных стихов… (Катаев 3). …The verses were no good at all, like most descriptive verses… (3a). ♦ «Третьего дня, я смотрю, он [твой отец] Пушкина читает, — продолжал… Базаров. — Растолкуй ему, пожалуйста, что это никуда не годится» (Тургенев 2). "A few days ago I looked over and he [your father] was reading Pushkin," Bazarov continued… "Tell him, if you would, that it's of no use" (2g). "The other day I found him reading Pushkin," Bazarov resumed. "Tell him what an utter waste of time it is" (2a).

Г-190 • ГОДи́ТЬСЯ В ОТЦЫ́ ⟨В МА́ТЕРИ, В СЫНОВЬЯ́ и т.п.⟩ кому [VP; subj: human] to be the appropriate age to be s.o.'s father (mother, son etc): X годится Y-у в отцы ⟨в сыновья⟩ ≃ X is old ⟨young⟩ enough to be Y's father ⟨son⟩; X could ⟨might well⟩ be Y's father ⟨son⟩.

[Шаманов (по телефону):] Девушка?.. Да, интересная… Успокойся, старина. Ты ей в отцы годишься… (Вампилов 2). [Sh. (into the telephone):] The girl?… Yes, not bad…. Relax, my friend. You're old enough to be her father (2b).

Г-191 • НИКУДА́ НЕ ГО́ДНЫЙ [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] very bad, poor in quality, not fit for anything: (absolutely) worthless; (perfectly) useless; lousy; no-good; not ⟨no longer⟩ good for anything.

…Великий Лев Толстой совершенно спокойно, не считаясь ни с чем, подверг уничтожающей критике самого Шекспира, взявши под сомнение не только ценность его мыслей, но и просто-напросто высмеяв его как весьма посредственного — точнее, никуда не годного — сочинителя (Катаев 3). …The great

Leo Tolstoy… quite calmly and without regard for anything or anyone, had subjected Shakespeare himself to annihilating criticism, not only casting doubt on the value of his ideas but simply ridiculing him as an extremely mediocre, or rather, perfectly useless scribbler (3a).

Г-192 • БЕ́З ГОДУ НЕДЕ́ЛЯ ⟨-ю⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv; usu. used with impfv verbs] for a very brief period of time: (only) a very short time; just a brief while; next to no time; (for) only a few days; (be) (completely) new (in some place); [lim.] only just (arrived ⟨began to work etc⟩ somewhere).

«Вы… в полку без году неделя; нынче здесь, завтра перешли куда в адъютантики; вам наплевать, что говорить будут: „Между павлоградскими офицерами воры!“» (Толстой 4). “You… have been in the regiment a very short time; you’re here today, tomorrow you’ll go off somewhere as an adjutant, and it’s all the same to you if they say: ‘There are thieves among the Pavlograd officers!’” (4a).

2. often condes or disapprov [nonagreeing modif of NP denoting a person’s profession, position etc and used as subj-compl] recent, inexperienced: new; green; a greenhorn.

Ты инженер без году неделя, а уже лезешь других учить. As an engineer you’re still green, and already you’re trying to teach others how to do things.

Г-193 • ГО́ДЫ ⟨ГОДА́⟩ ПОДХО́ДЯТ/ПОДОШЛИ́ кому substand [VP_{subj}] s.o. has reached the age when he should do sth.: годы X-у подошли ≃ X is at that age (when…); it’s (high) time for X (to do sth.).

Г-194 • СКО́ЛЬКО ГОЛО́В, СТО́ЛЬКО (И) УМО́В [saying] there are as many different opinions as there are people: ≃ so many men, so many minds.

Г-195 • АДА́МОВА ГОЛОВА́ [NP; fixed WO] a representation of a human skull, often with two crossed bones underneath (as a symbol of death, poison etc): death’s-head; the sign of a ⟨the⟩ skull; skull and crossbones; [in refer. to a pirate’s flag with a skull and crossbones] Jolly Roger.

Говорили, говорили мистики, что было время, когда красавец не носил фрака, а был опоясан широким кожаным поясом, из-за которого торчали рукояти пистолетов, а его волосы воронова крыла были повязаны алым шёлком, и плыл в Караибском море под его командой бриг под чёрным гробовым флагом с адамовой головой (Булгаков 9). They said, the mystics did, that there was once a time when this handsome fellow wore a broad leather belt with pistols instead of a tailcoat, and tied his raven hair with red silk, and the brig he commanded sailed the Caribbean under a black flag with skull and crossbones (9c).

Г-196 • БАРА́НЬЯ ГОЛОВА́ highly coll, rude [NP] a dense, stupid person: lamebrain; dumbbell; dunce; fathead; blockhead; idiot; moron.

Опять эта баранья голова лезет со своими непрошеными советами! Again this idiot is butting in with unwanted advice!

Г-197 • БУ́ЙНАЯ ⟨БЕДО́ВАЯ⟩ ГОЛОВА́ coll ⟨ГОЛО́ВУШКА folk⟩ [NP; fixed WO] a daring, reckless person: (bold) daredevil; plucky devil; hotspur; madcap.

Вдруг что-то похожее на песню поразило мой слух. «…Стану морю кланяться/ Я низёхонько:/ „Уж не тронь ты, злое море,/ Мою лодочку:/ Везёт моя лодочка/ Вещи драгоценные,/ Правит ею в тёмну ночь/ Буйная головушка“» (Лермонтов 1). Suddenly something like a song caught my ear. “The angry ocean then I pray,/Bending low before him:/‘Spare my barque, O fearsome one!’—/Thus do I implore him.—/‘Precious goods are stowed on board!—/Fierce the sea is foaming!—/Keep her safe—a madcap steers/Through the gloaming!’“ (1b).

Г-198 • ВЕ́ТРЕНАЯ ГОЛОВА́ coll ⟨ГОЛО́ВУШКА folk⟩ [NP; fixed WO] a frivolous, unreliable person: airhead; bubblehead; dingbat; scatterbrain; featherbrain; (be) featherbrained ⟨scatterbrained, flighty⟩.

«Свинкин ветреная голова. Иногда чёрт знает какие тебе итоги выведет, перепутает все справки» (Гончаров 1). “Svinkin is scatterbrained: sometimes you wonder what the devil he’ll come up with next. He’s always mixing up the reports” (1b).

Г-199 • ГОЛОВА́ БОЛИ́Т (у кого, чья) о ком-чём coll [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. is anxious, worries about another or about sth.: (у X-а) голова болит за Y-а ≃ X gives himself a headache over Y; X loses sleep over Y; Y is X’s headache; || пусть у тебя ⟨вас⟩ об Y-е голова не болит ≃ don’t let Y bother ⟨worry⟩ you.

«Слушай, я тебе ещё раз повторяю: это не твоё дело! За что преследовать врага, как с ним обходиться, к какому наказанию привлечь его — это мы знаем! Пусть твоя голова не болит» (Айтматов 2). “Listen, I’ll repeat—it’s none of your business! We know how to deal with this sort of thing—how to sniff out an enemy, how to treat him, how to punish him. Don’t give yourself a headache over this!” (2a).

Г-200 • ГОЛОВА́ В ГО́ЛОВУ идти coll [Invar; adv; fixed WO] (of horses etc racing; by extension of two people or groups competing in sth.) (to be) even, (be going) at the same pace, neither one ahead of or behind the other: neck and neck; dead even.

Г-201 • ГОЛОВА́ ВА́РИТ (у кого) coll; КОТЕЛО́К ВА́РИТ substand; МОЗГИ́ ВА́РЯТ substand [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] 1. s.o. is bright, intelligent: у X-а голова ⟨котелок⟩ варит ≃ X has a good head on his shoulders; X’s head is screwed on straight; X is well endowed in the brains department; X has a lot ⟨X is really⟩ on the ball; X is one smart cookie; X has (the) smarts; X has brains.

2. [neg only] s.o. cannot think clearly (because of fatigue, illness etc): у X-а голова не варит ≃ X can’t think straight; X’s brain refuses to function; X’s brain is on the blink; X’s brain is mush ⟨fried⟩.

Г-202 • ГОЛОВА́ ВСКРУЖИ́ЛАСЬ чья, у кого (от чего) [VP_{subj}] (having been affected by praise, flattery, or success) s.o. has become conceited, has lost the ability to look upon his behavior or actions realistically, critically: у X-а (от Y-а) вскружилась голова ≃ X has (gotten) a swelled ⟨big⟩ head; Y gave X a swelled ⟨big⟩ head; Y turned ⟨went (right) to⟩ X’s head.

Г-203 • ГОЛОВА́ ЕЛО́ВАЯ highly coll, rude [NP; usu. sing; usu. vocative] a stupid, senseless person: numskull; dumbbell; nitwit.

Г-204 • ГОЛОВА́ ЗАБИ́ТА у кого чем [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$] 1. [indir obj: usu. pl] s.o. has many concerns or thoughts about s.o. or sth.: у X-а голова забита заботами ⟨хлопотами, всякими делами и т.п.⟩ ≃ X has a lot on his mind; [lim.] X is weighed down with concerns; || голова у X-а забита мыслями об Y-е ⟨[AdjP] мыслями⟩ ≃ X's head is filled with thoughts of Y ⟨with [AdjP] thoughts⟩; X's mind is on Y.

2. s.o.'s mind is overburdened with some (usu. unnecessary) information or knowledge: у X-а голова забита Y-ом ≃ X's head is chock-full of Y; X's head is filled ⟨crammed, stuffed, cluttered⟩ with Y.

Г-205 • ГОЛОВА́ (И) ДВА У́ХА highly coll, disapprov, occas. humor [NP; these forms only; usu. vocative; fixed WO] a slow-witted, inattentive person: (you) lummox ⟨lamebrain, knucklehead⟩.

Г-206 • ГОЛОВА́ ИДЁТ/ПОШЛА́ КРУ́ГОМ чья, у кого coll [VP_{subj}] 1. s.o. experiences dizziness (caused by fatigue, alcohol, noise, shock etc): у X-а голова идёт кругом ≃ X's head is spinning ⟨whirling, reeling, going (a)round⟩; X feels dizzy; thing Y makes X's head spin ⟨whirl, reel⟩.

«Но я же это сделал не нарочно!» — «Именно это вас и спасает, — объяснил Лужин, — если бы вы сделали это нарочно, мы бы вас расстреляли». У Ермолкина голова пошла кругом. Он обмяк (Войнович 4). "But I didn't do it on purpose." "That's just what's going to save you," explained Luzhin. "Had you done it on purpose, we'd have you shot." Ermolkin's head was spinning. His body slackened (4a).

2. s.o. loses the ability to think clearly (because he has too many concerns, too many things to do, is under the influence of too many impressions etc): у X-а голова идёт кругом ≃ X's head is in a whirl ⟨a daze etc⟩; X's head is whirling ⟨spinning etc⟩; thing Y makes X's head spin ⟨whirl etc⟩.

«Уж не знаю, право, как и быть, — жаловалась Варвара… — Поверите ли, голова кругом идёт» (Сологуб 1). "I really don't know what to do," complained Varvara…. "Believe me, my head's in a whirl" (1a). ♦ «Как Керенского звали?» — «Александр Фёдорович». — «Во. А царь был Николай Александрович. Стало быть евонный [ungrammat = его] сын». У Талдыкина голова кругом пошла (Войнович 2). "What was Kerensky's name?" "Alexander Fyodorovich." "Ya see! And the tsar was Nikolai Alexandrovich. So, he had to be Kerensky's son." Taldikin's head was whirling (2a).

Г-207 • ГОЛОВА́ НА ПЛЕЧА́Х у кого; ИМЕ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ НА ПЛЕЧА́Х both coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$ or быть (1st var.); VP, subj: human (2nd var.); usu. pres; fixed WO] s.o. is intelligent, sharp, sensible: у X-а (есть) голова на плечах ≃ X has a good head (on his shoulders); X has a brain ⟨has brains⟩ (in his head); X has (plenty of) common sense.

«Голова у тебя на плечах есть, я твой формуляр библиотечный смотрел да и так за тобой приглядывал» (Максимов 2). "You have a good head on your shoulders. I've been looking at your library card, and I've been keeping an eye on you in general" (2a).

Г-208 • ГОЛОВА́ ПУ́ХНЕТ/РАСПУ́ХЛА у кого (от чего) coll [VP_{subj}; usu. impfv; usu. this WO] s.o. loses the ability to think clearly because of excessive work, concerns, noise etc, s.o. is in a state of extreme mental exertion: у X-а голова пухнет (от Y-а) ≃ Y makes X's head spin ⟨reel⟩; X's head is spinning ⟨reeling⟩; Y gives X a headache; X feels like ⟨that, as if⟩ his head is about to explode (from Y).

«…Пишут, пишут… конгресс, немцы какие-то… Голова пухнет» (Булгаков 11). "They… write and write all that crap… all about some congress and some Germans…. Makes my head reel" (11b).

Г-209 • ГОЛОВА́ САДО́ВАЯ highly coll, disapprov, occas. humor [NP; usu. sing; usu. vocative; fixed WO] a slow-witted, inattentive, doltish person: cabbagehead ⟨cabbagehead⟩; blockhead; dimwit; numskull; dummy; lummox.

Друг мой прочитал договор и, к великому моему удивлению, рассердился на меня. «Это что за филькина грамота? Вы что, голова садовая, подписываете?» — спросил он (Булгаков 12). My friend read the contract and, to my great surprise, he became angry with me. "What sort of useless drivel is this? What sort of things do you sign, dimwit?" (12b).

Г-210 • ГОЛОВА́ СОЛО́МОЙ ⟨МЯКИ́НОЙ, ТРУХО́Й⟩ НАБИ́ТА у кого all highly coll, rude [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; pres only] s.o. is stupid, muddleheaded, slow-witted: у X-а голова соломой набита ≃ X has mush for brains; X is woolly-headed ⟨woolly-minded⟩.

Г-211 • ГОЛОВА́ ⟨БАШКА́ substand⟩ ТРЕЩИ́Т ⟨РАСКА́ЛЫВАЕТСЯ, РАЗЛА́МЫВАЕТСЯ⟩ у кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. has a very bad headache (usu. caused by drinking, fatigue, or overwork): у X-а голова трещит ≃ X's head is splitting ⟨throbbing, pounding⟩; X has a splitting ⟨throbbing, pounding⟩ headache.

[Фёдор:] Я не вникаю в денежные вопросы, мама. У меня от одной работы голова трещит (Розов 2). [F.:] I don't go into these money questions, mother. My head's splitting with the amount of work I have to get through (2a).

Г-212 • ГОРЯ́ЧАЯ ГОЛОВА́ coll [NP; usu. appos or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a quick-tempered, easily excited, impetuous person: hothead; (be) hotheaded ⟨hot-tempered, hot-blooded⟩.

«Я просил вас, герр Майер, не говорить со мною на эту тему». — «Я не думал, что вы такая горячая голова», — ответил Майер… (Федин 1). "I requested you, Herr Maier, not to talk to me about this subject!" "I didn't think you were such a hothead," replied Maier… (1a).

Г-213 • ДУБО́ВАЯ ГОЛОВА́ highly coll, rude; ДУБО́ВАЯ БАШКА́ substand, rude [NP] a dull, obtuse person: blockhead; dolt; numskull; dumbbell; meathead.

[Ох:] Что же ты, дубовая башка, так дерёшься? (Сухово-Кобылин 3). [О.:] What are you brawling about, blockhead? (3a).

Г-214 • ДУ́РЬЯ ⟨МЯКИ́ННАЯ⟩ ГОЛОВА́ highly coll, rude; ДУ́РЬЯ ⟨МЯКИ́ННАЯ⟩ БАШКА́ substand, rude [NP; usu. vocative] a stupid person, fool: cabbagehead; bonehead; fathead; featherbrain; dumbbell; goof; nincompoop.

2. ~ у кого [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; pres only] s.o. has a very bad memory, is forgetful, absent-minded: у X-а дырявая голова ≃ X is scatterbrained; X has a brain ⟨a head⟩ like a sieve.

Г-216 • ЗАБУБЁННАЯ ГОЛОВА́ coll ⟨ГОЛО́ВУШКА folk⟩ [NP; often appos; usu. this WO] a reckless, hotheaded person: daredevil; hotspur; plucky devil; madcap.

Г-217 • КРУЖИ́ТСЯ/ЗАКРУЖИ́ЛАСЬ ГОЛОВА́ чья, у кого (от чего); ЗАКРУЖИ́ЛОСЬ В ГОЛОВЕ́ у кого (от чего) [VP_{subj} (1st var.); VP, impers (2nd var.)] 1. s.o. experiences dizziness (from exhaustion, overwork etc): у X-а кружится голова (от Y-а) ≃ X's head is swimming ⟨spinning, reeling etc⟩; X's head is going (a)round; Y is making X's head swim ⟨spin, reel etc⟩; X feels ⟨is getting⟩ dizzy ⟨lightheaded⟩.

Дина глянула вниз, и у неё закружилась голова — так ей показалось высоко (Кузнецов 1). Dina looked down and her head swam, she seemed to be so high up (1b). ♦ «Давай поцелуемся мы с тобой, по-братскому, без злобы. И — ещё одну [бутылку вина] трахнем». — «Больше не буду. Голова у меня и так чего-то кружится» (Семёнов 1). "Let's embrace one another like brothers, without malice. And—let's have another one." "No more for me. My head's going round a bit as it is" (1a)..

2. s.o. is so overwhelmed (by success, troubles, responsibilities etc) that he loses the ability to think clearly, evaluate things soberly: у X-а кружится голова (от Y-а) ≃ X's head is spinning ⟨swimming, in a whirl etc⟩; Y makes X's head spin ⟨swim, reel etc⟩; X feels lightheaded ⟨dizzy, giddy⟩.

[Аркадина:] Как меня в Харькове принимали, батюшки мои, до сих пор голова кружится! (Чехов 6). [A.:] How I was received in Kharkov! My gracious, my head's still in a whirl! (6c).

Г-218 • ОТЧА́ЯННАЯ ГОЛОВА́ coll ⟨ГОЛО́ВУШКА folk, БАШКА́ substand⟩ [NP; usu. this WO] a recklessly bold person: a (real) daredevil; a plucky devil; a hotspur; a madcap.

«…Вот пример: в нашей-то части, старуху-то убили. Ведь уж, кажется, отчаянная башка, среди бела дня на все риски рискнул, одним чудом спасся…» (Достоевский 3). "Take, for example, this old woman who was murdered in our precinct. It looks like the work of a real daredevil; he risked it all in broad daylight, got away only by a miracle…" (3c).

Г-219 • ПУСТА́Я ГОЛОВА́ coll ⟨БАШКА́ substand⟩ [NP] 1. [usu. appos, vocative, or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a stupid, empty-headed person: blockhead; knucklehead; cabbagehead; dunce; dummy.

[Кречинский:] Ты мне не финти, пустая голова! [Расплюев:] Чем же я пустая голова? За что вы меня каждодневно ругаете? (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] None of your tricks, you blockhead. [R.:] Why am I a blockhead? Why do you keep raking me over the coals day after day? (2a).

2. ~ у кого [usu. VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$; pres only] s.o. is stupid, empty-headed: у X-а пустая голова ≃ X is a blockhead ⟨a knucklehead, a cabbagehead, a dunce, a dummy, a dimwit⟩; X is dimwitted.

Г-220 • СВЕ́ТЛАЯ ГОЛОВА́ [NP] 1. occas, iron [fixed WO] (s.o. is) an intelligent, lucid, logical person: a brilliant ⟨sharp, fine⟩ mind; [lim.] have a brilliant ⟨sharp, fine, very good⟩ mind.

…Оба они [Маша и Митя]… были направлены… на один и тот же завод, но в разные бригады… Развёрнутое красное знамя часто делилось между этими бригадами, пока чья-то светлая голова не додумалась до такой умной идеи [устроить комсомольскую свадьбу двух передовых бригадиров] (Попов 1). They both [Masha and Mitya]… were sent to the same factory but to different work brigades…. The unfurled red banner passed back and forth, again and again, between these two work brigades until some brilliant mind came up with an extremely clever idea [to arrange a Young Communist wedding of the two exemplary team leaders] (1a).

2. ~ у кого, обладать светлой головой и т.п. [usu. VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$ or obj] s.o. has plenty of intelligence, the ability to think logically: у X-а светлая голова ≃ X has a brilliant ⟨sharp, fine, very good⟩ mind.

«Какой светлой головой надо обладать, — продолжал Тенгиз, — …чтобы в наше нелёгкое время прожить, нигде не работая на себя, а целиком отдавая свою жизнь за наши с вами интересы» (Искандер 3). "What a fine mind he [Uncle Sandro] must have," Tengiz continued, "in order to get by in our difficult times without working for a living, devoting his life wholly to your interests and mine" (3a).

Г-221 • СВОЯ́ ГОЛОВА́ НА ПЛЕЧА́Х у кого coll [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$ or быть; usu. pres; fixed WO] s.o. is capable of figuring sth. out, making a decision, planning a course of action etc independently (when used in refer. to o.s., expresses one's reluctance to follow another's advice, one's refusal to tolerate another's interference etc): у X-а (есть) своя голова на плечах ≃ X can think for himself; X can decide sth. ⟨figure sth. out, work sth. out etc⟩ on his own ⟨by himself, alone⟩.

Г-222 • ТЯЖЁЛАЯ ГОЛОВА́ у кого (от чего) [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. has a feeling of sluggishness, heaviness in the head as a result of fatigue, indisposition, intoxication etc: голова у X-а тяжёлая ≃ X's head is ⟨feels⟩ heavy; X's head is ⟨feels⟩ like lead; X's head feels as if ⟨like⟩ it weighs a ton.

Она не понимает, что всю ночь мне снился сон и что сейчас голова у меня тяжёлая и мысли тяжёлые, неповоротливые (Михайловская 1). She doesn't know about the dream I had all night long and that now my head is heavy and my thoughts heavy and sluggish (1a).

Г-223 • У́МНАЯ ГОЛОВА́ ⟨ГОЛО́ВУШКА⟩ coll, occas. iron [NP; often appos or vocative; fixed WO] a sensible, intelligent person: a clever one ⟨fellow, girl etc⟩; a smart one ⟨guy etc⟩; (a real ⟨a total, you⟩) brain; (one is) so clever.

«Поздравляю, господин исправник. Ай да бумага! По этим приметам немудрено будет вам отыскать Дубровского. Да кто же не среднего роста, у кого не русые волосы, не прямой нос, да не карие глаза!.. Нечего сказать, умные головушки приказные» (Пушкин 1). "I congratulate you, Mr Chief of police. What a document! It'll be easy to trace Dubrovsky from such a description! Who is not of medium height? Who has not got fair hair—or a straight nose, or brown eyes?… I must say, these officials are clever fellows!" (1b). "My congratulations, Mister Captain. That's quite a document! With distinguishing features like that you'll have no trouble finding Dubrovsky. After all, there aren't so many people of medium height, with light brown hair, a straight nose and brown eyes!... There's no denying it, you officers are a smart lot!" (1c).

Г-224 • ЧУГУ́ННАЯ ГОЛОВА́ coll [NP] 1. rude. Also: ЧУГУ́ННЫЕ МОЗГИ́ coll, rude [usu. appos, vocative, or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] a very stupid, slow-witted person: lamebrain; numskull; bonehead; blockhead; dolt.

2. ~ (у кого) [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$ or obj] s.o. has a feeling of sluggishness, heaviness in the head: голова (у X-а) была чугунная ≃ X's head was ⟨felt⟩ heavy; X's head was ⟨felt⟩ like lead; X's head felt as if ⟨like⟩ it weighed a ton⟩; || ходить ⟨лежать и т.п.⟩ с чугунной головой ≃ (walk ⟨lie etc⟩ around) with a leaden head.

Г-225 • ШАЛЬНА́Я ГОЛОВА́ coll [NP; usu. appos, vocative, or subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] an impulsive, reckless person: daredevil; hotspur; madcap.

Г-226 • В ГОЛОВА́Х сидеть, висеть, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п.; В ГО́ЛОВЫ ⟨-у⟩ класть, ставить что и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv] at or near the spot where the head is laid when one lies down: at the head of the bed; by ⟨at, near⟩ s.o.'s head.

В шалаше… за перегородкою, раненый Дубровский лежал на походной кровати. Перед ним на столике лежали его пистолеты, а сабля висела в головах (Пушкин 1). In the hut… on a camp bed behind a partition, lay the wounded Dubrovskii. His pistols sat on a small table next to him and his saber hung on the wall at the head of the bed (1a).

Г-227 • О ДВУ́Х ГОЛОВА́Х obs, folk [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); usu. in rhetorical questions or neg; fixed WO] (usu. of a recklessly brave person, one who is ready to risk his life) it is as if one were protected from death (by extension from punishment etc): X о двух головах, что ли? ≃ X acts as if he had nine lives ⟨were immune to death, were indestructible⟩; what, does X think he has nine lives?; || X не о двух головах ≃ X doesn't have nine lives; X isn't immune to death; X isn't indestructible.

Г-228 • ВЕРТЕ́ТЬСЯ В ГОЛОВЕ́ у кого [VP; subj: abstr; usu. pres or past] 1. (of sth. well-known, familiar, that escapes s.o.'s memory at a given moment) not to come to s.o.'s mind despite the feeling that he is about to recall it: X вертится у Y-а в голове ≃ X is on ⟨at⟩ the tip of Y's tongue.

2. to come to mind continually, recur in s.o.'s thoughts: X вертится у Y-а в голове ≃ X is ⟨keeps⟩ running ⟨going⟩ through Y's head ⟨mind⟩; X keeps popping into Y's head.

Я, например, даже думаю иногда одними ругательствами. Они всё время вертятся в голове (Кожевников 1). For example, sometimes I think in nothing but curse words. They're always running through my head (1a).

Г-229 • МУТИ́ТСЯ/ПОМУТИ́ЛОСЬ В ГОЛОВЕ́ у кого coll [VP; impers] s.o. experiences dizziness, is in a state of semiconsciousness (from fatigue, weakness, anxiety): у X-а помутилось в голове ≃ X's head was swimming ⟨spinning etc⟩; X was ⟨felt⟩ dizzy ⟨lightheaded⟩; [when thinking is impaired] X's reason became clouded.

[Лопахин:] Погодите, господа, сделайте милость, у меня в голове помутилось, говорить не могу… (Чехов 2). [L.:] Kindly wait a moment, ladies and gentlemen, my head is swimming, I can't talk… (2a).

Г-230 • НЕ УКЛА́ДЫВАЕТСЯ ⟨НЕ УМЕЩА́ЕТСЯ rare⟩ В ГОЛОВЕ́ (чьей, у кого) ⟨В СОЗНА́НИИ (чьём, у кого)⟩ [VP] 1. [subj: a clause, это, or abstr. (usu. мысль о том, что...); if subj is a clause, it usu. follows the idiom; usu. impfv pres or past; affirm with the opposite meaning is rare] (sth. is) unacceptable, incomprehensible (used to express s.o.'s inability to understand the logic of sth., unwillingness to accept some fact as true etc): X не укладывается у Y-а в голове ≃ X is beyond Y ⟨Y's comprehension⟩; Y cannot fathom ⟨understand, comprehend⟩ X; Y finds it difficult to accept X; [lim.] Y just ⟨simply⟩ cannot believe X.

…Одно только никак не укладывалось у Лёши в голове — зачем отцу нужно было выводить из строя эту самую печь? Неужели он думал, что вместе с этой печью рухнет всё советское государство? (Войнович 2). …There was just one thing Lyosha found difficult to accept—why had his father wanted to put that particular furnace out of commission? Could he really have thought the loss of this one furnace would cause the entire Soviet state to collapse? (2a).

2. coll [subj: это, often omitted; neg impfv only; used as Interj] used to express indignation, incredulity, incomprehension etc: it's ⟨that's⟩ beyond me ⟨my comprehension⟩!; it's ⟨that's⟩ beyond belief!; it's ⟨that's⟩ incredible ⟨unbelievable, unthinkable, outrageous⟩!; it simply doesn't make sense!

«Это не укладывается в голове! — воскликнула Лена, изумлённо вертя в руках газету. — Это чёрным по белому и всерьёз… После всех… философий, великих наук и литератур открыто наконец, что чрезмерное образование — зло» (Кузнецов 1). "It's incredible!" Lena exclaimed, bewildered, twisting the newspaper in her hands. "Here it is in black and white, in all seriousness. After… all the philosophers, the great scientists and writers, it is finally discovered that too much education is an evil" (1a).

Г-231 • УЛОЖИ́ТЬ В ГОЛОВЕ́ ⟨В СОЗНА́НИИ⟩ что obs [VP; subj: human; often infin compl of не мочь etc] to comprehend sth.: X не может уложить в голове Y ≃ X cannot understand Y; Y is beyond X ⟨X's comprehension⟩.

Г-232 • ХОДИ́ТЬ НА ГОЛОВЕ́ ⟨НА ГОЛОВА́Х⟩ coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human or collect] (usu. of children) to behave mischievously, disobediently, make noise: X на голове ходит ≃ X is making a racket ⟨a commotion⟩; X is raising ⟨making⟩ a ruckus; X is horsing around; X is going ⟨running⟩ wild; [lim.] it's a three-ring circus.

Г-233 • ШУМИ́Т/ЗАШУМЕ́ЛО В ГОЛОВЕ́ (у кого) [VP; impers] s.o. feels an aching, heavy sensation in his head (from intoxication, fatigue etc): у X-а шумит в голове (от Y-а) ≃ X's head is pounding ⟨throbbing⟩ (from Y); there's a roaring ⟨X has a roar⟩ in X's head; [indicating a light degree of intoxication] X is fuzzy ⟨tipsy⟩.

«…Вот что можно: предварительно закусить с ним [Обломовым] и выпить; он смородиновку-то любит. Как в голове зашумит, ты и мигни мне: я и войду с письмецом-то. Он и не посмотрит сумму, подпишет…» (Гончаров 1). "What you could do… would be to have a friendly snack with him [Oblomov] first; he's very fond of currant vodka. As soon as he gets a bit fuzzy, you can give me the sign, and I'll come in with the IOU. He won't even look at the amount, he'll just sign it…" (1b).

Г-234 • ГЛА́ДИТЬ/ПОГЛА́ДИТЬ ПО ГОЛО́ВКЕ ⟨ПО ГОЛОВЕ́ rare⟩ (кого) coll [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. ~ (за что) [often in questions or neg] to praise s.o., show one's approval to s.o.: X погладил Y-а по головке ≃ X gave Y a pat on the back; X patted Y on the back; [lim.] X patted Y on the head ⟨gave Y a pat on the head⟩.

«Если я, например, захочу быть императором… Или… взорву памятник Пушкину у Тверского бульвара… По головке погладите?» (Терц 7). "Suppose I took it into my head to become an emperor… or… to blow up the Pushkin Monument on the Tverskoy Boulevard…. Would you pat me on the back for that?" (7a).

2. ~ за что [neg only; usu. 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.; the verb is usu. in the final position] to punish s.o., hold s.o. responsible for sth.: X-а (за Y) по головке не погладят ≃ they won't pat X on the back for (doing) Y; they won't be too happy ⟨pleased⟩ with X for (doing) Y; X won't get a medal ⟨any medals, any praise, any thanks⟩ for (doing) Y; [lim.] X can get (himself) into hot water for Y ⟨for doing Y, because of Y⟩.

«Я так рад, что не убил тебя… Не хватало только редактора „Курьера" убить. По головке бы за это не погладили» (Аксёнов 7). "I'm glad I didn't kill you…. I don't think they would have been too happy with me for killing the editor of the Courier" (7a). ♦ «Я думаю, тебе как члену партии известно, что за такие вещи по голове не гладят»… (Дудинцев 1). "You, as a member of the Party, ought to know that you won't get any medals for a business like this"… (1a).

Г-235 • С ⟨В⟩ БУЛА́ВОЧНУЮ ГОЛО́ВКУ [PrepP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] very small, tiny: the size of a pinhead.

На ноге у Маши было крошечное, с булавочную головку пятнышко — след укуса змеи. Masha had a tiny spot the size of a pinhead on her leg—the final trace of a snakebite.

Г-236 • БИ́ТЬСЯ ГОЛОВО́Й ⟨ЛБОМ⟩ ОБ СТЕ́НУ ⟨СТЕ́НКУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut or infin with надоело, можешь, хочется etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to waste one's time in a futile attempt to accomplish sth.: X-у надоело биться головой об стенку ≃ X is tired of beating ⟨banging⟩ his head against the wall ⟨a brick wall⟩.

«Нет, — сказал Ефим, — вы врёте: вы не сами пришли — вас прислал Дегтярь». — «Дегтярь? — воскликнула Ляля. — Да пусть меня сто Дегтярей посылают, а если я сама не захочу, они могут биться головой об стенку» (Львов 1). "No," said Efim, "you're lying: you're not here on your own—Degtyar sent you." "Degtyar?" exclaimed Lyalya. "A hundred Degtyars could send me here, but if I didn't want to come, they'd be beating their heads against the wall" (1a).

Г-237 • ВИСЕ́ТЬ НАД ГОЛОВО́Й [VP; subj: usu. abstr] 1. (of a disaster, death, sth. dangerous etc) to be imminent, threaten, impend: X висит над головой ≃ X is looming (in the distance ⟨on the horizon, in front of person Y⟩); X is in the offing; X is hanging over person Y ⟨over person Y's head⟩.

На фронте, где смерть постоянно висела над головой, он вёл себя геройски, а тюрьма его сломала. At the front, where death was constantly looming, he acted heroically, but prison broke him.

2. Also: ВИСЕ́ТЬ НА НОСУ́ coll (of sth. that causes the person involved concern, sth. he does not have the time, means, or desire to handle) to need to be handled, done etc immediately, without delay, be imperative: X висит над головой ≃ X is hanging over person Y ⟨over person Y's head⟩; X is staring person Y in the face.

Обе соседки в бригаде строителей, самой лёгкой и аристократической на ОЛПе — не висит норма над головой, остаются в зоне (всегда можно словчить в барак погреться), а главное — постоянная работа… (Иоффе 1). Both my neighbors were on the construction team, the least onerous and the most "aristocratic" in the camp. No quotas hung over their heads, they stayed in the main zone (always possible to sneak into the barracks for a warm-up) and most important of all, the work was permanent… (1a).

Г-238 • ВЫДАВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ДАТЬ ГОЛОВО́Й кого (кому) obs [VP; subj: human] to give a person over to s.o. who will harm or mistreat him: X выдал Y-а головой (Z-у) ≃ X turned ⟨handed⟩ Y over to Z; X delivered Y into Z's hands.

Г-239 • ЗАПЛАТИ́ТЬ ГОЛОВО́Й ⟨(СВОЕ́Й) ЖИ́ЗНЬЮ⟩ за что; ПОПЛАТИ́ТЬСЯ ГОЛОВО́Й ⟨ЖИ́ЗНЬЮ⟩ (за что) [VP; subj: human] to perish, be put to death (as retribution for sth.): X заплатил головой за Y ≃ X paid for Y with X's life.

Никто не сомневался, что за эти стихи он [Мандельштам] поплатится жизнью (Мандельштам 1). …None of us doubted that for verse like this he [Mandelstam] would pay with his life (1a).

Г-240 • ОТВЕЧА́ТЬ/ОТВЕ́ТИТЬ ГОЛОВО́Й за кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. pres or fut] to bear full responsibility for s.o. or sth. and be the one to receive harsh punishment (sometimes even death) should s.o. or sth. fail (may be used as a threat): X отвечает за Y-а головой ≃ the responsibility for Y is on X's head; || [used as a threat] ты отвечаешь головой за Y-а! ≃ (if anything goes wrong etc) you'll pay ⟨answer⟩ with your life!; Y is on your head!

«За каждую подлость по отношению ко мне или к моим друзьям вы ответите головой» (Стругацкие 4). "For any foul play, involving myself or any of my friends, you'll have to pay with your own life!" (4a).

Г-241 • РУЧА́ТЬСЯ/ПОРУЧИ́ТЬСЯ ГОЛОВО́Й (за кого-что) [VP; subj: human; often foll. by a что-clause] to assure (s.o. of sth.), guarantee (sth.) emphatically, be prepared to be held accountable (for s.o. or sth.): X ручается головой (за Y-а) ≃ X vouches for Y with X's life; X would ⟨is prepared to etc⟩ stake ⟨bet⟩ his life on thing Y; X is willing to bet his life that…; X swears that…; [lim.] X says he'd stake his life on thing Y ⟨bet his life that…⟩; X is betting his reputation on Y.

Много ещё говорил полковник о том, как привести людей к благополучию… Он ручался головой, что если только одеть половину русских мужиков в немецкие штаны, — науки возвысятся, торговля подымется, и золотой век настанет в России (Гоголь 3). The colonel had a great deal more to say about how people were to achieve happiness and prosperity…. He said he'd bet his life that if half of the Russian peasants were dressed in German trousers, the level of culture would rise, trade would improve, and the golden age would dawn in Russia (3a).

Г-242 • С ГОЛОВО́Й[1] coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. парень, малый, человек и т.п. ~ approv [subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif] very smart, sensible, capable: have ⟨with⟩ a good head on one's shoulders; have ⟨with⟩ brains ⟨a brain, smarts⟩.

«Ты, парень, вижу — с головой, понимаешь, что — к чему» (Максимов 3). "I can see you've got a head on your shoulders, boy. You understand things" (3a).

2. [adv] (to do sth.) sensibly, intelligently: use ⟨using⟩ one's head ⟨brain(s)⟩.

«Работаю безотказно. В своём деле спец не из последних… Работаю с головой…» (Копелев 1). "I work nonstop. In my field I'm not the least of specialists…. I use my head" (1a).

Г-243 • С ГОЛОВО́Й[2] [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] 1. ~ уйти, окунуться, погрузиться во что, увязнуть в чём, отдаться чему и т.п. (to give o.s. over to sth.) wholly, fully: X с головой ушёл в Y ≃ X became completely absorbed in Y; X became thoroughly ⟨totally⟩ engrossed in Y; X plunged (headlong) into Y; X threw himself into Y.

Он [Королёв] с головой окунулся в проектирование сразу двух объектов — ракеты и планера с жидкотопливным ракетным двигателем (Владимиров 1). He [Korolyov] became completely absorbed in the design of two machines at the same time—a rocket and a glider equipped with a liquid-fuel jet motor (1a).

2. выдавать ~ кого, often себя [subj: abstr or concr (var. without себя), or human (var. with себя] (to reveal s.o.'s or one's own involvement in sth.) conclusively, leaving no room for doubt: X выдал Y-а с головой ≃ X gave Y away completely; X was a dead giveaway; X betrayed Y; || Y выдал себя с головой ≃ Y gave himself away completely; Y betrayed himself.

…Через несколько дней после этого разговора был ещё случай, когда он [Едигей] выдал себя с головой и долго каялся, мучился после этого… (Айтматов 2). A few days after this conversation, there was an occasion when he [Yedigei] gave himself away completely, and he regretted it and suffered from it for a long time afterwards… (2a). ♦ Лёва угощал и, симулируя беспечность: о том, о сём, — всё подбирался к цели. И когда, наконец, не узнавая свой голос, сразу выдав себя с головой (хотя все силы его были направлены, чтобы вопрос был безразличен и между прочим), всё-таки задал его, то неповторимая улыбочка вдруг подёрнула губы Митишатьева… (Битов 2). He [Lyova] bought the drinks and all the while—feigning unconcern, talking of this and that—kept sneaking up on his goal. When at last, not recognizing his own voice, betraying himself at once (though he bent every effort to make his question indifferent and casual)—when he did ask it, Mitishatyev's lips suddenly twitched in an inimitable little smile… (2a).

Г-244 • С НЕПОКРЫ́ТОЙ ГОЛОВО́Й [PrepP; Invar; often subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] without a head covering: with one's head bare ⟨uncovered⟩; bareheaded; without a hat; with nothing ⟨not wearing anything⟩ on one's head.

…В скором времени на лестнице появился Ефим в дублёнке и красном шарфе, с непокрытою головой (Войнович 6). Shortly thereafter, Yefim appeared in a sheepskin coat, a red muffler, and with his head bare (6a).

Г-245 • ХОТЬ ГОЛОВО́Й ОБ СТЕ́НУ ⟨СТЕ́НКУ⟩ БЕ́ЙСЯ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; these forms only; usu. indep. or subord clause] (used to express despair, helplessness, or the inability to find a way out of a difficult, hopeless situation) I feel (he feels etc) desperate and unable to cope: it's enough to make you ⟨me etc⟩ cry ⟨scream, climb the wall(s)⟩; it's more than one ⟨I etc⟩ can bear ⟨take, stand⟩.

Г-246 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ, УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ⟩ ГОЛОВОМО́ЙКУ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to scold s.o. severely, rebuke s.o. harshly: X задал Y-у головомойку ≃ X gave Y a dressing-down ⟨a tongue-lashing, the business⟩; X bawled ⟨chewed⟩ Y out; X told Y off; X gave it to Y in spades ⟨but good⟩.

Г-247 • ПОЛУЧА́ТЬ/ПОЛУЧИ́ТЬ ГОЛОВОМО́ЙКУ coll [VP; subj: human] to receive a scolding, harsh rebuke: X получил головомойку ≃ X got a dressing-down ⟨a tongue-lashing⟩; X got bawled ⟨chewed⟩ out; X got it in spades ⟨but good⟩.

Г-248 • ВБИВА́ТЬ/ВБИТЬ ⟨ВКОЛА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВКОЛОТИ́ТЬ, ВДА́ЛБЛИВАТЬ/ВДОЛБИ́ТЬ, ВТЕМЯ́ШИВАТЬ/ВТЕМЯ́ШИТЬ substand⟩ В ГО́ЛОВУ coll ⟨В БАШКУ́ substand⟩ кому что [VP; subj: human] 1. to make s.o. memorize or master sth. by using persistent repetition: X вбивает Y-у в голову Z ≃ X keeps drumming ⟨pounding⟩ Z into Y's head ⟨into Y⟩; X keeps hammering ⟨beating⟩ Z into Y's head ⟨into Y⟩.

Наши тюремщики: закрутить режим!.. Какие сейчас могут быть церемонии с врагами народа! Ведь война! Ведь фашисты! Тут действует, видимо, инерция клишированных формул, вбиваемых в головы с детства (Гинзбург 2). Our jailers were obsessed with tightening everything up. "What's the point of pussyfooting around with enemies of the people? There's a war on, after all, against the fascists!" This attitude was evidently the product of inertia; the inertia of set phrases, hammered into people's heads since childhood (2a).

2. [often foll. by a что-clause] to impress sth. on s.o. insistently, (to try to) convince s.o. of sth.: X вбил Y-у в голову Z ≃ X got ⟨put, drove, knocked, hammered, beat, drummed, dinned⟩ Z into Y's head; X stuffed Y's head full of Z; X got Z through Y's head; [lim.] X drove Z home to Y; || Neg X не может вбить Z Y-у в голову ≃ [usu. when said in anger about a futile attempt] X can't knock ⟨hammer etc⟩ Z into Y's (thick) skull; X can't drive the point home.

«…Мне, признаюсь, одно больно: я надеялся именно теперь тесно и дружески сойтись с Аркадием, а выходит, что я остался позади, он ушёл вперёд, и понять мы друг друга не можем». — «Да почему он ушёл вперёд? И чем он от нас так уж очень отличается? — с нетерпением воскликнул Павел Петрович. — Это всё ему в голову синьор этот вбил, нигилист этот» (Тургенев 2). "…I must confess, one thing hurts: this was precisely when I'd hoped to become closer to Arkady. Now it turns out I've been left behind while he's moved ahead, and we can't understand each other." "How is it he's moved ahead? How's he so different from us?" Pavel Petrovich exclaimed impatiently. "It's that signor, that nihilist who's been stuffing his head full of these things" (2g). ♦ «Большевики вдалбливают им в головы, что надо войну кончать, вернее, превращать её гражданскую» (Шолохов 3). "The Bolsheviks keep drumming it into their heads that the war must be brought to an end, or rather, turned into a civil war" (3a).

Г-249 • ВБИВА́ТЬ/ВБИТЬ ⟨ЗАБИРА́ТЬ/ЗАБРА́ТЬ, БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ, ЗАБИВА́ТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ, ВТЕМЯ́ШИВАТЬ/ВТЕМЯ́ШИТЬ substand⟩ СЕБЕ́ В ГО́ЛОВУ coll ⟨В БАШКУ́ substand⟩ что [VP; subj: human; often foll. by a что-clause] to convince o.s. of sth. (usu. some idea that becomes fixed in one's head), adhere stubbornly to sth. (often a wrong or foolish notion or idea): X вбил себе в голову, что... ≃ X got ⟨took⟩ it into his head that…; X got an idea ⟨a notion⟩ into his head that…; [in rude contexts only] X got ⟨took⟩ it into his (thick) skull ⟨head⟩ that…

«Да, — угрюмо сказал Передонов, — вы взяли себе в голову, что я никуда не гожусь, а я постоянно о гимназии забочусь» (Сологуб 1). "That's right," said the sullen Peredonov, "you've taken it into your head that I'm not good for anything, even though I am constantly concerned about the gymnasium" (1a). ♦ «Втемяшил себе в башку жениться, — он [Михаил] бросил короткий, разъярённый взгляд на Егоршу, — твоё дело» (Абрамов 1). "If you've got it into your skull to get married,"—he [Mikhail] cast a quick, furious look at Egorsha—"that's your business" (1a).

Г-250 • ВЕ́ШАТЬ/ПОВЕ́СИТЬ ⟨ОПУСКА́ТЬ/ОПУСТИ́ТЬ⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ coll [VP; subj: human] to become depressed, crestfallen, lose hope: X повесил голову ≃ X lost heart; X was ⟨looked⟩ dejected ⟨downcast, discouraged, despondent, dispirited, down in the mouth⟩; X was in ⟨fell into⟩ a funk; || Neg Imper не вешай голову ≃ keep your chin up!; cheer up!

«Вчера папа будильник сломал и был в отчаянии. Последние часы в доме. Стал чинить, ковырял, ковырял, ничего не выходило. Часовщик на углу три фунта хлеба запросил, неслыханная цена… Папа совсем голову повесил» (Пастернак 1). "Yesterday Father broke the alarm clock… he was terribly upset, it was our only clock. He tried to repair it, he tinkered and tinkered with it, but he got nowhere. The clockmaker around the corner wanted a ridiculous price—three pounds of bread…. Father was completely dejected (1a).

Г-251 • ВЗБРЕДА́ТЬ/ВЗБРЕСТИ́ В ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА УМ, НА МЫСЛЬ⟩ кому coll [VP; impers or with subj: abstr (usu. что, ничего etc)] (of a thought, idea etc, occas. a strange or absurd one) to come to s.o. suddenly: X-у взбрело в голову ≃ it came ⟨popped⟩ into X's head; it (suddenly) occurred to X; X got ⟨had⟩ an idea; X got the idea (to do sth.); [lim.] X took ⟨got⟩ it into his head (to do sth.); X came up with the idea (to do sth.); || X говорит ⟨пишет и т.п.⟩ что взбредёт в голову ≃ X says ⟨writes etc⟩ whatever comes to mind ⟨into his head⟩; X says ⟨writes etc⟩ whatever he feels like; || …когда ⟨где и т.п.⟩ X-у взбредёт в голову ≃ whenever ⟨wherever etc⟩ X feels like it.

Конечно, можно было бы привести иную, лучшую причину, но ничего иного не взбрело тогда [Чичикову] на ум (Гоголь 3). Of course he [Chichikov] might have given another and a better reason, but nothing else occurred to him at the moment (3c). ♦ «Поверьте мне, я хорошо знаю эту систему. У них никому ничего не взбредает в голову без указания свыше» (Войнович 2). "Believe me, I know the system. Nobody gets any ideas without orders from above" (2a).

Г-252 • ГО́ЛОВУ ПРОЗАКЛА́ДЫВАЮ ⟨готов ПРОЗАКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: я (often omitted); these forms only; usu. foll. by a что-clause; fixed WO] I assure, guarantee (that sth. will happen, s.o. will do sth. etc): I'd ⟨I'll⟩ stake ⟨bet⟩ my life.

«Вы рассмотрите: вот, например, каретник Михеев! ведь больше никаких экипажей и не делал, как только рессорные… А Пробка Степан, плотник! Я голову прозакладую [ungrammat = прозакладываю], если вы где сыщете такого мужика» (Гоголь 3). "Now, just have a look. Take Mikheyev, the wheelwright, for instance. He never made a carriage that wasn't on springs…. And Stepan Probka, the carpenter. I'll stake my life you'd never find another peasant like him" (3a).

Г-253 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨РУ́КУ⟩ НА ОТСЕЧЕ́НИЕ (кому) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. 1st pers sing pres or fut, or infin with готов, мочь etc; usu. foll. by a что-clause] to assert, vouch for sth. with absolute confidence, conviction: даю ⟨готов дать⟩ голову на отсечение, что… ≃ I'd bet ⟨stake⟩ my life that… ⟨on it⟩; I'd bet my right arm that…

Не дам голову на отсечение, но не исключено, что КГБ узнал о моей книге (Амальрик 1). I wouldn't bet my life on it, but I think it quite possible that the KGB found out about my book (1a). ♦ «Голову отдам на отсечение, они в этом своем заведении наверняка принимали и высшее московское начальство» (Зиновьев 2). "I'd bet my right arm that some of the biggest bosses from Moscow have been invited to enjoy the delights of their establishment" (2a).

Г-254 • ЗАБИВА́ТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ coll; ЗАБИВА́ТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ МОЗГИ́ slang [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кому чем to overload s.o.'s (or one's own) memory with much information or knowledge, often unnecessary: X забивает Y-у голову Z-ом ≃ X fills ⟨stuffs⟩ Y's head ⟨mind⟩ with Z; X stuffs ⟨fills⟩ Y's head full of Z; X clutters (up) Y's mind with Z.

«Ну и дед у тебя! — искренне подивился солдат. — Интересный дед. Только забивает он тебе голову всякой чепухой» (Айтматов 1). "You've quite a grandpa, haven't you!" the soldier said admiringly. "An interesting grandpa. But he fills your head with all sorts of nonsense" (1a). "That's some grandfather you have," said the soldier with genuine wonder. "A very interesting grandfather. Only he stuffs your head with all kinds of rubbish" (1b).

2. to overload, burden o.s. with obligations or concerns regarding s.o. or sth.: X забивает (себе) голову Y-ом ≃ X weighs himself down with Y.

Г-255 • КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ⟨СЛОЖИ́ТЬ⟩ (СВОЮ́) ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨(СВОЙ) ГО́ЛОВЫ⟩ за кого-что lit [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to perish, lose or sacrifice one's life (for s.o. or sth.): X сложил голову (за Y-а) ≃ X laid down his life (for Y); X gave (up) his life (for Y).

Другие в его [Юрочки] возрасте и в Берлине побывали и чёрт знает ещё где («Кое-кто и голову там положил», — перебил его в этом месте Вадим Петрович, но он тут же ответил: «Положили, знаю, но было за что положить») (Некрасов 1). Other men of his [Yurochka's] age had been to Berlin and God knows where else ("Some of them gave their lives in Berlin," Vadim Petrovich interrupted him at this point, but Yurochka replied without hesitation: "They gave their lives, I know, but they had something to give them for") (1a).

Г-256 • КРУЖИ́ТЬ/ВСКРУЖИ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАКРУЖИ́ТЬ⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ кому [VP] 1. [subj: abstr or human] to influence s.o. in such a way that he loses the ability to assess a situation sensibly; often, to make s.o. conceited: X вскружил Y-у голову ≃ thing X ⟨person X's praise, person X's flattery etc⟩ turned Y's head ⟨went to Y's head, made Y's head spin, set Y's head in a whirl⟩; Y was giddy with thing X.

Петербург и две-три аристократические гостиные вскружили ей [жене Огарёва] голову. Ей хотелось внешнего блеска, её тешило богатство (Герцен 2). Petersburg and two or three aristocratic drawing-rooms had turned her [Ogarev's wife's] head. She wished for outward glitter, she found pleasure in the thought of wealth (2a).

2. [subj: human] to infatuate s.o., cause s.o. to fall in love with one: X вскружил Y-у голову ≃ X turned Y's head; X swept Y off Y's feet.

«Тебе вскружил голову этот… как его? Твой француз. Платэ» (Свирский 1). "That Frenchman of yours, what's his name, Platé, has turned your head" (1a).

Г-257 • КРУТИ́ТЬ/ЗАКРУТИ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to charm s.o. so that he or she falls in love with one: X закрутил Y-у голову ≃ X turned Y's head; X made Y fall for X.

Г-258 • ЛЕЗТЬ/ПОЛЕ́ЗТЬ В ГО́ЛОВУ (кому) [VP; subj: abstr (usu: мысли, чушь, вздор, глупости etc); more often impfv] (of certain thoughts, strange ideas, absurdities etc, as specified) to arise in s.o.'s consciousness again and again (usu. against the person's will): X лезет Y-у в голову ≃ X keeps creeping ⟨popping⟩ into Y's head ⟨mind⟩; X keeps coming to mind; Y cannot get X out of Y's head ⟨mind⟩.

«Еда и на ум не идёт, сон от меня бежит, всякие дурные мыслишки в голову лезут…» (Шолохов 1). "I couldn't even think of eating and couldn't sleep, and all sorts of black thoughts kept creeping into my head" (1b).

Г-259 • ЛОМА́ТЬ/ПОЛОМА́ТЬ (СЕБЕ́) ГО́ЛОВУ (над чем) [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv; often impfv infin with зачем, незачем, не стоит, не надо etc] to think hard, trying to comprehend something complex or find a solution to a difficult problem: X ломает (себе) голову (над Y-ом) ≃ X racks his brains (over Y); X cudgels his brains; X puzzles over Y; X puzzles his head (over Y); || Neg Imper не ломай себе голову (над Y-ом) ≃ don't trouble ⟨worry⟩ your head (about Y).

«Мы, знаешь, — заключил он [Сивак], — долго голову на правлении ломали, кто же это такой может быть?» (Максимов 2). "Well," Sivak went on, "we at the farm office racked our brains for a long time wondering who that could be" (2a). ♦ «О прошлом вспоминать незачем, — возразил Базаров, — а что касается до будущего, то о нём тоже не стоит голову ломать, потому что я намерен немедленно улизнуть» (Тургенев 2). "There is no point in dwelling on the past," Bazarov replied, "and as for the future, it's not worth your troubling your head about that either, seeing that I intend to make my departure from here at once" (2c).

Г-260 • МОРО́ЧИТЬ/ЗАМОРО́ЧИТЬ ⟨ДУРИ́ТЬ/ЗАДУРИ́ТЬ⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ кому coll [VP; subj: human; often in questions, neg imper, or infin with перестань, нечего etc] 1. to deceive, intentionally mislead s.o.: X морочит Y-у голову ≃ X is pulling the wool over Y's eyes; X is leading Y up ⟨down⟩ the garden path; X is trying to put something over on Y; X is playing games with Y; [lim.] X is making ⟨trying to make⟩ a fool of Y; X is filling Y's head with nonsense; || Neg Imper не морочь мне голову ≃ don't take me for a fool.

«Ты поверь мне… я знаю, ты мне не веришь, но сейчас поверь, я ведь давно вам говорю: нельзя здесь оставаться… Голем тебе голову заморочил, пьяница носатая…» (Стругацкие 1). "Believe me. I know you don't believe me, but believe me now, I've been telling you for a long time, we can't stay here. Golem pulled the wool over your eyes, the long-nosed drunk" (1a).

2. ~ (кем-чем) to annoy or distract s.o. with trifling matters, unnecessary chatter, absurd requests etc: X морочит Y-у голову (Z-ом) ≃ X is driving Y crazy (with Z); X makes Y's head spin; X makes Y dizzy; X is pestering Y (with Z).

«Послушайте, — взмолился лётчик, — что вы мне голову морочите? Зачем мне говорить с народом? Мне с начальством поговорить надо» (Войнович 2). "Listen," implored the pilot. "Why are you trying to drive me crazy? Why should I talk with the people? I need to talk with my superiors" (2a).

3. to captivate s.o., cause s.o. to fall in love with one: X задурил Y-у голову ≃ X turned Y's head; X made Y fall for X.

Когда-то я дурил голову одной девочке, ей было тринадцать, а мне четырнадцать (Трифонов 5). Once I managed to turn a certain girl's head. She was thirteen and I was fourteen (5a).

Г-261 • МЫ́ЛИТЬ/НАМЫ́ЛИТЬ ⟨ПУ́ДРИТЬ/НАПУ́ДРИТЬ obs, МЫТЬ/ВЫ́МЫТЬ obs⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ кому (за что) coll [VP; subj: human] to scold, reprimand s.o. severely: X намылил Y-у голову ≃ X gave Y a (good) dressing-down ⟨tongue-lashing⟩; X pinned Y's ears back; X chewed ⟨bawled⟩ Y out; X let Y have it; X laid Y out in lavender.

«Товарищ Яконов! Только что у меня были товарищи из Политуправления и очень-таки намылили голову» (Солженицын 3). "Comrade Yakonov! Some comrades from the Political Section just came to see me, and they gave me a good dressing-down" (3a).

Г-262 • НА чью ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА́ ГОЛОВУ кому⟩ свалиться, обрушиться, посыпаться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is prep obj] (to befall, happen to) s.o.: (fall ⟨come down etc⟩) (up)on s.o's head.

…Хорошо, если удастся ему [станционному смотрителю] скоро избавиться от непрошенного гостя; но если не случится лошадей?.. Боже! Какие ругательства, какие угрозы посыплются на его голову! (Пушкин 3). …The postmaster is fortunate if he succeeds in getting rid of his uninvited guest quickly. But if there should happen to be no horses…? Heavens, what curses, what threats are poured down upon his head! (3b).

Г-263 • НА́ ГОЛОВУ ⟨НА ДВЕ ГОЛОВЫ́ и т.п.⟩ ВЫ́ШЕ кого coll; ГОЛОВО́Й ВЫ́ШЕ obs [AdjP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human or collect)] one is much more intelligent, experienced, informed (than someone else): X на голову выше Y-а ≃ X is ⟨stands⟩ head and shoulders above Y; X is a cut above Y; X can run circles ⟨rings⟩ around Y.

…Никанор сразу понял, что Курода-сан художник настоящий, на голову выше его, Никанора (Евтушенко 2). …Nikanor realized immediately that Kuroda-san was a real artist, standing head and shoulders above him (2a).

Г-264 • НА МОЮ́ ⟨твою и т.п.⟩ ГО́ЛОВУ coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (occas. parenth); more often used with pfv past verbs; fixed WO] (of some action, occurrence etc) causing me (you etc) inconvenience, difficulties, trouble: unfortunately for me ⟨you etc⟩; to my ⟨your etc⟩ misfortune ⟨detriment, dismay⟩; [lim.] it's a disaster for me ⟨you etc⟩; I am ⟨you are etc⟩ in for trouble.

На мою голову Тамурка вспомнила, что у меня приближается день рождения (Зиновьев 2). To my dismay Tamurka remembered that my birthday was drawing near (2a).

Г-265 • НА СВЕ́ЖУЮ ГО́ЛОВУ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] when one is not tired or after one has rested (usu. after a night's sleep): when ⟨while⟩ one ⟨one's mind⟩ is fresh; with a clear head; when ⟨while⟩ one's head is clear.

«Не получается у меня задача». — «Это потому что ты устал. Подумай над ней завтра, на свежую голову». "I can't figure out this problem." "That's because you're tired. Work on it tomorrow, when your mind is fresh."

Г-266 • НА СВОЮ́ ГО́ЛОВУ; СЕБЕ́ НА ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА́ ГОЛОВУ⟩ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv (occas. parenth); more often used with pfv past verbs; fixed WO] causing trouble for o.s. (by doing sth.): X сделал Y на свою голову ≃ X did Y to X's own misfortune ⟨detriment, harm⟩; X brought ⟨called⟩ it ⟨trouble etc⟩ upon himself when he did Y; X brought ⟨called⟩ it ⟨trouble etc⟩ down upon his own head when he did Y; [lim.] Y bounced back at X; X was paid back for Y; X stored up trouble for himself (by doing Y).

Прежний заведующий… боялся Ужика и трусливо переводил его из класса в класс. Довёл бы и до окончания школы, но Ужик, на свою голову, добился-таки его увольнения… (Грекова 3). The former principal… was afraid of Uzhik and promoted him from grade to grade. He would have graduated him, but Uzhik, to his own misfortune, managed to get him fired (3a). ♦ Да, конечно, за наши встречи я наговорил ей много лишнего, на свою голову… (Ерофеев 3). …Well, yes, I have spoken a bit too loosely with her during our meetings, things that might bounce back at me… (3a).

Г-267 • НАВЯ́ЗЫВАТЬСЯ/НАВЯЗА́ТЬСЯ НА ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА ШЕ́Ю⟩ чью, кому coll [VP; subj: human] to impose one's presence upon s.o. intrusively, thereby annoying or becoming a burden to him: X навязался на Y-ову голову ≃ X thrust ⟨forced, foisted⟩ himself (up)on Y.

Мы не хотели брать с собой Романа, но он навязался нам на голову, а обижать его отказом не хотелось. We didn't want to take Roman along, but he forced himself on us, and we would have hated to offend him by turning him away.

Г-268 • НЕ ИДЁТ ⟨НЕЙДЁТ⟩/НЕ ПОЙДЁТ В ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА УМ⟩ (кому) coll [VP; if pfv, fut only] 1. [subj: abstr, concr, or, rare, human] the thought of sth. (or of doing sth.) does not occupy s.o.'s mind; s.o. does not feel like doing sth. (often because of his preoccupation with something else): X не шёл в голову Y-у ≃ Y couldn't (even) think of X; [lim.] X never ⟨hadn't⟩ entered Y's head ⟨mind⟩; || Y-у

ничего не идёт в голову ≃ Y can't keep his mind on anything; [lim.] Y can't think of anything; || (Y-y) ничего больше не идёт в голову ≃ Y can think of nothing else; that's all Y can think about.

2. [subj: a noun denoting some material, a subject matter etc that can be learned or memorized (often ничего)] (sth.) is not remembered or comprehended by s.o.; s.o. cannot retain sth. in his memory: X не идёт (Y-y) в голову ≃ X doesn't stick (in Y's mind); Y can't make X stick (in Y's mind); X doesn't sink in.

Г-269 • ОЧЕРТЯ́ ГО́ЛОВУ coll [Verbal Adv; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ броситься, кинуться и т.п. (to rush into sth., do sth.) recklessly, thoughtlessly: (rush ⟨plunge, throw o.s.* etc⟩) headlong (into sth.); (throw o.s.* etc) rashly (into sth.); throwing caution to the winds.

«…Неужели ты думаешь, что я как дурак пошёл, очертя голову? Я пошёл как умник, и это-то меня и сгубило!» (Достоевский 3). "Do you think I plunged headlong like a fool? No, I was clever about it—that's how I came to grief" (3b).

2. бежать, мчаться и т.п. ~ (to run, race) very quickly, impetuously: at breakneck speed; for all one is worth; like a bat out of hell.

Завернув за угол, бухгалтер незаметно перекрестился и побежал очертя голову (Ильф и Петров 2). He [the bookkeeper] turned the corner, surreptitiously crossed himself and ran for all he was worth (2b).

< Apparently, a blend of «сломя голову» (which influenced the meaning) and «очертить кругом» (which refers to the old custom of drawing a line around oneself or another person in order to obtain protection from evil forces). «Очертя» is the old form of the short active participle of «очертить»; the corresponding modern form is the perfective verbal adverb «очертив».

Г-270 • ПОВИ́ННУЮ ГО́ЛОВУ (И) МЕЧ НЕ СЕЧЁТ [saying] a person who confesses to a misdeed is not punished (said when forgiving a guilty person who has confessed and repented or by the guilty person himself admitting to his guilt and hoping for forgiveness): ≃ a fault confessed is half redressed; a sin confessed is half forgiven.

[Г-жа Простакова (стоя на коленях):] Ах, мои батюшки, повинную голову меч не сечёт… Не губите меня (Фонвизин 1). [Mrs. P. (standing on her knees):] Oh, my masters, a sin confessed is half forgiven…. Don't ruin me! (1a).

Г-271 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨-ы⟩ occas. disapprov [VP; subj: human (usu. pl), collect, or abstr (denoting a political trend, school of thought etc); usu. pres or pfv past; fixed WO] to become confident of one's strength and begin to take action: X поднимает голову ≃ X is getting ⟨growing⟩ active; X is rising up; [of a phenomenon regarded as negative] thing X is rearing its (ugly) head.

«По округу наблюдаются волнения. Оставшаяся белогвардейщина поднимает голову и начинает смущать трудовое казачество» (Шолохов 4). "There have been signs of unrest in the district. The White Guard elements who have stayed behind are getting active and sowing confusion among the working Cossacks" (4a).

Г-272 • ПОСЫПА́ТЬ/ПОСЫ́ПАТЬ (СЕБЕ́) ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨ГЛАВУ́⟩ ПЕ́ПЛОМ obs, lit [VP; subj: human] to express profound grief or repentance (in contemp. usage, usu. used in refer. to an excessive display of grief over sth. insignificant): X посыпает (себе) голову пеплом ≃ X puts on ⟨is in⟩ sackcloth and ashes.

< Cf the Bible (Esther 4:1 etc).

Г-273 • ПРИКЛОНИ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ где, куда lit [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with мочь, негде etc] to find a place to live, shelter: X-у негде ⟨некуда⟩ голову приклонить ≃ X has nowhere to lay his head ⟨to hang his hat⟩; || X не знает, куда голову приклонить ≃ X doesn't know where to lay his head.

Хотя уж ему не казалось теперь подвигом переехать с квартиры… и не прилечь целый день, но он не знал, где и на ночь приклонить голову (Гончаров 1). Although it no longer seemed a heroic feat to him to move from his apartment… or refrain from lying down for a whole day, he still had not found a place to lay his head at night (1b).

Г-274 • ПРИХОДИ́ТЬ/ПРИЙТИ́ В ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨НА УМ, В УМ obs, НА МЫСЛЬ obs⟩ кому coll; ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В ГО́ЛОВУ ⟨В УМ, В МЫСЛЬ⟩ obs, coll; ВСПАДА́ТЬ/ВСПАСТЬ НА УМ ⟨НА МЫСЛЬ⟩ obs [VP; subj: abstr (usu. мысль, идея etc), (rare) concr or human, a clause, or infin; when foll. by infin, may convey s.o.'s intention or desire to do sth.] to arise in s.o.'s consciousness: Y-у пришёл в голову X ≃ X came into ⟨entered⟩ Y's head ⟨mind⟩; X crossed Y's mind; X occurred to Y; X came to mind; [lim.] Y thought of X; it struck Y; || Y-у невольно пришло в голову, что… ≃ Y couldn't help thinking that…

…Иногда мне приходит на ум, что я что-то напутал в жизни, что не сделал чего-то самого главного, а чего именно — никак не могу вспомнить (Войнович 5). …Sometimes the thought crosses my mind that I've somehow messed up, that I've left the most important thing undone, but for the life of me, I can't remember just what that thing is (5a). ♦ В Лефортове удивительная библиотека: все книги, что конфисковывались у «врагов народа» за полвека, видно, стеклись сюда. По всей стране «чистили» библиотеки, жгли «вредные» книги — здесь же всё сохранилось, как в оазисе. Никому не приходило в голову чистить библиотеку тюрьмы КГБ… (Буковский 1). Lefortovo had a wonderful library—it looked as if all the books confiscated from the enemies of the people over half a century had ended up here. Up and down the country they had "purged" libraries and burned "pernicious" books, while in here, everything was preserved as in an oasis. It had never occurred to anyone to purge the libraries of the KGB prisons… (1a).

Г-275 • ПРЯ́ТАТЬ/СПРЯ́ТАТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ ПОД КРЫЛО́ obsoles, lit [VP; subj: human] to hide, run away from reality, life: X прячет голову под крыло ≃ X buries his head in the sand.

Г-276 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА́ ГОЛОВУ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to subject s.o. to one's will, force him to satisfy one's whims by exploiting his meekness: X сядет Y-у на голову ≃ X will walk ⟨be⟩ all over Y; X will take advantage of Y; X will push ⟨boss⟩ Y around.

«Если мы это так оставим, эндурцы совсем на голову сядут!» (Искандер 5). "If we let it go on like this, the Endurskies will be all over us!" (5a).

Г-277 • СКЛОНЯ́ТЬ/СКЛОНИ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ перед кем-чем elev [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. to acknowledge defeat, surrender: X склонил голову перед Y-ом ≃ X bowed his head before Y; X bowed to Y.

[Москва] склонила голову перед Петром, потому что в звериной лапе его была будущность России (Герцен 1). [Moscow] bowed her head before Peter because the future of Russia lay in his brutal grip (1a).

2. to admire, revere s.o. or sth., hold s.o. or sth. in high esteem: X склоняет голову перед Y-ом ≃ X bows his head respectfully to ⟨before⟩ Y; X bows down before Y; [lim.] X takes his hat off to Y.

«Я склоняю голову перед тем, что вам пришлось пережить, отец Гур. Но я от души осуждаю вас за то, что вы сдались» (Стругацкие 4). "I bow my head respectfully before all you have had to go through, Father Gur. But I condemn you with all my soul for giving up!" (4a).

Г-278 • СЛОМЯ́ ГО́ЛОВУ бежать, мчаться, нестись и т.п. coll [Verbal Adv; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to run, race, rush etc) very fast, impetuously: (run ⟨gallop etc⟩) at breakneck speed; (run ⟨race etc⟩) like mad; (race etc) as fast as one's legs ⟨feet⟩ will carry one; (rush) headlong ⟨madly⟩; nearly break one's neck (running etc).

Никогда он не садился верхом на Алабаша и никогда не скакал так по двору сломя голову (Айтматов 1). He had never mounted Alabash and never galloped across the yard at such breakneck speed (1a). ♦ …Заслышав родную речь, сперва летим, как безумные, на её звук: «Вы русские?» И тут же, опомнившись и даже не дослушав ответа, сломя голову кидаемся наутёк (Войнович 1). …Hearing our own language we first run like madmen toward the sound, saying: "Are you Russian?" But then at once we come to our senses and, without waiting for an answer, dash away as fast as our feet will carry us (1a).

< «Сломя» is the old form of the short active participle of the verb «сломить»; the corresponding modern form is the perfective verbal adverb «сломив».

Г-279 • СНЯ́ВШИ ГО́ЛОВУ, ПО ВОЛОСА́М НЕ ПЛА́ЧУТ [saying] after an irreparable act has been committed or a permanent loss suffered, it is futile to grieve over it (or insignificant details related to it): ≃ if you sell the cow, you sell her milk; there is no use ⟨point, sense⟩ (in) crying over spilt ⟨spilled⟩ milk.

«Я боюсь, что тут мы будем больше на виду, чем в Москве, откуда бежали в поисках незаметности. Конечно, делать теперь нечего. Снявши голову, по волосам не плачут. Но лучше не высказываться, скрываться, держаться скромнее» (Пастернак 1). "I am afraid that after leaving Moscow to escape notice, we are going to be even more conspicuous here. Not that there is anything to be done about it, and there certainly isn't any sense in crying over spilt milk. But we'd better stay in the background and keep quiet" (1a).

Г-280 • СНЯТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ с кого, кому coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: СОРВА́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ с кого highly coll to kill s.o. (usu. in combat or in battle): X голову снимет с Y-а ≃ X will blow Y's head off; X will finish Y off; X will put an end to Y.

«Слушай мою команду… Крючок, заводи. Зеф, в башню! Гай, проверь нижние люки… Да тщательно проверь, голову сниму!» (Стругацкие 2). "Obey my orders…. Hook, you drive. Zef, to the turret! Guy, check the lower hatches. And thoroughly, or I'll have your head!" (2a). ♦ «…У меня здесь секретная документация, если что, голову с меня сымут [substand = снимут]…» (Максимов 2). "…I'm carrying secret documents, and if anything happens to them my head will roll…" (2a).

Г-281 • СОВА́ТЬ/СУ́НУТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ В ПЕ́ТЛЮ; СОВА́ТЬСЯ В ПЕ́ТЛЮ both coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to take one's own life by hanging: X сунул голову в петлю ≃ X hanged himself; X put the noose around his neck.

2. to undertake sth. risky that may jeopardize one's life, career etc: X суёт голову в петлю ≃ X is sticking his head in the noose; X is risking his neck; X is putting his life ⟨career etc⟩ on the line.

Г-282 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬ/ПОТЕРЯ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОВУ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (от чего) to lose one's poise, common sense, not know how to act (in a difficult situation): X потерял голову ≃ X lost his head ⟨senses⟩; X panicked; [lim.] X went to pieces; || Neg X не потерял голову ⟨-ы́⟩ ≃ X kept his head ⟨his cool, his wits about him⟩; X kept a level head; X kept ⟨stayed, remained⟩ calm.

[Надежда Антоновна:] Я совершенно потеряла голову. Что нам делать!.. У нас опять накопилась пропасть долгов (Островский 4). [N.A.:] I have lost my head completely. What are we to do?… We're up to our necks in debt again (4b).

2. ~ (от чего) to become conceited, get a false sense of one's own importance, abilities etc, usu. from praise, success etc: X потерял голову (от Y-а) ≃ Y went to X's head; X had ⟨got⟩ a swelled head; X was ⟨became⟩ giddy (with success).

3. ~ (от кого) [pfv only] to fall passionately in love with s.o., become completely infatuated with s.o.: X потерял голову (от Y-а) ≃ X (completely) lost his head (over Y); X fell head over heels in love (with Y); X fell hard for Y.

…На четвёртый год замужества, встретив Люсьена, Муш потеряла голову (Эренбург 4). …In her fourth year of married life Mouche met Lucien and lost her head completely (4a).

Г-283 • УДАРЯ́ТЬ/УДА́РИТЬ ⟨БРОСА́ТЬСЯ/БРО́СИТЬСЯ, КИДА́ТЬСЯ/КИ́НУТЬСЯ⟩ В ГО́ЛОВУ (кому) [VP; subj: a noun denoting an alcoholic drink or an emotion, intense experience etc] to have an intoxicating effect: X ударил Y-у в голову ≃ X went ⟨rushed⟩ to Y's head.

[Наталья Петровна:] Этот человек меня заразил своею молодостью… С непривычки мне всё это в голову бросилось, как вино… (Тургенев 1). [N.P.:] This man has infected me with his youth…. I'm not used to this, it's gone to my head like wine (1c).

Г-284 • ХВАТА́ТЬСЯ/СХВАТИ́ТЬСЯ ЗА́ ГОЛОВУ coll [VP; subj: human] to experience horror, utter confusion, extreme astonishment and display it by grabbing one's head with one's hands (usu. when one realizes that he or another has done sth. absurd, inexcusable, or potentially harmful): X схватился за голову ≃ X clutched his head (in despair ⟨in horror etc⟩); X tore (at) his hair (in anguish ⟨in despair etc⟩).

Пале-рояльская труппа… с ужасом узнала, что Бургонский Отель начал репетировать «Александра Великого»… Директор Пале-Рояля просто схватился за голову, потому что ясно было совершенно, что сборы на «Александра» упадут при параллельной постановке у бургонцев (Булгаков 5). …The Palais Royal troupe learned to its dismay that the Bourgogne had begun rehearsals of Alexander…. The director of the Palais Royal simply clutched his head in consternation, for it was entirely clear that the income from Alexander would drop if there was a parallel production at the Bourgogne (5a).

Г-285 • ЧЕРЕЗ ГО́ЛОВУ чью, кого coll [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (one takes some action) bypassing a person or people whom one is supposed or expected to address or inform first (and usu. contacting a third party directly, often s.o. of a higher rank): over s.o.'s head ⟨over the head of s.o.⟩.

[Старший администратор] Зайцева была из тех администраторов, которые свою малую, временную власть над людьми воспринимают как великую, вечную… То, что Борис Григорьевич советовался с Верой через её, старшего администратора, голову, раздражало её безмерно (Грекова 3). [The senior administrator] Zaitseva was one of those administrators who perceive their limited temporary power over people as great and permanent…. The fact that Boris Gregorievich sought advice from Vera over the senior administrator's head irritated her enormously (3a).

Г-286 • БЕЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] unintelligent, foolish: brainless; dumb; a (total) fool; a dimwit.

Нужно совсем без головы быть, чтобы так промокнуть и не переодеться! You'd have to be a total fool not to change your clothes after getting so wet!

2. [adv] (to do sth., act) imprudently, rashly: without using one's head; thoughtlessly; recklessly.

Реформу цен провели без головы — как, впрочем, и все остальные реформы. Price reforms were instituted recklessly—but then again so were all the other reforms.

Г-287 • ВАЛИ́ТЬ ⟨СВА́ЛИВАТЬ/СВАЛИ́ТЬ, ПЕРЕКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ⟩ С БОЛЬНО́Й ГОЛОВЫ́ НА ЗДОРО́ВУЮ coll [VP; subj: human] to (try to) take the blame from s.o. who is guilty and put it on s.o. who is not guilty: X валит с больной головы на здоровую ≃ X shifts ⟨is trying to shift⟩ the blame to someone else ⟨to someone else's shoulders⟩; X lays the blame at someone else's door(step); X pins it ⟨the blame, the rap⟩ on someone else; X hangs the blame on someone else.

Она [Анфиса] начала оправдываться: не колхоза это, дескать, вина. Сплавщики виноваты. Они бон ставили. «Ты, Анфиса Петровна, с больной головы на здоровую на вали» (Абрамов 1). She [Anfisa] began to cover herself: the kolkhoz was not to blame. It was the timber floaters' fault. It was they who had erected the dam. "Anfisa Petrovna, don't go laying the blame at someone else's door" (1a).

Г-288 • ВЫБИВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́БИТЬ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ что coll [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with не мочь, надо, стараться etc; fixed WO] to free o.s. from a persistent thought, idea etc: X-у надо выбить из головы Y ≃ X should get Y out of X's head; X should get rid of Y; X should drive Y from ⟨out of⟩ X's head; X should shake Y ⟨the thought of Y⟩.

«Казбич не являлся снова. Только не знаю почему, я не мог выбить из головы мысль, что он недаром приезжал и затевает что-нибудь худое» (Лермонтов 1). "Kazbich didn't show up again. Still, for some reason I couldn't get rid of the idea that he'd come for a purpose and was up to some devilry" (1c).

Г-289 • ВЫ́БРОСИТЬ ⟨ВЫ́КИНУТЬ⟩ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ ⟨ИЗ ПА́МЯТИ rare⟩ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; usu. imper or infin with не мочь, надо, пытаться etc] to forget s.o. or sth. intentionally, stop thinking about s.o. or sth.: X не может выбросить Y-а из головы ≃ X cannot get Y out of X's mind ⟨head⟩; X cannot put Y out of X's mind ⟨head⟩; X cannot dismiss thing Y from X's memory ⟨mind⟩; ‖ Imper выброси Y-а из головы ≃ put Y out of mind.

«Запомни, Сарра, — сказала мама, — никаких партизан тут нет, не было и быть не может. Выбрось из головы и не повторяй этих глупостей» (Рыбаков 1). "Just remember, Sarah," mother told her, "there are no partisans here, there never have been and it couldn't happen. Get the whole idea out of your head and don't repeat such nonsense" (1a). ♦ «Выбрось из головы! Не мучься по пустякам!» (Искандер 5). "Put it out of mind! Don't trouble yourself over nothing!" (5a).

Г-290 • ВЫЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЛЕТЕТЬ ⟨ВЫСКА́КИВАТЬ/ВЫ́СКОЧИТЬ, УЛЕТУ́ЧИВАТЬСЯ/УЛЕТУ́ЧИТЬСЯ и т.п.⟩ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ чьей, у кого coll; ВЫЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЛЕТЕТЬ ⟨ВЫСКА́КИВАТЬ/ВЫ́СКОЧИТЬ, ВЫПАДА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ПАСТЬ и т.п.⟩ ИЗ ПА́МЯТИ; ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ ⟨ИЗ ПА́МЯТИ, ИЗ УМА́⟩ ВОН coll [VP (subj: usu. abstr or a clause) or impers predic (variants with вон)] to be forgotten (by s.o.) suddenly and completely: X вылетел у Y-а из головы ≃ X slipped Y's mind ⟨memory⟩; X has gone (clean ⟨clear, right etc⟩) out of Y's head ⟨mind⟩; X escaped Y ⟨Y's memory⟩; Y forgot all about X.

Мы прикатили на трёх машинах в это уединённое абхазское село по причине, которая сейчас совершенно выветрилась у меня из головы (Искандер 4). We came rolling into this isolated Abkhazian village in three cars, for a reason that has now completely slipped my mind (4a). ♦ [Колесов:] Через месяц эта сказка вылетит у тебя из головы (Вампилов 3). [K.:] In a month you'll forget all about this fairy tale (3b).

Г-291 • ВЫ́ШЕ ГОЛОВЫ́ чего (у кого) coll [PrepP; Invar; quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: usu. дел, работы, забот etc] s.o. has too much (work to do), too many (concerns etc): (be) up to one's neck ⟨ears⟩ in sth.; (be) loaded (down) ⟨swamped⟩ with sth.

…Александр Иванович Ларичев… — командир строгий, толковый, разумно требовательный. Дел у него выше головы… (Грекова 3). …Alexander Larichev was… a tough, intelligent, reasonably demanding commander—and he was loaded with work (3a).

Г-292 • ВЫ́ШЕ ГОЛОВЫ́ НЕ ПРЫ́ГНЕШЬ [saying] you cannot do more than what is within your power or abilities (said with regret when a person has put forth great effort and still has not attained what was wanted): ≃ a man ⟨you, one etc⟩ can do no more than he ⟨you, one etc⟩ can (do); you ⟨one, a person etc⟩ can only do so much; there's a limit to what a man ⟨you, one etc⟩ can do.

Г-293 • ГО́ЛОВЫ ЛЕТЯ́Т/ПОЛЕТЕ́ЛИ coll [VP_{subj}] several (or many) people suffer terribly (often used when certain people are fired from their jobs, are being scapegoated for sth., are the victims of a change in the political climate etc): головы полетят ≃ heads will roll.

Г-294 • НЕ ВЫХО́ДИТ ⟨НЕ ИДЁТ, НЕЙДЁТ rare⟩ ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ у кого, чьей, кого; НЕ ВЫХО́ДИТ ⟨НЕ ИДЁТ, НЕЙДЁТ rare⟩ ИЗ ПА́МЯТИ ⟨ИЗ УМА́⟩ [VP; subj: human, concr, or abstr; usu. 3rd pers, pres or past] a person (or thing) comes to mind persistently, is constantly in s.o.'s thoughts, is not forgotten by s.o.: X не выходил у Y-а из головы ≃ Y couldn't get X out of Y's mind ⟨head⟩; thing X wouldn't go out of ⟨wouldn't leave⟩ Y's mind; X was constantly on Y's mind; Y's mind kept going back to X; [lim.] thing X stuck (fast) in Y's mind; thing X haunted Y; thing X kept running through Y's head.

[Негина:] У меня бенефис из головы нейдёт… (Островский 11). [N.:] I can't get the benefit out of my head… (11a). ♦ …Не по себе ей было, всё не шёл у ней из головы этот проклятущий след от папоротниковой ветки на нежной ноге её девочки, повыше колена (Искандер 3). …She did not feel right, her mind kept going back to the accursed mark from the fern frond on her little girl's tender leg, above the knee (3a).

Г-295 • НЕ СНОСИ́ТЬ ГОЛОВЫ́ кому coll [VP; infin only; impers predic; fixed WO] s.o. will not escape punishment, reprisal, s.o. will perish (often used as a warning or threat): не сносить Х-у головы ≃ X's head will roll; X will be as good as dead; X will ⟨is sure to⟩ come to a bad end.

«[Азамат] такой хитрец: ведь смекнул, что не сносить ему головы, если б он попался» (Лермонтов 1). "[Azamat] was no fool, you see, and reckoned he'd be as good as dead if ever he was caught" (1c).

Г-296 • С ⟨ОТ⟩ ГОЛОВЫ́ ДО НОГ ⟨ДО ПЯТ, ДО ПЯ́ТОК coll⟩; С НОГ ДО ГОЛОВЫ́ [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv or nonagreeing modif] including the entirety of one's body, being: мокрый ⟨облить, обдать кого чем, осмотреть кого, одетый во что и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ be wet ⟨drench s.o., cover s.o. with sth., look s.o. over, be dressed in sth. etc⟩ from head to foot ⟨from head to toe, from top to toe⟩; || осмотреть ⟨смерить взглядом⟩ кого ~ ≃ look s.o. up and down; give s.o. the once-over; || [of a thought, emotion etc] Х завладел Y-ом ~ ≃ Y was completely overcome ⟨overwhelmed⟩ by X; Y was seized by X; || одеть кого ~ (во что) ≃ give ⟨buy⟩ s.o. a full ⟨complete⟩ set of clothing.

Влад хочет встать, подняться, чтобы пойти туда, к зелёной воде под берегом, но здесь хлёсткая боль пронизывает его с головы до ног… (Максимов 2). Vlad wanted to get up and walk down the beach to the green water's edge, but at that moment a searing pain shot through him from head to foot (2a). ♦ Варвара скептическим взглядом окинула его [Егоршу] с ног до головы (Абрамов 1). Varvara sized him [Egorsha] up skeptically from head to toe (1a).

…Чехов, как большинство его современников, был чужд изобразительному искусству и понимал культуру главным образом как просвещение. Он был «литератором» с ног до головы… (Терц 3). …Like most of his contemporaries, Chekhov was indifferent to the visual arts and understood culture mainly as education. He was a "literary man" from head to foot… (3a).

Г-297 • С ГОЛОВЫ́ НА́ НОГИ поставить, перевернуть что [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (in refer. to an issue, problem etc that has been previously distorted, misconstrued) (to approach, examine sth.) correctly, appropriately: (put sth.) in the right ⟨proper⟩ perspective; (approach sth.) from the right angle.

Г-298 • ГО́ЛОД НЕ ТЁТКА [saying] hunger is a serious matter, hunger leaves you little choice (used to explain or justify why a person is eating sth. he does not like, doing sth. he would not ordinarily do, being especially resourceful etc): ≃ hunger is no joke; [lim.] beggars can't be choosers.

[Любим Карпыч:] Нет, брат, воровать скверно! Это штука стара, её бросить пора… Да ведь голод-то не тётка, что-нибудь надобно делать! (Островский 2). [L.K.:] No, brother, stealing's a bad business, and an old one to boot; time to have done with it. But hunger's no joke, a man's got to eat (2b).

< Abbreviated variant of the saying «Голод не тётка, пирожка не поднесёт ⟨не подсунет⟩».

Г-299 • МОРИ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОДОМ кого [VP; subj: human] to keep s.o. very hungry: Х морит Y-а голодом ≃ X is starving Y (to death); || Х морит себя голодом ≃ X is starving himself; X is depriving himself of food; [lim.] X is on a hunger strike.

«Неужто и компот дают [в лагере]?»… — «Это где какой начальник. Один голодом морит, а другой, если хочет, чтобы план выполняли, и накормит тебя и оденет потеплее, только работай на совесть» (Войнович 2). "They actually serve compote in there [the camp]?"… "Depends on your boss. One'll starve you to death, another one, if he wants to fulfill the plan, will feed you and dress you warm, as long as you give it everything you've got, that's all" (2a).

Г-300 • В ГО́ЛОС [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. ~ кричать, плакать и т.п. substand (to scream, cry etc) at a great volume, so that everyone can hear: (yell ⟨shout etc⟩) at the top of one's voice ⟨lungs⟩; (weep ⟨wail, lament etc⟩) loudly; (cry) aloud.

[Гладышев] толкнул Нюру ногой в живот. Нюра упала в борозду и завыла в голос (Войнович 2). [Gladishev] gave Nyura a shove in the stomach with his foot. Nyura fell back into a furrow and began howling at the top of her lungs (2a).

2. ~ ответить, воскликнуть и т.п. obs (to answer, exclaim sth. etc) all together, simultaneously: in ⟨with⟩ one voice; in unison; in chorus.

«Ну что, дураки… зачем вы вздумали бунтовать?» — «Виноваты, государь ты наш», — отвечали они [мужики] в голос (Пушкин 2). "Well, you fools," he said, "why did you take it into your heads to rebel?" "We have done wrong, Master. Forgive us," they [the peasants] said with one voice (2c). "Well, fools… what made you rebel?" "We're guilty, master," they [the peasants] answered in unison (2a).

3. ~ утверждать, повторять что и т.п. obs (to assert, repeat etc sth.) showing complete accord: with one voice; unanimously; in unison; as one.

Г-301 • В ОДИ́Н ГО́ЛОС [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ сказать, воскликнуть и т.п. [more often used with pfv verbs] (to say, exclaim etc sth.) all together, simultaneously: in ⟨with⟩ one voice; with a single voice; in unison; in chorus.

«Моя первая любовь принадлежит действительно к числу не совсем обыкновенных»… — «А!» — промолвили хозяин и Сергей Николаевич в один голос (Тургенев 3). "It so happens that my first love was not exactly ordinary"…. "Ah!" the host and Sergei Nikolaich exclaimed in one voice (3c).

2. ~ утверждать, повторять, заявлять и т.п. (to assert, repeat, declare etc sth.) showing complete accord: with one voice; unanimously; (be) unanimous (in declaring sth. etc); in unison; as one.

Скоро все разошлись по домам, различно толкуя о причудах Вулича и, вероятно, в один голос называя меня эгоистом… (Лермонтов 1). Soon everyone left, each giving his own interpretation of Vulic's eccentric behaviour on the way home, and, probably, unanimously branding me an egoist… (1b). ♦ Тут все, кроме Чунки, стали в один голос утверждать, что лошади здесь подняться не смогли бы… (Искандер 3). Now everyone but Chunka began to affirm in unison that the horses could never have climbed this bank… (3a).

Г-302 • ВО ВЕСЬ ⟨В ПО́ЛНЫЙ⟩ ГО́ЛОС [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ кричать, орать, вопить, петь и т.п. [intensif] (to shout, yell, sing etc) very loudly: at the top of one's voice ⟨lungs⟩; with all one's lung power; (scream) one's head off.

…Мы, дети, во весь голос орали за ним [Законоучителем] тексты (Замятин 1). …We children would yell the prescribed texts after him [the priest] with all our lung power (1b).

2. ~ говорить, заявлять и т.п. Also: ПО́ЛНЫМ ГО́ЛОСОМ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; fixed WO] (to speak, assert, declare etc sth.) openly, without hesitation or fear: speak out ⟨up⟩; let one's voice be heard; [lim.] speak one's mind.

Все эти вопросы остаются открытыми — не только для иностранцев, но и для нас; в этом не разобраться, пока мы во весь голос не заговорим о нашем прошлом, настоящем и будущем (Мандельштам 1). All these questions will remain open, both for foreigners and for ourselves, until we are able to speak up about our past, present and future (1a).

Г-303 • ГО́ЛОС СРЫВА́ЕТСЯ/СОРВА́ЛСЯ у кого [VP_{subj}] 1. s.o.'s voice changes sharply, often becoming temporarily silent or jumping into a higher register (often caused by stress, strong emotion, or tiredness of the vocal cords): голос у X-а сорвался ≃ X's voice cracked ⟨broke, gave out⟩; X's voice failed him.

…[Ольга] хотела было также сказать: «прощай», но голос у ней на половине слова сорвался… (Гончаров 1). …She [Olga] tried to say "good-bye," but her voice broke in the middle of the word (1b).

2. s.o.'s voice produces a false note in singing (usu. from straining the vocal cords on a high note): голос у X-а сорвался ≃ X's voice broke ⟨cracked⟩; [lim.] X hit a clinker ⟨a clam⟩.

Г-304 • ПОВЫША́ТЬ/ПОВЫ́СИТЬ ГО́ЛОС [VP; subj: human] 1. to (begin to) speak at a higher volume than before (in order to be heard at a distance etc): X повысил голос ≃ X raised his voice; X spoke ⟨began to speak⟩ louder ⟨more loudly⟩; || Neg X не повышал голоса ≃ X kept ⟨held⟩ his voice down; X didn't raise ⟨never raised⟩ his voice.

«А я уверяю вас, — Фандорин чуть повысил голос, — что комиссар ошибается» (Акунин 7). "And I assure you," said Fandorin, raising his voice slightly, "that the commissioner is mistaken" (7a). ♦ Хотя он стоял довольно далеко от нас и говорил не повышая голоса, мы отчётливо слышали каждое слово. Although he was standing quite far away from us and he kept his voice down, we heard clearly every word he said.

2. ~ (на кого). Also: ПОВЫША́ТЬ/ПОВЫ́СИТЬ ТОН to (begin to) speak at a higher volume as a result of irritation, exasperation etc, or in order to sound more authoritative: X повысил голос (на Y-а) ≃ X raised his voice (to Y).

Битый час он доказывал рыжей врачихе, что плоскостопие недостаточный повод, чтоб ошиваться в тылу. Он повышал на неё голос, льстил и даже пытался соблазнить… (Войнович 2). For a good hour he tried to prove to the red-haired woman doctor that being flat-footed was insufficient grounds for being forced to idle in the rear. He raised his voice to her, tried flattery, and even attempted to seduce her… (2a).

Г-305 • ПОДАВА́ТЬ/ПОДА́ТЬ ГО́ЛОС [VP] 1. [subj: human or animal] (of people) to make one's presence known by saying sth.; (of animals) to make its presence known by producing its characteristic sounds: [of people] X подал голос ≃ X opened his mouth; [lim.] X found his tongue; X chimed in; || Neg X не подавал голоса ≃ X held his tongue; X kept his mouth shut; || [of animals] X подаёт голос ≃ X is making itself ⟨himself, herself⟩ heard; X is reminding us ⟨you etc⟩ of its ⟨his, her⟩ presence; X let out a bark ⟨a neigh, a moo, a chirp etc⟩.

[Тарелкин:] Ох, ох, — разбойники — что вы? [Расплюев:] Ага — голос подал! (Сухово-Кобылин 3). [T.:] Oh, oh—criminals—what are you doing? [R.:] Aha! He's found his tongue again! (3a).

2. [subj: human] to voice one's opinions: X подал голос ≃ X made himself ⟨his voice⟩ heard; X let his voice be heard; X spoke up; [lim.] X found his voice.

Жёлчный агроном после этого письма [Платона Самсоновича], видимо, больше не пытался спорить, зато вежливый зоотехник продолжал подавать голос (Искандер 6). Platon Samsonovich's reply apparently silenced the acrimonious agronomist for good. The polite livestock expert, however, continued to make himself heard (6a).

3. [subj: human] to send s.o. a letter, inform s.o. about o.s.: X подал голос ≃ X dropped (person Y) a line; || X не подаёт голоса ≃ X hasn't been heard from.

4. ~ за кого-что [subj: human] to vote for s.o. or sth.: X подал голос за Y-а ≃ X cast his vote for Y; X gave Y his vote; X said yes to Y.

Г-306 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ ⟨ПОДЫМА́ТЬ⟩/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ ГО́ЛОС lit [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. ~ против кого-чего; в защиту кого-чего, за кого-что to speak up resolutely, publicly (in opposition to or support of s.o. or sth.): X поднял голос против ⟨в защиту⟩ Y-а ≃ X raised his voice against ⟨in defense of⟩ Y.

2. to assert o.s., one's rights, some claims etc: X поднял голос ≃ X spoke out; X made his voice heard.

Из всех этих партий, в то самое время, как князь Андрей приехал к армии, собралась ещё одна, девятая партия, начинавшая поднимать свой голос. Это была партия людей старых, разумных, государственно-опытных… (Толстой 6). Just at the time Prince Andrei reached the army, another, a ninth party was being formed and beginning to make its voice heard. This was the party of the elders—judicious, capable men, experienced in government affairs… (6a).

Г-307 • ПОНИЖА́ТЬ/ПОНИ́ЗИТЬ ГО́ЛОС [VP; subj: human] to (begin to) speak at a lower volume: X понизил голос ≃ X lowered his voice; X spoke ⟨started speaking⟩ more softly.

Капарин глянул в сторону… Фомина и Чумакова и, хотя расстояние до них было порядочное и они никак не могли слышать происходившего разговора, понизил голос. «Я знаю ваши отношения с Фоминым и другими» (Шолохов 5). Kaparin glanced in the direction of Fomin and Chumakov and, although they were a good distance away and could not possibly hear him, he lowered his voice. "I know what your relationship is with Fomin and the others" (5a).

Г-308 • СРЫВА́ТЬ/СОРВА́ТЬ ГО́ЛОС [VP; subj: human] to lose temporarily the ability to speak (from too much shouting, screaming etc): X сорвал голос ≃ X lost his voice; [lim.] X strained his voice; X's voice was shot.

Дед… сызмальства пел в церковном хоре, в молодости у него был замечательный тенор. Когда после окончания семинарии он жил в Вильне в ожидании места, его охотно приглашали всюду, так что в один день он пел и в заутрене, и в обедне, и в вечерне, а в рождественские и пасхальные дни и того больше — и сорвал себе голос, уже не мог брать высокие ноты… (Чудаков 1). …Grandfather had sung in church choirs since he was a lad; he'd had a striking tenor voice in his youth. After his graduation from the seminary, while he was living in Vilnius and waiting to be assigned a congregation, he was in great demand from choir directors all over the city. On any given day he might sing for matins, the midday Liturgy and vespers, and during Christmas and Easter seasons he would sing even more, until finally he strained his voice and could no longer hit the high notes… (1a).

Г-309 • ПЕТЬ ⟨ГОВОРИ́ТЬ⟩ С ЧУЖО́ГО ⟨ТВОЕГО́ и т.п.⟩ ГО́ЛОСА coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] being influenced by another person (or other people) and not having one's own opinion, to repeat the thoughts, opinions of that person (or those people): X поёт с чужого голоса ≃ X is parroting someone else's words ⟨ideas, views⟩; X takes his opinions from others; [lim.] X has no mind of his own.

Люди, дававшие направление разговорам… не показывались в клубе, а собирались по домам, в своих интимных кружках, и москвичи, говорившие с чужих голосов (к которым принадлежал и Илья Андреич Ростов), оставались на короткое время без определённого суждения о деле войны и без руководителей (Толстой 5). The men who set the course in conversation… did not show themselves at the Club, but met in intimate circles in their own homes, and those Muscovites who took their opinions from others (Count Ilya Andreyevich Rostov among them) remained for a while without any definite views in regard to the war, and without guidance (5a).

Г-310 • С ГО́ЛОСА ⟨-у⟩ учить, запоминать [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to learn, memorize sth.) solely by listening to it: by ear.

Г-311 • В ГО́ЛОСЕ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is in good vocal form: (be) in good voice; || Neg не в голосе ≃ (be) in poor voice.

[Лорд:] Браво, браво! Моя дорогая, вы сегодня в голосе, как никогда! (Булгаков 1). [L.:] Bravo, bravo! You have never been in better voice than tonight, my dear! (1a).

Г-312 • ДУРНЫ́М ГО́ЛОСОМ кричать, орать, визжать и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; usu. sing; adv; fixed WO] (to scream, yell etc) hysterically: (scream) in a wild ⟨an unnatural⟩ voice; howl (with grief ⟨with pain etc⟩); scream bloody murder.

«„Уведомляю Вас…“ — начала Дуняшка и, сползая с лавки, дрожа, крикнула дурным голосом: — Батя! Батянюшка!.. Ой, ма-а-ама! Гриша наш… Ох! Ох, Гришу… убили!» (Шолохов 2). "'I have to inform you…'" Dunyashka began, then slid off the bench, howling with grief. "Oh, Father! Father!… Oh, Mother! Our Grisha… Oh! oh! oh!… he's been killed!" (2a).

Г-313 • НЕ СВОИ́М ГО́ЛОСОМ кричать, орать, вопить, голосить и т.п. coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to yell, scream etc) very loudly, hysterically (usu. because of shock, fear, nervousness etc): in a voice not one's own; in a voice that could no longer be recognized as one's own; in an unnatural ⟨a wild⟩ voice.

…Ночью, вопя от жути не своим голосом, с керосиновым факелом за спиною, носился он [пожарный вестовой] по городу (Федин 1). …At night, wailing with terror in a voice not his own, he [the fire warden] had rushed about the town with a kerosene torch on his back (1a). ♦ …Он вскочил… и не своим голосом закричал: «Раззорю!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). …He jumped up and… screamed in a voice that could no longer be recognized as his own—"I'll ruin you!" (2a).

Г-314 • ГОЛЬ НА ВЫ́ДУМКИ ХИТРА́ [saying] the shortage or absence of sth. forces a person to be resourceful: ≃ necessity is the mother of invention.

Это было, конечно, очень сложным, дорогим и неудобным решением. Но это было решением!.. Поистине печальная русская поговорка «голь на выдумки хитра» оправдалась здесь с полной точностью! (Владимиров 1). It was, of course, a very complicated, costly and clumsy solution of the problem. But it was a solution none the less…. There is in Russian as in English a saying that "necessity is the mother of invention", and it seemed on this occasion to have been demonstrated in practice (1a).

Г-315 • ГОЛЬ ПЕРЕКА́ТНАЯ ⟨КАБА́ЦКАЯ obs⟩ coll [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] a penniless vagrant (or vagrants), person(s) living in utter poverty: bum(s); tramp(s); (one is) down-and-out; the riffraff; [lim.] (one) owns nothing but his skin.

Они люди… а я что… я голь перекатная. К моим 30 у меня ничего нет и не будет (Лимонов 1). They're people… and what am I… down and out. At 30 I don't have a thing, and never will (1a). ♦ «Много их в Петербурге, молоденьких дур, сегодня в атласе да бархате, а завтра, поглядишь, метут улицу вместе с голью кабацкою» (Пушкин 3). "There are many young fools like her in Petersburg—today attired in satin and velvet, tomorrow sweeping the streets with the riffraff of the town" (3b).

Г-316 • ГОРА́ РОДИЛА́ МЫШЬ [sent; fixed WO] great efforts yielded insignificant results, or a person promised much but delivered little: ≃ the mountain brought forth a mouse.

< The source of the Russian idiom is most likely Horace (65–8 B.C., Ars poetica: 139, "Parturient montes, nascetur ridiculus mus," "Mountains will heave in childbirth, and a silly little mouse will be born") or Aesop through Phaedrus.

Г-317 • ГОРА́ С ГОРО́Й НЕ СХО́ДИТСЯ, А ЧЕЛОВЕ́К С ЧЕЛОВЕ́КОМ (ВСЕГДА́) СОЙДЁТСЯ [saying] usu. said at an unexpected meeting or when parting for an unspecified amount of time: ≃ mountains never greet, but friends ⟨men⟩ may (always) meet.

Г-318 • ЕСЛИ ГОРА́ НЕ ИДЁТ К МАГОМЕ́ТУ, ТО МАГОМЕ́Т ИДЁТ К ГОРЕ́ [saying] if the person or thing s.o. wants does not come to him, he must make the effort to attain what he wants himself: if the mountain will not come to Muhammad ⟨Mohammed etc⟩, Muhammad must go to the mountain.

Он [дед]… сватался на базаре к приезжим колхозницам… но у одиноких старух были на селе свои хаты, переселяться в голодный город они не хотели… Дед это скоро понял и сообразил, что если гора не идёт к Магомету, то Магомет идёт к горе. Он срочно полюбил одну старую одинокую колхозницу из Литвиновки по имени баба Наталка… и отправился… в село (Кузнецов 1). He [Grandfather] wooed the collective-farm women at the bazaar…. But the old single women had cottages of their own in the countryside and did not want to move to the starving city…. Grandfather soon realized this, and understood that if the mountain would not come to Mohammed, Mohammed would have to go to the mountain. He hurriedly fell in love, therefore, with a single collective-farm woman named Granny Natalka from the village of Litvinovka… and went off to the village… (1a).

Г-319 • (КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩) ГОРА́ С ПЛЕЧ (СВАЛИ́ЛАСЬ) (у кого) coll [(как etc +) VP_{subj}; these forms only; usu. this WO] s.o.'s state of anxiety, preoccupation with concerns has ended and s.o. feels enormously relieved: (у X-а) как гора с плеч (свалилась) ≃ (it's ⟨X feels⟩) as if a (terrible) load ⟨a (terrible) burden, a (great) weight⟩ has been lifted from X's shoulders; (it's) a load ⟨a burden, a weight⟩ off X's shoulders ⟨mind⟩; a burden ⟨a weight⟩ fell from X's shoulders; (it's) like a mountain (has been) lifted from X's shoulders.

[Катерина:] Вот мне теперь гораздо легче сделалось; точно гора с плеч свалилась (Островский 6). [K.:] I feel better now, as if a great weight had been lifted from my shoulders (6f). ♦ «Какое следствие! Никакого следствия не будет!..» — «Что ты, кум! Как гора с плеч! Выпьем!» — сказал Тарантьев (Гончаров 1). "What inquiry? There won't be any inquiry!..." "Well then, old pal, that's a weight off our shoulders, let's drink to that!" said Tarantyev (1c). "Who's going to prosecute you? There won't be any prosecution…." "You don't say so, old man! Ugh, what a weight off my mind! Let's have a drink!" said Tarantyev (1a).

Г-320 • КТО ВО ЧТО ГОРА́ЗД [Invar; usu. indep. clause; fixed WO] each person is doing whatever he is capable of or chooses to in whatever way he wants: everyone is doing his own thing; everyone is doing whatever he can ⟨wants, feels like etc⟩; ⟨lim.⟩ everyone is saying ⟨trying etc⟩ whatever he can think of.

«Что обо мне гутарят по хутору?»… — «Господь их знает… Разное брешут, кто во что горазд» (Шолохов 5). "What are they saying about me in the village?"… "God knows…. They're saying all kinds o' things, whatever they can think of" (5a).

Г-321 • НЕ ЗА ГОРА́МИ coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula] 1. [subj: concr, collect, or human] (some place, organization, person) is a short distance (from somewhere), nearby: not (very ⟨too, that, so⟩) far away.

2. [subj: abstr] (of an event or the time of an event) sth. will occur soon, in the near future: (sth.) is not (too ⟨very⟩) far away ⟨off⟩; (sth.) will happen any day now; (sth.) is close at hand; ⟨lim.⟩ (sth.) is getting closer every day.

Снова, как и в прошлом году в это время, стало казаться, что победа не за горами (Гладков 1). Again—as at the same time the previous year—it was beginning to seem that victory was not far off (1a). ♦ Пролетарская революция в тылу у противника не за горами (Максимов 2.) "Any day now a proletarian revolution will break out on the enemy's home front" (2a).

Г-322 • ГОРБА́ТОГО МОГИ́ЛА ИСПРА́ВИТ [saying] a person's deep-rooted shortcomings, habits etc are impossible to correct, a person's nature cannot change: ≃ a leopard cannot change his ⟨its⟩ spots; can the leopard change his ⟨its⟩ spots?; what's bred in the bone…

«Всерьёз обиделись мужики, не вернутся». — «Не плясать же мне перед ними? — сорвал на нём [старом ветеринаре] досаду Андрей. — Когда-никогда, всё одно подвели бы. Горбатого могила исправит» (Максимов 3). "They've [the peasants have] really taken offense. They won't be back." Andrei vented his annoyance on him [the old veterinarian]. "What am I supposed to do, dance for them? They'd have let us down sooner or later anyway. The leopard can't change his spots" (3a).

Г-323 • СВОИ́М ⟨СО́БСТВЕННЫМ⟩ ГОРБО́М зарабатывать, добывать что и т.п. [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to earn, attain sth.) through one's own hard work: with one's own sweat; by the sweat of one's brow; by one's own toil; by dint of hard work ⟨labor⟩.

…Над тобой стоят дармоеды-надзиратели… тебя попрекают куском хлеба, который ты заработал своим горбом (Марченко 1). …You have these parasitical warders standing over you, grudging you the crust of bread that you've earned with your own sweat (1a).

Г-324 • ЧУЖИ́М ГОРБО́М наживать, добывать что coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to acquire, gain sth.) through someone else's hard work: (by) cashing in on other people's labors; (by) letting others do (all) the work for one.

Г-325 • НА СВОЁМ ⟨НА СО́БСТВЕННОМ⟩ ГОРБУ́ испытать, испробовать, почувствовать что; НА СВОЕЙ ⟨НА СО́БСТВЕННОЙ⟩ СПИНЕ́ all coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] (of a person) (to know, learn sth.) from one's own hard experience: X испытал Y на своём горбу ≃ X learned Y the hard way; X learned Y by bitter experience; X learned Y in the school of hard knocks.

Г-326 • НА ЧУЖО́М ГОРБУ́ ⟨НА ЧУЖО́Й СПИНЕ́⟩ В РАЙ ВЪЕ́ХАТЬ highly coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; often infin with хочет, думает etc; fixed WO] to use s.o's hard work to one's own advantage: X хочет на чужом горбу в рай въехать ≃ X wants to reap where he hasn't sown; X wants to profit from the fruits of others' labors.

Г-327 • ГО́РЕ ЛУ́КОВОЕ coll, humor [NP; usu. used as vocative; fixed WO] a sluggish person who bungles everything: (you) lummox; (you) oaf; (you) blunderer.

Подошла и накинулась на Чонкина Нюра: «Ах ты, горе луковое, да кого ж ты уговариваешь и кого жалеешь? Он тебя жалел, когда из ружья целил? Он тебя убить хотел!» (Войнович 2). Nyura came up to Chonkin and started in on him. "Ach, Vanya, you blunderer. Whose mind are you trying to change, who are you feeling sorry for? Was he feeling sorry for you when he aimed the gun at your head? He wanted to kill you!" (2a).

Г-328 • ГО́РЕ МЫ́КАТЬ; НАМЫ́КАТЬСЯ ГО́РЯ both obsoles, highly coll [VP; subj: human; more often this WO (1st var.)] to experience hardship, adversity, suffering, extreme poverty: X горе мыкал ≃ X led a wretched ⟨hard⟩ life; X lived in hardship.

«Кабы не барыня, дай бог ей здоровье! — прибавил Захар, крестясь, — давно бы сгиб я на морозе. Она одежонку на зиму даёт и хлеба сколько хочешь… Да из-за меня и её стали попрекать, и я ушёл… Вот теперь второй год мыкаю горе…» (Гончаров 1). "If it wasn't for the mistress—God bless her!—I'd have perished long ago in the frost. She gives me some clothes for the winter and as much bread as I want… but they began nagging at her on my account, so I just walked out of the house, sir. Aye, sir, it'll be two years soon since I began leading this wretched life…" (1a).

Г-329 • ЗАВИВА́ТЬ/ЗАВИ́ТЬ ГО́РЕ ВЕРЁВОЧКОЙ folk [VP; subj: human; often pfv imper or fut (1st pers)] to stop fretting, worrying, grieving: завей горе верёвочкой ≃ put your worries ⟨cares, troubles, sorrows etc⟩ behind you; pack up your cares ⟨troubles etc⟩; forget your troubles ⟨sorrows etc⟩.

«Геологом мечтала. А теперь — круглые… глаза её [Валентины] на мгновение помертвели, — завей горе веревочкой!..» (Максимов 3). "I dreamt of being a geologist. But now…" Her [Valentina's] round eyes… went blank for a moment. "…Let's forget our troubles" (3a).

Г-330 • ЗАЛИВА́ТЬ/ЗАЛИ́ТЬ ГО́РЕ ⟨ТОСКУ́⟩ (чем, usu. вином, водкой etc) [VP; subj: human] to suppress a feeling of grief by drinking: X заливает горе ≃ X is drowning his sorrows ⟨troubles, woes etc⟩; X is drowning his sorrows in ⟨with⟩ alcohol ⟨booze, wine, vodka etc⟩; X is drinking away ⟨drinking to forget⟩ his sorrows ⟨troubles, woes etc⟩.

Шарманщика не было дома — он всё ещё заливал своё горе с приятелями… (Паустовский 1). [The organ grinder] was still out with his friends, drowning his sorrows in the pubs (1a).

Г-331 • НА ГО́РЕ чьё, кому [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] (of an action or event) resulting in grave consequences (for s.o. or o.s.): to s.o.'s ⟨one's (own)⟩ misfortune; to s.o.'s ⟨one's (own)⟩ grief ⟨sorrow⟩.

Да, показал дед Кресте, на горе Поклену-отцу, его сыну ход в Бургонский Отель! (Булгаков 5). Yes, to the misfortune of Poquelin the elder, grandfather Cressé had shown the boy the way to the Hôtel de Bourgogne! (5a).

Г-332 • исчезнуть, пропасть С ГОРИЗО́НТА (чьего) [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to stop associating) with a certain group of people: X исчез с (Y-ова) горизонта ≃ X disappeared from the scene ⟨from Y's circle⟩; X left the scene ⟨the picture⟩; X disappeared from sight ⟨from view⟩; X dropped out of sight ⟨the picture⟩.

А в скором времени исчез с горизонта и сам Жёлудев Н. А. Его сняли «за нетактичное поведение» (Грекова 3). …Soon Zheludev, N. A. disappeared from the scene. He was removed for "tactless behavior" (3a).

Г-333 • появиться, возникнуть НА ГОРИЗО́НТЕ чьём [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (to begin to associate) with a given group of people: X появился на Y-овом горизонте ≃ X appeared ⟨came⟩ on the scene; X came into the picture; X entered Y's circle.

Г-334 • НЕ ГОРИ́Т coll [VP; this form only; impers or with subj: это] there is no need to hurry: (у X-а) не горит ≃ there's no (big) rush ⟨hurry⟩; it can wait; X is in no rush ⟨no hurry⟩.

Вы можете отложить эту работу на завтра — не горит. You can put off that work till tomorrow—there's no rush.

Г-335 • СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ ⟨ВСТАТЬ⟩ ПОПЕРЁК ГО́РЛА кому, у кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. pfv] to become unbearable for s.o., vex s.o.: X стал Y-у поперёк горла ≃ X stuck in Y's throat ⟨craw, gullet⟩; X got Y's goat.

«Поперёк горла вам Лашковы встали, потому как Лашковы по совести, по справедливости жизнь устроить хочут [substand = хотят]» (Максимов 3). "The Lashkovs stick in your craw because the Lashkovs want to bring some honor and justice into life" (3a). ♦ …Вот что ему, Михаилу, поперёк горла — Егоршина спесь (Абрамов 1). …What got Mikhail's goat was Egorsha's arrogance (1a).

Г-336 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ПОПЕРЁК ГО́РЛА у кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to annoy, vex, irritate s.o. greatly: X стоит у Y-а поперёк горла ≃ X sticks in Y's throat ⟨craw, gullet⟩; X is a thorn in Y's side ⟨flesh⟩.

В Москве двадцатых годов шутить было не с кем. Шутки Петеньки и одесситов стояли поперёк горла (Мандельштам 2). In the Moscow of the twenties there was nobody to exchange jokes with. The jokes of Petia and the Odessans stuck in one's gullet (2a).

Г-337 • ЗАСТРЕВА́ТЬ/ЗАСТРЯ́ТЬ В ГО́РЛЕ у кого [VP; subj: слова, упрёк(и) etc] (of a statement, reproach etc) to be left unsaid, unfinished (because the speaker cannot bring himself to say it, is overwhelmed by emotion, is embarrassed or ashamed, realizes that what he is about to say is offensive etc): слова застряли у X-а в горле ≃ the words stuck in X's throat; the words didn't ⟨wouldn't⟩ come out.

Басмановой предложили обмен… Пришёл мужчина в зелёной велюровой шляпе, подал Басмановой эту мысль и ушёл. Мы думали, она возмутится, пойдёт красными пятнами, бросит свой отказ вслед велюровой шляпе — ничуть! Басманова зашла к нам в комнату… и плавным голосом пересказала нам эту мысль, и даже слова не застревали у неё в горле, а лились не иссякая… (Михайловская 1). Basmanova was offered an exchange of rooms…. A man in a green velvet hat came to see Basmanova, made the suggestion and left. We thought she would be indignant, that her face would flush, that she would hurl her refusal at the velvet hat—not at all! Basmanova came to our room… and in a smooth voice, told us of the idea. The words did not stick in her throat, they poured out in an endless stream (1a).

Г-338 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ХВАТА́ТЬ/СХВАТИ́ТЬ⟩ ЗА ГО́РЛО ⟨ЗА ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ кого; НАСТУПА́ТЬ/НАСТУПИ́ТЬ НА ГО́РЛО ⟨НА ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ кому all coll [VP; subj: human] to coerce, force s.o. to (begin to) act in a certain fashion: X взял Y-а за горло ≃ X took ⟨got, grabbed⟩ Y by the throat.

Как только приедет Мансур, нужно взять его за горло: пускай одолжит рублей триста, потом с издательством рассчитается (Трифонов 5). As soon as Mansur arrives I'll have to take him by the throat. Let him lend me 300 rubles or so, and later on he can settle with the publishing house (5a).

Г-339 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА ГО́РЛО ⟨НА ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ кого highly coll [VP; subj: human] (to try) to gain the advantage over s.o., make s.o. submit, by shouting at him: X берёт Y-а на горло ≃ X tries to gain the upper hand by shouting at Y; X tries to get ⟨force⟩ Y to back down by shouting at him; [lim.] X starts a shouting match with Y.

…Я начал скандалить, требовать свои книги… Конечно, дежурный офицер сначала поругался со мной с полчаса для приличия, попытался взять на горло. Но уж знали они меня достаточно, сидел я у них третий раз, — понимали, что не уймусь, и книги отдали (Буковский 1). …I kicked up a fuss, demanded my books…. For the sake of appearances, the duty officer swore at me for half an hour or so and tried to force me to back down, but they knew me well by now. (This was my third time in Lefortovo.) They realized I wouldn't budge, and they gave me the books (1a).

Г-340 • ВО ВСЁ ГО́РЛО ⟨ВО ВСЮ ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ кричать, орать, хохотать, петь и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif)] (to shout, yell, laugh, sing etc) very loudly: at the top of one's lungs ⟨voice⟩; [in refer. to laughter] roar ⟨howl, shriek, screech, bellow⟩ with laughter; double over with laughter; [in refer. to singing] belt out (a song ⟨a tune, a number etc⟩).

Схватившись за руки, [стрельцы] бродили вереницей по улице и, дабы навсегда изгнать из среды своей дух робости, во всё горло орали (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). [The musketeers] zigzagged down the streets with arms linked, yelling at the top of their lungs so as to drive the spirit of timidity forever from their midst (1a). ♦ В зал ввалилась компания молодых людей и сразу стало шумно. Молодые люди… обсели столик в дальнем углу и принялись громко разговаривать и хохотать во всё горло (Стругацкие 1). A group of teenagers burst into the hall, and it immediately got noisy…. [They] took over a table in a far corner and started talking and doubling over with laughter (1a).

Г-341 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ЗА ГО́РЛО кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to coerce, force s.o. to act in a certain fashion: X держит Y-а за горло ≃ X has Y by the throat; X has backed Y into a corner.

Чувство бессильного протеста, когда тебя держат за горло, может толкнуть на любые крайности (Марченко 2). When they have you by the throat your feeling of helpless protest may drive you to any extremes (2a).

Г-342 • ДРА́ТЬ ⟨РВАТЬ⟩ ГО́РЛО ⟨ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ highly coll; НАДРЫВА́ТЬ ⟨НАДСА́ЖИВАТЬ⟩ ГО́РЛО ⟨ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to speak, shout etc very loudly: X драл горло ≃ X made ⟨shouted⟩ himself hoarse; X screamed his lungs out; || Neg Imper не дери горло ≃ shut your trap; quit hollering.

Людям после долгого шагания с пением хотелось посидеть немного молча, и чтобы теперь кто-нибудь другой отдувался за них и драл свою глотку (Пастернак 1). After all the walking and singing people were glad to sit quietly for a while and let others do their work for them, shouting themselves hoarse (1a).

Г-343 • ПЕРЕГРЫ́ЗТЬ ГО́РЛО кому coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut (often used as a threat), subjunctive, or infin with готов etc] to deal or settle accounts with s.o. very harshly: X перегрызёт Y-у горло ≃ X will slit ⟨cut⟩ Y's throat; X will go for Y's throat ⟨for the jugular⟩; X will wring Y's neck; X will throttle Y.

Хотя мы и представительствовали в искусстве определённые социально-политические тенденции, однако никому из нас, разумеется, и во сне не приходило в голову, что где-то… у него лежит такой мандат: мы ещё в тринадцатом году перегрызли бы горло всякому, кто попытался бы уверить нас в этом… (Лившиц 1). Although we represented definite socio-political tendencies in art, not one of us would have dreamed that he possessed such a mandate. In 1913 we would have throttled anyone who attempted to convince us of this… (1a).

Г-344 • ПЕРЕХВА́ТЫВАТЬ/ПЕРЕХВАТИ́ТЬ ГО́РЛО у кого, кому [VP; impers or with subj: спазм(а), что-то etc] to be unable to speak because of strong emotion: у X-а перехватило горло ≃ X was choked (with hate ⟨rage etc⟩); X was ⟨felt⟩ (all) choked up; X had ⟨got, felt⟩ a lump in his throat; || спазма перехватила X-у горло ≃ a spasm seized X's throat.

Он [Зотов] даже сказать ей [Антонине Ивановне] ничего не мог, ему горло перехватило ненавистью (Солженицын 4). He [Zotov] was so choked with hate that he could not even speak (4a). ♦ …Теперь у меня так горло перехватило, что я бы, наверное, не смог сделать и глотка (Искандер 3). …Now I had such a lump in my throat that I probably couldn't even have taken a swallow (3a).

Г-345 • ПО ГО́РЛО coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ занят, загружен, завален работой и т.п. [modif or adv (intensif)] (one is) extremely (busy, overloaded with work etc): (be) up to one's neck ⟨ears, eyes, eyeballs, elbows⟩ in sth.; have one's hands full; (be) overburdened ⟨weighed down, swamped⟩ (with work etc); (be) buried under a pile of work.

Кириллов отвечал поспешно и бойко: «Мне, Ардальон Борисыч, нет времени особенно углубляться в городские отношения и слухи, я по горло завален делом» (Сологуб 1). "I have no time, Ardal'on Borisych," replied Kirillov hurriedly, "to get mixed up in town relations and gossip—I'm up to my neck in work" (1a).

2. дел, работы, забот и т.п. у кого ~ [quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: abstr)] s.o. has a great quantity (of work, troubles etc), so much that it deeply concerns him: у X-а дел ~ ≃ X is up to his neck ⟨ears, eyes, eyeballs, elbows⟩ in work; X has his hands full; X has enough work and more; X has more than enough to do; X is knee-deep in work; X is overburdened ⟨weighed down, swamped⟩ (with work etc).

[Зоя:] Я знаю, что у вас дела по горло (Булгаков 7). [Z.:] I know you are up to your ears in work (7a). ♦ …Как случилось, что однажды конвой недоглядел, оставил щель в седьмом вагоне во время стоянки? По-человечески понять можно, у конвоя тоже было дел по горло (Гинзбург 1). Once an extraordinary thing happened: the guards omitted to bar our door at one of the stops. Humanly speaking, this was understandable: they had their hands full all day… (1b).

3. быть$_{ø}$, сидеть, увязнуть в долгах ~; влезать, залезать в долги ~ [adv (intensif)] (to be in debt, get into debt) beyond any measure: X в долгах ~ ≃ X is up to his neck ⟨ears⟩ in debt; X is mired ⟨buried⟩ in debt(s); X is swamped with debts; X is deep in the hole ⟨in debt⟩.

Г-346 • ПРОМОЧИ́ТЬ ГО́РЛО ⟨ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to drink some alcohol: X промочит горло ≃ X will wet his whistle; X will take ⟨have⟩ a (little) nip; X will have a drop (of wine etc); X will have a shot ⟨a slug, a snort⟩ (of whiskey etc).

Он [Охотников] почему-то полагал, что всем приходящим надо дать что-нибудь пожевать или промочить глотку (Аксёнов 12). For some reason Alexei [Okhotnikov] felt that all guests had to be given something to chew on or to wet their whistles with (12a).

Г-347 • ПРОЧИЩА́ТЬ/ПРОЧИ́СТИТЬ ГО́РЛО [VP; subj: human] to cough lightly in order to get rid of phlegm in one's throat and be able to speak clearly: X прочистил горло ≃ X cleared his throat; [lim.] X got rid of a frog in his throat.

«Я здесь десять минут, если не четверть часа… минимум… Мама… миа…» — он прочистил горло кашлем. Андрей Андреевич набрал воздуху, но ничего не сказал, а только многозначительно посмотрел (Булгаков 12). "I've been here for at least ten minutes, if not a quarter of an hour… Mamma mia!" He cleared his throat. Andrei Andreyevich took a deep breath, said nothing but gave Stroyev a meaning look (12a).

Г-348 • РАСПУСКА́ТЬ/РАСПУСТИ́ТЬ ГО́РЛО ⟨ГЛО́ТКУ⟩ highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human] (to begin) to yell, curse very loudly: X распустил горло ≃ X started yelling ⟨screaming, cursing⟩ his (bloody) head off.

Г-349 • СЫТ ПО ГО́РЛО coll [AdjP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] 1. (one is) completely sated: X сыт по горло ≃ X is stuffed (to the gills); X couldn't eat another bite; X has had more than his fill.

«Положить тебе ещё жаркого?» — «Спасибо, больше не могу. Сыт по горло». "Would you like some more stew?" "No, thanks, I couldn't eat another bite. I'm stuffed to the gills."

2. ~ (чем) one has had more than a sufficient amount of sth. (often, of sth. unpleasant): X сыт по горло (Y-ом) ≃ X has had it (up to here) with Y; X is fed up (to the teeth) with Y; X has had more than his fill ⟨more than enough⟩ (of Y); X has had all he can take (of Y); X is sick to death of Y.

Поздно вечером Максим понял, что сыт по горло этим городом… (Стругацкие 2). By late evening Maxim had had it with the city (2a). ♦ «Слушай, дед… иди-ка ты отсюдова [ungrammat = отсюда] к чёртовой матери. Я этими байками сыт по горло» (Максимов 3). “Listen, Grandpa, why don’t you go to bloody hell. I’m fed up to the teeth with your bedtime stories” (3a).

Г-350 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ГО́РЛОМ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] to get what one wants by shouting, swearing etc, make s.o. submit by being aggressively loud: X горлом берёт ≃ X gets his way by shouting ⟨cursing etc⟩; [lim.] X rants and raves until he gets his way.

Г-351 • ПОДСТУПА́ТЬ/ПОДСТУПИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДКА́ТЫВАТЬ(СЯ)/ПОДКАТИ́ТЬ(СЯ)⟩ К ГО́РЛУ (чьему, у кого) [VP; subj: usu. слёзы, рыдания etc or impers] (of tears, sobbing, emotion etc) to overwhelm, stifle s.o. so that he is unable to speak: X подступил ⟨X-ы подступили⟩ к Y-ову горлу ≃ X ⟨Xs⟩ choked Y; Y got choked up; Y felt choked by tears ⟨emotion⟩; [of tears only] Xs welled in Y’s eyes; [of feelings] X welled up (in Y); [of a cry, scream etc] X rose in Y’s throat; || у Y-а подступило к горлу ≃ a lump rose in Y’s throat; Y got a lump in his throat.

В середине фразы князь Андрей замолчал и почувствовал неожиданно, что к его горлу подступают слёзы, возможность которых он не знал за собой (Толстой 5). Suddenly in the middle of a sentence, he [Prince Andrei] fell silent, feeling choked by tears, a thing he would not have believed possible for him (5a). ♦ Он должен был что-то крикнуть, потому что крик подкатился к горлу… но вместо крика ткнул в спину извозчика и выдавил из горла через силу: «Гони!» (Федин 1). He should have cried out, because a cry had risen in his throat… but instead of crying out he prodded the cabby in the back and with a tremendous effort forced from his throat: “Drive on!” (1a).

Г-352 • ЗА́ ГОРОДОМ жить, находиться и т.п.; ЗА́ ГОРОД поехать, отправиться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr)] (to live, be located, go etc) outside of an urban area: (live etc) in the country; (go etc) to the country; (live, go etc) out of town; (live etc) outside of the city.

Завтра обещают хорошую погоду, давай поедем за город собирать грибы. They say it’s going to be nice tomorrow—let’s go out to the country and pick mushrooms.

Г-353 • ДУЙ ⟨РАЗДУ́Й⟩ ТЕБЯ́ ⟨его и т.п.⟩ ГОРО́Й! substand, humor [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] a jokingly abusive expression of vexation, surprise, reluctant admiration: the hell with you ⟨him etc⟩; to hell ⟨blazes⟩ with you ⟨him etc⟩; the devil take you ⟨him etc⟩; a pox ⟨a plague⟩ on you ⟨him etc⟩.

[Митрич:] Ишь, дуй его горой, налакался как. Доверху (Толстой 1). [M.:] But look at him, the hell with him, the way he swilled it up (1a).

Г-354 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ⟨СТАТЬ, ВСТАТЬ⟩ ГОРО́Й за кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect] to defend, support s.o. or sth. in every way: X горой стоит за Y-а ≃ X is behind Y all the way; X backs Y (up) to the hilt ⟨the maximum, the fullest⟩; X is for Y one hundred percent; Y receives X’s full backing ⟨support⟩; X stands ⟨sticks⟩ up (loyally) for Y; X is a champion of thing Y.

…Когда на конкурс пришло стихотворение лыхнинского бухгалтера под тем же названием, Платон Самсонович стал за него горой… (Искандер 6). …When the Lykhninsky accountant submitted his poem of the same title, it received Platon Samsonovich’s full backing… (6a). ♦ Правда, всегда были читатели, которые горой стояли за него и клялись его именем, но О.М[андельштам] както невольно отталкивался от них (Мандельштам 1). True, there were always readers who stood up for him and swore by him, but M[andelstam] was somehow, despite himself, repelled by them (1a).

Г-355 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ В ГО́РУ [VP; fixed WO] 1. Also: ЛЕЗТЬ/ПОЛЕ́ЗТЬ В ГО́РУ coll, ПЕРЕ́ТЬ В ГО́РУ substand [subj: human] to improve one’s status or job, gain influence, importance, succeed in one’s career: X идёт в гору ≃ X is coming ⟨moving⟩ up in the world; X is rising in the world ⟨rising higher and higher⟩; X is making his way in the world; [lim.] X is climbing the ladder of success; X is rising ⟨moving⟩ up the ladder of promotion; X’s stock is going up; X is making headway; X is doing very well for himself.

Василий был на фронте со своей дивизией, потом — корпусом. Он шёл и шёл в гору — генерал, ордена, медали, — и всё больше пил (Аллилуева 1). Vasily was at the front with his division, and later his corps. He rose higher and higher. He became a general. He was awarded orders and medals. And he was drinking more and more (1a). ♦ Щёкин спросил: «Говорят, твоя жена пошла в гору?» (Трифонов 1). “I hear that your wife’s doing very well for herself,” said Shchyokin (1a).

2. [subj: abstr (often дела) or a noun denoting an enterprise, business etc] to develop successfully, make progress: X пошёл в гору ≃ X was on the rise; things were looking up; X began to prosper ⟨was prospering⟩; [lim.] X was on the increase; X was going well.

Вечером, в ожидании радиопереклички, они с Ганичевым подсчитали: подписка пошла в гору (Абрамов 1). In the evening, while waiting for the radio linkup, he [Lukashin] and Ganichev tallied the pledges and saw that things were looking up (1a).

3. [subj: a noun denoting stocks, securities etc] to increase in value, cost: X-ы идут в гору ≃ Xs are going up; Xs are soaring ⟨rising, climbing⟩.

«Не имея курсов Нью-Йорка, трудно сказать что-нибудь определённое. Но я не продавал бы… Как только всё уляжется, эти бумаги пойдут в гору» (Эренбург 4). “It’s impossible to say anything definite without having the New York quotations. But I wouldn’t risk it. When everything calms down, those stocks will go up” (4a).

Г-356 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ⟨КАТИ́ТЬСЯ/ПОКАТИ́ТЬСЯ coll⟩ ПО́Д ГОРУ ⟨ ПОД ГО́РУ, ПОД ГО́РКУ coll, ПОД УКЛО́Н⟩ [VP] 1. Also: ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ⟨КАТИ́ТЬСЯ/ПОКАТИ́ТЬСЯ⟩ ВНИЗ coll [subj: abstr. (often дела) or a noun denoting an enterprise, business etc] to deteriorate sharply: X пошёл под гору ≃ X went ⟨plunged⟩ downhill; X took a turn for the worse.

Тут дела немецкой революции пошли быстро под гору… (Герцен 2). Then the fortunes of the German Revolution went rapidly downhill… (2a).

2. coll. Also: КАТИ́ТЬСЯ/ПОКАТИ́ТЬСЯ ВНИЗ coll [subj: human] to deteriorate morally: X покатился под горку ≃ X really went downhill; X went wrong ⟨astray⟩.

3. [subj: abstr] (of a season, month, day etc, or of s.o.’s life) to approach its end: X идёт под гору ≃ X is nearing the ⟨its⟩ end; X is coming ⟨is drawing⟩ to an end ⟨a close⟩; X is waning ⟨ebbing, almost over⟩; [of a period of time] X is making its exit; X is on its way out; X is winding down.

Сколько Настёна помнила, никогда в эту пору так не заметало. Вот тебе и весна — март покатился под горку (Распутин 2). As long as Nastyona could remember, it never snowed like this at this time of the year. Some spring—and March was almost over (2a).

Г-357 • КАК НА КА́МЕННУЮ ГО́РУ ⟨СТЕ́НУ obs⟩ надеяться, полагаться на кого-что coll [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to rely on s.o. or sth.) absolutely, completely: X надеется на Y-а ~ ≃ X has complete faith in Y; X relies fully on Y; X puts all his trust in Y; X counts on Y one hundred percent.

Г-358 • НА КУДЫ́КИНУ ГО́РУ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; used as indep. sent; fixed WO] (said, usu. with irritation, as a way to avoid directly answering the question «Куда идёшь?»—"Where are you going?") does it make a difference to you?: what do you care?; what's it to you?; aren't we curious; wouldn't you like to know.

Г-359 • ОТ ГОРШКА́ ДВА ⟨ТРИ⟩ ВЕРШКА́ coll [NP; these forms only; usu. predic with subj: human, often omitted; fixed WO] (of a child or, less often, an adult) very small in height: knee-high to a grasshopper; a little bit of a thing; peewee; half-pint; pint-size ([NP]); [accompanied by the gesture of placing the hand at a level indicating a short height] no bigger ⟨taller, higher⟩ than this.

«Вон слыхал про Мамлакат, от горшка два вершка, а с самим вождём за ручку здоровкается [ungrammat = здоровается]» (Максимов 2). "You've heard about Mamlakat—only knee-high to a grasshopper she was, but she got to meet Stalin" (2a).

< «Вершок» is an old unit of linear measurement equal to 4.4 cm.

Г-360 • ХОТЬ ГОРШКО́М НАЗОВИ́, ТО́ЛЬКО В ПЕ́ЧКУ НЕ СТАВЬ [saying] offensive words can be tolerated as long as they are not accompanied by actions: ≃ hard words break no bones; sticks and stones may break my bones, but names ⟨words⟩ will never hurt (harm⟩ me.

Г-361 • ПОД ГОРШО́К стричь кого, постричься, стрижка obsoles, coll [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif] (to cut s.o.'s hair, have one's hair cut etc) in a straight line around the head: (give s.o. ⟨get⟩) a bowl (hair)cut; (cut s.o.'s hair ⟨have one's hair cut⟩) in peasant style.

< From the old way of cutting hair by putting a bowl «горшок» upside down on a person's head and cutting off or trimming only the hair that stuck out below the bowl.

Г-362 • ВОРОТИ́ТЬ/СВОРОТИ́ТЬ ⟨СВЕРНУ́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ГО́РЫ ⟨ГО́РУ⟩; ВОРО́ЧАТЬ ⟨ДВИ́ГАТЬ и т.п.⟩ ГОРА́МИ ⟨ГО́РЫ⟩ [VP; subj: human; more often pfv; often infin with готов, способен, мочь etc] to accomplish a great task requiring tremendous energy, determination, resourcefulness etc: X горы своротит ≃ X will move mountains.

По молодости он спешил двумя руками сворачивать горы в одиночку, обгонял проторённый общий порядок офицерского учения, а едва кончив академию, предлагал реформу генерального штаба и военного министерства (Солженицын 1). In his youth he had been in a hurry to move mountains single-handed. The routine of a regular officer's training was too slow for him, and he was hardly out of the academy when he put forward a plan for the reform of the General Staff and the War Ministry (1a).

Г-363 • ЗОЛОТЫ́Е ⟨ЗЛАТЫ́Е⟩ ГО́РЫ сулить, обещать и т.п. [NP; pl only; obj or (with verbs in passive) subj; fixed WO] (to promise s.o.) exaggerated amounts of sth., great riches, everything imaginable: (promise s.o.) the moon (and the stars); (promise s.o.) mountains of gold ⟨a gold mine, the world⟩.

Бургонцы и Театр на Болоте, пользуясь тем, что Мольер временно остался без театра, стали сманивать актёров. Они сулили золотые горы мольеровским комедиантам… (Булгаков 5). Taking advantage of the fact that Molière was temporarily without a theater, the Hôtel de Bourgogne and the Marais did everything they could to tempt his actors away from him. They promised his players mountains of gold (5a).

Г-364 • ПИТЬ/ЗАПИ́ТЬ ГО́РЬКУЮ ⟨МЁРТВУЮ obsoles⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to drink, get drunk unrestrainedly: X пьёт горькую ≃ X drinks himself blind ⟨silly, unconscious, into a stupor, into oblivion⟩; X is a hard drinker; X drinks like a fish.

Все чаще и чаще он стал запивать мёртвую, пока, наконец, это не стало его бедой и болезнью (Максимов 3). He drank himself into a stupor with increasing frequency until it became a disease and ruined him (3a). ♦ …Мастер Безенчук пил горькую и даже однажды пытался заложить в ломбарде свой выставочный гроб (Ильф и Петров 1). …The craftsman Bezenchuk was a hard drinker and once had even tried to hock his best display coffin in the pawn shop (1b). …Bezenchuk drank like a fish and had once tried to pawn his best sample coffin (1a).

Г-365 • И ГО́РЯ ⟨ГО́РЮШКА⟩ МА́ЛО кому coll [these forms only; impers predic; used as a clause in a compound sent or as an indep. sent contrasted with the preceding context; usu. introduced by Conj «а»; fixed WO] 1. often disapprov s.o. shows no concern for, pays no attention to, s.o. or sth. (in a situation where he should or is expected to behave otherwise): X-у и горя мало ≃ X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less; X doesn't care (a fig ⟨one way or another⟩); X doesn't give a damn ⟨a hoot, a fig⟩; what does it matter to X?; it doesn't worry X (at all ⟨much⟩); X takes no notice of it.

…Удивил Лизку возчик, который сиднем сидел в стороне. Надрывайтесь, рвите, мужики, жилы, а мне и горюшка мало (Абрамов 1). Lizka was amazed to see the driver sitting on his backside, apart from the others. Bust your guts, boys, knock yourselves out! I could care less (1a).

2. usu. approv problems or difficulties do not affect s.o.: X-у и горя мало ≃ it's nothing to X; it doesn't bother ⟨ruffle⟩ X a bit ⟨at all⟩; [lim.] X hasn't ⟨doesn't have, hasn't got⟩ a care in the world.

(За стеной скрипка активизируется). [Анчугин:] А этому (жест головой в сторону стены) горя мало. Пилит и пилит (Вампилов 1). (The violin in the next room warms up.) [А.:] (nodding towards the wall.) Hasn't a care in the world, that guy. Keeps on sawing away (1a).

Г-366 • С ГО́РЯ пить, запить и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to drink) because of unhappiness, in order to dull one's suffering, emotional pain: X с горя запил ≃ X drank ⟨began to drink⟩ from grief; X drowned his sorrows; X sought solace in a ⟨the⟩ bottle.

Статский советник, по русскому обычаю, с горя запил… (Гоголь 3). [The official] followed Russian custom and sought solace in the bottle (3e).

Г-367 • ХЛЕБНУ́ТЬ ⟨ХВАТИ́ТЬ⟩ ГО́РЯ ⟨ГО́РЮШКА, ЛИ́ХА both folk poet⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to experience much hardship, misfortune in life: X хлебнул горя ≃ X has had ⟨seen⟩ his share of suffering ⟨grief⟩; X has had more than his share of trouble ⟨hard luck⟩; X has taken ⟨been through⟩ a lot; X's lot has been hard; X has had it rough ⟨tough⟩.

Впоследствии она сама попала за колючую проволоку, хлебнула горя, но то, как и почему она не простилась с отцом, которого больше не увидела, не могло не остаться пятном на её душе (Мандельштам 2). Later she wound up behind barbed wire herself and had her own share of suffering, but she never ceased to be troubled in her mind at not having said goodbye to her father, whom she never saw again (2a).

Г-368 • ВСЫ́ПАТЬ ⟨ВЛЕПИ́ТЬ⟩ ГОРЯ́ЧИХ кому obsoles, coll [VP; subj: human] to beat, whip, flog s.o.: X всыпал Y-у горячих ≃ X gave Y a good thrashing ⟨hiding, beating⟩; X tanned Y's hide; X whipped Y but good.

[author's usage] [Платонов:] Закати-ка мне chinini sulphurici… [Трилецкий:] Закатить бы тебе сотню-другую горячих! (Чехов 1). [P.:] Let me have some quinine. Lots of it. [T.:] What you want is a good thrashing! (1a).

Г-369 • ПОРО́ТЬ ⟨НАПОРО́ТЬ⟩ ГОРЯ́ЧКУ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human; often neg imper or impfv infin with не надо, не стоит etc] to act with unnecessary haste, temper, irritation: не пори горячку ≃ don't do anything rash; don't rush into it ⟨into anything⟩; don't do anything in the heat of the moment; don't plunge headlong (into it ⟨into anything⟩); [lim.] look before you leap.

Нет, не напороть бы горячки. Люди неповинные пострадают (Солженицын 2). No, mustn't do anything rash. Innocent people would suffer (2a).

Г-370 • ПРОСТИ́ ГО́СПОДИ[1] coll [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used by the speaker to express his awareness that something he has just said or is about to say is phrased too sharply: Lord ⟨God⟩ forgive me.

«Чернышевского не читал, а так, если подумать… Прескучная, прости Господи, фигура!» (Набоков 1). "I've never read Chernyshevski, but when I come to think of it…. A most boring, Lord forgive me, figure!" (1a).

Г-371 • ПРОСТИ́ ГО́СПОДИ[2] euph, coll [used as NP; Invar; fixed WO] a prostitute: tart; hooker; strumpet; trollop; streetwalker; harlot.

Г-372 • В ГОСТЯ́Х ХОРОШО, А ДО́МА ЛУ́ЧШЕ [saying] although it is nice to visit other people and places, there is no place one likes to be more than in his own home: ≃ (be it ever so humble,) there's no place like home; East or West, home is best.

[Пашка:] Вот, говорят, в гостях хорошо, а дома лучше. Может, правда? Может, хватит мне шататься? Здесь дом, хозяйство, леспромхоз — работы навалом (Вампилов 2). [P.:] They say there's no place like home. Maybe it's true, huh? Maybe I've had enough bumming around? There's a house here to run, the lumber camp—lots of work (2b).

Г-373 • НА ВСЁМ ГОТО́ВОМ жить [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to live) having food, housing (and sometimes clothes) provided by s.o. (often without having any household duties): all one's needs are provided for; everything one needs is provided; (have) bed ⟨room⟩ and board provided; be provided with board ⟨food⟩ and lodgings; [lim.] everything is done for ⟨handed to⟩ one.

«…На всём готовом будешь жить. Что тут размышлять? Переезжай, да и конец…» (Гончаров 1) "You will be provided with board and lodgings. Why hesitate? Move—and that's the end of it" (1a).

Г-374 • НАСТУПА́ТЬ/НАСТУПИ́ТЬ НА ГРА́БЛИ recent [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO] to make a blunder that goes against one's own interest (and is often obvious and unnecessary; often used in contexts indicating a repeated blunder): X наступил на грабли ≃ X stepped on a rake; X stepped in it; X dropped the ball; X shot himself in the foot; [of a social gaffe] X dropped a brick; X made a blooper; X pulled a boner; || X снова наступил на те же грабли ≃ X stepped on the same rake (again); X stepped in it again; X made the same blooper; [lim.] X walked into the same trap (once) again.

Ты покритиковал начальство на старой работе, а через некоторое время тебя уволили. Тебе мало? Зачем ты наступаешь на те же грабли? You criticized your superiors at your former job, and it wasn't long before they fired you. That wasn't enough for you? Why are you stepping on the same rake?

Г-375 • ПОВЕРНУ́ТЬСЯ ⟨РАЗВЕРНУ́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА СТО ВО́СЕМЬДЕСЯТ ГРА́ДУСОВ [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO] to reverse, suddenly, one's position, views, attitude etc: X повернулся на сто восемьдесят градусов ≃ X did a 180; X did ⟨made⟩ an about-face; X flip-flopped; X made a 180-degree turn ⟨a complete turnaround⟩; X turned around 180 degrees.

Г-376 • ПОД ГРА́ДУСОМ coll; В ГРА́ДУСЕ obs, coll; ПОД КУРАЖО́М ⟨В КУРАЖЕ́, НА КУРАЖЕ́⟩ obs, coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] in a state of intoxication, usu. mild: X был под градусом ≃ X was under the influence; X was feeling good ⟨no pain⟩; X was tipsy ⟨high, tight⟩; X had had one too many.

Г-377 • ДЕ́ВЯТЬ ГРАММ euph, coll [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] the bullet that kills s.o. (usu. at an execution): nine grams of lead; a dose of lead.

«Меня брали уже дважды, сейчас я еду домой, но скоро они возьмут меня в третий раз и теперь уже навсегда. Третий раз я не выдержу… Лучше бы уж сразу девять грамм в затылок…» (Максимов 2). "They arrested me twice; I'm on my way home now, but before long they'll get me a third time, and then it'll be for good. I won't hold out a third time…. It would be better if they gave you nine grams of lead in the back of the neck…" (2a).

Г-378 • КИТА́ЙСКАЯ ⟨ТАРАБА́РСКАЯ⟩ ГРА́МОТА (для кого) coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr); fixed WO] sth. completely incomprehensible, beyond s.o.'s ability to understand: X для Y-а китайская грамота ≃ it's Greek ⟨double-dutch⟩ to Y; X is beyond Y ⟨Y's comprehension⟩; X is over Y's head.

Нехитрая механика занимательной болтовни была для него [Хлебникова] китайской грамотой (Лившиц 1). The facile mechanics of entertaining small talk was double-dutch to him [Khlebnikov] (1a).

Г-379 • ФИ́ЛЬКИНА ГРА́МОТА coll, derog [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a legally invalid, crudely written, obscure document: a mere ⟨meaningless, useless, worthless⟩ piece ⟨scrap⟩ of paper; just a piece of paper.

Друг мой прочитал договор и, к великому моему удивлению, рассердился на меня. «Это что за филькина грамота?» (Булгаков 12). My friend read the contract and to my great astonishment lost his temper with me. "This is nothing but a useless scrap of paper!" (12a). [context transl] My friend read the contract and, to my great surprise, he became angry with me. "What sort of useless drivel is this? (12b).

Г-380 • НИ ГРА́НА чего [NP_{gen}; Invar; the resulting phrase is usu. subj/gen with нет, не осталось] not the smallest amount of: not a ⟨one⟩ grain ⟨ounce, bit, iota⟩ of.

«Я… никогда и в глаза не видела ни одного из обвинённых, не только что всех, — сказала я. — Но в словах, которые о них пишутся, нет ни грана правды. За это я ручаться могу…» (Чуковская 2). "I have never seen one of the accused with my own eyes, let alone all of them," I said. "But there's not one grain of truth in what they write about them. That I can vouch for…" (2a).

Г-381 • НА ГРА́НИ чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect, or abstr) or, rare, nonagreeing postmodif] at the moment or stage just before the onset of a different emotion, phenomenon, event etc: (be ⟨teeter⟩) on the verge ⟨brink⟩ of; to the point of; close to; || быть на грани самоубийства ≃ be ⟨teeter⟩ on the verge of suicide; be driven to the point of suicide; be close to suicide; || на грани обморока ≃ on the point of collapse; || на грани войны ≃ on the brink ⟨edge, threshold⟩ of war.

Так почему же я ощущаю себя на грани физической катастрофы? (Довлатов 1). So why, then, do I feel on the verge of a physical catastrophe? (1a). ♦ В быту тётя Дуся проявляла бережливость на грани скупости (Гинзбург 2). In her everyday dealings Aunt Dusya was thrifty almost to the point of miserliness (2a).

Г-382 • СТИРА́ТЬ/СТЕРЕ́ТЬ ГРА́НИ ⟨ГРАНЬ⟩ между кем, между чем [VP; subj: usu. abstr; fixed WO] to make it so that the differences distinguishing, separating two or more groups or phenomena disappear: X стёр грани между Y-ом и Z-ом ≃ X obliterated ⟨erased, eliminated⟩ the distinctions ⟨the differences, the boundaries, boundary lines⟩ between Y and Z; X broke down the boundaries between Y and Z.

Г-383 • СТИРА́ЮТСЯ/СТЁРЛИСЬ ГРА́НИ между кем, между чем [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] the differences distinguishing, separating two or more groups or phenomena are disappearing: стёрлись грани между X-ом и Y-ом ≃ the boundaries ⟨boundary lines, distinctions, differences⟩ between X and Y were obliterated ⟨erased, eliminated⟩; || стираются грани между X-ом и Y-ом ≃ the distinctions ⟨the boundaries⟩ between X and Y are becoming blurred; the line between X and Y is becoming blurred; the boundaries ⟨the differences⟩ between X and Y are melting away.

…Растление литературы дошло до того, что совершенно стёрлись всякие грани между профессиональным писателем и пришедшим по блату (Войнович 1). The corruption of literature has gone so far as to have obliterated all the boundary lines between the professional writer and those who are published because they have pull (1a).

Г-384 • ЗА ГРАНИ́ЦЕЙ быть$_{о}$, находиться и т.п.; ЗА ГРАНИ́ЦУ поехать и т.п.; ИЗ-ЗА ГРАНИ́ЦЫ вернуться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (1st var., subj: human, a noun denoting an enterprise, a geographical name etc), adv, or nonagreeing modif] in, to, or from a foreign country or foreign countries: (be ⟨go, return from etc⟩) abroad; [lim.] (be etc) overseas.

Для Пьера, воспитанного за границей, этот вечер Анны Павловны был первый, который он видел в России (Толстой 4). Pierre had been educated abroad, and this soirée of Anna Pavlovna's was the first he had ever attended in Russia (4a).

Г-385 • ПЕРЕХОДИ́ТЬ (ВСЕ) ГРАНИ́ЦЫ (чего) [VP; subj: human or abstr; fixed WO] to cross the line that distinguishes appropriate from inappropriate behavior, violate social norms: X перешёл все границы ≃ X has gone too far; X has overstepped the bounds ⟨the limits⟩; X has transgressed ⟨breached, crossed etc⟩ the bounds of (propriety ⟨proper behavior etc⟩); X has gone ⟨stepped⟩ far beyond the bounds of (propriety etc); X ⟨what person X said, what person X did⟩ is (way) out of line; thing X is a breach of civility; X is beyond the pale.

«…Данный случай переходит все границы джентльменства» (Акунин 3). "…This particular incident goes far beyond the bounds of gentlemanly behavior" (3a).

Г-386 • ПРОВОДИ́ТЬ/ПРОВЕСТИ́ ГРАНЬ между кем, между чем [VP; subj: human or collect] to set up distinctions (usu. exact, definite ones) between two or more phenomena, persons etc: X проводит грань между Y-ом и Z-ом ≃ X draws a line ⟨a boundary, boundary lines⟩ between Y and Z; X differentiates ⟨makes a distinction⟩ between Y and Z.

«…Конечно, иногда бывает довольно затруднительно провести достаточно чёткую грань между простой оговоркой и продуманным преступлением» (Войнович 5). "…Of course at times it is quite difficult to draw a sufficiently clear boundary between a simple slip of the tongue and a premeditated offense" (5a).

Г-387 • ПОД ГРЕБЁНКУ стричь кого-что, стрижка [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif] (to cut s.o.'s hair etc) very short: (s.o.'s hair is) close-cropped; a close-cropped haircut; (wear one's hair) cropped close; crop s.o.'s hair; (wear ⟨give s.o.⟩) a crew cut.

…Он стриг волосы под гребёнку, и неровности его черепа, обнажённые таким образом, поразили бы френолога странным сплетением противоположных наклонностей (Лермонтов 1). His hair is close cropped, and shows up the bumps of his skull, which would astonish a phrenologist by their strange mixture of opposing tendencies (1c). …He wore his hair cropped close, and the irregularities of his skull thus exposed would have astounded a phrenologist by their queer combination of contradictory inclinations (1b).

Г-388 • СТРИЧЬ/ОСТРИ́ЧЬ ⟨ПОДСТРИГА́ТЬ/ПОДСТРИ́ЧЬ⟩ ПОД ОДНУ́ ГРЕБЁНКУ кого coll [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv; obj: pl, often всех] to regard different people, different groups, or all people as if they were identical in some respect, without considering their differences: X стрижёт всех под одну гребёнку ≃ X treats everyone ⟨everybody, all [NPs]⟩ as if they were (all) alike ⟨the same⟩; X puts everyone ⟨everybody, all [NPs]⟩ on the same level; X lumps everyone ⟨everybody, all [NPs]⟩ together; [lim.] X reduces everyone ⟨everybody, all [NPs]⟩ to the same level.

К работе с детьми Веру подпускать нельзя: тут нужен индивидуальный подход, а она всех стрижёт под одну гребёнку. Vera mustn't be allowed to work with children: that requires an individual approach, whereas she treats all children as if they were alike. ♦ Я приветствовал нацистов, потому что они провозгласили принцип духовной иерархии. А теперь они стригут всех под одну гребёнку (Эренбург 1). I welcomed the Nazis because they had proclaimed the principle of an intellectual hierarchy. Now they're putting everybody on the same level (1a).

Г-389 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ПРИНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИНЯ́ТЬ⟩ ГРЕХ НА́ ДУШУ [VP; subj: human; often neg, neg imper, or infin with negated form of хотеть, заставлять etc] 1. to take moral responsibility for a reprehensible deed: X не хочет брать грех на душу ≃ X doesn't want (to have) this sin on his conscience.

2. Also: ХВАТИ́ТЬ ГРЕХА́ НА́ ДУШУ obs to commit a reprehensible deed: X взял грех на душу ≃ X committed a sin; X took a sin upon his soul.

«Это правда?» — Жанна ожила. «Честное слово», — сказал Дмитрий Алексеевич, твёрдо беря на душу новый грех (Дудинцев 1). "Is that really true?" Jeanne asked, brightening. "Word of honor!" Lopatkin said stolidly, taking yet one more sin upon his soul (1a).

Г-390 • ВВОДИ́ТЬ/ВВЕСТИ́ В ГРЕХ кого coll [subj: human or abstr] 1. to tempt, seduce s.o.: X ввёл Y-а в грех ≃ X led Y into sin; X led Y astray; X corrupted Y.

[Костылёв:] Прости господи… опять ты меня, Василиса, во грех ввела… (Горький 3). [K.:] God forgive me—you've led me into sin again, Vassilissa (3b).

2. to irritate, provoke s.o.: X Y-а в грех вводит ≃ X gets Y (all) worked ⟨steamed⟩ up; X pushes Y too far; X makes Y hot under the collar; X makes Y lose Y's cool.

Г-391 • ГРЕХ ⟨СМЕХ⟩ ОДИ́Н (, а не…) coll, disapprov [NP; these forms only; fixed WO] one is completely incompetent, unqualified, ill-suited (for the position, role etc specified in the preceding context), sth. is of very poor quality, useless, does not properly fulfill its role or function: one ⟨sth.⟩ is a poor excuse for a [NP]; there's no way you can call one ⟨sth.⟩ a [NP]; [lim.] one ⟨sth.⟩ is a joke (, not a [NP]).

Какой из него начальник! Грех один, а не начальник. Him—a boss? He's a joke, not a boss.

Г-392 • ЕСТЬ (ТАКО́Й ⟨ТОТ⟩) ГРЕХ (за кем) coll [VP_{subj}; pres or past; fixed WO] that is true, (the behavior or action in question) does or did take place (said to confirm a statement about one's own or another's undesirable action, habit etc, be it real or simply viewed as such): I'm sorry to say I did ⟨he does etc⟩; [of a habit etc] I have ⟨he has etc⟩ that failing ⟨weakness⟩; [when the speaker responds to a statement referring to his shortcoming, wrongdoing etc] I (have to) admit it; I (must) confess; I own up; [lim.] guilty as charged.

«Говорят, ты выпиваешь». — «Есть такой грех». "They say you've been hitting the bottle." "I'm sorry to say I have." ♦ [Устинья Наумовна:] Всё, чай, друг на друга любуетесь да миндальничаете. [Подхалюзин:] Есть тот грех, Устинья Наумовна, есть тот грех! (Островский 10). [U.N.:] I suppose you're all the time billing and cooing. [P.:] We have that failing, Ustinya Naumovna; we have it (10b). ♦ «Вы опираетесь на Хунту, сеньор Сиракузерс», — дрожащим от возмущения голосом говорю я… «Есть грех, иногда опираюсь» (Аксёнов 3). "You lean on Junta for support, señor Syracuzers," I said in a voice quivering with indignation…. "I own up, sometimes I do a bit of leaning" (3a).

Г-393 • КАК НА ГРЕХ; НА ГРЕХ both coll [как + PrepP (1st var.) or PrepP (2nd var.); these forms only; sent adv (parenth); 1st var. more common] unfortunately, as if to thwart s.o.'s plans or harm s.o.: as luck ⟨ill luck, bad luck, fate⟩ would have it; (it is) just s.o.'s luck (that…); as if to spite s.o.; [lim.] to add to s.o.'s troubles ⟨woes⟩; to make things ⟨matters⟩ worse.

…Комсорг, который всегда занимался этими делами, как на грех заболел (Войнович 5). …As bad luck would have it, the Komsomol organizer, who usually took care of such things, was out sick (5a). ♦ Время шло, а Анне Савишне лучше не становилось… Ещё, как на грех, тошнота привязалась (Грекова 3). Time passed and Anna Savishna did not get better…. To make things worse, nausea set in (3a).

Г-394 • дурён, страшен КАК СМЕ́РТНЫЙ ГРЕХ coll [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif); fixed WO] extremely, excessively (ugly): (as) ugly as sin; his ⟨her⟩ face would stop a clock.

Г-395 • НЕ ГРЕХ кому coll [NP; Invar; impers predic with $быть_ø$; used with pfv infin; usu. pres or subjunctive] it would not be inappropriate, it would be good for s.o. (to do sth.): X-у не грех сделать Y ≃ it wouldn't be half bad if X did Y; it wouldn't be a bad thing ⟨idea⟩ for X to do Y; it wouldn't hurt X to do Y; [lim.] there's no harm in doing Y.

[Хороших:] Илья! Не пил бы ты больше, а шёл бы лучше в собес или куда там… (Дергачёву). А тебе то же самое: не грех бы и остановиться, об работе подумать (Вампилов 2). [Kh.:] Ilya! You'd be better off going down to the Social Security Office, or somewheres, instead of drinking anymore. (To Dergachev.) And you too. It wouldn't hurt you to stop right there and start thinking about some work (2b).

Г-396 • СМЕ́РТНЫЙ ГРЕХ [NP; usu. this WO] a grievous sin, an unpardonable act: deadly ⟨mortal, cardinal⟩ sin.

…Мы с Ритой ещё вертелись и прятались за слова, обвиняя друг друга во всех смертных грехах и не замечая за собой главного (Трифонов 5). …Rita and I continued to rationalize and hide behind words, accusing each other of all the mortal sins and missing the real point (5a).

Г-397 • ДО́ЛГО ЛИ ДО ГРЕХА́ ⟨ДО БЕДЫ́⟩; НЕДО́ЛГО (И) ДО ГРЕХА́ ⟨ДО БЕДЫ́⟩ all coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used, usu. as a question or exclamation, to connect the description of events in the preceding context with that of their potential or real consequences in the context that follows) sth. unpleasant or irreparable could easily happen (at any moment, under such circumstances, or if s.o. does sth.): that can easily lead to trouble; something bad may happen; anything can happen; trouble is never far off.

«Только с огнём… осторожнее обращайтесь, потому что тут недолго и до греха. Имущества свои попалите, сами погорите — что хорошего!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "Only… be careful how you handle fire, because that can easily lead to trouble. You burn your property, you burn yourselves—and what's the good of that?" (1b).

Г-398 • ОТ ГРЕХА́ ПОДА́ЛЬШЕ coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; usu. this WO] in order to avoid some conflict, misfortune, a fight etc: (in order) to be ⟨to get s.o. etc⟩ out of harm's way; (in order) to get ⟨to keep⟩ away from trouble ⟨from temptation⟩; (in order) to keep (s.o.) ⟨to stay⟩ out of trouble; (in order) to flee from temptation ⟨from trouble⟩; (in order) to steer clear of trouble ⟨of temptation⟩; before something happens to one.

«Пока нас не трогают и силком не берут в часть, надо… уезжать от греха подальше…» (Шолохов 5). "We've got to get out of harm's way… before someone recruits us by force…" (5a). ♦ …Оба [брата] исчезли в ночь перед арестом Ивана Хохлушкина. Матвей всегда отличался скрытностью и, видно почуяв неладное, ушёл и увёл за собой брата… от греха подальше (Максимов 1). …They [the two brothers] both disappeared the night before Ivan Khokhlushkin was arrested. Matvei was always secretive and he'd evidently got wind of something being up, for he had gone off, taking his brother with him, so as to keep him out of trouble (1a).

Г-399 • ЧТО ⟨ЧЕГО́, НЕ́ЧЕГО⟩ (И) ГРЕХА́ ТАЙТЬ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth); usu. this WO] it is pointless to (try to) conceal sth., one must acknowledge sth.: there is no (use) denying ⟨hiding⟩ it ⟨the fact that…⟩; why deny it ⟨that…⟩; it's ⟨there's⟩ no use pretending (that…); why hide it ⟨the truth⟩?; you can't get away from it ⟨the fact that…⟩; [lim.] I must ⟨might as well⟩ admit ⟨confess⟩ that…; I ⟨we⟩ don't deny it.

Всех, что греха таить, беспокоили огромные остатки закусок и напитков, все потянулись к столу (Аксёнов 6). There was no hiding the fact that everyone was worried by the huge amount of leftover food and drink, and they all surged toward the table (6a). ♦ «Среди обитателей Нахаловки было немало передовых, революционно настроенных рабочих, но, чего греха таить, достаточно было и преступного элемента…» (Чернёнок 1). "Among the residents of Nakhalovka were a few front-line revolutionary workers, but, why hide the truth, there were plenty of criminals…" (1a).

Г-400 • С ГРЕХО́М ПОПОЛА́М coll [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. Also: С ГО́РЕМ ПОПОЛА́М coll with difficulty and almost not succeeding: (just) barely; (just) barely manage (to do sth.); just scrape through (sth.); [lim.] by the skin of one's teeth; [of one's ability to do sth.] after a fashion.

Антифашистский роман, в центре — интересный образ эсэсовца. Написанный в той субъективной манере, которая уже протискивалась, хотя и с грехом пополам, в узкие щели наших издательств и журналов (Орлова 1). It was an antifascist novel with a very powerful portrait of an SS officer, written in that subjective fashion that just barely allowed it to squeeze through the narrow cracks of our publishing houses and journals (1a). ♦ «Ты говоришь по-испански?» — «С грехом пополам». "Do you speak Spanish?" "After a fashion."

2. obs through deception, trickery: in an underhand(ed) way; by dishonest means.

Г-401 • СЪЕСТЬ ГРИБ obs [VP; subj: human] not to receive or obtain what one desires, have one's expectations unfulfilled: X съел гриб ≃ X lost out (on sth.); X had his hopes dashed ⟨X's hopes were dashed⟩.

Г-402 • КАК ГРИБЫ́ (ПОСЛЕ ДОЖДЯ́) расти, вырастать и т.п. coll [как + NP; these forms only; adv] (to appear, grow etc) swiftly and in abundance: (pop up ⟨spring up, spring forth etc⟩) like mushrooms (after a rain); (spring ⟨pop⟩ up) all over.

Г-403 • ВГОНЯ́ТЬ/ВОГНА́ТЬ ⟨ЗАГНА́ТЬ, УЛОЖИ́ТЬ, СВОДИ́ТЬ/СВЕСТИ́⟩ В ГРОБ кого coll [VP; subj: human or, less often, abstr; usu. pfv] to cause s.o.'s death (by treating him cruelly, worrying him excessively etc): X Y-а в гроб вгонит ≃ X will drive Y to the ⟨to an early⟩ grave; X will send Y to the ⟨to Y's, to an early⟩ grave; X will be the death of Y.

«Мой муж — тиран, он — ужасный, ужасный человек… Он меня в гроб вгонит…» (Сологуб 1). "My husband is a tyrant. He is a terrible, terrible man…. He is driving me to the grave…" (1a).

Г-404 • ГРОБ ПОВА́ПЛЕННЫЙ obs [NP] a phenomenon, thing, or person whose presentable appearance belies its or his repulsive nature: a whited sepulcher.

< From the Bible (Matt. 23:27).

Г-405 • КРА́ШЕ В ГРОБ КЛАДУ́Т coll [Invar; indep. clause or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. вид у кого); fixed WO] s.o. looks sickly, pale, thin, exhausted: вид у X-а — краше в гроб кладут ≃ X looks like death warmed over ⟨like living death, like a goner⟩.

Г-406 • ПО ГРОБ ЖИ́ЗНИ ⟨ДНЕЙ obs⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] until death, to the end of one's life: to one's dying day; till ⟨until⟩ (the day) one dies; as long as one lives.

Да, по гроб жизни должен быть благодарен покойному Берлиозу обитатель квартиры № 84… за то, что председатель МАССОЛИТа попал под трамвай, и за то, что траурное заседание назначили как раз на этот вечер (Булгаков 9). Yes, the tenant of apartment 84 ought to be grateful to his dying day to the late Berlioz [chairman of the board of MASSOLIT] for falling under the streetcar and for the memorial meeting which had been set for just that evening (9a).

Г-407 • ХОТЬ В ГРОБ ЛОЖИ́СЬ coll [хоть + VP$_{imper}$; Invar; usu. used as subord clause; fixed WO] (used to express despair, hopelessness) there is no escape from a desperate situation: there is nothing (left) to do but lie down and die; you ⟨person X⟩ might just as well lie down and die; you might as well kill yourself.

Г-408 • ДО ГРО́БА [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif] to the end of one's life, to one's death: to the ⟨one's very⟩ grave; till the grave; till ⟨until⟩ (the day) one dies; to ⟨till⟩ one's dying day; until death; for the rest of one's life; [in contexts of love and marriage] till death do us part; as long as we both shall live; [as modif] lifelong; everlasting; undying; || враги ~ ≃ mortal enemies.

«Николая моего опять посадили. Теперь ждать буду. Сколько нужно. До гроба» (Максимов 3). "My Nikolai has been put in prison again. But now I shall be waiting for him. For as long as it takes. Till I die" (3a). ♦ Стёпа Хомицкий добавлял ещё, что… старик Киселис не выбирал себе папу и маму, так зачем шпынять его до гроба происхождением (Львов 1). Stepa Khomitsky added that the old man Kiselis had not chosen his father and mother, and so then why needle him about his origins for the rest of his life? (1a).

Г-409 • В ГРОБУ́ ВИДА́Л ⟨ВИ́ДЕЛ⟩ кого-что highly coll, rude [VP; subj: human (usu. a pronoun); past only; usu. this WO] used to express a sharply scornful attitude toward s.o. or sth.: в гробу X видал Y-а ≃ X couldn't care less about Y; X doesn't give a damn ⟨a shit⟩ about Y; Y can go to hell; to ⟨the⟩ hell with Y.

Экономист в гробу видел литературные произведения бывшего мужа Елены… (Лимонов 1). The economist could not have cared less about Elena's ex-husband's literary works… (1a). ♦ [Сильва:] В гробу бы я её видел, такую любовь (Вампилов 4). [S.:] To hell with that kind of love (4c).

Г-410 • ПЕРЕВОРА́ЧИВАТЬСЯ ⟨ПЕРЕВЁРТЫВАТЬСЯ⟩/ПЕРЕВЕРНУ́ТЬСЯ В ГРОБУ́ [VP; subj: human; usu. subjunctive or, less often, pfv fut] (of a deceased person) one would become extremely indignant, horrified (if he found out about this): X перевернулся бы в гробу ≃ X would turn (over) in his grave; X would roll over ⟨be spinning⟩ in his grave; X would die a second death.

Г-411 • ГРОМ НЕ ГРЯ́НЕТ, МУЖИ́К НЕ ПЕРЕКРЕ́СТИТСЯ [saying] a careless person procrastinates doing what is necessary until forced by circumstances (said, usu. ironically or humorously, when a person gets into trouble by procrastinating too long): ≃ he ⟨she etc⟩ won't lock the barn door till after the horse is stolen; [lim.] don't wait for the flood to start building your ark.

Г-412 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ГРОМ СРЕДИ Я́СНОГО НЕ́БА coll [как etc + NP; these forms only; usu. adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr); fixed WO] sth. happened unexpectedly, suddenly (usu. an unfortunate event, a misfortune that has befallen s.o.): (like) a bolt from ⟨out of⟩ the blue; out of a ⟨the⟩ clear (blue) sky.

«После того, как меня отпустили из милиции, куда я был отправлен завучем из-за бульдога, я пошёл в школу, но там завуч сказал мне, что я из школы исключён и к экзаменам на аттестат зрелости допущен не буду. Это было как гром среди ясного неба» (Семёнов 1). "After I had been released from the police station where the director of studies sent me because of the bulldog, I returned to school, but the director of studies told me that I had been expelled and that I would not be admitted to the matriculation examinations. This was like a bolt from the blue" (1a).

Г-413 • РАЗРАЗИ́ ⟨ПОРАЗИ́, УБЕ́Й⟩ МЕНЯ́ ГРОМ (НА Э́ТОМ МЕ́СТЕ); ДА ⟨ПУСТЬ, ПУСКА́Й⟩ РАЗРАЗИ́Т ⟨ПОРАЗИ́Т⟩ МЕНЯ́ ГРОМ; РАЗРАЗИ́ ⟨ПОРАЗИ́⟩ МЕНЯ́ СИ́ЛЫ НЕБЕ́СНЫЕ; ДА ⟨ПУСТЬ, ПУСКА́Й⟩ РАЗРАЗИ́Т ⟨ПОРАЗИ́Т⟩ МЕНЯ́ СИ́ЛЫ НЕБЕ́СНЫЕ all highly coll [these forms only; indep. sent, main clause in a complex sent (usu. foll. by a если-clause), a clause in a compound sent (usu. foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «но»), or sent adv (parenth)] an oath used by the speaker to emphasize the truth of a statement: (may) God strike me dead (if I'm lying); may lightning strike me (if…).

[Настя:] Ей-богу… было это! Всё было!.. Студент он… француз был… Гастошей звали… с чёрной бородкой… в лаковых сапогах ходил… разрази меня гром на этом месте! И так он меня любил… так любил! (Горький 3). [N.:] I swear it happened! Everything happened just as I told you. He was a student—a Frenchman—Gaston his name was—he had a little black beard and patent leather shoes…. God strike me dead if I'm lying! And he loved me so passionately—so passionately! (3e).

Г-414 • РАЗРАЗИ́ ⟨ПОРАЗИ́⟩ ТЕБЯ́ ⟨вас, его, её, их⟩ ГРОМ ⟨-ом⟩; ДА ⟨ПУСТЬ⟩ РАЗРАЗИ́Т ТЕБЯ́ ⟨его и т.д.⟩ БОГ ⟨ГОСПО́ДЬ⟩ all substand [these forms only; usu. a clause in a compound sent or sent adv (parenth)] used to express indignation, surprise etc: damn ⟨darn⟩ it ⟨you etc⟩!

Г-415 • КАК ГРО́МОМ ПОРАЗИ́ТЬ ⟨ОГЛУШИ́ТЬ, УДА́РИТЬ⟩ кого [VP; impers or with subj: usu. abstr; often past passive Part как громом поражённый; usu. this WO] to come as a total shock, dumbfound s.o.: X Y-а как громом поразил ≃ X struck ⟨hit⟩ Y like a bolt of lightning; X came as a bombshell; X hit Y like a ton of bricks; || как громом поражённый ≃ thunderstruck; as if struck by lightning; stunned as by a thunderclap.

Оба они [оба парня]… стали исчезать в пучине. Мы все стояли как громом поражённые (Попов 1). The two of them [young men]… began to disappear beneath the waves…. We all stood there, thunderstruck (1a). ♦ «Дорогие друзья, — лучезарно сказал космонавт, — я хочу, чтобы мы за этим прекрасным столом выпили за комсомол, воспитавший нас…» Молодой хозяин, услышав этот тост, застыл, как поражённый громом (Искандер 4). "Dear friends," the cosmonaut said radiantly, "I propose that we at this excellent table drink a toast to the Komsomol that has nurtured us…." When he heard that, the young host stopped dead as if struck by lightning (4a).

Г-416 • МЕТА́ТЬ ГРО́МЫ И МО́ЛНИИ ⟨ГРО́МЫ-МО́ЛНИИ, ГРОМ И МО́ЛНИЮ, ГРО́МЫ⟩ (на кого) coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] (usu. of a person in authority) to upbraid s.o. angrily, indignantly, usu. threatening to punish him severely: X мечет громы и молнии ≃ X is ranting and raving; X is raging and fuming; X is breathing fire (and fury).

Подрезов не стал метать громы и молнии — видно, отметал ещё у себя на бюро (Абрамов 1). Podrezov did not rant and rave; obviously he had finished with that at the Bureau meeting (1a).

Г-417 • ГРОШ ЦЕНА́ (В БАЗА́РНЫЙ ДЕНЬ) кому-чему; ЛО́МАНЫЙ ⟨МЕ́ДНЫЙ⟩ ГРОШ ЦЕНА́ all coll, derog [these forms only; VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$, pres only; fixed WO] s.o. or sth. is of no value: грош цена X-у ≃ X is (totally) worthless ⟨useless⟩; X isn't worth a (damn) thing; thing X isn't worth a (tinker's) damn; thing X isn't worth a kopeck ⟨two cents, a (plug) nickel, a (red) cent, a brass farthing etc⟩.

«Московскому расследованию Бриллинга грош цена! Поди, всё вздор, фикция, враки…» (Акунин 8). "Brilling's Moscow investigation is totally worthless! We must assume it's all nonsense, invention, lies…" (8a). ♦ Это ведь только в спорте судьи и противники дают тебе обрести лучшую форму — грош цена этим рекордам (Буковский 1). It's only in sport that referees and competitors wait for you to reach your best form—records achieved that way are not worth a damn (1a).

«Ты, старый козёл! — она [Кукуша] перегнулась через стол и схватила его [Лукина] за грудки. — Если ты сам лично не принесёшь моему мужу шапку, я тебе…» (Войнович 6). "…You son of a bitch!" She [Kukusha] reached across the desk and seized him [Lukin] by the lapels. "If you don't personally bring my husband a hat, so help me I'll—" (6a).

2. to use force, put pressure on s.o. in order to make him do sth.: X взял Y-а за грудки ≃ X grabbed hold of Y; X bullied Y (into doing sth.); X strong-armed Y.

«Взяли и тятю моего за грудки: пишись [в колхоз] и всё тут!» (Максимов 2). "They grabbed hold of my dad and told him to sign on [to join the collective farm] or else" (2a).

Г-428 • БИТЬ СЕБЯ́ В ГРУДЬ [VP; subj: human] to repent in front of others, try to convince s.o. of one's sincere regret over sth. one did: X бил себя в грудь ≃ X beat his breast.

«…Из всех я самый подлый гад! Пусть! Каждый день моей жизни я, бия [obs] себя в грудь, обещал исправиться и каждый день творил всё те же пакости» (Достоевский 1). "…Of all I am the lowest vermin! So be it! Every day of my life I've been beating my breast and promising to reform, and every day I've done the same vile things" (1a).

Г-429 • ГРУДЬ В ГРУДЬ столкнуться, сойтись и т.п. [Invar; adv; fixed WO] (two parties meet, stand etc) very closely, so that hardly any distance separates them: face to face; eyeball-to-eyeball; right up close.

Г-430 • ГРУДЬ НА ГРУДЬ идти, двигаться и т.п. obsoles [Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to move, advance) one man (unit etc) upon another in a fight or battle: one against the other; one-on-one.

Г-431 • ГРУДЬ С ГРУ́ДЬЮ сойтись, схватиться, столкнуться, биться и т.п. [Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to fight s.o.)

coming into direct contact with one's adversary, enemy: in hand-to-hand combat; at close quarters.

Г-432 • ЙЛИ ⟨ЛИ́БО⟩ ГРУДЬ В КРЕСТА́Х, ЙЛИ ⟨ЛИ́БО⟩ ГОЛОВА́ В КУСТА́Х [saying] one will either achieve all he sets out to achieve, or will fail miserably (used by the speaker in reference to his own or another's determination, readiness to risk everything in order to accomplish or obtain what he wants): ≃ it's do or die; it's all or nothing; it will make me ⟨you etc⟩ or break me ⟨you etc⟩; win big or lose big.

Г-433 • НАДСА́ЖИВАТЬ ⟨НАДРЫВА́ТЬ⟩ ГРУДЬ coll [VP; subj: human] to speak, argue, shout etc very loudly: X надсаживал грудь ≃ X screamed his lungs out ⟨his head off⟩; X screamed ⟨made, shouted⟩ himself hoarse.

Г-434 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ⟨СТАТЬ, ВСТАТЬ⟩ ГРУ́ДЬЮ (за кого-что) elev [VP; subj: human or collect] to defend, fight for s.o. or sth. courageously: X стоял грудью за Y-а ≃ X defended ⟨protected⟩ Y with everything X had; X bravely defended Y; X stood up bravely for Y; [lim.] X took a firm stand for Y; X stood firm; || [in military contexts] X-ы стояли грудью (за Y) ≃ Xs defended Y with their lives; Xs fought courageously (for Y); [lim.] Xs put their lives on the line.

Пусть только кто-нибудь попробует задеть её детей—она станет за них грудью. Just let anyone try to harm her children—she'll protect them with everything she has.

Г-435 • НАЗВА́ЛСЯ ГРУ́ЗДЕМ, ПОЛЕЗА́Й В КУ́ЗОВ [saying] once you have committed yourself to sth., do not complain that it is too difficult or try to back out of it, just finish it (addressed to a person who tries to extricate himself from a commitment upon realizing the difficulties or unpleasant consequences it involves; or said when a person who has voluntarily taken on a commitment encounters difficulties but will not allow himself to relinquish his responsibilities): ≃ if you pledge, don't hedge; if a job is once begun, never leave it till it's done; in for a penny, in for a pound.

Г-436 • ЛЕЖА́ТЬ МЁРТВЫМ ГРУ́ЗОМ [VP; subj: abstr or concr; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to go unused, be without application: X лежит мёртвым грузом ≃ X lies dormant ⟨fallow⟩; X (just) lies ⟨sits⟩ there (doing nothing); X sits idle.

Г-437 • ВЫТА́СКИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ТАЩИТЬ ИЗ ГРЯ́ЗИ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to help s.o. get out of degrading, socially humiliating circumstances, help s.o. out of poverty: X вытащил Y-а из грязи ≃ X pulled ⟨helped⟩ Y (up) out of the gutter.

Г-438 • ИЗ ГРЯ́ЗИ (ДА) В КНЯ́ЗИ выйти, вылезти coll [PrepP; these forms only; indep. sent or adv; fixed WO] (to move) from poverty or a low social position to a recognized place in society: (go) from rags to riches; (go) from bottom to top.

По бесформенному полю скачут, как блохи, выскочки, из рабов в императоры, из грязи в князи… (Терц 3). In the vast formless plains men jumped about like fleas—upstart slaves moved from rags to riches and became Emperors… (3a). ♦ …Они [советские вожди] в результате кровавых чисток толпами выходили из грязи в князи… оказывались генералами и губернаторами и вершили судьбами тысяч людей (Войнович 1). …As a result of the bloody purges, they [the Soviet leaders] went from bottom to top—suddenly becoming generals and governors, who could decide the fate of thousands (1a).

Г-439 • ВТА́ПТЫВАТЬ/ВТОПТА́ТЬ ⟨ЗАТА́ПТЫВАТЬ/ЗАТОПТА́ТЬ⟩ В ГРЯЗЬ кого-что disapprov [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] to defame s.o. publicly in an insulting way, sparing him no abuse, bring accusations (usu. unjust) against s.o.: X втоптал Y-а в грязь ≃ X trampled Y in the mud; X dragged person Y ⟨Y's name⟩ through the mud ⟨the mire, the muck⟩; X threw ⟨slung, flung⟩ mud ⟨dirt⟩ at Y; X blackened person Y's name ⟨reputation⟩.

[У Ленина была] способность не колеблясь втоптать [противника] в грязь… — непонятным образом соединённая с милой улыбкой, с застенчивой деликатностью (Гроссман 1). [Lenin had] the capacity to trample an opponent in the mud with no hesitation… paradoxically combined with a kind smile and shy sensitivity (1a).

Г-440 • МЕСИ́ТЬ ГРЯЗЬ coll [VP; subj: human] to walk in the mud, walk along a muddy road: X месил грязь ≃ X waded ⟨trudged, sloshed, slogged⟩ through the mud.

Изо дня в день месил я вязкую грязь на плацу… (Лившиц 1). Day after day I waded through the sticky mud on the parade-ground… (1a).

Г-441 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ⟩ ГРЯ́ЗЬЮ в кого; ЗАБРА́СЫВАТЬ/ЗАБРОСА́ТЬ ⟨ЗАКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ЗАКИДА́ТЬ⟩ ГРЯ́ЗЬЮ ⟨КАМНЯ́МИ⟩ кого disapprov [VP; subj: human] to defame, vilify s.o.: X бросает в Y-а грязью ≃ X throws ⟨slings, flings⟩ mud ⟨dirt⟩ at Y; X blackens Y's name ⟨reputation⟩; X besmirches Y's good name ⟨Y's reputation⟩; X heaps abuse on Y.

Г-442 • ЗАРАСТА́ТЬ/ЗАРАСТИ́ ГРЯ́ЗЬЮ coll [VP; subj: human] to reach an extreme level of untidiness, negligence: X зарос грязью ≃ X is ⟨has become⟩ a walking pigpen ⟨pigsty⟩; X's place is ⟨has turned into⟩ a pigsty ⟨a pigpen⟩; X is (en)crusted with dirt.

[author's usage] Если б доктор Гааз не прислал Соколовскому связку своего белья, он зарос бы в грязи (Герцен 1). If Dr. Haas had not sent Sokolovsky a bundle of his own linen he would have been crusted with dirt (1a).

Г-443 • ОБЛИВА́ТЬ/ОБЛИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОЛИВА́ТЬ/ПОЛИ́ТЬ⟩ ГРЯ́ЗЬЮ ⟨ПОМО́ЯМИ coll⟩ кого; ЛИТЬ ГРЯЗЬ ⟨ПОМО́И coll⟩ на кого disapprov [VP; subj: human] to disgrace, defame s.o. unjustly, bring accusations (usu. unjust) against s.o.: X обливает Y-а грязью ≃ X throws ⟨slings, flings⟩ mud ⟨dirt, slime⟩ at Y; X covers Y's name in mud ⟨dirt⟩; X heaps abuse ⟨slime⟩ on Y; X besmirches Y's reputation ⟨good name⟩.

Откройте любой лист газеты того времени, и вы увидите, как часто завтрашние жертвы, чтобы спастись, обливали грязью жертвы сегодняшнего дня (Гладков 1). Look at any newspaper from those days and you will see how tomorrow's victims, trying to save their own skins, heaped abuse on today's (1a).

Г-444 • СМЕ́ШИВАТЬ/СМЕША́ТЬ С ГРЯ́ЗЬЮ ⟨С ДЕРЬМО́М vulg⟩ кого [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] to slander s.o. publicly, harshly, denigrate s.o., not sparing him any abuse: X смешал Y-а с грязью ≃ X dragged Y

⟨Y's name⟩ through the mud ⟨the mire, the muck⟩; X threw ⟨slung, flung⟩ mud ⟨dirt, slime⟩ at Y; X blackened Y's name ⟨reputation⟩.

«Послушай, Луи, я тебя не понимаю. К чему эти комплименты? Разве ты не поддерживал Дюгара? А он меня каждый день смешивал с грязью» (Эренбург 4). "Look here, Louis," said Tessa, "I don't understand what you're driving at. Why all these compliments? Haven't you been supporting Dugard? Well, he's been slinging mud at me day after day" (4a).

Г-445 • ГУБА́ ⟨ГУ́БА⟩ НЕ ДУ́РА у кого highly coll [VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$ (present only); fixed WO] s.o. knows how to choose the very best, has a keen understanding of quality: у Х-а губа не дура ≃ X has good taste; X's taste isn't bad; X doesn't have bad taste; X is no fool when it comes to…; X knows a good thing when he sees it ⟨one⟩.

«Кто это? — спросил его Базаров… — Какая хорошенькая!» …Аркадий, не без замешательства, объяснил ему в коротких словах, кто была Фенечка. «Ага! — промолвил Базаров, — у твоего отца, видно, губа не дура» (Тургенев 2). "Who's that?" Bazarov asked… "What a pretty girl!" …Arkady, not without embarrassment, explained to him in a few words who Fenechka was. "Aha!" muttered Bazarov. "Your father certainly has good taste" (2g). ♦ [Телятев:] …Что ж бы ты думал, на кого он [Васильков] так уставился?.. На [Лидию] Чебоксарову. [Глумов:] У него губа-то не дура (Островский 4). [T.:] …What do you think he [Vassilkov] was staring at?… He was staring at sweet Lydia! [G.:] He certainly knows a good thing when he sees one (4b).

Г-446 • ПОШЛА́ ПИСА́ТЬ ГУБЕ́РНИЯ; (И) ПОШЛО́ ⟨ПОШЛА́⟩ ПИСА́ТЬ coll, humor [VP_{subj} (1st var.) or VP_{impers} (2nd var.); these forms only; fixed WO] things started up, some action was undertaken etc in a very intense manner, everything was set in motion (and developed rapidly): there they go; off they go ⟨went⟩; things really began to take off; [of arguments etc] the fireworks started.

Галопад летел во всю пропалую: почтмейстерша, капитан-исправник, дама с голубым пером… всё поднялось и понеслось… «Вона! Пошла писать губерния!» — проговорил Чичиков… (Гоголь 3). The dancing was going full tilt: the postmaster's wife, the police captain, a lady with a pale blue feather… —all of them had taken off and were now rushing and swirling about. "There they go!" Chichikov muttered… (3e). ♦ Егорша потолкался с недельку в райцентре, всё разнюхал, повыведал, тому зубы заговорил, этому заговорил — сел на райкомовскую легковуху. И пошла писать губерния. Куда ни заехал, куда ни заявился — первый человек (Абрамов 1). Egorsha lingered for a week or so in the district center, had a good sniff around, wormed out some information, sweet-talked this one, sweet-talked that one, and… became the District Committee chauffeur. Then things really began to take off. Whomever he paid a call on, wherever he appeared, he was like a VIP (1a).

Г-447 • ВПИ́ТЫВАТЬ (В СЕБЯ́) что КАК ГУ́БКА coll [VP; subj: human] to take in and internalize (knowledge, experience, information etc) readily, eagerly: Х впитывает Y как губка ≃ X absorbs ⟨imbibes, soaks up⟩ Y like a sponge.

Г-448 • НАДУВА́ТЬ/НАДУ́ТЬ ГУ́БЫ ⟨ГУ́БКИ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to push out one's lips in an expression of anger, offense, or sulkiness, look sullen: Х надул губы ≃ X pouted; X made a moue ⟨a sour face⟩.

[Бессудный (Аннушке):] А ты что губы-то надула! Даром, что ль, вас кормить-то в самом деле! (Островский 8). [B. (To Annushka):] What are you pouting about? Am I to feed you for nothing? (8a).

Г-449 • РАЗЖИМА́ТЬ/РАЗЖА́ТЬ ГУ́БЫ ⟨ЗУ́БЫ obs⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; often neg or neg Verbal Adv] to say sth., speak: Х губ не разожмёт ≃ X won't (so much as) open his mouth; X won't utter a sound ⟨a word⟩.

Г-450 • НИ ГУГУ́ coll [Invar] 1. [usu. predic with subj: human or collect; usu. used in present or past context; because of the absence of a verb in Russian, the tense of the verb in the English equivalent must be determined by the context] one keeps silent, does not say anything: Х ни гугу ≃ [past context] X didn't say ⟨breathe⟩ a word; X didn't make ⟨utter, let out⟩ a ⟨one⟩ peep; X kept mum; there wasn't ⟨s.o. didn't hear⟩ a peep ⟨a sound, a word⟩ from ⟨out of⟩ X.

Он её за волосы таскать. Она в крик, соседей зовёт, а соседи — ни гугу: правильно, муж жену учит. Не наше дело (Толстая 1). Then he'd grab her by the hair. She'd scream, call on the neighbors, but you wouldn't hear a peep out of them: it's just a husband teaching his wife a lesson. None of our business (1a).

2. от кого, откуда ~ [subj (with не быть$_{ø}$)] there has been no news, letter, response from some person or organization: от Х-а ни гугу ≃ there hasn't been a ⟨any⟩ word from X; there is no word from X; person Y hasn't heard a thing from X.

3. ~ (кому о ком-чём) [used as imper] do not tell anyone (or a certain person) about sth.: Х-у ⟨никому⟩ (об Y-е) ни гугу ≃ don't ⟨you mustn't⟩ say ⟨breathe⟩ a word to X ⟨to anyone⟩ (about Y); not a word to X ⟨to anyone⟩ (about Y); don't ⟨you mustn't⟩ make ⟨utter⟩ a peep ⟨a sound⟩ to X (about Y); keep mum (about Y).

Говоря строго между нами, только уж ты, профессор, об этом никому ни гу-гу, — я соврал тебе давеча про наше хорошее положение. Положение у нас хуже некуда (Терц 6). Strictly between ourselves—but you really mustn't breathe a word, Professor—I told you a lie when I said that things were not as bad as they might be. The fact is, they couldn't be worse (6a).

Г-451 • ВЗЯ́ЛСЯ ЗА ГУЖ, НЕ ГОВОРИ́, ЧТО НЕ ДЮЖ [saying] once you have begun sth., do not complain that it is too difficult or try to back out of it, just finish it (said by, to, or about a person who has voluntarily taken on a commitment and then encounters difficulties but will not allow himself to relinquish his responsibilities; also used to reproach a person who, because of difficulties encountered in an undertaking, wants to back out of it): ≃ if you pledge, don't hedge; if a job is once begun, never leave it till it's done; it's no good turning back halfway; in for a penny, in for a pound.

Он [Аркадий] застал Базарова в трактире, где они остановились, и долго его уговаривал пойти к губернатору. «Нечего делать! — сказал, наконец, Базаров. — Взялся за гуж — не говори, что не дюж! Приехали смотреть помещиков — давай их смотреть!» (Тургенев 2). He [Arkady] found Bazarov in the inn where they were staying and set himself to persuade him to visit the governor. "Since there's no way out of it!" said Bazarov at last. "It's no good turning back halfway! We came to have a look at the landlords, so let's go and have a look at them!" (2e).

Г-452 • ДРАЗНИ́ТЬ/РАЗДРАЗНИ́ТЬ ГУСЕ́Й coll [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv; often infin with зачем, не надо etc, or neg infin after чтобы] to irritate, anger s.o., usu. pointlessly (often, one's superior(s) or s.o. who is in a posi-«Кто форинов [author's usage = иностранцев] пригласил? Ты, Маккар? — строго спросил Самсик. — Зачем, ребята? Зачем гусей-то дразнить?» «Зачем гусей дразнить?» — это, можно сказать, было лозунгом их поколения (Аксёнов 6). "Who invited the foreigners? Was it you, Makkar?" asked Samsik sternly. "Why, kids? Why make waves?" "Why make waves?" This, one might say, was the slogan of Samsik's generation (6a). ♦ «Есть некоторый коммунистический стиль. Мало кто подходит под эту мерку. Но никто так явно не нарушает этой манеры жить и думать, как вы, Юрий Андреевич. Не понимаю, зачем гусей дразнить» (Пастернак 1). "There exists a certain Communist style. Few people measure up to it. But no one so clearly violates that way of living and thinking as you do, Yuri Andreevich. I don't understand—why stir up a hornets' nest?" (1b).

Your cousin is probably tired from the trip, would like to wash up… [Andrei:] Yes, yes… In a minute. [Vadim (Picking up Aleksei's "suitcase"):] Are the rest of your things in the entry? [Aleksei:] That is all I have. [Vadim (shaking the "suitcase"):] Not much here! (1a).

Г-454 • ГУСЬ ЛА́ПЧАТЫЙ highly coll, disapprov [NP; usu. sing; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, pres only (subj: human, male), or vocative; fixed WO] a sly, resourceful, crafty person: sly (old) fox ⟨devil⟩; shifty rascal; scoundrel.

Г-455 • ГУСЬ СВИНЬЁ НЕ ТОВА́РИЩ [saying] people who have different social standings, characters, habits etc do not belong together: ≃ oil and water don't mix.

Укрощенное самолюбие недавного «пахана» ревновало к упрямой гордыне залётного шкета. [Мастер] преследовал Влада с упорным злорадством человека, глубоко уязвлённого в своём понимании человечества… «Где нам в лаптях до вас в калошах, значит? Гусь свинье не товарищ, говоришь?» (Максимов 2). This one-time gang boss, his self-esteem crippled, was jealous of the obstinate pride shown by the cheeky young newcomer. He persecuted Vlad with the resolute malice of someone bitterly disillusioned with the human race…. "Too big and mighty for us, eh? Oil and water don't mix, is that it?" (2a).

Г-456 • ХОРО́Ш ⟨КАКО́В, НУ И, ЧТО ЗА и т.п.⟩ ГУСЬ highly coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express one's scornful or ironic attitude toward s.o. (rarely toward o.s.), usu. in regard to negative qualities—dishonesty, trickery, unreliability etc: what a rascal ⟨a louse, a weasel etc⟩; [lim.] I know your ⟨his⟩ type; I am ⟨you are, he is⟩ a fine one to talk; I've got your ⟨his⟩ number.

Ему [Михаилу] очень понравилось, как Иван Дмитриевич срезал Петра Житова. Твёрдо и в то же время не обидно. Дескать, учти, любезный. Я сразу понял, что ты за гусь. Каждое дело вспрыскивать — вот ты из каких (Абрамов 1). He [Mikhail] was very pleased with the way Ivan Dmitrievich had cut Pyotr Zhitov off. Firmly and at the same time without causing offense. As if saying, "Look out, my dear fellow. I've got your number, all right. You're the kind who likes to lubricate every occasion…" (1a).

Г-457 • КАК С ГУ́СЯ ВОДА́ с кого, кому coll, usu. disapprov [как + NP; Invar; usu. compl of быть$_{ø}$ (impers) or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: всё); fixed WO] s.o. is utterly indifferent to sth., does not react to sth.; sth. does not affect s.o. at all: (it is) like water off a duck's back.

[Кочкарёв:] Ведь вот что досадно: [Подколёсин] вышел себе — ему и горя мало. С него всё это так, как с гуся вода — вот что нестерпимо! (Гоголь 1). [K.:] That's what's so annoying. He's [Podkolyosin has] gone off—it doesn't worry him much, it's just like water off a duck's back—that's what's unbearable! (1a).

Г-458 • ГАДА́ТЬ НА КОФЕ́ЙНОЙ ГУ́ЩЕ ⟨НА БОБА́Х⟩ coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to make guesses or suppositions that are totally without foundation or are based on insufficient knowledge, information etc: X гадал на кофейной гуще ≃ X was taking shots in the dark; X was taking ⟨making⟩ wild guesses; [lim.] X was reading tea leaves. ○ ГАДА́НИЕ НА КОФЕ́ЙНОЙ ГУ́ЩЕ ⟨НА БОБА́Х⟩ [NP] ≃ shots in the dark; wild guesses; guesswork; [lim.] reading tea leaves.

[author's usage] Как известно, наши хозяева умели предсказывать будущее, пользуясь не кофейной гущей, а научными методами… (Мандельштам 2). As we full know, our rulers were able to foretell the future not by reading tea leaves, but with the aid of "scientific principles"… (2a).

Д-1 • ДА И… [coord Conj] 1. [connective] used to connect two successive words, phrases, or clauses: and; [when connecting negated units] and did not ⟨was not etc⟩… either; nor…

…[Юра] даже не смотрел в сторону мясного, да и выпивкой не очень интересовался, а только рубал свои апельсинчики так, что за ушами трещало (Аксёнов 1). Yura… hadn't even looked at the meat dish and wasn't even interested in the drinks, either, but was only digging into his oranges, wolfing them down (1a).

2. [connective] used to indicate the unexpected nature of the action that follows: and (then); and end up (doing sth.); [lim.] and in the end.

«Купит вот тот каналья повар… кота, обдерёт его да и подаёт на стол вместо зайца» (Гоголь 3). "That scoundrel of a cook they have… he'd buy a cat, skin it and then serve it up in place of a hare (3d).

3. [connective] (used to introduce a clause, phrase etc whose information adds to, and is usu. more important than, the information in the preceding statement) and furthermore: (and) besides; (and) anyway; (and) after all; moreover; and indeed; and what's more.

Близился полдень, и пахарь уже настораживал слух в сторону дома, что вот-вот жена его должна позвать обедать, да и быкам пора передохнуть (Искандер 4). It was getting near noon, and the plowman had an ear cocked toward the house: any minute now his wife would be calling him to dinner, and besides it was time to rest the oxen (4a). ♦ Что сталось с старухой и с бедным слепым — не знаю. Да и какое дело мне до радостей и бедствий человеческих… (Лермонтов 1). I've no idea what became of the old woman and the poor blind boy. And anyway, the joys and tribulations of mankind are of no concern to me… (1c).

4. [contrastive] used to connect contrasting clauses or parts of a sentence: and ⟨but, yet⟩ even.

«Один там только есть порядочный человек: прокурор; да и тот, если сказать правду, свинья» (Гоголь 3). "There's only one decent man among them, the public prosecutor, and even he, to tell the truth, is a dirty swine" (3a).

Д-2 • ДА НУ́?⟨!⟩ coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] (used as an expression of surprise, incredulity etc in response to s.o.'s statement) is that in fact true?: you don't say!; is that so?; come ⟨go⟩ on!; really?; you've got to be kidding!; [when expressing utter disbelief] come off it!

«Ты слышал? — говорит он мне. — Иванько отказался от своих притязаний». — «Да ну!» — «Абсолютно точно» (Войнович 3). "Did you hear?" he said to me. "Ivanko gave up his claim." "Come on!" "Absolutely" (3a). ♦ «Говори же!» — «Ничего особенного! Просто меня собираются пригласить в Михайловский театр». — «Да ну?» (Каверин 1). "Well, tell me!" "Oh, it's nothing special. Just that I'm being offered a job at the Mikhailovsky Theatre." "Go on!" (1a). ♦ «…Не знаешь, с какого бока к тебе и подойти». — «Да ну!» (Абрамов 1). "We're afraid to come near you nowadays." "Come off it!" (1a).

Д-3 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ЗНАТЬ [VP; usu. this WO] 1. ~ кому (о чём) [subj: human or collect; if there is no prep obj, often foll. by a clause introduced by что, когда etc] to inform s.o. (of sth.): X дал Y-у знать (о Z-е ⟨, что…⟩) ≃ X let Y know (about Z ⟨that…⟩); X sent word to Y (that…).

Попрощались [Гриша и Николай Демьянович] мирно, условились, что Николай Демьянович поглядит, подумает и через денька три-четыре даст знать (Трифонов 1). …The two men [Grisha and Nikolai Demianovich] parted on peaceful terms, with the understanding that Nikolai Demianovich would look over the manuscripts, think about them, and let him know in three or four days (1a).

2. ~ (кому) [subj: human or collect; foll. by a что-clause] to make sth. understood (through a gesture, facial expression, mode of behavior etc): X дал (Y-у) знать, что… ≃ X made it clear ⟨plain⟩ that…; X let Y know that…; X let it be known that…; X gave Y to understand that…; (by doing sth.) X showed that…

Управляющий лёгким поклоном-кивком дал знать, что распоряжение, и при том не без личного удовольствия, принято к сведению (Искандер 3). The bailiff, with a slight bow and a nod, let it be known that the disposition had been noted, and not without personal satisfaction (3a).

3. [subj: abstr, usu. a noun denoting some sound, movement etc; foll. by a что-clause] to indicate, evince (sth.): X давал знать, что… ≃ X showed that…; X gave evidence (to ⟨of⟩ the fact) that…; X was a sign that…; [in refer. to s.o.'s unsuccessful attempt(s) to conceal some emotion] X gave away that…

Д-4 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ О СЕБЕ́ ЗНАТЬ [VP] 1. ~ (кому) [subj: human] to communicate (with s.o.), send (s.o.) information about o.s.: X дал о себе знать (Y-у) ≃ X let Y know how X was doing ⟨how things were going with X etc⟩; X sent word about himself (to Y); [lim.] Y has heard from X; X was ⟨got⟩ in touch (with Y); X dropped Y a line; || Neg X не даёт о себе знать ≃ X hasn't been heard from.

2. [subj: human or animal] not to let one's presence go unnoticed or be forgotten: X даёт о себе знать ≃ X makes his ⟨its⟩ presence known; X makes himself ⟨itself⟩ heard.

Кязым открыл ворота и пересёк двор, удивляясь и настораживаясь от того, что собака не даёт о себе знать (Искандер 5). Kyazym opened the gate and crossed the yard, surprised and on his guard because the dog had not made her presence known (5a).

3. [subj: abstr or concr] (often of illness, a wound etc) to surface, manifest itself: X даёт о себе знать ≃ X makes itself felt; X has its effect on person Y; [of chronic illness, an ailing part of the body etc] X acts up; [of age, hardship, illness etc] X is beginning to take its toll.

Ветра не было. Шторм шёл где-то далеко в открытом море, а здесь он лишь давал о себе знать мощными, но чуть ленивыми ударами по пляжам (Аксёнов 8). There was no wind. The storm was somewhere way out in the open sea, and it only made itself felt here by pounding at the beaches with powerful, if slightly indolent blows (8a). ♦ «Настроение у меня хорошее… падает, только когда гипертония разгуливается. Она у меня давно, и вполне терпимая, но иногда всё-таки даёт о себе знать» (Грекова 3). "My mood is good… and goes bad only when high blood pressure takes over. I've had it for a long time, and it's quite bearable, but now and then it acts up" (3a).

Д-5 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ПОНЯ́ТЬ ⟨ПОЧУ́ВСТВОВАТЬ⟩ (кому) что; ДАВА́ТЬ ЧУ́ВСТВОВАТЬ [VP; subj: human; usu. foll. by a что-clause; fixed WO] to make (sth.) felt or understood: X дал Y-у понять, что… ≃ X gave Y to understand that…; X let Y know that…; X made it clear ⟨plain⟩ that…; X got the message across (that…); X conveyed to Y that…; [lim.] X's manner ⟨attitude etc⟩ sug- gested that…; || давая понять, что… ≃ [lim.] as if to say that…

В конце концов, Колчерукий сумел успокоить его [родственника], дав понять, что убить никогда не поздно, если окажется, что Сандро виноват (Искандер 3). In the end, Bad Hand managed to soothe him [the relative] by giving him to understand that it was never too late to kill Sandro if it turned out he was guilty (3a). ♦ …Всем своим видом [Ефим] давал понять, что пишет о хороших людях потому, что сам хороший и в жизни замечает только хорошее… (Войнович 6). …His [Yefim's] whole manner suggested that he wrote about decent people because he himself was decent and saw only the good in life… (6a).

Д-6 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ПРИКУРИ́ТЬ кому coll [VP; usu. pfv; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human] to scold s.o. severely, punish s.o.: X дал Y-у прикурить ≃ X let Y have it (with both barrels); X gave Y the business ⟨what for⟩; X gave it to Y (but good); X showed Y what's what; X gave Y hell; X lowered the boom on Y; Y caught hell (from X).

…Своему начальнику лесопункта он тоже сумеет ответить. Кубики тебе даём? Даём… И завтра он ещё даст кое-кому прикурить (Абрамов 1). …He had an answer ready for his logging boss too: I produce the goods, don't I?… And tomorrow he would show certain people what's what (1a).

2. [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to overwhelm, defeat s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy): X-ы дали Y-ам прикурить ≃ Xs crushed ⟨clobbered, creamed⟩ Ys; Xs gave Ys a licking; Xs beat the pants off Ys.

Д-7 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ СЕБЯ́ ЗНАТЬ ⟨ЧУ́ВСТВОВАТЬ⟩; ДАТЬ СЕБЯ́ ПОЧУ́ВСТВОВАТЬ [VP; subj: abstr or concr; usu. this WO] to manifest itself, become noticeable: X даёт себя знать ≃ X makes itself felt; X has its effect on person Y; [of chronic illess, an ailing part of the body etc] X acts up; [of age, hardship, illness etc] X is beginning to take its toll; [of age, illness etc] X is beginning to tell on person Y.

После той, батумской истории Влад навсегда зарёкся ввязываться в авантюры, подпадающие под какую-либо статью уголовного кодекса, но голод уже давал себя знать, да и роль, отведённая ему напарником в предстоящей операции, ограничивалась минимальным риском (Максимов 2). After the business in Batum, Vlad had sworn never to get mixed up in any adventures likely to be covered by some article of the Criminal Code, but hunger was already making itself felt, and his role of accomplice in the proposed operation involved only a minimum of risk (2a).

Д-8 • ПОД ДАВЛЕ́НИЕМ кого-чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] as a result of a constraining influence (of s.o. or sth. upon a person): at the insistence of s.o.; under pressure from s.o.; under the pressure of sth.; bowing to sth.; [lim.] under duress.

Очень часто раненое животное, заслышав шорох, бросается на выстрел охотника, бежит вперёд, назад и само ускоряет свой конец. То же самое делал Наполеон под давлением всего своего войска (Толстой 7). Very often a wounded animal, hearing a rustle, rushes straight at the hunter's gun, runs forward and back again, and hastens its own end. Napoleon, under pressure from his whole army, did the same thing (7b).

Д-9 • ДАВНО́ БЫ ТАК! coll [sent; Invar; usu. this WO] (used to express the speaker's approval of s.o.'s long awaited and desired action or decision) finally!: (it's) about time (, too)!; high time!; none ⟨not a moment⟩ too soon!; at long last; [lim.] this is how it should have been all along.

Увидя меня, он [Швабрин] смутился; но вскоре оправился, протянул мне руку, говоря: «И ты наш? Давно бы так!» (Пушкин 2). When he [Shvabrin] saw me he became confused, but he soon recovered himself and offered his hand, saying, "So you, too, are on our side? High time!" (2a). Shvabrin was clearly taken aback when he saw me, but he quickly recovered himself and held out his hand, saying, "Come over to us, have you? None too soon!" (2c).

Д-10 • ЗА ДА́ВНОСТЬЮ ЛЕТ ⟨ВРЕ́МЕНИ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (it is impossible to recall, determine etc sth. that existed or took place in the past) because so much time has passed since then: after so many ⟨after all these⟩ years; after all this time; sth. was ⟨happened etc⟩ so long ago that…; [lim.] at this late date.

Что за дамочка была у Шикалова и какая между ними приключилась история, автор за давностью лет, признаться, не помнит… (Войнович 2). To tell you the truth, after all these years the author can no longer recall what sort of lady Shikalov had or what adventures they shared… (2a).

Д-11 • ДО́РОГО БЫ ДАЛ, чтобы… or за что; МНО́ГО БЫ ⟨ЧЕГО́ БЫ НЕ⟩ ДАЛ [VP; subj: human (usu. a pronoun); subjunctive only; fixed WO with бы movable] one would be willing to give up, sacrifice sth. of great value in order to get sth. he really wants or make some desired event happen: дорого бы X дал ≃ X would give ⟨have given⟩ anything ⟨a lot, a great deal, much⟩; what X wouldn't give ⟨have given⟩; X would pay ⟨have paid⟩ dearly; X would give ⟨have given⟩ his right arm.

«…Пишите для театра. Это редкий вид дарования и я много дал бы, чтобы им обладать…» (Гладков 1). "…Write for the theatre. This is a very rare kind of gift and I would give a great deal to possess it myself…" (1a). ♦ «Моя жена, — продолжал князь Андрей, — прекрасная женщина. Это одна из тех редких женщин, с которою можно быть покойным за свою честь; но, боже мой, чего бы я не дал теперь, чтобы не быть женатым!» (Толстой 4). "My wife," Prince Andrei continued, "is an excellent woman, one of those rare women with whom a man's honor is secure, but, my God, what wouldn't I give not to be married now!" (4a).

Д-12 • НЕ ДА́ЛЕЕ ⟨НЕ ДА́ЛЬШЕ⟩ чего (пойти) [these forms only; the resulting AdvP is usu. adv] not (to move) any higher in rank than (the rank specified in the context): not (get) further than…; not (rise) above the rank of; rank no higher than…

…Люди степенные и занимающие важные должности как-то немного тяжеловаты в разговорах с дамами; на это мастера господа поручики и никак не далее капитанских чинов (Гоголь 3). …Sedate men and those occupying important posts are a trifle clumsy in their converse with ladies; the real masters of this art are lieutenants and certainly not anyone above the rank of captain (3b).

Д-13 • НЕ ДА́ЛЕЕ ⟨НЕ ДА́ЛЬШЕ⟩ КАК ⟨ЧЕМ⟩… [AdvP; these forms only; used as a restr marker; the resulting AdvP is adv; fixed WO] (of time) precisely at or not before (the indicated time in the past), precisely at or not later than (the indicated time in the future); (of place) precisely at (the place indicated): [in refer. to the past] ~ вчера ⟨неделю назад, пять минут назад и т.п.⟩ ≃ only yesterday ⟨a week ago, five minutes ago etc⟩; just yesterday ⟨a week ago, five minutes ago etc⟩; not ⟨no⟩ more than a week ⟨five minutes etc⟩ ago; [in limited contexts; when used to point out that the event in question took place at the same time as some previously mentioned related event] that very (night ⟨day etc⟩); || [in refer. to the future] ~ завтра ⟨в будущем году и т.п.〉 ≃ not 〈no〉 later than tomorrow 〈next year etc〉; tomorrow 〈next year etc〉, and no later; || [in refer. to a place] right in 〈at〉 this 〈that〉…; in 〈at〉 this 〈that〉 very…

«А ты знаешь, что этот депутат не далее как вчера политическое убежище попросил?» — «Не может, — режиссер говорит, — быть!» (Войнович 1). “Are you aware that this deputy only yesterday requested political asylum in the West?” “That can’t be!” says the director (1a). ♦ Павел Петрович сказал нам: дорогой коллега, как славно, что имя, произнесённое вами не далее как минуту назад, растворилось, рассеялось в воздухе… (Соколов 1). Pavel Petrovich told us: dear colleague, how glorious it is that the name you uttered not more than a minute ago dissolved, dissipated in the air… (1a).

Д-14 • ДАЛЕКО́ кому-чему ДО кого-чего [Invar; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] some person (or thing) does not compare with, is very inferior to some other person (or thing): X-у далеко до Y-а ≃ X is no match for Y; X can’t hold a candle to Y; X comes nowhere near Y; X is no comparison to Y; X is not in the same class 〈league〉 as Y; X is a far cry from Y.

[Мелания:] Зобунова — лекариха знаменитая. Докторам — далеко до неё! (Горький 2). [M.:] Zobunova’s a famous healer. The doctors come nowhere near her! (2a).

Д-15 • ДАЛЕКО́ ЗА [Invar] 1. далеко (далёко) за полночь [the resulting AdvP is adv or impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] much later than: (till) well 〈way, long〉 past midnight; (till) well 〈long〉 after midnight; far 〈late〉 into the night.

Пошли толки, расспросы; говорил больше Аркадий, особенно за ужином, который продолжался далеко за полночь (Тургенев 2). They all began to talk and ask questions. Arkady chattered most, especially at supper, which lasted till well past midnight (2c). Discussion and questions followed; Arkady spoke most of all, especially during supper, which lasted until long after midnight (2g).

2. (кому) ~ [foll. by a Num; the resulting AdvP is usu. impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] (of a person’s age) much more than: well 〈way, considerably〉 over [Num]; way past [Num]; much older than [Num].

Перед войной мы с ним [дедушкой] ездили в Ленинград, ему было уже далеко за семьдесят… (Рыбаков 1). Before the war, we went to Leningrad together when he [my grandfather] was already well over seventy… (1a).

Д-16 • ДАЛЕКО́ НЕ [Particle; Invar; used as intensified negation] not at all: far from (it); not (…) by any means; a long way from (doing sth. 〈being…〉); [lim.] anything but (…); not anywhere 〈nowhere〉 near…; not (…) by a long shot; no [NP]; || далеко не все 〈не каждый и т.п.〉 ≃ [lim.] very few.

Впрочем, большая ошибка считать, что все французы брюнеты. Далеко не все (Рыбаков 1). As a matter of fact, it’s a mistake to imagine all Frenchmen as dark-haired. Far from it… (1a). ♦ …Только глупые люди думают, что животные лишь мыкают да блеют. Нет, животные далеко не только мыкают да блеют! (Искандер 5). …It’s only foolish people who think that animals merely moo and bleat. No, animals are a long way from mere mooing and bleating! (5a). ♦ …В том виде, в каком Глупов предстал глазам его, город этот далеко не отвечал его идеалам (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). …Foolov, as it appeared to his eyes, did not come anywhere near his ideal (1a).

Д-17 • В ДАЛЬНЕ́ЙШЕМ [PrepP; Invar; usu. sent adv] 1. from some point in time onward: [in present and future contexts] in the future; from now 〈this point, this moment〉 on; henceforth; [lim.] future…; [in past contexts] afterward(s); from then 〈that point, that moment〉 on; [lim.] as time went by.

Некоторые довольно интеллигентные люди, замечая отдельные недостатки, которые всё ещё имеют место в нашей стране, думают: а что, если слегка потеснить большевиков, чтобы в дальнейшем, устранив эти недостатки, перестать их теснить? (Искандер 4). There are certain rather well-informed people who notice the isolated shortcomings that still exist in our country and think: What if we crowd the Bolsheviks a little, with the idea that we’ll stop crowding them in the future, when we’ve eliminated these deficiencies? (4a).

2. (presented, referred to etc) subsequently (in the book, manuscript, or document in question): below; hereafter; henceforth.

Главы, посвящённые цветам, не имеют особой связи с описанным в дальнейшем (Федин 1). The chapters devoted to flowers have no particular connection with what is described below (1a).

Д-18 • ДА́ЛЬШЕ — БО́ЛЬШЕ; ДА́ЛЕЕ — БО́ЛЕЕ [sent; these forms only; usu. used in past contexts; fixed WO] (usu. in refer. to sth. disagreeable) the longer a process, activity etc continues, the more intense it becomes: as time went on, it got 〈grew〉 worse (and worse); (then) it went from bad to worse; it went downhill from there.

[Анисья:] Ничегохонько не угадывала, а у них [Акулины и Никиты] согласье уж было. [Кума:] О-о, дело-то какое! [Анисья:] Дальше — больше, вижу, от меня хорониться стали (Толстой 1). [A.:] It never occurred to me that there might already have been an understanding between them [Akulina and Nikita]. [K.:] Oh, dear, what a disgraceful business! [A.:] And as time went on, it got worse and worse, and they began to hide from me (1c).

Д-19 • Я ТЕБЕ 〈те *substand, вам и т.п.〉 ДА́М 〈ЗАДА́М, ПОКАЖУ́〉!; Я ТЕБЕ! all coll [sent; usu. 1st or 3rd pers; fut only; fixed WO] used to express a threat to punish or a threatening reproach (sometimes the interlocutor’s last word or remark is repeated): I’ll teach 〈show〉 you 〈him etc〉!; I’ll give 〈stick〉 it to you 〈him etc〉!; I’ll give 〈show〉 you 〈him etc〉 what for!; [when part of the interlocutor’s statement is repeated] don’t even think about…!; don’t you dare…!

Ростов злобно оглянулся на Ильина и, не отвечая ему, быстрыми шагами направился к деревне. «Я им покажу, я им задам, разбойникам!» — говорил он про себя (Толстой 6). Rostov gave Ilyin a wrathful look, and without replying, strode in the direction of the village. “I’ll show them! I’ll give it to them, those ruffians!” he said to himself (6a). ♦ «Я вот тебе! — погрозил ему пальцем и улыбнулся директор. — Ты у меня смотри, договоришься!» (Домбровский 2). “I’ll give you what for!” A smiling director wagged an admonitory finger. “Just you be careful with that tongue of yours!” (2a).

Д-20 • ДА́МА СЕ́РДЦА usu. humor [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] a beloved woman, sweetheart: lady 〈queen〉 of one’s 〈s.o.’s〉 heart; ladylove.

…А утром Абрамов, истёртый молодой человек тридцати двух лет, осторожненько выходил на зорьке, дабы не скомпрометировать даму сердца перед соседями (Попов 1). The next morning, Abramov, a worn-looking man of thirty-two, was leaving the house at dawn, ever so cautiously, so as not to compromise the lady of his heart in the eyes of her neighbors (1a).

Д-21 • В ДА́МКАХ; В ДА́МКИ выйти, выскочить и т.п. both coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human); usu. pres (1st var.)] (one is) in an advantageous position, (one is) a winner: X — в дамках ≃ X has it ⟨the game⟩ all wrapped ⟨sewed⟩ up; X is sitting pretty; it's in the bag (for X).

Пленных не брать! Вот так! Раз, два и в дамках! Современная война — стремительная штука! (Аксёнов 6). Take no prisoners! Just like that. One, two, three and it's in the bag! Speed is the essence of modern warfare! (6a).

Д-22 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ ⟨ПЛАТИ́ТЬ/ЗАПЛАТИ́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ДАНЬ lit [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. ~ (чего) кому-чему to appreciate s.o. or sth. in full measure for his or its merit, show one's appreciation for s.o. or sth.: X отдал Y-у дань (Z-а) ≃ X paid homage to Y ⟨X paid Y the homage of Z⟩; X paid tribute to Y; [lim.] X gave person Y credit for Z.

Такой путь менее тернист, чем обычный, который предполагал ученичество у шумевших тогда официальных метров символизма — у Бальмонта, Брюсова или Вячеслава Иванова (им Мандельштам, конечно, отдал дань, но не столь большую, как другие) (Мандельштам 2). There was a less thorny path than the one that in those years usually requires an apprenticeship with the acknowledged masters of Symbolism: Balmont, Briusov, or Viacheslav Ivanov, then at the height of their fame. (M[andelstam] naturally paid them due tribute, but to a lesser degree than others did) (2a). ♦ И отдавая дань уму моей матери, надо сказать, что вела она себя с Ивановскими идеально, в том смысле, что запрятала подальше свою дерзость и строптивость (Рыбаков 1). It should also be said, giving my mother credit for intelligence, that she behaved perfectly with the Ivanovskys, and kept her rudeness and obstinacy well out of sight (1a).

2. ~ чему to comply with sth., yield to sth.: X отдаёт дань Y-у ≃ X pays tribute to Y; X makes concessions to Y; X respects Y; [lim.] X succumbs ⟨gives in⟩ to Y.

Он [Вертинский] отдавал дань моде, отражал те настроения, которые влияли в ту эпоху даже на таких серьёзных деятелей искусства, как Александр Блок, Алексей Толстой, Владимир Маяковский (Олеша 3). He [Vertinsky] paid tribute to fashion, reflecting those attitudes which in that epoch influenced even such serious artistic figures as Alexander Blok, Alexey Tolstoy, and Vladimir Mayakovsky (3a).

3. ~ кому-чему to pay attention to s.o. or sth. (often, in one's writings, speech etc): X отдал дань Y-у ≃ X gave Y Y's due; X gave Y credit; X paid homage to Y.

Д-23 • ДАР РЕ́ЧИ ⟨СЛО́ВА⟩ [NP; sing only; usu. subj or obj; fixed WO] 1. обрести, потерять, утратить дар речи, лишиться дара речи и т.п. (to regain, lose etc) the ability to speak: the power ⟨the gift⟩ of speech; (the use of) one's voice;|| потерять дар речи ≃ be ⟨become⟩ speechless; (be) dumbstruck ⟨struck dumb, at a loss for words⟩; lose ⟨be unable to find⟩ one's tongue; || обрести дар речи ≃ find one's voice ⟨tongue⟩.

«Ты что, а? — глухо сказал он [старик], прижимая к себе внука. — Ты что, а? Ты что?» — И кроме этих слов, он не мог произнести ничего, словно утратил дар речи (Айтматов 1). "What is it, eh?" he [the old man] said hoarsely, pressing the boy to himself. "What is it, eh? What is it?" He seemed unable to say any other word, as though he had lost the power of speech (1a). ♦ «Есть мужчины, которые теряют дар речи от… вида округлившегося женского брюха» (Окуджава 2). "There are men who become speechless when faced with a rounded female belly" (2a).

2. the ability to speak beautifully, expressively: (have) the gift of eloquence ⟨gab⟩; (have) a way with words; (have) the power of expression; [lim.] (have mastered) the art of conversation; (be) silver-tongued; || у X-а нет дара слова ≃ X is not much of a speaker.

…Собакевич вошёл, как говорится, в самую силу речи, откуда взялись рысь и дар слова… (Гоголь 3). …Sobakevich had got into the vein, as they say. Whence came this gift of gab and the pace of his speech? (3b). …Sobakevich had hit the peak of his eloquence, as they say, and his pace and power of expression were truly surprising (3c).

Д-24 • НА ДАРМОВЩИ́НУ ⟨ДАРМОВЩИ́НКУ, ДАРОВЩИ́НУ, ДАРОВЩИ́НКУ⟩ highly coll, often disapprov; НА ЧУЖАЧКА́ substand [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to get or do sth. for which payment is normally required) without spending any money, without cost to o.s.: free; for free; free of charge; for nothing; [lim.] at s.o.'s ⟨someone else's⟩ expense; [with the NP implied by the context; usu. of food and/or drinks] (for) a free [NP]; [when the translation of the idiom incorporates the Russian verb; usu. in refer. to the repeated or prolonged exploitation of s.o.'s hospitality] freeload.

Рысс стакан за стаканом дул цинандали. Платили какие-то физики из Новосибирска, и барабанщик старался побыстрее на дармовщинку «поймать кайф» (Аксёнов 6). Ryss was drinking glass after glass of Tsinandali, a Georgian white wine. Some physicists from Novosibirsk were playing, and the drummer was trying to get high as quickly as possible at their expense (6a). ♦ Все, все были тут, критики тайные, насмешники, презиратели, все на дармовщинку сбежались… (Трифонов 1). All of them, all of these secret critics and scoffers were here. They had all come running for free drinks and a free meal (1a).

Д-25 • ДА́РОМ ЧТО coll [subord Conj, concessive] notwithstanding (the fact that): (even) though; although; despite ⟨in spite of⟩ (the fact that ⟨s.o.'s doing sth. etc⟩); [lim.] even if; it doesn't matter that…; I ⟨you etc⟩ may… but; || даром что профессор ⟨судья, умный и т.п.⟩ ≃ professor ⟨judge, intelligent etc⟩ or not…

Мужичок ехал рысцой на белой лошадке по тёмной узкой дорожке вдоль самой рощи; он весь был ясно виден, весь, до заплаты на плече, даром что ехал в тени… (Тургенев 2). A little peasant on a white nag was trotting along a dark, narrow path next to the grove; he was clearly visible, all of him, including the patch on his shoulder, even though he was in the shadows… (2g). A peasant on a white nag went at a trot along the dark, narrow path close beside the copse; his whole figure was clearly visible even to the patch on his shoulder, in spite of his being in the shade… (2b).

Д-26 • ДАРЫ́ ДАНА́ЙЦЕВ lit [NP; pl only; fixed WO] a treacherous gift intended to bring disaster, destroy its recipient(s): beware of Greeks bearing gifts; gifts borne by Greeks; (s.o.'s) Greek gift.

< From the legend of the large wooden horse built by the Greeks and taken by the Trojans into their city as a gift. Later, the Greeks who had hidden inside the hollow horse climbed out, opened the gates of Troy to their army, and seized the city. Described in Homer's Odyssey (VIII, 492–520 etc) and Virgil's Aeneid (II, 45–49).

Д-27 • КРУ́ГЛАЯ ДА́ТА [NP; usu. subj or obj; fixed WO] an anniversary counted in round numbers that are usu. multiples of ten or twenty-five: (good ⟨nice⟩) round figure.

Кстати, сказал директор Ларька, скоро юбилей основания Ларька. Пятьдесят лет. Да, круглая дата (Зиновьев 1). By the way, said the director of the Shop, it'll soon be the fiftieth anniversary of our foundation. It's a good round figure (1a).

Д-28 • НИ ДАТЬ НИ ВЗЯТЬ coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [modif] a person (or thing) looks absolutely the same as another person (or thing): (look) exactly ⟨just⟩ like (s.o.

⟨sth.⟩); for all the world like (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩); (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) could (easily) have been a [NP]; like a regular [NP]; a real [NP]; a [NP] nothing less; nothing less than a [NP].

Ещё и ещё падали на стол снимки, и вот мелькнул покатый, тупой (ни дать ни взять мучной ларь) архиерейский дом… (Домбровский 1). More and more photographs fell onto the table. I caught a glimpse of a squat, square archbishop's palace (looking exactly like a flour-bin)… (1a). ♦ Машина остановилась точно там, где нужно было: между Огородниковым и фон Дерецки. Последний, когда первый начал говорить, приосанился и нацепил на нос очки в железной оправе, ни дать ни взять теоретик из Пном-Пеня (Аксёнов 12). The machine stopped just where it should have: in the center of the table, between Ogorodnikov and Von Deretzki. When the former began speaking, the latter straightened up and put on wire-rim glasses, like a regular theoretician from Phnom Penh (12a).

2. [sent adv; often foll. by a как-clause or phrase] (to do sth.) in precisely the same way that someone else does it: just ⟨exactly⟩ like; for all the world like ⟨as if⟩; exactly ⟨just⟩ how ⟨the way⟩ (someone else does it).

…Люди на пароходе, в море, разговаривают и смеются беззаботно, ни дать ни взять, как на твёрдой земле… (Тургенев 2). …People on a steamer at sea talk and laugh light-heartedly, for all the world as if they were on dry land… (2c). ♦ Дворня хохотала, дружно сочувствуя и лакею, прибившему казачка, и Захару, злобно радовавшемуся этому. Только казачку никто не сочувствовал. «Вот, вот этак же, ни дать ни взять, бывало мой прежний барин, — начал опять тот же лакей, что всё перебивал Захара. — Ты бывало думаешь, как бы повеселиться, а он вдруг, словно угадает, что ты думал, идет мимо, да и ухватит вот этак, вот как Матвей Мосеич Андрюшку» (Гончаров 1). Everyone was laughing, siding unanimously with the footman who had administered the thrashing and with Zakhar who had so gleefully cheered him on. No one had any sympathy for the boy. "That's my old master to a T, exactly the way he used to act." The same valet who had kept on interrupting Zakhar chimed in yet again. "There you'd be, trying to think of something to cheer yourself up and he would pass by, and, as if he could read your mind, grab hold of you just like Matvei Moseyich just did" (1c).

Д-29 • ДАЮ́Т — БЕРИ́, БЬЮТ — БЕГИ́ [saying] accept what you are given, run away from what is harmful: ≃ don't refuse a gift, don't accept a blow; when offered something good accept it gratefully, when in danger beat a fast retreat; [when only the first half of the saying is used] take what you're given (and be thankful); don't look a gift horse in the mouth.

«Берите [деньги], раз даю! Не на вовсе ведь. Взаймы». — «Конечно! В течение года я всё выплачу, Дуся. А может, расписку написать, чтобы тебе спокойней было?» — предложила я. По лицу тёти Дуси пробежало лёгкое раздражение. «Пословицу знаете: бьют — беги, дают — бери!.. Неужто не поверю на слово? Не первый день знаемся…» (Гинзбург 2). "Take it [the money], since I've given it to you! It's not as if I'm throwing the money away—it's on loan." "Of course! I'll pay it back within the year, Dusya. But perhaps you'd feel happier if I gave you a receipt," I ventured. A look of mild irritation flitted acros Aunt Dusya's face. "You know the saying: 'Don't accept a blow, don't refuse a gift.'… You think I wouldn't take your word for it? We've known each other some time now…" (2a).

Д-30 • НИ ДВА НИ ПОЛТОРА́ coll [Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr), modif, or adv; fixed WO] neither one thing nor another, (sth. that is) difficult to identify: neither this nor that; neither fish nor fowl.

…Эти волосы дурацкие, ни два ни полтора: полудлинные, неухоженные… (Грекова 1). …This stupid hair of mine, neither this nor that, too long, unkempt… (1a).

Д-31 • КАК ДВА́ЖДЫ ДВА (ЧЕТЫ́РЕ) coll [как + NP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. ясно, понятно ~ [modif] absolutely, completely (clear, understandable): as clear ⟨simple⟩ as twice ⟨two times⟩ two makes ⟨is⟩ four; as clear ⟨plain⟩ as can be; (as) plain as day.

Отдельно от общих… способностей ума, чувствительности, художнического чувства, существует частная, более или менее развитая в различных кружках общества и особенно в семействах, способность, которую я назову пониманием… Ни с кем, как с Володей, с которым мы развивались в одинаковых условиях, не довели мы этой способности до такой тонкости. Уже и папа давно отстал от нас, и многое, что для нас было так же ясно, как дважды два, было ему непонятно (Толстой 2). Apart from the general faculties… of intelligence, sensibility, and artistic feeling, there is a particular faculty, developed to a greater or lesser degree in various circles of society and especially in families, that I choose to call understanding…. With no one was this faculty developed to such a pitch of subtlety as with Volodya and myself, who had grown up together in identical circumstances. Even Papa was far behind us in this respect and much that was as clear as twice two makes four to us was incomprehensible to him (2b).

2. доказать, растолковать и т.п. ~ [adv; usu. used with pfv verbs] (to prove) convincingly, (to explain) clearly, completely: (prove) beyond a shadow of a doubt; (make it) perfectly (clear); (make it clear) in no uncertain terms.

…[Капитан] как дважды два объяснил Капе что хотя она и является вольнонаёмной, но служба в военном учреждении в военное время обязывает её выполнять приказания беспрекословно, точно и в срок… (Войнович 2). …[The captain] made it perfectly clear to Kapa that although she was a civilian her position in a military institution during wartime obliged her to carry out orders unquestioningly, to the letter and to the minute… (2a).

3. [adv; used with pfv verbs, usu. fut] (sth. will happen) definitely, certainly: as sure as twice ⟨two times⟩ two makes ⟨is⟩ four; as sure as I'm standing here; as sure as God made little (green) apples.

«Дело известное, что мужик: на новой земле, да заняться ещё хлебопашеством, да ничего у него нет, ни избы, ни двора, убежит, как дважды два, навострит так лыжи, что и следа не отыщешь» (Гоголь 3). "You know perfectly well what a Russian peasant is like: settle him on new land and set him to till it, with nothing prepared for him, neither cottage nor farmstead, and, well, he'll run away, as sure as twice two makes four. He'll take to his heels and you won't find a trace of him" (3a).

Д-32 • ЗАКРЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАКРЫ́ТЬ ДВЕ́РИ ДО́МА перед кем; often чьи ДВЕ́РИ ЗАКРЫ́ТЫ ⟨ДВЕРЬ чьего ДО́МА ЗАКРЫ́ТА⟩ для кого all obsoles, lit [VP, subj: human (1st var.); VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$ (2nd var.); fixed WO (1st var.), usu. this WO (2nd var.)] to refuse to receive s.o. into one's home: X закрыл двери (своего) дома перед Y-ом ≃ X shut ⟨closed⟩ his door(s) to Y; X barred Y from X's home; Y is not ⟨no longer⟩ welcome (in X's home).

«…Я бы очень желал доказать вам, что вы насчёт меня ошибались…» — «Вам это будет довольно трудно…» — «Отчего же?» — «Оттого, что вы у нас не бываете, а эти балы, вероятно, не часто будут повторяться». Это значит, подумал я, что их двери для меня навеки закрыты (Лермонтов 1). "…I would wish very much to prove to you that you are mistaken about me." "You will find this rather difficult." "Why so?" "Because you do not come to our house, and these balls will probably not take place very often." "This means," I thought, "that their door is closed to me forever" (1a).

Д-33 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ ДВЕ́РИ ⟨ДВЕРЬ⟩ кому-чему куда lit [VP; subj: usu. abstr or concr, occas. human; indir obj: usu. human; usu. this WO] to give s.o. (or sth.)

easy access (to some institution, desirable place of work or research etc): X открыл Y-у двери в место Z ≃ X opened the doors of place Z for Y; X is Y's ticket to place Z.

Д-34 • ВЫСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ВЫ́СТАВИТЬ ЗА ДВЕРЬ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to eject s.o. (from one's home, office etc): X выставил Y-а за дверь ≃ X turned ⟨threw, kicked⟩ Y out (of the house etc); X threw ⟨kicked, shoved⟩ Y out the door; X sent Y packing; X gave Y the (old) heave-ho.

«Ну, как у вас подвигается роман с очаровательной Наташей Н?.. Смотрите, как бы её маман в один прекрасный день, несмотря на весь свой аристократизм, не выставила вас за дверь» (Катаев 3). "And how is your affair with the charming Natasha N. proceeding?… Mind her mother doesn't turn you out of the house one fine day, for all her gentility" (3a).

Д-35 • ДВЕРЬ В ДВЕРЬ (с кем-чем) жить, находиться, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. [Invar; adv] (to live, be located) next to or opposite one another: right ⟨just, only⟩ next door (to each other); side by side; [lim.] (right) across from; across the way from.

…Стёпа басит, что… как только всё утрясется… он сейчас же прикатит наше пианино обратно, благо живём-то дверь в дверь (Гинзбург 2). …Stepan muttered that… as soon as things quieted down… he could roll the piano straight back again, since we were only next door (2a).

Д-36 • ЛОМИ́ТЬСЯ В ОТКРЫ́ТУЮ ДВЕРЬ ⟨В ОТКРЫ́ТЫЕ ДВЕ́РИ⟩ [VP; subj: human; often infin with зачем, незачем, не стоит etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to argue or try to prove sth. that is already obvious, well-known, and that no one disputes: X ломится в открытую дверь ≃ X is forcing an open door; X is belaboring ⟨restating, trying to prove⟩ the obvious; [lim.] X is preaching to the converted ⟨choir⟩.

«Николаев утверждает, что наши рабочие не готовы активно участвовать в управлении заводом». — «Зачем он ломится в открытую дверь?» "Nikolaev maintains that our workers aren't ready to participate actively in the management of the plant." "Why is he bothering to restate the obvious?"

< Loan translation of the French enfoncer une porte ouverte.

Д-37 • СТУЧА́ТЬСЯ В ДВЕРЬ чью ⟨В ДВЕ́РИ чьи⟩ or кого-чего [VP] 1. coll [subj: human] to approach s.o. or go to some place(s) repeatedly, persistently requesting sth., trying to obtain sth.: X стучится в Y-ову дверь ≃ X goes knocking on ⟨at⟩ Y's door; || X стучится в двери мест Y-ов ≃ X goes knocking on the doors of places Y; X makes the rounds of places Y; || X стучится во все двери ≃ X knocks ⟨raps, beats⟩ on every door; X beats down every door.

Прошло года четыре. Я только что вышел из университета и не знал ещё хорошенько, что мне начать с собою, в какую дверь стучаться… (Тургенев 3). Four years passed. I had just left the university and had not quite made up my mind what to do with myself, at what door to knock… (3a).

2. lit [subj: abstr] (often of sth. unwelcome—poverty, misfortune etc) to approach steadily, be close at hand: X стучится в (Y-ову) дверь ≃ X is knocking at the ⟨Y's⟩ door; X is at ⟨on⟩ the ⟨Y's⟩ doorstep; X is breathing down Y's neck; X is looming nearer and nearer.

Д-38 • УКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/УКАЗА́ТЬ ⟨ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ⟩ (НА) ДВЕРЬ кому [VP; subj: human] to demand that s.o. leave, drive s.o. out: X указал Y-у на дверь ≃ X showed Y the door.

Вообще всякая неожиданная бытовая неурядица, а особенно несвоевременный незваный гость, бесцельная потеря времени — больше всего изводили [Ленина] и выбивали из рабочего состояния… Но есть этика эмиграции, и ты беззащитен против таких посетителей, ты не можешь просто указать им на дверь или не пустить… (Солженицын 5). In general, any unexpected upset to his [Lenin's] daily routine, especially an uninvited and untimely guest, any pointless waste of time, so exasperated and unsettled him that he was incapable of work…. But the émigré world has its own code of behavior and you are defenseless against such visitors, you cannot simply show them the door or refuse to let them in (5a).

Д-39 • ХЛО́ПНУТЬ ДВЕ́РЬЮ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to leave some place in an ostentatious manner, showing indignation, anger etc: X хлопнул дверью ≃ X stormed ⟨stomped⟩ out; X left in a huff; [lim.] X slammed the door.

Девушке было предложено покинуть дом, ибо её поведение было расценено как посягательство на наследство. Гордая Александрина хлопнула дверью, имея при себе небольшой сундучок с нехитрым скарбом и горькие воспоминания (Окуджава 2). …She [Alexandrina] was asked to leave the house, since her behavior was seen as an attempt to gain the inheritance. Proud Alexandrina slammed the door, taking with her a small trunk with her few possessions and her bitter memories (2a).

Д-40 • ПРИ ЗАКРЫ́ТЫХ ДВЕРЯ́Х [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] in the presence of involved (often official) parties only, without an outside audience: behind closed doors; in private.

«Я не приду на ваше заседание, потому что оно будет происходить при закрытых дверях, втайне от общественности…» (Войнович 1). "I'm not coming to your meeting because it will be held behind closed doors, in secret, out of public view…" (1a).

Д-41 • НА СВОИ́Х (НА) ДВОИ́Х идти, прийти, добираться, прибывать и т.п. coll, humor [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to go, get to some place etc) on foot: on one's own two feet ⟨legs⟩; under one's own power ⟨steam⟩; hoof ⟨foot⟩ it; [lim.] on ⟨by⟩ shanks' ⟨shank's⟩ mare.

Обычно к приезду сезонниц все ребятишки в радиусе двухсот километров начинают наводить блеск на свою амуницию, стригутся под канадскую полечку и торопятся в порт Петрово на всех видах транспорта, а то и на своих на двоих (Аксёнов 1). Usually, toward the time the summer girls arrive, all the guys make with the spit and polish, get themselves a ducktail haircut, and hasten to the port of Petrovo on all forms of transport, or else on their own two feet (1a).

Д-42 • НА ДВОР ходить, пойти, надо, хотеть и т.п. substand [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] (to go outside) in order to defecate or urinate: go outside to relieve o.s. ⟨to answer the call of nature⟩; use ⟨go to⟩ the outhouse; (one) has to go.

Чонкин из-за укрытия бдительно следил за своими противниками. Они лежали в грязи… «Пущай лежат, покуда меня не сменят». — «А если тебе на двор надо будет?» — «Если на двор… Тогда ты посторожишь» (Войнович 2). From his cover, Chonkin kept a vigilant eye on his enemies. They were all lying in the mud now…. "They can lie there until someone relieves me."

"But what if you have to go to the outhouse?" "If I have to…. Then you can stand guard a few minutes" (2a).

Д-43 • ПРОХОДНО́Й ДВОР disapprov [NP; sing only; often subj-compl with copula (subj: concr)] an apartment, office etc where people who do not belong there come and go at all times (thus encroaching on the people who live, work etc there): (like) a public thoroughfare; (like) a hotel ⟨an open house⟩.

[Ольга:] Наш сад как проходной двор, через него и ходят и ездят (Чехов 5). [О.:] Our garden's like a public thoroughfare. Everyone walks and drives through it (5b).

Д-44 • НА ДВОРЕ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. [adv] outside of a building, in the open: outside; outdoors; out-of-doors.

Пьер поспешно оделся и выбежал на крыльцо. На дворе было ясно, свежо, росисто и весело (Толстой 6). Pierre hastily dressed and ran out to the porch. Outside it was fresh and dewy, a bright, clear day (6a).

2. coll [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. a noun denoting a season, month, part of a day etc)] sth. is soon to come, very near: X на дворе ≃ X is close ⟨near⟩ at hand; it's almost X; X is coming up; X is just ⟨right⟩ around the corner.

Д-45 • КО ДВОРУ́ (где, кому) быть$_{ø}$, прийтись, оказаться coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or, rare, concr or abstr); usu. used with pfv past; usu. neg] s.o. or sth. is welcome (at some place), suited or corresponding to s.o.'s (or some kind of) requirements: X пришёлся ко двору (в месте Y) ≃ X fitted well ⟨aptly⟩ (into place Y); X fitted right in (at place Y); thing X filled the bill; || Neg X не пришёлся ко двору (в месте Y) ≃ X didn't fit in (at place Y); X was out of place (at place Y).

Наталья пришлась Мелеховым ко двору (Шолохов 2). Natalya fitted well into the Melekhov household (2a). ♦ Вадима смущало отношение матери и сестры к Кире. Правда, пожаловаться на то, что они относятся к ней дурно, он не мог. Внешне всё было очень хорошо. И всё же Вадим чувствовал, что Кира здесь как-то не пришлась ко двору (Некрасов 1). Vadim was disconcerted by his mother's and sister's attitude to Kira. He could not, it was true, say that they treated her badly. On the surface everything was fine. Nevertheless Vadim felt that Kira somehow did not fit in here (1a).

Д-46 • СТА́РАЯ ДЕ́ВА [NP; fixed WO] a woman past her youth who has never married, has no sexual experience: old maid; spinster.

Она знала: либо за Игоря, либо в старые девы. Она не могла без него (Ерофеев 3). She knew that it was either marry Igor or become an old maid. She couldn't live without him (3a).

Д-47 • ДЕВА́ТЬ/ДЕТЬ НЕ́КУДА кого-чего (у кого or где) coll [these forms only; usu. quantit compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun); usu. impfv] an extremely large amount, an excess: X-ов у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩ — девать некуда ≃ Y has more Xs than he knows what to do with; Y has enough Xs and then some; there are more Xs in place Z than you can shake a stick at; Xs are a dime a dozen in place Z; Y has Xs coming out of Y's ears.

Пристанет [Басаврюк], бывало, к красным девушкам: надарит лент, серёг, монист — девать некуда! (Гоголь 5). Sometimes he'd [Basavriuk would] set upon the girls, heap ribbons, earrings, necklaces on them, till they did not know what to do with them (5a).

Д-48 • ДЕВА́ТЬСЯ/ДЕ́ТЬСЯ НЕ́КУДА (кому) [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] 1. s.o. has no place to go for entertainment, nothing with which to fill time: X-у некуда было деваться ≃ X had nowhere to go (and nothing to do); X had no way to kill time.

2. [usu. impfv; usu. this WO] s.o. has no other choice of action, is forced by circumstances to act in a certain way (as specified by the context): X-у деваться некуда ≃ X has ⟨there is⟩ no (other) alternative ⟨way out⟩; X has no other recourse (but…); there is nothing X can do (about sth.); there is nothing else to do (but…); there is nothing for it (but…); [in refer. to a pledge, promise, statement of position etc] X is stuck with it ⟨his promise, his offer etc⟩; there is no going ⟨turning⟩ back.

И Фрейдкин, как всякий кулак, за этот кредит брал проценты. Беднякам деваться некуда… (Рыбаков 1). …Like any kulak, Freidkin charged interest. There was nothing the poor people could do… (1a). ♦ «Слов на ветер Лаффит бросать не привык, сказал „любую сумму" — деваться некуда. Зазорно ему… от своего банкирского слова отказываться» (Акунин 7). "Laffitte was not in the habit of making idle promises; he had said 'any amount,' and now he was stuck with it. It would have been shameful for him to… break his word as a banker" (7a).

Д-49 • КРА́СНАЯ ДЕ́ВИЦА ⟨ДЕ́ВУШКА obsoles, coll, ДЕ́ВКА substand⟩ [NP; fixed WO] a very shy and timid young man: shrinking violet; (be) like a shy girl ⟨maiden⟩; (be) like a blushing virgin.

Д-50 • В ДЕ́ВКАХ остаться, засидеться, сидеть и т.п. highly coll, rather rude when addressed to the interlocutor [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human, female)] (to remain, be) unmarried: X осталась в девках ≃ X remained ⟨was⟩ an old maid ⟨a spinster⟩; X was left on the shelf; || X засиделась ⟨сидит⟩ в девках ≃ X hasn't found anybody ⟨the right man⟩ yet; X is still single ⟨alone⟩.

«Дура ты, Люська, — засмеялась Сима, — эдак ты даже при твоей красоте в девках останешься» (Аксёнов 1). "You're a dope, Lusya," laughed Sima. "At that rate you'll be an old maid for all your good looks" (1a). ♦ Не одна Нюра, конечно, в девках сидела, но у других хоть были либо родители, либо братья и сёстры, либо ещё кто, а у неё — никого (Войнович 2). Of course Nyura wasn't the only one who hadn't found anybody, but the others at least had their parents or their brothers and sisters. Nyura had no one (2a).

Д-51 • МЕНЯ́ТЬ/ПЕРЕМЕНИ́ТЬ ⟨СМЕНИ́ТЬ⟩ ДЕКОРА́ЦИИ [VP; subj: human; often infin with пора, надо etc; fixed WO] to make changes in one's physical surroundings, one's behavior, the outward manifestations of one's views etc (usu. in an attempt to conform to changed circumstances) (in contemp. usage often used in political contexts with the implication that one is trying to create the impression that he has changed his views, convictions etc although he has not): X переменил декорации ≃ [usu. in refer. to changing one's physical surroundings] X changed his décor; X changed things around; X made some changes; X changed the face ⟨the look⟩ of things; X put a new face ⟨a fresh face, a new look⟩ on things; X gave his office ⟨his kitchen etc⟩ a face-lift; || X-ы переменили декорации ≃ [in refer. to changing one's views etc] Xs changed their tune; Xs did an about-face; Xs shifted their position; || X-у пора переменить декорации ≃ X needs a change of scenery; it's time for X to make a change. ○ ПЕРЕМЕ́НА ДЕКОРА́ЦИЙ [NP; sing only] ≃ [usu. in refer. to one's changing his physical surroundings] change of décor; new face on things; new look; face-lift; [in refer. to one's changing his views etc] change of tune; change of heart; about-face.

Вчерашние коммунисты быстро переменили декорации и стали выдавать себя за демократов. Yesterday's communists quickly changed their tune and started passing themselves off as democrats.

Д-52 • ЗАПЛЕ́ЧНЫХ ДЕЛ МА́СТЕР; ЗАПЛЕ́ЧНЫЙ МА́СТЕР euph, lit [NP; fixed WO] one who performs executions: headsman; (master) executioner; hangman; butcher.

«Тебя не поймут… эти заплечные мастера нового застенка. Но не падай духом. История всё разберёт» (Пастернак 1). "…These master executioners of the new torture chambers will never understand you! But don't lose heart. History will tell the truth" (1a).

Д-53 • НАДЕ́ЛАТЬ ДЕЛ coll; НАДЕ́ЛАТЬ ДЕЛО́В substand [VP; subj: human] to do sth. reprehensible: X наделал дел ≃ X made trouble.

Как только кто-нибудь начинал кричать, чтобы его отпустили, на нём мгновенно повисали три-четыре человека, так, чтобы всем ясно было — не отпускают парня, а то наделал бы он делов (Искандер 3). As soon as someone began shouting to be turned loose, three or four men instantly hung on him so as to make it clear to everyone that they would not turn the fellow loose, or he'd make trouble (3a).

Д-54 • НЕ У ДЕЛ быть$_{ø}$, остаться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or, rare, nonagreeing postmodif] (to be, remain etc) without work (often as a result of a firing, retirement, or dismissal): X не у дел ≃ X is out of work ⟨out of a job⟩; X is not working.

Когда мы жили вместе, она была не у дел по болезни и подрабатывала у меня, помогая по хозяйству (Мандельштам 2). At the time when we lived in the same apartment, she was out of work because of ill-health and I gave her a little money for helping with my housework (2a). ♦ Муж [Сони] — бывший лётчик, в отставке по болезни. Больно ударила его эта отставка, не мог примириться, что не у дел (Грекова 3). Her [Sonya's] husband was a former pilot, retired because of illness. That retirement had hit him hard. He couldn't live with the fact that he wasn't working (3a).

Д-55 • ДЕЛА́ ИДУ́Т, КОНТО́РА ПИ́ШЕТ [saying] things continue to go on as they normally do (said, usu. humorously or ironically, about a person's or institution's activities that carry on despite outside circumstances; usu. said in response to the question «Как дела?»—"How are things going?"): ≃ (things are) plugging along, same as always; everything's fine—business as usual.

Д-56 • ДЕЛА́ КАК СА́ЖА БЕЛА́ [saying] things could be in better shape (said, usu. humorously or ironically, in response to the question «Как дела?»—"How are things going?"—when matters are going badly or when a person prefers to give a vague reply, implying that things are not going well): ≃ don't ask; could be better.

Д-57 • НЕТ ДЕ́ЛА кому до кого-чего or до того, как и т.п. [VP; impers; pres or past] s.o. is indifferent to, not interested in or concerned about s.o. or sth.: X-у нет дела до Y-а ≃ X doesn't care about Y; Y is of no concern to X; X is not in the least concerned about Y; X doesn't want (to have) anything to do with Y; [lim.] X minds his own business; ‖ X-у нет никакого дела до Y-а ≃ X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less about Y; X doesn't care a ⟨one⟩ bit about Y; [lim.] X doesn't give a damn ⟨a hoot⟩ about Y.

…Однажды в тусклом номере гостиницы в Казани он, пробуждённый тяжким и сумеречным похмельем, вдруг увидел себя со стороны маленьким, затерянным и жалким существом, до которого никому, ну вовсе никому на свете нет дела (Максимов 3). …One evening in a dingy hotel room in Kazan he woke up with a heavy hangover and suddenly saw himself from outside: a small, lost, pathetic creature, of no concern to anybody in the whole world (3a). ♦ Ему до этого дома нет никакого дела, важно поскорее отделаться и сообщить начальству, что всё в порядке (Войнович 5). He didn't care a bit about the building. All he wanted was to be done with it quickly and report to the authorities that everything was in good order (5a).

Д-58 • НУ И ДЕЛА́! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express surprise (occas. flavored by irony), indignation, disapproval or ironic approval etc : (well,) I'll be darned ⟨damned⟩!; how about that!; (well,) what do you know!; well, I'll be!; well, I never!; who'd have thought it!; you don't say!

…Среди сопровождавших принца лиц один был на сильном подозрении, что понимает по-русски, хотя и скрывает это. Оказывается, на предыдущем банкете, когда ему подали литровый рог, с тем чтобы он, сказав пару тёплых слов, выпил его, он растерялся и как будто по-русски прошептал: «Ну и дела…» (Искандер 4). …One of the people in the prince's escort was strongly suspected of understanding Russian, although he tried to hide the fact. At a previous banquet, when they served him a liter horn, expecting him to say a few heartfelt words and drink it off, he lost his head and allegedly whispered in Russian, "Well, I'll be darned!" (4a).

Д-59 • ЧТО́ кому-чему ДЕ́ЛАЕТСЯ! coll [VP$_{subj}$; present only; fixed WO] s.o. or sth. is the same as always, has not changed (and there is no reason why he or it should be otherwise, or anyone should think otherwise): что X-у делается? ≃ what could (possibly) happen to X?; what could be wrong with X?; [in limited contexts; in refer. to a person, usu. in response to the question «X здоров?»] why wouldn't X be?

«Я считаю долгом предостеречь вас. Нашему брату, старому холостяку, можно сюда ходить: что нам делается? Мы народ прокалённый, нас ничем не проберёшь; а у вас кожица ещё нежная…» (Тургенев 3). "I consider it my duty to warn you. It is all very well for people like me—for old bachelors—to go on coming here. What could possibly happen to us? We are a hard-boiled lot; you cannot do much to us. But you have a tender skin" (3b).

Д-60 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ НЕ́ЧЕГО [Invar; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$, pres or past; used as sent or sent adv (parenth)] s.o. has no alternative, s.o. must, against his will, give in and do precisely (what is specified by the following context): there is nothing one can do (about it ⟨except…⟩); there is nothing (else) to do (but…); there is nothing to be done (about it); there is nothing for it (but…); there is no way out of it; there's no help for it; it can't be helped; one has no choice (but…); there is no escaping it; it cannot be avoided.

Их [Лёву и Фаину] рассадили порознь — это был принцип компании. Лёве он показался глупым, и Лёва досадовал — но делать было нечего… (Битов 2). They [Lyova and Faina] were seated separately—this was a principle of the group. It struck Lyova as silly, and he felt annoyed, but there was nothing he could do…

(2a). ♦ «Любезный Пётр Андреевич, пожалуйста, пришли мне с моим мальчиком сто рублей, которые ты мне вчера проиграл…» Делать было нечего. Я… приказал [Савельичу] отдать мальчику сто рублей (Пушкин 2). "My dear Petr Andreevich, be so good as to send me by my serving boy the hundred rubles I won from you yesterday…." There was no way out of it…. [I] ordered him [Savelich] to hand the boy a hundred rubles (2a).

Д-61 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ⟨ХОДИ́ТЬ/СХОДИ́ТЬ⟩ ПОД СЕБЯ́ coll [VP; subj: human] (usu. of a seriously ill, bedridden person) to urinate or defecate in one's bed or, occas., in one's clothing: X сделал под себя ≃ X wet his bed ⟨pants⟩; X wet the bed; X messed ⟨went in⟩ his bed ⟨pants⟩; X had an ⟨a little⟩ accident.

[extended usage] Он [Лёва] занимался своей незапятнанной стариной и не изменял ей, и эта определённость его снискала к себе доверие в определённой интеллигентной среде, иногда называемой либеральной. Эта-то его чистоплотность… была и не чистоплотностью вовсе, а быть может, лишь инстинктивным или фамильным нежеланием ходить под себя, попросту коекакая культурная привычка к санитарным нормам… (Битов 2). He [Lyova] studied his own unsullied antiquity and did not betray it, and his definiteness won him the trust of a definite intellectual milieu sometimes called liberal. This cleanliness of his… wasn't cleanliness at all, it may have been merely an instinctive or familial reluctance to go in the bed, just a certain cultured habit of sanitation… (2a).

Д-62 • ОТ НЕ́ЧЕГО ДЕ́ЛАТЬ coll [Invar; sent adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) out of a lack of anything to occupy one's time, without any particular aim in mind: for want ⟨lack⟩ of anything ⟨something⟩ better to do; having nothing better to do; just to pass ⟨while away⟩ the time; with ⟨having⟩ time on one's hands.

По ночам дед [Гордей] сторожил в мастерских, а днём от нечего делать бродил по деревне (Распутин 1). At night he [old Gordei] served as watchman in the kolkhoz workshops and in the daytime, for want of anything better to do, went wandering about the village (1a). ♦ «И что это за нелепая фигура! — скажете вы возмущённо. — Где тут пример для подрастающего поколения? И где автор увидел такого в кавычках героя?» И я, автор, прижатый к стенке и пойманный, что называется, с поличным, должен буду признаться, что нигде я его не видел, выдумал из своей головы и вовсе не для примера, а просто от нечего делать (Войнович 2). "What a sorry sight he makes!" you will say indignantly. "What kind of example is this for the younger generation? And just where has the author seen a quote unquote hero like this?" And I, the author, my back to the wall and caught, as they say, redhanded, will have to admit that I never saw him anywhere, that I thought him up with my own head, and not to use him as an example but simply to while away the time (2a).

Д-63 • В СА́МОМ ДЕ́ЛЕ [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [usu. adv] (in refer. to the nature of s.o. or sth.) in actuality (as opposed to as perceived, portrayed etc by s.o.): in reality; in (actual) fact; really; actually.

Он [Давид] почувствовал впервые, что и он смертен, не посказочному, а в самом деле, с невероятной очевидностью (Гроссман 2). For the first time David felt very clearly that he himself was mortal, not just in a fairy-tale way, but in actual fact (2a). ♦ Одни почитают меня хуже, другие лучше, чем я в самом деле… (Лермонтов 1). Some think me worse, others better, than I really am (1d). Some deem me worse, others better than I actually am (1a).

2. [Particle or sent adv (often parenth)] used to confirm or ask for confirmation of sth. stated previously; also used to express one's agreement with, seconding of etc sth. said by another: in fact; actually; really; indeed.

Конечно, сказать, что я это [мещанскую ненависть жены Марата ко всякого рода чудачествам] заметил и принял к сведению, было бы неточно. Я в самом деле это заметил, но тогда подумал, что… это мне показалось (Искандер 2). Of course, it would be imprecise to say that I noticed this [Marat's wife's bourgeois hatred for any kind of eccentricity] and took it into account. I did in fact notice it, but at the time I thought I was imagining things (2a). ♦ «Свинкин дело потерял!» — «В самом деле? Что ж директор?» — спросил Обломов дрожащим голосом (Гончаров 1). "Svinkin lost a file of documents." "Really? What did the director do?" Oblomov asked in an unsteady voice (1b).

3. [sent adv; often preceded by Conj «и»] used to introduce a statement justifying, supporting etc sth. previously stated: indeed; after all.

«Как ты едешь? Ну же, потрогивай!» И в самом деле, Селифан давно уже ехал зажмуря глаза, изредка только потряхивая впросонках вожжами по бокам дремавших тоже лошадей… (Гоголь 3). "You call this driving? Come on, put your whip to them, get going!" And indeed Selifan had been driving for a long time with his eyes closed, only now and then flipping the reins against the flanks of the horses, who were dozing too (3c). ♦ …В комнату вошла… симпатичная женщина в белом чистом халате и сказала Ивану: «Доброе утро!» Иван не ответил, так как счёл это приветствие в данных условиях неуместным. В самом деле, засадили здорового человека в лечебницу… (Булгаков 9). Into the room came a kind-looking woman in a clean white coverall and said to Ivan, "Good morning!" Ivan did not reply, as he felt the greeting out of place in the circumstances. They had, after all, dumped a perfectly healthy man in the hospital… (9b).

4. [Particle] used to intensify an expression of indignation, annoyance, surprise etc, or to intensify a request or demand that s.o. do (or stop doing) sth.: really!; honestly!; [with прекрати, перестань etc] (stop…,) will you?!; [when used with a negated word or phrase] certainly (not)!

«Экий я дурак в самом деле!» (Гоголь 3). "What a fool I am, really!" (3b). "Oh, what a fool I am, honestly!" (3a). ♦ [Ислаев:] Michel, однако ты ненадолго уезжаешь?.. [Ракитин:] Не знаю, право… Я думаю… надолго… [Ислаев:] Ведь тебя здесь заменить некому. Не Большинцов же в самом деле! (Тургенев 1). [I.:] Michel, you aren't going to leave us for long, are you?… [R.:] I really don't know…. I think… for a long time… [I.:] But we have no one to replace you here! Certainly not Bolshintsov! (1b).

Д-64 • НА ДЕ́ЛЕ [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] in actuality, in action (as distinguished from words): in deed; in one's deeds; in practice; in life; in actual fact; in actuality; in reality; [lim.] learn by experience.

[Треплев:] Как легко, доктор, быть философом на бумаге и как это трудно на деле! (Чехов 6). [T.:] How easy it is, Doctor, to be a philosopher on paper, and how hard it is in life! (6d). ♦ На словах провозглашался исторический материализм, на деле чистейший идеализм (Орлова 1). Historical materialism was being professed in words, but it was pure idealism in actual fact (1a).

Д-65 • НА СА́МОМ ДЕ́ЛЕ [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [usu. sent adv; often preceded by Conj «а»] (in refer. to the nature of s.o. or sth.) in actuality (as opposed to as perceived, portrayed etc by s.o.): in reality; in (actual) fact; really; actually; the reality is ⟨was…⟩.

Все провозглашённые советской конституцией права и свободы являются фикцией. Право на труд на самом деле является обязанностью (Войнович 1). All the rights and freedoms proclaimed in the Soviet constitution are fictions. The right to work is in fact a duty (1a). ♦ «…Боюсь, что никто не может подтвердить, что… то, что вы нам рассказывали, происходило на самом деле» (Булгаков 9). "…I am afraid no one can confirm to us that the things you spoke of really happened" (9a). "…I'm afraid no one can confirm that what you told us actually took place…" (9c).

2. [Particle] used to intensify an expression of indignation, annoyance, surprise etc or to intensify a request or demand that s.o. do (or stop doing) sth.: really!; honestly!; [with прекрати, перестань etc] (stop…,) will you!; [when used with a negated word or phrase] certainly (not)!

Д-66 • ПРИ ДЕ́ЛЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is occupied, engaged in some kind of activity: X при деле ≃ X has something to keep him busy ⟨to keep himself occupied⟩; X has something to do; X is ⟨keeps (himself)⟩ busy; [lim.] X is in business; X has a job.

Достоинство человека здесь [в этом городке] определяется одной фразой: «Строит дом». Строит дом — значит порядочный человек, приличный человек, достойный человек. Строит дом — значит человек при деле… значит человек пустил корень… (Искандер 6). In this town a man's whole worth was defined by the phrase: "He's building a house." A man who's building a house is an honest man, a decent and deserving man. A man who's building a house is a man who keeps himself busy… a man who has put down roots (6a).

Д-67 • ДЕЛИ́ТЬ НЕ́ЧЕГО кому (с кем) coll [Invar; impers. predic with быть$_{ø}$; if used without prep obj, indir obj refers to two or more parties] there is no basis for conflict (between two or more individuals or groups of people): X-у с Y-ом ⟨X-у и Y-у⟩ делить нечего ≃ X has (got) no bone to pick with Y; X has (got) no quarrel with Y; X and Y have (got) nothing to argue about; there's nothing for X and Y to quarrel over; there is no bone of contention between X and Y.

«Я, — объяснил Гусев Петру Васильевичу жизненную позицию при случайной встрече в день отъезда того в эвакуацию, — человек маленький. По мне, какая ни есть власть, всё одно… Мне с немцами делить нечего… Не пропаду» (Максимов 3). On the day of Pyotr Vasilievich's evacuation, Gusev happened to meet him, and explained his philosophy of life. "I'm a man of no importance. I don't care what kind of government we have, it's all the same to me…. I've got no quarrel with the Germans…. I shan't come to any harm" (3a).

Д-68 • БОЛЬШО́Е ⟨ВЕЛИ́КОЕ⟩ ДЕ́ЛО; БОЛЬШИ́Е ДЕЛА́ all coll [NP; these forms only; used as Interj or sent adv; fixed WO] used to express a sarcastic attitude, disdain etc toward sth.: big deal!; [lim.] as if it mattered; as if it could make (all) that much (of a) difference.

Следующий сюрприз ждал Куницера в гардеробе собственного института. Новый гардеробщик прищуренным чекистским взглядом смотрел на него… Да ладно, большое дело — новый гардеробщик! Отдал пальто, получил номерок, отдал номерок, взял пальто, вот и все отношения (Аксёнов 6). The next surprise awaited Kunitser in the cloakroom of his own institute. A new attendant was looking at him with the frowning stare of a KGB oficer…. OK, big deal! A new cloakroom attendant! He handed in his coat, got a tag, gave in his tag and got his coat back—that was the sum of his dealings with the man (6a).

Д-69 • БРА́ТЬСЯ/ВЗЯ́ТЬСЯ НЕ ЗА СВОЁ ДЕ́ЛО [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] (to begin) to do sth. that one is not trained for or competent in: X взялся не за своё дело ≃ X took on a job he couldn't handle; X bit off more than he could chew; X got in over his head; X is the wrong man for the job; || за своё ли дело X взялся? ≃ is X the right man for the job?

Какие только наседки мне за все эти годы ни попадались: и наглые, и робкие, и умные, и глупые. Бывали уж такие хитрецы, что никак бы не догадаться. А в 67-ом сидел со мной некто Присовский — до того глупый парень, что даже легенду свою складно рассказать не мог, запутался… Другого, в 71-ом году, мне даже жалко стало. Совсем не годился человек для этой роли, не за своё дело взялся (Буковский 1). The snoopers I have had through the years—some insolent, some timid, some intelligent, some stupid, some so cunning that you'd never have guessed. On the other hand, I shared a cell in 1967 with a certain Prisovsky, who was so stupid that he couldn't even tell his story properly and got all mixed up…. There was another one in 1971—I even felt sorry for him, he was completely the wrong man for the job (1a).

Д-70 • В ТОМ-ТО И ДЕ́ЛО ⟨ШТУ́КА coll⟩ (, что…) [sent; these forms only; usu. main clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] that is the main point, the most important factor: that's just ⟨precisely⟩ the point; that's (just) it ⟨the thing, the problem, the trouble⟩; that's the whole point; the whole point is that…

…Ерёменко, будь он простой ученик, до десятого класса никак бы не добрался, но в том-то и дело, что он был не простой ученик, а номенклатурный… (Войнович 1). Had Eremenko been an ordinary student, he would never have made it to the tenth grade; but that was precisely the point, he was no ordinary student. He was a member of the power elite, the nomenklatura (1a). ♦ [Синбар:] Значит, вы едете домой. [Тилия:] В том-то и дело, что нет (Солженицын 11). [S.:] You're going right home then. [T.:] That's just it, I'm not! (11a). ♦ «А у вас есть и беглые?» — быстро спросил Чичиков, очнувшись. «В том-то и дело, что есть» (Гоголь 3). "So you have some runaways as well?" Chichikov asked, quickly pricking up his ears. "Yes, that's just the trouble" (3e).

Д-71 • В ЧЁМ ДЕ́ЛО? [sent; Invar; often a subord clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] what is taking place or took place?: what's going on?; what's happening?; what's up?; what's the matter ⟨the problem, the trouble⟩?; what's it ⟨this⟩ all about?; [lim.] what's wrong?; what gives?

[Филипп:] Слушай, я почти не знаю этой семьи, мы месяца не знакомы. В чём тут дело? Она на тридцать лет моложе. Как это получилось? (Солженицын 11). [P.:] Listen, I scarcely know this family, I first met them less than a month ago. What's going on here exactly? She is thirty years younger than he. How did it happen? (11a). ♦ Опять звонок. На этот раз звонит наш общий со старушкой знакомый. Она ему звонила, рыдала, жаловалась и он хочет выяснить, в чём дело, почему я её обидел (Войнович 3). The phone again. This time it was a mutual acquaintance of the old woman and mine. She had called him, sobbing and complaining, and he wanted to know what the problem was, why I had offended her (3a).

Д-72 • ВИ́ДАННОЕ ЛИ (Э́ТО) ДЕ́ЛО coll [sent; these forms only; often the main clause in a complex sent foll. by a чтобы-clause; fixed WO] used to express a negative attitude toward sth., indignation etc: who ever saw ⟨who's ever seen⟩ such a thing ⟨anything like it, the likes of it⟩?; who ⟨who's⟩ ever heard of such a thing ⟨of anything like it⟩?; it's (just ⟨simply⟩) unheard of; whoever heard the like?

«А это на что похоже, что вчера только восемь фунтов пшена отпустила, опять спрашивают… А я пшена не отпущу… Нет, я потачки за барское добро не дам. Ну виданное ли это дело — восемь фунтов?» (Толстой 2). "And what sort of game is this? Only yesterday I let them have eight pounds of rice and now they're asking for more!… I'm not giving you any more rice…. No, I'm not letting anybody take liberties with the master's things. Well, who ever heard of such a thing—eight pounds?" (2b).

Д-73 • ВИ́ДИМОЕ ДЕ́ЛО substand [NP; Invar; used as sent adv (parenth) or indep. sent; fixed WO] that is quite apparent, there is no doubt about it: that's for sure; sure thing; that's (crystal) clear; that's obvious ⟨evident⟩.

[Анисья:] Сейчас [Пётр] за Марфой, за сестрой родной, посылает. Должно, об деньгах. [Матрёна:] Видимое дело (Толстой 1). [A.:] He's [Petr is] just sending for Marfa, his own sister. Must be about the money. [M.:] Sure thing (1b). [A.:] He's [Pyotr is] sending for Marfa now, for his own sister. Must be about the money. [M.:] That's clear (1a).

Д-74 • ВСТУПА́ТЬ/ВСТУПИ́ТЬ В ДЕ́ЛО [VP; subj: human, collect, or concr] to begin to act: X вступил в дело ≃ X went into action; thing X came into play; [lim.] person X joined ⟨entered, jumped into⟩ the fray; X was called ⟨brought⟩ into play; || в дело вступили пушки ⟨пулемёты, пулемётчики и т.п.⟩ ≃ the artillery ⟨the machine guns, the machine-gunners etc⟩ opened fire.

Публика стала окружать негодяев, и тогда в дело вступил Коровьев (Булгаков 9). As customers began edging up to the rogues and surrounding them, Koroviev went into action (9b). The customers surrounded the scoundrels, and then Korovyov entered the fray (9c). ♦ Немецким пулеметам ещё рано было вступать в дело (Свирский 1). It was still too early for the German machine gunners to open fire (1a).

Д-75 • ГИ́БЛОЕ ⟨ПРОПА́ЩЕЕ⟩ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. infin or это, often omitted)] doing sth. is futile and may, in addition, result in unfavorable consequences: lost cause; losing proposition; hopeless undertaking; (sth. is) hopeless.

…Спорить с Юркой об архитектуре — дело гиблое (Михайловская 1). …It is a lost cause, arguing with Yuri about architecture (1a).

Д-76 • ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ДЕ́ЛО (кому) coll [VP; subj: human] to say sth. worth listening to: X дело говорит ≃ X is talking sense; X has a point; what X says is very much to the point; [lim.] X is making sense.

«Фельдмаршал мой, кажется, говорит дело. Как ты думаешь?» (Пушкин 2). "My field-marshal seems to be talking sense. What do you think?" (2b). ♦ «Полковник Воротынцев говорит дело. Я для себя беру здесь много поучительного» (Солженицын 1). "What Colonel Vorotyntsev says is very much to the point. I am learning a lot from him" (1a).

Д-77 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ СВОЁ ДЕ́ЛО [VP] 1. [subj: human] to perform one's specific function or role: X делал своё дело ≃ X did his work ⟨job, thing⟩; X went about his business; [lim.] X did his part; X did what he was supposed to ⟨had to⟩ do.

В саду уже порядочно и иностранных корреспондентов, фоторепортёров и кинооператоров. Они — спокойные, деловитые… и умело, без лишней суеты делают своё дело (Гладков 1). By now there were also a good many foreign correspondents, photographers and newsreel men in the garden. They were calm and business-like… they did their job impassively, without fuss (1a).

2. [subj: abstr or concr] to produce its usual result, influence s.o., make itself felt: X делал ⟨сделал⟩ своё дело ≃ X did its work ⟨job⟩; X began to have ⟨X had⟩ its effect ⟨way⟩; [of age, illness etc] X began to take ⟨X had taken⟩ its toll; [impfv only] X began to tell on person Y.

…В общем, это хорошо, что меня показали по телевизору. Слух об этом сегодня же облетит всю Москву и сделает своё дело (Зиновьев 2). …On the whole it's a good thing that I've been seen on television. The news'll be round all Moscow by this evening, and it'll have its effect (2a).

Д-78 • ДЕ́ЛО В ТОМ… [Invar; main clause (with $быть_{ø}$) in a complex sent; pres or past; often foll. by a что-clause] the essence of the matter, the most important factor is as follows: the point ⟨the thing⟩ is; the fact (of the matter) is; [lim.] the trouble is; what matters is; || Neg дело не в том… ≃ it's not a question of…

Дело в том, что ожидаемая критика центральной газеты не повторилась (Искандер 4). The point is that the central newspaper did not, as expected, repeat its critique (4a). ♦ Ученик такой-то, позвольте мне, автору, снова прервать ваше повествование. Дело в том, что книгу пора заканчивать: у меня вышла бумага (Соколов 1). Student so-and-so, allow me, the author, to interrupt your narrative again. The thing is that it's time to end the book: I'm out of paper (1a).

Д-79 • ДЕ́ЛО В ШЛЯ́ПЕ coll [Invar; VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$, usu. pres, also fut or subjunctive; often a clause in a compound (after Conj «и») or complex sent; usu. preceded by one or more clauses; fixed WO] the success of some undertaking, effort etc is assured, the desired outcome is or will be achieved: it's in the bag; it's a sure thing; it's a cinch; it's as good as done; it's all sewn up; that does it ⟨the trick⟩; [lim.] that's all there is to it; one's got it made.

«Прежде молодым людям приходилось учиться; не хотелось им прослыть за невежд, так они поневоле трудились. А теперь им стоит сказать: всё на свете вздор! — и дело в шляпе» (Тургенев 2). "Before, young men had to study; they didn't want to be known for ignoramuses so they had to work, whether they liked it or not. And now all they have to do is to say 'Everything in the world is rubbish!'—and it's all in the bag for them" (2e). "Formerly young people were faced with having to study; they were averse to becoming known as ignoramuses; so, like it or not, they worked hard. But now all they have to do is to say 'Everything in the world is bosh!'—and that does it" (2d). "Previously, young people were required to study; they didn't want to be viewed as ignorant, so they worked whether they wanted to or not. But now all they have to say is, 'Everything on earth's nonsense!'—and that's all there is to it" (2g).

Д-80 • ДЕ́ЛО ДЕ́ЛАТЬ [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. to be engaged in work, occupy o.s. with some activity: X дело делает ≃ X keeps (himself) busy; X attends to his work; X is getting on with the job at hand; || X-у надо дело делать ≃ X should be doing something; || давайте дело делать ≃ let's get to work.

«Чем в губернское правление-то шататься… лучше бы дело делать!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "Instead of wasting his time in government departments… he should have been doing something!" (2a).

2. to do sth. needed, important: X дело делает ≃ X is doing real work; X is doing something worthwhile ⟨useful, serious etc⟩.

«Эхе, хе! двенадцать часов! — сказал наконец Чичиков, взглянув на часы. — Что ж я так закопался? Да ещё пусть бы дело делал…» (Гоголь 3). "Oh, my, it's twelve o'clock already," said Chichikov, glancing at his watch. "Why have I been lingering over the stuff so long? Had I been doing something worthwhile, it wouldn't have been so bad…" (3c).

Д-81 • (это) ДЕ́ЛО ДЕСЯ́ТОЕ ⟨ДЕВЯ́ТОЕ obs, ДВАДЦА́ТОЕ⟩ coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: abstr, это, infin, or concr); pres only; fixed WO] 1. sth. is not very important or essential: X — дело десятое ≃ X is of little ⟨minor⟩ significance; X is no (very) great matter; X has a low priority.

…В течение нескольких дней [Василий Иванович], ни к селу ни к городу, всё твердил: «Ну, это дело девятое!» — потому только, что сын его, узнав, что он ходил к заутрене, употребил это выражение (Тургенев 2). For several days on end he kept on repeating at utterly inappropriate moments “Well, that’s no very great matter!” simply because his son had used the expression on hearing that he attended matins (2e). ♦ «План, план! — проворчал прокурор. — Хозрасчёт, дорогой! Валютка! Потому его [фильм «Новые времена»] и не покупают у нас. А наше культурное воспитание — дело десятое» (Домбровский 2). “The plan, the plan!” grumbled the prosecutor. “It’s a matter of economics, my dear chap. Currency! That’s why we don’t buy them [films like Modern Times]. And our cultural education has a low priority” (2a).

2. doing sth. is uncomplicated, simple: сделать X — дело десятое ≃ doing X is a snap ⟨a cinch, no sweat, a piece of cake, as easy as pie⟩.

Д-82 • ДЕ́ЛО ДОХО́ДИТ/ДОШЛО́ ДО [VP_{subj}] 1. ~ чего things arrive at (a specific end): дело дошло до X-а ≃ it came (down) to X; it ⟨this, things⟩ ended (up) in X; || если дело дойдёт до этого ≃ if things come ⟨if it comes⟩ to that; || дело дошло до того, что… ≃ it ⟨things⟩ reached ⟨got to⟩ the point where…

Дядя Сандро… понимал, как легко будет Щащико, если дело дойдёт до этого, вскинуть винтовку и убить его (Искандер 3). Uncle Sandro… realized how easy it would be for Shashiko, if things came to that, to raise his rifle and kill him (3a). ♦ Дело дошло до того, что сам Крыс… перестал спокойно спать по ночам… (Зиновьев 1). Things reached the point where Rat himself… stopped sleeping peacefully at nights… (1a).

2. ~ кого-чего s.o.’s or sth.’s turn arrives: дело дошло до X-а ≃ X’s turn came; it was X’s turn.

Князь Андрей простым глазом увидал внизу направо поднимавшуюся навстречу апшеронцам густую колонну французов, не дальше пятисот шагов от того места, где стоял Кутузов. «Вот она, наступила решительная минута! Дошло до меня дело», — подумал князь Андрей и, ударив лощадь, подъехал к Кутузову (Толстой 4). With the naked eye Prince Andrew saw below them to the right, not more than five hundred paces from where Kutuzov was standing, a dense French column coming up to meet the Apsherons. “Here it is! The decisive moment has arrived. My turn has come,” thought Prince Andrew, and striking his horse he rode up to Kutuzov (4b).

Д-83 • ДЕ́ЛО ЖИТЕ́ЙСКОЕ coll [NP; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: это, often omitted); pres only; fixed WO] this is a common occurrence, nothing unusual: it happens; these ⟨those⟩ things happen; things like this ⟨that⟩ happen; it’s nothing out of the ordinary; there’s nothing out of the ordinary about it.

[Фёкла:] …Уж каких женихов тебе припасла!.. Сегодня же иные и прибудут… [Агафья Тихоновна:] Как же сегодня? Душа моя, Фёкла Ивановна, я боюсь. [Фёкла:] И, не пугайся, мать моя! дело житейское. Придут, посмотрят, больше ничего (Гоголь 1). [F.:] You should see what suitors I’ve collected for you…. Some of them will be here this very day…. [A.T.:] What! Today! Oh my dear Fyokla Ivanovna, I’m terrified. [F.:] Don’t be frightened, my dear, there’s nothing out of the ordinary about it. They’ll come, they’ll take a look at you and that’s all (1a).

Д-84 • ДЕ́ЛО ИДЁТ/ПОШЛО́ к чему [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] sth. is approaching, sth. is about to happen: дело идёт к X-у ≃ things are heading toward ⟨to⟩ X; things are moving toward X; things are heading straight for X; it looks as if ⟨like⟩ there is going to be X; there is X in prospect; X is coming; the way things are going, there is bound to be X; [lim.] X is in the air; X is brewing; [in refer. to seasons, holidays etc] X is on the way.

Он прекрасно понимал, куда идёт дело — к роковому моменту, к скандалу, к катастрофе, к разоблачению! (Аксёнов 6). He knew perfectly well where things were heading—to the moment of truth, to a scandal, to catastrophe, to exposure! (6a). ♦ «Ну что ж, — помрачнел старший великан, — видно, дело идёт к свадьбе» (Искандер 5). “Well then,” the eldest giant said darkly, “evidently things are moving toward a wedding” (5a).

Д-85 • ДЕ́ЛО МА́СТЕРА БОИ́ТСЯ [saying] a skillful person can handle any job quickly and well (said in praise of a person who shows ability and skill in his work): ≃ know-how gets the job done best; he works best who knows his trade; [used as a heading, a comment when watching s.o. work etc] a master at work.

Д-86 • ДЕ́ЛО НАЖИВНО́Е coll [NP; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: concr, abstr, or, rare, human); pres only; fixed WO] (of money, material possessions etc or knowledge, some skill etc) sth. can or will be acquired eventually; (of a spouse, friends etc) some person can or will be gotten, won over eventually: X — дело наживное ≃ it ⟨thing X⟩ will come with time; it’s (just) a matter ⟨a question⟩ of time; [of knowledge or skills] one will pick it ⟨thing X⟩ up as one goes along; [of friends or money] X can (always) be made; there are always Xs ⟨there is always X⟩ to be made; [of a spouse or material possessions] X can (always) be gotten; [of material possessions only] there are always Xs to be had; X can be bought again.

«Отпускные мои все до копейки кончились, а без денег далеко не разбежишься…» — «Деньги — дело наживное», — сказал Антон (Чернёнок 1). “I’ve spent the last cent of my vacation money, and you can’t go far without money.” “Money can be made,” Anton said (1a). ♦ «…Ко мне приходил офицер, просят, чтобы дать несколько подвод под раненых. Ведь это всё дело наживное; а каково им оставаться, подумай!..» (Толстой 6). “…An officer came to me… they are begging me to let them have a few carts for the wounded…. After all, it’s only a question of a few things that can easily be bought again, and think what it means for them to be left behind!…” (6a).

Д-87 • ДЕ́ЛО НЕ СТА́НЕТ ⟨НЕ ПОСТОИ́Т obs⟩ за кем-чем coll [VP_{subj}; fut only; fixed WO] there will be no delay (in some matter) caused by s.o. or sth.: за X-ом дело не станет ≃ X won’t hold things up; doing thing X will be no problem at all ⟨shouldn’t pose a problem, shouldn’t be difficult, ought to be easy enough etc⟩; person X won’t stand in the way; person X will see to it that the matter is not dragged out; [in refer. to s.o.’s reliability, readiness to provide help etc] person Y can count on X.

…[Владимир] поехал искать свидетелей между соседними помещиками. Первый, к кому явился он, отставной сорокалетний корнет Дравин, согласился с охотою… Он уговорил Владимира остаться у него отобедать и уверил его, что за другими двумя свидетелями дело не станет (Пушкин 3). …He [Vladimir] went in search of potential witnesses among the landowners of the neighborhood. The first one he called on, a forty-year-old retired cavalry officer by the name of Dravin, consented with pleasure…. He persuaded Vladimir to stay for dinner, assuring him that finding two more witnesses would be no problem at all (3a).

Д-88 • ДЕ́ЛО НЕЧИ́СТО coll [NP; Invar; VP_{subj} with copula; pres or, rare, past; fixed WO] sth. is suspicious, may be not entirely legal: it looks ⟨seems⟩ crooked ⟨fishy, shady, underhanded, slippery⟩; this is a crooked ⟨fishy, shady⟩ business; there’s something going on here ⟨there⟩; [lim.] there’s more here than meets the eye.

Д-89 • ДЕ́ЛО НЕШУ́ТОЧНОЕ ⟨НЕ ШУ́ТОЧНОЕ⟩; ШУ́ТОЧНОЕ (ЛИ) ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. infin or это); fixed WO] sth. is very serious, must be treated seriously: (делать) X — дело нешуточное ≃ (doing) X is no ⟨not a⟩ laughing matter; (doing) X is no joke ⟨no joking matter, nothing to laugh at⟩.

Потолкуйте с любым мыслящим человеком, и он вам скажет… что вступать в единоборство со Сперанским — дело нешуточное (Ерофеев 3). Talk with any thinking person and he will tell you… that taking on Speransky personally is not a laughing matter (3a).

Д-90 • ДЕ́ЛО ПА́ХНЕТ КЕРОСИ́НОМ highly coll [sent; pres or past; fixed WO] this is a bad situation, nothing good will come of it (used when s.o. is about to fail, when it is clear that a conflict is about to arise, when s.o. realizes that sth. desired will not materialize etc): things are in a bad way; this means trouble; person X is in big ⟨a heap of⟩ trouble.

Д-91 • ДЕ́ЛО (чьё) ПЛО́ХО ⟨ДРЯНЬ, ШВАХ⟩ all coll [NP; these forms only; VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$, pres only] 1. s.o. is in very bad physical condition, is very ill, seriously injured etc: (X-ово) дело дрянь ≃ X is in bad shape ⟨in a bad way⟩; things look bad.

…Ему [Рослякову] было очень страшно опустить глаза, чтобы рану посмотреть… «Что? — спросил [Росляков] сестру, стоявшую всё время возле него с нашатырём и шприцем. — Дрянь дело?» — «Да что вы, — ответила сестра. — Пустяки…» (Семёнов 1). …He [Roslyakov] was terrified of lowering his head to look at the wound… "How is it?" said Roslyakov to the nurse who stood beside him the whole time, holding the sal ammoniac and a hypodermic. "Do things look bad?" "What do you mean?" replied the nurse, "nonsense…" (1a).

2. the situation is extremely unfavorable (for s.o.), nothing good will come of it: (X-ово) дело дрянь ≃ it ⟨this⟩ is (a) bad business; this means trouble; things are in a bad way; things look bad (for X); X is in trouble ⟨in hot water, in a real mess, out of luck⟩; the situation is bad.

Прокурор давеча сказал — дело плохо, кто-то должен сесть в тюрьму (Тендряков 1). The Prosecutor had said yesterday that it was a bad business, and that someone could go to prison for it (1a). ♦ …Жена прокурора… стала уверять [Хабуга], что прокурора нету дома, что он завтра будет у себя в кабинете и что он вообще теперь про дела разговаривает только у себя в кабинете. Тут старый Хабуг понял, что дело плохо, но решил подождать до следующего дня (Искандер 3). …The magistrate's wife… assured him [Khabug] that the magistrate was not home, that he would be in his office tomorrow, and that nowadays he generally discussed business only in his office. Old Khabug realized that this meant trouble, but he decided to wait until the next day (3a).

Д-92 • ДЕ́ЛО ПРО́ШЛОЕ coll [NP; Invar; sent adv (parenth) or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr or это), pres only; fixed WO] it is already over and is not important now: that's a thing of the past; that's all over now; that's all in the past; it doesn't matter anymore ⟨any more⟩; what's done is done.

«Дело прошлое, а кто старое вспомянет — тому глаз вон» (Шолохов 5). "It's all over now, so let bygones be bygones" (5a). ♦ Скажу коротко, я уснул… Видит бог, дело прошлое, я изо всех сил крепился и, наконец, как это бывает на собраниях, если сидишь где-нибудь в задних рядах, решил на минуточку прикорнуть с тем, чтобы потом очнуться с посвежевшей головой (Искандер 3). To put it briefly, I fell asleep…. Goodness knows, it doesn't matter any more; I resisted with all my might and at last, as happens at meetings if you sit anywhere in the back rows, I decided to lean back a moment in order to awake with my mind refreshed (3a).

Д-93 • ДЕ́ЛО РУК чьих, кого usu. disapprov [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: это, abstr, or concr denoting the result of some action) or obj] sth. has been executed, carried out, or masterminded, by none other than the person specified (usu. used in refer. to reprehensible actions): это дело рук X-а ≃ this is X's handiwork ⟨doing⟩; this is the work of X; X ⟨it is X who⟩ has done it; this has been arranged by X; X is behind this ⟨it⟩; [lim.] X is to blame (for this).

«Пропавший из машины бензин — это дело рук Реваза» (Чернёнок 1). "That missing gas—that's Revaz's handiwork" (1a). ♦ Обоих парней убили в ту же ночь, как привели в тюрьму… Камера была большая, дружная, так и не дознались, чьих рук дело (Рыбаков 2). The two boys had been murdered the night they arrived at the prison…. They had been put in a big cell, where the inmates were all friends, so it had been impossible to find out who had done it (2a).

Д-94 • ДЕ́ЛО СЛУ́ЧАЯ [NP; sing only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$, nom or instrum (subj: это, abstr, concr, infin, or a clause); fixed WO] what happens depends on chance, is beyond s.o.'s control: X дело случая ≃ X is a matter of luck ⟨chance, fortuity⟩; X is a question of luck; || это ⟨сделать X⟩ дело случая ≃ it ⟨doing X⟩ is (all) a matter of luck ⟨chance, fortuity⟩; it ⟨doing X⟩ is (all) a question of luck; it's (all) up to chance ⟨fate⟩.

Всё в этой области определялось инстинктом-вдохновением, всякая удача была делом случая, неожиданностью для самого поэта (Лившиц 1). In this area everything depended on instinct and inspiration. Every success was a matter of fortuity, and surprised the poet himself (1a).

Д-95 • ДЕ́ЛО (чьё) ⟨ДЕЛА́ (чьи)⟩ ТАБА́К ⟨ТРУБА́⟩ highly coll [NP; these forms only; used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$, pres only] s.o. is in a desperate situation that is sure to end badly (for him): дело (X-ово) табак ≃ X is in trouble ⟨in hot water, in a real mess⟩; X is done for; all is lost (for X); things are bad ⟨hopeless, in a bad way⟩ (for X); X is up the creek (without a paddle); it's all over for X; [lim.] it's curtains for X.

[Кривой Зоб:] Без руки ты — никуда не годишься!.. Нет руки — и человека нет! Табак твоё дело!.. (Горький 3). [K.Z.:] Without a hand you're good for nothing!… Having no hand is as good as being no man! You're done for!… (3a). ♦ «А что, хлопцы, дело табак? — сказал дед. — Киев сдают» (Кузнецов 1). "Well, boys, all is lost, eh?" said Grandfather. "They're surrendering Kiev" (1a).

Д-96 • ДЕ́ЛО ХОЗЯ́ЙСКОЕ coll [NP; Invar; used as an indep. remark or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: это, abstr, infin, or a clause), pres only; fixed WO] sth. (usu. a decision to act in a specific way) rests with s.o., s.o. can do what he wants: это дело хозяйское ≃ it's up to you ⟨him etc⟩; it's your ⟨his etc⟩ choice ⟨decision, business, call⟩; do ⟨let him etc do⟩ what you think ⟨he thinks etc⟩ best; that's for you ⟨him etc⟩ to decide; [lim.] suit yourself ⟨-selves⟩.

«Так пойдёшь ужинать?» — «Не хочется». — «Дело хозяйское. Как хочешь» (Залыгин 1). "Are you going to get supper?" "I don't feel like it." "Suit yourself. Do as you like" (1a).

Д-97 • ДО́ХЛОЕ ДЕ́ЛО; ДО́ХЛЫЙ НО́МЕР both coll [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: это, abstr, or infin), pres only] some undertaking is doomed to fail: это дохлое дело ≃ it's a lost cause; it's a bad business; it's a fool's errand; it's a hopeless endeavor ⟨a futile effort⟩; [lim.] the game ⟨the jig⟩ is up.

«Капарин… с тобой вчера об чём-то долго разговаривал… Дохлое это дело, когда из пятерых двое начинают наиздалье держаться, секреты разводить…» (Шолохов 5). "Yesterday he [Kaparin] had a very long talk with you…. It's a bad business when two out of five keep apart from the others, having secrets…" (5a).

Д-98 • ДРУГО́Е ⟨ИНО́Е⟩ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; these forms only] 1. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. это or a clause); often preceded by тогда, теперь] that changes (or would change) the situation: that's another ⟨a different⟩ story (altogether); that's (quite) another ⟨a different⟩ matter; (now) it's (very ⟨totally⟩) different; things are ⟨will be⟩ different; that's different ⟨something else altogether⟩; [in fut and condit clauses] things ⟨everything⟩ will ⟨would⟩ be different.

…Как можно управлять таким способом неодушевлённым предметом? Если внутри предмета человек находится, тогда другое дело: он исполняет указания — делай так, делай этак (Айтматов 2). How on earth could you control a soulless object in that way? If there was a man inside that object, then that was another story—he would carry out the orders, do this, do that, as he was told (2a). ♦ «Ну, прикажут тебя тронуть — другое дело, я присягу давал или не давал?» (Владимов 1). "Of course, if I'm ordered to lay hands on you, that's another matter. I took the oath of allegiance when I joined the army, didn't I?" (1a).

2. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun or infin)] a person (thing etc.) is very different from another person (thing etc) mentioned previously: X — другое дело ≃ X is ⟨that's⟩ (quite) another ⟨a different⟩ matter; X is ⟨it's⟩ another ⟨a different⟩ story; X is something else (entirely); || одно дело… и (совсем) другое дело… ≃ it's one thing… but ⟨and⟩ (quite) another…

«Ты знаешь: нарисовал этот Евдокимов похабную карикатуру на декана…» — «Который её заслуживал? Ну, скажи, нет! Ты ведь сам его терпеть не можешь». Игорь невольно оглянулся на дверь. «Я — другое дело, — сказал он кисло. — Не вали, пожалуйста, всех в одну кучу» (Ерофеев 3). "You know that Evdokimov drew a smutty caricature of the Dean…" "And he deserved it. Go on, deny it! You know you can't stand him yourself." Igor couldn't keep himself from glancing at the door. "What I think is something else entirely," he said in a sour voice. "Please don't put everyone in the same bag…" (3a). ♦ «…Одно дело попасть молотком в стекло критику Латунскому и совсем другое дело — ему же в сердце» (Булгаков 9). "It's one thing to hit the critic Latunsky's window with a hammer, and quite another to hit him in the heart" (9c).

3. [main clause in a complex sent, foll by a что-clause] it should be mentioned, however, that… (used to detract from the merit of sth. previously mentioned): (the fact) that… is another matter; …but that's another matter ⟨story⟩.

Ляля очень хорошенькая. Другое дело, что она круглая дура. Lyalya is very pretty. The fact that she doesn't have a brain in her head is another matter.

4. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: это)] s.o.'s suggestion, statement, offer etc. is much better than the previous suggestion, statement, offer etc (used to express one's approval): now you're ⟨he is, they're etc⟩ talking!

Д-99 • ЁСТЬ ТАКО́Е ДЕ́ЛО coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] used to express ready agreement to do sth.: it's a deal!; agreed!; sure thing!; [lim.] right away!

Д-100 • ЗА ДЕ́ЛО(!)[1] [sent; Invar] (usu. used as a command or prompting) start working or let us start working: (let's) get down ⟨back⟩ to work; (let's) get to it ⟨to work⟩!; to work!

«Теперь за дело!» — прошептал один сообщник. «Ну нет, — заявила Мари, — я теперь займусь изучением [документов]». Слово это прозвучало торжественно, и все согласились, что без изучения приступить к делу нельзя (Федин 1). "Now to work!" whispered one accomplice. "Oh, no," announced Marie, "now I shall do some studying." This word rang out solemnly and all agreed that to get down to work without studying [the documents] was impossible (1a).

Д-101 • ЗА ДЕ́ЛО(!)[2] наказать, наградить, посадить (в тюрьму) и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to punish, reward, imprison etc s.o.) deservedly, in correspondence with s.o.'s deeds: (and) rightly so; s.o. deserves ⟨has earned⟩ sth. ⟨it⟩; for good reason; for a (good) reason; with good reason ⟨cause⟩; for what s.o. did; for cause; (to reward, promote etc s.o.) for work ⟨a job⟩ well done; [of legal proceedings, imprisonment etc] there is a real case against s.o.

[Фира:] Слушай, мы узнали — завтра день рождения Анны Сергеевны. [Олег:] Физички? [Фира:] Да, ей исполняется семьдесят лет… Надо срочно в стенгазету вклеить стихи — напиши. [Олег:] Ей? Ни за что! Она мне тройку… закатила. [Фира:] Так за дело!.. Ты же ничего не знал (Розов 2). [F.:] We've just heard that tomorrow is Anna Sergeyevna's birthday. [O.:] The physics teacher? [F.:] Yes, she'll be seventy…. We must have some verses for the wall newspaper. We'll stick them in somehow. Write something. [O.:] To her? Never! She's… given me a "fair." [F.:] But you deserved it!… You didn't know a thing (2a). ♦ К чести Бутонова надо сказать, что свои высокие гонорары брал он за дело (Улицкая 1). To Butonov's credit it needs to be said that he received his high fees for work well done (1a).

Д-102 • ЗА МА́ЛЫМ ⟨ЗА НЕБОЛЬШИ́М, ЗА НЕМНО́ГИМ⟩ ДЕ́ЛО СТА́ЛО coll, iron [sent; these forms only] the completion of some matter, realization of some plan etc is contingent upon some factor that is presented as small but, in fact, is absolutely crucial: there's only one little thing left (to be done etc); there's only one last little hurdle; there's only one little detail that has to be taken care of; there's (only) one small ⟨last⟩ hitch; there remains just one minor ⟨small⟩ problem.

Д-103 • ЗА ЧЕМ ⟨ЗА КЕМ, ЗА ТЕМ и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО СТА́ЛО? coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] what or who is impeding progress in some matter?: what's the hitch ⟨the holdup⟩?; what's ⟨who's⟩ standing in the ⟨your etc⟩ way?; what's ⟨who's⟩ stopping ⟨preventing⟩ you (from doing sth.)?

Она устраивала выставку, и я сказал Коломийченко, что неплохо было бы пригласить Гюзель. «За чем дело стало», — сказал лучший покровитель искусств… (Амальрик 1). She was organizing an exhibit, and I told Kolomiychenko that it wouldn't be a bad idea to invite Gusel to show some of her work there. "Well," said the best local patron of the arts, "what's the hitch?" (1a).

Д-104 • И ДЕ́ЛО С КОНЦО́М; И ДЕ́ЛУ КОНЕ́Ц both coll [sent; these forms only; usu. the concluding clause in a compound or complex sent; usu. refers to the completion of sth. in the future; fixed WO] and then everything will be finished: and that will be the end of it ⟨the matter, the business⟩; and that will be that ⟨it⟩; and it will all be over; [in limited contexts, usu. after imper] and (let's) leave it at that.

Толпе этот ответ не понравился, да и вообще она ожидала не того. Ей казалось, что Грустилов, как только приведут к нему Линкина, разорвёт его пополам — и дело с концом (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). This reply was not much to the liking of the crowd, who had anyway expected something quite different. They had supposed that as soon as they brought Linkin to Grustilov, the governor would tear him in two, and that would be the end of it (1b). ♦ …В те времена женились — и дело с концом, автомашин с разноцветными лентами и куклами на радиаторах не было (Рыбаков 1). In those days you just got married and that was that, no cars tied with coloured ribbons and dolls on the radiators! (1a).

Д-105 • И ТО́ ДЕ́ЛО coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used to express agreement with the words of one's interlocutor) right, correct: it's ⟨that's, 'tis⟩ true; quite ⟨you're⟩ right; you've got a point (there); I see your point; there's something ⟨sense⟩ in that ⟨in what you say etc⟩; you may be right about that; [lim.] that's reasonable enough.

«Нечего мне под старость лет расставаться с тобою да искать одинокой могилы на чужой сторонке. Вместе жить, вместе и умирать». — «И то дело», — сказал комендант (Пушкин 2). "Why should we part in our old age? I don't want to go looking for a lonely grave far from home. Live together—die together." "There's sense in what you say," said Ivan Kuzmich (2c). "Nothing would make me part with you in my old age, to go and seek a lonely grave in a strange corner of the world. We have lived together, we will die together." "That's reasonable enough," said the commandant (2b).

Д-106 • ИЗВЕ́СТНОЕ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; Invar; sent adv (parenth) or an indep. remark; more often this WO] (used to emphasize that what is stated contains nothing surprising) as could be expected: (quite) naturally; sure enough; sure thing; [lim.] you know how it is; that's for sure.

«Заграница, — говорил Александр Семёнович, выкладывая яйца на деревянный стол, — разве это наши мужицкие яйца… Все, вероятно, брамапутры, чёрт их возьми! немецкие…» — «Известное дело», — подтверждал охранитель, любуясь яйцами (Булгаков 10). "That's Europe for you," said Alexander Semyonovich, laying out the eggs on the wooden table. "What did you expect—our measly little peasant eggs? They must be Brahmaputras, all of them, the devil take 'em! German." "Sure thing," echoed the guard, admiring the eggs (10a).

Д-107 • ИМЕ́ТЬ ДЕ́ЛО [VP; subj: human or collect] 1. ~ с кем-чем to encounter, come across s.o. or sth. (a rare phenomenon, strange fact, unusual personality etc): X имеет дело с Y-ом ≃ X is dealing with Y; X is faced ⟨confronted⟩ with thing Y; X meets with thing Y; [in refer. to people or phenomena that challenge or threaten one] X is up against Y; || X знает ⟨понимает и т.п.⟩, с кем ⟨чем⟩ он имеет дело ≃ [lim.] X knows ⟨understands etc⟩ who ⟨what⟩ Y is.

Мы имеем дело с явлением, которое наука пока объяснить не может. We are dealing with a phenomenon that science has not yet been able to explain. ♦ Его [императора] крайне забавляло, что она [девушка] не догадывалась вовсе, с кем имеет дело, и держала себя с ним на равных (Окуджава 2). He [the emperor] was vastly amused that she [the girl] had no idea who he was and behaved as though they were equals (2a).

2. ~ с кем [obj: human or collect; often infin with можно, нельзя, трудно, приятно, не хочу, не советую etc] to have or enter into some kind of relations with s.o. (occas. in refer. to an argument, fight, or punishment): X имеет дело с Y-ом ≃ X deals ⟨has dealings⟩ with Y; || X не хочет иметь дело с Y-м ≃ X doesn't want to deal ⟨have (any) dealings, have any truck, be involved⟩ with Y; X doesn't want (to have) anything to do with Y; || X будет иметь дело с Y-ом ≃ [used as a threat] X will have Y to reckon with.

«Ведь нельзя же иметь дело с человеком, который никого не слушает!» (Булгаков 12). "How can one deal with a man who never listens to anybody?" (12a). ♦ Ипполит Матвеевич никогда ещё не имел дела с таким темпераментным молодым человеком, как Бендер… (Ильф и Петров 1). Ippolit Matveyevich had never had dealings with so spirited a young man as Ostap Bender… (1a).

3. ~ с чем [prep obj: usu. a noun denoting an instrument, gadget, object, or material one works with] to make use of sth.: X имел дело с Y-ом ≃ X used ⟨dealt with, handled⟩ Y.

Я никогда не имел дела с электронным микроскопом, но уверен, что научусь быстро. I've never used an electron microscope before, but I'm sure I'll learn quickly.

Д-108 • КАКО́Е ⟨ЧТО ЗА⟩ ДЕ́ЛО кому (до кого-чего) coll [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$; these forms only; var. with что за is usu. pres; fixed WO] sth. has absolutely no bearing on s.o.'s life or affairs, and s.o. is entirely unconcerned about and indifferent to it: какое X-у дело до Y-а? ≃ what has thing Y ⟨it⟩ got to do with X?; what business is it of X's?; what does X care (about Y)?; Y is ⟨that's⟩ no concern of X's; thing Y is of no concern to X; why should it concern X?; what's it to X?; || кому какое дело до Y-а? ≃ who cares about Y?

«Хорошо, смейтесь, да ведь государство погибнет без правительства». — «А мне что за дело!» (Герцен 3). "All right: laugh; but the State will perish, you know, without a government." "And what business is that of mine?" (3a). ♦ Какое ему было дело до этого дурацкого портфеля, до этого брошенного родителями мальчишки, племянника жены… (Айтматов 1). What did he care about a stupid briefcase, about his wife's nephew, a kid abandoned by his parents… (1b).

Д-109 • КОМУ́ КАКО́Е ДЕ́ЛО, ЧТО КУМА́ С КУ́МОМ СИДЕ́ЛА [saying] it should not (or does not) concern anyone other than the persons involved (said in response to an allusion to s.o.'s intimate relations): ≃ that's nobody's business but their own; that's their ⟨his etc⟩ affair (, not yours ⟨ours etc⟩).

Д-110 • КО́НЧИЛ ДЕ́ЛО — ГУЛЯ́Й СМЕ́ЛО [saying] after you have finished your work, you can put it out of your mind and rest: ≃ work is done, time for fun; work well done makes rest sweet.

Д-111 • ЛЕЗТЬ ⟨СОВА́ТЬСЯ⟩ НЕ В СВОЁ ДЕ́ЛО *coll, rather rude; ВМЕ́ШИВАТЬСЯ НЕ В СВОЁ ДЕ́ЛО [VP; subj: human; often neg imper] to interfere in sth. that has no relation to one: X лезет не в своё дело ≃ X sticks ⟨pokes⟩ his nose into person Y's ⟨someone else's⟩ business; X messes in ⟨butts into⟩ someone else's affairs; X interferes in other people's business; || Neg Imper не лезь ⟨не суйся⟩ не в своё дело ≃ mind your own business; keep out of this; keep out of what does not concern you; stay in your own backyard; butt out.

«Если ты заблудилась, — всё звончей кричала Люда, чуя победу, — вместо монастыря попала в аспирантуру, — так сиди в углу и не будь свекровью. Надоело! Старая дева!» — «Людка! Не смей!» — закричала Оленька. «А чего она не в своё де-ло…?» (Солженицын 3). “If you got lost on the way,” Lyuda shouted even louder, sensing victory, “and instead of landing in a nunnery you turned up here doing graduate work, all right then, sit there in your corner, but don’t act like such a stepmother. It makes me sick. Old maid!” “Lyuda, don’t you dare!” Olenka screamed. “Then what’s she doing sticking her nose into everyone else’s business?” (3a). ♦ Фигура приближается к машине. Это солдат. Он весь в снегу. Пола шинели оторвана. «Чем побило?» — спрашивает Карпов… «Пулями побило!» — говорю я. «Не суйтесь не в своё дело», — говорит Карпов (Окуджава 1). The figure comes up to the car. It’s a soldier. He’s covered in snow. One side of his greatcoat has been ripped off. “What were they hit by?” asks Karpov…. “Hit by bullets,” I say. “You keep out of this,” says Karpov (1a).

Д-112 • МИ́ЛОЕ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: concr, abstr, or infin), pres only, or indep. sent] sth. is most satisfying, agreeable, enjoyable: X — (самое) милое дело ≃ X is the best ⟨the greatest⟩ (thing); X is a great thing; you can’t beat X.

«Время-то надо убить, правда? В дороге шахматы — милое дело», — добродушно приговаривал Г.О., расставляя фигуры (Аксёнов 9). “We’ve got to kill time, right?… you can’t beat a game of chess on a trip,” G.O. chattered as he arranged the chessmen (9a).

2. iron [Interj] how wonderful (used ironically to express dissatisfaction, surprise, indignation etc): that’s just great ⟨terrific⟩!; (oh) great, just great!; [lim.] just what I need!; just what I wanted ⟨needed⟩ to hear!

Д-113 • МИНУ́ТНОЕ ⟨СЕКУ́НДНОЕ⟩ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. infin or это), or obj] an uncomplicated job, task etc that takes very little time to do: (it) only takes a minute; it can be done in a flash ⟨in a minute, in a second, in no time⟩; [lim.] (it’s) nothing; (it’s) a snap ⟨a breeze, a cinch etc⟩.

Д-114 • МОЁ ⟨твоё, ваше и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. это or infin) or indep. sent] 1. [WO, esp. in dialogue, is usu. дело твоё ⟨ваше⟩] it concerns me (you etc), the decision is mine (yours etc): that’s my ⟨your etc⟩ business ⟨concern, affair⟩; it’s my ⟨your etc⟩ choice; that’s up to me ⟨you etc⟩; [2nd and 3rd persons only] have it your (own) way ⟨let him have it his (own) way etc⟩; [when addressed to the hearer] as you wish; suit yourself ⟨-selves⟩.

«Зачем мне говорить с народом? Мне с начальством поговорить надо»… — «Дело ваше… Только я думаю, с народом поговорить никогда не мешает» (Войнович 2). “Why should I talk with the people? I need to talk with my superiors.”… “It’s up to you…. It’s just that I think it never hurts to have a talk with the people” (2a). ♦ «Я в проигрыше, и я кончаю» — сказал он… «Ваше дело», — ответил Коля (Искандер 3). “I’m the loser, and I quit,” he said…. “As you wish,” Kolya replied (3a).

2. Neg НЕ МОЁ ⟨не твоё и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО [usu. this WO] (with 2nd and 3rd persons, often used to express a flat refusal to tell s.o. sth. or allow s.o. to interfere in some matter) it does not concern me (you etc): it’s ⟨that’s⟩ none of my ⟨your etc⟩ business; it’s ⟨that’s⟩ no concern of mine ⟨yours etc⟩; it’s ⟨that’s⟩ not my ⟨your etc⟩ concern; that’s ⟨it’s⟩ got nothing to do with me ⟨you etc⟩; what’s that ⟨it⟩ to me ⟨to you etc⟩?

Он её за волосы таскать. Она в крик, соседей зовёт, а соседи — ни гугу: правильно, муж жену учит. Не наше дело (Толстая 1). Then he’d grab her by the hair. She’d scream, call on the neighbors, but you wouldn’t hear a peep out of them: it’s just a husband teaching his wife a lesson. None of our business (1a). ♦ За три года тюрьмы Таджихон всё ещё не привыкла к тому, что забота о народном хозяйстве страны теперь не её дело (Гинзбург 1). After three years in prison she [Tadjikhon] had not yet got used to the idea that the nation’s economy was no longer her concern (1a).

Д-115 • МОЁ ⟨твоё и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО МА́ЛЕНЬКОЕ [sent; these forms only; most often 1st pers; fixed WO] (used by the speaker to justify himself for not being, or wanting to be, involved in sth.; also used to express the speaker’s opinion that another should not get involved in sth.) it does not concern me (you etc) (because I, you etc have a small, insignificant role in the matter in question, hold little or no power); I (you etc) cannot be held responsible (for sth.): X-ово дело маленькое ≃ that’s not up to X; it’s not X’s affair; it has little ⟨nothing⟩ to do with X; it’s none of X’s business ⟨concern⟩; it’s not X’s place to get involved; X has no place getting involved; [lim.] X is just a little guy; X’s job is to obey.

Уродилось, не уродилось на полях — твоё дело маленькое. Пайка тебе обеспечена (Абрамов 1). Whether the crops ripened or whether they didn’t—nothing to do with you. You got your rations regardless (1a). ♦ «Бродяга он, не бродяга, хуй [taboo] его знает, — сказал Алёшка, — тёмный человек. Ну, да наше дело маленькое, нам с ним не детей крестить» (Лимонов 1). “He may be a bum or he may not, how the fuck should I know,” Alyoshka said. “A shady character. Well, it’s none of our business, we don’t have to be buddies with him…” (1a).

Д-116 • МОЁ ⟨твоё и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО (—) СТОРОНА́ coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used by the speaker to justify himself for not being, or wanting to be, involved in sth.; also used to express the speaker’s opinion that another should not get involved in sth.) I am (you are etc) not or should not be involved in sth.: X-ово дело сторона ≃ it has nothing to do with X; X has nothing to do with it; it’s not X’s affair; it’s no business ⟨concern⟩ of X’s; it’s none of X’s business ⟨concern⟩; X is not involved ⟨mixed up⟩ in it; it’s not X’s place to get involved; X has no place getting involved.

[Матрёна:] Коли чего коснётся, моё дело сторона, я знать не знаю, ведать не ведаю, — крест поцелую, никаких порошков не давала и не видала и не слыхала, какие такие порошки бывают (Толстой 1). [M.:] If it ever comes to something, I had nothing to do with it, I don’t know nothing about nothing—I’ll swear on the cross I never gave no powders, never saw no powders, and never heard nothing about there being such powders (1a).

Д-117 • МО́КРОЕ ДЕ́ЛО slang [NP; fixed WO] homicide: murder; killing; slaying; bump(ing) s.o. off; off(ing) s.o.

«Вот так, гражданин инспектор, было…» — «Продолжайте», — сухо сказал Антон. Сипенятин вздохнул… «Чего продолжать… Трухнул не меньше Алика. Кому охота по мокрому делу садиться?..» (Чернёнок 1). “That’s how it happened, citizen inspector…” “Go on,” Anton said dryly. Sipeniatin sighed…. “Why go on… I was as scared as Alik. Who wants to serve time for murder?” (1a).

Д-118 • МЫ́СЛИМОЕ ⟨МЫ́СЛИМО substand⟩ ЛИ ДЕ́ЛО coll [sent; these forms only; usu. the main clause in a complex sent (often foll. by a чтобы-clause), a clause in a compound sent, or indep. sent (often used as an exclamation or rhetorical question); fixed WO] (used to express one’s displeasure, resentment, indignation etc over some action or occurrence) this is unacceptable, unimaginable: is it conceivable ⟨possible⟩ that…?; [lim.] it's beyond me; it's ⟨that's⟩ (simply) unheard of.

«Подумай сама, — начинает старший, — мыслимое ли дело, чтобы немцы подпустили этого прохвоста [Петлюру] близко к городу?» (Булгаков 3). "Now just think," Alexei began. "Is is conceivable that the Germans should let that scoundrel Petlyura come anywhere near the city?" (3a). ♦ «Ну, мыслимое ли это дело: русские, православные люди сцепились между собой, и удержу нету» (Шолохов 5). "Ay, it's beyond me! Russians, true Christians, going for each other like this and there's no pulling you apart" (5a).

Д-119 • НЕ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin or abstr), pres only, or obj (usu. of затеваешь, затеял etc)] doing sth. is improper, inappropriate (used to express disapproval of s.o.'s actions, plans etc): (that's ⟨doing sth. is⟩) not a good idea; (that's) not the (right) thing (to do); (s.o.) shouldn't (do sth.); it's wrong ⟨not right⟩ (to do sth.); (s.o. has) no business (doing sth.); [lim.] get the idea ⟨put these thoughts etc⟩ out of your head.

«…Пришёл я к вам, братцы, — не дело вы затеяли рыть эти места» (Пильняк 1). "…I have come to you, lads—you have no business digging these places" (1a). ♦ «…Слыхано ли дело, — подьячие задумали нами владеть, подьячие гонят наших господ с барского двора… Эк они храпят, окаянные; всех бы разом, так и концы в воду». Дубровский нахмурился. «Послушай, Архип, — сказал он, немного помолчав, — не дело ты затеял. Не приказные виноваты» (Пушкин 1). "Whoever heard of clerks imagining that they can take us over, that they can drive our masters out of their house? How they snore, the wretches! If we bumped them off now, no one would be any the wiser." Dubrovsky frowned. "Listen, Arkhip," he said after a slight pause. "Get the idea out of your head. It's not the fault of the officials" (1b).

Д-120 • НЕ ТВОЁ ⟨его и т.п.⟩ СОБА́ЧЬЕ ДЕ́ЛО substand, rude [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] it absolutely does not concern you (him etc), does not have any relation to you (him etc): it's none of your ⟨his etc⟩ goddamn(ed) ⟨damn, fucking⟩ business; don't stick your nose where it doesn't belong; keep your nose out of my ⟨our, other people's etc⟩ business.

Всё это должно делаться не так, и не их это собачье дело, не они за это отвечают, и никто их не просит заниматься таким просветительством… (Стругацкие 1). This is not the way it should be done. And it's none of their goddamned business, it's not their responsibility, no one asked them to engage in educational activities (1a).

Д-121 • НО́ВОЕ ДЕ́ЛО! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express displeasure or surprise in response to sth. unpleasant or unexpected: (that's) just great!; how do you like that!; that ⟨this⟩ beats everything ⟨all⟩!; I can't believe this!

Д-122 • ПЕ́РВОЕ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. coll [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: infin or any common noun)] the most important matter: the main ⟨first⟩ thing; the (most) important thing; (that's) what counts most; [lim.] you don't get far without…

[Анна Петровна:] Как ты мрачен… Что ж делать?.. Будь умницей, Сержель! Первое дело — хладнокровие (Чехов 1). [A.P.:] Don't look so gloomy. You can't do anything about it…. Be wise, Sergey. The important thing now is not to give way to despair (1a).

2. obs [sent adv (parenth)] before (doing) anything else: (the) first thing; first of all; in the first place; first (off); to begin ⟨start⟩ with.

[Расположенский:] Вот, первое дело, Самсон Силыч, надобно дом да лавки заложить либо продать (Островский 10). [R.:] Well, the first thing, Samson Silych, the house and shops must be mortgaged, or sold (10a).

Д-123 • ПЛЁВОЕ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: infin or abstr, often это)] 1. doing sth. is very easy, does not require any effort: (it's) a snap ⟨a cinch, a breeze⟩; (that's) nothing; (as) easy as pie; (as) easy as falling off a log.

Собрать автомат за 25 секунд было для Мосина плёвым делом. Reassembling a submachine gun in 25 seconds was a snap for Mosin.

2. doing sth. reprehensible (unethical etc) is easy for s.o., elicits in s.o. no feelings of regret, remorse etc: сделать Y для X-а — плёвое дело ≃ X doesn't feel the least bit bad about ⟨guilty for⟩ doing Y; X doesn't feel bad at all about doing Y; X doesn't think it's ⟨doesn't consider it⟩ any big deal to do Y; [lim.] X would do Y to s.o. as soon as look at him.

Д-124 • ПОНЯ́ТНОЕ ДЕ́ЛО; ПОНЯ́ТНАЯ ВЕ́ЩЬ both coll [NP; these forms only; usu. sent adv (parenth) or indep. sent; fixed WO] (used to emphasize that what is stated is entirely logical, understandable) as is apparent: sure enough; naturally; it stands to reason; quite understandable ⟨-ably⟩.

«Мать отправляет свою дочь отца искать — ага. „Иди, — говорит, — в забегаловку, опять он, такой-сякой, наверно, там". Он, понятное дело, там…» (Распутин 3). "Mum sends her daughter out to find Dad. 'Look in the boozer,' she says. 'That's where he'll be, the old so-and-so.' Sure enough, he's there…" (3a).

Д-125 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЕ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: abstr, infin, or a clause), usu. pres] 1. [fixed WO] some situation (doing sth. etc) is very bad, not good at all: [of a situation etc] things are as bad as can be; things are really bad; things are in a bad way; things have hit ⟨reached⟩ rock bottom; [lim.] it's (the beginning of) the end; [of doing sth.] (doing sth. is) as low as you can get; (doing sth. is) despicable; you can't get lower than (doing sth.).

…Хозяин добавил: «Твой муж никому зла сделать не мог — последнее дело, если таких берут…» (Мандельштам 1). And the old man added: "Your husband could never have done harm to anyone. If they are arresting people like him, things must be really bad" (1a). ♦ «Ох, уж эти мне базары! Нет, что вы на это скажете? Уж если они немцев перестанут бояться… последнее дело» (Булгаков 3). "Hell—these market women! How'd you like that? Once they stop being afraid of the Germans… it's the beginning of the end" (3a).

2. sth. is of negligible importance within the framework of the matter in question: completely unimportant; means nothing; [lim.] the last thing (you think of etc); the last thing on one's list; the least of one's concerns ⟨worries⟩.

[Беневоленский:] Теперь я вас спрошу, что такое красота в мужчине? — Последнее дело (Островский 1). [B.:] Now I ask you, what are good looks in a man, exactly? It's the last thing you think of (1a).

Д-126 • ПРИШИВА́ТЬ/ПРИШИ́ТЬ ⟨ШИТЬ, МОТА́ТЬ/НАМОТА́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ ДЕ́ЛО (кому) slang [VP; subj: human or collect] to make an accusation against s.o. (usu. a false one), fabricate a charge against s.o., incriminate s.o. falsely: X шьёт Y-у дело ≃ X is trying to frame Y; X is cooking up charges ⟨something⟩ against Y; X is building ⟨making⟩ a case against Y.

«Стукачи старались… На меня дунули, будто сказал, что у немцев хорошие самолёты… И ещё стали мотать дело, что в мастерских большой износ инструментов. Вредительство!» (Копелев 1). "The stoolies worked hard. They said that I supposedly said that the Germans had good planes. And they began building a case on the fact that the instruments were wearing out too fast in the shops. Sabotage!" (1a).

Д-127 • ПУСТО́Е ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: abstr or infin)] a vain endeavor: X ⟨делать X⟩ — пустое дело ≃ X ⟨doing X⟩ is a waste of time (and energy); it's pointless (to do X); it's ⟨there's⟩ no use (doing X); X ⟨doing X⟩ is useless ⟨worthless⟩.

Пойти в кино — пустое дело. Раз в год мелькнёт маломальски терпимый фильм. А всё остальное — дрянь (Зиновьев 2). Going to the cinema is a waste of time. You might see a halfway tolerable film once a year—everything else is rubbish (2a).

Д-128 • РАЗ ТАКО́Е ДЕ́ЛО coll [subord clause; Invar; usu. precedes the main clause; fixed WO] if matters are like that (as described in the preceding context): if that's the case; that being the case; if that's the way things are ⟨stand⟩; if that's how it is.

[Говорящий — мул] Я одного не пойму, почему все эти люди, прежде чем их схватят, никуда не бегут. Да что они, стреножены, что ли?! Раз такое дело — бегите в горы, в леса, кто вас там отыщет?! (Искандер 3). [The speaker is a mule] One thing I'll never understand is why all those people don't run away somewhere before they get caught. What are they, hobbled? If that's the way things are—run to the hills, to the woods, who'll find you there? (3a).

Д-129 • СЛЫ́ХАННОЕ ⟨СЛЫ́ХАНО substand⟩ ЛИ ДЕ́ЛО coll [sent; these forms only; usu. the main clause in a complex sent (often foll. by a чтобы-clause), a clause in a compound sent, or indep. sent (often used as an exclamation or rhetorical question); fixed WO] (used to express one's indignation over or strongly negative attitude toward some action or occurrence) this is unacceptable, outrageous, utterly unreasonable, should not be: whoever ⟨who's ever⟩ heard of such a thing ⟨of anything like it⟩?; whoever heard of…?; it's (just ⟨simply⟩) unheard of ⟨unbelievable⟩; this ⟨that, it⟩ beats all.

«…Слыхано ли дело, — подьячие задумали нами владеть, подьячие гонят наших господ с барского двора…» (Пушкин 1). Whoever heard of clerks imagining that they can take us over, that they can drive our masters out of their house?" (1b). ♦ «…Слыхано ль дело, меня две власти приставили следить за лесом, а этот безродный грек заставляет меня следить за скотом» (Искандер 5). "It beats all—two regimes have appointed me to watch over the forest, but that kinless Greek is forcing me to watch the animals" (5a).

Д-130 • СТА́ТОЧНОЕ ЛИ ДЕ́ЛО obs [sent; Invar; usu. the main clause in a complex sent (often foll. by a чтобы-clause), a clause in a compound sent, or indep. sent (often used as an exclamation or rhetorical question); fixed WO] (used to express one's displeasure, resentment etc over some action, occurrence, suggestion etc) this is unacceptable, impermissible, utterly unreasonable: how can ⟨could⟩ such a thing be (possible)?; can such a thing really be?; how is that ⟨it⟩ possible?; is it conceivable that…?; it is hardly possible that…; it's out of the question that…

«Статочное ли дело, чтоб… барин давно не нашёл себе невесты, кабы захотел жениться…» (Гончаров 1). "…It was hardly possible that our master would not have found a wife long ago had he meant to marry…" (1b).

Д-131 • СТРА́ННОЕ ⟨ЧУ́ДНОЕ substand⟩ ДЕ́ЛО; СТРА́ННАЯ ВЕЩЬ [NP; these forms only; usu. sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] (used to emphasize the unexpected, unusual, or illogical nature of the statement that follows, which is often contrasted with a preceding statement) surprisingly, unbelievably: strangely (enough); strange to say; strange thing; strange as it may ⟨might⟩ seem; [lim.] it's strange.

Наконец-то и Леонид Иванович дождался этой чести — подписал статью, которую для него сочинил тот же Невраев. Но — странное дело! — став автором газетного подвала, Леонид Иванович не освободился от того чувства, которое вызывало на его лице чуть заметную, презрительную усмешку (Дудинцев 1). So finally Drozdov, too, lived to experience the honor of signing an article that had been written for him by that same Nevraev. But strangely enough, although he was now the author of a newspaper feature, Drozdov could still not rid himself of the emotion that had always brought a faint, contemptuous smile to his face (1a).

Д-132 • ТО И ДЕ́ЛО [Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (one does sth., sth. happens) often, frequently: over and over (again); again and again; time and (time) again; [lim.] constantly; continually; keep (doing sth.).

«Генерал Кондратенко», — то и дело повторяла бабушка (Олеша 3). "General Kondratenko," my grandmother repeated over and over (3a). ♦ Было без четверти час; но Карл Иванович, казалось, и не думал о том, чтобы отпустить нас: он то и дело задавал новые уроки. Скука и аппетит увеличивались в одинаковой мере (Толстой 2). It was a quarter to one. But Karl Ivanych apparently had no intention of letting us go: he kept setting us new tasks. Lassitude and hunger increased in equal proportion (2c).

Д-133 • ТО́ ЛИ ДЕ́ЛО coll, approv [Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: any noun), pres only, or Particle; initial position only; fixed WO] s.o. or sth. is entirely different from, and better than, someone or something else (used to express approval, a positive evaluation of the person, thing etc that is about to be named as opposed to the one named previously): то ли дело X ≃ X is quite another matter; X is a different story; thing X ⟨with person X it⟩ is a different matter (altogether); thing X is quite a different thing; X is not like that at all; X is not at all like [NP].

«Всё может случиться: ну, как лопнет [компания], вот я и без гроша. То ли дело в банк» (Гончаров 1). "…Anything might happen—such as your company going bankrupt and leaving me without a penny. A bank is quite another matter" (1b).

Д-134 • УДИВИ́ТЕЛЬНОЕ ДЕ́ЛО [NP; Invar; indep. sent or clause; fixed WO] used to express surprise, astonishment: (it's) amazing ⟨astonishing⟩; (it's) an amazing ⟨astonishing⟩ thing; (it's) a most extraordinary thing; it's truly extraordinary.

[Почтмейстер:] Удивительное дело, господа! Чиновник, которого мы приняли за ревизора, был не ревизор (Гоголь 4). [Postmaster:] An astonishing thing, ladies and gentlemen! The official whom we took to be the government inspector, was not the inspector at all (4d). [The Postmaster:] A most extraordinary thing, ladies and gentlemen! The civil servant we took to be the Government Inspector, is not the Government Inspector at all (4c).

Д-135 • ХОРО́ШЕНЬКОЕ ⟨ХОРО́ШЕЕ⟩ ДЕ́ЛО! coll [NP; these forms only; used as indep. sent or sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to express disapproval of or indignation at sth. (usu. in refer. to the preceding statement, which may be repeated after the idiom): I like that!; a fine thing ⟨state of affairs⟩ (indeed)!; isn't that just dandy!

«С вас, Шариков, 130 рублей. Потрудитесь внести». — «Хорошенькое дело, — ответил Шариков, испугавшись, — это за что такое?» (Булгаков 11). "Your share is one hundred thirty rubles, Sharikov. Kindly pay up." "A fine thing," Sharikov became alarmed. "What's this for?" (11a).

Д-136 • ЧЁРНОЕ ДЕ́ЛО lit [NP; fixed WO] a reprehensible, despicable action or crime: dirty deed; heinous act ⟨crime⟩.

«История всё разберёт. Потомство пригвоздит к позорному столбу бурбонов комиссародержавия и их чёрное дело» (Пастернак 1). "History will tell the truth. Posterity will pillory the Bourbons of the commissarocracy together with their dirty deeds" (1a).

Д-137 • Я́СНОЕ ДЕ́ЛО coll [NP; Invar; sent adv (parenth) or the main clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] (used to emphasize that what is stated is completely evident, logical) as is apparent: naturally; obviously; evidently; no doubt ⟨no question⟩ (about it); no two ways about it; sure enough; it's clear enough ⟨quite clear⟩.

Ясное дело, мне хотелось бы познакомиться с ним… (Соколов 1). Naturally I would like to make his acquaintance… (1a). ♦ «Ясное дело, девушка втрескалась в него по уши» (Искандер 5). "No question, the girl was head over heels in love with him" (5a).

Д-138 • ГРЕ́ШНЫМ ДЕ́ЛОМ coll, occas. humor [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; sent adv (often parenth); fixed WO] used by the speaker to admit his own or another's mistake, weakness, oversight etc, or to inquire if another (often the interlocutor) has made a mistake, given in to a weakness, overlooked sth. etc: I'm afraid; much as I hate to admit ⟨say⟩ it; I'm ashamed to say; sad to say; [in refer. to the interlocutor or a third party only] you ⟨he etc⟩ didn't go and (do sth.), did you ⟨he etc⟩?

«Они [два студента] как-то очень просто и хорошо обратились к старику. Он даже прослезился. Грешным делом, и я тоже» (Некрасов 1). "What they [two students] said to the old man was very simple, direct, sincere. He even shed a few tears. I'm afraid I did, too" (1a). ♦ Когда я поступал в ресторан, у меня грешным делом мелькала мысль, что я… смогу завести какие-то знакомства (Лимонов 1). When I started at the restaurant, I am ashamed to say, I had the fleeting thought that I… could make some contacts (1a).

Д-139 • МА́ЛЫМ ДЕ́ЛОМ obs [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] not much: a (wee ⟨tiny⟩) bit; a little.

[Телятев:] …[Васильков] спросил бутылку шампанского, потом другую, ну, мы и выпили малым делом (Островский 4). [T.:] …[Vasilkov] ordered a bottle of champagne, then another. Well, we had a bit of a drink (4a).

Д-140 • МЕЖДУ ДЕ́ЛОМ ⟨ДЕЛ obs⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] in one's free moments, during intervals between other engagements: in between other things ⟨one's other activities⟩; betweentimes ⟨betweenwhiles⟩; [lim.] when one has ⟨can spare⟩ a minute ⟨a moment⟩; when one can snatch a free moment; when one has a spare moment ⟨a moment to spare⟩; on the side.

…Каждое посещение театра [Юра] считал праздником. Поэтому никогда не понимал Сашу Панкратова, Нину, забегавших в театр между делом… (Рыбаков 2). For him [Yuri], going to the theater was like taking a holiday. He could never understand Sasha Pankratov or Nina, who would go to the theater in between their other activities… (2a).

Д-141 • ПЕ́РВЫМ ДЕ́ЛОМ ⟨ДО́ЛГОМ⟩ [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] before (doing) anything else: first of all; in the first place; first (off); first thing; the first thing (one does is…); to begin ⟨start⟩ with.

Мой старик, конечно, стал расспрашивать абхазского арапа насчёт колхозных дел. Первым долгом он у него спросил, не заставляют ли их сажать эвкалипты (Искандер 3). My old man, of course, began by asking the Abkhazian blackamoor about kolkhoz affairs. First off he asked whether they were making them plant eucalyptuses (3a). ♦ Первым делом она [комсомолка] обвинила меня в сочинении закона Гримма и Раска, который я навязывала студентам (Мандельштам 2). To begin with, she [the young woman member of the Komsomol] accused me of inventing Grimm's and Rask's law and forcing it down the students' throats (2a).

Д-142 • БЛИ́ЖЕ К ДЕ́ЛУ [Invar; fixed WO] 1. Also: К ДЕЛУ(!) [usu. indep. sent] (used as a prompt, appeal, or command) do not digress, speak relevantly: get ⟨come, stick⟩ to the point; get (down) to business; get (down) to the business at hand; to business!; get down to brass tacks.

[Авдонин:] Побежал я, короче говоря, в контору. Комнату просить. Очень плохо соображал… [Третий коммунист:] Под газом? [Авдонин:] Какой — под газом! Рано утром. [Яблоков:] Ближе к делу, Авдонин (Салынский 1). [A.:] …To put it briefly, I ran to the office to ask for a room. I hardly knew what I was doing…. [Third communist:] Were you tight? [A.:] I wasn't tight at all. It was early in the morning. [Ya:] Stick to the point, Avdonin (1a).

2. [AdjP; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: это), usu. pres] this is more relevant than what was said before: this is more to the point; [lim.] now you're talking.

[Галя:] Хорошо, если ты хочешь откровенности — пожалуйста: во-первых… [Андрей:] Слушай, нельзя ли прямо — в-десятых! [Галя:] Хорошо! В-двадцать-пятых! [Андрей:] Вот это ближе к делу (Розов 1). [G.:] All right—if you want me to be frank—first… [A.:] Listen, could you make it short and start with "tenthly"! [G.:] All right! Twenty-fifthly!… [A.:] Now you're talking (1a).

Д-143 • ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ПО ДЕ́ЛУ coll [VP; subj: human] to talk about the essence of what is being discussed: X говорит по делу ≃ X speaks ⟨gets⟩ to the heart of the matter; X speaks ⟨gets, sticks⟩ to the point; || X говорит не по делу ≃ X has gone off on ⟨at⟩ a tangent.

[Вася:] Теперь во всех домах такие [люстры]… [Любин муж:] Это научились, что говорить. Теперь ведь точно под квартиры всё делают, мебель там и люстры. По площади всё рассчитано. Кровать сюда, стол сюда. А иначе и не встанет… [Адамыч:] Ага. Я вот ещё когда лифтером был — теперь-то на автоматику перевели — я телеграммки ношу… (Спохватывается, что не по делу говорит.) Квартиры, точно, похожие (Рощин 2). [V.:] All the buildings have fixtures like that now…. [Lyuba's husband:] No question about it, they have it all down to a science now. Everything's made exactly to fit the apartment, you know, furniture, or chandeliers. The bed goes here, the table, there. Otherwise, they don't fit…. [A.:] That's so. And when I was still an elevator operator—now they're all automatic—I deliver telegrams… (Remembering suddenly that he has gone off on a tangent.) Apartments, it's the truth, they're all alike (2a).

Д-144 • ДЕ́ЛУ ВРЕ́МЯ, (А) ПОТЕ́ХЕ ЧАС [saying] one should spend most of his time and energy on work and relax only when his work is done: ≃ business before pleasure.

Д-145 • ИДТИ́ К ДЕ́ЛУ obsoles [VP; subj: abstr; often neg] to be pertinent, relevant to the matter in question: X идёт к делу ≃ X is related to the matter at hand; X is to the point; || Neg X к делу не идёт ≃ X has ⟨bears⟩ no relation to the matter at hand; X is beside the point.

Для чего он дрался с мародёром? Пьер отвечал, что он защищал женщину, что защита оскорбляемой женщины есть обязанность каждого человека, что… Его остановили: это не шло к делу (Толстой 7). Why had he fought the marauder? Pierre answered that he 'was protecting a woman,' and that 'to protect a woman who was being insulted, was the duty of every man; that'… They interrupted him, for this was not to the point (7b).

Д-146 • ПО ДЕ́ЛУ наказывать, ругать, критиковать кого coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to punish, berate, criticize s.o.) deservedly: for a (good) reason; for good reason; with good reason ⟨cause⟩; (the punishment ⟨the criticism etc⟩ is) well-deserved.

Вконец раздобревший хозяин кинулся было в магазин за добавкой, но гость решительно перевернул свой стакан вверх дном: «Я… пас». — «Что так?» — «Папашка не любит, когда посреди работы». — «Строг?» — «Да как сказать. Строг — не строг, а порядок любит. Если и осадит, так по делу» (Максимов 3). Completely mellowed by now, he wanted to run to the shop for fresh supplies, but his guest resolutely turned his glass upside down. "I pass…." "How's that?" "The old man doesn't like it in the middle of a job." "So he's strict?" "I don't know if I'd say that. He isn't exactly strict, but he likes things to be proper. If he takes you down a peg, it's always for a good reason" (3a).

Д-148 • ПЛА́КАЛИ чьи ДЕ́НЕЖКИ coll [VP_{subj}; past only; fixed WO] (of money that has been spent unwisely or of money loaned out that has not been and never will be paid back) s.o.'s money is gone forever: плакали X-овы денежки ≃ X's money is lost for good; X's money is down the drain; [usu. of money loaned out, an investment that seems sure to fail etc] X can kiss his money good-bye; X can say good-bye to his money; X can forget about ever seeing his ⟨that⟩ money again.

«Нам платят за убитых и пленных дополнительное вознаграждение…» — «Нет, господа, раненых мы вам не отдадим, — возразил профессор Аббас. — Они нуждаются в лечении». — «Не отдадут, не отдадут, — горько заплакал блондин-атлет. — Плакали наши денежки, ребята…» (Аксёнов 6). "We get paid extra money for dead bodies and prisoners…." "No, gentlemen, we will not hand over the wounded," objected Professor Abbas. "They need treatment.""They won't give them up," said the blond athlete, bursting into bitter tears. "We can say good-bye to our money, boys" (6a).

Д-149 • НИКУДА́ НЕ ДЕ́НЕШЬСЯ ⟨НЕ ДЕ́ТЬСЯ⟩ (от чего) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не денешься; fixed WO] 1. because of the circumstances, sth. cannot be avoided: there is no way around it; there is no getting out of it; there is no way out (of it); one has no choice (but to…); [lim.] you can't escape.

Убийц прогнали. А на Лёльке клеймо: «была в оккупации». И она, и её мама, и её «двоюродная» теперь не полноценные граждане… От анкеты никуда не денешься: анкета — шлагбаум, опущенный перед их жизнями (Чуковская 2). The murderers had been driven out. But Lyolka was branded: "I was in the occupation." And she and her mother and cousin were no longer full-fledged citizens…. You couldn't escape filling out forms: these forms were like a barrier placed in front of their lives (2a).

2. ne cannot change or overlook some unpleasant or disturbing fact, state of affairs etc: there is no getting around ⟨away from⟩ it ⟨that⟩; there is no avoiding it.

Правда ли, что — давний сотрудник Охранного отделения? Тут — никуда не деться, этого не скрыть (Солженицын 1). Was it true that he was an Okhrana agent of long standing? There was no getting away from that. Concealment was impossible (1a).

Д-150 • В ОДИ́Н ПРЕКРА́СНЫЙ ДЕНЬ; В ОДНО́ ПРЕКРА́СНОЕ ВРЕ́МЯ rather lit [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] on one particular, significant, or memorable day, on a given day, occasion, at a certain point (often used as a stylistic device to give the flavor of a fairy tale, epic, or the like): one fine day; some sunshiny day; [in refer. to the future] one of these (fine) days.

…В один прекрасный день в нашей газете прошёл слушок, что картина Таркилова кому-то наверху не понравилась… (Искандер 4). …One fine day the rumor went around at our newspaper that somebody high up did not like Tarkilov's painting… (4a).

Д-151 • ВЧЕРА́ШНИЙ ДЕНЬ (чего) [NP; sing only; often subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr) or (when used in gen) nonagreeing postmodif; fixed WO] (that which belongs to) the past: (be) a thing of the past; (be) yesterday's [NP]; [lim.] (be) behind the times; (be living) in the past; (be) passé ⟨outmoded⟩.

«…Не считайте меня глухим консерватором, человеком вчерашнего дня» (Аксёнов 6). "You would be wrong… to regard me as a dull conservative, one of yesterday's men" (6a). ♦ Теория, на которую опирается ваш эксперимент, уже не представляет никакого интереса, это вчерашний день науки. The theory on which your experiment is based is no longer of any interest, it's a thing of the past.

Д-152 • ДЕНЬ А́НГЕЛА old-fash [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the day when the Russian Orthodox church honors the saint after whom one is named: s.o.'s name day; s.o.'s saint's day.

«Поздравь меня, — воскликнул вдруг Базаров, — сегодня 22-е июня, день моего ангела» (Тургенев 2). "Wish me many happy returns," Bazarov suddenly exclaimed. "Today's the twenty-second of June, my name day" (2c).

Д-153 • ДЕНЬ В ДЕ́НЬ [Invar; adv; fixed WO] precisely (on the day named): to the day; right to the very day.

…Последняя часть романа подписана 4-ым апреля 63 года, а ровно день в день три года спустя и произошло покушение [на царя] (Набоков 1). …The last part of the novel was signed on April 4, 1863, and exactly three years later to the day the attempt [to assassinate the Tsar] took place (1a).

Д-154 • ДЕНЬ-ДЕНЬСКО́Й coll [AdvP; Invar; sent adv] throughout, for the entire day: all day long; the whole day long ⟨through⟩.

[Лебедев:] В наше время, бывало, день-деньской с лекциями бьёшься… (Чехов 4). [L.:] Now, in our time you'd sweat away at your lectures all day long… (4b).

< The word «деньской» is used in this idiom only.

Д-155 • ДЕНЬ И НОЧЬ; ДНЁМ И НО́ЧЬЮ; ДЕ́ННО И НО́ЩНО [NP or AdvP; these forms only; sent adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO (1st and last variants)] con-

Пфейферша денно и нощно приставала к Грустилову, в особенности преследуя его перепискою… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Mme Pfeifer badgered Melancholov day and night, especially tormenting him with letters (1a).

Д-156 • ДЕНЬ ОТКРЫ́ТЫХ ДВЕРЕ́Й [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a day when an institution of higher learning is open for all potential applicants to visit: open house.

Д-157 • ДЕНЬ ОТО ДНЯ [Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] gradually, little by little: with every ⟨each⟩ passing day; from one day to the next; from day to day; day by day; with each new day; [in limited contexts; usu. with compar form of Adj used as subj-compl] every day.

«…Жизнь моя становится пустее день ото дня…» (Лермонтов 1). "…My life becomes more empty day by day…" (1a). "…My life gets emptier every day" (1c).

Д-158 • ДО́БРЫЙ ДЕНЬ [formula phrase; Invar; fixed WO] a greeting used upon meeting s.o. during the day: hello; good day; [in limited contexts] greetings; [between noon and sundown] good afternoon; [before noon] good morning.

Когда он вернулся, в номере сидел Павор. «Добрый день», — сказал Павор, ослепительно улыбаясь (Стругацкие 1). When he returned, Pavor was sitting in his room. "Good afternoon," said Pavor with a blinding smile (1a).

Д-159 • ЗА́ВТРАШНИЙ ДЕНЬ (чего) [NP; sing only; usu. obj or subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr or concr)] (that which will exist in or belong to) the time yet to come: tomorrow; the future; the morrow; [lim.] tomorrow's [NP].

[Астров:] …Озябший, голодный, больной человек, чтобы спасти остатки жизни, чтобы сберечь своих детей, инстинктивно, бессознательно хватается за всё, чем только можно утолить голод, согреться, разрушает всё, не думая о завтрашнем дне… (Чехов 3). [A.:] …A man who is freezing, hungry, sick to save what is left of life for his children, instinctively, unconsciously grabs at anything that might satisfy his hunger or warm him, and in doing so destroys everything without a thought for tomorrow… (3a). [A.:] …A man who is shivering, hungry, and diseased grabs instinctively, unconsciously at anything that can fill his belly and keep him warm. Since his only interest is to preserve what is left of his own life and protect the lives of his children, he destroys everything without thinking of the future… (3b).

Д-160 • ИСКА́ТЬ ВЧЕРА́ШНИЙ ДЕНЬ ⟨ВЧЕРА́ШНЕГО ДНЯ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to waste time trying to find or bring back sth. that is irretrievably gone: X ищет вчерашний день ≃ X is trying to bring back yesterday.

Д-161 • КА́ЖДЫЙ БО́ЖИЙ ДЕНЬ coll [NP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] daily: every blessed day.

Д-162 • ясно КАК (БО́ЖИЙ) ДЕНЬ coll [как + NP; these forms only; modif; fixed WO] (sth. is) completely (clear, obvious): (as) plain ⟨clear⟩ as day ⟨daylight⟩; crystal clear.

…Ведь это же ясно как божий день: не приди Джамхух со своими друзьями, Гунда была бы навеки обречена жить без мужа! (Искандер 5). After all, it was plain as day: had Jamkhoukh not arrived with his friends, Gunda would have been forever doomed to live without a husband! (5a).

Д-163 • ПО СЕЙ ⟨СЕГО́ДНЯШНИЙ⟩ ДЕНЬ; ДО НАСТОЯ́ЩЕГО ДНЯ; ДО Э́ТОГО ⟨НАСТОЯ́ЩЕГО, СЕГО́⟩ ВРЕ́МЕНИ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] up to the present time, even now: to this (very) day; to the present day; even today.

…На рынке [в Таллине]… моим приятельницам приходилось слышать: «Вот придут белые корабли, всех вас отсюда выгонят». Белых кораблей ждали, ждут и по сей день (Орлова 1). At the market [in Tallinn] my friends occasionally heard: "When the White ships come, then all of you will be driven out of here." They were waiting for the White ships and they're waiting for them to this day (1a).

Д-164 • ЧЁРНЫЙ ДЕНЬ (чей); отложить, спрятать что и т.п. НА ⟨ПРО obs⟩ ЧЁРНЫЙ ДЕ́НЬ coll [NP (1st var.); PrepP, these forms only, adv (2nd var.); fixed WO] a time of misfortune, need in s.o.'s life (esp. a time of possible want in the future for which one saves in the present): rainy day; hard times; bleak ⟨dark⟩ day(s); ‖ отложить ⟨припасти, спрятать и т.п.⟩ что на чёрный день ≃ put away ⟨put by, put aside, save etc⟩ (money) for a rainy day.

Удержалось у него тысячонок десяток, запрятанных про чёрный день… (Гоголь 3). All he managed to keep was some ten thousand roubles put away for a rainy day… (3c).

Д-165 • СОРИ́ТЬ ⟨БРОСА́ТЬ(СЯ), ШВЫРЯ́ТЬ(СЯ), СЫ́ПАТЬ⟩ ДЕНЬГА́МИ coll [VP; subj: human] to spend money carelessly, extravagantly, often wastefully: X сорит деньгами ≃ X throws (his) money around ⟨away⟩; X blows ⟨squanders⟩ (his) money; X spends money like water; [lim.] money burns a hole in X's pocket.

[Гаев:] Сестра не отвыкла ещё сорить деньгами (Чехов 2). [G.:] I see Lyuba hasn't stopped throwing money away (2b). [G.:] My sister hasn't yet lost her habit of squandering money (2a).

Д-166 • НЕ В ДЕНЬГА́Х СЧА́СТЬЕ [saying] money alone does not make one happy: ≃ money isn't everything; money can't buy ⟨doesn't bring⟩ happiness.

[Лебедев:] Ты Сашу любишь, она тебя любит… Оба вы здоровые, умные, нравственные, и сыты, слава богу, и одеты… Что ж тебе ещё нужно? Денег нет? Велика важность! Не в деньгах счастье… (Чехов 4). [L.:] You love Sasha, she loves you…. You're both healthy, intelligent, decent people. You have enough to eat, thank God, and you've clothes on your back. What more do you want? You may be hard up, but what matter? Money doesn't bring happiness (4b).

Д-167 • ПРИ ДЕНЬГА́Х coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, оказаться (subj: human); often neg] one is in possession of money: X при деньгах ≃ X has (some) money; [lim.] X is well-to-do; X is in the money; ‖ Neg X не при деньгах ≃ X is out ⟨short⟩ of cash ⟨funds⟩; X is low on funds; X is strapped for money ⟨cash⟩.

Приехал как-то в гостиницу дед из глубинки… Просил самолучший номер… Дед уплатил вперёд за три дня и не поморщился (видно, был при деньгах) (Грекова 3). Once a very old man came to the hotel from the sticks…. He asked for the very best room…. Without a murmur the old man paid in advance for three days. Apparently he had money (3a). ♦ «Четыреста двадцать пять. А?»… — «А может быть, тысячу триста? Мне, право, неловко, но я сейчас не при деньгах, а мне портному платить…» (Булгаков 12). "How about four hundred and twenty-five rubles?"… "Thirteen hundred perhaps? I feel rather embarrassed because I'm out of funds for the moment and I have to pay my tailor…" (12a).

Д-168 • БЕ́ШЕНЫЕ ДЕ́НЬГИ coll [NP; usu. this WO] 1. a very large sum of money (paid for sth., to s.o., charged for sth. etc): (cost) a fortune; prodigious sum(s) (of money); fantastic sum (of money); ton of money; (cost) an arm and a leg; [lim.] that* kind of money.

Теперь у него просто мастерская, но подпольная, так как патент стоит бешеных денег… (Кузнецов 1). Now he had only a workshop—an underground one, since a license cost an arm and a leg (1a).

2. money obtained easily and unexpectedly and therefore spent recklessly, extravagantly: easy money.

[Телятев:] Вот и мне доставались всё бешеные [деньги], никак их в кармане не удержишь. Знаете ли, я недавно догадался, отчего у нас с вами бешеные деньги? Оттого, что не мы сами их наживали (Островский 4). [T.:] I, too, got easy money, money that came easily and went easily. Only recently I understood why your money and my money was easy money. It was because we did not earn it ourselves (4b).

Д-169 • ДЕ́НЬГИ НА БО́ЧКУ (класть, выкладывать и т.п.) coll [NP; Invar; usu. obj or indep. sent; fixed WO] to pay right away, produce payment at the time of sale: cash on the barrel(head); pay cash up front; pay on the spot.

Д-170 • ДЕ́НЬГИ НЕ ПА́ХНУТ often disapprov [sent; pres only; fixed WO] it does not matter that the money in question has been obtained by unseemly means or from unsavory sources: money has no smell.

< Loan translation of the Latin pecunia non olet. According to the Roman biographer Suetonius (Vespasian, XXIII, 3), the emperor Vespasian (1st cent. A.D.) introduced a tax on public lavatories. When his son Titus objected to this tax, he held a coin to Titus' nose and asked whether it smelled. Hearing that it did not, the emperor replied, "Yet it's made from urine."

Д-171 • ДЕ́НЬГИ ⟨ДЕ́НЕЖКИ⟩ СЧЁТ ЛЮ́БЯТ; ДЕ́НЕЖКА СЧЁТ ЛЮ́БИТ [saying] monetary matters require careful, precise handling (often said when counting money before handing it to s.o. or upon receiving it): ≃ money likes ⟨loves⟩ to be counted.

…[Коровьев] выложил председателю пять новеньких банковских пачек. Произошло подсчитывание, пересыпаемое шуточками и прибаутками Коровьева, вроде «денежка счёт любит», «свой глазок — смотрок» и прочего такого же (Булгаков 9). …He [Koroviev] stacked five bundles of new bank notes before the chairman. There was a careful count, interspersed with Koroviev's little quips and pleasantries, such as "money loves to be counted," "your own eye is the best spy," and so on in the same vein (9a).

Д-172 • НА MÉДНЫЕ ДЕ́НЬГИ ⟨ГРОШИ́⟩ учиться, учить кого, воспитываться и т.п. obs [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to study, provide for s.o.'s study, be raised etc) with meager, poor, insufficient funds: (have to) scrape together money ⟨funds⟩ (to study etc); (have to) scrape up pennies (for one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ education etc); be too poor to get ⟨give s.o.⟩ decent schooling ⟨a decent education⟩; study ⟨go to school etc⟩ on a shoestring.

Стоило ли воспитывать их [мальчиков], на медные гроши учить живописи, если они занимаются такой мазнёй, да ещё выдают её за последнее откровение! (Лившиц 1). Was it worth bringing them [the boys] up, scraping together the money to let them study painting, if they do such daubing and, moreover, present it as the latest revelation! (1a).

Д-173 • НИ ЗА КАКИ́Е ДЕ́НЬГИ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with negated verbs] 1. not even for a very large sum of money (can sth. be bought, will s.o. sell sth. etc): not for any price ⟨money⟩; not at any price.

Самое лучшее бы сейчас — не вздыхать, а достать лошадь. Но лошади сейчас — она это знала — ни за какие деньги не купить в Пекашине (Абрамов 1). The best thing now would be to stop sighing and get hold of a horse. But nowadays in Pekashino horses weren't to be had for any money, and she knew it (1a).

2. not under any circumstances: not (do sth.) at any price; not (do sth.) for all the money in the world ⟨for any money, for anything⟩; there is no way (in the world) (one would ⟨could⟩ do sth.). Cf. not for all the tea in China.

Раз в неделю баба Нила… ехала трамваями на Даниловский рынок за зеленью, сухими грибами, щавелем, шиповником. А уж сколько чая из шиповника было пито! Сейчас этого пойла ни за какие деньги в рот не взять (Трифонов 2). Once a week Nila would… ride the streetcars to the Danilovsky market for greens, dried mushrooms, sorrel and rose-hips. God, the gallons of rose-hip tea they drank! Nowadays he couldn't stand the stuff at any price (2a).

Д-174 • ШАЛЬНЫ́Е ДЕ́НЬГИ [NP; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] money (usu. a large sum) obtained easily, without any effort on s.o.'s part: easy money.

[1-й мужик:] А тысячу-то [доктору] отдали? [Яков:] А то как же?.. [2-й мужик:] То-то шальные деньги-то (Толстой 3). [First Peasant:] And did they give him [the doctor] the thousand? [Ya.:] I should say they did. [Second Peasant:] That's real easy money (3a).

Д-175 • ЗАШИБА́ТЬ/ЗАШИБИ́ТЬ ДЕНЬГУ́ ⟨МОНЕ́ТУ⟩ substand [VP; subj: human] to earn, make money: X зашибает деньгу ≃ X is making some ⟨a few⟩ bucks; [lim.] X is raking in the dough; X is trying to make a fast buck.

Д-176 • ПЛЕВА́ТЬ/НАПЛЕВА́ТЬ С ВЫСО́КОГО ДЕ́РЕВА (кому) на кого-что highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. infin compl of $быть_{ø}$ (impers when used with кому), impfv past (used in pres or past contexts), or imper] s.o. considers some person or thing unimportant, inconsequential, s.o. is contemptuous of some person or thing: X-у плевать на Y-а с высокого дерева ≃ X doesn't give a damn ⟨a tinker's damn, a hoot⟩ about Y; X doesn't care ⟨give⟩ a fig about Y; X couldn't ⟨could⟩ care less about Y.

Доктор говорит… для меня все люди равны, и ссылается на клятву Гиппократа, которую он, между прочим, не давал… Администратору… на Гиппократа этого с высокого дерева наплевать… (Войнович 1). The doctor said: "…All people are the same for me." He was referring to the Hippocratic Oath, which, by the way, he had not taken…. The hotel manager could not have cared less about the Hippocratic Oath… (1a).

Д-177 • ПОТЁМКИНСКИЕ ДЕРЕ́ВНИ lit, iron [NP; usu. pl; fixed WO] fakery, a deceptive front that conceals the miserable state of affairs behind the external splendor: Potemkin villages; window-dressing; [lim.] (do ⟨have⟩ sth.) just for show; (put up) a façade.

…Родители Рахили спокойно дожидались приезда Ивановских. Готовились не они… готовился город… И хотя ни сама Рахиль, ни её родители не собирались устраивать потёмкинские деревни, не хотели показухи… но город был взбудоражен… (Рыбаков 1). Calmly Rachel's parents awaited the arrival of the Ivanovskys. It wasn't they who were getting ready for their arrival, but the town…. Although neither Rachel nor her parents intended to do anything just for show, or to put up any facades, the whole town was in a state of agitation… (1a).

< From the name of Prince Grigory Potyomkin (often transliterated as Potemkin), who constructed artificial villages along the route of Catherine the Great's journey to the south in order to show the empress the prosperity of the new territory acquired by Russia in 1787 after the annexation of the Crimea.

Д-178 • ЗА ДЕРЕ́ВЬЯМИ ⟨ИЗ-ЗА ДЕРЕ́ВЬЕВ⟩ ЛЕ́СА НЕ ВИ́ДЕТЬ disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. pres] not to have a complete understanding of the whole because one pays too much attention to minor details: X за деревьями леса не видит ≃ X doesn't ⟨can't⟩ see the forest ⟨the wood(s)⟩ for the trees; X misses the forest for the trees.

Многие из них [моих современников] всю жизнь ждали революцию, но увидев её будни, испугались и отвернулись. А были и другие — они боялись собственного испуга: ещё проморгаешь, из-за деревьев не увидишь леса… (Мандельштам 1). Many of them [my contemporaries] had awaited the Revolution all their lives, but at the sight of what it meant in terms of everyday life, they were horrified and looked away. Then there were others who were frightened of their own fears and were terrified of not seeing the wood for the trees (1a).

Д-179 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ⟨ОСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ОСТА́ВИТЬ⟩ ПРИ СЕБЕ́ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кого to make s.o. stay near one (so that one can easily make use of his services, oversee his work, supervise his behavior etc): X держит Y-а при себе ≃ X keeps Y close by (X); X keeps Y around; X keeps Y with X; [when Y is X's subordinate] X keeps Y on.

Юный негодяй был влюблён в княгиню… Княгиня была без ума от дяди Сандро. Всё-таки он надеялся на что-то… Возможно, она его не прогоняла, потому что он подхлёстывал дядю Сандро на всё новые и новые любовные подвиги. А может она его держала при себе на случай, если дядя Сандро внезапно выйдет из строя (Искандер 3). The young reprobate was in love with the princess…. The princess was mad about Uncle Sandro. Nevertheless, he had hopes…. Possibly she refrained from banishing him because he spurred Uncle Sandro to ever more inventive feats of love. Or perhaps she kept him around just in case Uncle Sandro suddenly became disabled (3a).

2. ~ что [obj: usu. свои мысли, взгляды, советы etc] not to let others know (one's thoughts, views etc), not tell others: X держит Y при себе ≃ X keeps Y to himself; [lim.] X keeps ⟨holds⟩ Y in(side).

«Володя, чтобы не было недоразумений. Я разделяю линию партии. Будем держать свои взгляды при себе. Ни к чему бесполезные споры» (Рыбаков 2). "Volodya, just so there won't be any misunderstandings, I want you to know that I accept the Party line. Let's keep our views to ourselves. No need to have pointless arguments" (2a).

Д-180 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: human] 1. to assume a particular posture while walking, sitting, talking etc: X держит себя [AdvP] ≃ X carries ⟨holds, bears⟩ himself [AdvP]; || искусство ⟨умение⟩ держать себя ≃ perfection of manner.

[Милашин:] Однако это ужасно! В целый вечер она не сказала со мной ни одного слова… А как она нынче хороша-то! Как держит себя! (Островский 1). [M.:] Really, this is awful! The whole evening she hasn't said a single word to me…. But how pretty she is to-day! How she bears herself! (1b).

2. to act in a certain manner (as specified by the context), maintain a particular kind of behavior: X держит себя [AdvP] ≃ X behaves ⟨conducts himself, comports himself⟩ [AdvP].

Направляясь в мурьёвскую глушь, я, помнится, ещё в Москве давал себе слово держать себя солидно (Булгаков 6). Back in Moscow, when I found out that I was to go to remote Muryovo, I had promised myself that I would behave in a dignified manner (6a). ♦ Он [Володя] во всём стоял выше меня: в забавах, в учении, в ссорах, в умении держать себя… (Толстой 2). He [Volodya] was superior to me in everything: in games, in studies, in quarrels, and in his ability to comport himself well… (2b).

Д-181 • ТА́К ДЕРЖА́ТЬ! [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] 1. nautical a command to the helmsman to keep to the charted course: mind your rudder!; steady as she goes!

2. (you are doing everything well, correctly,) continue acting the same way: keep it up!; stay on ⟨the⟩ course!; keep up the good work!; that's the way to do it!; way to go!; [lim.] atta boy ⟨girl⟩!

Д-182 • ТО́ЛЬКО ДЕРЖИ́СЬ! coll [Invar; used as an indep. clause or subord clause (usu. introduced by Conj что and often correlated with так, такой etc in the preceding clause); usu. this WO] used to emphasize the extreme intensity of the previously mentioned action, quality etc (more often used in refer. to sth. disagreeable): like you wouldn't believe!; you'd never believe!; [lim.] hang on to your hat!; hold (on to) your hat!; and how!

«Он такие штуки может выделывать, что только держись! Он заранее знал, что Берлиоз попадёт под трамвай» (Булгаков 9). "He can do things you'd never believe! He knew in advance that Berlioz was going to fall under a streetcar!" (9b). ♦ «Ты думаешь, они меня надуют?» — «Да они же мошенники! Так надуют, что только держись!» "Do you think they'll cheat me?" "They're swindlers! Of course they'll cheat you—and how!"

Д-183 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ⟩ ДЁРУ[1] substand [VP; subj: human] 1. to run away in a great hurry: X дал дёру ≃ X took to his heels; X hightailed it; X ran ⟨made a run⟩ for it; X made tracks; X made a quick getaway.

Как только медведь отошёл на несколько шагов, Тендел дал дёру и бежал до самого Чегема, по дороге прихватив сломанное ружьё (Искандер 3). As soon as the bear went off a few steps Tendel took to his heels and ran all the way to Chegem, grabbing his broken gun on the way (3a).

2. to leave s.o. (usu. a spouse or romantic partner) or sth. (usu. a job) abruptly and forever: X дал дёру ≃ X ditched ⟨dumped, dropped⟩ Y; X walked out on Y; X bagged thing Y.

Ахматова говорит, что ехать надо, иначе Пунин (Николаша) «даст дёру» (Мандельштам 2). Akhmatova said she must go, or else Punin ("Nikolasha") would "walk out" on her (2a).

Д-184 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ⟩ ДЁРУ[2] кому substand [VP; subj: human] 1. to punish s.o. by hitting him with a rod or strap: X задал Y-у дёру ≃ X gave Y a (good) whipping ⟨beating, thrashing⟩; X tanned Y's hide; X took a stick to Y.

2. to scold s.o. severely, rebuke s.o. harshly: X задал Y-у дёру ≃ X gave Y a (good) tongue-lashing; X gave Y a piece of X's mind; X told Y off; X told Y a thing or two.

Д-185 • ДЕРЬМО́ НА ПА́ЛОЧКЕ highly coll, derog [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: any common noun or pers name); fixed WO] an absolutely worthless, repulsive, despicable person or thing: pile ⟨lump, piece⟩ of shit.

«…На тех [политических заключённых] надо было тебе поглядеть, братишка, надо было поглядеть тебе, чтобы понять, какое дерьмо на палочке может быть человек!.. Каким же холуём, братишка, надо заделаться, чтобы в холуйстве своём всех холуёв геройством переплюнуть?» (Максимов 2). "…You should have seen those politicals, brother—you should have seen them if you want to know how human beings can turn themselves into lumps of shit…. What sort of an arse-licker have you got to be to make a virtue out of breaking records for arse-licking?" (2a).

Д-186 • НЕ (ИЗ) РО́БКОГО ⟨ТРУСЛИ́ВОГО⟩ ДЕСЯ́ТКА coll, approv [NP_{gen} or PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] brave: no coward; no faintheart; not easily scared; not the timid type; not (one) of the timid sort; anything but timid ⟨cowardly⟩; [lim.] a bold ⟨courageous⟩ spirit; a brave soul.

«Василиса Егоровна прехрабрая дама, — заметил важно Швабрин. — Иван Кузьмич может это засвидетельствовать». — «Да, слышь ты, — сказал Иван Кузьмич, — баба-то не робкого десятка» (Пушкин 2). "Vasilisa Yegorovna is a lady of exceptional courage," Shvabrin declared gravely. "Ivan Kuzmich can testify to that." "Yes indeed," said Ivan Kuzmich, "the woman's no faintheart" (2c). "Vassilissa Yegorovna is a very brave woman," Shvabrin observed solemnly. "Ivan Kuzmitch can bear witness to that." "Yes, indeed," said Ivan Kuzmitch, "my wife isn't one of the timid sort" (2b).

Д-187 • НЕ (ИЗ) ХРА́БРОГО ДЕСЯ́ТКА coll [NP_{gen} or PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] not at all brave: no hero; not the bravest of men ⟨women⟩.

Ему… всё это было не только неприятно, но и противно, однако он, человек далеко не храброго десятка, исправно выполнял задание партийной организации (Эткинд 1). He… found the whole business not merely disagreeable but repulsive, but not being the bravest of men he was obediently carrying out the instructions of the Party organization (1a).

Д-188 • НЕ ДЕТЕ́Й КРЕСТИ́ТЬ кому с кем coll [VP; infin only; impers predic; fixed WO] nothing is tying s.o. to someone else, there are and will be no close relations between the two (or more) persons in question: X-у с Y-ом не детей крестить ≃ X doesn't have to be (best) friends ⟨buddies⟩ with Y; X doesn't have to be Y's best friend ⟨bosom buddy⟩; [lim.] X doesn't owe Y anything.

«Бродяга он [Джонни], не бродяга, хуй [taboo] его знает, — сказал Алёшка, — тёмный человек. Ну, да наше дело маленькое, нам с ним не детей крестить…» (Лимонов 1). "He [Johnny] may be a bum or he may not, how the fuck should I know," Alyoshka said. "A shady character. Well, it's none of our business, we don't have to be buddies with him…" (1a).

Д-189 • ДЕТИ́ШКАМ ⟨РЕБЯТИ́ШКАМ⟩ НА МОЛОЧИ́ШКО заработать, получить, остаться и т.п. coll, humor [PrepP; these forms only; obj or subj; fixed WO] (to earn, get, be left with etc) a small amount of money: a few ⟨a couple of⟩ bucks; a little something; [lim.] (earn enough ⟨try etc⟩) to make ends meet ⟨to get by⟩.

…От большевиков [офицеры] бежали, к белым не пристали, понемножку жили, спорили о судьбах России, зарабатывали детишкам на молочишко и страстно желали конца войны (Шолохов 4). Having fled from the Bolsheviks without joining the Whites, they [the officers] led a hole-and-corner existence, arguing about Russia's destiny, trying to make ends meet, and wishing only for the war to end (4a).

Д-190 • ВПАДА́ТЬ/ВПАСТЬ В ДЕ́ТСТВО ⟨В МЛАДЕ́НЧЕСТВО⟩ [VP; subj: human] 1. to lose one's mental faculties because of old age: X впадает в детство ≃ X is entering ⟨falling into⟩ his second childhood; X is getting ⟨becoming⟩ senile; X is in his dotage.

«Не все в старости впадают в детство», — сказала Тёща… (Зиновьев 2). "Not all old people fall into a second childhood," observed my mother-in-law (2a).

2. Also: ВПАДА́ТЬ/ВПАСТЬ В РЕБЯ́ЧЕСТВО to act, think etc as a child would: X впадает в детство ≃ X behaves like a (little) child ⟨kid⟩; [lim.] X is experiencing ⟨enjoying etc⟩ his second childhood; X is being childish.

Д-191 • (И) ДЁШЕВО И СЕРДИ́ТО coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv, subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: это), or indep. sent; fixed WO] for a reasonable price and of good quality: (both) cheap and good ⟨cheaply and well⟩; a real bargain; [lim.] (both) cheap and effective.

[Доктор:] …Волноваться-то очень незачем. [Барыня:] Да ведь как же? Полную дезинфекцию надо. [Доктор:] Нет, что ж полную, это дорого слишком, рублей триста, а то и больше станет. А я вам дёшево и сердито устрою (Толстой 3). [Doctor:] …There's no reason to get very excited. [A.P.:] What do you mean? There'll have to be a complete disinfection. [Doctor:] No, why a complete disinfection? That's too expensive. That could run to some three hundred rubles, or even more. I'll fix you one that's cheap and effective (3a).

Д-192 • ПО ДИАГОНА́ЛИ просмотреть, прочитать и т.п. что [PrepP; Invar; adv] to glance over or read sth. quickly, hastily: X просмотрел Y по диагонали ≃ X skimmed (through) Y; X leafed ⟨thumbed, flipped, ran⟩ through Y; X scanned Y; X ran his eyes over Y.

Я просмотрел статью по диагонали и решил, что надо прочитать её внимательно. I skimmed the article and decided that I needed to read it through carefully.

Д-193 • НА ДИ́ВО; НА УДИВЛЕ́НИЕ [PrepP; these forms only] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. concr or abstr] sth. is very good, excellent: a real wonder ⟨marvel⟩; wonderful; marvelous.

Земля славная, и урожай всегда бывал на диво; но на заколдованном месте никогда не было ничего доброго (Гоголь 5). It's marvelous ground and there is always a wonderful crop on it; but there has never been anything good on that bewitched place (5a).

2. ~ какой, каков, как [modif (intensif)] very, extremely: amazingly; remarkably; uncommonly; exceptionally; wondrously.

…Арабский язык ей давался на удивление легко (Акунин 4). …She found Arabic remarkably easy to pick up (4a). ♦ Конец августа был погожий и сухой на диво (Шолохов 5). The end of August was wondrously fine and dry (5a).

3. [adv or modif] very well, excellently: wonderfully (well); amazingly (well); splendidly.

Его казаки были экипированы на диво. У всех было в достатке патронов, на всех была справная одежда и добротная обувь — всё добытое с пленных красноармейцев (Шолохов 4). His Cossacks were splendidly equipped. They had plenty of ammunition and their clothing and footwear, all taken from captured Red Army men, were in excellent condition (4a).

4. ~ (кому-чему) [the resulting PrepP is sent adv (often parenth); indir obj: human or collect] so as to evoke wonder, admiration etc: to the amazement ⟨astonishment, delight⟩ of; [lim.] in a way marvelous to see; to the surprise of; || на удивление всем ≃ to everyone's surprise ⟨astonishment, amazement etc⟩.

[Телятев:] А вот пьёт [Васильков] шампанское, так на диво: отчётливо, методически, точно воду зельтерскую (Островский 4). [T.:] …He [Vasilkov] drinks champagne in a way marvelous to see: carefully, methodically, just as if it were seltzer water (4a). ♦ На удивление всем приезжим, начальником станции была женщина (Ильф и Петров 1). To the amazement of all the town's visitors, the station director was a woman (1b).

Д-194 • ДИ́ВУ ДАВА́ТЬСЯ/ДА́ТЬСЯ coll [VP; subj: human; more often impfv past; fixed WO] to be very surprised (at sth.): X диву давался ≃ X was amazed ⟨astonished⟩; X wondered ⟨marveled⟩; [lim.] it was just ⟨simply⟩ amazing; it was hard to believe.

Пройдёт время, и люди будут диву даваться, как можно было за такое судить (Зиновьев 1). "As time goes by people will start being amazed that anyone could have been tried on charges like that" (1a). ♦ Обернулась Рябая Хромая Старуха, глянула — диву далась, стоит перед ней олениха, матка маралья (Айтматов 1). The pockmarked Lame Old Woman turned, looked, and wondered: before her stood a deer, a mother deer (1a).

Д-195 • В ДИКО́ВИНКУ ⟨В ДИКО́ВИНУ⟩ (кому) coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr, concr, human, or infin)] a person (thing etc) is unusual, surprising to s.o.: X Y-у в диковинку ≃ Y has never seen anything like X before; thing X surprises Y; Y is surprised at thing X; || Neg X Y-у не в диковинку ≃ thing X is nothing new ⟨unusual⟩ to Y; there is nothing surprising ⟨unusual⟩ about X; thing X is not unusual with Y; thing X comes as no surprise (to Y); thing X is by no means uncommon; [lim.] X is ⟨such things etc are⟩ not unknown; thing X won't take Y by surprise.

…Этот парень ей [Рахили] в диковинку. Не только потому, что он из Швейцарии, она об этой Швейцарии понятия не имела, просто она никогда не видела, чтобы еврейский парень был голубоглазый блондин… (Рыбаков 1). She [Rachel] had never seen anything like this boy before. It wasn't only that he came from Switzerland, which didn't mean anything to her, anyway, but she had never seen a Jewish boy with fair hair and blue eyes… (1a). ♦ Матросы всюду матросы… Хороший шторм им не в диковину (Эренбург 2). A sailor is always a sailor…. A good storm is nothing new to him (2a).

Д-196 • ПОД ДИКТО́ВКУ чью, кого [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] (one does sth.) as directed, suggested, ordered etc by another: at s.o.'s urging ⟨prompting, suggestion, behest, bidding⟩; at the urging ⟨the prompting, the suggestion, the behest, the bidding⟩ of; under orders from.

У Романа нет своего мнения, он всё делает под диктовку своей жены. Roman never thinks for himself—everything he does is at his wife's prompting.

Д-197 • КРУТИ́ТЬ/ПРОКРУТИ́ТЬ ⟨ПРОВЕРНУ́ТЬ⟩ ДИНА́МО кому recent, slang [VP; subj: human] to be deceitful in one's relationship with s.o., ultimately rejecting s.o. (usu. in refer. to relations between the sexes): X крутит Y-у динамо ≃ X is giving Y the runaround; || X прокрутил Y-у динамо ≃ X gave Y the brush-off ⟨the heave-ho⟩; X dumped Y.

[Кушак:] Она [женщина] сбежала… Что это значит?.. Как это называется? [Зилов:] Динамо. [Кушак:] Что? [Зилов (с раздражением):] Динамо. Это называется прокрутить динамо… Она вам провернула динамо (Вампилов 5). [K.:] She's [the woman has] run away… What's the meaning of this?… I don't know what to call it… [Z.:] The heave-ho. [K.:] What? [Z. (irritated):] It's called the heave-ho…. She's given you the heave-ho (5a).

Д-198 • ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ДИСТА́НЦИЮ (с кем) [VP; subj: human; often infin with умел, старался, надо etc; fixed WO] to avoid close relationship, familiarity with s.o.: X держал ⟨умел держать⟩ дистанцию ≃ X kept ⟨knew how to keep⟩ his distance (from Y); X kept ⟨managed to keep⟩ Y at arm's length; [lim.] X learned to distance himself from Y; [usu. in refer. to relations between political entities, social groups etc] X and Y avoided rapprochement.

Если раньше он казался ей немножко самовлюблённым, слишком уж привыкшим к всеобщему восхищению, и она нарочно держала дистанцию, то теперь нужда в этом отпала… (Акунин 5). Previously she had thought him a tad too conceited, too accustomed to general admiration, and she had deliberately kept her distance, but now the need for that had fallen away… (5a).

Д-199 • ЧЕМ БЫ ДИТЯ́ НИ ТЕ́ШИЛОСЬ, ЛИШЬ БЫ НЕ ПЛА́КАЛО [saying; often only the first half of the saying is used] let a person do what he wants as long as he is satisfied (said when condescendingly referring to s.o.'s pursuits, actions etc, which are not serious, not worthy of attention): ≃ as long as you are ⟨he is etc⟩ happy; if it makes you ⟨him etc⟩ happy; anything that keeps you ⟨him etc⟩ happy; [lim.] whatever makes your ⟨his etc⟩ boat float; anything to make it easier for you ⟨him etc⟩.

Вскоре после той их первой встречи в чайной Фёдор стал замечать, что старики его наладились подолгу отлучаться на выпасы к Загладину, приохотив к этому и соседей. Сначала он лишь посмеивался над старческой блажью: чем бы дитя ни тешилось! (Максимов 1). Soon after their first meeting in the tearoom, Fyodor had begun to notice that his old folk had taken to making extended visits to Zagladin's pastures, taking their neighbors along with them. At first he had merely laughed at the old couple's whim: anything that keeps them happy! (1a).

Д-200 • ПЕТЬ/ПРОПЕ́ТЬ ДИФИРА́МБЫ кому-чему lit; ПЕТЬ/СПЕТЬ ПАНЕГИ́РИК obs, lit [VP; subj: human] to praise s.o., s.o.'s merits excessively: X поёт Y-у дифирамбы ≃ X heaps ⟨lavishes⟩ praise(s) on Y; X sings the praises of Y; X showers Y with praise(s) ⟨compliments⟩.

Д-201 • ДО ДНА [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. выпить, осушить что etc ~ (to empty one's glass) completely: drink it ⟨a glass etc⟩ (right) down; down it ⟨a glass, one's vodka etc⟩; gulp down (a glass ⟨one's drink etc⟩); drain a ⟨one's⟩ glass; toss it ⟨one's drink⟩ down; drink it to the last drop; [used as a toast to cheer others to finish their drinks] bottoms up!

Довольный эффектом, он [граф] допил до дна бокал… (Аксёнов 7). …Satisfied with the effect he [the count] had produced, he downed the rest of his champagne (7a). ♦ Мужчины смотрели восторженно: «Людмила Петровна, за вас! До дна! Все пьют за Людмилу Петровну!» (Трифонов 1). The men gazed at her in delight and exclaimed, "To you, Liudmila Petrovna! Bottoms up! Everybody drink to Liudmila Petrovna!" (1a).

2. испытать, понять, исследовать что etc ~ (to experience sth.) profoundly, (to understand, study sth.) completely: fully; to the fullest (measure); in full measure; to the ⟨its, their⟩ very core.

Он и веру, и древность, красоту, музыку, людей кругом себя трогал с одинаковым ледяным рвением — изучал. Не просто узнавал, а изучал… до последней капли, до дна (Трифонов 5).

He approached religious faith, antiquity, beauty, music, and the people around him all with the same icy zeal and subjected them to the same scrutiny. He did not merely learn about them, but he analyzed them inside and out, to their very core (5a).

Д-202 • СО ДНА МОРЯ́ ⟨МОРСКО́ГО⟩ достать, добыть кого-что; НА ДНЕ МО́РЯ ⟨МОРСКО́М⟩ найти, сыскать кого-что [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] (to reach, find s.o. or sth.) without fail, no matter how difficult it is, no matter where he or it might be: (even if one has to dredge s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ up) from the bottom of the sea; (even if s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is) at the bottom of the sea.

«Пафнуткина, Рябых, Нехвалёных живыми или мёртвыми. Хоть со дна морского [достать]» (Пастернак 1). "I want Pafnutkin, Riabikh, and Nekhvalenykh, dead or alive. I don't care if you have to dredge them up from the bottom of the sea" (1a).

Д-203 • (ЧТОБ) НИ ДНА НИ ПОКРЫ́ШКИ кому-чему coll [indep. sent or clause; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express ill will toward s.o. or sth., wish the worst for s.o. or sth.: чтоб Х-у ни дна ни покрышки ≃ (god)damn X; blast X; may X rot in hell.

«Помню, учили мы про них [эсеров] на политзанятиях, так я думала — они давно вымерли… И вдруг рядом… Вот компания, понимаешь! Чтоб ему ни дна ни покрышки, этому следователю!» (Гинзбург 1). "When we learned about them [Social Revolutionaries] at our political study groups, I thought they'd died out a long time ago and now they turn up here. Some company! All I can say is, damn the investigators who lumped us together!" (1b).

Д-204 • НА ДНЕ быть$_{ø}$, оказаться и т.п.; НА ДНО опускаться, попасть; ДО ДНА докатиться [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (to descend to) the lower levels of society, (be) in déclassé surroundings: Х оказался на дне ⟨докатился до дна etc⟩ ≃ X was down and out; X ended up in the gutter ⟨on the garbage heap, on skid row⟩; X ended up among the dregs of society; X descended to the lower depths; [lim.] X hit rock bottom.

[Глебов] что-то когда-то слышал о том, что Шулепа пропал, докатился до дна… (Трифонов 2). He [Glebov] remembered hearing some time ago that Shulepa had dropped out of sight and had probably ended up somewhere on the garbage heap (2a).

Д-205 • ДНЕВА́ТЬ И НОЧЕВА́ТЬ у кого, где coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to be at a specified place constantly, spend almost all one's time there: Х днюет и ночует в месте Y ≃ X is at place Y day and night; X spends day and night at place Y; X spends all day and all night at place Y; X practically lives at place Y.

Д-206 • ЖИТЬ СЕГО́ДНЯШНИМ ДНЁМ [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. to be concerned with the present, live in the present, not thinking about the future: Х живёт сегодняшним днём ≃ X lives for the moment ⟨the present, the day, today⟩; X takes one day at a time; X takes life ⟨it⟩ as it comes, one day at a time; X lives from one day to the next ⟨from day to day⟩.

Мы жили сегодняшним днём, не ожидая от будущего ничего, кроме мелких пакостей (Окуджава 2). We lived for the day, expecting nothing from the future except petty irritations (2a).

2. to show interest in current events, preserve ties with reality: Х живёт сегодняшним днём ≃ X keeps up on ⟨with⟩ things ⟨what's happening, the news, the latest happenings⟩; X keeps himself informed; X keeps abreast of the news ⟨the times⟩.

Д-207 • ДНИ СОЧТЕНЫ́ чьи, кого [VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$; fixed WO] 1. s.o. has a very short time left to live: Х-овы дни сочтены ≃ X's days are numbered; X has only a few days left to live; X hasn't long to live; X is not long for this world; time is running out for X.

[Львов:] Близкий вам человек погибает… дни его сочтены… (Чехов 4). [L.:] Someone close to you is dying… her days are numbered… (4a).

2. s.o. has very little time left in power, leadership etc: дни Х-а сочтены ≃ X's days are numbered.

Д-208 • СЧИ́ТАННЫЕ ДНИ [NP; pl only; fixed WO] little time (often used with остаются до чего): до Х-а остаются считанные дни ≃ there are precious few ⟨only a few⟩ days left before X; X is only a few days off; X will be here any day now; X will be here before you ⟨we⟩ know it; [lim.] time is running out ⟨getting short, ticking away⟩; || (в) считанные дни ≃ (in) only a few days ; (in) a mere few days; in a matter of days.

До экзаменов остаются считанные дни, а я ещё и не начинала готовиться. There are only a few days left before my exams and I haven't even started studying yet. ♦ «Варвара Андреевна, не так давно полковник пытался занять у меня триста рублей, а затем в считанные дни, если верить Зурову, спустил до пятнадцати тысяч» (Акунин 5). "Varvara Andreevna, not very long ago the colonel tried to borrow three hundred rubles from me, and then in a matter of days, at least according to Zurov, he lost perhaps as much as fifteen thousand" (5a).

Д-209 • ЗОЛОТО́Е ДНО [NP; fixed WO] an inexhaustible source of profit: gold mine; mother lode; treasure-trove.

«Вы на юг? Никогда не посоветовал бы». — «Но почему, почему? Я говорю вам — золотое дно, золотое дно» (Федин 1). "You going south? I wouldn't advise it." "But why, why? I'm telling you, it's a gold mine, a gold mine" (1a).

Д-210 • ВВЕРХ ⟨КВЕ́РХУ⟩ ДНОМ [AdvP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. пойти, идти ~ [adv; often used in sentences with subj: всё] (in refer. to s.o.'s everyday life, general goings-on, the activities of a certain group or within a certain sphere etc) (to be going or begin to go) in a way contrary to normal, in a disorderly fashion, not the proper way: (be going) topsy-turvy.

С приездом свекрови всё у нас в доме пошло вверх дном. When my mother-in-law arrived everything at home started going topsy-turvy.

2. перевернуть, перерыть и т.п. что, быть$_{ø}$ ~ [obj-compl with перевернуть etc (obj: concr or abstr, often всё) or, less often, subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: concr or abstr, often всё)] (used in refer. to the furnishings, objects etc in some place, to the typical routine of some organization, to s.o.'s way of life etc) (to bring sth., be brought) into a state of disorder, confusion: (turn sth. ⟨everything⟩) upside down; (be ⟨end up⟩) topsy-turvy.

Что вам сказать? Что можно сказать, когда вдруг приходят, устраивают обыск и уводят твоего отца, тихого человека, переворачивают всё вверх дном, ищут ворованное, деньги и ценности, как будто не понимают, что будь отец вор, то он бы всё из дома унёс (Рыбаков 1). What can you say? What can you say when they suddenly come and search your house and take your father away, a harmless man, and when they turn everything in the house upside down in the search for stolen goods and money and valuables, as if they don't realize that, had father really been a thief, he would have got everything out of the house during the six months of the investigation! (1a).

Д-211 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ КО ДНУ ⟨НА ДНО⟩ coll [VP] 1. [subj: human or collect] to be failing miserably, be losing, be almost ruined: X идёт ко дну ≃ X is going under; X is going to end ⟨wind⟩ up on the rocks; X is headed for disaster ⟨ruin⟩.

2. disapprov [subj: human] to degenerate, decline morally: X идёт ко дну ≃ X is going downhill ⟨to wrack and ruin, to the dogs⟩; [lim.] X is (slowly) turning into a bum.

Д-212 • ИЗО ДНЯ́ ⟨И́ЗО ДНЯ⟩ В ДЕ́НЬ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] every day, one day after another: day after day; from day to day; day by day; from one day to the next; day in, day out ⟨day in and day out⟩; every single day.

Мы только слышали пулемётные очереди через разные промежутки: та-та-та, та-та… Два года изо дня в день я слышал, и это стоит в моих ушах сегодня (Кузнецов 1). We could only hear bursts of machine-gun fire at various intervals: ta-ta-ta, ta-ta…. For two long years I could hear them, day after day, and even now they still ring in my ears (1b).

Д-213 • ПЕРЕБИВА́ТЬСЯ СО ДНЯ НА́ ДЕНЬ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to live badly, poorly, be in a state of need: X перебивается со дня на день ≃ X lives from hand to mouth; X scrapes ⟨struggles⟩ along; X struggles on from day to day; X barely makes it from one day to the next.

Мы никогда не отличались богатством, но до войны в нашей среде никто не мог похвастаться даже относительным благополучием. Все перебивались со дня на день (Мандельштам 1). People like us had never at any time been rich, but before the war nobody in our circle could even say that he was comparatively well-off. Everybody lived from hand to mouth (1a).

Д-214 • СО ДНЯ́ НА́ ДЕНЬ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. [usu. used with impfv pres or past, or pfv fut] (sth. is expected to happen) very soon: any day (now); at any moment; any time (now).

Со дня на день я ждала ареста, потому что жёны обычно разделяли участь мужей (Мандельштам 2). I expected to be arrested myself at any moment: wives generally shared their husbands' fate at that time (2a).

2. ~ откладывать, переносить что (to postpone sth. etc) repeatedly, day after day: (put sth. off) from one day to the next ⟨from day to day⟩; keep putting sth. off.

…Этой суммы было недостаточно, и Фёдор Константинович решил написать в Америку дяде Олегу, постоянно помогавшему его матери… Составление этого письма он со дня на день откладывал… (Набоков 1). …The sum was insufficient, and Fyodor decided to write to Uncle Oleg in America, who regularly helped his mother…. The composition of this letter was put off from day to day… (1a).

Д-215 • СРЕДИ ⟨СРЕДЬ⟩ БЕ́ЛА ⟨БЕ́ЛОГО⟩ ДНЯ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (sth. unlawful, shameful, unconventional, unexpected etc is done) during the daylight hours, so that everyone can see it: in broad daylight.

Как само собой понятно, самым неприятным, самым скандальным и неразрешимым из всех этих случаев был случай похищения головы покойного литератора Берлиоза прямо из гроба в грибоедовском зале, произведённого среди бела дня (Булгаков 9). Needless to say, the most distasteful, the most scandalous, the most baffling incident of all was the theft in broad daylight, of the late writer Berlioz's head, right out of the coffin on display in the Griboyedov hall (9c).

Д-216 • ТРЕ́ТЬЕГО ДНЯ [NP_{gen}; Invar; adv; fixed WO] two days prior to the day in question: two days ago; [when the point of refer. is the moment of speech] the day before yesterday; the other day; [when the point of refer. is a certain moment in the past] two days before.

«Погодите, мы вас переделаем». — «Кто меня переделает? Вы?» — «Кто? — Сестра; Порфирий Платонович, с которым вы уже не ссоритесь; тётушка, которую вы третьего дня проводили в церковь» (Тургенев 2). "You just wait… we shall transform you." "Who will transform me? You?" "Who? My sister, and Porfiry Platonych, whom you've stopped arguing with, and auntie, whom you escorted to church the day before yesterday" (2c). ♦ «Третьего дня, за обедом, я не знал, куда смотреть, хоть под стол залезть, когда началось терзание репутаций отсутствующих…» (Гончаров 1). "The other day at dinner I didn't know where to look, I wanted to crawl under the table when they began tearing to pieces the reputations of people who didn't happen to be present" (1b).

Д-217 • НЕ ПО ДНЯМ, А ПО ЧАСА́М расти, развиваться, изменяться и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to grow, change etc) very rapidly: by the hour; by hours rather than by days; not by the day, but by the hour; by leaps and bounds.

…Над ней [старухой] поохали, поахали, радуясь и удивляясь тому, что она поправляется не по дням, а по часам… (Распутин 3). …They'd all oohed and aahed, surprised and pleased to hear that she [the old lady] was getting better by the hour… (3a).

Д-218 • НА ДНЯХ; НА Э́ТИХ ДНЯХ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] 1. very recently, not long ago: a few days ago ⟨back⟩; the other day; a day or two ⟨so⟩ ago.

Он [Пастернак] рассказывает, что на днях кончил перевод «Ромео и Джульетты»… (Гладков 1). He [Pasternak] told me that he finished [his version of] Romeo and Juliette the other day… (1a).

2. very soon, on one of the following days: within a few ⟨a matter of⟩ days; in a few days; some day soon; any day now; in a day or two ⟨so⟩; shortly; [lim.] be about (to do sth. ⟨to happen⟩).

Мама сказала, что на днях возьмёт меня домой… (Каверин 1). Mother told me that within a few days she would take me home… (1a). ♦ …Дома на днях должны уже были сносить (Попов 1). …The houses were going to be torn down within a matter of days (1a). ♦ Володя на днях поступает в университет… (Толстой 2). Volodya is about to enter the university… (2b).

Д-219 • кому НЕ ДО кого-чего [Invar; the resulting PrepP is impers predic with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. does not have the time or desire, is not in the proper frame of mind etc to handle, think about, or deal with some person or matter: X-у не до Y-а ≃ X isn't ⟨doesn't feel⟩ up to thing Y; X can't be bothered with Y; X has no time for Y; this is no time for thing Y; X is not in the mood ⟨in no mood⟩ for Y; X is not concerned about Y; X has other things on his mind (than thing Y);

X has better ⟨more important⟩ things to think about (than Y); [lim.] X doesn't feel much like doing thing Y; X isn't into it ⟨thing Y⟩.

В другое время Чонкин подивился бы незаурядному дарованию Плечевого, но теперь было не до того (Войнович 2). Another time Chonkin would have stopped to marvel at Burly's unusual talent, but he wasn't up to it at that particular moment (2a). ♦ «Молчите, — шепнула она, — нынче не до шуток» (Окуджава 2). "Shh," she whispered, "this is no time for jokes" (2a). ♦ Он начал было побаиваться, чтобы [чиновники] не узнали его экипажа, но им было не до того (Гоголь 3). He felt apprehensive lest they [the officials] should recognize his carriage but they were not in the mood for noticing such things (3c).

Д-220 • ДО ДОБРА́ НЕ ДОВО́ДИТ/НЕ ДОВЕДЁТ (кого) coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr; usu. pres or fut; more often this WO] sth. will result in negative consequences (for s.o.): X (Y-a) до добра не доведёт ≃ X will lead to no good.

Д-221 • ОТ ДОБРА́ ДОБРА́ НЕ И́ЩУТ [saying] since the present situation is (relatively) favorable, it is better to leave things as they are than to make a change and risk making things worse: ≃ (better to) leave ⟨let⟩ well enough alone; [lim.] don't rock the boat; why seek anything better than what you already have?; if it ain't broke, don't fix it.

И зачем ей было от добра искать добра — ведь этот человек уже неплохо отнёсся к ней к такой, какой она была… (Залыгин 1). And why should she seek anything better than what she already had? He liked her well enough as she was (1a).

Д-222 • ДОБРО́ БЫ coll [subord Conj, condit; often foll. by a clause introduced by Conj «а то» or «но»] (usu. used to introduce a clause expressing an unreal or hardly realizable condition) (sth.) would be acceptable, understandable, justifiable etc if: if only; if at least; it would be all right ⟨a different matter, something else, very well, one thing, fine⟩ if; [lim.] one could understand it if.

«Есть некоторый коммунистический стиль. Мало кто подходит под эту мерку. Но никто так явно не нарушает этой манеры жить и думать, как вы, Юрий Андреевич… Вы — насмешка над этим миром, его оскорбление. Добро бы это было вашею тайной. Но тут есть… люди из Москвы. Нутро ваше им известно досконально» (Пастернак 1). "There exists a certain Communist style, Yurii Andreievich. Few people measure up to it. But no one flouts that way of life and thought as openly as you do…. You are a living mockery of that whole world, a walking insult to it. If at least your past were your own secret—but there are people from Moscow who know you inside out" (1a). ♦ Хоть околей, хоть издохни в лесу, а в барак без нормы не возвращайся… И добро бы хоть они, бедные, пайку свою съедали, а то ведь нет. Детям сперва надо голодный рот заткнуть (Абрамов 1). It didn't matter if you caved in and dropped down dead [in the forest], but woe betide you if you came back to the barracks without filling your quota…. It would have been one thing if the poor creatures could have eaten their own rations, but no—first they had to stop up the hungry mouths of their children (1a).

Д-223 • ЧЕГО́ ДО́БРОГО coll [Invar; sent adv (parenth); usu. used in declarative sentences (with pfv fut, subjunctive, or могу, может etc + the infin of another verb); also used in questions containing не... ли; the potential nature of the action, event etc expressed by the Russian idiom (or the Russian idiom in conjunction with мочь) is usu. conveyed in English through "might" or "may"; fixed WO] (sth. is) entirely possible (usu. used in refer. to the possibility that sth. disagreeable or undesirable may occur): for all one knows, s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might ⟨may⟩…; who can tell ⟨you never know⟩, s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might…; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might easily ⟨very well⟩…; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might even…; perhaps… (you never can tell); one ⟨s.o.⟩ would…; [lim.] s.o. might take it into his head (to do sth.); you're ⟨he's etc⟩ not by any chance (going to do sth., are you ⟨is he etc⟩)?; [when the speaker emphasizes his strong negative reaction to the possibility in question] I'm afraid s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ might…

…И от мысли, что где-нибудь… он, чего доброго, может встретиться с тревожными, скорбными глазами этого господина, всё вокруг принималось жить по-ночному, как природа во время затмения (Набоков 1). …The thought that somewhere… for all he knew, he might meet the anxious, mournful eyes of this gentleman, caused everything around him to assume nocturnal habits of life, like nature during an eclipse (1a). ♦ [Кулыгин:] Если тринадцать за столом, то, значит, есть тут влюблённые. Уж не вы ли, Иван Романович, чего доброго… (Чехов 5). [K.:] If there are thirteen at the table it means that someone here is in love. It's not you by any chance, Ivan Romanovich? (5a).

Д-224 • ПОМИНА́ТЬ/ПОМЯНУ́ТЬ ⟨ВСПОМИНА́ТЬ/ВСПО́МНИТЬ⟩ ДОБРО́М ⟨ДО́БРЫМ СЛО́ВОМ⟩ кого-что [VP; subj: human; obj: usu. human] when remembering s.o. or sth., to say or recall good things about him or it: X поминал Y-а добрым словом ≃ X had a kind word for person Y; X had a kind word to say about person Y; X had nice ⟨only good⟩ things to say about Y; X remembered person Y kindly ⟨with a kind word⟩; X remembered Y fondly; X spoke kindly ⟨fondly⟩ of person Y; X had fond memories of Y.

«Стойте! Неужто вы желаете помянуть добрым словом Обломова?» (Набоков 1). "Stop right there! Don't tell me you have a kind word for Oblomov…" (1a).

Д-225 • К ДОБРУ́ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr or a clause, often это), pres only] sth. is a good sign: it's ⟨that's⟩ (a sign of) good luck; it's ⟨that's⟩ a good omen; it bodes well; that's lucky.

[Варя:] Что ещё тут? [Дуняша:] Блюдечко разбила… [Варя:] Это к добру (Чехов 2). [V.:] What's going on here? [D.:] I broke a saucer. [V.:] That's good luck (2a).

Д-226 • НЕ К ДОБРУ́ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr or a clause, often это), pres only] sth. forebodes ill fortune, harmful consequences: X не к добру ≃ no good will come of X; X will lead to no good; X bodes ill ⟨no good⟩; X is not a good sign; X is a bad omen ⟨sign⟩; X is bad luck; X means trouble.

[Колесов:] Опять ты замуж собираешься? Это не к добру… (Вампилов 3). [K.:] You're planning to get married again? No good will come of it… (3b). ♦ В тут ночь мне приснились иконы. Сон не к добру (Мандельштам 1). That night I dreamed of ikons—this is always regarded as a bad omen (1a). ♦ Шалико почувствовал, что её [Хикур] внезапный отъезд не к добру (Искандер 4). Shaliko had sensed that Khikur's sudden departure meant trouble (4a).

Д-227 • ВТИРА́ТЬСЯ/ВТЕРЕ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ВКРА́ДЫВАТЬСЯ/ВКРА́СТЬСЯ, ВЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ВЛЕЗТЬ⟩ В ДОВЕ́РИЕ к кому disapprov [VP; subj: human] (to try) to obtain s.o.'s trust by using whatever (often underhand) means are necessary (usu. with the goal of personal gain): X втёрся в доверие к Y-у ≃ X wormed ⟨weaseled⟩ his way into Y's confidence; X wormed himself into Y's confidence; X stole into Y's confidence; X insinuated himself into Y's trust ⟨confidence⟩.

[Иосиф] умел улыбаться, и когда улыбался, то это был ангел, втирался в доверие к людям и потом их обманывал (Рыбаков 1). He [Yosif] knew how to smile, and when he did he could look like an angel and he would worm his way into your confidence, and then stab you in the back (1a).

Д-228 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В ДОВЕ́РИЕ к кому [VP; subj: human] to get s.o. to trust one: X вошёл в доверие к Y-у ≃ X gained Y's trust ⟨confidence⟩; X earned ⟨won⟩ Y's trust.

«Теперь черты личности преступника. Из хорошей семьи, даже английский язык знает. Превосходный психолог и талантливый актёр — это очевидно. Редкостное обаяние, отлично умеет входить в д-доверие даже к малознакомым людям» (Акунин 1). "Now, for the criminal's personality traits. He comes from a good family, he even knows English. He is an excellent psychologist and a talented actor—that much is obvious. He possesses uncommon charm and is very good at winning the trust of people he hardly knows at all" (1a).

Д-229 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ИЗ ДОВЕ́РИЯ у кого [VP; subj: human] to fail to keep s.o.'s trust: X вышел из доверия у Y-а ≃ X lost Y's confidence ⟨trust⟩; Y lost confidence ⟨his trust⟩ in X; Y no longer trusted X.

«Нет, Павел Миронович, на вас я больше надеяться не могу. Хватит. Вы из доверия вышли» (Распутин 4). "No, Pavel Mironovich, I can't count on you anymore. Enough. I no longer trust you" (4a).

Д-230 • В ДОВЕРШЕ́НИЕ чего, к чему; К ДОВЕРШЕ́НИЮ ⟨ДЛЯ ДОВЕРШЕ́НИЯ⟩ чего [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] as a final addition to (the circumstances, events, features etc mentioned in the preceding context and usu. summarized by the complement of the idiom): to crown ⟨cap, complete, add to⟩ sth.; || в довершение всего ⟨ко всему⟩ ≃ to top it (all) off; on top of everything else; on top of all this ⟨that⟩; || в довершение несчастья ⟨беды и т.п.⟩ ≃ to make things ⟨matters⟩ worse.

Только они [друзья] дошли до ручья, как увидели, что навстречу им идёт человек могучего сложения и несёт на плечах дом… На вершине крыши сидел золотистый петух… К довершению всех этих странностей на веранде дома стояла женщина… (Искандер 5). Just as they [the friends] reached the brook they saw a powerfully built man coming toward them, carrying a house on his shoulders…. On the roof-peak sat a golden rooster…. To crown all these oddities, a woman stood on the veranda… (5a). ♦ Начал [бригадир] требовать, чтоб обыватели по сторонам не зевали, а смотрели в оба, и к довершению всего устроил такую кутерьму, которая могла бы очень дурно для него кончиться… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). He [the brigadier] began to demand that the townsfolk not stand around gaping but keep their eyes peeled. To top it all off, he staged a ruckus that might have ended very badly for him… (1a).

Д-231 • ДОВЕРЯ́Й, НО ПРОВЕРЯ́Й [saying] show trust, but take precautions to make sure the person in question deserves your trust: ≃ better safe than sorry; it's better to be on the safe side; keep a check even on the person you trust; trust, but verify.

К Бубенцову этот тихий как мышь чиновничек был приставлен в качестве ока доверяющей, но проверяющей власти… (Акунин 6). This lowly official, as quiet as a mouse, had been attached to Bubentsov as the eye of the church authorities, who preferred to keep a check even on those they trusted (6a).

< "Trust, but verify" became popular in the 1980s after it was used repeatedly by President Ronald Reagan in his interactions with Mikhail Gorbachev, then leader of the Soviet Union, as well as in his speeches and in other contexts that addressed U.S.–U.S.S.R. relations.

Д-232 • ТЕРЯ́ТЬСЯ В ДОГА́ДКАХ ⟨В ПРЕДПОЛОЖЕ́НИЯХ⟩ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to be making various suppositions without knowing which of them provides an explanation or answer: X терялся в догадках ≃ X was lost in conjecture; X was racking his brains trying to figure it out; X drowned in surmise; [when the focus is on one's final inability to come to a conclusion] X was at a loss (to know…); X couldn't figure it out.

Марат терялся в догадках, стараясь узнать степень полномочий этих двух деревенских верзил (Искандер 2). Marat drowned in surmise when he tried to figure out exactly how much authority these two village giants had (2a). ♦ Но кто же брал на себя труд уведомить отца моего о моём поведении?.. Я терялся в догадках (Пушкин 2). But who then took it on himself to inform my father of my conduct?… I was at a loss (2a).

Д-233 • ПО́СЛЕ ДО́ЖДИЧКА ⟨ДО́ЖДИКА⟩ В ЧЕТВЕ́РГ coll, humor or iron [PrepP; these forms only; adv; often used as indep. sent in response to the question «Когда…?»; fixed WO] it is not known when, perhaps never: God knows when; [in response to a question] God only knows!; [lim.] your guess is as good as mine; [with the implication that sth. will never happen] when hell freezes over.

«Когда родители дадут тебе деньги на машину?» — «После дождичка в четверг! Лучше возьму ссуду в банке». "When are your parents going to give you the money for a car?" "God only knows! I'd be better off taking out a loan from the bank."

Д-234 • ЗОЛОТО́Й ДОЖДЬ (чего) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] riches, large sums of money (by extension large amounts of benefits, awards, prizes etc): golden rain (of sth.); shower of golden rain; shower of gold ⟨wealth⟩.

…Когда-то [бывший литературный маршал] заседал в президиумах, громил своих неудачливых собратьев, требовал их крови, издавался огромными тиражами, сыпался на него золотой дождь наград, денег и привилегий, и сам он… поверил, что заслужил это своим выдающимся вкладом в литературу (Войнович 1). At one time, he [a former field marshal of literature] had presided over presidiums, thundered against his hapless fellow writers, demanded their blood. His books were printed in enormous editions, a golden rain of prizes, money, and privileges fell upon him, and… he believed he'd earned it all (1a).

< Loan translation of the German Goldregen. From the Greek myth of Zeus, who was so captivated by Danaë's beauty that, in order to reach her, he turned himself into golden rain and impregnated her.

Д-235 • ТО, ЧТО ДО́КТОР ПРОПИСА́Л coll [Invar; usu. indep. sent or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: concr or abstr); fixed WO] exactly what is required, needed, suitable, pleasing in a given situation: just what the doctor ordered.

Д-236 • В ДОЛГ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. давать, брать, просить что ~ to give, receive, or request sth. (often money) for some period of time, on the condition that it (or its equivalent) will be returned later: (give ⟨get, ask for etc⟩)

a loan (of…); (give ⟨get etc⟩) money on loan; lend (sth.); borrow (sth.).

Что ни двор — то вексель у Сергея Платоновича: зелёненькая с оранжевым позументом бумажка — за косилку, за набранную дочери справу (подошло время девку замуж отдавать, а на Парамоновской ссыпке прижимают с ценой на пшеницу, — «Дай в долг, Платонович!»), мало ли за что ещё… (Шолохов 2). There was scarcely a farm that had not given Sergei Platonovich a green slip with an orange border promising to pay for a reaper, for a daughter's dowry (time for the girl to be married but wheat prices were low at the Paramonov elevator, so "Give us a loan, Platonovich!"), and for all kinds of other things (2a).

2. (to provide or receive some good or service) without requiring or providing immediate payment, on the condition that payment will follow: on credit; [lim.] (give ⟨extend⟩) credit.

Костенко подходил к подъезду, в котором жил профессор. Он даже не подходил, а, правильнее сказать, подбегал, потому что такси он найти не смог, а если бы и нашёл, то вряд ли уговорил бы шофёра везти его в долг, без денег (Семёнов 1). Kostyenko walked up to the block of flats in which the professor lived. In fact he did not walk but ran up, because he had been unable to find a taxi, and even if he had it was unlikely that he would have been able to persuade him to take him on credit, with no money (1a).

3. жить ~ (to live) on money that one has borrowed: (live) on credit ⟨on borrowed money⟩.

[Трофимов:] …Ваша мать, вы, дядя уже не замечаете, что вы живёте в долг… (Чехов 2). [T.:] …Your mother, you yourself, your uncle—you don't realize that you're actually living on credit (2c).

Д-237 • ДОЛГ ПЛАТЕЖО́М КРА́СЕН [saying] a kind (or, occas., hostile) act is reciprocated (said when s.o. responds to another's action or attitude in a similar way): ≃ one good ⟨bad⟩ turn deserves another; [lim.] ≃ you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours; [usu. when the action of reciprocation is named or implied] (it is) a debt repaid

Я увидел необходимость переменить разговор, который мог кончиться для меня очень невыгодным образом, и, обратясь к Пугачёву, сказал ему с весёлым видом: «Ах! Я было и забыл благодарить тебя за лошадь и за тулуп. Без тебя я не добрался бы до города и замёрз бы на дороге». Уловка моя удалась. Пугачёв развеселился. «Долг платежом красен», — сказал он, мигая и прищуриваясь (Пушкин 2). I felt the necessity of changing the topic of the conversation, which could have ended in a way very unfavorable to me, and I turned to Pugachev, saying with a cheerful expression, "Oh, I almost forgot to thank you for the horse and the coat. Without your help I would've never reached the city and would've frozen on the highway." My ruse worked. Pugachev cheered up. "One good turn deserves another," he said with a wink and a twinkle in his eyes (2a).

Д-238 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ ДОЛГ ⟨ПОСЛЕ́ДНЮЮ ДАНЬ⟩ кому lit [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to bid farewell to a dead person, usu. by attending his burial: X-ы отдали последний долг Y-у ≃ Xs paid (their) last ⟨final⟩ respects to Y; Xs said a final ⟨last⟩ farewell to Y; Xs paid their final tribute to Y; Xs paid last honors to Y.

Причастившись и особоровавшись, он тихо умер, и на другой день толпа знакомых, приехавших отдать последний долг покойнику, наполняла наёмную квартиру Ростовых (Толстой 7). Having received communion and the final anointing, he died peacefully, and the following day the throng of acquaintances who came to pay their last respects to the deceased filled the house rented by the Rostovs (7a).

Д-239 • В ДОЛГА́Х быть₀, сидеть, увязнуть coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] to have debts (usu. large ones): X сидит в долгах ≃ X is in debt ⟨in hock, in the hole⟩; [lim.] X is in the red; || X весь ⟨кругом⟩ в долгах ≃ X is deep ⟨up to his neck, up to his ears⟩ in debt; X is deep in the hole; X is saddled with debts; [lim.] X owes everyone money.

Всё, кажется, прожил, кругом в долгах, ниоткуда никаких средств, а задаёт обед… (Гоголь 3). To all appearances such a one has spent all he had, he is up to his ears in debt, he has nowhere to turn for money, and yet he will give a banquet… (3a).

Д-240 • ВЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ВЛЕЗТЬ ⟨ЗАЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ЗАЛЕ́ЗТЬ, ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́⟩ В ДОЛГИ́ ⟨В ДОЛГ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to incur debts (usu. large ones): X влез в долги ≃ X got (himself) into debt; X ran ⟨went⟩ into debt; X ran up (big ⟨huge etc⟩) debts; X got deep in debt ⟨in the hole⟩; X got up to his ears ⟨his neck⟩ in debt.

Будучи расточителен и честолюбив, он позволял себе роскошные прихоти; играл в карты и входил в долги, не заботясь о будущем… (Пушкин 1). Prodigal and ambitious, he indulged himself in extravagant habits, played at cards, got into debt, and gave no thought to the future… (1a). Prodigal and ambitious, he indulged himself in extravagant whims, played cards and ran up debts, not worrying about the future… (1c).

Д-241 • ДО́ЛГО ЛИ coll [AdvP; Invar; impers predic; used with infin] (sth., often sth. disagreeable, unpleasant, could happen) easily: (sth. could happen ⟨you could get into trouble etc⟩) before you know ⟨knew⟩ it; it wouldn't ⟨doesn't⟩ take much (for sth. to happen); it's ⟨it would be⟩ easy (to do sth.).

Не выходи сегодня на улицу: очень скользко. Долго ли ногу сломать. Don't go outside today, it's really slippery. Before you know it, you could fall and break a leg. ♦ [Катерина:] Долго ли в беду попасть! А там и плачься всю жизнь… (Островский 6). [K.:] It's easy to get into trouble. And if I do, I can spend the rest of my life in tears… (6f).

Д-242 • ДО́ЛГО ЛИ, КО́РОТКО ЛИ folk [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] for some (unknown and inconsequential) amount of time: for ⟨after⟩ a time, a long time or a short time; for a while, it doesn't matter how long; for a while, no one knows how long; how long (s.o. was doing sth. ⟨sth. was going on etc⟩) is no matter.

Долго ли, коротко ли они так жили, только в начале 1776 года, в тот самый кабак, где они в свободное время благодушествовали, зашёл бригадир (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). They lived thus for a time, a long time or a short time, but in 1776, near the first of the year, the brigadier dropped into the very same tavern where they whiled away their leisure hours (1a).

Д-243 • КАК ДО́ЛГО [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (for) how much time: how long; [lim.] how much longer.

С торжественным победным маршем сливалась песня… Петя не знал, как долго это продолжалось: он наслаждался, всё время удивлялся своему наслаждению и жалел, что некому сообщить его (Толстой 7). The voices blended with the triumphal victory march…. How long this lasted Petya could not tell; he delighted in it, wondering all the while at his delight and regretting that there was no one to share it (7a).

Д-244 • В ДОЛГУ́ [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] 1. ~ у кого one is financially beholden to s.o.: X в долгу у Y-а ≃ X owes Y money; X is in debt to Y.

2. ~ у кого, перед кем one feels obligated, very grateful to s.o. (for a favor, his kindness etc): X в долгу перед Y-ом ≃ X is ⟨feels⟩ indebted to Y; X is in Y's debt; X owes Y (one); X owes Y a debt of gratitude.

«Я ему сказал, решайте сами, я не хочу быть ему обязанным, не хочу быть в долгу» (Рыбаков 2). "I told him to decide for himself. I don't want to be under any obligation to him; I don't want to be in his debt" (2a).

Д-245 • В ДОЛГУ́ КАК В ШЕЛКУ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] one owes large amounts of money: X в долгу как в шелку ≃ X is buried ⟨drowning⟩ in debt; X is up to his ears ⟨his neck⟩ in debt; X is deep in the hole.

Д-246 • НЕ ОСТАВА́ТЬСЯ/НЕ ОСТА́ТЬСЯ В ДОЛГУ́ (у кого, перед кем) [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to respond to s.o.'s attitude, action etc with the same kind of attitude, a similar action etc; occas., to remunerate s.o. for a favor: X не остался у Y-а в долгу ≃ X repaid Y; X paid Y back (in kind); X returned the favor ⟨the compliment⟩; [lim.] X replied in the same vein ⟨manner⟩; [in refer. to a favor, kindness etc only] X made it up to Y; [in refer. to a conflict, fight, revenge etc only] X paid Y back with interest; X got even with Y; X gave Y as good as X got; X got back at Y.

«Ты меня пожалела, а я в долгу не останусь!.. Ты, что понадобится, говори» (Шолохов 2). "You've been good to me, lass, and I'm going to pay you back!… So you just say if there's anything you need" (2a). ♦ Квиты! Ты мне насолила, жизнь разломала, и я не остался в долгу. Сполна рассчитался (Абрамов 1). We're even! You did me dirt and smashed my life, and I've returned the compliment. So the score is settled (1a). ♦ «…Наташенька, не сердись на меня, — сказал я. — Это было очень важно. Я в долгу не останусь…» (Зиновьев 2). "…Natasha, don't be angry with me," I said. "It was very important. But I'll make it up to you…" (2a).

Д-247 • ПО ДО́ЛГУ чего [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] in order to meet the demands dictated by or intrinsic to sth.: as (sth.) obliges ⟨requires⟩; from a sense of obligation (to act in a certain way); out of…; || по долгу службы ≃ as part of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ duties ⟨responsibilities etc⟩; (it is) one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ duty (to…); in one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ line of duty; || по долгу чести ≃ true to one's honor.

Главный редактор издательства М.М. Смирнов, добросовестный и образованный человек, прочитал, как это полагалось ему по долгу службы, всю книгу от первой до последней страницы (Эткинд 1). The chief editor of the publishing house, Mikhail Smirnov… a conscientious and educated person, had read the book from cover to cover, as his post obliged him to (1a). ♦ Время от времени по долгу родства заглядывал дед Тихон (Максимов 2). From a sense of family obligation, Great-Uncle Tikhon would now and again make a visit (2a). ♦ Мы приходили в посольство… а затем уносили посольские судки с обедом и пачку газет, из которых Мандельштаму полагалось по долгу службы делать вырезки (Мандельштам 2). We used to go to the embassy… and then take away our meals in covered dishes, together with the newspapers from which M[andelstam] was supposed to make cuttings as part of his official work (2a).

Сначала им [табачнику Коле и его жене Даше] пришлось довольно туго, но потом, во времена нэпа, персидский коммерсант снова открыл свою кофейню-кондитерскую, на этот раз осторожно назвав её «Кейфующий пролетарий». Он взял в долю бывшего табачника… (Искандер 3). At first they [the tobacco merchant Kolya and his wife Dasha] were rather hard up. Then, during the era of the New Economic Policy, the Persian merchant opened his coffeehouse and bake shop again—this time cautiously naming it the Idle Proletariat—and took on the former tobacco merchant as partner… (3a).

Д-249 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ ⟨ВОЗДАВА́ТЬ/ВОЗДА́ТЬ⟩ ДО́ЛЖНОЕ кому-чему; ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ (ДО́ЛЖНУЮ ⟨ПО́ЛНУЮ⟩) СПРАВЕДЛИ́ВОСТЬ [VP; subj: human; often infin with надо, нужно; fixed WO] to appreciate s.o. or sth., acknowledge s.o.'s merit, abilities, skills etc: X отдаёт Y-у должное ≃ X gives Y Y's due; X has to hand it to Y; || надо отдать Y-у должное ≃ X has to give person Y credit; (Y is…,) you've got to ⟨X must⟩ grant him that; in all justice ⟨fairness (to Y)⟩…; [usu. when contrasted with the preceding statement] … (but) to do Y justice; [lim.] to give credit where it's due (, Y is…); let us give credit where credit is due; || нельзя ⟨X не может⟩ не отдать Y-у должное ≃ X cannot but recognize thing Y ⟨person Y's abilities, achievements etc⟩.

Марлен Михайлович… внимательно следил за лицами всей компании… Чаще всего взгляд Марлена Михайловича задерживался на «Видном лице» и всякий раз он отдавал ему должное — никак не проникнешь за эту маску (Аксёнов 7). Marlen Mikhailovich… kept close tabs on the faces of the entire crew…. The Important Personage received more than his share of attention, of course, and Marlen Mikhailovich had to hand it to him; that mask of his was impenetrable (7a). ♦ [Аркадина:] Несчастная девушка в сущности. Говорят, её покойная мать завещала мужу всё своё громадное состояние, всё до копейки, и теперь эта девочка осталась ни с чем, так как отец её уже завещал всё своей второй жене. Это возмутительно. [Дорн:] Да, её папенька порядочная-таки скотина, надо отдать ему полную справедливость (Чехов 6). [A.:] The poor girl. Apparently her mother left all her enormous fortune—every last kopeck—to Papa, and now he's gone and signed it over to his second wife. The girl hasn't a thing to her name. It's disgraceful. [D.:] Yes. To give credit where it's due: Papa dear is quite a swine (6d).

Д-250 • ДОЛОЖУ́ (Я) ВАМ ⟨ТЕБЕ́⟩ coll [sent; these forms only; used as sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used when telling one's hearer(s) about sth. unusual, astonishing, outrageous: I ⟨I'll⟩ tell you; I can tell you; I've got to tell you; let me tell you.

«Ну и в историйку я недавно влип, доложу тебе», — начал он… (Искандер 2). "Well, I'll tell you, I really fell into something once not so long ago," he began… (2a). ♦ Был я, доложу я вам, слаб, капризен и прозрачен — прозрачен, как хрустальное яйцо (Набоков 1). I was, let me tell you, weak, capricious and transparent—as transparent as a cut-glass egg (1a).

Д-251 • НА ДО́ЛЮ чью, кого or кому выпасть, прийтись, достаться [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with выпасть etc (subj: usu. abstr or infin, occas. concr)] (to become) s.o.'s destiny, responsibility, share of sth. etc: X выпал на долю Y-а ≃ Y was fated ⟨it was Y's fate⟩ to experience ⟨to have etc⟩ X; Y was destined to experience ⟨to have etc⟩ X; fate bestowed X upon Y; X befell Y; X fell to

…Мы говорили, что Пастернак прожил очень счастливую жизнь, остался верен себе и равен себе, не часто такой жребий выпадает на долю русского поэта (Орлова 1). We said that Pasternak had lived a very fortunate life: in spite of all the difficulties he had remained true to himself and equal to himself. It isn't often that such a destiny befalls a Russian poet (1a). ♦ «Увы, жив», — воскликнули мы, — ибо как не предпочесть казнь смертную, содрогания висельника в своём ужасном коконе, тем похоронам, которые спустя двадцать пять бессмысленных лет выпали на долю Чернышевского (Набоков 1). "Alas, alive," we exclaimed, for how could one not prefer the death penalty, the convulsions of the hanged man in his hideous cocoon, to that funeral which twenty-five insipid years later fell to Chernyshevski's lot (1a).

Д-252 • есть ДО́ЛЯ ПРА́ВДЫ ⟨ИСТИНЫ⟩ в чём [NP; sing only; used as subj; fixed WO] there is sth. true (in s.o.'s remark, some statement etc): grain ⟨bit, element, kernel⟩ of truth; some truth.

…Тесса был обеспокоен; невольно вспоминал слова Дессера: «Бедный старый клоп». Конечно, Дессер рехнулся, но есть в его обидных словах доля правды… (Эренбург 4). …He [Tessa] felt anxious. He could not help remembering Desser's remark: "Poor old bug." Of course, Desser was out of his mind, but there was a grain of truth in the offensive remark (4a).

Д-255 • ПУБЛИ́ЧНЫЙ ДОМ; ДОМ ТЕРПИ́МОСТИ obs [NP; fixed WO] a house of prostitution: brothel; bawdy-house; cathouse; house of ill repute ⟨ill fame⟩.

Семья Лансье приютилась в маленькой гостинице возле порта; прежде здесь останавливались мелкие колониальные чиновники, матросы, солдаты, пропивавшие свои сбережения в окрестных кабачках и домах терпимости (Эренбург 1). The Lanciers took refuge in a small hotel near the docks, formerly frequented by minor colonial officials, sailors and soldiers who squandered their savings in the neighboring taverns and brothels (1a).

Д-256 • СУМАСШЕ́ДШИЙ ДОМ coll [NP; fixed WO] 1. Also: ЖЁЛТЫЙ ДОМ obs, coll a hospital for the mentally ill: lunatic ⟨insane⟩ asylum; madhouse; nut house.

Судьба обошлась с ней неласково: сыновья её, один — спортивный журналист, другой — актёр, оказались неудачниками, невестка почти безвылазно обитала в жёлтом доме, внуки росли пугливыми и болезненными… (Максимов 2). Fate had been unkind to her: of her two sons—one a sports journalist, the other an actor—both had turned out to be failures, her daughter-in-law spent almost all her time in the lunatic asylum, her grandsons were growing up timorous and sickly… (2a).

2. [sing only] complete disorder, a noisy uproar, commotion: a madhouse; pandemonium; [lim.] a three-ring circus.

«И без вас не сладко. Собачья жизнь, сумасшедший дом…» (Пастернак 1). "Things are bad enough without you. It's a dog's life, a madhouse…" (1a).

Циолковский пошёл вниз по оврагу, опять полудумая-полубормоча: «…Один разум без воли — это ничто, и одна воля без разума тоже ничто…» Главарь оправил косоворотку, оглядел дружков… Один из оборванцев приложил палец к виску, покрутил — мол, не все дома у Птицы [Циолковского] (Евтушенко 2). …Tsiolkovsky went down the ravine, again lost in thought and muttering…, "Intelligence without will is nothing, and so is will without intelligence." The leader adjusted his shirt and looked over at his pals…. One of them put his finger to his temple and twirled it—that Bird wasn't playing with a full deck (2a). ♦ Старый шлиссельбуржец — говорят, что над его кроватью висели кандалы, — он отличался крутым нравом. Проще говоря, у него не все были дома: в Ленинграде, заведуя там госиздатом, он безумствовал, как хотел (Мандельштам 2). A former veteran of Schlusselberg—it is said that he still kept his manacles hanging over his bed—he was noted for his vile temper. He was, in fact, not quite right in the head. As head of the State Publishing House in Leningrad, he had behaved outrageously… (2a).

Д-259 • ОТБИВА́ТЬСЯ/ОТБИ́ТЬСЯ ОТ ДО́МА coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past] (to begin) to spend very little time at home, lose interest in family affairs: X отбился от дома ≃ X forgot (about) his family; X never ⟨hardly ever⟩ spent any time at home ⟨with his family⟩; [lim.] it was as if X forgot that he had a family.

Мать не видела Василия неделями: он всё время проводил у Жанны и совершенно отбился от дома. Vasily's mother didn't see Д-266 • БОЛЬША́Я ДОРО́ГА [NP; fixed WO] 1. obs a well-built road connecting large population centers: highroad; main road ⟨thoroughfare⟩; highway.

«Как вы могли велеть, чтоб мне не давали лошадей? Что это за вздор — на большой дороге останавливать проезжающих?» (Герцен 1). "How could you give orders that I shouldn't have horses? What nonsense is this, stopping travellers on the highroad?" (1a).

2. [sing only] the correct, main course of development of sth., the one that will lead to further progress, advancement etc: the right direction; the right track; [lim.] (be ⟨get sth. etc⟩ back on track.

«Помнишь, Анфиса, как он сказал на собрании? Меня, говорит, либо на кладбище отвезёте, либо я выведу на большую дорогу [колхоз] „Новую жизнь"» (Абрамов 1). "You remember, Anfisa, what he said at the meeting? He said, 'If I don't get New Life Kolkhoz back on track, you can just cart me away to the cemetery'" (1a).

Д-267 • ПРЯМА́Я ДОРО́ГА ⟨ПРЯМО́Й ПУТЬ⟩ к чему, куда [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. the most direct, shortest route to sth. (glory, crime, ruin etc): straight road to; [lim.] short cut to.

Отец [моей кузины] был отчаянный игрок… Сын его, уланский юнкер, единственный брат кузины, очень добрый юноша, шёл прямым путём к гибели: девятнадцати лет он уже был более страстный игрок, нежели отец (Герцен 1). Her [my cousin's] father was a desperate gambler…. His son, an ensign in the Uhlans, my cousin's only brother and a very good-natured youth, was going the straight road to ruin: at nineteen he was already a more passionate gambler than his father (1a).

2. a decent, honest means of achieving sth. or a life lived in an honest way: (do sth. ⟨live⟩) on the straight and narrow; (do sth.) by the straight and narrow; (do sth.) (by) sticking to the straight and narrow; (follow ⟨take, stick to⟩) the straight road.

«Покривил, не спорю, покривил. Что ж делать? Но ведь покривил только тогда, когда увидел, что прямой дорогой не возьмёшь…» (Гоголь 3). "I have acted against my conscience; I don't deny it, I have…. What can be done about it? But I acted crookedly only when I saw that the straight road would not get me anywhere…" (3c).

Д-268 • СТОЛБОВА́Я ДОРО́ГА [NP] 1. obs a large post road with poles indicating distance in versts (verst = an old Russian measure of linear distance, approx. two thirds of a mile): highroad; main road ⟨thoroughfare⟩; highway.

А Чичиков в довольном расположении духа сидел в своей бричке, катившейся давно по столбовой дороге (Гоголь 3). As for Chichikov, he was in a contented frame of mind, sitting in his britska, which had for some time been rolling along the highroad (3c).

2. ~ (чего) [sing only; fixed WO] the principal direction of movement or development of sth.: mainstream; main current; [lim.] highroad.

Вторая категория — это писатели побочные, идущие не по столбовой дороге советской литературы, а где-то в стороне от неё (Войнович 1). The second category is made up of writers who do not travel the highroad of Soviet literature, but are off somewhere to the side (1a).

Д-269 • ТО́РНАЯ ДОРО́ГА lit [NP; fixed WO] 1. obs broad possibilities, opportunities in life: an open path in life.

2. an unoriginal path in life (taken by everyone or by most people): the beaten path ⟨track⟩; the well-traveled road.

Я впоследствии не раз встречал эти натуры… Они умно рассуждают, не отступая от данных; они ещё умнее поступают, не сходя с торной дороги; они настоящие современники своего времени, своего общества (Герцен 2). I have since more than once met these characters…. They are intelligent in their judgments, never deviating from their data; they are still more intelligent in their conduct, never stepping aside from the beaten track; they are the true contemporaries of their age, of their society (2a).

Д-270 • ТУДА́ И ДОРО́ГА coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] 1. ~ кому usu. disapprov s.o. deserves precisely that (which is specified by the preceding context), there is no reason to pity him: туда X-у и дорога ≃ (it) serves X right; X got what ⟨no more than⟩ he deserved; X asked ⟨was asking⟩ for it; [lim.] X had it coming (to him).

Дело идёт к развязке, сказал Неврастеник. Редколлегию разогнали. Претендент продал Мыслителя, Социолога и Супругу. Из редколлегии их выгнали… Туда им и дорога, сказал Болтун (Зиновьев 1). “Here comes the dénouement,” said Neurasthenic: “The editorial committee has been dissolved. Claimant has sold out Thinker, Sociologist and Wife. They’ve been expelled from the editorial board…” “Serves them right,” said Chatterer (1a).

2. ~ чему it is not worth regretting, being distressed over the loss of sth.: туда X-у и дорога ≃ X won’t be missed; X isn’t worth losing sleep over; X is no great loss; [lim.] and a very good thing at that; and a very good thing, if you ask me; [in refer. to discarding sth.] that’s where X belongs!

[Любим Карпыч:] Вот я этот капитал взял да пропил, промотал. Туда ему и дорога! (Островский 2). [L.K.:] So I took it [the money] and squandered it. Drank it up. And a very good thing, if you ask me (2b). ♦ «…Свой-то пистолет схватил, оборотился назад, да швырком, вверх, в лес и пустил: „Туда, кричу, тебе и дорога!“» (Достоевский 1). “…I seized my pistol, turned around, and sent it hurtling up into the trees: ‘That’s where you belong! ’” (1a).

Д-271 • НА ДОРО́ГЕ ⟨НА У́ЛИЦЕ, НА ПОЛУ́, НА ЗЕМЛЕ́⟩ НЕ ВАЛЯ́ЕТСЯ coll [VP; pres only; fixed WO] 1. [subj: usu. concr] sth. cannot be obtained easily, without effort: X на дороге не валяется ≃ you don’t ⟨won’t⟩ find X lying around (in ⟨on⟩ the street); you don’t ⟨won’t⟩ find X (just) waiting to be picked up ⟨be found⟩; X won’t just fall into your lap; X can’t be had just for the asking; [usu. of money] X doesn’t grow on trees.

«…На заём стали подписываться. Я без памяти-то на триста рублей подписалась… И Лизка, глупая, пятьдесят рублей выкинула…» — «Пущай [ungrammat = пускай]», — миролюбиво сказал Михаил… «Да ведь деньги-то не щепа — на улице не валяются» (Абрамов 1). “…Everyone began signing up for the Loan. Without thinking, I put myself down for three hundred rubles…. And Lizka, silly girl, threw in fifty rubles…. “Let her,” said Mikhail peaceably…. “But money isn’t wood chips—you don’t find it lying around on the street” (1a).

2. Будах тихо проговорил: «Тогда, господи, сотри нас с лица земли и создай заново более совершенными… или, ещё лучше, оставь нас и дай нам идти своей дорогой» (Стругацкие 4). Suddenly Budach spoke softly: "Then, oh, Lord, remove us from the face of the earth and create us anew, make us better men this time, more perfect beings. Or, better still—leave us the way we are, but ordain that we can follow our own path!" (4a).

2. [imper only] do not get involved in this—your opinion is not welcome, go away: иди своей дорогой ≃ keep ⟨stay⟩ out of this ⟨it⟩; leave us ⟨them⟩ alone; don't interfere; butt out; keep your nose out of it.

Д-277 • ОБХОДИ́ТЬ/ОБОЙТИ́ ДЕСЯ́ТОЙ ДОРО́ГОЙ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; obj: human or a noun denoting some place or organization] to (try to) avoid s.o. or sth., maintain a distance from s.o. or some place: X обходит Y-а десятой дорогой ≃ X steers ⟨keeps⟩ clear of Y; X goes miles ⟨a mile⟩ out of his way to avoid Y; X gives a wide ⟨the widest possible⟩ berth to person Y.

«Боже мой, когда я кому-нибудь неприятен, я стараюсь обходить его десятой дорогой» (Горенштейн 1). "God Almighty, when someone dislikes me I do my best to steer clear of him…" (1a).

Д-278 • В ДОРО́ГУ [PrepP; Invar; adv] in order to be used on a trip, while traveling: for the trip ⟨the road, the ride⟩; on the trip ⟨the road⟩.

Возьми в дорогу что-нибудь почитать. Take something to read on the trip.

Д-279 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ НА ДОРО́ГУ ⟨НА ПУТЬ⟩ кого [VP] 1. [subj: human] to help s.o. become independent, obtain a secure place in life: X вывел Y-а на дорогу ≃ X helped Y find Y's way in life ⟨in the world⟩; [lim.] X helped Y get a ⟨Y's⟩ start in life; X got Y started ⟨off to a good start⟩ in life.

2. [subj: human or abstr] to help s.o. develop good values, understand things properly, correctly: X вывел Y-а на дорогу ≃ X set ⟨put⟩ Y on the right path; X put Y on the right track; X pointed Y in the right direction.

Именно стихи пробили дорогу прозе в таинственных каналах самозародившихся читателей. Читатель появился совершенно неожиданно… Он научился отбирать то, что ему нужно, а стихи, двинувшиеся к нему, преобразовали его и вывели на дорогу (Мандельштам 2). It was poetry that blazed the trail for prose along the mysterious byways leading to the new readers who suddenly sprang up from nowhere. These readers emerged quite unexpectedly…. They learned to pick out what they needed, and the poetry that came into their hands transfigured them and set them on the right path (2a).

Д-280 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ⟨ВЫБИВА́ТЬСЯ/ВЫБИТЬСЯ⟩ НА (ШИРО́КУЮ) ДОРО́ГУ [VP; subj: human] to grow independent, achieve success in life, in one's career etc by one's own efforts: X вышел на широкую дорогу ≃ X found ⟨made⟩ his way in life ⟨in the world⟩.

Д-281 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨УСТУПА́ТЬ/УСТУПИ́ТЬ⟩ ДОРО́ГУ кому [VP; subj: human] 1. to allow s.o. to go by one or enter some place by moving aside: X дал Y-у дорогу ≃ X made way (for Y); X stepped ⟨got⟩ out of Y's ⟨the⟩ way; X let Y pass (by X); [lim.] X yielded the right of way.

По мере того как кортеж приближался, толпы глуповцев расступались и давали дорогу (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). As the cortege drew near, the crowds [of Foolovites] parted and the Foolovites made way (1a). ♦ Он что-то хотел сказать ещё, но в это время поднялся князь Василий с дочерью, и мужчины встали, чтобы дать им дорогу (Толстой 4). He was about to say something more, but at that moment Prince Vasily and his daughter got up to go and the gentlemen stood up to let them pass (4a).

2. to give s.o. an opportunity to progress ahead of o.s. in some field, the workplace etc: X дал дорогу Y-у ≃ X made room ⟨way⟩ for Y; X gave way to Y; X opened the way to Y.

В театре засилье великовозрастных актрис, их давно пора убрать, дать дорогу молодым (Рыбаков 1). The theatre was dominated by ancient actresses who should have been got rid of ages ago to make room for younger ones (1a).

Д-282 • ЗАБЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАБЫ́ТЬ ДОРО́ГУ к кому, куда coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past] to stop visiting s.o., frequenting some place (often as a consequence of a quarrel, an offense or insult, the breakup of a relationship etc): X забыл дорогу к Y-у ≃ X stopped going ⟨coming⟩ to Y's place; X no longer goes ⟨comes⟩ to Y's place; X stopped visiting Y; || [following a quarrel etc] X может забыть дорогу в место Z ≃ X can forget about visiting ⟨visits to⟩ place Z; || Imper забудь дорогу в наш дом ≃ don't bother coming back here; don't come here (ever) again; don't come around here anymore.

Со свойственной ему практичностью он живо прикинул возможные последствия — на тот случай, если бы Лизка подняла

шум. Во-первых, забудь на время дорогу в Пекашино… (Абрамов 1). With his customary pragmatism he quickly assessed the possible consequences in the event that Lizka should raise a stink. First of all, he could forget about visits to Pekashino for a while (1a).

Д-283 • ЗАСТУПА́ТЬ/ЗАСТУПИ́ТЬ ДОРО́ГУ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to move in front of s.o. in order to interrupt or stop his movement: X заступил Y-у дорогу ≃ X barred ⟨stood in⟩ Y's ⟨the⟩ way; X blocked ⟨stood in⟩ Y's path; X blocked Y's ⟨the⟩ way.

Едва Пётр Васильевич тронулся с места, знакомая старушка, вынырнув неведомо откуда, заступила ему дорогу (Максимов 3). As soon as Pyotr Vasilievich stirred from his place, the same old woman bobbed up out of nowhere to bar his way (3a).

2. to prevent s.o. from advancing (often, from progressing ahead of o.s.) in some field, the workplace, a (potential) romantic involvement etc: X заступил Y-у дорогу ≃ X barred ⟨got in, stood in⟩ Y's ⟨the⟩ way; X blocked Y's path ⟨way⟩.

Я когда-то ухаживал за Валей, но ничего из этого не вышло: мой лучший друг заступил дорогу. At one time I was trying to win Valya over, but nothing came of it: my best friend stood in my way.

Д-284 • НА ДОРО́ГУ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. поесть, выпить, закурить ~ (to eat, drink sth., have a smoke) before setting out on a trip: (have a bite ⟨a cigarette etc⟩) before going ⟨hitting the road⟩; (have a bite ⟨have one, let's have one etc⟩) for the road.

Тётя Зина сказала, что дядю Сашу надо отвести домой… Мы выпили на дорогу (Кожевников 1). Aunt Zina said that Uncle Sasha had better be taken home…. We had a drink for the road (1a).

2. to be used on a trip, while traveling: for the ⟨one's⟩ trip ⟨journey⟩.

…Он вынул бумажник и спросил, не нужно ли мне денег на дорогу (Герцен 1). …He took out his notecase and asked if I did not need some money for the journey (1a).

Д-285 • НАХОДИ́ТЬ/НАЙТИ́ ДОРО́ГУ ⟨ПУТЬ, ДО́СТУП⟩ К СЕ́РДЦУ чьему, кого [VP; subj: human] to attain, evoke s.o.'s favor, love etc: X нашёл дорогу к сердцу Y-а ≃ X found a ⟨his⟩ way (in)to Y's heart; X won Y's heart ⟨love, affection etc⟩; X found a place in Y's heart.

«Ты это про Лашковых брось… Тебе Лашковы дорогу не переходили». — «Зато я им, — Александра даже не старалась скрыть своего мстительного торжества, — перешла» (Максимов 3). "Keep the Lashkovs out of it. The Lashkovs have never got in your way." "No, I got in theirs." Alexandra was openly savoring her revenge (3a).

Д-287 • ПРОБИВА́ТЬ/ПРОБИ́ТЬ СЕБЕ́ ДОРО́ГУ ⟨ПУТЬ⟩ [VP; subj: human] (to strive) to achieve a good position in some field, success in life: X пробил себе дорогу ≃ X made his way (in the world); X managed to get somewhere in life; X moved up in the world; [lim.] X made it; || X сам пробил ⟨сама пробила⟩ себе дорогу в жизни ≃ X is a self-made man ⟨woman⟩.

Д-288 • ПРОКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ ⟨ПРОЛАГА́ТЬ⟩/ПРОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ⟨ПРОБИВА́ТЬ/ПРОБИ́ТЬ⟩ ДОРО́ГУ (кому-чему) [VP; subj: usu. human or abstr] to create conditions favorable for the development, growth of sth. or for s.o.'s activities: X проложил дорогу (Y-у) ≃ X blazed a ⟨the⟩ trail (for Y); X forged ⟨laid down⟩ a path (for Y); X paved ⟨cleared⟩ the way (for Y).

…Стихи вещь летучая — их нельзя ни спрятать, ни запереть. Именно стихи пробили дорогу прозе в таинственных каналах самозародившихся читателей (Мандельштам 2). …Poetry is an elusive thing that can neither be hidden nor locked away. It was poetry that blazed the trail for prose along the mysterious byways leading to the new readers who suddenly sprung up from nowhere (2a).

Д-289 • ПРОКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ/ПРОЛОЖИ́ТЬ СЕБЕ́ ДОРО́ГУ [VP] 1. [subj: human or collect] (in refer. to physical movement) to push ahead aggressively, removing obstacles or overcoming opposition as one goes: X проложил себе дорогу ≃ X forced ⟨made, fought⟩ his way through.

Растопчин рассказывал про то, как русские были смяты бежавшими австрийцами и должны были штыком прокладывать себе дорогу сквозь беглецов (Толстой 5). Rostopchin was describing how the Russians had been overwhelmed by fleeing Austrians, and had to force their way through them with bayonets (5a).

2. [subj: human] (to strive) to achieve a good position in some field, success in life: X прокладывает себе дорогу ≃ X is making ⟨trying to make⟩ his (own) way (in the world ⟨in life⟩); X is trying to get somewhere in life.

В станкевичевском кругу только он и Боткин были достаточные и совершенно обеспеченные люди. Другие представляли самый разнообразный пролетариат… Вероятно, каждому из них отец с матерью, благословляя на жизнь, говорили — и кто осмелится упрекнуть их за это? — «Ну, смотри же, учись хорошенько; а выучишься, прокладывай себе дорогу, тебе неоткуда ждать наследства…» (Герцен 2). In Stankevich's circle only he and Botkin were well-to-do and completely free from financial anxieties. The others made up a very mixed proletariat…. Probably the father and mother of each one of them when giving him their blessing had said—and who will presume to reproach them for it—"Come, mind you work hard at your books; and when you've done with your studying you must make your own way, there's nobody you can expect to leave you anything…" (2a).

Д-290 • СЕБЕ́ ДОРО́ЖЕ; СЕБЕ́ ДОРО́ЖЕ СТО́ИТ coll [AdjP, Invar, subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, стать etc (1st var.); VP, usu. pres (2nd var.); subj: abstr or infin (occas. omitted); fixed WO] sth. (or doing sth.) does not justify the effort, will have unpleasant consequences, will affect s.o. adversely: it's likely to cost person X dearly; it's more trouble ⟨bother, hassle⟩ than it's worth; person X stands to lose more than he gains.

Д-291 • ПРОТОРЁННАЯ ДОРО́ЖКА; ИЗБИ́ТАЯ ДОРО́ГА ⟨ДОРО́ЖКА⟩ all coll, occas. iron [NP; fixed WO] the usual, familiar, conventional way: the beaten track ⟨path⟩; the well-worn path; tried and true methods; the blazed trail ⟨path⟩ ; || не идти по проторённой дорожке ≃ stay off the beaten track ⟨path⟩. Cf. take the road less traveled (from Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken," 1915).

Д-292 • ВСТРЕЧА́ТЬСЯ/ВСТРЕ́ТИТЬСЯ ⟨СТА́ЛКИВАТЬСЯ/СТОЛКНУ́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА У́ЗКОЙ ДОРО́ЖКЕ ⟨ДОРО́ГЕ⟩ (с кем) [VP; subj: human; if there is no obj, subj: pl; usu. this WO] to come into conflict with s.o., be mutually hostile: X и Y ⟨X с Y-ом⟩ встретились на узкой дорожке ≃ X ran ⟨fell⟩ afoul ⟨foul⟩ of Y; X clashed ⟨locked horns⟩ with Y.

Я его [Грушницкого] понял, и он за это меня не любит… Я его также не люблю: я чувствую, что мы когда-нибудь с ним столкнёмся на узкой дороге, и одному из нас не сдобровать (Лермонтов 1). I see through him [Grushnitsky] and he dislikes me for it…. I do not like him either, and I feel we are bound to fall foul of each other one day with rueful consequences for one of us (1b).

Д-293 • КАКА́Я ⟨ТАКА́Я, ВОТ, Э́КАЯ⟩ ДОСА́ДА!; КАКА́Я ⟨ТАКА́Я, ВОТ⟩ ОБИ́ДА! all coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] it is distressing, unpleasant, vexing: how annoying ⟨frustrating, irksome, galling, infuriating⟩!; what a nuisance ⟨a bother⟩!

«Уехали, батюшка. Вчерашнего числа в вечерни изволили уехать»… Молодой офицер, стоя в калитке, как бы в нерешительности войти или не войти ему, пощёлкал языком. «Ах, какая досада!..» — проговорил он (Толстой 6). "They've gone away, sir. Went away last night, sir, their Honours did"… The young officer stood there in the gateway and clicked his tongue as he wondered whether to come on in or stay where he was. "Oh, how annoying!" he said (6c).

Д-294 • КАК ДОСКА́ худой, тощий coll [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] (of a person) very (thin): (thin) as a rail ⟨a reed⟩; (thin ⟨skinny⟩) as a toothpick; pencil thin.

Д-295 • СТОЯ́ТЬ НА ОДНО́Й ДОСКЕ́ (с кем-чем) [VP; subj: human or abstr; if subj: human, obj is also human; if subj: abstr, obj is also abstr; fixed WO] to be equal to someone or something else in some respect(s), be of equal standing: X стоит на одной доске с Y-ом ⟨X и Y стоят на одной доске⟩ ≃ X is on the same level as ⟨with⟩ Y; X is on the level of Y; X is in the same class ⟨league, category⟩ as Y; X is on a par with Y; person X is on person Y's level.

«Ежели ты ждёшь от себя чего-нибудь впереди, то на каждом шагу ты будешь чувствовать, что для тебя всё кончено, всё закрыто, кроме гостиной, где ты будешь стоять на одной доске с придворным лакеем и идиотом…» (Толстой 4). "If you expect anything of yourself in the future, you will feel at every step that all is over, all is closed to you except the drawing room, where you will be on the level of a court lackey and an idiot…" (4a).

Д-296 • ДО ГРОБОВО́Й ДОСКИ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv or, rare, postmodif; fixed WO] to the end of one's life, for as long as one lives: to ⟨till⟩ one's dying day; till the day one dies; till ⟨to⟩ the end of one's days; to the grave; till one is laid in the grave; [in refer. to marriage] till death do us part.

Этого броска в Москву Владу не забыть до гробовой доски (Максимов 2). To his dying day Vlad will never forget that dash to Moscow (2a). ♦ [Катерина:] Ведь я замужем, ведь мне с мужем жить до гробовой доски… (Островский 6). [K.:] I am a married woman. I must live with my husband till death do us part (6b).

Д-297 • В ДО́СКУ пьян(ый), напиться highly coll, disapprov [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] (to be or become) very drunk: (be ⟨get⟩) drunk as a skunk; (be ⟨get⟩) smashed ⟨bombed⟩; (be ⟨get⟩) completely plastered.

«Давно мы с тобой не пили, Лёха, — удовлетворённо похохатывал гость, — вернусь, напьёмся — нальёмся в драбадан». — «В доску!». — «В лоск!» (Максимов 1). "You and I haven't had a drink for ages, Lyonya," the visitor chuckled contentedly. "When I get back we'll get stuck in—we'll get drunk as lords!" "Completely plastered!" "Out of our skulls!" (1a).

Д-298 • СВОЙ В ДО́СКУ; СВОЙ ПА́РЕНЬ В ДО́СКУ both coll [NP; often subj-compl with copula (subj: human); usu. this WO (1st var.)] genuinely close (in convictions, values etc) and trusted, accepted by the group in question: one of our ⟨your, their⟩ own; one of the gang ⟨the guys etc⟩; one of us ⟨you, them, ours, yours, theirs⟩ (all right).

Тут мы собутыльники… А за дверями Павильона мы социальные индивиды, устраивающие свои делишки. Тут ты свой в доску парень. А там ты активист. Карьерист, точнее говоря (Зиновьев 1). "We're all drinking companions here…. But as soon as we get outside the doors of the Pavilion we're social individuals going about our own little affairs. In here you're just one of the lads. Out there you're an activist, or rather a careerist" (1a).

Д-299 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ НА ОДНУ́ ДО́СКУ кого с кем, что с чем [VP; subj: human or collect] to consider two people or groups (or, rare, things) equal, the same in some respect(s), disregarding their individuality (with the implication that one of the two is better, more worthy than the other): X ставит Y-а на одну доску с Z-ом ≃ X puts ⟨places⟩ Y in the same class ⟨league, category⟩ as ⟨with⟩ Z; X puts ⟨places⟩ Y on the same level with ⟨as⟩ Z; X puts ⟨places⟩ Y on a par ⟨a level⟩ with Z.

…Нельзя ставить Убожко на одну доску с тем, кто сознательно писал и действовал враждебно (Амальрик 1). …[Ubozhko] should not be put in the same class with those who deliberately wrote and acted in a subversive manner (1a). ♦ Вот я и считаю, что его [Тихонова] нельзя ставить на одну доску с Луговским. Этот был совсем иного склада… (Мандельштам 1). I do not think he [Tikhonov] can be put in the same category as Lugovskoi, who was a completely different type… (1a).

Д-300 • СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ ⟨ВСТАТЬ⟩ НА ОДНУ́ ДО́СКУ с кем [VP; subj: human] to become comparable to s.o. in some respect(s) (usu. to s.o. who is or whom the speaker considers to be inferior, not equal in status etc to one): X становится на одну доску с Y-ом ≃ X puts himself on the same level as ⟨with⟩ Y; X lowers himself to Y's level; X stoops to Y's level.

Д-301 • НЕ УСПОКА́ИВАТЬСЯ/НЕ УСПОКО́ИТЬСЯ ⟨НЕ ОСТАНА́ВЛИВАТЬСЯ/НЕ ОСТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ⟩ НА ДОСТИ́ГНУТОМ [VP; subj: human or collect; pfv rare; occas. used without negation to convey the opposite meaning; often used without negation after a negated verb or predic (не собираемся, не надо etc); usu. this WO] unwilling to be satisfied with one's former achievements, to try to attain more success: X не успокоился на достигнутом ≃ X did not rest on his laurels ⟨accomplishments⟩; X did not settle for what he had (already) accomplished; X didn't stop at ⟨wasn't content with⟩ the accomplishments made thus far.

…Отец, большой мудрости и ангельского терпения человек… поделил жизненный путь дочери на три периода: чертёнок в юбке; Божье наказание; полоумная нигилистка. До сегодняшнего дня Варя такой дефиницией гордилась и говорила, что останавливаться на достигнутом не собирается… (Акунин 5). …Her father, a man of great wisdom and endowed with the patience of a saint, had divided his daughter's life into three periods: the imp in a skirt; the perfect nuisance; the loony nihilist. To this day Varya prided herself on this characterization, declaring that she had no intention of resting on her laurels as yet… (5a). ♦ Казалось бы, что ещё человеку нужно? Но человек, особенно человек творческий, как известно, никогда не останавливается на достигнутом. Поставил один унитаз, хочется поставить второй, а куда? Вот то-то и оно-то… (Войнович 3). It would seem a man could want no more. But, as is well-known, a man, especially a creative man, never rests on his accomplishments. He puts in one toilet; then he wants to put in another. But where? Ah, that's the problem! (3a).

Д-302 • НИ́ЖЕ чьего ДОСТО́ИНСТВА; НИ́ЖЕ СВОЕГО́ ДОСТО́ИНСТВА [AdjP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr or infin) or obj-compl with считать (obj: usu abstr or infin); fixed WO] sth. is demeaning for s.o.; (one considers sth.) demeaning for o.s.: X ⟨делать X⟩ ниже Y-ова достоинства ≃ (Y feels that) X ⟨doing X⟩ is beneath Y ⟨Y's dignity⟩; || Y считает X ⟨делать X⟩ ниже своего достоинства ≃ Y considers X ⟨doing X⟩ beneath him ⟨his dignity⟩; Y won't lower himself to X ⟨to do X⟩; Y won't stoop to X; Y considers himself above that ⟨ above doing X⟩.

Стоявшие кучкою поодаль любопытные мешали знахарке. Она недобрым взглядом смеривала их с головы до ног. Но было ниже её достоинства признаваться, что они её стесняют (Пастернак 1). The knot of curious onlookers who stood at a distance annoyed the witch, and she measured them from top to toe with a hostile look. But… she felt that it was beneath her dignity to admit that they embarrassed her (1a).

Д-303 • ОЦЕ́НИВАТЬ/ОЦЕНИ́ТЬ ПО ДОСТО́ИНСТВУ кого-что [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. pfv; usu. this WO] to evaluate s.o. or sth. correctly (either positively or negatively): X оценил Y-а по достоинству ≃ [in refer. to a positive evaluation] X recognized person Y's worth ⟨the worth of thing Y⟩; X saw person Y's true worth ⟨the true worth of thing Y⟩; X recognized the merit of thing Y; X appreciated ⟨recognized⟩ the value of thing Y; X assessed ⟨evaluated⟩ thing Y at its true worth; [lim.] X gave Y Y's due; [in refer. to a negative evaluation] X saw Y for what Y really is; || X был оценён по достоинству ≃ X was much appreciated; || Neg X не оценил Y-а по достоинству ≃ X did not properly ⟨sufficiently⟩ appreciate Y.

Имеет значение то, что там, куда Кожевников отнёс рукопись, её прочли и, в отличие от некоторых издателей, редакторов, критиков и литературоведов, сразу оценили её по достоинству (Войнович 1). The important thing was that the people to whom Kozhevnikov gave the novel read it through and, unlike certain publishers, editors, critics, and literary scholars, saw its true worth right away (1a). ♦ …Предусмотрительность хозяйки, приготовившей в салоне стол с закусками, была оценена по достоинству (Акунин 6). …The hostess's foresight in providing a table of hors d'œuvres in the drawing room was much appreciated (6a).

Д-304 • ДОХНУ́ТЬ ⟨ДЫХНУ́ТЬ substand⟩ НЕ́ГДЕ ⟨НЕЛЬЗЯ́, НЕ́ЧЕМ⟩ coll [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; pres or past] some place is extremely crowded, there are too many people or things there: there's no room to breathe ⟨no breathing room, no elbow room, no room to turn around⟩.

[Таня:] Скоро на голову будут ставить [мебель]. Дохнуть нечем (Розов 2). [T.:] They'll soon be piling furniture on our heads. There's no room to breathe as it is (2a).

Д-305 • ДОХНУ́ТЬ ⟨ДЫХНУ́ТЬ substand⟩ НЕ́КОГДА (кому) [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; pres or past] s.o. is very busy, excessively burdened with work: (X-у) дохнуть некогда ≃ X has no time to catch his breath ⟨to take a breather⟩; X has to work without a break.

Д-306 • МА́МЕНЬКИНА ДО́ЧКА coll, disapprov [NP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, female) or obj; fixed WO] a girl or young woman whose character has been adversely affected by the excessive indulgence shown her by her family: pampered girl ⟨young woman, young lady, little thing, darling⟩; spoiled (little) girl; (little) princess.

Зачем вы берёте в поход эту маменькину дочку? Она через два часа начнёт хныкать и проситься домой. Why are you taking that pampered little thing hiking with you? After two hours she'll be whining to go home.

Д-307 • СУ́ЧЬЯ ⟨СОБА́ЧЬЯ⟩ ДОЧЬ substand, rude [NP; fixed WO] an expletive (usu. used as vocative) in refer. to a woman: bitch.

[Фёкла:] А Иван-то Павлович… Такой видный из себя, толстый; как закричит на меня: «Ты мне не толкуй пустяков, что невеста такая и этакая, ты скажи напрямик, сколько за ней движимого и недвижимого?» — «Столько-то и сколько-то, отец мой!» — «Ты врёшь, собачья дочь!» Да ещё, мать моя, вклеил такое словцо, что и неприлично тебе сказать (Гоголь 1). [F.:] And there's Ivan Pavlovich…. Very handsome—stout. The way he yells at me: "Don't give me any nonsense, that she's such and such a lady. Give it to me straight—what's she got in property and how much in ready cash?" "So much and so much, my good sir." "You're lying! Bitch!" Yes, my dear, and he stuck in another word, only it wouldn't be polite to repeat it (1b).

Д-308 • ПОСЛЕ ДРА́КИ КУЛАКА́МИ НЕ МА́ШУТ [saying] it is senseless to show one's indignation about, or try to take measures concerning, a matter that has already been completed (said when one tries to rectify a matter or situation when it is too late): ≃ why throw punches when the fight is over; you don't shake your fist when the fight is over; there's no use locking the barn door after the horse is gone ⟨stolen⟩; it is easy to be wise ⟨bold⟩ after the event.

…Если уж быть до конца честным, надо признаться, что будь моя статья об этой декаде более яркой, хотя бы в лучших её местах, думаю, не пожалели бы на меня медали. Но, как говорится, после драки кулаками не машут (Искандер 4). …To be perfectly honest, I think the truth is that they would have coughed up a medal for me, if my write-up on the festival—even just the key passages—had been more brilliant. But, as the saying goes, you don't shake your fist when the fight is over (4a).

Д-309 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ⟩ ДРА́ПА ⟨ДРА́ПУ, ДРАПАКА́, ДРА́ЛА, ТЯ́ГУ, ТЁКУ, ЛАТАТЫ́⟩ substand [VP; subj: human or animal; more often pfv] to run away quickly (usu. in order to escape danger, pursuit etc): X дал драпа ≃ X made off; X made tracks; X turned tail; X hightailed ⟨beat⟩ it; X cut and ran; X bolted (from some place); person X took to his heels (out of some place); person X split; [lim.] person X flew the coop.

[Шервинский:] Слушайте, Алексей Васильевич, внимательно: гетман драпу дал… Драпанул!.. Серьёзно говорю… (Булгаков 4). [Sh.:] Listen, Aleksei Vasilyevich, carefully: the Hetman's turned tail… Beat it!… I'm telling you seriously… (4b). [Sh.:] Listen carefully, Alexei Vasilievich: the Hetman has flown the coop…. Flown the coop!… Yes I'm serious… (4a). ♦ «Ну нет, думаю, надо рвать когти, пока армяне меня не застукали в этом доме. Беру кружку, потихоньку прихватываю ружьё и как будто на кухню, а сам даю драпака» (Искандер 2). "Well, no, I think, I'd better get the hell out before the Armenians find me in this house. I take the cup, quietly pick up my rifle, and as if I am going to the kitchen, I take to my heels out of there" (2a).

< The words «драп» and «драпак» (from the verb «драпать»), «драла», «тяг», «тёк», and «лататы» are used in this idiom only.

Д-310 • НЕ ДРЕМА́ТЬ [VP; subj: human, collect, or animal; usu. past or pres] to be vigilant, watchful, ready to act: X не дремлет ≃ X is wide-awake; X keeps his eyes open; X is not asleep; X is on the alert ⟨the lookout, his guard⟩; X is not to be caught napping.

В то время, когда Ираида беспечно торжествовала победу, неустрашимый штаб-офицер не дремал и, руководясь пословицей: «Выбивай клин клином», научил некоторую авантюристку, Клемантинку де Бурбон, предъявить права свои (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). While Iraidka was unconcernedly celebrating her victory, the intrepid staff-officer was not asleep. Guided by the proverb "One nail drives out another," he found an adventuress, a certain Clementinka de Bourbon, and put her up to presenting a claim (1a).

Д-311 • НАЛОМА́ТЬ ДРОВ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to make a lot of blunders, do very foolish things (usu. as a result of reckless, rash behavior, careless decision making): X наломал дров ≃ X screwed ⟨botched, messed⟩ things up; X screwed ⟨botched, messed⟩ it (all) up; X made a (real) mess of things; [lim.] X got himself in(to) a mess ⟨a fix⟩; || Neg Imper не наломай дров ≃ don't do anything stupid.

«Наверно, одурел Алик от страха… Когда после регистрации билета он на своём „Запорожце" укатил из аэропорта, мне чутьё подсказывало, наломает дров» (Чернёнок 1). "Alik must have freaked out…. When he drove off [from the airport] in his Zaporozhets after registering the ticket, my instincts told me that he would screw things up" (1a).

Д-312 • КАК ДРОВА́ ⟨ДЕРЬМО́ rude⟩ ВЕЗЁТ; НЕ ДРОВА́ ⟨ДЕРЬМО́ rude⟩ ВЕЗЁШЬ all coll [VP; subj: human, usu. водитель, шофёр etc, often omitted; these forms only; fixed WO] (of, or addressed to, the driver of a bus or other vehicle with passengers, who) drives in a jerky fashion, with little consideration for his passengers: X как дрова ⟨дерьмо⟩ везёт ≃ (this) X drives like an idiot ⟨a maniac, a madman⟩; who (the hell) taught this guy ⟨idiot, moron etc⟩ to drive?; where'd this guy ⟨jerk, moron, asshole etc⟩ learn to drive?; (this) X can't drive for shit!

Д-313 • КАК НА ДРОЖЖА́Х расти, подниматься и т.п. coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (of a person—usu. an adolescent, a city, a house under construction etc) (to grow) very quickly: (grow) by leaps and bounds; (grow) like mad ⟨crazy⟩; [of a building, city etc] (grow) like a mushroom; [in limited contexts, usu. of a teenager] (grow) like a weed ⟨a beanstalk⟩; shoot up.

Дом водопроводчика поднимался, как на дрожжах: ряд за рядом, ряд за рядом… из первосортного огнеупора, в два с половиной кирпича… (Максимов 3). The plumber's house was growing by leaps and bounds: row by row, it rose, each row two-and-a-half thicknesses of the best firebrick (3a).

Д-314 • ДРОЖЬ ⟨СЛА́БОСТЬ⟩ В КОЛЕ́НКАХ [NP; fixed WO] intense feeling of nervousness (usu. caused by fear of failure in sth. important, losing a contest, blundering in a socially challenging situation etc): trembling ⟨knocking, shaking⟩ in the knees; weakness in the knees; quaking ⟨shaking⟩ in the boots ⟨shoes⟩; || бояться до дрожи в коленках ≃ to be terribly afraid; to be so afraid ⟨scared⟩ that one's knees are shaking ⟨trembling, knocking⟩.

Д-315 • ДРУГ ДО́МА [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with считать (obj: human)] 1. a person who is on friendly terms with the entire family: friend of the family; family friend; [lim.] (consider s.o. etc) one ⟨part⟩ of the family.

Тут и объявляется старик-пьяница, о котором мы помянули вскользь… Был он когда-то, когда Лёвы не было, другом дома, любил бабушку и маму… (Битов 2). Now a drunk appears on the scene, an old man we have mentioned in passing…. At some time, before Lyova existed, he had been a family friend, he had loved Grandma and Mama… (2a).

2. euph, humor (of a male) the wife's lover: special friend.

Д-316 • ДРУГ ДРУ́ГА ⟨ДРУ́ЖКУ coll⟩; ДРУГ ДРУ́ГУ ⟨ДРУ́ЖКЕ coll⟩; ДРУГ НА ДРУ́ГА ⟨НА ДРУ́ЖКУ coll⟩; ДРУГ О ДРУ́ГЕ ⟨О ДРУ́ЖКЕ coll⟩ и т.п. [NP (has no nom case); sing only; fixed WO] each of two or more (people, things etc) does sth. to the other(s) (used to indicate a reciprocal action or relationship): (to ⟨about, against, near etc⟩) each other ⟨one another⟩; one after ⟨against, over, without etc⟩ the other; [lim.] each other's; one another's; || (взаимно) исключать друг друга ≃ be mutually exclusive; exclude each other ⟨one another⟩; || дополнять друг друга ≃ be mutually complementary; complement ⟨supplement⟩ each other ⟨one another⟩.

Они впервые стояли рядом — зять и свояк. За столом они не сказали друг дружке ни слова (Абрамов 1). It was the first time they had stood side by side—as brothers-in-law. They had not said a word to each other at the table (1a).

< «Друг» is the short form of the adjective «другой».

Д-317 • СКАЖИ́ МНЕ, КТО ТВОЙ ДРУГ, И Я СКАЖУ́ (ТЕБЕ́), КТО ТЫ [saying] you can judge a person's character, views etc by the sort of people with whom he associates: ≃ a man is known by the company he keeps; [lim.] birds of a feather (flock together)!

Д-318 • СТА́РЫЙ ДРУГ ЛУ́ЧШЕ НО́ВЫХ ДВУХ [saying] there is a special loyalty and devotion that exists only between old friends (and therefore one should treasure his old friends): ≃ old friends (and old wine) are best; there's no friend like an old friend; never exchange an old friend for a new one; make new friends but keep the old (, one is silver and the other gold).

Д-319 • ДЛЯ ДРУ́ГА ⟨ДЛЯ МИ́ЛОГО ДРУЖКА́⟩ (И) СЕМЬ ВЁРСТ НЕ ОКО́ЛИЦА [saying] even a long distance seems short when you are traveling to see a friend or a loved one: ≃ distance won't keep loved ones ⟨(two) friends⟩ apart; the road ⟨the way⟩ to a friend's house is never long; love ⟨friendship⟩ laughs at distance.

…Вдруг отворилась дверь его комнаты и предстал Ноздрёв… «Вот говорит пословица: для друга семь вёрст не околица!» — говорил он, снимая картуз (Гоголь 3). …The door of his room suddenly opened and Nozdrev appeared. "You know, there's truth in the saying that distance won't keep two friends apart," Nozdrev said, taking off his cap (3e).

Д-320 • БУДЬ ДРУ́ГОМ ⟨ДРУГ⟩ coll [imper sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (when addressing s.o., used to ask a favor or express an emphatic request) please, be kind and do this: be a pal ⟨a sport⟩; do me ⟨a guy, a gal⟩ a favor.

«Пошли, Вася, будь другом, за компанию» (Максимов 3). "Come on, Vasilii, be a pal, keep us company" (3a).

Д-321 • ДРУ́ЖБА ДРУ́ЖБОЙ, А СЛУ́ЖБА СЛУ́ЖБОЙ [saying] friendly relations should not influence or interfere with official or business relations: ≃ business and friendship ⟨pleasure⟩ don't mix; never mix business and ⟨with⟩ pleasure.

[Кушак:] Они [ваш муж и Зилов] допустили серьёзную ошибку в работе. Я бы сказал — непростительную ошибку. [Валерия:] Вот как?.. Так взгрейте их как следует!.. Мужа я прошу наказать со всей строгостью… Каждому — по заслугам… Дружба дружбой, а служба… (Вампилов 5). [K.:] They've [your husband and Zilov have] committed a serious error in their work. An unforgivable error, in my opinion. [V.:] Have they now?… Then give them everything they deserve! Kindly punish my husband with all the severity of the law…. They should both get their just desserts…. Business and friendship don't mix… (5a).

Д-322 • ДРУЗЬЯ́ ПОЗНАЮ́ТСЯ ⟨УЗНАЮ́ТСЯ⟩ В БЕДЕ́ [saying] a person who helps when one is in trouble is a true friend (said of a person who either was helpful in a time of need or, conversely, was callous to the person in trouble): ≃ a friend in need is a friend indeed; adversity shows (you) your true friends ⟨who your friends are⟩; you know who your (real) friends are when times are bad ⟨in times of trouble, when trouble comes etc⟩.

Сергей Сергеевич охотно сообщает [члену правления], что он против снятия Турганова не имеет никаких возражений. Раз председатель [Турганов] злоупотребил своей властью и доверием коллектива, то он, Сергей Сергеевич Иванько, как коммунист, решительно его осуждает. Несколько дней спустя дошла до нас новая весть: на заседании какой-то высокой инстанции Иванько в пух и прах разгромил готовившийся к печати сборник Турганова… Друзья познаются в беде (Войнович 3). Sergei Sergeevich readily informed him [a board member] that he had no objections to Turganov's removal. Since the Chairman [Turganov] abused his power and the confidence of the collective, he, Sergei Sergeevich Ivanko, as a Communist, must resolutely censure him. Several days later, a new piece of news reached us: at a meeting of some high board, Ivanko completely wrecked the chances of the Turganov collection that was being prepared for publication…. You know who your friends are when times are bad (3a).

Д-323 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ВРЕ́ЗАТЬ⟩ ДУ́БА ⟨ДУ́БАРЯ, ДУБАРЯ́⟩ substand [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to die: X дал дуба ≃ X kicked the bucket; X cashed in (his chips); X croaked.

Д-324 • ДУБИ́НА СТОЕРО́СОВАЯ; ДУРА́К ⟨БОЛВА́Н⟩ СТОЕРО́СОВЫЙ all highly coll, rude [NP; usu. this WO] a very stupid person: blockhead; numskull; dumbbell; bonehead; dunce; boob; dope.

Д-325 • ДУТЬ В ДУ́ДКУ чью, кого coll, often disapprov [VP; subj: human; obj: human or collect] to serve s.o.'s goals by one's actions, further s.o.'s cause, act with s.o.'s goals or needs in mind: X дует в дудку Y-а ≃ X plays ⟨sings⟩ Y's tune; X acts in the interests of Y; || X дует в свою дудку ≃ X looks out for his (own) best interests.

…Тюремное начальство обо мне не забывало… Настаивали, чтобы я снял голодовку… В одну эту дудку… дудели и начальник тюрьмы, и прокурор, и врач, и мой сокамерник (Марченко 2). …The prison officials had not forgotten about me…. [They] insisted that I end my hunger strike…. They all piped the same tune—the prison commander, the prosecutor, the doctor and my cellmate (2a).

Д-328 • ДУ́МАТЬ И ⟨ДА⟩ ГАДА́ТЬ; ДУ́МАТЬ-ГАДА́ТЬ both coll [VP; subj: human; usu. foll. by a subord clause; fixed WO] to ponder sth., make suppositions: X думал и гадал ≃ X was turning it over in his mind ⟨head⟩; X was mulling it over; X was puzzling over it; X was wondering ⟨guessing⟩.

Пока чегемцы думали и гадали, что бы значили чудеса в дупле молельного дерева и чем окончится спор Сико с охотничьим кланом, из села Анхара, где жил Колчерукий, стали доходить слухи о таинственном исчезновении колхозного бухгалтера (Искандер 3). While the Chegemians were still wondering what the miracles in the hollow of the Prayer Tree might mean and how Siko's quarrel with the hunter's clan would end, they began hearing rumors from the village of Ankhara, where Bad Hand lived, about the mysterious disappearance of the kolkhoz bookkeeper (3a).

Д-329 • И ДУ́МАТЬ ЗАБЫ́ТЬ о ком-чём coll [VP; subj: human; only забыть conjugates; past form is used in both past and present contexts; «и» always precedes думать] to stop thinking about s.o. or sth.: X об Y-е и думать забыл ≃ X forgot (about) Y and never thought about him ⟨it etc⟩ again; X put Y out of X's mind completely; X didn't (even) think about Y anymore; Y was the last thing on X's mind; || Imper об Y-е и думать забудь ≃ don't even think about Y ⟨about doing Y⟩; [lim.] (you can) put that idea right out of your head; just forget the whole idea.

Пошла вторая рюмка [коньяка]. Про чай и думать забыли (Аксёнов 7). They were on their second round of cognac. Tea was the last thing on anyone's mind (7a). ♦ И я, выслушав все возражения, отправилась на другой день в отдел опеки и попечитель-ства. Полный крах! Оказалось, что лица, неблагонадёжные в политическом отношении, правом усыновления не пользуются. «Скажите спасибо, что на собственных детей материнства вас не лишили! Ещё чего придумали — чужих усыновлять!… И думать забудьте!» (Гинзбург 2). Having listened to all the objections, I went off the following day to the department in charge of guardianship and foster care. Total failure! It emerged that politically unreliable persons did not have the right to adopt children. "You should be thankful that you haven't been deprived of maternal rights over your own children! Whatever gave you the idea you could adopt other people's?… You can put it right out of your head!" (2a).

Коня он отвёл на конюшню — нечего и думать было ехать обратно, не покормив его… (Абрамов 1). He had taken the horse to the stable—it was out of the question to ride back without feeding it… (1a).

Д-333 • Я ДУ́МАЮ! coll [sent; Invar; fixed WO] (used to express one's emphatic agreement with the interlocutor's statement or affirmative response to a question) definitely, certainly: (but) of course!; naturally!; what do you think!; you said it!; I'll say!

«Это ведь настоящий мех?» — «Я думаю! Посмотри на цену!» "This is real fur, isn't it?" "But of course! Look at the price!"

Д-334 • НЕ ДО́ЛГО ДУ́МАЯ ⟨ДУ́МАЮЧИ⟩ coll [Verbal Adv; these forms only; sent adv; fixed WO] (one does sth.) instantly, without vacillating: without thinking twice; without giving it a second thought; without a moment's hesitation.

…Мы, недолго думая, приняли это предложение (Искандер 4). …We accepted the suggestion without thinking twice (4a). ♦ [Анна Петровна:] Будь вы свободны, я, недолго думая, сделалась бы вашей женой… (Чехов 1). [A.P.:] If you were free, I'd marry you without giving it a second thought… (1a).

Д-335 • ВСЯ́КИЙ ⟨КА́ЖДЫЙ⟩ ДУРА́К МО́ЖЕТ/СМО́ЖЕТ coll [VP$_{subj}$; these forms only; usu. preceded by infin or это; fixed WO] (doing sth. is so easy that) anyone can do it: any fool ⟨idiot, half-wit⟩ can (do sth.).

Когда я рассказал ему об убийстве президента Кеннеди и о том, что убийцу нашли, он спокойно меня выслушал и, обращаясь ко мне, как бы давая мне дружеский совет, сказал: «Если ты собираешься убить человека, ты должен это сделать так, чтобы тебя не нашли… А так убить каждый дурак может» (Искандер 3). When I told him about the murder of President Kennedy and how they had found the murderer, he heard me out calmly and turned to me as if giving me a piece of friendly advice. "If you're planning to murder a man, you ought to do it in such a way that they don't find you. Any fool can murder the way he did" (3a).

Д-336 • ДУРА́К ДУРАКО́М ⟨ДУ́РА ДУ́РОЙ⟩ coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] 1. a very stupid person: complete ⟨utter, prize⟩ fool; complete ⟨first-class⟩ idiot.

«Да, — проговорил он, ни на кого не глядя, — беда пожить этак годков пять в деревне, в отдалении от великих умов!.. Дурак дураком станешь» (Тургенев 2). "Yes," he said, without looking at anyone, "what a calamity it is to have spent five years in the country like this, far from the mighty intellects! One becomes a complete fool" (2c).

2. a person who ends up appearing stupid or foolish: (one) makes a (real) fool of o.s.; (one) looks like a (real) fool; (one) makes an ass of o.s.

«…Меня опять обвели вокруг пальца, и я опять дурак дураком, второй раз за этот день…» (Стругацкие 1). "…I came out looking like an ass again, a real fool for the second time today" (1a).

Д-337 • КАК (ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ) ДУРА́К ⟨ИДИО́Т⟩ вести себя, действовать и т.п.; КАК (ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ) ДУ́РА ⟨ИДИО́ТКА⟩ вести себя, действовать и т.п. coll, rude when addressed to the interlocutor [как + NP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to conduct o.s.) very foolishly, in an unintelligent manner, showing lack of resourcefulness, poor judgment etc: behave ⟨act⟩ like an idiot ⟨a fool, a jerk, a moron, a dumbass⟩; behave ⟨act⟩ like a complete ⟨a total, an absolute, a real⟩ idiot ⟨fool, jerk, moron, dumbass⟩; look like a prize fool ⟨the world's prize fool⟩.

«Как идиот буду сидеть на крыше, а дворник сзовёт в это время петлюровцев. Этот Нерон предаст. Зубы я ему расколотил… Не простит!» (Булгаков 3). I'll be sitting on the roof like an idiot while the janitor summons Petlyura's men. That Nero would betray me. I knocked his teeth out. He'll never forgive that! (3b).

Д-338 • НАБИ́ТЫЙ ⟨КРУ́ГЛЫЙ, ПЕ́ТЫЙ obs⟩ ДУРА́К coll [NP] a very stupid person: total ⟨utter, complete, absolute, prize⟩ fool; fool through and through; out-and-out fool; complete ⟨absolute, total⟩ idiot; (real) dope; [lim.] (one) doesn't have a brain in his head.

«Дура!» — сказал он тихо. Она отшатнулась, как от удара. «Как?» — «Дура! Дура набитая» (Войнович 4). "Fool!" he said softly. She recoiled as if from a blow. "What?" "Fool! Total fool" (4a). ♦ И вот тут-то меня озарило: да ты просто бестолочь, Веничка, ты круглый дурак… (Ерофеев 1). And then, suddenly, it dawned on me: "Venichka, what a blockhead you are, you're an out-and-out fool" (1a).

Д-339 • НЕ БУДЬ ДУРА́К ⟨ДУ́РА⟩ coll; НЕ БУДЬ ДУРЁН ⟨ДУРНА́⟩ substand [не будь + NP or AdjP; NP or AdjP agrees with the subj, не будь is used with sing or pl subj; detached modif; fixed WO] (of a person or animal) being intelligent enough to make a shrewd, timely decision regarding how to act in a given situation: (being) no fool; (being) nobody's fool; (being) no dummy ⟨dumbbell⟩.

«…Пришёл [купец] и говорит: „Я такой-то и такой, хочу, когда смерть подберёт, на вашем острову, на высоком яру быть похоронетым [ungrammat = похороненным]. А за то я поставлю вам церкву христовую". Мужики, не будь дураки, согласились» (Распутин 4). "…He came to them and said: 'I'm so-and-so, and when death takes me, I want to be buried on a high hill on your island. And I'll build you a Christian church for that.' The men, being no fools, agreed" (4a).

Д-340 • НЕ ДУРА́К ⟨НЕ ДУ́РА⟩ выпить, поесть, поспать, поухаживать за кем, по части чего и т.п. coll [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, nom only (subj: human)] a person who enjoys and is good at (drinking, eating, sleeping, courting etc): X не дурак сделать Y ≃ X is no slouch when it comes to doing Y; X does know how to do Y; when it comes to doing Y, X is a real pro; [lim.] X can do Y with the best of them; [in refer. to one's taste in clothing] X is quite the dresser.

[Аркадина:] На мне был удивительный туалет… Что-что, а уж одеться я не дура (Чехов 6). [A.:] I wore a lovely dress. Say what you like, but I do know how to dress (6b).

Д-341 • ВАЛЯ́ТЬ ⟨ЛОМА́ТЬ, КО́РЧИТЬ⟩ ДУРАКА́ coll, disapprov; ВАЛЯ́ТЬ ⟨ЛОМА́ТЬ, КО́РЧИТЬ⟩ ВА́НЬКУ ⟨ДУ́РОЧКУ⟩ highly coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: СТРО́ИТЬ ДУ́РОЧКУ highly coll, disapprov to pretend not to understand, know about (sth.), feign stupidity (in order to fool s.o.): X валяет дурака ≃ X plays the fool; X plays dumb; || Imper не валяй ⟨перестань валять⟩ дурака ≃ cut the comedy ⟨the crap⟩.

«Слушайте, Чонкин, — возбудился Запятаев, — я же вам не следователь. Зачем вы со мной дурака валяете?» (Войнович 4). "Listen, Chonkin"—Zapyataev grew excited—"I'm not interrogating you, why play dumb with me?" (4a).

2. to act in such a way as to amuse (and occas. annoy) others with one's tricks, anecdotes etc, behave mischievously, in a silly manner: X валял дурака ≃ X was playing ⟨acting⟩ the fool; X was monkeying ⟨clowning, fooling⟩ around; [lim.] X was up to his (usual) tricks; || хватит валять дурака! ≃ quit fooling around!; cut (out) the monkey business.

…Судя по грохоту кастрюль, доносившемуся из кухни, можно было допустить, что Бегемот находится именно там, валяя дурака, по своему обыкновению (Булгаков 9). Judging… from the crash of pots and pans coming from the kitchen, it could be deduced that Behemoth was there, playing the fool, as was his habit (9c).

3. Also: СВАЛЯ́ТЬ ДУРАКА́ ⟨ВА́НЬКУ, ДУ́РОЧКУ⟩ [if impfv, often neg imper or infin with хватит, брось etc] to act irresponsibly, unintelligently, unseriously, make a stupid blunder: X валяет дурака ≃ X is fooling around; X is being a fool; X is being stupid; || X свалял дурака ≃ X did a stupid thing; X put his foot it it ⟨in(to) his mouth⟩; X pulled a boner; X goofed (up); X blew it; X made a fool of himself; || Neg Imper не валяй дурака ≃ quit fooling (around)!; don't be a fool!

[Лопахин:] Я-то хорош, какого дурака свалял! Нарочно приехал сюда, чтобы [Любовь Андреевну и Аню] на станции встретить, и вдруг проспал… (Чехов 2). [L.:] I'm a fine one! What a fool I've made of myself! Came here on purpose to meet them [Lyubov Andreyevna and Anya] at the station, and then overslept… (2a).

4. [variants with валять only] to be idle, spend time lazily: X валял дурака ≃ X fooled ⟨fiddled⟩ away the ⟨his⟩ time; X goofed off.

Как тебе не стыдно! Все работают, а ты дурака валяешь. You should be ashamed of yourself! Everyone else is working while you're goofing off.

Д-342 • НАШЁЛ ДУРАКА́ ⟨ДУ́Р(ОЧК)У, ДУРАКО́В⟩!; ИЩИ́ ДУРАКА́ ⟨ДУ́Р(ОЧК)У, ДУРАКО́В⟩!; НЕТ ДУРАКО́В! all highly coll, iron [Interj; these forms only; more often this WO] used to express disagreement, one's refusal to do or believe sth.: I am not as stupid as you ⟨they etc⟩ think; what kind of fool do you ⟨they etc⟩ take me for ⟨think I am⟩?; who do you think you're fooling ⟨kidding⟩?; I'm not such a fool (as to do ⟨believe etc⟩ that!); find yourself ⟨let them etc find themselves⟩ another patsy ⟨sucker, fall guy, dupe⟩; Cf. tell it to the marines!

«От кого у тебя эти заказы? От частников?» — «Почему частников?… Просто люди хотят иметь у себя на дверях фамилию, чтобы знали, кто здесь живёт». «Нашёл дурочку!.. Я тебя не спрашиваю, для чего людям таблички, я тебя спрашиваю, эти заказы ты оформил через контору, как временный надомник, или получил от частных лиц?» (Львов 1). "Who are these orders from? Private customers?" "What do you mean, private customers?… Just people who wanted a plate on their door so other people would know who lived there." "Who do you think you're fooling? I'm not asking you what people wanted those plates for, I'm asking you whether you received these orders officially as a temporary cottage industry worker or whether you received them from private parties?" (1a).

Д-343 • НЕ НА ДУРАКА́ ⟨ДУ́РУ, ПРОСТАКА́⟩ НАПА́Л coll [sent; past only; fixed WO] you are (he is etc) underestimating the intelligence of the person with whom you are (he is etc) dealing (usu. used in contexts when the interlocutor underestimates the speaker's intelligence): I'm not the fool you take me for ⟨he's not the fool you take him for etc⟩; what do you take me for ⟨what do they take her for etc⟩, a fool?; you ⟨he etc⟩ shouldn't take me ⟨her etc⟩ for a fool.

«…Я камердинер молодого барина»… Но Лиза поглядела на него и засмеялась. «А лжёшь, — сказала она, — не на дуру напал. Вижу, что ты сам барин» (Пушкин 3). "I am the young master's valet."… But Lisa looked at him and laughed. "You're lying," she said. "I'm not the fool you take me for. I can see that you are the young master himself" (3b).

Д-344 • РАЗЫ́ГРЫВАТЬ/РАЗЫГРА́ТЬ ДУРАКА́ ⟨ДУ́РУ⟩ [VP; subj: human] 1. to pretend not to understand, know [Кречинский:] …Вы нарочно пришли дурака разыгрывать, что я вам не могу вдолбить в голову, что теперь, сию минуту, у меня денег нет и отдать их я не могу!.. (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [K.:] …Have you come here deliberately to play the fool? Can't I knock it into that thick skull of yours that now, this minute, I don't have any money and I can't pay you back! (2b).

2. [pfv only] to make a blunder, do sth. stupid: X разыграл дурака ≃ X made a fool ⟨an ass⟩ (out) of himself; X put his foot in it; [lim.] X put his foot in(to) his mouth; [in exclamations and rhet questions] how could X be such a fool?!; how stupid can you ⟨one⟩ get!

[Войницкий:] Разыграть такого дурака: стрелять два раза и ни разу не попасть! Этого я себе никогда не прощу! (Чехов 3). [V.:] How could I be such a fool? Shooting twice and missing both times. I'll never forgive myself (3b).

Д-345 • ДУРАКА́М ⟨ДУРАКУ́⟩ ЗАКО́Н НЕ ПИ́САН [saying] stupid, foolhardy people do not observe the rules (said of a person who, in the speaker's opinion, acts or behaves strangely, not according to common sense and the accepted standards of behavior): ≃ there's no knowing ⟨telling⟩ with a fool; there's no knowing ⟨telling⟩ what a fool will do; [lim.] fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

[Катенька:] А как же Иван Андреевич… без вас? [Безенчук:] А уж это как желает. Дуракам закон не писан (Арбузов 1). [K.:] But what will Ivan do without you? [B.:] That's his business. There's no knowing with a fool! (1a).

Д-346 • В ДУРАКА́Х ⟨В ДУ́РАХ obs⟩ быть$_{ø}$, остаться, оставить кого и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect) or obj-compl with оставить (obj: human or collect)] (to be, end up, put s.o.) in a stupid, ludicrous situation: X остался в дураках ≃ X made a fool ⟨an ass, a jackass, a monkey⟩ (out) of himself; X was made a fool ⟨an ass⟩ of; X ended up looking like a fool; X ended up with egg on his face; ‖ Y оставил X-а в дураках ≃ Y made a fool ⟨an ass, a jackass, a monkey⟩ (out) of X; Y left X with egg on X's face.

Депутаты считали, что Дессер остался в дураках: поддерживал Народный фронт, хотел предотвратить войну резолюциями Лиги наций (Эренбург 4). The deputies thought he [Desser] had made a fool of himself; he had supported the Popular front and wanted to prevent war with airy resolutions by the League of Nations (4a).

Д-347 • БЕЗ ДУРАКО́В coll [PrepP; Invar; sent adv or indep. sent] earnestly, seriously, without exaggerating or lying: no kidding ⟨joking⟩; all kidding ⟨joking⟩ aside.

«Тост, конечно, за хозяйку, за её гостеприимный дом, за её сердце, сказал я, вобравшее в себя ум всех этих книг и нежность всех этих ковров. Без дураков, здорово сказал…» (Искандер 2). "Of course the toast is to our hostess, for the hospitality of her house, for her heart, I say, which has absorbed the wisdom of all these books and the soft tenderness of all these carpets. No kidding, it was a great toast…" (2a).

Д-348 • ВЫБИВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́БИТЬ ⟨ВЫШИБА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ШИБИТЬ, ВЫКОЛА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́КОЛОТИТЬ⟩ ДУРЬ из кого ⟨ИЗ ГОЛОВЫ́ чьей, у кого⟩ coll, occas rude [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv; often infin (with надо, пора), fut (1st pers sing, used as a threat), or subjunctive] by using strong measures, to force s.o. to give up a bad habit, relinquish a wrong idea, cease to engage in some reprehensible behavior etc: X выбьет дурь из Y-а ⟨у Y-а из головы⟩ ≃ X will knock the nonsense out of Y's head ⟨out of Y⟩; X will knock ⟨pound, talk⟩ some sense into Y's head ⟨into Y⟩.

[author's usage] «Слушай ты, мыслитель, я из тебя эту дурь окопную быстро вышибу…» (Максимов 1). [context transl] "Listen, philosopher, it's not going to take me very long to knock your shell-shock out of you" (1a).

«Мне говорили, сказывали, что Варуха с парнем связалась, ну, я не верила». — «А теперь веришь». — «Выбрось эту дурь из головы. Посмешила людей и хватит» (Абрамов 1). "…They were saying Varukha is involved with the boy. Well, I didn't believe it…." "And now you do believe it?" "Just put that nonsense out of your head. You've made people laugh—and that's enough" (1b).

Д-350 • ВО ВЕСЬ ДУХ ⟨МАХ, ОПО́Р⟩ бежать, мчаться, нестись, пустить лошадь и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (of a person, a horse, or, rare, a horse-driven carriage) (to run, race along etc) very fast, with great speed, headlong: at top ⟨full⟩ speed; (at) full tilt; as fast as one can (go); as fast as one's legs can carry one; for all one is worth; [of a horse] (race along ⟨go⟩) at a full gallop; (put one's horse) to a full gallop; (go ⟨make one's horse go⟩) flat-out.

Лошади летели во весь опор, карету мягко встряхивало… (Окуджава 2). The horses raced along at full speed, the carriage rolling slightly… (2a). ♦ Кавалергарды скакали, но ещё удерживая лошадей. Ростов уже видел их лица и услышал команду: «Марш, марш!», произнесённую офицером, выпустившим во весь мах свою кровную лошадь (Толстой 4). The Horse Guards were galloping but still holding in their horses. Rostov could now see their faces and hear the command: "Charge!" shouted by an officer putting his thoroughbred to a full gallop (4a).

Д-351 • ВЫШИБА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ШИБИТЬ ДУХ ⟨ДУ́ШУ⟩ из кого substand [VP; subj: human] to kill s.o. on the spot (usu. with a blow or blows): X вышиб дух из Y-а ≃ X bumped ⟨knocked, finished⟩ Y off.

Внизу в теплушке разговаривали двое. Один спрашивал другого: «Ну как, угомонили своих? Доломали хвосты им?» — «Это лавочников, что ли?» — «Ну да, лабазников». — «…Из которых для примеру вышибли дух, ну остальные и присмирели» (Пастернак 1). Two men were talking underneath his bunk. "Well, have they had their tails twisted yet? Are they keeping quiet now?" "The shopkeepers, you mean?" "That's right. The grain merchants." Арестованный пошатнулся… перевёл дыхание и ответил хрипло: «Я понял тебя. Не бей меня» (Булгаков 9). The prisoner swayed on his feet…. He caught his breath and answered hoarsely: "I understand you. Don't beat me" (9c). ♦ …Поняв, что тот [Тимур] рано или поздно поймает его кисть своими челюстями, [Кязым] с такой силой вывернул ему руки, что тот, застонав, повалился. Кязым, с трудом переводя дыхание, положил ключ в карман (Искандер 5). Realizing that sooner or later Timur would catch his hand in his jaws, he [Kyazym] wrenched Timur's arm so hard that he let out a groan and fell. Struggling for breath, Kyazym put the key in his pocket (5a).

2. to take a short break, respite: X перевёл дух ≃ X caught his breath; X took a breather; X got his breath (back); X came up for air.

Точно демонстрируя на собственном примере возможности новой динамики, Маринетти двоился, выбрасывая в стороны руки, ноги, ударяя кулаком по пюпитру, мотая головой, сверкая белками, скаля зубы, глотая воду стакан за стаканом, не останавливаясь ни на секунду, чтобы перевести дыхание (Лившиц 1). As if demonstrating the potential of the new dynamics by his own example, Marinetti split into two, throwing out his legs and arms in all directions, banging his fist on the desk, reeling about, showing the whites of his eyes, baring his teeth, swallowing glass after glass of water and not stopping for a moment to get his breath back (1a).

[Городничий:] Да говорите, ради бога, что такое? У меня сердце не на месте (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] So tell us, for God's sake, what is it? My heart's in my mouth (4a).

Д-381 • ДУША́ НЕ ПРИНИМА́ЕТ highly coll [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. has absolutely no desire, or finds it repulsive, to eat or drink sth.: it (just) won't go down; person X couldn't eat a ⟨another⟩ bite; person X couldn't drink a ⟨another⟩ drop; (just) the thought of food ⟨drinking⟩ makes person X sick.

Анна Савишна, бледно улыбаясь, брала кусочек, переминала его дёснами, но потом сплёвывала украдкой, чтобы не обидеть Маргариту Антоновну, — больно уж та гордилась своей стряпнёй… Да что поделать, если душа не принимает, кто бы ни стряпал, хоть повар-расповар (Грекова 3). Anna Savishna, smiling weakly, took a piece, mashed it with her gums, and then spit it out stealthily so as not to offend Margarita Antonovna, who was really proud of her concoctions. But what can you do if it just won't go down, no matter who made it, even a five-star chef (3a).

Д-382 • ДУША́ О́БЩЕСТВА [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] the most lively, charismatic, and witty member of a social gathering: the life (and soul) of the party.

Ух, дядя Митя веселился на свадьбе! Читал куплеты, разыгрывал с тёщей сценки, пел, плясал — в общем, был душой общества (Аксёнов 10). Oh, how Old Mitya enjoyed himself at the wedding! He recited couplets, acted scenes with his mother-in-law, sang and danced—in short, he was the life and soul of the party (10a).

Д-383 • ДУША́ ПЕРЕВОРА́ЧИВАЕТСЯ/ПЕРЕВЕРНУ́ЛАСЬ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ ПЕРЕВОРА́ЧИВАЕТСЯ/ПЕРЕВЕРНУ́ЛОСЬ⟩ у кого, в ком (от чего) coll [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] s.o. experiences strong feelings of pity, compassion for another (caused by another's suffering): у X-а душа переворачивается (от Y-ова плача ⟨Y-овых страданий и т.п.⟩) ≃ Y's sobbing ⟨suffering etc⟩ cuts X to the heart; X's heart goes out to Y; it ⟨Y's suffering etc⟩ wrings X's heart.

«Поедем отсюда, ради бога! Я на неё [убитую женщину] глядеть не могу. У меня сердце переворачивается!» (Шолохов 5). "Let's get out of here for God's sake! I can't look at her [the dead woman]. It fair wrings my heart!" (5a).

Д-384 • ДУША́ УХО́ДИТ/УШЛА́ В ПЯ́ТКИ (у кого, от чего); ДУША́ В ПЯ́ТКАХ both coll [VP_{subj} (1st var.); Invar, VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$ (2nd var.); the verb may take the final position (1st var.); fixed WO (2nd var.)] s.o. experiences very strong fear: у X-а душа ушла в пятки ≃ X's heart sank into ⟨to⟩ his boots ⟨shoes⟩; [lim.] X got the shakes.

Однажды, убирая мастерскую, [я] решился и стянул кольцо колбасы, запрятал в снег под окном… Уходя домой, полез в снег — нет колбасы. Тут у меня душа ушла в пятки: выгонит Дегтярев (Кузнецов 1). One day, while cleaning up the shop, I mustered up the courage to steal a ring of sausage which I hid in the snow under the window…. When I was leaving for home I dug under the snow and—no sausage. My heart sank into my boots. Degtyarev would surely throw me out (1a). ♦ «Странный крик», — сказал Максим. «Странный — не знаю, — возразил Зеф, — но страшноватый. Ночью как начнут орать по всему лесу, душа в пятки уходит» (Стругацкие 2). “It’s a strange cry.” “Strange—I don’t know, but it’s damned frightening. When those screams start tearing through the forest at night, you get the shakes” (2a).

Д-385 • ЖИВА́Я ДУША́ [NP; fixed WO] a human being: a ⟨some⟩ (living) soul.

Узнать, сколько времени?.. Да ведь у кого узнать, если на площади ни единой души, то есть решительно ни единой?.. Да если б и встретилась живая душа — смог бы ты разве разомкнуть уста, от холода и от горя? (Ерофеев 1). Maybe I should find out what time it is. But who can I ask, if there’s not a single soul in the square, not a single one? And if some living soul did come along, could you even get your mouth open with the cold and the grief? (1a).

Д-386 • ЗА́ЯЧЬЯ ДУША́ coll, disapprov [NP; fixed WO] 1. [subj-compl with copula (subj: human), appos, or vocative] a cowardly, timid person: yellowbelly; scaredy-cat; jellyfish; chicken.

Испуганно озираясь, за мной вышмыгнул доцент И-лев… Я утешил эту заячью душу, как мог (Битов 2). Senior Lecturer N., glancing fearfully over his shoulder, darted out after me…. I comforted the yellowbelly as best I could (2a).

2. ~ у кого [VP_{subj} with copula] s.o. is cowardly, timid: у Х-а заячья душа ≃ X is as yellow as they come; X is chicken-hearted ⟨chicken-livered, lily-livered, yellow-bellied⟩; X has no backbone.

Д-387 • НИ ОДНА́ (ЖИВА́Я) ДУША́; НИ ЕДИ́НАЯ ДУША́ all coll [NP; sing only; subj or obj; fixed WO] no one: not a ⟨one⟩ (living) soul; not a single (living ⟨blessed⟩) soul; not a solitary soul.

«Я приглашаю вас к иностранцу совершенно безопасному. И ни одна душа не будет знать об этом посещении. Вот уж за это я вам ручаюсь» (Булгаков 9). “My invitation is from a foreigner who is perfectly safe. And not a soul will know about your visit. I can promise you that” (9c). ♦ [Войницкий:] Он вышел в отставку, и его не знает ни одна живая душа, он совершенно неизвестен; значит, двадцать пять лет он занимал чужое место (Чехов 3). [V. :] He has retired, and not a single living soul knows who he is, he is absolutely unknown; which means that for twenty-five years he has held some other man’s job (3a). [context transl] [V.:] Now that he’s retired, he’s completely forgotten, a complete unknown. In other words, for twenty-five years he kept a better man out of a job (3b).

Д-388 • ПОКА́ ДУША́ ДЕ́РЖИТСЯ В ТЕ́ЛЕ coll [subord clause; Invar; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] for as long as s.o. is alive, has strength: for as long as s.o. has a spark ⟨a breath⟩ of life left in him; for as long as s.o. has some life left in him.

Д-389 • ЧЕРНИ́ЛЬНАЯ ДУША́ derog [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] 1. obs a petty official (who quibbles over trivial matters): pettifogger; petty scrivener.

2. coll Also: БУМА́ЖНАЯ ДУША́ coll, derog a callous, petty bureaucrat; by extension any person with bureaucratic tendencies, esp. in minor matters: paper shuffler; paper-pusher; pettifogger.

…Кто-то уже пожаловался. Кляузники! Их ещё не успеешь прижать как следует, а они уже бегут с жалобами. Что за люди, что за чернильные души! (Войнович 3). Someone must have complained. Tattletales! You barely have time to really put the pressure on them before they run off to complain. What people, what pettifoggers! (3a).

Д-390 • ЧУЖА́Я ДУША́ — ПОТЁМКИ [saying] you cannot find out or know what is in another person’s soul, what he thinks, what kind of person he is (said when it is difficult to understand a person’s true nature, his mood, behavior, intentions): ≃ another person’s soul ⟨the human heart⟩ is a mystery; one person’s soul is (always) a mystery to another; you can never see into another heart.

[Кабанов:] Да какие ж, маменька, у неё грехи такие могут быть особенные! Все такие же, как и у всех у нас…. [Кабанова:] А ты почём знаешь? Чужая душа потёмки (Островский 6). [Kabanov:] But, Mama, what kind of special sins can she have? Just the same as all the rest of us…. [Kabanova:] And how do you know? The human heart is a mystery (6a).

Д-391 • ПО ДУША́М ⟨ПО ДУШЕ́ obs⟩ поговорить, побеседовать с кем; разговор, беседа и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv or nonagreeing modif] (to talk with s.o.) frankly, candidly, freely, without hiding anything: поговорить ~ ≃ have a heart-to-heart ⟨an intimate⟩ talk (with s.o.); have a heart-to-heart (with s.o.); talk ⟨speak⟩ to s.o. heart to heart; || разговор ~ ≃ a heart-to-heart (talk); a candid conversation ⟨talk⟩.

Времени до отхода поезда было предостаточно, и они славно посидели, и выпили, и потолковали по душам на прощание (Айтматов 2). There had been plenty of time before the train left, and they had sat there enjoying a drink and having a heart-to-heart talk before they parted (2a).

Д-392 • В ДУШЕ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ надеяться, удивляться, радоваться, признавать что, осуждать кого-что, бояться, смеяться над кем-чем и т.п. Он в душе очень обрадовался предложению своего приятеля, но почёл обязанностию скрыть своё чувство (Тургенев 2). In his heart of hearts he was highly delighted with his friend’s suggestion but thought it a duty to conceal his feelings (2c). ♦ Я не мог не признаться в душе, что поведение моё в симбирском трактире было глупо… (Пушкин 2). Deep down I could not help recognizing that my behavior at the Simbirsk inn had been foolish… (2a). ♦ …В душе Михаил был немало удивлён: с чего это вдруг вспомнил о нём Егорша? (Абрамов 1). …Inwardly Mikhail was quite surprised: why had Egorsha suddenly remembered him? (1a).

2. [nonagreeing postmodif or adv] in one’s real nature, in spite of appearances: at heart; (an artist ⟨actor, musician etc⟩) by nature.

…У вдовушки, безутешно оплакивающей мужа, погибшего под Сталинградом, была мания: она упрашивала дядю каждый вечер на ужин надевать унтер-офицерский мундир её незабвенного Пауля. Дядя, артист в душе, оказывал снисхождение к женской сентиментальности и, посмеиваясь, влезал в мундир (Евтушенко 2). The widow’s husband had been killed near Stalingrad, and her inconsolable grief for him took the form of a particular mania: Every evening she begged Uncle to wear her precious Paul’s noncom uniform at supper. Uncle, an actor at heart, consented to this sentimental charade and laughingly got into the uniform (2a).

Д-393 • КАК ДУШЕ́ (чьей, кого) УГО́ДНО coll [subord clause with $быть_{ø}$; usu. used as adv; usu. pres; fixed WO] (to do sth.) the way one wants: как (Х-овой) душе угодно ≃ as X pleases ⟨likes⟩; (in) any way X pleases ⟨likes⟩.

«Будь нашим гостем. А с утра — как душе твоей угодно» (Айтматов 2). “Be our dear guest, and tomorrow morning you can do as you please” (2a).

Д-394 • НА ДУШЕ́ ⟨НА́ СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ у кого радостно, легко, спокойно, грустно, тяжело, горько, тревожно и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; usu. sent adv] (s.o. experiences the emotional state specified by the context) inwardly: (there is an emptiness ⟨a heaviness, bitterness etc⟩) in s.o.’s soul ⟨heart⟩; s.o.’s heart is full of (joy ⟨happiness, sadness etc⟩); s.o.’s heart (is light ⟨heavy, grieved, sad, happy, peaceful etc⟩); (s.o. feels bitter ⟨joyful, happy, empty etc⟩) at heart; (s.o. is ⟨feels⟩) lighthearted ⟨heavy-hearted etc⟩; [lim.] s.o.’s spirit (is uneasy); || у Х-а спокойно на душе ≃ X has peace in his soul; X’s soul is at peace; X has peace of mind; X’s mind is at rest; || у Х-а неспокойно на душе ≃ X has an uneasy feeling; X has no peace of mind.

На сердце у Григория сладостная пустота (Шолохов 2). There was a sweet void in Grigory’s heart (2a). ♦ Опять весна, и у меня очень легко на душе. Я люблю весну (Казаков 2). It was spring again… and my heart was light. I love spring (2a). ♦ «…Мы все живём на пустом свете, — разве у тебя спокойно на душе?» (Платонов 1). “We are all living in an empty world—do you really have peace in your soul?” (1b). “We all live in an empty world—do you have peace of mind?” (1a).

Д-395 • ПО ДУШЕ́ ⟨ПО́ СЕ́РДЦУ⟩ кому быть$_{ø}$, прийтись [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or abstr) or postmodif] to be pleasing to, liked by s.o.: Х пришёлся У-у по душе ≃ X appealed to Y ⟨to Y’s heart⟩; X was to Y’s liking ⟨taste⟩; Y took a fancy ⟨a shine, a liking⟩ to X; Y was fond of person X; Y felt drawn to X; Y went for thing X; || Neg Х У-у не по душе ≃ Y doesn’t care for X; [in refer. to a decision, response, plan etc] thing X doesn’t sit too well with Y; [in refer. to some food, medicine, environmental conditions etc] thing X doesn’t agree with Y.

Сталин был против постановки «Гамлета» вероятно потому же, почему он был против «Макбета» и «Бориса Годунова» — изображение образа властителя, запятнавшего себя на пути к власти преступлением, было ему не по душе (Гладков 1). Stalin was probably against it [putting on Hamlet] for the same reason that he was against putting on Macbeth or Boris Godunov: such portraits of rulers whose road to power had been strewn with corpses did not appeal to him in the least (1a). ♦ …Закон, каков бы он ни был… всё-таки имеет ограничивающую силу, которая никогда честолюбцам не по душе (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). A law, whatever it may be… still has a limiting force, which is never to the liking of the ambitious (1a).

Д-396 • СКО́ЛЬКО ДУШЕ́ УГО́ДНО coll [subord clause with быть$_{ø}$; used as adv; usu. pres; fixed WO] (to do sth.) without any limitations, restrictions, to the extent one wants: to one’s heart’s content; (for) as long as one likes ⟨pleases⟩; as much as one likes ⟨pleases⟩; (for) as long as one’s heart desires; as much as one’s heart desires.

«Она под вымышленной фамилией, под которой все меня узнавали, высмеивала меня сколько душе угодно в стенгазете» (Пастернак 1). “…She made fun of me to her heart’s content in the wall newspaper, referring to me by some invented name that everyone could see through” (1a). ♦ [Бугров:] …Жить можете тут сколько вашей душе угодно, хоть до Рождества… (Чехов 1). [В.:] You can live here as long as you like—till Christmas, even (1b).

Д-397 • ЧИТА́ТЬ В ДУШЕ́ ⟨В СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ у кого obs [VP; subj: human] to understand clearly what s.o.’s thoughts, desires, intentions etc are: Х читает у У-а в душе ≃ X can see into Y’s heart; X reads Y’s mind; X can read Y like a book.

«Доктор! Решительно нам нельзя разговаривать: мы читаем в душе друг у друга» (Лермонтов 1). “Upon my word, Doctor, it’s impossible for us to talk together. We read each other’s minds” (1c).

Д-398 • ЧТО ДУШЕ́ УГО́ДНО coll [subord clause with быть$_{ø}$; usu. used as subj or obj; usu. pres; fixed WO] whatever one wants or likes: whatever ⟨anything⟩ your heart desires; [lim.] anything you could ever want.

Приезжайте к нам на дачу. У нас там есть и лес, и озеро, и горы — словом, всё, что душе угодно. Come visit us at our dacha: we’ve got woods, a lake, mountains—in a word, anything you could ever want.

Д-399 • ДЛЯ ДУШИ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv or, rare, nonagreeing modif] (one does sth.) in order to satisfy one’s inner (usu. intellectual, spiritual) needs, desires: for the good of one’s (own) soul; to nourish the spirit; to lift ⟨stimulate⟩ the soul; (just) for (one’s own) pleasure.

…[Маршак] излагал на среднем языке шекспировские сонеты и писал мерзкие политические стишонки для газет. Для души он завёл целую коробку гладкой мудрости, вызывавшей умиление даже у начальства (Мандельштам 2). …He [Marshak] produced Shakespeare’s sonnets in a commonplace Russian translation and wrote nasty political doggerel for the newspapers. For the good of his own soul he had devised a glib philosophy which he could spout endlessly, plucking at the heartstrings even of his masters (2a). ♦ …Вспоминаю я о литкружке с удовольствием, он как-то возвышал нас. Когда перед тобой весь день подмётки, каблуки и союзки, то хочется чего-то для души, одной танцплощадки мало (Рыбаков 1). …I recall the literary circle with pleasure, as it somehow gave one a lift. After all, when you’ve spent the whole day looking at soles, heels, and uppers, you need something to nourish the spirit, and the dance hall isn’t enough (1a).

Д-400 • ДУШИ́ НЕ ЧА́ЯТЬ в ком coll [VP; subj: human] to love s.o. deeply, be extremely fond of s.o.: Х в У-е души не чает ≃ X adores Y; X thinks the world of Y; [usu. in refer. to an older person’s affection for a younger person, often among relatives] X dotes on Y; Y is the apple of X’s eye; [often in refer. to a romantic relationship or to a younger person’s admiration for an older person] X worships Y; X worships the ground Y walks ⟨treads⟩ on.

[Катерина:] Маменька во мне души не чаяла, наряжала меня, как куклу, работать не принуждала… (Островский 6). [К.:] My Mama adored me, dressed me up like a doll, didn’t force me to work… (6d). ♦ …Антон лечил и самого Тимошкина и его… жену Валю от подлинных и воображаемых болезней, и они оба души не чаяли в обходительном докторе (Гинзбург 2). Anton was personally treating Timoshkin and his… wife, Valya, for illnesses real and imaginary, and they thought the world of the attentive doctor (2a). ♦ [Шпигельский:] Ведь он в вас души не чает, Вера Александровна… (Тургенев 1). [Sh.:] Why, he worships the ground you tread on, Vera Alexandrovna… (1a).

Д-401 • МЁРТВЫЕ ДУ́ШИ [NP; pl only; fixed WO] people counted fictitiously somewhere (orig. used in refer. to serfs who had died in the period between two censuses but were still counted in the rolls): dead souls.

Они с Ганичевым подсчитали: подписка [на заём] пошла в гору. Нажим помог. Но до плановой цифры всё ещё было далеко. Тогда Лукашин опять стал доказывать, что добрая треть этой суммы падает на мёртвых душ, на тех, кто только на бумаге числится в колхозе (Абрамов 1). …He and Ganichev tallied the pledges [to contribute to the government loan] and saw that things were looking up. The pressure had helped, but they were still far from the Plan target. Lukashin again tried to show that a good third of the target sum fell on dead souls; that is, on people who were in the kolkhoz on paper only (1a).

< The title of a novel by Nikolai Gogol, 1842.

Д-402 • НИ (ОДНО́Й) ДУШИ́ ⟨НИ (ОДНО́Й) ЖИВО́Й ДУШИ́, НИ ЕДИ́НОЙ (ЖИВО́Й) ДУШИ́⟩ нет, не видно, не встретилось, не встретить и т.п. [NP_{gen}; these forms only; used as subj/gen or obj; fixed WO] (there is, to see etc) no one, not one person: (there is) not a (living) soul (in sight ⟨to be seen⟩); (there is) not a single living soul (in sight ⟨to be seen⟩); (not to see ⟨meet etc⟩) a single (living ⟨blessed⟩) soul.

Мы выходим в поле. На этот раз мы совсем одни в пустом поле. Ни души не видно ни впереди, ни сзади (Казаков 2). We'd already reached the field. This time the field was empty and we were all alone. Not a soul to be seen ahead or behind (2a).

Д-403 • ОТ (ВСЕЙ) ДУШИ́ желать кому чего, надеяться, что…, благодарить кого за что, поздравлять кого с чем, говорить (кому что), жаль кому кого, дарить кому что, смеяться и т.п. «…Он всей душой ощущал, что ничего так не согревает человека во вселенском холоде, как добрый костёр человеческой дружбы (Искандер 5). …He sensed with heart and soul that nothing so warms a man in the universal cold as the kind campfire of human friendship (5a).

2. к кому ~ [predic with subj: human; used in pres or, less often, past contexts] one relates to s.o. in a sincere manner: X к Y-у ~ ≃ X comes to Y with an open heart; X comes to Y in (all) good faith.

[Мечеткин:] Значит, вы меня разыграли? Я к вам всей душой, а вы ко мне…? (Вампилов 2). [M.:] So you were just making fun of me. I came to you with an open heart, and you…? (2a). ♦ «…Мы к нему [князю] всей душой, а он послал нас искать князя глупого!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "We went to him [the prince] in all good faith, and he sent us to seek a foolish prince!" (1a).

Д-408 • ДУШО́Й И ТЕ́ЛОМ [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv] with one's entire being, totally: body and soul; [lim.] heart and soul.

Из предыдушей главы уже видно, в чем состоял главный предмет его вкуса и склонностей, а потому не диво, что он скоро погрузился весь в него и телом и душою (Гоголь 3). The preceding chapter revealed the main subject of his interests and inclinations, and therefore it is not surprising that he soon became immersed in it body and soul (3c).

Д-409 • ЗА ДУШО́Й (у кого) нет, не иметь чего, есть что [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with negated predic] (s.o. does not have anything, s.o. has sth.) of s.o.'s own: [in refer. to money, material possessions] у Х-а нет ни копейки ⟨ни гроша etc⟩ за душой ≃ X doesn't have ⟨is without⟩ a kopeck ⟨a penny, a cent etc⟩ to his name; X is (flat) broke; || [in refer. to convictions, spiritual values, morals etc] что у Х-а ~? ≃ what is (going on) inside (of) X?; what is in X's heart ⟨soul⟩?; what does X believe in?; what are the principles ⟨beliefs etc⟩ that guide X?; what principles does X live by?; || у Х-а нет ничего ~ ≃ X's soul is a wasteland ⟨a void⟩; X is without beliefs or convictions; X has no spiritual fiber; X's heart is empty.

…В тринадцатом году она [«Бродячая Собака», ночной клуб] была единственным островком в ночном Петербурге, где литературная и артистическая молодёжь, в виде общего правила не имевшая ни гроша за душой, чувствовала себя как дома (Лившиц 1). …In 1913 it [the Stray Dog night-club] was the only haven in night-time Petersburg where the literary and artistic youth (usually without a penny to its name) could feel at home (1a).

Д-410 • КРИВИ́ТЬ/ПОКРИВИ́ТЬ ДУШО́Й (перед кем, в чём; против чего) coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to say sth. one knows to be false or do sth. one knows to be wrong, ignoring one's conscience (usu. pretending to be sincere while attempting to deceive s.o. or o.s.): Х кривит душой (перед Y-ом) ≃ X is lying (to Y); X is bending the truth; X is playing false (with Y); X isn't being straight (with Y); [lim.] X is going ⟨acting etc⟩ against his conscience (in doing sth.); || Х кривит душой перед самим собой ≃ X is deceiving ⟨trying to deceive⟩ himself; || не кривя душой ≃ without dissembling; [lim.] without holding anything back.

«Нюся?» — «Она. — Он подмигнул мне. — Ничего девка?» — «Красивая». Возможно я покривил душой, но что я мог ещё сказать (Войнович 5). "Nyusa?" "That's her, all right." He winked at me. "Good stuff?" "Beautiful," I said. Perhaps I was bending the truth, but what else could I do? (5a). ♦ …Александров садится в сознании выполненного долга и избегнутой опасности. В самом деле, он не покривил душой, дурного не сказал, товарища не предал… (Эткинд 1). …Aleksandrov can sit down with the feeling of duty done and danger avoided. And indeed he has not spoken against his conscience or said anything shameful; he has not betrayed his comrade… (1a).

Д-411 • НИ ДУШО́Й НИ ТЕ́ЛОМ не виноват в чём, не причастен к чему и т.п. obsoles [$NP_{instrum}$; these forms only; adv (intensif); usu. this WO] absolutely not (guilty etc): (not guilty,) neither in thought nor deed; (not at fault) in thought or deed; not at all (to blame).

[Городничий:] Ах, боже мой! Я ей-ей не виноват ни душою ни телом (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] No, no! So help me God, I'm not guilty! Neither in thought nor deed! (4b).

Д-412 • ОТДЫХА́ТЬ/ОТДОХНУ́ТЬ ДУШО́Й ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕМ⟩ [VP; subj: human] to free o.s. from anxiety and stress, often through a pleasant distraction: Х отдыхал душой ≃ X found peace of mind ⟨inner peace⟩; X's mind ⟨soul⟩ was at rest.

Нажив миллионы, Жюль Дессер остался верен привычкам детства: он отдыхал душой, играя в шашки со стариком садовником… (Эренбург 4). Having made his millions, Desser remained faithful to the habits of his childhood. He found peace of mind over a game of chess with his old gardener (4a).

Д-413 • С ДОРОГО́Й ДУШО́Й coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs (fut or subjunctive); fixed WO] (to do sth.) very willingly: (be) (only too) happy ⟨glad⟩ (to do sth.); gladly; (be) delighted (to do sth.); with pleasure.

Согласен ли Илья Максимович встать за наковальню? «А почему не согласен, — ответил Илья. Я кузнечное дело люблю. Вот только с лесом развяжусь — и с дорогой душой» (Абрамов 1). Would Ilya Maximovich agree to man the anvil? "Why not?" he replied. "I like smithing. Once I'm through with the timber I'd be happy to" (1a).

Д-414 • С ДУШО́Й coll, approv [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) with enthusiasm, devotion: with spirit ⟨feeling, zeal, zest⟩; put(ting) one's heart into it ⟨sth.⟩; [lim.] with heart.

…А как работали, разве так, как теперь? С огоньком работали, с душой (Суслов 1). And how they worked, not at all like now! They worked with zest, with spirit (1a). ♦ Встал Гриша, повёл ещё шире, раздольнее… И геологический парень тоже запел, хотя и не шибко красиво, но с душой (Евтушенко 2). Grisha rose and sang even more broadly, with bravura…. And the geologist also joined in, though not very beautifully, but with feeling (2a).

Д-415 • С ОТКРЫ́ТОЙ ДУШО́Й; С ОТКРЫ́ТЫМ СЕ́РДЦЕМ [PrepP; these forms only; usu. adv; fixed WO] in a totally frank, straightforward manner: with an open ⟨a sincere⟩ heart; with one's heart laid open; [lim.] (be) open and honest (with s.o.).

[Генрих:] Мне давно хочется поговорить с тобою наедине, по-дружески, с открытой душой (Шварц 2). [H.:] For a long time I've wanted to have a talk with you alone, to talk to you as a friend, with an open heart (2a). ♦ «Ты-то отдал своё [оружие]? А?»… — «Сдал, конешно [phonetic spelling = конечно], Яков Ефимыч, ты не подумай… Я с открытой душой» (Шолохов 4). "Have you given up yours [your weapons]? Eh?"… "Of course, I have, Yakov Yefimovich. You mustn't think…. I'm being open and honest with you" (4a).

Д-416 • СТОЯ́ТЬ ⟨ТОРЧА́ТЬ highly coll, СИДЕ́ТЬ rare⟩ НАД ДУШО́Й (чьей, у кого) coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to weary s.o. with one's presence, exasperate s.o. with one's importunity: Х стоит над душой у Y-а ≃ X is ⟨Y has X⟩ breathing down Y's neck; X is pestering Y; X is looking over Y's shoulder; || Neg Imper не стой над душой ≃ get off my back.

«Восемь посылок с английской литературой. Помогите просмотреть и разобраться!» — «Одни не можете?» — «Одни не можем!» — «Вот как?!» — А так: у нас над душой стоит Василий Никандрович и требует. А мы — одни не можем» (Залыгин 1). "Eight parcels of English books. Come and help us go through them and sort them out!" "Can't you cope by yourselves?" "No." "Really?" "Really. We've got Vasily Nikandrovich breathing down our necks and insisting, and we can't do it on our own" (1a).

Д-417 • БЕРЕДИ́ТЬ/РАЗБЕРЕДИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ (кому) [VP; subj: human or abstr] to evoke painful memories (in s.o.): Х бередит душу Y-у ≃ X stirs (up) old feelings (in Y); thing X torments Y's soul.

…Его не манит сюда приехать, посмотреть, как живут свои и не свои, походить по старым, с детства знакомым местам и разберед́ить этим душу… (Распутин 1). Nothing would induce him to come back and see how his kinsmen and friends were getting on and to stir old feelings by roaming through scenes connected with his childhood (1a).

Д-418 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ЗАБИРА́ТЬ/ЗАБРА́ТЬ, ХВАТА́ТЬ⟩ ЗА́ ДУШУ ⟨ЗА́ СЕРДЦЕ⟩ [VP; subj: usu. abstr] (usu. of a song, melancholy music, poetry etc) to move, affect, trouble s.o. deeply, cause s.o. to feel deep emotion: X берёт за душу ≃ X touches ⟨grips, clutches at⟩ the ⟨person Y's⟩ heart; X goes straight ⟨right⟩ to the ⟨person Y's⟩ heart; [lim.] X tugs ⟨pulls⟩ at person Y's heartstrings.

«Играй». — «А что бы ты хотел?» — «Это тебе лучше знать, Эрлеке. Мастер сам знает, что ему сподручней. Конечно, старинные вещи — они как бы роднее. Не знаю отчего, за душу берут, думы навевают» (Айтматов 2). "Do play some more." "And what would you like?" "You know best, Erleke. The artist himself knows what he has to play. Of course, I prefer the old things, they're dearer to me. I don't know why, but they touch the heart and feed one's thoughts" (2a). ♦ Что в ней, в этой песне? Что зовёт, и рыдает, и хватает за сердце? (Гоголь 3). What is there in it, in that song? What is there in it that calls, and sobs, and grips my heart? (3c). What is there in that song? What is it that calls, and sobs, and clutches at my heart? (3a).

Д-419 • В ОДНУ́ ДУ́ШУ твердить, повторять что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to repeat) the same thing many times, (to say sth.) repeatedly, persistently: (repeat sth. etc) over and over (again); (keep saying etc) one and the same thing; [in refer. to nagging, making persistent demands of s.o. etc] keep at s.o. (to do sth.).

«Стрельба идёт тёмная, всё живое похоронилось, а он [Григорий] в одну душу: „Найди её [Аксинью], иначе в гроб вгоню!"» (Шолохов 4). "Here they are blazing away at us, every living thing's taken cover, but he [Grigory] keeps at me, 'Find her [Aksinya] or I'll send you to your grave!'" (4a).

Д-420 • ВКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ ⟨ВЛАГА́ТЬ obs⟩/ВЛОЖИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ во что [VP; subj: human] to apply all one's energy, efforts, abilities to sth., do sth. with great dedication: X вкладывает душу в Y ≃ X puts (his) heart and soul into Y; X puts his (whole) heart ⟨soul⟩ into Y; X gives himself wholly ⟨entirely⟩ to Y.

…Мне в этот же приезд предстояло уговориться обо всём с М.В. Матюшиным и Е.Г. Гуро, вкладывавшими, по словам Давида, душу в издание сборника (Лившиц 1). On this particular visit I was to arrange everything with M.V. Matiushin and E.G. Guro who, in David's words, had put their heart and soul into the publication of the miscellany (1a).

Д-421 • ВЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ВЛЕЗТЬ ⟨ЛЕЗТЬ, ЗАЛЕ́ЗАТЬ/ЗАЛЕ́ЗТЬ⟩ В ДУ́ШУ чью, кого, (к) кому [VP; subj: human] 1. coll to understand the inner world of another person, anticipate his thoughts, moods, feelings: X влез Y-у в душу ≃ X got inside Y's soul; X got inside ⟨into⟩ Y's head.

2. coll, usu. disapprov to inquire in very close detail about s.o.'s personal life, interfere in s.o.'s private affairs: X лезет к Y-у в душу ≃ X pries into Y's feelings; X pries into Y's (very) soul.

«Зачем он всё это мне рассказывает? — закипала в Андрее лютая и необъяснимая для него самого злость. — Что ему надо от меня? Какие такие у него права есть влезать ко мне в душу?» (Максимов 3). A fierce anger, which he couldn't have explained to himself, took hold of Andrei. "Why is he telling me all this? What does he want from me? What right has he got to come prying into my feelings?" (3a). ♦ [Сангвиник:] Послушайте, батенька, а как вы сюда попали? [Холерик:] Не ваше дело! Я к вам в душу не лезу! (Аксёнов 11). [S.:] Listen, old buddy, how did you get here? [Ch.:] None of your business! I don't go prying into your soul (11a).

3. coll to (try to) win s.o.'s confidence by any means, (try to) obtain s.o.'s favor (usu. out of selfish or mercenary motives): X влез к Y-у в душу ≃ X wormed ⟨weaseled, wheedled⟩ his way into Y's confidence; X wormed himself into Y's confidence; X gained Y's confidence.

[Мурзавецкая:] Я тебе свезу сегодня к Купавиной: подружись с ней, да в душу-то к ней влезь: она женщина не хитрая; а тебя учить нечего (Островский 5). [M.:] I'm going to take you with me to-day to Madam Kupavin's. Make friends with her; gain her confidence. She is not a clever woman,—but I needn't instruct you (5a).

4. substand to become the object of s.o.'s affection, love, respect etc, become very dear to s.o.: X влез Y-у в душу ≃ X won Y's heart; X won Y over; [lim.] Y fell for X.

Д-422 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В ДУ́ШУ чью ⟨В СЕ́РДЦЕ чьё⟩, кого, кому [VP] 1. [subj: human] to become the object of s.o.'s affection, love, respect etc, become very dear to s.o.: X вошёл в Y-ову душу ≃ X won ⟨stole⟩ Y's heart; X won Y over.

Работящая Наталья вошла свёкрам в душу (Шолохов 2). The diligent Natalya soon won the hearts of her father- and mother-in-law (2a).

2. [subj: abstr] to worry s.o., affect s.o. deeply: X вошёл в душу Y-а ≃ Y took X to heart; Y responded to X with Y's whole heart; X struck a chord in Y's heart.

Д-423 • ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬ ДУ́ШУ чью, кого, кому; ДУ́ШУ ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАЕТ coll [VP; subj: human or abstr (1st var.); impers (2nd var.)] to have a strong emotional effect on s.o., cause s.o. to feel great pain, anguish: X Y-у душу выворачивает ≃ X tears Y up inside; X breaks ⟨wrenches⟩ Y's heart; X shakes Y up (inside); thing X is heartrending.

[Варя:] …Этот, Марк Александрович, как он на пианино играет. Просто душу выворачивает… (Розов 3). [V.:] …That Mark Alexandrovich, how he plays the piano. He just breaks your heart… (3a).

Д-424 • ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬ ДУ́ШУ (НАИЗНА́НКУ) перед кем coll [VP; subj: human] to tell s.o. all one's innermost thoughts, private feelings, concerns etc: X вывернул душу перед Y-ом ≃ X bared his soul ⟨heart⟩ to ⟨before⟩ Y; X laid bare his soul ⟨heart⟩ before ⟨to⟩ Y.

Д-425 • ВЫКЛА́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́ЛОЖИТЬ ДУ́ШУ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to share one's thoughts, feelings openly with s.o.: X выложил Y-у душу ≃ X opened his heart ⟨his soul⟩ to Y; X poured out his soul ⟨his heart⟩ to Y; X opened up to Y.

Д-426 • ВЫМА́ТЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́МОТАТЬ (ВСЮ) ДУ́ШУ (кому, из кого); ВЫТЯ́ГИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ТЯНУТЬ (ВСЮ) ДУ́ШУ (из кого) coll [VP; subj: usu. human, occas. abstr] to vex, torment, or pester s.o. to the point where he is exhausted (physically or mentally): X из Y-а (всю) душу вымотал ≃ X wore Y out.

(На платформе звонок.) [Домна Пантелевна:] Ай! Поехали. [Великатов:] Успокойтесь, Домна Пантелевна, без вас не уедут… [Домна Пантелевна:] Напугали до смерти. Они этими звонками проклятыми всю душу вымотают (Островский 11). (Bell heard from platform.) [D.P.:] Aie! Aie! They've gone!… [V.:] Don't worry, Domna Panteleyevna, they won't go without you….

[D.P.:] I was frightened to death! They've worn me out with their accursed bells! (11a).

Д-427 • ВЫНИМА́ТЬ/ВЫ́НУТЬ ДУ́ШУ (из кого) [VP; subj: human] 1. highly coll to torment s.o. to the point of exhaustion with threats, reprimands etc: X из Y-а душу вынет ≃ X will put Y through the wringer; [lim.] X will rake Y over the coals.

Лейтенант нервничал. Он только утром вернулся из области, где подполковник Лужин всю ночь вынимал из него душу… выспрашивая все подробности и детали того случая… (Войнович 4). The lieutenant was nervous. That very morning he had returned from the district, where Lieutenant Colonel Luzhin had raked him over the coals all night… questioning him about all the details and particulars of the incident… (4a).

2. substand to kill s.o. by beating or torturing him: X вынет душу из Y-а ≃ X will beat ⟨torture⟩ Y to death.

Д-428 • ВЫ́ТРЯСТИ ДУ́ШУ из кого [VP] 1. [usu. impers] s.o. is exhausted from a ride on a bad, bumpy road or in an uncomfortable vehicle: из X-а душу вытрясло ≃ X had his insides shaken (up); it shook (up) X's innards.

2. [subj: human] to harrass s.o., torment s.o. with threats, demands etc: X из Y-а душу вытрясет ≃ X will hound Y (with threats etc); [used as a threat] X will shake the life ⟨the stuffing, the hell⟩ out of Y.

Попался бы он [Писатель] мне сейчас на глаза, я из него душу бы вытряс (Войнович 5). If he [the Writer] had appeared in front of me at that moment, I'd have shaken the life out of him (5a).

Д-429 • ЗА МИ́ЛУЮ ДУ́ШУ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (to do sth.) very willingly, with great enthusiasm, delight: (be) more than happy (to do sth.); (be) only too glad ⟨happy⟩ (to do sth.); with great pleasure; happily; gladly; [lim.] to one's heart's content; || съесть ⟨сожрать substand⟩ что ~ ≃ relish ⟨savor⟩ every bite (of sth.); || повеселиться ~ ≃ have the time of one's life.

«А ведь она [Нинка]… и правда понесла бы их [бутылки с водкой] сдавать… А там за милу[ю] душу приняли бы за те же двенадцать копеек» (Распутин 3). "She [Ninka] really would have done it too. She'd have taken them [the bottles full of vodka] back…. And they'd have been only too glad to give her twelve kopecks for them, same as for the empties" (3a). ♦ Тогда вой усилился, словно воющий решил во время перерыва повыть за милую душу (Аксёнов 6). Then the wailing grew louder, as though the wailer had decided that during the lunch break he would wail to his heart's content (6a).

2. [usu. used with pfv verbs] (to do sth.) without deliberating, immediately, with no qualms: without thinking twice; without a moment's hesitation; just like that; (right) then and there; [lim.] in a snap.

Не ввязывайся в драку с Петром — может прихлопнуть за милую душу. Don't get in a fight with Pyotr, he could kill you just like that.

3. [used with pfv verbs] certainly, unquestionably, without any doubt: for (darn) sure; sure as anything; (there's ⟨there are⟩) no two ways about it.

Д-430 • ЗАГЛЯ́ДЫВАТЬ/ЗАГЛЯНУ́ТЬ В ДУ́ШУ чью ⟨В СЕ́РДЦЕ чьё⟩, кого, кому [VP; subj: human; often pfv infin with пытаться] (to attempt) to understand s.o.'s innermost thoughts, feelings: X пытался заглянуть Y-у в душу ≃ X tried to peer ⟨look⟩ into (the depths of) Y's soul; X tried to peer ⟨look⟩ into the hidden places of Y's heart; X tried to peer ⟨look⟩ into the depths of Y's being; || загляни себе в душу ≃ look into your own soul; search your heart.

«Нет, я положу конец этому, — сказал он, — я загляну ей в душу, как прежде, и завтра — или буду счастлив, или уеду!» (Гончаров 1). "No, I shall put an end to this," he said. "I will look into her soul as I used to, and tomorrow—I shall either be happy or go away!" (1b).

Д-431 • ЗАКРА́ДЫВАТЬСЯ/ЗАКРА́СТЬСЯ В ДУ́ШУ чью ⟨В СЕ́РДЦЕ чьё⟩, кого, (к) кому [VP; subj: abstr] (of feelings, thoughts etc) to arise involuntarily, either spontaneously or in a gradual, almost imperceptible manner: X закрался в Y-ову душу ≃ [of doubt, suspicion] X crept ⟨stole⟩ into Y's soul ⟨mind⟩; X (a)rose in Y ⟨in Y's mind⟩; [of sadness, grief etc] X came over Y; [of love] X stirred in Y's heart.

Вдруг что-то шумно упало в воду: я хвать за пояс — пистолета нет. О, тут ужасное подозрение закралось мне в душу… (Лермонтов 1). Suddenly, something fell into the water, with a noisy splash; my hand flew to my belt—my pistol was gone. Ah, what a terrible suspicion stole into my soul! (1a). ♦ Лукашин осматривается, не зная, что делать дальше, как вдруг сомнение закрадывается в его душу (Брагинский и Рязанов 1). Lukashin looks round not knowing what to do and suddenly a doubt rises in his mind (1a).

Д-432 • ЗАПАДА́ТЬ/ЗАПА́СТЬ В ДУ́ШУ ⟨В ГО́ЛОВУ, В ПА́МЯТЬ⟩ (чью, кому), ⟨В У́М (чей)⟩ [VP; subj: abstr (usu. слова, мысль, образ etc)] having produced a strong impression on s.o., to be remembered by him for a very long time: X запал Y-у в душу ≃ X was engraved (up)on Y's heart; X was etched in Y's memory; X remained (fresh) in Y's memory; X became unforgettable.

«Он не мог не видеть, какое глубочайшее впечатление произвели на людей проникновенные, западающие в душу слова нашего любимого вождя» (Войнович 4). "He could not help but see what a profound impression the heartfelt, unforgettable words of our beloved leader made on these people" (4a).

Д-433 • ИЗЛИВА́ТЬ/ИЗЛИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ (кому, перед кем) [VP; subj: human; often pfv infin with хочется, нужно etc] to reveal candidly to s.o. one's anxieties, worries, innermost feelings: X изливал душу (Y-у) ≃ X poured out his soul ⟨heart⟩ (to Y); X bared his soul ⟨heart⟩ to ⟨before⟩ Y; X unburdened his heart (to Y).

Захмелевший Мальчик… рвался кому-нибудь излить душу (Зиновьев 1). The Boy, who was rather tipsy by this time… tried to find someone to pour out his soul to (1a). ♦ Так оно бывает зачастую — смерть отца явилась для неё поводом выплакаться, излить принародно душу, всё то, что давно не находило открытого выхода в слове (Айтматов 2). As so often happens, the death of her father opened the floodgates, giving her a reason to bare her soul before everyone—to say all the things which had long been bottled up inside her, unexpressed in words (2a).

Д-434 • КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ [VP; subj: human] 1. за кого-что to sacrifice one's life (in order to save, protect s.o. or sth.): X душу положит за Y-а ≃ X will give up ⟨lay down⟩ his life for Y.

2. ~ на что to put much effort, all one's energy into sth., devote o.s. completely to sth.: X положил душу на Y ≃ X put his heart and soul into Y; X put his whole being into Y; X gave himself completely ⟨entirely⟩ to Y; X gave Y ⟨it⟩ his all ⟨all he had⟩.

Д-435 • НАДРЫВА́ТЬ/НАДОРВА́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ (чью) ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ (чьё)⟩, (кого, кому) [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu impfv] to arouse anguish, pain in s.o., make s.o. extremely depressed: X надрывает Y-у душу ≃ X makes Y's heart ache; X torments Y; X breaks ⟨thing X wrings⟩ Y's heart.

Д-436 • ОБЛЕГЧА́ТЬ/ОБЛЕГЧИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv infin with хочется, не терпится кому etc or pfv Verbal Adv облегчив душу] to rid o.s. of one's worries, concerns, of things that weigh heavily on one's soul, esp. by talking about them: X облегчил душу ≃ X eased ⟨relieved⟩ his mind; X unburdened ⟨relieved⟩ his soul; X put ⟨set⟩ his mind at rest ⟨at ease⟩; X got it off his chest; X took a load off his mind.

«Вы напрасно взяли такое сравнение…» — «Не напрасно, господа, не напрасно!» — вскипел опять Митя, хотя и, видимо облегчив душу выходкой внезапного гнева, начал уже опять добреть с каждым словом (Достоевский 1). "You shouldn't make such comparisons…." "Why shouldn't I, gentlemen, why shouldn't I!" Mitya boiled up again, though he had apparently unburdened his soul with this outburst of sudden anger and was growing kinder again with every word (1a). ♦ Ей [Наташе] не терпелось облегчить душу и рассказать… всё то, что мне без её признаний было отлично известно… (Терц 2). She [Natasha] just couldn't wait to put her mind at rest and tell me what I knew perfectly well without her owning up to it… (2a).

Д-437 • ОТВОДИ́ТЬ/ОТВЕСТИ́ ДУ́ШУ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ obs⟩ (с кем, на ком) coll [VP; subj: human] 1. (с кем, в чём) to relieve o.s. of emotional stress, find a sense of calm, soothe o.s. by having a frank conversation with s.o. or doing sth. relaxing: X отвёл душу (с Y-ом ⟨в Z-е⟩) ≃ X unburdened himself ⟨his heart, his soul⟩ (to Y); X eased his mind (by talking to Y ⟨doing Z⟩); X relieved tension (by doing Z); X calmed himself (by talking to Y ⟨doing Z⟩); [lim.] X got it off his chest; X blew off steam.

Мне захотелось отвести с ним душу, и я, взяв его под руку, отделил от компании (Искандер 4). I had an urge to unburden my heart to him. Taking him by the arm, I drew him apart from the company (4a).

2. (на ком-чём) to relieve o.s. of intense anger, frustration etc by directing it at some innocent person or thing: || X отвёл душу (на Y-е) ≃ X vented ⟨let out⟩ his feelings ⟨frustration etc⟩ on Y; X took it out on Y.

…Полицейские отводили душу на жёнах забастовщиков, которые пытались пробраться к воротам… (Эренбург 4). The gendarmes vented their feelings on the wives of the strikers who tried to get through to the gates… (4a). ♦ Снова в директоре взыграла жёлчь. Старший сын Роман год тому назад ушёл из семьи. Отец отводил душу на младших (Олеша 2). The father's bile rose. Roman, his eldest son, had left home a year earlier. The father was taking it out on his younger sons (2a).

Д-438 • ОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ОТКРЫ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ кому; РАСКРЫВА́ТЬ/РАСКРЫ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ кому, перед кем; РАСПА́ХИВАТЬ/РАСПАХНУ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ перед кем [VP; subj: human] to tell s.o. openly one's intimate feelings, worries etc: X открыл Y-у душу ≃ X opened his heart ⟨his soul⟩ to Y; X opened up to Y; [lim.] X unburdened his soul ⟨his heart, himself⟩ to Y.

«Хотите ли, доктор, — отвечал я ему, — чтоб я раскрыл вам мою душу?» (Лермонтов 1). "Do you want me to open my heart to you, Doctor?" I said (1c).

Д-439 • ОТПУСТИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ НА ПОКАЯ́НИЕ [VP; subj: human; usu. imper; fixed WO] 1. obs to have mercy on s.o., not kill or harm s.o.: отпустите душу на покаяние ≃ spare me; spare my life; let me go ⟨be⟩.

[Голос Земляники:] Отпустите, господа, хоть душу на покаяние, совсем прижали (Гоголь 4). [Z.'s Voice:] Don't crush me, gentlemen, for goodness' sake! Let me go (4c). ♦ Несколько разбойников вытащили на крыльцо Василису Егоровну, растрёпанную и раздетую донага… «Батюшки мои! — кричала бедная старушка. — Отпустите душу на покаяние» (Пушкин 2). Several brigands had just dragged Vasilisa Egorovna, disheveled and stripped naked, out on the porch…. "Please, my dear fellows," shouted the poor old woman, "let me be" (2a).

2. coll, usu. humor to stop annoying s.o., leave s.o. alone: отпусти душу на покаяние ≃ leave me in peace; let me be.

Отпусти душу на покаяние! Я на все твои вопросы уже десять раз ответил. Let me be! I've already answered all your questions ten times over.

Д-440 • ПЕРЕВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕВЁРТЫВАТЬ obs⟩/ ПЕРЕВЕРНУ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕВОРОТИ́ТЬ⟩ (ВСЮ) ДУ́ШУ чью, кого, кому [VP; subj: human or abstr] to disturb s.o. deeply, affect s.o. very strongly: X перевернул Y-ову душу ≃ X shook Y (up); [lim.] X almost broke Y's heart.

Д-441 • ПЛЕВА́ТЬ/НАПЛЕВА́ТЬ ⟨ПЛЮ́НУТЬ⟩ В ДУ́ШУ кому coll [VP; subj: human] to insult what is most dear, sacred to s.o.: X наплевал Y-у в душу ≃ X trampled on Y's feelings; X stomped all over Y's feelings.

[Дор:] А если кого и полюбишь, то его-то и бойся всех более. [Анна:] Да? [Дор:] За твою ласку он тебя не пожалеет. Наплюёт в душу и посмеётся (Арбузов 1). [D.:] And if you should fall in love, fear him more than anyone else. [A.:] Really? [D.:] He won't spare you because you're fond of him. He'll trample on your feelings and laugh (1a).

Д-442 • ПО чью ДУ́ШУ (прийти, явиться и т.п.) coll [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv or predic (subj: human)] (to come in order to summon, see etc) a certain person (as specified by the modifier): X пришёл по Y-ову душу ≃ X has come for ⟨after⟩ Y; X has come to get Y; Y is the one X wants ⟨needs, has come for⟩; [lim.] X has tracked Y down; X is after Y's skin ⟨hide, head⟩; X is out to get Y; X is out for Y's blood.

«А мы по вашу душу, хлопцы!» (Аксёнов 6). "We've tracked you down, boys!" (6a). ♦ Если они [конница] свищут в пяти верстах, то спрашивается, на что надеется гетман? Ведь по его душу свищут!.. Может быть, немцы за него заступятся? (Булгаков 3). If the cavalry is only three miles out of town, people asked, what hope can there be for the Hetman? And it's his blood they're out for…. Perhaps the Germans will back him up? (3a).

Д-443 • ТРАВИ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ⟩ кому coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; often infin (with зачем, незачем, ни к чему, не хочется etc) or neg imper] to cause s.o. emotional pain, often by saying sth. that upsets, distresses etc him: не трави Y-у душу ≃ don't torment Y; don't make Y ⟨Y's life⟩ (more) miserable; [lim.] don't rub salt into the wound ⟨into Y's wounds⟩.

Эти детские воспоминания… травили [Саше] душу: для чего воспитывал волю, для чего ковал характер? (Рыбаков 2). These memories of his childhood tormented him [Sasha] now: Why had he cultivated such willpower, why had he toughened his character? (2a).

Д-444 • ТЯНУ́ТЬ ЗА́ ДУШУ (кого) coll [VP] 1. Also: ТЯНУ́ТЬ ДУ́ШУ (из кого, кому) coll [subj: human] to vex, exasperate s.o. to an extreme degree (by one's annoying actions, pestering, deliberate slowness in recounting or relating sth. etc): X тянет из Y-а душу ≃ X torments ⟨tortures, harrows⟩ Y; X makes Y ⟨Y's life⟩ miserable; X puts Y through torture; [in refer. to persistent annoying actions] X pesters ⟨bugs⟩ Y; [in refer. to causing s.o. anxiety by being slow or reluctant to tell him sth.] X keeps Y hanging; X has Y on pins and needles; X is keeping Y on tenterhooks.

Ну что ты своими расспросами из меня душу тянешь? Why do you have to keep bugging me with your questions? ♦ «Понимаешь, какая штука, Лашков… Как бы это тебе…» — «Не тяни душу, Александр Петрович!» — «В общем, заходил тут ко мне один, интересовался: кто, мол, да что, мол, ты такое…» (Максимов 3). "Well, it's like this, Lashkov, see… how can I put it?" "Don't keep me on tenterhooks, Alexander Petrovich." "Well, then, a man called on me, wanted to know about you, who you were, what you were like…" (3a).

2. [subj: a noun denoting emotionally disturbing sounds, or a person or instrument producing such sounds] to cause s.o. emotional anguish, make him feel alarmed: X тянет Y-а за душу ≃ X ⟨person X's singing, person X's violin playing etc⟩ is heartrending ⟨tugs at Y's heartstrings, pulls at Y's heartstrings⟩.

Д-445 • НА ДЫБЫ́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. стать, встать, подняться, поднять коня и т.п. [adv] (used in refer. to an animal, often a horse) (to rise up, go up, make a horse go up etc) on one's or its back legs, with the forelegs lifted up and the body in a vertical position: X встал на дыбы ≃ X stood (up) on its hind legs; [of horses only] X reared (up); ‖ Y поднял коня ~ ≃ person Y reared his horse.

Помню только: рейс наш сопровождался тем, что вдоль дороги все собаки вставали на дыбы (Олеша 4). Still I do remember one thing, but only that: all the dogs stood up on their hind legs as we roared past them (4a).

2. стать, встать, подняться и т.п. ~ [adv] (of an object that is supposed to be positioned along a horizontal plane, as a wagon, car, or raft) (to end up etc) in a vertical position with one end at the bottom and the other at the top: X встал на дыбы ≃ X got upended; X ended up tipped straight up in the air; X got tipped up on its end.

3. Also: СТАНОВИ́ТЬСЯ/СТАТЬ ⟨ВСТАВА́ТЬ/ВСТАТЬ и т.п.⟩ НА ДЫБЫ́ [subj-compl with copula or VP; subj: human, collect, or, rare, abstr] to protest sharply: X встал на дыбы ≃ [of a person or group] X put up a fight; X was ⟨got⟩ up in arms; X bristled; X kicked up a fuss; [of s.o.'s pride, protective instincts etc] X reared up.

Значит, сбросили немцы листовки, где упоминали Гамсуна, одна такая листовка попалась Гале, и она показала её Нине: смотри, мол, каков твой Гамсун… Нина, конечно, на дыбы: не может этого быть… (Рыбаков 1). So, the Germans had dropped these leaflets, which mentioned Hamsun, Galya got hold of one of them and showed it to Nina, as if to say, look at this Hamsun of yours! Nina, of course, bristled, it couldn't be true (1a). ♦ «Фу ты, чёрт! как красиво и как глупо! Экую мы комедию отломали! Учёные собаки так на задних лапах танцуют. А отказать было невозможно; ведь он меня, чего доброго, ударил бы, и тогда… (Базаров побледнел при одной этой мысли; вся его гордость так и поднялась на дыбы.) Тогда пришлось бы задушить его, как котёнка» (Тургенев 2). "Damn it all! So elegant and so stupid! What a farce we've just acted! That's how trained dogs dance on their hind legs. But it was impossible to refuse; he'd have thrashed me, and then… [Bazarov grew pale at the very thought of it, all his pride suddenly rearing up.] Then I'd have had to strangle him like a little kitten" (2g).

Д-446 • В ДЫМ highly coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ пьян(ый), напиться и т.п. Also: В ДЫМИ́НУ; В ДРЕЗИ́НУ; В ДРАБАДА́Н all substand [adv or modif (intensif)] (to be, get) extremely drunk: stinking ⟨blind, dead⟩ drunk; drunk ⟨stoned⟩ out of one's mind; drunk as a skunk; pie-eyed; pickled; drunk as a lord.

«Давно мы с тобой не пили, Лёха, — удовлетворённо похохатывал гость, — вернусь, напьёмся — нальёмся в драбадан». — «В доску!» — «В лоск!» (Максимов 1). "You and I haven't had a drink for ages, Lyonya," the visitor chuckled contentedly. "When I get back we'll get stuck in—we'll get drunk as lords!" "Completely plastered!" "Out of our skulls!" (1a).

2. [adv (intensif); used with pfv verbs] ~ поругаться, разругаться (с кем) и т.п. (to have quarreled with s.o.) viciously: X и Y поругались в дым ≃ X and Y had a terrible quarrel ⟨run-in⟩; [lim.] X and Y made the fur ⟨the feathers⟩ fly.

Д-447 • ДЫМ (СТОИ́Т ⟨ИДЁТ/ПОШЁЛ⟩) КОРОМЫ́СЛОМ ⟨СТОЛБО́М⟩ (где) coll [VP_{subj} (variants with verbs) or VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$; коромыслом is always in the final position] there is great activity, noise, disorder etc (in some place): дым стоял коромыслом ≃ all hell broke ⟨was let⟩ loose; there was a fearful commotion; there was bedlam ⟨utter chaos⟩; things were ⟨went⟩ wild.

Росшепер занимал три палаты. В первой недавно жрали… В смежной палате дым стоял коромыслом. На гигантской Росшеперовой кровати брыкались полураздетые нездешние девчонки (Стругацкие 1). Rosheper had a three-room suite. The first one contained the remains of a recent feast…. In the adjoining room all hell had broken loose. Half-naked girls, imported from the capital, were kicking their legs on Rosheper's enormous bed (1a). ♦ Представляете картину? Кухня. Дым коромыслом (Терц 5). Can you imagine the scene? A fearful commotion in the kitchen (5a).

Д-448 • НЕТ ДЫ́МА ⟨-у⟩ БЕЗ ОГНЯ́; ДЫ́МА БЕЗ ОГНЯ́ НЕ БЫВА́ЕТ [saying] there is always a reason why people begin to talk about s.o. or sth. (usu. said when it is believed that rumors, gossip etc have some basis): ≃ there is no smoke without fire; where there's smoke, there's fire.

Со злости он [Передонов] лгал на княгиню несообразные вещи. Рассказывал Рутилову да Володину, что был прежде её любовником… [Рутилов] думал, что без огня дыма не бывает: что-то, думал он, было между Передоновым и княгинею (Сологуб 1). In his anger Peredonov made up absurd stories about the Princess. He told Rutilov and Volodin too that he had formerly been her lover…. [Rutilov] thought that there is no smoke without fire and that there had been something between Peredonov and the Princess (1a).

Д-449 • ДО ДЫР зачитанный, зачитывать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv] (some book, journal etc has been read) so much that it is falling apart, the ink is smeared etc: (sth. is read) to tatters and smudges; (sth. is read) till it's frayed and dog-eared.

Все ничтожнейшие брошюры, выходившие в Берлине… где только упоминалось о Гегеле, выписывались, зачитывались до дыр… (Герцен 2). Every insignificant pamphlet published in Berlin… was ordered and read to tatters and smudges… if only there was a mention of Hegel in it (2a).

Д-450 • ДЫ́РКА ОТ БУ́БЛИКА coll, iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] (to get, be left with etc) absolutely nothing: a whole lot of nothing; big (fat) zero ⟨nothing⟩; [when contrasting s.o. who gets nothing with a person who gets a lot] one person gets ⟨some (people) get⟩ the doughnut, another gets ⟨others get⟩ the hole.

Д-451 • КАК ДЫ́РКА В ГОЛОВЕ́ ⟨В ГО́ЛОВУ⟩ нужен, нужно highly coll [как + NP; these forms only; adv (neg in-

Д-452 • ЛЕЗТЬ ВО ВСЕ ДЫ́РКИ highly coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to interfere or try to participate in too many things, showing excessive curiosity, being obtrusive, getting involved where one is not invited (and thus annoying others): X лезет во все дырки ≃ X butts into everything; X sticks ⟨pokes⟩ his nose into everything; X meddles ⟨has a hand⟩ in everything; [lim.] X is everywhere.

Приехали тесть с тёщей. Лезут во все дырки, учат меня жить, настраивают жену против меня — настоящий ад! My in-laws have come to visit. They butt into everything, tell me how to live, and try to turn my wife against me. It's sheer hell!

Д-453 • КАК В ЧЁРНУЮ ДЫРУ́ (уходить, исчезать, пропадать) recent [как + PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr)] (usu. of funds, energy, letters etc) (to disappear) completely, without a trace: (disappear) into a black hole ⟨as if in a black hole, as if falling into a black hole⟩; (be swallowed up by) a black hole.

Д-454 • ЗАТЫКА́ТЬ/ЗАТКНУ́ТЬ ДЫ́РЫ ⟨ДЫРУ́, ПРОРЕ́ХИ, ПРОРЕ́ХУ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to use s.o. or sth. to compensate immediately and temporarily for a deficiency in some area: X заткнул дыры ≃ X used Y to fill in the gaps; [lim.] X used person Y as a fill-in ⟨a stand-in⟩; X used thing Y to tide X over (for a little while); X used thing Y as a stopgap (measure).

Начальство постоянно затыкает Корнейчуком дыры, давая ему задания, за которые никто не хочет браться. The administration is always using Korneichuk to fill in the gaps, giving him assignments no one else wants to handle.

Д-455 • ЗАТАЙ́В ДЫХА́НИЕ [Verbal Adv; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. ждать, следить за кем-чем и т.п. ~ (to wait, watch etc s.o. or sth.) anxiously, worriedly, intently (often when one is in danger, is afraid of frightening s.o. or sth. away, is awaiting s.o.'s reaction to an important question etc): holding one's breath; with bated breath; scarcely ⟨hardly⟩ daring to breathe.

…Рогатая мать-олениха всё смотрела и смотрела на мальчика. Затаив дыхание, мальчик вышел из-за камня… (Айтматов 1). …She [the Horned Mother Deer] still looked and looked at the boy. Holding his breath, the boy came out from behind the rock… (1a).

2. слушать кого-что, следить за кем-чем и т.п. ~ (to listen to, watch s.o. or sth.) very attentively, with great interest: with bated breath; with rapt attention; [lim.] rapt.

Сцену смерту Клеопатры и финальные сцены все слушают, затаив дыхание… (Гладков 1). We all listened with bated breath to the part about Cleopatra's death and the closing scenes (1a).

Д-456 • ДО ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕГО ДЫХА́НИЯ ⟨ИЗДЫХА́НИЯ obs, ВЗДО́ХА⟩ lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. to the end of one's life, all one's life: till ⟨to⟩ one's dying day; till ⟨to⟩ the end of one's days.

«Я до последнего дыхания её [Россию] любить буду» (Гроссман 2). "I'll love Russia till my dying day" (2a).

2. биться, сражаться, защищать кого-что и т.п. ~ (to fight, defend s.o. or sth.) to the point of sacrificing one's life: (right up) to one's dying ⟨last⟩ breath; to the ⟨one's⟩ death; to the bitter end.

«Долг наш защищать крепость до последнего нашего издыхания; об этом и говорить нечего. Но надобно подумать о безопасности женщин» (Пушкин 2). "…It is our duty to defend the fort to our last breath; that goes without saying. But we must think of the safety of the women" (2a).

Д-457 • НЕ ПЕРЕВОДЯ́ ДЫХА́НИЯ ⟨ДУ́ХА obs, ДУ́ХУ obs⟩ [Verbal Adv; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. ~ выпить, осушить что и т.п. (to drink sth. etc) all at once, without stopping: without pausing for breath; without taking a breath; in one go; [lim.] in one ⟨a single⟩ gulp; in one swallow ⟨motion⟩.

Изверг этот взял стакан, налил его до невозможной полноты и вылил его себе внутрь, не переводя дыхания… (Герцен 1). The monster took a tumbler, filled it incredibly full and drank it down without taking [a] breath… (1a).

2. работать, трудиться и т.п. ~ (to work etc) without stopping or pausing to rest: nonstop; without a break.

Д-458 • Е́ЛЕ ⟨ЕДВА́, ЧУТЬ⟩ ДЫША́ТЬ coll [VP; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human] to be very weak, decrepit, or incurably ill: X еле дышит ≃ X is on his last legs; X is on his way out; X is declining ⟨failing, sinking fast⟩.

Мне нужна новый принтер, мой еле дышит. I need a new printer—mine is on its last legs.

Д-459 • ЧЕМ ДЫ́ШИТ coll [VP; subj: human; pres only; fixed WO] what interests, plans etc motivate one's actions and behavior: …чем X дышит ≃ …what X lives by; …what makes X tick; [lim.] …what X lives for.

…Он для того, казалось, и начал этот разговор, чтобы слышать, что имеет ответить сын, что нажил он за последние, не связанные с домом годы самостоятельной жизни, чем дышит и какими правилами руководится (Распутин 4). He had brought up the subject to hear what his son would say, what he had become in the last years of independent life away from home, what he lived by and what principles guided him (4a). ♦ «Да вот товарищ Борщёв, — сказал он [Молоков] с легким сарказмом, — предлагает мне вместе с ним отстраниться от активной деятельности, уйти во внутреннюю эмиграцию». Но Борщёв был тоже парень не промах. «Дурак ты! — сказал он, поднимаясь и расправляя грудь. — Я тебя только пощупать хотел, чем ты дышишь» (Войнович 5). "Comrade Borshchev here," he [Molokov] said with a touch of sarcasm, "was just suggesting that he and I abandon our political activities and join the inner emigration." But you couldn't put anything over on Borshchev either. "You fool!" he said, rising and smoothing his chest. "I only wanted to feel you out and see what makes you tick" (5a).

Д-460 • ЧЁРТОВА ДЮ́ЖИНА coll, usu. humor [NP; sing only; fixed WO] thirteen: baker's dozen.

< According to popular belief the number thirteen is unlucky (therefore «чёртова», "the devil's").

Часовой, увидев такого странного человека, сразу подумал: ёлки-палки, шпион (Войнович 1). Catching sight of this odd individual, the sentry immediately thought: For crying out loud, a spy (1a). ♦ «Смотрю — ёлки-палки, что время делает с нами! Разве я когда-нибудь узнал бы в этом облысевшем, как и я, человеке того молодого, как звон, красавца-лётчика в далёком сорок четвёртом году…» (Искандер 5). "I looked—balls of fire, what time does to us! How would I ever have recognized this man, now grown bald like me, as that handsome airman, young as a chime in faraway '44…" (5a).

Е-10 • МЕЛИ́, ЕМЕ́ЛЯ, ТВОЯ́ НЕДЕ́ЛЯ [saying; often used in the abbreviated form «Мели, Емеля»] (said mockingly or sarcastically) you can talk as much as you want, but nobody takes what you say seriously: ≃ keep ⟨go right on⟩ talking, (but) nobody's listening; talk all you like, but don't expect us to take you seriously; anything you say; sure, keep ⟨go right on⟩ talking; yeah, right.

< «Мели» is the imperative of «молоть», "to grind." «Емеля» is a diminutive of the male name «Емельян». Formerly, in peasant families in Russia there was a weekly alternation of certain household chores among family members. One such chore was grinding flour.

Е-11 • ЕРУНДА́ ⟨ЧЕПУХА́⟩ НА ПО́СТНОМ МА́СЛЕ coll [NP; fixed WO] (in refer. to stupid, meaningless, or insignificant talk, thoughts, actions etc) foolishness, not deserving of attention: a bunch ⟨a lot⟩ of nonsense ⟨baloney, rubbish, bull etc⟩; hogwash; crapola; stuff and nonsense; horsefeathers; (unbelievable) drivel.

Иногда она смеялась, иногда злилась, но более всего изумлялась тому, что чепуха на постном масле — все эти медиумы, планшетки, низшие духи, высшие духи, загробные голоса — дотащилась до наших дней (Трифонов 3). Sometimes they made her laugh, sometimes angry, but above all she was amazed that so much unbelievable drivel—all these mediums, planchettes, lower spirits, higher spirits, voices from beyond the grave—had actually persisted into the present day (3a).

Е-12 • Е́СЛИ БЫ ДА КАБЫ́ coll, often humor [Invar; usu. indep. remark; fixed WO] just wishing for sth. will not make it come true: ≃ if wishes were horses…

< Part of the saying «Если бы да кабы, да во рту росли грибы, то был бы не рот, а целый огород» (“If wishes were horses beggars would ride”).

Е-13 • ЕСТЬ НЕМНО́ГО coll; ЕСТЬ МАЛЕ́НЬКО highly coll [sent; these forms only; usu. this WO] (used as a gentle confirmation of an observation, a thought, s.o.’s statement, or in response to a question) that is true to a certain extent: there’s some truth to that ⟨it⟩; there’s a measure ⟨a grain⟩ of truth in that; [lim.] one ⟨you⟩ could say that; one ⟨you⟩ might say so; your ⟨his etc⟩ words have a ring of truth to them; there’s truth in what you say ⟨he says etc⟩.

Е-14 • ЕСТЬ ПРО́СИТ highly coll [VP; subj: usu. a noun denoting footwear, parts of footwear, or clothes; pres or past] s.o.’s shoes (clothes etc) are in bad condition, in need of repair: X есть просит ≃ X needs mending; X needs to be patched (up); X is worn out; X is in sad shape; X has holes in it; [of footwear only] X needs to be taken to the shoemaker.

Е-15 • …И ЕСТЬ substand [Particle] used as part of either an answer or a rejoinder to provide an affirmative response or confirm that the person, thing, action etc in question is, in reality, precisely as he or it has been described (whereas in Russian a relevant word from the preceding context is always repeated before the idiom, some English equivalents do not require such repetition): that he ⟨it etc⟩ is; …he ⟨it etc⟩ is; …is what he ⟨it etc⟩ is all right; he ⟨it etc⟩ sure is; (yup ⟨ay(e) etc⟩,) that’s him ⟨her, it etc⟩; [with verbs] that I ⟨you etc⟩ did; I ⟨he etc⟩ sure did.

«По современным нормам, она просто святая». — «Святая и есть» (Битов 2). “By modern standards she’s a saint.” “A saint she is” (2a). ♦ «Помощниками Деникина нас величают… А кто же мы? Выходит, что помощники и есть, нечего обижаться. Правда-матка глаза заколола…» (Шолохов 4). “They call us accomplices of Denikin…. And what are we? That’s just what we are. So why get huffy about it? It stings because it’s true” (4a).

Е-16 • КАК ЕСТЬ substand [intensif Particle] 1. completely and positively: absolutely; ‖ ~ ничего ≃ nothing at all; nothing whatsoever; not a damn ⟨blessed⟩ thing; ‖ всё как есть ≃ the whole deal ⟨scoop⟩; the whole kit and caboodle; ‖ один ~ ≃ completely ⟨utterly⟩ alone; all alone; [lim.] (all) alone in the world.

2. (used to emphasize that a person or thing has all the qualities characteristic of whatever he or it is being called) genuine: a real ⟨an honest-to-goodness, a true⟩ [NP]; a [NP] if ever there was one.

3. obs (used to emphasize the truth of a statement) definitely: you bet (one did ⟨will etc⟩); one sure (did ⟨will etc⟩).

Е-17 • КАКО́Й НИ (НА) ЕСТЬ coll [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] it is inconsequential what kind; any representative(s) of the group in question (often with the implication that even an inferior one or ones is or are better than nothing): any (kind ⟨sort⟩) at all; any that’s available ⟨you have handy etc⟩; some sort of; a…, it doesn’t matter what kind; [lim.] what ⟨whatever⟩ [NP] one has ⟨there is etc⟩.

«Где у вас штопор? Дайте нож — колбасу нарезать. И какие ни на есть тарелки. Рюмки? Вот они» (Аржак 2). “Where’s the corkscrew? Give me a knife to cut the sausage. And any plates you have handy. Glasses? There they are” (2a). ♦ [Кусаев] из кожи лез вон, чтоб… в лагере в какие ни на есть начальники попасть (Иоффе 1). …In camp, [Kusayev] was eager to do his utmost to become some sort of chief (1a).

Е-18 • КТО НИ (НА) ЕСТЬ coll [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] it is inconsequential who, any person or people who might be involved, regardless of who he or they might be: anyone ⟨anybody⟩ at all; absolutely anyone ⟨anybody⟩; anyone, it doesn’t matter who; anyone who is available ⟨who can etc⟩; [only when все or каждый is stated or implied] anyone and everyone; everyone and his brother ⟨uncle etc⟩.

Заприте шкаф с документацией: нельзя, чтобы кто ни на есть приходил и брал то, что ему нужно. Lock the file cabinet: we can’t have anyone and everyone coming and taking whatever they need.

Е-19 • ПОЕДО́М ЕСТЬ/СЪЕСТЬ (кого) coll [VP; usu. impfv; if pfv, usu. fut; more often this WO] 1. [subj: a noun denoting insects (комары, мошкара etc)] to bite s.o. continuously: комары ⟨мошкара и т.п.⟩ (Y-a) поедом едят ≃ mosquitoes ⟨gnats etc⟩ are eating Y alive.

2. [subj: human] to make life horrible for s.o., usu. through incessant faultfinding, reproaches etc: X Y-a поедом ест ≃ X is eating Y alive; X makes Y’s life miserable; X never lets up (on Y); X is forever ⟨always⟩ on Y’s case ⟨back⟩; [lim.] X keeps ⟨is always etc⟩ nagging at Y; all X does is ⟨knows is to⟩ nag, nag, nag; X bullies Y.

«Тёмен, ленив, поди, русский мужичок… Ты видел, как он сало солит? Набросает в бочку кусками и рад. А попробуй кто в деревне покоптить или повялить, поедом съедят…» (Максимов 3). “He’s just ignorant and idle, the Russian peasant…. Have you ever seen how he salts fat bacon? Throws lumps of it into a barrel and thinks he’s smart. Just let anybody in the village try smoking or dry-curing it: They’ll eat him alive…” (3a). ♦ «Вот, Семерик, какая у тебя была жена, а ты её всю жизнь поедом ел!» (Кузнецов 1). “Look, Semerik, what a wonderful wife you had, yet you kept nagging at her all her life!” (1b).

Е-20 • СКО́ЛЬКО НИ (НА) ЕСТЬ coll [AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] it is inconsequential how much or many, all belonging to the group or type in question (when in refer. to s.o.’s needing, desiring etc sth., often implies that even an insufficient amount is better than nothing): however much (there is ⟨you have etc⟩); however many (there are ⟨you have etc⟩); whatever (you've got ⟨is available etc⟩); as much ⟨many⟩ as (you've got etc⟩; [only when всё or все is stated or implied] every single one ⟨last one, last bit etc⟩.

«…Стоят ли, батюшка Дмитрий Фёдорович, здешние мужики такой ласки, али вот девки?.. Ему ли, нашему мужику, цигарки курить, а ты им давал. Ведь от него смердит, от разбойника. А девки все, сколько их ни есть, вшивые» (Достоевский 1). "…Are they worth such pampering, our peasants, or the girls, Dmitri Fyodorovich?… It's not for our peasant to smoke cigars—and you did give them out. They all stink, the bandits. And the girls have lice, every last one of them" (1a).

Е-21 • ТА́К (ОНО́) И Е́СТЬ coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] some assumption (conclusion, suspicion, statement etc) is entirely correct: just as I thought ⟨he said etc⟩; and so it is ⟨it was, one does etc⟩; right you are ⟨I was etc⟩; you're ⟨I was etc⟩ right; [when the idiom is used to confirm the expected existence, presence etc of s.o. or sth.] there he ⟨it etc⟩ is.

Вдруг слышу быстрые и неровные шаги… Верно, Грушницкий… Так и есть! (Лермонтов 1). Suddenly I heard quick, uneven steps…. Probably Grushnitsky… and so it was (1b). ♦ [Шаманов:] У меня такое впечатление, что ты хочешь от меня чего-то невозможного. [Кашкина:] Боюсь, что так оно и есть (Вампилов 2). [Sh.:] I have the impression you expect the impossible of me. [K.:] I'm afraid you're right (2a).

Е-22 • ЧТО НИ (НА) ЕСТЬ coll [NP; subj or obj; fixed WO] it is inconsequential what; anything, regardless of what it might be: anything at all; absolutely anything; anything, it doesn't matter what; anything that's available ⟨handy etc⟩; [only when всё is stated or implied] anything and everything; everything in the world.

«Что тебе дать поесть?» — «Что ни на есть, лишь бы побыстрее». "What shall I get you to eat?" "Anything at all, as long as it's quick."

Е-23 • (СА́МЫЙ) ЧТО НИ (НА) ЕСТЬ coll [intensif Particle; foll. by NP or AdjP; fixed WO] used to express that s.o. or sth. exhibits the highest or most extreme degree possible (of the characteristic named) or represents the ultimate example (of the type, group etc named): the most ⟨the worst etc⟩… you can imagine ⟨imaginable, in the world, you've ever seen, you've ever set eyes on, that ever existed etc⟩; a… if ever there was one; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ couldn't be (a) more…; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ could hardly be more…; [lim.] emphatically ⟨strikingly⟩…

…Через год, в мае, было подано от имени его сыновей (он, конечно, об этом не знал) прошение, в самом что ни на есть пышном, душещипательном стиле… (Набоков 1). A year later, in May, a petition was submitted in his sons' names (he, of course, knew nothing of this), in the most florid and tear-jerking style imaginable (1a). ♦ Самая что ни на есть пытка и с питьём и с оправкой (Марченко 1). It's the worst kind of torture you can imagine, both with the drinking and the toilet (1a). ♦ «И это был самый обычный Коран?» — спросил Фандорин. «Самый что ни на есть заурядный…» (Акунин 7). "And was it a perfectly ordinary Koran?" asked Fandorin. "It could hardly have been more ordinary…" (7a).

Е-24 • ВСЁ ЕЩЁ [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] used to emphasize that the action in question continues up to the present moment or continued up to the specified moment in the past: still; [lim.] keep ⟨go on⟩ (doing sth.); [with negated verbs] not (…) yet.

Смердяков, как и давеча, совсем не пугаясь, всё пытливо следил за ним [Иваном]. Всё ещё он никак не мог победить своей недоверчивости… (Достоевский 2). Smerdyakov kept watching him [Ivan] inquisitively, as before, with no trace of fear. He still could not manage to get over his mistrust… (2a).

Е-25 • ЕЩЁ БЫ! coll [AdvP; Invar; used as affirm particle; may be foll. by не + a relevant word or phrase from the preceding context: ещё бы я не знал, ещё бы (мне) не знать, ещё бы не серьёзно etc] 1. used as an emphatic affirmative response to a question or rejoinder to a statement: (but) of course (I do ⟨he was etc⟩)!; and how!; I'll say!; I should say ⟨think⟩ so!; you said it!; you ⟨I, I'll⟩ bet!; [used in response to a negated statement] I should think not!

«Но по сравнению с общими работами ведь здесь и вправду лучше вам?» — «Ещё бы!» (Гинзбург 2). "But compared to manual labor outside, you really are better off here, aren't you?" "And how!" (2a). ♦ [Городничий:] Как ты думаешь, Анна Андреевна: можно влезть в генералы? [Анна Андреевна:] Ещё бы! конечно, можно (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] What do you think, Anna Andreyevna? Could I become a general? [A.A.:] I should say so! Indeed you can (4f). ♦ «Нет, это вне нашей компетенции». — «Ещё бы! Этим занимается полиция. Но было бы интересно узнать, что именно входит в вашу компетенцию, доктор Пильман…» (Стругацкие 5). "No, that's not within our competence." "I should think not. That's police business. But I would be interested in knowing just what does fall within your competence, Dr. Pilman" (5a).

2. there is nothing unusual (in what has been stated), nothing different could be expected (usu. foll. by an explanation as to why): (there's) nothing surprising about ⟨in⟩ that; no wonder; no surprise (there); of course (not); [lim.] how could s.o. not (do sth.) ⟨sth. not (happen) etc⟩.

Уходя, он скользнул взглядом по моей офицерской шашке «за храбрость» с анненским красным темляком, одиноко висевшей на пустой летней вешалке, и, как мне показалось, болезненно усмехнулся. Ещё бы: город занят неприятелем, а в квартире на виду у всех вызывающе висит русское офицерское оружие! (Катаев 3). When about to leave, he let his eye rest for a moment on my officer's sword, with its red St Anne sword-knot "for bravery," which hung forlornly on the empty summer hatstand, and, so it seemed to me, a pained smile crossed his lips. No wonder. The city was occupied by enemy troops, and here, hung up challengingly for all to see, were the arms of a Russian officer! (3a). ♦ Когда колёса коляски наезжают на чьи-то ноги, человек вскрикивает. Ещё бы, вес коляски не маленький (Гальего 1). When the wheels go over someone's feet, he yelps. No surprise, given the wheelchair's considerable weight (1a).

Е-26 • ЕЩЁ И ЕЩЁ [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth., sth. happens) repeatedly, each instance being followed by another (often with the action becoming more intense with each repetition): again and (yet) again; over and over (again); time and (time) again; [lim.] more and more.

Он [Раскольников] спешил к Свидригайлову… Дорогой один вопрос особенно мучил его: был ли Свидригайлов у Порфирия? Сколько он мог судить и в чём бы он присягнул — нет, не был! Он подумал ещё и ещё, припомнил всё посещение Порфирия, сообразил: нет, не был, конечно, не был! (Достоевский 3). He [Raskolnikov] was hurrying to Svidrigailov…. One question especially tormented him on the way: had Svidrigailov gone to Porfiry? No, as far as he was able to judge, he had not—he would have sworn to it! He thought it over again and again, recalled Porfiry's entire visit, and realized: no, he had not; of course he had not! (3c).

Е-27 • (И ⟨ДА⟩) ЕЩЁ КА́К coll [these forms only; adv (intensif) or indep. sent; may be foll. by the verb used in the preceding context; more often this WO] used to emphasize the intensity of an action, desire, quality, characteristic etc, and/or the certainty that an action did or will occur: and how!; you bet (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ will ⟨does etc⟩)!; doesn't ⟨wouldn't etc⟩ s.o. just!; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is ⟨does, will etc⟩,) all right; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) certainly can ⟨does, will etc⟩; that one did ⟨it will etc⟩; [as a response] you can say that again!

«Скучал?» — спрашивает она. «Ещё как», — отвечаю я (Аксёнов 8). "Did you miss me?" she would ask. "And how!" I would reply (8a). ♦ [Ким:] Я тоже буду таким… таким… [Алла:] Не будешь. [Ким:] Почему это? Ещё как буду! Вот увидишь (Розов 4). [K.:] I'm going to be like them. [A.:] You never will be. [K.:] Why not? You bet I will! Wait and see (4a). ♦ [Колесов:] Пойти к геологам, авось рассмешат… [Маша:] Ещё как рассмешат (Вампилов 3). [K.:] I'm going to join the geologists, perhaps they can make me laugh. [M.:] They'll make you laugh all right (3a).

E-28 • (НУ) ВÓТ ЕЩЁ! coll, impol [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] (used as a response in a dialogue when one resents a question put to him, pointedly refuses to do what is asked of him, or strongly disagrees with the interlocutor's statement) what you are saying, suggesting, asking is preposterous: what do you mean!; the ⟨like⟩ hell I was ⟨did, am etc⟩; what (on earth) are you talking about!; you've got to be kidding!; you must be out of your mind!; don't be ridiculous!; [lim.] what ⟨whatever⟩ next!; of course not!; that's a good one!; what kind of (a) question is that!

[Подколёсин:] Послушай, Илья Фомич, знаешь ли что? Поезжай-ка ты сам. [Кочкарёв:] Ну, вот ещё: с ума сошёл разве? (Гоголь 1). [P.:] Listen, Ilya Fomich; I tell you what! You go by yourself. [K.:] Whatever next! Have you taken leave of your senses? (1a). ♦ «Переоденешься в сухое и ляжешь в постель», — сказал Виктор. «Вот ещё!» — сказала Ирма (Стругацкие 1). "You'll change into something dry and get into bed," said Victor. "That's a good one!" said Irma (1a).

Ж

Ж-1 • уродлива(я) КАК ЖА́БА disapprov [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] (of a woman who is) extremely unattractive: (as) ugly as a toad ⟨a frog⟩; (as) ugly as sin.

Ж-2 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ЗА ЖА́БРЫ кого highly coll [VP; subj: human] to pressure s.o. into acting or force s.o. to act as one demands: X взял Y-а за жабры ≃ X put the screws ⟨the squeeze⟩ on Y; X put ⟨turned⟩ the heat on Y; X took ⟨grabbed, got⟩ Y by the throat; X strong-armed Y.

Полный комплект [номеров] по идее должен был быть у секретаря Лодера, агента Органов… Но когда его взяли за жабры, выяснилось, что он загнал его на чёрном рынке за валюту атташе одного посольства (Зиновьев 1). In theory Idleader's secretary, a secret police agent… should have had a full set [of copies]…. But when the screws were put on him, it turned out that he had sold them on the black market to an attaché from a foreign embassy in exchange for foreign currency (1a).

Ж-3 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ⟩ В ЖАР (И В ХО́ЛОД ⟨И ХО́ЛОД⟩) кого (от чего); БРОСА́ТЬ ⟨КИДА́ТЬ⟩ ТО В ЖАР, ТО В ХО́ЛОД [VP; impers; last var.: impfv only, fixed WO with the verb movable] s.o. becomes extremely agitated, experiences anxiety, alarm: X-а бросает в жар (и холод) ≃ X breaks into ⟨out in⟩ a cold sweat; X feels hot (and cold) all over; X gets hot and cold by ⟨in⟩ turns.

Ольга не показывалась… и время тянулось медленно. Обломова опять стало кидать в жар и холод (Гончаров 1). …Olga did not show herself, and time dragged on slowly. Oblomov was again getting hot and cold in turns (1a).

Ж-4 • ПА́ХНЕТ/ЗАПА́ХЛО ЖА́РЕНЫМ highly coll [VP; impers] 1. sth. promises profit: it ⟨sth.⟩ smells of money; there's money to be made.

У этого спекулянта большие связи, он всегда знает, где пахнет жареным. This speculator has good connections and always knows where there's money to be made.

2. Also: ПА́ХНЕТ/ЗАПА́ХЛО ПАЛЁНЫМ highly coll danger from or punishment for some wrongdoing, illegal actions etc is imminent: one smells trouble (coming); there's danger in the air; it looks like they've got me ⟨you etc⟩; it looks like the jig is up.

«Так, — сказал Губошлёп, не утрачивая своей загадочной весёлости. — Что-то палёным пахнет» (Шукшин 1). "Damn," said Fat Lip, without losing his enigmatic gaiety. "It looks like they've got us" (1a).

Ж-5 • НИ ЖА́РКО ⟨НИ ТЕПЛО́⟩ НИ ХО́ЛОДНО кому от чего; НИ ХО́ЛОДНО НИ ЖА́РКО all coll [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; usu. pres] sth. makes no difference to s.o.: X-у от Y-а ни жарко ни холодно ≃ X doesn't care (one way or the other); Y doesn't matter (to X) one way or the other; it's all the same to X; X is neither hot nor cold about Y; [lim.] for all X cares.

…В глазах большинства это были единичные жертвы, от исчезновения которых городу было ни тепло ни холодно… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). …In the eyes of the majority, these were but isolated victims whose disappearance did not matter one way or the other (2a). ♦ Шагинян и сейчас продолжает плодотворную деятельность. При разборе дел всяких «подписантов» она суёт слуховую трубку им в лицо, чтобы не упустить ни слова. Пусть живёт хоть до ста лет вместе с Фединым и присными. Мне от этого ни холодно ни жарко (Мандельштам 2). Even now Shaginian has not ceased her fruitful labors. Attending meetings at which "protest signers" are called to account, she thrusts her ear trumpet right in their faces, not to miss a single word. For all I care, she can live to be a hundred years, together with Fedin and his tribe (2a).

Ж-6 • С ЖА́РОМ [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth.) with excitement, emotional intensity: (say sth. ⟨answer etc⟩) fervently ⟨with fervor, with ardor, ardently, zealously, hotly⟩; (speak ⟨say sth. etc⟩ with great feeling; (object ⟨argue, debate sth. etc⟩) heatedly ⟨with a passion, vehemently⟩; (undertake sth. ⟨set about sth. etc⟩) eagerly ⟨with enthusiasm⟩; (kiss s.o.) passionately.

«Ручаюсь вам за успех», — отвечал я с жаром (Пушкин 2). "I'll vouch for our success," I answered fervently (2a). "I guarantee success," I replied with ardour (2b). "I swear to you that I will succeed," I replied with fervour (2c). ♦ Пикейные жилеты в числе сорока человек уже оправились от потрясения… и с жаром толковали о пан-Европе… (Ильф и Петров 2). The forty piqué vests had now recovered from their shock… and were heatedly discussing Pan-Europe… (2a).

Ж-7 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ⟨ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ⟩ ЖА́РУ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] 1. to scold s.o. severely: X дал Y-у жару ≃ X gave Y hell; X gave it to Y good; X chewed ⟨bawled⟩ Y out; X raked Y over the coals; X let Y have it (with both barrels); Y caught hell (from X).

2. [subj: usu. pl] to fight s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy) vehemently; to overwhelm, defeat s.o.: X-ы задали Y-ам жару ≃ Xs gave it to Ys hot; Xs crushed ⟨clobbered, routed⟩ Ys; Xs ran Ys into the ground.

Перестрелка стала стихать, и из боковой улицы высыпали оживлённые говором солдаты. «Цел, Петров?» — спрашивал один. «Задали, брат, [французам] жару. Теперь не сунутся», — говорил другой (Толстой 4). When the shooting on both sides began to die down, soldiers in animated conversation streamed out of a side street. "Not hurt, Petrov?" asked one. "We gave it to them [the French] hot, brother. They won't mess around with us again," said another (4a).

3. to do sth. very intensely, with maximum effort: X даёт жару ≃ X is going all out; X is really going at it ⟨at his work etc⟩; X is going at it ⟨at his work etc⟩ hammer and tongs; [usu. in refer. to a physical activity, task etc] X is doing sth. with might and main.

Ж-8 • ПОДДАВА́ТЬ/ПОДДА́ТЬ ЖА́РУ ⟨ПА́РУ⟩ highly coll [VP] 1. Also: ПОДБАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ПОДБА́ВИТЬ ЖА́РУ [subj: human] to make an already intense or difficult situation even more intense, volatile etc by one's actions or words (usu. by provoking greater anger or hostility): X поддал жару ≃ X added fuel to the fire ⟨the flames⟩; X stoked the fire; X fanned the flames; X added to the commotion ⟨the excitement, the uproar etc⟩.

Всё началось с маленькой бумажки… «С получением сего, — значилось в бумажке, — предлагается вам в недельный срок освободить помещение бывш. гостиницы „Каир"…» — «Как! — нервно вскричал начальник „Геркулеса". — Они пишут мне „предлагается!" Мне, подчинённому непосредственно центру! Да что они, с ума там посходили? А?» — «Они бы ещё написали „предписывается“, — поддала жару Серна Михайловна. — Мужланы!» (Ильф и Петров 2). It all started with a small sheet of paper… “Upon receiving this,” read the paper, “you are requested to vacate the premises of the former Hotel Cairo within a period of one week…” “What!” exploded the director of the Hercules indignantly. “They tell me I’m ‘requested!’ Me, who reports directly to the Center! What is wrong with them? Are they out of their minds?” “They might as well have said ‘instructed,’” Impala Mikhailovna said, adding fuel to the fire. “Such arrogance!” (2d).

2. [subj: human] to begin to act more energetically: поддайте жару! ≃ get it in gear!; step up the pace!; get (it) moving!; [in refer. to physical labor only] put some muscle into it!

3. ~ (кому) [subj: usu. human, occas. abstr] to incite, induce s.o. to act more energetically, increase s.o.’s interest in sth.: X поддал Y-у жару ≃ X spurred Y on; X fired Y up; X kindled a fire ⟨a flame⟩ in Y.

Ж-9 • ЖЕВА́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕЖЁВЫВАТЬ⟩ ЖВАЧКУ [VP; subj: human] to repeat sth. again and again in a tedious and irksome manner: X будет пережёвывать жвачку ≃ X will go on and on about the same thing; X will harp on the same string; X will rehash the same old thing; X will repeat the same old stuff (over and over again).

На семинарах было очень скучно: докладчики один за другим жевали одну и ту же жвачку. The seminars were really boring: one speaker after another rehashed the same old thing.

Ж-10 • ЖДАТЬ НЕ ДОЖДА́ТЬСЯ кого-чего coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to await s.o. or sth. with impatience: X ждёт не дождётся Y-а ≃ X can’t ⟨can hardly⟩ wait for thing Y ⟨for person Y to do sth.⟩; X is anxiously awaiting thing Y; X is waiting anxiously for thing Y ⟨for person Y to do sth.⟩; X is agog with ⟨in⟩ anticipation.

[Гомыра:] Вася, заглянем правде в глаза. Мы с тобой уезжаем? Уезжаем. А они остаются. Что, неправда?.. Они ждут не дождутся, когда мы уедем (Вампилов 3). [G.:] Vasia, let’s face the truth. Are you and I going away? We are. And they’re staying. Isn’t that true?… They can’t wait for us to go (3a).

Ж-11 • СЕ́МЕРО ОДНОГО́ НЕ ЖДУТ [saying] several or many people do not have to wait for one person (said to a person who forces others to wait for him; also said when a group does not or cannot wait for one person): ≃ one should not keep many waiting.

Ж-12 • принимать, выдавать ЖЕЛА́ЕМОЕ ЗА ДЕЙСТВИ́ТЕЛЬНОЕ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to interpret or present a situation, circumstances etc not as they are in actuality, but as one would want them to be: X принимает желаемое за действительное ≃ X takes ⟨mistakes⟩ (his) wishful thinking for reality; X engages in wishful thinking; X confuses wishful thinking with reality; || X выдаёт желаемое за действительное ≃ X passes off (his) wishful thinking for ⟨as⟩ reality.

[author’s usage] …Имелась ещё и четвёртая партия… Сии шептались, что тут так или иначе не обошлось без Бубенцова — но это уж слишком явственно относилось к области выдавания желаемого за действительное (Акунин 6). …There was also a fourth party… These people whispered that Bubentsov must have been involved in some way or another—but this was only too clearly a case of wishful thinking (6a).

Ж-13 • НА ВСЮ ЖЕЛЕ́ЗКУ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] 1. жать, нажимать, нажать и т.п. ~ [used with subj: human] (to press one’s foot down on a gas pedal) as hard as possible (thus making a vehicle go at its maximum speed): X жал на всю железку ≃ X stepped on it; X threw it into high gear; X floored it; X put the pedal to the metal.

«Командир нашей автороты спрашивает: „Проскочишь, Соколов?“… — „Какой разговор! — отвечаю ему. — Я должен проскочить, и баста!“ — „Ну, — говорит, — дуй! Жми на всю железку!“» (Шолохов 1). “‘Can you get through, Sokolov?’ asks the commander of our company…. ‘What are you talking about!’ I told him. ‘I’ve got to get through, and that’s that.’ ‘Get cracking then,’ he says, ‘and step on it!’” (1c). ♦ «Куда?…» Бирюков показал на удаляющуюся «Волгу». «За ней, чтобы не упустить». — «На всю железку можно?» — «Жми!» (Чернёнок 1). “Where to?” Birukov pointed to the Volga ahead. “Follow that car and don’t lose it.” “Can I floor it?” “Go ahead!” (1a).

2. работать, делать что ~. Also: НА ПО́ЛНУЮ ЖЕЛЕ́ЗКУ (to work, do sth.) to one’s full capacity, at one’s full potential: (go) all out; giving it all ⟨everything⟩ one’s got; giving it one’s best shot; [usu. in refer. to a physical task] with might and main; going (the) whole hog; [lim.] going great guns.

3. жить ~ (to live one’s life) taking advantage of all the opportunities life has to offer: (live life) to the fullest.

Ж-14 • КУЙ ЖЕЛЕ́ЗО, ПОКА́ ГОРЯЧО́ [saying] take advantage of opportunity the moment it comes: strike while the iron is hot; make hay while the sun shines.

«Непостоянны сильные мира сего, — говорил Мольер Мадлене, — и дал бы я совет всем комедиантам. Если ты попал в милость, сразу хватай всё, что тебе полагается. Не теряй времени, куй железо, пока горячо» (Булгаков 5). “How inconstant are the mighty of this world,” Molière said to Madeleine. “And I would give this advice to all players: if you happen to win favor, seize everything you can at once. Lose no time, strike while the iron is hot” (5a).

Ж-15 • ВЫЖИГА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЖЕЧЬ КАЛЁНЫМ ЖЕЛЕ́ЗОМ что [VP; subj: human; often infin with надо, нужно, следует; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to destroy, eradicate sth. (usu. some negative phenomenon) ruthlessly: X будет калёным железом выжигать Y ≃ X will eliminate ⟨annihilate, obliterate, wipe out⟩ Y.

Ж-16 • НА ПУСТО́Й ⟨ТО́ЩИЙ, ГОЛО́ДНЫЙ⟩ ЖЕЛУ́ДОК coll; НА ГОЛО́ДНОЕ БРЮ́ХО highly coll, rude [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] when a person is hungry: on an empty stomach ⟨belly⟩.

…Замечал Ленин, что сегодняшний библиотекарь не всегда ходит обедать. Подошёл к нему, спросил. Не пойдёт. А нельзя в перерыв остаться? Можно. Вот это удача… На пустой желудок лучше работается. И лишний час (Солженицын 5). …Lenin had noticed that the librarian on duty today did not always go to lunch. He went over and inquired. No, he wasn’t going. Was it at all possible to stay through the lunch break? It was. Here was a bit of luck…. It was easier to work on an empty stomach. And he would gain time (5a).

Ж-17 • НА СЫ́ТЫЙ ЖЕЛУ́ДОК coll; НА СЫ́ТОЕ БРЮ́ХО highly coll, rude [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] when a person’s appetite is satisfied, when he has already eaten: on a full stomach ⟨belly⟩.

Ребята… начали играть в перекличку с эхом. Приятное занятие, особенно на сытое брюхо (Абрамов 1). …The boys started playing echoes. A pleasant occupation, especially on a full stomach (1a). The boys… began to call to the echo, a pleasant occupation especially on a full belly (1b).

Ж-18 • БЕЗ МЕНЯ́ МЕНЯ́ ЖЕНИ́ЛИ [saying] sth. concerning me was decided (or done in my name) without my knowing about it or consenting to it: ≃ before I knew what was happening you ⟨they⟩ up and volunteered me; you ⟨they⟩ made me a [NP] without my knowledge; you ⟨they⟩ got me into it without my knowledge.

Алик Неяркий вскочил, едва покосившись на нас смущённым глазом — что, мол, поделаешь, профессором заделали, без меня меня женили (Аксёнов 6). Alik Neyarky jumped up, with an embarrassed sideways glance in our direction, implying that it wasn't his fault they had made him a professor without his knowledge (6a).

Ж-19 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ЖЕНИХО́М highly coll [VP; subj: human] to look very happy, content: X смотрит женихом ≃ X is ⟨looks⟩ (as) happy as a lark; X is walking ⟨floating⟩ on air; X looks radiant.

Ж-20 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ ЖЕ́НЩИН ⟨НИ ОДНО́Й ЖЕ́НЩИНЫ⟩ [VP; subj: human, male; fixed WO] to be a virgin: X не знал женщин ≃ X has never known ⟨been with, lain with⟩ a woman.

Ж-21 • КАК ЖЕРДЬ coll [как + NP; Invar; modif] высокий, длинный, худой, высокий и худой и т.п. a very tall, thin person: (as) tall ⟨thin⟩ as a beanpole ⟨a beanstalk, a broomstick⟩; (long,) tall drink of water; (as) thin as a rake ⟨rail⟩; (as) thin as a stick; (as) lanky as a pole; (s.o. is) a (real) beanpole.

Тут Стёпа повернулся от аппарата и в зеркале, помещавшемся в передней, давно не вытираемом ленивой Груней, отчётливо увидел какого-то странного субъекта — длинного, как жердь, и в пенсне (ах, если бы здесь был Иван Николаевич! Он узнал бы этого субъекта сразу!) (Булгаков 9). Styopa turned from the telephone and in the hallway mirror, which the lazy Grunya had not dusted for a long time, he clearly saw a most peculiar individual, lanky as a pole and in pince-nez (ah, if only Ivan Nikolayevich had been there! He would have recognized this character at once!) (9a).

Ж-22 • МЫШИ́НЫЙ ЖЕРЕ́БЧИК obs [NP; fixed WO] an old man who likes to court young women: old wooer.

< From Nikolai Gogol's Dead Souls («Мёртвые души»), Vol. I, ch. 8, 1842.

Ж-23 • ПАСТЬ ЖЕ́РТВОЙ чего [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to suffer greatly or perish because of sth.: X пал жертвой Y-а ≃ X fell victim ⟨prey⟩ to Y.

…Желая высказать в прозе свои заветные мысли и наблюдения, но избрав для этого традиционную форму романа… он [Пастернак] пал жертвой ложного стремления к занимательности, доступной драматичности, фабульности (Гладков 1). …When Pasternak chose the traditional form of the novel as a vehicle for the expression of his most cherished ideas and observations… he fell prey to a misplaced desire to hold the reader's attention by "telling a story" with readily-understood elements of drama in it (1a).

Ж-24 • ПРИНОСИ́ТЬ/ПРИНЕСТИ́ В ЖЕ́РТВУ кого-что (кому-чему) [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to give up a person, group, cause etc, allowing him or it to be hurt or destroyed, for the benefit of another person, group, cause etc: X принёс Y-а в жертву Z-у ≃ X sacrificed Y to Z; X offered Y in ⟨up as a⟩ sacrifice; || X принёс себя в жертву ≃ X sacrificed himself; X offered himself in ⟨up as a⟩ sacrifice.

«…Приносить семью в жертву какому-то сумасшествию [тебе] не стыдно?» (Пастернак 1). "…Aren't you ashamed to sacrifice your family to some crazy notion?" (1a).

Ж-25 • ПРИНОСИ́ТЬ/ПРИНЕСТИ́ ЖЕ́РТВУ ⟨ЖЕ́РТВЫ⟩ (кому-чему) [VP; subj: human] to give up sth. important, vital to one's interests, well-being etc for the sake of another person or some cause: X принёс жертву Y-у ≃ X made a sacrifice for Y.

Кутузов никогда не говорил… о жертвах, которые он приносит отечеству, о том, что он намерен совершить или совершил: он вообще ничего не говорил о себе, не играл никакой роли, казался всегда самым простым и обыкновенным человеком… (Толстой 7). Kutuzov never talked of… the sacrifices he was making for the fatherland, or of what he meant to do or had done: in general he said nothing about himself, adopted no pose, always appeared to be the simplest and most ordinary of men… (7a).

Ж-26 • КРАСИ́ВЫЙ ⟨БЛАГОРО́ДНЫЙ, ШИРО́КИЙ⟩ ЖЕСТ [NP; fixed WO] a deliberate action done merely for effect, in order to create a good (but not necessarily true) impression: grand ⟨noble, heroic, pretty, showy⟩ gesture; beau geste.

[Шаманов:] (По телефону.) …К начальнику?.. А что такое?.. Вызывают в город?.. Знаю, получил повестку… Ну да, тот самый процесс… Да, послезавтра. А мне всё равно — хоть сегодня — я не еду… Зачем? Там уже всё решено, а с меня хватит… Всё. Я не любитель красивых жестов… Говорю тебе: нет… (Вампилов 2). [Sh.:] (Into the telephone) …The chief wants to see me?… What's up?… They want me in the city?… I know, I got a summons… That's right, that same trial… Yes, day after tomorrow. Makes no difference to me—today, even—I'm not going… What for? Everything's been decided there already, and I've had enough… That's all. I don't care for heroic gestures… I'm telling you, no… (2b).

Ж-27 • ЖИВ-ЗДОРО́В ⟨ЖИВ И ЗДОРО́В, ЖИВО́Й-ЗДОРО́ВЫЙ, ЖИВО́Й И ЗДОРО́ВЫЙ⟩ coll [AdjP; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] one is safe and unharmed, in good health: safe and sound; alive and well ⟨kicking⟩; || если будем ⟨будут⟩ живы и здоровы ≃ if everything ⟨all⟩ goes well.

«Говорю тебе, [Григорий] живой и здоровый, морду наел во какую!»… Аксинья слушала, как в чаду… Она опомнилась только у мелеховской калитки (Шолохов 5). "I tell you he's [Grigory is] safe and sound, and real fat in the face!"… Aksinya listened as if in a trance. She came to herself only at the Melekhovs' gate (5a). ♦ [Аркадина:] До свидания, мои дорогие… Если будем живы и здоровы, летом опять увидимся… (Чехов 6). [A.:] Good-bye, my dears…. If we are alive and well, we'll meet again next summer…. (6a). [A.:] Good-bye, everybody… We'll see you again next summer if all goes well (6d).

Ж-28 • НИ ЖИВ НИ МЁРТВ; НИ ЖИВО́Й НИ МЁРТВЫЙ both coll [AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or detached modif; fixed WO] extremely frightened or aggrieved: more dead than alive; scared stiff ⟨to death⟩; half dead with fright.

«Ой, батюшки светы… что с нами сделалось… Дрожим, ни живы ни мёртвы, язык отнялся от ужаса…» (Пастернак 1). "Oh, saints alive… what a state we were in… We tremble, more dead than alive, can't speak from fright…" (1b). "Oh, God in heaven, need I tell you the state we were in…. We were shaking all over, half dead with fright and speechless with terror!" (1a).

Ж-29 • ЗА ЗДОРО́ВО ЖИВЁШЬ; less common ЗДОРО́ВО ЖИВЁШЬ both highly coll [these forms only; adv; fixed WO] 1. работать, давать что кому, делать что для кого и т.п. ~ (to work, give s.o. sth., do sth. for s.o. etc) for free, without receiving compensation: for nothing; just ⟨free⟩ for the asking; [lim.] simply (give s.o. sth. ⟨give sth. away etc⟩).

«Ко мне часто приходят: то пятёрку, то десятку дай. Другой раз последние отдаю. Правда, люблю, чтобы возвращали, за здорово живёшь тоже работать неохота» (Распутин 1). "They often come to me for a fiver, or a tenner, and often it's the last one I've got. True, I expect to get paid back. Nobody wants to work for nothing" (1a). ♦ [Анчугин:] Сто рублей [дать незнакомым людям] просто так, за здорово живёшь — ну кто тебе поверит, сам посуди… (Вампилов 1). [A.:] Handing over a hundred rubles [to strangers] just like that, just for the asking—who'd believe you? Judge for yourself… (1a).

2. (to so sth.) without any reason or basis: for no reason (at all); without rhyme or reason; just for the heck ⟨hell⟩ of it.

[Андрей:] Пора уже оставить эти глупости и не дуться так, здорово живёшь (Чехов 5). [A.:] Isn't it time you stopped being so silly, sulking and pouting for no reason at all? (5d).).

Ж-30 • ЗДОРО́ВО ЖИВЁШЬ ⟨ЖИВЁТЕ⟩! substand [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] (among uneducated people) a salutation upon meeting: hey (there); hi ya; how do; how you doin'.

«Здорово живёшь, Домаха!» — гаркнули в один голос граждане. «Здравствуйте!» (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). "Hey there, Domashka!" the citizens barked with one voice. "Hello!" (1a).

Ж-31 • КАК ЖИВЁШЬ-МО́ЖЕШЬ ⟨ЖИВЁТЕ-МО́ЖЕТЕ⟩? old-fash, coll [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] (a question asked upon meeting a friend or acquaintance) how are you?: how are you doing ⟨getting on, getting along⟩?; how's it going?; how're things going?; how goes it?; how's life ⟨the world⟩ treating you?

[Аграфена Кондратьевна:] Садиться милости просим; как живёте-можете? (Островский 10). [A.K.:] Please sit down, won't you? How are you getting along? (10b). [A.K.:] Sit down, you're more than welcome. How're things going? (10a).

Ж-32 • ЖИВИ́ И ЖИТЬ ДАВА́Й ДРУГИ́М [saying; used in all finite forms] be concerned with your own affairs and do not interfere with other people, let them live as they wish (in contemp. usage, sometimes used ironically with reference to people involved in shady dealings): ≃ live and let live.

Так вот глупо и бесславно закончил свой жизненный путь прокурор Евпраксеин, который родился, может быть, для чего-то хорошего, который хотел, может быть, людям добра, а приносил зло. И сам, как говорится, не жил, и другим жить не давал (Войнович 4). Thus, stupidly and ingloriously, did Prosecutor Evpraksein end his life, he, who, perhaps, had been born to do some good and who perhaps wished people well but did them harm…. As the saying goes, he neither lived nor let live (4a).

Ж-33 • ЗАДЕВА́ТЬ/ЗАДЕ́ТЬ ⟨ЗАБИРА́ТЬ/ЗАБРА́ТЬ, ЗАТРА́ГИВАТЬ/ЗАТРО́НУТЬ и т.п.⟩ ЗА ЖИВО́Е кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr; more often pfv] 1. [often impers] to hurt s.o. by saying or doing sth. that is particularly painful for him, wound s.o.'s pride: X задел Y-а за живое ≃ X cut ⟨stung⟩ Y to the quick; X got Y where it hurts; X touched ⟨hit⟩ a (raw) nerve.

[Липочка:] Кого не заденет за живое: все подруги с мужьями давно, а я словно сирота какая! (Островский 10). [L.:] Who wouldn't be cut to the quick? All my girl friends have been married forever, while I stand around like an orphan (10a). ♦ [author's usage] Он встал из-за стола и ухмылялся уже по-иному, злорадно: ага, поймал за живое! (Копелев 1). He rose from his desk and smirked a different way now, maliciously: aha, got you where it hurts! (1a).

2. Also: БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ЗА ЖИВО́Е to touch s.o.'s innermost feelings: X задел Y-а за живое ≃ X moved ⟨touched⟩ Y very deeply; thing X cut Y to the heart.

Серьёзное чтение утомляло его. Мыслителям не удалось расшевелить в нём жажду к умозрительным истинам. Зато поэты задели его за живое: он стал юношей, как все (Гончаров 1). Serious reading exhausted him. The philosophers were unable to arouse in him a thirst for speculative thought…. However, the poets touched him deeply, and he became a youth like any other (1b).

Ж-34 • КАК ЖИВО́Й [как + AdjP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr)] (of a sculpture, drawing, painting, description, toy, decoy etc; s.o. or sth. looks) exactly like the original, prototype etc: as if (s.o. or sth. were) alive; (s.o. or sth. is ⟨looks etc⟩) almost alive; (s.o. or sth. is) lifelike ⟨a lifelike figure⟩; you can practically hear it breathing.

Трудно сказать, что именно подвело Ивана Николаевича — изобразительная ли сила его таланта или полное незнакомство с вопросом, по которому он собирался писать, — но Иисус в его изображении получился ну совершенно как живой… (Булгаков 9). It is hard to say what had ultimately led Ivan Nikolayevich astray—the descriptive power of his pen, or his complete ignorance of his subject matter, but the Jesus whom he portrayed emerged as a, well, totally lifelike figure… (9c).

Ж-35 • ПО ЖИВО́МУ РЕ́ЗАТЬ [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with трудно, больно etc] to force o.s. to break off relations, ties with s.o. or sth. dear: трудно резать по живому ≃ it's hard to cut ⟨sever⟩ the ties that bind; it's hard to cut the cords.

Ж-36 • ЖИВО́Т ⟨ЖИВОТЫ́, ЖИВО́ТИКИ⟩ ПОДВО́ДИТ/ПОДВЕЛО́ ⟨ПОДТЯНУ́ЛО⟩ (у кого) highly coll [VP; impers] 1. (in refer. to a temporary condition that is not life-threatening) s.o. is very hungry: у X-а живот подводит ≃ X has a gnawing in (the pit of) his stomach; X has hunger pains; X is ravenous ⟨famished, dying of hunger etc⟩.

Дай что-нибудь перекусить, совсем живот подвело. Give me something to snack on; I'm famished.

2. (in refer. to a life-threatening situation) s.o. lives in want, is perishing for lack of food: у X-а живот подвело ≃ X is starving; X is half-starved.

Ж-37 • НАДРЫВА́ТЬ/НАДОРВА́ТЬ ЖИВО́ТИКИ ⟨ЖИВО́Т, ЖИВОТЫ́, КИШКИ́⟩ (со смеху, от хохота и т.п.) highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. [often pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing надорвёшь] to laugh very hard, to the point of exhaustion: X-ы животики надорвали ≃ Xs were in stitches; Xs (nearly ⟨almost⟩) split ⟨burst⟩ their sides laughing; Xs (nearly) busted a gut laughing; Xs (nearly) died laughing; Xs cracked up.

«…Бывало, по целым часам [от Печорина] слова не добьёшься, зато уж иногда как начнёт рассказывать, так животики надорвёшь со смеха» (Лермонтов 1). "…Sometimes you couldn't get a word out of him [Pechorin] for hours on end, but when he occasionally did start telling stories you'd split your sides laughing" (1b).

2. ЖИВО́ТИКИ ⟨ЖИВО́Т, ЖИВОТЫ́, КИШКИ́⟩ НАДОРВЁШЬ! [these forms only; used as Interj; fixed

WO] it is laughable, hilarious: it'll split your sides!; you'll die ⟨bust a gut, split your sides⟩ laughing!; it's a riot ⟨a scream⟩!; it's hysterical!; [lim.] what a side-splitting ⟨gut-busting⟩ [NP]; side-splitting ⟨gut-busting⟩ [AdjP]

«Так вы хоть перескажите, — попросил Зыбин. — Ведь это, наверно, очень интересно». — «…Животики надорвёшь, как интересно! Но на это надо особый талант» (Домбровский 2) "You could tell me anyway," Zybin pressed him. "It's bound to be really interesting." "…Side-splitting interesting. But you need a special talent for that" (2a).

Ж-38 • ПОДТЯ́ГИВАТЬ/ПОДТЯНУ́ТЬ ЖИВО́Т ⟨ЖИВОТЫ́⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with пришлось, надо etc; fixed WO] to eat less than one would like (as a result of one's financial circumstances, the unavailability of food etc): X-у пришлось подтянуть живот ≃ X had to tighten his belt.

Ж-39 • ХВАТА́ТЬСЯ ⟨ДЕРЖА́ТЬСЯ⟩ ЗА ЖИВОТЫ́ ⟨ЗА ЖИВО́ТИКИ, ЗА ЖИВО́Т, ЗА БОКА́⟩ coll [VP; subj: human, usu. pl] to shake with laughter, laugh profusely: X-ы хватались за животы ≃ Xs (nearly ⟨almost⟩) split ⟨burst⟩ their sides laughing; Xs were in stitches; Xs roared with laughter; Xs held their sides.

Зал взрывается от смеха. Люди хватаются за животы, визжат и стонут… (Распутин 1). The audience burst out laughing. People rocked and roared and held their sides… (1a).

Ж-40 • В ЖИВЫ́Х [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, остаться (subj: human) or obj-compl with застать (obj: human)] (one is, one remained, or to find s.o.) living, not deceased: X остался в живых ≃ X remained alive ⟨among the living⟩; X survived; [lim.] X lived; || Neg X-а нет в живых ≃ X is no more; X is no longer alive ⟨with us⟩; X is gone ⟨dead⟩; || Y не может оставить X-а в живых ≃ Y cannot leave X ⟨let X remain⟩ alive; Y cannot let X live.

Сердце его исполнено было печальных предчувствий, он боялся уже не застать отца в живых… (Пушкин 1). His heart was full of sad forebodings; he was afraid of finding his father no longer alive… (1c). His heart was full of sad forebodings: he feared his father might be dead by the time he reached home… (1a).

Ж-41 • БО́ЛЬШЕ ЖИ́ЗНИ! highly coll [sent; Invar; used as imper; fixed WO] a call to work, act, do sth. more energetically: show some life!; put some life into it!; get with it!; look alive!; get it into (high) gear!; [lim.] shake a leg!; put some elbow grease into it!

Ж-42 • В ЖИ́ЗНИ ⟨В ЖИЗНЬ⟩ coll [PrepP; Invar; used with negated (usu. pfv) verbs to intensify negation] not ever: never in one's life; not in a lifetime; never (ever); [lim.] such [NP] as one has never seen ⟨met etc⟩ in one's entire life; the best ⟨greatest etc⟩ [NP] one has ever seen ⟨met etc⟩ in one's life.

Летом, когда мама была у сестры на даче, она [Катя] приходила к нему, глаза сердитые, стеснялась сидевших у подъезда женщин. «Пялят зенки. Больше в жизни не приду» (Рыбаков 2). She [Katya] came to see him in the summer, when his mother was away at her sister's dacha. Her eyes were angry and she was embarrassed by the women sitting at the entrance. "All eyes! I'll never come here again in my life!" (2a). ♦ Абарчук постепенно различил в полумраке лицо Магара. Он не узнал бы его… умирающий старик!.. Ощущая на себе взгляд Магара, он подумал: «Тоже наверно считает: в жизни б не узнал» (Гроссман 2). Gradually, in the half-light, he [Abarchuk] made out Magar's face. He would never have recognized him… he was an old man who was about to die…. Sensing that Magar was looking at him, he thought: "He's probably thinking the same thing—" "Well, I'd never have recognized him" (2a).

Ж-43 • ВОЗВРАЩА́ТЬ/ВОЗВРАТИ́ТЬ ⟨ВЕРНУ́ТЬ⟩ К ЖИ́ЗНИ [VP] 1. кого [subj: human] to restore s.o. to consciousness suddenly or quickly: X возвратил Y-а к жизни ≃ X revived Y; X brought Y around; X brought Y to; X brought Y back to life.

«Ну, дальнейшее ясно. Вы испугались. Вероятно, закричали. Прибежали офицеры, п-пытались вернуть Соболева к жизни. Врача вызвали?» — «Нет, было видно, что он мёртв» (Акунин 3). "Well, what happened next is clear. You were frightened. You probably screamed. The officers came running in, they t-tried to revive Sobolev. Did they call a doctor?" "No, it was obvious that he was dead" (3a).

2. [subj: human] to cure, heal a very sick or severely wounded person: X возвратил Y-а к жизни ≃ X brought Y back ⟨restored Y⟩ to health; X saved Y's life.

3. [subj: abstr. or concr.] to restore sth. to a functional state, reinstate: X возвратил Y к жизни =X revived Y; X brought Y back (to life).

…Господин Мольер получил официальное извещение от парижских властей о том, что пьеса его «Смешные драгоценные» к дальнейшим представлениям воспрещается… [Он] тут же набросал в голове черновик защитительной речи: «Ваше величество! Здесь очевидное недоразумение!» …Пьеса была отправлена на просмотр королю… Мольер куда-то поехал наводить справки и кланяться, а вернувшись, решил прибегнуть ещё к одному способу, для того чтобы вернуть пьесу к жизни (Булгаков 5). Monsieur de Molière received official notice from the Paris authorities, banning all further performances of The Precious Ladies Ridiculed…. He immediately drew up a letter in his mind, defending the play: "Your Majesty! This is an obvious misunderstanding!"… The play was sent to the King…. Molière went somewhere to make inquiries and to bow; and, on returning, he decided to resort to yet another method of bringing his play back to life (5a).

Ж-44 • ВЫЗЫВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЗВАТЬ К ЖИ́ЗНИ что [VP; subj: concr or abstr; fixed WO] to generate sth., serve as a catalyst for sth., or illuminate sth. previously hidden: X вызвал к жизни Y ≃ X gave rise ⟨birth⟩ to Y; X sparked ⟨triggered⟩ Y; X brought Y to life.

Нам здорово повезло, и мы видим Рембрандта в один из солнечных апрельских дней, когда освещение вызывает к жизни всё богатство и глубину красок (Михайловская 1). We were very lucky since we viewed Rembrandt on one of those sunny April days, when the lighting brings to life all the richness and depth of the colors (1a).

Ж-45 • ВЫЧЁРКИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ЧЕРКНУТЬ ИЗ СВОЕ́Й ЖИ́ЗНИ кого [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to stop considering s.o. (usu. a friend, lover etc) a part of one's life (usu. following a breakup, falling-out etc): X вычеркнул Y-а из своей жизни ≃ X cut ⟨crossed⟩ Y out of X's life; X severed Y from X's life; Y ceased to exist for X.

[author's usage] Если она не ответит мне и на это письмо, то всё — вычеркну тогда её из своей личной жизни (Аксёнов 1). If she didn't answer this letter either, then that was it—I'd cross her out of my personal life (1a).

Ж-46 • ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ ЖИ́ЗНИ highly coll [VP; subj: human; most often pfv] 1. кому ~ to scold s.o. severely: X дал жизни Y-у ≃ X gave it to Y good; X gave Y hell ⟨what for⟩; X chewed ⟨bawled⟩ Y out; X lowered the boom on Y; X let Y have it (with both barrels); Y caught hell (from X).

«…Ваше счастье, что не встретили нашего коменданта, не раздевшись, в пальто, он бы вам дал жизни…» (Гроссман 2). "You're lucky you didn't meet the commandant still in your outdoor coat. He really would have given you what for…" (2a).

2. ~ кому [subj: human (usu. pl) or collect] to fight s.o. (usu. a hostile army, the enemy) vehemently, overwhelming or defeating him: X-ы дадут Y-ам жизни ≃ Xs will crush ⟨rout, clobber⟩ Ys; Xs will run ⟨drive⟩ Ys into the ground.

3. ~ кому to beat, thrash s.o.: X дал жизни Y-у ≃ X beat Y up; X beat the (living) daylights out of Y; X beat Y within an inch of Y's life.

…Пантелей подумал, что, расправившись с Вадимом, вернётся и даст жизни грязному шакалу-антисемиту… (Аксёнов 6). …Pantelei decided that, once he had dealt with Vadim, he would come back and beat up this filthy anti-Semite jackal…(6a).

4. to work, do sth. using all one's strength and energy: X даст жизни ≃ X will go all out; X will go at it ⟨at his work etc⟩ hammer and tongs; [usu. in refer. to a physical task] X will do sth. with might and main; [lim.] X will show them what he can do.

Ж-47 • ЖИ́ЗНИ (СВОЕ́Й) НЕ ЖАЛЕ́ТЬ coll; ЖИВОТА́ (СВОЕГО́) НЕ ЖАЛЕ́ТЬ obs [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to do sth. selflessly, with complete dedication: X жизни (своей) не жалеет ≃ X doesn't spare himself; X gives his all.

«…Пыли-то, грязи-то, боже мой! Вон, вон, погляди-ка в углах-то — ничего не делаешь!» — «Уж коли я ничего не делаю… — заговорил Захар обиженным голосом, — стараюсь, жизни не жалею!» (Гончаров 1). "The dust! The dirt! Oh, Lord! There, go on, have a look into the corners. You don't do anything!" "Well then, seeing I don't do anything…" Zakhar began in an injured tone. "I do my best. I don't spare myself" (1b).

Ж-48 • ЛИША́ТЬ/ЛИШИ́ТЬ ⟨РЕША́ТЬ/РЕШИ́ТЬ substand⟩ ЖИ́ЗНИ кого [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to kill s.o.: X лишил Y-а жизни ≃ X took Y's life; X did Y in; X did away with Y; || X лишил себя жизни ≃ X took his own life; X did himself in.

Чем больше других людей успевал он [Сталин] лишить жизни, тем настойчивей угнетал его постоянный ужас за свою (Солженицын 3). …The more people's lives he [Stalin] took, the more he was oppressed by constant terror for his own (3a). ♦ «У него всё теперь, всё на земле совокупилось в Илюше, и умри Илюша, он или с ума сойдёт с горя, или лишит себя жизни» (Достоевский 1). "For him, now, everything on earth has come together in Ilyusha, and if Ilyusha dies, he will either go out of his mind from grief or take his own life" (1a).

Ж-49 • ЛИША́ТЬСЯ/ЛИШИ́ТЬСЯ ⟨РЕША́ТЬСЯ/РЕШИ́ТЬСЯ substand⟩ ЖИ́ЗНИ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to die, perish: X лишился жизни ≃ X lost his life; X paid with his life; X got killed; it cost X his life.

«Вы уедете, а мы должны оставаться?.. Ваше добро будем оберегать!.. Через него, может, и жизни лишишься!.. Не останусь я!» (Шолохов 4). "So you'll go away while we stay here?… And we look after your property for you!… Then get killed for its sake!… I'm not staying here!" (4a).

Ж-50 • НЕ ОТ ХОРО́ШЕЙ ЖИ́ЗНИ (с)делать что [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to do sth. because one is) forced by one's situation to do it: for lack of a better alternative ⟨option⟩; for lack of an alternative ⟨an option⟩; driven ⟨compelled, forced⟩ by circumstances (, one does sth.); one is driven ⟨compelled, forced⟩ to do sth. (by circumstances); circumstances force ⟨compel, drive⟩ one (to do sth.); one is not having an easy time of it (if he has to do sth.); [lim.] it is (certainly) not for fun that (one does sth.); life is not easy ⟨no picnic, not all roses⟩ for one (if he is forced ⟨needs, has etc⟩ to do sth.

И так мне захотелось утешить Вовчика, и Аскольда утешить, и торгаша заодно: он тоже ведь человек — наверно, не от хорошей жизни такую курточку толкнул… (Владимов 2). I wanted to comfort Vova, comfort Askold—and the sailor too; his life can't have been all roses if he needed to sell that jacket… (2a).

Ж-51 • ОТСТАВА́ТЬ/ОТСТА́ТЬ ОТ ЖИ́ЗНИ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to become or be backward, old-fashioned: X отстаёт от жизни ≃ X lags ⟨falls, is⟩ behind the times; X is out of sync with today's world; X is not up to date.

…Никогда ещё почтенному ребуснику не было так трудно работать, как сейчас. Он отстал от жизни, был политически неграмотен, и молодые конкуренты легко его побивали (Ильф и Петров 2). …The work had never been as hard for the respected rebus-maker as it was now. He had fallen behind the times and was now politically illiterate, so his young competitors beat him out easily (2c). …The good old puzzle-maker had never had such a hard time professionally. He wasn't up to date, he was politically ignorant, and his younger rivals were beating him hands down (2d).

Ж-52 • УХОДИ́ТЬ/УЙТИ́ ИЗ ЖИ́ЗНИ lit [VP; subj: human; more often pfv; usu. this WO] to die: X ушёл из жизни ≃ X left this world ⟨life⟩; X departed this life; X passed on ⟨away⟩.

«У нас с вами осталось две минуты. Мы уйдём из жизни вместе. К сожалению, я не могу оставить вас в живых» (Акунин 8). "You and I have two minutes left. We shall depart this life together. Unfortunately, I cannot let you live" (8a).

Ж-53 • ВДОХНУ́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ в кого, во что [VP; subj: human] to enliven s.o. or sth., spur s.o. to activity: X вдохнул жизнь в Y-а ≃ X breathed life into thing Y; X livened Y up.

Этой труппе нужен режиссёр, который сумел бы вдохнуть жизнь в их спектакли. This theatrical company needs a director who can breathe some life into their productions.

Ж-54 • ВОПЛОЩА́ТЬ/ВОПЛОТИ́ТЬ ⟨ПРЕТВОРЯ́ТЬ/ПРЕТВОРИ́ТЬ⟩ В ЖИЗНЬ что [VP; subj: human] (in refer. to an idea, a dream, a plan etc) to make sth. happen, actualize sth.: X воплотил Y в жизнь ≃ X turned Y into (a) reality; X made Y a reality; X realized Y; X put Y into effect; [in refer. to dreams only] X made Y come true.

«До чего испохабили прекрасную идею», — сказал я. «Почему же испохабили, — возразил Антон. — Как раз наоборот, воплотили в жизнь» (Зиновьев 2). "See how far a noble idea has been degraded," I said. "Why degraded?" objected Anton. "It's the very opposite, the idea has actually been realised" (2a).

Ж-55 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В ЖИЗНЬ [VP] 1. Also: ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ В БЫТ [subj: abstr] to become an accepted, common phenomenon in life: X вошёл в жизнь ≃ X became a part of (everyday) life; X became rooted in daily life.

Этот обычай давно вошёл в жизнь. This custom became a part of life long ago.

2. ~ чью, какую, чего [subj: human] to adapt to and become an active participant in new surroundings, a new environment: X вошёл в Y-ову жизнь ≃ X adapted to Y's way of life ⟨Y's life style⟩; || X быстро вошёл в городскую жизнь ⟨в жизнь института и т.п.⟩ ≃ X quickly got into the swing of city ⟨institute etc⟩ life; X quickly adapted ⟨adjusted⟩ to city ⟨institute etc⟩ life.

3. Also: ВСТУПА́ТЬ/ВСТУПИ́ТЬ В ЖИЗНЬ [subj: human] to begin to function as an independent member of society: X вступает в жизнь ≃ X is starting ⟨setting⟩ out in life.

Ж-56 • ДАРОВА́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ кому obs, elev; ПОДАРИ́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ [VP; subj: human] to show clemency to a person condemned to death: X даровал Y-у жизнь ≃ X pardoned Y.

Ж-57 • ДАТЬ ЖИЗНЬ кому lit [VP; subj: human, usu. denoting parents or a parent] to beget or give birth to a child: X-ы дали ⟨X дал(а)⟩ жизнь Y-у ≃ Xs ⟨X⟩ gave life to Y; [of the father only] X sired ⟨fathered⟩ Y.

Когда [жена этого господина] стала беременна первым ребёнком и поведала ему это, он вдруг смутился: «Даю жизнь, а сам отнял жизнь» (Достоевский 1). When she [this gentleman's wife] became pregnant with their first child and told him of it, he suddenly became troubled: "I am giving life, but I have taken a life" (1a). ♦ Папа Нессельроде махровый монархист, а ведь она [Лидочка] благоговеет перед своим папой, потому что он дал ей жизнь! (Аксёнов 7). Papa Nesselrode is a dyed-in-the-wool monarchist, and Lidochka worships him: he sired her, after all (7a).

Ж-58 • ДО́РОГО ПРОДАВА́ТЬ/ПРОДА́ТЬ ⟨ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ ОТДА́ТЬ⟩ СВОЮ́ ЖИЗНЬ [VP; subj: human] to fight fiercely before being killed in a battle, confrontation etc, causing the enemy great difficulty and substantial losses in destroying one: X дорого продаст свою жизнь ≃ X will go down fighting; X won't go down without a fight; X will fight to the death; X will put up a ferocious struggle ⟨a hell of a fight⟩ right to the end ⟨before being wiped out etc⟩.

Ж-59 • ЖИЗНЬ ПРОЖИ́ТЬ — НЕ ПО́ЛЕ ПЕРЕЙТИ́ [saying] life is complicated, and to live it is not easy: ≃ life is no ⟨not a⟩ bed of roses; life is not all smooth sailing.

Ж-60 • КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ ⟨ЖИВО́Т (СВОЙ) obs⟩ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] 1. ~ (за кого-что) lit to perish, lose or sacrifice one's life (for s.o. or sth.): X положил жизнь (за Y-а) ≃ X laid down his life (for Y); X gave (up) his life (for Y).

«Свет ты мой, Иван Кузьмич, удалая солдатская головушка! Не тронули тебя ни штыки прусские, ни пули турецкие; не в честном бою положил ты свой живот, а сгинул от беглого каторжника!» (Пушкин 2). "Ivan Kuzmich, light of my life, brave soldier heart! You escaped both the Prussians' bayonets and the Turks' bullets unscathed; it was not your lot to lay down your life in honest battle; you had to perish at the hands of an escaped convict!" (2a).

2. ~ (на что) to expend maximum effort, energy etc (on sth.): X положил жизнь на Y ≃ X gave his whole self to Y; X dedicated ⟨devoted⟩ himself ⟨his life⟩ (to Y).

Ж-61 • КОНЧА́ТЬ/КО́НЧИТЬ ЖИЗНЬ ⟨(СВОЙ) ВЕК obs⟩ [VP; subj: human; most often pfv] to die: X кончил жизнь ≃ X passed away ⟨on⟩; X left ⟨departed⟩ this world.

Ж-62 • НЕ ЖИЗНЬ ⟨НЕ ЖИТЬЁ⟩, А МА́СЛЕНИЦА ⟨МАЛИ́НА⟩ (у кого) highly coll [NP; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: это) or VP$_{subj}$ with быть$_{ø}$; fixed WO] s.o. has a wonderful life: у X-а не жизнь, а масленица ≃ X is in clover; X lives high on ⟨off⟩ the hog; X has it made.

Ж-63 • НЕ НА ЖИ́ЗНЬ ⟨ЖИВО́Т obs⟩, А НА́ СМЕ́РТЬ lit [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. биться, сражаться и т.п. ~; борьба, война и т.п. ~ [adv (intensif, more often used with impfv verbs) or postmodif] (to struggle, fight) to an ultimate conclusion, ruthlessly, not sparing one's life: fight to the death ⟨to the bitter end⟩; wage a life-and-death struggle; [lim.] fight (against) s.o. tooth and nail; || борьба ⟨битва⟩ не на жизнь, а на смерть ≃ a life-and-death struggle ⟨battle⟩.

В СССР сейчас во всём борются не на жизнь, а на смерть партия Памяти с партией Надежды, партия прошлого с партией будущего (Аллилуева 2). At present in the USSR there is a constant life-and-death struggle between the Party of Memory and the Party of Hope, the Party of the Past and the Party of the Future (2a).

Автор чрезвычайно затрудняется, как назвать ему обеих дам таким образом, чтобы опять не рассердились на него… Назвать выдуманною фамилией опасно. Какое ни придумай имя, уж непременно найдётся в каком-нибудь углу нашего государства… кто-нибудь носящий его и непременно рассердится не на живот, а на смерть, станет говорить, что автор нарочно приезжал секретно с тем, чтобы выведать всё, что он такое сам, и в каком тулупчике ходит… (Гоголь 3). The author is in a quandary how to name these two ladies without rousing anger…. To invent names for them would be dangerous. However fictitious the name, there will always be someone in some out-of-the-way corner of our empire… who will lay some claim to it, fly into a deadly rage, and start proclaiming that the author had paid a secret visit with the express purpose of finding out who he was and what sort of sheepskin coat he wore… (3d)..

Ж-64 • НИ В ЖИЗНЬ ⟨ЖИСТЬ substand⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with negated pfv verbs (fut, subjunctive, or infin) to intensify negation; fixed WO] under no circumstances, not ever: not ⟨never⟩ in a lifetime; not ⟨never⟩ in a million years; never (ever); [lim.] not on your life.

[Шелавина:] …А сколько тут денег, ни в жизнь мне не счесть (Островский 3). [Sh.:] And all the bank notes! I couldn't count them in a lifetime (3a). ♦ «[Она] пьяная была?» — «Почему непременно пьяная?» — «Трезвый человек ни в жизнь с балкона не вывалится» (Чернёнок 1). "Was she drunk?" "Why drunk?" "A sober person would never fall off a balcony" (1a).

Ж-65 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ кому-чему to devote all one's time and effort to s.o. or sth.: X отдал жизнь Y-у ≃ X devoted ⟨dedicated, gave⟩ his life to Y.

[Ирина:] Завтра я поеду одна, буду учить в школе и всю свою жизнь отдам тем, кому она, может быть, нужна (Чехов 5). [I.:]

Tomorrow I shall go away alone; I shall teach in a school, and I shall give my life to those who may need it (5b).

2. ~ за кого-что to sacrifice one's life for s.o. or sth.: X отдал жизнь за Y-а ≃ X laid down his life for Y; X died for Y; X gave (up) his life for Y.

Неблагодарный, я же тебя спас от смерти, я же готов за тебя жизнь отдать, а ты ничего этого не понимаешь (Искандер 3). Ingrate—I saved you from death, I'd lay down my life for you, and you understand nothing of this (3a). ♦ Пусть не подумает читатель, что автор с неуважением относится к людям, которые отдали свою жизнь за родину или готовы были отдать (Войнович 7). The reader should not think that the author has no respect for those who gave their lives for their homeland or were prepared to do so (7a).

Ж-66 • ОТРАВЛЯ́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ чью, кого, кому ⟨СУЩЕСТВОВА́НИЕ чьё, кого, кому⟩ [VP; subj: human or abstr] to make s.o.'s life difficult, intolerable: X отравляет Y-у жизнь ≃ X poisons Y's existence ⟨life⟩; X makes Y's life miserable ⟨difficult, unbearable, a torment⟩; X is the bane of Y's existence.

Варенуха прятался сейчас в кабинете у финдиректора от контрамарочников, которые отравляли ему жизнь, в особенности в дни перемены программы. А сегодня как раз и был такой день (Булгаков 9). Varenukha had taken refuge in the financial director's office in order to escape from the free-ticket hounds who poisoned his existence, especially on days when there was a change of program. And today was just such a day (9c). Varenukha had taken refuge in the financial manager's office to escape from the seekers of free passes who were the bane of his existence, especially during the periods of program changes. And today was just such a day (9a).

Ж-67 • ПРОВОДИ́ТЬ/ПРОВЕСТИ́ В ЖИЗНЬ что lit, often media [VP; subj: human, often pl] to implement sth. (a plan, a decision etc): X-ы провели Y в жизнь ≃ Xs carried out Y; Xs made Y a reality; Xs put Y into practice ⟨effect⟩; Xs implemented Y on a practical level ⟨scale⟩. ○ ПРОВЕДЕ́НИЕ В ЖИЗНЬ чего [NP] ≃ implementation ⟨realization⟩ (of).

Он [председатель] приложит все силы, чтобы принятое решение было проведено в жизнь без проволочек (Войнович 3). He [the Chairman] would use all his powers to see that their decision was carried out without delay (3a).

Ж-68 • ПРОЖИГА́ТЬ ЖИЗНЬ [VP; subj: human] to spend one's time engaging in pleasant diversions, pursue pleasure: X прожигает жизнь ≃ X lives it up; X leads a fast life; X lives life like there's no tomorrow; X lives a life of pleasure; X lives (life) in the fast lane; X lives fast and wild. ○ ПРОЖИГА́ТЕЛЬ ⟨ПРОЖИГА́ТЕЛЬНИЦА⟩ ЖИ́ЗНИ [NP] ≃ pleasure-seeker; fast liver; [lim.] playboy ⟨playgirl⟩.

По-видимому, арбатовцы не представляли себе, как это можно пользоваться автомобилем в трезвом виде, и считали автотелегу Козлевича гнездом разврата, где обязательно нужно вести себя разухабисто, издавать непотребные крики и вообще прожигать жизнь (Ильф и Петров 2). The citizens of Arbatov were evidently unable to imagine how the car could be utilized in a state of sobriety, and thought of Kozlevich's motor as a den of iniquity, in which you just had to let your hair down, make undignified noises, and generally live it up (2a). Apparently, the residents of Arbatov couldn't imagine how anyone could ever make use of an automobile while sober and had decided that Kozlevich's automobile was a den of iniquity, where one was obliged to behave rowdily, indulge in unsolicited shouting, and generally live life like there's no tomorrow (2c).

Ж-69 • СОБА́ЧЬЯ ЖИЗНЬ highly coll [NP; sing only; may be used as VP_{subj} with быть$_{ø}$] a miserable existence, a life full of troubles or unhappiness: dog's life; lousy life.

«И без вас не сладко. Собачья жизнь, сумасшедший дом. Всё время между двух огней…» (Пастернак 1). "Things are bad enough without you. It's a dog's life, a madhouse. I am caught between two fires" (1a).

Ж-70 • УСТРА́ИВАТЬ/УСТРО́ИТЬ ВЕСЁЛУЮ ЖИЗНЬ кому highly coll, iron [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to cause s.o. trouble, discomfort etc (by sharply reprimanding him, punishing him, being unreasonably demanding etc): X устроил Y-у весёлую жизнь ≃ X made Y's life miserable; X made Y's life hell (on earth); [of reprimanding s.o. only] X gave Y hell ⟨what for⟩; X gave Y a good tongue-lashing ⟨dressing-down⟩.

Дома я решил сказать, что часы у меня украли в гостинице. Дядя… воспринял эту новость болезненно… «С попутным рейсом заеду и устрою им [администрации гостиницы] весёлую жизнь!» — пообещал он на ходу, выскакивая на улицу (Искандер 6). I decided to tell everyone at home that my watch had been stolen from my hotel room. My uncle took the news very badly…. "The next time I pass through that town I'm going to stop off at that hotel and give 'em [the hotel management] hell!" was my uncle's parting shot as he went dashing out onto the street (6a).

Ж-71 • ИГРА́ТЬ ЖИ́ЗНЬЮ И СМЕ́РТЬЮ; ИГРА́ТЬ СО СМЕ́РТЬЮ; ИГРА́ТЬ (СВОЕ́Й) ЖИ́ЗНЬЮ [VP; subj: human] to put o.s. in a life-threatening situation, disregarding danger: X играл жизнью и смертью ≃ X risked ⟨gambled with⟩ his life; X played with death; X flirted with danger ⟨with death⟩; X put his life on the line; X took his life in his hands.

[Шеметова:] Нелепость, безумие — так играть своей жизнью, когда конец [войны] завиднелся! (Панова 1). [Sh.:] It's stupidity, madness to risk your life like that when the end [of the war] is in sight (1a). ♦ О боевых делах он рассказывал неохотно, но мне-то было известно со стороны, как он там [на Кавказе] играл со смертью (Окуджава 2). He didn't like talking about military affairs, but I knew from others how he had played with death down there [in the Caucasus] (2a).

Ж-72 • МЕЖДУ ЖИ́ЗНЬЮ И СМЕ́РТЬЮ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] in a very serious, life-threatening condition: (hover ⟨be⟩) between life and death; with one's life hanging in the balance ⟨by a thread⟩.

«Как, вы воротились из Австралии?» — спросил я его… «Нет-с, не из Австралии, а из больницы, где пролежал месяца три между жизнью и смертью…» (Герцен 3). "What, have you come back from Australia?" I asked him…. "No, not from Australia, but from the hospital where I have been lying for three months between life and death…" (3a).

Ж-73 • ЖИЛ-БЫЛ ⟨ЖИЛ ДА БЫЛ⟩ folk [VP; subj: human; past only; always precedes subj] the stock phrase used at the beginning of folk tales: once upon a time (there was ⟨were, lived⟩).

«Жил-был, здравствовал, изучал математику и прочие точные науки и никогда не думал, что стану таким „шовинистом“» (Шолохов 2). "Once upon a time I was a student of mathematics and other exact sciences. Little did I think I should live to become such a 'jingoist'" (2a).

Ж-74 • ЧТОБ Я ТАК ЖИ́Л! highly coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] 1. used by the speaker to emphasize the truth of a statement or that a promise will be realized: (as) sure as I'm standing here; (as) God is my witness; or my name isn't…

Видел я это, видел собственными глазами, чтоб я так жил! I saw the whole thing, saw it with my own two eyes, sure as I'm standing here!

2. used to express strong surprise, delight: well, I'll be!; holy mackerel ⟨cow⟩!; what do you know!

«Ты знаешь, что Борис выиграл в лотерею машину?» — «Чтоб я так жил!» "Did you hear that Boris won a car in the lottery?" "Holy mackerel!"

Ж-75 • ОТ ЖИЛЕ́ТКИ РУКАВА́ получить, достаться кому и т.п. coll [NP; Invar; obj or subj; usu. this WO] (to receive, get) absolutely nothing: a (whole) lot of nothing; not a blessed thing.

Они нам много чего наобещали, а как до дела дошло — получили мы от жилетки рукава. They promised us the world, but when it came right down to it, all we got was a whole lot of nothing.

Ж-76 • ПЛА́КАТЬСЯ/ПОПЛА́КАТЬСЯ ⟨ПЛА́КАТЬ/ ПОПЛА́КАТЬ⟩ В ЖИЛЕ́ТКУ (кому) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to complain about one's lot in an attempt to evoke sympathy: X плачется Y-у в жилетку ≃ X cries ⟨has a cry⟩ on Y's shoulder.

«Ну конечно… я всегда бывала у Нюрка — зачем? Чтобы на бегу поплакаться в жилетку» (Залыгин 1). "Now, why was it I always used to go to Niurok? To have a quick cry on her shoulder, of course" (1a).

Ж-77 • НЕ ЖИЛЕ́Ц (НА СВЕ́ТЕ ⟨НА БЕ́ЛОМ СВЕ́ТЕ, НА Э́ТОМ СВЕ́ТЕ⟩) [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); the masc form жилец is used with both male and female subjects; usu. pres] one is expected to die soon (usu. because of serious illness, old age etc): X не жилец на белом свете ≃ X is not long for this world; X doesn't have long ⟨much longer⟩ to live.

«Насчёт него [Ильи], твоя правда, брат, клеймо на нём, печать каинова, не жилец он…» (Максимов 1). "As for him [Ilya], you are right, brother, he has the brand on him, the mark of Cain; he is not long for this world" (1a).

Ж-78 • В (СА́МУЮ) ЖИ́ЛУ ⟨ЖИ́ЛКУ⟩ попасть, прийтись, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or abstr)] (to do, say, be etc) the proper thing at the proper time, exactly what is needed: X попал в жилу ≃ person X said ⟨suggested, did⟩ just the right thing; thing X is just the right thing ⟨a home run⟩; person X did ⟨said⟩ just what the occasion called for; X was right on target ⟨on the money⟩; X hit ⟨was on⟩ the mark.

Ж-79 • ТЯНУ́ТЬ ЖИ́ЛЫ; ВЫТЯ́ГИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ТЯНУТЬ ⟨ВЫМА́ТЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́МОТАТЬ⟩ (ВСЕ) ЖИ́ЛЫ из кого all highly coll [VP; subj: human] to torment, exhaust s.o. by making excessive demands on him, constantly pestering him, or exploiting him with hard work: X вытянул из Y-а все жилы ≃ X plagued ⟨tortured, tormented⟩ the life out of Y; X wore Y out; [lim.] X worked Y to death.

Конечно, попадись мне вместо полковника какой-нибудь либеральный доцентик… уж он бы жилы из меня повытягивал: где тут свобода воли и какую особую роль играет личность в истории? (Терц 2). Of course, I was lucky to be with the colonel rather than one of those liberal-minded university types… who would have plagued the life out of me about free will and the role of the personality in history (2a) ♦ «Вот попал [в тюрьму], чёрт шелудивый, а я с тремя [детьми] живи, — и все колготят: хлеба! И иде [ungrammat = где] я его возьму, хлеба-то? Жилы они из меня все вытянули» (Максимов 3). "Got caught [and sent to prison], the miserable devil, and left me with three [children] on my hands, and all they can yell about is food. Where'm I supposed to get it from? They've tortured the life out of me..." (3a).

Ж-80 • СПУСКА́ТЬ/СПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨РАСТРЯСА́ТЬ/РАСТРЯСТИ́⟩ ЖИР ⟨ЖИРО́К⟩; СГОНЯ́ТЬ/СОГНА́ТЬ ⟨СБРА́СЫВАТЬ/СБРО́СИТЬ⟩ ЖИР all coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv fut, imper, or infin with надо, полезно etc] (of an overweight person) to lose weight: X-у надо жир растрясти ≃ X should shed ⟨take off, get rid of⟩ some flab ⟨fat, blubber, poundage⟩.

Плавайте и ходите побольше, вам полезно жирок растрясти. You should try walking and swimming more, it would do you good to get rid of some flab.

Ж-81 • ДОХО́ДИТ КАК ДО ЖИРА́ФА ⟨-ы⟩ до кого coll [VP; subj: abstr, often всё; pres or past] (of a person who is) slow to understand, react to, perceive things: до X-а доходит как до жирафа ⟨жирафы⟩ ≃ X is (so ⟨a bit etc⟩) slow on the uptake; with X, it takes a while ⟨forever⟩ for things ⟨everything⟩ to sink in; things take ⟨everything takes⟩ a while ⟨forever⟩ to sink in on X; X is (so) slow to catch on; (when talking to X) it takes a while to get through to him.

Ж-82 • ЗАПЛЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАПЛЫ́ТЬ ЖИ́РОМ ⟨ЖИРКО́М⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv] to grow obese, become very fat: X заплыл жиром ≃ X has turned into a (real) butterball ⟨a tub of lard⟩; X is covered in rolls ⟨layers⟩ of fat.

«Вы знаете, Оленька, — мягким кошачьим голоском говорила эта огромная заплывшая жиром туша, — разрешите мне показать этот роман вышестоящему лицу» (Ивинская 1). "I tell you what, Olenka," she said in a soft, purring voice—she was a woman of enormous bulk, covered in rolls of fat—"let me show the novel to someone high up" (1a).

Ж-83 • НЕ ДО ЖИ́РУ, БЫТЬ БЫ ЖИ́ВУ [saying; often only the first half of the saying is used] you have to be satisfied with what little you have or is available, since anything more is unattainable: ≃ you have to be happy with what you've got ⟨what you can get⟩; beggars can't be choosers; [lim.] count your blessings.

…[Строители] станут планировать жильё с расчётом на эти бараки. Раз стоят [бараки], — значит, жить можно, мало ли что некрасиво и неудобно — не до жиру, быть бы живу (Тендряков 1). …[The builders] would take these barracks into account in planning future housing needs. Since they [the barracks] were already there, they would argue, people might as well stay in them, in spite of the fact that they were ugly and inconvenient: beggars couldn't be choosers (1a).

Ж-84 • С ЖИ́РУ БЕСИ́ТЬСЯ coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO] (of one who is deemed to have been spoiled by a satiated, idle life devoid of troubles) to behave in a fussy, capricious manner: X с жиру бесится ≃ it's X's plushy ⟨cushy⟩ life that makes him act so fussy ⟨behave capriciously, act like this etc⟩; (all) the soft living has gone to X's head; X doesn't know when he's well off; X is too well off for his own good; X does what he does for want of anything better to do.

Андрей натянуто рассмеялся: «Сейчас она скажет: вы ублюдки, с жиру беситесь». — «Вы ублюдки, — сказала Таня. — Я ваших заумностей не понимаю, а с жиру вы точно беситесь» (Аксёнов 7). Andrei gave a forced laugh and said, “Just you watch. Now she’ll tell us we’re a pack of animals and don’t know when we’re well off.” “Well, you are a pack of animals,” Tanya said, “and even if I don’t understand all the ins and outs of your politics, I can tell you don’t know when you’re well off” (7a).

Ж-85 • С ⟨ОТ⟩ ЖИ́РУ ЛО́ПАТЬСЯ/ЛО́ПНУТЬ highly coll, derog [VP; subj: human; pfv past is not used in the affirm; more often this WO] to get very fat (usu. from inactivity, an idle lifestyle): X с жиру лопнет ≃ X will become ⟨be⟩ a tub of lard; X will be ⟨get⟩ as fat as a pig; X will be ⟨become⟩ as big as a house ⟨a horse, a barn⟩.

Ж-86 • ЖИТЬ ПРИПЕВА́ЮЧИ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to live very well, in prosperity, be content with life: X живёт припеваючи ≃ X lives in clover; X lives high on ⟨off⟩ the hog; X lives like a king ⟨a queen⟩; X has it made.

[Скотинин:] Ты будешь жить со мною припеваючи. Десять тысяч твоего доходу! (Фонвизин 1). [S.:] You and me’ll live in clover. Ten thousand of your income! (1a).

Ж-87 • ЖИТЬЯ́ НЕТ ⟨НЕ СТА́ЛО⟩ highly coll [VP; impers] 1. (кому) от кого-чего s.o.’s life is or has become difficult because of the insults, carping, or annoying behavior of another: X-у житья нет от Y-а ≃ Y gives X no peace; Y makes X’s life miserable ⟨impossible, unbearable, intolerable, a living hell⟩; Y is the bane of X’s existence ⟨life⟩.

«Ах, этот Захар: житья нет от него!» (Гончаров 1). “Oh, that Zakhar! He’s the bane of my life!” (1b).

2. the atmosphere of a particular place is or has become tense, gloomy, impossible to cope with: житья нет ⟨не стало⟩ ≃ things are ⟨have become⟩ impossible ⟨unbearable, intolerable⟩; life is ⟨has become⟩ impossible ⟨unbearable, hell⟩.

«За письмо прости. Но другого выхода не было. Житья не стало» (Айтматов 2). “Forgive me for my letter, but there was no other way. Things had become impossible” (2a).

Ж-88 • НЕ ДАВА́ТЬ/НЕ ДАТЬ ЖИТЬЯ́ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human; if pfv, usu. fut] to make s.o.’s life unbearable, intolerable (usu. by nagging or making excessive requests, demands): X житья Y-у не даёт ≃ X gives Y no peace; X makes Y’s life miserable ⟨impossible⟩; X doesn’t let up ⟨never lets up⟩ (on Y).

[Калошин:] [Жена] житья мне не давала, так пусть хоть даст помереть по-человечески (Вампилов 1). [K.:] She [my wife] gave me no peace in life. The least she can do is let me die in peace (1a).

Ж-89 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ЗА ЖО́ПУ ⟨ЗА Я́ЙЦА⟩ кого taboo [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to put s.o. in such a position that he is completely at one’s mercy: X взял Y-а за жопу ≃ X had ⟨got⟩ Y by the balls ⟨by the short hairs⟩.

Ж-90 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ ⟨КИДА́ТЬ/КИ́НУТЬ, МЕТА́ТЬ/МЕТНУ́ТЬ⟩ ЖРЕ́БИЙ [VP; subj: human, usu. pl] to decide, determine sth. by chance (usu. by choosing blindly among objects, each of which has an assigned outcome): X-ы бросили жребий ≃ Xs cast ⟨drew⟩ lots.

[Агафья Тихоновна:] Право, такое затруднение — выбор!.. Я думаю, лучше всего кинуть жребий. Положиться во всём на волю божию: кто выкинется, тот и муж (Гоголь 1). [A.T.:] Ah, how difficult it is to choose!… I believe it would be best to cast lots. Rely on God’s will in everything. Whichever is drawn shall be my husband (1c).

Ж-91 • ЖРЕ́БИЙ БРО́ШЕН lit [sent; Invar; fixed WO] a decision has been made and cannot be revoked: the die is cast.

[Тузенбах:] Жребий брошен. Вы знаете, Мария Сергеевна, я подал в отставку (Чехов 5). [T.:] The die is cast. You know, Maria Sergeyevna, I have sent in my resignation (5a).

< A translation of the Latin alea iacta est, ascribed to Julius Caesar.

Ж-92 • ЖУРА́ВЛЬ В НЕ́БЕ coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] sth. desirable yet extremely difficult to obtain, achieve etc: (like) the proverbial two birds in the bush.

…Он давно бы хотел в таможню, но удерживали текущие разные выгоды по строительной комиссии, и он рассуждал справедливо, что таможня, как бы то ни было, всё ещё не более как журавль в небе, а комиссия уже была синица в руках (Гоголь 3). …He had been longing to get into the Customs, but had been held back by sundry current benefits accruing from the Building Commission, and he had reasoned, justly enough, that the Customs was, after all, no more than the proverbial two birds in the bush whereas the Building Commission was an actual bird in the hand (3b).

< From the proverb «Лучше синица в руках, чем журавль в небе» (“A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush”). See C-220.

Ж-93 • ДО ЖУ́ТИ coll [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] very, to an extreme degree: awfully; horribly; terribly; incredibly; dreadfully.

…Николай Гаврилович прижимал салфетку к сердцу, грозил проткнуть себе вилкой грудь. В свою очередь, она притворялась сердитой. Он просил прощения (всё это до жути не смешно)… (Набоков 1). …Nikolay Gavrilovich, miming jealousy, would press a napkin to his heart and threaten to pierce his breast with a fork. In her turn she would pretend to be cross with him. He would then beg forgiveness (all this is horribly unfunny)… (1a).

З

З-1 • (взвешивать) (все) ЗА И ПРО́ТИВ; ПРО И КО́НТРА lit [NP; these forms only; subj or obj; fixed WO] (to consider) the arguments in favor of and against sth.: (weigh) (all) the pros and cons; (weigh ⟨consider, look at⟩) the pluses and minuses.

З-2 • ПРЕДАВА́ТЬ/ПРЕДА́ТЬ ЗАБВЕ́НИЮ что obsoles, lit [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to put sth. out of one's memory forever: X предал Y забвению ≃ X consigned Y to oblivion.

По поводу [разбитого] сервиза, ввиду того, что у Елены, конечно, даже язык не повернётся и вообще это хамство и мещанство — сервиз предать забвению (Булгаков 3). As for the smashed dinner service, since Elena could naturally not bring herself to complain about it, and to complain would in any case be insufferably vulgar and rude, they agreed to consign it to… oblivion (3a).

З-3 • ЗАБЕГА́ТЬ/ЗАБЕЖА́ТЬ ВПЕРЁД [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. to do sth. prematurely or in advance, interrupting the logical order, progression of events, actions etc: X забегает вперёд ≃ X is getting (way) ahead of himself; X is rushing things; X is anticipating (matters ⟨events, things⟩); X is rushing ⟨jumping⟩ ahead; [lim.] X is jumping the gun.

Забегая вперёд, скажу лишь одно: он [Иван Фёдорович] был теперь, в этот вечер, именно как раз накануне белой горячки, которая наконец уже вполне овладела его издавна расстроенным, но упорно сопротивлявшимся болезни организмом (Достоевский 2). Getting ahead of myself, I will say only one thing: he [Ivan Fyodorovich] was, that evening, precisely just on the verge of brain fever, which finally took complete possession of his organism, long in disorder but stubbornly refusing to succumb (2a).

2. obs [usu. pfv] to forestall, outstrip s.o. by attaining or obtaining sth. first: X забежал вперёд ≃ X got ahead of person Y; X eclipsed person Y's efforts; X beat person Y to it; X got there first.

З-4 • ВВОДИ́ТЬ/ВВЕСТИ́ В ЗАБЛУЖДЕ́НИЕ кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to misinform, disorient, deceive s.o.: X вводит Y-а в заблуждение ≃ X is misleading ⟨deluding⟩ Y; [lim.] person X is stringing Y along; person X is trying to fool Y (into thinking ⟨believing⟩ that…); X is leading Y astray.

…Николая Ивановича [Бухарина] я ввела в заблуждение вполне сознательно, с холодным расчётом — нельзя отпугивать единственного защитника (Мандельштам 1). …I misled Bukharin quite deliberately, out of a calculated desire not to frighten off my only ally (1a). ♦ Никакие неологизмы… не могли ввести ни меня, ни Маяковского в заблуждение (Лившиц 1). No neologisms… could lead Maiakovsky or myself astray (1a).

З-5 • ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕСТИ ИЗ ЗАБЛУЖДЕ́НИЯ кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to reveal the true state of affairs to s.o. who perceives it incorrectly: X вывел Y-а из заблуждения (относительно ⟨насчёт⟩ Z-а) ≃ X freed ⟨divested, stripped⟩ Y of his delusions ⟨illusions⟩ (about Z); X set Y straight (about Z); person X set ⟨put⟩ Y right (about Z); X disabused Y of the notion ⟨idea, illusion etc⟩ (concerning Z ⟨that…⟩).

…Я стал бояться, чтобы она не приняла меня за дурака, и решился во что бы то ни стало вывести её из такого заблуждения на мой счёт (Толстой 2). …I began to fear that she would take me for a fool and resolved, come what may, to divest her of any such delusions on that score (2b). …I began to be afraid she would take me for a fool and decided to set her straight about me at any price (2d).

З-6 • НЕ МОЯ́ ⟨твоя, его и т.п.⟩ ЗАБО́ТА ⟨ПЕЧА́ЛЬ⟩ coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: usu. abstr, often это)] sth. does not involve me (you etc), does not cause me (should not cause you etc) any anxiety, is of no interest to me (should be of no interest to you etc): это не X-ова забота ≃ that's not X's concern ⟨worry⟩; that's no concern ⟨business⟩ of X's; that's none of X's business; it's not X's headache ⟨problem⟩; [lim.] this is for me ⟨you etc⟩ to worry about, not X; ‖ это не твоя забота ≃ leave that ⟨the rest⟩ to me ⟨us etc⟩

«Зачем ему твой заячий тулуп? Он его пропьёт, собака, в первом кабаке». — «Это, старинушка, уж не твоя печаль, — сказал мой бродяга, — пропью ли я его или нет» (Пушкин 2). "Your hareskin coat! He'll trade it for vodka, the dog, at the first tavern he comes to." "Maybe I will and maybe I won't," said my vagabond, "but that's no concern of yours, old man" (2c). "Why give him your hareskin coat? The dog will only sell it for a drink at the first pub he gets to." "It's none of your business, old man," my vagabond said, "whether I sell it or not" (2b). ♦ …Не обращайте внимания на все эти мелочи, это в самом деле не ваша забота, дорогой (Аксёнов 12). "Don't pay attention to all these trifles, it's not really your headache, dear boy" (12a).

З-7 • НЕ́ БЫЛО ЗАБО́ТЫ! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one's displeasure at, disappointment because of etc some unexpected trouble or worry: that's the last thing I need ⟨want⟩!; just what I need(ed)!; as if I didn't have enough problems ⟨enough to do, enough to worry about⟩ already ⟨as it is⟩!

«Тебе придётся съездить к Тихоновым и отвезти им этот пакет». — «Ну вот, не было заботы! Они живут на другом конце города!». "You'll have to stop by the Tikhonovs' place and deliver this package." "Great, that's the last thing I need! They live clear across town!"

З-8 • С ОТКРЫ́ТЫМ ⟨С ПО́ДНЯТЫМ⟩ ЗАБРА́ЛОМ lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) with complete openness, directness: straightforwardly; boldly; openly; [in refer. to expressing one's formerly undisclosed views, opinions etc] (come) out in the open.

Рыцарь без страха и упрёка, географ шёл один против всех с открытым забралом… (Соколов 1). …Daring and irreproachable, the geographer moved openly against everyone… (1a).

З-9 • ЗАБЫВА́ТЬ/ЗАБЫ́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ (для кого) [VP; subj: human] to behave in a selfless, generous manner for the benefit of another, others, or some cause: X забывает себя (для других) ≃ X sacrifices himself (for others); X puts others ahead of himself.

З-10 • СЕБЯ́ НЕ ЗАБЫВА́ТЬ/НЕ ЗАБЫ́ТЬ [VP; subj: human] not to overlook one's own interests: X себя не забывает ≃ X doesn't forget about himself; X takes ⟨doesn't forget to take⟩ care of himself; [lim.] X looks ⟨watches⟩ out for himself; X doesn't lose sight of his own interests; X watches out for ⟨takes care of⟩ number one.

[Золотуев:] Работа у него была интересная, он за прилавком стоял. Людей он не обижал и себя, конечно, не забывал (Вампилов 3). [Z.:] His work was interesting, he was a counter man. He was fair to people but he didn't forget about himself either (3b).

3-11 • ЧТО́ Я ⟨ты он и т.п.⟩ ТАМ ⟨ТУТ⟩ ЗАБЫ́Л ⟨ПОТЕРЯ́Л⟩? highly coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] there is no reason why I (you etc) need to or would want to go there (or stay here): why (on earth ⟨in the world⟩) would I ⟨you etc⟩ want to go there ⟨to stay here⟩?; what does X want there ⟨around here⟩?; what is there ⟨here⟩ that X hasn't seen before?; what(ever) for?

«Куда это ты идёшь?» — «На собрание». — «Что ты там забыл?» "Where are you going?" "To the meeting." "Why on earth would you want to go there?"

3-12 • НЕ ЗАБЫ́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut] 1. кого ~ to do sth. nice, kind, helpful for s.o. (in reciprocation for a favor, as recompense for a service, occas. as an act of patronage etc): X Y-а не забудет ≃ X will do Y a good turn; X will make it worth Y's while; X will return the favor; X will do what he can for Y.

2. ~ кому чего to harbor bad feelings toward s.o. (for some offense etc): X не забудет Y-у Z-а ≃ X will never forgive Y (for) Z; X will never forget Z.

Этого оскорбления я тебе не забуду. I'll never forgive you that insult.

3-13 • ХОТЬ ЗАВАЛИ́СЬ чего highly coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; Invar; quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: usu. inanim); fixed WO] an abundance, a great deal of (things): lots ⟨a lot⟩ of; heaps ⟨a heap⟩ of; tons ⟨a ton⟩ of; loads ⟨a load⟩ of; scads of; oodles of; a raft of.

Карандашей у меня хоть завались, бери сколько тебе нужно. I've got tons of pencils, take as many as you'd like.

3-14 • КАК ЗАВЕДЁННЫЙ ⟨ЗАВОДНО́Й⟩ [как + AdjP; nom only; adv] 1. Also: КАК ЗАВЕДЁННАЯ МАШИ́НА [как + NP; nom only; adv] (one does sth., some enterprise operates etc) continually or practically all the time: nonstop; without a break ⟨a letup⟩.

2. (one or more people do sth. or repeat the same movement) in a mechanical, monotonous manner: like an automaton ⟨a robot⟩; like a clockwork ⟨windup⟩ toy ⟨doll⟩.

Остап сгоряча просунул было в окошечко голову, но гражданин, стоявший в очереди первым, нервно поднял острые локти и несколько потеснил пришельца назад. Второй гражданин, как заводной, тоже поднял локти, и великий комбинатор оказался ещё немного дальше от заветного окошка. И в полном молчании локти поднимались и раздвигались до тех пор, покуда дерзкий не очутился на законном месте — в самом хвосте (Ильф и Петров 2). In the heat of the moment Ostap was about to stick his head in the window, but the citizen who was first in line nervously lifted his sharp elbows and pushed the stranger back a little. Like a wind-up toy, the second citizen also lifted his elbows, and the smooth operator ended up a little bit further from the sacred window. The elbows lifted and moved in utter silence until the impertinent one had been put in his rightful place at the very end of the line (2c).

3-15 • ВО ВСЕ НОСОВЫ́Е ЗАВЁРТКИ ⟨ВО ВСЮ НОСОВУ́Ю ЗАВЁРТКУ⟩ храпеть obs, substand, humor [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to snore) very loudly: saw wood; (snore) like a chain ⟨buzz⟩ saw.

[author's usage] День, кажется, был заключён порцией холодной телятины, бутылкою кислых щей и крепким сном во всю насосную завёртку, как выражаются в иных местах обширного русского государства (Гоголь 3). [context transl] The day was apparently concluded by a portion of cold veal, a pint of sour cabbage soup, and a sound sleep in which he snored away like a suction pump in full blast, as is the saying in some parts of our spacious Russian empire (3a).

3-16 • ДЫМОВА́Я ЗАВЕ́СА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] words, promises etc used to disguise s.o.'s actual designs, plans, intentions: smoke screen.

Слова про отчима Ольга Васильевна расценила как дымовую завесу и вовсе на них не отозвалась (Трифонов 3). Olga interpreted the reference to her stepfather as a smoke screen and did not pursue the subject (3a).

3-17 • ЗАВЕ́СА ПА́ДАЕТ/УПА́ЛА ⟨СПАДА́ЕТ/СПА́ЛА⟩ (С ГЛАЗ *чьих) lit [VP_{subj}; usu. pfv] what had previously been unclear to s.o. becomes evident, s.o. suddenly becomes aware of the truth and realizes that he had been mistaken: завеса упала с X-овых глаз ≃ the scales fell from X's eyes.

3-18 • ПРИПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПРИПОДНЯ́ТЬ ЗАВЕ́СУ (чего) (над чем); ПРИОТКРЫВА́ТЬ/ПРИОТКРЫ́ТЬ ЗАВЕ́СУ над чем all lit [VP; subj: human or abstr] to reveal sth. previously hidden, make it known: X приподнял завесу (тайны) над Y-ом ≃ X lifted the veil of secrecy ⟨mystery⟩ from Y ⟨that hung over Y etc⟩; X took the wraps off Y.

«Elle est bien malheureuse», — прибавила Анна Павловна. Полагая, что этими словами Анна Павловна слегка приподнимала завесу тайны над болезнью графини, один неосторожный молодой человек позволил себе выразить удивление тому, что не призваны известные врачи, а лечит графиню шарлатан, который может дать опасные средства (Толстой 7). "She is so unfortunate!" added Anna Pavlovna. Supposing that by these words Anna Pavlovna was slightly lifting the veil of mystery that hung over the Countess's illness, one imprudent young man ventured to express surprise that well-known doctors had not been called in and that the Countess was being treated by a charlatan who might apply dangerous remedies (7a).

3-19 • СРЫВА́ТЬ/СОРВА́ТЬ ⟨СНИМА́ТЬ/СНЯТЬ⟩ ЗАВЕ́СУ ⟨ПОКРО́В(Ы)⟩ с чего lit [VP; subj: usu. human] to reveal, make known the formerly hidden nature (of some reprehensible phenomenon, action etc): X сорвал завесу с Y-а ≃ X exposed ⟨unmasked⟩ Y.

3-20 • ЗАВИ́ДКИ БЕРУ́Т (кого) substand [VP_{subj}; usu. pres; fixed WO] s.o. feels envious (of another's success, desirable qualities etc): X-а завидки берут ≃ X is ⟨it makes X⟩ (really) jealous ⟨envious⟩; X is ⟨it makes X⟩ green with envy; X wishes he were as [AdjP] as s.o. ⟨could do sth. as [AdvP] as s.o. etc⟩.

«Ешь да спи, вот и вся теперь твоя работа. Ах, завидки берут!» (Максимов 3). "Eat and sleep, that's the only work you have to do here. I'm really jealous" (3a). ♦ «Как это ты быстро всё понимаешь? Просто завидки берут — до чего толковая девка» (Распутин 3). "You do catch on fast! I wish I was as quick. What a clever girl!" (3a).

3-21 • В ЗАВИ́СИМОСТИ от чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is sent adv] being based or conditional (on sth.): depending on ⟨upon⟩; according to; contingent on.

В зависимости от возраста, социального положения, партийности и образовательного уровня каждый человек получает пропаганду в том виде, какой, по мнению властей, доступен его пониманию (Войнович 1). Depending on age, social position, Party membership, and educational level, every person is given propaganda in a form that the authorities deem appropriate for him (1a).

З-22 • НА ЗА́ВИСТЬ coll [PrepP; Invar; modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: inanim)] so or such as to evoke feelings of envy in others: (so pretty ⟨smart, well etc⟩) it makes you ⟨it's enough to make you⟩ jealous ⟨envious, green with envy⟩; an enviable [NP]; enviably.

Подавальщица, румяная на зависть, приветливо указала мне моё место… (Чуковская 2). A waitress, with an enviable glow on her cheeks, showed me to my place… (2a).

З-23 • ЧЁРНАЯ ЗА́ВИСТЬ [NP; fixed WO] a strong feeling of resentment towards another in connection with another's qualities, success etc: the blackest envy; malicious ⟨malignant⟩ envy; || X завидует Y-у чёрной завистью ≃ X is green with (malicious) envy towards Y ⟨over Y's accomplishments, over Y's skills etc⟩; X is full of malignant envy towards Y; X is consumed with ⟨overtaken by⟩ (the blackest) envy towards Y.

Всякий посетитель, если он, конечно, был не вовсе тупицей, попав в Грибоедова, сразу же соображал, насколько хорошо живётся счастливцам — членам МАССОЛИТа, и чёрная зависть начинала немедленно терзать его (Булгаков 9). Any visitor who came to Griboyedov immediately realized, unless, of course, he was a complete ninny, how good life was for the fortunates who were members of MASSOLIT. He would soon become green with envy… (9c).

З-24 • (И) В ЗАВО́ДЕ НЕТ чего, less often кого (у кого, где) highly coll [VP; pres or past] 1. [subj/gen: usu. concr, abstr, animal, or, less often, human] some person does not have or some place is devoid of (s.o. or sth.) entirely: у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩ X-а и в заводе нет ⟨не было⟩ ≃ Y doesn't have ⟨never had⟩ any X; there is ⟨was⟩ no X (in place) at ⟨in⟩ location Z.

Ох, да есть ли у них картотека? Раньше, когда Фандорин сам работал в Сыскном, таких тонкостей в заводе не было (Акунин 3). Oh, but did they even have a card index? Previously, when Fandorin himself had worked in the department, there were no such sophisticated arrangements in place (3a).

2. [subj/gen: usu. этого, такого (in conjunction with a чтобы-clause)] sth. is absolutely not done (by s.o. or in some place): у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩ этого ⟨такого⟩ и в заводе нет ≃ none of that kind of stuff goes on with Y ⟨in place Z⟩; there's (never) nothing like that with Y ⟨in place Z⟩; Y doesn't allow any ⟨none⟩ of that in place Z ⟨here, there⟩.

«В чём отказывали [своим детям]? Чего для них жалели?» — …«Я видела, как вы своего-то [сына] ремнём гоняли, а у нас дома в заводе такого не было» (Стругацкие 1). "What did we deny them [our children]? What didn't we do for them?"… "You liked to strap yours [your son], I saw it, but in our house there was never nothing like that" (1a).

З-25 • ТИ́ХАЯ ЗА́ВОДЬ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a quiet, undisturbed place where one feels protected from the outside world: quiet ⟨peaceful⟩ haven; safe ⟨sheltered⟩ refuge; quiet (little) backwater.

…Много лет спустя бывал я часто у своих знакомых… Однажды я неожиданно застал их в ожесточённом споре. Вся семья, включая старую бабку, спорила о Ленине… На следующий день зашёл я к ним опять — и опять застал их в споре о Ленине… И так недели две… Пропала моя тихая заводь, где можно было отдохнуть душой (Буковский 1). Some years later, I had some friends I often used to visit…. One day I was surprised to find the entire family, including the ancient grandmother, engaged in a violent argument about Lenin…. The following day I saw them again, and again they were arguing about Lenin…. And so it continued for a couple of weeks. The peaceful haven where I had been able to refresh my soul was destroyed (1a).

З-26 • ДО ЗА́ВТРА coll [formula phrase; Invar] parting words said to a person or persons whom one expects to see the next day: see you tomorrow; till tomorrow.

З-27 • КОРМИ́ТЬ ЗА́ВТРАКАМИ ⟨ОБЕЩА́НИЯМИ⟩ кого coll [VP; subj: human] to promise s.o. repeatedly that one will do sth. in the immediate future and not fulfill one's promises: X кормит Y-а завтраками ≃ X feeds Y promises; X hands Y a line ⟨a story⟩; X is all talk and no action.

Опять то же самое: «Приходите завтра, директор вас примет». Они меня завтраками кормят уже неделю. It's the same old story: "Come back tomorrow and the director will see you." They've been feeding me promises for a week now.

З-28 • ПОД ⟨ПО⟩ (СА́МУЮ) ЗАВЯ́ЗКУ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. наполнить, нагрузить, набить что (чем or, less often, кем) ~ [usu. adv] (to fill, load etc sth.) to its uppermost physical capacity, to a point beyond which it is impossible, unadvisable, unrealistic etc to go: to the limit; right to the top; chock-full ⟨chockful⟩; full up; to the breaking ⟨bursting etc⟩ point; (so that) there isn't room for (more ⟨another [NP] etc⟩).

«…Нагрузили мою машину снарядами по самую завязку»… (Шолохов 1). "…My lorry was loaded with shells right to the top…" (1a). "We loaded up my lorry chockful of shells" (1c). ♦ «Вот это квас! Аж дух зашибает. Погоди, бабка, не уноси. Сейчас я сбегаю по малому делу, ещё выпью, а то уж некуда, под завязку» (Войнович 5). "That's kvass. Takes your breath away. Hold on, don't take it away. I'll go run and take a leak and then I'll have some more. There isn't room for another drop in me right now" (5a).

2. ~ чего (у кого, в ком) [usu. quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: abstr or concr)] (of work, some emotion, some quality etc) sth. is present in the most extreme (usu. maximum) amount possible, tolerable etc: у Y-а X-а ~ ≃ Y has all the X he can handle; Y is up to his neck ⟨his ears etc⟩ in X; [of work only] Y is swamped ⟨plowed under, snowed under⟩ with X.

З-29 • ИГРА́ТЬ В ЗАГА́ДКИ; ГОВОРИ́ТЬ ЗАГА́ДКАМИ [VP; subj: human] to speak evasively, enigmatically, in a roundabout way: X играет в загадки ≃ X talks ⟨speaks⟩ in riddles; [lim.] X beats around ⟨about⟩ the bush.

Не надо играть в загадки, говори прямо. Stop talking in riddles and tell it straight.

З-30 • НА ЗАГЛЯДЕ́НЬЕ (кому) coll [PrepP; Invar; modif, subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. concr or human), or adv; indir obj: всем, другим etc] (of things or, less often, people that one stares at in admiration) remarkable, remarkably: marvelous ⟨amazing, incredible⟩; marvelously ⟨amazingly, incredibly⟩; a sight to see ⟨to behold⟩; || всем ~ ≃ so [AdjP or AdvP] that people stop and stare; so [AdjP or AdvP] that people look upon one ⟨it⟩ with wonder.

Почерк у тебя на загляденье, я никогда не видела более красивого почерка. Your handwriting is incredible, I've never seen prettier.

3-31 • ДО МОРКО́ВКИНА ЗА́ГОВЕНЬЯ highly coll, humor [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] for an indefinitely long time: till doomsday; till hell freezes over; till the end of time; till the cows come home.

Снова ходили они вокруг дерева, трогали его топорами, пытались рубить и оставляли эти попытки: топоры, соскребая тонкую гарь, отскакивали от ствола, как от резины… «Пилу надо». — «Пилой ты его до морковкиного заговенья будешь ширкать [substand = пилить]» (Распутин 4). They circled the tree again, touching it with their axes, trying to chop it and dropping their attempts: the axes, scraping off a thin layer of burned wood, pushed off from the trunk as if it were rubber…. "We need a saw." "You'll be sawing till doomsday" (4a).

3-32 • ЗА́ГОВОР МОЛЧА́НИЯ (против кого) [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a (usu. unspoken) understanding between many people (often members of the media) not to discuss, mention etc sth.: conspiracy of silence; [lim.] (sth. is) supressed altogether ⟨totally suppressed⟩.

Вокруг одних имён был заговор молчания, другие имена поносились в печати и в постановлениях… (Мандельштам 2). The names of some poets were simply suppressed altogether, while others were denounced in the press and in Party decrees… (2a).

< Loan translation of the French phrase une conspiration du silence.

3-33 • КАК ЗАГОВО́РЩИКИ шептаться coll or iron [как + NP; Invar; adv] (of two or more people) to speak among themselves in low voices, softly, as if afraid of being overheard: (whisper) like conspirators; (whisper) as if you ⟨they⟩ were plotting sth.

3-34 • В ЗАГО́НЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. жить, расти, быть$_{ø}$ ~ obsoles [adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] (to live, grow up etc) without receiving sufficient supervision, nurturing etc from one's parent(s) or guardian(s): without receiving proper care; without being properly cared for; (be) neglected.

2. ~ (у кого, где) [subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect)] (often used in refer. to the status of a person, group, department etc at some workplace, in the eyes of the management etc) a person (group etc) is disregarded, considered unimportant, treated poorly etc: X в загоне (у Y-а ⟨в месте Z⟩) ≃ X is treated as if he ⟨it etc⟩ didn't matter (by Y ⟨at place Z⟩); X is treated like he ⟨it⟩ doesn't matter (by Y ⟨at place Z⟩); X is treated like a nonentity (by Y ⟨at place Z⟩); X gets second-rate treatment; X is low on Y's list of priorities; X is suffering from neglect; X is neglected (by Y).

Похоже, что наш отдел скоро закроют, — он давно уже у начальства в загоне. It looks as if our department might be shut down soon—the administration's been treating it like a nonentity for quite a while now.

3-35 • НА ЗАДВО́РКАХ (чего) быть$_{ø}$, держать кого-что coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect, or abstr) or obj-compl with держать (obj: human, collect, or abstr)] (of or in refer. to a person) (to be, keep s.o.) in a secondary, disadvantageous role or position; (of or in refer. to an issue, proposal etc) (to be, keep sth.) out of the focus of attention, ignore (sth.): (be ⟨be kept, keep s.o. or sth.⟩) in the background; [of or in refer. to a person] (take ⟨be forced to take etc⟩) a back seat; [of or in refer. to an issue, proposal etc] (be ⟨be put, put sth.⟩) on the back burner.

Казачьи офицеры были на задворках… движение по службе было слабым… (Шолохов 3). The Cossack officers had been kept in the background…; promotion had been slow… (3b).

3-36 • В (ГЛУБО́КОЙ) ЗА́ДНИЦЕ оказаться, находиться и т.п. highly coll [PrepP; subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect)] (to find o.s. or get into) an extremely unpleasant, difficult etc situation: (be) up shit creek (without a paddle); (be ⟨find o.s., end up etc⟩) in deep ⟨the⟩ shit; (be ⟨find o.s., end up etc) in deep doodoo; (wind up ⟨find o.s. etc⟩) on ⟨in⟩ the hot seat.

3-37 • ЗА́ДОМ НАПЕРЁД [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] with the back side forward: backward; back to front; the wrong way (a)round.

Ты надела шляпу задом наперёд. You put your hat on backward.

3-38 • НЕ ТУДА́ ЗАЕ́ХАТЬ highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. past; usu. this WO] to make an inappropriate digression from the topic under discussion, say sth. unfitting: X не туда заехал ≃ [with the focus on straying from the topic at hand] X got off course ⟨off the track⟩; [with the focus on the inappropriateness of a comment] X went too far; X said something he shouldn't have; X shouldn't have said that; X ⟨X's remark etc⟩ was out of line.

«Напрасно ты упомянул о наркотиках. Этой темы в разговорах с Беллой лучше не касаться». — «Да, я и сам сразу понял, что не туда заехал». "You shouldn't have brought up narcotics. It's better to steer clear of that topic when talking to Bella." "Yes, I knew right away that I said something I shouldn't have."

3-39 • БЕЗ ЗАЗРЕ́НИЯ СО́ВЕСТИ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] without feeling ashamed (of one's actions or words), without feeling guilty: without any pangs of conscience; without a ⟨the slightest⟩ twinge of conscience; without a qualm ⟨any qualms⟩ (of conscience); without any scruples; without compunction.

…[Крючков] рассказывал о «подвиге»… врал без зазрения совести… (Шолохов 2). …He [Kryuchkov] described his "exploit"… lying without a qualm of conscience… (2a)..

3-40 • ГОНЯ́ТЬСЯ ⟨ГНА́ТЬСЯ⟩/ПОГНА́ТЬСЯ ЗА ДВУМЯ ЗА́ЙЦАМИ coll [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to attempt to reach two different goals, accomplish two different things at the same time: X погнался за двумя зайцами ≃ X chased two hares at the same time.

< From the proverb «За двумя зайцами погонишься, ни одного не поймаешь». See 3-41.

3-41 • ЗА ДВУМЯ́ ЗА́ЙЦАМИ ПОГО́НИШЬСЯ, НИ ОДНОГО́ НЕ ПОЙМА́ЕШЬ [saying] if you try to do several things at the same time, you will not do any of them well or finish anything: ≃ if you chase ⟨run⟩ after two hares, you will catch neither; he who chases two hares catches neither; if you choose two hares, both will escape you.

3-42 • УБИВА́ТЬ/УБИ́ТЬ ДВУХ ЗА́ЙЦЕВ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to accomplish two important things at once, realize two goals through a single action (the notion of a single action may either be expressed by adverbials like сразу, одним ударом, одновременно etc, or be implied): X убил двух зайцев ≃ X killed two birds with one stone.

Я помню растерянный вид Мандельштама, когда мы вернулись домой, поглядев, как происходит изъятие [церковного имущества]… Предложение [патриарха] Тихона [организовать помощь голодающим] отклонили, а теперь вопят, что церковники не жалеют голодающих и прячут свои сокровища. Одним ударом убивали двух зайцев: загребали золото и порочили церковников (Мандельштам 2). I remember the appalled look on M[andelstam]'s face as we returned home after watching the "confiscation" [of church property] for a while…. [Patriarch] Tikhon's proposal [to organize aid for the starving] had been turned down, and now they were shrieking that the church people had no pity for the starving and were hoarding their treasures. In this way they were killing two birds with one stone: while vilifying the church, they were also grabbing its gold (2a).

3-43 • НЕ ЗАКА́ЖЕШЬ кому obsoles, substand [VP; this form (gener. 2nd pers sing) only; usu. used with the infin of another verb] you cannot forbid s.o. to do sth.: you can't stop ⟨prevent⟩ s.o. (from doing sth.); there is no law against (doing) sth.

[Гурмыжская:] Хоть я и выше подозрений, но, если б нашлись злые языки, вы можете объяснить, в чём дело. [Милонов:] …Кто же смеет… [Бодаев:] Ну, отчего же не сметь? Никому не закажешь (Островский 7). [G.:] I am above suspicion, as you know. But if you chance to hear evil gossip, you will be able to explain what's going on. [M.:] …Who on earth would dare… [B.:] Well, why on earth shouldn't a person dare? You can't stop a person, can you? (7b). [G.:] Everyone knows I am above suspicion, but sometimes evil tongues will wag, so now you can explain the truth. [M.:] …Who could possibly dare—? [B.:] Of course they'll dare, there's no law against it (7c).

3-44 • НА ЗАКА́З [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing modif] (of clothes, footwear etc) made according to the buyer's wishes: made-to-order; custom-made; tailor-made; made to measure.

Туфли мы покупаем готовыми, а костюм стараемся сшить на заказ (Рыбаков 1). Shoes we buy ready-made, whereas we like to have our suits made to measure (1a).

3-45 • КАК ПО ЗАКА́ЗУ; КАК НА ЗАКА́З [как + PrepP; these forms only] 1. [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$, стоять etc (subj: usu. погода, утро, день etc)] beautiful, remarkable: X как по заказу ≃ it's as if X were made to order; X could have been made to order; X couldn't have been better ⟨more perfect⟩; you couldn't ask for better ⟨for (a) better X⟩.

Вечер был как по заказу. Днём, после полудня, хлестнул дружный ливень — с луга домой прибежали насквозь мокрые, — а потом опять солнце, опять тепло… (Абрамов 1). The evening could have been made to order. In the afternoon, there was a sudden, welcome downpour—people came running home from the fields soaked through—and then it was sunny and warm again… (1a).

2. [adv] excellently, flawlessly, precisely as desired: perfectly; swimmingly; (sth.) couldn't have gone ⟨been, come out etc⟩ better; without a hitch.

Нина очень волновалась перед интервью, но всё прошло как по заказу. Nina was really nervous before her interview, but everything went swimmingly.

3-46 • ПО ЗАКА́ЗУ [PrepP; Invar; adv] in response to a request, in fulfillment of an order, assignment: on demand; by request; [lim.] to order.

В это время он [Мольер] заканчивал работу над пьесой «Учёные женщины», написанной им не по заказу, а для себя (Булгаков 5). He [Molière] was at that time completing his work on The Learned Ladies, which he had written, not to order, but for himself (5a).

3-47 • СТА́РОГО ЗАКА́ЛА ⟨СТА́РОЙ ЗАКВА́СКИ⟩ both coll [NP_{gen}; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] (a person) who has old-fashioned ways, adheres to old-fashioned ideas etc: of the old school ⟨stamp⟩.

…Это был человек старого закала, не разделявший новейших воззрений (Тургенев 2). …The coachman was a man of the old school and didn't share the latest views (2g). …He was a man of the old stamp and did not accept the modern views (2a).

3-48 • НА ЗАКА́ТЕ ДНЕЙ ⟨ЖИ́ЗНИ⟩ lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv; more often used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] in a person's old age: in the twilight ⟨autumn⟩ of one's life; in the sunset of one's days; in one's declining years.

…На самом закате жизни он сочиняет произведение, в котором мечту воплощает… (Набоков 1). …In the very twilight of his life he composes a work in which he embodies his dream… (1a). ♦ Больной, озлобленный, всеми забытый, доживал Козырь свой век и на закате дней вдруг почувствовал прилив «дурных страстей»… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Hotspur lived out his life sick, embittered, forgotten by all. In the sunset of his days he suddenly felt an upsurge of "evil passions"… (1a).

3-49 • БИ́ТЬСЯ/ПОБИ́ТЬСЯ ОБ ЗАКЛА́Д [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ (с кем). Also: УДА́РИТЬСЯ ОБ ЗАКЛА́Д obs to stake sth. on the outcome of an uncertain issue, event etc, usu. in return for a similar pledge by another: X побился об заклад (с Y-ом) ≃ X bet ⟨wagered⟩ Y (five rubles etc); X bet on it; X laid ⟨made, placed⟩ a bet ⟨a wager⟩ on it.

Прежде всего пошли они обсматривать конюшню, где видели… гнедого жеребца, на вид и неказистого, но за которого Ноздрёв божился, что заплатил десять тысяч. «Десяти тысяч ты за него не дал, — заметил зять. — Он и одной не стоит»… — «Ну, хочешь, побьёмся об заклад!» — сказал Ноздрёв. Об заклад зять не хотел биться (Гоголь 3). First they went to the stables: there they found… a bay stallion, not much to look at, but for which, so he swore, Nozdrev had paid ten thousand rubles. "You didn't pay ten thousand for him," his brother-in-law said. "He's not even worth one thousand"…. "Would you like to bet on it?" But his brother-in-law didn't wish to bet (3e).

2. coll [pres 1st pers sing бьюсь... only] I assure you, I am ready to swear (that what I am stating is true, that my prediction, guess is correct etc): I ⟨I'll⟩ bet (you); I ⟨I'll⟩ bet you anything; I'm ready to bet.

«…Я бьюсь об заклад, что нынче он узнал Бэлу» (Лермонтов 1). "…I'll bet you anything that he recognized Bela today" (1a).

3-50 • В ЗАКЛЮЧЕ́НИЕ [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] (used to introduce the final point in a speech or writing, topic of discussion, event in a series of events etc) finally, lastly: in conclusion; in closing; conclude ⟨end⟩ by (saying sth.); conclude ⟨end⟩ with (sth.); (in order) to conclude (a discussion ⟨a speech etc⟩).

«В заключение команда выздоравливающих исполнит патриотические песни…» (Федин 1). "In conclusion a team of convalescents will perform patriotic songs…" (1a). ♦ Скажу в заключение, что он [Печорин] был вообще очень недурён… (Лермонтов 1). Let me conclude by saying that he [Pechorin] was on the whole rather good-looking… (1c).

3-51 • ВСТУПИ́ТЬ В ЗАКО́Н; ПРИНЯ́ТЬ ЗАКО́Н both obs, substand [VP; subj: human, male] to get married (to s.o.): X вступил в закон ≃ X got hitched.

3-52 • ЗАКО́Н НЕ ПИ́САН кому, для кого coll, often disapprov [VP_{subj}; this form only; fixed WO] s.o. disregards generally accepted norms, rules of conduct: для X-а закон не писан ≃ the law is not written ⟨made⟩ for X; X is a law unto himself; the law doesn't ⟨the rules don't⟩ apply to X; X doesn't play ⟨live⟩ by the rules; X doesn't go by the book.

«…[В вашей статье] проводится некоторый намёк на то, что существуют на свете будто бы некоторые такие лица, которые могут… то есть не то что могут, а полное право имеют совершать всякие бесчинства и преступления, и что для них будто бы и закон не писан» (Достоевский 3). "…[In your article] a certain hint is presented that there supposedly exist in the world certain persons who can… that is, who not only can but are fully entitled to commit all sorts of crimes and excesses and to whom the law supposedly does not apply" (3c).

3-53 • ЗАКО́Н ЧТО ДЫ́ШЛО: КУДА́ ПОВЕРНУ́Л ⟨ПОВЕРНЁШЬ⟩, ТУДА́ И ВЫ́ШЛО [saying] a law may be interpreted in many different ways (refers to the reality that those who have the power and/or means can find ways of escaping punishment when breaking the law): ≃ every law has a loophole; one law for the rich and another for the poor.

3-54 • ВНЕ ЗАКО́НА быть$_{ø}$, находиться; объявить кого; человек и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human), obj-compl with объявить (obj: human), or nonagreeing modif] outside the protection of the law: X был ⟨X-а объявили⟩ вне закона ≃ X was outlawed; X was declared ⟨branded⟩ an outlaw ⟨an outcast⟩; || человек вне закона ≃ outlaw; outcast.

Исключённый из Союза писателей, я был объявлен как бы вне закона (Войнович 1). Expelled from the Writers' Union, I had been declared something of an outcast (1a).

3-55 • В ЗАКО́НЕ с кем жить, быть$_{ø}$ и т.п. obs, substand [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or adv] (to be) legally married to s.o.: (be) lawfully married; (live) in lawful marriage ⟨holy wedlock⟩; (be) bound in holy wedlock.

[Кабанова:] Ведь ты… с ней [с женой] в законе живёшь. Али [substand = или], по-вашему, закон ничего не значит? (Островский 6). [K.:] After all… you're living with her [your wife] in lawful marriage. Or, to your way of thinking, doesn't lawful marriage mean anything? (6a).

3-56 • НА ЗАКУ́СКУ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to announce, present, perform etc sth.) as the last item in a series, (save sth.) for the final segment, the conclusion of (some event, activity etc): for ⟨as⟩ one's final (announcement ⟨number etc⟩); (here's ⟨one finished up with etc⟩) one last ⟨final⟩ (joke ⟨announcement etc⟩); [when the final number, announcement etc is intended to be esp. pleasing] as a final ⟨special⟩ treat; saving the best for last (, here's…); to top off (the concert ⟨the show etc⟩); as one's finale.

3-57 • НА ЗАМЕ́ТКЕ ⟨НА ЗАМЕЧА́НИИ obs⟩ у кого [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); prep obj: often a noun denoting the police, security organs etc] one is the object of close observation: X на заметке у Y-а ≃ X is under surveillance; Y keeps tabs on X; Y has ⟨keeps⟩ an eye on X.

«Слушайте, Виктор, — сказал Голем. — Я позволил вам болтать на эту тему только для того, чтобы вы испугались и не лезли в чужую кашу. Вам это совершенно ни к чему. Вы и так уже на заметке…» (Стругацкие 1). "Listen, Victor," said Golem. "I've allowed you to shoot your mouth off on this topic only to get you scared, to stop you from sticking your nose into other people's business. This isn't doing you any good. They've got an eye on you as it is" (1a).

3-58 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА ЗАМЕ́ТКУ [VP] 1. ~ что [subj: human] to write sth. down in order not to forget it: X взял Y на заметку ≃ X made a note of Y; X took Y down.

«А ну-ка, возьми себе на заметку: двадцать пятого октября на бюро райкома» (Абрамов 1). "Now then, just make a note of this: October twenty-fifth you're to come down to the District Committee office" (1a).

2. ~ кого-что [subj: human or collect] (usu. in refer. to a person who shows promise in some area, a promising undertaking etc) to pay special attention to s.o. or sth.: X возьмёт Y-а на заметку ≃ X will take notice ⟨note⟩ of Y; X will keep an eye on Y; X will make a mental note of thing Y.

«Я ведь тебя ещё в карантине на заметку взял» (Максимов 2). "I've been keeping an eye on you since you first arrived in quarantine" (2a).

3. ~ кого. Also: БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА ЗАМЕЧА́НИЕ obs [subj: human or collect, often a noun denoting the police, security organs etc] to consider s.o. among those who must be kept under observation (as a political threat, a bad influence on society, a troublemaker etc): X взял Y-а на заметку ≃ X took note ⟨notice⟩ of Y; X started keeping tabs on Y; [lim.] Y became a marked man.

…Если бы я был такой умный, продемонстрировал кагебешникам знание законов и высокий уровень правосознания, они бы уже тогда взяли меня на заметку, и как бы сложилась моя судьба, никому не известно (Войнович 1). …If I had been clever and had demonstrated my knowledge of the law and my highly developed sense of justice, they [the KGB] would have taken note of me at the time, and my life would have become more complicated (1a).

3-59 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ НА ЗАМЕ́ТКУ ⟨НА ЗАМЕЧА́НИЕ obs⟩ (кому, кого) [VP; subj: human; indir obj: often a noun denoting the police, security organs etc] to become noticed as involved in sth., usu. sth. reprehensible: X попал на заметку (Y-у) ≃ X drew the attention of Y; X was placed under surveillance ⟨observation⟩ (by Y); X became an object of scrutiny (by Y).

[Расплюев:] Под семью печатями и за семью замками лежит стекло… (Сухово-Кобылин 2). [R.:] A piece of glass is lying there under seven seals and seven locks… (2b).

2. [subj: abstr] well-hidden, inaccessible (often of a person's feelings): buried deep (down) inside; hidden away; [lim.] (be) a deep dark secret.

Зная, что Людмила Николаевна замужем, Рыжков хранил свои чувства к ней за семью замками. Knowing that Lyudmila Nikolayevna was married, Ryzhkov kept his feelings for her buried deep down inside.

З-62 • НА ЗАМКЕ́ ⟨ПОД ЗАМКО́М⟩ быть$_{ø}$, держать кого-что и т.п.; НА ЗАМО́К посадить кого; ПОД ЗАМО́К спрятать что [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or human) or obj-compl with держать etc (obj: concr or human)] (to be, keep s.o. or sth. etc) confined, securely shut up: under lock and key; locked up ⟨away⟩; [in refer. to money, valuables etc] in safekeeping.

«Такое отродье надо держать на замке!» (Федин 1). "Offspring like that should be kept under lock and key!" (1a). ♦ …Главное, об этом ни слова никому не говорить, потому что бог знает ещё что из этого выйдет, а деньги поскорее под замок… (Достоевский 3). …The main thing was not to say a word to anyone about this, since God only knew what else might come of it and the money should immediately be placed in safekeeping… (3a).

З-63 • ВОЗДУ́ШНЫЕ ЗА́МКИ (строить) [NP; pl only; usu. obj] daydreams, hopes that are unlikely to become reality: (build) castles in the air. Cf. castles in Spain.

…Пока вы намечаете программы великих преобразований, строите воздушные замки… или пытаетесь рассмотреть в микроскоп Х-хромосому, наш скромный труженик своими востренькими глазками бдительно следит, нельзя ли под видом борьбы с чуждой идеологией что-нибудь у вас оттяпать… (Войнович 3). …While you plan great reform programs, build castles in the air… or try to see an X chromosome through a microscope, our humble drudge, with his sharp little eyes, watches carefully to see if, under the guise of struggling against alien ideology, he can get something from you… (3a).

З-64 • ПОЦЕЛОВА́ТЬ ЗАМО́К coll; ПОЦЕЛОВА́ТЬ ПРОБО́Й substand [VP; subj: human] (to go to s.o.'s residence or some office and) not to find anyone there: X поцеловал замок ≃ no one was in ⟨home, at home, there⟩; not a soul was there.

«Ты заходил к Саше?» — «Да, но поцеловал замок и ушёл». "Did you drop by Sasha's?" "Yes, but no one was home, so I left."

З-65 • ЗАМЫКА́ТЬСЯ/ЗАМКНУ́ТЬСЯ В (САМО́М) СЕБЕ́ [VP; subj: human] to become unsociable, avoid people: X замкнулся в себе ≃ X withdrew into himself; X retreated into his shell.

После смерти сына Катя замкнулась в себе, перестала видеться даже с друзьями. After the death of her son Katya withdrew into herself and stopped seeing even her friends.

З-66 • ПОД ЗА́НАВЕС [PrepP; Invar; adv] right before the conclusion of sth., at the very end of sth. (often used in refer. to one's saving the most effective statement, remark, item etc for the end of a written piece, speech, recital etc): as ⟨just before⟩ the curtain falls ⟨comes down⟩; at ⟨before⟩ curtainfall ⟨curtain-fall⟩.

И наконец [в конце статьи], так сказать, под занавес, я наносил заключительный удар. Но как раз в это место статьи и вкралась опечатка, из-за которой впоследствии и поднялось столько шума (Домбровский 1). Finally, [at the end of the article,] just before curtain-fall as it were, I delivered the conclusive blow. But it so happened that a printer's error crept into the article at that very point and it was this which was the cause of all the subsequent trouble (1a).

< From an old custom among playwrights of giving actors especially effective lines at the very end of a play, act, or scene.

З-67 • НЕ ЗАНИМА́ТЬ кому чего or где кого-чего coll; НЕ ЗАНИМА́ТЬ СТАТЬ substand [VP; infin only; quantit subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$; subj/gen: usu. abstr (var. with кому чего), concr or, less often, human (var. with где кого-чего); usu. pres] s.o. possesses a generous amount of some quality (more often a positive one), in some place there is more than a sufficient quantity of some thing or of people of a certain group (profession etc): X-а Y-у не занимать ≃ Y has plenty of X; Y is not lacking in ⟨not short on⟩ X; you can't deny Y his X; there's no disputing Y's X; ‖ в месте Y X-ов не занимать ≃ there are plenty ⟨there is no lack⟩ of Xs in place Y; there are all kinds of Xs in place Y.

Лукерья опять усмехнулась и сказала: «Да уж чего-чего, а красоты твоей невестушке не занимать» (Абрамов 1). Lukerya grinned again and said, "Yes, there's one thing you can't deny your daughter-in-law, and that's beauty" (1a).

З-68 • ПОД ЗАПА́Л; В ЗАПА́ЛЕ both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] impulsively, driven by an outburst of feeling: in the heat of the moment; in a fit ⟨a burst⟩ of temper; [lim.] when one is ⟨gets⟩ hot under the collar.

Чего не скажешь в запале, особенно во время войны! (Рыбаков 1). …You say all sorts of things in the heat of the moment, especially in wartime (1a).

З-69 • ПРО ЗАПА́С держать, оставить что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (to keep, save etc sth.) for use when needed: in reserve; as a reserve; in store; on hand; [lim.] in case of need.

Странно, что все мы, безумные и нормальные, никогда не расстаёмся с этой надеждой: самоубийство это тот ресурс, который мы держим про запас, и почему-то верим, что никогда не поздно к нему прибегнуть (Мандельштам 1). It is strange that all of us, whether mad or not, never give up this one hope: suicide is the last resort, which we keep in reserve, believing that it is never too late to use it (1a).

З-70 • В ЗАПА́СЕ [PrepP; Invar; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: any common noun)] kept for later use, ready to be used: in reserve; (have ⟨keep etc⟩ sth.) ready; [lim.] (have ⟨keep etc⟩ sth.) up one's sleeve.

…Он [защитник] всех прокурорских свидетелей сумел вовремя «подвести» и, по возможности, сбить, а главное, подмарать их нравственную репутацию… Все были убеждены, что какой-нибудь большой и окончательной пользы он всеми этими «подмарываниями» не мог достичь и, вероятно, это сам лучше всех понимает, имея какую-то свою идею в запасе, какое-то ещё пока припрятанное оружие защиты, которое вдруг и обнаружит, когда придёт срок (Достоевский 2). …He [the defense attorney] had been able to "take down" all the witnesses for the prosecution, to throw them off as much as possible, and, above all, to cast a slight taint on their moral reputations…. Everyone was convinced that he could achieve no great and ultimate advantage by all these "slight taints," and that he probably knew it better than anyone, holding ready some idea of his own, some still hidden weapon of defense that he would suddenly reveal when the time came (2a).

З-71 • БЕЗ ЗАПИ́НКИ сказать, ответить и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (to say sth., answer etc) fluently, smoothly: without stumbling once; without stumbling over a single word; without a flub ⟨a fumble etc⟩.

Капитан сделал паузу, ещё раз без запинки повторил просьбу и, поблагодарив за внимание, исчез с экрана (Чернёнок 1). The captain paused, repeated the request without a flub, thanked them for their attention, and disappeared from the screen (1a).

2. (to say sth., answer etc) without vacillation: without (a moment's) hesitation; without thinking twice; unhesitatingly.

«Зачем ты здесь?» — говорит капитан-исправник. «Отпущен на оброк», — отвечаешь ты без запинки (Гоголь 3). "What are you doing here?" says the police captain. "I've been allowed to go on payment of tax," you reply without a moment's hesitation (3a).

3-72 • ДО́РОГО ЗАПЛАТИ́ТЬ за что [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. [usu. subjunctive, often foll. by за то, чтобы...] to (be willing to) sacrifice sth. of great value in order to get sth. one really wants or make some desired event happen: X дорого бы заплатил ≃ X would give ⟨pay, do⟩ anything; what X wouldn't give ⟨pay, do⟩.

Дорого бы я заплатил за то, чтобы хоть на несколько минут увидеть родителей. What I wouldn't give to see my parents, even if only for a few minutes.

2. to suffer grave consequences as a result of sth. (some reprehensible action, wrongdoing, mistake etc): X дорого заплатил за Y ≃ X paid dearly for Y; X paid a high price for Y; X had hell ⟨the devil⟩ to pay for Y; Y cost X dearly.

«Зиновий Чеперуха, ты у меня дорого заплатишь, если этот старый биндюжник — я даже не хочу называть его твоим отцом! — позволит себе в день выборов сделать что-нибудь не так» (Львов 1). "Zinovy Cheperukha, I'll make you pay dearly if that old drayman—I won't even call him your father!—causes any trouble on election day" (1a).

3-73 • ПОД ЗАПРЕ́ТОМ [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr)] sth. is prohibited: X находится под запретом ≃ X is banned ⟨forbidden, proscribed, tabooed, outlawed⟩.

В течение многих лет книги религиозных философов были в России под запретом. For many years, books written by religious philosophers were banned in Russia.

3-74 • ДО ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЙ ЗАПЯТО́Й знать, изучить, разработать что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to know, learn etc sth.) thoroughly, including the minutest details: (right) down to the last ⟨smallest, finest⟩ detail.

Лида знает этот учебник до последней запятой: она преподаёт по нему уже десять лет. Lida knows that textbook down to the last detail: she's been teaching from it for the past ten years.

3-75 • ХОТЬ ЗАРЕ́ЖЬ(ТЕ) coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; these forms only; subord clause] 1. ~ не понимаю, не помню, не знаю, не верю, не сделаю и т.п. [used with negated verbs (usu. pres or pfv fut), usu. 1st pers; when used with a verb in the 2nd pers, that verb is usu. in the pfv fut (не поймёшь etc) and has a generic meaning] one absolutely cannot (understand, remember, believe etc sth.), one absolutely does not (have any knowledge of sth.), or one absolutely will not (do sth.): (even) if my ⟨his etc⟩ life depended on it; for the life of me ⟨him etc⟩; [1st pers only] (I'll be) damned if I (know ⟨can etc⟩); I'm ⟨I'll be⟩ hanged if…

«Бывало, он приводил к нам в крепость баранов и продавал дёшево, только никогда не торговался: что запросит, давай — хоть зарежь, не уступит» (Лермонтов 1). "Occasionally he brought rams to us at the fort and sold them cheap, but he never bargained: you had to pay him what he asked; he would never cut a price even if his life depended on it" (1b).

2. нужен, необходим и т.п. ~ a person or thing is very much (needed): desperately; (very) badly; in the worst way.

«…Ты должен мне дать три тысячи взаймы. Нужны, брат, хоть зарежь!» (Гоголь 3). "…You must lend me three thousand rubles. I need the money desperately" (3c).

3-76 • ДО ЗАРЕ́ЗУ нужен, нужно, хочется кому и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] (sth. is needed, s.o. needs or wants sth., s.o. needs or wants to do sth.) very much: desperately; very badly; in the worst way; [with хочется only] (have an) irresistible (desire).

Взволнованно заикаясь, он принялся рассказывать, что пишет по творчеству Шукшина кандидатскую, что ему до зарезу нужен этот двухтомник… (Чернёнок 1). Stammering excitedly, he started telling him that he was writing a dissertation on Shukshin, that he desperately needed the two-volume collection… (1a). ♦ …Он сказал: «Мне нужны пять тысяч. До зарезу» (Эренбург 4). "I need five thousand," he said. "I need it very badly" (4a).

3-77 • ОТ ЗАРИ́ ДО ЗАРИ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. all day, from early morning till late evening: from dawn to ⟨till⟩ dusk; from sunrise to ⟨till⟩ sunset; from sunup to ⟨till⟩ sundown.

От зари до зари кишели люди в воде, вбивая в дно реки сваи… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). From dawn to dusk people swarmed about in the water, knocking the piles to the bottom of the river… (1a).

2. all night: from sunset to ⟨till⟩ sunrise; from sundown to ⟨till⟩ sunup; all night long; all through the night.

3-78 • В ЗАРО́ДЫШЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. быть$_{ø}$, существовать, находиться ~ [subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr or collect)] (to be, exist) in an incipient state: in an embryonic state ⟨stage⟩.

Эти политические тенденции существовали в зародыше ещё двадцать лет назад. These political tendencies already existed in an embryonic state twenty years ago.

2. уничтожать, душить что ~ [obj-compl with уничтожать etc (obj: abstr or collect)] (to destroy sth.) in the earliest stage of its existence, before it has time to develop: nip sth. in the bud; squelch sth. at its very outset; [lim.] smother sth. in its crib; strangle sth. at birth.

…Настоящие учёные и научные результаты, хотя их и было ничтожно мало, не переходили ни во что и с намёками не считались. Их следовало уничтожить в зародыше (Зиновьев 1). …The true scientists and their results, although there were distressingly few of them, were not transformed into anything and paid no attention to any hints. So they had to be nipped in the bud (1a).

3-79 • ПО ЗАСЛУ́ГАМ (воздать кому, выдать кому coll, получить) [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (to reward or punish s.o.) according to what he deserves, (to be rewarded or punished) according to what one deserves: [in refer. to rewarding s.o.] X-у воздадут ~ ≃ X will be given (due) credit; X will be given his due ⟨his just reward⟩; || [in refer. to punishment] X получил ⟨X-у выдали⟩ ~ ≃ X got ⟨received⟩ his just deserts; X got what he deserved ⟨what was coming to him⟩; X got what he asked for.

[Кушак:] Смотрите, Валерия. Если вы думаете, что теперь им всё сойдёт с рук, — вы ошибаетесь. [Валерия:] Ещё бы. Каждому — по заслугам (Вампилов 5). [K.:] Look here, Valeriya. If you think they're going to get off scot free now, you're mistaken. [V.:] Of course. To each his just deserts (5b). ♦ У папы прекрасное настроение, вчера у него было тяжёлое заседание, он говорит, что дьявольски устал, но зато все получили по заслугам (Соколов 1). Papa is in a splendid mood, yesterday he had a difficult meeting, he said that he was devilishly tired, but then everybody got what they deserved (1a).

3-80 • НЕ ЗАСТА́ВИТЬ СЕБЯ́ ДО́ЛГО ПРОСИ́ТЬ ⟨УПРА́ШИВАТЬ и т.п.⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to agree readily to fulfill a request or accept a suggestion: X не заставил себя долго просить ≃ X didn't wait to be asked twice; X agreed right away; X agreed at once.

Даниель де Кознак был осведомлён о пребывании Мольера в Лангедоке… Он немедленно послал гонца с приказанием разыскать директора труппы и вручить ему приглашение его высочества прибыть вместе со всею труппой в замок де ла Гранж. Нужно ли говорить, что старый клермонец, а ныне комедиант не заставил себя долго упрашивать? (Булгаков 5). Daniel de Cosnac knew of Molière's presence in Languedoc…. He sent a messenger at once with orders to seek out the director of the troupe and convey to him an invitation from His Highness to come with the entire company to La Grange. Needless to say, the former Clermont student and present comedian did not wait to be asked twice (5a).

3-81 • ЗАСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/ЗАСТА́ВИТЬ СЕБЯ́ ЖДА́ТЬ [VP; subj: human or abstr] not to arrive when desired or expected, to be delayed: X заставил себя ждать ≃ X kept person Y waiting; X made person Y wait for him ⟨it⟩; [lim.] thing X eluded person Y.

Я затворил за собою дверь моей комнаты, засветил свечу и бросился на постель; только сон на этот раз заставил себя ждать более обыкновенного (Лермонтов 1). I closed the door of my room behind me, lit a candle, and threw myself onto the bed, but this time sleep kept me waiting longer than usual (1d). I locked the door of my room, lighted a candle and flung myself on the bed; tonight, however, sleep eluded me longer than usual (1b).

3-82 • НЕ ЗАСТАВЛЯ́ТЬ/НЕ ЗАСТА́ВИТЬ СЕБЯ́ (ДО́ЛГО) ЖДАТЬ [VP; subj: human or abstr] to come, arrive promptly: X не заставил себя ждать ≃ X wasted little ⟨no⟩ time; thing X was not long in coming; X did not keep person Y waiting; X did not make person Y wait long.

«Я сейчас зайду к тебе». — «Заходи». Казангап не заставил себя ждать. (Айтматов 2). "I'll drop in in a few minutes." "Come along as soon as you're ready." Kazangap wasted little time (2a). ♦ Новые преследования не заставили себя ждать. На этот раз несчастье непосредственно выросло из моих трудов праведных (Гинзбург 2). A new wave of persecutions was not long in coming. This time the misfortune arose from my own righteous labors (2a).

3-83 • ЗАСТА́ТЬ ⟨ЗАСТИ́ГНУТЬ⟩ ВРАСПЛО́Х кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to appear suddenly, surprise s.o. when he is unprepared: X застал Y-а врасплох ≃ X caught ⟨took⟩ Y unaware(s); X caught Y off guard; X caught Y napping; X took Y by surprise.

Он [Хлебников] поражал необычностью своих внутренних масштабов, инородностью своей мысли… Неожиданность ходов этой мысли застигала хлебниковского собеседника врасплох (Лившиц 1). He [Khlebnikov] amazed one by his extraordinary inner dimensions, by his heterogeneity of thought…. The unexpected currents of this thought would catch Khlebnikov's collocutor unawares (1a).

3-84 • вопрос НА ЗАСЫ́ПКУ coll [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif] (a question that is) very difficult and intended to baffle s.o.: a stumper; a tricky question.

…Задал Гладышев мерину вопрос, что называется «на засыпку»: «А вот ты мне скажи, Ося, ежели тебя, к примеру, на фронт возьмут, ты за кого воевать будешь — за наших или за немцев?» (Войнович 2). …[Gladishev] posed the gelding a question of the sort known as "stumpers." "Now answer me this, Osya: If, for example, they send you to the front, who are you going to fight for, us or the Germans?" (2a).

3-85 • жить КАК ЗАТВО́РНИК ⟨ОТШЕ́ЛЬНИК, МОНА́Х⟩ occas. humor [как + NP; these forms only; adv] to live in isolation, live a solitary life: live like a hermit ⟨a recluse, a monk⟩; live the life of a hermit ⟨a recluse⟩; live ⟨lead⟩ an ⟨the⟩ ascetic life; shut o.s. off from (the rest of) the world ⟨away (from the rest of the world)⟩; be secluded from the world.

3-86 • БЕЗ ЗАТЕ́Й [PrepP; Invar; adv; often preceded by попросту, просто etc] simply, without pretense: without any to-do ⟨fuss⟩; without whimsy ⟨fanfare⟩; without trying to be too clever.

«Взял я как-то клочок бумаги… натянул на левую руку перчатку и написал: „Во время пребывания в Англии Галчинский был завербован британской разведкой". И подписал простенько, без затей: „Зоркий глаз"» (Войнович 4). "I took a scrap of paper… put a glove on my left hand, and wrote: 'During his stay in England Galchinsky was recruited by British Intelligence.' Then I signed it simply, without any to-do, Eagle Eye" (4a).

3-87 • ЗАТЕ́М ЧТО [subord Conj; introduces a clause of reason] for the reason that: because; since; for the reason that; as.

«Зачем же он вздумал идти в Иерусалим?»… «Затем… потому… оттого, затем что…» Я решительно замялся, не сказал ни слова больше и чувствовал, что, ежели этот злодей-учитель хоть год целый будет молчать и вопросительно смотреть на меня, я всё-таки не в состоянии буду произнести более ни одного звука (Толстой 2). "Why did he take it into his head to go to Jerusalem?" "Since… because… for the reason that…" I dried up completely and said not a word more, and I felt that even if this devil-teacher remained silent and looked at me with that question in his eyes for a whole year, I would still not be capable of uttering another sound (2b).

3-88 • ДЛЯ ЗАТРА́ВКИ; НА ЗАТРА́ВКУ coll [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] as a beginning: for starters ⟨openers⟩; for a start ⟨a kickoff⟩; [lim.] that's just for starters.

3-89 • В ЗАТЫ́ЛОК идти, шагать, стоять, строиться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to walk, march, stand, line up etc) in a row, with each person positioned immediately behind another: (in) single file; Indian file; in a file; one behind the other.

Тропинка была узкая, и нам пришлось идти в затылок. The path was narrow, and we had to walk single file.

3-90 • ЧЕСА́ТЬ ЗАТЫ́ЛОК ⟨ЗАТЫ́ЛКИ, В ЗАТЫ́ЛКЕ, В ЗАТЫ́ЛКАХ⟩ highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to be puzzled, perplexed by sth.: X чешет затылок ≃ X scratches his head (in bewilderment ⟨in wonder etc⟩); X scratches his head and wonders; X is at a loss.

Инженеры часто затылки чесали: дорога, к примеру, далеко недостаточно загрунтована, а по нарядам шлака отсыпано вдвое больше, чем по проекту… (Иоффе 1). The engineers often scratched their heads in wonder—a road, for instance, was by no means sufficiently primed and yet, according to the register, twice as much clinker had been used as should have been according to plan… (1a).

2. disapprov to do nothing, usu. when one should be working: X чесал в затылке ≃ X stood around gaping; X sat around and did nothing.

3-91 • ЗАХОДИ́ТЬ/ЗАЙТИ́ (СЛИ́ШКОМ) ДАЛЕКО́; (СЛИ́ШКОМ) ДАЛЕКО́ ХВАТИ́ТЬ [VP; subj: human (all variants) or abstr (variants with заходить/зайти only); when слишком is not directly stated, it is implied] (of a person) to go beyond the accepted norms in one's behavior or speech, (of a joke) to go beyond the permissible, beyond what is considered in good taste, (of an argument, matter etc) to go beyond a critical point, the point at which its course might have been reversed: X зашёл слишком далеко ≃ X has gone too far; that's going too far; person X has overstepped the limits ⟨the bounds⟩; [lim.] person X is pushing it; [of a matter etc] things have gotten out of hand; the situation has become ⟨has gotten⟩ serious.

…Преуменьшать значения молитвы… нельзя. Далеко зашёл старик. С душком, с нехорошим душком молитва (Абрамов 1). …The importance of the prayer could not be underestimated. The old man had gone too far. It had a nasty smell to it, that prayer (1a).. ♦ Куртка его зелёно-коричневой пижамы расстёгивалась крупными пуговицами и не была тесна, и кажется бы не трудно было её снять, но при вытягивании рук отдалось в шее, и Павел Николаевич простонал. О, как далеко зашло дело! (Солженицын 10). His green and brown pajama jacket had large buttons and was the right size. No one would have thought it could be difficult to take off. But when he stretched his arms it pulled at his neck and Pavel Nikolayevich groaned. The situation was serious! (10a).

3-92 • КАК ЗАЧАРО́ВАННЫЙ ⟨ЗАВОРОЖЁННЫЙ, ЗАКОЛДО́ВАННЫЙ⟩ смотреть на кого-что, слушать кого-что и т.п. [как+ AdjP; nom only; adv] be completely absorbed (while listening to s.o. or sth., looking at s.o. or sth.): as if spellbound ⟨entranced, enchanted, hypnotized⟩; as if bound by a spell; as if in a trance; stare ⟨listen⟩ transfixed ⟨fascinated⟩; fascinated, s.o. kept looking ⟨listening etc⟩.

Гладышев, поднявшись на четвереньки, как заворожённый следил за коровой (Войнович 2). Now on his hands and knees, Gladishev watched the cow as if spellbound (2a).

3-93 • труслив(ый), пуглив(ый), робок КАК ЗА́ЯЦ derog or humor [как + NP; Invar; modif (intensif)] (of a person who is) very cowardly, easily frightened, extremely shy: (as) timid as a rabbit ⟨mouse⟩; (as) cowardly as a chicken ⟨as a dog with his tail between his legs⟩.

3-94 • ОДНО́ (ТО́ЛЬКО) ЗВА́НИЕ осталось (от чего); ОДНО́ (ТО́ЛЬКО) ЗВА́НИЕ (, что…) all highly coll [NP; sing only; often the main clause in a complex sent] s.o. or sth. is referred to by some name that he or it does not seem to merit, no longer merits etc (not displaying the characteristic qualities associated with that name): от X-а одно звание осталось ≃ X is a [NP] in name only; only the name (of X) remains ⟨is left⟩.

3-95 • И ЗВА́НИЯ НЕТ кого-чего or кому-чему obs, substand [VP; impers; usu. pres] there is no sign of s.o. or sth., s.o. or sth. is completely absent, has disappeared or ceased to exist: X-а и звания нет ≃ there isn't (even) a trace of X; there isn't a hint of thing X.

3-96 • МНО́ГО ЗВА́НЫХ, НО ⟨ДА⟩ МА́ЛО И́ЗБРАННЫХ [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] very few of the many who desire to enter an elite group have the ability or good fortune to succeed, few of the many working in the fields of science, art etc have real talent or a genuine calling: many are called, but few are chosen.

«Много званых, но мало избранных, — так начал он речь свою, — очень рад, господа, что имею дело с почтенными представителями одного из почтеннейших сословий нашего любимого отечества…» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "Many have been called, but few chosen," he began his speech. "I'm very happy, gentlemen, that I shall be dealing today with the worthy representatives of one of the worthiest estates of our beloved country…" (2a).

< From the Bible (Matt. 22:14).

3-97 • ЗВЁЗД С НЕ́БА НЕ ХВАТА́ТЬ coll, condes [VP; subj: human; usu. 3rd pers; pres or past] to have mediocre abilities, be incapable of great achievements: X звёзд с неба не хватает ≃ X will not set the world on fire; X is not one of the brightest lights (in some field); X is no genius ⟨rocket scientist⟩; X is not the sharpest knife in the drawer ⟨the brightest crayon in the box⟩.

[Нина:] Послушай! Что ты против него имеешь? Он простой, скромный парень. Допустим, он звёзд с неба не хватает, ну и что?.. Я считаю, это даже к лучшему. Мне Цицерона не надо, мне мужа надо (Вампилов 4). [Нина:] Listen! What do you have against him? He's a simple, modest fellow. Admittedly, he's no genius, but so what?… I consider that's all to the good. I don't need a Cicero, I need a husband (4b).

3-98 • ВОСХОДЯ́ЩАЯ ЗВЕЗДА́ (чего); ВОСХОДЯ́ЩЕЕ СВЕТИ́ЛО [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] a person beginning to acquire widespread renown in some field: a rising star; an up-and-coming [NP].

Когда настроение духа становилось совершенно невыносимым, на помощь приходило вино, и небольшая компания, состоящая из старых одноклассников Мольера… а кроме них — Лафонтена, Буало и восходящей звезды — Жана Расина, собиралась время от времени то в кабачке Белого Барана, то в Еловой Шишке (Булгаков 5). When things became unbearable, Molière took refuge in wine and a small company of former classmates, with the addition of La Fontaine, Boileau, and the rising star, Jean Racine, which gathered from time to time either at the Mouton Blanc tavern or at the Croix de Lorraine (5a).

3-99 • ЗВЕЗДА́ ПЕ́РВОЙ ВЕЛИЧИНЫ́ [NP; fixed WO] a well-known person who has become famous for his achievements in some field: star of the first magnitude; one of the brightest stars (in some field); [lim.] superstar.

…Широкому кругу читателей он [Бунин] был мало заметен среди шумной толпы — как он с горечью выразился — «литературного базара». Его затмевали звёзды первой величины, чьи имена были на устах у всех: Короленко, Куприн, Горький, Леонид Андреев, Мережковский, Фёдор Сологуб… (Катаев 3). …For the wider public he [Bunin] did not stand out from among the noisy crowd of what he bitterly called the "literary bazaar." He was overshadowed by stars of the first magnitude, whose names were on every lip: Korolenko, Kuprin, Gorky, Leonid Andreyev, Merezhkovsky, Fyodor Sologub… (3a).

3-100 • ПУТЕВО́ДНАЯ ЗВЕЗДА́ [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] a person, idea etc directing s.o.'s life, activities, providing guidance: guiding light ⟨star⟩; lodestar.

Она мигом взвесила свою власть над ним [Обломовым], и ей нравилась эта роль путеводной звезды, луча света, который она разольёт над стоячим озером и отразится в нём (Гончаров 1). Swiftly she gauged her power over him [Oblomov]: she liked the role of guiding star, of a beam of light shed on a stagnant pool and reflected by it (1b).

3-101 • РОДИ́ТЬСЯ ПОД СЧАСТЛИ́ВОЙ ЗВЕЗДО́Й [VP; subj: human] to be very lucky, be fortunate in everything: X родился под счастливой звездой ≃ X was born under a lucky star.

Под счастливой звездой родился критик Латунский. Она спасла его от встречи с Маргаритой, ставшей ведьмой в эту пятницу! (Булгаков 9). The critic Latunsky had been born under a lucky star—it saved him from meeting with Margarita, who had become a witch that Friday (9a).

3-102 • ВЕ́РИТЬ В (СЧАСТЛИ́ВУЮ) ЗВЕЗДУ́ чью [VP; subj: human] to believe that one (or someone else) will have good fortune in life: X верит в свою ⟨Y-ову⟩ счастливую звезду ≃ X believes in his ⟨Y's⟩ lucky star; X believes that he ⟨Y⟩ was born under a lucky star; X believes that luck is on his ⟨Y's⟩ side.

И хотя дядя Сандро верил в свою звезду, как никто в мире, он всё-таки сильно волновался (Искандер 5). If ever anyone believed in his lucky star it was Uncle Sandro, yet he was still very worried (5a).

3-103 • ДО ЗВЕЗДЫ́ obs [PrepP; Invar; adv] until it has become dark: till the first stars appear; till nightfall; till night falls; until dark ⟨darkness⟩.

3-104 • СЧИТА́ТЬ ЗВЁЗДЫ [VP; subj: human] 1. to be a dreamer, fantasize: X считает звёзды ≃ X has his head in the clouds; X is a stargazer ⟨a daydreamer⟩; X is stargazing ⟨daydreaming⟩.

2. to gape, be idle: X считал звёзды ≃ X stared into space; X loafed around; X frittered away his ⟨the⟩ time.

3-105 • БУДИ́ТЬ/ПРОБУДИ́ТЬ ⟨РАЗБУДИ́ТЬ⟩ ЗВЕ́РЯ в ком coll, often humor [VP; subj: human or abstr; usu. past or neg imper] to arouse s.o.'s crude instincts: X пробудил зверя в Y-е ≃ X brought out ⟨awakened⟩ the beast in Y; X brought out ⟨aroused⟩ Y's baser ⟨animal⟩ instincts.

«Я Лев Рубашкин». — «Знаете, Лев Рубашкин, не пробуждайте во мне зверя, уходите отсюда». Великого комбинатора толкал на борьбу недоумевающий взгляд Александра Ивановича. «Вот ещё новости, — сказал корреспондент заносчиво» (Ильф и Петров 2). "I'm Leo Shirtikov." "Listen, Leo Shirtikov, don't awaken the beast in me, just go away." Koreiko's puzzled look compelled the grand strategist to get into a fight. "Absolutely not," said the journalist feistily (2d).

3-106 • СЛЫ́ШАЛ ЗВОН, ДА НЕ ЗНА́ЕШЬ ⟨НЕ ЗНА́ЕТ⟩, ГДЕ ОН [saying] you have (he has etc) muddled, confused, and are incorrectly or incompletely relaying some information: ≃ you've ⟨he's etc⟩ got it all wrong; you don't ⟨he doesn't etc⟩ know what you're ⟨he's etc⟩ talking about; you've ⟨he's etc⟩ got everything all mixed up ⟨all backwards⟩.

3-107 • ОТ ЗВОНКА́ ДО ЗВОНКА́ отсидеть, отработать и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; more often used with pfv verbs] (to serve in prison, stay at work etc) the entire required length of time, (participate in sth.) from the very beginning to the very end: (participate in sth. etc) from start to finish ⟨(the) beginning to (the) end, the first day to the last etc⟩; (stick out etc) the whole day ⟨year etc⟩; [in refer. to work only] (put in) a full day; (stay) till the whistle blows; [in refer. to prison, a labor camp etc] (serve out) one's ⟨the⟩ full term ⟨sentence⟩; (do one's) full time ⟨five years etc⟩).

При старом начальнике можно было уйти раньше, если не было работы, а теперь приходится отсиживать от звонка до звонка. Under the old boss we could go home early if there wasn't any work to be done, but now we have to stick out the whole day. ♦ «За икону я три года от звонка до звонка в зоне оттрубил» (Чернёнок 1). "I did my full three years for the icon" (1a).

3-108 • ЗАДАВА́ТЬ/ЗАДА́ТЬ ЗВО́НУ кому substand [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to scold s.o. severely: X задал звону Y-у ≃ X gave it to Y (good); X gave Y hell; X let Y have it (with both barrels ⟨in spades⟩); X raked Y over the coals; Y caught hell (from X).

3-109 • ПУСТО́Й ЗВУК; ПУСТЫ́Е ⟨ОДНИ́⟩ СЛОВА́ [NP; usu. sing (1st var.), pl only (2nd var.); often subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr)] words, statements etc perceived by s.o. as lacking sense, meaning, or not deserving of attention: (just ⟨nothing more than⟩) empty ⟨meaningless⟩ words ⟨phrases⟩; merely words; mere words ⟨verbiage⟩; (sth.) rings hollow (for s.o.).

«Отлуплю самолично», — пообещал Антон. И это были не пустые слова. Кулаки у доктора были пудовые (Гинзбург 2). "I'll deal with him personally," Anton promised. And these were not empty words: the doctor had fists of iron… (2a).

3-110 • НИ ЗВУ́КА [NP_{gen}; Invar] 1. [used as subj/gen (with implied predic не слышно)] (in some place) it is totally quiet: (there is) not a sound to be heard.

Юра прошёл по дорожке, обсаженной цветами, и очутился перед двухэтажной дачей… Ни души, ни звука (Рыбаков 2). [context transl] Yuri walked along the path edged with flowers and found himself before a two-story dacha… There was no sign of life (2a).

2. ~ (кому о ком-чём), ~ нет о ком-чём (где) [usu. predic (subj: human) or $subj_{gen}$] (may be used as a request or command to be silent, not to tell s.o. about sth.) one does not utter a word (about some person or thing) to s.o., not a word is written somewhere (about some person or thing): X ни звука (о Z-е) ≃ [in past contexts] X didn't say anything ⟨a word⟩ (about Z); X didn't breathe a word (about Z); X didn't let out a peep (about Z); || Imper Y-у (о Z-е) ни звука ≃ don't say anything ⟨a word⟩ (about Z) to Y; not ⟨don't breathe⟩ a word (about Z) to Y; not a peep to Y (about Z); || в книге ⟨статье и т.п.⟩ нет ни звука о Z-е ≃ the book ⟨article etc⟩ doesn't mention ⟨say anything about⟩ Z; there is nothing about Z in the book ⟨the article etc⟩.

«Сергей Львович, — сказал он, войдя к хозяину, — у меня должен переночевать один товарищ. Это необходимо… Слышите? И — молчок. Никому ни звука» (Федин 1). "Sergei Lvovich," he said, going to the landlord's room, "a comrade has to spend the night with me. It's essential…. Do you hear? And—mum's the word. Not a peep to anyone" (1a).

3-111 • НИ ЗГИ (НЕ ВИ́ДНО ⟨НЕ ВИДА́ТЬ⟩); ЗГИ НЕ ВИ́ДНО ⟨НЕ ВИДА́ТЬ⟩; (НИ) ЗГИ НЕ ВИ́ДЕТЬ all coll [impers sent with $быть_{ø}$ or VP, subj: human (var. with не видеть)] it is so dark that nothing can be seen, discerned: it is pitch-black ⟨pitch-dark⟩; there is pitch-darkness (all around); || X не видел ни зги ≃ X couldn't see a thing (in the dark); X couldn't see an inch before his face; X couldn't see his hand in front of his face.

Глубокая, полная тишина стояла в доме. Но минут через десять я снова услышала, как внизу, в вестибюле, прогудела дверь. Я вскочила и подбежала к окну. Раздвинула занавески. Ни зги, но ясно слышно, как заводят машину (Чуковская 2). A deep, absolute silence pervaded the house. But ten minutes later I heard the hiss of the door again in the hall downstairs. I jumped up and ran to the window. I drew the curtains aside. It was pitch-black but I could clearly hear the starting of a car (2a).

3-112 • (ЗА) ВА́ШЕ ⟨ТВОЁ⟩ ЗДОРО́ВЬЕ! [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] a wish that the person to whom the toast is raised enjoy health, good fortune: (here's) to your health!; (to) good health!; here's to you!

[Студзинский:] Елена Васильевна очень красивая. Ваше здоровье! (Булгаков 4). [S.:] Elena Vasilievna is very beautiful. To your health! (4a).

3-113 • НА ЗДОРО́ВЬЕ coll [PrepP; Invar; often used with imper] 1. [adv or formula phrase] (usu. used to encourage s.o. to eat or drink when offered, or as a response to s.o.'s thanks) may it prove beneficial: [when offering food or drink] (please) help yourself; eat ⟨drink⟩ in good health; take as much as you like; || пусть X ест ⟨пьёт⟩ ~ ≃ let X ⟨X is welcome to⟩ help himself; may X eat ⟨drink⟩ in good health; let X ⟨X is welcome to⟩ take as much as he likes; || [in response to s.o.'s thanks] you're (very) welcome; you're welcome, I'm sure; my pleasure.

[Расположенский:] Я, Аграфена Кондратьевна, рюмочку выпью. [Аграфена Кондратьевна:] Кушай, батюшко, на здоровье! (Островский 10). [R.:] I'll just try a drop or two, Agrafena Kondratevna. [A.K.:] Please help yourself, my dear fellow (10a).

2. [adv] (if a person, animal etc wants to do sth., let him go ahead and do it) as long as or as much as he wants: to one's heart's content; as much ⟨long⟩ as one likes; and welcome to it.

[Саша:] Папа, ведь это ложь! [Лебедев:] Ну, так что же? Пусть себе мелют на здоровье… (Чехов 4). [S:] Papa, that's a lie! [L:] Well, what does it matter? Let them babble on to their heart's content… (4a). ♦ Разосланные по всем городам и селам Абхазии гонцы рассказывали народу, что Джамхух — Сын Оленя, просыпаясь, по утрам жуёт жвачку. Но народ спокойно отнёсся к этому известию… «Пусть себе жуёт жвачку на здоровье, лишь бы помогал нам советами и предсказаниями» (Искандер 5). The heralds who had been sent through all the cities and villages of Abkhazia told the people that Jamkhoukh, Son of the Deer, chewed his cud when he woke up in the morning. But the people took this news in stride…. "Let him chew his cud, and welcome to it, so long as he helps us with advice and predictions" (5a).

3-114 • НАЧА́ТЬ ЗА ЗДРА́ВИЕ, А КО́НЧИТЬ ⟨СВЕСТИ́⟩ ЗА УПОКО́Й coll [VP; subj: human; usu. past; fixed WO] (of the disparity between a good beginning and a bad ending in words and actions) to begin pleasantly, but end sadly, unpleasantly: X-ы ⟨X и Y⟩ начали за здравие, а кончили за упокой ≃ Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ started out smiling and ⟨but⟩ ended up crying; Xs ⟨X and Y⟩ began with laughter and ⟨but⟩ ended with tears; X and Y met as friends and ⟨but⟩ parted as enemies; X and Y started out playing and ⟨but⟩ ended up fighting.

Каждые первые две строки свидетельствовали для Лёвы о бесспорном природном гении Лермонтова; если бы всё оно [стихотворение] было составлено из этих первых строк минус вторые, то всё было бы так же хорошо, почти как у Пушкина. Но зато вторые две… боже! зачем же так! всё насмарку; начал за здравие, кончил за упокой… (Битов 2). [context transl] For Lyova, the first two lines of each stanza bespoke Lermontov's indisputable natural genius; if the whole poem had been made up of these first lines, minus the second ones, it would have been just as good, almost, as Pushkin's. But then the second two… good God, why does he do it! The whole thing falls flat, he goes from the sublime to the ridiculous (2a).

3-115 • ЗДРА́ВИЯ ЖЕЛА́Ю ⟨-ем⟩! [formula phrase; these forms only; fixed WO] a form of greeting used in the army by one of lower rank in answer to the greeting of s.o. of higher rank: good day, sir!

Я знаю, старые кавказцы любят поговорить, порассказать; им так редко это удаётся: другой лет пять стоит где-нибудь в захолустье с ротой, и целые пять лет ему никто не скажет здравствуйте (потому что фельдфебель говорит здравия желаю) (Лермонтов 1). I know that Caucasian veterans love to talk; they so rarely have the opportunity. He would be another five years with a company in some remote place, and for five whole years no one would say "hello" to him (because a sergeant-major always says "good day, sir!") (1d).

3-116 • ВО́Т ТЕБЕ И ЗДРА́ВСТВУЙ(ТЕ)! highly coll; ВО́Т ТЕ (И) ЗДРА́ВСТВУЙ(ТЕ)! substand [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express bewilderment, vexation, surprise etc: how do you like that!; well I like that!; (well,) this is a fine how-do-you-do!; (well,) if that don't beat all!; isn't that just dandy!

3-117 • ЗА ТРИ́ДЕВЯТЬ ЗЕМЕ́ЛЬ (от кого-чего) coll or folk poet [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. human or concr); fixed WO] very far away: at ⟨to⟩ the other end of the world; far, far away; a long, long way (away); [lim.] in ⟨to⟩ a faraway land; [in refer. to location only] miles ⟨oceans⟩ apart; [in refer. to direction only] to the ends of the earth.

Через минуту они уже были за тридевять земель, врывались на скорости 90 в тоннельный мрак под площадью Маяковского (Аксёнов 6). A minute later they were already at the other end of the world, tearing along at ninety kilometers into the gloom of the tunnel under Mayakovsky Square (6a). ♦ Конечно, это были смешные письма — хотя бы потому, что почти в каждом письме он сообщал, что ему «живётся всё хуже и хуже», как будто мы были за тридевять земель друг от друга (Каверин 1). Of course these were ridiculous letters, if only because in nearly every one he informed me that "his life grew worse and worse," as though we were miles apart (1a).

3-118 • ПРЕДАВА́ТЬ/ПРЕДА́ТЬ ЗЕМЛЕ́ кого lit [VP; subj: human] to inter s.o.: X предал Y-а ⟨тело Y-а⟩ земле ≃ X committed Y ⟨Y's body⟩ to the earth; X consigned Y ⟨Y's body⟩ to the grave; X laid Y to rest; X buried Y.

И предали Настёну земле среди своих, только чуть с краешку, у покосившейся изгороди (Распутин 2). They committed Nastyona to the earth among her own, but over to the side by the sagging fence (2a).

3-119 • СРОВНЯ́ТЬ С ЗЕМЛЁЙ что [VP; subj: human (often pl) or collect] to demolish sth. (often a town, village etc) utterly, esp. during wartime: X-ы сровняли Y с землёй ≃ Xs (totally) destroyed Y; Xs razed ⟨leveled⟩ Y to the ground; Xs laid Y waste; Xs tore ⟨pulled⟩ Y down; Xs plowed Y under.

Женщинам нечего было терять, и они крыли директора густым южнорусским матом… Но он не успокоился, пока не сровнял с землёй и не засыпал их жалкое логово (Мандельштам 2). The women had nothing to lose, and they started cursing the director in a south Russian accent, using the foulest words they knew…. But the director went on undeterred until he had destroyed their pitiful burrow and filled in the hole where it had stood (2a).

3-120 • ЗЕМЛИ́ ПОД СОБО́Й НЕ СЛЫ́ШАТЬ ⟨НЕ ЧУ́ЯТЬ⟩ obs [VP; subj: human; pres or past] to be very happy, in ecstasy (over sth.): X земли под собой не слышал ≃ X was walking on air; X was beside himself (with joy etc); X was on top of the world.

3-121 • ИЗ-ПОД ЗЕМЛИ́ достать, добыть кого-что; ПОД ЗЕМЛЁЙ найти кого-что both coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to reach, find s.o. or sth.) without fail, no matter how difficult it is, no matter where he or it might be: (get sth. ⟨find s.o. etc⟩) at any cost ⟨at all costs, no matter what the cost, by whatever means necessary, no matter what it takes⟩.

«Это сыпняк, и притом в довольно тяжёлой форме. Она порядком мучится, бедняжка. Я бы посоветовал поместить её в больницу… Хоть из-под земли достаньте извозчика…» (Пастернак 1). "…She's got typhus—a severe case, poor thing; she must be feeling pretty wretched. My advice to you is to put her in a hospital…. Now, get a cab at any cost…" (1a).

3-122 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ИЗ-ПОД ЗЕМЛИ́ ⟨ИЗ ЗЕМЛИ́⟩ вырасти, появиться coll [как etc + PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to appear) suddenly, unexpectedly: (as if ⟨as though⟩) out of nowhere; (spring up) from nowhere; as if out of the ground; as if out of thin air; as if by magic.

Тотчас рядом с нею [Лилит], словно из-под земли, вырос Смарагд… (Обухова 1). At once, as though out of nowhere, Emerald appeared beside her [Lilith]… (1a).

3-123 • ОТ ЗЕМЛИ́ НЕ ВИДА́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ВИ́ДНО⟩ кого coll [these forms only; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; usu. pres] (in refer. to the height of a child or an adult who is the size of a child) very small: X-а от земли не видать ≃ X is very short ⟨little⟩; X is pint-size; X is knee-high to a grasshopper; X is a half pint ⟨a little bit of a thing⟩.

3-124 • ГОТО́В ⟨РАД⟩ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ; ХОТЬ ⟨ЛУ́ЧШЕ⟩ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ кому all coll [subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: human (variants with готов, рад); impers predic with быть$_{ø}$ (variants with хоть, лучше)] to feel like hiding, disappearing out of embarrassment, shame: X готов сквозь землю провалиться ≃ X wishes the earth would ⟨could⟩ swallow him up; X wants to sink into ⟨to fall through⟩ the ground; X wants to ⟨wishes he could⟩ sink through the floor.

…Лизке так стыдно стало за себя перед братом, что она готова была сквозь землю провалиться (Абрамов 1). Lizka felt so ashamed of herself in front of her brother that she wished the earth could swallow her up (1a). ♦ «Не поверишь, лучше сквозь землю провалиться, чем в такое дурацкое положение попадать…» (Чернёнок 1). "You won't believe it but it's better to fall through the ground than to find yourself in a situation like that" (1a).

3-125 • ЗЕ́МЛЮ ЕСТЬ БУ́ДУ substand [sent; this form only; usu. this WO] I swear that I am telling the truth (or that I will fulfill my promise): may lightning strike me (dead); may God strike me dead; may I eat dirt.

«Степановна, землю буду есть, что кур твоих испортили. Где ж это видано! Ведь таких и курьих болезней нет! Это твоих кур кто-то заколдовал» (Булгаков 10). "Stepanovna, may I eat dirt, but I'll say your chickens got the evil eye. Who's ever seen the likes of it? Why, there ain't no chicken sickness of this kind! Somebody sure bewitched your chickens" (10a).

3-126 • ЗЕ́МЛЮ РО́ЕТ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] one engages in ceaseless activity, makes every effort to achieve or obtain sth. (usu. motivated by selfish considerations): X землю рыть будет ≃ X will do his damnedest; X will go to any length ⟨to great lengths⟩; X will move heaven and earth.

…В НЭП [период новой экономической политики] выделили группу ИТР, инженерно-технических работников, а писатели рыли землю, чтобы стать «инженерами человеческих душ» и получить свою долю (Мандельштам 2). During NEP [the New Economic Policy], engineers and technicians were picked out to become a favored group, and writers began to move heaven and earth to be recognized as "engineers of human souls," thus making certain of a share in the cake (2a).

3-127 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ПРОВАЛИ́ЛСЯ; ПРОВА́ЛИВАТЬСЯ/ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ all coll [как etc + VP, usu. pfv past (1st var.); VP with subj: human, animal, or concr (2nd var.); the verb is usu. in the final position] to disappear unexpectedly, leaving no trace: X как сквозь землю провалился ≃ it is as if the earth had swallowed X (up); it is as if X had been swallowed up by the earth; X has ⟨seems to have⟩ vanished into thin air ⟨into the ground, from the face of the earth⟩.

Иван сделал попытку ухватить негодяя за рукав, но промахнулся и ровно ничего не поймал. Регент как сквозь землю провалился (Булгаков 9). Ivan tried to catch the rogue by the sleeve, but missed and caught exactly nothing: the choirmaster seemed to have vanished into thin air (9a). Ivan tried to grab the rascal by the sleeve, but missed and caught hold of nothing. The choirmaster seemed to have vanished into the ground (9c).

3-128 • ЧТО́Б МНЕ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ!; ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ МНЕ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ⟨В ТАРТАРАРЫ́⟩!; ЧТО́Б МНЕ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ (В ТАРТАРАРЫ́)! all highly coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] I swear that I am telling the truth (or that I will fulfill my promise): may the earth swallow me up (if…); may the earth open up and swallow me (if…); damn me if…; may I drop dead (if…); may I burn in hell (if…); may lightning strike me (dead) (if…); may I be struck (dead) by lightning (if…).

Провалиться мне сквозь землю, если не докажу, что я прав. May the earth swallow me up if I don't prove I'm right. ♦ «Вот он, чтоб мне провалиться! — ринулся на Фандорина гусар и стал трясти его за плечи… — А говорили, тебя в Сербии турки на кол посадили!» (Акунин 5). "There he is, damn me if he isn't!" The hussar dashed at Fandorin and began shaking him by the shoulders… "And they told me the Turks had set you on a stake in Serbia!" (5a).

3-129 • ЧТО́Б ТЕБЕ ⟨ему, ей, вам, им⟩ СКВОЗЬ ЗЕ́МЛЮ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ!; ЧТО́Б ТЕБЕ ⟨ему и т.п.⟩ ПРОВАЛИ́ТЬСЯ (В ТАРТАРАРЫ́)! all highly coll, rude [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express one's intense annoyance, vexation, anger directed at s.o.: (why don't you ⟨doesn't he etc⟩) go to hell!; to hell with you ⟨him etc⟩!; may you ⟨he etc⟩ burn in hell!; damn you to hell!; God damn you ⟨him etc⟩!

Никанор Иванович… подхватил на вилку три куска селёдки… и в это время позвонили… Проглотив слюну, Никанор Иванович заворчал, как пёс: «А чтоб вам провалиться! Поесть не дадут» (Булгаков 9). Nikanor Ivanovich… picked up three slices of herring with his fork… at this moment the doorbell rang…. Swallowing his saliva, Nikanor Ivanovich growled like a dog: "Why don't they go to hell! A man can't eat in peace…" (9a).

3-130 • ЗЕМЛЯ́ ГОРИ́Т ПОД НОГА́МИ чьими, у кого [VP_{subj}; pres or past; fixed WO] 1. usu. словно ⟨как будто⟩ земля горит под ногами s.o. is compelled to run away from some place or to some place very quickly: X убегал, как будто земля горела у него под ногами ≃ X ran off like the wind ⟨like greased lightning⟩.

2. s.o. is in a difficult, dangerous situation: земля горела у X-а под ногами ≃ X was sitting ⟨living⟩ on a volcano; X was in hot water; things were getting hot for X.

3-131 • ЗЕМЛЯ́ ДЕ́РЖИТСЯ на таких…, на таких (людях), как… и т.п. coll [VP_{subj}; pres only; fixed WO] the highest moral standards, behavior of exceptional virtue is exhibited (by the person or people in question and their like): (such people are) the salt of the earth; (it's X and his kind who) keep the world ⟨the globe⟩ turning.

«Меня в деревне Иван Акимычем кликали. Калачёв фамилиё [ungrammat = фамилия]…» Пожалуй, Влад и до этого знал: такими калачёвыми земля держится…» (Максимов 2). "Back home they call me Ivan Akimych. Kalachev's my last name…." Vlad already knew that it was Kalachev and his kind who keep the globe turning… (2a).

3-132 • ЗЕМЛЯ́ ПЛЫВЁТ/ПОПЛЫЛА́ ПОД НОГА́МИ у кого [VP_{subj}; usu. pres or past; fixed WO] s.o. experiences extreme agitation, a strong attack of emotion: земля поплыла у X-а под ногами ≃ the ground ⟨the earth⟩ trembled ⟨shook⟩ beneath X's feet; (it seemed to X that) the whole world turned upside down.

Я взял конверт и взглянул на адрес. Земля поплыла у меня под ногами, и стены стали валиться на меня… Почерк Нэтти! (Богданов 1). I took the envelope and glanced at the address. The ground trembled beneath my feet and the walls came crashing down around me…. Netti's handwriting! (1a).

3-133 • (И) КАК (ТО́ЛЬКО ⟨ЕЩЁ⟩) ЗЕМЛЯ́ НО́СИТ ⟨ТЕ́РПИТ, ДЕ́РЖИТ⟩ кого highly coll [VP_{subj}; pres only; fixed WO] how can the mere existence of s.o. be possible, permissible (usu. in refer. to a scoundrel, rascal): как только X-а земля носит ≃ how the earth can tolerate X's presence is beyond me; how the earth can bear to have X's feet on it beats me; why doesn't the earth swallow X (up)?; it's a wonder the earth doesn't open and swallow X (up); it's a wonder people like X are allowed to live.

«Сука ты сука, Бочкарёв, и другого названия тебе нету. И как только земля тебя по себе носит, Бочкарёв?» (Максимов 3). "You're a bastard, Bochkarev, a lousy bastard, there's no other word for you. How the earth can bear to have your feet on it beats me, Bochkarev" (3a). ♦ «Какими ты глазами на меня [, на свою сестру,] глядишь? И-и-и, бессовестный!.. Как тебя земля держит!» (Шолохов 2). "How can you look like this at your sister? Have you no shame? It's a wonder the earth don't open and swallow you up!" (2a).

3-134 • ОБЕТОВА́ННАЯ ЗЕМЛЯ́ ⟨СТРАНА́⟩; ОБЕТОВА́ННЫЙ КРА́Й all lit [NP; usu. sing] a place in which life promises to be prosperous, where people hope to become happy and successful: the promised land; the land of promise; the land of milk and honey.

Обетованная земля при наступлении французов была Москва, при отступлении была родина (Толстой 7). The promised land for the French when they invaded Russia was Moscow; when they retreated it was their native land (7a).

< From the Bible (Heb. 11:9).

3-135 • ПУСТЬ ⟨ДА⟩ БУ́ДЕТ ЗЕМЛЯ́ ПУ́ХОМ кому [VP_{subj}; these forms only] parting words said when wishing the deceased peace: пусть будет X-у земля пухом ≃ may X ⟨X's soul⟩ rest in peace; God rest X ⟨X's soul⟩.

…[Она] мне родная тёща, родная мать моей родной жены, пусть земля им обеим будет пухом… (Рыбаков 1). …She was my mother-in-law, my own wife's mother, may both their dear souls rest in peace (1a).

3-136 • В ЗЕНИ́ТЕ чего lit [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with застать кого etc (obj: human)] at the moment or during a period when one enjoys maximum (fame, recognition), has maximum success (in one's career, life) etc: at the peak (of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ fame etc); at the high ⟨crowning⟩ point (of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ career etc); in the prime ⟨at the zenith⟩ (of one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ life etc).

Агафья Матвеевна была в зените своей жизни; она жила и чувствовала, что жила полно, как прежде никогда не жила… (Гончаров 1). Agafya Matveyevna was in the prime of her life. She lived feeling that her life was full as it had never been before (1a). Agafya Matveyevna was at the zenith of her existence: she lived feeling that her life had never been so full before… (1b).

3-137 • КАК ЗЕНИ́ЦУ О́КА ⟨ПА́ЧЕ ЗЕНИ́ЦЫ О́КА obs, ПУ́ЩЕ ЗЕНИ́ЦЫ О́КА obs⟩ беречь, хранить, лелеять кого-что [как + NP (1st var.) or AdvP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (in refer. to a person or thing that one cherishes, that is very valuable etc) (to treat s.o. or sth.) as very dear, (to guard, watch over sth.) vigilantly, attentively: (guard ⟨cherish⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) like the apple of one's eye ⟨one's dearest possession⟩; (cherish ⟨treasure⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) more than one's life ⟨more than life itself⟩; (guard s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) with one's life.

«Куда ты собрался, чудак?.. Куда ты хочешь тащить грудного младенца, которого тебе поручили беречь как зеницу ока?» (Каверин 2). "Where do you think you're going, you idiot?… Where are you off to with that infant you are supposed to cherish like the apple of your eye?" (2a). ♦ «Вот вам книга… Это моя собственная книга. Берегите как зеницу ока» (Копелев 1). "Here's a book for you…. This is my own copy. Guard it with your life" (1a).

3-138 • ЗЛА НЕ ПО́МНИТЬ (на ком obs); ЗЛА НЕ ДЕРЖА́ТЬ (на кого) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] not to feel resentment toward s.o., to forgive s.o. (after a falling-out, after he has offended one etc): X зла (на Y-а) не держит ≃ X bears Y no grudge ⟨malice⟩; X doesn't hold anything against Y; X is letting bygones be bygones.

За тем, что было написано, стоял, конечно, намёк на то, что Нюра зла не помнит и готова примириться, если Иван не будет упрямиться (Войнович 2). Everything about the note hinted that Nyura bore him no grudge and was ready to make up if Ivan wouldn't stay stubborn (2a).

3-139 • ЗЛО БЕРЁТ/ВЗЯЛО́ ⟨РАЗБИРА́ЕТ/РАЗОБРА́ЛО⟩ кого (на кого); ЗЛОСТЬ БЕРЁТ/ВЗЯЛА́ ⟨РАЗБИРА́ЕТ/РАЗОБРАЛА́⟩ all coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pres or past] s.o. gets very angry (at another or on account of sth.): X-а зло взяло (на Y-а) ≃ X got ⟨was⟩ mad (at Y); X got ⟨was⟩ furious (with Y); Y ⟨that⟩ made X furious; it galled X.

[Васюта:] Я вот, к примеру, по копейке собираю, никак внучку одеть не могу, а вы на водку — сотнями, сотнями фугуете [sl = тратите]. Зло меня берёт (Вампилов 1). [V.:] Take me, for instance. I have to save every kopeck to dress my grand-daughter, and here you go splurging hundreds and hundreds on booze. Makes me furious (1a).

3-140 • СРЫВА́ТЬ/СОРВА́ТЬ ЗЛО ⟨СЕ́РДЦЕ obs⟩ на ком, less often на чём coll [VP; subj: human] to let out one's anger by shouting at or hurting an innocent person (animal), or by striking, breaking etc some object: X сорвал зло на Y-е ≃ X took it out on Y; X vented ⟨took out, poured out⟩ his fury ⟨frustration, wrath etc⟩ on Y; X vented his spleen on Y.

«На старичишке решила зло сорвать… Ты бы в городе кой-кому рёбра пересчитала бы…» (Искандер 4). "Had to take it out on a wretched old man…. If you were going to break anyone's ribs, it should have been someone in the city" (4a).

3-141 • УПОТРЕБИ́ТЬ ВО ЗЛО что lit [VP; subj: human; obj: usu. abstr (доверие, расположение, гостеприимство, знания etc)] to use, exploit sth. (s.o.'s trust, s.o.'s friendliness, s.o.'s hospitality, one's own knowledge etc) in a despicable, base manner that harms another or others: X употребил во зло Y ≃ X used Y for evil purposes; X put Y to evil ends; X made (a) bad use of Y; X used Y against person Z; [lim.] X abused Y.

Их потомки, вооружённые высокими знаниями, употребили их во зло (Обухова 1). Their descendants, armed with great knowledge, put it to evil ends (1a).

3-142 • ЗЛО́БА ДНЯ [NP; usu. sing] a topical question, sth. that attracts general attention: the topic of the day; a burning question ⟨issue, topic⟩; the latest news.

3-143 • НА ЗЛО́БУ ДНЯ [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing postmodif or prep obj] (related to a matter, topic) of widespread interest or concern that attracts general attention: topical; dealing with the topic of the day.

«Только знаете… Газета… Политический орган райкома. Нам бы что-нибудь на злобу дня…» (Максимов 2). "The trouble is… er, this newspaper… is the political organ of the District Committee. We really need something topical…" (2a).

3-144 • ЛО́ПАТЬСЯ ОТ ЗЛО́СТИ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to be extremely angry, irritated: X лопался от злости ≃ X seethed with anger ⟨rage⟩; X was beside himself with anger ⟨rage⟩; X was hopping ⟨boiling⟩ mad.

3-145 • ЛО́ПНУТЬ СО ⟨ОТ⟩ ЗЛО́СТИ highly coll [VP; subj: human; often fut, past with чуть не, or infin with можно] to lose control of o.s. from anger, express one's extreme anger in an intense manner: X лопнет со злости ≃ X will fly into a rage; X will explode in anger; X will hit the roof ⟨the ceiling⟩; X will throw a fit; X will blow his stack ⟨his top⟩.

3-146 • ОТОГРЕВА́ТЬ/ОТОГРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ПРИГРЕВА́ТЬ/ ПРИГРЕ́ТЬ, СОГРЕВА́ТЬ/СОГРЕ́ТЬ⟩ ЗМЕЮ́ НА ГРУДИ́ ⟨ЗА ПА́ЗУХОЙ⟩ [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv past] to lavish attention, care on a person who later turns out to be ungrateful, treacherous: X отогрел змею на груди ≃ X warmed ⟨nourished, harbored⟩ a snake ⟨a serpent⟩ in his bosom; X nurtured a viper in his bosom; X nursed a viper in his bosom ⟨to his breast⟩.

Рюхин тяжело дышал, был красен и думал только об одном, что он отогрел у себя на груди змею, что он принял участие в том, кто оказался на поверку злобным врагом (Булгаков 9). Ryukhin was red, breathing heavily, and thinking of only one thing, that he had nursed a viper to his breast and shown kindness to someone who turned out to be a vicious enemy when put to the test (9c).

3-147 • ЗМЕЯ́ ПОДКОЛО́ДНАЯ rather folk, usu. rude, derog [NP; sing only; usu. this WO] (often used when addressing a person, usu. a woman) an insidious, dangerous person: a snake in the grass; a viper; [when addressing s.o.] you snake in the grass; you viper.

«Лариосика постиг ужасный удар… Милочка Рубцова, на которой, как вы знаете, он женился год тому назад, оказалась подколодной змеёй» (Булгаков 3). "Lariosik has had a most terrible blow…. You know he married Milochka Rubtsova a year ago. Well, she has turned out to be a snake in the grass!" (3a). ♦ [Ананий:] Молчи уж, по крайности, змея подколодная! (Писемский 1). [A.:] At least hold your tongue, you viper! (1a).

3-149 • ЗНА́ЕМ МЫ ВАС! coll, iron [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] (we do not trust you because) we know more about you and the type of people you represent than what you reveal about yourself or what you appear to be: we ⟨I⟩ know you (all too well)!; we ⟨I⟩ know what you're ⟨your lot is⟩ like; we ⟨I⟩ know the likes of you; we ⟨I⟩ know (all about) your type ⟨you fellows etc⟩; [lim.] we ⟨I⟩ know what kind of [NP] you are; we ⟨I⟩ know what you're up to.

«Была [шкатулочка у меня] полна, а нынче совсем опустела!» — «Полно врать, Антон Пафнутьич. Знаем мы вас; куда тебе деньги тратить, дома живёшь свинья свиньёй, никого не принимаешь, своих мужиков обдираешь…» (Пушкин 1). "It [my little coffer] used to be full, but by now it's entirely empty." "Enough of fibbing, Anton Pafnutich. We know you all too well: what would you be spending money on? You live at home like a pig in a sty, never inviting anybody and fleecing your peasants…" (1a).

3-150 • КТО́ (ЕГО ⟨её и т.п.⟩) ЗНА́ЕТ coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] no one knows, it is impossible (for s.o.) to know (often used to express the speaker's indifference to s.o. or sth.): who knows; who can tell ⟨say⟩; you can never tell; [lim.] there's no telling; how should I know?

Кто знает, быть может, пустыня и представляет в его [идиота] глазах именно ту обстановку, которая изображает собой идеал человеческого общежития? (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Who knows, perhaps in his [the idiot's] eyes the desert is the environment that best represents the ideal communal life for mankind? (1a).

3-151 • ТО́ЛЬКО И ЗНА́ЕТ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАЕТ⟩, что… coll [VP; subj: human; pres or past; foll. by another verb; fixed WO] one does only or mainly (the specified activity): X только и знает, что... ≃ X does nothing but…; all X (ever) does is…; …that's all X does; X spends all his time…

Коля числился на работе, хотя целыми днями только и делал, что пил кофе и водку за счёт бывших друзей… (Искандер 3). Although Kolya showed up at work, all he did day in and day out was drink coffee and brandy [sic] at the expense of his former friends… (3a). ♦ «Из окна острога он [разбойник] только и делал, что смотрел на играющих на тюремном дворе детей» (Достоевский 1). "He [the robber] spent all his time at the window, watching the children playing in the prison yard" (1a).

3-152 • ЗНА́ЕШЬ ⟨ЗНА́ЕТЕ⟩ ЛИ coll [these forms only; sent adv (parenth)] used to attract the hearer's attention to what has been said or to emphasize the speaker's attitude toward sth.: you know.

«Ну с талантами, знаете ли, расправляться проще простого» (Войнович 4). "But, you know, nothing could be simpler than making short work of talented people" (4a).

3-153 • КАК ЗНА́ЕШЬ coll [usu. indep. sent; 2nd or 3rd pers only; fixed WO] do as you want, he (she etc) can do as he (she etc) wants: [in direct address] (do) as you wish ⟨please, like, choose⟩; (you can) do as ⟨what⟩ you like; suit yourself; you know (what's) best; do as ⟨what⟩ you think best; [lim.] if you're sure; [in refer. to a 3rd party] X can do ⟨let X do⟩ as ⟨what⟩ he wishes ⟨pleases, likes, chooses, thinks best⟩; X can suit himself; X knows best; X knows what's best for him; [lim.] if X is sure.

[Бусыгин:] Ты как знаешь, а я пока останусь. Ненадолго (Вампилов 4). [B.:] You can do as you like, but I'm staying for a while. Not for long (4a). ♦ «Ладно, пойду», — сказала Нюра, поднимаясь. «Ну, как знаете. Люди для вас стараются, хотят сделать, как лучше, а вы…» (Войнович 4). "All right, I'm leaving," said Nyura, rising. "Well, suit yourself. People are trying to help you. They want to make the best of it, but you…" (4a).

3-154 • НЕ ЗНА́ЕШЬ, ГДЕ НАЙДЁШЬ, ГДЕ ПОТЕРЯ́ЕШЬ [saying] you can meet with unexpected success and unexpected failure at any time: ≃ anything can happen; you never know what fate may hold ⟨what fate has in store for you⟩; you never know what's around the corner.

3-155 • НУ́ ЗНА́ЕШЬ ⟨ЗНА́ЕТЕ⟩ ЛИ! highly coll [Interj; these forms only] used to express one's indignation at, strong disagreement with etc s.o.: (well) really!; well, really now!; now look here!; (now) that's going too far!; well I never!

[Зилов:] Слышите? Ваши приличия мне опротивели. [Кушак (негодует):] Ну знаешь ли! Я далеко не ханжа, но это уже слишком! (Вампилов 5). [Z.:] Do you hear? I'm sick to death of your decency. [K. (indignant):] Now look here! I'm no prude, but this is a bit much! (5a).

3-156 • ЗНАЙ НА́ШИХ! highly coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] (used to express self-satisfaction, self-praise, bravado) look at how talented, brave, invincible etc (as specified by the context) I am (we are): look at what I ⟨we⟩ can do!; I ⟨we⟩ showed 'em what I ⟨we⟩ could do!; impressed you, didn't I ⟨we⟩?; get a load of me ⟨us⟩!

3-157 • ЗНА́Й СЕБЕ highly coll [Particle; Invar; foll. by a finite form of an impfv verb; fixed WO] one continues to do sth. (despite another's command to stop, not paying attention to what is happening around him etc): keep (doing sth.); keep ⟨go⟩ (right) on (doing sth.); keep etc (doing sth.) regardless; carry on (doing sth.).

[Фёкла:] Всё сидит в халате да трубку знай себе покуривает (Гоголь 1). [F.:] He goes on sitting here in his dressing-gown and smoking away at his pipe! (1a).

3-158 • ТАК И ЗНА́Й(ТЕ) coll [indep. clause; these forms only; fixed WO] (used to intensify a prediction, threat, or comment about a state of affairs) sth. is or will be precisely as I say, I assure you: you can be sure of that ⟨of one thing…⟩; you can be sure (that…); that's for sure; I mean it; you can count on that; mark my words; [lim.] do you hear me?

[Валентина:] Было, не было — тебе-то что? Было бы, если бы он захотел! Так и знай (Вампилов 2). [V.:] Whether it happened or not—what's it to you? You can be sure of one thing—it would have happened if he'd wanted it to (2a). ♦ «Там тебе не верили и тут веры большой давать не будут, так и знай!» (Шолохов 5). "They didn't trust you over there, and back here they won't trust you [much] either, you can count on that!" (5a).

3-159 • ТО И ЗНА́Й obsoles, coll [Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] repeatedly, almost all the time: constantly; over and over (again); time and (time) again.

3-160 • В ЗНАК чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep] as an expression, indication of sth.: as a sign of ⟨that…⟩; as a token ⟨a symbol, a gesture⟩ of; in token of; by way of indicating that…; (in order) to show (sth.); || в знак согласия ⟨сочувствия, признательности и т.п.⟩ ≃ in agreement ⟨sympathy, appreciation etc⟩; || в знак протеста (против…) ≃ in protest (against…).

[Войницкий:] В знак мира и согласия я принесу сейчас букет роз… (Чехов 3). [V.:] As a token of peace and harmony I am going to bring you a bouquet of roses… (3a). ♦ «…В знак чистосердечия, я прошу вас открыть мне главное ваше пристрастие» (Толстой 5). "…In token of sincerity, I ask you to disclose to me your chief passion" (5a). ♦ «Надо посоветоваться с товарищами», — сказал редактор [Автандил Автандилович] и включил вентилятор в знак того, что летучка окончена (Искандер 6). "I'll have to consult some colleagues on this," said Avtandil Avtandilovich. Then by way of indicating that the meeting was adjourned, he switched on his office fan (6a).

3-161 • В ЗНАК ПА́МЯТИ [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (in refer. to sth. given or received as a gift) so that the recipient will be reminded in the future of s.o. or sth. special, dear etc to him in the past: as a (token of) remembrance; as a keepsake; to remember s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ by.

[Мигаев:] Да, чудак, давно б я его [портсигар] заложил, да нельзя — дарёный, в знак памяти… (Островский 11). [M.:] I'd have pawned it [the cigar case] long ago, but I mustn't; it was given to me as a token of remembrance (11a).

3-170 • ПОД ЗНА́МЕНЕМ чего rhet [PrepP; Invar; the resulting PrepP is adv] guided, driven by sth.: under ⟨beneath⟩ the banner of; in the name of.

Она [Анна Николаевна] шла в революцию под знаменем долга и жертвы, я — под знаменем моего свободного желания (Богданов 1). She [Anna Nikolaevna] had entered the revolution under the banner of duty and sacrifice, while I had joined it under the banner of my own free will (1a).

3-171 • ЗНАМЕ́НИЕ ВРЕ́МЕНИ lit [NP; usu. sing; usu. obj or subj-compl with copula (subj: abstr); fixed WO] a phenomenon typical of a certain period: a sign ⟨a symbol⟩ of the times.

«Анкет перестали бояться, — ядовито заключил Митишатьев, — вот знамение времени, так сказать… Вот и хвастают». — «Почему же хвастают? — с трудом разлепив губы, сказал Готтих. — Вот я, например, барон, а не хвастаюсь же?» (Битов 2). "People have stopped being afraid of the origin question on official forms," Mitishatyev concluded venomously. "A sign of the times, as it were. So they boast." "But why boast?" Gottich said, prying open his lips with difficulty. "Take me, for example, I'm a baron and I don't boast, do I?" (2a).

3-172 • ВЫСОКО́ ДЕРЖА́ТЬ ЗНА́МЯ (чего, чьё) elev [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to maintain certain ideals, hold them sacred: X высоко держал знамя Y-а ≃ X held high the banner ⟨the flag⟩ of Y; X kept the flag of Y flying.

3-173 • ПОДНИМА́ТЬ/ПОДНЯ́ТЬ ЗНА́МЯ чего elev [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to begin fighting for sth., in the name of sth.: X поднял знамя Y-а ≃ X raised the banner of Y.

Наконец, после долгой отлучки возвратился ещё один член правления, человек активный и от Иванько независимый… Вернувшийся из отлучки сразу заявил, что разрушения дома он ни за что не потерпит. Положение стало меняться. Почувствовав сильную руку, мои сторонники сразу встали под знамёна приехавшего… (Войнович 3). Finally, another member of the board returned after a long absence, an energetic man and one independent of Ivanko…. He immediately declared that under no circumstances would he endure the destruction of the building. The situation began to change. Sensing a strong hand, my supporters united beneath the banner of the returnee (3a).

3-175 • ЗНАТЬ НЕ ЗНА́Ю ⟨не знает и т.п.⟩ (, ВЕ́ДАТЬ НЕ ВЕ́ДАЮ ⟨не ведает и т.п.⟩) coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pres; when 2nd pers form is used, it is usu. in subord clauses (e.g., after «Говори, что…», «Ты притворяешься, что...» etc); fixed WO] (in refer. to one's complete lack of knowledge, information about sth., or one's reluctance to admit sth.) I have (he has etc) no information about it: знать не знаю, ведать не ведаю ≃ I know nothing (whatsoever) about it; I don't know a thing (, not a thing); I don't know what s.o. is talking about; I haven't the slightest ⟨the faintest⟩ idea (what s.o. is talking about).

Некоторое время Байбаков запирался и ничего, кроме «знать не знаю, ведать не ведаю», не отвечал… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). At first Baibakov refused to say anything and answered only: "I don't know a thing, not a thing!" (1b).

3-176 • ЗНАТЬ НЕ ХОЧУ́ ⟨не хочет и т.п.⟩ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human; usu. 1st or 3rd pers; usu. this WO] I do not (he does not etc) want to have dealings with s.o., be involved in sth., sacrifice time to s.o. or sth. etc: X Y-а знать не хочет ≃ X doesn't want (to have) anything to do with Y; X doesn't want to hear about Y; X doesn't want to know person Y; X doesn't want to know about thing Y; [lim.] X will not hear of Y.

Пфуль был один из тех теоретиков, которые так любят свою теорию, что забывают цель теории — приложение её к практике; он из любви к теории ненавидел всякую практику и знать её не хотел (Толстой 6). He [Pfühl] was one of those theoreticians who so love their theory that they lose sight of the theory's object—its practical application. His passion for theory made him despise all practical considerations and he would not hear of them (6a).

3-177 • ЗНАТЬ ПРО СЕБЯ́ obsoles, substand [VP; subj: human; often imper (sing)] to hold sth. secret, not talk about it: знай про себя ≃ keep it ⟨things⟩ to yourself; keep it under your hat; keep quiet ⟨mum⟩ about it; don't spill the beans.

[Анисья:] …Ты на чьи деньги гуляешь?.. На мои. [Акулина:] Как же, твои! Украсть хотела, да не пришлось. Уйди, ты! (Хочет пройти, толкает.) [Анисья:] Ты что толкаешься-то? Я те толкану. [Акулина:] Толкану? Ну-ка, сунься. (Напирает на неё.) …Молчала бы, про себя бы знала (Толстой 1). [An.:] Whose money do you have your sprees with…? With mine! [Ak.:] What do you mean, yours! You wanted to steal it, but didn't get the chance to. Get out, you! (Tries to get by, pushes) [An.:] What're you pushing for? I'll push you! [Ak.:] Push me? All right, come on. (Advances toward her) …You better shut up, keep things to yourself (1a).

Маргарита провожала глазами шествие… и думала: «Какие странные похороны… Интересно знать, кого это хоронят…?» (Булгаков 9). Margarita watched the procession as it passed… "What an odd funeral," she thought. "…Who, I wonder, are those… people burying?" (9c).

3-179 • КАК ⟨ПОЧЁМ⟩ ЗНАТЬ coll [indep. sent or sent adv (parenth); these forms only; fixed WO] although it is not known, it is entirely possible (when used as a rejoinder, may imply that the opposite may be true): who knows?; you never know ⟨one never knows⟩; you ⟨one⟩ never can tell; who can tell?; how can you ⟨one⟩ tell?; how can you ⟨one⟩ be sure?; how do you know?; there's no telling ⟨knowing⟩; I ⟨he, it etc⟩ might…

«…Поздно мне каяться. Для меня не будет помилования. Буду продолжать как начал. Как знать? Авось и удастся!» (Пушкин 2). "It's too late for me to repent. There'll be no mercy for me. I will continue as I have begun. Who knows? Perhaps I'll succeed" (2b). ♦ «Вы — не Достоевский», — сказала гражданка, сбиваемая с толку Коровьевым. «Ну, почём знать, почём знать», — ответил тот (Булгаков 9). "You are not Dostoevsky," said the woman, somewhat rattled by Koroviev's logic. "You never can tell, you never can tell," he answered (9a).

3-180 • МНО́ГО БУ́ДЕШЬ ЗНАТЬ — СКО́РО СОСТА́РИШЬСЯ [saying] said in answer to s.o.'s excessive curiosity as a refusal to explain, tell sth.: ≃ curiosity killed the cat; ask me no questions, I'll tell you no lies; that's for me to know and (for) you to find out.

«Я завтра к батьке уезжаю», — проговорил Базаров. Аркадий приподнялся и опёрся на локоть. Он и удивился и почему-то обрадовался. «А! — промолвил он. — И ты от этого грустен?» Базаров зевнул. «Много будешь знать, состареешься» (Тургенев 2). "I'm going to my father's tomorrow," announced Bazarov. Arkady propped himself up on his elbow. He was surprised and yet somehow glad. "Ah!" he said. "Is that why you're sad?" Bazarov yawned. "Curiosity killed the cat" (2a).

3-181 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ, КУДА́ ДЕВА́ТЬСЯ/ДЕ́ТЬСЯ ⟨КУДА́ СЕБЯ́ ДЕВА́ТЬ/ДЕТЬ⟩ (от стыда, смущения и т.п.) coll [VP; subj: human; only знать conjugates; usu. impfv деваться; fixed WO (1st var.)] to experience a feeling of intense embarrassment, awkwardness, shame: X не знал, куда деваться ≃ X didn't know where ⟨which way⟩ to look ⟨turn⟩ (from embarrassment ⟨for shame etc⟩); X didn't know where to hide (from embarrassment ⟨for shame etc⟩); X was so embarrassed ⟨ashamed etc⟩ he didn't know what to do (with himself); X was about to ⟨thought he'd etc⟩ die (from embarrassment etc).

«Ну, чья взяла, троцкисты?» — обратился он к ним [чегемцам], яростно улыбаясь. Чегемцы не только не стали оспаривать свою принадлежность к этому опасному политическому течению, о существовании которого, впрочем, они и не подозревали, а просто не знали, куда деть себя от стыда (Искандер 3). "Well, who won, you Trotskyites?" he said [to the Chegemians], grinning savagely. Not only did the Chegemians make no effort to dispute their membership in this dangerous political movement—whose existence, however, they had not even suspected—they simply did not know where to hide for shame (3a).

3-182 • НЕ ЗНАТЬ, КУДА́ СЕБЯ́ ДЕВА́ТЬ/ДЕТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; only знать conjugates; fixed WO] not to know what to occupy o.s. with, what to do: X не знает, куда себя деть ≃ X doesn't know what to do with himself; X is at loose ends.

3-183 • ПОЧЁМ МНЕ ⟨тебе и т.п.⟩ ЗНАТЬ; ПОЧЁМ Я ЗНА́Ю ⟨ты знаешь и т.п.⟩ all coll [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] I (you etc) do not know at all, have no idea (often used in answer to a question): how could I ⟨you etc⟩ (possibly) know?; I ⟨you etc⟩ haven't the foggiest ⟨the faintest⟩ (idea); [1st pers only] how (on earth) should I know?; search ⟨beats⟩ me; I'm sure I don't know.

[Трагик:] Где мой Вася? Где мой Вася? [Нароков:] А я почём знаю (Островский 11). [T.:] Where's my Vasya? Where's my Vasya? [N.:] How should I know? (11a).

3-184 • ЧТО́ ЗНА́ЧИТ [Invar; used as Particle; usu. foll. by NP or infin; fixed WO] that is the effect or inherent nature of: that's… for you; that's ⟨this is⟩ what comes of…; that's what… means; that's what it means to be…; that's what… does (for you); [lim.] that's what I call…

«Вот, дорогой, что значит гений! Можно и веру переменить» (Шолохов 2). "That's genius for you, my dear fellow! It can make you change your faith" (2a). ♦ Аркадий бросился на шею к своему бывшему наставнику и другу, и слёзы так и брызнули у него из глаз. «Что значит молодость!» — произнёс спокойно Базаров (Тургенев 2). Arkady threw himself on the neck of his former mentor and friend, and tears literally gushed from his eyes. "That's what it means to be young!" Bazarov said serenely (2g).

3-185 • НИЧЕГО́ НЕ ЗНА́ЧИТЬ [VP; subj: abstr, human, or collect; fixed WO] to have no significance, be unimportant: X ничего не значит ≃ thing X doesn't mean anything ⟨a thing⟩; thing X doesn't matter; thing X is inconsequential; person X doesn't have any clout ⟨say (in anything), pull etc⟩; person X is a nonentity (in his family ⟨at work etc⟩).

[Хороших:] Думаешь, заступился он за тебя, значит, что ж?.. Да ничего не значит!.. Не замечал он тебя и не замечает (Вампилов 2). [Kh.:] You think because he defended you it means something, is that it?… But it doesn't mean a thing!… He never noticed you before and he doesn't now (2b).

3-186 • КАК НЕ ЗНА́Ю КТО coll [Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] to an extreme extent, very intensely: like you wouldn't believe; || врать ~ ≃ lie like a rug; || объесться ~ ≃ stuff o.s. to the gills; overeat like I don't know what; || устать ~ ≃ be dead tired ⟨dog-tired⟩; be beat ⟨whipped⟩.

[Репникова:] Опять ворчишь? Не понимаю, чем ты недовольна. [Таня:] Вечно объедимся, как не знаю кто, а потом весь вечер переваривaем… (Вампилов 3). [R.:] Are you grumbling again? I don't understand what's bothering you. [T.:] We always overeat like I don't know what, and then spend the whole evening digesting… (3a).

3-187 • ИЗ ДВУХ ЗОЛ МЕ́НЬШЕЕ выбрать [NP; obj; usu. this WO] (to choose) sth. that is, although undesirable, somewhat better than the available alternative: (choose) the lesser of two evils.

Но, всё-таки, я пожал эту руку. Значит, если бы я не пожал её, я бы чувствовал себя ещё хуже? Из двух зол я выбираю меньшее? Почему оно меньшее? (Искандер 4). Yet, despite it all, I did shake the hand. Does that mean that if I hadn't I would have felt even worse? Am I choosing the lesser of two evils? Why is it the lesser? (4a).

< Modified loan translation of the Latin ex malis eligere minima (Cicero, De officiis, III, 1,3).

3-188 • КУПА́ТЬСЯ В ЗО́ЛОТЕ coll [VP; subj: human] to be very rich: X купается в золоте ≃ X is rolling in money ⟨dough⟩; X is made of money; X has money to burn.

3-189 • МАЛ ЗОЛОТНИ́К, ДА ДО́РОГ [saying] small in size but very valuable (said of a small person who has many good qualities; also of sth. small in size but very important or valuable): ≃ good things come in small packages.

3-190 • НЕ ВСЁ ТО ЗО́ЛОТО, ЧТО БЛЕСТИ́Т [saying] a person or thing may not be as good, valuable etc as he or it appears to be on the surface: all that glitters is not gold; all is not gold that glitters.

3-191 • ЗУБ НА́ ЗУБ НЕ ПОПАДА́ЕТ у кого (от чего) coll [VP_{subj}; pres or past; usu. this WO] s.o. is trembling violently (from the cold, fear etc): у X-а зуб на зуб не попадает ≃ X's teeth are chattering; X cannot keep his teeth from chattering.

«На третье утро повели меня грязного, застылого, зуб на зуб не попадает, в дом, в чистую комнату» (Копелев 1). "On the third morning they took me, filthy, chilled, my teeth chattering, into the house, into a clean room" (1a).

3-192 • ИМЕ́ТЬ ЗУБ на кого, против кого coll [VP; subj: human] to have bitter feelings toward s.o. (and, often, to want to cause s.o. harm): X имеет зуб на Y-а ≃ X has it in for Y; X has ⟨nurses, harbors⟩ a grudge against Y; X bears Y a grudge; X is down on Y; X feels resentment toward Y.

[Саяпин:] Он (показывает на дверь кабинета [Кушака]) требует статью… Так он этого не оставит… Ты имей в виду, он имеет на тебя зуб — за новоселье (Вампилов 5). [S. (Indicating the door to Kushak's office):] He's yelling for the article…. He won't let it drop…. Remember, he's got it in for you because of the housewarming (5b).

< Loan translation of the French avoir une dent contre (quelqu'un).

3-193 • НА ОДИ́Н ЗУБ чего coll [PrepP; Invar; adv or subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj/gen: a noun denoting food); fixed WO] (the amount of food in question) is very small, not nearly enough to satisfy (s.o.): only enough to whet one's appetite; hardly ⟨not⟩ enough to fill a cavity; not enough to feed a bird; just ⟨barely⟩ a mouthful.

Коле этого бутерброда — на один зуб, дай ему ещё что-нибудь. Give Kolya something else—that sandwich is only enough to whet his appetite. ♦ [author's usage] [Анастасия Ефремовна:] Покорми его [Алексея] получше. Что такому котлетка — на один зубок! (Розов 1). [A.E.:] You'd better feed him [Aleksei]. What's one meat cake for the likes of him?—just a mouthful! (1a).

3-194 • НИ В ЗУБ НОГО́Й (в чём, по чему); НИ В ЗУБ (ТОЛКНУ́ТЬ) all coll [PrepP; these forms only; predic; subj: human; fixed WO] one knows, understands etc absolutely nothing (about sth.): в Y-е X ни в зуб ногой ≃ X doesn't know beans ⟨the first thing, a damn thing⟩ about Y; Y is a closed book to X.

«Книжный язык он, может, и знал, но настоящий, народный — ни в зуб» (Трифонов 2). "He may know the literary language, but he doesn't know a damn thing about the language that real people speak" (2a).

3-195 • НЕ ПО ЗУБА́М кому highly coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula] 1. [subj: a noun denoting food] sth. is very tough, difficult for s.o. to chew: X Y-у не по зубам ≃ X is too hard (for Y to chew); Y can't chew X; Y can't manage X.

«…Вот здесь хороший кусочек оленьего мяса. Правда, мне он не по зубам. Он немножко жилистый…» (Гинзбург 2). "Here's a nice bit of venison for you. The fact is I can't manage it. It's too stringy for me" (2a).

2. [subj: abstr, collect, or human] some problem or task is too difficult, complicated for s.o. to cope with, some team or competitor is too strong for s.o. to overcome etc: X Y-у не по зубам ≃ thing X is over Y's head; X is too much for Y (to handle); X is more than Y can handle ⟨manage⟩; Y doesn't have what it takes (to do X ⟨to handle X, to defeat X etc⟩).

Не давай детям эту задачу. Она слишком трудная, им не по зубам. Don't give the kids this problem. It's too hard, it will be over their heads.

3-196 • ЗУБА́МИ ДЕРЖА́ТЬСЯ за что highly coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to value sth. very highly and do everything possible not to lose it: X зубами держится за Y ≃ X hangs on to Y for dear life ⟨for all X is worth⟩; X holds fast to Y.

Бондарев этой должности долго добивался, и теперь он за неё зубами держится. Bondarev worked long and hard to get this position and now he hangs on to it for dear life.

3-197 • ЩЁЛКАТЬ ЗУБА́МИ (от голода) substand [VP; subj: human] to be or go hungry: X щёлкал зубами (от голода) ≃ X was starving ⟨half-starved, famished, dying of hunger⟩; [lim.] X's stomach was growling.

3-198 • НАВЯ́ЗНУТЬ В ЗУБА́Х (у кого) coll [VP; subj: usu. abstr; usu. past] to become unbearably boring, annoying to s.o. (because of its monotony, endless repetitions etc): X навяз у Y-а в зубах ≃ X bored Y to death ⟨to tears⟩; Y was sick to death ⟨sick and tired⟩ of X; Y had had enough of X; Y was fed up (to the teeth) with X; Y had had it up to here (with X); [of a topic of conversation, discussion etc] X had been talked to death ⟨into the ground⟩.

[author's usage] Мне было скучно объяснять навязшие на зубах российские несчастья, но пришлось (Лимонов 1). It was boring for me to explain Russia's misfortunes, I was sick to death of them, but I had to (1a). ♦ «Сегодня уже все знают, что есть человек. Что с человеком делать — вот вопрос. Да и то, признаться, уже навяз в зубах» (Стругацкие 1). "Today everybody knows what man is. The problem is what to do with him. And even that one's been talked to death" (1a).

3-199 • ДО ЗУБО́В вооружён(ный) coll [PrepP; Invar; adv or modif] fully equipped with the necessary weapons, tools etc: armed to the teeth ⟨to the hilt⟩.

«Да ты не бойся, я вооружён до зубов». Он хлопнул себя по карману «сафари», где… лежала «беретта» (Аксёнов 7). "Don't worry. I'm armed to the teeth." He patted the pocket of his safari jacket where he kept the Beretta (7a).

3-200 • НА ЗУБО́К coll [PrepP; Invar; prep obj or non-agreeing postmodif] as a present to a newborn: (as) a gift for s.o.'s ⟨the⟩ new baby.

3-201 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ(СЯ)/ПОПА́СТЬ(СЯ) НА ЗУБО́К ⟨НА́ ЗУБ less common⟩ (к) кому coll [VP; subj: human] to become the object of s.o.'s mockery, biting criticism, gossip: X попал к Y-у на зубок ≃ X became the butt of Y's ridicule ⟨criticism, sarcasm etc⟩; X became ⟨was⟩ the target of Y's tongue; Y got his teeth into X.

[Хлестаков:] А уж Тряпичкину точно, если кто попадёт на зубок — берегись, отца родного не пощадит для словца… (Гоголь 4). [Kh.:] Now if Tryapichkin gets his teeth into anybody—watch out! He wouldn't spare his own father for a wisecrack (4f).

3-202 • В ЗУ́БЫ дать, сунуть и т.п. кому что highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to give sth., often a bribe) directly to s.o.: slip ⟨shove⟩ s.o. sth. ⟨sth. to s.o.⟩.

«Возьму такси, скажу — на курорт. Пятёрку в зубы — что он, в чемоданы лезть будет?» (Семёнов 1). "I'll take a taxi and head for the coast. If I shove him a fiver he's not likely to poke his nose into my affairs, is he?" (1a).

3-203 • ЗАГОВА́РИВАТЬ/ЗАГОВОРИ́ТЬ ЗУ́БЫ кому coll, usu. disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv, often neg imper] to (try to) distract the interlocutor by talking about extraneous matters (with the goal of avoiding an unpleasant topic, deceiving the interlocutor, persuading him to act as one wishes etc): X Y-у зубы заговаривает ≃ X is fooling Y with smooth talk ⟨with fine words⟩; X is spinning (Y) a fine yarn; [esp. with the goal of avoiding an unpleasant topic] X is putting Y off with fine words; [esp. with the goal of deceiving the interlocutor] X is pulling the wool over Y's eyes; [esp. with the goal of obtaining sth. from s.o. or extricating o.s. from an uncomfortable situation] X is sweet-talking ⟨fast-talking⟩ Y; X is trying to talk his way out of this ⟨it⟩.

[Войницкий:] …Если бы можно было прожить остаток жизни как-нибудь по-новому… Начать новую жизнь… Подскажи мне, как начать… [Астров (кричит сердито):] Перестань!.. Ты мне зубов не заговаривай, однако. Ты отдай то, что взял у меня. [Войницкий:] Я у тебя ничего не брал. [Астров:] Ты взял у меня из дорожной аптеки баночку с морфием (Чехов 3). [V.:] …If only it were possible to live through the rest of life in some new way!… To begin a new life…. Tell me how to begin… [A. (shouts angrily):] Stop it!… Don't try to put me off with fine words. Give me back what you took from me. [V.:] I didn't take anything from you. [A.:] You took a bottle of morphine out of my medical traveling case (3a). [V.:] If only we could live out our lives in some new way!… If I could start a new life… Tell me how to begin… [A. (shouting angrily):] Stop it!… Stop trying to talk your way out of it. Give it back. [V.:] I haven't taken anything. [A.:] You took a bottle of morphine from my medicine bag (3b).

3-204 • ЗУ́БЫ СЪЕСТЬ ⟨ПРОЕ́СТЬ⟩ на чём, в чём coll, approv [VP; subj: human; past only with resultative meaning; usu. this WO] to gain much experience, acquire substantial knowledge in some field through extensive practice: X зубы съел на Y-е ≃ X knows Y inside out; X knows the tricks of the trade; X is an expert at ⟨in⟩ Y; X is a past master at Y; X knows a lot about Y; X knows his stuff ⟨business, onions⟩; [lim.] X is an old hand ⟨pro⟩ at Y.

Вепрь, зубы съевший в вопросе влияния экономики на политику, предсказывал эту войну ещё несколько лет назад (Стругацкие 2). Vepr, who knew a lot about the influence of economics on politics, had predicted this war several years ago (2a).

3-205 • (КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ) ЗУ́БЫ НА ПО́ЛКУ coll [VP or NP (used as predic); subj: human; often infin with пришлось, придётся] to experience need, be hungry: X-у придётся положить зубы на полку ≃ X will have to go hungry; X will have to go ⟨do⟩ without (food ⟨the necessities⟩); X will have to tighten his belt.

После истории с накидкой он вёл себя так, будто ничего не случилось: такова жизнь игрока… сегодня при деньгах, завтра зубы на полку… (Рыбаков 2). After the business of the fur wrap, he acted as if nothing had happened: such was the life of a gambler—today you're in the money, tomorrow you have to tighten your belt (2a).

3-206 • ЛОМА́ТЬ/СЛОМА́ТЬ ⟨ОБЛОМА́ТЬ⟩ (себе) ЗУ́БЫ на ком-чём, об кого, обо что coll [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to suffer a crushing defeat, fail miserably in sth.: X сломал зубы (на Y-е) ≃ X came to grief (over Y); X got the worst of it (in dealing with person Y); X came a cropper (in venture Y); [lim.] X got crushed ⟨wiped out⟩.

3-207 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ ЗУ́БЫ (кому) coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] 1. to respond to some question or remark angrily, rudely, in a curt manner: X показал (Y-у) зубы ≃ X retorted sharply; X snapped (back) at Y; X bit Y's head off.

2. to display the malicious side of one's nature, display hostility, a readiness to repulse s.o.: X показал зубы ≃ X showed ⟨bared⟩ his teeth ⟨fangs⟩.

…Он убивается, пулю таскает то Дудыреву, то следователю… Их мутит от этой пули, зубы показывают, как [собака] Калинка при виде палки (Тендряков 1). …He was eating his heart out, taking that bullet around, first to Dudyrev, then to the Assistant Prosecutor. They hated this bullet, almost baring their teeth at it, like Kalinka [the dog] at the sight of a stick (1a).

3-208 • СКА́ЛИТЬ ЗУ́БЫ substand [VP; subj: human] to react to sth. (s.o.'s behavior, words etc) by smiling, laughing etc (sometimes as a form of mockery): что зубы скалишь? ≃ what are you grinning ⟨laughing, smiling, snickering, smirking etc⟩ at?; what's so funny?

«Что он там, в немецкой школе, что ли, сидит да уроки учит? Врёт он!.. Я бы его в острог… Обломов расхохотался. «Что зубы-то скалишь? Не правду, что ли, я говорю?» — сказал Тарантьев (Гончаров 1). "What's he doing there—sitting in some German school doing his lessons? Nonsense!… I'd put him in jail…." Oblomov burst out laughing. "What's so funny?" asked Tarantyev. "What I say is true, isn't it?" (1b).

3-209 • СКВОЗЬ ЗУ́БЫ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. говорить, бормотать и т.п. ~ (to say, whisper etc sth.) very softly and indistinctly: under one's breath; through one's teeth.

«А хорошо бы было…» — чуть слышно сквозь зубы сказал Римский (Булгаков 9). "Would be a good thing…" Rimsky muttered almost inaudibly through his teeth (9a).

2. процедить, проворчать и т.п. ~ (to utter sth., grumble) with displeasure, angrily, or antagonistically, condescendingly: through ⟨with⟩ clenched teeth; through ⟨between⟩ one's teeth; [lim.] under one's breath.

И говорит он не сквозь зубы, не вынужденно. Он возбуждён, он проводит литературные параллели, он художественно говорит (Войнович 3). And he wasn't speaking through his teeth, he wasn't being forced. He was excited, he was drawing literary parallels, he was speaking artistically (3a).

3-210 • СТИ́СНУТЬ ЗУ́БЫ [VP; subj: human; usu. Verbal Adv or imper] to suppress one's pain, grief etc (and preserve self-control under trying circumstances): стиснув зубы ≃ gritting one's teeth.

Сапоги примёрзли. Абуталип морщился, стиснув зубы, стонал, когда все дружно пытались стащить их с ног (Айтматов 2). The boots were frozen on his feet. Abutalip frowned, gritting his teeth and groaning when everyone tried to take them off (2a).

3-211 • ТОЧИ́ТЬ ⟨ВОСТРИ́ТЬ, ОСТРИ́ТЬ⟩ ЗУ́БЫ ⟨ЗУБ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ на кого-что, против кого to feel spite toward (a person, organization etc), be determined to cause (him or it) harm: X точит зубы на Y-а ≃ X has it in for Y; X has ⟨bears, nurses⟩ a grudge against Y; X is out to get Y; [lim.] Y comes under fire (from X).

…Он [Сталин] спокойно, даже равнодушно сказал [Кирову]: «…Если вместо тебя придёт другой человек и так же хорошо будет справляться с Ленинградом, то они [ленинградские коммунисты] поймут, что дело не только в товарище Кирове, а дело в партии… И на твоего преемника уже не будут точить зубы» (Рыбаков 2). …He [Stalin] spoke blandly, almost with indifference: "…If someone else were to take your place and to cope with Leningrad as well as you do, they'd [the Leningrad Communists would] realize that success isn't just a question of Comrade Kirov, but of the Party…. And they wouldn't have a grudge against your successor" (2a).

2. ~ на что, less common на кого to seek to seize, take possession of, or have sth. or s.o.: X точит зубы на Y ≃ X is anxious ⟨itching, eager⟩ to get hold of Y; X is dying to get his hands on Y; X has (set) his sights on Y; X wants Y in the worst way; X hankers for Y; X is after Y.

«Настоящий мордаш, — продолжал Ноздрёв. — Я, признаюсь, давно острил зубы на мордаша» (Гоголь 3). "A real bulldog," Nozdryov went on. "I must confess I have been anxious to get hold of a bulldog for a long time" (3a). "A real pug," Nozdrev went on. "I must confess I've been hankering for a pug for a long time" (3b). "A purebred pug," Nozdrev said. "I confess I've been after a pug for a long time" (3e).

3-212 • ЧЕСА́ТЬ/ПОЧЕСА́ТЬ ЗУ́БЫ ⟨ЗУ́БКИ⟩ substand, often disapprov [VP; subj: human] to talk about trifles, babble: X чешет зубы ≃ X shoots the breeze ⟨the bull⟩; X wags his tongue; X chews the fat; X chitchats.

3-213 • КАК ЗЮ́ЗЯ напиться, пьян и т.п. substand [как + NP; Invar; adv (intensif) or modif] (to get or be drunk) to excess: X напился ~ ≃ X got ⟨was⟩ drunk as a skunk; X got ⟨was⟩ plastered ⟨smashed, bombed etc⟩; X drank himself into a stupor ⟨under the table⟩.

«А ты тоже ничего не помнишь?» — спросил его Виктор. «Это насчёт вчерашнего?» — «Да, насчёт вчерашнего… Напился, как зюзя», — сказал Виктор, обращаясь к Голему… (Стругацкие 1). "So you don't remember either?" Victor asked him. "You mean last night?" "Yes, last night. I drank myself into a stupor," said Victor, turning to Golem… (1a).

И

И-1 • ВО ВСЮ ИВА́НОВСКУЮ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif); used with impfv verbs] (one does sth., sth. goes on) at a very high level of intensity: with all one's ⟨its⟩ might; for all one ⟨it⟩ is worth; [lim.] to beat the band; || кричать ~ ≃ shout at the top of one's lungs ⟨voice⟩; || храпеть ~ ≃ snore like a chain ⟨buzz⟩ saw; || шуметь ~ ≃ make enough noise to wake the dead; || гони ⟨валяй, жми⟩ ~ ≃ go full tilt ⟨steam⟩; step on it; || цвести ~ ≃ be in full bloom; || солнце светит ~ ≃ the sun is beating down.

< There are two common explanations of the origin of this idiom, one connecting it with Ivanovskaya Square, the place in the Kremlin where the tsar's decrees were announced for all to hear, and the other connecting it with the Ivan the Great Bell Tower, also located within the Kremlin. The latter explanation traces the idiom to an expression used by bell ringers, «Звонить во всю колокольную фамилию», ("to ring all the bells in the bell tower"). The full complement of bells in the Ivan the Great Bell Tower was called «ивановская».

И-2 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА ИГЛУ́; СИДЕ́ТЬ НА ИГЛЕ́ all slang [VP; subj: human] to begin using and become addicted to narcotics: X сел на иглу ⟨сидит на игле⟩ ≃ X got ⟨is⟩ on the needle; X has discovered ⟨got hooked on, is hooked on⟩ (hard) drugs ⟨the needle, dope⟩; X has become ⟨is⟩ a junkie ⟨a hype⟩.

В тот раз Люда притащила его на вечер, где читали стихи несколько юных авторов, один даже многообещающий, прежде других севший на иглу и вскоре погибший (Улицкая 1). On this occasion Lyuda had taken him to a party where several young authors would be reading their poetry, including one exceptionally promising young man who had discovered hard drugs earlier than the rest and died shortly afterwards (1a).

И-3 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ ИГО́ЛКА В СТОГУ́ ⟨В СТО́ГЕ⟩ СЕ́НА исчезнуть, затеряться; ИГО́ЛКА В СЕ́НЕ ⟨В СТОГУ́ СЕ́НА⟩ [(как etc +) NP; adv (variants with как); fixed WO] (a person, thing etc that has vanished and is) very difficult or almost impossible to find: like a needle in a haystack; a needle that has vanished in a haystack.

Главная удача нищего — найти потерянное, но найти своё «я» труднее, чем иголку в сене (Мандельштам 2). A beggar's greatest windfall is to pick up something that has been lost, but to regain one's own "self" is harder than finding a needle in a haystack (2a).

И-4 • КУДА́ ИГО́ЛКА, ТУДА́ И НИ́ТКА [saying] (usu. in refer. to the influence a man has over his wife, but occas. in refer. to the influence parents have over their children etc; usu. refers to s.o.'s following another in a physical or geographical sense, but may also refer to s.o.'s adopting another's point of view, values etc) where one person goes (what one person does etc), the other will go (will do etc): where the needle goes, the thread follows ⟨will follow⟩.

И-5 • НЕ ИГО́ЛКА [NP; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, concr, or abstr); pres only] a person or thing is not so small that he or it cannot be seen, found etc: X не иголка ≃ X is not exactly invisible; X is not someone ⟨something⟩ you can easily miss; [lim.] X is not a needle that can get lost in a haystack.

«Лиза, Лиза! — замахала руками Раечка. — Где ты была? Мы вчера просто с ума сходили…» Лизка подождала, пока Раечка не подбежала к ней, сказала: «А чего сходить-то? Я ведь не иголка — в сене не потеряюсь» (Абрамов 1). "Liza, Liza!" shouted Raechka, waving her arms. "Where've you been? We were going out of our minds yesterday." Lizka waited for Raechka to run up to her before saying, "What on earth for? I'm not a needle—I won't get lost in the haystack!" (1a).

И-6 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ НА ИГО́ЛКАХ coll [как etc + PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, сидеть (subj: human)] one is in a state of agitation, anxiety, expectation etc: X сидит как на иголках ≃ X is on pins and needles; X is on tenterhooks; [when eagerly anticipating the ending of s.o.'s gripping story, a captivating movie etc] X is on the edge of his seat.

И-7 • ДО ИГО́ЛКИ описать, перечислить и т.п. obs [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to describe, enumerate sth.) omitting nothing, in minute detail: (down) to the last ⟨smallest, finest⟩ detail.

И-8 • ИГО́ЛКИ НЕ ПОДПУ́СТИШЬ ⟨НЕ ПОДТО́ЧИШЬ⟩ (под кого-что); НЕЛЬЗЯ́ ИГО́ЛКИ ПОДПУСТИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДТОЧИ́ТЬ⟩ all obs, coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не подпустишь etc or impers predic with быть$_{ø}$ (var. with нельзя); fixed WO (with нельзя movable)] you will find nothing to criticize (in s.o. or sth.): (под X-а) иголки не подпустишь ≃ you cannot find fault with X; you will find no fault in X; X is absolutely unassailable; X is beyond reproach.

«Стригуны» молчали; они понимали, что слова Собачкина очень последовательны и что со стороны логики под них нельзя иголки подточить… (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). The "colts" were silent; for they realized that Sobachkin's words were very logical and that, from the point of view of pure logic, they were absolutely unassailable (2a).

И-9 • ИГО́ЛКУ ⟨ИГО́ЛКИ⟩ НЕ́ГДЕ ⟨НЕ́КУДА⟩ ВОТКНУ́ТЬ где coll [impers predic with быть$_{ø}$; these forms only; fixed WO] (some place is) very crowded with people: there is no room to swing a cat; (some place) is packed ⟨jammed⟩ to the rafters.

И-10 • С ИГО́ЛОЧКИ coll [PrepP; Invar] 1. Also: С ИГО́ЛКИ [nonagreeing modif or subj-compl with copula (subj: a noun denoting clothes); often preceded by новый, новенький etc, which does not require a separate translation] completely new and, usu., well-made and fashionable: brand-new; (brand) spanking new; fresh new [NP]; fresh from the tailor ⟨the tailor's⟩.

Ты стоишь передо мною, одетый в новый с иголочки костюм… в новой шляпе, сдвинутой на затылок чуть больше, чем следовало бы (Михайловская 1). You are standing before me, dressed in a brand-new suit… wearing a new hat pushed back on your head a little more than it should be (1a).

2. одеваться, быть$_{ø}$ одетым ~ [adv] (to dress, be dressed) in completely new, well-made, and fashionable clothes: (dress) impeccably ⟨immaculately⟩; (wear) a brand-new outfit.

О разведке у нас знают из кинофильмов. Служит под боком у Гитлера наш смельчак, одет с иголочки, побрит, надушен, водит за нос и Гиммлера, и Бормана, и Кальтенбруннера… (Рыбаков 1). People… know about intelligence from what they've seen in the movies. Our daring agent is operating right under Hitler's nose, dressed immaculately, clean-shaven and perfumed, leading Himmler, Bormann and Kaltenbrunner up the garden path… (1a).

3. [usu. nonagreeing modif] (of objects, equipment, gadgets etc) completely new: brand-new; fresh from the factory ⟨off the assembly line⟩; just built ⟨made, manufactured etc⟩.

И-11 • ДВОЙНА́Я ИГРА́ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] deception by pretending to serve one side while acting in the interests of the opposing side: double game; double cross(ing); double dealing; ‖ X ведёт двойную игру ≃ X plays a double game; X plays both sides of the coin; X plies his trade on both sides of the street; [lim.] X is two-faced.

Поколебавшись, указал адрес в «Троице». Определённый риск в этом, конечно, был, но, пожалуй, в пределах допустимого. Теперь, когда известно, кто таков NN, вероятность двойной игры представлялась незначительной. Слишком важная персона, чтобы суетиться (Акунин 3). After a moment's hesitation, he gave his address at the Trinity. It involved a certain degree of risk, of course, but only within the bounds of what he considered acceptable. Now that he knew who NN was, the likelihood of a double cross seemed insignificant. NN was too important a figure to bother with such trivia (3a).

И-12 • ИГРА́ ВООБРАЖЕ́НИЯ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] sth. imaginary: figment of s.o.'s imagination; [lim.] chimera of s.o.'s imagination.

И-13 • ИГРА́ НЕ СТО́ИТ СВЕЧ [saying; used without negation in the opposite meaning] the results, profits etc gained from doing sth. are not worth the effort, trouble, or expense involved: the game isn't worth the candle; it's not worth the effort.

«Вам всё кажется, что у меня какие-то цели, а потому и глядите на меня подозрительно… Но как я ни желаю сойтись с вами, я всё-таки не возьму на себя труда разуверять вас в противном. Ей-богу, игра не стоит свеч…» (Достоевский 3). "You seem to think the whole time that I have certain ulterior motives and therefore you look upon me with suspicion…. But no matter how much I'd like to be friends with you, I'm still not going to take upon myself the labor of convincing you to the contrary. The game's not worth the candle, I swear to God…" (3a).

И-14 • ИГРА́ ПРИРО́ДЫ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an exceptional, rare phenomenon, a deviation from the norm: freak ⟨caprice⟩ of nature; [lim.] trick ⟨joke⟩ played by nature.

[Колесов:] Вы меня заинтриговали. Хулиган — и разводите орхидеи. Игра природы (Вампилов 3). [K.:] You intrigue me. A hooligan and you cultivate orchids. A freak of nature (3b).

И-15 • ИГРА́ СЛОВ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] using words in a witty manner based on the substitution of one word (or meaning) for another: wordplay; play on words; pun.

По-твоему выходит, что от воли самих людей не зависит ничто, говорит Мазила. Почему? Потому что от них зависит всё, говорит Болтун. Это игра слов, говорит Мазила (Зиновьев 1). "From what you say," said Dauber, "nothing depends on the will of men. Why not?" "Because everything depends on it," said Chatterer. "That's just a play on words," said Dauber (1a).

< Loan translation of the French jeu de mots.

И-16 • ИГРА́ СЛУ́ЧАЯ ⟨СУДЬБЫ́ lit⟩ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a chance occurrence, unexpected turn of events, or unforeseen set of circumstances: twist ⟨whim, quirk, trick⟩ of fate; the play of chance.

Я не знал, какой этаж выбрать для чистоты эксперимента. Почему-то я остановился на третьем. Он мне показался наиболее свободным от игры случая (Искандер 5). I didn't know what floor to choose for an unbiased experiment. For some reason I settled on the third. It struck me as being the freest from the play of chance (5a).

И-17 • ИГРА́ТЬ В ОПА́СНУЮ ИГРУ́ [VP; subj: human; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to be involved in an undertaking that could have dangerous consequences: X играет в опасную игру ≃ X is playing with fire ⟨dynamite⟩.

И-18 • РАСКРЫВА́ТЬ/РАСКРЫ́ТЬ ИГРУ́ чью [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to uncover and usu. reveal s.o.'s secret plans, intentions: X раскрыл Y-ову игру ≃ X exposed ⟨saw through⟩ Y's game.

И-19 • КАК ⟨СЛО́ВНО⟩ ИГРУ́ШКА [как etc + NP; usu. adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, получиться etc (subj: human or concr)] a person or thing is nice-looking, refined: pretty as a picture; lovely.

И-20 • ДЕ́ТСКИЕ ИГРУ́ШКИ ⟨ЗАБА́ВЫ⟩; ДЕ́ТСКАЯ ИГРУ́ШКА ⟨ЗАБА́ВА⟩ [NP; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: concr or abstr); fixed WO] a trifle, sth. that is not serious (as compared to something else; the comparison is usu. directly expressed in the context): child's play.

Тогда мне казалось, что страдания мои безмерны. Но через несколько месяцев я узнала, что мой конвейер был детской игрушкой сравнительно с тем, что практиковалось позднее, начиная с июня 1937 года (Гинзбург 1). It seemed to me then that my suffering was beyond measure. But in a few months' time I was to realize that my spell on the conveyor belt had been child's play compared with what was meted out to others, from June 1937 on (1b).

И-21 • ВЫХОДИ́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЙТИ ⟨ВЫБЫВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́БЫТЬ⟩ ИЗ ИГРЫ́ [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO] to cease to participate in some matter, quit: X вышел из игры ≃ X bowed ⟨dropped⟩ out (of the game); X was out of the game; X quit ⟨withdrew from⟩ the game; X called it quits.

«Если никогда нет ни одной минуты ни удовлетворения, ни радости, то что же тогда? И я хорошо вижу, что мне надо выйти из игры!» (Булгаков 5). "If there is never a single moment of satisfaction, of joy, then what's the good of it? I see very clearly that it's time for me to bow out of the game!" (5a).

И-22 • ПО ИДЕ́Е [PrepP; Invar; sent adv] as conceived, according to the idea, plan underlying sth.: in theory; in principle; [lim.] the idea is (that…).

КК и ММ — наши друзья. По идее они должны помогать мне всеми доступными средствами (Зиновьев 1). "K.K. and N.M. [sic] are our friends. In theory they ought to go to any lengths to help me" (1a).

И-23 • ИДЕ́Я ФИКС [NP; fixed WO] a persistent thought, idea: fixed idea; idée fixe; obsession.

И-24 • ИДИ́ ТЫ! highly coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express amazement bordering on incredulity, delight etc: no kidding ⟨fooling⟩!; you don't say!; is that so?; get out of ⟨outta⟩ here!

[Мерещун:] Так вот, если вы хотите производительность труда — я вам человека нашёл… Ради производительности труда родного отца на лесоповал пошлёт. [Овчухов:] Иди ты! Такого мне и надо! (Солженицын 8). [M.:] Listen, if you want to increase productivity, I've found just the man…. He'd send his own father out into the forest if it would help his production figures. [O.:] Is that so? He sounds ideal (8a).

И-25 • ИДИ́ (ТЫ) ⟨ИДИ́ТЕ (ВЫ)⟩ (КУДА́) ПОДА́ЛЬШЕ! (А НЕ) ПОШЁЛ БЫ ТЫ ⟨он и т.п.⟩ (КУДА́) ПОДА́ЛЬШЕ! all substand, rude [sent; fixed WO] used to express the speaker's intense annoyance with s.o., his desire to be rid of s.o. etc: to hell with you ⟨him etc⟩!; (why don't you ⟨doesn't he etc⟩) get lost ⟨beat it, drop dead, go to hell, take a running jump, take a flying leap, go jump in the lake, go fly a kite⟩!

Комиссар поморщился и сказал: «Знаешь что, Чита? Иди-ка ты подальше со своим раскаянием. Я вашего брата тридцать пять лет ловлю, и все одну пластинку крутят, когда ко мне приводят» (Семёнов 1). The Commissioner frowned and said: "Do you know something, Cheetah? Go and take a running jump with your repentance. I've been catching your sort for thirty-five years now and they all sing the same tune when they're brought to me (1a).

И-26 • АРКА́ДСКАЯ ИДИ́ЛЛИЯ lit, occas. iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a serene life, a quiet, peaceful existence: Arcadian existence ⟨life, idyll⟩.

< From Arcadia, the name of a region of ancient Greece known for the pastoral contentment of its people.

И-27 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ ИДИО́Т ⟨ДУРА́К⟩; ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ ИДИО́ТКА ⟨ДУ́РА⟩ derog, rude when addressed to the interlocutor [NP; these forms only; fixed WO] (of a person's behavior, actions etc) a foolish, unintelligent person, showing poor judgment: an idiot ⟨a fool, a jerk, a moron, a dumbass⟩; a complete ⟨a total, an absolute, a real⟩ idiot ⟨fool, jerk, moron, dumbass⟩; || чувствовать себя последним идиотом ≃ feel like a prize fool ⟨the world's prize fool⟩; || надо быть последним идиотом, чтобы так поступить ≃ only a total idiot ⟨a prize fool etc⟩ would ⟨could⟩ do something like this.

Чувствуя себя последним идиотом, Румата понёс какую-то куртуазную чепуху о быстрых ножках и алых губках — дона Окана только похохатывала (Стругацкие 4). Rumata felt like an idiot and kept murmuring nonsense about "swift little feet" and "rosy pink lips." Doña Okana kept giggling the whole way (4a).

И-28 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ⟨ИГРА́ТЬ/СЫГРА́ТЬ⟩ ВА-БА́НК [VP; subj: human; more often pfv; fixed WO] to act desperately, putting everything at risk (usu. striving to achieve sth. significant): X пошёл ва-банк ≃ X put everything on the line; X (went ahead and) risked everything ⟨all⟩; X went for broke; X shot the works; [lim.] X went for the jackpot; X risked everything ⟨it all⟩ on one throw (of the dice).

Королёва предупредили, что прежний темп работы после выписки из больницы равносилен для него смертному приговору… Но длительный отдых в то время означал для Королёва нечто вполне определённое: провал попытки обогнать американцев с выводом человека на орбиту… Королёв пошёл ва-банк… До того он состязался со временем и с косной технологией; теперь вступил в поединок с самой смертью (Владимиров 1). Korolyov was warned that for him to continue to work after his release from hospital at the same pace as before would be equivalent to a death sentence…. But to take a long convalescence at that time would have meant only one thing for Korolyov: the failure of the attempt to overtake the Americans in the race to put a man into orbit…. Korolyov decided to go ahead and risk everything…. Previously he had been competing with time and with inadequate technology; now he entered into a duel with death itself (1a).

И-29 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ВПРОК кому [VP; subj: usu. abstr] to be beneficial to s.o., improve s.o.'s well-being, health etc: X пойдёт Y-у впрок ≃ X will do Y good; Y will profit by ⟨from⟩ X; X will have a beneficial effect on Y.

Не знаю… Леонид Владимирович, пошёл бы ему этот разговор впрок, если бы не твои пайковые обеды в актёрской столовой в саду «Эрмитаж» в голодном сорок втором году, которые ты по-братски делил с ним пополам… (Максимов 2). I doubt, Leonid Vladimirovich, whether this conversation with you would have done him any good, had it not been for the meals, obtained on your special ration card at the actors' canteen in the Hermitage Gardens during that hungry year of 1942, which you shared equally with him like a brother (2a). ♦ «Я вижу, друзья, — сказал Джамхух, — наше путешествие идёт вам впрок» (Искандер 5). "Friends, I can see you're profiting by our journey," Jamkhoukh said (5a).

И-30 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ ВРАЗРЕ́З с чем [VP; subj: abstr] to contradict sth., disagree with sth. completely: X идёт вразрез с Y-ом ≃ X goes against Y; X runs counter to Y; X is in direct contradiction to Y; X is out of tune with Y; X flies in the face of Y.

Было бы тягостным недоразумением и шло бы вразрез с прямыми намерениями автора, если бы полемика с прошлым о прошлом, проходящая через эту книгу, была истолкована как желание оживить литературное движение, скончавшееся ровным счётом восемнадцать лет назад (Лившиц 1). It would be an onerous misunderstanding and would go against the author's immediate intentions, if the polemics with the past about the past which run through this book, were to be interpreted as a wish to resurrect a literary movement which died exactly eighteen years ago (1a).

И-31 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ НАВСТРЕ́ЧУ кому-чему [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO; when indir obj: human or collect, the person's or group's needs, requests, desires etc are implied] to satisfy s.o.'s needs, requests, desires, make concessions in order to reach an agreement etc: X пошёл навстречу Y-у ⟨нуждам, просьбам и т.п. Y-а⟩ ≃ X accommodated ⟨obliged⟩ person Y; X catered to person Y's needs; X fulfilled ⟨complied with⟩ person Y's request(s); [with the emphasis on making concessions] X met person Y halfway.

…[Никандров] заявил, что никто и никогда не узнает конца этой истории, если библиотека сию же минуту не пойдёт ему навстречу (Залыгин 1). …[Nikandrov] declared that nobody would ever hear the rest of the story if the library didn't this minute meet him halfway (1a).

И-32 • ИДТИ́ ⟨ПЕРЕ́ТЬ substand⟩ НАПРОЛО́М [VP; subj: human; often infin with надо, нужно, должен, решил etc] to act decisively, overcoming any obstacles, sometimes by cruel, harsh means (in order to achieve one's goal): X шёл напролом ≃ X forged ⟨barged, barreled⟩ ahead; X pressed on regardless; X (forged ahead and) let nothing ⟨no obstacles⟩ stop him; X let nothing stand ⟨get⟩ in his way; [lim.] X stopped at nothing.

Может, я правда чего-то не понял, может, у Иванько какие-то особые обстоятельства, а я пру напролом, ослеплённый жаждой расширения площади? (Войнович 3). Maybe I really didn't understand something, maybe there were some special circumstances in Ivanko's case, and I was barging ahead, blinded by my craving for expanded living space (3a).

И-33 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ НАСМА́РКУ coll [subj: abstr (usu. планы, усилия, работа, разговор etc)] to yield no positive result, end in nothing: X пошёл насмарку ≃ X came to nothing ⟨naught⟩; X went ⟨was⟩ (all) for naught; X went down the drain ⟨the tube(s)⟩; X went by the board.

…Как только он её [Зину] видел вновь, вся эта подсознательная работа по уничтожению её образа, власти которого он всё больше боялся, шла насмарку… (Набоков 1). …As soon as he saw her [Zina] again, all this subconscious work directed at the destruction of her image, whose power he feared more and more, went by the board… (1a).

И-34 • НЕ ИДТИ́ ДА́ЛЬШЕ чего [VP; subj: human or abstr] to stop at sth., some point: X не идёт дальше Y-а ≃ X doesn't go any further than Y; Y is as far as X goes.

Его понятие о «долге» не шло далее всеобщего равенства перед шпицрутеном… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). His concept of "duty" went no further than universal equality before the rod… (1a).

И-35 • И И́ЖЕ С НИМ ⟨С НИ́МИ⟩ lit [и + NP; these forms only; used after a personal noun, often a person's name; fixed WO] (in refer. to people who are close to the person named in terms of views, position etc) and those who are like him: and others of that ilk ⟨sort⟩; and company; *et al.

Почему не сказал никто: «Докусов — и иже с ним — совершил преступления против человечества»? (Эткинд 1). Why did no one say: "Dokusov (and others of that ilk) committed a crime against humanity"? (1a). ♦ [Колосовитов:] Герцен Маркса и иже с ним, знаете, как называл? Серная банда! (Солженицын 9). [K.:] Do you know what he [Herzen] called Marx, et al.? A sulphuric band! (9a).

И-36 • ПРОПИСА́ТЬ И́ЖИЦУ кому lit, occas. humor [VP; subj: human] to scold, punish, deal with s.o. (sometimes with one's enemies) severely (often used as a threat): X пропишет Y-у ижицу ≃ X will teach Y a (good) lesson; X will teach Y a lesson Y won't forget.

И-37 • НЕ КРАСНА́ ИЗБА́ УГЛА́МИ, А КРАСНА́ ПИРОГА́МИ [saying] it is not outward appearance or splendor that makes a home nice, but hospitable hosts: ≃ a hearty welcome is the best dish on the table.

И-38 • ВО ИЗБЕЖА́НИЕ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in order to keep sth. from happening: (in order) to avoid ⟨prevent, avert⟩ sth.

Полковник Емышев… украл двести казённых рублей, но, пойманный с поличным, вынужден был их вернуть и уйти с работы во избежание более серьёзных последствий (Войнович 3). …Colonel Emyshev stole two hundred rubles of state funds, but, caught red-handed, he was forced to return them and leave work in order to avoid more serious consequences (3a).

И-39 • ИЗБИЕ́НИЕ МЛАДЕ́НЦЕВ lit, humor or iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] excessively strict measures, severe demands directed toward the young and inexperienced, severe criticism of their work: slaughter ⟨massacre⟩ of the innocents.

< From the Biblical account of King Herod's massacre of the infants in Bethlehem (Matt. 2:16).

И-40 • ИЗБУ́ШКА НА КУ́РЬИХ НО́ЖКАХ [NP; usu. sing] 1. folk the hut perched on chicken legs belonging to Baba Yaga, a witch in Russian folk tales: a hut on chicken legs; Baba Yaga's hut.

2. coll a small rickety house: a hut on wobbly stilts; a ramshackle old cottage.

«А пока что мне вполне достаточно одного острова из группы Курильских островов, вас, милые жители этого острова, избушки на курьих ножках да милой жены!» (Залыгин 1). "But for the moment I'm perfectly content with what I've got now: one island in the Kurile chain; you, my dear islanders; a hut on wobbly stilts, and a pretty wife" (1a).

И-41 • В ИЗБЫ́ТКЕ; С ИЗБЫ́ТКОМ [PrepP; these forms only; quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: any common noun) or adv] in excess: quite ⟨more than⟩ enough; in abundance; (have ⟨there is⟩) a surplus (of).

Поскольку здесь всего в избытке, то все потребности удовлетворяются, и… Вот в этом-то и состоит суть дела (Зиновьев 1). Since we have more than enough of everything, all needs are satisfied and… That is the essence of the matter (1a).

И-42 • КАК ИЗВЕ́СТНО [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as is clear to all: as everyone knows; as we (all) know.

«По ленинским местам» фильм должен был называться или как-то в этом духе, я, признаться, точно не помню. А места эти, ленинские, они, как известно, в большинстве своём за рубежами нашей отчизны находятся. Потому что товарищ Ленин в своё время был тоже как бы невозвращенец (Войнович 1). I don't remember exactly what it [the film] was to be called—"In the Footsteps of Lenin"—something like that. As we know, the greater part of those footsteps occurred outside the borders of our country. Because Comrade Lenin at one time had been something of a defector himself (1a).

И-43 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ В ИЗВЕ́СТНОСТЬ кого (о чём) offic [VP; subj: human] to inform s.o. (of sth.): X поставил в известность Y-а о Z-е ≃ X made Y aware of Z; X notified ⟨apprised⟩ Y of Z; X made Z known to Y; X brought (it) to Y's attention (that…); X acquainted Y with Z.

«Я вас спрашиваю, вопрос улучшения ваших жилищных условий рассматривался уже на общем собрании?» — «Да», — выдавливает из себя Сергей Сергеевич. «Почему же вы не поставили меня об этом в известность?» (Войнович 3). "I'm asking you if the question of improvement of your housing conditions had already been considered at a general assembly?" "Yes," Sergei Sergeevich forces out. "Why didn't you make me aware of this?" (3a).

И-44 • ИЗВИНИ́ ПОДВИ́НЬСЯ ⟨ИЗВИНИ́ТЕ ПОДВИ́НЬТЕСЬ⟩ substand [VP; imper only] used to express one's categorical refusal to do sth., tolerate sth., allow s.o. to do sth. etc, or to express one's strong conviction that another is mistaken: you've ⟨he's etc⟩ got to be kidding; no way!; nothing doing!; thanks but no thanks; forget it!; [when one leaves a person or situation one can no longer tolerate] (it's) pardon me and that's that.

«И вопрос, Нюрка, в настоящий период стоит либо так, либо эдак, либо я, либо кабан, даю тебе на размышление пять с лишним минут, а затем собираю свои манатки и извини-подвинься» (Войнович 2). “And so the question right now is—one or the other, me or the hog. I’ll give you five minutes to think it over, a little more than five. Then I’ll get my stuff and it’s pardon me and that’s that” (2a).

И-45 • НЕТ ⟨НУ⟩, УЖ (Э́ТО) ИЗВИНИ́(ТЕ); НЕТ, ИЗВИНИ́(ТЕ) coll [Interj; these forms only] used to express a protest, one’s disagreement with sth.: well, excuse me!; sorry, no way!; I beg your pardon!; no, that’s asking too much!

Я многое ему прощал: и обиды, и невнимание, и невыплаченные долги, но простить предательство — нет, уж это извините! I forgave him a lot: his insults, his lack of consideration, and his unpaid debts; but forgive betrayal? No, that’s asking too much!

И-46 • КАК ИЗВО́ЗЧИК ругаться, материться и т.п. coll, disapprov [как + NP; nom only; adv (intensif)] (to swear) fiercely: X ругался ~ ≃ X swore like a trooper ⟨a truck-driver, a trucker, a stevedore⟩; X cursed ⟨cussed⟩ a blue streak.

И-47 • ЧЕГО́ ИЗВО́ЛИТЕ [Invar; fixed WO] 1. obs [indep. sent] (used as a deferential question by servants, coachmen etc) what would you like me to do for you?: how ⟨in what way⟩ may I serve you?; what would you like?; what can ⟨might⟩ I do for you?; [lim.] yes, sir ⟨ma’am⟩?

«Захар!» — сказал он. «Чего изволите?» — вяло отозвался Захар (Гончаров 1). “Zakhar!” he said. “Yes, sir?” Zakhar responded listlessly (1a).

2. derog [usu. nonagreeing postmodif] used to characterize the behavior of a person who, lacking in convictions, principles etc, behaves obsequiously, is prepared to do or say whatever is most personally advantageous under the given circumstances: (have ⟨take⟩) an at-your-service (attitude etc); a whatever-you-say-sir (attitude ⟨role etc⟩); [lim.] (be) a yes-man ⟨-woman⟩.

Поглядев на удостоверение с печатью Большого дома, Прокофьев стал в позицию «чего изволите?» и уступил — без попыток сопротивления (Эткинд 1). Having seen this document with the stamp of the Big House, Prokofiev took up an “at your service” attitude and gave in without the slightest resistance (1a).

И-48 • ИЗВО́ЛИШЬ ⟨ИЗВО́ЛИТЕ⟩ ВИ́ДЕТЬ obs [sent adv; these forms only; fixed WO] used to introduce an explanation or to attract the interlocutor’s attention to the statement to which it belongs: you see.

«Вот (он набил трубку, затянулся и начал рассказывать), — вот, изволите видеть, я тогда стоял в крепости за Тереком с ротой — этому скоро пять лет» (Лермонтов 1). “Well,” he filled and lit his pipe, took a long draw on it, and began the story, “you see, I was stationed at the time at a fort beyond the Terek with a company—that was nearly five years back” (1b).

И-49 • ИЗВО́ЛЬТЕ РА́ДОВАТЬСЯ iron [Invar; usu. sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] used to express one’s disappointment at, dissatisfaction with etc sth. unpleasant (usu. sth. that is the opposite of what was expected, hoped for etc): wouldn’t you know it!

Представь себе: меня уже чемодан был упакован, и вдруг за два часа до поезда звонит начальник и, извольте радоваться, сообщает, что поездка в Париж отменяется. Picture it: my suitcase is all packed, and suddenly, two hours before the train is to leave, the boss calls and, wouldn’t you know it, tells me my trip to Paris is off.

И-50 • ПРИ ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕМ ИЗДЫХА́НИИ obs when used of a person [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human or animal); fixed WO] one is close to the moment of his death: X был при последнем издыхании ≃ person X was at his last gasp; person X was breathing his last; person X was on the verge of death; animal X was about to die.

«Удивительно, как он [Мармеладов] ещё очнулся, — шепнул потихоньку доктор Раскольникову… — Сейчас умрёт». — «Неужели никакой надежды?» — «Ни малейшей! При последнем издыхании…» (Достоевский 3). “It’s amazing that he [Marmeladov] even recovered consciousness,” the doctor whispered softly to Raskolnikov…. “He’ll die very soon.” “Is there no hope at all?” “Not the slightest! He’s at his last gasp…” (3a).

И-51 • ИЗЖИВА́ТЬ/ИЗЖИ́ТЬ СЕБЯ́ [VP; subj: usu. abstr] (of an idea, tradition, approach etc) to become antiquated, no longer be useful, accepted, utilized etc: X изжил себя ≃ X became outdated ⟨outmoded, obsolete, passé, a thing of the past⟩; X lost its usefulness.

Вы должны разработать новую, современную методику, а не цепляться за старые, давно изжившие себя методы. You need to develop new, modern methods and not stick to old ones that are long outmoded.

И-52 • С ИЗЛИ́ШКОМ окупить что, окупиться, компенсировать кому что и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to cover the cost of sth., pay for itself, compensate s.o. for sth. etc) to an even greater extent than (expected, necessary etc): more than (adequately); (all…) and then some; (all…) and more.

В кооперативе дела идут очень хорошо: все наши старания, время и деньги уже окупились с излишком. Things at the co-op are going really well: we’ve already been more than compensated for all the time, effort, and money we invested in it.

И-53 • ИЗМЕНЯ́ТЬ/ИЗМЕНИ́ТЬ (САМОМУ́) СЕБЕ́ [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to act against one’s nature, habits, or beliefs: X изменил (самому) себе ≃ X was untrue ⟨false⟩ to himself; X went against his convictions ⟨principles⟩; X strayed from his core principles; X betrayed his (own) convictions.

Для русских историков… Наполеон есть предмет восхищения и восторга… Кутузов же, тот человек, который от начала и до конца своей деятельности в 1812 году… ни разу ни одним действием, ни словом не изменяя себя, являет необычайный в истории пример самоотвержения и сознания в настоящем будущего значения события, — Кутузов представляется им чем-то неопределённым и жалким… (Толстой 7). For Russian historians… Napoleon is the object of adulation and enthusiasm…. But Kutuzov, the man who from the beginning to the end of his activity in 1812… was never once by word or deed false to himself, who presents an example rare in history of self-sacrifice and of present insight into the future significance of events—Kutuzov seems to them something indeterminate and pitiful… (7a).

И-54 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ИЗМО́РОМ ⟨НА ИЗМО́Р⟩ [VP] 1. ~ кого-что [subj: human or collect] to seize, gain possession of (a fortress etc) by surrounding it and waiting for its inhabitants to exhaust their resources: X-ы взяли Y-ов измором ≃ Xs starved Ys into surrender ⟨submission⟩; Xs starved Ys out.

Взять крепость штурмом они не смогли и решили взять её измором. They couldn’t take the fortress by storm, so they decided to starve the inhabitants out.

2. ~ кого [subj: human] to (try to) force s.o. to do sth. against his will by besieging him with persistent and irksome requests, actions etc: X берёт Y-а на измор ≃ X is wearing ⟨trying to wear⟩ Y down ⟨out⟩; X is nagging ⟨hounding⟩ Y (into doing sth.); X is wearing ⟨trying to wear⟩ down Y's resistance.

И-55 • НА ИЗНО́С работать coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. (of a person or organization; to work) to the point of complete exhaustion, giving o.s. fully to the task at hand: (work o.s.) to death ⟨to a frazzle⟩; (work) at full stretch.

…Королёв, сам работавший «на полный износ» и рисковавший жизнью, считал риск возможным и необходимым в космонавтике — особенно в той авантюрной космонавтике, в которую был теперь вовлечён силою событий (Владимиров 1). …Korolyov, who had himself been working at full stretch and risking his own life, recognised the possibility and even the inevitability of risk in space flight, especially in the more adventurous form of space flight into which he had been drawn by force of circumstances (1a).

2. (of equipment, machinery and the like; to run, operate machinery, or some machine, factory etc is run) at full speed and full power: at full throttle; at full capacity; at full tilt.

И-56 • ИЗНО́СУ ⟨ИЗНО́СА, СНО́СУ, СНО́СА⟩ НЕТ [VP, impers] 1. ~ чему. Also: ИЗНО́СУ ⟨СНО́СУ⟩ НЕ ЗНАТЬ [VP; subj: a noun denoting clothes, footwear etc] sth. is very durable: X-у износу нет ≃ X doesn't ⟨won't, will never⟩ wear out; X never wears out; X will stand any amount of hard wear; X will last (forever ⟨indefinitely⟩).

«Между прочим, хороший материал, говорят… Ему сносу нет…» (Искандер 5). "By the way, they say it's good material. Doesn't wear out" (5a).

2. ~ кому rare s.o. is in good shape, despite being old or middle-aged: X-у сносу нет ≃ X is ⟨looks⟩ none the worse for wear; X wears ⟨has aged⟩ well; the years haven't changed ⟨aged, told on⟩ X a bit.

[Лебедев:] А тебе, старая скворешня, и сносу нет. Лет тридцать я тебя старухой знаю… (Чехов 4). [L.:] You look none the worse for wear, you old windbag. I remember you as an old woman thirty years ago (4b). [L.:] You know, old magpie, you wear well. You've been an old woman ever since I've known you—for the last thirty years (4a).

И-57 • МЕТА́ТЬ ИКРУ́ substand, rude [VP; subj: human] to make a loud and unpleasant fuss (usu. over sth. trivial), express one's anger in an outward, sometimes offensive, manner: X мечет икру ≃ X is kicking up a fuss; X is raising ⟨making⟩ a stink.

И-58 • ЧТО ИМЕ́Ем, НЕ ХРАНИ́М, ПОТЕРЯ́ВШИ, ПЛА́ЧЕМ [saying] we begin to value things only after we lose them: ≃ we only know the worth of water when the well is dry; you never miss the water till the well runs dry; you don't know what you've got ⟨you have⟩ till you lose it; the worth of a thing is best known by the want of it.

И-59 • С И́МЕНЕМ [PrepP; nonagreeing postmodif] (of a person) famous: a [NP] with a name; a (big-)name [NP]; well-known; || с мировым именем ≃ a [NP] with a world reputation; world-renowned.

…В большом, хорошо знакомом русским берлинцам зале… состоялся открытый литературный вечер… Сперва читал писатель с именем, в своё время печатавшийся во всех русских журналах… (Набоков 1). …In a large hall which was well known to Berlin Russians… an open literary evening was held…. First to read was a name writer who in his time had appeared in all the Russian reviews… (1a). ♦ «…Баранова никто не знает, — он подумал и улыбнулся самодовольно, — а я писатель с мировым именем» (Войнович 6). "…Kostya [Baranov] is unknown," he added with a smug grin, "and I'm a writer with a world reputation!" (6a).

И-60 • ОТ И́МЕНИ кого ⟨ОТ чьего И́МЕНИ⟩; ОТ ЛИЦА́ кого-чего all lit [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is adv; от лица is usu. used with a pl or collect noun] expressing the opinion of s.o., on s.o.'s instructions, referring to s.o.: on ⟨in⟩ behalf of; in s.o.'s name; in the name of; (speaking ⟨as spokesman etc⟩) for; [lim.] from.

Приказав от имени главнокомандующего исполнить упущенное, князь Андрей поскакал назад (Толстой 4). Having given orders in the commander-in-chief's name to rectify this omission, Prince Andrew galloped back (4b). ♦ [Тесть:] У всех налито?.. Ну хорошо. Так что разрешите от лица стола… поднять этот тост… (Рощин 2). [Father-in-law:] Does everybody have a glass?… All right. So then allow me, speaking for the table… to raise this toast… (2a).

И-61 • СИДЕ́ТЬ КАК ИМЕНИ́ННИК ⟨ИМЕНИ́ННИЦА⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to do nothing, sit idly while others work: X сидит как именинник ≃ X is sitting around like royalty.

И-62 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ИМЕНИ́ННИКОМ ⟨ИМЕНИ́ННИЦЕЙ⟩ obsoles, coll, humor [VP; subj: human] to look very happy, content: X смотрит именинником ≃ X is ⟨looks⟩ happy as a lark; X is walking ⟨floating⟩ on air; X looks radiant ⟨all aglow⟩.

И-63 • ЧЁРСТВЫЕ ИМЕНИ́НЫ coll [NP; fixed WO] the day following the celebration of a person's name day, when people may come over to offer belated congratulations, eat food left over from the party etc: the day after s.o.'s name day; || приходить на чёрствые именины ≃ come ⟨go⟩ over s.o.'s place for leftover birthday cake; come over etc to wish s.o. a belated happy name day.

< The idiom refers to the fact that on the day after a party the cakes are already stale («чёрствые»).

И-64 • ВОТ И́МЕННО! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express agreement with the interlocutor's statement: precisely!; exactly!; that's right!; that's (just) it ⟨the point⟩!; [lim.] my point exactly; that's (just) the trouble.

«Не надо так кипеть. Да, кроме того, ты ведь сам спорил с Дмитрием Петровичем». — «Если не спорят, нет настоящей дружбы». — «Вот именно, — сказала Людмила Николаевна. — И увидишь, тебя с твоим языком ещё отстранят от руководства лабораторией» (Гроссман 2). "You shouldn't get so steamed up about it," said Lyudmila. "Besides, you were always arguing with Dmitry Petrovich yourself." "There's no true friendship without discussion." "That's the trouble," said Lyudmila. "You and your discussions. You'll end up having your laboratory taken away from you" (2a).

И-65 • НИЧЕГО́ НЕ ИМЕ́ТЬ ПРО́ТИВ кого-чего [VP; subj: human] not to harbor any bad feelings toward s.o. or have any objections to sth.: X ничего не имеет против Y-а ≃ X doesn't have anything ⟨X has nothing⟩ against Y.

Безумный и нераскаянный Жан-Батист ответил, что он охотно отказывается от звания [королевского камердинера] и ничего не будет иметь против того, чтобы отец передал звание тому из сыновей, которому он пожелает (Булгаков 5). The mad and unrepentant Jean-Baptiste replied that he would willingly give up the title [of Royal Valet] and had nothing against its being turned over to any of the sons his father chose (5a).

И-66 • ВО И́МЯ кого-чего rather elev [PrepP; Invar; Prep] for s.o. or sth., in honor of s.o. or sth.: in the name of; in s.o.'s ⟨sth.'s⟩ name; for the sake of.

«Все самые гнусные преступления в истории совершались во имя добра» (Зиновьев 1). "The vilest crimes of history have been committed in the name of good" (1a).

И-67 • И́МЯ (ЖЕ) ИМ ЛЕГИО́Н lit [sent; these forms only; fixed WO] there are very many of them: they are ⟨their name is⟩ legion.

Нет, нет, отшвыривание, низвержение этих стариков, а имя им легион, было бы трагической ошибкой для государства… (Аксёнов 7). No, getting rid of these old fogies, eliminating them—and they are legion—would be a tragic mistake for the state… (7a).

< From the Bible (Luke 8:30, Mark 5:9).

И-68 • НА И́МЯ кого ⟨НА чьё И́МЯ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is adv or postmodif] 1. писать, посылать что, письмо и т.п. ~ for the person whose name is written on (some letter, package etc): addressed to; (address ⟨write, send⟩ sth.) to.

Сказать ли всю истину: по секрету, он даже заготовил на имя известного нашего географа, К. И. Арсеньева, довольно странную резолюцию… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). If the whole truth be told, he even prepared in secret a rather strange resolution addressed to our well-known geographer, K. I. Arseniev (1a).

2. записать, купить что и т.п. ~ (while executing a transaction, closing a deal etc, to use) s.o.'s or one's own name for the legal record: in ⟨under⟩ s.o.'s name; in the name of; || на своё имя ≃ in ⟨under⟩ one's own name.

Изощрённость этого сионистского издевательства Давида Аракишвили состояла в том, что, оставляя дом на имя несуществующего племянника, он в то же время всех своих существующих племянников забрал с собой (Искандер 3). One refinement of this Zionist mockery of David Arakishvili's was that while he left his house in the name of a nonexistent nephew, he took all his existent nephews with him (3a).

И-69 • СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ⟨СОСТА́ВИТЬ obs⟩ СЕБЕ́ И́МЯ (в чём) lit [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to achieve recognition, distinguish o.s. (in some field): X сделал себе имя ≃ X made a name for himself; X earned ⟨built up⟩ a reputation for himself; X won his spurs.

Этим исследованием она сделала себе имя в науке. Thanks to that research, she made a name for herself in science.

И-70 • НЕ ИНА́ЧЕ (КАК) [restr Particle; these forms only; var. without как is often parenth; var. with как always precedes the word, phrase, or clause to which it refers; fixed WO] used to express the speaker's belief that his (or, occas., another's) supposition is correct, even though he does not know it for a fact: must [+ infin]; I am ⟨he is etc⟩ sure ⟨certain⟩; without a doubt; no doubt; (that's) for sure ⟨for certain⟩; (there's) no doubt about it ⟨that⟩; [lim.] I bet.

Илья вошёл в избу запыхавшись — не иначе как бежал… (Абрамов 1). Ilya came into the house out of breath—he must have run (1b). ♦ [Булычов:] Пропьют государство. [Башкин:] Не иначе (Горький 2). [B.:] They'll sell the state for a drink. [B.:] For certain (2b).

И-71 • ИНВАЛИ́Д ПЯ́ТОЙ ГРУ́ППЫ ⟨ПЯ́ТОГО ПУ́НКТА⟩ euph, coll [NP; fixed WO] a Jew (used during the Soviet era predominantly by Jews themselves to imply some form of discrimination against them): victim of Point Five.

«Евреев бьют»… «Инвалиды пятого пункта», острили порой студенты отделения русской литературы. Не зло острили, даже сочувственно (Свирский 1). "They're beating the Jews."… "Victims of Point Five." The students of the Russian literature department sometimes wisecracked. They weren't malicious jokes—more often sympathetic (1a).

< Refers to the fifth line in Soviet internal passports, which designates nationality, and (in the first variant) to disability categories, of which there are, in fact, only three.

И-72 • ИЗ СПОРТИ́ВНОГО ИНТЕРЕ́СА coll, occas. humor [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to do sth.) out of a desire to test one's abilities and/or for the enjoyment of the process itself, not striving to reap material advantage, career advancement etc: for the sport of it; for (the) love of the game; for the fun of it; for kicks; for the challenge.

И-73 • В ИНТЕРЕ́САХ чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep; the resulting PrepP is adv] in order to help, support sth.: in the interests of; for the sake of.

[Таня:] …Диплом ты выменял у моего отца на меня?.. Откуда я знаю, может, ты снова меня променяешь. В интересах дела (Вампилов 3). [T.:] …You bartered me for the diploma with my father?…How do I know you won't barter me again. For the sake of your work (3b).

И-74 • ПРИ ПИ́КОВОМ ИНТЕРЕ́СЕ остаться, оказаться и т.п., оставить кого coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with оставить (obj: human); fixed WO] (to end up, leave s.o.) without sth. counted on or hoped for: holding the bag; out in the cold; high and dry; (get ⟨end up with etc⟩) nothing for one's pains ⟨trouble⟩.

Все его сотрудники получили прибавку к зарплате, а он опять остался при пиковом интересе. All of his coworkers got a raise, but he was left out in the cold again.

И-75 • ИО́В МНОГОСТРАДА́ЛЬНЫЙ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a person suffering from continual misfortunes: long-suffering Job.

«Я, ты знаешь: одна нога в гробу, бездна забот, болезни, ну, Иов многострадальный» (Герцен 2). "I have one foot in the grave, as you know, and no end of worries and infirmities; I am a long-suffering Job, in fact" (2a).

< From the name of the upright man in the Bible who suffered many calamities (Book of Job).

И-76 • ИРО́НИЯ СУДЬБЫ́ [NP; fixed WO]; often ПО ИРО́НИИ СУДЬБЫ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] a strange, absurd occurrence: quirk ⟨twist⟩ of fate; irony of fate; || по иронии судьбы ≃ by a twist ⟨a quirk, an irony⟩ of fate; as irony would have it; ironically.

По иронии судьбы он очутился в камере с белобородым дедушкой, известным работником охранки… (Мандельштам 2). By an irony of fate he had found himself sharing a cell with a white-bearded old man who had once been a well-known Okhrana official… (2a).

И-77 • ИСКА́ТЕЛЬ ПРИКЛЮЧЕ́НИЙ [NP; fixed WO] 1. obs a person who travels in unexplored places: adventure seeker; adventurer.

2. euph, disapprov. Also: (of a woman) ИСКА́ТЕЛЬНИЦА ПРИКЛЮЧЕ́НИЙ a person who seeks social position, material gain etc by questionable or unscrupulous means: adventurer ⟨adventuress⟩; schemer; [lim.] fortune hunter; [of a woman only] gold digger.

И-78 • ЗА ИСКЛЮЧЕ́НИЕМ кого-чего [PrepP; Invar; Prep] excepting, besides: with the exception of; except (for); apart from; save.

…Он помог сохранить имущество Коли Зархиди, которое, за исключением настенного зеркала, проломанного буфета и других мелочей, полностью перешло в руки советской власти (Искандер 3). …He helped preserve Kolya Zarhidis' property, which, with the exception of the wall mirror, the broken sideboard, and other trifles, passed intact into the hands of the Soviet authorities (3a).

И-79 • И́СКРА БО́ЖЬЯ (у кого, в ком) obs [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. (s.o. has) talent, prominent natural ability: God-given talent; God-given gift.

2. noble impulses, high aspirations: high ideals; divine spark.

[Андрей:] …Жёны обманывают мужей, а мужья лгут, делают вид, что ничего не видят, ничего не слышат, и неотразимо пошлое влияние гнетёт детей, и искра божья гаснет в них, и они становятся такими же жалкими, похожими друг на друга мертвецами, как их отцы и матери… (Чехов 5). [A.:] …The wives deceive their husbands, the husbands tell lies, pretend not to see anything, not to hear anything; and their profoundly vulgar influence has so crushing an effect on their children that the divine spark in them is extinguished and they become just as pitiable corpses, and as like to one another, as their fathers and mothers (5b).

И-80 • ЗАРОНИ́ТЬ И́СКРУ ⟨СЕ́МЯ, ЗЕРНО́⟩ чего (в кого, в чью душу) lit [VP; subj: human or abstr; indir obj: usu. abstr; usu. this WO] to arouse a certain feeling (in s.o.), cause a certain reaction to sth.: X заронил искру надежды ⟨сомнения, подозрения, скептицизма и т.п.⟩ в Y-а ≃ X sparked ⟨awakened⟩ hope ⟨doubt, suspicion, skepticism etc⟩ in Y; X sparked ⟨awakened⟩ in Y a feeling of hope ⟨doubt, suspicion, skepticism etc⟩; thing X gave rise to Y's hopes ⟨doubts, suspicions, skepticism etc⟩.

Разговор этот заронил в него искру подозрения относительно истинных намерений директора. This conversation gave rise to his suspicions as to the director's true intentions.

И-81 • И́СКРЫ ИЗ ГЛАЗ ПОСЫ́ПАЛИСЬ у кого coll [VP_{subj}] s.o. experiences such sharp pain from a blow to the head or face that it seems to him that lights are flashing before his eyes: у X-а искры из глаз посыпались ≃ X saw stars.

«…Если он сейчас начнёт про дятла, который умрёт от сотрясения мозга, я так его трахну вот этой головешкой по голове, что он сам умрёт от сотрясения мозга! А перед смертью у него столько искр посыплется из глаз, что они затмят звёздное небо…» (Искандер 5). "If he starts in about the woodpecker who'll die of concussion, I'll conk him on the head with this brand so hard that he'll die of concussion himself! And before he dies he'll see so many stars… that they'll eclipse the starry sky" (5a).

И-82 • ИСКУССТВОВЕ́Д В ШТА́ТСКОМ euph, coll [NP; fixed WO] a secret police agent wearing plain clothes or an informer clandestinely collaborating with the secret police (esp. the KGB during the Soviet era): man on the agency payroll; plain-clothes agent.

И-83 • ВНОВЬ ИСПЕЧЁННЫЙ humor [AdjP; modif; fixed WO] (s.o. who) has just received a certain position, title, degree etc: brand-new; new; newly ⟨freshly⟩ minted; newly fledged.

Разрешите представить вам нашего вновь испечённого инженера. Let me introduce to you our newly fledged engineer.

И-84 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА ИСПУ́Г кого highly coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with пытаться, хотеть etc or neg imper] to intimidate s.o., thereby forcing him to act in a certain way: X взял Y-а на испуг ≃ X used scare tactics (on Y); X scared Y into doing sth.; X gave Y a scare; [lim.] X frightened ⟨scared⟩ Y off.

«А я думаю, сперва язык твой обсудить надо! Понял? А то он у тебя разболтался — гаек не хватает». — «Давай, давай… Всё на испуг взять хочешь, товарищ Ганичев» (Абрамов 1). "First of all, I think we should discuss your tongue! Hear that? It's gotten so loose, it's obviously missing some screws." "All right! Scare tactics, eh, Comrade Ganichev?" (1a).

И-85 • ОТДЕ́ЛЫВАТЬСЯ/ОТДЕ́ЛАТЬСЯ ЛЁГКИМ ИСПУ́ГОМ coll [VP; subj: human] to get out of a situation that might have had serious negative consequences for one without serious loss or injury: X отделался лёгким испугом ≃ X got off lightly ⟨(pretty) easy⟩; X got off with only a scare.

Рыбаков мог получить несколько лет тюрьмы за то, что избил подчинённого, но вступился его высокопоставленный тесть, и он отделался лёгким испугом: был временно понижен в должности. Rybakov could have gotten a few years in prison for beating up one of his subordinates, but his high-ranking father-in-law intervened and he got off easy, with a temporary demotion.

И-86 • А́ЗБУЧНАЯ И́СТИНА [NP; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] a very simple statement or thought known to all: elementary ⟨simple, basic⟩ truth; truism; the most elementary ⟨basic⟩ rule.

«Да кто его [Пушкина] понимал! кто его вообще понимал!.. Вяземский? Баратынский? Но они… не понимали его тоже. Вам ли мне пересказывать эти азбучные истины…» (Битов 2). "But who understood him [Pushkin]! Who ever understood him!… Vyazemsky? Baratynsky?… But they, too, didn't understand him. Do I have to repeat these truisms for you?" (2a). ♦ [Кушак:] (Саяпину.) Но выговор вы всё-таки получите. Впредь никогда и ничего не подписывайте до тех пор, пока не прочтете внимательнейшим образом. Это азбучная истина (Вампилов 5). [K.:] (To Sayapin) But it's going on your record all the same. In the future, never sign anything until you've read it over very carefully. That's the most elementary rule (5b).

И-87 • ПРОПИСНА́Я И́СТИНА [NP; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] an overused, trite phrase, statement etc that is devoid of originality and known to all: boring ⟨oft-repeated⟩ truism; (old) hackneyed truth; (well-worn) cliché; copybook maxim.

[Бакченин:] Ты меня только прописями не долбай. Прописные истины — не для моего положения (Панова 1). [B.:] Don't you start lecturing me in clichés. Old hackneyed truths aren't for me in my position (1a).

И-88 • ВОЙТИ́ В ИСТО́РИЮ rather lit [VP; subj: human or abstr; more often pfv] to become well-known, make an impact on history, be remembered into the future: X вошёл в историю (как…) ≃ X has gone down in history ⟨in the history books, in the record books⟩ (as…); X has earned a place in history (as…); thing X ⟨person X's name⟩ has been added to the history books (as…); X has made history (as…); X is known to history (as…).

Так что отныне и на веки веков Сталин войдёт в историю как автор многих работ… (Зиновьев 2). So, now and for ever more Stalin goes down in history as the author of many books… (2a). ♦ «Она родила принца Мехмеда, который впоследствии стал монархом и вошёл в историю как великий реформатор» (Акунин 5). "She gave birth to Prince Mehmed, who later ascended the throne and is known to history as a great reformer" (5a).

И-89 • ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ В ИСТО́РИЮ coll; ВЛИПА́ТЬ/ВЛИ́ППНУТЬ ⟨ВЛЯ́ПАТЬСЯ⟩ В ИСТО́РИЮ coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv; usu. this WO] to become involved in an unpleasant incident or sth. blameworthy: X попал в историю ≃ X got (himself) into a mess ⟨a fix⟩; X got involved in an unpleasant incident ⟨scene etc⟩; X got (himself) intoan unpleasant ⟨embarrassing etc⟩ situation; X walked right into trouble.

…Он [Чонкин] твёрдо решил, что теперь никогда в жизни не будет задавать никаких вопросов, а то ещё влипнешь в такую историю, что и не выпутаешься (Войнович 2). Chonkin firmly resolved that from there on in he would never ask another question, and that way keep himself from getting into a mess so bad there'd be no getting out (2a).

И-90 • ВЕ́ЧНАЯ ⟨ОБЫ́ЧНАЯ⟩ ИСТО́РИЯ coll [NP; sing only; used as sent; fixed WO] (of actions, events etc, usu. disagreeable or annoying ones) this is what always happens, this is the same as always: (it's) the same old story ⟨thing⟩ (all over again); (it's) the usual story; there ⟨here⟩ we go again.

«Вечная история: власти узнают о событиях после всех» (Федин 1). "The same old story: the authorities are the last to learn of events" (1a).

И-91 • ИСТО́РИЯ С ГЕОГРА́ФИЕЙ old-fash, coll, humor [NP; sing only; usu. used in exclamations after вот так; fixed WO] an unexpected turn of affairs, a difficulty that is not easy to resolve: that's ⟨this is⟩ a fine ⟨nice, pretty⟩ kettle of fish!

«А где же ключ?» — «Ой, боюсь, что я забыла его дома». — «Вот так история с географией!» "Where's the key?" "Oops, I'm afraid I left it at home." "This is a fine kettle of fish!"

И-92 • ИСТО́РИЯ УМА́ЛЧИВАЕТ о ком-чём occas. humor or iron [VP_{subj}; this form only; fixed WO] sth. remains unknown, unrevealed, is not spoken of, discussed etc: об X-е история умалчивает ≃ history is silent about ⟨on⟩ X; history passes ⟨glosses⟩ over X in silence; [humor or iron only] X is a deep dark secret.

На какой-то олимпиаде в прошлые годы — какой точно и в какие годы история умалчивает, — Хэлоуэй завоевал то ли золотую, то ли серебряную, то ли бронзовую медаль по метанию диска… (Аксёнов 7). At one or another of the Olympics—history glosses over the date in silence—Halloway won either a gold or a silver or a bronze medal for the discus throw… (7a).

И-93 • СОВСЕ́М ДРУГА́Я ИСТО́РИЯ [NP; sing only; subj or subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. abstr or это); fixed WO] sth. (is) completely, absolutely different (from the way it is supposed to be, what is expected, what is hoped for etc): a different ⟨another⟩ story altogether; a horse of a different ⟨of another⟩ color; something else altogether.

И-94 • КАК ИСТУКА́Н ⟨ИЗВАЯ́НИЕ, КА́МЕННЫЙ⟩ стоять, сидеть coll [как + NP; nom only; adv] 1. (to stand or sit) motionless: like a statue ⟨a stone⟩.

2. (to stand or sit somewhere) clearly not understanding anything, mindlessly, not reacting: like a zombie ⟨a dummy⟩.

Осуждённый сидел как истукан, не слыша обращённых к нему вопросов. The convict sat there like a zombie, not hearing the questions addressed to him.

И-95 • НА ⟨В obsoles⟩ ИСХО́ДЕ [PrepP; these forms only] 1. ~ чего. Also: К ИСХО́ДУ [the resulting PrepP is adv] during the last part of sth.: at the end ⟨close⟩ of; toward the end of; as sth. is drawing to a close; as sth. is nearing its end.

К началу нашего повествования, на исходе довольно сумбурной редакционной ночи… мы видим издателя-редактора этой газеты Андрея Арсениевича Лучникова в его личных апартаментах, на «верхотуре» (Аксёнов 7). As our story begins—at the end of a hard night at the teletype machines… we find the publisher-editor of the Courier… Andrei Arsenievich Luchnikov, in his suite atop a skyscraper (7a).

2. [subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: concr or abstr)] sth. is approaching or coming to an end: X на исходе ≃ X is almost gone; X is running short ⟨low, out⟩; (s.o.) is running out of X; X is petering out; X is almost at an end ⟨finished, exhausted⟩; [in time-related contexts only] X is drawing to a close ⟨to an end⟩; X is winding down; [of s.o.'s strength only] X is giving out; [of patience only] X is wearing thin; [of food, supplies etc only] X is nearing rock bottom; || апрель ⟨третий час и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ it's nearly ⟨almost⟩ May ⟨three o'clock etc⟩.

«Ну ладно, — сдалась Раиса. — Пуд [соли] дам, а больше и не проси». — «Ну давай хоть пуд», — уступила и старуха, предвидя, что время её на исходе (Войнович 2). "Well, all right," yielded Raisa. "I'll give you a pood [of salt], but don't ask me for more." "A pood'll be fine." Sensing that time was running short, Granny Dunya in her turn yielded (2a). ♦ [Трилецкий:] Трагедия на исходе, трагик! На исходе-с! (Чехов 1). [T.:] The tragedy is almost at an end, tragedian! Yes, sir, almost at an end (1a). ♦ Март был уже на исходе, когда, однажды вечером, она ему сказала: «У меня, кажется, для вас что-то имеется» (Набоков 1). March was drawing to an end when, one evening, she said to him: "I think I have something for you" (1a).

И-96 • В (КОНЕ́ЧНОМ) ИТО́ГЕ [PrepP; these forms only; sent adv] as a final result, after everything has been considered: in the end; in the long run; in the final analysis; at the end of the day; when all is said and done.

Человеку дано стать палачом, так же как и дано не становиться им. В конечном итоге выбор за нами (Искандер 3). Man is given the choice of becoming a hangman, just as he is given the choice of not becoming one. In the final analysis, the choice is ours (3a).

И-97 • ПОДВОДИ́ТЬ/ПОДВЕСТИ́ ИТО́ГИ ⟨ИТО́Г⟩ (чего, чему) [VP; subj: usu. human or collect, occas. книга, статья etc] (in refer. to one's life, accomplishments etc, or some movement, historical period etc) to examine and summarize the net results of sth.: X подвёл итоги ≃ X summed it up; X summed up the situation; X summed up what he had done ⟨accomplished etc⟩; X drew up a balance sheet; X took stock; X made ⟨came to⟩ some conclusions; || X подвёл итоги Y-а ⟨Y-у⟩ ≃ X summed Y up (and drew some conclusions); X did a summing up (of Y); X took stock of Y; [lim.] X made a summing-up speech ⟨report etc⟩.

Эти не по сезону перемены действуют на психику с такой силой, что, проснувшись в такое внезапно оказывающееся холодным и пасмурным утро, вдруг с раздирающей грустью начинаешь думать о жизни, подводить итоги, ничего не ждёшь (Олеша 3). These out-of-season changes act on the psyche with such force that, waking up on a morning turned suddenly cold and gray, you immediately begin to think about life with a heart-rending sadness, you begin to sum it up, expecting nothing (3a).

И-98 • КАК ⟨СЛО́ВНО⟩ ИША́К ⟨ВЕРБЛЮ́Д⟩ нагруженный, навьюченный, нагрузиться и т.п. highly coll [как + NP; these forms only; modif or adv (intensif)] (of a person who) has weighed himself down under a very heavy load: loaded (up ⟨down⟩) like a mule ⟨a camel, a pack-horse⟩.

Й

Й-1 • НИ НА (ОДНУ́ ⟨ЕДИ́НУЮ⟩) ЙО́ТУ; И НА ЙО́ТУ all lit [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif); used with negated verbs; fixed WO] not at all, not in the least: not one ⟨an⟩ iota; not one ⟨a⟩ jot ⟨whit⟩.

«…Ну что же, — обратился он к поэту, — успеха я вам желать не буду, потому что в успех этот ни на йоту не верю» (Булгаков 9). "Well," he turned to the poet, "I shall not wish you success, for I do not have an iota of confidence in your success" (9a). ♦ «Из этой фразы, братцы, я делаю совершенно определённый вывод, что Лучников ни на йоту не изменил свою позицию…» (Аксёнов 7). "From these words I conclude beyond a shadow of a doubt that Luchnikov has not modified his position one jot…" (7a).

< From the name of the ninth letter of the Greek alphabet. Cf. the Bible (Matt. 5:18).

Й-2 • НИ (ОДНО́Й ⟨ЕДИ́НОЙ⟩) ЙО́ТЫ lit [NP_{gen}; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. не знать, не понимать ~; не уступить, не выполнить и т.п. ~ (из чего) [obj] (to know, understand etc) nothing at all (about sth.), (to carry out, yield etc) none (of sth.) at all: не знать ⟨не понимать и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ not know ⟨understand etc⟩ one iota (of sth.); know ⟨understand⟩ not a whit ⟨one iota⟩ (of sth.); not know ⟨understand etc⟩ a single thing ⟨the first thing⟩ (about sth.); || не уступить ~ ≃ not give an inch; not yield in the slightest; not yield one iota; || не выполнить ~ ≃ not carry out even one iota (of sth.).

С одной стороны, он понимал, что не выполнил ни одной йоты из программы, начертанной правителем канцелярии; с другой стороны, ему казалось, что программа эта должна выполниться сама собой, без всякого его содействия (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). He realized, on the one hand, that he had not carried out one iota… of the program his chief secretary had outlined for him, but, on the other, it seemed to him that that program had a good chance of coming off by itself without any interference from him (2a).

2. ~ чего нет, не осталось и т.п. [quantif of subj/gen] (there is, there remains etc) absolutely none (of sth.): not one ⟨a single⟩ iota (of sth.); not a jot (of sth.).

Я смотрела «Ярь» — в ней нет ни одной йоты подлинной поэзии, ни одного настоящего слова (Мандельштам 2). I have looked at Yar. There is not one iota of real poetry in it, not a single genuine word (2a).

К-1 • ПОД КАБЛУКО́М ⟨ПОД КАБЛУЧКО́М humor⟩ чьим, (у) кого быть$_{ø}$, находиться и т.п. or держать кого coll [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with держать (obj: human)] completely under the control or influence of s.o., entirely dependent on s.o. (often of a husband in relation to his wife): X под каблуком у Y-а ≃ X is under Y's thumb; X lets Y boss him around; || Y держит X-а под каблуком ≃ Y keeps X under Y's thumb; Y has X wrapped around Y's little finger; [only of a husband in relation to his wife] X под каблуком у женщины Y ≃ X is henpecked ⟨a henpecked husband⟩; [lim.] Y wears the pants in the family.

…Наташка молодец. Правда, она держит Антона под каблуком. Но это ему на пользу (Зиновьев 2). …Natasha is wonderful. It's true she keeps Anton under her thumb, but it's for his own good (2a).

К-2 • В КАВЫ́ЧКАХ iron [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif] in appearance or by name but not in fact, not deserving of his or its name (because he or it does not possess the re-quired qualities, properties etc): quote unquote; so-called.

…Боец последнего года службы Иван Чонкин был маленького роста, кривоногий, да ещё и с красными ушами. «И что это за нелепая фигура! — скажете вы возмущённо. — Где тут пример для подрастающего поколения? И где автор увидел такого в кавычках героя?» (Войнович 2). …Ivan Chonkin, the soldier with one year left to serve, was short of stature, bowlegged, and even had red ears. "What a sorry sight he makes!" you will say indignantly. "What kind of example is this for the younger generation? And just where has the author seen a quote unquote hero like this?" (2a).

К-3 • РАЗДУВА́ТЬ/РАЗДУ́ТЬ КАДИ́ЛО highly coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to expand a business, enterprise, or launch some activity successfully: X раздует кадило ≃ X will get it going great guns; X will make a go of it; [lim.] X will drum up business.

2. to turn an unimportant matter into an object of excessive discussion, investigation etc by attaching unwarranted significance to it: X раздует кадило ≃ X will blow things ⟨it⟩ (all) out of proportion; X will make a big to-do about it; X will make ⟨kick up⟩ a fuss; X will raise a hue and cry.

К-4 • КА́ЖДОМУ СВОЁ [sent; Invar; fixed WO] each person has his own fate, purpose in life, as well as his own concerns, gifts, tastes etc: to each his own; [lim.] everybody is different; it's a matter of taste; each to his own taste.

…Ирина Викторовна вообще не боялась никаких на свете машин, не испытывала страха от того, что роботы могут вытеснить человека из жизни или стихийно взбунтоваться, как об этом написано у многих довольно умных, но теперь уже не оригинальных авторов… Пустяки! Каждому своё, машине — машинное, человеку — человеческое (Залыгин 1). There was no machine in the world that held any terrors for her [Irina Viktorovna], and she never feared that robots might displace humans or spontaneously revolt, as so many clever but no longer original writers had suggested. What nonsense that was! To each his own—the mechanical to the machine, the human to the human (1a).

< Loan translation of the Latin suum cuique.

К-5 • ВО́ЛЬНЫЙ КАЗА́К coll [NP; usu. sing; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human), nom only, usu. pres; fixed WO] a completely independent person, free to act as he chooses: X вольный казак ≃ X is his ⟨her⟩ own master ⟨man, mistress, woman, agent⟩; X is the master of his fate; X is a free man ⟨woman, agent⟩; X is as free as a bird.

«Вы мужчина, вы — вольный казак… Сумасбродствовать, играть своей жизнью ваше священное право. Но Лариса Фёдоровна человек несвободный. Она мать» (Пастернак 1). "…You are a man, Yurii Andreievich, you are your own master, and you have a perfect right to gamble with your life if you feel like it. But Larisa Feodorovna is not a free agent. She is a mother…" (1a). ♦ «Теперь ты вольный казак: можешь выступать, можешь не выступать, как хочешь. Хозяин — барин» (Трифонов 2). "Now you're a free agent: you may speak or not speak—suit yourself. The decision is yours" (2a).

К-6 • КАЗА́ЛОСЬ БЫ [Invar; sent adv (parenth)] seemingly, ostensibly: it would ⟨might⟩ seem; you ⟨one⟩ would think ⟨suppose⟩; [lim.] apparently.

…[Иванько] обменял квартиру маленькую двухкомнатную на большую трёхкомнатную, обставил её привозной мебелью… Казалось бы, что ещё человеку нужно? (Войнович 3). …[Ivanko] traded a small two-room apartment for a large three-roomer, furnished it with imported furniture…. It would seem a man could want no more (3a).

К-7 • КАК КАЗА́ЛОСЬ [Invar; sent adv (parenth); fixed WO] as could be readily seen, visibly: apparently; evidently; appear ⟨seem⟩ to.

О себе приезжий, как казалось, избегал много говорить… (Гоголь 3). The newcomer apparently avoided saying a great deal about himself… (3a). The newcomer seemed to avoid saying much about himself… (3c).

К-8 • ЕГИ́ПЕТСКАЯ КАЗНЬ lit [NP] a horrendous calamity, horrible punishment: one of the ten plagues of Egypt; one of ten Egyptian plagues.

[Платонов:] Ты ли это, Осип? Что с тобой? На лице у тебя написаны все десять египетских казней! (Чехов 1). [P.:] Is this you, Osip? What's wrong? You look as if you'd suffered all ten plagues of Egypt (1b).

< From the Biblical account of ten calamities visited upon Egypt by God when Pharaoh refused to free the Jews from bondage (Ex. 7–12; Deut. 4:34, 6:22; I Sam. 4:8).

К-9 • идти, пойти и т.п. куда КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, КАК БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО⟩ НА КАЗНЬ ⟨КА́ТОРГУ, ЗАКЛА́НИЕ, ЭШАФО́Т, ПЛА́ХУ, КОСТЁР⟩ [как + PrepP; these forms only; adv] to go, walk to some place with great reluctance, looking crestfallen, as if expecting disaster: go ⟨walk⟩ as if to the gallows ⟨to the execution block, to the scaffold, to be burned at the stake⟩.

К-10 • ЛОМА́ТЬ/СЛОМА́ТЬ КАЙФ кому slang [VP; subj: human; often infin with не надо, не хотеть, зачем etc] by one's attitudes or behavior, to undermine other people's enjoyment or eagerness, to interfere with their good time: X не хотел ломать кайф Y-ам ≃ X didn't want to spoil ⟨kill⟩ the fun ⟨the pleasure⟩ for Ys; X didn't want to be a killjoy ⟨a party pooper, a wet blanket, a spoilsport⟩.

К-11 • А (ТО) КА́К ЖЕ! coll [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] naturally, certainly (used as a response to a да-нет question, or as a rejoinder): (but) of course!; of course I will ⟨I am etc⟩; of course, what do you expect?; sure (enough)!; sure I will ⟨I am etc⟩!; you bet!; and how!; what else?; I should say so!; I should say I will ⟨he did etc⟩!

«Собираешься на службу?» — «А то как же?» (Шолохов 2). "Getting ready for the army?" "Of course" (2a). ♦ «Грибы, должно, пойдут после этого дождя», — сказала Анфиса. «Пойдут», — вяло отозвался Лукашин. «Люди уже носят». — «Грибы? А то как же! Харч». (Абрамов 1). "There should be some mushrooms after this rain," Anfisa said. "Yes," Lukashin answered limply. "People are already bringing them in." "Mushrooms? You bet—good grub" (1a). ♦ [1-й мужик:] А тысячу-то отдали? [Яков:] А то как же?.. [2-й мужик:] То-то шальные деньги-то (Толстой 3). [First Peasant:] And did they give him the thousand? [Ya.:] I should say they did. [Second Peasant:] That's real easy money (3a).

К-12 • ВО́Т КАК coll [Invar; fixed WO] 1. [Interj (an exclamation or question)] used to express surprise, astonishment etc, occas. mixed with incredulity, indignation: is that so ⟨right, it⟩?; really!; I see!; so that's how it is ⟨what's going on etc⟩!; well now!; dear me!; upon my word!; how about that!

[Вера:] У нас в пансионе одна барышня писала стихи. [Беляев:] Вот как! и хорошие? (Тургенев 1). [V.:] At my boarding-school a girl used to write poetry. [B.:] Is that so? Was it good poetry? (1e). ♦ [Репников:] Да понимаешь ли ты, что этот прохвост пришёл сюда в расчёте, что ты ему поможешь? [Таня:] Ах, вот как? (Вампилов 3). [R.:] Do you realize that scoundrel came here counting on you to help him? [T.:] Oh, is that it? (3b). ♦ «…Когда-то отец из меня кузнеца хотел сделать. Кузница у нас была». — «Вот как! — с волнением сказал Илья. — Дак, значит, мы с тобой тёзки, товарищ Лукашин?» — «В каком смысле?» — «А в том, что у моего отца тоже кузница была» (Абрамов 1). "…There was a time when my father wanted to make a blacksmith out of me. We used to have a forge." "Well now!" said Ilya with emotion. "That makes us cousins, doesn't it, Comrade Lukashin?" "How so?" "I mean, my father had a forge too" (1a).

2. ~ нужен, надоел и т.п. Also: ВО́ КАК substand [adv (intensif) or modif] (a person or thing is needed by s.o., boring to s.o. etc) to an extreme, the utmost degree (often accompanied by a gesture in which the speaker raises the edge of his index finger to his throat): like you wouldn't believe; awfully; terribly; really; [in refer. to annoyance etc] s.o. has had it (up to here) (with sth.); sth. is more than one can take ⟨handle⟩.

«А время тяжёлое, и нам урожай этот во как нужен. Так?» (Войнович 4). "Times are rough and we really need this harvest, right?" (4a). ♦ [Кудимов:] Парни! Что за формальности? Мне эта субординация (показывает) во как осточертела! (Вампилов 4). [K.:] Come on, fellers! Let's have a bit less of this formality. I've had seniority and juniority up to here. (Points) (4a).

К-13 • КАК БУ́ДТО (БЫ) 1. Also: КАК Е́СЛИ БЫ [subord Conj; introduces a compar clause] (used to convey the unreal, illusory nature of the comparison) just like it would be if: as if ⟨though⟩; like; [lim.] (so… that) one ⟨it etc⟩ seems to…

[Елена Андреевна:] Ты говоришь о своей старости таким тоном, как будто все мы виноваты, что ты стар (Чехов 3). [E.A.:] You speak of your old age as if we were to blame for it (3a). ♦ Потом разрешили одеться и выдали под расписку постель: матрац, такой твёрдый и тяжёлый, как будто его набили кирпичами… (Марченко 1). Then I was allowed to get dressed and sign out some bedding: a mattress that was so hard and heavy it seemed to be filled with bricks… (1a).

2. [Particle] used to express the speaker's doubt or uncertainty as to the reliability of the information in the statement (usu. when the speaker is uncertain of his own interpretation, understanding etc of the situation; less often when the speaker is uncertain of the reliability of an outside source of information): (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) seems (to); it seems that…; it is as if; (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) looks (as if); apparently; [when the reliability of the source of information is in doubt] allegedly; ostensibly; supposedly; purportedly.

«Флигелёк-то плох — вот беда». — «Помилуй, папаша, — подхватил Аркадий, — ты как будто извиняешься…» (Тургенев 2). "The rooms in the little wing aren't very nice—and that's a pity." "Goodness, Papa," Arkady interrupted. "It's as if you're apologizing…" (2g). ♦ «От кого ж бы это? — задумчиво говорил Обломов, рассматривая адрес. — Рука как будто знакомая…» (Гончаров 1). "Who could it be from?" mused Oblomov, examining the address. "The handwriting looks familiar…" (1b).

К-14 • КАК БЫ… 1. [Particle] used to show that the object, action etc named is almost, but not exactly, what is named: (a) kind of; something of; seem to…; (it is) as if ⟨though⟩; as it were; [lim.] seemingly; in a sense.

…Между ними [ёлками] образовалась как бы аллейка… (Набоков 1). …They [the fir trees] formed between them a kind of small avenue… (1a). ♦ Когда я, нарушив правила литературного тона, сам оказался в повествовании в качестве героя, то впервые как бы поколебалась социальная структура Лёвы… (Битов 2). When I violated literary etiquette by turning up in the narrative myself in the capacity of hero, it was as if Lyova's social structure had been shaken for the first time (2a). ♦ Публика долго лица его не знала. Его нигде не видать. Уже знаменитый, он как бы остаётся за кулисами своей деятельной, говорливой мысли (Набоков 1). For a long time the public did not know his face. Nowhere was he seen. Already famous, he remained as it were in the wings of his busy, talkative thought (1a).

2. [subord Conj, compar] (used to introduce an interpretation of what is stated in the main clause; the interpretation takes the form of an unreal comparison) (sth. is done, happens, looks etc) the way it would if…: as if ⟨though⟩.

Он продолжал стоять возле своего столика, как бы сочувствуя мне по поводу этой неприятной новости (Искандер 4). He continued to stand by his desk, as though sympathizing with me over this disagreeable news (4a).

3. obs, substand [subord Conj, condit] used to introduce a conditional clause: if (only); [with neg predic only] were it not for; had it not been for.

[Анна Петровна:] Как бы папенька-то твой не мотал без памяти, так бы другое дело было, а то оставил нас почти ни с чем (Островский 1). [A.P.] If only your papa hadn't spent his money like water, then everything'd be different. As it is, he left us almost nothing at all (1a).

К-15 • КАК БЫ (…) НЕ… 1. [subord Conj; introduces a nominal clause; usu. used after the words бояться, страх etc in the main clause] used to introduce a clause expressing a supposition that sth. undesirable may occur or may have occurred: (be afraid ⟨fear etc⟩) that (s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) might ⟨may⟩.

Больше всего Аслан боится, как бы кто не подумал, что он боится своего происхождения (Искандер 5). What Aslan fears above all is that someone might think he feared his lineage (5a).

2. [Particle] used to introduce a supposition that something undesirable may occur or may have occurred: what if.

«Как бы он нас не опозорил, дядя Сандро…» (Искандер 3). "What if he puts us to shame, Uncle Sandro?" (3a).

К-16 • КАК БЫ НЕ ТА́К! coll; КАК НЕ ТА́К! substand [Interj; these forms only; fixed WO] used to express strong disagreement, objection, refusal, refutation: not at all!; not a chance!; fat chance; not on your life!; not by a long shot!; nothing of the sort ⟨kind⟩!; no way!; [lim.] not if I can help it; sure, let's hear about it.

За тем, что было написано, стоял, конечно, намёк на то, что Нюра зла не помнит и готова примириться, если Иван не будет упрямиться. «Как бы не так», — вслух сказал он… (Войнович 2). Everything about the note hinted that Nyura bore him no grudge and was ready to make up if Ivan wouldn't stay stubborn. "Fat chance," said Chonkin aloud… (2a). ♦ Всё это была, конечно, политика. У Львовых мне казалось, что политика существует только для того, чтобы объяснить, почему Митю исключили с волчьим билетом. Как бы не так! (Каверин 1). All this, of course, was politics. When I was at the Lvovs, I imagined that the only point of politics was to explain why Mitya had been expelled and blacklisted. Nothing of the sort! (1a).

К-17 • КА́К ЕГО ⟨ЕЁ, ИХ⟩ (ТАМ) coll [these forms only; parenth] used when the speaker cannot immediately recall a person's name, position, rank etc., the name of an organization, phenomenon etc; also used when the speaker is not sure the name he just said or is about to say is correct: what's-his⟨her, its, their⟩-name; what-d'you-call him ⟨her, it, them⟩; whaddaya call him ⟨her, it, them⟩; [NP] or whatever you call him ⟨her, it, them⟩; [NP] or whatever his ⟨her, its, their⟩ name is; [when the speaker remembers part of the name] his ⟨her⟩ name is [the given name] somebody ⟨something (or other)⟩.

«Что за опыты он ставит над этим, как его, Богуславским?» (Акунин 2). "What kind of experiments does he perform on the other man, what's his name, Boguslavsky?" (2a).

К-18 • КА́К ЖЕ; НУ КА́К ЖЕ both coll [Particle] 1. Also: (НУ) КА́К ЖЕ, КА́К ЖЕ coll [used as an affirmative response to a question or in support of a statement] certainly, it is clear or agreed (without needing to be stated or proven): (yes ⟨but, why⟩,) of course; of course I do ⟨will etc⟩; yes, indeed (I do etc); sure(ly); naturally; [lim.] well then (, well then); why yes!; [in response to "Do you mind…?", "Do you object to…?" etc] of course not (, of course not).

«Может быть, помните? Я вам рассказывал об Абуталипе Куттыбаеве». — «А, ну как же, как же! Прекрасно помню» (Айтматов 2). "Perhaps you'll remember—I told you once about Abutalip Kuttybaev." "Oh, yes, of course, indeed I do! I remember well now" (2a).

2. usu. iron. used to express disagreement, doubt that sth. said by the interlocutor is as stated (the speaker often repeats the part of the interlocutor's statement with which he disagrees): that's what you think!; (oh) sure!; yeah, right!; …indeed!; (oh,) come now; [lim.] sure one does ⟨will etc⟩.

[Катерина:] И на воле-то он словно связанный. [Варвара:] Да, как же, связанный! Он как выедет, так запьёт (Островский 6). [K.:] So, even on his own, it's just as if he were still tied to her. [V.:] That's what you think! As soon as he leaves here, he'll start in drinking (6f). ♦ «Как видите, Тюльпанов, задача выглядит не столь уж сложной». Анисий пока этого не видел и потому от кивка воздержался. «Ну как же», — удивился Эраст Петрович (Акунин 1). "As you can see, Tulipov, the task does not appear so very complicated." Anisii could not yet see that, and so he refrained from nodding. "Oh, come now," Erast Petrovich said in surprise (1a).

К-19 • КАК (…) НИ… [subord Conj] 1. Also: КАК БЫ (…) НИ… [concessive] regardless of to what extent or degree: however (great ⟨much etc⟩)…; no matter how (great ⟨much etc⟩)…; (as) much as…; [lim.] for all one's ⟨its⟩…; …as one is; despite one's ⟨s.o.'s⟩ best efforts (to do sth.); || как (это) ни странно ≃ curiously ⟨oddly⟩ enough; strange as it may seem; [lim.] strange to say; || как он ни старался… ≃ try as he might ⟨would⟩.

Как ни владела собою Одинцова, как ни стояла выше всяких предрассудков, но и ей было неловко, когда она явилась в столовую к обеду (Тургенев 2). No matter how great Odintsova's self-control, how distanced she was from every sort of prejudice, she still felt uncomfortable at dinner in the dining room (2g). For all her self-possession and freedom from the conventions Madame Odintsov felt distinctly ill at ease when she entered the dining room for dinner (2c). ♦ …Как ни потрясло их описанное выше зрелище, они не увлеклись ни модными в то время революционными идеями, ни соблазнами, представляемыми анархией… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Shocked as they were by the scene which has been described, they were not carried away by any of the revolutionary ideas then in fashion, nor by the temptations offered by the prospect of anarchy (1b).

2. [temporal] every time that: whenever; no matter when; it doesn't matter when.

Тебе как ни позвонишь, телефон всегда занят. Whenever I call you, the line is always busy.

По вечерам ходил я и в сад… Главный предмет занятий и разговоров было волокитство и подсматривание друг за другом… Я был страшным камнем преткновения для всей тайной полиции нашего сада, дамы и мужчины удивлялись моей скрытности… (Герцен 1). In the evenings I used to walk into the garden…. The chief subject of talk and interest was flirtation and spying on one another…. I was a terrible stumbling block for all the secret police in our garden; the ladies and the men wondered at my reserve… (1a).

< From the Bible (Isa. 8:14, Rom. 9:32–33 et al.).

К-46 • КА́МЕНЬ ⟨КА́МЕНЬ чего rare, lit⟩ С ДУШИ́ ⟨С СЕ́РДЦА⟩ СВАЛИ́ЛСЯ у кого [VP_{subj}; usu. past] s.o. experienced a sense of relief, felt liberated from his worries: у X-а камень с души свалился ≃ a load ⟨a great weight⟩ was taken off X's mind; that was a load ⟨a great weight⟩ off X's mind; X's soul was relieved (of a tremendous load).

«Подите сюда, — проговорил Ростов, хватая Телянина за руку… — Это деньги Денисова, вы их взяли…» — прошептал он ему над ухом. «Что?.. Что?.. Как вы смеете? Что?..» — проговорил Телянин. Но эти слова звучали жалобным, отчаянным криком и мольбой о прощении. Как только Ростов услыхал этот звук голоса, с души его свалился огромный камень сомнения (Толстой 4). "Come here," said Rostov, seizing Telyanin by the arm…. "That is Denisov's money—you took it," he whispered in his ear. "What? What? How dare you! What?" babbled Telyanin. But the words came out like a piteous, despairing cry and a plea for a pardon. As soon as Rostov heard the sound of his voice, his soul was relieved of a tremendous load of doubt (4a).

К-47 • КРАЕУГО́ЛЬНЫЙ КА́МЕНЬ чего lit [NP; usu. sing; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. abstr), obj-compl with считать etc (obj: usu. abstr), or obj of положить, заложить; fixed WO] the fundamental basis of sth., the most important part: cornerstone.

Он обнял совокупность явлений, лежавших в районе его духовного ока, и вынужден был согласиться, что весь мир стоит на этом краеугольном камне (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). With his mind's eye he encompassed the interdependence of every event within the circumference of his own experience and he was driven to admit that the whole world was balanced on that cornerstone (2a).

Целый день преследовали маленькие негодяи злосчастную вдову… покуда она не пришла в исступление и не начала прорицать. Смысл этих прорицаний объяснился лишь впоследствии, когда в Глупов прибыл Угрюм-Бурчеев и не оставил в городе камня на камне (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The little rascals pursued the ill-fated widow for a whole day… until at last she went into a frenzy and began to prophesy. The meaning of her prophecies became clear only later, when Gloom-Grumblev arrived in Foolov and razed it to the ground (1a).

2. [subj: human or abstr (1st var.)] to disprove, rebut sth. «Вечером со сватами приду, — объявил Егорша… — Чего тут канитель разводить? Ты войди в моё положение. Мне так и эдак жениться надо» (Абрамов 1). "This evening I'm coming over with the matchmakers," announced Egorsha…. "Why drag it out? Put yourself in my position. One way or another I'm going to have to get married" (1a).

2. to talk for a long time in a monotonous, boring manner: X тянул канитель ≃ X went ⟨droned⟩ on and on.

К-56 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ В КАНО́ССУ lit [VP; subj: human; often neg] to forsake one's pride and humble o.s. before s.o., acknowledging one's defeat: X в Каноссу не пойдёт ≃ X will not go to Canossa.

< From the name of a castle in Italy where the Holy Roman emperor Henry IV of Germany did penance before Pope Gregory VII in 1077.

К-57 • НЕБЕ́СНАЯ КАНЦЕЛЯ́РИЯ coll, humor or iron [NP; sing only; subj or obj] forces seemingly in control of nature: the Man Upstairs; the weather gods; the Powers That Be.

«…Ведь нас не так уж много, старик, — мы все на учёте в небесной канцелярии» (Аксёнов 6). [context transl] "…After all, there aren't so many of us left, old man. We're all numbered in the Big Ledger in the sky" (6a).

К-58 • КАПИТА́Л ПРИОБРЕСТИ́ И НЕВИ́ННОСТЬ СОБЛЮСТИ́ [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with хочет(ся), можно etc; usu. this WO] to obtain advantage for o.s. (often material success or financial gain) without acting unethically or damaging one's reputation: X-у хочется и капитал приобрести и невинность соблюсти ≃ X wants to have his cake and eat it too; X wants (to get ⟨to enjoy⟩) the best of both worlds.

Стоп-стоп-стоп, повторил про себя Момус. А нельзя ли тут по обыкновению двух зайцев подстрелить — вот какая идея пришла ему в голову. То есть, если точнее, чужого зайца подстрелить, а своего под пулю не подставить. Или, выражаясь иначе… невинность соблюсти и капитал приобрести (Акунин 1). "Stop-stop-stop," Momos told himself again. He had an idea—why couldn't he kill two birds with one stone as he usually did? Or, to be more precise, kill the other man's bird and keep his own away from the stones. Or, to put it another way, have his cake and eat it, too (1a).

< The phrase was made popular by Mikhail Saltykov-Shchedrin who used it in Trifles of Life («Мелочи жизни»), 1877, Letters to My Aunt («Письма к тётеньке», письмо 10-е), 1882, and other works.

К-59 • НЕ КА́ПЛЕТ над кем coll [VP; impers; this form only] s.o. is not under time constraints, there is no reason why s.o. need hurry: над X-ом не каплет ≃ X is not in any rush ⟨hurry⟩; [lim.] what's the rush ⟨the hurry⟩?; where's the fire?; the sky isn't falling.

[Анна Ивановна:] Что ж ты, бандурист, когда на мне женишься? [Гуслин:] А вот когда от Гордея Карпыча разрешение выдет [ungrammat = выдет]. Куда нам торопиться-то, над нами не каплет (Островский 2). [A.I.:] When are you going to marry me, my brave guitarist? [G.:] As soon as Gordei Karpych gives his permission. What's the hurry? The sky's not falling (2b).

К-60 • ДО (ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЙ) КА́ПЛИ ⟨КА́ПЕЛЬКИ⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs] 1. выпить, осушить что ~ (to drink, drain) everything in one's glass, leaving nothing: (down) to the last drop.

…Арину Власьевну [Василий Иванович] заставил выпить рюмку до последней капельки (Тургенев 2). Не [Vasily Ivanovich] made Arina Vlasievna drink her glassful down to the last drop (2f).

2. ~ исчерпать, израсходовать (силы, энергию и т.п.), изучить, рассказать что и т.п. completely, totally: исчерпать ⟨израсходовать⟩ силы ⟨энергию и т.п.⟩ ~ ≃ spend one's strength ⟨energy etc⟩ to the last drop; utterly exhaust o.s.; || изучить что ~ ≃ learn sth. down to the smallest detail; learn sth. inside out; || рассказать всё ~ ≃ recount everything down to the last detail.

Это было поразительное ощущение — дядя Митя стоял перед ним в дверях, старый, несчастный, уничтоженный человек, тративший в день до капли свои силы, чтобы больше никогда не быть униженным (Битов 2). It was an astonishing sensation—Uncle Mitya stood before him in the doorway, an old, unhappy, destroyed man, who spent his day's strength, to the last drop, on never again being humiliated… (2a).

К-61 • ДО ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЙ КА́ПЛИ КРО́ВИ биться, сражаться, бороться и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] (to fight, struggle, defend sth. etc) sacrificing everything (and, in contexts involving physical conflict, not sparing one's own life): to the last drop of one's blood; with one's last drop of blood; to the death.

«Вы заступаетесь за этих бабёнок?» — «Не за бабёнок, а за права женщин, которые я поклялась защищать до последней капли крови» (Тургенев 2). "Are you going to stand up for those silly females?" "Not for silly females, no, but for the rights of women which I have sworn to defend to the last drop of my blood" (2a). "Are you going to defend those silly females?" "Not those silly females, but women's rights, which I've sworn to defend with my last drop of blood" (2g).

К-62 • КАК ДВЕ КА́ПЛИ ВОДЫ́ похож(ий), походить на кого-что и т.п.; ДВЕ КА́ПЛИ ВОДЫ́ both coll [(как +) NP; these forms only; usu. modif or adv (1st var.), or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$, subj: human (2nd var.); fixed WO] (resembling s.o. or sth.) very closely, (looking) completely alike: like ⟨as (a)like as⟩ two peas (in a pod); the spitting ⟨the spit and⟩ image of; carbon copy of; perfect facsimile of.

«Когда ты в кабинете говорил, я смотрела на тебя, — заговорила Наташа, видимо стараясь отогнать набежавшее облако. — Ну, две капли воды ты на него похож, на мальчика». (Она так называла сына.) (Толстой 7). "…While you were talking in the study I was looking at you," Natasha began, obviously trying to dispel the cloud that had come over them. "You are as like as two peas—you and the boy." (She meant their little son.) (7a).

К-63 • КА́ПЛИ ⟨НИ КА́ПЛИ, МА́КОВОЙ РОСИ́НКИ⟩ В РОТ НЕ БРАТЬ/НЕ ВЗЯТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; more often impfv; in var. with капли, капли always precedes the verb] not to drink alcohol at all: X капли в рот не берёт ≃ X doesn't touch ⟨take⟩ a drop; X never touches ⟨takes⟩ a drop; [lim.] X is a teetotaler.

Начинаю понимать его тактику. И до меня постепенно доходит, что министерский ум в данном случае не у моего брата Лёвы, а у пропойцы Терещенко, который, кстати сказать, во время процесса не взял в рот ни капли… (Рыбаков 1). I began to understand his tactics, and to see that it wasn't Lyova who had the mind of a politician, in this case, but the old boozer Tereshchenko, who, incidentally didn't touch a drop during the entire trial… (1a).

К-64 • НИ КА́ПЛИ ⟨НИ КА́ПЕЛЬКИ⟩ coll [NP$_{gen}$; these forms only] 1. ~ чего нет, не осталось и т.п. [quantif of subj/gen] (there is, there remains, s.o. has etc) absolutely none (of sth.): not a ⟨one⟩ drop of; not an ounce ⟨a hint, a trace⟩ of; no [NP] at all.

Я не чувствовал рук, они онемели на ледяном пруте, и у меня не оставалось ни капли силы, чтобы подтянуться (Кузнецов 1). I could not feel my hands—they were numb from the icy bar—and I had not a drop of strength left to pull myself up (1a). ♦ До сих пор я не знаю, как назвать это состояние… В нём не было ни капли восторженности. Наоборот, оно приносило покой и отдых (Паустовский 1). Even now I don't know what to call this mood…. There was not a trace of exaltation in it. On the contrary, it brought peace and quiet (1b).

2. Also: НИ НА КА́ПЛЮ ⟨КА́ПЕЛЬКУ⟩ coll [adv (intensif)] not at all, not to any extent: not a bit; not the least bit; not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩.

Господи! За тридцать лет она [тётка] не изменилась ни капли (Битов 1). My God, in thirty years she [Auntie] hasn't changed a bit (1a). ♦ [Генрих:] Тебя это не тревожит? [Бургомистр:] Ни капельки (Шварц 2). [H.:] Tell me, doesn't this worry you? [Mayor:] Not in the least (2a).

К-65 • НА КА́ПЛЮ ⟨НА КА́ПЕЛЬКУ⟩ чего (у кого, в ком) coll [PrepP; these forms only; quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: abstr) or quantif of subj/gen] s.o. has a very small amount (of some quality, skill etc): (hardly) an ounce (of [NP]); next to no [NP].

К-66 • КА́ПЛЯ В КА́ПЛЮ похож(ий), походить на кого-что coll [Invar; modif or adv; fixed WO] (resembling s.o. or sth.) very closely; completely alike: like ⟨as (a)like as⟩ two peas (in a pod); carbon copy of; the spitting ⟨the spit and⟩ image of; perfect facsimile of; identical; exactly alike.

К-67 • КА́ПЛЯ В МО́РЕ coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: usu. inanim, occas. human); fixed WO] an insignificant amount (when compared with the amount that is needed, was previously available etc): drop in the bucket ⟨in the ocean⟩.

«По моим подсчётам, на книгах, присланных Саней, Реваз получил прибыли не меньше двадцати тысяч. Но это капля в море» (Чернёнок 1). "According to my calculations, Revaz made at least twenty thousand on the books Sanya sent him. But that's a drop in the bucket" (1a).

К-68 • КА́ПЛЯ ЗА КА́ПЛЕЙ; (КА́ПЛЯ) ПО КА́ПЛЕ; ПО КА́ПЛЯМ [these forms only; adv; usu. used with impfv verbs; fixed WO] gradually, slowly, by degrees: drop by drop; bit by bit; little by little.

[Ольга:] И в самом деле, за эти четыре года, пока служу в гимназии, я чувствую, как из меня выходят каждый день по каплям и силы и молодость (Чехов 5). [O.:] And really, all these four years while I've been working at school, I've felt as though my strength and my youth were draining out of me drop by drop (5b).

К-69 • КА́ПЛЯ ⟨ЧАСТИ́ЦА⟩ МОЕГО́ ⟨твоего и т.п.⟩ МЁДУ есть в чём coll, often humor [NP; sing only; VP$_{subj}$ with быть; fixed WO] I (you etc) also participated in sth., contributed to sth.: I ⟨you etc⟩ had a hand in it, too; I ⟨you etc⟩ had a finger in the pie; I ⟨you etc⟩ made a ⟨my, your etc⟩ contribution (to sth.); [lim.] I ⟨you etc⟩ put in my ⟨your etc⟩ two cents' worth.

< From Ivan Krylov's fable "Eagle and Bee" («Орёл и Пчела»), 1813.

К-70 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ КА́ПЛЯ; КА́ПЛЯ, ПЕРЕПО́ЛНИВШАЯ ЧА́ШУ lit [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: abstr); fixed WO] the final (often minor) aggravation that, when added to existing troubles, makes the situation unbearable, forces s.o. to lose his patience etc: the last straw; the straw that broke the camel's back.

И вот однажды появился по всем поселённым единицам приказ, возвещавший о назначении шпионов. Это была капля, переполнившая чашу… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). One day an order proclaiming the appointment of spies appeared in all settlement units. This was the last straw… (1a).

К-71 • РУБИ́ТЬ/ИЗРУБИ́ТЬ В КАПУ́СТУ кого; ИЗРУБИ́ТЬ ⟨ИСКРОШИ́ТЬ⟩ В ЛАПШУ́ all coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to kill, destroy s.o. (usu. in refer. to killing one's enemy with a saber etc; often used as a threat): X изрубит Y-а в капусту ≃ X will make mincemeat (out) of Y; X will cut ⟨tear, rip⟩ Y to shreds ⟨to ribbons, to pieces⟩.

[Варравин:] Если бы он теперь мне в лапу попался, да я бы его, мошенника, в лапшу искрошил… (Сухово-Кобылин 3). [V.:] If he fell into my clutches now, I'd make mincemeat out of the bastard… (3a).

К-72 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ НА КАРАНДА́Ш что [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to write sth. down (in order to remember it later): X берёт Y на карандаш ≃ X makes a note of Y; X notes Y (down); X jots down Y; X takes notes (on Y); [lim.] X reaches for a pencil.

Он [писатель] был неплохой парень, и мы все к нему быстро привыкли, только неприятно было, что он всё берёт на карандаш (Аксёнов 1). He [the writer] wasn't a bad guy, and we all quickly got used to him, only it was annoying the way he was always reaching for a pencil (1a).

К-73 • В КАРАНДАШЕ́ (выполнить, сделать рисунок, чертёж и т.п.) [PrepP; Invar; adv or nonagreeing postmodif] (to do a drawing, produce a draft etc) using a pencil: (do a drawing ⟨a sketch is done etc⟩) in pencil; (do) a pencil (sketch etc); pencil (a drawing etc).

К-74 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ НА КАРАУ́Л mil [VP; subj: human or collect; fixed WO] to salute s.o. with a particular rifle maneuver: X взял на караул ≃ X presented arms.

Часовой у комендатуры, из новичков, в необмятом пыльнике и в берете, натянутом на уши, сделал ей «на караул» (Стругацкие 2). The sentry in front of the CO's headquarters, a recent recruit wearing an unwrinkled trench coat and a beret pulled down over his ears, presented arms (2a).

К-75 • КРИЧА́ТЬ КАРАУ́Л coll [VP; subj: human] 1. Also: КРИ́КНУТЬ ⟨ЗАКРИЧА́ТЬ⟩ КАРАУ́Л to call out for help when in danger: X кричал караул ≃ X cried (out) for help; X screamed ⟨shouted⟩ for help.

…Он потребовал от Петрухи: «Кричи». — «Чё [ungrammat = что] кричи?» — не понял тот. — «Что хошь [ungrammat = хочешь] кричи. Хоть караул. Есть же тут где-то живые люди или что?» (Распутин 4). …He told Petrukha: "Shout." "Shout what?" He didn't understand. "Whatever you want. Scream for help if you want. There are living people around here somewhere" (4a).

2. to call others' attention to some trouble, transgression etc in an attempt to enlist their intervention: X кричит караул ≃ X sounds ⟨raises⟩ the alarm; X sounds the alert; [lim.] X cries foul.

К-76 • ПОЧЁТНЫЙ КАРАУ́Л [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a special body of persons designated to show great respect, veneration for s.o. on ceremonial occasions: guard of honor; honor guard.

Народу было ещё не слишком много. По углам гроба бесшумно сменялся почётный караул (Катаев 3). There were still not too many people present. The guard of honor changed silently at each corner of the coffin (3a).

К-77 • ХОТЬ КАРАУ́Л КРИЧИ́ coll [хоть + VP_{imper}; Invar; predic or subord clause; usu. this WO] (used to express despair, helplessness) the situation is so trying, hopeless that some person feels desperate: you ⟨he etc⟩ could just cry ⟨scream, climb the walls⟩; it's enough to make you ⟨him etc⟩ cry ⟨scream, climb the walls⟩.

К-78 • КАРАЧУ́Н ПРИШЁЛ кому obs, substand [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. suddenly died: X-у карачун пришёл ≃ X up and died; X cashed in (his chips).

К-79 • СТА́РАЯ КАРГА́ highly coll, rude [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an insulting name for an old woman: old bag ⟨hag, bat, crone⟩.

«Чего смотрите, как сычи? Ну, кто святой, плюнь на меня… А ты что, старая карга, губами жуёшь?» (Максимов 3). "What are you staring at like owls? Spit on me, then—if you're such saints…. And what are you mouthing and mumbling about, you old bag?" (3a).

К-80 • ВЫ́ТРЯСТИ КАРМА́Н substand; ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬ КАРМА́НЫ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. вытрясти карман чей, у кого; выворачивать карманы чьи, кому to make s.o. spend all his money: X вытряс Y-ов карман ≃ X emptied Y's pockets; X cleaned Y out.

2. Also: ВЫВОРА́ЧИВАТЬ/ВЫ́ВЕРНУТЬ СВОЙ КАРМА́НЫ to spend or give away all one's money: X вывернул карманы ≃ X emptied his pockets; woman X emptied her purse; X gave (person Y) everything ⟨all⟩ X had.

Анна Андреевна пошла к Булгаковым и вернулась, тронутая поведением Елены Сергеевны, которая заплакала, услыхав о высылке, и буквально вывернула карманы (Мандельштам 1). Akhmatova went to the Bulgakovs and returned very touched by the reaction of Elena Sergeyevna, Bulgakov's wife, who burst into tears when she heard about our exile and gave us everything she had (1a).

К-81 • ДЕРЖИ́ КАРМА́Н (ШИ́РЕ) highly coll [imper sent; these forms only; fixed WO] (used in refer. to false expectations, calculations etc) do not hope for or count on sth., it is not or will not be so: not a chance; don't bet on it; don't hold your breath; (there's) no way (in hell); like ⟨the⟩ hell I ⟨he etc⟩ will ⟨am etc⟩; fat chance!; I wouldn't be too ⟨so⟩ sure; [lim.] what do you ⟨does he etc⟩ think I am?

[Лорд:] Ну, вот что. Коротко. Нам сейчас нужно отплывать в Европу. Пойми, король, что у тебя был жулик. [Сизи:] Ах, ах! Дух Вайдуа его накажет. [Гаттерас:] Конечно, держи карман шире (Булгаков 1). [L.:] Well, here's what we'll do. In brief. We have to sail back to Europe right now. Please understand, King, that you had a swindler here. [S.:] Oh! Oh! The spirit of Vaydua will punish him! [H.:] Don't hold your breath (1a). ♦ [Любовь Андреевна:] Нет у меня денег, голубчик. [Пищик:] Отдам, милая… Сумма пустяшная… [Любовь Андреевна:] Ну, хорошо, Леонид даст… Ты дай, Леонид. [Гаев:] Дам я ему, держи карман (Чехов 2). [L.A.:] But I have no money, my dear. [P.:] I'll pay it back, kind lady… It's such a piddling amount. [L.A.:] Oh, all right. Leonid will let you have it… Take care of it, Leonid. [G.:] I will not! What does he think I am? (2b).

К-82 • ЗАЛЕЗА́ТЬ/ЗАЛЕ́ЗТЬ В КАРМА́Н чей, (к) кому coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to make illegal, fraudulent use of s.o.'s goods, rob s.o.: X залезает к Y-у в карман ≃ X slips ⟨has, puts⟩ his hand in Y's pocket ⟨purse⟩; X puts ⟨has⟩ his hand in the till.

Жулик никому не доверяет, никому не позволяет себя надуть, а сам надувает всех… а у честного лопуха — недостача, он горит, и бухгалтер горит, и директор горит, хотя все они честнейшие люди и не залезали в государственный карман (Рыбаков 1). A crook trusts nobody, he doesn't let anyone con him, he does the conning…. But if an honest scatterbrain shows one shortage, he's had it, the accountant's had it, the manager's had it, all of them absolutely honest and none of them with his hand in the state's purse (1a).

К-83 • КЛАСТЬ/ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ (себе) В КАРМА́Н что coll [VP; subj: human; obj: a noun denoting money] to take money (or, less often, goods) as one's own (often in situations when one is not entitled to it, has not earned it, or is acting unscrupulously in appropriating it): X положил (себе) в карман Y ≃ X put Y in(to) his (own) pocket; X pocketed Y; X filled his (own) pockets with Y; X helped himself to Y.

«„Разбой, говорю, не тот делает, кто берёт провиант, чтобы кормить своих солдат, а тот, кто берёт его, чтобы класть в карман!“» (Толстой 5). “‘A [robber],’ I tell him, ‘is not a man who takes [provisions] to feed his soldiers, but a man who steals to fill his own pockets’” (5a).

К-84 • НАБИВА́ТЬ/НАБИ́ТЬ КАРМА́Н ⟨МОШНУ́, КОШЕЛЁК⟩ [VP; subj: human] to become rich, make a fortune (usu. by dishonest means): X набил карман ≃ X lined ⟨filled⟩ his pockets; X stuffed his pockets full of money; [lim.] X feathered his nest.

Пока он крал, делал всякие сделки и махинации да набивал себе карман, никто его не трогал, всё ему с рук сходило (Буковский 1). While he was stealing, fixing deals and other illicit operations, and filling his pockets, nobody touched him and he got away scot-free (1a).

К-85 • ТО́ЛСТЫЙ ⟨ТУГО́Й⟩ КАРМА́Н ⟨КОШЕЛЁК⟩ (у кого); ТО́ЛСТАЯ ⟨ТУГА́Я⟩ МОШНА́ all coll [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. has a lot of money: у X-а толстый карман ≃ X has a fat wallet; X has a big thick wallet; X is rolling in money; X has money to burn; X has deep pockets.

К-86 • ТО́ЩИЙ ⟨ПУСТО́Й⟩ КАРМА́Н ⟨КОШЕЛЁК⟩ (у кого) coll [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] s.o. has very little or no money: у X-а тощий карман ≃ X's pockets are empty; X is hard up (for money ⟨cash⟩).

К-87 • В КАРМА́НЕ у кого coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: usu. concr or, less often, human)] sth. is sure to be gotten by s.o., sth. is guaranteed to s.o.: X у Y-а в кармане ≃ X is as good as in Y's pocket; thing X is ⟨Y has thing X⟩ in the bag; Y can count X Y's (own); X is a sure thing.

«…Сударыня, эти три тысячи, которыми вы так великодушно меня обещали ссудить…» — «Вас не минуют, Дмитрий Фёдорович, — тотчас же перерезала госпожа Хохлакова, — эти три тысячи всё равно что у вас в кармане, и не три тысячи, а три миллиона…» (Достоевский 1). “Madame, this three thousand, which you have so generously promised to lend me…” “You will get it, Dmitri Fyodorovich,” Madame Khokhlakov at once cut him short, “you may consider it as good as in your pocket, and not three thousand, but three million…” (1a).

К-88 • БИТЬ ⟨УДАРЯ́ТЬ/УДА́РИТЬ⟩ ПО КАРМА́НУ кого coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to cause s.o. financial damage, loss: X ударил Y-а по карману ≃ X hit Y in the ⟨Y's⟩ wallet ⟨pocketbook⟩; thing X made (quite) a dent in Y's wallet ⟨budget⟩.

…С Образцовым [я] решил рассчитаться — не убить, как предлагал Гаврилыч, но ударить по карману… самому больному его месту (Амальрик 1). I had decided to settle accounts with him: not to kill him, as the old zek Gavrilych had suggested, but… to hit him where it would hurt him the most—in his wallet (1a).

К-89 • НЕ ПО КАРМА́НУ кому coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: concr or abstr); used without negation to convey the opposite meaning] sth. is too expensive for s.o.: X Y-у не по карману ≃ X is beyond Y's means; X is more than Y can afford; Y can't afford X; X is out of Y's reach ⟨(price) range⟩; || X Y-у по карману ≃ X is within Y's means.

«Я прожил жизнь», — сказал Эдик, отодвинув брезгливо тарелку с абсолютно непережёвываемым мясом и пюре из гнилой картошки… «Смотрите, что мы едим! А ведь это — одно из лучших кафе в Москве. Не всякому по карману такое!» (Зиновьев 2). “I have lived out my life,” said Edik, pushing aside with distaste his plate of resolutely unchewable meat and mouldy mashed potatoes…. “Just look at what we're eating! And yet this is one of the best restaurants in Moscow, beyond most people's means!” (2a).

К-90 • КА́РТА БИ́ТА ⟨УБИ́ТА⟩ чья, кого [VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$; usu. pres; fixed WO] s.o. has experienced complete failure, ruin: X-ова карта бита ≃ the game is over for X; the jig is up for X; X's ace has been trumped; X's goose is cooked.

…Что бы он [Демагог] ни думал и ни говорил, он невольно выталкивался на роль главаря одной из враждующих тенденций в жизни страны. И это не выдумка. Если бы даже всё это специально выдумали Хозяин и его приспешники, это стало реальностью. Иначе карта Демагога не была бы бита (Зиновьев 1). …Whatever he [Demagogue] may have thought or said, he was involuntarily thrust into the position of leader of one of the warring tendencies in the life of the country. And that is not a fabrication. Even if all this had been specifically dreamt up by the Boss and his entourage, it would have become a reality. Otherwise Demagogue's ace would not have been trumped (1a).

К-91 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЯЯ КА́РТА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the last remaining possibility of changing the situation in s.o.'s favor: last hope ⟨chance, resort⟩.

К-92 • СТОЯ́ТЬ НА КА́РТЕ [VP; subj: usu. abstr] to be in jeopardy, at risk: X стоит на карте ≃ X is on the line; X is at stake; [of s.o.'s life] X is ⟨hangs, is hanging⟩ in the balance.

К-93 • КАК КАРТИ́НКА; КАК НА КАРТИ́НКЕ [как + NP or PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or concr) or modif] very beautiful: (as) pretty as a picture ⟨a postcard⟩; (as) pretty as can be.

К-94 • одет(ый) ПО КАРТИ́НКЕ obs [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv] (dressed) in keeping with the latest fashion: (dressed) in the latest finery; (be) a fashion plate.

К-95 • НЕ КАРТО́ШКА coll, humor [NP; sing only; subj-compl with $быть_{ø}$ (subj: abstr)] some serious, significant thing, no trifle: X не картошка ≃ X is nothing to sneeze at; X is no laughing matter ⟨no joke⟩; X is not something to be fooled with.

К-96 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ ВСЁ НА ОДНУ́ КА́РТУ [VP; subj: human] to place all one's hopes in, base all one's plans on one person, thing, or event: X поставил всё на одну карту ≃ X put all his eggs in(to) one basket.

К-97 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ НА КА́РТУ что [VP; subj: human or collect; obj: abstr (usu. жизнь, честь etc)] to risk one's life, reputation, security etc in the hope of winning or gaining sth.: X поставил на карту Y ≃ X staked Y; X laid ⟨put⟩ Y on the line; [lim.] X endangered Y; || Y поставлен на карту ≃ Y is at stake; Y is hanging in the balance; || X поставит всё на картzу ≃ X will risk it all; X will go for broke; X will lay it all on the line.

…Двадцать раз жизнь свою, даже честь поставлю на карту… но свободы моей не продам (Лермонтов 1). …Twenty times I can stake my life, even my honor, but my freedom I shall never sell (1b). ♦ …Конечно, у всех на языке одно слово «адвокат», и не просто адвокат, а адвокат из адвокатов — на карту поставлена жизнь отца (Рыбаков 1). Of course, everyone thought of the same thing, which was to get a lawyer, not just any lawyer, but the best in the business, as father's life was at stake (1a).

В то время, когда Ираида беспечно торжествовала победу, неустрашимый штаб-офицер не дремал и, руководясь пословицей: «Выбивай клин клином», научил некоторую авантюристку, Клемантинку де Бурбон, предъявить права свои (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). While Iraidka was unconcernedly celebrating her victory, the intrepid staff-officer was not asleep. Guided by the proverb "One nail drives out another," he found an adventuress, a certain Clementinka de Bourbon, and put her up to presenting a claim (1a).

К-140 • КУДА́ НИ КИНЬ, ВЕЗДЕ́ ⟨ВСЁ, ВСЮ́ДУ⟩ КЛИН [saying] anything one tries or does is futile because the given problem cannot be solved, the given situation cannot be resolved etc: ≃ every avenue is ⟨comes up⟩ a dead end; there's no way out.

Куда ни кинь — везде клин. Что же делать? К кому завтра пойти [за деньгами]? А к кому пойдёшь? Не к кому (Распутин 1). Every avenue was a dead end. What was he to do? Whom to ask for money tomorrow? As if there was anybody to ask! Nobody (1a).

К-141 • КЛИ́НОМ ⟨ДУБИ́НОЙ, ГВОЗДЁМ⟩ НЕ ВЫ́ШИБЕШЬ ⟨НЕ ВЫ́КОЛОТИШЬ⟩ что or чего, из кого

Обыкновенно Бородавкин, напившись утром чаю, кликал клич; сбегались оловянные солдатики… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). Usually, after Wartkin had drunk his morning tea, he would send out a call; the tin soldiers would come running… (1a).

2. coll [pfv only] to appeal to friends, colleagues etc for help: Х кликнул клич ≃ X called for ⟨in the⟩ reinforcements; X called in ⟨up⟩ the troops.

К-144 • В ⟨НА⟩ КЛО́ЧЬЯ разорвать, разнести и т.п. кого coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; the verb is usu. pfv fut (used as a threat) or subjunctive] (to inflict upon s.o.) great physical harm: Х разорвёт Y-а в клочья ≃ X will rip ⟨tear⟩ Y to pieces ⟨shreds⟩; X will tear Y limb from limb.

Правители спасли Правдеца от народа. Не сделай они этого, народ разорвал бы его в клочья (Зиновьев 1). The rulers have saved Truth-teller from the people. Had they not done this, the people would have torn him to shreds (1a).

К-145 • (ПОПО́ЛЬЗОВАТЬСЯ) НАСЧЁТ КЛУБНИ́ЧКИ obs, euph, humor [VP or PrepP (used as predic); subj: human, male] to succeed in seducing a woman (or a number of women): Х попользовался насчёт клубнички ≃ X enjoyed a piece of cheesecake.

[source] «А Кувшинников, то есть это такая бестия, подсел к ней и на французском языке подпускает ей такие комплименты… Поверишь ли, простых баб не пропустил. Это он называет: попользоваться насчёт клубнички» (Гоголь 3). "But Kuvshinnikov, that's the sort of beastly fellow he is, sat down beside her and started showering such compliments in French…. I know you won't believe me, but he wouldn't let ordinary peasant women alone. That's what he calls 'enjoying a piece of cheesecake'" (3a).

…Саша сообразил, что Сольц вызывает всех причастных к его, Сашиному, делу. Первый раз за эти месяцы сердце его дрогнуло и к горлу подкатил ком (Рыбаков 2). …Sasha realized that Solts wanted to summon everyone connected with his case. For the first time, his heart thumped and a lump rose in his throat (2a).

К-147 • КАК КЛУ́ША С ЦЫПЛЯ́ТАМИ носиться с кем coll [как + NP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to treat others, generally one's children or a group of younger people) in an overprotective, and often annoying or interfering, fashion: (to act ⟨be, fuss over some people etc⟩) like a mother hen.

К-148 • ВОТ ТАК КЛЮ́КВА! coll [Interj; Invar; fixed WO] used to express one's disappointment at an unexpected, unpleasant occurrence as well as one's surprise that things turned out that way: (well,) this is a fine kettle of fish!; well, this is a fine pickle!; what a pickle!

«Вот так клюква! — сказал он, не обнаружив ключа на обычном месте. — Что же теперь делать?» "Well, this is a fine kettle of fish," he said, not having found the key in its usual place. "What do we do now?"

К-149 • РАЗВЕ́СИСТАЯ КЛЮ́КВА humor or iron [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a totally improbable, nonsensical story betraying the storyteller's complete ignorance of the subject matter; a pure fabrication: tall tale ⟨story⟩; cock-and-bull story; fable.

< Originally used in reference to ignorant descriptions of Russia by foreigners, this phrase is thought to come from an account by a Frenchman (possibly Alexandre Dumas père, 1802–70) of his sitting "sous l'ombre d'un kliukva majestueux" ("in the shade of a majestic cranberry").

К-150 • БИТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ ⟨КИПЕ́ТЬ/ЗАКИПЕ́ТЬ⟩ КЛЮЧО́М [VP] 1. [subj: a noun denoting some fluid] to come rushing, bubbling out (of some place, container etc) with great force: Х забил ключом ≃ X gushed forth; X spurted (out); X spouted.

2. ~ (где, у кого, в ком) [subj: abstr, often жизнь, радость, счастье, энергия etc] (of life) to flourish, (of joy, energy etc) to exhibit itself with great intensity: Х бил ключом ≃ [of life] X was booming; X was surging on ⟨forth⟩; X was in full swing; || Х бил (в У-е) ключом ≃ [of joy, happiness, energy etc] X was bursting forth; X was bubbling over inside Y; Y was bubbling over with X; X was coursing through Y's veins.

Жизнь как будто налаживалась, многим казалось, что она бьёт ключом, но каждый день мы узнавали что-нибудь новое, наводившее ужас и уничтожавшее всякую надежду на исцеление (Мандельштам 2). …Life seemed to be on the mend, and to many it even seemed to be booming, but every day brought something new to fill us with horror and destroy any hope of recovery (2a).

К-151 • АННИБА́ЛОВА ⟨АННИБА́ЛОВСКАЯ⟩ КЛЯ́ТВА lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a firm resolution to fight against s.o. or sth. to the very end: Hannibalian oath.

< From the name of the Carthaginian general Hannibal (247–183 B.C.) who, according to ancient historians, at the age of ten took an oath to be an irreconcilable enemy of Rome.

К-152 • КНИ́ГА ЗА СЕМЬЮ́ ПЕЧА́ТЯМИ (для кого) lit [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: abstr, often это); fixed WO] sth. utterly incomprehensible, beyond s.o.'s ability to understand: Х (для Y-а) — книга за семью печатями ≃ X is a closed book ⟨a mystery⟩ to Y; X is beyond Y's comprehension ⟨understanding, reach, grasp⟩.

< (?) From the Bible (Rev. 5:1).

К-153 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ В КНИ́ГУ И ВИ́ДЕТЬ ФИ́ГУ highly coll, humor [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to read sth. without understanding the sense of it: X смотрит в книгу и видит фигу ≃ X stares at the pages and doesn't get a word (of it) ⟨understand a thing etc⟩.

К-154 • НАЖИМА́ТЬ/НАЖА́ТЬ (НА ВСЕ) КНО́ПКИ coll [VP; subj: human] to make use of all one's opportunities, contacts etc (in order to achieve one's goal): X нажал на все кнопки ≃ X pulled (a few ⟨all the right⟩) strings; X used his pull ⟨influence, connections⟩.

К-155 • ЧЁРНОГО КОБЕЛЯ́ НЕ ОТМО́ЕШЬ ДОБЕЛА́ [saying] a person's deep-rooted shortcomings, deficiencies etc are impossible to correct: ≃ a ⟨the⟩ leopard cannot change his spots; can a ⟨the⟩ leopard change his spots?; what's bred in the bone…

К-156 • (НЕ) ПРИШЁЙ КОБЫ́ЛЕ ХВОСТ; НЕ ПРИШЁЙ НЕ ПРИСТЕГНИ́ all substand [VP_{imper}; these forms only; usu. predic with subj: human or inanim; fixed WO] a person (thing etc) is superfluous, unneeded, unrelated to some matter: X — пришей кобыле хвост ≃ X is excess baggage; person X is a useless appendage ⟨a fifth wheel⟩; X is entirely out of place; person X is a square peg in a round hole; [lim.] X is good for nothing; what is X good for?

«Словоблудие — у тебя! — с новой запальчивостью отсёк дланью Сологдин. — Если вы всё выводите из этих трёх законов…» — «Да говорят тебе: не выводим!» — «Из законов — не выводите?» — изумился Сологдин. «Нет!» — «Так что они тогда — пришей кобыле хвост?» (Солженицын 3). "The high-flown, empty verbiage is all yours!" said Sologdin in a new outburst of vehemence, cutting him off with a wave of his hand. "If you deduce everything from those three laws—" "But I've told you—we don't." "You don't?" Sologdin asked in surprise. "No!" "Well then, what are the laws good for?" (3a).

К-157 • ВЫЗЫВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ЗВАТЬ НА КОВЁР кого recent, coll [VP; subj: human (a noun denoting some authority)] to call s.o. to be reprimanded, respond to some charges against him etc: X вызвал Y-а на ковёр ≃ X called ⟨had⟩ Y on the carpet.

< Apparently a loan translation of the English "to call on the carpet."

К-158 • НИ ЗА КАКИ́Е КОВРИ́ЖКИ ⟨ПРЯ́НИКИ rare⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with negated verbs; fixed WO] under no circumstances: not (do sth.) for anything (in the world); not (do sth.) for any money ⟨for love (n)or money⟩; there is no way (one would ⟨could⟩ do sth.); (doing sth. is) the last thing one wants ⟨would ever want⟩ to do. Cf. not for all the tea in China.

«…Теперь в Кремль проси меня работать идти, не пойду ни за какие коврижки!» (Коротюков 1). "If you asked me to work in the Kremlin, I wouldn't do it for anything in the world" (1a).

К-159 • КОГДА́ Б(Ы) obsoles, lit [subord Conj, condit] on the condition that: if (only); [with neg predic only] were it not for; had it not been for.

К-160 • КОГДА́ (…) НИ…; КОГДА́ БЫ (…) НИ… [subord Conj, temporal] at whatever time: whenever; no matter when.

К-161 • КОГДА́ КА́К coll [sent; Invar] differently at different times: all ⟨it (all)⟩ depends; it varies.

«Я спрашиваю, какой у тебя заработок — ага, сколько ты денег в месяц получаешь?» — «Заработок… Когда как, Илья» (Распутин 3). "I meant, how much do you earn? What do they pay you a month?" "Pay?… All depends, Ilia" (3a).

К-162 • ОБЛОМА́ТЬ КО́ГТИ кому [VP; subj: human] to deprive s.o. of the opportunity to do harm (to another or others): X обломает Y-у когти ≃ X will pull out Y's claws; X will render Y harmless.

К-163 • ПОКА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОКАЗА́ТЬ (СВОЙ) КО́ГТИ ⟨КОГОТКИ́ coll⟩ (кому); ВЫПУСКА́ТЬ/ВЫ́ПУСТИТЬ КО́ГТИ coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to show hostility toward s.o., act in a confrontational manner, (display a readiness to) fight back when provoked: X показал (Y-у) когти ≃ X showed (Y) X's claws ⟨teeth⟩; X bared his teeth (at Y).

Тюфяев знал своих гостей насквозь, презирал их, показывал им иногда когти и вообще обращался с ними в том роде, как хозяин обращается с своими собаками… (Герцен 1). Tyufyayev knew his guests through and through, despised them, showed them his claws at times, and altogether treated them as a master treats his dogs… (1a).

К-164 • РВАТЬ/РВАНУ́ТЬ КО́ГТИ (откуда) substand [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv; often imper or infin with пора, пришлось, надо, нужно etc] to run away from some place, usu. in order to escape danger, avoid pursuit etc: рви когти ≃ beat it; split; get the hell out (of here ⟨there⟩); [lim.] blow the joint.

[Сильва:] Говорю тебе по-дружески, предупреждаю: рвём когти, пока не поздно (Вампилов 4). [S.:] I'm telling you as a friend. I'm warning you: let's beat it before it's too late (4b). ♦ «Оторвалось у меня что-то внутри, и словно мне кто сказал: беги, говорит, рви когти… Ну, я и рванул» (Стругацкие 1). "And it was like something snapped inside me, like some voice was telling me, 'Beat it, buddy, split…' So I split" (1a).

К-165 • ГУСИ́НАЯ КО́ЖА [NP; sing only] tiny, temporary bumps on the skin caused by cold or fear: goose flesh ⟨bumps, pimples⟩.

К-166 • (ОДНА́) КО́ЖА ДА КО́СТИ coll [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human or animal), detached modif, subj with остались, осталась, or indep. remark; usu. this WO] one is extremely thin, emaciated: (nothing but) skin and bone(s); bag of bones.

«Ну, куда ты пустишься такой, кожа да кости, еле душа в теле? Неужто опять пешком? Да ведь не дойдёшь ты!» (Пастернак 1). "How could you travel, weak as you are, nothing but skin and bones? Do you really imagine you could go on foot? You would never get there" (1a).

К-167 • ИЗ КО́ЖИ ⟨ИЗ ШКУ́РЫ substand⟩ (ВОН) ЛЕЗТЬ ⟨ВЫЛЕЗА́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human or collect; often foll. by a чтобы-clause] to make special efforts (to do sth.), try very hard: X из кожи вон лезет ≃ X goes out of his way; X bends ⟨falls⟩ over backward; X falls (all) over himself; X does his utmost; X goes all out; X (practically) kills himself (trying to accomplish sth.).

На воле, там у себя, он был одним из «руководящих товарищей», теперь из кожи лез вон, чтоб и в лагере в какие ни на есть начальники попасть (Иоффе 1). Formerly, while at liberty, he had been a 'leading comrade' and now in camp, was eager to do his utmost to become some sort of chief (1a).

К-168 • НИ КО́ЖИ НИ РО́ЖИ (у кого) highly coll, derog; НИ КО́ЖИ, НИ РО́ЖИ, НИ ВЕ́ДЕНИЯ у кого obs [NP_{gen}; these forms only; subj/gen with быть$_{ø}$ or detached modif; fixed WO] s.o. is very homely and usu. thin: (у X-а) ~ ≃ [equivalents vary depending on the speaker's attitude to the person addressed or described] X is not much to look at; X is no feast for the eyes; X is (as) ugly as sin.

Он долго думал, долго ловил какую-нибудь угловатую черту, за которую можно было бы уцепиться, в наружности, в манерах или в характере этого лица, наконец, махнув рукой, выражался так: «А у этого ни кожи, ни рожи, ни ведения» (Гончаров 1). He would ponder, try to seize on some outstanding feature of the face, the figure, or the manner of the man, then say with a shrug: "He's not much to look at and he doesn't know anything" (1a).

К-169 • НА КО́ЗЕ НЕ ПОДЪЕ́ДЕШЬ к кому highly coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не подъедешь only; fixed WO] it is impossible to address s.o. (because of his sternness, intractability, self-importance etc): к X-у на козе не подъедешь ≃ X is hard to approach; there's no approaching X.

[author's usage] [Матюшев:] А Добротин ещё больше силу теперь почувствовал. Нужно поговорить с ним о городских делах, так и не знаю, на какой козе к нему подъехать (Салынский 1). [context transl] [M.:] Dobrotin feels even stronger these days. I'll have to have a word with him about urban development, but I don't know what approach to take (1a).

К-170 • КОЗЁЛ ОТПУЩЕ́НИЯ [NP; fixed WO] a person (or group) blamed for the faults or misdeeds of others: scapegoat; whipping boy.

Говорили, что бериевцы то ли между собой, то ли с кем-то из обслуги судачили: «Ну, что Лаврентий Павлович? Будто он один, а другие, нынешние, ни при чём? Все решения были общие. Просто нужен был козёл отпущения!» (Марченко 1). They also said that the Beria men had been heard to say, either among themselves or to someone doing orderly duty: "Well, what about Lavrenty Beria? Do you think he was the only one and that those men up there now had nothing to do with it? All decisions were taken unanimously. He's just the one they used as a whipping boy!" (1a).

< From an ancient Jewish rite described in the Bible. On Yom Kippur the high priest laid his hands on the head of a goat, symbolically transferring the sins of the people to it, and then let the goat loose in the wilderness (Lev. 16:5–22).

К-171 • ДРАТЬ КОЗЛА́ substand [VP; subj: human or collect] to sing poorly, with an unpleasant voice, or to play a musical instrument off-key: X драл козла ≃ X was rasping ⟨wheezing, screeching, croaking etc⟩ out a tune ⟨a song etc⟩; X was torturing his instrument ⟨person Y's ears⟩.

К-172 • ЗАБИВА́ТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ «КОЗЛА́» highly coll [VP; subj: human, usu. pl] to play a game of dominoes: X-ы забивают «козла» ≃ Xs are playing dominoes.

Во дворе никого не было, только четверо под деревянным грибком забивали «козла» (Евтушенко 1). There wasn't anyone in the yard, apart from four men playing dominoes under a wooden mushroom meant for children (1a).

К-173 • КАК ⟨ЧТО⟩ ОТ КОЗЛА́ МОЛОКА́ coll, disapprov [как etc + PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj/gen: пользы, толку etc); fixed WO] s.o. or sth. is of absolutely no use, help etc: пользы от X-а как от козла молока ≃ X is (about) as useful as tits on a boar; X is good for nothing; one gets as much good out of X as milk from a he-goat; trying to get some use out of X is like trying to get milk out of a billy goat.

«Старика мирного убивать — это тоже война?» — «…Такие, как дед Гришака, и настраивали казаков супротив нас… От него пользы было, как от козла молока, а вреда много» (Шолохов 5). "Killing a peaceable old man—is that war too?" "…It was old men like Grandad Grishaka who set the Cossacks against us…. We got as much good out of him as milk from a he-goat. But he did a lot of harm" (5a).

К-174 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ КОЗЛА́ В ОГОРО́Д coll [VP; subj: human; more often pfv past; often 3rd pers pl with indef. refer.; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to allow s.o. access to some place where he may be esp. harmful or to some thing that he wants to use or exploit for personal gain: пустили козла в огород ≃ they put the cow to mind the corn; they put the wolf in charge of the sheep; they put the fox to guard the henhouse ⟨the chickens⟩; that's like asking the fox to watch the henhouse.

Весна девятнадцатого: наступает Деникин, полыхает восстание… Мигулина отзывают в Москву, в Смоленск… Убрали — значит, есть повод. Оставлять Мигулина на Дону во время казачьего бунта? Пустить козла в огород? (Трифонов 6). …Spring 1919. Denikin was advancing, the uprising was blazing away. Migulin was recalled to Moscow, then to Smolensk…. If they kicked him out, then there was a reason for it. Leave Migulin on the Don during the Cossack mutiny? Put a wolf in charge of the sheep? (6a).

К-175 • СТРО́ИТЬ КО́ЗНИ (против кого) [VP; subj: human] to devise secret, malicious plans against s.o.: X строит козни против Y-а ≃ X hatches ⟨cooks up⟩ plots ⟨schemes⟩ against Y; X plots intrigues against Y; X connives against Y.

К-176 • КАК СИ́ДОРОВУ КО́ЗУ драть, лупить, пороть кого coll [как + NP; Invar; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to flog, thrash s.o.) cruelly, unmercifully: X выдрал Y-а ~ ≃ X beat the crap ⟨the stuffing, the tar, the (living) daylights⟩ out of Y; X worked Y over (but) good; X beat Y black-and-blue.

К-177 • ОТСТАВНО́Й КОЗЫ́ БАРАБА́НЩИК obs, iron or humor [NP; fixed WO] an unimportant, insignificant person disregarded by everyone (because of low standing in society, at the workplace etc): small fry ⟨potatoes, change⟩.

< From a popular fair attraction of the past involving a goat and a drummer. According to some sources (V. I. Dal', M. I. Mikhelson et al.) a drummer kept time while a tame bear and a boy dressed as a goat paraded around. According to other sources (N. M. Shansky et al.) the drummer—usually a retired («отставной») army drummer—beat out the sound backstage while a live goat stomped on an onstage drum (stomping its foot on any available object is a goat's natural way of indicating hunger).

К-178 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ⟨ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ ПОД КОЗЫРЁК [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to greet (s.o.) in military fashion, raising one's hand to the visor of one's cap: X взял под козырёк ≃ X saluted.

…[Блондин-провожатый в штатском] взял под козырёк, желая нам счастливого пути… (Мандельштам 1). …[The fair-haired escort in civilian clothes] saluted as he wished us a happy journey… (1a).

К-179 • ХОДИ́ТЬ КО́ЗЫРЕМ coll [VP; subj: human] to look overconfident, arrogant, carry o.s. in a self-important fashion: X ходит козырем ≃ X struts about; X swaggers; X looks smug ⟨cocky⟩.

К-180 • КО́ЗЫРЬ ⟨-и⟩ В ⟨НА⟩ РУКА́Х у кого (против кого); давать КО́ЗЫРЬ ⟨-и⟩ В РУ́КИ кому all coll [NP; usu. obj (both variants) or VP_{subj} with copula (1st var.)] sth. that gives s.o. the advantage over another, puts s.o. in a favorable, winning position: (have ⟨hold, hand s.o. etc⟩) a trump card; (hold ⟨give s.o. etc⟩) the high card(s); (have ⟨give s.o. etc⟩) a powerful card to play; (keep ⟨have⟩) an ace up one's sleeve; (have) an ace in the hole; (have) a hole card; [lim.] (be) one up on s.o.

Женщина… уходит, и Ася шепчет в необыкновенном волнении: «Она не должна знать! Я потом объясню. Она догадывается, но мы не дадим ей козыри в руки» (Трифонов 6). …The woman goes out, and Asya whispers to me with surprising agitation, "She must not know! I'll explain later. She guesses, but we won't hand her the trump cards so easily" (6a).

К-181 • ПРИ СВОИ́Х КОЗЫРЯ́Х оставаться coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to end up) in the same situation, condition in which one started, (to be left) with what one had before: (end up etc) back where one started (from); (end up etc) (no better and) no worse off than when one began; (be left etc) with what one began with.

К-182 • ВБИТЬ ⟨ЗАБИ́ТЬ⟩ ОСИ́НОВЫЙ КОЛ во что ⟨В МОГИ́ЛУ кого-чего⟩ lit or media [VP; subj: human, collect, or abstr] to destroy, put an end to s.o. or sth., render s.o. or sth. harmless: X вбил осиновый кол в могилу Y-а ≃ X hammered the last nail in Y's coffin; X buried Y for good ⟨once and for all⟩; X did away with Y (for good).

< From the old superstitious custom of driving a stake («кол») into the ground in the place where it was thought that a sorcerer or witch was buried in order to prevent his or her rising from the grave.

«Говорит Би-би-си. Западные корреспонденты передают из Москвы, что Никита Хрущёв смещён с поста первого секретаря и выведен из состава Президиума Центрального Комитета Коммунистической партии Советского Со…» И дальше загалдели, завыли давно не включавшиеся глушилки. …[Аглая] смеялась, плакала, выкрикивала бессвязно: «Прогнали, прогнали. Лысого. Коленом под жопу. Как собаку, прогнали» (Войнович 7). “This is the BBC. Western correspondents in Moscow inform us that Nikita Khrushchev has been removed from the post of first secretary and excluded from the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Un—” And then came crackling and howling of the jamming stations that had not been switched on for a long time. …[Aglaya] laughed, cried and called out incoherently: “They’ve thrown him out, they’ve thrown Baldie out. A knee up the backside. Thrown him out like a dog” (7a).

К-195 • ДРУГО́Й ⟨ИНО́Й, НЕ ТОТ⟩ КОЛЕНКО́Р ⟨ТАБА́К⟩ highly coll [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula (subj: usu. это, occas. any noun or a clause); fixed WO] that changes (or would change) the situation: (that’s) a horse of another ⟨a different⟩ color; (that’s) a card of a different suit; (that’s) a bird of another feather; (that’s) another ⟨a different⟩ kettle of fish.

«…Я к вам совсем по другому делу, связанному сугубо с производством, а не то, чтоб всё жрать да разбазаривать». — «Ну, это тогда совсем другой коленкор» (Попов 1). “…I’m here on totally different business, strictly related to production, and not to eating up and selling off everything.” “Well, that’s a horse of a different color” (1a).

К-196 • ОТКА́ЛЫВАТЬ/ОТКОЛО́ТЬ КОЛЕ́НЦЕ ⟨КОЛЕ́НЦА⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; var. with pl коленца is usu. impfv, var. with sing коленце is usu. pfv] 1. Also: ВЫДЕ́ЛЫВАТЬ КОЛЕ́НЦЕ ⟨КОЛЕ́НЦА⟩ coll to dance joyfully, executing intricate patterns: X откалывал коленца ≃ X was cutting capers; X was capering (about).

[author’s usage] Беспутную оную Клемантинку посадили в клетку и вывезли на площадь; атаманы-молодцы подходили и дразнили её. Некоторые, более добродушные, потчевали водкой, но требовали, чтобы она за это откинула какое-нибудь коленце (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The wanton Klemantinka was put in a cage and carried out on to the square; the brave lads went up to her and taunted her. Some of the better-natured ones gave her vodka, but told her to cut them a caper in return (1b).

2. Also: ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ/ВЫ́КИНУТЬ КОЛЕ́НЦЕ ⟨КОЛЕ́НЦА⟩ coll to do sth. unusual, unexpected, often absurd: X выкинул коленце ≃ X pulled a stunt ⟨a caper⟩; X pulled some funny business.

И хотя трезвость суждений и выказывала в новом знакомце человека в своём уме и памяти, Пётр Васильевич, взявший уже себе за правило готовиться здесь к любым фокусам, откровенно говоря, ожидал, что тот в любую минуту может выкинуть какое-нибудь «коленце»… (Максимов 3). Although his new acquaintance’s sensible remarks seemed to show that he was in full possession of his faculties, Pyotr Vasilievich had already made it a rule to be ready for all sorts of antics in this place, and, to be frank, he was expecting funny business at any moment (3a).

К-197 • СТОЯ́ТЬ НА КОЛЕ́НЯХ (перед кем) lit [VP; subj: human or collect] to be in a state of submission, be subordinated to s.o.: X стоит на коленях (перед Y-ом) ≃ X is on his knees (before ⟨to⟩ Y); Y has X on X’s knees.

…Меня не печатали и лишали куска хлеба ещё два года (до конца 1972), после чего власти, полагая, что я уже прочно стою на коленях, решили меня простить и даже издали одновременно две мои книги (Войнович 1). …They stopped publishing me and kept me from earning a living for another two years, until the end of 1972. Then, assuming that they had me on my knees, the authorities decided to forgive me, and even published two of my books at the same time (1a).

К-198 • ПОДМА́ЗЫВАТЬ/ПОДМА́ЗАТЬ КОЛЁСА (кому) obs [VP; subj: human] to give a bribe (to s.o.): X подмазал колёса (Y-у) ≃ X greased Y’s palm.

2. (of an enterprise, business etc) not (to work out) well, (to develop) poorly, with difficulty: (wobble along) on squeaky wheels; (creak ⟨squeak⟩) like an ungreased wheel.

Недавно заведённое на новый лад хозяйство скрипело, как немазаное колесо, трещало, как домоделанная мебель из сырого дерева (Тургенев 2). The new system of estate management, introduced only recently, squeaked like an ungreased wheel, creaked like homemade furniture fashioned from unseasoned wood (2g).

К-201 • ПОВЕРНУ́ТЬ КОЛЕСО́ ИСТО́РИИ ВСПЯТЬ ⟨НАЗА́Д⟩ lit [VP; subj: human; usu. infin with пытаться, хотеть etc] to (attempt to) halt the natural course of historical development, return to the past: X-ы пытались повернуть колесо истории вспять ≃ Xs tried to turn back the clock (of history); Xs tried to turn back the hands of time.

[author's usage] Да, говорили одни, процессы истории необратимы. Историю не повернёшь вспять, говорили другие (Зиновьев 1). "Yes," some of them said, "the tide of history cannot be turned back." "You can't turn back the clock of history," said others (1a).

К-202 • ПЯ́ТОЕ КОЛЕСО́ В ТЕЛЕ́ГЕ ⟨В КОЛЕСНИ́ЦЕ⟩ coll [NP; sing only; subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] an extra, unnecessary, superfluous person: fifth wheel; odd man out.

К-203 • ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ ⟨ПОПАДА́ТЬ/ПОПА́СТЬ⟩ В (СВО́Ю ⟨ОБЫ́ЧНУЮ, ПРИВЫ́ЧНУЮ и т.п.⟩) КОЛЕЮ́ [VP; fixed WO] 1. [subj: human] to return to one's usual life style: X вошёл в (свою) колею ≃ X settled ⟨got back⟩ into the (old) groove ⟨into his (old) routine⟩; X returned to his former routine.

Он вернулся в Россию, попытался зажить старою жизнью, но уже не мог попасть в прежнюю колею (Тургенев 2). He returned to Russia and tried to take up his former life but could not get back into the old groove (2c). He returned to Russia, tried to pick up his former life, but was unable to settle into his old routine (2g).

2. Also: ВХОДИ́ТЬ/ВОЙТИ́ ⟨ВОЗВРАЩА́ТЬСЯ/ ВЕРНУ́ТЬСЯ⟩ В (СВОЁ ⟨ОБЫ́ЧНОЕ, ПРИВЫ́ЧНОЕ и т.п.⟩) РУ́СЛО [subj: abstr, often жизнь, всё] to return to being the way it usu. is: X вошёл в свою колею ≃ X settled ⟨got back⟩ into the (old) groove ⟨into its (old) routine⟩; X returned to normal ⟨to its normal course⟩; X got ⟨was⟩ back to normal; X got ⟨was⟩ back on course.

Жизнь снова вошла в свою колею. Дирижёр и Гайк уехали, а мы остались на своих, так сказать, местах, при своих занятиях (Рыбаков 1). Life returned to normal. The conductor and Gaik left, and we were, so to speak, back in our proper places, going on as usual (1a).

К-204 • НЕ ПЛЮЙ В КОЛО́ДЕЦ, ПРИГОДИ́ТСЯ ВОДЫ́ НАПИ́ТЬСЯ [saying] do not do harm to or show disregard for another person because, in the future, you may come to need his help or support: ≃ cast no dirt in the well that gives you water; don't spit into the well, you may have to ⟨need to⟩ drink from it one day ⟨someday⟩; don't spit into a cup from which you may someday drink; chickens will always come home to roost.

[author's usage] После обряда он [поп Виссарион] поздравил молодых, назидательно сказал: «Вот, молодой советский товарищ, как бывает в жизни: в прошлом году вы собственноручно сожгли мой дом… а сегодня мне пришлось вас венчать… Не плюй, говорят, в колодец, ибо он может пригодиться» (Шолохов 5). After the [wedding] ceremony he [Father Vissarion] congratulated the young couple, and said didactically, "So there you are, young Soviet comrade, that's how it is in life. Last year you burnt down my house with your own hands… and today I have to marry you. Don't spit into the well, they say, because you may need to drink from it one day" (5a).

К-205 • (все) НА ОДНУ́ КОЛО́ДКУ (сшиты, скроены, сделаны) coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, pl) or adv; fixed WO] (two or more people are) very similar to one another, identical in some respect (esp. in regard to shortcomings): (все) X-ы ⟨X-ы и Y-и и т.п.⟩ на одну колодку (сшиты) ≃ Xs ⟨Xs and Ys⟩ are (all) cut from the same cloth; Xs ⟨Xs and Ys⟩ are cast in the same mold; Xs ⟨Xs and Ys⟩ are birds of a feather ⟨are (all) of the same ilk⟩; [lim.] like father, like son; like mother, like daughter.

К-206 • БИТЬ/ЗАБИ́ТЬ ВО ВСЕ КОЛОКОЛА́; УДАРЯ́ТЬ/УДА́РИТЬ В ⟨ВО ВСЕ⟩ КОЛОКОЛА́ all coll [VP; subj: human or collect] to arouse concern over sth., call attention to sth. (a disturbance, transgression etc): X бьёт во все колокола ≃ X sounds ⟨raises⟩ the alarm.

[Клавдия Васильевна:] Но ты пришёл ещё раз, ещё, ещё, и всё в нетрезвом виде. Я ударила во все колокола: я подняла школу, комсомол, и мы вытащили тебя из этой компании (Розов 2). [K.V.:] But you came home drunk time after time. So I sounded the alarm. I roused the school, the Komsomol, and we dragged you away from that bunch you were going with (2a).

К-207 • ЗВОНИ́ТЬ/ЗАЗВОНИ́ТЬ ⟨РАЗЗВОНИ́ТЬ, ТРЕЗВО́НИТЬ/РАСТРЕЗВО́НИТЬ⟩ В ⟨ВО ВСЕ⟩ КОЛОКОЛА́ highly coll [VP; subj: human] to tell everyone about sth., spread news, rumors: X звонит во все колокола ≃ X shouts it ⟨the news etc⟩ from the housetops ⟨from the rooftops, on every street corner⟩; X spreads it all over ⟨far and wide⟩; X lets the whole world know; X tells it to the whole world.

К-208 • КОЛОКОЛА́ ЛИТЬ obs, coll [VP; subj: human] to disseminate gossip or stories that are impossible to believe: X льёт колокола ≃ X spreads gossip; X tells tall tales.

< From an old superstitious belief that spreading gossip and unbelievable stories at the time when a new bell («колокол») is being cast will make them sound better.

К-209 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ⟩ СО СВОЕ́Й КОЛОКО́ЛЬНИ (на кого-что) coll [VP; subj: human] to make one-sided judgments about s.o. or sth. based entirely on one's own limited perspective: X смотрит на Y-а со своей колокольни ≃ X sees ⟨judges, looks at⟩ Y ⟨things⟩ solely from X's own point of view; X takes a narrow view of Y.

Она смотрит со своей колокольни и не видит многого, не помнит, не хочет знать (Трифонов 6). She took a narrow view of things—there was much she did not see, did not remember and did not want to hear (6a).

К-210 • СТОЯ́ТЬ КОЛО́М coll [VP; subj: a noun denoting a piece of clothing, fabric etc] to be inflexible, hard: X стоял колом ≃ X was ⟨became, turned⟩ (as) stiff as a board; X was like cardboard.

Промокшая юбка подмёрзла на ветру и стояла колом. The wet skirt froze in the wind and turned stiff as a board.

К-211 • СТОЯ́ТЬ/(В)СТАТЬ КОЛО́М В ГО́РЛЕ у кого, кому highly coll [VP] 1. [subj: a noun denoting some food] to be unpalatable, inedible, disgusting: X стоит у Y-а колом в горле ≃ X sticks in Y's throat; X won't go down.

2. Also: СТОЯ́ТЬ/(В)СТАТЬ КО́СТЬЮ В ГО́РЛЕ ⟨В ГЛО́ТКЕ⟩ (кому) coll [subj: abstr or concr] to annoy, aggravate s.o. extremely: X стоит у Y-а колом в горле ≃ X sticks in Y's throat (like a bone); X sticks in Y's craw; X is a thorn in Y's side.

Этот проклятый New Lanark вообще костью стоит в горле людей, постоянно обвиняющих социализм в утопиях… (Герцен 3). That cursed New Lanark stuck in the throats of people who perpetually accused socialism of Utopianism… (3a).

К-212 • ПЯ́ТАЯ КОЛО́ННА [NP; sing only; fixed WO] people secretly collaborating with an enemy invading the country they live in: fifth column.

< Loan translation of the Spanish la quinta columna, originally used by General Emilio Mola during the Spanish Civil War (1936–39) in reference to the Franco supporters within Madrid at the time when Mola was leading four columns of Franco's troops against the city.

К-213 • КОЛО́СС НА ГЛИ́НЯНЫХ НОГА́Х lit [NP; fixed WO] (often of a country) sth. that appears mighty, invincible, but is in fact weak and can be easily destroyed: colossus with feet of clay.

В парламентских кулуарах говорили о лапландской руде, о «колоссе на глиняных ногах», о сочувствии Рима. Депутаты приехали, чтобы убедиться в солидности линии Мажино… (Эренбург 4). In the parliamentary lobbies there was a good deal of talk about the ore in Lapland, the "colossus with feet of clay," and the sympathy of Rome. The deputies were visiting the front to reassure themselves as to the solidity of the Maginot Line (4a).

К-215 • СТОЯ́ТЬ У КОЛЫБЕ́ЛИ чего lit [VP; subj: human] to contribute to the emergence of sth. new (a new trend, field of science, project, enterprise etc):: X стоял у колыбели Y-а ≃ X helped conceive ⟨create, give birth to⟩ Y.

К-216 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО и т.п.⟩ ПО КОМА́НДЕ coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv] (of two or more people, animals, or things) (to do sth.) simultaneously, so that it looks as if s.o. had ordered them to do it: as if ⟨though⟩ on command; as if at a command.

«Предложение доктора Ланды запишем в протокол, — объявила мадам Малая. — Кто за?» В один миг все, как по команде, подняли руки за… (Львов 1). "We will note Dr. Landa's suggestion in the minutes of the meeting," announced Madame Malaya. "All those for?" As if on command, everyone instantly raised his hand (1a).

К-217 • КОМА́Р НО́СА ⟨-у⟩ НЕ ПОДТО́ЧИТ ⟨НЕ ПОДТОЧИ́Л БЫ⟩ coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; used as indep. sent or subord clause (introduced by что or, if subjunctive, by чтобы, often after a main clause containing так); fixed WO] sth. is done so flawlessly that no defects can be found: (it is) a precise ⟨beautiful, very neat⟩ job; (it's) done to a T ⟨to perfection⟩.

«Выкопал я ей яму, как тайничку полагается, книзу шире, кувшином, узким горлом вверх. Яму тоже дымом сушили, обогревали. В самую, самую метель. Спрятали картошку… землёй забросали. Комар носу не подточит» (Пастернак 1). "So I made the pit in the proper way for a hiding place, wide at the bottom and narrow at the top, like a jug, and we started a fire again and warmed and dried the pit with the smoke—all in a howling blizzard. Then we put the potatoes into the pit and the earth back on top. A very neat job it was" (1a).

К-218 • ВЕЛИ́КИЙ КОМБИНА́ТОР coll, usu. humor or iron [NP; usu. sing; fixed WO] a clever (and usu. likable) swindler: great schemer; smooth ⟨shrewd⟩ operator; grand strategist.

[source] Остап сгоряча просунул было в окошечко голову, но гражданин, стоявший в очереди первым, нервно поднял острые локти и несколько потеснил пришельца назад. Второй гражданин, как заводной, тоже поднял локти, и великий комбинатор оказался ещё немного дальше от заветного окошка (Ильф и Петров 2). In the heat of the moment Ostap was about to stick his head in the window, but the citizen who was first in line nervously lifted his sharp elbows and pushed the stranger back a little. Like a wind-up toy, the second citizen also lifted his elbows, and the smooth operator ended up a little bit further from the sacred window (2c).

Всё начинало злить меня. Какого чёрта я здесь сижу? Если она мне нужна как женщина, то почему я трачу время, ломаю комедию (Лимонов 1). It all began to irritate me. What the hell was I sitting here for? If I needed her as a woman, then why was I wasting time play-acting? (1a).

К-221 • КУ́КОЛЬНАЯ КОМЕ́ДИЯ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a false show (of sth.), a hypocritical action: farce; humbug.

Карл Иваныч рассердился, поставил меня на колени, твердил, что это упрямство, кукольная комедия… (Толстой 2). Karl Ivanych got angry, ordered me on my knees and kept saying that it was obstinacy and all humbug… (2c).

К-222 • КОММЕНТА́РИИ ИЗЛИ́ШНИ [sent; Invar; fixed WO] the situation is perfectly clear, understandable without any (further) explanation: no more need be said; no explanation required ⟨necessary⟩.

К-223 • КОМО́К НЕ́РВОВ [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] a very tense, easily unnerved person: bundle of nerves ⟨jitters⟩; jumble of nerves; coiled ball of nerves; extremely jittery.

После аварии Машу нельзя было узнать: она превратилась в комок нервов. Masha was unrecognizable after the accident – she had turned into a bundle of nerves.

К-224 • ВОДИ́ТЬ КОМПА́НИЮ с кем coll [VP; subj: human] to associate, be friends, spend time with s.o.: X водит компанию с Y-ом ≃ X keeps company with Y; X hangs ⟨pals⟩ around with Y; X hangs out with Y; X hobnobs with Y; [lim.] X rubs shoulders with Y.

[Пелагея Егоровна:] Мне, говорит, здесь не с кем компанию водить, все, говорит, сволочь… (Островский 2). [context transl] [P.E.:] No worthy company for me here, says he; they're all scum here, says he (2b).

К-225 • ЗА КОМПА́НИЮ (с кем); both coll ДЛЯ КОМПА́НИИ [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (in refer. to one's or s.o.'s participation in an activity in which one or s.o. would not have engaged had others not been engaging in it) (to do sth.) with another or others when he is or they are doing it, (to get s.o. to do sth. or take s.o.) with one when one is doing sth.: (come ⟨go etc⟩) along with s.o.; (take s.o. etc) along with one; join in; join s.o.; (do sth.) because s.o. is doing it; [when a person participates in sth. in order to make it more enjoyable for another or others] (do sth.) to keep s.o. company; (take s.o. with one etc) to keep one company; for company.

[Галина:] …Бывал ли ты когда-нибудь в церкви? [Зилов:] Да. Раз мы заходили с ребятами. По пьянке. А ты? [Галина:] А я с бабушкой. За компанию (Вампилов 5). [G.:] Have you ever been to church? [Z.:] Yes. Looked in once with some of my mates, when we were drunk. Have you? [G.:] I went with my grandmother. To keep her company (5a).

К-226 • ПОДДЕРЖА́ТЬ КОМПА́НИЮ coll [VP; subj: human] to enter into some activity planned and participated in by some group of people: X поддержит компанию ≃ X will join in; X will join us ⟨you, them⟩.

К-227 • СОСТА́ВИТЬ КОМПА́НИЮ (кому) [VP; subj: human] to do with another or others what he or they are doing: X составит Y-у компанию ≃ X will join Y; X will come ⟨go⟩ (along) with Y; [lim.] X will keep Y company.

Гость ждал и именно сидел как приживальщик, только что сошедший сверху из отведённой ему комнаты вниз к чаю составить хозяину компанию, но смирно молчавший ввиду того, что хозяин занят и об чём-то нахмуренно думает… (Достоевский 2). The visitor sat and waited precisely like a sponger who had just come down from upstairs, from the room assigned to him, to keep his host company at tea, but was humbly silent, since the host was preoccupied and scowling at the thought of something… (2a).

К-228 • …И КОМПА́НИЯ derog [NP; sing only; used after a personal noun (often a person's name)] (the person named) and his friends, companions: X и компания ≃ X and company; X and his gang ⟨buddies, chums, pals, crowd, crew⟩.

К-229 • НЕ КОМПА́НИЯ кому; КАКА́Я КОМПА́НИЯ [NP; these forms only; subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human), pres only] a person does not suit another person (or persons) as a friend, companion etc: X Y-у не компания ≃ X is no ⟨not good, not the proper⟩ company for Y.

К-230 • ТЁПЛАЯ КОМПА́НИЯ ⟨КОМПА́ШКА slang⟩ coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. a nice, friendly group of people (who usu. have fun together): nice crowd ⟨bunch⟩; friendly ⟨merry⟩ gang; fun group ⟨bunch⟩.

2. rather derog a group of people united by and involved in some reprehensible, base activity: [said with ironic intonation] lovely bunch ⟨group etc⟩; [when used as Interj] what a bunch!; [lim.] seedy ⟨unsavory⟩ bunch ⟨crew etc⟩.

К-231 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ НА́ КОН что, usu. жизнь, честь, репутацию etc coll [VP; subj: human] to risk (one's life, reputation etc), expose o.s. to danger in the hope of winning, gaining sth.: X поставил на кон свою жизнь ⟨честь, репутацию и т.п.⟩ ≃ X put ⟨laid⟩ his life ⟨honor, reputation⟩ on the line; X gambled his life ⟨honor, reputation etc⟩.

Зимой он целый день выстоял на морозе напротив милиции, где, как он узнал, Варвара работала уборщицей. Можно сказать, жизнь свою на кон ставил… И всё ради неё (Абрамов 1). Once that winter he had stood a whole day in the freezing cold, opposite the police station where he had learned Varvara was working as a cleaning woman. You might say he had put his whole life on the line…. And all for her sake (1a).

К-232 • С КОНДАЧКА́ [PrepP; Invar] 1. highly coll [adv] (to do sth.) without thinking, without giving the matter serious consideration: (do sth.) at the drop of a hat; (say sth.) off the top of one's head; offhand; just like that.

«…Пойдём на прогулку, я тебе объясню. Это надо серьёзно говорить, не с кондачка» (Копелев 1). "When we go for a walk, I'll explain. That requires serious talk, not off the top of your head" (1a).

2. обращаться с кем, вести себя ~ obs [adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human)] (to treat s.o., behave) too informally, without the due formalities: unceremonious(ly); irreverent(ly); discourteous(ly).

К-233 • ДО КОНДИ́ЦИИ дойти, довести кого-что coll, usu. humor or iron [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to reach, bring s.o. or sth. to) the state expected, desired etc in the given circumstances: (whip ⟨get⟩ s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) into shape; [in refer. to inanim objects only] (be) done.

К-234 • КОНДРА́ШКА ХВАТИ́Л ⟨СТУ́КНУЛ, ПРИШИ́Б⟩ кого substand; КОНДРА́ТИЙ ХВАТИ́Л obs, substand [VP$_{subj}$] s.o. suddenly became paralyzed or died as the result of an apoplectic stroke: X-а кондрашка хватит ≃ X will drop dead from a stroke ⟨from apoplexy⟩; X will have ⟨will suffer⟩ a stroke; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ will give X a stroke.

«…А вас, если так будете надуваться и наливаться кровью, скоро кондрашка хватит!» (Амальрик 1). "As for you, if you go swelling up with anger until you're red in the face, you'll soon drop dead from apoplexy" (1a).

< According to historian Sergey Solovyov, this phrase might be related to the name of Кондратий (Кондрашка) Булавин, who led the peasant uprising of 1707. Cited in M.I. Mikhelson, «Русская мысль и речь. Своё и чужое.

Опыт русской фразеологии» (St. Petersburg: 1912) and other sources.

К-235 • НА КОНЕ́ coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] one is in an advantageous, winning position: X на коне ≃ X is riding high (in the saddle); X is sitting pretty; X is in the catbird seat; [lim.] X is in the saddle.

К-236 • В КОНЕ́Ц разорить, испортить кого-что, измучить кого, измучиться и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs] (to ruin s.o. or sth., exhaust s.o., be exhausted etc) entirely, absolutely: completely; totally; utterly; [lim.] for good; beyond salvation.

К-237 • В ОДИ́Н КОНЕ́Ц поездка, билет, ехать и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif or adv; fixed WO] (a trip, a ticket, to travel etc) in one direction only: one way; || билет ~ ≃ one-way ticket; || стоимость билета ~ ≃ one-way fare.

К-238 • И КОНЕ́Ц coll [sent; Invar; usu. the concluding clause in a compound or complex sent] 1. and there is nothing more to add (to what has been said or done), no further argument or discussion will be of any avail: and that's the end of it ⟨of that⟩; and that's it ⟨that's that, that's final⟩.

«Любовь? Что это такое, ты хочешь спросить? А это только обозначение обязанностей. Да. Пошлое и… легкомысленное обозначение, которое позволяет человеку в любой момент отказаться от своих самых главных обязанностей: разлюбил, и конец, а там хоть трава не расти…» (Залыгин 1). "Love? You mean, what is it? It's only another name for duty. A tasteless and flippant name… which permits people to abandon their most important obligations whenever they feel like it, so that they can say: 'I don't love her any more, and that's the end of it, and I don't care what happens now…'" (1a).

2. and then (after the action in question has been undertaken) the matter will be concluded, the problem in question will be resolved etc: and that will be the end of it ⟨the matter, the business⟩; and that will be that ⟨it⟩; and it will all be over; and that will settle it; (do sth.) and be done with it.

«Что тут размышлять? Переезжай да и конец!» (Гончаров 1). "Why hesitate? Move, and be done with it!" (1b).

К-239 • КОНЕ́Ц — (ВСЕМУ́) ДЕ́ЛУ ВЕНЕ́Ц; КОНЕ́Ц ВЕНЧА́ЕТ ДЕ́ЛО [saying] the successful conclusion of some undertaking makes the undertaking on the whole a success: ≃ the end crowns the work.

К-240 • НА КАКО́Й КОНЕ́Ц? obs, coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] why, with what goal: to what end?; what would be the point ⟨the purpose⟩?

Логики нет никакой в мёртвых душах, как же покупать мёртвые души? Где ж дурак такой возьмётся?.. И на какой конец, к какому делу можно приткнуть эти мёртвые души? (Гоголь 3). There was no logic to them [dead souls]. How could one buy dead souls and where would you find a big enough fool to buy them?… And to what end, for what purpose could he use dead souls? (3c).

К-241 • НА ХУДО́Й КОНЕ́Ц coll [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (occas. parenth); fixed WO] in the worst case, under the most disagreeable circumstances: if (the) worst comes to (the) worst; if worse comes to worse; at worst; at the (very) worst; [lim.] at (the very) least.

Если бы была нужда, на худой конец можно было бы придумать легенду и о вилле фон Фрейлебен. Но нужды нет (Федин 1). If there were a need to and worse came to worse, it would be possible to invent a legend about the Villa von Freileben as well. But there is no need (1a).

К-242 • ОДИ́Н КОНЕ́Ц coll [NP; Invar; usu. indep. clause] (in refer. to sth. unavoidable, often death) there is no choice, a sad outcome is inevitable: it (all) comes (down) to the same thing in the end; it all ends up the same way.

К-243 • ПОД КОНЕ́Ц [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. ~ (чего) when sth. is approaching its conclusion: toward ⟨near⟩ the end (of sth.).

В начале следствия, как заметил О. М[андельштам], следователь держался гораздо агрессивнее, чем под конец (Мандельштам 1). At the beginning of the interrogation, M[andelstam] noticed, the interrogator had behaved much more agressively than toward the end (1a).

2. used to introduce the final event in a series: in the end; finally.

Их обгоняли конные, и Прохор, не выдержав, останавливал проезжавших, здоровался, спрашивал, куда едут… под конец говорил: «Зря едете» (Шолохов 5). If anyone on horseback overtook them, he [Prokhor] could not resist stopping him with a greeting and asking where they were heading for… and in the end he would say, "You're making a mistake to go on" (5a).

К-244 • ПОЛОЖИ́ТЬ КОНЕ́Ц чему [VP; subj: human or abstr; fixed WO] to stop, terminate sth.: X положил конец Y-у ≃ X put an end ⟨a stop⟩ to Y; X called a halt (to Y); || Y-у надо положить конец ≃ Y must be called ⟨brought⟩ to a halt; Y must be brought to an end.

Если исторический опыт нашей эпохи не поможет людям положить конец воинствующему своеволию, останется только совершить последний и логический шаг — самоуничтожение (Мандельштам 2). If the historical experience of our times does not help people to put an end to unbridled license, then there remains only the last logical step: self-destruction (2a).

К-245 • ВНЕ КОНКУРЕ́НЦИИ coll; ВНЕ КО́НКУРСА [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human, abstr, or concr)] unequaled, better than the rest, better than all possible rivals: X был вне конкуренции ≃ X was beyond comparison ⟨beyond compare⟩; X was unsurpassed ⟨unrivaled⟩; X is in a class by himself ⟨herself, itself etc⟩; person X was head and shoulders above the rest; [lim.] X is *hors concours.

К-246 • ШАРА́ШКИНА КОНТО́РА coll, usu. derog [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a questionable, suspicious, untrustworthy business, shop, enterprise etc: shady ⟨dubious⟩ business ⟨outfit etc⟩; [lim.] fly-by-night outfit ⟨enterprise etc⟩.

К-247 • СДЕ́ЛАТЬ КОНФЕ́ТКУ из чего coll [VP; subj: human] to improve sth. dramatically, make sth. worthless into sth. superior: X сделал из Y-а конфетку ≃ X turned Y into a (real) masterpiece ⟨work of art⟩; X made a real (little) jewel out of Y; || из дерьма ⟨говна vulg⟩ конфетку не сделаешь rude ≃ you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear ⟨chicken salad out of chicken shit⟩; you can't polish ⟨gild⟩ a turd.

О боже, сказал Мыслитель, прочитав статью Киса. Какая мразь!.. Конечно, кое-какие мыслишки в статье есть… Поработать над ней пару вечеров, хороший материал можно сделать. И Мыслитель углубился в работу. И работа его увлекла. Как говорила потом Супруга, Мыслитель сделал из статьи Киса конфетку (Зиновьев 1). Oh, God, said Thinker, as he read through an article by Puss. What rubbish!… Of course, there are a few tiny signs of thought in the article…. If I worked on it for a couple of evenings it might turn out quite well. So Thinker buckled [down] and found the work inspiring. As Wife later said, Thinker made a real little jewel out of Puss's article (1a).

К-248 • БЕЗ КОНЦА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] (used to characterize an action that continues uninterruptedly or is carried out repeatedly) over or for a very long period of time, seemingly without end: endlessly; forever; [lim.] never stop (doing sth.).

Час проходит за часом, а мы всё ходим, говорим и ходим. По Москве можно ходить без конца (Казаков 2). The hours pass, and we're still walking, talking, and walking. You can walk around Moscow endlessly (2a). ♦ [Иванов:] Нет, замучил я себя, люди мучают меня без конца… Просто сил моих нет! (Чехов 4). [I.:] Really, I've worn myself out and people never stop bothering me. I'm at the end of my tether (4b).

К-249 • БЕЗ КОНЦА́ И (БЕЗ) КРА́Я ⟨-ю⟩; БЕЗ КОНЦА́-КРА́Ю [PrepP; these forms only; fixed WO] 1. [adv, nonagreeing modif, or quantit subj-compl with copula (subj: a noun denoting some expanse)] (to be or seem to be) without an end: X тянулся ~ ≃ X stretched endlessly into the distance; X stretched boundlessly into the horizon; X went on without end into the distance.

2. чего ~ [quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: usu. abstr or concr)] (in some place there is) a great number or quantity of sth.: X-ов было ~ ≃ there was no end of Xs; there were hordes ⟨scads, droves etc⟩ of Xs.

К-250 • В О́БА КОНЦА́ поездка, билет, ехать и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; nonagreeing modif or adv; fixed WO] (a trip, a ticket, to travel etc) to a place and back again: (make) a round trip; (travel) there and back; || билет ~ ≃ round-trip ticket; || стоимость билета ~ ≃ round-trip fare.

У меня всего 500 рублей — на билет в оба конца не хватит. I've only got five hundred rubles—that's not enough for a round-trip ticket.

К-251 • ДО КОНЦА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv or modif] entirely, wholly: completely; fully; totally; [lim.] in its entirety; complete ⟨entire⟩ [NP]; || если (уж) быть до конца честным ⟨откровенным⟩ ≃ to be perfectly honest ⟨frank⟩.

…Только Лиля, одна Лиля понимает меня, только с ней я могу быть до конца откровенным (Казаков 2). Only Lilya, Lilya alone understood me, only with her could I be completely open (2a).

К-252 • ДО КОНЦА́ ⟨ДО КО́НЧИКОВ⟩ НОГТЕ́Й [PrepP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; fixed WO] (one is a certain type of person) entirely, in every way: (a [NP]) to the ⟨one's⟩ fingertips; every inch (a ⟨the⟩ [NP]); (a [NP]) to the core; (a [NP]) through and through.

…С такими людьми я ещё никогда не встречался, сразу видно: утончённый, изысканно-простой, до кончиков ногтей интеллигентный… (Катаев 3). …Such people were quite beyond my ken. I saw at once that he was refined and yet exquisitely natural, an intellectual to the very fingertips (3a).

К-253 • ДО КОНЦА́ (СВОИ́Х) ДНЕЙ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] to the end of one's life, until one dies: to ⟨till⟩ the end of one's days; to one's dying day; as long as one lives.

Старик настолько оправился, что через некоторое время пошёл работать мясником в одну из своих бывших лавок, где проработал до конца своих дней (Искандер 3). The old man was so much improved that he eventually took a job as a butcher in one of his former shops, where he worked to the end of his days (3a).

К-254 • ДО ПОБЕ́ДНОГО КОНЦА́ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] 1. довести что ~ (to bring sth.) to the point of complete and final success: to a triumphant conclusion; to a successful finish ⟨close, end⟩.

2. сидеть где, ждать кого и т.п. ~ coll (to stay somewhere, wait for s.o. etc) resolutely, until sth. in progress is finished or s.o. expected appears: sit ⟨wait⟩ it out; (stay) till ⟨until⟩ the last gun is fired.

«Давно ждёшь, Евгений Николаевич?» — «Так, давненько уже. Но решил сидеть до победного конца» (Распутин 1). "Have you been waiting long, Evgeny Nikolaevich?" "Pretty long, but I decided to sit it out" (1a).

К-255 • ДОВОДИ́ТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ́ ДО КОНЦА́ что [VP; subj: human] to bring sth. to its conclusion, reach a final result: X довёл Y до конца ≃ X saw ⟨carried⟩ Y through (to the end); X carried Y to the end; X pursued Y to the end; X wound Y up; [lim.] X rounded off Y; X got to the bottom of it ⟨Y⟩.

Что я мог сказать Марату? Что рок никогда не останавливается на полпути, а всегда до конца доводит свой безжалостный замысел? (Искандер 2). What could I say to Marat? That Fate never stops halfway, but always carries its pitiless design to the end! (2a).

К-256 • ИЗ КОНЦА́ В КОНЕ́Ц пройти, проехать, изъездить что и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; usu. used with pfv verbs; fixed WO] over the whole area or length of sth.: from one end to the other; from end to end; all over; (throughout) the entire length of (the land ⟨the country etc⟩).

Сколько раз уже (тысячу раз)… [я] проходил по Москве с севера на юг, с запада на восток, из конца в конец… — и ни разу не видел Кремля (Ерофеев 1). How many times (thousands) I've walked… across Moscow from north to south, east to west, from one end to the other… and never did I see the Kremlin (1a).

К-257 • КОНЦА́-КРА́Ю ⟨-я⟩ ⟨КОНЦА́ И КРА́Ю, НИ КОНЦА́ НИ КРА́Ю, КОНЦА́⟩ НЕ́Т ⟨НЕСТЬ obs, НЕ ВИ́ДНО, НЕ ВИДА́ТЬ⟩ [$VP_{subj/gen}$ (variants with нет) or $VP_{subj/gen}$ with $быть_{ø}$, usu. pres (variants with не видно, не видать)] 1. ~ чему sth. extends extremely far into the distance, seemingly without end: X-у конца-краю не видно ≃ X has no bounds; X has no end (or limit); X goes on forever; you can't see where X starts or (where it) ends.

И как нет, казалось, конца и края бегущей воде, нет и веку деревне… (Распутин 4). And just as the flowing water seemed to have no end or limit, the village seemed ageless… (4a).

2. ~ чему sth. lasts an extremely long time, seemingly forever: X-у конца-краю нет ≃ there's no end to X; X goes on and on; X goes on endlessly; X lasts an eternity.

Для обитателей нашей улицы эта семья была идеалом, витриной достигнутого счастья… Они не только дают полюбоваться своим счастьем, от щедрот его и соседям немало перепадает… Вот так они жили на нашей улице, и, казалось, конца и края не будет этой благодати. И вдруг однажды всё разлетелось на куски! Вахтанг был убит на охоте случайным выстрелом товарища (Искандер 5). To the residents of our street this family was an ideal, a showcase of achieved happiness…. Not only were the neighbors allowed to admire their happiness, they also came in for a goodly share in its abundance…. Thus they lived on our street, and it seemed there would be no end to this abundance. And suddenly one day everything fell apart! Vakhtang was accidentally shot to death by a comrade while hunting (5a).

3. ~ кому-чему there is an extremely large number of people or things, or an extremely large quantity of sth. (in some place, in s.o.'s possession, etc), there seems to be an infinite number or quantity: Х-ам конца-краю нет ≃ there's no end (or limit) to (the) Xs; Xs are endless; Xs are ⟨seem⟩ inexhaustible.

В те времена я ему нравился как хороший слушатель его любовных приключений. Этим приключениям не было ни конца ни края… (Искандер 2). He liked me then because I was a good audience for his stories of romantic adventure. There was no end or limit to these adventures… (2a).

К-258 • НЕ С ТОГО́ КОНЦА́ начинать что, браться за что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to begin, undertake sth.) incorrectly, using the wrong approach, means etc: (begin ⟨start⟩ sth.) from ⟨at⟩ the wrong end; (begin ⟨approach⟩ sth.) the wrong way; (approach s.o. ⟨sth.⟩) from the wrong angle; [lim.] put the cart before the horse.

«Снимут судимость! — зло воскликнул Нержин, и глаза его сузились. — Да откуда вы взяли, что я хочу этой подачки: хорошо работал, так, мол, освобождайся?! Мы тебя прощаем! Нет, Пётр Трофимович!.. Не с того конца! Пусть признают сперва, что за образ мыслей нельзя сажать — а там мы посмотрим — прощаем ли!» (Солженицын 3). "They'll remove the conviction from my record!" Nerzhin cried angrily, his eyes narrowing. "Where did you get the idea that I want that little gift? 'You've worked well, so we'll free you, forgive you.' No, Pyotr Trofimovich!… You're beginning at the wrong end. Let them admit first that it's not right to put people in prison for their way of thinking, and then we will decide whether we will forgive them" (3a).

К-259 • С КОНЦА́МИ highly coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. adv] (one left, disappeared etc) without leaving any trace and/or forever: (and) that was the end of him ⟨her etc⟩; (and) he ⟨she etc⟩ was never seen or heard from again; (and) he ⟨she etc⟩ was gone for good.

К-260 • В КОНЦЕ́ КОНЦО́В [PrepP; Invar; sent adv (often parenth); fixed WO] 1. as the final result when some (action, series of actions, process etc) is over, when everything related to the situation at hand has been considered: in the end; in the final analysis; when all is said and done; after all.

В ранней молодости я стыдился своих ушей. Теперь я к ним привык. В конце концов они не очень мешали мне в жизни (Войнович 5). Though I was ashamed of my ears in my early youth, now I've grown used to them. In the final analysis they haven't been that much of a hindrance to me in this life (5a).

2. used to add emotional emphasis to some statement, express dissatisfaction, impatience etc: really; after all.

«У меня изменилось мнение. Могло же оно измениться? Мы не догматики, в конце концов!» (Ерофеев 3). "I've changed my mind. Can't one change one's mind? We're not dogmatists, after all!" (3a).

К-261 • КОНЦО́В НЕ НАЙТИ́ ⟨НЕ СЫСКА́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. infin (used as impers predic) or neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не найдёшь, не сыщешь; fixed WO] it is impossible to find out the reason for sth., understand sth., uncover who is to blame for sth. etc: концов не найти ⟨не найдёшь⟩ ≃ it's impossible ⟨no one will ever be able etc⟩ to put the pieces together ⟨figure it out, puzzle it out, get to the bottom of it⟩; you can't ⟨they'll never be able to etc⟩ figure ⟨puzzle⟩ out who did ⟨organized, was behind etc⟩ it; we ⟨you etc⟩ can't make head(s) or tail(s) (out) of it; [lim.] there's no way it can be traced (back to s.o.).

Мы знаем, что с фабрики воруют товары и сбывают их на сторону. Должно быть, работает целая группа, но всё организовано так, что концов не найти. We know that goods are being stolen from the factory and sold on the side. A whole group of people must be involved, but everything's organized in such a way that we can't get to the bottom of it.

К-262 • СО ВСЕХ КОНЦО́В земли, страны и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] from everywhere: from all parts (of the world ⟨the country etc⟩); from all sides ⟨quarters⟩; from all over (the place); from every corner of the world ⟨the globe⟩; from the four corners of the globe ⟨the earth⟩.

К-263 • ВО ВСЕ КОНЦЫ́ посылать, рассылать кого-что, скакать и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] to various, many different destinations, everywhere: in all directions; all over (the place); to the four corners of the globe ⟨the earth⟩; [lim.] to the four winds.

Как-то осенью Мари исчезла. Целый день нельзя было её сыскать, и вечером вилла Урбах забила тревогу. Люди были посланы во все концы (Федин 1). One autumn Marie disappeared. For a whole day she could not be found and in the evening the Villa Urbach sounded the alarm. Men were sent in all directions (1a).

К-264 • (И) КОНЦЫ́ В ВО́ДУ coll [NP; these forms only; usu. used as a clause in a compound or complex sent preceded by one or more clauses; fixed WO] (and) no bits of evidence (from a reprehensible action, crime etc) will be left for anyone to discover, no one will ever find out about it: and no traces will be left behind; (and) none ⟨no one⟩ will be (any) the wiser; and no one will ⟨would⟩ know the difference.

«Ешьте, не стесняйтесь. Я знаю: вы постоянно испытываете дьявольский аппетит, особенно в гостях». — «Что скажет Вера Николаевна!» — воскликнул я. «…Мы с вами сейчас расправимся со всем этим… затем отнесём посуду на кухню — и концы в воду» (Катаев 3). "Eat, man, don't be shy. I know you always have a devilish appetite, particularly when you're dining out." "What will Vera Nikolayevna say!" I exclaimed. "…We'll soon finish this off… take the dishes back to the kitchen—and no one will be any the wiser" (3a).

К-265 • КОНЦЫ́ С КОНЦА́МИ НЕ СХО́ДЯТСЯ [VP_{subj}; the verb may take the initial position, otherwise fixed WO] 1. ~ (у кого) coll. Also: КОНЦЫ́ С КОНЦА́МИ едва ⟨еле-еле и т.п.⟩ СХО́ДЯТСЯ coll one can barely support himself (and his family) on the money he has, earns etc: у Х-а концы с концами не сходятся ≃ X can barely make ⟨has trouble making etc⟩ ends meet; X can barely keep his head above water; X can barely keep body and soul together.

Семья у нас большая, работает только муж, концы с концами не сходятся. We have a big family and only my husband works, so we have trouble making ends meet.

2. ~ (в чём) there is a contradiction, a lack of necessary agreement between various aspects of some matter, lines of argumentation etc: it doesn't add up; there are a lot of loose ends; it doesn't (all) fit together; it's full of holes; [in refer. to a story] it doesn't hang together.

Сначала он [Виктор] всё ожидал удара по затылку, прямо по желваку… а потом решил: вряд ли. Концы с концами не сходились (Стругацкие 1). At first he [Victor] kept on waiting for a blow on the back of his head, right on his lump, then he decided it was unlikely. It didn't fit together (1a). ♦ Он утверждает, что не виноват, но в его рассказах концы с концами не сходятся (Марченко 2). According to him, he was innocent, but his story did not hang together (2a).

3. the final results of a calculation (usu. of receipts and expenditures, debits and credits etc) are not what they should be, are not as expected: the accounts do not balance (out); it doesn't add up.

К-266 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ КОНЦЫ́[1] nautical [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv imper or infin used as a command; fixed WO] to release the ropes or cables that hold a ship at its moorings: отдать концы! ≃ cast off!; let go!

К-267 • ОТДАВА́ТЬ/ОТДА́ТЬ КОНЦЫ́[2] substand [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] 1. to die: X отдал концы ≃ X kicked off; X kicked the bucket; X cashed in (his chips); X turned up his toes.

Без дачи и поликлиники на Грановского [Александр Иванович] давно бы отдал концы (Ерофеев 3). Without a summer cottage and the special clinics on Granovsky Street he [Alexander Ivanovich] would have kicked the bucket long ago (3a).

2. to run away, run off: X отдал концы ≃ X took off; X took to his heels; X split (the scene); X lit ⟨cut⟩ out (of place Y); X cut and ran; [lim.] X flew the coop.

К-268 • ПРЯ́ТАТЬ/СПРЯ́ТАТЬ ⟨ХОРОНИ́ТЬ/СХОРОНИ́ТЬ⟩ КОНЦЫ́ (В ВО́ДУ) coll [VP; subj: human; often infin with уметь, пытаться, можно, надо etc; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] to hide the traces, destroy the evidence of some reprehensible or criminal action: X прячет концы в воду ≃ X covers his tracks ⟨the traces of what he has done⟩; X destroys the traces; X hides what he is doing.

…За двадцать пять лет свидетель Икс присмирел, научился лукавить и прятать концы в воду (Эткинд 1). …Over twenty-five years witness X had quieted down and learned cunning and the art of covering his tracks (1a).

К-269 • СВОДИ́ТЬ/СВЕСТИ́ КОНЦЫ́ С КОНЦА́МИ [VP; the verb may take the final position, otherwise fixed WO] 1. coll [subj: human; often used with едва, еле, кое-как, с трудом etc] to manage to survive (albeit with difficulty) on one's pay, the resources available to one etc: X едва сводит концы с концами ≃ X barely makes (both) ends meet; X hardly keeps his head above water; X barely scrapes ⟨gets⟩ by.

Итак, я предполагал, что разбогатею на моих метафорах… Но это был дешёвый товар, и я даже не сводил концов с концами (Олеша 3). And so I thought I would grow rich on my metaphors…. But those were cheap goods, and I couldn't even make ends meet (3a).

2. Also: СВЯ́ЗЫВАТЬ/СВЯЗА́ТЬ КОНЦЫ́ С КОНЦА́МИ [subj: human or abstr] to make various parts of sth. (a theory, the plot of a story etc) jibe, fit together, form a congruous whole: X свёл концы с концами ≃ X tied up the loose ends; X tied everything together; X made things add up.

…Мужикам, по их натуре, нужна любая техника, лишь бы она была новой, любая теория, лишь бы она сводила какие-нибудь концы с какими-нибудь другими концами, а женщинам? Им-то какое дело до всего этого, если в этом начисто отсутствовали проблемы семьи, брака, деторождения, воспитания, домоустройства, любви, вообще человеческой психологии и морали? (Залыгин 1). By their nature they [men] needed any sort of science as long as it was new, any theory as long as it tied up one or two loose ends, but what did women need? What did they care about any of this, if it was utterly barren of family problems, marital problems, problems of childbirth, child-rearing, home management, love, and all of human phychology and morality? (1a).

К-270 • ВСЁ ХОРОШО́, ЧТО ХОРОШО́ КОНЧА́ЕТСЯ; ХОРОШО́ ТО, ЧТО ХОРОШО́ КОНЧА́ЕТСЯ [saying] when sth. troublesome ends happily or positively, one must not dwell on the difficulties encountered along the way (said with relief, joy after trouble or danger has been successfully avoided or endured without substantial loss): ≃ all's ⟨all is⟩ well that ends well.

Кафедра постановила снять меня с работы… Хорошо то, что хорошо кончается. Изгнание из вуза было первой ступенью. За ним должны были последовать другие мероприятия, запланированные в высших сферах. Они не осуществились, потому что умер один человек (Мандельштам 2). The meeting then ruled that I should be dismissed from my post…. All's well that ends well. My expulsion could have been only the first stage, to be followed by a series of further measures concerted at the highest level. I was spared this only because of the death of one man (2a).

К-271 • КОНЧА́ТЬСЯ/КО́НЧИТЬСЯ ⟨ЗАКА́НЧИВАТЬСЯ/ЗАКО́НЧИТЬСЯ⟩ НИЧЕ́М [VP; subj: abstr; fixed WO] to turn out unsuccessfully, not produce the desired results: X кончился ничем ≃ X came to nothing ⟨to naught⟩; X went nowhere; [lim.] X got person Y nowhere.

Одно обстоятельство чуть было не разбудило его [Тентетникова], чуть было не произвело переворота в его характере. Случилось что-то похожее на любовь. Но и тут дело кончилось ничем (Гоголь 3). There was one circumstance, however, that all but awakened Tentetnikov, all but brought about a transformation in his character. He experienced something like love, but here too things came to naught (3c). ♦ Разговор, казалось, закончился ничем (Тендряков 1). The conversation had not really got him anywhere (1a).

К-272 • ПЛО́ХО ⟨ДУ́РНО obs, СКВЕ́РНО obs⟩ КО́НЧИТЬ [VP; subj: human] to end up in an unfortunate, irreversibly depraved state or position, have one's life go to ruin: X плохо кончит ≃ X will come to a bad ⟨to no good⟩ end; X will meet with a bad ⟨an unhappy⟩ fate ⟨end⟩.

«Чем он располагает к себе? Это обречённый. Я думаю, он плохо кончит» (Пастернак 1). "What is it that makes one like him? He is a doomed man. I believe that he'll come to a bad end" (1a).

К-273 • КОНЬ (ЕЩЁ) НЕ ВАЛЯ́ЛСЯ у кого, где coll [VP_{subj}; this form only; fixed WO with ещё movable] s.o. has not yet begun sth. or made significant progress toward the realization of sth.: у X-а конь ещё не валялся ≃ X hasn't (yet) gotten it in gear; things haven't gotten ⟨started⟩ moving (yet); things haven't gotten off the ground (yet).

К-274 • КО́НЬ (И) О ЧЕТЫРЁХ НОГА́Х, ДА (И ТО ⟨И ТОТ⟩) СПОТЫКА́ЕТСЯ [saying] anyone can err (said in justification of one's or s.o.'s mistake, negligence, oversight etc): ≃ the horse has four legs and yet he ⟨it⟩ stumbles; horses have four legs and still they stumble; we all make mistakes; we're only human; nobody's perfect.

«Злодеи не злодеи, а твои ребята таки пошарили да порастаскали. Не гневись: конь и о четырёх ногах, да спотыкается» (Пушкин 2). "Brigands or no brigands, but it was your lads as went ransacking and plundering. Don't be angry with 'em: the horse has four legs and yet he stumbles" (2a).

К-275 • ТРОЯ́НСКИЙ КОНЬ lit [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a subversive, harmful device, action, group of people etc that is disguised as something good: Trojan horse.

< From the legend of the large hollow wooden horse that the Greeks presented to the Trojans as a gift. When the Trojans took the horse into Troy, the Greek soldiers hiding inside the horse emerged and opened the gates of the city to the Greek army. Described in Homer's Odyssey (VIII, 492–520 etc) and Virgil's Aeneid (II, 15ff).

К-276 • САДИ́ТЬСЯ/СЕСТЬ НА СВОЕГО́ (ЛЮБИ́МОГО) КОНЬКА́; ОСЕДЛА́ТЬ СВОЕГО́ (ЛЮБИ́МОГО) КОНЬКА́ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to begin to speak on one's favorite topic: X сел на своего (любимого) конька ≃ X mounted ⟨climbed onto, rode⟩ his (favorite) hobbyhorse; X launched into ⟨got off on⟩ his pet subject ⟨topic⟩; X got on his soapbox.

«Ох, не говори так! Сглазишь…» При такой моей реплике Антон тут же садился на своего конька. Да, он не видел в тюрьмах и лагерях более суеверных людей, чем бывшие коммунисты (Гинзбург 2). "Please don't say that. You'll bring me bad luck." At this Anton mounted his hobbyhorse. He proclaimed that he had met no more superstitious people in the prisons and camps than the former Communists (2a).

К-277 • ОТБРО́СИТЬ КОНЬКИ́ slang [VP; subj: human] to die: X отбросил коньки ≃ X kicked off; X kicked the bucket; X croaked; X turned up his toes; X went toes up; X cashed in (his chips).

«Если же она даст показания да после этого коньки отбросит, большой срок… схлопотать можем» (Чернёнок 1). "But if she makes a statement and then kicks off, we'll get a stiff sentence…" (1a).

К-278 • ДАРЁНОМУ ⟨ДАРОВО́МУ⟩ КОНЮ́ В ЗУ́БЫ НЕ СМО́ТРЯТ [saying] one should not complain about, or look for faults in, sth. that is freely offered or received as a gift (said when a person receives sth. that he does not like and would not have chosen himself): ≃ don't ⟨never⟩ look a gift horse in the mouth.

К-279 • А́ВГИЕВЫ КОНЮ́ШНИ lit [NP; pl only; fixed WO] 1. a very dirty or cluttered place (also used figuratively): Augean stables.

«Я искренне сожалею о каждой из потерянных жизней. Но нельзя вычистить Авгиевы конюшни, не замаравшись» (Акунин 8). "I genuinely regret every life that has been lost. But one cannot clean out the Augean stables without soiling one's hands" (8a).

2. extreme disorder, a neglected state of affairs: Augean stables; gigantic ⟨hopeless, dire⟩ mess.

Люди медленно и упорно фальсифицируют деталь за деталью, частность за частностью, а собранные вместе они составляют ткань истории. Пройдёт ещё полстолетия, и разобраться в этих авгиевых конюшнях не сможет никто (Мандельштам 2). …[People] go on slowly, stubbornly, embroidering the facts, inventing one detail after another, weaving them together to re-create the fabric of "history." Fifty years hence nobody will ever be able to clean up this gigantic mess (2a).

< From the name of Augeas, legendary king of Elis, whose stables (which sheltered 3000 oxen) had not been cleaned for thirty years. Cleaning the Augean stables was one of the twelve labors of Hercules.

К-280 • НЕ В КОНЯ́ КОРМ coll [Invar; indep. sent or subj-compl with быть$_0$; fixed WO] 1. [subj: concr (a noun denoting food, drinks etc)] sth. does not have the expected beneficial effect on s.o.: X не в коня корм ≃ X doesn't ⟨didn't etc⟩ do person Y any good.

2. [subj: concr or abstr] sth. is not or cannot be properly appreciated by s.o.: (X) не в коня корм ≃ X is ⟨it's⟩ wasted ⟨lost⟩ on person Y; person Y can't appreciate X ⟨it⟩; you would be wasting X ⟨it⟩ on person Y; X ⟨it⟩ is a waste of time ⟨energy etc⟩.

«Не могу больше, не полечу! Пусть судят: больше вышки не дадут, дальше фронта не пошлют. Я не лягавый, я — лётчик-истребитель! Хватит!..» Но речь его теперь была — не в коня корм: каждого уже одолевала своя собственная болячка (Максимов 1). "I can't take it any more, I'm going to stop flying. Let them put me before a court-martial. They can't do more than shoot me. They can't send me further than the front. I'm not a cop—I'm a fighter-pilot. I've had enough!…" But by this time his speech was a waste of time. Each of them was overwhelmed by his own ills (1a).

К-281 • КРУ́ГЛАЯ ⟨КРУ́ГЛЕНЬКАЯ⟩ КОПЕ́ЕЧКА obs [NP; sing only; fixed WO] a large sum of money: pretty penny; hefty ⟨tidy⟩ sum.

К-282 • ВЛЕТА́ТЬ/ВЛЕТЕ́ТЬ ⟨ВСКОЧИ́ТЬ, ОБОЙТИ́СЬ, СТАТЬ и т.п.⟩ В КОПЕ́ЕЧКУ ⟨В КОПЕ́ЙКУ⟩ (кому) coll [VP; subj: concr or abstr; usu. pfv] to cost a very large amount, require large expenditures: X влетел (Y-у) в копеечку ≃ X cost (Y) a pretty penny ⟨a small fortune, an arm and a leg⟩.

[Серафима:] В это время ей, может быть, траур шьют. И какая портниха! Мадам Софи. Это встанет в копейку, Семён Семёнович (Эрдман 1). [S.:] At this very minute they could be sewing her mourning outfit. And what a dressmaker—Madame Sophie. It'll cost a pretty penny, Semyon Semyonovich (1a).

К-283 • КАК ОДНА́ КОПЕ́ЙКА ⟨КОПЕ́ЕЧКА⟩ obs, coll [как + NP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; used with a phrase denoting a sum of money that is either objectively, or perceived by the speaker to be, large; fixed WO] exactly (the named amount of money): precisely; to the kopeck ⟨the penny, the cent etc⟩; [lim.] … no less.

К-284 • КОПЕ́ЙКА В КОПЕ́ЙКУ; КОПЕ́ЕЧКА В КОПЕ́ЕЧКУ both coll [NP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; often used with a phrase denoting an amount of money; fixed WO] (used to emphasize the precision with which a monetary matter is handled; often used when counting money) exactly, precisely: (down) to the (last) kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩; kopeck for kopeck ⟨penny for penny, cent for cent⟩.

Возвращаю тебе долг — одиннадцать тысяч рублей копейка в копейку. Here's the money I owe you—eleven thousand rubles, down to the last kopeck.

К-285 • КОПЕ́ЙКА РУБЛЬ БЕРЕЖЁТ [saying] frugality in small matters leads to an accumulation of great material gains: ≃ a penny saved is a penny gained ⟨earned⟩; little gains make heavy purses; penny and penny laid up will be many; take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves.

К-286 • ДО (ПОСЛЕ́ДНЕЙ) КОПЕ́ЙКИ ⟨КОПЕ́ЕЧКИ⟩ истратить, заплатить, получить, прокутить и т.п. что coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to spend, pay, squander etc a certain amount of money) completely, with nothing left over, (to receive a certain amount of money) in full: (spend ⟨get, pay etc⟩ a certain amount of money) (down) to the last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩; (spend ⟨pay, receive etc⟩) every last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩ (of…); (spend ⟨squander, blow etc⟩) one's last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩; (spend ⟨blow, squander etc⟩) the last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩ of…

[Аркадина:] Говорят, её покойная мать завещала мужу всё своё громадное состояние, всё до копейки… (Чехов 6). [A.:] They say her mother, who's dead, willed her husband all her enormous fortune, down to the last kopeck (6c). ♦ «Отпускные мои все до копейки кончились…» (Чернёнок 1). "I've spent the last cent of my vacation money…" (1a).

К-287 • ДРОЖА́ТЬ ⟨ТРЯСТИ́СЬ⟩ НАД (КА́ЖДОЙ) КОПЕ́ЙКОЙ ⟨ЗА КА́ЖДУЮ КОПЕ́ЙКУ rare⟩ all coll, disapprov [VP; subj: human] to be miserly, excessively thrifty: X дрожит над каждой копейкой ≃ X pinches pennies; X trembles at the thought of parting with a kopeck ⟨a penny⟩; X counts every kopeck ⟨penny⟩; X hangs onto every kopeck ⟨penny⟩.

«А кто за каждую копейку дрожит, у того их [денег] не будет». — «Как же не будет, если он их не бросает зря на ветер, не пропивает, как ты?» — «А так. Они [деньги] поймут, что он жмот, и — с приветом!» (Распутин 1). "A person who counts every kopeck'll never have money." "Why won't he if he doesn't throw it away and doesn't drink it up like you do?" "Well, he won't, I tell you. Money'll see he's stingy and run in the opposite direction" (1a).

К-288 • ЗА КОПЕ́ЙКУ ⟨ЗА ГРОШ⟩ УДА́ВИТСЯ highly coll, derog [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] (one) is extremely frugal, miserly: X за копейку удавится ≃ X pinches pennies; X hangs onto every kopeck ⟨penny⟩ for dear life; X is a cheapskate ⟨a skinflint, a tightwad⟩.

К-289 • КАК ОДНУ́ КОПЕ́ЙКУ ⟨КОПЕ́ЕЧКУ⟩ coll [как + NP; these forms only; nonagreeing modif; used with a phrase denoting a sum of money that is either objectively, or perceived by the speaker to be, large; fixed WO] 1. прокутить, истратить и т.п. что ~ (to squander, spend etc the named amount of money) completely, with nothing left over: (down) to the last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩; (squander ⟨spend etc⟩) every last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩ (of…); [in limited contexts—usu. in refer. to a large sum of money] (spend) as if it were nothing.

«Есть свидетели, что он [подсудимый] прокутил в селе Мокром все эти три тысячи, взятые у госпожи Верховцевой, за месяц перед катастрофой, разом, как одну копейку…» (Достоевский 2). "There are witnesses that the whole three thousand he [the defendant] took from Miss Verkhovtsev was squandered in the village of Mokroye a month before the catastrophe, at one go, to the last kopeck…" (2a).

2. заплатить, выложить и т.п. что ~ (to pay etc) exactly (the named amount of money): precisely; to the ⟨a⟩ kopeck ⟨penny etc⟩; [lim.] … no less.

«Сам видел, в руках у них видел три тысячи как одну копеечку…» (Достоевский 2). "I myself saw it, I saw three thousand to a kopeck in his hands…" (2a).

К-290 • ПОСЛЕ́ДНЮЮ КОПЕ́ЙКУ ⟨ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ ГРОШ⟩ РЕБРО́М СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ obs, coll [VP; subj: human] to spend all one's remaining money on sth. (often out of vanity): X последнюю копейку ребром поставит ≃ X will spend his last kopeck ⟨penny, cent etc⟩ (to show off).

К-291 • СЧИТА́ТЬ (КА́ЖДУЮ) КОПЕ́ЙКУ; СЧИТА́ТЬ КОПЕ́ЙКИ all highly coll [VP; subj: human] to spend one's money very sparingly, be very careful in how one spends one's money (usu. because one is poor, has very little money): X считает каждую копейку ≃ X counts every kopeck ⟨penny etc⟩.

Живётся им тяжело, приходится считать каждую копейку. Things are tough for them, they have to count every penny.

К-292 • С КОПЫ́Т (ДОЛО́Й) slang [PrepP; these forms only; predic with subj: human; the idiom can be used in past, pres, and fut contexts] 1. one falls, crashes to the ground: X — с копыт долой ≃ [in past contexts] X keeled over; X fell in a heap; X went down like a ton of bricks; X was ⟨got⟩ knocked (clean) off his feet.

2. one dies: X — с копыт долой ≃ [in past contexts] X kicked off; X kicked the bucket; X croaked; X turned up his toes; X cashed in (his chips).

К-293 • ОТКИ́НУТЬ ⟨ОТБРО́СИТЬ⟩ КОПЫ́ТА slang [VP; subj: human or animal] to die: X отбросит копыта ≃ X will kick off; X will kick the bucket; X will croak; X will turn up his toes; X will cash in (his chips); [lim.] X will be pushing up daisies ⟨kicking up the daisies⟩.

«Немцы наши дрейфят, — когда он [Сталин] копыта откинет, начнётся заваруха…» (Копелев 1). "Our Germans are scared—when he [Stalin] kicks off, a real mess will start…" (1a).

К-294 • ЛОМА́ТЬ/ПОЛОМА́ТЬ КО́ПЬЯ (с кем, из-за кого-чего, за что) [VP; subj: human; usu. impfv] to argue heatedly, fight vehemently with s.o. over sth., defending one's position or a third party's interests: X будет ломать копья с Y-ом (из-за Z-а) ≃ X will cross swords ⟨lock horns⟩ with Y (over Z); X will go to war over Z; [lim.] X will break a lance with Y (over Z).

Вообще одновременность такого восприятия следовало признать довольно относительной. Нам, поэтам, ломать копья тут было не из-за чего (Лившиц 1). Generally speaking, this kind of simultaneous perception had to be recognized as somewhat relative. We poets had no reason to go to war over it (1a).

К-295 • СЖИГА́ТЬ ⟨ЖЕЧЬ⟩/СЖЕЧЬ (СВОЙ) КОРАБЛИ́; СЖИГА́ТЬ ⟨ЖЕЧЬ⟩/СЖЕЧЬ (ВСЕ ⟨СВОИ́, ЗА СОБО́Й⟩) МОСТЫ́ all lit [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] breaking resolutely with the past, to take an irrevocable step that makes turning back impossible: X сжигает свои корабли ≃ X is burning his bridges ⟨boats⟩ (behind him).

Боб Рейл сел возле меня. «А вы понимаете, что сжигаете все мосты за собой? — спросил он серьёзно… — Готовы ли вы к этому?» (Аллилуева 2). Bob Rayle sat down beside me, saying in great earnestness: "Do you realize that you are burning your bridges behind you?… Are you prepared for such a step?" (2a).

К-296 • БОЛЬШО́МУ КОРАБЛЮ́ — БОЛЬШО́Е ПЛА́ВАНИЕ [saying] an outstanding person needs ample opportunity and unbounded freedom to allow his abilities to manifest themselves fully (often said when wishing well to a person who has deservedly been given the opportunity to demonstrate his abilities): ≃ a big ship needs a big sea; a great ship asks for deeper water; great ships need deep waters.

[Городничий:] Да, признаюсь, господа, я, чёрт возьми, очень хочу быть генералом. [Лука Лукич:] И дай бог получить… [Аммос Фёдорович:] Большому кораблю большое плаванье (Гоголь 4). [Mayor:] Yes, I must admit, ladies and gentlemen, God damn it, I very much want to be a general. [L.L.:] And God grant you get it…. [A.F.:] Great ships need deep waters (4a).

К-297 • С КОРАБЛЯ́ НА БАЛ (попасть) [PrepP; Invar; adv or predic with subj: human; fixed WO] one unexpectedly finds himself, usu. immediately upon returning from a trip, at a gathering of people (a party, large celebration, an official meeting etc): straight from one's travels into the social scene; one minute a traveler, the next a socialite; (it's) off the plane ⟨boat etc⟩ and into the party.

< From Aleksandr Pushkin's Eugene Onegin («Евгений Онегин»), 1833, ch. 8, 13.

К-298 • В КО́РЕНЬ разорить кого-что, разрушить что и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (to ruin, destroy s.o. or sth.) entirely, wholly: totally; completely; utterly.

К-299 • ПОД КО́РЕНЬ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. рубить, срезать, косить и т.п. что ~ (to chop down, cut etc a tree, bush, plant, or, occas., a pole, mast etc) at the very root or bottom: (chop sth. off) at the roots; (chop sth. down) at the base; [lim.] (raze sth.) to the ground.

Председатель его [колхоза]… свёл под корень изрядно гектаров леса… (Солженицын 6). …[The chairman] had razed a considerable area of forest to the ground… (6b).

2. ~ подорвать, разрушить и т.п. что [obj: abstr (здоровье, авторитет, жизнь, промышленность etc)] (to damage or harm s.o.'s health, s.o.'s life, the economy, undermine s.o.'s authority etc) thoroughly and irreversibly: wreak havoc (on ⟨upon⟩ sth.); play havoc (with sth.); do irreversible damage (to sth.).

3. ~ истреблять, уничтожать и т.п. кого-что [obj: human pl or collect] (to kill) everyone (in some place, belonging to some group etc), not leaving anyone out: to the last man; to a man; sparing no one; [lim.] mow down s.o. ⟨sth.⟩; wipe out s.o. ⟨sth.⟩.

«То все профессора, все инженеры стали вредителями, а он — верит?.. То все его друзья и знакомые — враги народа, а он — верит?.. То целые народы… срезают под корень — а он верит?» (Солженицын 10). "Suddenly all the professors and all the engineers turn out to be wreckers, and he believes it!… His own friends and acquaintances are unmasked as enemies of the people, and he believes it!… Whole nations… are mown down, and he believes it!" (10a).

К-300 • ПОДРУБА́ТЬ/ПОДРУБИ́ТЬ ⟨ПОДРЕЗА́ТЬ/ПОДРЕ́ЗАТЬ, ПОДКОСИ́ТЬ, ПОДСЕ́ЧЬ⟩ ПОД КО́РЕНЬ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to damage the very basis of sth., do s.o. or sth. irreparable harm: X подрубил Y-а под корень ≃ X did great damage to Y; thing X undermined the roots of thing Y; thing X undermined thing Y at the root ⟨the core⟩; X struck Y a mortal ⟨fatal⟩ blow.

К-301 • СМОТРЕ́ТЬ ⟨ГЛЯДЕ́ТЬ и т.п.⟩ В КО́РЕНЬ [VP; subj: human; often imper or infin with надо, нужно, если etc] to delve into the very essence of some matter: X смотрит в корень ≃ X gets to the root ⟨the heart, the crux, the bottom⟩ of the matter ⟨the problem etc⟩; X gets (right) down to the nub of the matter ⟨the problem etc⟩; || Imper смотри в корень ≃ look beneath the surface.

Все поняли, как глубоко и мудро судит наш сосед, и все устыдились того, что до него никто не сумел взглянуть вот так… в самый корень (Михайловская 1). We all understood how profoundly and wisely our neighbor evaluated the situation and we all were embarrassed that we had failed to get to the root of the matter (1a).

К-302 • НА ВСЕ ⟨О́БЕ rare⟩ КО́РКИ ругать, бранить, честить и т.п. кого coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv (intensif); fixed WO] (to swear at s.o., scold s.o.) vehemently: X ругал Y-а ~ ≃ X gave Y a good tongue-lashing; X called Y every name in the book; X gave Y a (good) dressing-down ⟨going-over⟩; X chewed ⟨bawled⟩ Y out.

К-303 • ОТ КО́РКИ ДО КО́РКИ читать, прочитывать, учить, знать и т.п. что coll [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to read, learn, memorize etc sth.) completely, not leaving anything out, (to know sth.) thoroughly, in all its details: (read sth. ⟨read sth. through⟩) from cover to cover; (read ⟨memorize, learn⟩ sth.) from beginning to end; (read etc sth.) from top to bottom; (read sth. through etc) from end to end ⟨from start to finish⟩; (know ⟨learn⟩ sth.) backward and forward.

Старик читает справочник по элементарной математике. Сынок прислал соседу. Ничего не понимает. Какие-то синусы-косинусы. Всё равно читает. От корки до корки… (Терц 3). An old man is reading a text-book on elementary mathematics sent to the man in the next bunk by his son. He doesn't understand a word of it—all this business about sines and cosines. But all the same he reads right through, from cover to cover… (3a). ♦ [Калошин:] Сколько раз вам указывалось, чтобы анкеты заполнялись от корки до корки (Вампилов 1). [K.:] How many times have you been told to get those forms filled in from top to bottom… (1a).

К-304 • ПОДНО́ЖНЫЙ КОРМ [NP; sing only; usu. subj or obj; fixed WO] 1. coll, usu. humor food at no cost: free food ⟨grub, eats⟩.

В геологической экспедиции мне понравилось: весь день на воздухе, подножный корм, работы немного. I liked the geological expedition: out in the fresh air all day long, free food, and not too much work.

2. obs whatever means of subsistence one can acquire from chance sources (when one has no steady source of income etc): whatever crumbs ⟨morsels, crusts⟩ one can get; chance morsel; (get hold of ⟨pick up etc⟩) what food one can.

…Он [камердинер] продал какие-то брёвна, чтоб не умереть с голоду. Сенатор, возвратившись в Россию, принялся приводить в порядок свое имение и наконец добрался до брёвен. В наказание он отобрал его должность и отправил его в опалу. Старик, обременённый семьёй, поплёлся на подножный корм (Герцен 1). …He [the valet] sold some beams to escape starvation. The Senator, on his return to Russia, proceeded to set his estate in order, and at last came to the beams. He punished his former valet by sending him away in disgrace, depriving him of his duties. The old man, burdened with a family, trudged off to pick up what food he could (1a).

К-305 • У КОРМИ́ЛА (власти, правления и т.п.) lit [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human)] (to be, serve) in a position of leadership or control: at the helm; [lim.] at the helm of state.

«Вы поставлены, так сказать, у кормила общественного спокойствия, а с общественным спокойствием — по крайней мере, таково моё мнение — в сильной степени связано общественное благосостояние» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "You have been placed, as it were, at the helm of public security, and with public security,— this, at any rate, is my opinion, public well-being is inextricably bound up" (2a).

К-306 • В КО́РНЕ [PrepP; Invar] 1. ~ измени́ть что, измени́ться, не соглаша́ться и т.п.; непра́вильный, оши́бочный и т.п. [adv or modif] to change sth., change, disagree etc) totally, entirely: radically; completely; absolutely; fundamentally; || это в корне неверно ≃ this is a complete ⟨total, utter⟩ fallacy.

…Ему в корне чужды были побуждения к бунту… (Айтматов 2). …He was absolutely impervious to any incitement to revolt… (2a).

2. пресе́чь, истреби́ть и т.п. что ~ [adv] (to destroy sth.) at the very source, completely, (to stop sth.) just as it is getting started: (nip sth.) in the bud; root out sth; (cut off sth.) at the root.

Сидоров был настоящий хозяин, знал производство… всякие махинации пресекал в корне. При нём фабрика процветала… (Рыбаков 1). Sidorov was a fine boss who knew all about production…. [He] would nip any attempt at deception in the bud. The factory flourished under him (1a).

К-307 • ДО КОРНЕ́Й ВОЛО́С [PrepP; Invar; fixed WO] 1. покрасне́ть ~ [adv (intensif)] (to blush) very deeply, to an extreme degree: (blush) to the roots of one's hair; (turn ⟨go⟩) bright red.

Покраснев до корней волос, я стоял в полуоткрытых дверях и слушал молодой, твёрдый стук его каблуков, сбегавших с четвёртого этажа вниз… (Катаев 3). Blushing to the roots of my hair, I stood at the half-open door and listened to the sound of his young firm footsteps as he ran downstairs from the third floor… (3a).

2. [nonagreeing modif] (one is a certain type of person) entirely, in every way: (a [NP]) to the (very) marrow of one's bones; every inch (a ⟨the⟩ [NP]); (a [NP]) to the core.

Он всю жизнь прожил в России, но остался немцем до корней волос. He lived his whole life in Russia but remained a German to the very marrow of his bones.

К-308 • ВЫРЫВА́ТЬ/ВЫ́РВАТЬ С КО́РНЕМ что [VP; subj: human] to eliminate (some phenomenon, strong feeling, habit etc) completely: X с корнем вырвал Y ≃ X tore ⟨ripped, pulled⟩ Y out by the roots; X rooted out Y; X uprooted Y.

Все единодушно соглашались, что крамолу следует вырвать с корнем… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). All were unanimously agreed that sedition must be torn out by the roots… (1a). They were all agreed that treason should be uprooted… (1b). ♦ [Маша:] …[Я] взяла и решила: вырву эту любовь из своего сердца, с корнем вырву (Чехов 6). [M.:] …I up and decided: I'll rip this love right out of my heart, rip it out by the roots (6c).

К-309 • ПУСКА́ТЬ/ПУСТИ́ТЬ КО́РНИ [VP] 1. ~ (где) [subj: human] to settle down or be settled down in some place (which one makes his permanent home, where one raises his family, becomes part of the community etc): X пустил корни в месте Y ≃ X put ⟨set⟩ down roots (in place Y).

Когда мы покидали Москву, писатели ещё не были привилегированным сословием, а сейчас они пускали корни и обдумывали, как бы им сохранить свои привилегии (Мандельштам 1). At the time we left Moscow for exile, the writers had not yet become a privileged caste, but now they were putting down roots and figuring out ways of keeping their privileges (1a).

2. ~ (в ком-чём, в кого-что) [subj: abstr] (of some feeling, habit, phenomenon etc) to become firmly established, become ingrained (in some person, group of people, in life etc): X пустил корни (в Y-е) ≃ X took root (in Y); X put down (its) roots; X became ⟨was⟩ deeply rooted (in Y).

Нет. Уж если демагогические навыки, привитые мне всем воспитанием, пустили в моём сознании такие глубокие корни, что я не могу сейчас дать самостоятельного анализа положения в стране и партии, то буду руководствоваться просто голосом совести (Гинзбург 1). No; if the demagogic habits of mind I had been trained in were so deeply rooted in me that I could not now make an independent analysis of the situation in the country and the Party, then I would be guided simply by the voice of my conscience (1b).

К-310 • НА КОРНЮ́ [PrepP; Invar; adv] 1. while (some grain, crop etc is) still in the field and uncut, unmown: before it's ⟨they are⟩ harvested ⟨cut down⟩; on the stalk; (while) standing in the fields.

[Боркин:] Возьму вот и продам завтра тройку! Да-с!.. Овёс на корню продал, а завтра возьму и рожь продам (Чехов 4). [B.:] See if I don't [up and] sell the troika tomorrow! Yes, sir! I sold the oats before they were harvested, and you just see if I don't [up and] sell the rye too (4a).

2. засохну́ть, увя́нуть, зачахну́ть и т.п. ~ (usu. of positive undertakings, aspirations etc) (to wither, fade away) while just beginning to develop: (wither) on the vine.

…Не погнушался Твардовский пойти сам и в типографию «Известий» и там дал понять какому-то начальнику, что с «Корпусом» — не самоуправство, а есть такое мнение, и надо поторопиться… Совершился акт «набора»… Но очень скоро в ЦК очнулись, подправились… — и засохло всё на корню (Солженицын 2). …Tvardovsky did not think it beneath him to visit Izvestia's printing shops in person, and convey to some manager or other that he was not exceeding his authority in the matter of Cancer Ward, but that Somebody was of the same opinion, and that haste was therefore necessary…. The deed was done, the type was set…. But the Central Committee soon woke up to its mistake and set about rectifying it…. The whole enterprise withered on the vine (2a).

К-311 • ВРАСТА́ТЬ/ВРАСТИ́ КОРНЯ́МИ во что; ПРИРАСТА́ТЬ/ПРИРАСТИ́ КОРНЯ́МИ к чему [VP; subj: human] having settled down in a place for a long time, to become very accustomed, attached to it: X врос корнями в место Y ≃ X put down roots in place Y; X became rooted in place Y.

Самая неприятная личность и опаснейший соперник — некий Летунов Руслан Павлович. Все летуновское гнездо. Они там вросли корнями (Трифонов 6). The most disagreeable individual and the most dangerous rival was a certain Ruslan Pavlovich Letunov. That whole Letunov nest. They had put their roots down there (6a).

К-312 • УХОДИ́ТЬ КОРНЯ́МИ во что [VP; subj: usu. abstr] to have its origins in the past, in some phenomenon in the past: X уходит корнями в Y ≃ X traces its roots back to Y; X is rooted ⟨has its roots⟩ in Y.

Вопрос, уходящий корнями в державинский век простоты, крепостного права, мужицкой галантности, был опрометчивым (Ерофеев 4). His question, though it could trace its roots back to the age of Derzhavin, back to an age of simplicity, serfdom, and crude gallantry, was a trifle ill-considered (4a).

К-313 • ЦЕ́ЛЫЙ КО́РОБ новостей, вестей, сплетен coll [NP; sing only; subj or obj] a great deal (of news): a whole lot; all sorts ⟨kinds⟩; loads; heaps; (be) plum full of; (be) chock-full of.

К-314 • С ТРИ КО́РОБА наговорить, наобещать, наврать и т.п. coll, often disapprov [PrepP; Invar; adv (quantif); fixed WO] (to talk, promise, lie etc) far too much (usu. saying things that, in the speaker's judgment, are not true or relevant, making promises that will not be kept etc): наговорить (кому) ~ ≃ talk s.o.'s ear off; talk nonstop; run off at the mouth; [lim.] fill s.o.'s head with stories; || наговорить (кому) ~ чепухи ≃ say all kinds of odd ⟨strange etc⟩ things; spout ⟨talk⟩ a lot of nonsense; || наобещать (кому) ~ ≃ make s.o. a cartload ⟨a barrelful⟩ of promises; || наврать (кому) ~ ≃ tell s.o. a pack ⟨all kinds⟩ of lies.

…У Сони… две сестры в Иркутске… Приезжая из города, когда удавалось туда вырваться, недобро смотрела на ухваты да чугунки, а однажды попробовала сманить в Иркутск и Павла. Ей там нагородили с три короба, как хорошо да ладно, культурно да уважительно… (Распутин 4). …Sonya had two sisters in Irkutsk…. When she came back from a visit in the city, whenever she managed to get away, she would look with loathing at the oven prongs and cast iron pots, and once she even tried to lure Pavel to the city. They had filled her head with stories about how good and fine it was, how cultured and respectable… (4a).

К-315 • ДО́ЙНАЯ КОРО́ВА coll, usu. disapprov [NP; usu. sing] a person, organization etc continuously used by s.o. as a source of material goods, exploited shamelessly: milk ⟨milch⟩ cow; cash cow; meal ticket; [lim.] (one is) milking s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ for all he ⟨it⟩ is worth.

…На нас… смотрели как на дойных коров, и отношение к нам то улучшалось, то ухудшалось в зависимости от количества и качества удоя, который давал начальству каждый из нас. По прибытии нашем в роту нас медленно ощупывали, заранее стараясь определить, какое количество жизненных благ можно от нас получить… (Лившиц 1). …We were regarded as milch cows, and attitudes to us got better or worse depending on the quantity and quality of the milk yield which each of us presented to the authorities. When one of us arrived in the company, they mentally felt us over, trying to predetermine the number of earthly blessings which they could extract from us… (1a).

К-316 • КАК ⟨БУ́ДТО, СЛО́ВНО, ТО́ЧНО⟩ КОРО́ВА ЯЗЫКО́М СЛИЗА́ЛА ⟨СЛИЗНУ́ЛА⟩ кого-что; КАК ЯЗЫКО́М СЛИЗНУ́ЛО all coll [VP_{subj} or VP, impers; these forms only; fixed WO] (s.o. or sth.) disappeared quickly and completely: X-а как корова языком слизала ≃ X vanished ⟨disappeared⟩ into thin air; X vanished ⟨disappeared⟩ without a trace; person X did a disappearing act.

…Даже здесь [Нинке] было слышно, как Надя ищет хлеб, который будто корова языком слизнула (Распутин 3). …Even at this distance she [Ninka] could hear her mother looking for the roll, which seemed to have vanished into thin air (3a).

К-317 • ЧЬЯ БЫ КОРО́ВА МЫЧА́ЛА, А ТВОЯ́ ⟨его, её⟩ (БЫ) МОЛЧА́ЛА [saying] you have (he has, she has) the exact same faults for which you are (he is, she is) criticizing another: ≃ the pot calls ⟨it's the pot calling⟩ the kettle black; look who's talking!; it takes one to know one.

К-318 • БОДЛИ́ВОЙ КОРО́ВЕ БОГ РОГ НЕ ДАЁТ [saying] said of a person who wants to harm others, but does not have the power or means to do so: ≃ a cursed cow has short horns; cussed ⟨cursed⟩ cows have short horns; God ⟨the Lord⟩ gives a cussed cow no horns; [in older texts] God sendeth a shrewd cow short horns.

«Знаешь, Момочка, мне его [евнуха] так жалко. Я его за шею обняла, а он весь дрожит, бедняжечка. Всё-таки зверство так людей уродовать.» — «Бодливой корове Господь рогов не выделил», — легкомысленно ответил на это чёрствый Момус (Акунин 1). "You know, Momochka, I feel so sorry for him [the eunuch]. I put my arms round his neck and he was trembling all over, the poor thing. It's really atrocious to mutilate people like that." "The Lord gave the cussed cow no horns," the callous Momos replied flippantly (1a).

< Cf. the Latin proverb Dat Deus immiti cornua curta bovi ("God gives short horns to a fierce ⟨cruel⟩ ox").

К-319 • идёт, пристало КАК (К) КОРО́ВЕ СЕДЛО́ кому coll [как + NP (or PrepP); these forms only; adv (neg intensif); fixed WO] (sth. does not suit, befit s.o.) at all: (be) like putting a saddle on a cow; [of clothes] (look) ridiculous on s.o.

[Аммос Фёдорович:] Вот уж кому пристало генеральство, как корове седло! (Гоголь 4). [A.F.:] If they make him a general, it'll be like putting a saddle on a cow (4e).

К-320 • сидит КАК НА КОРО́ВЕ СЕДЛО́ coll [как + PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (of ill-fitting clothes) (sth. does) not fit s.o. at all, (is) the wrong size, cut etc for s.o.: (sth.) looks ridiculous ⟨like hell⟩ on s.o.; [lim.] (sth.) looks like a clown suit on s.o.

К-321 • БО́ЖЬЯ КОРО́ВКА [NP; fixed WO] 1. one of any number of small, round beetles, often bright red with black spots: ladybug; ladybeetle; ladybird.

2. coll [usu. sing; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human)] a quiet, inoffensive person who does not know how to stand up for himself: gentle ⟨meek⟩ as a lamb; (little) mouse; (such) a docile ⟨submissive⟩ person ⟨man etc⟩; [lim.] wouldn't hurt a fly.

К-322 • КОРО́ЛЬ-ТО ГО́ЛЫЙ; ГО́ЛЫЙ КОРО́ЛЬ [VP_{subj} with copula, used as indep. sent (1st var.); NP, sing only (2nd var.); fixed WO] a person whose scholarly reputation, authority in some field etc turns out to be completely ungrounded, a theory that turns out to be false etc: but the emperor has nothing on at all!; the emperor has no clothes; an emperor without (any) clothes.

«Ты мелкий эгоист и себялюбец. На этом моя сторона заканчивает дискуссию». — «А ты голый король, — ответил Юра, — генерал без армии. На этом моя сторона тоже заканчивает дискуссию» (Рыбаков 2). "You're small-minded, vain, conceited, and that's the end of it as far as I'm concerned." "And you're an emperor without any clothes, a general without an army. And that's the end of it as far as I'm concerned" (2a).

< From the Russian translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Emperor's New Clothes," 1837.

К-323 • НА КО́РТОЧКАХ сидеть; НА КО́РТОЧКИ сесть, присесть [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to be sitting, assume a position) with one's knees deeply bent, supporting one's weight on the feet or balancing o.s. on the balls of the feet: squat (down); sit ⟨squat (down)⟩ on one's haunches ⟨heels⟩; crouch.

Тэдди пристально на него [Виктора] посмотрел, потом вздохнул; крякнув, присел на корточки, покопался под стойкой и выставил перед Виктором пузырёк с нашатырным спиртом и початую пачку чая (Стругацкие 1). Teddy stared at him [Victor] for a moment and sighed. Grunting, he squatted down, rummaged around under the bar, and came up with a bottle of liquid ammonia and an opened packet of tea (1a).

К-324 • У РАЗБИ́ТОГО КОРЫ́ТА остаться, оказаться, сидеть и т.п.; К РАЗБИ́ТОМУ КОРЫ́ТУ вернуться both coll [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] (to be left) with nothing, having lost all one had gained, having had one's hopes in sth. thwarted etc: (be left) empty-handed; (be left) with zilch; [lim.] (be) no better off than when one started; (be) back to square one; (be) (right) back where one started; (be) back where one started again; (end up) right where one started.

Думаю, получив срок, Убожко по крайней мере был утешен, что «невеста» осталась у разбитого корыта… (Амальрик 1). I would guess that when Ubozhko was sentenced, he at least felt consoled by the fact that his "ex-wife" was no better off than when she started… (1a). ♦ Вот мы и сидим опять у разбитого корыта, сказал Клеветник (Зиновьев 1). "We're back where we started again," said Slanderer (1a).

< From Aleksandr Pushkin's tale "The Fisherman and the Goldfish" («Сказка о рыбаке и рыбке»), 1835, in which the magic goldfish punishes the fisherman's greedy wife by taking back everything it has given her, leaving her with the same broken washtub she had before the goldfish appeared on the scene.

К-325 • НАШЛА́ КОСА́ НА КА́МЕНЬ [saying] a person has met another who is his equal with regard to a specific quality (stubbornness, shrewdness etc; usu. used when two parties are involved in an argument, irreconcilable conflict etc and neither is willing to yield): ≃ diamond cut diamond; when Greek meets Greek; one has met his match; it's a clash of wills.

…Циммерман не выполняет приказа Севлага… Она пустилась в конфликт со своим начальством из Севлага. «Коса на камень нашла… надеемся, всё будет хорошо. Вряд ли Селезнёв допустит, чтобы Циммерманша над ним верх взяла» (Гинзбург 2). …Zimmerman was not carrying out Sevlag's instructions…. She was challenging her own superiors in Sevlag. "When Greek meets Greek… Let's hope all will be well. It's hardly likely that Sevlag will allow Zimmerman to get the upper hand" (2a).

К-326 • ДО КОСТЕ́Й промокнуть, промёрзнуть и т.п. coll [PrepP; Invar; adv (intensif)] (to get) extremely (wet, cold etc): промокнуть ~ ≃ be ⟨get⟩ soaked to the skin; be ⟨get⟩ totally drenched; be ⟨get⟩ soaked through; || промёрзнуть ⟨продрогнуть⟩ ~ ≃ be ⟨get⟩ chilled to the bone ⟨the marrow⟩; be ⟨get⟩ chilled through and through; || холод ⟨мороз, ветер⟩ пронизывает ⟨пробирает⟩ кого ~ ≃ the cold ⟨the wind⟩ pierces ⟨cuts⟩ s.o. to the bone; the cold ⟨the wind⟩ pierces right through to s.o.'s bones.

…Тут появляются Галя с Ниной, бедные девочки, продрогли до костей, прямо из пурги… (Рыбаков 1). …Then Galya and Nina turned up, chilled to the bone, poor girls, straight out of a blizzard… (1a).

К-327 • КОСТЕ́Й НЕ СОБЕРЁШЬ ⟨НЕ СОБРА́ТЬ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human; usu. neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не соберёшь; fixed WO] you will be destroyed, you will perish (in some battle, while doing sth. dangerous etc): you'll never come ⟨get⟩ back alive; you'll never come ⟨get⟩ out of it alive; that will be the end of you; [lim.] you've had it.

«Знаешь, Кемал, — говорит, — надо кончать с этим». — «Почему кончать?» — спрашиваю. «Затаскают. Потом костей не соберёшь» (Искандер 5). "'You know, Kemal,' he says, 'we have to end this.' 'Why end it?' I ask. 'They'll haul us in. We'll never get back alive'" (5a).

К-328 • ПЕРЕЛОМА́ТЬ (ВСЕ) КО́СТИ кому highly coll [VP; subj: human; usu. fut (used as a threat) or subjunctive] to beat s.o. up, mutilate s.o.: X Y-у все кости переломает ≃ X will break every bone in Y's body; X will break all Y's bones.

«Признавайся — помилуем, не признаешься — шкуру с тебя сдерём, кости переломаем и повесим как шпиона…» (Копелев 1). "Confess and we'll pardon you; don't confess, we'll skin you alive, break all your bones, and hang you as a spy" (1a).

К-329 • РАЗМИНА́ТЬ/РАЗМЯ́ТЬ КО́СТИ ⟨КО́СТОЧКИ⟩ coll [VP; subj: human] to move around a bit, usu. after sitting in one place for a long time: X размял кости ≃ X stretched his legs.

К-330 • СЛОЖИ́ТЬ (СВОЙ) КО́СТИ (где) elev [VP; subj: human] to perish, die (often, in battle or while doing sth. dangerous): X сложит свои кости ≃ X will meet his death ⟨his end⟩; [in refer. to death from natural causes, usu. old age] X will lay his bones to rest.

«Ну уж мне, старухе, давно бы пора сложить старые кости на покой…» (Толстой 2). "It's high time an old woman like me laid her bones to rest…" (2b).

К-331 • ВОЕ́ННАЯ ⟨СОЛДА́ТСКАЯ⟩ КО́СТОЧКА coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human, male); fixed WO] a man from a military family or with a military background who possesses the qualities characteristic of a military person: an officer ⟨a soldier⟩ through and through; an officer ⟨a soldier⟩ to the core ⟨the marrow⟩; every inch a soldier ⟨an officer⟩; soldier's soldier; army man.

Он [Николай Тихонов] умел покорять людей… Его приход в литературу встретили радостно: Коля молодой, Коля живой, Коля непосредственный… Он новый человек, он военная косточка, он удивительный рассказчик (Мандельштам 1). He [Nikolai Tikhonov]… was good at winning people over. His literary debut was greeted with joy by all those who spoke of him in such glowing terms as a man of the new generation, a wonderful storyteller—and every inch a soldier to boot (1a). ♦ «Подполковник Г., видать, не из вертухаев. Строевик, военная косточка» (Копелев 1). "…Lieutenant Colonel G., he's not one of the screws. He's a line officer, an army man" (1a).

К-332 • РАБО́ЧАЯ КО́СТОЧКА coll [NP; sing only; usu. subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] a person from a working-class family or with a working-class background: a worker, body and soul; natural-born worker; a worker born and bred.

«…Она с молоком матери впитала любовь к труду, рабочая косточка…» (Орлова 1). "…She has been nurtured on her mother's milk with a love for work, she's a worker, body and soul" (1a).

К-333 • РАЗБИРА́ТЬ/РАЗОБРА́ТЬ ПО КО́СТОЧКАМ кого-что coll [VP; subj: human] 1. to analyze the qualities of s.o. or sth. thoroughly, covering all the fine points: X разобрал Y-а по косточкам ≃ X scrutinized Y from every angle; X put Y under a microscope ⟨a magnifying glass⟩; X examined thing Y in (great) detail; X took thing Y apart.

2. to criticize s.o. or sth. severely, gossip about s.o. unkindly: X разобрал Y-а по косточкам ≃ X picked ⟨tore⟩ Y to pieces.

[author's usage] [Курчаев:] У вас, говорят, дневник какой-то есть, где вы всех по косточке разобрали (Островский 9). [K.:] They say you keep a diary in which you pick everybody to pieces (9b).

К-334 • ПЕРЕМЫВА́ТЬ ⟨МЫТЬ⟩/ПЕРЕМЫ́ТЬ КО́СТОЧКИ ⟨КО́СТИ⟩ (кому, чьи) coll [VP; subj: human, pl; more often impfv] to talk unkindly about s.o. behind his back, discuss and criticize s.o.'s behavior in detail: X-ы перемывают косточки Y-у ≃ Xs are picking ⟨tearing⟩ Y to pieces; Xs are gossiping about Y; Xs are dishing the dirt about Y.

Женщины оживают, встряхиваются, их освежённый мозг вспоминает совершенно неожиданного человека, чьи косточки они, оказывается, забыли перемыть (Искандер 3). The women would revive and rouse themselves, their refreshed minds would suddenly recall that there was someone they had completely forgotten to gossip about (3a).

< The phrase originates in the ancient custom of giving a deceased person a second burial. While performing the customary ritual of washing the exhumed remains, i.e., the bones («косточки»), in preparation for reburial, people recalled and spoke of the deceased.

К-335 • БЕ́ЛАЯ КОСТЬ obs [NP; sing only, but may refer to one or more persons; fixed WO] (a person or persons) of distinguished lineage, (a member or members) of a high social or privileged group: blue blood(s); [as modif] blue-blooded; [in refer. to a group only] the cream of society; [contemp. usage, said sarcastically] first-class citizen(s); [lim.] bigwig(s).

«Мы казаки, белая кость, а ты гужеед, скотина, тебе навоз копать» (Трифонов 6). "We're Cossacks, blue bloods, and you're damned coachmen, you swine; your place is digging manure" (6a).

К-336 • ЧЁРНАЯ ⟨МУЖИ́ЦКАЯ⟩ КОСТЬ obsoles [NP; sing only, but may refer to one or more persons; fixed WO] (a person or people) of undistinguished lineage, not (a member or members) of the upper class or any privileged group: common ⟨ordinary⟩ person ⟨people, worker(s) etc⟩; run-of-the-mill peasant(s) ⟨worker(s) etc⟩; of humble birth; [in refer. to a group only] common ⟨ordinary, plain⟩ folk; [contemp. usage, said sarcastically] second-class citizen(s).

[author's usage] Вот обратите внимание на Андрея Арсеньича, вот западная школа, вот тренаж, ни жириночки. Аристократы, хе-хе, а мы мужицкая кость (Аксёнов 7). Have a look at Andrei Arsenievich over there. That's the Western look for you. Not an ounce of fat. They keep in shape. They're blue bloods, after all, and we're just your run-of-the-mill peasants (7a).

in X's heart; something is gnawing at X's heart; X feels torn up ⟨apart⟩ inside; X feels miserable ⟨distressed, upset etc⟩.

Когда летом [актёры] приехали из Саратова и [Гриша] Ребров встречал её [Лялю] на вокзале, Корнилович нарочно громким, шутовским голосом говорил Ляле: «Ну что, Лялечка, признаемся Грише во всём? А? Давай признаемся!» Актёры хохотали, Гриша силился улыбаться, а на душе кошки скребли: чёрт их знает, а вдруг? (Трифонов 1). When the company had come back from Saratov that previous summer and [Grisha] Rebrov had gone to the railroad station to meet her [Lyalya], Kornilovich had spoken up in an intentionally loud, jesting voice, "Well, Lyalechka, shall we confess everything to Grisha? Shall we? Let's tell him!" The actors had roared with laughter and Grisha had done his best to smile, but inside he felt torn apart: who could be sure, perhaps something had actually gone on between them? (1a).

К-356 • НО́ЧЬЮ ⟨В ТЕМНОТЕ́⟩ ВСЕ КО́ШКИ СЕ́РЫ [saying] differences between people, things etc of a certain kind are indistinguishable in the dark, or under circumstances that obscure those differences: all cats are gray in the dark; at night ⟨when candles are out⟩ all cats are gray.

…Я в тот день одним ухом слышал — и изумился: ещё одна полная неожиданность — Твардовский нисколько не возмущён моим письмом съезду, даже доволен им! (Солженицын 2). …That very day I half heard something that amazed me. Here was another complete surprise. Tvardovsky was not the least bit indignant about my letter to the congress; indeed, he was pleased with it! (2a).

2. ~ слушать (кого-что) (to listen to s.o. or sth.) inattentively: (listen) with half an ear; half listen.

Я краем уха прислушиваюсь к тому, о чем разговаривают Антон и Сашка (Зиновьев 2). I listened with half an ear to what Anton and Sashka were discussing (2a).

К-359 • БИТЬ ⟨ЛИ́ТЬСЯ, ПЕРЕЛИВА́ТЬСЯ⟩ ЧЕРЕЗ КРАЙ [VP; subj: abstr] (usu. of energy, a certain quality, or a feeling) to manifest itself, come forth with great force, in abundance: X бьёт через край ≃ X is bursting forth; X is overflowing ⟨brimming over⟩; s.o. ⟨sth.⟩ is bursting with X; s.o. is overflowing ⟨bubbling over⟩ with X.

«Счастье льётся через край, так хочется жить… а тут вдруг примешивается какая-то горечь…» (Гончаров 1). "My happiness is brimming over, I so want to live—and now suddenly it is mixed with a kind of bitterness!" (1b).

К-360 • НА КРА́Й СВЕ́ТА ⟨ЗЕМЛИ́⟩ идти, бежать, пойти (за кем) увезти кого и т.п. coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; usu. used with verbs in pfv fut or subjunctive; fixed WO] (to go, run, take s.o. etc) someplace very far away, (to follow s.o.) anywhere, even to a place very far away: to the end of the earth ⟨the world⟩; to the (very) ends of the earth; to the back of beyond; [lim.] somewhere far, far away.

«Ах, если бы он встретился мне раньше. Я бы побежала за ним на край света» (Дудинцев 1). "If only I had met him sooner! I would have followed him to the ends of the earth!" (1a).

К-361 • НЕПОЧА́ТЫЙ КРАЙ чего coll; НЕПОЧА́ТЫЙ У́ГОЛ obs [NP; sing only; often quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: abstr or concr); usu. this WO] an enormous number or quantity: a host; (have) no end of; (there is) no end to; an abundance; a wealth; plenty; [lim.] (be) snowed under (with sth.).

Путь Хлебникова был для меня запретен. Да и кому, кроме него, оказался бы он под силу? Меня и не тянуло в ту сторону: передо мной расстилался непочатый край иных задач… (Лившиц 1). For me the path chosen by Khlebnikov was a forbidden one. And who, apart from him, would have found the strength to pursue it? I was not tempted in that direction: before me unfolded a host of different problems… (1a).

К-362 • ХВАТА́ТЬ obs/ХВАТИ́ТЬ ⟨ПЕРЕХВАТИ́ТЬ, ПЕРЕЛИВА́ТЬ obs⟩ ЧЕРЕЗ КРАЙ coll, often disapprov [VP; subj: human; usu. pfv] to do or say (usu. on impulse) sth. inappropriate, excessive, exaggerate sth.: X хватил через край ≃ X took ⟨carried⟩ it ⟨things⟩ a bit too far; X went (a little) overboard ⟨too far⟩; X carried it ⟨things⟩ to extremes; X overstated his case.

Шовинизм Василия Смирнова, пояснила она, проявлялся лишь в словах, а не в делах. В высказываниях, а не в поступках. И надо, мол, судить, Смирнова так, как он сам о том просит — не по словам, а по делам. Тут уж и некоторые члены комиссии задвигались… И даже переглянулись. Не хватила через край? (Свирский 1). Vasily Smirnov's chauvinism, she explained, was revealed only in his words, not in his actions. In what he said rather than in what he did. And we must judge Smirnov as he himself asked—not by his words but by deeds. At this point several members of the commission began to stir…. They even exchanged glances. Hadn't she gone too far this time? (1a).

К-363 • ХЛЕБНУ́ТЬ ЧЕРЕЗ КРАЙ coll [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ горя, нужды to experience much (sorrow and/or need): X хлебнул горя через край ≃ X has had (more than) his share of sorrow ⟨misfortune, hard times⟩; X has had (a lot) more than enough; X has drunk his cup to the bitter dregs; X has known a lot of sorrow ⟨grief etc⟩.

…Зачем душу людям травить, и без того хлебнули… горя через край (Айтматов 2). Why make their life more miserable, when they had… drunk their cup to the bitter dregs? (2a).

2. to drink too much: X хлебнул через край ≃ X had one too many; X had a drop too much; X exceeded his limit.

К-364 • ЧЕРЕЗ КРАЙ чего coll [PrepP; Invar; usu. quantit subj-compl with copula (subj/gen: abstr or concr)] (s.o. has or in some place there is) a very large quantity or excessive amount of sth.: limitless; without limit; enough and to spare; [in refer. to undesirable things, often personality traits considered undesirable when present to an excessive degree] far too much.

Мама ведёт активный образ жизни, энергии у неё через край. Mom leads a very active life, she has energy enough and to spare.

К-365 • ВПАДА́ТЬ ⟨ВДАВА́ТЬСЯ⟩ В КРА́ЙНОСТИ [VP; subj: human] to go considerably beyond what is reasonable, logical, true, or correct (in one's argumentation, actions etc), often going from one extreme to the other: X впадает в крайности ≃ X goes ⟨is driven⟩ to extremes; X carries ⟨takes⟩ it ⟨things⟩ to extremes; X goes ⟨carries things⟩ too far.

«…Вглядитесь в меня пристальнее — и вы увидите, что административная оболочка далеко не исчерпывает всего моего содержания!» — «Итак… вы повстанец?» — «Я не говорю этого, баронесса, — опять-таки, зачем впадать в крайности?» (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). "…If you were to look at me more closely, you would see that the administrative trappings which cover me are far from being the whole of me!" "So you're a…. revolutionary?" "I didn't say that, baroness! Again, why go to extremes?" (2a).

К-366 • ДО КРА́ЙНОСТИ [PrepP; Invar; modif or adv (intensif)] to a great degree, far beyond a normal level: in the extreme; to an extreme; terribly; to the utmost; no end; [lim.] to the limit; [with negated predic] (not…) at all; [as modif only] extremely; absolutely; exceedingly.

…Литературная жизнь ему уже успела опротиветь до крайности… (Битов 2). …The literary life had begun to disgust him in the extreme… (2a). ♦ Всё в Шухове было напряжено до крайности — вот сейчас нарядчик в дверях заорёт (Солженицын 7). Every fiber in his [Shukhov's] body was tensed to the utmost: the work assigner would be bellowing at the door any moment now (7c). ♦ «Этот добродушный и несколько ленивый правитель вдруг сделался деятелен и настойчив до крайности… (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). This genial and somewhat lazy ruler suddenly became extremely energetic and persistent… (1a).

К-367 • ДОВОДИ́ТЬ/ДОВЕСТИ́ ДО КРА́ЙНОСТИ [VP; subj: human or abstr] 1. ~ кого to cause s.o. to lose his composure: X довёл Y-а до крайности ≃ X pushed Y too far; X drove Y over the edge ⟨the brink⟩; X pushed Y past Y's limit; [lim.] Y (had) reached his limit.

…Может быть, эта легенда возникла как галлюцинация в мозгу у людей, доведённых до крайности (Рыбаков 1). …Maybe this legend arose like a hallucination in the minds of people who had reached their limit (1a).

2. ~ что to take (some matter, line of reasoning etc) beyond the usual limits: X довёл Y до крайности ≃ X took Y to extremes ⟨to its extreme⟩.

Такой метод оценки, доведённый до крайности, был бы ещё глупее, чем подход к писателям и критикам, как к выразителям общих мыслей (Набоков 1). Such a method of evaluation, taken to its extreme, would be even sillier than approaching writers and critics as exponents of general ideas (1a).

К-368 • ВПАДА́ТЬ/ВПАСТЬ ⟨ВДАВА́ТЬСЯ/ВДА́ТЬСЯ⟩ В КРА́ЙНОСТЬ (какую) [VP; subj: human or collect] to overdo sth., show a lack of moderation in one's judgment, reaction to sth. etc: X впадает в крайность ≃ X goes to extremes; [lim.] X runs to extremes; || X впадает в другую ⟨обратную⟩ крайность ≃ X goes to the other ⟨the opposite⟩ extreme; X goes to the opposite end of the scale.

С того самого дня Чик потерял интерес к людям с холодными стальными глазами. Он даже впал в обратную крайность, то есть, увидев человека с такими глазами, он начинал подозревать его в преступных склонностях... (Искандер 1). After that day Chik lost interest in people with cold and steely eyes. He even went to the opposite extreme, that is, when he saw a person with eyes like that he started to suspect him of criminal tendencies... (1a).

К-369 • ИДТИ́/ПОЙТИ́ НА КРА́ЙНОСТЬ ⟨КРА́ЙНОСТИ⟩; ПРИБЕГА́ТЬ/ПРИБЕ́ГНУТЬ К КРА́ЙНОСТИ [VP; subj: human or collect] to resort to extreme means: X готов пойти на крайность ≃ X is willing ⟨ready⟩ to take drastic ⟨extreme, severe⟩ measures; X is willing ⟨ready⟩ to go to extremes; [limited] X is willing ⟨ready⟩ to go to the brink.

«Хорошо известно, что среди сторонников идеи еврейского государства попадаются люди одержимые, готовые идти на крайности ради скорейшего достижения своей цели» (Акунин 4). "It is well known that the supporters of the idea of a Jewish state include some fanatics who are willing to go to extremes in order to achieve their goal as soon as possible" (4a).

К-372 • СГУЩА́ТЬ/СГУСТИ́ТЬ КРА́СКИ [VP; subj: human; if pfv, usu. past; if impfv, usu. pres, past, or infin with не стоит, не надо, не будем etc; usu. this WO] to overstate sth., making it seem considerably worse, gloomier etc or more important, better etc than it is in reality: X сгустил краски ≃ X laid ⟨put, spread⟩ it on thick ⟨with a trowel⟩; X piled it on (thick); X (grossly) exaggerated (it ⟨things⟩); [in refer. to an exaggeratedly negative portrayal of sth.] X painted too black ⟨gloomy, dismal⟩ a picture (of things).

«Мой добрый Александр в благородном негодовании собрался было ехать в Петербург и помочь Вам… но по размышлении решил, что Вы, как всегда, несколько сгустили краски» (Окуджава 2). "My dear Alexander in a fury of righteousness wanted to go to Petersburg to help you… but on second thought decided that you, as usual, may have exaggerated a bit" (2a).

К-373 • ЗАЛИВА́ТЬСЯ/ЗАЛИ́ТЬСЯ КРА́СКОЙ [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to become red in the face (from embarrassment, shame etc): X залился краской ≃ X turned ⟨blushed, became⟩ (bright) red; X blushed crimson ⟨scarlet, deeply⟩; X reddened (deeply); X went red ⟨crimson⟩; X flushed.

Варя с осуждением покосилась на спящего и залилась краской — из-под длинных ресниц на неё глядели серьёзные глаза, ярко-голубые и с очень чёрными зрачками (Акунин 5). Casting a glance of disapproval at the sleeper, Varya had suddenly blushed bright red—the clear blue eyes with the pitch-black pupils were peering gravely at her from under their long lashes (5a).

К-374 • БРОСА́ЕТ/БРО́СИЛО В КРА́СКУ кого coll [VP; impers] s.o. flushes out of shame, embarrassment: X-а бросило в краску ≃ X blushed; it ⟨s.o.'s words etc⟩ made X blush; X ⟨X's face⟩ turned (beet) red; X ⟨X's face⟩ turned crimson.

[Варя:] Зачем это вы, Антонина Николаевна, Мишу обидели? Как нехорошо сказали — наелся. Меня прямо в краску бросило (Розов 3). [V.:] Antonina Nikolayevna, what did you insult Misha for? How wrong of you to say that he stuffed himself full. It actually made me blush (3a).

К-375 • ВГОНЯ́ТЬ/ВОГНА́ТЬ ⟨ВВОДИ́ТЬ/ВВЕСТИ́⟩ В КРА́СКУ кого [VP; subj: human or abstr] to cause s.o. to flush with embarrassment: X вогнал Y-а в краску ≃ X made Y blush; X made Y turn (beet) red; X made Y turn crimson.

…За три года житья в лесу Егорша образовался. Стыда никакого — сам первый похабник стал. Глаз синий в щёлку, голову набок, и лучше с ним не связывайся — кого угодно в краску вгонит (Абрамов 1). …In his three years in the forest, Yegorsha grew up. No embarrassment remained. He became the bawdiest of them all. One blue eye closed to a slit, his head tilted to one side—better not tangle with him—he could make anyone blush (1b).

К-376 • НЕ ЖАЛЕ́ТЬ/НЕ ПОЖАЛЕ́ТЬ ⟨НЕ ЩАДИ́ТЬ/НЕ ПОЩАДИ́ТЬ⟩ КРА́СОК; НЕ СКУПИ́ТЬСЯ/НЕ ПОСКУПИ́ТЬСЯ НА КРА́СКИ [VP; subj: human] to describe sth. with special vividness, very expressively, often exaggerating: X не жалел красок ≃ X spared no words; [lim.] X laid it on thick ⟨with a trowel⟩.

Дядя Сандро… не скупясь на краски, рассказал историю поимки чёрного лебедя (Искандер 3). Sparing no words, he [Uncle Sandro] told the story of the capture of the black swan (3a).

К-377 • ВО́ СТО КРА́Т; ВО МНО́ГО КРА́Т [PrepP; these forms only; adv; used with compar form of Adj or Adv; fixed WO] many times, much (better, worse, more etc): a hundred times; a hundredfold; far…

…В сердцах простых чувство красоты и величия природы сильнее, живее во сто крат чем в нас… (Лермонтов 1). …Simple hearts feel the beauty and majesty of nature a hundred times more keenly than do we… (1b).

К-378 • НА КРАЮ́ ГИ́БЕЛИ ⟨ПРО́ПАСТИ⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; usu. subj-compl with copula (subj: human or collect); fixed WO] one is very close to serious, mortal danger: on the brink ⟨the verge⟩ of disaster ⟨catastrophe, ruin⟩; on the edge ⟨the brink⟩ of the ⟨an⟩ abyss; on the edge of the precipice.

Во время войн в Италии он несколько раз находится на краю гибели и всякий раз спасается неожиданным образом (Толстой 7). During the wars in Italy he is several times on the brink of disaster and each time is saved in some unexpected way (7a).

К-379 • НА КРАЮ́ МОГИ́ЛЫ ⟨ГРО́БА⟩; У КРА́Я МОГИ́ЛЫ ⟨ГРО́БА⟩ [PrepP; these forms only; subj-compl with copula (subj: human); fixed WO] one is close to death, about to die: (be) at death's door; (have) one foot in the grave; (be ⟨lie⟩) between life and death.

«Видно тебе не довольно, что я, благодаря тебе, ранен и целый месяц был на краю гроба: ты и мать мою хочешь уморить» (Пушкин 2). "It seems that you are not content that, thanks to you, I should be wounded and at death's door for a whole month; you wish to kill my mother as well" (2b).

К-380 • НА КРАЮ́ СВЕ́ТА ⟨ЗЕМЛИ́⟩ coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with copula (subj: human, collect, or concr); fixed WO] very far away: at the end of the earth ⟨the world⟩; at the (very) ends of the earth; at the back of beyond; [lim.] somewhere far, far away.

«Я не сделаю ни шага, пока вы не дадите мне возможность повидать сына. Он в школе. Остаётся на краю земли, один, без куска хлеба. Я должна поговорить с ним перед расставаньем…» (Гинзбург 2). "I won't take a step until you let me see my son. He's at school. He will be left behind out here at the end of the earth, all alone, with no means of support. I must talk to him before we are parted…" (2a).

К-381 • ИЗ КРА́Я В КРАЙ [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] over the whole area or length of some expanse of land, in all directions: from one end to the other; from end to end; all across the land ⟨the country etc⟩; (throughout) the length and breadth of (the land ⟨the country etc⟩); all over.

По полям, залитым жгучими лучами солнца, перекатывалось из края в край несмолкаемое, заглушавшее ход поезда стрекотание кузнечиков (Пастернак 1). Over the fields flooded by the burning rays of the sun, the ceaseless chirring of grasshoppers rolled from end to end, drowning out the noise of the train's movement (1b).

К-382 • (КАК) ИЗ ГОЛО́ДНОГО КРА́Я coll [(как +) PrepP; these forms only; adv or subj-compl with быть$_{ø}$ (subj: human); fixed WO] (to look emaciated, eat hungrily etc) as if one were starving, without food for a long time: (look ⟨eat⟩) as if one hadn't eaten for days; (look ⟨eat⟩) as if one were on the brink of starvation; (eat) as if one had never seen food before; || Neg не из голодного края ≃ it's not the first time one has seen food.

Пили красное и по неполной рюмке, губы вытирали чистыми платками, закусывая, оставляли на тарелке малость: не из голодного края, мол (Максимов 3). They drank red wine, not quite filling the glasses; they dabbed at their lips with clean handkerchiefs; and when they ate they left a little on the plate: It's not the first time we've seen food, you know! (3a).

К-383 • ОТ КРА́Я (И) ДО КРА́Я [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] the entire space from end to end: from one end to the other; [lim.] the whole land ⟨country etc⟩; the length and breadth of (the land ⟨the country etc⟩).

К-384 • В НА́ШИХ ⟨ВА́ШИХ⟩ КРАЯ́Х; В НА́ШИ ⟨ВА́ШИ⟩ КРАЯ́ [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] in or to the area or region where I (we, you) live: in our ⟨your⟩ part ⟨corner⟩ of the world; in our ⟨your⟩ neck of the woods; [lim.] in our ⟨these, those⟩ parts; (a)round here ⟨there⟩.

Дядя Сандро был рад, что остановил выбор на этом доме, что ему не изменило его тогда ещё только брезжащее чутьё на возможности гостеприимства, заложенные в малознакомых людях. Впоследствии беспрерывными упражнениями он это чутьё развил до степени абсолютного слуха, что отчасти позволило ему стать знаменитым в наших краях тамадой… (Искандер 3). Uncle Sandro was happy that his choice had fixed on this house, that his already sensitive nose for the possibilities of finding hospitality among people he barely knew had not betrayed him. In later years, with continuing practice, he developed this sense to the point of absolute pitch. It was largely responsible for his becoming a celebrated tamada, or toastmaster, in our part of the world… (3a).

К-385 • В КРЕДИ́Т покупать, отпускать и т.п. что [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to purchase, sell sth. etc) with the agreement that payment will follow, be made later: on credit; (give ⟨receive⟩) credit.

…Все деповские покупали мясо у Кусиела. В кредит (Рыбаков 1). All the people from the depot bought their meat from Kusiel, on credit (1a).

К-386 • ПО́ЛЬЗОВАТЬСЯ КРЕДИ́ТОМ (у кого) coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to enjoy s.o.'s favor, be trusted by s.o.: X пользуется кредитом у Y-а ≃ X is in good standing with Y; X stands in well with Y; X is in Y's good graces ⟨good books⟩.

Для него директор не сделает ничего, скорее наоборот, а если Людмила попросит — может сделать. Она… пользуется кредитом (Трифонов 1). [The executive director] wouldn't do anything for him—in fact, just the opposite—but if Liudmila asked, perhaps he'd do it. She was in his good graces… (1a).

К-387 • ВЫКИ́ДЫВАТЬ ⟨ВЫПИ́СЫВАТЬ, ВЫДЕ́ЛЫВАТЬ⟩ КРЕНДЕЛЯ́; ВЫПИ́СЫВАТЬ ⟨ВЫДЕ́ЛЫВАТЬ⟩ КУРБЕ́ТЫ obs; ВЫВОДИ́ТЬ ВЕНЗЕЛЯ́ all coll [VP; subj: human] to dance joyfully, executing intricate patterns: X выкидывал кренделя ≃ X was cutting capers; X was capering (about).

[author's usage] Просто дрянь бал, не в русском духе, не в русской натуре… Иной даже, стоя в паре, переговаривается с другим об важном деле, а ногами в то же самое время, как козлёнок, вензеля направо и налево… (Гоголь 3). And that ball of theirs is nothing but so much rubbish; it's not in the Russian spirit, it does not suit the Russian character…. Some fellows, standing with their dance partners, might be exchanging remarks about some important matter and at the same time cutting capers with their legs, now to the right, now to the left, like young goats… (3c).

К-388 • ВО́Т ТЕБЕ ⟨ТЕ, ВАМ⟩ КРЕСТ! substand [Interj; fixed WO] used by the speaker to emphasize the truth of a statement: cross my heart (and hope to die); I swear to God; as God is my witness ⟨judge⟩.

[Трубач:] И — вот вам крест! — некоторым труба помогает (Горький 2). [Trumpeter:] And—cross my heart—my trumpet does help some folks (2b).

К-389 • НЕСТИ́ (свой) КРЕСТ [VP; subj: human] to endure trials, suffering, the difficulties allotted to one: X несёт (свой) крест ≃ X bears ⟨carries⟩ his ⟨a⟩ cross; X has his cross to bear.

[Алла:] Ты обречён на честность. Она твой крест… Ты будешь нести его до конца (Розов 4). [A.:] You're doomed to honesty. It's your cross and you'll carry it all your life (4a).

< From the Biblical account of how Jesus bore his cross to the place of his crucifixion (John 19:17 etc).

К-390 • СТА́ВИТЬ/ПОСТА́ВИТЬ КРЕСТ [VP; subj: human or collect; usu. this WO] 1. ~ на ком, на кого having become disillusioned with s.o., to cease hoping for anything good from him: X поставил крест на Y-е ≃ X gave up on Y (as hopeless); X gave Y up as hopeless; X wrote Y off.

Всякий раз его сознание, описав фантастический логический круг, взмыв спиралью, обернувшись, находило объяснение любому человеческому поступку с гуманистической точки зрения, когда ещё не всё потеряно, рано ставить крест и т. д. (Битов 2). His consciousness would travel a fantastic logical circle, spiraling up and back, to find an explanation for any man's deed from the humanistic viewpoint—when all was not lost, it was still too early to give the man up as hopeless, and so forth (2a).

2. ~ на чём, на что having become convinced that sth. is worthless, some undertaking is sure to fail etc, to stop thinking about it, stop investing time, energy etc into it: X поставил крест на Y-е ≃ X gave Y up as hopeless ⟨lost, a waste of time etc⟩; X kissed Y good-bye ⟨goodbye⟩; X wrote Y off (as a lost cause); X called it quits with Y.

…Михаил решил: немедля, сегодня же ехать за сеном на Среднюю Синельгу. Сена на Средней Синельге оставалось возов пятнадцать, и, если не вывезти его сейчас, в эти два-три дня, пока ещё не поплыла дорога, ставь крест на сене (Абрамов 1). …Mikhail resolved to go to Middle Sinelga immediately and fetch the hay. There were about fifteen cartloads of hay left there, and unless it was picked up in the next two or three days, before the road was awash, you could kiss the whole lot goodbye (1a).

К-391 • КРЕСТА́ НЕТ на ком obs [VP; impers; pres only; fixed WO] what s.o. is doing is indecent and shows how dishonorable s.o. is: креста на X-е нет ≃ X has no conscience ⟨no mercy, no heart⟩; there is no fear of God in X; X knows no shame; it's not Christian!

«…Мужики по три рубля с подводы просят — креста на них нет!» (Толстой 6). "…The peasants are asking as much as three rubles for a cart and horse—it's not Christian!" (6a).

К-392 • БОЕВО́Е КРЕЩЕ́НИЕ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. one's or s.o.'s first participation in battle: baptism of fire.

«Самохин? Фёдор Тихонович? Девятнадцатого года рождения? — Майор, не глядя на него, резко перелистывал папку… — Комсомолец? Из крестьян?.. Прошёл боевое крещение?» (Максимов 1). "Samokhin? Fyodor Tikhonovich? Born in '19?" Without looking at him, the major jerkily leafed through the file…. "Member of the Komsomol? Of peasant origin?… Gone through the baptism of fire?" (1a).

2. one's or s.o.'s first serious experience (in some type of endeavor, work etc): baptism of fire.

…Незадолго до приезда в Москву его [Лёву] впервые посадили и через несколько дней выпустили. Это было, так сказать, боевым крещением (Мандельштам 2). Not long before he [Lev] came to us in Moscow he had been arrested for the first time and then released a few days later. This was, so to speak, his baptism of fire (2a).

К-393 • КРИВА́Я ВЫВО́ЗИТ/ВЫ́ВЕЗЕТ ⟨ВЫНО́СИТ/ВЫ́НЕСЕТ⟩ кого coll [VP_{subj}; usu. pfv fut; if impfv, usu.

refers to repeated occurrences; fixed WO] (s.o. hopes that, there is a possibility that etc) pure chance will help s.o. in some situation: (X-a) кривая вывезет ≃ luck will be on X's side; things will go X's way; things will work out (for X); the chips will fall X's way; something will turn up.

«…Подсудимому должно же было прийти в голову опасение, что он слишком много накричал по городу предварительно и что это может весьма послужить к его уличению и его обвинению, когда он исполнит задуманное. Но уж что же делать, факт огласки был совершён, его не воротишь, и, наконец, вывозила же прежде кривая, вывезет и теперь» (Достоевский 2). "…The fear must have occurred to the defendant that he had shouted around town too much beforehand and that it would go a long way towards exposing and accusing him once he had carried out his plan. But there was no help for it, the fact of publication had been accomplished, it could not be taken back, and, after all, things had always worked out before, so they would work out now as well" (2a).

К-394 • КУДА́ КРИВА́Я ВЫ́ВЕЗЕТ ⟨ВЫ́НЕСЕТ, ВЫ́ВЕДЕТ, less often НИ ВЫ́ВЕЗЕТ, НИ ВЫ́НЕСЕТ⟩ coll [VP_{subj}; these forms only; used as adv or a clause in a complex or compound sent; fixed WO] (to wait and see) how a situation will develop, what its outcome will be (without interfering in it): (wait and see) how it turns ⟨things turn⟩ out; (wait and see) what happens; (wait and see) what will come of it.

К-395 • НА КРИВО́Й ⟨НА КОЗЕ́, НА ВОРОНЫ́Х, НА САВРА́СОЙ⟩ НЕ ОБЪЕ́ДЕШЬ кого highly coll [VP; neg pfv fut, gener. 2nd pers sing не объедешь only; usu. this WO] you cannot outwit, deceive s.o.: X-а на кривой не объедешь ≃ you can't trick ⟨bamboozle, outsmart, put anything over on⟩ X; you can't pull the wool over X's eyes; you can't take X for a ride; you have to get up pretty early in the morning to fool X.

[author's usage] Видят головотяпы, что вор-новотор кругом на кривой их объехал, а на попятный уж не смеют (Салтыков-Щедрин 1). The Knockheads saw that Thief-Among-Thieves had bamboozled them, but they didn't dare back out (1a).

К-396 • (ПОСЛЕ́ДНИЙ) КРИК МО́ДЫ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] the most recent style (of dressing, behaving etc), which is striking in its novelty: the latest fashion; the latest thing (in fashion); [lim.] all the rage.

[Публика] хлопала сногсшибательного покроя фраку, цилиндру невиданного фасона, альпийской белизне гетр. Рукоплескала последнему крику моды… (Лившиц 1). They [the audience] applauded the stunning cut of his morning-coat, the unique style of this top-hat and the Alpine whiteness of his gaiters. They applauded the latest fashion… (1a).

< Adapted loan translation of the French dernier cri.

К-397 • КРИ́КОМ ⟨КРИЧМЯ́⟩ КРИЧА́ТЬ coll [VP; subj: human; fixed WO (var. with криком)] to shout very loudly, as loudly as one can: X криком кричал ≃ X shouted ⟨yelled, screamed⟩ at the top of his voice ⟨lungs⟩; X cried ⟨shouted, screamed⟩ his head off; X screamed his lungs out; X shouted for all he was worth.

К довершению содома, кричал кричмя дворовый ребятишка, получивший от матери затрещину… (Гоголь 3). To make the uproar more complete, one of the house-serfs, a little boy who had been slapped by his mother, was screaming at the top of his voice… (3a).

К-398 • НИ́ЖЕ ВСЯ́КОЙ КРИ́ТИКИ; НЕ ВЫДЕ́РЖИВАТЬ (НИКАКО́Й) КРИ́ТИКИ [AdjP, subj-compl with copula (1st var.); VP (2nd var.); subj: usu. abstr or concr, occas. human; fixed WO (1st var.)] to be of very poor quality, not meet even the most modest requirements or standards: X ниже всякой критики ≃ X is beneath (all) criticism; X is bad beyond all criticism; [lim.] X is beyond ⟨beneath⟩ consideration; [of an argument, idea, theory etc] X does not hold water.

Лошади, в кровь иссечённые мухами, крутили хвостами и недружно натягивали постромки (Шолохов 2). The horses, their backs bloodied by flies, swung their tails and pulled jerkily at the traces (2a). ♦ «Помилуй, Иван Богданыч… не проходит дня, чтоб он без синего пятна воротился, а намедни нос до крови разбил» (Гончаров 1). "For heaven's sake, Ivan Bogdanych!… Not a day passes that he doesn't come home with a bruise, and the other day he came back with his nose bleeding!" (1b).

К-406 • ГОЛУБА́Я КРОВЬ; usu. кто ГОЛУБО́Й КРО́ВИ, у кого ГОЛУБА́Я КРОВЬ, or В ЖИ́ЛАХ у кого ТЕЧЁТ ГОЛУБА́Я КРОВЬ all [NP; fixed WO except when used as VP_{subj} with $быть_{ø}$] (one or s.o. has, s.o. is a person of etc) noble, aristocratic lineage: blue blood; [as modif] blue-blooded; ‖ у X-а в жилах течёт голубая кровь ≃ noble ⟨aristocratic⟩ blood flows in X's veins; X has noble ⟨aristocratic⟩ blood in his veins.

Следует отметить, что юноши голубой крови были отделены от сыновей богатых буржуа, к числу которых принадлежал Жан-Батист. Принцы и маркизы были пансионерами лицея, имели свою собственную прислугу, своих преподавателей, отдельные часы для занятий, так же как и отдельные залы (Булгаков 5). It must be noted… that the youths of blue blood were segregated from the sons of the wealthy bourgeois, of whom Jean-Baptiste was one. Princes and marquises were boarders at the lycée, with their own servants, their own instructors, their own separate hours of study, as well as their own separate classrooms (5a).

К-407 • КРОВЬ БРО́СИЛАСЬ ⟨КИ́НУЛАСЬ, УДА́РИЛА⟩ В ГО́ЛОВУ кому [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. reached a state of extreme excitement, frenzy (from indignation, anger etc): кровь бросилась X-у в голову ≃ the blood rushed to X's head.

Он хотел только подразнить меня; но каждое его слово протекло ядом по всем моим жилам. Кровь бросилась мне в голову (Тургенев 3). He just wanted to tease me, but every word he uttered ran like poison through my veins. The blood rushed to my head (3a).

К-408 • КРОВЬ ⟨КРА́СКА⟩ БРО́СИЛАСЬ ⟨КИ́НУЛАСЬ⟩ В ЛИЦО́ (чьё, кому, кого); КРО́ВЬ ПРИЛИЛА́ К ЛИЦУ́ (чьему, кого) [VP_{subj}; fixed WO] s.o. became red in the face (from embarrassment, shame, annoyance etc): кровь бросилась X-у в лицо ≃ the blood rushed to X's face ⟨cheeks⟩; X flushed; X blushed; X turned (bright ⟨beet⟩) red.

«Теперь и я не боюсь! — бодро сказал он [Обломов]. — С вами не страшна судьба!» — «Эти слова я недавно где-то читала… У Сю, кажется… только их там говорит женщина мужчине…» У Обломова краска бросилась в лицо (Гончаров 1). "I'm not afraid any more," he [Oblomov] said cheerfully. "With you I do not fear the future." "I read that phrase somewhere recently—in Sue, I think. Only there it was the woman who said it to the man."… Oblomov flushed (1b).

…Это был мужчина весёлый, краснощёкий, кровь с молоком (Салтыков-Щедрин 2). …He was a cheerful man, ruddy-faced and the picture of health (2a). ♦ [author's usage] Хозяйка дома выбежала сама на крыльцо. Свежа она была, как кровь с молоком… (Гоголь 3). The lady of the house came running out on to the front steps herself. She was as fresh as a daisy… (2a).

2. [subj: лицо, щёки] (s.o.'s face is, cheeks are) healthy-looking, rubicund: (s.o. has) the freshest of complexions; [in refer. to a woman] (like) peaches and cream; [of a man] ruddy.

К-413 • КРОВЬ СТЫ́НЕТ ⟨ЛЕДЕНЕ́ЕТ, ХОЛОДЕ́ЕТ⟩/ ЗАСТЫ́ЛА (В ЖИ́ЛАХ) (чья, у кого) lit; КРОВЬ ЗАСТЫВА́ЕТ В ЖИ́ЛАХ obs [VP_{subj}; usu. this WO] s.o. experiences extreme fear, horror: у X-а кровь стынет в жилах ≃ X's blood freezes ⟨runs cold⟩; X's blood turns to ice water (in X's veins); thing Y makes X's blood curdle.

К-414 • ЛЕДЕНИ́ТЬ КРОВЬ ⟨ДУ́ШУ⟩ чью, кому; ЛЕДЕНИ́ТЬ СЕ́РДЦЕ чьё, кому [VP; subj: abstr or impers] to frighten s.o. horribly: X леденит Y-у кровь ≃ X chills Y's blood; X makes Y's blood freeze ⟨curdle, run cold⟩; X makes Y's blood turn to ice water (in Y's veins); Y's blood freezes ⟨curdles, runs cold⟩.

Что только слышал Фриц Платтен от этого человека, своего рока и судьбы своей! — леденило кровь иногда… (Солженицын 5). The things Fritz Platten heard from this man, who was his fate and his doom! Sometimes his blood froze… (5a).

К-415 • ПИТЬ/ВЫ́ПИТЬ ⟨СОСА́ТЬ, ВЫСА́СЫВАТЬ/ ВЫ́СОСАТЬ⟩ КРОВЬ чью, из кого, у кого all coll [VP; subj: human] to exploit s.o. cruelly, torment, oppress s.o. in every way possible: X сосёт кровь из Y-а ≃ X sucks (out) Y's blood; X sucks the lifeblood out of Y; X sucks Y dry.

«А фюрера ихнего [ungrammat = их] видел, Сталина?» — «Встречал, — говорю, — пару раз, в Баку и в Тифлисе. Он банки курочил [slang = грабил]… Неплохой был урка, но ссучился. Генсеком стал. Кровь из мужика пьёт…» (Алешковский 1). "Did you ever see their Führer, Stalin?" "Yeah, I've met him a couple of times," I said. "Once in Baku and once in Tiflis. He was holding up banks…. He wasn't a bad crook, but he got out of the business. Became General Secretary. He… sucks the peasants' blood…" (1a).

К-416 • ПО́РТИТЬ КРО́ВЬ кому; ПОПО́РТИТЬ ⟨ИСПО́РТИТЬ⟩ много ⟨столько, сколько и т.п.⟩ КРО́ВИ all coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to bother, inconvenience, annoy s.o. greatly, cause problems for s.o.: X портит Y-у кровь ≃ X causes Y (endless) trouble; X causes Y a lot of headaches; X causes Y (unnecessary) worry; [lim.] X poisons Y's existence; X puts Y's nose out of joint.

«Ах, если бы как-нибудь вытянуть из него всё, что он знает! С каким наслаждением я бы потом его прикончил… Сколько он крови мне попортил…» (Стругацкие 2). "If only I could drag it out of him. Then it would give me great pleasure to finish him off. How much unnecessary worry he's caused me" (2a).

К-417 • ПО́РТИТЬ СЕБЕ́ КРОВЬ; ИСПО́РТИТЬ ⟨ПОПО́РТИТЬ⟩ СЕБЕ́ много ⟨столько, сколько и т.п.⟩ КРО́ВИ all coll [VP; subj: human] to become distressed, annoyed, nervous etc: X портит себе кровь ≃ X is getting himself (all) upset (over sth.); X is upsetting himself; X is getting irritated; X is getting into a state (over sth.); X is getting all shook up; [lim.] X is getting his nose out of joint.

К-418 • ПРОЛИВА́ТЬ ⟨ЛИТЬ⟩/ПРОЛИ́ТЬ КРОВЬ [VP; subj: human] 1. ~ за кого-что. Also: ПРОЛИВА́ТЬ ⟨ЛИТЬ⟩/ПРОЛИ́ТЬ СВОЮ́ КРОВЬ to sacrifice o.s., be wounded or perish while fighting for s.o. or sth.: X проливал (свою) кровь (за Y-а) ≃ X shed (his) blood (for Y); X poured out his blood (for Y).

«Я счастлив, великий государь, что мог пролить кровь за своё отечество, и желал бы умереть за него» (Толстой 2). "I am happy, Your Majesty, that I was able to shed blood for my country, and I would like to die for her" (2b).

2. ~ (чью, кого) [obj: usu. pl] to wound, kill, put to death (many people): X пролил кровь Y-ов ≃ X spilled the blood of Ys; || X пролил много крови ≃ X was responsible for much bloodshed.

Тот же механизм породил Марра, Лысенко и сотни тысяч подобных объединений, проливших слишком много крови (Мандельштам 2). It was the system that gave birth to Marr, Lysenko, and hundreds of thousands of lesser cliques of the same kind, all of them responsible for much bloodshed (2a).

К-419 • РАЗГОНЯ́ТЬ/РАЗОГНА́ТЬ КРОВЬ [VP; subj: human; often infin with надо, полезно etc] to increase one's blood circulation: X-у надо разогнать кровь ≃ X needs to get the ⟨his⟩ blood moving ⟨going, flowing⟩.

«Ты что — опять будешь устраивать Африку [в бане]?» — «Да, надо немножко кровь разогнать. У меня что-то ухо правое ломит — надуло, наверно, на реке» (Абрамов 1). "What's going on? Are you trying to turn this place [the bathhouse] into Africa again?" "Yep! Got to get the blood going a bit. My right ear's aching for some reason. Probably from the wind on the river" (1a).

К-420 • (ХОТЬ) КРОВЬ ИЗ НО́СА ⟨ИЗ НО́СУ, И́З НОСУ⟩ highly coll [(хоть +) NP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (in refer. to a demand or urgent need to do sth.) (sth. must be done) despite any difficulties or obstacles: no matter what; even if it kills me ⟨you etc⟩; come hell or high water; by hook or by crook.

Этот ответ значил: мне приказали — кровь из носу — провести заседание не откладывая… (Эткинд 1). This answer meant: "I've been ordered—by hook or by crook—to hold the meeting without delay…" (1a).

К-421 • КРО́ВЬЮ УМЫВА́ТЬСЯ/УМЫ́ТЬСЯ [VP; fixed WO] 1. substand [subj: human] (usu. of a person who is beaten in the face) to bleed profusely: X кровью умылся ≃ X spit ⟨spouted⟩ blood; blood gushed from X's face ⟨mouth etc⟩.

2. [subj: the name of a city, country etc] (in refer. to the population of a city, country etc) to be massacred indiscriminately: X кровью умылся ≃ place X was plunged into bloodshed ⟨a bloodbath⟩; place X turned into a bloodbath ⟨an arena of bloodshed⟩.

К-422 • МА́ЛОЙ КРО́ВЬЮ coll [$NP_{instrum}$; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to attain, accomplish etc sth.) without enduring great losses, making major concessions, or exerting great effort: shed(ding) hardly any blood; with few casualties; with small losses; (get off) cheap; on the cheap.

[Воротынцев:] Ведь вы же двадцать четыре года кричали, что — не допустите, что — против любой комбинации, что на чужой территории, что малой кровью, а Гитлер один бил вас где хотел и как хотел… (Солженицын 9). [V.:] Haven't you been proclaiming for twenty-four years that you wouldn't let anyone pass; that you could resist any alliance, that you would fight on someone else's territory, that you would shed hardly any blood, while Hitler, all on his own, beat you as he pleased, where he pleased… (9a).

К-423 • НАЛИВА́ТЬСЯ/НАЛИ́ТЬСЯ КРО́ВЬЮ [VP; subj: human or лицо, шея etc; usu. pfv] to become red from a rush of blood (because of rage, extreme tension etc): X налился ⟨лицо и т.п. X-а налилось⟩ кровью ≃ blood rushed to X's face; X got all red; || X-овы глаза налились кровью ≃ X's eyes got (all) bloodshot; [in limited contexts; in refer. to rage] X had fire in his eyes.

«Что-то не пойму я, — заговорил он [человек] весело и осмысленно. — Мне по матушке — нельзя. Плевать — нельзя. А от вас только и слышу: „Дурак, дурак". Видно, только профессорам разрешается ругаться в Ресефесере». Филипп Филиппович налился кровью и, наполняя стакан, разбил его (Булгаков 11). "I don't get it," he [the man] said ingenuously. "I mustn't swear. I mustn't spit. Yet all you ever do is call me names. I guess only professors are allowed to swear in the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic." Blood rushed to Philip Philipovich's face. He filled a glass, breaking it as he did so (11b).

К-424 • ПИСА́ТЬ/НАПИСА́ТЬ КРО́ВЬЮ (СЕ́РДЦА) lit [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to write with sincerity and deep feeling about sth. through which one has suffered: X писал кровью сердца ≃ X wrote with his heart's blood; X wrote straight from the heart.

Мне показал этот список Д[омбровский], автор повести о нашей жизни, которая написана, как говорили в старину, «кровью сердца» (Мандельштам 1). This collection was shown to me by Dombrovski, the author of a book about our life which was written, as they used to say in the old days, "with his heart's blood" (1a).

К-425 • СМЫВА́ТЬ/СМЫТЬ КРО́ВЬЮ что lit [VP; subj: human] 1. often смывать своей кровью to redress sth.

(usu. a disgrace etc brought upon o.s.) at the cost of one's life: X смоет Y своей кровью ≃ X will redeem ⟨atone for⟩ Y with X's (own) blood; X will pay for Y with X's life.

…После несостоявшегося самоубийства Варе с ним стало трудно. Во-первых, она его почти не видела — Петя «смывал вину» трудом, поскольку смыть вину кровью в шифровальном отделе было невозможно (Акунин 5). …Since his failed suicide Varya found it hard to be with him. In the first place, she hardly ever saw him—Petya was atoning for his guilt with work, since it was impossible to atone for it with blood in the cryptography section (5a).

2. ~ чьей, кого [obj: usu. обида, оскорбление etc] to avenge (an insult, disgrace etc) by killing the offender: X смыл Y Z-овой кровью ≃ X redeemed Y with Z's blood; X washed away Y by Z's blood.

Такое оскорбление смывается кровью и только кровью оскорбителя (Искандер 5). Such an insult is washed away by the blood, and only by the blood, of the offender (5a).

К-426 • ПОДО́ПЫТНЫЙ КРО́ЛИК occas. humor [NP; often subj-compl with copula, nom or instrum (subj: human); fixed WO] a person used as a subject when testing a certain theory, method, approach etc: guinea pig.

«Мне холодно. Накройте меня простынёй или хотя бы закройте форточку. Да, я дебил, я это знаю, но дебилам тоже бывает холодно. Я вам не подопытный кролик». Словосочетание «подопытный кролик» я подслушал в перевязочной (Гальего 1). "I'm cold. Pull the sheet over me or at least close the windowpane. Yes, I'm retarded, I know that, but retarded people get cold, too. I'm not your guinea pig." I'd heard the term guinea pig when they were redoing my cast (1a).

К- 427 • КАК КРОТ coll [как + NP; nom only] 1. ~ слепой coll [modif (intensif)] totally blind: (as) blind as a bat ⟨a mole⟩.

2. сидеть где ~ (to spend) all one's time inside, at the same place: (be) cooped up (in some place) like a mole; hole up (in some place) like a mole; sit in here ⟨there⟩ like a mole; live (in some place) like a mole.

«Я и не знал, что ты такая отчаянная. Сегодня зверя и того из норы не выгонишь, а ты осмелилась». — «Ты вообще ничего не знаешь. Живёшь, как крот, в потёмках…». — «Как крот, — согласился он… — Проголодалась, поди?» (Распутин 2). "I didn't know you were that reckless. You couldn't chase an animal out of its lair today, and you dared to come." "You don't know anything at all. You live like a mole in the dark…" "Just like a mole," he agreed. "I'll bet you're starved!" (2a).

К-428 • КРО́ХИ ⟨КРО́ШКИ⟩ С БА́РСКОГО ⟨С ГОСПО́ДСКОГО⟩ СТОЛА́ lit [NP; pl only; fixed WO] an insignificant material reward or benefit that s.o. receives from more wealthy, powerful etc people: crumbs (that fall) from the masters' ⟨the master's⟩ table.

Взглянуть правде в глаза трудно, а тем более участникам событий и добродушным свидетелям, которым тоже перепадают крохи с господского стола (Мандельштам 2). It is hard to look truth in the eye, whether you were an active participant in events or just a well-disposed onlooker receiving your share of crumbs from the master's table (2a).

< From the Bible (Matt. 15:27).

К-429 • НИ КРО́ШКИ; НИ КРО́ШЕЧКИ both coll [NP_{gen}; these forms only] 1. ~ (чего) нет, не осталось, не оставить и т.п. Also: НИ КРО́ХИ [subj/gen, quantif of subj/gen, or obj] (used in refer. to food, usu. food that crumbles) (there is, to leave etc) absolutely nothing: not so much as a crumb ⟨a scrap, a drop, a teaspoonful etc⟩; not one ⟨a⟩ morsel ⟨bite⟩.

2. ~ не понять, не увидеть, не бояться и т.п. [adv (intensif)] not (to understand, see sth., get scared etc) at all: not a ⟨one⟩ bit; not the least ⟨the slightest⟩ bit; not in the least ⟨the slightest⟩.

Феня… сказала ему, уже ни крошечки не боясь за своё любопытство: «Руки-то какие у вас, Дмитрий Фёдорович, всето в крови!» (Достоевский 1). …Fenya, now not the least bit afraid of her curiosity, said to him: "But your hands, Dmitri Fyodorovich, they're all covered with blood!" (1a).

К-430 • БРОСА́ТЬ/БРО́СИТЬ СПАСА́ТЕЛЬНЫЙ КРУГ кому-чему media [VP; subj: human or collect; obj: usu. collect; usu. this WO] to provide aid and support to a person, group, country etc in order to enable them to escape from a difficult situation: X бросил Y-у спасательный круг ≃ X threw a lifeline to Y ⟨threw Y a lifeline⟩; [lim.] X bailed Y out.

К-431 • ДЕ́ЛАТЬ/СДЕ́ЛАТЬ ⟨ДАВА́ТЬ/ДАТЬ⟩ КРУГ coll [VP; subj: usu. human or collect] to go, travel somewhere by an indirect route (which takes longer than the direct route): X сделал круг ≃ X took ⟨made⟩ a detour; X went ⟨took⟩ a roundabout way; X went ⟨took⟩ the long way (a)round.

Григорий отвёл и посадил на коней две сотни, отошёл назад, стараясь, чтобы противник не определил его направления. Двадцать вёрст дали круга (Шолохов 3). Grigory withdrew the squadrons, got them mounted and rode back, trying to deceive the enemy as to the direction he was taking. They made a detour of twenty versts (3a).

К-432 • ЗАКОЛДО́ВАННЫЙ КРУГ [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. (according to superstitious beliefs) a space made impenetrable to one's enemies by magical spells: magic ⟨enchanted⟩ circle.

2. logic Also: ПОРО́ЧНЫЙ КРУГ an error in reasoning, when the premise is used to prove the conclusion, which, in turn, is used to prove the premise: vicious circle.

3. Also: ПОРО́ЧНЫЙ КРУГ a situation in which solving one problem creates an even more difficult problem, thus making ultimate resolution impossible: vicious circle ⟨cycle⟩.

«Надо подать проект, — подумал секретарь, — чтобы в каждом районе было два Учреждения. Тогда первое будет выполнять свои функции, а второе будет наблюдать, чтобы не пропало первое… А кто же будет наблюдать за другим Учреждением? Значит, нужно создать третье, а за третьим — четвёртое и так далее до бесконечности, но кто же тогда будет заниматься другими делами?» Получался какой-то заколдованный круг (Войнович 2). A resolution should be submitted, thought the Secretary, that there be two Institutions in each district. The first would carry out its usual functions and the second would keep an eye on the first so that it wouldn't disappear…. But who's going to keep their eye on the second Institution? That means a third will have to be created, and a fourth for the third and so on, ad infinitum, and then who would be left to do anything else? It had turned into a vicious cycle (2a).

К-433 • НА КРУГ coll [PrepP; Invar; adv] as an approximate mean: on (the ⟨an⟩) average.

К-434 • возвращаться НА КРУ́ГИ СВОЯ́ lit [PrepP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] (to return) to its previous, normal state, condition: (fall back) into place; (resume) its normal course; [lim.] (drop ⟨fall⟩ back) into its rut.

Всё суета сует и всяческая суета. Всё возвращается на круги своя (Максимов 2). Vanity of vanities, all is vanity. Everything falls back into place in the end… (2a). ♦ Скоро вся эта размазня кончится. И что останется от всей их болтовни? И всё вернётся на круги своя (Зиновьев 1). Soon all this mess will be over. And what'll be left of all their chatter? Everything will drop back into its rut (1a).

< From the Church Slavonic text of the Bible (Eccles. 1:6).

К-435 • ПО ВТОРО́МУ ⟨ТРЕ́ТЬЕМУ⟩ КРУ́ГУ highly coll [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to do, try etc sth.) for the second or third time: (have) another ⟨a second, a third⟩ go ⟨shot, crack⟩ (at sth.).

«Я, говорит, Володичка, замуж собралась. Можно мне по второму кругу замуж выйти?» (Аржак 2). "Volodya," she says, "I was on the point of getting married. Is it all right for me to have a second go at marriage?" (2a).

К-436 • С КРУ́ГУ ⟨-а⟩ спиться substand [PrepP; these forms only; adv] (to become) an inveterate drunkard: (become) a (hopeless) lush ⟨souse, drunk⟩.

К-437 • В КРУЖО́К стричь, подстригать кого и т.п. [PrepP; Invar; adv] (to cut s.o.'s hair, have one's hair cut etc) in a straight line around the head: (give s.o. ⟨get etc⟩) a bowl (hair)cut; (cut s.o.'s hair ⟨one's hair is cropped etc⟩) in peasant style.

Тогда, к неописанному моему изумлению, увидел я среди мятежных старшин Швабрина, обстриженного в кружок и в казацком кафтане (Пушкин 2). Then, to my amazement, I saw Shvabrin standing among the rebel elders. He was wearing a Cossack kaftan; his hair had been cut in a bowl cut (2c). Then, to my indescribable astonishment, I saw Shvabrin, his hair cut in peasant style and wearing a Cossack caftan, in the midst of the rebel elders (2b).

К-438 • КАК (ТАМ ⟨ТУТ⟩) НИ КРУТИ́ ⟨НИ ВЕРТИ́⟩ coll [subord clause; these forms only; fixed WO] regardless of from what perspective the fact in question is observed or regardless of s.o.'s reaction toward that fact (the fact itself is correct, reflects reality): however ⟨no matter how, whichever way⟩ you look at it; whatever ⟨no matter what⟩ you do ⟨say⟩; there is no getting around it; like it or not.

…Он понемножку начинал понимать, что такие люди, как Чернышевский, при всех их смешных и страшных промахах, были, как ни верти, действительными героями в своей борьбе с государственным порядком вещей… (Набоков 1). …He began to comprehend by degrees that such uncompromising radicals as Chernyshevski, with all their ludicrous and ghastly blunders, were, no matter how you looked at it, real heroes in their struggle with the governmental order of things… (1a). ♦ «Как ни крути, [мы] сами виноваты» (Максимов 3). "Whichever way you look at it, we've only ourselves to blame" (3a).

К-439 • КАК (ТАМ) НИ КРУТИ́СЬ ⟨НИ ВЕРТИ́СЬ⟩ coll [subord clause; these forms only; fixed WO] regardless of what one does (sth. cannot be avoided, changed etc): no matter what you do ⟨one does⟩; no matter how (hard) you try ⟨one tries⟩; however much you try ⟨one tries⟩; try as you ⟨one⟩ might.

[У меня] есть работа — не очень хорошая, но и не мерзкая… Да, вот с деньгами худо. Как ни крутись, а в зарплату не уложишься (Аржак 2). I've got a job—not a very good one, but not too bad either…. True, the money's not so good. However much you try, you can't make ends meet (2a).

К-440 • БРАТЬ/ВЗЯТЬ ПОД СВОЁ КРЫ́ЛЫШКО кого coll [VP; subj: human; usu. this WO] to offer s.o. care, protection, extend patronage to s.o.: X взял Y-а под своё крылышко ≃ X took Y under X's wing; [lim.] X gave Y a leg up.

«Я познакомлю тебя с здешними барынями, я беру тебя под своё крылышко» (Тургенев 2). "I'll introduce you to the local young ladies; I'm taking you under my wing" (2d).

К-441 • ПОД КРЫ́ЛЫШКОМ ⟨ПОД КРЫЛО́М⟩ чьим, (у) кого быть$_о$, жить, держать кого и т.п.; ПОД КРЫ́ЛЫШКО ⟨ПОД КРЫЛО́⟩ чьё, к кому прятаться, пристраиваться и т.п. all coll [PrepP; these forms only; the resulting PrepP is subj-compl with copula (subj: human), obj-compl with держать (obj: human), or adv] under s.o.'s protecting influence, care, patronage: under s.o.'s ⟨one's⟩ wing; under the tutelage of s.o.

Он [граф] перевёл Петю из полка Оболенского в полк Безухова, который формировался под Москвою. Хотя Петя и оставался в военной службе, но при этом переводе графиня имела утешенье видеть хотя одного сына у себя под крылышком… (Толстой 6). He [the Count] got Petya transferred from Obolensky's regiment to Bezukhov's, which was in training near Moscow. Though Petya would remain in the army, this transfer would give the Countess the consolation of having at least one of her sons under her wing… (6a).

К-442 • ОПУСКА́ТЬ/ОПУСТИ́ТЬ КРЫ́ЛЬЯ ⟨КРЫ́ЛЫШКИ coll⟩ [VP; subj: human] to lose one's vitality, energy, vigor: X опустил крылья ≃ X lost his get-up-and-go.

К-443 • ПОДРЕЗА́ТЬ/ПОДРЕ́ЗАТЬ ⟨ОБРЕЗА́ТЬ/ОБРЕ́ЗАТЬ, ПОДСЕКА́ТЬ/ПОДСЕ́ЧЬ, СВЯ́ЗЫВАТЬ/СВЯЗА́ТЬ⟩ КРЫ́ЛЬЯ кому coll [VP; subj: human or abstr] to make it difficult or impossible for s.o. to act, realize his potential (often by undermining his belief in himself): X подре́зал крылья Y-у ≃ person X clipped Y's wings.

К-444 • РАСПРАВЛЯ́ТЬ/РАСПРА́ВИТЬ КРЫ́ЛЬЯ lit [VP; subj: human; fixed WO] to begin to manifest one's strengths, apply one's abilities in full measure, act independently: X расправил крылья ≃ X spread ⟨tried⟩ his wings; X soared on his own.

Детям даже полезно… расправить собственные крылышки. Моему сердцу будет не хватать их, но им я не так уж необходима (Аллилуева 2). …It is good for the children to spread their own wings. My heart will always miss them, but I am not indispensable to them (2a).

К-445 • КАНЦЕЛЯ́РСКАЯ ⟨БУМА́ЖНАЯ, ЧЕРНИ́ЛЬНАЯ⟩ КРЫ́СА coll, derog [NP] a callous petty bureaucrat: paper-pusher; paper shuffler; office drudge.

К-446 • КРЫ́СЫ БЕГУ́Т С ТО́НУЩЕГО КОРАБЛЯ́ ⟨ПОКИДАЮ́Т ТО́НУЩИЙ КОРА́БЛЬ⟩ [saying] cowards or unworthy people desert their friends or a common cause in a time of trouble: ≃ rats desert ⟨leave⟩ a ⟨the⟩ sinking ship.

Однажды я рассказала ему, как к Настасье Васильевне приходил городовой с женой, и Павел Петрович сказал загадочно: «Крысы бегут с тонущего корабля»… И он объяснил, что в данном случае монархия, то есть самодержавие, — это корабль, а крысы — это те, кто догадывается, что он непременно потонет (Каверин 1). Another time I told him about the policeman coming with his wife to see Nastasya Vasilyevna, and Pavel Petrovich said cryptically: “The rats are leaving the sinking ship.”… And he explained that, in this instance, the monarchy, that is to say the autocracy, was the ship and the rats were those who suspected that it was going to sink (1a).

К-447 • КРЫТЬ НЕ́ЧЕМ (кому) coll [Invar; impers predic with быть$_{ø}$] s.o. has no valid, convincing argument to offer as an objection to or refutation of some statement: (X-y) крыть нечем ≃ X doesn’t have a leg to stand on; there is nothing X can say; X has no (real) weapons to meet this argument; [when used as an indep. sent to admit concession] touché.

«Не верю я, чтоб войсковое правительство спасло Дон! Какие меры применяются к тем частям, какие не желают вам подчиняться?.. Нечем вам крыть. А народ и фронтовые казаки за нас стоят» (Шолохов 3). “I don’t believe the Army Government could save the Don! What measures are being taken against the units that don’t want to obey you?… You haven’t got a leg to stand on. The people and the frontline Cossacks are behind us!” (3a).

К-448 • КРЫ́ША ПОЕ́ХАЛА у кого coll [VP$_{subj}$; usu. this WO] to act as if one has become insane: у X-а крыша поехала ≃ X is ⟨has gone⟩ nuts; X is ⟨has gone⟩ off his rocker ⟨his nut⟩; X has bats in his belfry; X is (a bit ⟨completely⟩) off his trolley; X has become a fruitcake; X has a screw loose; X ought ⟨needs⟩ to have his head examined; X has taken leave of his senses; X has come unhinged; X is off his hinges.

Зачем он связался с этими мошенниками? У него что, крыша поехала? What did he hook up with those swindlers for? Has he gone off his rocker or something?

К-449 • ПОД ОДНО́Й КРЫ́ШЕЙ ⟨КРО́ВЛЕЙ⟩ (с кем) жить, находиться и т.п. [PrepP; these forms only; adv; fixed WO] (to live, be) in one building, house (with s.o.): (live) under one ⟨the same⟩ roof; (share) the same premises ⟨roof⟩.

«Что я разве друг его какой?.. или родственник? Правда, мы жили долго под одною кровлей… Да мало ли с кем я не жил?..» (Лермонтов 1). “I’m not a friend of his am I, or a relation? True, we lived a good while under the same roof—but then I’ve lived with plenty of different people in my time” (1c). “Yes, indeed, am I a friend of his or a relative? True, we shared the same roof for a long time, but then I have lived with all sorts of people” (1b).

К-450 • ДАТЬ КРЮ́КУ coll [VP] 1. Also: ДАТЬ ⟨СДЕ́ЛАТЬ⟩ КРЮК [subj: human or collect] to go, travel somewhere by an indirect route (which takes longer than the direct route): X дал крюку ≃ X took ⟨made⟩ a detour; X went ⟨took⟩ a roundabout way; X went ⟨took⟩ the long way (around ⟨round⟩); [lim.] X went ⟨came⟩ (two kilometers ⟨a long way etc⟩) out of his way.

Дав крюку, я завернул в Гнездниковский. Место опасности было оцеплено (Терц 2). Making a detour, I turned into Gnezdnikovsky Street. The danger zone had been cordoned off (2a). ♦ [Лыняев:] А то заставляете две версты крюку делать, заезжать к вам (Островский 5). [L.:] Now you have made me come out of my way a mile and a half, to see you (5a).

2. obs [subj: human] to make a slip, a blunder: X дал крюку ≃ X made a gaffe; X slipped up; [in refer. to speaking only] X put his foot in his mouth ⟨in it⟩.

К-451 • НА КРЮЧКЕ́ у кого быть$_{ø}$, держать кого coll [PrepP; Invar; subj-compl with copula (subj: human) or obj-compl with держать (obj: human)] (to be or fall) under another person’s complete control (usu. from fear of exposure or blackmail), or (to gain) complete control over s.o. (usu. through threat of exposure or blackmail): X у Y-а ⟨Y держит X-а⟩ на крючке ≃ X is ⟨Y has X⟩ under Y’s thumb; Y has X on a string; Y has something on X; Y is holding sth. over X; Y has X on the hook; [lim.] Y pulls the strings.

«…Я вовремя скумекал: если угроблю пахана, буду на крючке у Алика хлеще, чем он у меня» (Чернёнок 1). “…I had figured out in time that if I did the old guy in, Alik would have more on me than I did on him” (1a). ♦ …Ведь он [Сергеев] не может не думать, что ОСВАГ [политическая полиция] прослушивает лучниковские телефоны. Говоря так, он прямо «засвечивает» Таню, не оставляет ни малейшего сомнения у «осваговцев» в том, кто держит её на крючке (Аксёнов 7). Since he [Sergeev] must realize that OSVAG [the political police] has Luchnikov’s phones tapped, he can only be doing one thing—purposely blowing Tanya’s disguise, making it absolutely clear who is pulling the strings (7a).

К-452 • ПОПАДА́ТЬСЯ/ПОПА́СТЬСЯ НА КРЮЧО́К coll [VP; subj: human] to yield to a temptation, enticement offered by another person or organization (usu. one that wants sth. in return): X попался на крючок ≃ X took ⟨swallowed⟩ the bait; X fell for it; person Y hooked X.

К-453 • КСТА́ТИ И НЕКСТА́ТИ [AdvP; Invar; adv; fixed WO] regardless of whether or not it is suitable (for a particular moment, occasion etc): in (season) and out of season; whether appropriately or not; be it appropriate or not; [lim.] with or without need.

…Ко всему, что я ни делала, кстати и некстати присоединялась мысль об этой странной минуте — как под музыку, когда слушаешь, а сама думаешь о чём-то своём (Каверин 1). …To everything that I did was linked, whether appropriately or not, the thought of that strange moment, just as when you are listening to music and you think of something else (1a). ♦ Веселье… выдохлось: чёрненькая совсем ушла, а беленькая хозяйка непрестанно, кстати и некстати, и словно нечто подчёркивая, входила и выходила из комнаты (Битов 2). The gaiety… had gone flat: the dark girl had left altogether, while the light hostess came and went from the room incessantly, with or without need, and as if making some point (2a).

К-454 • КТО ГДЕ coll [usu. adv or indep. sent (often in response to an inquiry beginning with «Где» about several or many people); fixed WO] one person is in one place, others are in other places: some here, some there; in various places.

«Нигилист — это человек, который не склоняется ни перед какими авторитетами, который не принимает ни одного принципа на веру…» — «И что ж, это хорошо?» — перебил Павел Петрович. «Смотря как кому, дядюшка. Иному от этого хорошо, а иному очень дурно» (Тургенев 2). “A nihilist is a person who does not look up to any authorities, who does not accept a single principle on faith….” “Well, and is that a good thing?” Pavel Petrovich broke in. “It all depends, uncle. It may be good for some people and very bad for others” (2a).

К-456 • КТО ⟨кого и т.п.⟩ КАК, А… coll [a clause in a compound sent + Conj] others may act (think etc) otherwise, but (I, we etc)…: do as you like but…; do ⟨say, think⟩ what you like but…; I don’t know about anyone else, but…; what others think ⟨do⟩ is their (own) business but…

«Вот что, станишники! Нам тут делать нечего. Надо уходить… Как вы, станишники?»… — «Нет уж, будем сидеть до конца»… — «Кому как, а наш взвод уходит!» (Шолохов 3). “Now listen to me, Cossacks! There’s no point in our staying here. We’ve got to get away…. How about it, Cossacks?”… “No, we’d better stay put.”… “I don’t know about anyone else, but our troop’s leaving!” (3a).

К-457 • КТО КОГО́ coll [sent; Invar; often used as a subord clause in a complex sent; fixed WO] who will turn out to be the winner: who will win; who will have the upper hand; who will get the better of whom; who will get ⟨beat etc⟩ whom (in the end); who will come out on top ⟨come off best⟩.

Пёстрая куча толстых людей справа от бочки, пёстрая куча — слева. А ну-ка! Кто кого?.. А ну-ка, кто кого перетянет?.. Тяни, тяни! (Федин 1). There was a motley crowd of fat people to the right of the barrel, a motley crowd to the left. Come on then! Who’ll win?… Come on then, who would out-tug whom?… Pull, pull! (1a).

…Хуже он [Котик] стал с прошлого года, когда его сделали заведующим кафедрой у себя в институте. С тех пор он стал как-то осторожней, потерял часть своей непосредственности… И всё-таки он и сейчас парень хоть куда… (Искандер 4). He [Kotik] began to deteriorate last year, when they made him head of a department at his institute. Since then he's become somehow more wary, lost some of his spontaneity…. All the same, he's a great guy even now… (4a). ♦ «…Однако же я не вижу в нём ничего худого; парень хоть куда!» (Гоголь 5). "I see no harm in him, anyway: he is a fine fellow!" (5a).

2. [adv] (to do sth.) very well, excellently: (be able ⟨fit⟩ to do sth.) with the best of them; (do) one hell of a job; splendidly; superbly; [when said proudly, yet with affected modesty, about o.s. or s.o. close to one] not badly; [when the verb is translated by a (deverbal) noun] not a bad [NP], right ⟨is he etc⟩?.

«Что говорят обо мне в Оренбурге?» — спросил Пугачёв, помолчав немного. «Да, говорят, что с тобою сладить трудновато…» Лицо самозванца изобразило довольное самолюбие. «Да! — сказал он с весёлым видом. — Я воюю хоть куда» (Пушкин 2). "What do they say about me at Orenburg?" asked Pugachev after a pause. "They say that it'll be difficult to get the better of you…." The pretender's face expressed satisfied vanity. "Yes!" he said gaily. "I don't fight badly" (2b). "What do they say of me in Orenburg?" Pugachov asked after a brief pause. "They say that they've got their work cut out for them if they're to get the better of you…" The impostor's face was a picture of gratified vanity. "Yes, I'm not such a bad warrior, am I?" (2c).

К-471 • КУ́КИШ В КАРМА́НЕ (показывать кому); ФИ́ГА ⟨ДУ́ЛЯ⟩ В КАРМА́НЕ all highly coll, derog [NP; sing only; fixed WO] an expression of disagreement, censure, threat etc made in a cowardly manner, not to s.o.'s face: thumbing one's nose at s.o. behind his back; giving s.o. the finger behind his back.

В пятьдесят четвёртом году ко мне в руки попала первая самиздатская… тетрадка — поэма Твардовского «Тёркин на том свете». Многое сразу же запомнила наизусть, читала везде, и у Гидашей тоже. У них вместо радости, с которой встречали эти строки мои предшествующие слушатели, холодный душ. Агнеса олимпийски спокойная и олимпийски непогрешимая: «Что тебе тут нравится? Кукиши в кармане. Интеллигентская фронда» (Орлова 1). In 1954 the first samizdat… manuscript found its way into my hands: Tvardovsky's poem Tyorkin in Hell. I memorized a great deal of it at once and I [recited] it everywhere, at the Hidases as well. Instead of the joy with which my earlier listeners had greeted these verses, they expressed their cool indifference. With Olympian calm and Olympian infallibility Agnessa said: “What appeals to you here? He’s just thumbing his nose behind their backs. Nothing but petty intellectual opposition” (1a).

К-472 • КУ́КИШ ⟨ФИ́ГА, ШИШ⟩ С МА́СЛОМ highly coll [NP; sing only; fixed WO] 1. often получить, дать кому и т.п. кукиш ⟨фигу, шиш⟩ с маслом (to receive, give s.o. etc) absolutely nothing: zilch; nil; nix; not a (frigging ⟨damn⟩) thing; [in refer. to s.o.’s having no money] (be) really ⟨flat⟩ broke ⟨busted⟩.

«Богатые, они всегда скупятся. Пять копеек на билет им жалко…» — «А может, у него в кармане шиш с маслом, — засмеялся парень в картузе. — Тогда я за него заплачу» (Паустовский 1). “Rich people are always stingy. They hate to waste five kopecks on a ticket….” “But maybe he’s really broke,” a young fellow in a cap said laughing. “In that case, I’ll pay for him” (1b).

2. Also: ШИ́Ш ТЕБЕ ⟨ВАМ⟩ highly coll [usu. Interj] used to express flat denial, objection: like hell (one will ⟨did etc⟩); no way; my ass; you ⟨he etc⟩ can kiss my ass; stuff it!; nuts to you!

«Вы, гражданин Шариков, говорите… несознательно. На воинский учёт необходимо взяться». — «На учёт возьмусь, а воевать — шиш с маслом», — неприязненно ответил Шариков… (Булгаков 11). “Citizen Sharikov, your words are… lacking in social consciousness. It is most essential to be registered in the military rolls.” “I’ll register, but if it comes to fighting, they can kiss…” Sharikov answered coldly… (11a).
